ANNUAL SCOUT DRIVE STARTS IN CITY TODAY

FUNDS BADLY NEEDED FOR DEFICIT AND EXPENSES

UNOFFICIALLY, the annual Boy Scout finance drive started today. The main campaign will await recuperation of a number of Scout leaders who are ill.

The pre-enlistment drive now in progress will give all friends of Scouting an opportunity to contribute to support of the movement without being solicited. A number of gifts and pledges have already been received. Similar campaigns are being planned in other cities and towns of the Adobe Walls council.

Officials of the council have not stressed finances in recent years because of conflicts with other drives. But with no other campaigns in sight, it is believed that citizens are able to contribute more generously than ever before. The council needs funds badly, both for current expenses and to remove a deficit unavoidably incurred.

Meanwhile, the boys were never more active. They are gathering clothing, shoes, bedding, and house furnishings for the needy. Executive C. A. Clark's office is stacked with usable articles and troop meeting places have become storehouses pending a distribution of the articles. The clothing drive will continue until each troop has canvassed its assigned territory.

Growth of the council in the last two years has been exceptional and well above the records in other councils of the Southwest. Interest in small communities was never better.

Appointed Coach

The appointment of Francis A. Schmidt of Texas Christian university as head coach of Ohio State university at Columbus, O., was recommended today by the advisory committee to the board of athletic control.

Twinkles
It seems to us that Uncle Sam would do well to dismantle the weather bureau at Amarillo and lease a wire to Dalhart, Clayton, N. M., and Denver. Weather information ought to be collected, not prognosticated.

Officially, winter is over although spring has not arrived by calendar. But we still believe more snow will fall than has fallen.

We're "for" this man Roosevelt. You can't get a man down who can think up a new plan every time an old one wears out.

Much scrap iron is being shipped to Japan—which may be appropriate in that it is probably intended for a "scrap" with Russia.

As we understand it, Amarillo is drilling hard to bring in that well so the fans will have money to wager on the Sande-Harvestor football game next fall.

Brevitorials

Missings of the moment: Mr. Average Citizen, reading every day of how the higher-ups received big salaries, bonuses, framed check party winnings, and excessive cut-ins on stock sales, can hardly look back upon 1929 as an "ideal year." To get back to normalcy, this country needs to get back to honesty. . . . Our missus thinks the cook book ought to be read more carefully for errors—the recipes don't work out as given. We'd noticed that, too. Other words for frenzy: Delirium, furiosity, furiousness, oestrum.

CHARLES G. Dawes' version of civic duty: If you work in a town, in heaven's name work for it. If you live in a town, live for it. Give for it. Help advance your neighborhood. Respect the great

FIRE DAMAGES CAR

The Pampa fire department answered its first call in March at 10 o'clock this morning. The call was to North Cuyler street where a Packard automobile had caught fire. The damage was slight.

Only three calls were made in February, two in the city and one outside the city limits. The total loss in the limits was $110. Chief Clyde Gold reported this morning. The other fire caused only light damage.

Ivy Duncan reminiscing about the times older Pampans had skating "away back." Mr. Duncan, DeLea Vicars, Edwin Vicars, Nell McCullough, and other Pampans learned to skate on a pond where the Worley hospital is now located. Later the city skating rink was south of the Santa Fe "Y."

Mesquite Bank Near Dallas Robbed Of $1,000

FOUR HEAVILY ARMED MEN IN RAID AT NOON

ALL OFFICIALS ABSENT EXCEPT ASSISTANT CASHIER

MESQUITE, March 1. (AP)—Four men armed with machine guns, sawed-off shotguns and pistols held up the First National bank of Mesquite shortly after noon today and escaped with approximately $1,000 in currency and silver.

One of them, masked, stood guard in the doorway while the others forced Ewell Tribble, assistant cashier, who was alone, to lie on the floor of his cage. The three quickly walked behind the bars and gathered up all the money available.

Entering the automobile which they left parked in front of the bank, they headed north toward the Dallas-Tyler highway and officers were at a loss to know whether they had turned east or west. N. E. Shinds, president, and E. S. McKenzie, cashier, of the bank were at lunch when they arrived.

One of the men was described as weighing about 200 pounds and being 38 years old. The other weighed about 145 pounds and was 5 feet, 6 inches tall.

Gilmore Nunn Is To Arrive Home This Week-End

Gilmore N. Nunn, general manager of the NEWS, is en route home to Pampa after spending 60 days in Washington "covering" activities of congress and the federal administration.

With Mrs. Nunn and their little daughter, who have been with him, he will arrive Saturday or Sunday. While in Washington, Mr. Nunn was associated with Bascom N. Timmons, noted capital writer. The local man also wrote three columns of "backstage" matter weekly for the NEWS and other daily papers of the Panhandle.

Mr. Nunn was in close contact with national affairs and frequently was in press conferences with the president and other governmental department chiefs. He has confided to his associates that he will tell some inside information in person that he could not put in print.

Garbage Handling Needs Improving, Says Dr. Worrell

A more adequate system of handling garbage will have to be made at many homes in the city, Dr. T. J. Worrell stated this morning. He has been making a survey and finds that much improvement will have to be made before warm weather.

The city sanitation officer urges Pampans to secure new containers, clean up around old receptacles, and see that their garbage is removed regularly.

A state health officer was in Pampa last week. His report will be received soon.

Disease Fatal to Steers Near Here

Charlie Thomas, rancher north of Pampa, lost two thoroughbred steers from some strange malady early this week. This morning three more of his prize animals were found ill.

Examination showed that the two steers died from some form of blood poison but the symptoms were different in other cases of a similar nature.

Slight Moisture Falls Here Today

Moisture amounting to one-tenth of an inch fell here this morning. At no time did the moisture reach the proportion of rain. The sky was overcast at noon but the drizzle had ceased.

Children reported the heaviest rainfall in the Panhandle with one inch. Amarillo and vicinity had light rain which turned to snow. The light rain was reported as far as Panhandle. Clarendon reported a fall of one-quarter of an inch. The weather forecast was unsettled.

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—The Bankhead compulsory cotton control bill was amended today by the house agriculture committee to extend its provision to two years with a possible extension by the president for another year by proclamation. The limit of 10,000,000 bales of production each year was tentatively fixed for the two years and it could be applied to the third year.

WELLINGTON, March 1. (AP)—Three masked men late last night bound and gagged Dr. R. T. Boucher in his office, robbed him of $320 and escaped in his automobile. It required Dr. Boucher an hour to free himself and notify officers.

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—A contract under which a prominent lobbyist was to have received $54,000 and further "commissions" if he obtained large motor truck contracts from the war department was under investigation today as the grand jury prepared to call new witnesses next week.

CHERBOURG, France, March 1. (AP)—A "sea monster" found on the beach here today was identified by Professor Corbiere, eminent scholar of natural history, as a rare form of hyperodon—in plain language a bottle nosed whale.

KANSAS CITY, March 1. (AP)—A. B. Cranor, general chairman of the brotherhood of railway trainmen for the Kansas City area, announced today in a short address that the strike of Kansas City Southern Railway trainmen and engineers which was to become effective today at 6 p. m. had been "postponed," upon receiving word from the executive committee of the Big Four railroad brotherhoods in Cleveland, O.

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—The administration's desire to try present monetary plans for at least the remainder of this fiscal year before a fixed policy is determined upon was conveyed to congress today by Secretary Morgenthau.

LOS ANGELES, March 1. (AP)—A man police said was identified by finger prints as Ed Davis, escaped Kansas convict wanted for questioning in connection with the slaying of four officers and their prisoner in Kansas City last summer, is in custody here.

FORT COLLINS, Colo., March 1. (AP)—Murder charges were filed in district court here today against Louis Pacheco and his brother, John, in jail in Denver, where authorities said they had confessed to a slaying in a rooming house at Clifton Smith, Wellington, Colo., rancher, Robert Griffin, his employee, wounding Smith's wife and then setting fire to their three victims after indignities against Mrs. Smith.

