MISSOURI DENTIST PLEADS GUILTY AND TAKES LIFE SENTENCE

DEFENSE HAS UNUSUAL WAY TO END CASE

Family and Counsel Think Him to Be Insane

HE SLEW MAN FOR INSURANCE

Dramatic Conclusion Made in Murder Trial

BENTONVILLE, Ark., May 26. (AP)—Dr. Andrew J. Bass, 55, former wealthy dentist of Columbia, Mo., charged with killing his co-conspirator in a $200,000 insurance fraud plot, William R. Pearman, Columbia garage mechanic, brought his murder trial to a dramatic end here today with a plea of guilty that carried with it a sentence of life imprisonment by agreement of counsel.

Dr. Bass entered his plea at the special term of circuit court this morning upon the advice of his counsel, Boyle C. Clark and J. R. Boggs of Columbia and John H. Duty of Rogers, who in a statement said they considered him insane and dangerous to society and asked that he be taken to the penitentiary at Little Rock immediately. Whether he should later be committed to an insane asylum, they added, should be left to the judgment of Arkansas officials.

Prosecution and defense counsel agreed to a sentence of life imprisonment for the crime.

Stating that while their procedure was unusual, defense counsel said that their attitude and the attitude of members of Dr. Bass' family was that the case should be disposed of in this way.

While defense counsel said they believed the crime was committed in Missouri and that Pearman's body was brought to Arkansas and thrown from an automobile near Gravette, Ark., where it was found by the roadside two months ago with three bullet wounds in the head, they said Dr. Bass' plea of guilty settles the question of venue.

New Hobbs Gets Brick Buildings

NEW HOBBS, N. M., May 26. (Special)—Construction of a fire-proof business district on Main street is now under way here.

Work has just started on a 200-room hotel, a forty-room hospital, and six store buildings, and several other buildings are planned for the next few weeks. All these structures are being built of brick.

The New Hobbs area is the only section in the U. S. which is now in the grip of a feverish boom, according to the New Hobbs Chamber of Commerce.

Chicagoan Is Murdered

CHICAGO, May 26. (AP)—Peter Biescia last night went out the gang way—carried automobile and blazing pistols. The roar of the killers' car faded into the night, leaving behind, in a dark alley leading off West Grand avenue, the form of Biescia, with bullets in the brain, the jaw and the shoulder.

BUYERS OF LIQUOR DECLARED TO BE NOT GUILTY OF BREAKING NATIONAL PROHIBITION STATUTES

Boston Case Is Used to Test Government Position—Sheppard Will Seek to Obtain New Law

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—Purchasers of liquor from bootleggers were today declared by the Supreme Court to be exempt from prosecution on the charge of violating the National Prohibition law.

The court declared that purchasers were not guilty with the seller in violating the prohibition law when they accept the delivery of bootleg liquor.

The case was that of James E. Farrer of Boston, selected as a test case by the government.

Liquor Cases Are Being Tried

Sam Winters and James Blakely are being tried in 31st district court today on a charge of possessing and transporting intoxicating liquor.

Winters and Blakely were indicted with Joe Jones about two weeks ago. Jones was acquitted by a jury here last Friday. He testified that he rode with the two men from an Oklahoma town to Pampa and that he did not know the car contained liquor. He was sitting in the car when arrested by officers who seized 30 gallons of whiskey.

Woman Killed on Way to Funeral

BASTROP, May 26. (AP)—Killed yesterday in an automobile accident, soon after she set out for Waco to attend funeral services for her father, J. T. Tyler, funeral services were set for today for Mrs. John W. Milton, 50.

She was accompanied by her husband, Rev. John W. Milton, pastor of the First Baptist church here, and Joseph, 9, their son.

Mr. Milton said he lost control of the car when it struck loose gravel on the Austin highway near here. It overturned.

Elderly Man Struck

A 70-year-old man, known to acquaintances as Mr. Hardin, suffered three broken ribs and painful body bruises when he was run down by a hit-and-run motorist on South Cuyler Saturday night about 9 o'clock. Police are searching for the man who was described as the driver of the car. The accident occurred in the middle of the street as Mr. Hardin was crossing. His condition may be more serious than was first believed, it was said. He is at a South Pampa cot house, where he had been staying.

"HOT BOX" SETS GASOLINE TANKS, AUTOS ON FIRE

CADDO, Okla., May 26. (AP)—A spectacular fire that could be seen for 30 miles, destroyed four tank cars of gasoline and 3 freight cars loaded with automobiles, on a Kansas, Oklahoma and Gulf railway spur seven miles west of here today.

The gasoline was ignited by a "hot box," the engineer of the train reported. The freight train was enroute to Allen when an explosion burst one tank and flames spread to the other cars. Remaining cars of the train were switched to safety.

The fire started at midnight and still lighted the sky at dawn. Loss was estimated at $80,000.

