With the weather all jumbled, we don't know whether we have a summer cold in the winter, a winter cold in the summer, or simply a spring cold in the spring.

Mrs. Gushaway says Pampa husbands get very meekly after every dust storm. Yeah, and when our mother-in-law starts dusting, we know better than to talk about the glories of West Texas.

But we're vindicated. We said the last snow had not fallen, and it hadn't.

The West Foster grouch says that old-time folks who believed in almanacs have lost their faith and have little to cling to any more.

Well, if the best fliers are not in the army and if the best gunmen are in the underworld, how can the colonels and generals longer maintain their accustomed dignity?

Brevitorials

Musings of the moment: Our almanac warns us to learn the value of silence. Maybe we should send the book to Huey Long. Ours has become an impudent nation. Many persons we meet have no special criticism for NRA, but are wondering what Mr. Roosevelt will try next. . . . Even the strictest prohibitionists imbibed much alcohol without knowing it. For instance, there's vinegar; it's strong in alcohol. Today's synonyms, for dull: Vapid, tedious, jejune, drear, humdrum, prosaic, flat.

CWA, with all of its short-comings born of poor cooperation between affected units of government, meant more to millions of jobless men than other forms of federal relief. The home loan plan, for instance, bogged down in red tape and inadequate legislation. Agricultural loans and allotment bonuses, while life-savers for many farmers, are not great enough to pay off mortgage demands. Those persons who obtained jobs because of NRA were most fortunate of all, but those already employed have felt keenly the increases in retail prices without accompanying wage boosts. But business generally has grown steadily better and business men of the average American city, finds investigators for 'The NEWS' feature service, are favorable to the basic idea of NRA. But the

Japan And United States Exchange Notes Denying War Rumors

BOTH NATIONS PLEDGE PEACE IN MESSAGES

REASONS UNDERLYING JAP MOVE WHET CURIOSITY

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)—The United States and Japan today "shook hands across the Pacific" in a significant exchange of notes mutually pledging peace.

Koki Hirota, foreign minister of Japan, in a formal note to Roosevelt administration diplomatic chiefs here asserted the Nippon government "has no intention whatever to provoke and make trouble with any other power."

Secretary Hull, evidently scanning reported war clouds in the far east, based on strained relations between Japan and Soviet Russia, replied:

"I receive this statement with special gratification. I am glad to take this opportunity to state categorically that the United States on its part has no desire to create any issues and no intention to initiate any conflict in its relations with other countries."

The Hirota-Hull exchange was the first such passage of good will notes since President Roosevelt took office more than a year ago.

The allowable will become effective at 7 a. m. (Standard Time) at the place of production April 1.

Each of the 18 oil production states was allowed a larger production, the largest increase 32,800 barrels—going to Texas, the heaviest producing area.

VOODOOISM, SCREAMS OF TERROR, CLUTCHING HANDS, WILL FEATURE 'CAT AND CANARY' THURSDAY EVE

Play Begins as Aged Will Is Read at Midnight

AN OLD NEGRO mammy from the West Indies with a beyond-the-grave voice, who claims to understand mystical voodoo rites, a blood-curdling scream, reeking with terror, which can be achieved by just one woman in town—those were some of the things persons who attended the LaNora theater last night heard. It was when members of the cast presented a sample of "The Cat and the Canary," mystery-comedy.

The thriller will be produced by the Kiwanis club for the benefit of under-privileged children, tomorrow and Friday nights at the LaNora theater, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock. A one-act high school play, "Smokescreen" will precede the mystery.