PRINCE TELLS HOW HE KILLED RUSSIAN MONK

Used Poison, Gun and Club in Killing Rasputin

LONDON, March 1. (AP)—Another picture of the slaying of the grim, black-bearded Monk Rasputin in the gloomy cellar of the imperial palace at St. Petersburg was drawn today in a London court.

Prince Felix Youssouppoff, testifying in his wife's libel suit against a film company, stoutly maintained under cross-examination that he was responsible for the death of the monk.

The defense counsel described Rasputin as a "brutal libertine." Admitting he had been hypnotized by Rasputin, Prince Youssouppoff said he was not a "professional" killer. He reiterated details of the monk's death by poison, gun and club as Sir William Lawrence, the defense read passages from the prince's book "Rasputin," in which the slaying is described.

Jowitt said he was attempting to show the death as portrayed in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film "Rasputin and the Empress" is not historically correct.

He asked Youssouppoff if just before he killed the monk he was not suffering from nervous strain, so that he hardly knew what he was doing.

SALE DETAILS ARE ALREADY BEING STUDIED

BONDS MAY BE SOLD ON ONE WEEK'S NOTICE

AUSTIN, March 1. (AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today signed bills to issue additional state bonds for relief of unemployment distress and to declare a moratorium against forced sales of real estate in worthy cases.

Both bills became effective on signature by the governor, having been passed in the legislature by more than a two thirds vote.

Relief officials announced they would proceed without delay to sell the bonds to replenish the relief coffers, now virtually empty.

The bond law provides for issuance of $7,750,000 in bonds, $5,000,000 of which will be new securities and $2,750,000 will be old bonds remaining unsold from a previous issue.

The Texas bond commission already has started discussions to arrange details preliminary to sale. Attorneys were working on forms for the bonds and the state board of control was ready to order printing started at once. Contracts for printing will be awarded without advertisement to prevent delay.

Sale of the bonds may be effected on one week's notice.

The moratorium law was designed to extend a helping hand to property owners in financially straitened circumstances but who have hopes of recovery.

Under its terms district court judges are empowered to stay execution of sales until February 1, 1935 on showing by the property owner that he has a substantial equity that would be lost through forced sale and has reasonable expectation of ultimately paying off the debt against his holdings.

Strange Beast Washed Ashore, French Report

CHERBOURG, France, Mar. 1. (AP)—A strange, hairy sea beast with a horse's neck drew a gaping crowd of excited Norman coastal folk to the Querqueville rock near here today.

The mysterious marine animal was washed ashore there and the crowd gathered early to await its identification.

Professor Corbiere, Cherbourg's eminent scholar of natural history—although a botanist and 70 years old—was set out on the four-mile trek to the scene to inspect the weird body.

Everybody who gathered round to view the monster had an idea about its identity. Some wisecracks today set out on a quarter mile trek to the scene to inspect the weird body.

Others pointed out its resemblance to published descriptions of the so-called Loch Ness monster in Scotland.

It was described as being 25 feet long and four and one-half feet in diameter, with a thin neck, three feet long and a head like that of a camel.

As if those peculiarities weren't enough, the creature was said to have two lateral swimming fins, in addition to the tail. Moreover, it was covered with white hair.

LINDBERGH'S BANNED BOOK IS PUBLISHED

Prophetic Book of Flier's Father Was Suppressed By Government in 1918.

PHILADELPHIA, March 1. (AP)—The late Charles A. Lindbergh Sr., Minnesota congressman and father of the famous flier, now speaks through a book which was suppressed by the government during the world war.

Entitled "Your Country at War," the elder Lindbergh's work is described by the publishers who brought it out today as prophetic. In its attacks on war-time hysteria, profiteers, bankers, and giant monopolies, the volume makes predictions and recommendations which have materialized in the years since the representative's death in 1924.

"The book even predicts use of a plan almost identical with the NRA," says the introduction by the author's former law partner, W. E. Quigley of Minneapolis. "The Pecora investigations of big banks and high finance are revealing things in 1933 and 1934 that were foretold by Lindbergh in 1917."

The answer given by Lindbergh for the domination of "special privilege." The book even predicts use of a plan almost identical with the NRA, says the introduction by the author's former law partner, W. E. Quigley of Minneapolis. "The Pecora investigations of big banks and high finance are revealing things in 1933 and 1934 that were foretold by Lindbergh in 1917."

97 Arrests Made By City Police During February

Officers of the police department made 97 arrests in February, according to the report of Police Chief John V. Andrews.

Of these 97 were for vagrancy, 36 drunkenness, 10 speeding, 3 disturbing the peace, 6 affray, 19 other traffic violations, 5 gaming, 1 possession of whiskey, 1 murder, 1 theft. Fifteen cases were dismissed and 6 were referred to higher courts.

Fines assessed totaled $522.50, of which $470 was collected. Prisoners worked 23 days, served a total of 68 days in jail. Prisoners were fed 238 meals.

Four CWA Jobs To Be Continued

Four projects for continuation under the tapering CWA program in Gray county were adopted yesterday at an informal conference of city officials, county officials, the Gray County Relief board, Administrator Olive Davis, B. C. D. directors, and citizens.

The first two projects are those of construction of the Pampa-McLean road south of Pampa and north of McLean. The middle sector has not been begun. The Pampa city beautification work will continue to give employment to elderly men not fitted for highway building.

The fourth project is that of completing laying of caliche on highway 33 through Pampa.

Permission was asked in a resolution to hire trucks on a quarter mile basis instead of by the hour. More equitable remuneration would thereby be provided, and more trucks made available. A CWA engineer was present at the meeting.

ROOSEVELT TO REVEAL PLANS NEXT MONDAY

WILL ADDRESS NATION AND HEARINGS IN MORNING

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—President Roosevelt will disclose his plans for NRA in a personal appearance Monday before the group meetings called by Administrator Johnson to hear complaints.

This was made known today as criticism was received from a large number of persons who came here at the invitation of Johnson to air their views.

The president's address at 11 a. m. (Eastern Standard time) will be broadcast to the nation. Significance was attached by observers to the sudden decision to address the conference.

Some believed the president would give his reasons for the failure of the national recovery act as well as take up some of the complaints presented at the invitation of Johnson.

A new attack on the steel industry was made by E. P. Cudahy, national president of the Steel and Metal Workers Industrial Union, who cited what he called oppressive acts by officials in the steel mill towns of Western Pennsylvania.

The NRA, he said, "has given us no protection" but had allowed the big companies to impose company unions on the workers without a voice in the preparation of the rule. Francis J. Gorman, vice president of the United Textile Workers of America, said he was wholeheartedly for the national recovery act, but that codes for the textile industries have been "bitterly disappointing."

Guinn Williams Heads Livestock Loan Association

SAN ANGELO, March 2. (AP)—Guinn Williams, former Deatur congressman and north Texas banker, became the president of the Texas Production Credit corporation here today. Williams has been manager of the San Angelo branch of the regional Agricultural Credit corporation for the last year.

The Texas Production Credit corporation will loan money in any part of Texas on livestock, but will not make loans of less than $12,000 each. It is known as a "master association" in the new production credit set-up in the state.

The new concern has an initial capital of one million dollars and will be able to loan as much as one-half million dollars to any individual, partnership or company. The interest rate has been set at six per cent.

Vet Who Returned Yankee Sword Dies

AMARILLO, March 1. (AP)—George W. Wood, 88-year-old Confederate veteran, who attracted national notice 30 years ago by returning a sword taken from an Union officer during the civil war, is dead.

Wood, a youthful Confederate soldier, was given the sword of Col. A. P. Rogers after bringing about the officer's surrender. It was displayed in the Masonic home at Cleburne for almost 40 years, until Wood returned it to Colonel Rogers.

The veteran died here yesterday. Three sons, seven daughters, 87 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren survive.

