Marines swarm Cuba shore

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP) — Marines swarmed ashore by helicopter and amphibious craft in a practice landing today on the beaches of the only U.S. military base on communist soil. A Soviet surveillance ship stood offshore and Cuban reservists in the area were called to duty.

"So far as we know, there were no problems" in the 8 a.m. landing, said Cmdr Howard Matson, a spokesman at Atlantic Fleet headquarters in Norfolk, Va.

Three Navy warships had carried the Marines close to the shore at dawn in the show-the-flag exercise, hastily arranged by the Carter administration as a flexing of military muscle in response to the presence in Cuba of a Soviet brigade, about 500 miles west of Guantanamo.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said there was no overt action by the Cubans.

About 2,200 Marines were involved in the exercise, a practice reinforcement by helicopters and amphibious vehicles at Guantanamo Bay, on the eastern tip of Cuba 500 miles from Havana.

Military officials insisted the exercise was routine and, although they made extreme efforts to accommodate nearly 80 reporters and photographers covering the landing, they denied reports that the exercise was merely a media event.

"This is a training exercise which reinforces the Marines and Naval units (stationed at Guantanamo Bay)," Navy Capt. John Fetterman said at a briefing Tuesday night.

However, Fetterman said, "What you will see tomorrow (Wednesday) in no way approximates what would be done under hostile conditions." He said if the base was threatened, reinforcements would be flown in instead of brought in by ship.

"It is not a classic amphibious assault," said Capt. Robert Bowen, a Pentagon spokesman.

Once ashore, the Marines were to move into defensive positions behind the 17.4-mile perimeter fence, then engage in about four weeks of training and drills before returning home.

There was no indication in the Washington reports that the Cubans were moving any troops close to the 45-square-mile base, but about a half-dozen tanks and an equal number of anti-aircraft guns were said to have been shifted to the vicinity of the base.

'Carelessness' boosts crime rate

What Police Chief J.J. Ryzman termed "carelessness" has boosted automobile thefts in Pampa for the past two years, according to the police department's monthly activity report released Tuesday.

"Keys left in unlocked cars" have helped put auto theft at the top of the list for Class I crimes as compared with last September's figures, Ryzman said. Those crimes showed a slight overall increase over last year, according to the report.

Rapes showed a slight increase over last year and robberies were also up from September, 1978. Assaults with firearms are down 50 percent from last year, but knife or cutting assaults have increased from seven reported incidents to 13. Assaults with other deadly weapons remained the same as last year.

The account shows a slight decline in simple assaults and forced burglaries. A small increase appeared in unlawful entry and larceny reports.

The total reported Class I crimes for this year is now 830 as compared to last year's reports of 794.

Class II crimes are led by a large increase in vandalism reports.

Another increase was shown in "offenses against family and children." Ryzman said the department's new juvenile officer has allowed the department to handle more of these cases, causing the increase on the monthly activity report.

Disorderly conducts have increased this past month, as well as narcotics and liquor law violations. September has shown a substantial decrease in traffic complaints.

Class II crimes, mostly misdemeanors, have increased from 1201 reported incidents for this time in 1978 to 1328 reports for 1979.

The overall increase, Ryzman said, is partly caused by the population increase in Pampa over the last year.

Weather

The forecast calls for partly cloudy skies through Thursday with a slight chance for showers and thunderstorms Wednesday night. Wednesday will be cooler with warmer conditions Thursday. Wednesday's high was expected to be near 70; the low in the mid 40s. Thursday's high will be in the mid 70s. Winds will be north to northeasterly at 10 to 15 mph, diminishing to 5 to 10 mph Wednesday night. There is a 20 percent chance for rain tonight.

Connally gets 'disinvitation'

NEW YORK (AP) — Manhattan Republicans have "disinvited" GOP presidential hopeful John Connally from speaking at their annual dinner because of differences with his ideas on Mideast policy.

"We regret that we find it necessary to withdraw our invitation previously extended to you to speak at our annual dinner to be held on Feb. 9," New York County Republicans wrote to Connally's campaign headquarters in Arlington, Va., on Monday.

Support strongest in coldest states

Energy protesters plan rallies

By The Associated Press

The organizers of today's Campaign For Lower Energy Prices are trying to turn anger into action, urging Americans to let the oil industry and the government know they are fed up with rising costs.

The agenda for the day included the usual rallies, demonstrations, marches and teach-ins.

The sponsors included the Gray Panthers, Consumers Opposed to Inflation, in Necessities, the Episcopal Urban Bishop's Conference, the Americans for Democratic Action and a variety of unions.

A major effort was the distribution of millions of red, white and blue postcards headed: "Big oil discredit cards." The cards urge Congress to put a lid on oil and gas prices, appoint a special prosecutor to investigate the oil industry and create a publicly owned energy corporation.

Oil company offices were targets of demonstrations even before the official day of protest. About 30 people picketed the headquarters of the Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) on Tuesday, chanting slogans like: "Sohio, stop pumping us dry."

The company, which closed off the entrances to the building and stationed guards nearby, said in a prepared statement, that it understood the frustrations that lead to demonstrations. "But fundamental answers on solving inflation are needed, not looking for scapegoats," the statement said.

In St. Louis, Don Owens, the head of research and public relations for District 9 of the International Association of Machinists, one of the sponsors of a mid-day demonstration, said: "We're holding this rally because we're sick and tired of a national energy policy that robs the workingman and gives to the multi-national oil corporations."

William Wimpisinger, president of the International Association of Machinists and the chairman of the coalition coordinating the events, described the protest as a "national grassroots organizing effort."

Wimpisinger also is heading an effort to draft Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination. He broke with President Carter last year over the issue of whether to decontrol heating bills are expected to be a serious problem.

"Here in Connecticut, the rally will focus on low and middle-income families already affected by cash-on-demand payments for heating oil," said Lou Kiefer, labor co-chairman of the coalition sponsoring today's demonstrations.

The protest follows on the heels of announcements of price increases by Libya and Iran, two of the world's major oil exporters. Carter has blamed price increases by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries for the high rate of inflation in the United States. The oil industry says its price hikes are due to the OPEC boosts.

Figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics show that from December 1978 through August 1979, the heating oil component of the Consumer Price Index went up 46 percent, the gasoline went up 42 percent and the natural gas part went up 12 percent. In the same period, the overall index rose 9 percent.

Another aspect of energy will be in the spotlight on Thursday Nuclear Energy Women, a group founded by women who work in the nuclear industry, has organized informal discussions and special events which, it says, are designed to educate the public about nuclear energy. NEW is sponsored by the Atomic Industrial Forum, Inc., an international association which wants to develop the peaceful use of nuclear power.

energy prices. Congress already has approved the phasing out of controls on natural gas and is considering an end to controls on petroleum. Price controls on heating oil and diesel fuel were ended during the Ford Administration.

Carter's re-election headquarters in Concord, N.H., was the focus of a planned afternoon march. Sponsors said they would try to telephone their demands to Carter; if they get no response, they said, they will urge everyone driving by to honk horns in protest.

An Associated Press spot check indicated support for the protest seemed strongest in states where winter

From May 18 incident

Shooting trial testimony opens

By MELANIE MILLER
Of The Pampa News

Testimony was continuing at press time this morning in the trial of Donald Dean Beistle, 23, of Pampa, who is charged with unlawfully carrying a weapon in a May 18 shooting incident at 832 W. Foster. He is being tried in Gray County Judge Carl Kennedy's courtroom.

Terry Brookshire, 22, also of Pampa, was shot once in the lower jaw and once in the stomach during the altercation. Beistle, who pled not guilty, testified before press time that events leading up to the shooting "lasted about 10 or 15 minutes."

According to testimony Tuesday by both Brookshire and Dale McClure, who was with the victim when he was shot, Beistle began tailgating the two, who were riding on Brookshire's motorcycle. They had stopped to talk to Beistle, who was parked on "the drag," concerning an incident May 17.

McClure testified he had become angry with Beistle the night before (May 17) after he (Beistle) pulled into a service station where he was parked.

"Later on Beistle tried to race me," McClure said. "He was sliding through the parking lot — it just hit me wrong."

He said the next night, May 18, he wanted to ask Beistle "why he did that the night before."

Both McClure and Brookshire testified that after they left, Beistle started following them — "He was close behind us all the time," Brookshire said. After exchanging words with Beistle, Brookshire said he and McClure got Brookshire's car and a baseball bat and drove back on the drag.

"I wanted to find him and talk to him and find out what was going on," Brookshire testified. He said he picked up the bat "for protection."

After arriving where Beistle was parked — at 832 W. Foster — Brookshire said he got out of his car, "took about two steps and that's when I was shot. I seen three flashes."

McClure testified he "was scared" and he swung his belt at Beistle after Brookshire had been shot. He added that Beistle was still pointing his gun, now at McClure.

Sergeant Charles Love, who answered the call the night of the shooting, testified that Beistle handed the weapon, a .25 automatic, to him and said, "Yeah, I shot him."

TWO PAMPA WOMEN were involved in a collision yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Hobart and Decatur. According to the police report, a 1978 Pontiac driven by Myrtle Melton, 77, of 1807 Lynn was turning east from the southbound lane of Hobart when it struck a 1976 Datsun driven by Deanna Eakin, 17, of 2212

Dogwood. Eakin was traveling north on Hobart when the mishap occurred. Although Eakin suffered minor head injuries in the accident, she was not taken to the hospital. Mrs. Melton was cited for unsafe change of direction of travel.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

OPINION PAGE

Doe keep on rolling at tax payers expense

Gas stamps? Maybe, maybe not, but one thing's for sure, there will be relief of some form for the "poor people" the government thinks can't afford energy. These people will be paid to use more energy.