Also last night a score of persons were allowed to see the first act in the city auditorium where Director Ed Damon watched his cast through final dress rehearsal. They were asked to leave when the first act was over. Here's what they saw:

A set of scenery the like of which has never been exhibited on the legitimate stage here. It is a literary scene. Books line the walls; there are oak beams and panels. The first act opens at midnight with the West family lawyer reading a will that is 20 years old, following instructions of the master who has been dead that long. Seven relatives of various types, a gushing hysterical old maid, a pretty young illustrator, a hick veterinarian, a bored man of the world, in love with the illustrator; his cousin, a well-mannered youth also in love with the girl; the young lawyer's father; the lawyer's father-in-law; a young girl about some danger in the house when suddenly a twitching, gasping hand grabs him around the throat and pulls him through a secret door in the book shelves. Curtain, as a spectator screamed.

JAYCEES URGE NECESSITY OF COLLECTING MORE BACK TAXES

JUNIOR chambers of commerce in Texas this week are stressing necessity for payment of delinquent taxes—state, county, school and city. J. O. Gillham of Pampa is a member of a state committee which has issued strong statements on the subject.

The committee prefaced its statement with the assurance that it is opposed to foreclosure upon property owners, especially small home owners, who are delinquent for the only reason that they do not have the money and cannot get it. The statement continues: The campaign is not directed against the citizen who, through economic distress, is financially un-

RAIL OWNERS REJECT WAGE RAISE OFFER

JOSEPH EASTMAN WILL ARBITRATE LABOR DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)—Railroad labor today rejected President Roosevelt's proposal to continue the existing wage agreement, but accepted his offer for Joseph B. Eastman, railroad coordinator, to arbitrate the dispute.

They took this action shortly before automobile manufacturers were scheduled to confer with President Roosevelt at the White House in an effort to avert a strike of motor car employes.

The president will confer tomorrow with the automobile laborers who have agreed to hold off the strike pending further negotiations. The decision of the railway laborer was presented to Mr. Roosevelt in a letter from A. F. Whitney, chairman of the railway labor executives association.

Railway executives already have agreed to continue the present ten per cent wage cut for another six months. The laborer has held out for a 20 per cent increase over what they are now getting. The Whitney letter said: "We share your disappointment that agreement has not been reached disposing of this controversy. However, the economic plight of the employes does not allow them to submit to the demands of the carriers. We accept your proffer of the services of the federal coordinator of transportation, Joseph B. Eastman."

FLAVORING OLDTIME STORIES

There is a new monument on the battlefield of Antietam. And of course there's a story involved.

On this stretch of Maryland was fought one of the great battles toward Virginia after his first invasion of the north in 1862, made a stand behind Antietam creek and met the onset of McClellan.

The fight is recorded as a Union victory, but the northern army was mangled so badly, that when Lee withdrew across the Potomac, no pursuit was made.

At any rate, until a few years ago, the battlefield was studded with more than 80 monuments commemorating the deeds of various commands. All but one of these—a Confederate marker erected by the state of Maryland—were Union monuments.

Then, one day, a stranger appeared in the adjacent town of Sharpsburg, inquiring where he could rent a horse and wagon to transport a stone to the battlefield. And the next day there was found on the field a new monument bearing a tablet which read:

"Near this spot an abandoned Confederate gun manned by a second lieutenant of the Sixth Virginia Infantry, Mahone's brigade, and two infantry volunteers from Anderson's Georgia brigade, was placed in action Sept. 17, 1862."

That's all! No one, to this day, knows who put the marker there; no one knows the names of the three southerners who, coming upon an abandoned field piece in the tumult of a storm-swept field, swung its muzzle toward the enemy and served it.

No one knows what happened to them, or how their action weighed in the final result, or whether the gun finally went back to Virginia with Lee or was captured by McClellan's men.

But the mysterious marker adds much to the story of the battle. It makes the affair cease to me a history-book tableau, for the moment; the smoke cloud lifts and we get a glimpse of an unnoticed bit of heroism that lights up the whole action.

Stories like this make history, real.

EARNING COLLEGE COSTS

CANYON, March 21.—There's more than one way to pay one's way through school, say students of the West Texas State Teachers college. The students of the Manual Training department have their ideas about it. Many students in this department have been fortunate and skilled enough to obtain contracts for making certain pieces of cabinet and furniture work which they have fulfilled as projects in their course. In this way it has been possible for a number of students to alleviate the burden of school costs. Such pieces as end tables, ash stands, art kits, magazine racks, and show cases have been among the most commonly called for; however, work on pieces of heavier furniture has been done a great deal.