Hostess Killed

Among the eight persons killed in the crash of a twin-motored air liner near Salt Lake City was Stewardess Mary Carter, above, who, it turned out, had been married last July to John F. Wheeler, Chicago hotel night clerk. Miss Carter's home was in Atlanta, Ga.

TYPING IN EES OPEN TO EVERY PERSON IN CITY

Every Resident May Enroll In Any Course

THE CWA school has changed its name—or rather its real name has been learned. George H. Fern of Austin who was here yesterday said it is the Emergency Education school, or the EES. Mr. Fern is director of emergency education in the state department of education.

This morning the local EES announced that an order issued two weeks ago dropping all students from typing classes except those who were unemployed or who were working on CWA jobs, had been revoked. Now, those students who dropped out of the typing classes or who want to take typing, regardless of their employment status, are being asked to enroll in typing classes again. Those classes will be open to any and all students as long as the EES has facilities available. Fifty more typing students can be accommodated. They are asked to inquire about reinstatement.

Mr. Fern also stressed that the EES is not solely for CWA workers. That is a current opinion, and it is positively wrong. In the local school, college, high school and grammar school graduates, and elementary students are enrolled. Everyone who wants to continue their education may acquire "book learnin'" in EES. The school "takes up" in the afternoon at Pampa high school and classes continue until 9 o'clock. The subject range from the three R's to foreign languages and higher mathematics.

C. P. Buckler and W. J. Smith have returned from a business trip to Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Blackwell and other points in Oklahoma.

Title Bout Set For Tonight

Carners and Loughran Will Square Off Despite Rain, Tea Dance, Flower Show.

MIAMI, March 1. (AP)—Fair weather prevailing after a 3-day rain, the much delayed Carners-Loughran world heavyweight title bout will be offered up to the entertainment of a few thousand fight faithful tonight, despite two conflicting attractions—a flower show and a tea dance.

Officials of Madison Square Garden, sponsors of the battle, and the managers of the two fighters went into a huddle this morning, pondering over weather maps and emerged later with the announcement that the elements had improved sufficiently to permit the scrap, first set for February 22, to be held at last.

Despite the fact that the main 15-pound bout was only a few hours away—10 p. m. EST to be exact—there were no reports of anyone getting hurt in a last minute stampede to buy tickets. Garden officials were hopeful, however, that with improved weather prevailing the gate receipts would be upward.

With the warm sun and brisk wind at work, the officials expressed belief that the huge outdoor arena, where the fight will be held, will be dried out sufficiently by the time the opening gong for the preliminaries to make the seats more comfortable for the fans.

EDITH CAVELL REMEMBERED

Readers of THE NEWS doubtless recall Edith Cavell, the English nurse executed as a spy by the Germans in 1915. Capt. Alfred Duff Cooper, member of the British war office staff, said in a recent speech that her punishment was justified by the rules of war.

Miss Cavell, Captain Cooper points out, was a courageous woman who engaged in activities specifically forbidden by the German authorities in Belgium, helping upward of 100 persons to escape from the occupied territory, knowing full well what the penalty would be if she were caught.

When the Germans put her in front of a firing squad, on that October morning in 1915, they did no more than they clearly were entitled to do by rules of "civilized" warfare.

But Captain Cooper hastens to point out that that, afterward, is only half of the story. "Any politician," he adds, "could have told them that the execution was going to arm 100,000 men against Germany."

Anyone interested in digging back into those dreary and tragic war days can see that it was precisely that error which, in the last analysis, did more than anything else to defeat the German war machine; the error of failing to assess the imponderables in deciding on their martial policies.

You can find the same sort of justification for almost everything the Germans did. The invasion of Belgium had ample precedent in Britain's treatment of Copenhagen during the Napoleonic wars.

Unrestricted submarine warfare, the use of poison gas, the bombing of undefended towns by airplanes and zeppelins—these things, after all, stemmed logically from the obvious fact that war is a brutal and bloody business at best, and that any weapon you can use is a good one.

The one thing the German high command forgot was that these things were impolitic. They did the German cause more harm than good, because they helped to solidify the opinion of mankind against it.

Even in a world war, with a nation's life at stake, the force of world opinion cannot be disregarded.

PRESS AGENCIES WILL FURNISH NEWS FOR RADIO BROADCASTING

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—A new system of news broadcasting, designed to give radio stations the benefit of a carefully selected and edited resume of the events of the day and at the same time to protect newspapers from unauthorized use of their news, will go into effect throughout the United States tomorrow.

The plan, worked out by publishers, representatives of press associations and of broadcasting organizations, calls for two five-minute news broadcasts, not earlier than 9:30 a. m. and 9 p. m., standard time in the city in which the broadcasting station is located.

Each broadcast will be for a period of five minutes and will consist of the cream of the news gathered by the Associated Press, the United Press and the International News service, the three largest press associations.

Every broadcasting station in the country is eligible to participate in the dissemination of the news report under the plan worked out by the press-radio bureau of the publishers' national radio committee.

This bureau, with headquarters in New York and with James W. Barrett, experienced newspaperman, in charge, was organized by the publishers, broadcasters and press associations.

To the bureau and to the broadcasting of news each of the three elements is making a contribution. Each of the three press associations gives a copy of its report; the publishers consent to the broadcasting of news which belongs to them and their wire services and the broadcasting stations pay the expense of operating the bureau and of distributing the news among themselves.

The bureau is to be operated on a co-operative basis, the expenses allotted among the stations participating.

The bureau, under Barrett's direction, will select from the whole report of the three associations the most important and interesting news and condense it into a report suitable for a five minute broadcast.

The broadcast in the morning is to be made up of news distributed to morning papers, and the night broadcast from news sent to afternoon papers.

The Columbia Broadcasting system today set 10:30 a. m. and 11:15 p. m., Eastern Standard time, for the two broadcasts over its chain stations in the eastern and central time zones. The National Broadcasting company said that the same times had been selected tentatively for its stations similarly situated.

BLOND GODDESS

A New Serial by HERBERT JENSEN

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame has left Janice Kent, the girl he loves, under the protection of his crippled aviator friend, Bill Langton, in a valley of the Tuxton jungle, and is trying to float to the sea down an underground river in time to save them from the rising flood that will drown them. The malevolent high priest of a jungle tribe is imprisoned with them. Janice, mourning Frank's departure, is trying to forget Frank in sleep.

Chapter 45 CAPTURE

For hours it seemed, she lay wide-eyed staring at the reflections from the fire that shifted over the uneven surface of the cave's roof. Finally she drifted into slumber.

She dreamed restlessly. A kaleidoscope of dream substance shuttled across her mind. Bits of her Hollywood life, fragments of her jungle experience pulled in weird confusion.

Frank's face was there, and Langton's, and that of poor Horatio Greene's mixed up oddly with that of the Mexican boy Juan.

She made again the trip up the side of the pyramid to the high-priest's house. She saw again the canopy of the ritual before the stone of sacrifice. She smelled the resinous odor of copal incense, and heard the dismal thudding of a hidden drum.

The face of the high priest came closer. Even in the dream the chill, inexorable fanaticism of his eyes seemed to shrink the membranes of her soul.

The arms of the guards and the lesser priests seized her. She felt her throat burning in a scream. She struggled desperately.

Her eyes snapped wide. Curious shadows loomed between her and the rosy fire reflections on the cavern roof. A smell of unwashed Indian bodies tingled her nostrils. She struggled to arise but she could not. She was held tightly to her cot.

She heard a voice shouting, charged with pain and despair. "Janice! . . . Janice!"

Suddenly the cavern was filled with light. Torches flared.

The girl saw native faces about her. The crossed rows of cartridges upon their breasts. She realized that she was beyond to her bed. As she widened her bewildered eyes at the scene, the figure of Langton was brought forward between two brawny natives. He was bound-hand and foot—but his eyes flashed and his shoulders writhed in a paroxysm of futile effort.