The Associated Press reported, "Officials estimate that under the president's (energy) aid plan, an eligible family could receive $200... while a single person could get $100." Another alternative was the president's $400 million proposal to be administered through state welfare. It may possibly progress into something like the food stamp program is today.

Who is going to pay for this? You are! It doesn't matter whether you pay for it through prices at the gas pump because of the "windfall profits" tax, through a direct tax, or through government deficit spending. The American people are giving their money away (not voluntarily) to other people, and the government just keeps on growing, regulating, taxing, and redistributing the wealth.

Besides trying to help these "poor people", a Department of Energy was created which hardly made an impact on public opinion even though its budget was greater than all the oil companies profits combined.

The DOE, in its short history, has already made many costly blunders. Just one of these is the effort to build and store crude oil reserves. The DOE has paid Sunoco $22.5 million, Koch $2 million, and Seaway $2.8 million for unused services. Under the same contracts, these oil companies get $100,000 per day for doing nothing because the government isn't able to utilize the services they contracted for.

It seems the government has run into some problems it never anticipated, or asked a knowledgeable oil man in the free market about. The government's answer is to spend more money or to cut back somewhere else. The Washington Post reported that Energy Undersecretary John Deutch said the administration was evaluating plans to buy oil for the reserve in the domestic market.

What they are saying is this: The government is going to start buying the cheaper oil here in the states. No wonder, they already regulate the lower price. The public will not get all the so-called benefits of the lower price, but the government will. Our producers, the oil companies, will be forced to buy higher foreign oil which will further reduce profits and investments. The result will be less drilling at home—here in the Permian Basin and all over the country.

It seems that no matter how hard the government tries, things just keep on getting on worse and worse shape. There are more than a half dozen bills pending in the Senate to help offset higher heating costs for low- and middle-income persons. HEW Secretary Patricia R. Harris said the administration will ask for $1.2 billion to help these "poor people". The DOE keeps making more and more mistakes. Everybody wants in the act, and the taxpayers get the ax.

Stick to the weather

Space explorers from Earth will reach Mars by 1992. A woman will be elected president in the same year. American troops will be fighting a war in Africa by 1985.

If you believe those forecasts, here's another from the same group of prescient prognosticators: Gasoline won't reach the dollar-a-gallon level until 1982.

Omni, a magazine that attempts to popularize science-and-future-related subjects, last October asked its readers to predict when a variety of events might occur.

Claiming that approximately 20,000 responses were received, the publication released its findings with appropriate fanfare.

The predictions covered everything from nuclear war with the Soviet Union to the cloning of a human.

But the abysmal lack of foresight on gasoline prices suggests that mere mortals ought to stick to predicting tomorrow's weather.

By DON GRAFF

The plot is thickening in the Mideast and the surprise is not that it is happening, but that it has taken so long to happen.

The Palestinians have always had it in their power to shake severely if not knock the props completely out from under Israeli policy. All it would take would be a public commitment to reality, an acceptance of the fact of Israel and a willingness to live with it.

It has long appeared obvious that this would be the most effective weapon the Palestinians could employ against the Israelis because it would be the most effective means of diluting Western support. Israel's friends might not defect immediately and en masse; but it would be immensely more difficult for Jerusalem to keep them in line behind its hard-line rejection of anything resembling a Palestinian state.

Obviously, that is, to everyone other than the Palestinians and their more vehement Arab sponsors. They have preferred rhetoric to reality, threatening to push the Israelis into the sea and in the very process, by maintaining Western sympathy for a beleaguered people, guaranteeing that it would not happen.

Now there are suggestions that the Palestinians may be ready to use the weapon. They come from several quarters. From Vienna, where Yasir Arafat met with Austria's Bruno Kreisky and West Germany's Willy Brandt, both very big men on the international circuit and apparently favorably impressed with what they heard. From the United Nations, where an Arab-sponsored rephrasing of Mideast policy is under consideration. And from Washington, where reports of indirect contacts with Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization have been confirmed, sort of. They are also contradictory. After apparently being on the verge of a meaningful compromise in the U.N., the Palestinians belligerently backed off. Washington has followed the contact reports with zealous denials of a policy change and reiterations of its basic commitment to Israel.

But whether or not it is actually being used at long last, the furor attending these developments is sufficient testimony to the potency of the recognition weapon. Israel's Western alliances have not come unstuck yet but the Israelis themselves show signs of becoming so. They are lashing out at good and fair-weather friends alike and ties with the United States are strained as they haven't been in a quarter of a century of a very special relationship.

The Israelis have good cause for concern, seeing any opening to the P.L.O. as encouraging the creation of a Palestinian state, to which they are adamantly opposed. To the West, this may eventually appear to be the logical embodiment of the Palestinian "self-determination" and "homeland" to which many of its government, including Washington, subscribe.

But to Israel, the ultra-close geographical confines of the Mideast, and independent Palestinian state would be clashing an asp - or a bomb - to its bosom. Recognition of Israel would be no guarantee of its willingness to coexist peacefully. Israel is now a garrison state occupying a hostile West Bank population with the exception of the Egyptian. But better these known devils than the unknown - an enemy allowed not just into the backyard but the house.

The recent developments, while producing nothing but talk and confusion to date, nevertheless have the makings of the most significant in the Mideast since Sadat's surprising initiative of nearly two years ago. It took a long time and a chain reaction of crises for that to produce something tangible - the Egyptian-Israeli treaty.

It would take much longer and, considering the immensely greater issues at stake and deeper hostility, likely many more crises for Israeli and Palestinian to reach a modus vivendi. And it would require leadership of great skill.

Judging from his record of the past decade or so, Yasir Arafat doesn't look like a Sadat. But then, not so long ago neither did Sadat.

The father of the electric bill

by ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON—This month, we are celebrating the 100th anniversary of the electric light bulb. All the credit is given to Thomas Alva Edison who invented it.

But what people don't know is that another person, Jeffrey Kobrin, started it all. He invented the electric light two years earlier than the electric light. If it hadn't been for Kobrin, Edison might never have been inspired to invent the bulb.

Jeffrey was an accountant by trade, but at night he dabbled in his basement trying to think up new ways of charging people for services in their homes. One evening he was sitting at his bench and he wrote down the word "What." Then he wrote down "100 whats." Then he wrote "1,000 whats." It didn't make any sense until he scribbled down "One kilowatt equals 1,000 whats."

He showed it to his wife. She said, "What is it?"

"It's an electric bill. You put it in the mail and you can collect millions of dollars when people send in their checks."

"Why would people send in their checks for an electric bill if they don't use any?" "I haven't figured that out yet. But you'll have to admit it's one of the best bills I've ever invented."

"Jeffrey, will you stop this nonsense? All these crazy bills you design haven't put one loaf of bread on the table."

But Kobrin was not discouraged. He went to see an investment banker on Wall Street. The banker looked at the new electric bill and said, "By gum, it has possibilities. If we could send out one of these to every family in American each month we could be rolling in money."

"Exactly, sir, but I can't think what to charge them for."

"Look," said the banker, "I have a crazy friend in Menlo Park, N.J., who is an inventor. Why don't we go to him and ask him to invent something that people would have to use so we could send them a bill?"

The banker and Kobrin took the ferry to Hoboken and the train to Menlo Park.

where they found Tom Edison messing around in his dirty laboratory. They showed him the bill and the banker said, "Tom, can you come up with a gimmick so we can stick the people for using it?"

Edison studied the bill and then said, "You spelled kilowatt wrong. It's k-i-l-o-w-a-t-t."

"You idiot," the banker shouted at Kobrin. "You want me to invest my money in an electric bill and you can't even spell what we're going to charge the people for."

Kobrin, abashed, replied, "It's not too late. We haven't printed any up yet."

The banker cooled down. "Tom, can you do it? I believe in this electric bill. But we need your technical know-how before we can put it in the mail."

Edison said, "Well, I was working on an electric light bulb, but I gave it up because I couldn't figure out any way to make money on it. Now that you've invented an electric bill it might be worth my while to go back to it."

Kobrin said, "Wait a minute. I created this bill. You can't get in on it just because you're going to come up with a light bulb." "The bill's no good without the bulb," Edison said.

"And the bulb's no good without the bill," Kobrin replied.

The banker interrupted. "I've got it. Tom can make money on the bulb. It will burn out in a few hours and people will have to buy a new one every time it does. We'll let Edison keep the patent on the bulb, but we hold the rights to the electric bill, where the real money is."

They shook on it, and the rest is history. Unfortunately, Edison has become a household name, but Jeffrey Kobrin, the man who started it all, has been forgotten. This is ironic, because everybody takes Edison's light bulb for granted, but they all scream bloody murder every time they get one of Kobrin's thoughtfully designed electric bills.

A corporate leader

By Anthony Harrigan

Few corporate leaders understand the power of words and ideas to change the world. Even fewer heads of corporations understand that this power has been perverted in recent years to radicalize our society and change its value system.

One corporate executive who has an exceptionally clear understanding of these realities is D. J. Kirchhoff, president of Castle & Cooke Inc., the 128-year-old agricultural machine firm based in Hawaii.

In a recent speech at the University of Evansville, Mr. Kirchhoff described how his company has been attacked by Marxist groups and clergymen who represent the "theology of liberation." He pointed out that these groups "presume to dictate our foreign policy" and have created a "tax-exempt structure of enormous international clout." These groups allege that business and Christianity are mutually exclusive.

Having experienced anti-corporate hostility, Mr. Kirchhoff is aware of the inadequate response of American business to the leftist assault. In recent years, he remarked, "we made sacred cows of the very institutions whose people were questioning the right of free societies to exist and defend themselves; we financed the verbal and in some cases—the insurrectionary—attacks upon us."

