White begins oil spill probe

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Texas Attorney General Mark White, who has threatened litigation over a Mexican oil spill fouling Texas beaches, arrived in Corpus Christi today to begin what he called a "lengthy investigation" into the sticky affair.

At a briefing for newsmen, White said, "I think we're in the position of several months of assessment. At this juncture, we have no indication of fault of any individual, company or country, in fact."

Gov. Bill Clements has said he was not interested in suing Mexico, but White has continued to check into events surrounding the spill.

The company formerly headed by Republican Clements leased the oil rig that blew out June 3 in Mexico's Bay of Campeche. Clements put his interests in SEDCO, Inc., into a blind trust upon his election.

White, a Democrat, said he was pleased that "evidence" has been accumulated while damage was occurring.

He said litigation would be a "last resort" in the case.

He said any contact with the Mexican government would be made through the U.S. Department of State.

Members of a government task force battling the continuing saga of the spill were surprised over the weekend when tides washed away most of the heavier concentrations of oil that had soiled more than 50 miles of Texas beaches.

Elated leaders of a U.S. oil spill task force also said reconnaissance flights showed no large slicks offshore. The Texas shore probably won't be threatened again at least for two to three days, they said.

Coast Guard Capt. Roger Madson said he was "pleasantly surprised" when he flew Sunday over oil-soaked Padre Island, including a 50-mile stretch of badly stained beach, and found that tides had broken up most of the heavy concentrations and floated them out to sea.

Oil remaining on the stuck Texas beach was described as "light to moderate" — or 10 to 65 percent covered with oil.

"I was pleasantly surprised by what I saw, after all that came ashore on South Padre Island yesterday (Saturday)," the Coast Guard captain said. "It looks like we may be in for a period of two to three days with nothing significant coming onto the beaches."

Coast Guard spokesman Jim McGranahan said winds are mostly calm and attributed the natural cleansing effect to the tides. He said the tides pull the sand from underneath the oil, and it begins to float again.

"Then it just goes back out to sea," he said. He said reconnaissance flights found no large slick posing a threat Sunday to any part of Texas.

"We're just waiting for the next load to come from Mexico," which he said would probably be at least three days away. Oil fouling Texas shores has spilled from a well that blew out June 3 about 500 miles south of the border in the Bay of Campeche and is still running open.

Madson said beach clean-up operations along "hotel row" on South Padre Island were expected to be completed sometime today.

For Davis killings

Agent given 'estimates'

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — FBI Agent Ron Jannings today testified he had been given what he believed to be "estimates" for the price of four killings allegedly ordered by millionaire industrialist Cullen Davis.

Jannings told jurors during Davis' murder conspiracy trial that FBI informant David McCrory gave him the numbers at a meeting Aug. 17, 1978.

Reading from a copy of his handwritten notes, Jannings said the figure next to the name of Davis' ex-wife Priscilla, name represented $500,000. The figures next to the names of state district judges Joe Eidson and Tom Cave were $80,000, and the figure next to that of Davis' younger brother, Bill Davis, was $200,000.

"I think they were supposed to be some kind of amount for payment for killing," Jannings said.

Jannings and lead defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes continued their verbal fencing, punctuated by numerous objections from prosecutor Jack Strickland.

Last week, Haynes and Jannings tangled for three days of cross-examination as the Houston attorney characterized the agent's investigation as unprofessional and his testimony as full of inconsistencies.

The defense attack began Wednesday, after Jannings spent his first day on the stand telling of his meetings with former Davis crony turned federal informant, David McCrory.

Jannings told jurors McCrory approached him in early August and said Davis had ordered him to find a hit man to kill State District Judge Joe Eidson and others.

In one exchange, Haynes chided

Jannings for not taking notes as McCrory spelled out the alleged murder plot.

"We were trying to make sure no people were killed in this thing," Jannings said Friday.

"If you've got a man who says he wants 15 people killed, wouldn't you want to know who those 15 people were?" Haynes asked.

"I didn't really believe McCrory at that point," he said.

Jannings' notes contained only four names, including Eidson, Davis' ex-wife, Priscilla, and his brother, Bill Davis.

The agent said he took McCrory seriously after listening to a secretly tape-recorded conversation between the informant and Davis.

Two days later, Aug. 20, 1978, McCrory was again wired for sound and he met with Davis on a Fort Worth restaurant parking lot.

Nyad's swim completed

JUNO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — An aching but grinning Diana Nyad waded ashore here today to become the first person to swim the 60 miles from the Bahamas to Florida.

She finished her record-setting swim at 11:39 a.m., emerging from the breakers at Juno Beach, 15 miles north of Palm Beach. It took her 27 hours and 41 minutes to complete the endurance test.

"Everybody said it couldn't be done," said Ms. Nyad, whose left eye was swollen shut. "I'm lucky I didn't run into a man-of-war."

"The weather gave me a break for a change." With only short breaks for a drink of water or a snack, Ms. Nyad had been in the water since 8 a.m. EDT Sunday when she stepped off the North Bimini shore.

Ms. Nyad had been within sight of buildings on the Florida coast since about dawn after clearing the powerful Gulf Stream, the nemesis of other swim Bahamas-Florida swim attempts.

Just two weeks ago, she sobbed when she was forced to finish the swim after getting badly stung by a Portuguese man-of-war. And she cried in despair last year when she had to give up her Cuba-Florida try after being blown off course.

According to reporter Jim Lejedal of Miami radio station WINZ, in a boat alongside, the swimmer was stung overnight by a small jellyfish, whose venom is not as painful as that of a man-of-war. A sting by a man-of-war partially paralyzed Ms. Nyad and forced her to give up her first attempt at the swim just two weeks ago.

For this swim, Ms. Nyad covered exposed parts of her body with protective latex — a resin-based compound. But as the hours passed, the latex began wearing off and divers began clearing jellyfish out of the way.

"She's doing fine," said Lupita Gundersen, wife of navigator Ken Gundersen. "I've heard somebody say something about jellyfish stings, but...there was nothing true to that. The divers are kind of mowing them away from her path."

Weather

The forecast calls for partly cloudy skies with a chance of mainly afternoon and nighttime thundershowers through Tuesday. The high today and Tuesday is expected in the 90s with the overnight low in the mid 60s. Winds this afternoon will be out of the southwest at 10 to 15 mph becoming light and variable tonight. Probability of rain is 20 percent today and Tuesday.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

The last to be eaten

After the Vietnam "cause" withered and began to die as an activist effort, business and industry became the target and consumerism the vehicle for those who had the time to "express" themselves. By claiming to be the voice of the unrepresented, the activists championed environmental issues, racial and sex equality, health and anything else which could capture popular attention.

When that attention was gained, demands for regulations to enforce the ideas soon followed. Along with the regulations came a concerted drive to have sympathetic people appointed to growing regulatory agencies so that the crusading movement would become dominant.

