THE TONICS OF SPRING

Now is the time of year when the thoughts of men turn to spring tonics. In theory, the spring tonic puts new life into a man. It snaps him out of the state of semi-hibernation in which winter has left him...

As a matter of sober fact, of course, spring tonics generally flatter. They attempt to relieve, in a purely physical way, a condition that is chiefly psychic. The patient fondly imagines that it is his liver that is ailing when in reality it is his soul.

For this lethargy—this unaccountable discontent with things as they are, this strange disinclination to do any work at all—it is not, after all, a hang-over of winter's dullness. It is simply spring fever; and anyone who imagines that spring fever is a minor complaint is as deeply deluded as the man who imagines that a spring tonic can cure it.

In the winter we live what we call normal lives. That is, we concern ourselves chiefly with work. One day is much like another. Men go about their daily jobs of earning money, and women plug away at the never-ending task of housekeeping, cooking, taking care of children and so on; and nobody ever has the time or the inclination to listen for distant trumpet calls from the other side of the moon.

But when springtime comes things are different. Bright sunshine, opening leaves and warm winds from the south have an insidious influence. They get hold of a man and whisper to him, quietly, that there ought to be something more to life than the mere round of working and eating and sleeping.

The poet Wordsworth must have suffered from this ailment. What did he write— The world is too much with us. Late and soon, Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers.

Yes, we do—and there's no help for it. Spring fever is simply a mood in which we understand that things ought not to be this way. All we can do is keep plugging away and trust that in time our clarity of vision will leave us.—NEA.

TAKE A LOOK AROUND OUR CITY

Spring is rapidly changing the appearance of Pampa, and it is inspiring to drive about the city and note the way trees, shrubs, lawns and flowers are transforming appearances.

Pampa has been primarily a growing city; now it is taking on refinements which will make it truly a "City of Beautiful Homes". Few cities of this size, or even larger, have as many pretty residential sections. Few have the wide streets which can so favorably impress the visitors.

Pampa is largely on level plain, but there are enough "draws" to allow landscaping and special development of homes and parks. In this prairie country too many people take fright at an incline. A terraced lawn is a thing of beauty, and the landscape artist is happy to have a bit of ruggedness which can be altered to reflect his ability.

Rough parts of the city at first tend to become ragged. Eventually they will be beautified. Drainage is an important item in landscaping. Pampa's beautiful homes within a few years will have a perfect setting if the present rate of improvement is continued.

There has been a commendable increase in lawn development this spring. Mother Nature is a kindly sive force when given a chance. Now we welcome the restful green which makes Pampa blend with the wheat fields which surround her.

"Take a look about our city."

The Farm Board bit off such a big chew that it is about to choke and wishes it were dead. Its chairman urges organization of a private corporation. The middle men are crying against government competition. And the farmer still waits for "aid".

Contact with adults is called a necessity of boyhood. A boy thrives with associations of good men. Our golf caddies meet some fine men, but often those men are at their worst, cussically speaking, when on the links.

We must have a fine fire department. It has gotten so in this town that when the fire alarm sounds it means that some grass has been ignited or the wiring of a car has become "shorted". However, despite the fact that these fires are hardly worth reporting, we are not agitating for bigger fires and headlines. And let's be sure that outdoor fires are "out" before they are abandoned. Remember the old method of "banking" fires? Too many people bank their outdoor fires instead of extinguishing them, and a Panhandle breeze does the rest quite mischievously.

Murder Backstairs

From the moment Detective Dundee lifts the body of Doris Matthews, murdered lady's maid, from the lake and lays her in the summerhouse, he knows that the heavy perfume flask, the queer murder weapon, is the chief clue.

But if you found him at the Stuart House—"Dundee objected. "We didn't," Strawn chuckled. "The boys picked him up 10 minutes ago on the municipal golf course."

"Where did you find him?" Dundee asked, still puzzled. "Right here in Hamilton!" Strawn chuckled. "Wasn't in hiding at all. In fact, he was as conspicuous as a wart on a nose."

just here for a nice, quiet little chat—See here, Johnson!" he snapped, abandoning all pretense. "We've got you cold on the burglary business, and if you insist, I can put you under arrest right now; you can stand on your rights, demand a lawyer and refuse to talk."

Within five minutes the anemic stenographer attached to the homicide squad was seated across the desk from Captain Strawn, ready with notebook and pencil.

"You haven't got anything on me, except that I happen to look something like a man named Johnson," the man retorted, but his voice shook a little.