Clothing Men Meeting

OIL BUSINESS HUGE FACTOR

Reasons for Lively Conditions Are Indicated

That Pampa and vicinity have an industrial payroll of more than ten million dollars annually is revealed in a survey recently completed by the Board of City Development and published in "Pampa," official organ of the B. C. D.

The publication says: "A recent survey by a group of business men shows some very interesting figures and facts concerning Pampa and its environs. This survey was made under the direction of the industrial committee of the Board of City Development. About twenty men made a careful survey of the various industries, wholesale and retail stores. This survey took several days of hard work to complete, and then it took many days of work in the office to compile the facts.

The survey shows a total payroll of $10,221,575.00, excluding all construction work in the oil field. If the payrolls of the construction work could be obtained, it would run the total much higher.

"It is found that Pampa's retail trade territory extends from five to one hundred miles according to the business. By way of parenthesis, this should be a good argument for paved highways, for much of this retail business depends upon road conditions.

"A survey of the main hotels, excluding rooming houses shows that there are sixty rooms in frame hotels, with three baths, 145 rooms in stucco hotels with 13 baths, and 390 rooms in brick hotels with 115 baths. The payroll of these hotels runs to $86,500 annually. Incidentally, it was found that these hotels are generally crowded, and several are frequently forced to turn away a number.

Retail, annual payroll:
Supply stores	$300,000.00
Grocery stores	155,350.00
Drygoods, ready-to-wear,
Garage and auto sales	113,000.00
Service stations	297,300.00
Lumber yards	104,000.00
Miscellaneous, including dairies, music stores,
jewelers, hardware, farm implements, etc.	91,180.00
Total	$1,256,830.00

Wholesale, annual payroll: Including bakeries, grain, meat, grocery, produce, oil and gas, etc. $154,310.00 Industries, annual payroll: Utilities $107,840.00 (See PAYROLL, Page 6)

Jones Advances in British Golf

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 26. (AP)—Bobby Jones, American open champion, advanced to the third round of the British amateur golf championship, today by defeating S. Roper, Wallaton park, three up and two to play.

Jones had to shoot inspired golf to win from his sturdy English opponent who played the first nine holes in 36 strokes, through a combination of nine straight fours. Bobby, however, covered the first nine holes in 33 strokes, including four birdies and an eagle.

Roper clung tenaciously to his brilliant opponent before he was forced to bow at the 18th.

It's the Newest College Fad!

No, these aren't two track athletes ready for a workout, nor are they a pair of very absent-minded young men. They're just a couple of University of Utah students who rebelled against wearing regulation clothes on hot days, in line with a new college fad. "It's simply shocking," cried Claribel Wallace, left, a co-ed, as she encountered the new devotees to Dame Fashion's latest fancy when they appeared on the campus.

NEW TRIAL FOR TWITTY HAS BEEN ASKED—ARGUMENT USED BY DISTRICT ATTORNEY CITED

Motion for a new trial for MONCUS Twitty has been filed by his attorneys, C. S. Wortman, Curtis Douglas, and Don Wakeman. Twitty was given a death sentence on a charge of criminally attacking his four-year-old niece at LeFors, May 1.

The motion was based on the contention that District Attorney C. G. Englewood in his arguments before the jury made highly prejudicial and injurious remarks by referring to possible mob action. The defense declared that in stating to the jury, "the public has been very patient and lenient and has not resorted to mob action," Mr. Englewood committed a reversible error.

Other remarks of the district attorney during the progress of the trial and the sanity hearing were declared to be prejudicial. If the motion is denied, it is understood the case will be appealed to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Amarillo Has Big Robberies

AMARILLO, May 26. (AP)—The largest series of burglaries here in many months was perpetrated last night, netting the burglars about $1,000.

The Methodist church was the heaviest loser, its safe being robbed of last night's collection of $400. Burglars entered two downtown stores by tunneling through the walls after getting into an adjoining barber shop. A suburban grocery lost a small amount of cash and groceries. A barrel of chips was stolen from a potato chip manufacturing concern.

NEWS CIRCUIT TO PAMPA FASTER TODAY

DALLAS, May 26. (AP)—Another forward move in Texas journalism was taken today when the state news circuit of the Associated Press serving 23 of the state's outstanding evening newspapers was speeded up from 40 words a minute to 60 words a minute. Thus was provided a world news service unparalleled by any other news service in Texas excepting the quadruple and quintuple trunk circuits of the Associated Press serving the largest cities and newspapers in the state.

Evening dailies who have provided the amplified service so that reader interest might be better are: The Reporter, Abilene; Globe, Amarillo; Statesman, Austin; Journal, Beaumont; Herald, Big Spring; Herald, Borger; Bulletin, Brownwood; Herald, Brownsville; Index, Childress; Sun, Corsicana; Callertimes, Corpus Christi; Herald, Denton; Record-Chronicle, Denton; Register, Gainesville; Tribune, Galveston; Journal, Lubbock; News, Pampa; Herald, Plainview; Standard, San Angelo; Democrat, Sherman; Record, Vernon; Times-Herald, Waco, and Times, Wichita Falls.