"They've got us, Janice!" he breathed hoarsely. "This devil called them. . . I know. Helpless, yet he sent them his summons. . . waiting 'til Frank was gone or the rains came!"

She moistened her lips and stared bewildered from brown face to brown face. It was too strange, too dismal for her to accept, she once. She saw the alklin's eyes observing her beyond the circle of faces. His expression was triumphant—incomprehensible.

As she caught his glance he muttered something to one of his attendants. Two men stepped beside him; they lifted him and carried him forward. He addressed the girl in rapid Spanish. She shook her head and turned appealingly to Langton.

But the tall blond white man's eyes showed his incomprehension. Turning to his Indian attendant, the high-priest spoke in the guttural dialect of the subvados.

A space was cleared about the Indian. He pointed to Janice and shook his head; he repeated the gesture toward Langton again shaking his head. He pulled a lock of black hair away from his forehead and nodded.

"He means Frank," muttered Langton. "He's trying to tell us something about Frank."

Whereupon the man took an unmistakable posture. He allowed his body to sag. Slowly he knelt to the floor and stretched himself out upon it. He closed his eyes and let his mouth open.

There could be no doubt of the horrible import of his position. It told Janice as plainly as if Frank were lying before her, that they wanted her to know that Frank was dead!

She cried out distractedly, "No, no! That isn't what he means! Billy, it can't be. How do they know? How could they know?"

Langton, misery in his haggard eyes, glanced sidelong at the high-priest. With the fascination of a bird for a snake's eyes, she followed Langton's glance.

Instantly as she met those obidian depths, the realization surged in her that this man had called to his people across miles of trackless jungle and had commanded them to this hidden valley. What other powers did he possess since he could throw his will over a distance, could it be that he owned also the power of divination?

A little moan broke past her throat. She felt her knees growing weak. "Frank!" she whispered. "Dear God. . . don't let it be!"

Swooning, she fell back upon the cot.

Janice stared dry-eyed over a succession of flat roof tops toward the great central pyramid.

From the platform surmounting the east edifice puffs of incense smoke gathered and disappeared as vagrant wind-eddies blew about the lofty corners of the high-priest's house.

Soon, she realized, she and Billy Langton would proceed slowly up those dizzying steps. Then stretched for agonizing moments on the sacrificial stone, flinching to the inexorable plunge of the knife, they would die, and the bodies be hurled into the depths of the rain-choked cenote.

A snarling and coughing sound came from below the rim of the parapet that bounded the roof top that held their prisoner. She shuddered but stepped to the low wall and looked downward.

She knew what she would see but the seven jungle cats that roamed in the surrounding enclosure fascinated her.

They were jaguars. Like muscles bunched and writhed beneath their black-dappled tawny skins. They were restless—seemingly forever in motion. At night, as she lay in her room below, she could hear them above the drumming rain as they whined and growled, or fought over the scanty scraps of food thrown them by the guards.

They were given just enough to keep them strong, and hungry and ferocious. She rested her elbows on the stone and observed them. As if by some uncanny instinct they lifted their heads and looked at her.

Their yellow eyes gleamed, a whine of craving sounded in their throats; almost as one beast they flattened to the ground—only the tips of their tails moved.

An involuntary trembling rippled across her shoulders. Without looks or bars she was constrained to her prison. Remindful of a water moat about a castle in the days of chivalry, this was a moat of living, hungry jaguars.

It was nearly a week since she had been placed here. The soldiers of the alklin had hauled them by means of ropes up the concave walls of the valley-cenote and had carried them back to the city.

Since then it had rained incessantly. She knew—the women detailed as her servants had told her in pantomime—that when the rain ceased she and Billy were to be taken to the pyramid top. There would be no escape this time.

Even could they get so far as the underground river, that avenue was closed by the rains that had charged the caverns with water. The jungle, soaked with the continuous downfall, was impassable.

Had Frank got to the sea through the caverns—and her faith had rallied from the high-priest's intimation that he had not—it would take weeks for him to travel through the morass that lay between the coast and this hidden city.

Hopelessly she walked about the roof. Today the rain had ceased. The sky was clear except for occasional sullen groups of clouds that hung in patches across the blue.

She was grateful for this day in the open, but prayed, nevertheless for rain. She and Billy would not be molested while it rained.

The roof was like a garden—a lovely, sinister garden. Rare tropic shrubbery was placed cunningly about. Fine fabrics were draped over the simple furniture. Upon a central palm-shaded table a huge bowl of fruits and condiments was set.

Her clothing, which had been taken from her while she slept, had been replaced with an ankle-length robe of finest linen adorned at the throat and hem with the most exquisite colored embroidery she had ever seen.

She had no cause to complain about her comfort. She had been given everything she might desire—except freedom.

Wearied with her pacing, she sat finally upon a divan and watched the sun arc toward the west. It painted the pyramid with a russet daubed in gold.

As it sank lower the gold changed to rose, then deepened to red. The red darkened to the varnished sheen of fresh blood!

Tomorrow, Janice approaches the supreme sacrifice.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL. And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a chafe, bad taste and sour breath. You feel sick often breaks out in blisters. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, herbage, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. Best drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

The Public Wants Airwheels

---HERE'S WHY?

THERE'S a new kind of tire rushing into favor like wildfire.

You've seen it on smart new cars—that big, buoyant, super-soft doughnut-type tire called Airwheel.*

Imagine riding in a deep soft easy chair—that's the story.

But there's a catch in it. It's so new most tire-makers lack experience with it, haven't yet learned how to build it.

That's why the big majority of fine motor cars equipping with this new type tire in 1934 are going overwhelmingly Goodyear.

They've made tests, strength and mileage comparisons, and know the answer.

They know Goodyear pioneered, developed, perfected this new type of tire years ahead of the rest.

They know that today Goodyear is manufacturing more than four times as many tires of this type as all other time makers combined.

If men who make motor cars take no chances, why should you?

Remember, the very word AIRWHEEL* is Goodyear's exclusive trade-mark, registered in the U. S. A. and throughout the world!

The Genuine Airwheel*

You're going to ride on Airwheels* in future if you want the most comfort you can get out of your car.

It's the coming tire—the period of experiment and hesitation is past.

The principle is proved. The public wants the easy-riding comfort of big air volume and low pressure.

Alert motor car makers are flocking to the opportunity and the big parade of 1934 models will have Airwheels* as standard equipment.

WHEN TO INSIST

But every reason for wanting this new type of tire is a reason for insisting on Goodyears. The tire is new to most makers; Goodyear pioneered it years in advance of the industry. That means that Goodyear alone has had years of experience in its manufacture and successful use.

The measure of that margin is that far more people ride on Goodyear Airwheel Tires than on all other makes of low pressure "super-soft" tires combined!

BIG BENEFITS YOU WANT

You get all-day comfort for the driver when you get Goodyears—easy steering—easy parking! You get stability at all speeds—complete freedom from tramp and quiver and shimmy.

The tire is built to a natural permanent shape—not an impermanent artificial shape—and that natural shape is retained throughout its life.

There's no loss of motor power in Goodyears. There's exceptionally steady road-holding performance on turns.

No side-sway—no roll—no vibration—no strain—no driver exhaustion.

Just complete confidence, maximum ease, and that's real comfort.

IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENTS NOW

We first built the Airwheel* to give airplanes soft safe landings on rough fields and treacherous ground.

We went on developing it for busses, trucks and motor cars, bettering it every step in the process. We designed the right contour, the right tread, the right rim, even the right brakes especially for airplane use.

That's why the Goodyear Airwheel* we offer you now can present these important improvements:

- 1—Greater air capacity—larger cross section—easier riding
- 2—More rubber in tread and sides—longer wear
- 3—Balanced design—safety proportions in tread, sidewall and bead
- 4—Natural shape—unchanging throughout the life of the tire—producing even wear
- 5—Dependable stability—freedom from tramp and shimmy
- 6—Powerful breaker strip—better tread and body union
- 7—Flatter, wider tread—more tread design mileage—more total tread wear—more non-skid

PLUS

Supertwist body and hard-grip All-Weather Tread as before—with all they mean in matchless durability, safety and appearance.