Oil Defrauders In Guilty Plea

FORT WORTH, March 21. (AP)—Three persons pleaded guilty in federal court today to fraudulent oil operations in Harris county that netted them $160,000. The defendants are Jack Schultz, J. S. Kimbrough and his wife, indicted under her maiden name, Dorothy Armstrong.

The case against Prudie Woodward, indicted jointly with them, was dismissed.

The government alleged that the defendants had obtained as much as $5,000 from one man. Sentence was deferred.

Judge James C. Wilson also deferred sentence in the case of Dan C. Reagan, who pleaded guilty to a mail fraud charge growing out of east Texas oil operations.

William Turner pleaded guilty to raising a CWA pay check and to making counterfeit half dollar pieces. He was sentenced to two years in the county jail and five years in the state penitentiary. The five year sentence was suspended for five years.

AUSTIN, March 21. (AP)—C. V. Terrell, member of the state railroad commission, who has been ill here in a hospital for two weeks, has gone to Houston where he will be treated in a hospital. He was moved there last night.

You will soon be planning your vacation, which will most certainly include the Carlsbad Caverns.

Judith Lane

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Judith Dale, who just has moved into her new home with Norman, her husband, has promised her old employer, the engineer, Tom Bevins, that should he die she will carry out his plans to the letter for his dam and reclamation project at Rio Diablo. The task is complicated by the fact that Norman's law partner is underhandedly fighting Bevins, and Bevins' daughter Mathie is trying to win Norman. Then Tom Bevins dies.

Chapter 13
STRUGGLE BEGINS

Lige, with an eye to dramatic effect, made the announcement a proclamation. Judith, a gay Columbian, was in the act of twirling in Slim Sanford's arms to show Norman and Poppy Neville, (their next door neighbors) how a "swale-step" should be executed.

Judith paused and stood breathless as the servant swung back the drapes, held up a yellow-palmed hand and said—"Ma's Bevins is dead. He dropped dead ten minutes ago. Miss Matilda, she say Ma's

Norman is to come to her, soon he kin get there."

Spaced against Sanford's supporting arm, Judith wondered which pain was the sharper, the fierce throbs of jealousy at Mathilde's command, or the shock of her beloved old friend's death.

Norman waited only long enough to change clothes then with a hurried kiss to the now drooping Columbian, rushed for his car. The guests left, all but the Sanfords. Cia, taking Judith to her room, seemed on the verge of saying something several times only to stop, light a fresh cigarette, and dash it out in the nearest ash-tray.

"I'll call my office," she said at length and went downstairs.

Judith stared into the mirror. Methodically she removed paint and powder with fresh tissue, folded each piece carefully, and tossed them into their basket.

"Dead," she thought vaguely, "he's dead, Big Tom."

"I should feel something," she said aloud to the white faced girl in the mirror. "I really should but I don't... just sort of numb... and queer."

She slipped out of her costume, then went to her wardrobe, and reached for a robe, made careful selection. She chose one of peach glow, so Norman when he returned would notice how pale she looked; peach glow with soft elderdown about the wide sleeves and hem.

"Big Tom is dead and I'm dressing up."

A queer noise intruded itself into her calm. She went to the window, opened it. There were lights in the servants' quarters and through the unshaded window pane she could see Lelph seated, apron thrown over her head, rocking back and forth and moaning. What a relief it must be to release pent up feelings like that.

"Judy," Cia was at the door, a tray in her hand. "Slim's been taking liberties. I felt the need of a cocktail so he shook up one for each of us."

"Thanks," Judith accepted the drink, sank into a chintz-frocked chair and sipped, thoughtfully. Of course Delph had known Big Tom for years. She had, too. She must run down to the office and see him. He'd been there for a month. But she couldn't. Big Tom wouldn't be there.