Industry, busy as usual trying to keep solvent against the rising tide of expensive regulation, has not attempted a concerted drive to bring sanity to bureaucratic rule. There are now belated efforts to effect a change.

Edward A. Myers, Jr., vice president of Southern California Edison Company, has voiced a need for better communication and understanding of the consumer's plight. He suggests that conservation education is one way the utility can begin to reach understanding with its customers.

"If some utilities have not yet fine-tuned their sense of empathy for the hapless homeowner caught in the currency crisis, it is time to do so. Long-standing well-organized consumer groups have found concerns about higher utility bills a fertile field for winning converts for their cause and supporters for their expansion," Myers said.

Unfortunately, too few members of the public have a morsel of understanding about how the exorbitant costs of regulatory requirements contribute to the costs for goods and services," the utility executive stated. He said there were conscientious people within the ranks of the consumer movement and these should be cultivated to obtain through them a more factual perspective.

"While some of the nation's leaders are beginning to perceive that the prevalent practice of regulating in a crisis mode often leads to regretting at leisure, it is a current fact of life that much of the social and economic policy which impacts us as individuals, and as business people, results from reactive policies to well-vocalized concerns, implemented by rules, orders and regulations promulgated by a burgeoning bureaucracy. These rules carry the full weight of law: yet many times, they have not been tempered by any legislative process," Myers said.

There has been a tendency in business to soft-pedal assertions relating to the cost to consumers of governmental interference. Many have seemingly been afraid to fight back against senseless regulation. Perhaps they feared more drastic controls if they spoke out. Ronald Reagan may have had something when he told an industry group that it "should not keep feeding the alligator just in the hope that you would be the last to be eaten."

Down at the pumps

So new "rules" for filling stations will let pump jockeys charge fees for checking oil, wiping windshields and inflating tires.

We'd consider ourselves lucky to find a station where someone even acts as though he knows HOW to perform those tasks.

Beats us why anyone would seriously expect to charge for looking under our hood as come-on for selling a quart of oil.

But the way things down at the unleaded island are lately, we half expect the fellow who monitors our self-service fill-ups from his air conditioned cubicle to begin tacking on a surcharge for performing the onerous tasks of reading the high-speed meter and asking for money.

There once was a time when service stations got business because they were in the business of service. And the people who gave the best service got the most trade.

Now, the government has reached its tentacles even to the cleaning of one's tires and is telling the station operators that they can or can't charge for these services.

Somebody once said that a government can be no better than the public opinion that sustains it. Does that tell you something?

Can Mrs. Thatcher bestow Freedom

Now that Margaret Thatcher has won a resounding political victory in England, certain of my friends have said to me: "I suppose this is what you want in the U.S. Maybe you should try to find someone like Maggie Thatcher to run for president here."

With all possible respect to Mrs. Thatcher and her counterparts in America, that is not what I hope for, as a libertarian. Let me say, however, that I think the Thatcher hand on the British helm may do some good in England. It will serve to emphasize certain aspects of life that have been de-emphasized. It will also produce new stress. In the sense that variety is good, so is Thatcher good. To her credit, the lady wishes to see government reduced in size and potency at a number of levels. She is not, however, libertarian. Her stance is inconsistent in terms of what freedom is all about. And I, as the perennial optimist, continue to hope for the libertarian position — not as a consequence of political action, but as a direct result of knowledge attained.

Many of my friends suppose that I hold great hope for the "Libertarian Party" and its emergence as a major party in this country. It is as though I am expected to believe that if libertarians came to power, all would yet come up in favor of liberty. That is like supposing that with the Thatcher banner flying in England, all will shine wherever the British Union Jack waves. It is an illusion and I do not hold to it.

Perhaps the fundamental problem goes to the roof of what freedom is all about. Many people seem to feel that freedom is a package of goods, like a bunch of carrots, an automobile, or a domicile. You may have to work hard to get it, but, once obtained, you can put it on the shelf and go about other pursuits.

As I see it, freedom isn't that kind of package. Indeed, I don't think we can look at it as package, bundle or bale. Freedom is never attained in the sense that it is fait accompli. Freedom is not an end, so much as it is a means to all the ends we hope to seek and achieve. Thus, freedom must be earned every moment of every day. It is like life itself in this regard. One does not have life in the sense that all effort to sustain life may now cease and we can go about doing other things. Freedom is like breathing. It is an ongoing process that never stops. If it stops, we die. We never need to do that. I can go about other business."

This is the trouble with political solutions. After a great deal of expenditure of time and treasure, after great emotional upheavals in which at least two major factions emerge in this country and accuse each other with increasing bitterness; after back-biting and chicanery and heart break and throat slitting, one side wins. Both sides fall back in exhaustion. And with virtually one voice the electorate says: "The job is one. For better or worse it is now up to the victor to get us what we want." That would be like asking another to breathe for you. It won't work. In a sense we use the election process as an alibi so we don't have to work any more for freedom. When the viciousness and voting dies away we shift our responsibilities to the handful who have been chosen and proceed to go about our "other" business.

As a very wise old Irishman named Curran once observed, "The price of liberty is eternal vigilance." Indeed, it is. Your freedom, as an individual, cannot be handed to you by others. Nor can you ask others to preserve your freedom; by your own actions. Not as a package of goods, but as a result of your constant support and practice of libertarian ideas.

How does one obtain freedom? The first job is to understand what it is. It is impossible to seek successfully for something if you don't know what you are looking for. This first step is not an easy one. And just as a person feels he understands what freedom is all about he cries out in anguish, "Those other people don't understand what freedom is. And I do." Then he asks: "What can I do to prevent them from taking away my freedom? Let me have power over them and I will force them to be free and to respect my freedom." This is the plight of the unfortunate members of the Libertarian Party. And the problem to be faced in Britain and elsewhere until the lesson is learned. The constant enemy of freedom is the use of power by some over others. That is how freedom is lost, not how it is obtained.

When this first lesson is thoroughly absorbed it is time to take the next step. This is a step that also includes the learning process. You learn that you have control over only one person and that person's assets. In short, you control yourself and what is yours. You may be able to influence a few others, but only if they wish to be influenced. When it comes to control, you control yourself alone.

For example: I have no ability to prevent any person other than myself from inflicting injury on another. Each of us has the capacity to live by inflicting injury on others. Each of us also has the capacity to live without inflicting injury on others. I cannot govern your behavior. I have a difficult enough time learning to govern myself. When I learn the limits of my real power and am willing to live in harmony with that ultimate reality, then I am ready for the third step to freedom.

This step is also a matter of understanding. I can resolve to live my life without inflicting injury on another either directly by my actions, or indirectly by supporting any agency of force and violence. Agencies of force and violence include only the following: Governments, unions which have won government backing, or criminals who have not won government backing but act like government anyway.

