Washington Senator Denies Charge As Quoted

COURTROOM, Dallas, May 6. (P)—Alvin O'Brien, middle-aged Dallas printer and former publisher of the Walnut Springs Hustler, today was named as the first juror for the murder trial of John W. Brady of Austin.

O'Brien, 43 years old and a Baptist, was the thirty-second venireman examined. Of the other thirty-seven 27 had been excused for cause and two each challenged by the state and defense.

E. N. Meredith, the venireman examined before O'Brien, passed the court's requirements although defense attorneys tried desperately to acquit him. They said they had heard he had formed an opinion. Meredith admitted he was a former Klansman while Brady is a Catholic. The defense exercised its second peremptory challenge on Meredith.

Judge C. A. Pippen, presiding, was considerably bothered by the difficulty experienced in obtaining a jury.

"We are going to get a jury if it takes all summer," Judge Pippen said. "Let us have concerted action to get a jury rather than an effort to disqualify prospective jurors."

The judge several times warned defense attorneys Mairy Hughes and Ted Monroe of Dallas not to ask leading questions and took the examination away from them. Arguments and objections became frequent and heated in contrast with the first day's proceedings yesterday.

Defense attorneys took advantage of mistakes in the names on processions to obtain the disqualification of several veniremen.

Large Audience Applauds Second Ensemble Event

The second annual spring ensemble program of the fine arts department of the city schools and the musical organizations under its supervision was given last evening at Central auditorium before the largest audience assembled here for a musical event.

Enthusiastic applause greeted every number, and the most generous applause yet accorded the organizations and pupils who took part was heard at the close of the program.

Another program of importance will be given this evening by the grammar grades and Junior high school, under the direction of the public school music department.

Miss Iva June Willis, music supervisor; music instructors, and other teachers in charge, between five and six hundred pupils will present "The Song of the Sea," an historical pageant, and "The Song of the Sea," an historical pageant, and "The Song of the Sea," an historical pageant.

The program will begin at 8 o'clock. A small charge will be made to defray expenses of the entertainment.

DESPONDENCY IS CAUSE FOR SUICIDE

A note addressed to "my loved ones," containing the despairing declaration, "I can't stand the strain any longer—good bye," and an empty bottle and a glass, both of which had contained poison, were found near the bed of William H. Jones, 55, in a South Pampa rooming house late yesterday afternoon by an employe of the hotel.

Coroner C. E. Cary in his verdict stated that Jones "probably died of suicide by carbolic acid." The empty bottle found in the room had been drained of all the poison.

Another note addressed to J. M. Dodson, president of the Pampa National Bank, who had known Mr. Jones for 15 years, contained a request to notify his brother, Walter S. Jones, Ennis, "if anything should happen." The body will be sent this afternoon on the train by G. C. Malone funeral home to Ennis for burial.

In a rather long note, addressed to his "dear brother and sisters," Mr. Jones wrote, "My mind drifts back at the present time thinking of you all. I love one and all of you, but I must depart from you all and this old world. I can't stand it any longer. With love to one and all."

Mr. Jones had been living in Pampa less than a year. He worked for a time at a local lumber company. Due to loss of finances he had been despondent for several years, it was learned.

Mr. Dodson, Tom Rose and B. W. Rose knew Mr. Jones about 15 years ago at Chillicothe, where he was a cotton buyer and owner of a feed store. At that time he was well-to-do and had amassed a considerable amount of money, it was said. "He was one of the best cotton buyers I ever knew," Mr. Dodson said.

A few years ago, Mr. Jones suffered financial reverses while buying cotton at Lubbock and declared himself a bankrupt. Last year he lived at Erick, Okla., where he bought cotton. He came to Pampa from that place.

"He had an amazing capacity for friendship," Mr. Dodson said. "And would do anything for a friend if possible. He never betrayed a trust or a friendship as far as I know."

The Rose brothers also mentioned the loyal and personal integrity of Mr. Jones.

The man evidently died very quietly as there was no evidence of a struggle after he took the poison. He was lying across the bed with his clothes on, and his hands were lying at his side. The empty bottle was found on a shelf and the glass under the bed. Both had contained poison. It is believed that he had been dead about 10 hours when found. The notes were dated Sunday.

Parents Learn of Son's Death From The News

Three days after their son, Loney Brock, 17, died in an Amarillo hospital, Mr. and Mrs. George Brock, who live in a tent in South Pampa, learned of his death. Their sole source of information was the story which appeared in The News yesterday, according to Ensign King of the Salvation Army, who took the boy to the hospital April 20.

Mr. Brock received a telegram yesterday morning from the hospital authorities, asking him to come and he telegraphed back that he would, Mr. King said. The telegram which Mr. Brock received did not indicate that the boy was dead. It only requested Mr. Brock to come at once. He said he had been here all the time since his son was removed to Amarillo.

The boy died from the effects of an attack of influenza. An operation was performed on the brain at the hospital. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Gandhi—India's Man of the Hour

India's teeming millions are incensed by the arrest and imprisonment of this wizened figure, Mahatma Gandhi, moving spirit in the civil disobedience demonstrations which are now so vexing to British authorities. Gandhi, "living saint" and idol of India, was arrested only after his movement had grown into alarming proportions and violence was threatened.

DAYTON, OHIO BANK GUARDS SHOOT DOWN BANDIT TRIO IN HOLD-UP—NO MONEY IS TAKEN

DAYTON, Ohio, May 6. (P)—Two of a trio of bank robbers were wounded, probably fatally, today by two police guards during an attempted robbery of the Xenia branch of the Union Trust company here. A third bandit was wounded, and a small girl passerby was shot by a stray bullet.

Police said one of the critically wounded men was James Royal, of St. Louis, Mo. The two robbers were struck by a score of bullets from repeating rifles in the hands of police guards.

Details of police were rushed to the scene to aid in capturing the third member who escaped. Police said the man had been hit.

The guards reported to police headquarters that the robbers entered the bank, displayed weapons and demanded money. The guards said they were hidden from view of the robbers, and as the trio stepped up to the cashier's cage the repeating rifles were turned on them.

Bank officials obtained the police guards last April 4 after the Xenia Avenue branch was robbed of $33,000 by five bandits armed with machine guns.

