Industry Set-up Progresses; Vegetable Processing Plant Is High on Initial Goal

Labor Survey Is Being Taken

If Muleshoe is to get industry it will need to know how much labor is available in this area—what kind and the degree of skill.

Accordingly MAIF (Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation) is conducting an intensive survey of the available labor supply. Harmon Elliott, chairman of the MAIF board, said Saturday. The survey forms are to be found in the Muleshoe Postoffice or a form may be clipped from this issue of the Journal and returned to the Texas Employment Commission's local office.

On the labor survey committee are Frank Ellis, Vic Benedict and Earl Harris, who prepared the survey form. They say the need to know "the exact number and nature of labor in this area" will be necessary before MAIF can "make intelligent reply to potential industry inquiries."

The MAIF board is due to receive reports from all committees on progress being made, and the labor survey "is very important if we are to take a complete look at our possibilities," the chairman concluded.

The labor forms are simple and include, among other information, the location of persons interested in working here. The committee explained that area labor may be needed from areas "within commuting distance of Muleshoe."

The survey group needs to know the educational background of potential workers, Ellis said, "as well as complete review of jobs held by a potential plant worker here."

And since many plants operate on a 24-hour basis, the potential employer needs to know how much night-time help will be available. Space for this is included on the form in this issue of the Journal.

Committees' Reports Due

Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation (MAIF) is moving along briskly in its committee work, says General Chairman Harmon Elliott, and within a short time, all the survey work should be completed and out of the way. Of course a labor survey will continue until all available labor has been classified. MAIF seeks industry for this area.

"We have contacted all committee chairmen," the general chairman said, "and they are being urged to complete their various work assignments." He added that cooperation had been office here or may be found in this issue of the Journal.

Elliott said all reports are due to be in his office not later than Monday evening of this week and that workers will start compiling information from these various reports. "From this material," Elliott explained, "a complete profile of Muleshoe will be provided, and we will even be able to splendid, and that most of the committee chairmen are about ready to turn in their reports. After that is completed, the entire organization will be ready to proceed on "a businesslike basis."

Elliott said two of the committees already have completed their work -- the committee on city and county government, headed by Irvin St. Clair, with Ike Stinson and Don Harmon as co-leaders, and the utility report headed by Jeff Peeler, Doc Botkin and Allan Waldrop. The labor committee is ready to launch its survey (see story in columns 1 and 2, this page) and forms for surveying the availability of labor in this area are available at the post

Eight agricultural leaders from Venezuela will arrive in Muleshoe Saturday, July 23, as their third stop on a two-month tour of visits with American farm families in five states, through the Farm Leader Exchange Program of Farmers and World Affairs. Local arrangements are being made by Gordon Murrah.

In charge of the Venezuelan exchange team's program in this area is Mr. Gordon Murrah, of Muleshoe. He was a member of the FWA team of American farmers who visited Venezuela earlier this year.

The Venezuelan visitors are:

'Enticing' Charge Draws $200 Fine After Guilty Plea

Two men have been handed a stiff fine in county court by Judge Glen Williams on an "enticing" charge.

John D. Morgan and Marvin L. Jackson pleaded guilty to "enticing a minor under the age of 17 away from the custody of her parents," and were fined $200 each and court costs.

Four other cases were disposed of in county court this week following pleas of guilty, and fines handed down by Judge Williams ranged from $9 to $200.

One of the stiffest fines assessed by the judge on a drunk in public place charge was that given Leo Chavez who was fined $200 and court costs after Chavez pleading guilty. The charge, however, was "habitual drunkenness in a public place." At last report, Chavez had not raised the money for his fine and court costs, and was "working out" his sentence.

Kids' Day Set For Muleshoe

Monday, Aug. 8, will be a big day for kids in the Muleshoe area -- and for their parents, too, for that matter.

Because Monday, Aug. 8 has been set aside by the Muleshoe Business Activities committee of the Chamber of Commerce, as kids day here when the entire town will turn its attention to children and their entertainment, says Harvey Bass, chairman of the committee.

For the parents it will be a big day, too. Because that is the day when stores here will mark down children's merchandise in preparation for back to school, coming up the tail end of August or early in September. (For local children, opening date is Aug. 29.)

Doug Haynes, Kenneth Henry and Buddy Lane are co-chairmen of the kids' day activities, and they are planning "one big celebration for that one day," Bass claims.