The circuit is edited at Dallas, where the news is selected from that arriving over three 60-word a minute automatic printer wires from Kansas City and New Orleans, and two Morse circuits, one operated from Kansas City and the other to the big cities of Texas.

Last Week of District Court Is Started Today

The twelfth and last week of the March term of 31st district court opened here this morning.

Judge W. R. Ewing appointed the following jury commissioners to select the grand and petit juries for the September term: DeLea Vickers, W. J. Ball of Alameda, Ben Lockhart of LeFors, T. J. Coffee of McLean, and Tom Lane of Pampa. They were instructed to select 40 jurors for the 12-week term.

Petit jurors for this week are as follows:

- J. W. Minners, D. L. Hall, B. L. Webb, W. H. Floyd, Porter Malone, B. E. Glass, C. M. Carlock, H. B. Bradford, Sam Keith, Ernest Baird, L. Brummitt, Tom Parker, A. F. Pendergrass, Nathan Jones, J. Four Members of Clans Are Slain

LEPANTO, Ark., May 26. (AP)—A liquor and narcotic feud of the lowlands lying between the Tyronza river and the Mississippi today was blamed for the deaths of four persons, three of them members of rival factions who met and shot it out at a village carnival. The fourth was a bystander felled by a stray bullet.

The dead: Clyde Keller, 33, alleged narcotic peddler. Ira "Blackie" Williams, 21, leader of one faction. Walter Mobs, 38, member of another clan. George Laudermilk, 35, carnival employe.

TWO MILLIONS TO BE AMPLE FOR PURPOSE

Clyde Fatheree Is Speaker Today at Luncheon

3 PRECINCTS TO BE INCLUDED

Valuations in No. 4 Do Not Justify Inclusion

Unanimous approval of preliminary plans for a three-precinct highway paving bond issue was shown by standing vote today at the best attended monthly Chamber of Commerce luncheon of the year.

The vote was taken near the close of the meeting after the proposed issue had been thoroughly explained through a lengthy talk by Clyde Fatheree. The meeting was opened by T. F. Smalling, president of the B. C. D., who turned the chairmanship over to Tom E. Rose, chairman of the highways committee. Mr. Rose announced that work on the plans would be continued by his committee this evening at a meeting in which P. S. Bailey, division engineer, will be present.

Mr. Fatheree opened his talk by saying that precinct 4, in which McLean and Alameda are located, has less than $3,000,000 valuations, as compared to about $27,000,000 in precincts 1, 2, and 3. For this reason, he said that precinct 4 representatives had asked to be left out of the bond plans. Including precinct 4 would saddle a larger rate on all of the county than any present at previous meetings wished, and a three-precinct plan was begun.

The plans for precincts 1, 2, and 3, would include the following: Highway 33—to be rerouted south of railroad to connect with proposed Roberts county paving, 16 1-2 miles, state and federal governments paying two-thirds, Gray paving estimated $184,000. Highway 33-A—50 per cent state aid, 23 miles, leaving county cost $363,000, estimated.

Highway 88—21 miles, 60 per cent state aid, county portion $345,000. Highway 66—10 miles, state and federal two-thirds aid, county share $109,000.

North from Pampa paving to county line, 2 1-2 miles. West on Berger road, present paving to county line, 4 1-2 miles.

LeFors road, through LeFors to North Fork bridge about 2 1-2 miles beyond.

All these roads would amount to (See PAVING, Page 6)

Miller to Start Formal Campaign

DALLAS, May 26. (AP)—Lieut.-Gov. Barry Miller, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Miller Pierce, planned to leave here today for a trip through South-Central and South Texas lasting two weeks, in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor. Tonight he expected to deliver the commencement address before the graduating class at Alton. On Monday, June 2, he will be chief speaker at a banquet and program at Robstown, Nueces county, sponsored by the Rio Grande Valley association of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

SMALL FIRE DAMAGE

A small fire at the Draper-Ross produce company, 215 East Tenth, Sunday morning might have proved serious if it had not been discovered a few minutes after the blaze began. The fire department arrived promptly and had no trouble in extinguishing it.

The fire swept from an electric heating stove in the warehouse. A large hole was burned in the floor.

IMPRESSING PAMPA UPON OUR NATION

Once get an unusual story well started, and it will go around the globe. The Pampa Daily News—Associated Press article about Pampa's phenomenal population growth is still traveling, and no doubt it will yet appear, if it already has not done so, in many other languages. The magazine Time has copied parts of the article and given it prominent "play".

Said Time:

"As other states were last week gloating over population increases which, by reappointment next year, would give them greater political strength in the House of Representatives, Texas, biggest of them all, pointed with huge pride to Pampa as a sample of its own spectacular growth. In 1920 Pampa, high in the Panhandle, had 987 inhabitants. This year, thanks to oil and energy, it was found to be a full-fledged city of 10,453, a population increase of 959 per cent in a decade."