Annual Boy Scout Drive Will Be Launched Here Early Tomorrow

Confident of completing the Boy Scout drive for funds in less than a day, more than 20 workers will make the campaign immediately following an 8 o'clock breakfast in the morning at the Schneider hotel. By morning, the solicitors will have $800 of the $2,200 raised, according to Rev. Tom W. Brabham, president of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council.

The workers include representatives from the American Legion, Lions and Rotary clubs and men who belong to none of those organizations.

The Legion workers are Lewis O. Cox, Lon Blansett, Roy Sewell, B. W. Rose, and Paul Hill. The Lions workers are Dr. R. A. Webb, W. A. Curry, C. B. Akers, Dr. H. H. Hicks, W. T. Fraser, E. D. Zimmerman, W. A. Bratton, Roy McMullen, Carson Loftus and Frank Culbertson. Rotary members who will work in the drive include W. R. Campbell, Dick Hughes, M. D. Oden, and Travis Lively.

Workers representing the general public are Otis Clingman, W. A. Wilson, Rev. A. A. Hyde, and Alex Schneider.

Gandhi's Second in Command Now on Duty

By The Associated Press
Widespread disorder, with two persons killed and up to 100 wounded, is the answer of Mahatma Gandhi's followers: to the British government's arrest of "The Holy One."

While the veteran nationalist leader sat behind the barred window of his cell in Yeroda prison, calmly spinning cotton on his miniature charka—emblem of the Nationalist movement—troubled occurred in many parts of the restless peninsula.

The most serious trouble broke out at Delhi where police fired on rioters and killed two of them after a riot act, prohibiting assembly of more than five persons, had been promulgated.

At Calcutta fifteen Nationalists were injured in a clash with the police when they attempted to interrupt railway service between Calcutta and Tekal Chat. A mob estimated at 5,000 took part in the disturbance, many of them lying on the tracks to hold up the trains.

DELHI, India, May 6. (P)—Two persons were killed in rioting in Delhi today.

The Delhi Indian infantry and eight armored cars established a state of armed defense this forenoon. The dead were natives.

Vast crowds began also to make their way to the neighborhood of the prison of the Mahatma at Yeroda, near Poora. As large forces of troops from the nearby garrison already had been ordered in readiness at that point, no serious disorders were anticipated.

A cessation of business accompanied the strike of many thousands Gandhi followers throughout India. Schools and colleges were closed and students refused to participate in examinations for the bar which were to have been given at Delhi.

The chief commissioner immediately following the riot promulgated section 144 of the criminal procedure code forbidding the assembly of more than five persons.

BOMBAY, India, May 6. (P)—The Indian military and police kept a close guard in all Indian cities today to prevent disorders growing out of the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi, leader of India's civil disobedience campaign.

A large number of shops in the Indian quarter of this and other cities were closed in conformance with the martial or stoppage of work decreed yesterday by the all-India national congress committee when Gandhi's arrest first was made.

Muslim shops remained open, despite efforts to have their owners close. A small number of mill hands remained at home, and 300 of them carrying red flags and posters paraded the mill area calling upon others to follow their suit, but there was no response.

NAVARRI, Bombay, May 6. (P)—Abbas Tyabji, selected by Mahatma Gandhi as his second in command, arrived here last night to take over the charge left vacant by the Mahatma's arrest.

He immediately telegraphed Pandit Motilal Nehru, acting president of the All-India national congress during incarceration of his brother, Jawaharlal Nehru, a request to keep Jaipur as the meeting place of the congress working committee. This committee will meet again Saturday or Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, May 6. (P)—E. C. Jameson, New York capitalist, testified today before the senate lobby committee that he had contributed $95,000 to the anti-Smith campaign in Virginia.

NEW COUNTY AGENT FINDS HIS TERRITORY UNIQUE IN VARIED KINDS OF PROBLEMS

Terracing and development of the dairy industry are the two greatest agricultural needs of Gray county, was the opinion of County Agent Ralph A. Thomas after making an extensive tour of the county. Mr. Thomas who arrived in Pampa last Thursday has visited many farmers in this section and has spent two days in the McLean community. "Just getting the lay of the land," he said.

Mr. Thomas described Gray as one of the most unique counties of the Panhandle, agriculturally speaking. He pointed out that the north part of the county is an ideal wheat country while the southeastern portion is adapted to the raising of cotton, feedstuffs and to dairying. He said that clearly the plains section of the county did not require terracing as much as the land in the McLean community. However, he said certain land along the streams in the north portion needed terracing.

Mr. Thomas plans to sponsor a terracing demonstration to be held in about a month. The demonstration will be widely advertised and all farmers whose land needs terracing will be urged to attend.

There are many good producing dairy cattle in Gray county but the strain needs to be improved, Mr. Thomas said. It is his ultimate intention to form bull circles in the county. The most frugal way to improve the quality of dairy herds is to bring in pure-bred sires and gradually improve the strain.

The Board of City Development and County Agent Thomas will sponsor a council of county agricultural workers to be held here May 17. At this meeting an agricultural program for the county for the next five years will be discussed in detail. In addition to the county agent, county home demonstration agent and J. L. Lester, vocational teacher in Pampa high school, Mr. Tampke, the teacher at LeFors, will be invited.

R. B. Galloway, poultry specialist, and Mr. Buckley dairy specialist, both of Panhandle Lumber company, will also be invited to attend the conference.

Judge Pippen Urges Action to Get Jurors

WASHINGTON, May 6. (P)—The senate today agreed to vote tomorrow at 1:30 p. m., on the nomination of Judge John J. Parker to the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, May 6. (P)—After a tense passage of charges and denials between Senators Ashurst of Arizona and Dill, of Washington, administration leaders moved today to suspend consideration of the nomination of John J. Parker for the Supreme Court.

Majority leader Watson asked that the nomination be laid aside while the senate investigated Ashurst's statement that Dill had told him of an offer of a federal judgeship said to have been made to Dill himself by persons unnamed in return to a vote for Parker.

Ashurst made his statement in the open senate, and Dill immediately replied he had told Ashurst no such thing.