"I called the office," ventured Cia, "would you care to her what what happened?"

"Yes, yes of course," replied Judith. She should put more warmth in her voice. Cia knew how dear Big Tom had been to her. She'd think her completely heartless.

Bevins were giving a dinner party this evening. Bevins came in, said he was too tired to sit in, and would go on up to bed.

"They objected because it would leave thirteen at the table. He sat in. Afterwards he started to his room again but, he was need to fill in at a bridge table. He filled in."

"He played until ten o'clock, complained of feeling queer, dizzy. While he was dumpy he excused himself saying he was going for a drink. He got as far as the door."

Tears of pity burned Judith's eyes. Cia saw the closed eye-lids. Her terse, dramatic style of relating the scene had worked.

"He died instantly," she concluded.

A great, choking sob tore up through Judith's throat and burst. The sobs went on until Cia, thoroughly frightened, called to her brother—"Telephone the Bevins and get Norman back here where he belongs."

"No," Judith stood up, crying checked instantly. "he went to her the moment she called. I won't have him," and then she crumpled into a heap of peach-glow and elderdown.

Voices were talking in a grey dawn, men's voices. Judith heard them. She listened. "But young man," one was saying, "if those fool Bevins women had given Tom half the care this young wife of yours gave him, he'd be alive now... oh, oh, here she comes, feeling better, Mrs. Dale?"

Judith opened her eyes. Dr. Kelly was bending over her on one side, Norman was close, his arms supporting her. Cia and Slim were standing before the window.

"Sorry, I didn't mean... silly and feminine to faint," she apologized, incoherently.

After the doctor and the Sanfords had left, Judith and Norman went to the den, where a crackling hearth fire dispelled some of the greyness of the early morning.

Judith, still in the circle of Norman's arm, was surprised when her husband spoke in a quick, surprised tone of voice.

"Do you happen to know where Big Tom kept his will?"

"Didn't your office take care of it?"

"Originally, but he cancelled his old one after that Diablo trip. According to the papers, he died intestate."

"And that means?"

"Mrs. Bevins will inherit everything. She surmised she would last night and asked Lampere to act as administrator."

Judith started. This was exactly what Big Tom had feared. With Lampere in control of the money and the company, he would exploit the land for his own benefit. However, knowing his physical condition as he did, would Big Tom have overlooked anything as important as a will? She doubted it.

"Tlantoam, Ma's Norman," said Lige.

"What is it?" Judith cried alarmed.

"I find I am married to a millionaire stenographer."

TRAINING WITH THE MAJOR LEAGUES

By The Associated Press

INDIANS

NEW ORLEANS, March 21. (AP)—Not to be outdone by Mel Harder and Clint Brown, each of whom predicts he will win 20 games this season, a third pitcher for the Cleveland Indians opines he can win 20, too. He is Oral Hildebrand.

Wes Ferrell, still a holdout, the only Indian missing.

Reds

TAMPA, Fla.—Joe Morrissey, lone holdout of the Cincinnati Reds, is dicker with the Boston Braves with permission of the Reds management. Manager Bob O'Farrell has his squad pretty well lined up, indicating the infielder's chances for a steady berth on the team are getting slim.

White Sox

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—It's going to be "hard boiled" Lew Fosse from now on.

Exasperated at the listlessness of several players, the White Sox pilot, usually a soft spoken person, has issued a "hustle or get out warning."

Athletics

FORT MYERS, Fla.—The Philadelphia Athletics are looking for some way to acquire punch. Inability to bring in the runners has figured in four of their five defeats. There'll be a lot of batting practice today.

Cardinals

BRADENTON, Fla.—Leo Durocher's easily-injured right knee is causing some concern to Cardinal officials. The No. 1 Cardinal shortstop reinforced the knee yesterday and will have to take it easy for several days.

The signing of outfielder Eric Orosz left the Cardinals with two holdouts, pitcher Flint Rhem and outfielder George Watkins.