Now you are ready to add it up. First, freedom is a means, not an end. It is never achieved in the sense that all effort ceases. Second, I have limited ability and cannot control others. I can, however, control myself. Third, I therefore resolve that I will live my life in such a way that I neither directly nor indirectly seek to control others. Instead I will seek to persuade, to demonstrate, to offer precept and example and, in the end, mind my own business by cooperation with others.

Difficult? Certainly. Impossible? No, it can be done. It will take the best you have, every day, for all of your life. And that's the sum total any of us can provide in any case.

Letters

An open letter to all Pampa Citizens and Christians

An Open letter
To All Pampa Citizens and Christians

First of all, this letter is unsolicited and my own personal opinion on any and all subjects contained herein. Regardless of your faith which church you belong to, this applies to everyone: We have a program in this city that is trying very hard to do what the Bible commands of the people of God. This program is called Meals on Wheels and it is struggling along short of money, short of manpower, but nevertheless doing as much as they can and then more. Are you ill, need someone to bring you a hot nourishing meal to provide for at least one balanced meal a day for 5 days a week? If you are, call or have someone to call for you. Mrs. Shirley Kucifer coordinator at home 665-2677 or office phone 665-1461.

If you are among those fortunate enough to pay for these meals they cost a mini price of $1.00 per day or free to one's unable to pay. This program is not connected to Welfare or supported by government funds, it is operated strictly on faith Man helping Man, as the Lord commands. It is not any one church sponsored program.

If you are in good health, able to work and have no need of these services, they have need of you! Won't you take an hour or so of your time each day to help to deliver these meals? Churches combine your congregations and come up with enough man hours to deliver the meals. Members donate some money to sponsor someone unable to provide for themselves. $1 that's ONE dollar a day will give some one this meal. This need is closely followed by need of someone to deliver them. Won't you YOU do your part to see no one in Pampa has need of food? Read in your Bible St. Matthew 22: 35 thru 40. Then one of them, which was a lawyer, asked Him (Jesus) a question, tempting Him and saying: Master, which is the great commandment in the law? Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets: Read also St. Luke 10 versus 27 thru 37; Then shall you know your neighbor: St. Luke 12: verses 16 thru 21; St. Luke 16: versus 19 thru 26; II Corinthians 9 versus 7 and 8 and 9. James Chapter 2 versus 14 thru 17 reads: What doth it profit my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works? Can faith save him? If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food, and one of you say unto them, depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled; notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful for the body; what doth it profit? Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone.

As I said before this program is one on one People helping people and is not Welfare, Church, government connected but just a small group of people concerned about the hungry in our town, and believe you me there are a lot of them. Another needful thing for our town is someone to visit the shut-ins or form a group to run errands, move lawns, take out trash. Change bed linens, vacuum, mop, clean things ill or older persons are unable to do for themselves and no one to ask to help them. Praying, attending church, paying tithes is all well and good but you should not leave the other undone. There are groups in hospitals for Volunteer duty that's good. But we sorely need a visitation group. A houseworking group, a yard work gang could be formed to go in one pickup from house to house and mow lawn's in late afternoons for those on fixed incomes a lawn mowing is a major drain on their small pensions. In winter they could shovel snow. A group could also be formed to transfer elder people to the Dr. and back, pick up their medicines for them. This list could go on and on. As you able bodied younger generation go about your day by day living stop a moment and think how it would be to be unable to do those things and had no one to help you, then if nothing else take time out to visit someone you know personally, see if they need anything you can do. Or if just need some to talk to. You will find happiness in helping others and spiritual comfort in serving as our Lord Jesus Christ did. Ask your pastor how many members of your church are doing these things? Get the ball rolling and let these projects be volunteer and not wait for government to do the church duties.

I do know of which I speak, I have been disabled for two years, fortunately for me, I have family, but still I get so frustrated when I see something that needs to be done and have to wait until they have time to do it. Believe me, it is no easy thing to depend on someone else to do that, you are used to doing for yourself and that is Pride you sacrifice to ask someone to do for you. This I think is why each Church should form a work group that just goes without being asked and drops in with freshly baked goods or casserole. Or two or three sweep thru a house and leave it spic and span. This is, my friend, Christian Love. Put wings on your Prayers. Form a Duty group today gather at the Church, Pray then divide and conquer dirt, dust, loneliness, dandelions and hunger. God will bless you for it.

Former Johnson staffers keep in close contact

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — They started out calling themselves the "Johnson boys," but had to change that when some of the "Johnson girls" were heard from.

"I guess you could call us 'the old Johnson hands.' We really don't have a name," says Harry Middleton, director of the Lyndon B. Johnson Library and one of a group of Texans or adopted Texans who once worked for the president. Many of them still live in the Austin area.

"There is no organization, but we stay real close," says George Christian, Johnson's press secretary who now heads a public relations firm in Austin. "We stay in touch, kind of like the (John) Connally bunch. There is some overlap."

All of them will have special thoughts this

Saturday — Johnson's birthdate, which is now a state holiday.

About 20 "Johnson boys" held a reunion at LBJ ranch on Aug. 25, 1973, after Johnson's death on Jan. 22 of that year. Most of the group met again in 1974, this time with some of the feminine staff members.

"But our meetings have been erratic since then and there is really no meeting planned this year," Middleton said.

Many of Johnson's staff are expected to attend a Nov. 6 celebration in Washington of the 15th anniversary of Johnson's sweeping presidential win in 1964. Rep. Jake Pickle, Austin Democrat and a staff member dating back to congressional days, is ramrodding the event.

Another sentimental celebration was held last Jan. 16, the 10th anniversary of Johnson's return to Texas after giving up the presidency. Those invited to the black tie dinner in the LBJ Library were the staff who rode Johnson's plane back to Texas.

The LBJ Library actually is a gathering place for Johnson staffers and the scene of numerous informal reunions.

"We will be having our annual event in early November for friends of the Johnson library and I imagine most of the old Johnson hands will be there," said Middleton.

The list of those who worked in the Johnson White House is long and most of them came from Texas. Others decided to move to Texas afterward.

Some of Johnson's closest advisors call Austin home. They include his speech writer, Bob Hardesty, now a vice chancellor of the University of Texas; Walt W. Rostow, UT professor; John Grounowski, of the LBJ School of Public Affairs; Liz Carpenter, Lady Bird's press aide who is now a consultant for the LBJ Library; and Ed Clark, former ambassador to Australia.

Jim Cross, who piloted Air Force One for Johnson, lives near Austin. He is a retired Air Force general now.

Other White House aides living in Austin include Larry Temple, Walter Jenkins, Jake Jacobsen and Jim Wilson. Mary Kaltman, White House housekeeper, lives in Austin as do former administrative staffers Mary Rather, Willie Day Taylor, Mildred Stegall and Dorothy Territo.

Barefoot Sanders, a White House liaison aide with Congress, is now a federal judge in Dallas. Jack Valenti, representing the national motion picture industry, visits Austin and the library frequently. Tom Johnson, a former press aide, is president of the Los Angeles Times-Mirror.