Representative Garner 24 hours before the Pampa census figures were announced, had declared the time had come to "transfer the balance of political power from New England to the South and secure for southern states . . . prestige and recognition . . . Texas would make 230 states the size of Rhode Island, 54 the size of Connecticut, six the size of New York. Texas is four times bigger than the combined New England states . . . With an estimated population of 5,600,000 Texas ranks fifth among the states, being exceeded only by New York, Philadelphia, Illinois, and Ohio . . ."

The significant fact is that Texas can, under the articles of admission, create four new states out of her domain without the consent of the rest of the nation. The likelihood, however, is remote. Division of Texas would melt the proud titles and the portentous columns of figures, and would interfere with sentimental claims associated with his history. And, as the New York World remarks, "A Texan is so proud of Texas as it is he can hardly sleep at night. He boasts that if all the steers in Texas were one big steer the critter would stand with its forefeet in the Gulf of Mexico and his hindfeet in Hudson's bay, and would drink water out of the Panama canal while brushing the flies off the North Pole with his tail."

No, Texans will hardly murder that mythical steer—not even to achieve parity with the industrial East.

Another piece of valuable publicity, particularly so because it was written by and under the signature of James R. Record, managing editor of the Star-Telegram, appeared in the Fort Worth paper May 24. Some extracts from Mr. Record's article:

"Pampa has reached high estate among American cities but has lost none of the prestige of a well-ordered town."

"It has vaulted overnight from a place of 987 souls to one of 10,453, but hasn't sacrificed its good name. It has taken its oil boom as though to the manor born but hasn't allowed its morals to suffer."

"Pampa, once only a ranch town, is now an oil and wheat metropolis. The oldtimer, coming back to Pampa, wouldn't feel much at home until he espied the brick building of the White Deer Land company, where the properties of that and the J. A. ranch are being sold off to settlers. All else has changed with the coming of the new oil and gas prosperity. Streets are crowded with strangers, big oil field trucks rumble by, tool dressers have crowded off the cowboy, and the vacant lots are piled high with pipe."

"But with all this prosperity, Pampa has maintained correct deportment and behavior. Why? They say it is because the town's backbone is the cattleman and wheat grower and they didn't permit the law and order situation to get out of their hands. They took charge and maintained control with the first dawn of the boom. As a result, Pampa has no reign of terror, no disorder, lawlessness. . . Payrolls in Pampa total more than $10,000,000 at the present time, according to an industrial survey made by George Briggs of the Chamber of Commerce. Included in the payroll items are construction gangs, drillers, refinery, carbon black, and casinghead gasoline and employes and teamsters. . . Farming isn't being neglected now. The Chamber of Commerce has an intensive program, including the attraction of additional farmers, dairy cattle owners, and feeders. . . Pampa's population gain has given it national notoriety."

These prominent mentions are given to show the character of publicity which is being impressed upon the Southwest and the nation about Pampa. Making a city's name familiar to persons living in far-away states requires the unusual happening, for ordinary "chamber of commerce stuff" is not effective. Once get the attention of the nation, however, and the way is opened for publicity of the commoner type. Pampa is becoming a household word in the nation for the first time in her history.

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Natalie Converse tries to overcome her jealousy over her handsome husband, Alan. But when he receives a call to the home of Bernadine Lamont, a popular night club hostess, she demands that he refuse to go. He explains that Bernadine is the widow of a war buddy who had saved his life, but Natalie is furious when he says he must go.

The actress surprises Alan by telling him that her doctor has given her only a short time to live and requesting that he take care of her son, Bobby. He promises and tries to tell Natalie but her rebuffs silence him. He confides in his secretary, Philippa West, who has been waiting for an opportunity to further her own schemes.

When Natalie next comes to the office, Philippa engages her in conversation and talks about helping pick out toys for "darling Bobby" and shows a letter from Bernadine in which Alan's visits to Bobby are mentioned. Natalie leaves in a rage without explaining and Alan follows her home, hoping for a reconciliation, but her accusations drive him back to the office.

He finds Philippa there and takes her out to dinner at the home. The NORMANS invite Alan and Natalie for a week-end party at their Lake Placid lodge and this trip renews their love for each other. Philippa realizes that she has lost her advantage with Alan and is furious.

She was close to petulance over his blindness. And when he did notice it, his reaction made her furious. "What's that, Miss West; a gardenia?" he asked.

"Of course. Didn't you wear one at your wedding?" Philippa snapped. She was sorry for the words the next instant.

"Oh! That reminds me. I ought to send some flowers to my wife. Where did you get that one?" "Downstairs."

"Run down and order some for Mrs. Converse, will you? Tell them to send them up just before closing time. I'll forget all about it, I'm afraid. Er—wait a minute. I think she ought to have something more—more—you know—something that suits her better. I've got it! Orchids! They're just like her."