Browns

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—The ax fell for the first time in the Browns' camp today when Howard Mills, southpaw pitcher, and catcher Jack O'Flaherty were notified to report to the San Antonio club, the Browns' Texas league farm.

Braves

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Ray Starr, purchased by the Braves from the tribemen on last season's payroll to be firmed loose. He has been released outright to Minneapolis.

Cubs

LOS ANGELES—Manager Charlie Grimm is worried over the condition of Bill Lee, one of his most promising rookie pitchers. Lee has been confined in bed almost a week under a doctor's care, and it is feared he has influenza. Woody English and Bill Jurges also are complaining of sore eyes.

Tigers

Lakeland, Fla.—After beating the House of David club 13 to 1, the Detroit Tigers hustled out on the diamond today to brush up for the Athletics who will be here Thursday. Manager Cochrane used recruits and stringers against the Prophets Tuesday, but he will have his regular line-up on the field Thursday.

WEAK GASOLINE MARKET CAUSES SOME CONCERN

VOLUME OF DISTRESS GASOLINE IS MOUNTING

TULSA, Okla., March 21. (AP)—One of the weakest gasoline markets of the depression period, at a time of year when ordinarily the price would begin creeping upward, caused concern in the midcontinent area this week.

The center of the disturbance again was East Texas, and the mounting volume of distress gasoline there was given by marketers as the reason for the further slump in prices.

Third (low) grade gasoline could be bought for 2 1/2 cents in tank cars lots on a group three, Oklahoma, basis, from East Texas refiners.

Hundreds of cars of gasoline were reported available with marketers using wire, telephone and personal solicitation in an effort to get rid of it.

The steady advance of crude oil production in Texas was the accepted reason for the unstable situation. East Texas produced more than 500,000 barrels daily during the past week.

Whether the plan of the Humble Oil and Refining company (Standard Oil of New Jersey) and other large companies to apportion a percentage of their runs to East Texas refiners will halt the movement of "hot" oil was in doubt.

A spokesman for one of these companies said informally that in his opinion the East Texas refiners would not fall in readily with such a plan.

"These fellows have been getting 'hot' oil for 50 and 60 cents a barrel ever since the posted price went up to $1.55 he said. "That is the regular price for 'hot' oil, our scouts report. Under this plan, to which we have agreed and which we would

RIVER TALE

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Life is a series of downs and ups for the old Ohio river packet boat, the Senator Cordill.

A year ago the big sternwheeler sank in the Kanawha river, near Charleston, W. Va. It was salvaged and went into service again.

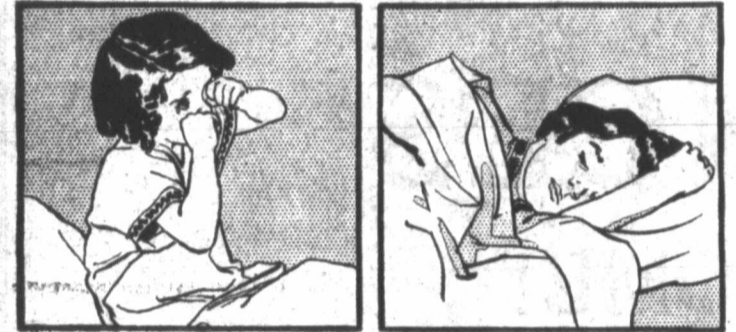

Last fall the boat was sold at a receiver's sale and was put back in the Pittsburgh-Cincinnati passenger service.

Last month the craft sank in the Ohio near Woodlands, W. Va., with the loss of the lives of three negro deckhands. Again it was raised and repaired.

Yesterday the boat was ordered sold at public auction to meet claims for payment in connection with the raising.

Whose Fault?