Tax rebates up 17 percent from last year

Pampa and other Texas cities shared $268.9 million in rebates from the one-percent city sales tax during the first eight months of this year, State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Tuesday.

Bullock, who announced the cities' August allocation at $27.3 million, said the yearly total is up 25 percent over the amounts cities received during the same period in 1978.

Pampa's sales tax payments for 1979 to date are up 17 percent over the same period last year, from $461,400.27 to $543,930.31.

Payments to date from other area towns include: Borger, $351,235.25, a 9 percent increase over last year; Canadian, $93,793.72, an 8 percent increase; Clarendon, $33,078.27, a 17 percent increase; Groom, $10,892.33, a 9 percent increase; Lefors, $2,515.38, a 150 percent increase; McLean, $11,557.99, a 7 percent increase; Miami, $13,024.28, a 169 percent increase.

Mobeetie, $1,968.23, a 109 percent increase; Panhandle, $15,989.86, a 15 percent increase; Shamrock, $49,027.89, an 18 percent increase; Wheeler, $27,142.66, a 25 percent increase; and White Deer, $7,705.93, a 63 percent increase.

Investigation of judge's death widens

KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) — Federal agents investigating the assassination of a federal judge in San Antonio last May have received help from foreign governments in their probe, an FBI agent says.

Special Agent Manny Marquez told a group of Texas broadcasters at a weekend seminar that the FBI has received full cooperation from the foreign nations involved, but he declined to identify those governments.

"Not only in San Antonio, but it has spread throughout the country and in other parts of the hemisphere," Marquez said.

Previously, it had been thought the investigation into the fatal shooting of U.S. District Judge John Wood Jr. May 29 had been conducted only within the United States.

Wood was the first federal judge to be assassinated in more than a century.

Marquez also said a top FBI official ordered to San Antonio after the shooting "has returned to Washington in order to better coordinate the nationwide investigation."

Wood was gunned down in the parking lot outside his residence in San Antonio. Authorities said a single shot from a high-powered rifle killed the judge, whose nickname was "Maximum John" because of the stiff sentences he meted out to convicted drug dealers.

He had presided over drug-related cases in El Paso and other West Texas cities that stemmed from the flow of contraband narcotics.

MYRTLE NICHOLS

BORGER — Funeral services for Mrs. Myrtle "Jewel" Nichols, 70, were at 2 p.m. today in the Minton Memorial Chapel with Rev. Earl Skaggs, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was in Highland Park Cemetery under the direction of Minton-Chatwell Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Nichols died Friday. Born in Bailey, she had lived in Borger since 1948. She was a member of Calvary Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, Boyce; two sons, three daughters, her mother, four brothers, four sisters, a stepdaughter, 15 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

MRS. ORA KAY EHMANN

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Ora Kay Ehmann, 75, of 1602 Charles, are pending with Carmichael-Whitely Funeral Directors. She died Sunday in her home.

Mrs. Ehmann was born January 29, 1904. She was married to Walter G. Ehmann on May 20, 1928. The couple had extensive ranching and farming interests in both Roberts County and Gettysburg, S.D., until Mr. Ehmann's death in 1976. She was a member of the Church of Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Survivors include one son, Wallace of Miami, one sister, Mrs. Zelma Lloyd of Tremonton, Utah; 5 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren.

police report

Jessie Watson of 415 W. Browning reported the theft of a motor, pump, tubing and wiring from a water cooler in a rental house owned by Watson. The value of the items is estimated at $51.

Ramiero Soto of 318 Hazel reported bicycles belonging to his son and a friend were damaged while the two boys were at the municipal swimming pool.

William Brackney of 604 S. Reid reported a large rock was thrown through his living room window, causing damage estimated at $15.

Todd Mitchell of 1105 Christine reported the theft of two bicycles from the front porch of his residence. One bicycle, a green 10-speed valued at $20, was recovered in an alley behind Grape Street. The second bicycle, a black and silver AMF Avenger valued at $75, is still missing.

Mary Martindale of 1601 Grape reported her son's green and black bicycle, valued at $50, was stolen. The bicycle has motocross handlebars and a ten-speed seat.

B. H. Ricketts of 133 S. Nelson reported the front plate glass window at Holiday Laundry, 834 W. Francis, was broken.

William B. Nail of 1937 Dwight reported the two right tires on his 1973 Ford were cut. Damage was estimated at approximately $75.

Sammy J. Whitley Jr. of 1101 S. Clark was arrested in the 600 block of W. Brown and charged with driving while intoxicated. He was placed in the city jail.

minor accidents

A vehicle driven by Nancy L. Rice of 920 Fisher reportedly made an improper start from a parked position in the 800 block of East Francis Street and struck a vehicle driven by Gary A. Poke of 1116 Sloan.

A 1970 Chevrolet driven by Alvin McLemore of Pampa was backing out of a parking lot in the 400 block of West Foster Street and struck a 1970 Chevrolet driven by Andrew Smith. McLemore was cited for improper backing.

Army still looking for remains of men killed in World War II

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — Thirty-four years after the guns fell silent, the U.S. Army is still looking for remains of some of the 19,500 American soldiers missing in action in Europe during World War II.

Most will remain lost forever in the shallow graves where they fell in France, West Germany, Belgium, Holland or elsewhere in Western Europe and in North Africa.

The Army ended its large scale search for World War II MIAs decades ago, but

SGT. JAMES BECKER of Texas, shown in a 1943 photo, was missing in action since 1944 until his remains were found recently. His burial will be arranged by the Memorial Affairs Activity in Belgium next month.

(AP Laserphoto)

from time to time, construction workers, farmers and souvenir hunters unearth remains of young GIs, some still wearing their dog tags or clutching their weapons.

Eleven bodies of Americans killed in World War II have been found in Europe since December 1977, the Army says. Morticians could identify only four of them.

The task of recovering, identifying and disposing of the remains falls to the Memorial Affairs Activity, a 40-member unit of soldiers and civilians which serves as the Army's funeral home in Europe.

If remains can be identified, they are buried in military cemeteries in Europe or shipped to the United States, according to the wishes of the family. Those who cannot be identified are buried in American cemeteries in Europe under tombstones reading "Known Only to God."

"We take a squad and six pallbearers and conduct full military honors for them for the war dead," said John Rogers Jr., a former funeral director from Frankfort, Ky., who serves as the unit's chief mortician.

"They practice under my supervision prior to each funeral," he added, "so the service will be dignified."

The unit's next funeral is set for Sept. 10 at the Ardennes Cemetery in Belgium for Sgt. James Becker of Texas, who crashed with his bomber in northern Germany in 1944.

A farmer unearthed the remains in a peatbog in January 1977, Rogers said. The body of the slender, 20-year-old sergeant was wrapped in a parachute, and his high school ring and watch were found in the grave. The Army-issue watch had stopped at 1:19.