Philippa tossed her head. She wanted to refuse, to say she was too busy, but her better judgment conquered. Alan would then send someone else, and if Natalie was going to get flowers from him, she was delighted to have a chance to pick them out. Carrying the idea still further, she said to him:

"But don't you think, if you're going to get orchids, that Mrs. Converse would like to wear them today? They're meant to be worn, you know. And tomorrow they won't be so fresh."

"That's right," Alan agreed; "I think she's going to a party this afternoon."

"Then I'll order a corsage downstairs, and have it sent from a florist in Westchester," Philippa said, pleased that her scheme had worked so successfully. Alan wouldn't see the flowers before Natalie received them. It would then be too late for him to interfere.

Philippa asked for the very cheapest orchid she could buy, paid for it—she ordered only one—from petty cash, and hid her frugality from Alan.

When Natalie received the bloom she puckered her lips an instant, wondering if Alan had been cheated. He did not send her flowers often, but always they were perfect.

Anyhow, she said to herself, the orchid could be worn to Gladys' bridge that afternoon. A bit out of the ordinary, perhaps, but what of it?

As she expected, the flower excited some comment among her friends, but she soon had a rival to share the honors with her. Wanda Perry came in wearing a bigger and better orchid, two of them, in fact.

Everyone gasped. It was not an orchid crowd, except on very special occasions. Wanda laughed. Her voice was loud and mirthless, frankly noisy.

"Get an eyeful," she urged Gladys' guests; "and see what it costs my daddy to have long legs?" "What do you mean, long legs?" she was asked.

"Steppin'," she explained succinctly. "Don't you think I know the unwritten law? When Perry"—she always called her husband by his last name—"says it with flowers, I know the answer. And orchids! Girls, his conscience must have been one mass of twinges."

All joined in the chorus of laughter that followed, but Natalie. Her fingers had flown to her own flower that Wanda was indulging in cheap sensationalism. She dropped her hands to her lap, and hoped no one had observed her hasty gesture.

"But someone had. 'What's the matter, Natalie? Getting an idea?' Everyone was looking at her. And there was a sudden silence. Natalie's face flushed uncomfortably. She could almost hear them thinking: "What an unfortunate remark; Natalie is jealous."

She summoned all her savoir faire and smiled. "Mine's for being a nice girl," she said superciliously. No one made reply. Wise-cracking with Natalie on the subject of a husband's faithfulness was not a popular sport among her friends. There was, instead, a general buzz of conversation started as though on a signal. A few jokes, at Wanda's expense, were passed, but she did not hear them. In fact, she had not witnessed Natalie's small triumph. She'd gone to find Gladys in the room beyond.

She had made a little money on the market, and was filled with desire to talk about it. No one got vastly excited—the game went on just the same. She switched to something more intriguing.

"Listen," she said sibilantly, and leaned over the table to do it; "I've had a marvelous experience, I've made a hit with my broker."

"Indeed? Does that explain your luck?" "Don't get nasty, Agatha. You'll envy me, because I've heard you say what you think of Alan Converse. You ought to save up your pennies, and pay him a visit. He's the sweetest thing on Wall Street. So different in his office. But, of course, you've got to have something to attract him. I don't know what it is about me, but—"

"Wanda!" The woman across from her spoke her name with alienating sharpness. Wanda's china-blue eyes opened wide in surprise. The other woman leaned over closer. "Natalie is just behind you," she whispered.

Natalie caught the words. Her hearing was particularly acute at the moment, for she had heard everything Wanda said. Her face flamed a bright red, and she put down a trump on her partner's ace, making an enemy for life.

The remarks that followed left her undisturbed. Her mind was fully occupied with sketching the picture Wanda had developed in her opponent's saw that she was oblivious to what was said to her, and tried to quiet her partner. But the woman was unforgiving, and as the play progressed, and she sat again at Natalie's table, she took up the sword to carry on.

Natalie seemed suddenly to be pierced by her thrusts. She looked at her for a moment, recalling what she knew of her to find her vulnerable spot. Then she remembered. This was the woman who boasted that there hadn't been a worker in her family for several generations. Natalie smiled suddenly at her.

"Mrs. Beemer," she said, "do you give lessons in bridge?" Mrs. Beemer's instant indignation called forth the rest of Natalie's little speech. "I thought," she said, "that you must; you seem to know so much about the game."

Mrs. Beemer knew enough to subside. But Natalie soon lost interest in her victory. Her mind kept going back to Alan and the women clients he had; the women who saw him in his office, and found him so "different."

Her playing was poor, but nothing more was said about it. Once she saw Gladys looking at her with a slight frown. She knew she had become something of a damper on the party. The temptation to throw her hand down and leave came to her, but she put it aside as being a childish way to feel.

She did not join in the general hubbub and laughter that attended the next progressive move at the tables. She stayed quietly in her seat. The woman who stayed with her was quiet too. Natalie felt a trifle miserable, knowing herself to be at fault.