Fitful Sleep or Bad Dreams

Fitful, fretful slumber and those "bad-dreams" are sometimes caused by eating too near bedtime. But a more common cause is constipation. If clogged with waste, a child can't relax; the whole system becomes affected. You just can't give the ordinary cathartic at such an hour. (Indeed, laxatives of adult strength are never suitable for children.) She next column for a way to make the child comfortable for the night, and insure the needed bowel movement next morning:

To turn a nervous, wakeful child into a peaceful little slumberer, try two teaspoonsful of a delicious fruity syrup you can get from any drugist. Just have him to give you a bottle of California Syrup of Figs. Any boy or girl will love its taste. It starts at once to sweeten a sour, bilious system; and next morning, after moving about, the child will have a thorough, natural bowel action from the gentle action of the senna, if it is the real California Syrup of Figs.

Those penciled scrawls are a sign of jangled nerves

If you're the stolid, phlegmatic sort of person who doesn't feel things very deeply, you'll probably never have to worry about nerves. But if you're high-strung, alive, sensitive—watch out.

See whether you scribble things on bits of paper, bite your nails, jump at unexpected noises—they're signs of jangled nerves. So be careful. Get enough sleep—fresh air—recreation. And make Camels your cigarette.

For Camels' costlier tobaccos never jangle your nerves—no matter how steadily you smoke.

DON HILL TO WRESTLE ROY MONDAY NIGHT

ROB EXPECTED TO GIVE ACTOR DOSE OF HIS OWN MEDICINE

Don Hill, Hollywood wrestler who recently threw Saylor Otis Clingman, will be on the Pampa mat again Monday night. This time Hill will be up against Rob Roy, rough and tough mauler from Goodnight.

The California sensation will not be up against a clean wrestler like Clingman when he meets the Scotchman. Rob Roy is not the type to take Hill's terrific whip, wrist locks, slams, etc., without retaliating or getting through the ropes. "That is what ropes are for," declared the Scotchman.

The match will be much different from the one fans witnessed Monday night when Yaku Joe defeated Benny Wilson. The Pla-Mor management has announced that fans who are dissatisfied in the future will have their admission refunded and also that there will be no more matches like the last one. Any time maulers put up that type of wrestling here they will be disqualified and their purses forfeited.

Rough also should be the semifinal when the German clown, Joe Bauer of somewhere in Bavaria, meets Pampa's bad boy, Pat Garrison. The local grappler has changed his mind. He is not going to be on the receiving end of the rough stuff without an answer. Otherwise, Garrison is going back to his old style of "beat your man any way you can."

Someone, no one knows who, is apparently trying to get Pampa's own Andy Gump sent to a hospital or the undertaker. The local boy has been matched with Lou Kodrick, English strong man, in the opening event. Andy is getting ready to out-speed the Englishman, if possible.

THOMPSON HARDWARE TEAM WINS FIRST IN CITY LEAGUE

BOBBY JONES PLAYS AGAIN ON THURSDAY

Masters Tournament Will Start With Pick of Pros And Amateurs Entered.

BY ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Writer.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 21 (AP)—Under circumstances that make this golfing affair one of the outstanding sports events of the year, Robert Tyre Jones Jr. emerges from retirement tomorrow to match strokes with the pick of North American amateurs and a crack brigade of professionals.

For official purposes, it's the masters' invitation tournament. There's $5,000 in prize money, including $1,500 for the top professional. It's to be over the regular 72-hole route, with one round scheduled for each of the next four days, at the beautiful Augusta national course designed and built under the personal supervision of Jones himself.

With a few notable exceptions such as Gene Sarazen, national P. G. A. champion, and Johnny Goodman, national open champion, all the great figures of American golf have accepted the invitation and challenge to renew a rivalry with Jones that was broken off in 1930.

The professionals have rallied in force, led by Denny Shute, British open champion; Walter Hagen, MacLonald Smith, Bobby Cruikshank, Johnny Farrell, Willie MacFarlane, Craig Wood, Bill Burke, Wiffy Cox and Paul Runyan, biggest money winner of the winter campaign. The field includes Geo. T. Dunlap Jr. of New York, national amateur champion, and Canada's amateur ace, Ross Somerville, who won the United States championship in 1932.