"We were lucky with the Becker case," said Rogers. "But identification can be difficult. It's not like the Vietnam war, where every bit of information on the individual went into a computer after someone became missing."

Discoveries are often made by construction crews, and the remains of young American infantrymen, aviators and tank crewmen become grim reminders of an era when Europe was not prosperous and peaceful.

"We found one near the train station in Hoogeveen, Holland," Rogers said. "They were building an underground pedestrian tunnel when they found fragments of an aircraft."

Inside the single-seat fighter was the body of 2nd Lt. Albert Albino, missing since 1943. German occupation forces had bulldozed over the crash site, presumably so the railroad tracks could be repaired as soon as possible.

Not all searches find remains. "I took a graves registration team and scuba diver to Omaha Beach last June after a French diver said he saw some Sherman tanks with their hatches down submerged in the water," Rogers said.

"We spent four days searching but couldn't find them. The French Navy promised to search the area with sonar equipment, and if they find them, we'll go back."

Last November a West German told U.S. officials in France he knew of a mass grave of 17 or 18 American paratroopers near Saales, France.

Houston detectives search for arson suspect

HOUSTON (AP) — Detectives searched door-to-door without success Sunday hunting a man who escaped while being questioned about the deaths of four children found in a burned-out house.

"We've been working all day. Our men have been going door-to-door. But he's still on the ground," said Homicide Lt. H.W. Kersten just before midnight Sunday. He said the search had not been expanded outside the city limits.

The target of the manhunt, a 32-year-old parolee ex-convict, apparently walked out of custody Saturday night while officers were out of the room where he was being questioned.

The escapee, a former boyfriend of one of the slain children's mother, had maintained his innocence in the case. He had surrendered himself to his parole officer Friday afternoon when he learned he was wanted for questioning.

Detectives said they were waiting for the results of palm print comparisons of the escaped man with those found on a one-gallon gasoline can found in the front room of the charred house.

The bodies of the children — Andrea Jones, 12; her sister, Tracey

Jones, 7; Tony Beard, 3; and Amos Black III, 9 — were found Friday morning by firefighters trying to extinguish the blaze.

Detectives said all but the youngest of the children had been bound hand and foot. Amos Black had been strangled, and Andrea Jones had been strangled and raped.

One of the children's bodies was found on a stuffed chair, another on the floor, one on a bed and one with his feet under a bed and his hands stuck under a mattress.

Wiley and Rosie Beard, the grandparents of three of the victims, said the children's mothers, Willie Mae Jones and Loretta Beard, were taking the deaths "hard, hard."

Wiley Beard said whoever bound the children and set the fire was an "animal."

"That's what he was, an animal," Beard said. "He went with my daughter (Miss Beard) and then tried to kill her and now this."

Miss Beard said her ex-boyfriend beat her recently and "tried to kill" her.

Weather

TEXAS

High winds, heavy rain and marble-size hail hit portions of the South Plains last night. The National Weather Service said scattered thunderstorms probably would hit again late today in West Texas, along the Gulf Coast and in Southeast Texas.

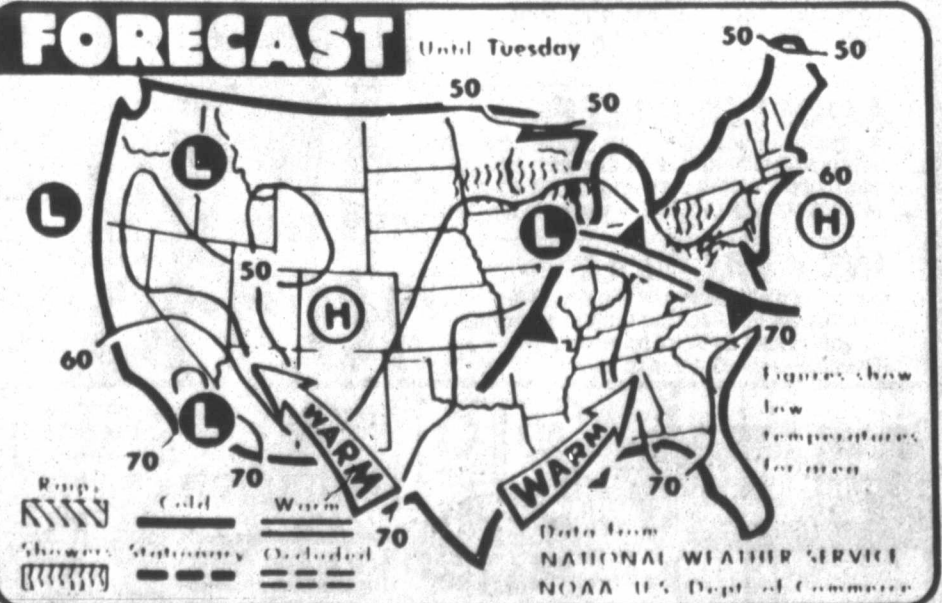

Thunderstorms developed rapidly Sunday evening between Amarillo and Midland and moved quickly toward the east.

Heavy rain flooded streets in Lubbock, and marble-size hail was reported at Anton, 25 miles northwest of Lubbock.

Wind gusts to 52 mph were clocked at the Childress airport, and radar picked up a funnel cloud four miles northeast of Chillicothe, west of Wichita Falls.

An inch of rain fell at Lubbock. About a half inch fell at Paducah, 110 miles northeast of Lubbock.

Other storms developed in southwestern and northcentral parts of the state Sunday evening.

SHOWERS ARE FORECAST for Monday until early Tuesday over parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin and over parts of Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Skies over the remainder of the nation will be mostly sunny.

Readers offer help to 'sex machine'

DEAR ABBY: Please tell EXHAUSTED IN HONOLULU - the 63-year-old wife who complained that her 58-year-old husband of only five months was an "absolute sex machine" and that his demands were exhausting - to send him out my way.

I live in Waipahu, Hawaii, and I would certainly appreciate a man with his drive.

My husband of 37 years doesn't believe in romantic buildups, candlelight dinners or wine. Just "Boom!" (And his "booms" came about as often as World Wars!)

Just left EXHAUSTED to put her husband in a car and drive down Waipahu Street and I'll be waiting for him along with my two little ones - one kid from each World War!

WAITING IN WAIPAHU

DEAR WAITING: Although your offer was one of the first, I received many. Read on.

DEAR ABBY: This is for EXHAUSTED IN HONOLULU: Our bridge club of three tables meets every Thursday. We are between 40 and 75 years old. We would be very happy to help this woman solve her problem by offering our assistance on an odd-even basis every day except Thursday, our club day.

Each of us could rotate on eight-hour shifts, or be available four days on and four days off - like firemen.

We all lead very active lives but can manage most any schedule to help a sister in distress.

Bless that poor unfulfilled man. He's only 58. May he have many more happy years and die with a smile on his face.