She did not care who would come to be her next partner, until she saw Wanda Perry take the place. Then she felt that old surge of ungovernable emotion rise within her. She was sickeningly afraid of it for an instant before it took entire possession of her. The whole thing was a familiar procedure. First there was a smothering constriction around her heart, then an upward surge of flame-like sensation that choked her, and stung her eyes.

She seemed at such times, to go mad. It frightened her to think of it in calmer moments. Feeling her self-control going now, she made a valiant effort to keep it.

Gladys must have been watching her closer than she knew, for at that instant, when her eyes gleamed with the first of her unshed tears, the hostess appeared at her side, and put a hand on her arm.

"Someone wants you on the telephone, Natalie," Gladys lied. Natalie stood up, she had already started to rise. In another instant she'd have made a scene. She suspected that Gladys had intervened through tact, for her friend's finger tips were pressed deep into her flesh.

It sobered her. Wanda's vapid countenance ceased to loom jeering to her, and though her anger did not abate it turned upon Alan. She told herself that he was to blame for this humiliation.

Gladys walked away from the table with her. "Never mind about the telephone," Natalie said when they were out of Wanda's hearing, "I'm going home."

Pampa School Teachers Choose Varied Methods of Vacationing Some to Travel, One Abroad

Various and sundry activities and as many localities will claim the vacation interests of Pampa teachers, who Tuesday completed their year's work as they met their students for the last time and issued final reports. While a number of the teachers from every school will take the opportunity for study, many others will spend the summer visiting in their homes or in travel.

The most interesting vacation program, perhaps, is that of Miss Anna Este Goerner, Central high Latin teacher, who with her sister, Miss Virginia Goerner, and Miss Irene Howard of Dallas, will leave New York, June 30, for a tour of Europe. They will return to the States, Sept. 2, and in the meantime, will visit England, Scotland, Italy, Spain, France, Austria, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, the Netherlands, and Belgium. Following their return, they will go to Montreal and other cities of interest in Canada, returning to Dallas in mid-September.

Supr. Fisher To Study
Supr. E. B. Fisher will be in Pampa for a month, transacting business connected with next year's work. He plans to study in Columbia university, New York, during the latter part of the vacation. L. L. Sone, principal of Central high school, will be in charge of the eight-week summer session here.

Miss Fannie Florence Sims and Miss Dorothy Pollard of the high school faculty; Mrs. Annie Daniels principal of East Ward; Mrs. E. A. Hampton, also of the East Ward faculty; R. A. Selby, principal of Junior high school; and J. E. Wood, principal of Lamar, will comprise the summer faculty. Mrs. Daniels plans to open her home in Canadian at the end of the eight week term, and after a few weeks to the Ozark mountains for a vacation. Plans of the others of the summer school group are not yet definite.

J. A. Meek, principal of Baker school, will work for the Pampa Grain company this summer. With Mrs. Meek and their little son, he will visit relatives in Fort Worth and East Texas. Miss Josephine Thomas principal of West Ward, is to leave Wednesday with her brothers, C. L. Thomas and E. P. Thomas, and their families for a three-week vacation in points in Virginia and Tennessee. They will spend some time in Washington, D. C. Later, Miss Thomas will visit sisters in Durham and Weatherford, Okla., where she spends a part of each summer.

To Travel In North
Miss Mary Nell of the West Ward faculty and Miss Josephine Cariker of the high school group will make a trip together through the Eastern states and Canada, returning to Texas by the Western route and through the scenic park area. Miss Gracie Fern Latimer of the high school faculty also will travel in the East. Miss VeLora Reed will spend the summer at her home in St. Louis.

Miss Ariss O'Keefe is planning a trip to California and an extended visit in Los Angeles. Miss Louise Durrenberger, history instructor in the high school, will study at the University of Colorado, Boulder, and later will visit in Pittsburgh. Miss Addie Lee Smith of the English department also will study in Boulder. Miss Iva June Willis, public school music supervisor, will be in the University of Colorado for further study in music.

Miss Fannie May, English instructor, is to spend a most of the vacation at her home in Alpine. C. S. Cheney is undecided as to how to spend the three months. Miss Lesh Amend, home economics instructor this year, will spend the vacation at her home in Canyon, and probably will study in West Texas Teachers college the second summer term.

Coach To Study
Odus Mitchell, head coach, will attend a three-week coaching school at Dallas. A. M. Fox, assistant coach, is to continue work toward a Master's degree in the University of Oklahoma, Norman. Miss Lucille Hill, head of the home economics department, is to be in Baird at the home of her parents.

Rookie Gone Wild

TOM OLIVER, BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox without a heavy slugger since old Ike Boone, despite his hitting was released for bogging down the field, apparently have found their man at last.

He is Tommy Oliver, who climbed near the 400 class in the American League after three weeks of the campaign. During the third week he hit well over .500 to reach that altitude.