The Arizona said Senator Bratton of New Mexico also had heard Dill say it.

Then Watson moved that the senate investigate. Ashurst replied that all the evidence he had already was before the senate.

Further explanation, Dill said, a "personal friend" had come to him to plead that he vote for Parker. He did not take the suggestion seriously, he said, and the friend did not represent himself as having any assurance from the White House.

Legion Helps in Membership Drive of Borger Post

Eight members of the local American Legion post accompanied the fifteen members of their band to Borger last night, for a general meeting of all ex-service men in the Hutchinson county area.

Preparations have been made by the Borger post for an extensive membership drive. Teams are being organized under the chairmanship of Bill Aakew. Present membership of the Borger post numbers 116, and they are determined to increase this to 200. A special effort is being made by the Borger post to secure information regarding every ex-service man in their territory through a printed form being inserted in the Borger paper, addressed to sweethearts, wives and mothers of ex-service men, asking them to give names of all men they know who are eligible for Legion membership.

Program last night was turned over to the local delegation, following a big "feed."

THE FUTURE OF REAL MUSIC

The American Federation of Musicians, comprising 140,000 professional musicians of this country and Canada, has launched an advertising campaign to combat the menace of the "canned" product.

The public has been invited to join the movement through membership in the Music Defense League, which claims nearly 2,500,000 members. The issue is defined as follows: "Shall talking pictures be used as an excuse for reducing the theatre to a de-humanized museum (without reduction in admission charge). Or shall the atmosphere of the theatre be retained and the cause of culture served through a victory for music?"

The problem has its cultural aspects as well as those of a labor question. One symphony orchestra can provide good "canned" music for thousands of theatres. This is both a boon to the smaller theatres and the ruination, culturally, of some of the larger ones. Synchronizing music with the film makes separate living orchestras unnecessary and superfluous. There is no doubt room for the talking films as now constituted, but certainly the larger houses can be no better than the smaller ones while canned music exclusively holds sway.

It is a regrettable situation, for when the orchestras are limited to recording ones the country cannot but suffer and the profession is obviously damaged. But the musical contribution of living musicians must be re-arranged so that it will not conflict with the talking picture, which is admittedly a great improvement over the silent type. Voice should not be sacrificed to music, nor music to voice; there is, furthermore, room for both.

Good canned music such as the talkies have provided in ample quantity has no doubt enhanced musical appreciation of the masses. If the trend could be carried further so as to retain the professional musicians in the bigger cities, there would be little cause for alarm.

Musical development in the smaller cities, through school and community organizations, has been helped considerably by the talkies. People's ears are becoming accustomed to better music, despite the over-emphasis upon musical comedies. Few of us, moreover, regret the passing of the theatre organ with its monotonous repetition of records.

THE NEW MENACE IS DISCUSSED

"Pampa Daily News: A new wrinkle in growing early vegetables is to install an underground heating system and warm the soil. Mother Nature is a grand old lady, and you can not beat her in season, but her seasons are not always to our liking."

Land sakes! Have we got to abandon the old-fashioned comfortable agriculture in order to adopt scientific methods for the production of crops? It is bad enough to have to sprinkle the kitchen garden with the lawn hose, bad enough to have to pick the bugs off the immature cabbages, bad enough to have to replant after frost lays the early planting low. But it will be worse, thrice worse, to have to underlay the garden or grain field with heat conduits. The sun has always been dependable in this matter; if not a perfect servant, at least a cheap one. Now if the sun's warmth must be discarded in favor of artificial heat, like rainfall is deprecated by irrigationists, there will be no more pleasure in farming or gardening. When you take nature out of it you take all the poetry away, all the inspiration. It would be like fitting the skylark with a tin whistle or teaching jazz to the canary. Who would by lifted up by the celestial notes of a lyric soprano outfitted with a mechanical bellows? This sort of thing must stop somewhere. We, the people, can not go on and on in the present course of improving nature. It is nature, and only nature, that puts the flavor in the apple, the aroma in the onion, the burnish on the burnished dove. Hothouse methods offend nature and she retaliates by contributing to bulk without giving to value. It is all right to cook with gas, perhaps, although fireplace cookery has never been equaled on stoves or ranges. But gas-raised food will be carrying the scientific method to revolutionary length. The wives of bearded men cooked on the hearth and made no outcry. Beardless men must realize their danger and quit shaving, or else succumb to the new menace—tasteless food grown in laboratory gardens.—State Press in Dallas News.

An ex-gob has the opinion this column doesn't appreciate the navy. Well, we suspect he is right. All we know about the navy is that it is wet and that it produces good wrestlers. We have heard that our North Fork flows into what the boats ride on, but ship service on the Fork was discontinued before we came along. Somebody said Dan Moody was going to install water transportation on it, but we have no confirmation of the rumor.

Methodists Are Going to Dallas for Big Session

DALLAS, May 6. (AP)—From far corners of the earth, delegates came today to Dallas, temporary capital of Southern Methodism. Tomorrow will see the opening of the quadrennial conference, Methodist Episcopal church, South, the law-making body of religious group comprised of more than two and one-half million persons from nearly every nation on the globe. Of the hundreds of visitors, more than 700 will be accredited delegates and alternates. The exact number authorized was 725, as compared to 452 at the last conference, in Memphis four years ago.

The bishop's address, sanctioned by all bishops in the church will be the first important item on the program which may last until May 27. Immediately after tomorrow morning's session, committees will begin the work of digesting four years' business and preparing it for submission to the conference proper.

Already three important boards—education, hospitals, and temperance—have met, mapping out their program for the approval of the whole church. Other boards will meet at the conference progresses.

W. A. Chandler of Atlanta, senior bishop, will preside at the first session.

Laketon Club Makes Rugs at Monthly Session

Members of the Helping Hands club of the Laketon community had an enjoyable lesson in making braided rugs and mats at their monthly demonstration meeting Thursday afternoon. Miss Myrtle Miller, county home demonstration agent, directed the work of fashioning attractive rugs from "gunnie" sacks, cast-off silk hose, and discarded silk clothing, with the members working in groups of three.

Four rugs had been started by the time the meeting closed. The best of number will be placed in the club's exhibit at the Gray county fair next fall, according to the decision of the members.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Close. Delicious refreshments were served at the tea.