Among the leftist institutions he cited are "the Institute For Policy Studies; the North American Congress For Latin America—sympathizers of Fidel Castro and now headquartered in New York City; the Inter-Faith Center For Corporate Responsibility; and the National and the World Council of Churches."

Mr. Kirchhoff explained to his audience that the "well-financed strategy of the left" provides "planning, concepts, research and analysis to many of the movers and shakers on Capitol Hill." He added that "many congressional offices and Washington bureaus are staffed by products of IPS. Military and budget analyses conducted by IPS find their way into committee reports that shape our nation's future."

This corporate leader made plain that the business community "has been at fault in its ignorance and thus in its response to these intrigues." Indeed one of the ironies of the current attacks on business is that many of the organizations most devoted to the destruction of capitalism are financed by foundations established by the heirs of great fortunes.

Mr. Kirchhoff has set a great example for the leaders of big business. He is aware of the threat to a free society and a free economy from the numerous New Left organizations. He is outspoken in analyzing their aims and condemning their actions. It's imperative that other business leaders follow his example, study the nature of the threat to American values and institutions, and use their funds and influence to counter the groups that want to substitute Marxism for democracy and economy freedom.

An African Roast

You can't judge all emerging countries by one cannibalistic dictator, but it did happen down there in Africa.

It was in the Central African Republic of Bangui that they found dismembered human torsos and limbs "trussed up and prepared for roasting" in a freezer where the former emperor Bokassa and his cronies used to party.

The word was pretty harsh: Bokassa and his favorite few used to get rid of all the servants, lock the doors and have one big cannibalistic orgy off the frozen remains of people who had been done in for one reason or another.

One young woman told reporters that she identified one of the bodies as that of her uncle, a worker in a local aluminum factory. She said that his head, arms and right leg were cut off but she recognized the body because of a tattoo on his chest that included his name. She said that she often had seen the tattoo before.

All this serves to remind that it hasn't been many years when cannibalism in that neck of the world was not so unusual. People actually ate people. It's hard to accommodate that among today's supposed civilized citizens.

Chamber banquet ticket sales strong

Don Newbury

Ticket sales are going well for the Annual Banquet of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, scheduled for Oct. 25.

Highlight of the evening will be Don Newbury of Tarrant County Junior College, keynote speaker. He is well known for his humorous style and a way of dealing with the most current of topics.

The affair will begin with a reception at 6:30 p.m. in the foyer of M. K. Brown Auditorium and will include a steak dinner at 7:15 p.m. in the Heritage Room.

Due to seating availability, there is a limited amount of the $10 tickets, so get yours now from any Chamber director or at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Absentee voting begins

Absentee voting began today in the constitutional amendment election scheduled for Nov. 6.

The county clerk's office, located in the Gray County

Court House, will be open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. for those who wish to vote absentee.

Absentee voting will be held until Nov. 2.

SPS to honor employees

Eight employees of Southwestern Public Service Company in Pampa will receive service awards ranging from five to 35 years at a dinner Thursday night at the Tascosa Country Club in Amarillo. The awards will be presented by Berl M. Springer, president and chief operating officer of the electric company.

Kenneth D. Box, meterman journeyman, will receive one of the top awards this year, a 35-year service award. Joe H. Gidden will receive a 30-year award and Earl Moore will receive a 20-year award.

A 15-year award will be presented to Janice Lee Covalt and 10-year awards will be presented to Betty Maxwell, Billy Payne and James C. Richardson. Michael Price will receive a five-year award, the first period of service which is honored by SPS.

This will be the second of four service award dinners to be held throughout the company's territory. A total of 322 employees, with a combined service of 5,325 years, will be honored.

Canadian break-in reported

CANADIAN - The second late night break-in in this month has been reported by the Hemphill County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff's Department officers said an intruder entered the Canadian Dairy Queen Thursday morning by breaking the glass in a north door of the building. Reportedly the cigarette machine was pried open.

No cigarettes or cash were taken in the burglary.

Employees of the Dairy Queen discovered the burglary at 7:30 a.m. Thursday when they arrived to open the restaurant.

This break-in occurred five days after a burglary of the Vocational Agriculture building at Canadian High School.

According to authorities, three pairs of coveralls and three welding helmets were discovered missing after the break-in. A sheriff's department spokesperson would not discount the possibility of the two burglaries being related.

Investigation into the two break-ins is continuing at this time.

McLearn account established

An account for Priscilla McLearn and her three children has been established at Citizens Bank and Trust of Pampa.

The McLearn home was burned in a fire Sunday night. For further information, please contact the Pizza Inn, 665-8491. All help will be greatly appreciated.

Curtis Schaffer re-elected

Curtis Schaffer was re-elected to serve as Zone 1 Director of the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District. He was elected to the five year term during the District's annual zone election recently.

Following the election, Director Milton Carpenter presented a plaque to Schaffer, representing the District's appreciation for 25 years of dedicated service to the farmers and ranchers of Zone 1 and the District.

In other business, Billy Davis updated the group on current progress in the McClellan Creek Watershed Project. Lee McDonald presented a slide presentation on procedures involved in building flood prevention dams similar to those being constructed in the McClellan Creek project.

Following the program and election, the Board of Directors held their regular monthly meeting. Officers for 1980 were installed. Neal Stovall of Pampa is the new chairman of the Board. Jim Allison from McLean will serve as vice-chairman and Wallace Birkes was elected secretary.

Over 1,000 attend pro-oil industry rally Monday

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — Oil industry advocates rallied near the core of the petroleum-rich Permian Basin, lashing out at critics and chastising the federal government for "dastardly" decisions that victimize producers.

More than 1,000 people attended a pro-industry rally Tuesday in Midland, where for more than a generation the economic life blood has been pumped by oil wells that dot the West Texas region.

"We're here to support the oil industry, but we're really here to support America and fight for the free enterprise system," said independent oilman Bob Bailey, the only producer to speak at the rally.

"In some parts of the country, particularly Washington, D.C., the oil industry is held in antipathy and distrust," said rally speaker Harrell Feldt, an attorney. "But actually, it stands for free enterprise."

Organizers called the rally to counter protests — labeled "Stop the Oil Profiteers" — by a coalition of private citizens and labor unions that scheduled the demonstrations in at least 20 U.S. cities today.

"Our government is saying leaders of the oil industry are disqualified" from helping shape a national energy policy, said Feldt. He called that decision "dastardly" and urged the nighttime crowd to devote time, energy and talents to changing that policy.

Former Midland mayor Pat Baskin lashed out at anti-oil coalition member Jane Fonda and called the actress "an admitted enemy of the free enterprise system (and) an outspoken supporter of socialistic principles."

"If the Jane Fondas of this country really want to help, let them put a part of their profits into drilling for oil and gas," said Bailey.

"After a little of that action," he said, "I'd like to see what their idea of an obscene profit is."

Bailey said he annually spends more finding oil than he gets for selling it, and without continued credit from banks he "would have been out of business long ago."

The oil industry "is the free enterprise system at work. It's the system that made America great," he said.

The windfall profits tax is "a tax on our very existence," said Bailey, who also claimed oilmen have developed a "losers" syndrome.

"We've forgotten what it is like to win. We're more interested in not losing too badly. I think this has gone far enough. It's time to turn our team around and win," he said.

Baskin read telegrams of support from Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, U.S. Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas, and Texas Railroad Commissioner John Poerner.

Testimony begins today in federal grand jury probe

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A grand jury investigating attacks on two federal officials reconvenes today for two days of testimony from a group of witnesses that includes members of the Bandidos motorcycle club, a convicted murderer and a reputed organized crime leader.

The federal panel is investigating the May 29 sniper assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr., known as "Maximum John" for his stiff sentences in drug cases.

It is also investigating the attempted assassination last Nov. 21 of Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr, who had been spearheading a federal investigation into an international drug-smuggling ring centered in El Paso.

A total of 36 witnesses have been subpoenaed. Among the Bandidos subpoenaed is Richard Paul Ricks of San Antonio, who took part in a police lineup viewed by Kerr last March. Federal officials have refused to reveal the results of that lineup.

Other Bandido leaders in the group of witnesses are two officers in the Austin chapter, the president of the Corpus Christi chapter and two Houston club officials.

Federal prosecutors have also subpoenaed club records.

Salvatore Michael Caruana of Boston, whom an FBI agent has testified answers directly to the head of the New England organized crime syndicate, is also scheduled to appear.

He was a friend of Lee Chagra, slain El Paso defense attorney. Chagra's brother is fugitive drug smuggler Jimmy Chagra.

A friend of Jimmy Chagra, Peter Lynn Kruttschewski of Lansing, Mich., was subpoenaed, but was jailed Monday morning on charges of conspiracy to violate federal drug laws. Kruttschewski, who uses the name "Peter Blake," was indicted by a federal grand jury in Boston.

It was not known Tuesday whether federal officials could make arrangements in time for Kruttschewski to come to San Antonio and testify Thursday.

Jimmy Chagra testified in his drug trial this summer that Blake was a "very good friend." Chagra had also told federal officials that Peter Blake owned the plane another man testified was used to go to Mexico and set up a marijuana smuggling operation.

Stafford trial in final stages

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The jury in Roger Dale Stafford's mass murder trial was to hear instructions from the judge in the case and closing arguments by attorneys today before beginning deliberations.

Stafford, 27, is charged with six counts of first-degree murder in the July 16, 1978 shooting deaths of four teen-agers and two men at a Siroloin Stockade restaurant here. The steakhouse workers were killed during a $1,300 robbery.

District Attorney Andrew Coats and defense attorney J. Malone Brewer were prepared to give closing arguments in the case.