Oliver was obtained by the Red Sox from the Philadelphia Athletics, who had selected him from the Little Rock club of the Southern League. One year in the minor league, Oliver drove out 216 hits for leadership in the department.

Magnolia Nine Rallies to Win Over Prairie

Until the seventh inning, it looked as if Prairie's Offies, leading 1 to 0, would "skunk" the top-notch Magnolia Petroleum company team yesterday afternoon, but in that inning the Magnolia boys staged a rally, made three runs which helped them to win the game 5 to 2.

DRINK AND BE MERRY!

LOS ANGELES, May 26. (AP)—Bert White, 27, today held the unofficial world's parachute jump record, the result of a leap yesterday from an airplane as it soared 25,000 feet above the Mojave desert near Lancaster, Calif.

The game was the tightest played by either team this year. Each team got nine hits. The Offies committed four errors while the Magnolias made three. The Prairie's counters were made in the second and eighth innings. Garrowite pitched for Magnolia and McKinley for Prairie.

The Coltoso battery staff, Ross and Flynn, sized up their customers accurately and the three hits they allowed indicates the fine form which they showed.

Edelen struck out seven men, while White Deer's Hurlove fanned three. The Guns will play Estelina next Sunday afternoon, June 1, at Gun park.

Coach Odus Mitchell who is working for the Magnolia this summer played his first game of the season at second. He made one of the nine hits. Blankenship, former Texas league and Pittsburgh pitcher, was not in the Magnolia line-up.

Rogers and Burk for the Magicians had plenty of assistance from the bases and field but failed to do anything with the Coltoso bats.

This promises to be a real battle and one of the best games to be seen here this season. The Guns lost to Estelina in the Hall county town of that name about a month ago, and they are planning on getting plenty of revenge.

Screen Lovers in Popular Movie at Rex Theatre

Another sensational triumph was scored by the most popular screen sweethearts, Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, when their latest Fox Movietone musical romance, "High Society Blues," had its premier local performance at the Rex theatre Sunday.

There is no more charming couple in pictures than the winsome Miss Gaynor and the handsome and virile Farrell, and when they are given a proper vehicle, such as "High Society Blues," they present a superlative entertainment that wins instant appeal.

Even greater than the personal triumph they scored in "Sunny Side Up" was the reception accorded these young players by Sunday's capacity audience.

Both stars again sing, Miss Gaynor in her appealing voice which charms as no other voice we know of and Farrell in his crooning baritone. Both show a distinct advancement, musically, over "Sunny Side Up," ample proof that this production is great entertainment.

Five song numbers are sung by the stars, of which at least "Just a Story Book," "I'm in the Market for You" and "Eleanor" seem certain of national popularity. "Just Like a Story Book" has the same piquant quality which made "I'm a Dreamer, Aren't We All," in "Sunny Side Up."

Miss Gaynor and Farrell, mostly strum their own accompaniments on ukuleles, both playing unusually well.

The supporting cast, including William Collier, Sr., Joyce Compton, Hedda Hopper, Louise Fazenda and Lucien Littlefield, all contribute excellent performances.

The installation previously had been scheduled for the next regular meeting date, but was advanced because of vacation trips planned by officers.

Twentieth Century Club Will Receive at Open House Tuesday
Of outstanding interest in this week's social calendar is the annual open house meeting of Twentieth Century club, which will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hughey tomorrow evening, in connection with a book shower for Pampa Public library.

The club will entertain on that occasion all members of the Junior Twentieth Century club and guests of individual members of the hostess club.

An unique program is to be given, centering on the story and the history of the Passion Play of Oberammergau. Mrs. Wm. T. Fraser is in charge of that feature of the entertainment. Vocal selections will be given by Mrs. A. H. Doucette and Mrs. W. A. Bratton, club members. LaVerne Twiford will play a group of violin numbers.

To give greater distinction to their reception and book shower, members of Twentieth Century club will wear costumes as books, each representing a definite volume. Guests will participate in a contest in which they will attempt to guess the identity of each book.

"There has been no attempt" to get figures on the agriculture interests, with the exception of payrolls in connection with grain shipping. However, as everyone knows, could these figures be obtained, they would add materially to the resources of Pampa. For example, this territory, we are speaking of, shipped a million and three quarters bushels of wheat in 1929.

"In the above figures is found the answer why Pampa has remained in the white in the business maps of the United States for a long time. They are the answer why the stranger who drives into the city usually asks 'What is going on in Pampa? Have you a boom on?" Again these figures give the reason why when a citizen of Pampa comes back from a trip elsewhere he feels a greater satisfaction in being able to call this city, home.

"These figures tell why Pampa, within its city limits, now has a population of 10,254, or a percentage increase of 959, and why with the additions the population is 11,500, and again, why within a radius of 17 miles there are approximately 20,000. It is also the reason why there are 2905 boys and girls of school age in the Pampa district.