Thousand Killed in Burma Quake

RANGOON, Burma, May 6. (AP)—The Exchange telegraph agency said today the entire town of Peru had been wiped out by an earth quake and subsequent tidal wave, with the number of dead estimated at 1400.

The town presents a desolate picture, with public buildings and homes destroyed. Practically the entire population is homeless.

Fifty persons were killed here, and more than 200 were injured. It was the worst tremor in the city's history.

Scarcely a building escaped damage, and many collapsed. Business was at a standstill.

The market was burned out, and the whole town presents a spectacle of ruin.

The roof of the famous Shwe-Maw-Day pagoda, ancient structure 324 feet high, was damaged. Of public buildings, the police commissioner's office and the secretariat were badly damaged and had to be closed.

COLLEGE MEN COMING

President J. A. Hill of Canyon teachers college, Coach Claude Lewis of the Buffaloes, and L. N. George, field secretary of the Extension association of the college, will arrive this evening for an overnight visit. They will be guests of local "exes" and will attend a dinner at the New Schneider hotel at 7 P. M.

Mrs. Fergal, Amarillo, is visiting Mrs. R. D. Park and Mrs. F. H. Barnhart.

Recipes Given by Miss Miller

In response to several calls regarding ways of using strawberries, Miss Myrtle Miller, Gray county home demonstration agent, offers the following recipes:

Preserves
2 lbs. berries.
1-2 cup berry juice.
1-2 lbs. sugar.
Wash, cap and stem the strawberries. Make a syrup of the sugar and juice and add the berries. Cook until the syrup is very thick. Cool quickly, pack in sterilized jars, seal and process 10 minutes in a water bath just below boiling.

Sun-Cooked Preserves
The berries should be washed, capped, stemmed, drained and measured. Allow an equal weight of sugar for fruit. For each two pounds of berries measure one-fourth cupful of berry juice and heat with the sugar. Cook and pour over the whole berries in shallow trays. Set in the sun for three or four days, bringing indoors at night. Dampness is a great foe to successful sun cookery. Allow the fruit to remain in the sun until it is well plumped and the syrup has thickened almost to a jelly. If the sun fails to shine keep the preserves in a cool oven. Pack in sterilized jars and seal.

Strawberry Jam
Select fruit, part of which is under ripe. Wash, letting the water run over the berries in a sieve. Allow three-fourths of a pound of sugar to each pound of berries. Stir frequently being careful to move the mixture from the bottom of the pan. Jam is thicker cool than hot. Care should be taken to cook enough but not too long.

Lamar P. T. A. Will Seat New Officers and Observe Mother's Day

Mrs. G. C. Malone, president-elect of Lamar Parent-Teacher association, and others of next year's administration will take office tomorrow afternoon at the association's final spring meeting. Mrs. V. E. Fatheree, president of the City Council of P. T. A., is to conduct the installation service. The session will open at 3 o'clock and close at 4 o'clock.

A special feature adding interest to the final meeting will be a program in observance of Mother's day. A vocal solo, "Mother Machree," by R. B. Fisher, readings, songs and addresses will be appropriate to the occasion. A large crowd is expected for the last meeting of the year.

Cowboy Singer Is Popular on Air

An electrical storm last week did not prevent enthusiastic radio fans from sending many requests and messages of congratulation, when the Pampa Booster radio entertainers went on the air for their regular hour.

More than a dozen requests were received by Haskel Potter, Pampa cowboy singer, who appeared to be the star of the program. Blind Tommy Hammond was also appreciated by the fans. Gonzales, Spanish guitar player and singer, was another feature of the program.

Mrs. Dorothy Chambers, playing a violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. Tom Brabham; a musical reading by Harold White, accompanied by Mrs. Brabham; Miss Nellie Hardin, vocal solo; whistling by Leif Carlee; singing by Blind Tom Hammond, and Spanish songs by Gonzales will be on the program for the local entertainers hour, 6:30 to 7:30, Thursday night, May 8.

Ed Eiseman, Chevrolet factory representative, was a business visitor in Pampa Monday.

Pilot Hurt in Fall Into Lake

SAN ANTONIO, May 6. (AP)—A 1,500-foot fall into Blue Wing lake near here resulted in serious injuries yesterday for Oscar Rees, 28, San Antonio pilot, and less serious injuries for his cousin, Hugo Bremer, 17, of Luckenbach.

Lieut. Albert F. Grant of Brooks field, who witnessed the accident and brought rescuers, said the plane went into a spin at 1,500 feet. The pilot pulled it out a short distance from the water, but was unable to bring it under control.

Favor New Franchise

SNYDER, May 6. (AP)—Official returns in a franchise election here yesterday showed a majority of 113 votes, for the city council favoring the granting of a power and light franchise to the Citizens Electric company. Out of 627 votes cast, 379 favored the franchise. Snyder is now served by the Texas Electric Service company.

TEERS ARE STRONGER AS NEW MEN HIT

By the Associated Press
Senior Jacob Atz of the Dallas Steers was in great fettle today as he led his herd against the pace setting Shreveport Sports for the second of their series. A little judicious revamping of the Steers' line-up, believes Atz, was responsible for the easy win over the league leaders yesterday, by the score of 10 to 1.

A big fourth inning in which Dallas scored six runs largely accounted for the victory. Atz' principal line-up changes were in sending in the newest acquisition, Chili McDaniel, first sacker from Little Rock and the veteran Hap Horse on the keystone sack.

The Sports were the only team in the league to lose a game played on home territory. Waco, host to San Antonio, took a ten-inning affair. Houston played before an enthusiastic home crowd to shut out the Beaumont Exporters; and Wichita Falls celebrated the drying up of the rain soaked Spudder field by beating Fort Worth. The same teams meet in the same cities today.

Beaumont, but recently heading the field, slipped a bit further down the ladder, to fourth place with Houston's 6 to 3 lacing. Five of six markers were made during. Stout held the seven blows. A San Antonio game was due, with Thormahlen vs visitors to five hits, and ending the game 2 to 1 in the loss clinched the San Antonio hold on the lowest position in the league.