If jurors find Stafford guilty of the steakhouse murders, Coats said he will ask them to sentence the father of three to death by injection of a lethal dose of barbiturate.

A separate penalty hearing would be held in the event of a guilty verdict. Prosecutors would have to show jurors that one of seven aggravating circumstances was present when the steakhouse murders occurred to get a death verdict.

Stafford's wife, Verna, 26, was the star prosecution witness at the trial of her husband of seven years.

She testified she watched in horror as Stafford and his late brother, Harold, gunned down the steakhouse workers in the restaurant's meat locker.

Mrs. Stafford said the bloodbath began when her husband became enraged by threats of assistant manager Louis Zacarias, 43, to see the Staffords punished for robbing his establishment.

Other prosecution witnesses also linked Stafford to the steakhouse murders, but no one else claimed to have actually seen Stafford commit the crime.

Stafford told jurors he was "as drunk as I could be on the hood of a Chevrolet in front of my house" in Tulsa at the time of the steakhouse murders, after he "got to partying with these three black gentlemen."

"Its strange that they cannot be found" to testify for the defense, he added.

"I didn't do this horrible, vicious crime," Stafford testified. "I've never hurt anyone."

Stafford said witnesses testifying against him are "lying or mistaken."

In addition to Zacarias, the steakhouse murders claimed the lives of: Terri M. Horst, 16; David Lindsey, 17; Anthony Tew, 17; David Salsman, 15; and Isaac Freeman, 56.

Two Oklahoma County Jail inmates — one a prosecution rebuttal witness and the other a defense rebuttal witness — both linked Stafford to the steakhouse murders Tuesday.

police report

Armando R. Chapa, 24, of 413 Hughes, was arrested and charged with public intoxication, disorderly conduct and possession of a controlled substance by Pampa police. He was placed in city jail.

The windows of a welding shop located at 130 Osage were reported broken by the owner, Joe Key. The windows on the south side of the building were apparently broken by rocks thrown at them.

A bicycle was reported stolen from the yard of Bill Gregory, 1000 Jordan.

Richard Stowers of 2613 Comanche Street reported an unknown person broke the windshield of his 1980 Chevrolet Scottsdale which was parked on the lot of Culberson - Stowers Chevrolet, 805 N. Hobart. According to the police report, the damage appeared to have been done by a hammer.

minor accidents

A collision occurred in the 200 block of West Craven when a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Irene Estrada, 19, of 1046 S. Hobart and Catherine Jordan, 36, of 637 S. Barnes driving a 1975 Pontiac backed into each other from private driveways. Irene Estrada was cited for not having a driver's license.

Demonstrators dispersed in El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) - Troops and police cracked down on demonstrators protesting El Salvador's new military government despite the colonels' promise to free political prisoners, redistribute the wealth and give Central America's smallest and most densely populated country moderate democracy.

Demonstrators threw up barricades, seized suburban government buildings and police stations, daubed slogans on university walls and rallied in parks and town squares.

An unconfirmed report said four persons were killed when troops routed a crowd in a San Salvador suburb with machine-gun fire. Police fired into the air to break up a demonstration in downtown San Salvador, but no casualties were reported.

Troops also evicted strikers from four factories in a San Salvador industrial park, ending a two-month-old sit-in for wage increases. The strikers set three of the factories afire, but the fires were put out, and the troops forced the strikers to hand over hostages they were holding.

Col. Adolfo Arnoldo Majano and Jaime Abdul Gutierrez, the leaders of the military coup that ousted President Carlos Humberto Romero on Monday, suspended constitutional guarantees for 30 days and imposed a 10 p.m.-to-5 a.m. curfew and martial law. Their decree banned public gatherings of more than three persons and spoken or written criticism of the new government.

Armed soldiers were stationed at the capital's major intersections and government buildings. Patrols of soldiers armed with 50 caliber machine guns traveled through the streets. Radio stations played martial music between the junta's announcements.

The colonels also began to clean out the remnants of the old regime. They dissolved the legislature, which was dominated by Romero and his military and civilian allies, said they fired all generals in the government.

They promised to end corruption and redistribute the nation's wealth, announced a general amnesty for all political prisoners, estimated at more than 550, guaranteed freedom of action for political parties and said they would seek an end to differences with neighboring Honduras, a decade-old problem.

The government is moderate left and seeks a return to democratic order, Majano told reporters. He said he and Gutierrez met with leading political foes of the previous military regime and an engineer, Ramon Mayorga Quiroz, had agreed to join the junta.

Two more civilians were being sought to complete the junta.

Reliable sources said the new government has no visible ties to the small, wealthy oligarchy that for 47 years has controlled El Salvador through a series of military governments. Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero, a constant critic of the old regime, issued a statement backing the junta, and the U.S. government said: "So far, the direction the new authorities have said they will follow is encouraging in the sense of seeking a resolution of the political and social tensions that have disturbed that country."

Pampa to get $42,733 rebate

Pampa will receive a rebate check from the one-percent local option sales tax for October in the amount of $42,733.66 from the State Comptroller's office in Austin.

In a summary sent out by the state of the city sales and use tax allocation, Pampa's total for the past 10 months was shown to be $735,442.13, an increase of 12 percent over last year's total at this date of $655,733.96.

Chick Chittendon, city secretary, said in order to have an accurate view of the increase, the current inflation rate should be accounted for in the percentage.

Using a rate for current inflation of 13 percent as provided by Schneider Bernet Hickman, Inc. of Amarillo, the 12 percent increase reflects a loss of one percent from last year's income from the local option sales tax.

Area communities will also receive checks from the state comptroller. The rebate check for McLean in the amount of $1,056.93 showed an increase of one percent over last year's amount of $643.16. Canadian's payment will be $5,828.93 with the total payment to date being $122,928.30, a 20 percent increase from 12 months ago. Borger will receive $24,859.29 for the October rebate. Their total payments for the year at $485,016.13 are up five percent from last year.

SPECIAL COUNSEL Paul J. Curran pushes back his hair while meeting with reporters Tuesday in Washington. He said the Justice Department has established that "there is no evidence to show that Jimmy Carter committed any crimes," and that no prosecution is planned in connection with the financing of the president's family peanut business. ## TEXAS

By The Associated Press

A cool front inching southward from the Panhandle crept into Wichita Falls early today, bringing northerly winds of 10 to 20 miles per hour.

South of the front, winds were southeasterly 5 to 10 miles per hour. The front brought some thick patches of fog to the Lone Star State, but did not trigger rain.

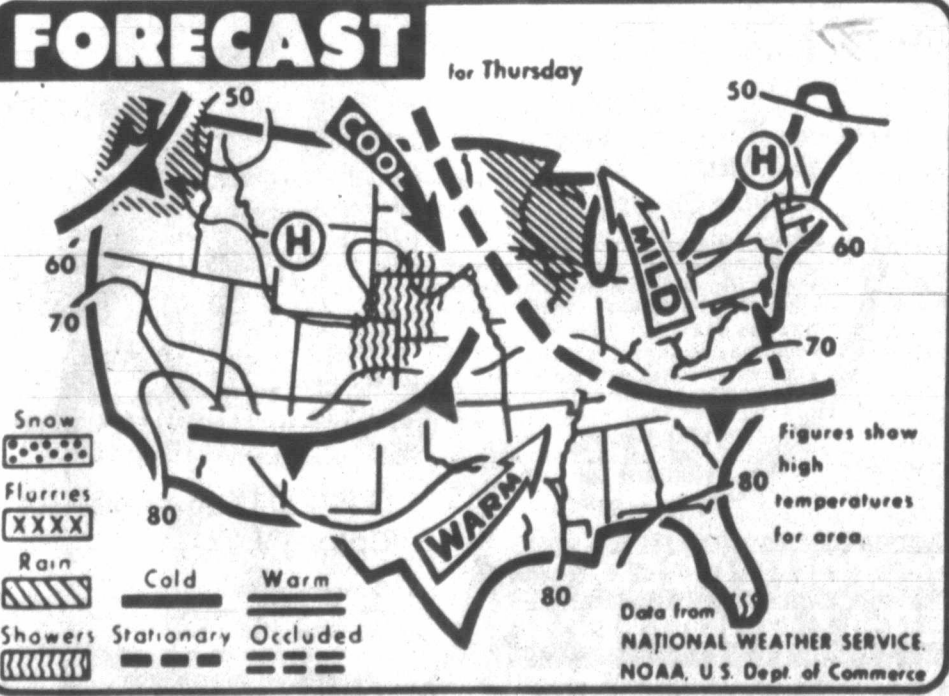

Patchy low clouds developed after midnight over South and Central portions of Texas and dense fog lowered visibilities to less than one mile in some sections of East Texas and the Coastal Plains.

Predawn temperatures were mostly in the 50s and 60s in the west and the upper 60s and low 70s in the central and east. The extremes at 4 a.m. were 44 at Marfa to 76 at San Antonio.

Forecasters call for partly cloudy skies in the west today. In the central and eastern portions of the state, fog should give way to partly cloudy skies by afternoon.

FORECAST

North Texas - Partly cloudy today and tonight. Considerable cloudiness north and partly cloudy remainder of area Thursday. Chance of showers and thunderstorms central and east. A little cooler Thursday. High temperatures today 79 to 87. Lows tonight 54 to 64. Highs Thursday 75 to 85.

RAIN WAS PREDICTED for Thursday over much of Minnesota, Michigan and adjacent states. Showers were expected in southern Florida and over sections of Nebraska, Colorado and adjoining areas. (AP Laserphoto Map)

DEAR ABBY

Curtain calls for courtesy

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The other evening I saw an outstanding ballet company perform. At the end, the audience responded with enthusiastic applause, but as the dancers took their first curtain call a large percentage of the audience rushed out of the theater, no doubt hurrying to get to their cars first.