Sign us...

LAKKA - LUVVA - WANNA - MANNA

DEAR ABBY: EXHAUSTED IN HONOLULU should be married to my husband. He's a nice looking man, 49, and he's been too tired for lovemaking as long as I can remember. But he's not too tired to play tennis, jog, ski cross-country and disco dance by the hour.

We sleep in a king-size bed and he stays as far away from me as he can get without falling off the edge. I'm 45, neat and clean, have a nice figure and not obnoxious in any way.

Tell EXHAUSTED she would love this guy. I can guarantee that he won't bother her from one year to the next. And if her husband wants to meet a woman who wouldn't mind being bothered night and day, I'll be glad to send him a plane fare.

HUNGRY FOR LOVE IN COLORADO

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for printing that letter from EXHAUSTED IN HONOLULU. Her letter made my day. At last an honest woman who isn't ashamed to admit that she could do with a lot less sex than her husband. I thought I was the only woman in the world who felt that way.

I'm a widow, but when my husband was living I thought sex was one of the most overrated things in the world. What a lot of mess and bother for something that only last 10 seconds!

THE PEOPLE'S PHARMACY

Aspirin may have coronary benefits

By Joe Graedon

Can an aspirin a day keep the heart attack away? That is a question that is being asked with increasing frequency by researchers in many countries. By the end of this year the results of five major studies will be completed and we should know whether or not the tongue twister, acetylsalicylic acid, does more than just relieve aches and pains and lower a fever.

Even before the new research got underway aspirin was everyone's favorite drug. In the United States alone we swallow around 50 billion aspirin-containing pills each year.

This popular pain killer has been available for over 75 years and, although it has side effects like very other drug, aspirin has established an extraordinary track record for both effectiveness and safety.

Unfortunately, familiarity has bred contempt. People often take it for granted and may not even consider aspirin a "real" drug. And pharmaceutical companies rarely let on that the "pain reliever most recommended by doctors" is plain old aspirin. It's almost as if they are ashamed to admit what their main ingredient really is.

But all that may soon change. If early research results are confirmed, aspirin may finally receive the recognition it deserves - not just for its ability to relieve pain and inflammation, but also for its potential to help prevent heart attacks and strokes.

Ever since 1953, there have been tantalizing hints that this drug might offer an unexpected bonus. In that year two reports were published which suggested aspirin could reduce coronary artery disease. One group of investigators at Harvard discovered quite by accident that arthritis patients who regularly used aspirin had a surprisingly low incidence of heart attacks.

Unfortunately, the early work was pretty much ignored and it wasn't until the early seventies that interest revived. In 1974, British researchers reported that a single 300 mg aspirin tablet taken daily improved by 25 percent the life expectancy of men who already had suffered one heart attack. A large Boston study published simultaneously supported these findings.

In 1978, a Canadian team established that four aspirin tablets taken every day could decrease the likelihood of a major stroke or death by almost 50 percent in a group of men who suffered symptoms of reduced blood flow to the brain.

More recently, work completed at the University of Chicago demonstrated that aspirin might prevent atherosclerosis. Monkeys that were fed a high cholesterol diet had less narrowing of their arteries if they were given a child's aspirin tablet every day.

Well, how is aspirin working these wonders? Experts believe that the drug may prevent blood clots and arteriosclerosis by reducing the stickiness of one component of blood called platelets. When there is a problem in the wall of a blood vessel, platelets tend to clump together or aggregate and this often leads to the formation of plaques and clots. By making the platelets slippery it is thought that aspirin can counteract this effect.

As tempting as this research may sound, these reports are still only preliminary. The medical community is anxiously awaiting the results of five major research projects which should soon be completed.

Until all the data is in it would be foolish for anyone to start taking aspirin prophylactically without checking first with a doctor. Even simple aspirin can have side effects, such as irritating the stomach lining, and it can interact in a dangerous way with many prescription medications.

Aspirin deserves respect. It is an important drug that has for too long been under-appreciated. Current research may prove it a useful tool in the fight against heart disease. Stay tuned to this column for the latest developments.

Joe Graedon is a pharmacologist, a consultant to the Federal Trade Commission and author of "The People's Pharmacy" (Avon Books).

TWEEN 12 AND 20

Parents resist when kids leave nest

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.
Joan, 19, from Santa Barbara, Calif., wants to move out of the family house but her parents are putting up a fuss.

Carl Berger, 18, from Fort Smith, Ark., and Franny Fallon, 18, who lives in Springfield, Ohio, will add a little teen advice to Joan's problem.

Dr. Wallace: What does one do when she is 19 and her parents are throwing a tantrum because she is planning to move out of the house?

Two girlfriends and I are planning to get an apartment together. The other girls received permission, but my parents went into a rage when I mentioned the fact I wanted to move out.

It is not as if I'm an only child. I have two younger sisters and a brother living at home. I have a full time job (secretary) and I attend junior college part time.

I love my parents and respect them very much.

They have been good to me, and it bothers me to know I will hurt them if I decide to move. Can you offer any help? - Joan

Joan: Having a child leave home, especially the first one, is a very trying time for most parents. Don't make the move sound permanent. Tell your parents it will be on a trial basis only, and if it doesn't work out that you will return home (you might).

Have your future roommates meet your parents, and have your folks see your apartment before you move in. When and if you do move, visit your family as often as possible. After you're settled, have your parents for dinner.

Hi Joan: I'm 18, just graduated from high school, and share our first apartment with two buddies. Believe me, being a guy made no difference. My parents were dead set against the move.

Only when our minister had a talk with Mom and Dad did they finally admit that we were not going to live a sinful and decadent life. Some kids are ready to move out of the home when they are 18. Others are satisfied in staying at home well into their 20s.

If you want to move, do it. - Carl

Hi Joan: Most parents never want to see their kids leave the "nest" and feel crushed when they do.

But they get over it very quickly.

My advice to you is to move out. After all, if it doesn't work out, your parents will always welcome you back home. (You hope.) - Franny

Loftin, Clark garner Pampa Open tennis titles

By RANDY LIGHTFOOT
News Sports Editor

Amarillo's Mike Loftin and Kim Clark shrugged off early first set difficulties to finish strongly and claim the men's and women's singles championships in the Pampa Open tennis tournament Sunday.

Loftin downed Pampa High School tennis coach David Martin 7-5, 6-0 to take his trophy and Clark rebounded from a disastrous 6-2 first set loss to Pampa's Kris Douglass to take the next two sets 6-1, 6-3.

Both Loftin, an Amarillo attorney, and Martin appeared extremely sharp in the opening set with neither netter seriously challenging to break service.

The 6-5 Loftin was the No. 1 seed and a heavy favorite to keep the title he won last year, but as the match progressed through the first set, it was an obviously keyed up Martin who was the aggressor with several winners being recorded on his approach shots following service.