The Wichita Falls Spudders, just a step behind Shreveport and Houston in the league standings, celebrated home run day for their 10 to 5 victory over the Cats. Three circuit clouts were good for five scores.

All four of the principal American golf champions will join the invasion of British links launched with the end of April and continuing until the middle of June.

The biggest parade of club-swingers ever organized for the advance on the Lion's Links is headed by Bobby Jones, captain of the amateur Walker Cup team and holder of the National Open Crown; Glenna Collett, the women's champion; Harrison Johnston, the amateur king; and Leo Diegel, professional champion who also holds the Canadian Open title.

The most conspicuous figure missing from this convention of champions is Walter Hagen, American holder of the British Open title for the past two seasons. Cyril James Hastings Tolley, of course, will be there to defend his hold on the British amateur sceptre, but Joyce Wethered has retired and will not defend the British women's championship as she has so often done.

The best previous year that the Yankee golfers have ever enjoyed on British soil was 1926—the year that Bobby Jones captured the British Open for the first time at Lytham and St. Anne's, Jess Sweetser won the British Amateur at Muirfield and the two combined to help America triumph in the Walker Cup matches by the close score of 6 to 5.

In the British Open, the first four were Jones, Al Watrous, Walter Hagen and George Von Elm. Walter Hagen contributed to the rout by beating Abe Mitchell, 2 to 1 in their famous 72-hole match that aroused so much controversy because the American pro kept his British rival waiting at the tee.

If the Grand Army of the Republic's links does as well on the other side this spring, there will be no cause for complaint. At least there is the good chance of another Yankee clean-up with: 1. Jones, Johnston, Von Elm, Voight, Willing, Moe, Onimet and MacKenzie leading the defense of the Walker Cup as well as the attack on the British Amateur.

2. Jones, Diegel, Horton Smith, Von Elm and a few others advancing on the British Open. 3. Diegel taking up the personal nibblicks with Abe Mitchell. 4. And the biggest list of American women stars yet mustered for foreign play, led by Glenna Collett, Helen Hicks, Maureen Orcutt, Virginia Van Wie and a dozen others, for a team match as well as the British women's championship.

Baseball's first week of major league play featured the finest brand of spring pitching that can be recalled in a blue moon. Six shutouts, three in each circuit, were recorded in as many days. The Phillies, hardest hitting club in either league, collected four runs

Golfino Called Among Best of Present Grapplers

Dan Golfino may be a new and strange name to many Pampans, but it is one which every middleweight wrestler in the U. S. fears and respects. Golfino is the chap who meets Otis Clingman's protegee, Buck Bailey of Austin, next Thursday night at the Pla-Mor in the 30-minute event.

Dan is one of the few Jewish wrestlers in the game. At one time he was the strongest contender for the crown of Jack Reynolds, and a match between the two was held in Cincinnati. Hundreds were turned away from the gates before the match started. Reynolds won two falls out of three. Golfino lost to Toti Shima last week.

Another mat celebrity who clashed with the science and speed of Golfino was the late Matsuda, the Japanese wrestler. The first fall between the Hebrew and Matty lasted two hours and five minutes. Bailey has been wrestling only two years but he has learned fast and Golfino may be surprised.

In the main go, Otis Clingman will meet Jack Mitchell of Shreveport. Mitchell has won from Joe Kopecky and the Yaqui Kid both of whom have been given decisions over Clingman.

Miami Soon Will Have Golf Links

MIAMI, May 6. (Special)—With the use of a tract for a nine-hole course donated, and with work on the grounds already under way, 26 enthusiastic golfers are perfecting the organization of the Miami Golf club. Fifty members ultimately will be taken in, according to the original plan of the body. Both men and women are eligible for membership. R. L. Simmons has donated the use of land four miles north of the city. Relieved of the necessity of buying or leasing land, the club expects to be able to develop one of the best links in the Panhandle, and, before many years build a club house. Arrangements are being made for matches with teams from other cities when the course is completed.

Gus Wins Another
LOS ANGELES, May 6. (AP)—Gus "Dynamite" Sonnenberg, former college football player, today attributed another wrestling victory to his application of flying tackles learned on the gridiron.

Sonnenberg, who claims the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, defeated Everett Marshall of La Junta, Colo., two out of three falls before 17,800 fans at Wrigley field here last night.

Golfers Reach England
PLYMOUTH, England, May 6. (AP)—Members of the American Walker Cup team reached England today on the Mauretania. All disembarked except Bobby Jones, who remained aboard and proceeded to Southampton. He expressed opinion that the team's prospects were good.

College Honors Split

College Crews Fastest in Years

NEW YORK, May 6. (AP)—America's college rowing fleet this season is the fastest that has taken the water in the last three years at least, the performances registered thus far show.
A comparison of times made at the same distances and over the same bodies of water produces the significant fact that the 1930 crews—varsity, junior varsity, freshman and lightweight—have travelled faster than those of 1929 and 1928 in 12 out of 15 cases.

Last month Washington's varsity beat California by a bare five feet and was clocked in 17 minutes, 46 seconds for the three-mile Lake Washington course which the winning Golden Bear crew of 1928 took 18 minutes, 19 seconds to cover.

While this was far from conclusive proof that the current far west varsities are anything like half a minute better than the California aggregation that set a record at Puget Sound and won the Olympic title, it indicates that they may turn out to be the same world-beating class.

Childress, the other new Class A school, already has extensive plans under way for next fall. These include lighting of the gridiron for night games, at a cost of more than $3,000.
Coach Mitchell of the Harvesters will be here during the summer and will cooperate with school officials and business men in preparing for the local grid season.

Return to Pampa
Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Husted returned Sunday from Waynoka, Okla., where they have been living the past two months, to make their permanent home in Pampa. Mr. Husted is a freight office employee of the Santa Fe, serving in that capacity here prior to his transfer to Waynoka. He will resume his duties in the local freight office. Mr. and Mrs. Husted are residing at 408 East Kingsmill. Mr. Husted is the son of A. C. Husted, manager of the Martin-Lane Grain company. Mrs. Husted formerly was Miss Lucille Keim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keim.
Grant Wiser, Amarillo, representing the Lipscomb National Life Insurance company, transacted business here Monday.