These people were not only being rude to the performers but to others in the audience by obstructing their view of the stage.

As an actress, I have felt anger and resentment after having given my all in a performance only to be deprived of my few moments of glory because some people didn't want to stick around for an extra five minutes.

The curtain call is important to performers. It's the only opportunity we have to step out of our roles and express our gratitude to an audience that rewards us with their applause.

Please print this, Abby, to remind audiences that performers need those few precious moments of appreciation. Withhold my name and sign me...

ACTRESS

DEAR ACTRESS: Name withheld (but I'm saving your letter). Take another bow for a beautiful letter on behalf of all performers.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has this long-time girlfriend I'll call Muriel. She's my wife's age (30), divorced, fairly attractive, but doesn't have a steady man. Muriel fancies herself to be some kind of femme fatale and has given me the come-on several times, but I've never given her any encouragement. A couple of months ago, after I had taken my wife and Muriel to a disco, my wife told me that Muriel told her that I had made a pass at her! That was a total lie, and I told my wife it was.

Last weekend we were at a party and Muriel was there. I was very cool to her, and hardly spoke, but the next evening, my wife told me Muriel had called her at work and said that I had propositioned her!

Abby, I don't know what Muriel's game is, but I am fed up with her. I have never fooled around, but if I decided to start, it wouldn't be with Muriel. I have the feeling my wife isn't convinced that I am totally innocent. How should I handle this?

NOT GUILTY

DEAR NOT: Ask your wife to invite Muriel over. In the presence of both you and your wife confront her about her accusations. If your wife is really a good friend, she will encourage Muriel to get professional help. The poor girl could be less malicious than disturbed.

DEAR ABBY: Bravo to your response to the 82-year-old man who wants to marry a woman 20 years his junior! May I add:

I am 34, beautiful, well-educated and popular. I've had wealthy, young professional men beg me to marry them, offer me trips to Europe. One wanted to buy me a $17,000 Cadillac! I turned them all down because I am deeply in love with a 70-year-old man who has never given a material gift to me in the two years we've been caring for each other. What he has given me is an incomparable inner joy I've never felt with anyone else. He's so alive, warm and loving, I thank the Lord for this wonderful man daily.

I have proposed to him, but he had cold feet. I know he loves me, but he's afraid he's "too old" for me. (He has never married.)

We are both workaholics, so we don't get to see each other more than a few hours every week.

I love him, I want him, and I'd marry him tomorrow. So, to all those men up in age and reluctant to marry a younger woman, I say, "I'd rather be an old man's darling than a young man's slave."

D. IN NEW ORLEANS

Former PHS teacher publishes poems

PAT SARGENT

"Only rarely do another's words reach out from the page and demand to become part of the reader. The probing, simply stated, sensitive works of Pat Sargent have this quality."

So reads a book review from The Kingwood Observer about "October Butterfly" — a volume of poetry written by former Pampa schoolteacher Pat Sargent.

The author and her husband, Bill, now live in Humble, where she teaches English at Humble High School and he is a petroleum consultant with Ryder Scott Company in Houston.

Formerly with Cabot Corporation, Bill Sargent and his family lived in Pampa from 1957 through 1975. The couple's two sons, Bill and Jim, graduated from Pampa High School in 1973 and 1975.

Her poetry is not a biography, she said in the article, but it does follow a life pattern. She admitted that much of her work is a result of her own experiences and observations of her own family members.

SOLITAIRE

My silent son,
I see you standing
Alone.
Feeling
But not speaking.
And I, who can never share your loneliness, love you.
And I know the world will hurt you.

But I can give you nothing but my love.
You will always face the world
Alone.

Born and reared in Fort Worth, she stretched her higher education over 16 years, five universities and two sons before receiving a bachelor of science degree in 1967 from West Texas State University.

An avid gardener and artist, Mrs. Sargent has been teaching since that year, first in Pampa High School and since their move, in Humble.

OCCUPATION

I teach.
Words are my business.
I fling them against the firmament
And watch them fall as shooting stars.
Someday one may stick
And shed its soft light forever.

Writing poetry is a relatively new part of her life, according to the Observer article. About 12 years ago, Mrs. Sargent felt an unquenchable need to put words on paper in her own unique way.

"The ideas just come," she said. "They say, 'Hey, I'm a poem — put me down.' It is not a deliberate process. It is a spontaneous, creative thing."

FOR YOU

I say my poem this way
Because I say it.

When you say it, make it yours.
Say it as you wish it might have been for you.

The ability to write poetry should be seen as a special personal gift, said Mrs. Sargent, who has an easy-to-live-with philosophy about the occasional "dry spells" in her creativity.

GOD

He has torn my spirit
To shreds.
He has given me
Fresh paper
And commanded:
"Write."

Now I know
What the caterpillar feels.

TWEEN 12 AND 20

Give junkie walking papers

By ROBERT WALLACE, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 15 and overweight, so young attractive boys don't look at me, but older guys (over 23) do. At this time (mom doesn't know) I'm seeing a 23-year-old guy and we are very close. We both have the same interests. We both like to dance, sing and get high.

When we're together we usually drink a few beers and smoke a couple of joints. He usually "shoots up" but I don't mess with that.

I've dated younger guys, but they all leave me. This is the first guy who hasn't. I like boys, so do you blame me for seeing this guy? — Nameless, San Mateo, Calif.

Nameless: You are a well-traveled 15-year-old who wants to blame her problems on being overweight. The fact that you wrote tells me that you know you are heading in the wrong direction. But all is not lost. Get yourself together, and the first thing to do is give your junkie boyfriend his "walking papers."

Get on a diet that you can live with and start living instead of existing. Needless to say, stay away from the pot and beer.

Dr. Wallace: I am a 16-year-old girl and I have three older brothers and one younger than I. My problem is that my brothers (all four) can stay out as long as they want but I must be in the house as soon as it is dark.

I am not allowed to date and I cannot go to a movie unless my parents are with me.

Also, I'm not allowed to spend the night with my girlfriends and I'm starting to lose all my friends.

Do you think I'm asking too much for a little freedom? — M.M., Youngstown, Ohio

M.M.: I surely think you do deserve a little more freedom. Being the only girl in the family, your parents are "taking no chances" and are being over-protective.

I can say it's better this way than having parents who just don't care.

Dr. Wallace: I want to thank you for printing my letter. I'm the girl who asked you how to get my dad to give me a puppy.

Well, the day my letter was in the paper my dad was in a restaurant reading the paper because he had a little extra time before work.

He saw your column and for the very first time started to read it. He came to my letter and was thinking "that sounds like someone I know."

He then realized that I wrote the letter and because of your answer, I got my puppy. — Carrie, Valparaiso, Ind.

Carrie: I remember your letter and I'm so glad you got your puppy. Now I'm sure you are following my advice by taking total responsibility for caring for the pooch.

Anniversary brunch will honor Meals on Wheels supporters

All volunteers and financial supporters of Meals on Wheels are invited to the program's first anniversary brunch Saturday from 10 to 11:30 a.m. in the hospitality room of Citizens Bank & Trust.

More than 200 volunteers have delivered meals during the year — long existence of Meals on Wheels in Pampa, says Shirley Kucifer, coordinator. Several civic groups are also represented in the list of volunteer drivers.

The brunch, which will be hosted by the bank, will be for all who have participated in the Meals on Wheels programs, either by delivering meals or supporting the effort financially, says Mrs. Kucifer, who stresses that if a person is not delivering meals now, but has done so in the past, the volunteer is still invited.

The first meals in Pampa — about 50 of them — were delivered Oct. 9, 1978, says Mrs. Kucifer. About 45 hot meals are delivered daily, with the number depending on factors such as visiting relatives or holidays.

The first deliveries were handled by a group of about 25 volunteers, she adds.

Homebound and handicapped persons and persons age 55 or older are eligible to receive the daily hot meal, explains Mrs. Kucifer, who last year organized the effort to establish Meals on Wheels in Pampa.

She has invited Lorene McCrary, executive director of Meals on Wheels of Amarillo, to attend the brunch, says Mrs. Kucifer, who credits Mrs. McCrary with helpful advice during the effort to establish the program in Pampa.

Amarillo artist's paintings in Square House Museum display

Watercolors by Stefan Kramar of Amarillo are on display through Nov. 15 at the Carson County Square House Museum in Panhandle.

The general public is invited to view the exhibition of Kramar, who has attained international recognition and acclaim for his restrained yet powerful style.

A graduate of the Wisconsin Academy of Art, Kramar is a familiar figure on working ranches of the fading "Old West" and the Panhandle. Striving for authenticity, he works to communicate the beauty and spirit he sees in his surroundings.

The artist has won more than 50 regional and national awards with his outstanding watercolor and has become a well-known teacher through his Watercolor Workshops and Seminars, conducted under the sponsorship of Grumbacher.

His home and his studio are in Amarillo, where he has lived for 32 years.

Convention begins for Texas Plant Food Institute

Today marks the beginning of the annual convention and exposition of the Texas Plant Food Institute, with members meeting in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

This year's theme is "The Profit Picture". More than 500 delegates are expected to attend to learn about scientific advances and more efficient crop production methods.

"In 'The Profit Picture' we hope our members will get a clearer perspective on the future and will be able to more accurately focus on the up-coming changes," said W.R. Hester, 1979 TPF president.

Featured speakers include Ed Wheeler, president of the Fertilizer Institute in Washington, D.C.; Richard Farst, president of the National Fertilizer Solutions Association, of Marion, Ohio; Dr. John Douglas, assistant to the manager of the National Development Center, Tennessee Valley Authority, of Muscle Shoals, Ala.; and Jerry Stoller, president of a Houston chemical company.