In the 12th game of the set, Loftin held a six games to five advantage with Martin serving. Loftin had a set point with the score 30-40, but Martin's strong follow-up on his serve sent the game to deuce. Martin had game point twice, but was unable to put it away. On the third deuce of the game, Loftin finally had the advantage with a strong passing shot and Martin double faulted to lose the set.

It was all Loftin from that point as his unrelenting charge allowed Martin a total of only three points in the entire second set. At one stretch, Loftin scored 13 straight points.

"I was struggling with David's serve in the first set and couldn't find my rhythm," Loftin said following the match. "In the second set, I just started getting down on the ball better and was concentrating on keeping my returns low. He (Martin) was pressing, trying to force too many winners instead of being patient and he gave me some easy points."

In the women's final, the top-seeded Douglass appeared on her way to her second career win over Clark, the defending district 3-AAAA singles champ, as she roared to an easy first set victory. Her first-ever win over the senior-to-be at Amarillo High came earlier this summer in the junior division finals of this tourney.

However, Clark got her game under to control the remainder of the match and closed strongly for the win.

"In the first set, I wasn't taking my time and was just trying to blast the ball," Clark said. "After that, I slowed down, placed my shots and got back into my game."

Douglass and Martin did not go away empty handed, however, as athlete and coach teamed to fight off Clark and Jeff Willard in the mixed doubles 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

In the men's A doubles, Loftin teamed with Leo Laborde, a 6-3, 6-2 winner over Joe Davis in the 35 and older division, to defeat David Johnstone and Mark Nielsen in straight sets 7-5, 6-2. The men's B singles title was won by David Zinzer with a 6-3, 6-2 decision over Don Adams.

Jack Fyfe and Jack Little teamed to defeat the team of Tom Dennis and Adams in men's B doubles 6-3, 6-2. The B mixed doubles were won by Joe Tucker and Lisa Wagner with a 6-4, 4-6, 6-3 victory over Sheila and Andy Watley.

Clark teamed with her older sister, Kay, to take the women's A doubles over Sheila Watley and Molly Holton 7-5, 6-4 and Shelly Stevens defeated Beth Willis 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 to claim the women's B singles title.

Charlene Cagle and Echo Neilson made short work of the team of Susa Hall and Judy Davis to win the women's B doubles 6-1, 6-3.

MIKE LOFTIN stares intently at the ball as he prepares a backhand return during first set action of the men's singles championship match Sunday. Loftin defeated Pampa High School tennis coach David Martin 7-5, 6-0 to repeat as champion at the Pampa Open tennis tournament.

U. S. swimmers sending out warnings

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The U.S. women's swimming program that was held to one gold medal in the 1976 Olympics, has been rebuilt and is shaping up as a juggernaut for next year in Moscow.

All-around star Tracy Caulkins, sprint and middle-distance freestyler Cynthia Woodhead and backstroker Linda Jezek have been garnering headlines for more than a year and they continued to do that at the National AAU Swimming Championships here.

But the four-day meet that ended Sunday also introduced butterfly Mary Meagher of Louisville, Ky., and distance freestyler Kim Linehan of Sarasota, Fla., as full-fledged stars.

The 14-year-old Meagher electrified the first-day crowd Thursday with world records in both the preliminary and final of the 200-meter butterfly and later broke the American mark in the 100.

Linehan set an American record and came within .08 seconds of a world standard 800 free Thursday but by Sunday it looked like that would be all the record setting.

But Caulkins, of Nashville, Tenn., who won three individual titles and was the high-point woman of the meet, lowered her own American record by more than a second in the 200 breaststroke.

Then Linehan broke the world mark for the grueling 1,500 freestyle record held by Tracey Wickham of Australia by more than two seconds in 16 minutes, 4.49 seconds.

"I'm just elated, so happy," said Linehan, who exuberantly threw away her goggles when she saw her record time posted. "I wanted to break the 800 record a lot, and not making it made me want to do it in 1,500 even more. I knew I was ready because I had all the work behind me that I needed."

Linehan was pushed to a record by luckless Marybeth Linzmeier of Mission Viejo, Calif., who finished second in three freestyle events and third in another. Her time of 16:06.02 was more than seven seconds ahead on Linehan's previous American record.

Caulkins, 16, who won both individual medley races, her world record specialties, in addition to the 200 breaststroke, joined Woodhead with three victories, while Jezek, of Los Altos, Calif., won both women's backstroke events for the fourth straight year.

"This was by far my best swim," said Caulkins of her American record of 2:33.88 that broke her old mark by nearly 1 1/2 seconds but was still 5 1/2 seconds over the world record by Lina Kaschusite of the Soviet Union.

Optimists host pro wrestling

Professional wrestling returns to Pampa Wednesday as the Pampa Optimist Club brings four matches to the Optimist Activity Building Wednesday beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Dick Murdoch, the current International Heavyweight Champion, will take on Cyclone Negroe in the main event.

Murdoch will step into the ring at a rangy 6-4, 267 pounds, while Negroe, a former champion and the first to ever hold the belt, will weigh in at 250 pounds.

"Gentleman Jim" Dillon will battle David Von Erick, son of Fritz Von Erick, in the semi-main bout.

A tag team match pitting the team of Ricky Romero and Gary Young against Diablo No. 1 and Diablo No. 2, will be the second bout on the evening's card.

The opening event finds Mongol battling Kevin "Body Beautiful" Von Erick, the third member of the wrestling Von Erick clan.

Advance tickets for the night of wrestling are on sale at John McGuire Motors and Larry Houston Motors. Ringside seats are $5 and general admission is $3.50. Kids under 12 - years - old will be admitted for $2.

Renner wins Westchester Classic

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — It all came down to a 10-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole.

At one time or another six men had led or shared the lead Sunday in the final round of the $400,000 Westchester Golf Classic. But it came down to a difficult, nerve-testing putt on the final hole.

"I aimed for the middle of the hole and said a little prayer," Jack Renner said.

"When it went in, I had a feeling I've been waiting for all of my life."

"I'm thrilled to death to win. I've known I wanted to be a pro golfer since I was 3 years old. I have dedicated my life to it."

"Hopefully, this is just a stepping stone on the way up."

And Australian David Graham, who tied for second behind Renner's brilliant birdie-par-birdie finish, predicted that it would be just that for the slender 23-year-old Renner.

"He works very, very hard at his game," said Graham, who won the PGA championship two weeks ago and led through three rounds of this rich event. "He's overdue to win. He is a very accomplished player. I think you'll see much, much more of him in the future."

Renner scored the first victory of his brief, three-year PGA Tour career with a closing 67 and a 277 total, seven strokes under par on the 6,603-yard Westchester Country Club course in suburban New York.

And it came as something of a surprise.

"I'm not surprised to win a golf tournament," Renner said. "But I am surprised to win this week."

He had led through three rounds of last week's Greater Hartford Open, only to be beaten by Jerry McGee's charge over the last 18 holes.