Unofficial Mark Set in California

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif. May 6. (AP)—Eric Krens, Stanford track captain, whirled the discus 177 feet in practice here yesterday. The toss, however, was made from a 10 foot 6 inch circle 2 feet 6 inches larger than the regulation circle and allowing a double turn. Stanford athletic officials said it was the best mark they had any knowledge of from any circle.
Krens is holder of the official world's record with a mark of 163 feet 3-4 inches, set in 1929.

CHAMPS ARE BACK AT TOP OF STANDINGS

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics have overcome the spotty play that marked their early-season efforts and vaulted back into the lead in the American League race.

Al Simmons' fifth homer of the season enabled the A's to register their fifth successive victory at the expense of the St. Louis Browns yesterday, 4 to 3, in 12 innings. It was the sheer power, rather than the continuity of the champions' batting that beat the Browns.

Victims of a vicious batting attack at Boston, the Cleveland Indians fell back into a tie with the Athletics for the league lead. Four Indian pitchers were pounded for 23 hits as the Red Sox won, 18 to 3, and snapped Cleveland's winning streak of six straight.

The Washington Senators suffered their third straight defeat, losing to Detroit 3 to 1, in a pitchers battle between Lloyd Brown and Lefty Foggett.

Vernon Gomez, Pacific Coast league recruit, gave up only five hits as the New York Yankees won their third straight game from the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 1. Willie Kamm's home run in the second inning accounted for the White Sox's only run.

In the National League, the New York Giants went back into first place with a 9 to 1 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Bill Walker was the whole show for the winners.
Cincinnati pounded Burleigh Grimes for six runs in the first five innings and easily beat the Boston Braves, 10 to 6. Horace Ford had a great day at bat with three dou-

Baseball Records Are Set Sunday

ST. LOUIS, May 6. (AP)—A modern major league record was broken and a national league record equalled in the second game of Sunday's bargain bill between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The new mark was set when the Cards and the Robins went to bat officially 103 times, the Dodger with 52 and the Red Birds with 51.
The all-time record was made June 9, 1883 when the Boston and Detroit nationals batted 110 times, but the more recent record was 99 times between the New York Giants and the Cincinnati Reds on June 9, 1901. The National record, which was equalled, was by the Red Birds employing 22 players, the same as was used by the Phillies against the Cards on Sept. 16, 1925 and by the same club against the Dodgers May 17, 1929.

St. Louis and Brooklyn had an off day, and the Chicago Cubs played only one inning of their game with the Phillies before rain halted hostilities.

MANY FINE QUALITIES make up the "charm" that is Miss America's, but her genuine wholesomeness appeals most of all.
IN A CIGARETTE, TOO, the real appeal is wholesomeness of taste.
WITNESS CHESTERFIELD'S popularity, growing every day. No flash in the pan, but enduring popularity, earned by giving smokers a cigarette of better quality, richer aroma and finer fragrance, blended and cross-blended to just one end... "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price. LEGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

A Copy of a Personal Letter from
Jimmie Rodgers

Hollywood, Cal., Season, 1930.

MY DEAR PUBLIC:
I am delighted that I am to meet you in person and sing and play for you soon. Won't this be grand! And especially I never expected such dreams would be a reality. All this has been made possible by the greatest showman of the age, Col. W. I. Swain. I take my hat off to him as the salary he is paying me establishes me as the highest salaried Victor Record man in the world or any other record producing man.

Now my dear friends, I will appear in person with Swain's HOLLYWOOD FOLLIES each night, and by the way the W. I. Swain Show Co., Inc. has a great big company of good looking young men and pretty girls, comedians and singers and vocal quartette and novelty entertainers, and gold band and orchestra and the finest advanced style wardrobe, in fact Col. Swain is bringing a big Hollywood production to you, and I also wish to state the show excels any Broadway show. I assure you I am glad to be the star on such a grand show.

Unless I explain, you may wonder why myself and such a wonderful show presented by so many wonderful entertainers are appearing in a tent. Because theatres are not available being entirely controlled by picture interests, thus road shows cannot get theatre bookings. However, Col. Swain's present plan of presenting this big city show in a tent makes it possible for you, my friends, to hear and see me and meet me, also to enjoy the big show of which I bear the distinction of being the star.

I will sing and play my songs that you request until, well, perhaps, you will tire of me. I hope you are wearing out all my records playing them. I want to shake hands with you. I also want to meet the kiddies.

I will also appear in person each day at the public band concert and novelty review presented by the entire company—on the street at 1:30 p. m.

Sincerely,
JIMMIE RODGERS
(America's Blue Yodeler)

P. S.—To My Country Friends—Come to town early so I may meet you personally and of course I will have the pleasure of singing and playing for you in the show at night.

Murder Backstairs

by ANNE AUSTIN AUTHOR OF "THE AVENGING PARROT" "THE BLACK PIGEON" ETC. ©1930 by NEA SERVICE INC.

From the moment Detective Dundee lifts the body of Doris Matthews, murdered lady's maid, from the lake and lays her in the summerhouse, he knows that the heavy perfume flask, the queer murder weapon, is the chief clue. He knows Seymour Crosby, engaged to Clorinda Berkeley, has given the flask to Mrs. Berkeley, that for some unaccountable reason Gigi Berkeley, 15, was horrified at the gift and wasted as much of the perfume as possible by sprinkling it over everyone in the drawing room Friday evening.

But not until Mrs. Berkeley, Dick Berkeley, Clorinda, Eugene Arnold, (Doris's fiancé) Seymour Crosby, and finally, Harvey Johnson, missing valet who had robbed the house, have all been suspected in turn, does Dundee hit upon a startling new angle: that Mrs. Berkeley, and not Doris, was the intended murder victim. For Dundee discovers Mrs. Berkeley is a perfume addict. There is evidence that Crosby hoped for his intended mother-in-law's early death; abundant suspicion against Crosby in connection with the death of his wife, Phyllis, 14 months before, when Doris was her trusted maid and friend.

