By Iranian militants New proposals offered

By The Associated Press
 Iranian leaders today offered new proposals for ending the 10-day-old Tehran embassy impasse, stopping short of insisting on the shah's immediate extradition. But the Moslem militants holding 98 hostages at the U.S. Embassy rejected any compromise, Tehran Radio reported.

The officials said the hostages might be freed if the United States acknowledges that Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi is a criminal, allows an international investigation of the deposed monarch and hands over his U.S. property, it was reported from the Iranian capital.

The State Department said this appeared to represent a softening of the Iranian position.

But a Tehran Radio broadcast said later that spokesmen for the student militants rejected "any conciliatory proposal" regarding the shah.

The students said their movement was based on ideological principles and they cannot compromise, according to the broadcast, monitored in London.

Iranian Foreign Minister Abolhassan Bani Sadr today reiterated the key demand of the students — that the United States surrender the shah to Iran for trial, the Kuwait news agency reported from Tehran. He is currently hospitalized in New York for cancer treatment.

But Bani Sadr added, "The United States should at least acknowledge the shah is guilty," the report said.

Another member of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's Revolutionary Council, Sadeq Gotbzadeh, set out more detailed conditions. He said Iran was not retreating from its demand for the shah's extradition, but added that the Iranians were ready "to end the occupation of the U.S. Embassy before the extradition of the shah for humanitarian reasons and the interests of the hostages," the Kuwait news agency reported from Tehran.

"We will get the shah sooner or later," he was quoted as saying.

He said the hostages "may be freed if the United States acknowledges that the shah is guilty" and agrees to an international inquiry "to investigate his crimes," the Kuwait agency reported. The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported that Gotbzadeh said the United States must also agree to return all of the shah's U.S. property to the Iranian government.

Gotbzadeh, who is director Iranian radio and television, said he was speaking only in his own name and not for the Council. Bani Sadr has emerged as the leading spokesman for the Khomeini regime, however, and his statements were believed to represent the official position.

State Department spokesman Jack Tuohy said the report must first be confirmed as authoritative, and that if it is "the United States would show great interest in any change in the position...If true, this would appear to be a softening of their position...Any movement is welcome as long as it's upward."

The revolutionary regime responded Monday to President Carter's ban on U.S. imports of Iranian oil with the announcement that the Revolutionary Council already had decided to cut off exports to the United States.

Americans may face gas lines, increase in home heating oil bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans may pay more for home heating oil and face service station lines for higher-priced gasoline as a result of President Carter's decision to end Iranian oil imports, officials in and out of government say.

Prices will probably climb and gas station lines, reminiscent of the spring, could return, especially if Iran decides to reduce its crude oil production and lower the world's already tight oil supply, the experts said Monday.

They were not precise about prices and supply, however, because what happens in coming weeks depends on such diverse factors as the effectiveness of U.S. conservation efforts and the prices U.S. oil companies have to pay for crude oil in markets outside Iran.

Carter's action Monday — a response to the seizure of some 60 Iranian hostages in Tehran — will halt imports of about 700,000 barrels per day of Iranian crude oil and petroleum products made from Iranian crude. That represents about 4 percent of the nation's daily consumption.

The president coupled his decision with a plea to Americans to "redouble efforts" to conserve gas and oil.

A Carter administration official told a news briefing that the nation could "totally offset" the loss if every car was driven three miles less each day.

But administration officials, asking not to be named, acknowledged that any oil bought to make up for whatever Americans fail to conserve likely will be more expensive than Iranian crude.

This would lead to higher prices at the gas pump and from fuel-oil suppliers, one official said, although he estimated "it would not be a very significant amount."

The possibility of higher prices for gasoline and heating oil comes at a time when the nation's families already are paying record energy bills. It also comes as the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries plans to meet next month to discuss prices.

The American Petroleum Institute, an industry lobbying group, said it will take four to six weeks for the president's ban to be felt because of the amount of Iranian oil already on its way to refineries.