And he had no thought of it as late as the 10th hole of Sunday's final round.

"I was just trying to figure out a way to hit it on the fairway," he said. "I had no suspicion of winning at that time."

But a long birdie putt from behind the hole on the 16th lifted him into a tie for the lead.

New England mangles Raiders 34 - 14

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Matt Cavanaugh has emerged from the shadows. But for how long?

"I'm still not throwing the way I want," the New England Patriots' No. 3 quarterback said Sunday. The Oakland Raiders are wondering how he could improve.

Cavanaugh, the former Pitt star who didn't play a minute as a pro in 1978, tossed three fourth-quarter touchdowns passes to break a 14-14 tie and rout the Raiders 35-14 in a National Football League exhibition.

He completed seven of eight passes for 79 second-half yards in relief of starting Steve Grogan, giving Cavanaugh a preseason completion record of 15-for-24, 182 yards, five touchdowns, no interceptions.

But next Friday, when the Patriots finish the preseason in Denver, Cavanaugh probably will be back on the bench as Coach Ron Erhardt plays Grogan and No. 2 man Tom Owen.

Despite the loss, Oakland, 2-2, was pleased with its own signal-callers, Kenny Stabler and former Patriots star Jim Plunkett, making his first appearance in Foxboro since 1975.

"We moved the ball well," said Oakland Coach Tom Flores. "But we tried too many different defensive combinations in the second half. And we played a very strong football team."

On Saturday, Denver's Orange Crush Defense orchestrated the weekend's only shutout, beating the San Francisco 49ers 21-0. A 3-yard scoring burst by quarterback Craig Penrose and a 76-yard pass play for a touchdown from Norris Weese to Vince Kinney provided the offense. The Broncos have allowed only one touchdown and 13 points in three preseason contests.

Also Saturday, Mike Spivey returned an interception 43 yards for a Chicago touchdown as the unbeaten Bears rallied for 17 third-quarter points and a 17-13 win over the Cincinnati Bengals. Cincy quarterback Ken Anderson passed for 204 yards in the first half.

Nine quarterback sacks by the San Diego defense backed up a 14-yard touchdown pass play from Dan Fouts to Greg McCrary as the Chargers scored a 7-3 decision over the New York Giants, who haven't scored a touchdown in their last nine quarters of play.

Tampa Bay registered its first victory of the preseason, beating the winless New Orleans Saints 14-7 on a 14-yard scoring pass from Mike Ray to Ricky Bell.

The Atlanta Falcons also continued winless, losing 16-6 to the Washington Redskins who were led by Joe Theismann's touchdown passes of 30 yards to Ricky Thompson and 59 yards to Danny Buggs.

Reserve tailback Alois Blackwell of Dallas — who is behind Tony Dorsett, Doug Dennison and Preston Pearson on the depth chart — scored two second-half touchdowns while carrying 17 times for 48 yards to rally the Cowboys to a 16-13 win over the Houston Oilers.

The duo of quarterback Gary Danielson and wide receiver Luther Blue teamed up on scoring plays of 33 and 39 yards to lead the Detroit Lions to a 21-10 victory over the Cleveland Browns.

The Kansas City Chiefs, led by Jan Stenerud's field goals of 51 and 36 yards and Horace Belton's lunging, fingertip grab of a 25-yard touchdown pass from rookie Steve Fuller, overwhelmed the St. Louis Cardinals 20-3.

Bob Griese completed 11 of 15 passes for 180 yards while leading Miami on scoring drives of 72 and 83 yards to keep the Dolphins unbeaten with a 21-10 triumph over the winless Minnesota Vikings. But the Dolphins lost tight end Andre Tillman with a broken leg on his team's first offensive possession.

Vince Ferragamo threw a 25-yard touchdown pass to Preston Dennard, then ran two yards for another score as the 3-0 Los Angeles Rams defeated the Seattle Seahawks 21-17. It was the Seahawks' first loss.

Green Bay quarterback Lynn Dickey made his first appearance since Nov. 13, 1977, a successful one, passing 20 yards to James Lofton with 15 seconds left to put out a 7-6 Packers win over the Buffalo Bills.

The weekend action began Friday night with a 31-17 win by the Philadelphia Eagles over the Baltimore Colts and the Pittsburgh Steelers' 27-14 victory over the New York Jets.

ANDRE TILLMAN, tight end for the Miami Dolphins, is wheeled off the field Saturday after his left thigh was broken. Tillman had just caught a pass for a 15 yard gain when he was cartwheeled during the tackle by a Minnesota Vikings player. Miami won the game 21-10.

LeDoux, Norton fight to 10 round draw

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Minnesotan Scott LeDoux strutted around the ring like a fighter who had won the heavyweight boxing championship of the world and not a man who had just been given a draw.

"Bring on the champ," LeDoux boomed after brawling to a 10-round, split decision standoff with former World Boxing Council champion Ken Norton at the Met Sports Center Sunday.

"You know what they say in the barber shop — Next!"

LeDoux, who felt he should have been awarded a knockout, staggered Norton twice in the final three furious rounds.

"I won this fight — the whole country saw it," he said following the nationally-televised match. "I thought he was done. Even if it wasn't over, he was finished."

Norton, who is struggling to climb back into contention following losses to Larry Holmes and Earnie Shavers, stung LeDoux repeatedly with quick left jabs and seemed to have control of the fight through seven rounds.

But LeDoux broken Norton into the ropes in the eighth and scored with two solid rights. In the next round, Norton and LeDoux went chin-to-chin in the corner, with each landing punches, but LeDoux then connected with a jarring left that sent Norton reeling to the ropes.

A reporter, mixing up his sports, later asked LeDoux what had happened in the eighth inning.

"In the eighth inning I said, 'Call for a reliever, because this guy's done,'" LeDoux joked.

LeDoux, 25-7-4, knocked Norton down in the tenth with a right-left combination and sent him to the ropes again with less than 30 seconds left in the bout.

Little holds one stroke lead in LPGA tourney

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (AP) — Amy Alcott got "bugged" attempting a 4-foot birdie putt, and it cost her a share of the lead heading into today's final round of a $100,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament.

"This little black bug flew into my contact lens," said Alcott, who was tied with Dot Germain one stroke behind Sally Little after 36 holes Sunday.

"It made me miss the putt," said Alcott. "It made me mad, and I stayed mad for the next five holes."

Alcott finished with a pair of 35s after an opening round of 68 Saturday on the 6,156-yard, par-72 course.

"It was kind of strange. You see the bug and then you see the ball," Alcott said. "I had a problem trying to wash it out with my saline solution."

Little, who had an adventure of her own on Friday, had a 4-under par 69 Sunday and was 7-under at 137 starting today's final 18 holes. The winner of the Barth Classic, pushed back one day after rain washed out Friday's opening round, will receive $15,000.

"I fell in the lake," said Little, who is staying at a home near the