His case against Crosby is shattered, however, when the city chemist reports no traces of poison found in Gigi Berkeley's perfume-scented handkerchief. Dundee has also learned that wood alcohol is used to fill cigarette lighter fountains in the Berkeley home. Ready to work on a new theory, he is called to police headquarters, where Johnson, the robber-valet, is being grilled. Johnson admits the robbery, under third degree. Then Dundee asks suddenly: "Just where did you meet Phyllis, Conway?"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. CHAPTER XLIII "Phyllis Benham?" the prisoner echoed blankly. "I've never known a girl named Phyllis Benham."

"Phyllis Crosby?" Dundee suggested. "Never heard of her," Conway retorted. "Kin to that guy I was hired to work for?"

"His dead wife. You stole her miniature," Dundee replied quietly. "I took everything that was in a jewel box, without loitering to open some of the cases," the prisoner explained frankly.

"Doris Matthews told one of the maids that she had seen you somewhere before," Dundee told him, trying a new tack. "Yes, in the dining room of the Stuart House Thursday night," Conway answered promptly. "She was having dinner with a man. I met him Friday night at the servants' dinner. Arnold, the chauffeur, he was. He didn't see me Thursday night, because his back was toward me, but I nearly got the girl's goat staring at her. She was a peach. Of course I had on my glasses and my hair was parted in the middle, not on the left side as it was Friday night. But I saw it had her bothered—where she'd seen me before."

"And you weren't taking any chances, were you, Conway?" Strawn cut in savagely. "You know the girl might remember and give you away. That's why you killed her! Didn't I tell you so yesterday, Dundee?"

"I didn't kill her!" Conway retorted, with amazing calm. "And I can prove it!" "Alibi, eh?" Strawn sneered. "It'll take some alibi to get your neck out of this noose, my man!"

"And I've got it," Conway assured him coolly. "Don't you think I know from the papers when she was last seen alive? Listen: I finished my job at the Berkeley house before 10 o'clock. I could have stowed the junk in my pockets, but I took that black pigskin bag of Crosby's just to throw dust in your eyes."

"What did you do with it?" "Chucked it on my way to the interurban stop," Conway grinned. "If you can find out who owns a big coupe parked at the curb in front of No. 4318 Fairview Road Friday night and will tell him to lift up the back seat, he'll find the bag, unless he's found it already and has been afraid to turn it in. It's got Crosby's tennis shoes in it, as well as the velvet boxes that all the loot was kept in."

"Check on it, Sergeant Turner!" Strawn flung at his subordinate and Turner left the office on the run. "That was about 10:15," Conway continued coolly. "By that time I'd put on my own shoes, which I'd carried out in the bag, buttoned up my topcoat to the collar, put on my glasses and parted my hair in the middle, like I always wear. I strolled on to the shed where passengers wait for the interurban and in about six minutes a car came along, just as I knew it would, because I've been catching the interurban at that stop off and on for six months and I knew the schedule."

"So you've been planning the haul that long, eh?" Strawn growled. "No. This was a jumped-up affair. But I've got a girl friend that lives not a million miles from the Berkeley house. I take her home in a taxi, but I hop the interurban back to town."

"What's her name?" "I'm not telling that," Conway retorted, and meant it. "But the conductor and motorman who were on last night have seen me often enough the last six months to feel pretty well acquainted. Friday night, on the 10:23, there was only a handful of passengers and I stood up front, talking to the old boy who runs the car. Motorman No. 65," he supplied obligingly.

"Got it all down pat, haven't you?" Strawn commented sourly. "Yes," Conway agreed. "He told me Friday night he had a fallen arch that was hurting like the devil and he'd be glad to pull into Hamilton and turn the car over to the motorman that was to relieve him at 10:46. The old boy usually goes off duty at 11:56, but he'd arranged for relief an hour ahead of schedule Friday night, because of his swollen foot."

"Check it, Payne!" Strawn flung over his shoulder at the detective billing in the window. "Well, what's the rest of your yarn?" he snarled at his prisoner and Dundee felt a surge of genuine sympathy toward his chief, who had counted so heavily upon "Johnson" to solve the murder.

"I left the interurban at the Stuart House corner at 10:42," Conway went on calmly. "I asked for my key and chatted a while with the night clerk—" "Get hold of the night clerk of the Stuart House," Strawn wearily ordered Detective Burns, who was also listening in on the confession.

"The night clerk looked at the clock and asked me if my girl and I had a row, since it was so early," Conway went on cheerfully. "Well, I went up to my room and stayed there till Saturday morning. I carried the jewelry in my pockets while I made my rounds of the shops Saturday, but this morning I stowed it away in my sample case, because I was afraid some of it might drop out of my pockets on the golf course. I was planning to call on the trade as usual all day Monday, then to leave Monday night for Chicago, per schedule. I aimed to get rid of the stuff there, through a fence who's been bothering me to go back to the old racket."

"Why didn't you get rid of the shirt and necktie?" Dundee asked. "Just try to think up some way of getting rid of an incriminating bundle and see if you wouldn't have done what I did," Conway retorted reasonably. "I thought of a dozen ways, each more dangerous than the last, and finally I just left 'em around, as if they didn't mean a thing in my young life."

"Good psychology, which didn't happen to work this time," Dundee sympathized. "The chambermaid brought them in this morning." "You can't crack a safe without taking a chance," Conway shrugged. "But if I'd tried to sneak out and chuck 'em in an ash can, the chance would have been ten times bigger and as it turns out later, if I'd left the hotel, I wouldn't have had an alibi on this murder business. I didn't even know a murder had been committed out there until I saw an extra Saturday morning and at that time you didn't know there'd been a burglary, so we were quits!"

"And when you did learn of the murder?" Dundee prodded. "God, I nearly lost my head!" Conway admitted with a shudder.

County Clubs to Meet on Second Saturday Here

Regular meeting of home demonstration clubs council will be May 10, the second Saturday of the month. Due to the recent rains, it was not possible to hold this meeting on the first Saturday of the month. The usual meeting day of the month is an open council meeting for all people interested in the work, as well as for all members of the home demonstration clubs.

Year books will be distributed, and Mrs. John O'Keefe, president of the Texas Home demonstration association, will be on the program.

Mrs. Charles Talley is chairman of this council.