All TPF activities will be in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center and will be part of the second Southwest Exposition, displaying the latest in agricultural industry products and equipment. The only one of its type in the Southwest, the exposition is sponsored by dealers from Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

DR. LAMB

Senility gets undue blame

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My wife, age 70, suffered an acute heart attack a year ago. Several months before she had begun to lose her immediate memory. She forgets almost immediately what she has done, started to do or was told. She remembers well things that happened years ago. When she talks with others, she appears to be completely normal but usually she doesn't remember the incident at all.

She was a cigarette smoker but she stopped after her heart attack. While she was hospitalized with the heart attack she became very confused and disoriented, not recognizing her surroundings or the fact that she was ill.

Recently I was told by a nurse that an artery leading to her brain could be opened surgically and an increased blood flow might correct or improve her memory problem. Is this possible? If so, where would I find the proper specialist to inquire further?

DEAR READER — Your wife's problem may be related to increased fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries. The disease that causes heart attacks is really in the arteries and not the heart muscle itself. That same disease of the arteries can affect arteries throughout the body, including those to the brain. For that reason the same disease can cause either a heart attack or a stroke.

About 20 percent of the people who have problems with memory, learning problems and other manifestations of poor function of the brain, which are sometimes called senility, really have an underlying disease. And in about one out of four of this group the underlying disease is fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries.

It is true that in some cases the circulation to the brain can be improved by routing the blood around obstructed arteries. Sometimes these are obstructed arteries in the neck. More recent studies have attempted to reroute arterial blood through operations involving the head itself.

Not everyone with such arterial changes can benefit from surgery. Simply put, if there's a lot of disease in all the arteries, it's difficult to find any way to improve the blood flow through any mechanism that's available.

Nevertheless, there are people who can benefit. I think all older people who have such symptoms deserve a good medical examination. A good place to start is with the neurologist. He or she will be able to look not only for problems of circulation to the brain that might be cured but for other medical disorders that affect the brain and might benefit from medical treatment.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 14-2, The Aging Mind. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As the issue of The Health Letter I'm sending you explains, there are a lot of things you can do to minimize the changes with aging in some people and there are probably some things that can be done to prevent such changes.

Many of these changes could be prevented with diet, exercise, efforts to keep the blood pressure low, keeping the cholesterol level low and avoiding cigarette smoking.

Travel guidance offered at meeting

Mrs. Georgia Mack urged Varietas Study Club members to study the laws, customs and language of a foreign country before traveling in it.

She spoke to fifteen club members Tuesday during a meeting at the home of Mrs. Otis Nace.

Mrs. Mack's program, entitled "A Better World through Travel", was about her 1977 trip to Iran, where she had a chance to observe the educational system and sponsor the American High School senior class in Teheran.

She brought with her pictures, brass vases, enamelled copperware, glassware and gold-threaded material to illustrate her lecture and also discussed Iran's treasures.

The meeting, which marked the beginning of the 52nd year of the Varietas Study Club, was conducted by Mrs. J.E. Gunn, president. Plans were made for the annual Guest Day Tea, planned for Oct. 23 at Lovett Memorial Library.

Members also discussed attendance at district workshops and the preparation of gift boxes for Girlstown.

Savitch may be answer to NBC's "Nightly News"

NEW YORK (AP) — One name you're likely to hear in any discussion on the future of NBC's "Nightly News" is that of Jessica Savitch.

"I try very hard not to think about it," says Ms. Savitch, a most likely prospect to become the first woman since Barbara Walters to anchor a network's evening news program on a regular basis. "The only time I do is when I'm asked, and I'm asked a great deal."

"I would probably welcome the challenge and the opportunity to do 'Nightly News,' and I have to say I'm flattered when I hear my name mentioned that way."

"But I'm only 31 years old, and there are a lot of things I'd like to do and learn."

Barbara Walters spent 12 years with NBC News before she was hired by ABC in the fall of 1976 to co-anchor that network's evening news with Harry Reasoner. Ms. Savitch has, however, covered a good deal of ground since joining NBC News in Washington barely two years ago.

She currently is principal reporter and anchor for weekend editions of "Nightly News," as well as "NBC News Update" reports on weekends, has substituted for Tom Brokaw and Jane Pauley on NBC's "Today" program, and recently sat in for Tom Snyder as host of the network's "Tomorrow" interview show.

A week or so ago, Ms. Savitch was assigned to NBC's struggling "Prime Time Sunday," joining Chris Wallace and Jack Perkins as a principal reporter for the weekly newsmagazine. She'll continue to anchor "Nightly News" on weekends.

"What few people realize," she says, explaining her rather rapid ascent in the business, "is that I've worked half my life to be this overnight success."

"That doesn't mean I don't stop now and then and look around and say, 'Wow, it really is terrific.' To be blasé about it is not understand the situation."

Miss Savitch, a native of Kennett Square, Pa., began her career in broadcasting while in high school, and worked at radio station WBBF in Rochester, N.Y., while attending Ithaca College.

She worked at WCBS Newsradio in New York City in 1969, and spent two years, 1970-72, as a reporter and anchor for KHOU-TV in Houston. She joined NBC News after four years at Philadelphia's KYW-TV.

Chances are, "Nightly News" will have a new look before too long. David Brinkley recently was removed as Washington anchor for the program to provide periodic commentary on politics, and John Chancellor has said he'd like a similar role as correspondent and commentator.

Brinkley has anchored or co-anchored "Nightly News" off and on since 1966, and Chancellor took over as the program's principal anchor in New York in 1971.

Bob Denver revisited

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Is there life after "Dobie Gillis" and "Gilligan's Island"? Indeed there is, says Bob Denver, though it may be something of a gypsy existence these days.

Denver, 44, earned a bit of fame in the 1950s and 1960s, first as Dobie Gillis' beatnik sidekick, Maynard G. Krebs, and later as the title character in "Gilligan's Island," the continuing saga of a group of people shipwrecked on a desert island.

Maynard G. Krebs would be proud of Denver's approach to his latest calling. Instead of running back and forth between home and stage, Denver, 44, and wife Dreama, 29, live on the road. Out of a suitcase.

"They've been married about two years, and have been traveling the dinner theater circuit since the wedding."

"Our marriage is getting better and better," says Denver, who is appearing through Oct. 28 at the Derby Dinner Playhouse in Clarksville, Ind., across the Ohio River from Louisville.

He and his wife are featured in a production of "The Star-Spangled Girl," a play by Neil Simon detailing what happens when an all-American girl moves in next door to two fellows trying to publish a "protest" magazine.

"The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis," with Dwayne Hickman in the lead role, was broadcast 1959-62. "Gilligan's Island" featured Alan Hale Jr., Jim Backus and Tina Louise.

After several years on television, and a stint as Woody Allen's replacement in the Broadway production of "Play It Again, Sam," Denver says he "discovered dinner theater in '71."

It was love at first sight, he says. Not only was it steady and satisfying work, but it rescued him from the eye-burning smog of Los Angeles, his home for 20 years.

Although plans don't include anything as settled as buying a house, the Denvers do plan to establish some roots in Tacoma, Wash., in November.

"I'm going to open a Bob Denver Dinner Theater in Tacoma next month," he says. "I give them my name and let them have the responsibility. I'd like to take this show up there."

Agencies will go with centralized meat market

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although some stubborn resistance may develop against a nationwide computer system for the wholesale meat trade, two of the government's biggest meat-buying agencies say they would go along with the plan.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said Tuesday that the Agriculture and Defense departments endorse the idea. But it should be set up by private industry, free of direct government subsidies, new laws or new regulations, Bergland told the House Small Business Committee.

Advocates of the computerized system say it would make the wholesale meat business more competitive and eliminate opportunities for price manipulation by a handful of big meat packers and supermarkets.

The committee has been sharply critical of the current system by which supermarkets, large meatpackers and others use "average prices" from only a few sales by others as a basis for buying and selling beef.

The cotton and egg industries have a computerized system now, with producers offering goods for sale and buyers bidding on them through the network. Bergland said the programs operate like the computerized market in over-the-counter common stocks.

Bergland put the beef industry on notice this summer that it had a year to change its practices or he would consider legislation to require a different approach. His warning stemmed from findings of a task force on meat pricing he appointed a year ago under pressure from the committee.

"We're waiting for someone in private industry to begin a system. ... As soon as they do, we're in" as a large-volume buyer for school lunches and other feeding programs, Bergland said.

Defense Secretary Harold Brown wrote him this week that the Pentagon also will participate. The two agencies alone would make such a system "commercially sound very quickly," he said. However, "imposing mandatory price reporting ... is premature today and hopefully can be avoided through voluntary cooperation," Bergland said.

Committee members were skeptical, saying only outsiders are dissatisfied with present arrangements. "The big guys aren't going to mess around with it," commented Rep. Dan Marriott, R-Utah. "They already get the prices they want."

"Nobody likes competition," added Rep. Berkeley Bedell, D-Iowa.

"If we run up against a stone wall, we're prepared to come back with legislation," replied Bergland. He said he hoped for "tangible movement by spring," after a February seminar on electronic marketing he's sponsoring for the industry.

Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, the committee chairman, has been conducting hearings and investigations on meat pricing for two years. He said he was encouraged by Bergland's endorsement of electronic marketing, "but I'm still impatient."

He and Bergland said about 70 percent of today's meat is sold by "formula pricing." Critics say the system is based on a "thin" market that reflects only a small portion of the actual transactions in the U.S. market.

In formula pricing, a buyer will agree, for example, on a Monday to buy a carload for Wednesday's quoted price in one of the trade pricing publications, usually the Chicago-based Yellow Sheet.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Short harvests in the Soviet Union and some other countries will mean a decline in world grain reserves by mid-1980 to 164.5 million metric tons, says the Agriculture Department.