Despite the lag time, an oil industry official who asked not to be identified said Americans "may see prices go up immediately in anticipation" of a future squeeze.

The biggest "ifs" about the future price and availability of petroleum products hinge on what Iran decides to do with those 700,000 barrels. Iran could sell the oil elsewhere or not at all, although Iranian oil minister Ali Moinefar was quoted on Tehran radio as saying, "We have many clients, we can sell it with no problem."

The most optimistic scenario has Iran finding other countries for the supply earmarked for the United States. Those countries, in turn, would then need less from their regular suppliers and the "surplus" could be delivered to U.S. oil companies.

Insurance not easy to get for Texans with handicaps

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A deal insurance man from Houston says the way many motorists drive these days they might as well be deaf.

Carey Shaw told the State Board of Insurance Monday deal drivers learn to be more careful than other drivers. His comments came as the board began two days of hearings into the problems faced by the handicapped when they try to get insurance.

"Hearing drivers cannot hear with the windows closed and when they turn on the air conditioner and the radio," said Shaw, who told the board he has been in the insurance business for 50 years.

He also told the board he has evidence of insurance companies refusing coverage to deaf drivers.

Dr. Michael Moore, acting executive director of the Texas Commission for the Deaf, agreed that not being able to hear may not be much of a handicap to driving.

"What difference does it make? If the radio is on full-blast and the windows are rolled up (drivers with no hearing problems) can be just as deaf," he said. "Research has shown deaf drivers are just as good risks as any normal, able-bodied, red-blooded American."

The board heard from witnesses with various disabilities. Many said they had trouble getting insurance and pay high rates.

An engineer for the Texas Transportation Institute told the board studies show handicapped drivers are not more of a risk on the highway.

"There is no evidence these folks can't drive as well as you and I...and sometimes much better," Roger Koppa said.

Koppa said several states report better driving records for handicapped persons than for non-handicapped motorists. He also cited studies that have shown handicapped drivers are involved in more accidents.

He said a New York study failed to take into account that many handicapped persons live in New York City — where accident rates are higher for all drivers.

Koppa said a Texas study showed handicapped drivers received "significantly" fewer tickets.

Roby Dollar, an actuary for several Texas insurance companies, said the firms are willing to work with the board to help the handicapped. However, Dollar said equal rates for all applicants would be unfair. Dollar said such a system "would discriminate against the better risks, who are in the majority."

A woman crippled by cerebral palsy — but healthy otherwise throughout her life — told the board she could only get insurance by joining a travel club with a group plan.

A San Antonio woman told of her bout with a mild form of epilepsy. An insurance company refused to put her on a group plan despite a doctor's letter that said her life would not be affected by the disease. She later took out an individual policy at a high rate.

"I never knew I had a handicap until I applied for insurance," Linda Taylor said.

Newlyweds survive six-story fall

WEST HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A bride and bridegroom face a long recovery after surviving a six-story fall from a balcony during a photo-taking session on their wedding night, authorities said.

Kenneth and Donna Burke suffered multiple injuries when they tumbled from the balcony and landed on rain-softened grass just inches from a concrete patio, police said. Burke lost his balance while trying to help his bride onto a ledge on the balcony, said Police Chief Salvatore Malinconico.

"It was a miracle," said Malinconico. "A couple of inches and they wouldn't be alive."

The couple were admitted to the intensive-care unit of Yale-New Haven Hospital after the fall Saturday night but their conditions were upgraded late Monday to satisfactory.

Burke, 39, who works for Xerox Corp. in Rochester, N.Y., suffered multiple face and skull fractures, a dislocated and broken hip, liver injury and damage that required removal of his spleen, hospital officials said.

Mrs. Burke, 30, broke her left arm and injured her spine and hip.

Neither was well enough to talk with reporters, the officials said.

Police said the newlyweds invited a few friends after the small wedding to the luxury high-rise that had been Mrs. Burke's home before the wedding.

About 11 p.m. the couple went onto the balcony for Burke's brother, Kevin, to photograph them sitting on the brick ledge or railing with city lights in the background, police said.