Based on the old prize ring theory that the king is still king, until some one knocks him off the throne, Jones will tee off tomorrow morning at 10:35 as the favorite in this all star field. His playing companion will be none other than Runyan, who is generally the choice of the professionals to make the strongest bid for victory.

Their first day shot making should offer the gallery plenty of personal drama but it may not be conclusive, for there are at least a half dozen others, notably the veteran MacLonald Smith, Ed Dudley, and Leo Diegel, whose practice performances prove they are at their best.

To "Sandy" Somerville, as well as others, it appears Jones has jeopardized his chances by taking over too much of the responsibility of host to one of the biggest golfing parties in years. Bob has attended

Mack & Paul Barbers Take Second Place, And Texas Company, Third Place.

The City Bowling league race closed this week with Thompson Hardware company's Electroflux team taking first place with 39 wins and 21 losses. The Mack and Paul Barber Lethanders took second place with 31 wins and 26 losses. The Texas company won third honors with 26 wins and 28 losses and the Keweenaw club B team was last with 15 wins and 36 losses. Some of the teams failed to finish the full number of games but they would not have affected the standing.

The refrigerator five-rolled high three-game series with 2,552 pins, followed by the Lethanders with 2,491 pins and the Texas company with 2,461 pins.

The Electroflux team also rolled high single game with 961 pins, followed by the Texas company with 894 pins and the Lethanders with 891 pins.

Harry Mentzel of the Lethanders had high series with a total of 621 games. Bert Howell of the Electroflux was second with 617 pins and Doyle Ward of the same team followed with 590 pins.

C. V. Lane of the Electroflux team rolled high single game of 238 pins and was followed by Howell of the team with 237 pins and Steve Neely of the Lethanders with 23 pins.

Three members of the Electroflux team were in the lead for season average. Lane was first with an average of 173 pins. Howell had 169 pins and Ward 166 pins average.

Whether this was responsible or not, Jones lacked anything like his usual control yesterday and appeared somewhat concerned about his putting touch or, rather, the lack of it.

CONSTRUCTION OF DANCIGER PARK STARTS

SURVEYING FINISHED—FENCE IS BEING BUILT

Surveying of Pampa's new baseball park was completed yesterday afternoon. Work on the playing field and fence will start immediately. Even the locations of home plate, bases, and the foul lines have been laid out.

Post holes for the fence will be dug by the time lumber arrives. Two car loads have been ordered.

The grandstand at the present Danciger park east of the city will be moved to the new location for bleachers.

A large grandstand with roof will be erected. It will be at least 12 rows high and will have a seating capacity of about 1,200 persons. The grandstand will be in the southwest corner of the park which will be on Highway 33 across the street from the Cabot Co. offices. There will be much parking space.

The Danciger Broadrunners lack only a good catcher to round out a fast team. Practice started yesterday afternoon at the refinery park. About a dozen players were on hand with Manager Aaron Ward in charge.

One or two strong teams will be organized at LeFors. Phillips 66 of Borger will have another powerful team and it is hoped that Amarillo will field a line this year. Baseball is also "in the air" at Skellytown, a real baseball center.

C. O. Busby is talking about organizing his Indians again this year. The Indians are a bunch of high school boys, recent graduates

MAID CROSSES COLD ATLANTIC IN A LIFEBOAT

Will Be Deported to Ireland When She Recovers

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, Mar. 21.—Adventure Catherine Terest Gurr—who bought two loaves of bread and set out for Canada because she couldn't find a job in Scotland—is recovering in a hospital today from an 11-day Atlantic crossing in a freighter's lifeboat.

Huddled beneath the boat's flimsy canvas covering, she suffered intensely in the bitter cold of a winter passage. Still, not until she was carried yesterday from the Donaldson line freighter Sulairia, did the 24-year-old Irish miss collapse.