You'll probably be enjoying buoyant super-soft tires soon.

But don't buy blindly; get the right tire the first time.

Follow the lead of the car makers and of the informed motorists whose search and final judgment lead them to Goodyears.

Then you'll be sure of getting the genuine Airwheel* and the full satisfaction to be had from this coming type of tire!

See us for a change-over price on your car—We can equip almost any of the late model cars from 1930 on. Make your '31, '32, or '33 a 1934 model with all the safety and comfort that only AIRWHEELS can give you.

ROOSEVELT'S EVENTFUL YEAR AS PRESIDENT CLOSES SOON

ECONOMIC LIFE OF NATION HAS BEEN CHANGED

PRESIDENT LED, NATION HAS FOLLOWED WILLINGLY

BY RADER WINGET, Associated Press Staff Writer.

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT faced 100,000 tense citizens March 4, 1933, in a chill Washington wind.

It was inauguration day... his fingers touched the Bible... Banks were closed. Presses rolled scrip. The gold standard was fading. Hoarders were watched. Business stood still.

The new president promptly convened congress... showed messages around its ears... asked for the most drastic peace-time powers in history.

A year of action had started. "Only a foolish optimist can deny the dark realities of the moment."

March Messages.

Major messages in March:

March 9... control of banks...

March 10... Economy in government...

March 11... farm relief...

March 12... Unemployment relief through direct grants to states...

March 13... Supervision of securities sales...

March 14... Let the seller beware...

Congress balked slightly, but voted him an almost free hand.

The people sent 14,000 telegrams in 12 days, took it calmly when the gold standard was abandoned.

When beer came the W. C. T. U. warned, "beer makes women fat."

The first case sent to Roosevelt was given to newspaper men.

He urged repeal. Michigan voted first. Others rapidly oked his recommendation.

April 3 message... Relief to farmers from mortgages...

April 13... Relief to small home owners.

The Thomas amendment to the AAA was drawn. Conservatives screamed, "inflation. But inflationists screamed, "more."

May 17... "I recommend two further steps in our national campaign to put people back to work."

That was the NRA with its blue eagle and the $3,000,000,000 public works program. It promised higher wages, a partnership of government and business, an end to unfair competition.

The "brain trust" mobilized, and the TVA was projected as an experiment in social planning.

"We earned bellyhoo ourselves back to prosperity."

Bonus marchers, grumbling over their lot, moved on the White House. They asked for money; he gave them work.

He chatted with MacDonald of England to arrive at a "clearer understanding," and to 54 nations he said, "the way to disarm is to disarm." They applauded, continued talking and arming.

Conservatives berated dictatorship... Roosevelt prayers were said... repeal speed was urged... churchmen attacked him... he received his first 21-gun salute.

"I have no expectation of making a hit every time I come to bat."

To the world economic conference in July he outlined America's "independent dollar"... prices rose...

"The U. S. is not ready for stabilization"... dollar fell... managed currency plans were laid... ranks of economists split wide.

First Code Effective.

July 17... a milestone... textile code No. 1 was effective. He cautioned against overproduction, warned of the fall slump, appealed to the nation to accept the blanket code.

To Secretary Ickes he gave the oil administration, counseled with Geo. Warren and Irving Fisher, advocates of managed money.

September... The coal code was signed, 8,000 pieces of mail arrived daily, bankers pledged support, NRA paraders had some fees.

October... "We have a long way to go, but we are on the way."

He bearded Legionnaires in their Chicago den, said they should not be preferred over other citizens... laid a wreath on Anton J. Cermak's grave.

Legislation pried at frozen bank accounts, chiselers were branded, retailers coded.

Then gold... the RFC started buying newly mined metal at higher and higher prices... Europe was mystified.

Al Smith decried baloney dollars... others called them rubber... Secretary Woodin left his treasury post in ill health... Economist Sprague left in a huff.

Russia Recognized.

Roosevelt rejected the western governors' price fixing plan, created the CWA to shift 4,000,000 from relief to employment rolls.

Russia was recognized, and just before Christmas he ratified the world silver pact, paid miners higher prices.

Repeal was proclaimed, lynching condemned, employment agreements extended.

Passengers Are Rescued From Sinking Vessel

HELSINGFORS, Finland, March 1 (AP)—All fifty of the passengers aboard the Polish steamer Ziesaya, dangerously near sinking in violent seas near Macelliot Island, were taken off the stricken vessel today by a salvage ship.

The salvage steamer Juaneekarha, which effected the rescue, had reported hours earlier by wireless that she had reached the neighborhood of Ziesaya, but was unable to pull alongside because of high seas.

SOS calls were flashed from the vessel and rockets were fired when she struck the rocks last night.

Later, wireless messages said the Ziesaya was unable to pull alongside because of high seas.

Other messages told of attempts by the crew to launch lifeboats in the darkness which came with the extinguishing of all lights after the stoppage of auxiliaries.

Ice-breakers and other steamers plowed through the heavy seas, joining the salvage steamer in the race to the scene of the wreck.

Several Estonian athletes on their way to Helsingfors were among the passengers.

Entire Cabinet Of Premier Of Spain Resigns

MADRID, March 1 (AP)—The entire government of Premier Alejandro Lerroux resigned today.

Reorganization of the ministry had been considered last night by Premier Lerroux after it was announced that two ministers—Diego Martinez Barrios, of the department of the interior, and Minister of the Treasury Gomez Lara—planned to resign.

However, the resignation of the entire cabinet, reorganized on Jan. 23, came as a surprise move.

When Lerroux went to the private residence of President Niceto Alcalá Zamora, it was believed he had gone to present the resignations of Martinez and Lara.

The two had threatened to quit when the largest minority supporting party, the Catholic agrarian action of 117 deputies, reached a decision to oppose government policies.

Many believed this group might withdraw from its stand provided the two ministers stepped out of the government.

It was explained that with Martinez Barrios and Lara out, agrarian leaders believed that would be able to put through two of their projects—amnesty for certain political prisoners and subsidies for the rural clergy.

RECITAL THIS EVENING

The public is invited to an unusual recital this evening at 8, when speech pupils of Mrs. Helen Turner will appear in a program at the city hall club rooms. The recital will take the form of a playlet, "Party Minded," in which all the pupils will appear.

Mail volume: 18,000 letters daily.

January... Congress opened, docile, willing. It heard with few gasps his fiscal policy leading to a public debt of 31 billion dollars by June 30, 1935.

Roosevelt in the closing months of his first year... Said—"It is our task to go forward."

Asked—A 50-60-cent dollar, all the gold in the nation, a two billion dollar exchange equalization fund... and got it.

Pegged—the dollar at 59.06 cents, gold at $35 an ounce.

Said—"We have made great strides toward the objectives."

Observed—His 52nd birthday.

Cancelled—Commercial air mail contracts.

Asked—Communications regulation.

Planned—A 50-year economic policy for the nation.

Promised—Soldier bonus veto.

Said—"Now that we are definitely in the process of recovery..."

Oil Field News

The new March schedule for the Panhandle field was issued from the local office of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission yesterday afternoon. It became effective at 7 o'clock this morning.

The allowable for the month is 52,000 barrels and the percentage of prorable oil allowed 17.68 per cent. A deduction of 3.82 per cent in marginal oil was deducted. Some marginal wells will not make their potential and others are produced only six days a week.

Panhandle potential increased from 165,574 barrels to 168,645 between February 6 and the date of the new schedule. The amount of prorable oil also increased from 136,885 barrels to 140,482 barrels. Gray county had most of the new production.