"You really do look amazingly like a gentleman, and it's quite possible," Dundee reminded aloud. "Just where did you meet Phyllis Benham, Conway?" he demanded suddenly.

Mrs. J. M. Crain, District P.-T. A. President, Speaks On Purpose of Organization

Mrs. J. M. Crain of Claude, president of the Eighth district of the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, speaking at Central auditorium Friday afternoon at a meeting in which she installed officers of the newly formed City Council of P.-T. A. gave her small but deeply interested audience a comprehensive outline of the ideals purposes, and practical working plans of the Parent-Teacher organization. Her subject was "Why Have a Parent-Teacher association?"

Naming the church house, the school house, the dwelling house, and the court house as the corner stones of American civilization, she stated the Parent-Teacher association was the greatest force for cementing the four for the building of tomorrow's citizens.

"It co-ordinates health forces, social forces, and educational forces for child welfare," she said. "The seven cardinal principles of education, Mrs. Crain stated, formed the seven-fold program of the P.-T. A. She presented several of the more important activities through which the P.-T. A. aims at child welfare advancement and civic improvement, and told how those who have these activities under their charge might improve their methods through study of prescribed literature, and following suggested plans.

Mrs. Crain installed five officers of the City Council of Parent-Teacher associations in the service which she and other leaders of the P.-T. A. movement advocate because of its power to make doubly impressive the significance of official responsibilities.

Mrs. V. E. Fatheree was installed as president; Miss Josephine Thomas as vice-president; Mrs. Claude Lard, secretary; Mrs. John Bradley, treasurer; and Mrs. R. C. Campbell, historian. Mrs. Joe M. Smith presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker. Mrs. A. H. Doucette opened the program for the afternoon with the national song of P.-T. A., "A Little Child Shall Lead."

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, seventh vice-president and extension chairman of the Eighth district, was introduced by Mrs. Crain with the plea that Pampa citizens exert themselves in aiding the extension department by helping in the organization of a county federation in Gray county. Supt. R. B. Fisher expressed his appreciation for the cooperation of the P.-T. A. in a brief discussion at the close of the meeting.

Rio Grande Valley Federation Plans State Convention of B. & P. W. Clubs at Harlingen

HARLINGEN, May 5 (Special)—Great enthusiasm is being evinced by members of the Business and Professional Women's club who are planning for a large delegation to attend the state convention of Business and Professional Women's clubs in Harlingen, June 19, 20 and 21, according to Mrs. Blanche Fulgham, president of the Valley federation.

Among the national officers who will be in attendance at the convention is Miss Mary McClench of Ann Arbor, Mich., president of the National Business and Professional Women's club, which is composed of all clubs throughout the United States. Miss McClench will address the convention.

Miss Daisy H. Leake of Temple, second vice president of the National federation, the only officer of the national organization from Texas, will also be given a featured place on the program.

State officers include Miss Mary Jane Higgins, Fort Worth, president; Miss Julia O'Brien, Brownsville, first vice president; Mrs. Virginia Leberman, Austin, second vice president; Miss Mary O. Lidystrom, Beaumont, recording secretary; Miss Rhoda Murray, Fort Worth, corresponding secretary; and Miss Anne Stallworth, Cameron, treasurer.

The nine Business and Professional Women's clubs in the Lower Rio Grande valley are joining together to act as hostess to the convention, according to Mrs. Fulgham.

These nine clubs, each run as a separate organization, have a Valley federation, meeting quarterly. It is this federation which will entertain the state convention, the nine clubs with a membership of 130, represent a population of over 200,000 of the lower valley section, which covers an area of about 60 miles long and 30 miles wide. The valley clubs are in Brownsville, Harlingen, San Benito, Mercedes, Weslaco, Donna, McAllen, Edinburg and Raymondville.

"Heretofore the valley federation has been a social organization, growing out of the need for learning to know the personnel of our sister clubs. So when Harlingen was chosen for the 1930 state convention the entire valley made use of this organization so that it could entertain the convention in the finest way possible," says Mrs. Fulgham.

Delegates attending the convention will be taken on a tour of the valley and entertained in the towns where these are Business and Professional Women's clubs.

The Business and Professional Women's clubs of the state will report at the convention on the work they have accomplished during the past year, their clubs having engaged in various activities as among the foremost women's service clubs in each of the local communities, taking their places alongside the Rotary, Kiwanis, Elks, and other service clubs which have exclusive men's membership.