He says the day will include many special events for the children, such as potato races, sack races, a swim meet and other events being planned.

Muleshoe merchants will give away $200 worth of merchandise.

The events will be open to children in the Muleshoe trade area as well as to local boys and girls, Bass said. The Aug. 7 issue of the Bailey County Journal will carry advertisements by merchants stressing their special kids' bargains, the chairman explained.

The decision to hold the kids' day was made at this past week's meeting of Bass' committee, the "Go-Go" committee of the chamber.

"All the merchants are enthusiastic about the kids' day," Bass said, "the event kicking off the back to school movement with a bang."

The group in another sub-committee action, decided not to buy new Christmas decorations this year, rather the present units will be reworked and used this year.

Air Conditioner Turns Radio, Plays Weird Melodies

An air-conditioning system which eventually thought it was a radio receiver, caused a downtown Muleshoe office force this past week to have goose pimples for awhile.

Weird sounds, eventually picked up from a radio station and reproduced in an off-key screechy manner, were noted as coming from the ceiling of the county agents' offices, 306 2nd.

At times, the tones sounded very much like a radio program, but at other times, the tones were only weird sounds.

J. K. Adams, county agent, decided to investigate the origin of the sounds. He climbed onto the roof of the building and removed one of the pads from the downdraft air conditioner.

From that angle, the music seemed to be coming from below. He surmised that the copper water pipe leading to the cooler was serving as the (Continued on P. 6)

Preliminary Plans for Running Water Draw Project Completed

Tentative work plans are complete for both the upper and lower watershed protection projects on Running Water Draw. Soil Conservation Service has announced. The Draw extends from north of Clovis, southeastward through Plainview, with drainage area divided into two subwatersheds to facilitate planning and administration, but have been developed simultaneously since they are component parts of the larger watershed.

The preparation of the tentative work plan was done by the Soil Conservation Service at the request of local sponsors. Money to pay for the cost of preparing these work plans was made available through a trust fund set up by the County Commissioners and City Councils in the Counties affected by the Watershed Project. In excess of $70,000 was put into the trust fund by these sub-divisions of local government, says Virgil L.

Cunningham, area conservationist, SCS, Amarillo. Estimated total construction costs, including fair market values of land to be covered by water or structures is $2.5 million. It is estimated that total Public Law 566 expenditures will be in the neighborhood of $1.6 million. The entire project is being carried out under the authority of the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act (Public Law 566, 83rd Congress) as Amended.

The primary purpose of the project is flood prevention. Major floods on this draw cause severe damage to crops, fences, farm improvements, county and state roads and bridges, and low water crossings in the agricultural area of the watershed. Severe damage is also done to industrial, commercial, and public properties in the City of Plainview. It is estimated that more than $1 million in non-agricultural damage would occur in the City of Plainview if a flood such as that of 1941 were to recur. The 1941 flood was one that is expected only once in every 38 years. The entire project consists of 8 floodwater retaining structures and 5.3 miles of channel improvement. All channel improvement will be done in and adjacent to the City of Plainview. The floodwater structures will be allocated on private lands at intervals along the draw.

In addition to reducing damages to agricultural and non-agricultural areas, there will be secondary benefits of ground water recharge at an estimated rate of 6,000 acre feet per year. The dollar value placed on an acre foot of water is $16 per acre foot. The ratio of average annual project benefits to the average annual project cost is above two to one. Water based recreation, one of the hoped for primary benefits, has been ruled out as unfeasible due to the high permeability of the soils in the floodplain of the draw. Only one small recreation area is planned and that is the Clovis Site, just north of Clovis, New Mexico. It is anticipated that some forms of private recreation enterprises will be established at one or more of the structures.

The next phase in the project is securing adequate land treatment on private land that contributes to the drainage area of the Watershed. This phase is being spearheaded by local Soil Conservation Districts with technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service. Adequate treatment of land in the watershed must be secured before any construction is started. Treatment is considered adequate when 75% of the active erosion from wind and water is controlled. This is necessary to prevent sedimentation of the flood prevention structures and thereby prolong the effective life of the project.