The summary total for March follows: Wells 1,857; potential 168,645 barrels; marginal oil after deduction 25,216 barrels; exempt oil 1,947 barrels; prorable oil 140,482 barrels; allowable 52,000 barrels.

The Gray county figures are: Wells 647; potential 120,455 barrels; marginal oil after deduction 13,760 barrels; exempt oil 731 barrels; prorable oil 105,418 barrels; allowable 33,130 barrels.

WORKING MAN HAS INNING IN NRA HEARINGS

BIG EMPLOYERS DEFY GOVERNMENT, SAYS JOHNSON AIDE

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Labor spokesmen in NRA, stung by wholesale complaints, sought today to win a showdown for the working man at the coming assembly of code authorities.

The battering of the assembled complainants, invited by Hugh S. Johnson to say their worst in an open forum, went right ahead.

Officials showed the strain as witness followed witness to complain that code hour limits were being stretched out of all meaning; that wage levels were being reduced by various devices; that industrialists by intimidation, espionage and other means were crushing unionization; and—worst of all—that complaints without end had been made to NRA with almost negligible response.

It was Edward F. McGrady, right-hand man to Johnson and assistant secretary of labor, who launched a systematic analysis of the complaints to dig out ammunition for next week.

It was McGrady who burst out with a declaration that it was "time to rip the curtain off" they charged defiance of the government by big employers on the union issue.

He proposed to demand that John's already outlined program of reform be expanded to include a curb on the stretching of working hours.

He wanted also some means of preventing reduction of average wages by reclassifying workers or displacing veterans with new help, and elimination of sex differentials from every code.

NRA industrial assistants conceded that the testimony already gathered left no room for doubt that wide abuses existed, though they would not quite agree with one witness, Gerald Smith of Louisiana, who shouted that 18th amendment violations "were a Sunday school picnic compared to the violation of the national industrial recovery act."

Oil Test Spudded In Near Shamrock

SHAMROCK, March 1 (AP)—Interest in Wheeler county oil circles now is centered on the spudding in of the Piney Oil & Gas company No. 1 Mangins, an offset to the Osborne No. 1 Admire "A", seven miles east of Shamrock.

The Piney location is 330 feet from the south line and 330 feet within the east line of the west half of the southeast quarter of section 54, block 13, H. & G. N. survey.

Osborne No. 1, is making about 400 barrels and it is expected that several new drilling permits will be authorized soon.

The Meyers & Kennedy, section 67, block 13, which is about one and one-half miles north of the Osborne well, is drilling at 400 feet.

Eleven Credit Associations to Attend School

PLAINVIEW, March 1 (AP)—Officials of eleven production credit associations of northwest Texas will convene in Plainview March 2, for a two-day school. Owen W. Sherrill, secretary, will be here from the Houston office and conduct a school for secretaries, of the recently formed associations. In addition to the secretaries, members of the board of directors and officers of the local associations have been invited.

Capital of these eleven associations is $1,000,000.

Secretary-treasurers of the associations to be represented are: Amarillo, E. L. Shelton; Canadian, C. W. Allen; Crowell, T. N. Boll; Dalhart, J. M. Stensaaas; Haskell, V. M. Meadows; Lubbock, Sim O'Neal; Memphis, Morgan P. Bryan; Muleshoe, C. R. Elliott; Plainview, Frank P. Bain; Spur, James B. Reed.

Busy Bee Club's Party is Unique

The first recreational event of the year for the Busy Bee Home Demonstration club was a "chop and chips" party Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Ferguson. The word recreation denotes relaxation and play, and that is what it meant to the club on this occasion. The Washington birthday theme was stressed both in decorations and refreshments. Tiny hatchets literally dripped from the rooms and the table covers. Hatchet games and others were enjoyed. Refreshments of pork chops, potato chips, chopped vegetable salad, with chopped fruits and hatchet shaped cookies for dessert, were served. Marshmallows dipped in red and blue icing and topped with little hatchets decorated the plates.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Boyd and daughter, Melba; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stonecipher and children, Christine, Paul, and Donald; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Lance and children; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Champion and children, Helen and W. D. Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ferguson, W. L. and Carl Ferguson. Miss Adams gave a very effective demonstration of five types of cookies, dropped, filled, spread, rolled, and refrigerator cookies. She gave a number of new cookie recipes also. Another quartet, Maurine Pearce, Marjorie Enloe, Erdine Benton, and Hester Lester, was directed by Roy Wallraabenstein. A mock wedding presented by junior girls was a hilarious feature. Principle J. A. Meek of Baker introduced a drill team and a clarinet quartet directed by Walter Hurst. Next week boys will present the program, with Woodrow Wilson pupils as their program guests.

Four Cattlemen Given Praise

MIAMI, Mar. 1.—Judge H. E. Hoover and M. W. McIntyre of Canadian and Paul McMeans and Frank Risor of Miami have received much praise for their work as representatives of the Northeast Panhandle Feeders association. They have been untiring in their efforts to line up West Texas cattlemen to support the bill to include cattle as a basic commodity. Not only has their work taken a thorough effect throughout West Texas, but also in New Mexico and Southeastern Arizona. These four men have become the "Four Horsemen" of the Panhandle cattle industry. Judge Hoover recently remarked, "In the Texas Panhandle we used to put cattle thieves in the pen and now we put them in the asylum." That very neatly sums up the cattle condition at present, but with the good work continuing, it cannot last much longer. CRIME DOES NOT PAY. RALEIGH, Tenn.—Somewhere a bunch of thieves probably wonder if the loot was worth the trouble. Breaking into the local post office, robbers worked hard but unsuccessfully to open a steel safe, combed carefully through papers and drawers in the building—and escaped with 50 pennies. Mrs. C. C. Worley will leave Pampa hospital this afternoon for her home.

Modern Drama Is Study Club Topic

A study of American drama and stories in relation to their effect on the home child was started in the Child Study club with Tuesday's program. Mrs. Roy Tinsley was hostess at the city club rooms, and Mrs. Lee Harrah was program leader. The subject was modern drama. Mrs. Harrah chose Eugene O'Neill as the most representative American playwright. She sketched his life, and characteristics of his work, then reviewed the play, "Mourning Becomes Electra." Members present were Mmes. Hugh Stennis, Horace McBea, R. H. Thompson, Robert Gilchrist, Sherman Roberts, Harrah, Sherman White, and Tinsley.

Canadian Kats Beat Panhandle Girls 46 to 35

NADIAN, Mar. 1.—In a closely contested game, the Canadian Kats took the first game of a series Panhandle for the district title last night at Panhandle, 46 to 35.

Outstanding features of the game were the teamwork of the Canadian forwards and the rigid line of the Panhandle guards.

Miller scored 15 and 12 points respectively. Barnes and Felts tied for scoring honors for Panhandle with 13 points each.

There are more than 50 boys in uniform, and about the same number waiting to come out. It is a prediction. Practice is down to the point where carrying the ball and running interference are in progress.

There are a bunch of ex-Gorillas out there that are going to make things tough for Harvester lettermen of last year, and that is not a prediction.

Seventeen Harvester lettermen were among the number to report for spring training. Only six of them, however, could be called regulars from last year.

David Dallas and Sammy Wiseman of Bogart were visitors in Pampa yesterday afternoon.

Harvesters Switched From One Position to Another In Football Practice.

Linemen in the backfield, backfield men in the line, guards at end, tackles at center and other strange sights greet the eyes of onlookers who drive out of Frost street to the Sam Houston playground, where the 1934 Harvester prospects are at work in a spring training program.

Coach Odus Mitchell is not overlooking a bet this year. If a lineman shows better in the backfield, and vice versa, a change will probably result.

Art Shires Has Talking Rival—George Moyer

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 1 (AP)—Art Shires, the talking baseball player, had better look to his oral laurels, because George Moyer is headed for the big leagues.

Moyer, a visitor at the baseball school here, admitted he was just one of Connie Mack's rookie pitchers, but added nonchalantly that he contemplated winning 30 games for the Athletics this season.