Presented at Court

A little tucked net yoke, a high-waisted pearl belt and floral sprays of pearls decorated the handsome bluish satin gown worn by Elizabeth Brinton Kent, daughter of A. A. Water Kent, of Philadelphia when she was presented to the King and Queen of England.

The state executive committee will meet June 9 in compliance with the election laws and certify to the county chairman the names of the candidates in July 26 primary. Also at this meeting will be chosen the site of the state convention on September 2.

June 14 is the last day for county, precinct and district candidates to file request to have names placed on the ballots. This rule applies to candidates for district offices in districts composed of only one county. June 16 the county executive committees will meet to determine the order of the names on the ballots and estimate expense of the primary. Assessments to meet expenses must be remitted by candidates not later than June 23.

The first campaign expense reports must be filed during the period between June 26 and July 1. Also during the same period—June 26 to July 1—voters who are absent from their home counties may appear and request a ballot. Voters who intend to be absent from their home county on primary election day must appear before a county clerk and vote an absentee ballot between July 16 and 23.

On August 2 the county executive committees will meet to canvass the returns. County conventions will be held on the same day, on August 11 the state executive committee will meet to canvass the returns and the second, or run-off primary, will be held August 23.

Democratic and Republican primaries will be held on the same days under the law which requires all parties whose candidate for governor received at least 100,000 votes in the last—preceding general election to nominate their candidate through primaries. It will be the second time the Republicans have nominated in this manner, the other time being four years ago. Prior to the last general election, the Republican candidates for state offices had received as many as 100,000 votes.

Another factor mentioned in general discussion was that the Santa Fe spur from Heaton to near LeFors would be built soon, and that unless a concrete highway to Central Gray county is assured, many supply houses will be forced to establish units at the end of the spur.

It was stressed that the proposed paving is being planned under the suggestions of the state highway department in order to obtain the maximum amount of state and federal aid and valuations.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hughey had as Sunday guests Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dishon and little daughter of Amarillo, and Mr. Dishon's mother, Mrs. Snodgrass, who is visiting in Amarillo.

4-H and Demonstration Club Notes

The Hopkins No. 2 girls' 4-H club was the first to have a demonstration in food preparation. At the meeting last week in Mrs. W. S. Creswell's home, the members were instructed in the preparation of spinach and cheese loaf, vegetable salad, baked custard, and baked meringue. At the close of the demonstration by Miss Myrtle Miller, the dishes were served to the group.

Plans were made at the meeting for a demonstration meeting, June 13, at the home of Beatrice Powell. Mothers of the girls and other women interested in demonstration work will be guests. Demonstrations in the preparation of cottage cheese and table service will be given during the morning hours. The afternoon will be spent in learning corner finishes and stitches for dresser scarfs.

Members present at this meeting were: Ethel Mae McCullen, Beatrice Johnson, Lena and Edna Morse, Alice Scarbrough, Margaret Greenlee, and a new member, Miss Ward. Others in attendance were: Mrs. R. M. Johnson, Mrs. B. A. Morris, and the demonstrator, Miss Myrtle Miller.

Katherine Enoch and Opal Finnell met with Mrs. Russell Fair and spent last week's club period in sewing. They are members of Hopkins No. 1 girls' club.

Members of the Eldridge 4-H club met Thursday at the home of the local leader, Mrs. J. C. Bailey, where an all-day sewing school was held under the guidance of Miss Miller, county home demonstration agent. The day was profitably and enjoyably spent. At noon a delicious covered-dish luncheon furnished by the club members was served to the club and Mr. and Mrs. Bailey's family.

The club members present were: Joe Ivy, Ruby Lee, and Florence Simmons, Beth and Jean Word, Lucile Cox, and Juanita Gilbreath.

The Bluebonnet club, composed of home demonstration club workers living in the southwest section of the county, held its final demonstration in rug braiding at the home of Mrs. Claude Schaffer. Mats were begun by Mrs. P. E. Farley and Miss DeLores Britten. Mrs. S. C. Drake started work on a burlap rug.

Miss Myrtle Miller gave a discussion on rugs and their materials, designs and color combinations, sizes and shapes, workmanship, and the use of braided rugs and mats.

Listen to it crackle!

KIDDIES are fascinated with the way Rice Krispies crackle when you pour on milk or cream.

And what a flavor treat! Toasted rice bubbles. Wonderful for breakfast, lunch and supper. Fine to use in candies, macaroons. In soups. Order from your grocer. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. It's new!

Very truly yours,

Pampa Daily News, Pampa, Texas. Gentlemen:

We wish to sincerely thank you for the splendid co-operation given us on our formal soda fountain opening last week.

In spite of the cold and disagreeable weather the turn-out was excellent, making the day a huge success for us.

We give the advertising, carried in your paper, full credit for these results, as no other form of advertising was used.

Very truly yours,

CITY DRUG STORE, W. F. CRETNEY, Manager.