Witnesses Plan District Meet

Local Jehovah's Witnesses plan to be included in the more than 3000 delegates at the August 3-7 "God's Sons of Liberty" district assembly at Dallas' modern Market Hall. According to Elmer B. Lowery, the local congregation received advance program information this week. "Normally much of the program material is kept as a surprise to the delegates until they arrive, but this year we have been briefed on some of the subject matter so that we have our spiritual appetites whetted in advance."

Lowery, cited the program feature, "Building on a Right Foundation with Fire-Resistant Materials," as an example. "Any Christian knows it is difficult maintaining Bible integrity in these critical times. And one glance at this particular subject reveals it is not a run-of-the-mill treatment of generalities, but a hard and factual analysis of Christian responsibility for today."

Commenting on the program Lowery noted that part of the program will deal with dramatizations offering vivid portrayals of Bible accounts that are filled with meaning for all Christians now. "Imagine, seeing the integrity-filled lives of Daniel, Jeremiah and Joshua unfold before the eyes, and with application. This is something to look forward to."

LIBRARY

Report..

By Anne Camp

The Muleshoe Area Public Library wishes to invite all 5-year-old children of the area to story-hour time at the library. This special addition to our Children's Summer reading program, will be held on Wed. afternoons beginning July 20, and the time will be from 3 p.m. until 4 p.m., each week until school starts.

There will be games, an interesting story, especially for this age level will be told, by a good story-teller, and time to browse among the books in the children's book-section will be provided. One film will be shown at the latter part of the program, and several puppet shows are being planned to add to the children's fun and enjoyment. It will not be necessary for mothers to accompany the youngsters in this age group, but the children should be picked up, if left alone, promptly at 4 p.m. So, mothers may do some shopping, without benefit of the skirt-tuggers, for this hour on Wednesday, and the pre-schoolers will be adding to their experience of being on their own, as well as gaining knowledge and enjoyment from the brand-new stories or the old-favorites they will hear. All activities will be adult-supervised. If children this age wish, they may check out picture books, but a parent must have, or get a Library reading card for the child to use.

Books donated recently include: Donated by Bailey County Co. REA: "A Giant Step" by Clyde T. Ellis, the author, who has been Gen. Manager of the Nat. REA since its founding in 1942, and who is also an expert on natural resource development here tells the story of the struggle to take electricity to the countryside. He has led the long and continuing fight to electrify rural America and to keep it electrified. In this book you are taken into the U. S. Senate during a down to the wire fight over important legislation in this issue. All people will want to read "A Giant Step", if seriously interested in "how things get done in Washington."

Donated by Melba Richards, Star Rt. Sudan: 4 late, best seller fiction books: "The Looking Glass War" by John LeCarre' (author of "The Spy

Who Came in From the Cold"), "Columella" by Phyllis Whitney - a romantic novel of suspense by the author of "Sea Jade" and many other popular best sellers, "Airs Above the Ground" by Mary Stewart - author of "This Rough Magic", "The Moonspinner", "My Brother Michael," etc., and "Avalon" by Anya Seaton - author of "Katherine". In this book as well as in "Katherine" Miss Seaton combines the historians respect for chronology, with a novelist's flair for description and the result, many have called "Living History."

The Library would like to remind boys and girls that there is still time to join our 1966 Summer Reading Club. There is still time to complete the 12 books required to earn the Texas Reading certificate and merit badge.

This is reading for enjoyment too! There are no strict rules to follow, there are no prizes to pay. It doesn't cost a thing to get a reading card, and check out books at the library. Children may also enjoy making posters at the library, which they can take home, when completed. All this, along with story-hour for the pre-schoolers adds up to summer fun.

The library is open 6 days a week, every week day from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., and on Saturday morning from 9 a.m. till noon.

Recent additions to the Memorial Funds at the Muleshoe Area Public Library are: In memory of Tye Young, given by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. LeVeque, Martell LeVeque, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis; Mrs. Show Davis and Mildred Davis. In memory of Carl Neely, given by Aubrey and Beverly Heathington, and the Bill Taylor family. In memory of E. T. Bates, given by Aubrey and Beverly Heathington.

If you would like to have a book placed in the library in memory of these or any friend or relative, you may send your gift to Memorial Fund, Box 505, Muleshoe, Texas. Be sure to give your name and address, the person you want to remember, and the person or persons you want notified of the gift. (In most cases it is the family of the deceased.) These persons will be promptly notified, and within days a book will be on the shelves of the library, with your memorial plate in the front page. This is an appropriate and lasting