After he stated he thought Dizzy Dean, a member of the school's faculty and a National League pitcher, was a "fair" hurler and that Burleigh Grimes couldn't show him a thing about pitching, Moyer was asked to demonstrate his ability.

Moyer grabbed a ball, hooked his long, lean fingers around the horsehide and defied members of the school to take it from his grasp.

RUSSIA PLANS TO RESCUE 101 FROM ICE FLOE

Three Aviators Are In U. S. Awaiting Orders. MOSCOW, March 1 (AP)—A Russian rescue commission laid plans today to extend to Alaskan bases, if necessary, an expedition to save 101 men and women marooned on an ice floe in the Bering straits, off northern Siberia.

Ten members of the Wrangel island expedition whose vessel, the Cheluskina, sank February 13, are reported to be suffering severely from weakness and exposure. Two small children are among them.

Three Russia aviators, one of whom flew to the aid of Jimmy Mattern when he cracked his plane in a forced landing on his round-the-world flight, arrived in New York yesterday with orders to proceed to Washington and await orders from Moscow.

RASPUTIN

"It is quite natural," replied the prince quietly. "I am not a professional murderer." Weir dived in Rasputin's study were described by the prince, in explaining hypnosis.

As proof he had not entirely lost his head at the time of the slaying, the prince said he sang songs to the monk for half an hour before playing him with poisoned cakes and wine.

Then, he testified, he shot him and clubbed the head and bleeding form when shot from a co-conspirator's gun apparently had not finished the gruesome task.

Details of the ghastly death, including Rasputin's "look of hatred" with a frothing mouth, he turned toward the prince, realizing he had been poisoned, Youssouffoff added new detail.

Plans had been made to substitute a double for the monk, he said. The double was to have been seen leaving the palace on the night of the killing to the fate which befell Rasputin would not be suspected.

The monk, it was brought out, was shot as he stood examining a crucifix. He fell heavily backward upon a bearskin rug. Youssouffoff related and "roared like a wild beast."

Youssouffoff later led consciousness and others took the body and dumped it into the River Neva, the court was told.

Rains Fall Over West Texas Areas

By The Associated Press. March came in like a lion in Texas today with a heavy general rain following close on the heels of the coldest weather of the winter.

Rainfall of more than a half-inch was recorded at Plainview after midnight and the drizzle continued.

A slow, soaking rain which began at midnight continued during the morning at Vernon and totaled 1.30 inch. The temperature was 34.

Amarillo was in the north edge of an area which received light rain and snow. Denver reported .51 inch and a light snow fell at Lockney. Showers and snow were reported along the south plains line from Childress to Dimmitt. Childress had one inch, Clarendon 25.

Texans Protest XER Radio Bill

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Representative Thompson (D., Tex.) and W. F. Boggs of Del Rio, Texas, protested today approval of a bill to give the federal radio commission power to prevent any person from broadcasting in a foreign country by remote control from the United States.

They declared it was a general measure directed against a specific station, namely XER operated by Dr. John R. Brinkley at Del Rio. This station maintains studios in Del Rio, but the programs are broadcast from a station across the Mexican border by remote control.

Death Divulges McGee's Secret

NEW YORK, Mar. 1 (AP)—Death divulged the secret of William F. McGee, whose name made the headlines in the heyday of the bucket shop a decade ago.

Penniless and broken, McGee died in a hospital last night, under an assumed name. It was not until police checked fingerprints that he was identified as the man who went to prison with Edward M. Fuller back in 1927 as the result of a flamboyant bucket shop trial.

McGee, although he must have suspected he was dying of atrophy of the liver, kept the secret of his identity to the last. Police records said he was wanted in Chicago in a "marriage racket" and also in Waukegan, Ill.

Friends are said to have sent an appeal to Chicago asking his former wife, Louise Crosby, actress, for funds to bury him.

As a result of the trial of McGee and Fuller, the bar association made an attempt to discipline the pair's attorney—the noted William J. Fannin—but the appellate division of the supreme court dismissed the case in 1926.

Judge To Allow Women To Laugh At Dean Trial

GREENWOOD, Miss., March 1 (AP)—Filib arguments—submitted under Mississippi law—were started today by the murder trial of Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, charged with poisoning Dr. John Preston Kennedy last July.

"You can take the bride off and hang it on the gatepost," presiding Judge S. F. Davis told opposing counsel. "There's no limit on your speeches."

Judge Davis had a word for the jang of spectators' mostly women, crowded into his court.

"If you get tickled and want to laugh moderately, you can," he said. "But we won't have any applauding or hurrahing here."

Teacher Charged

SWEETWATER, March 1 (AP)—Noel E. Boelter, principal of the Fairview school in Mitchell county, was held in the Howard county jail today pending arraignment Monday at Colorado on an indictment charging a criminal attack on a 13-year-old farm girl who was a pupil in his school.

PU-YI AND SPECTATORS SUFFER FROM COLD AT CORONATION

HEAVY GUARD PROTECTS NEW MANCHU RULER

SON OF HEAVEN GIVEN CROWN IN 'COLD' CEREMONY

By JAMES A. MILLS
(Copyrighted, 1934.
By The Associated Press)

HSINKING (Changchun), Manchukuo, Mar. 1. (AP)—A new dynasty was born today under the protecting gaze of more than 50,000 soldiers when Henry Pu-Yi became Kang Teh, emperor of "the great Manchukuo empire."

A bullet-proof limousine, made in America, carried him to and from the imperial palace. Barbed wire stockades kept back the throngs. Everywhere were the soldiers—Manchukuoan and Japanese.

They formed human walls along the five-mile route from the palace to the "altar of heaven." For every three Manchukuoan soldiers there was one Japanese trooper in the lines.

It was bitter cold—below zero. At the "altar of heaven" the small handful of foreigners—mostly newspapermen, including many Americans—stood in the required evening dress and without hats, literally freezing as they were forced to stand for nearly two hours on the bare earth at the altar.

The ceremonies, both secular and religious, lasted less than half an hour, though for the spectators there were added the rigors of long waiting in the severe cold.

The Japanese army enforced sharp restrictions and regulations to protect the new ruler. Except for a few groups of invited Manchus, Chinese and Japanese (who were carefully herded behind the barbed wire stockades 300 feet from the imperial procession) there were no spectators.

Henceforth, the Japanese-protected Manchurian empire will be known as "Ta Manchukuo"—the "Great Manchukuo Empire."

The 28-year-old emperor, formerly plain "Mr. Pu-Yi" as chief executive of the Japanese-occupied state, was given the name "Kang Teh," meaning tranquility and virtue.

Simultaneously with the elevation of the new ruler, his invalid wife, Yuch Kuan, was vested with the dignities of queenhood, although her health precluded her participation in the ceremonies.

Thinking—far from resembling a city in celebration—bore more the appearance of a capital in a stage of siege. The public, because of the overwhelming fear in military circles that attempts would be made to assassinate the emperor, was barred not only from the religious ceremonies but from the line of march.

power that protects you, that surrounds you with the advantages of advanced civilization, and that makes it possible for you to achieve results. Speak well of it. Stand by it. Stand for its civic and commercial supremacy. If you must obstruct or decry those who strive to help, why—quit the town. But as long as you are a part of a locality, do not belittle it. If you do, you are belittling the benefits that hold you to the community, and with the first high wind that comes along you will be uprooted, and blown away, and probably you will never know why.

An interesting tract comes to hand telling about a man who divided his possessions equally between his two sons and yet gave all to one son. To one he left a farm worth $25,000 and to the other $25,000 in tax free municipal bonds. The one owning the farm quickly discovered that his taxes amounted to more than his profits. In short the farm was, and continued to be over a period of years, a liability and it became a greater and greater one as people in the town pushed over bonds for highways and a new court house.