TEXAS

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The executive director of the Texas Civil Liberties complained Tuesday that rules proposed by the Governor's Criminal Justice Division could unfairly brand innocent persons who are arrested.

The proposed rules concerning release of criminal records were published Tuesday in the Texas Register.

John Duncan of TCLU said the proposed rules could allow credit bureaus and other large employment security firms to purchase or obtain daily records of arrests across the state.

"What a convenient way to run a police state," Duncan said in a letter to James Adams, executive director of the Governor's Criminal Justice Division.

The proposed rules allow release of information about arrests not prosecuted within one year, according to the Register.

"Has it not occurred to you that by using the DPS and other agencies as preemployment screening agencies of all employment applicants, in effect, criminal justice record keepers have the ability to blackball anyone who has been arrested," Duncan said.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Good Roads Transportation Association has adopted an energy policy calling for decontrol of domestic oil prices and opposing the "windfall profits tax."

"Unless knowledgeable and concerned citizens act now, the (energy) situation will continue to deteriorate and the survival of the nation will be in doubt," the association said.

Its energy policy also recommended creation of an Energy Mobilization Board to expedite production and the reduction of environmental safeguards that have held up the mining of coal and lignite.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — School boards may renegotiate a teacher's salary during the school year to raise the teacher's pay for the remainder of that year, Attorney General Mark White said Tuesday.

However, White said, a mid-year increase may be granted only if the teacher has assumed extra duties.

White's opinion was requested by former State Education Commissioner M.L. Brockette in connection with teacher pay in the Fort Worth Independent School District.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Janey Briscoe, wife of former Gov. Dolph Briscoe, has been appointed to a six-year term on the Texas Merit System Council.

The council establishes policies for selecting employees for 13 state agencies. It also hears appeals from employees who have been dismissed or demoted.

Council members receive no pay.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements announced the appointment Tuesday of Jacques Kiere of Dallas to the Crime and Narcotics Advisory Commission.

Kiere, 46, replaces Glen English of Houston, whose term expired.

Other gubernatorial appointments included:

Southern Regional Education Board — George Kozmetsky, dean of the Graduate School of Business at the University of Texas at Austin. Commission on Uniform State Laws — Millard Ruud, Austin. Rio Grande Valley Pollution Control Authority Board of Directors

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission reported Tuesday major purchasers of Texas crude oil have told the commission they want to buy 2,684,610 barrels of oil a day next month.

This is a decrease of 13,883 barrels daily from October, the commission said.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — General Manager William Sky-Eagle of the Corpus Christi Area Oil Spill Control Association estimated Tuesday that as much as a ton of oil could be recovered from 20 to 30 tons of oil-soaked beach sands.

A ton of oil is the equivalent of about seven barrels of oil.

Sky-Eagle testified at a Texas Railroad Commission hearing on the association's application for a permit to dispose of oil taken from Gulf Coast beaches.

He said the association has a refinery customer for any oil that might be recovered.

No action was taken on the permit request.

DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge has taken his court to Illinois to hear the expert testimony of a pregnant witness in a job discrimination suit filed against the biggest bank in Dallas.

A group of former employees have filed suit against Republic National Bank, contending the bank denied equal job opportunities to women and blacks.

U.S. District Judge Patrick E. Higginbotham ordered the trial moved to Champaign, Ill., for today's session because a witness for the plaintiffs, Dr. Francine Blau of the University of Illinois, was unable to travel to Texas.

Mrs. Blau, who is expecting a baby Oct. 31, is a statistics expert who teaches in the economic department.

A spokesman for Higginbotham said the trial would return to Dallas Thursday.

Testimony in the non-jury case began Monday and so far has dealt mainly with highly technical computer methods used in gathering statistics.

The bank said it has hired blacks and women in proportion to the number who are qualified to work in the banking industry. Its lawyers say when confronted with equally qualified people the bank treated them equally without regard to race or sex.

But the judge issued a preliminary report last year saying the plaintiffs in the case have some strong arguments.

"There is bitter irony ... that after over 12 years under Title VII only three blacks have managed to meet the 'standards' for filling one of the 514 officer positions of the largest bank in the South," Higginbotham's 1978 ruling said.

GECU wins suit

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Government Employees Credit Union here can continue to allow credit union members to write check-like share drafts on interest-bearing accounts, according to a state judge's ruling on a 1978 suit by local banks challenging the practice.

State District Judge Eugene Williams made his decision Monday. The banks had sought an injunction prohibiting the practice, claiming the share draft policy put the state-chartered credit union in "the banking business."

GECU attorneys hailed the decision as another step for consumers, but Seagal Wheatley, attorney for the banks, said he would recommend an appeal. "I think the GECU is in the banking business," he said.

San Antonio's Central Park Bank and University National Bank and 1,370 Texas Bankers Association members had contended in the suit that the share drafts were the same as checks.

The GECU was, in effect, practicing the banking business in violation of its charter by issuing the drafts, the banks' suit alleged.

Because GECU was conducting banking business, the suit continued, it was violating Texas laws against branch banking by having nine branches. The GECU share draft accounts earn 5.5 percent interest.

"There is no question they are the functional equivalent of a checking account without the express legislative authority," Wheatley said.

GECU attorneys contended, however, that there is no state law prohibiting the practice.

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

October 18, 1979

Many interesting changes are in store for you this coming year. Through these happenings you'll gain a more optimistic outlook. As your optimism grows, so will your success.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If a situation you are involved in with another has not been running too smoothly lately, it's time to assume a more active role so that you can get things back on course. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Much can be learned today by playing the observer's role on the sidelines. Stand back a little to gain a clearer perspective.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try not to let your ambitions become more important today than winning and holding friends. Pals are more worthwhile than power.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You have the ability to come out on top in a sticky competitive situation today without making others angry. You're tough but fair.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You should be able to get an accurate grasp of situations today because of your ability to see both sides of the issues. Act in accordance with your sound judgment.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) Your rewards will be greater today from things you manage for others than from those you do only for yourself. Consider your needs secondary.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Balance your time wisely today, with work and play proportionately equal. An imbalance could cause frustrations.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Much can be accomplished today if you let cooperation be paramount in your thoughts. By helping others, you'll help yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something will work out to your liking today if your attitude is positive and optimistic. To be a winner, first see yourself as one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your wit and charm are your greatest assets today. You'll find ways to use them to your fullest advantage. It will work because you'll be sincere.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be alert today and tomorrow for possibilities to add to your resources or enhance your security. Interesting developments could occur.

Canadian-winning the squeakers

by L.D. Strate
Pampa News
 Last season the Canadian Wildcats had to struggle to break even at 5-5.
 This season the Wildcats are also struggling, but the main difference is they're winning.
 At the halfway mark Canadian is unbeaten at 4-0, coming out of its last outing with a 14-14 tie against Shamrock.
 "Our games haven't been easy by any means," coach Charles Russell said. "All of them have been pretty close."
 Russell has nervously watched his Wildcats edge out wins over Phillips, 6-0; Panhandle, 6-0; and Gruver, 20-15. The only "rout" was a 24-7 win over Stinnett.
 Russell, a second-year coach at Canadian, credits the turnaround to three things—attitude, consistency, and a healthy squad—with the first item mentioned playing the most important part.
 "The attitude of the kids has been great," Russell said. "They feel like they can go out there and win every time."
 There's been no superstars on the Canadian squad with guys like center Dean Smith, defensive end-offensive tackle Doug Wheeler, tight end-linebacker Donnie Ricks, quarterback Barry Shafer, fullbacks Pete Cooper and Ray Lee Price, tailback Barry Cooper, receivers Harry Young and Steve Carpenter sharing the load.
 "I can't single out one player as doing more than anybody else," Russell pointed out. "There's been a lot of consistency. We've been fortunate in that we haven't had any bad injuries also."
 The Wildcats are about average as far as size goes, but overall team strength and quickness has made up for it.
 "Our backs aren't big. Our line probably averages about 170 pounds, but we've got guys like Smith (Dean), who weighs only 140 pounds, but he's strong and quick."
 After an open date last week, the Wildcats are preparing for the District I-AA opener with Boys Ranch Friday night.
 An 18-15 loss to eventual champion Spearman catapulted Canadian out of the district race and into third place in the final standings last season.
 "We would have won district if we had pulled that one out," Russell said.
 It appears this season that the Wildcats have those squeakers going their way.

King leads Pampa to win over Tascosa

Sharon King uncorked 28 spikes and had six blocks to lead the Harvesters to a 15-12, 12-15, 15-6 District 3-AAAA win Tuesday night against the Tascosa Rebels.
 Monday night against Palo Duro, King had seven spikes, but with two minutes gone in the first set, she had surpassed that mark. Her heroics were not limited to the forecourt, as she served points seven through nine for Pampa, three not returned and one ace.
 Trailing 13-4 at 2:30, the Rebels began an eight-point scoring series through the combined efforts of Jayme Wilson, Polly Johnson, and Karen Shepard.
 With less than a minute to play and Tina Robbins serving, Dorinda Gray scored on a block and Jeanette Britt on a spike to end the first set at 15-12.
 In the second set, both teams played to an 8-8 tie before the Rebels Amy Johnson scored four. It was Harvester Mamie Laycock's four scoring spikes that held Tascosa at bay long enough for Pampa to go on top, 12-11, but Melonie Forbes for the Rebels served four points to even the game at two sets apiece.
 "I wish we had won it in two sets," said Pampa coach Lynn Wolfe.
 "I just hate playing it in three."
 The Rebels started the third set rolling—literally rolling on the floor—but their enthusiasm was quieted some when a Rebel spike hit a brick wall off King's hands on the first volley.
 Pampa had run the score up to 8-2 before the visitors made much of a scoring threat, with three straight. All night long, Rebel spikes had bordered on the point of being pushes, and when they were finally called for the questionable technique, the Tascosa coach was livid, awarded a technical, and Pampa got its tenth point.
 With the score at 12-6, Mary Skoog served the last Pampa points, all those terminating with King's most vicious spikes.
 "Tascosa has got a better team than I thought they'd have," Wolfe commented. "They're better than Palo Duro. I really dreaded having to play them over in Amarillo."
 Laycock followed King's 28 spikes with 10 of her own, and Robbins chalked up nine.
 Pampa ups its district record to 3-0, and is 18-1 on the year.
 The junior varsity fell prey to the Rebels, 10-8, 13-5, 10-15, dropping its record to 2-0, 1-2 in loop action and 11-2 overall.