Both her feet were frost-bitten and she was weak from hunger and exposure, yet she had clung to consciousness, hoping for a chance to creep ashore under cover of darkness and begin life in Canada where it left off when she was deported more than a year ago.

She told officials at the immigration detention hospital—where she was held for deportation—that she worked in London, Ont., five years ago.

This winter she found herself in Glasgow, Scotland, penniless and without employment. She was staying with friends. One night she left the house and bought two loaves of bread.

Thus "provisioned," she boarded the Sulairia and hid. The bread was all she had to eat on the long voyage. There was water in the lifeboat, but she had drunk it.

She might have made land undetected had she not been too eager for a glimpse of Halifax before the ship docked. The Sulairia was steaming up Halifax harbor when a keen-eyed sailor saw a head raised beneath the lifeboat covering.

He notified the officers and the girl was taken to warm quarters, to be landed a few minutes later.

She collapsed as she was borne ashore on a stretcher.

Camp Fire Girls Are Organizing Into Two Groups

First meetings of the two Camp Fire Girl groups are being conducted this week after the decision last week when younger girls were put in one group and older members in another.

The younger group, in which 16 girls have already enrolled, met yesterday afternoon in their club room to study the theory of Camp Fire, sing and play games. They were asked to bring their looms next week to start their bead headbands.

Present were Mildred Pierce, Catherine Culbertson, Shirley Johnson, Catherine Covington, Lyndall May, and the guardian, Mrs. B. Barrett.

All girls from 10 to 14 years of age are invited to meet with this group on Tuesday afternoons at four. The older group will meet at the same hour Thursdays. Names for the two divisions will be chosen this week.

Mrs. Bourland Is Hostess to Club

Mrs. Roy Bourland entertained three tables of players at her home yesterday afternoon, when she was hostess to the Tuesday bridge club and a guest, Mrs. George Taylor.

After the games, in which Mrs. Jim White, scored high, a delicious plate lunch was served.

Players were Misses C. S. Boston, E. M. Culbertson, Jim Collins, S. T. Beauchamp, Sherman White, Felix Stalls, Roger McConnell, Skeet Roberts, Jim White, and Taylor.

Events of Week

LEFORS, March 21.—The intramural track and field meet which was held at Pirate field Friday afternoon was won by the junior class.

This victory put the juniors far out in front in the race for the intramural cup. As the only remaining event is playground ball, they are certain winners.

Senior Play Date Set
Members of the senior class will present the annual class play on April 20. The drama selected is "Bonds on a String."

The program, "Ye Singing Skeel," was presented for the second time Monday evening.

The Missionary society of the Methodist church sponsored a pie supper at the church last evening.

Demp Willis and W. E. Wilson returned Monday evening from a business trip to Phoenix, Ariz.

P. L. Mize of Oklahoma City visited here last week.

J. L. Hunter and children of Enid, Okla., are visiting in the home of J. D. White.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Rhea and family visited in Clarendon recently.

PARENT-FACULTY GAMES ARE ON PROGRAM OF JUNIOR HIGH ORCHESTRA BENEFIT EVENING

MUSIC, STUNTS WILL ALSO ENTERTAIN TOMORROW

JUNIOR high faculty members and parents will play two full length basketball games, if the substitutes hold out, in a benefit program sponsored by Junior High Parent-Teacher association tomorrow evening at the high school gym, they promise.

Women teachers will play the mothers, and men faculty members the fathers. Mrs. Claude Lord and W. C. Will are to captain the parents' teams, while Miss Anna Louise Jones and Tom Herod will lead the teachers.

Between the games, stunts and music by the school orchestra will furnish entertainment. Popcorn and home-made candy will be sold at booths in charge of Mrs. Will and Mrs. John B. Hessay.

Proceeds will be used for orchestra uniforms. The admission fee has been set at 10 cents, and the public is invited. Mrs. Rob Seeds, finance chairman of the Parent-Teacher association, is in general charge of arrangements.