Among those who urged the bond issues was the farm owner's brother who had inherited the tax free bonds. This brother was receiving a nice income from his bonds without any liability whatever. In addition he had obtained a position as a clerk in a store. The brother invested the income from his bonds by buying tax free county bonds. The brother not only had nice clothes but a new car. The farm owner had mortgaged his land until he finally lost it in a forced sale. This example magnified many times in every community through the country will serve to illustrate the tax burden in this country which should be equalized immediately.

HUEY Long! That is a name to arouse a warm conversation in almost any group. Call him a fool, a name and you will find some one to condemn and another to defend him. But say what you will, the man has ideas and is adept at spreading them. He plays upon the emotions of the people. We have a form letter from Huey and a printed tract appealing to the "people of America to organize a Share Our Wealth society in every community."

Huey says he is trying to show the people what is necessary to get them something to eat, clothing to wear, and homes in which to live. He quotes the oft-repeated truth that "America is a land of too much to eat, and too much to wear, and too many houses; yet people are underclothed and starving, and some are homeless unless they get on some kind of relief—and some are more than half starved to death even on that." Huey doesn't intend to stop merely helping the poor man. He thinks the concentration of wealth into the hands of the very rich "has become so bad that, like cannibals, the rich have begun to chew up one another."

So it was that the streets were all but deserted when, clad in gorgeous ceremonial robes of silks in ancient pattern, the monarch entered his bulletproof car for the journey to the "altar of heaven." At this altar, built of Manchukuo earth and located at Shuntien, a southern suburb, the slender, blue-spectacled ruler went through the religious rites. The secular ceremonies came afterward at the palace. Pu-Yi offered successive sacrifices of jewels, silks, grain, meat, wine and sacred fire—thus becoming the "son of heaven" and ruling sovereign over Manchukuo's 34,000,000 Chinese, Manchus, Mongols and others.

According to ancient and modern Chinese ideology and practice, the mere act of Pu-Yi's sacrificing to heaven invested him with "divine authority to rule."

mundane noises or human activities might mar the celestial quiet.

With the sacrificial rites completed, the Manchukuo and Japanese officials present prostrated themselves as the emperor descended.

Obviously chilled by the sub-zero weather which persisted despite a bright sun, the man who, to all intents and purposes was now supreme earthly pontiff of the new empire, donned his fur coat and reentered the bullet-proof motor car.

He was whisked back through the same closely pressed lines of soldiers, detectives and police for the vital functions of enthronement at the palace.

DERN BREAKS WITH SOLONS ON AIR PLANS

FLAYS COMMITTEE FOR HUGE EXPANSION PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—Secretary Dorn snatched a "beyond any sane estimate" label today across congressional plans for a wide expansion of army aviation.

The war department and its one-time traditional ally, the house military affairs committee, thereupon broke off friendly relations. The committee promptly prepared a counterblast of its own.

Dorn singled out for attack two bills introduced by Chairman McSwain, one of which would give the army 4,394 new planes. In a statement to the committee he termed them "one-sided," "partisan," and "prompted by self-interest."

"The first of these two bills," he said, "would provide an air force so far beyond any sane estimate of our defensive needs, and so costly, that its passage could be construed by the world only an evidence either of ardent militarism, or immediate war."

McSwain for his part invited the war secretary to come up and tell his committee about it. He added:

"The committee has several times requested Secretary Dorn to appear before it and explain his attitude, but he has never come. We are still ready to have him appear at his convenience."

McSwain said he would apply all possible pressure to have the house adopt a resolution to authorize a committee investigation of all army procurement methods.

Secretary Dorn took opportunity to crack back at a recent criticism by Representative McFarlane (D., Texas) that this country's best military planes were worse than those of most other powers.

"Belgium could beat the United States in an air combat," said the Texas.

"The performance of our airplanes equal, and in some instances exceed those of any other military airplanes in the world," replied Dorn.

The war secretary's argument to the committee was that aviation is only one arm of a "well-balanced and defense force."

Educators Urge Social Control Of All 'Owners'

CLEVELAND, March 1. (AP)—A warning that "a dying laissez faire must be completely destroyed" was voiced today at the national education association's convention.

"A large degree of social control is necessary and education should be geared to the 'New America,' said a report presented to the association's department of superintendency by Willard E. Givens, as chairman of "general subject committee 'No. IV.'" Givens is superintendent of schools at Oakland, Cal.

The report was described as resulting "from the thinking together of more than 1,000 members of the department." On the premise that "we are now entering an epoch in which man can bring forth a civilization of abundance, of tolerance and of beauty," providing "drastic changes" are made, the report declared:

"All of us, including the 'owners,' must be subjected to a large degree of social control. A large section of our discussion group maintain that in our fragile inter dependent society the credit agencies, the basic industries and utilities cannot be centrally planned and operated under private ownership.

"Hence, they will join in creating a swift nation-wide campaign of adult education which will support President Roosevelt in taking over and operating them at full capacity as a unified national system in the interest of all the people."

FRENCH PRESIDENT IS DICTATOR OF TARIFF—BUDGET IS BALANCED

By JOHN EVANS
Associated Press Foreign Staff
PARIS, Mar. 1. (AP)—The parliament of France, red-eyed from long struggle, balanced the budget today and, bowing to the insistence of the venerable, determined premier, Gaston Doumergue, made him a tariff dictator.

The 1934 budget gives a surplus of nine million francs revenue over estimated expenditures. The latter are fixed at 48,318,570,000 francs, or $3,140,707,050.

The vote on the budget in the chamber of deputies was 458 to 132, and in the senate 284 to 15.

Just before acting on the budget the parliament granted Doumergue dictatorial powers to effect governmental economies and to manipulate tariffs in negotiating trade treaties.

By these legislative triumphs the 71-year-old Doumergue accomplished within three weeks something four preceding premiers failed to achieve in bitter parliamentary struggles which began last October.

With the country's finances thus assured for the year, the premier's hands were freed to press the investigation of the Stavisky banking scandal, in which investors lost $40,000,000 when the municipal pawnshop failed at Bayonne, to ally with rest in and out of parliament and to tackle urgent problems of foreign policy firmly and resolutely.

To avoid the long, slow process of having various parliamentary committees examine the budget and report on it, Premier Doumergue and his finance minister, Louis Germain-Martin, accepted one of the old budget plans—previously reported out of committee—and not authority to top off a billion and a half francs by degrees.

With his "political truce" cabinet, the premier knew he could command a big majority for anything that savored of common sense so long as he could show that it was part of his plan to save the country from the "serious situation" that came to a tragic climax, February 6, when the troops that protected the chamber from besieging columns of veterans and rioters turned guns on the people.

HUNTING MISHAP FATAL
SAN ANGELO, Mar. 1. (AP)—Nigle R. Lowrance, 29, died here early this morning of a bullet wound in his abdomen. Lowrance was wounded Wednesday afternoon while hunting when he jumped a ditch on the Fred Roe place in Coke county. A small gun he had in his belt accidentally discharged. A companion, Fred Roe, Jr., went for help and Albert Roe, Jr., stayed with the injured man. Lowrance for 14 years was with the Harley Sadler show. His body is being sent to Robinson, Ill., for burial. The widow survives.

Liquor Legal In Capital After 17 Prohibition Years

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—Police dashed through the capital like modern Paul Revere early today to spread word of "legal liquor" after 17 years of prohibition.

Citizens by thousands cheered as police cars, sirens open, rushed to deliver retail liquor permits to 200 clubs, restaurants, hotels and night clubs. The dash started on the dot of midnight.

Just as Washington was at least allegedly dried up by the Sheppard act long before national prohibition, so it was late in returning lawfully wet.

In the crowds at the nightspots were many of the personages who are nationally recognized by day. But the imbibers were orderly, and by local law the supply was shut off at 2 a. m.

Others waited for their first legal sips until 1,000 licensed retail establishments opened at 9 a. m. for sale of the drink.

The National Press club, whose license was No. 1, claimed to have popped the first proper cork.