Cowboys face Anderson again

DALLAS (AP) — The last time the Dallas Cowboys saw O.J. Anderson the rookie ran through their flex defense for 193 yards. It took a cue shot field goal that caromed off the left upright for Dallas to survive the St. Louis Cardinals 22-21.
 The Cowboys struggled six weeks to overcome the remarkable performance to make it to the top of the National Conference against the rush.
 Young Mr. Anderson comes calling again Sunday—this time in Texas Stadium where the Cowboys have won 19 out of their last 21 games.
 "O.J. is still running well," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "It's not going to be an easy day."
 Oddsmakers have installed the Cowboys 10-point favorites because the Cardinals will likely be without the services of quarterback Jim Hart and wide receiver Mel Gray, the latest victims of the injury plague that has hit Coach Bud Wilkinson's 2-5 team.
 The Hart-to-Gray combination has killed the Cowboys numerous times in the past.
 "I'll be REAL disappointed if Gray doesn't play," Landry said with tongue decidedly in cheek. "He's had some great games against us."
 Hart has a severely sprained right foot and Gray has an ankle injury. Left guard Bob Young has a bad hamstring. All the injuries were suffered in last Sunday's 24-20 loss to Philadelphia.
 The Cowboys have never been healthier.
 "I have a lot of sympathy for St. Louis because when you get your players hurt in this business it can be a pretty tough business," said Landry.
 Steve Pisarkiewicz, who came on in the first quarter against the Eagles, will start at quarterback for the Cardinals.
 "Pisarkiewicz played well but he just doesn't have a lot of experience," said Wilkinson.

Series weather

BALTIMORE (AP) — The weatherman is forecasting moderate temperatures when the Baltimore Orioles clash with the Pittsburgh Pirates in tonight's deciding game in the 1979 World Series.
 The National Weather Service at Baltimore-Washington International Airport said there will be mostly cloudy skies with a 30 percent chance of light showers during the game.

Bucs really are family

BALTIMORE (AP) — Willie Stargell, power-hitter and patriarch of the Pittsburgh Pirates, says "The Family" isn't a phony concept at all.
 "The thing about our ball club is everyone is into each other ... we do have a unique family," Stargell said Tuesday night after Pittsburgh earned a 4-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in Game 6 of the World Series.
 The Pirates bill themselves as "The Family." It's printed atop their dugout at home and it's a carryover from the club's chosen theme song, "We Are Family," by the disco group Sister Sledge.
 The team-togetherness notion was assaulted in a Baltimore newspaper column Tuesday. It was billed as "a cheap grandstand play," and it was suggested that "any team that tries to compare itself to a family is straining for attention."
 Stargell, the man who got "The Family" theme going, said in the noisy winners' locker room that he had not read the story. Stargell was told the gist of the article.
 "That was an expression of opinion, and opinions are like rear ends: everyone has one," Stargell responded. "They don't live with us. They don't know our feelings about each other. And we don't care about what other people say."
 Third baseman Bill Madlock said the Pirates had discussed the article casually before the game.
 "That's the way we feel. That's the main thing," said Madlock.
 "When we say family, we mean we win together as a team and we lose together as a team, not that we all sleep together and eat breakfast together. We're just together as a team, and a lot of ballclubs are not like that."
 With a crushing 8-4 loss Saturday in Pittsburgh, the Pirates fell behind 3-1 in games. But they've won two straight now and they'll meet Baltimore in Game 7 Wednesday night.
 "The Family" unity tightened the last two games?
 "It's never left us," said Stargell. "It's a constant thing that's been with us all year long."
 Dave Parker saw the article. And he didn't agree with the headline: "The Family is a Bad Joke."
 "I think people who say we don't like each other must be frustrated," Parker said. "Maybe they don't like themselves."
 Meanwhile Parker and the Pirates were pointing toward tonight's showdown.
 "I think people remember a series more when it goes to seven games," said Parker.

Dons placed on probation

MISSION, Kan. (AP) — The University of San Francisco's basketball program has been placed on one-year probation by the NCAA, keeping the Dons out of postseason play and off NCAA-controlled television games.
 The National Collegiate Athletic Association announced the action Tuesday. It is effective for the 1979-80 academic year.
 Probation was imposed because two members of the school's basketball coaching staff violated NCAA regulations during the period 1972-1976, the association said in a news release. Violations were "primarily related to benefits provided enrolled student-athletes and recruiting."
 "The committee believes its penalty in this case is meaningful and appropriate in light of the nature of the violations which occurred," said Charles Alan Wright, chairman of the Infractions Committee.
 Violations cited included cash gifts and loans by the head basketball coach to a student-athlete, free use of a university car provided by an assistant basketball coach for members of the basketball team, and a meal paid for by the head basketball coach for a prospective student-athlete.
 The release also said a student-athlete was given free lodging and meals on campus for a three-day period before the 1975-76 academic year and coaches provided free tickets for student-athletes to professional basketball games.
 The school did not appeal the probation, the NCAA said.

Pirates even series at 3-all

BAITIMORE (AP) — John Candelaria stood in the Pittsburgh Pirates' dressing room after practice Monday and held aloft a crumpled ticket for the seventh game of the World Series.

"After tomorrow night this will be worth a lot of money," shouted Candelaria, who usually hasn't too much to say.

Candelaria went out Tuesday night and put his arm where his mouth was and made that last-chance ticket worth the asking price. He combined with reliever Kent Tekulve for their fourth tandem shutout of the season.

The National League champion Pirates scored four late-inning runs and beat the American League champion Baltimore Orioles 4-0 to tie the Series at 3-3.

Pittsburgh now is within one game of becoming the fourth team in history to come back to win baseball's showpiece from a 3-1 deficit in a best-of-seven World Series.

Jim Bibby, the starter in Game 4 who was not involved in the Pittsburgh loss, has the assignment for tonight's seventh game. He'll be opposed by Baltimore's Scott McGregor, the winner of Game 3.

The 25-year-old Candelaria went six pain-wracked innings, gave up just six hits and no runs. Tekulve followed, allowing only one hit in three innings for his second save of the series.

"He (Candelaria) pitched through pain tonight (Tuesday)," said Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner.

Tanner explained that his star left-hander went out despite an aching side. Candelaria has been bothered with a rib cage injury for more than a month.

"He's a money pitcher, one of the best in the game," gushed Tanner, who has to be living with mixed emotions. He needs one victory to gain his first Series triumph.

And win or lose, when it's over, he has to go home to New Castle, Pa., and attend the funeral of his mother, Anne, 70, who died Sunday morning.

Tanner had a pitcher warming up from the first pitch.

"We were concerned about his side all the way," Tanner explained. "If there was any indication he wasn't throwing right, I was going to go out and get him. I know it hurt him."

Candelaria, who struck out two and walked none, admitted that if hurt when he pitched.

"It hurt then and it hurts now," said the pitcher after he emerged from the shower.

The Pirates' pitcher said that he worked without a pain shot. He also said there was nothing wrong with his shoulder.

"It's my side and back," he explained.

Why did he start to leave the field after warming up in the sixth?

"I saw Chuck coming out and thought he was coming to get me," Candelaria said.

The winning runs came in the seventh inning when, with one out, Omar Moreno singled. Moreno reached second on an infield hit by Tim Foli and scored on Dave Parker's single.

Foli, who reached third on Parker's hit, then raced home on Willie Stargell's sacrifice fly. That's all the Pirates needed to hang the loss on Baltimore's Jim Palmer, who went eight innings and gave up all four Pittsburgh runs.

The Pirates wrapped it up with two more in the eighth.

Ed Ott singled with one out and irreplaceable Phil Garner followed with a ground rule double, the ball bouncing over the left field fence, sending Ott to third.

Bill Robinson delivered one run with a sacrifice fly and Omar Moreno's third hit of the night scored another.

Tekulve, meanwhile, came on in the seventh and faced just 10 batters in the final three innings. Pinch-hitter Billy Smith singled with two out in the seventh for the only hit off the reliever.

Tekulve, who was banged around in the fourth game, fanned pinch-hitter John Lowenstein to end the seventh, one of the pitcher's four strikeouts.

EARL WEAVER, Baltimore Orioles pitcher, had this expression in the dressing room Tuesday night after his club was shut out by Pittsburgh, 4-0, in the sixth World Series game. The Bucs victory tied up the series at three games apiece. Final and deciding game is to be played tonight.

Public Service

A newspaper in Greensboro, North Carolina, investigates changes in a black community 25 years after school desegregation. In Peru, Indiana, a paper looks into the quality of local education. A Davenport, Iowa, paper examines whether local courts sentence all drunken drivers fairly. These stories are a few of the finalists in the 1979 public service competition of the AP Managing Editors Association. Each year, the association honors newspapers for special articles or series they publish about social problems. Many of these newspaper pieces have led to improvements in the products or problems they examined. The winners of the AP competition will be announced this week.