Making braided rugs for use in living and bedrooms and mats for tables is one of the activities of the women's clubs in home demonstration work.

Old blankets, clothes, and burlap are utilized in making the rugs, which have an average size of 4 by 2 1/2 feet. Silk hose and other knit material are used in making mats.

Alta Seitz, first year club girl of Laketon, has a flock of 42 Brahma chickens, housed in a clean, spotless, whitewashed building, surrounded by many shade trees.

The henhouse is so clean that it is entirely free of poultry pests such as lice and mites.

Mrs. Fritz Waechter, who has a backyard poultry flock at her home, 132 South Sumner, believes that it pays to feed greenstuff to chickens, put oyster shell in the yard and keep the premises clean, according to Miss Myrtle Miller, home demonstration agent.

Mrs. Waechter was losing chickens, and since following the above rules, she reports that her chickens are filling the egg baskets.

H. M. Holmgren, state extension poultry specialist, on a recent visit to Pampa, rated alfalfa as the best green feed for chickens.

Acquittal Given in Robbery Case

L. L. Cole was acquitted on charge of robbery with firearms by a jury in 31st district court yesterday.

Alton Sudduth, prosecuting witness, testified that Grady Adams, who was given a five-year sentence on the same charge last week, borrowed a gun from Cole and conspired with the defendant to rob him. He said that when Adams took his money at the point of a gun, he did not point it at Cole. The hold-up took place while he and Cole were going to LeFors, Sudduth said.

The jury in returning the verdict said that the evidence was not sufficient to convict the man. Ben Allred defended Cole.

Jurors in the case were E. Brown, M. Noel, W. C. Mitchell, J. R. White, J. B. Green, Pete Chilton, J. O. Moorehead, Frank Reynolds, W. H. Hulsey, T. K. Underwood, W. M. Finley and T. E. Hicks.

Jimmie Rodgers Arrives for Show This Evening

Jimmie Rodgers, whose Victor records are said to out-sell those of any other artist, arrived in Pampa this morning in his private car and will appear tonight as the star of W. I. Swain's musical comedy tent show company, producing Swain's Hollywood Follies of 1930.

Mr. Swain is credited with the first musical comedy ever to be presented by a tent show company. An ensemble of tap dancing girls, appropriately costumed for the good old summer time, and a group of comedians will open the show with "The Dixie Jamboree." Varied songs, dances and comedy skits follow each other in rapid succession. The Swain company also includes a 12-piece band and an excellent orchestra with a troupe of Hawaiians. Novelty numbers will be given by Swain's Hollywood Harmony quartet.

Rodgers will sing many of the songs recorded on phonograph records for which he has become famous. More of his records are sold in Pampa than those of any other recording artist, a check of music stores revealed. He is probably the most popular singer in America among the people who depend on the phonograph for musical entertainment.

Bachelor Has Good Idea But Is Poor Liar

HOUSTON, May 6. (AP)—Faced with a $22 board bill and an irate landlady, and the prospect of getting married late this week to a widow with three children, an unhappy middle aged bachelor saw his way out of the situation last night.

He told police that a huge negro nudged him and robbed him of $21, which spoiled all of his matrimonial plans and not a small portion of his face, which was bleeding.

Later, he admitted that the robbery was a fake, that he had scratched his face with a pin, and that he did it all to explain his way out of a board bill and a marriage ceremony.

Officers smiled broadly when they recalled his first report of the "robbery." The purported victim said the brutal robber even took a package of gum from him which he was taking home to his prospective step-children.

CONOCO'S CHALLENGE CONFIRMED! on America's Greatest Motor Proving Ground PIKE'S PEAK!

Now it can be told... the true story of motor oil merit! For this was a test of America's representative motor oils in competition! A daring thing for CONOCO to do, done in confidence. Confidence based on the now-proven advantages of Germ-Processed oils... These tests brought out facts about motor oils which should affect the pocket-book of every motorist... Facts which we believe should force a swinging to Germ-Processed Motor Oils by every reader of our message.

Three Other Popular Oils Were Tried Side By Side With CONOCO Germ-Processed

Other oils often have been "tested" on speedways, in cross-country dashes, and over the ocean. But they were "tested" only against operating conditions! CONOCO's Germ-Processed oil was proven against operating conditions, and in comparison with other oils as well!

The CONOCO Germ-Processed oil proved its superiority in the Pike's Peak Tests and with such finality, that now all motorists will know the facts... know how the wearing grinds up to the top of Pike's Peak and down again, up and down again, and again, showed each oil in its true colors... and how the Germ-Processed film so defied the clawing talons of friction that test thermometers showed lessened water and oil temperatures, to the amazement of disinterested engineers!

Motor Parts Were Measured After Each Oil Was Tried

Cylinders were measured with a micrometer, at top and bottom, pistons likewise, and the cylinder taper accurately recorded, after each oil was tested. These measurements were accurate to one ten-thousandths of an inch. This is what the reports of the test developed. Comparing the wear with the use of CONOCO Germ-Processed oils against average wear with the other oils, showed a decrease in wear in favor of CONOCO Germ-Processed oils of 76.4%.

Pike's Peak Tests Conducted Under AAA Supervision

American Automobile Association observers purchased all oils used in the open market, placed them in separate containers, marked them with a code letter, and locked them up. All crankcase fillings were made by AAA observers who then sealed the inlets and outlets of each motor. All gasoline allotments, every temperature reading, every micrometer measurement, every test was checked by an AAA observer. During every moment of the test, an AAA observer was riding in each car. The records of this test were initiated by an AAA observer as each entry of fact was made, and will be shown to any person on request to the company.

CONOCO'S Superiority Was Proven Under AAA Supervision

Lubricity means slipperiness, smoothness, and lower co-efficient of friction, as compared to another oil. The Extra Lubricity of CONOCO'S Germ-Processed oils is due to its amazing ability to penetrate metal surfaces! Thus, we believe Germ-Processed oil brings a lubricity, a minimum of friction to your motor because it becomes a part of the motor metal.

CONOCO gives you facts... The Pike's Peak Tests reveal that your automobile motor can last longer... than your operating expenses can be lowered! Will you drive in today, at the Sign of the Red Triangle?