Pampans pack commission meeting

Taxing offices combined

By DEBORAH BRIDGES
 Of The Pampa News

Pampans packed a tension-filled meeting room at City Hall today as city commissioners and the Pampa Independent School District Board of Trustees met in joint session to combine the tax assessing and collecting offices of the two entities.

An informal ad hoc committee was formed by the officials of the two offices last December to study the feasibility of combining the city and school tax offices. The agreement, drawn up by the city and school lawyers, is the result of the committee's study.

O.M. Prigmore, the city commission representative, told the assembled groups and interested citizens the committee concluded the consolidation would be feasible and a sizable reduction in cost would be seen.

Attorneys have drawn up the contract and discussed it, Prigmore said. "We recommend acceptance of the agreement," he added.

Dr. Robert Lyle, school board representative on the committee, added his endorsement of the agreement.

Pampans John Gikas, speaking from the floor, said he had served on the school board for 12 years and that he was familiar with the structure of the school, city and county tax offices.

Gikas referred to the Peveto bill (a measure taken by the 66th Legislature intended to create a more orderly taxing system), which he believed was the reason for the consolidation.

School and city officials repeatedly said the consolidation was considered long before the Peveto Bill was passed. The purpose, they said, was to save money by combining the offices.

Earlier in the meeting, Prigmore said "Since our past tax assessor-collector, Aubrey Jones, was retiring, it would be timely to go into more depth in the matter."

In praise of the city office, Gikas said, "They're the most knowledgeable people in assessing and collecting taxes." They are not perfect, he said, adding, "At the same time, they're better than anywhere else."

"We are concerned as property owners," Gikas commented, "I don't believe the citizens have had the opportunity to discuss or air their feelings on this matter."

"Let's put it off 'til '82," Gikas pleaded. "Don't jump into it now."

Mayor H.R. Thompson again stressed to Gikas the plan was worked on before the Peveto Bill was passed. The consolidation, Thompson said,

"is solely to save the taxpayers money."

"The city continues to provide good service," Gikas said, explaining the school computer system appeared to be faulty since he had to go to the office and get his tax statements on Jan. 15 of this year. Dewayne Walker, tax assessor-collector for the Pampa ISD, said last year's delay was due to setting up the files on the new computer system.

Bob Phillips, superintendent for Pampa ISD, said this year's delay was due to the staggered auto registration.

Another point Gikas stressed was the ability of the city to put a tax on autos. "This will put additional taxation on the property owner," Gikas pointed out.

It can be done, city officials said, but at the moment they are not going to levy taxes on automobiles.

Again Gikas stressed to the assembled entities, "Let's wait two years to get this thing straightened out." Speaking of the school district, he added, "They haven't got themselves together, and you want to do business with them?"

After other questions from the floor concerning the consolidation now, when the Peveto Bill provided for a two-year grace period, Thompson said, "This began before the Peveto Bill."

The bill is not the reason for the combination, he said. "Many cities have combined their offices for economy," he commented. "This is the sole interest of this group."

School Board member Kenneth Fields asked Prigmore how much money would be saved in the move. Prigmore said anywhere between $50,000 and $60,000 would be saved.

Gikas asked, "Where are you going to save this money?" adding he would be interested in seeing the figures.

"No, I don't have it (the figures) here," Prigmore said. "As elected officials, I feel we have the prerogative to make some decisions."

"You are responsible to the citizens who elected you!" Gikas fired back, adding that public officials are not dictators but trustees of the people.

Despite the opposition from the approximately fourteen citizens against the consolidation in its present form — only one citizen approved of the move — the school and city governing bodies voted to accept the agreement combining the school and city tax offices. They will be opened in early 1980 in the Carver Center.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

The Chrysler case

We've been hearing a lot of late about the events of 1929 — more, quite likely, than most of us really want to hear.

The subject today isn't the Crash, but the administration's decision to toss a financial line to the foundering Chrysler Corporation.

There is a nice if unintended touch in the timing of the latter event in that it should come during the anniversary of the former.

When the economic roof fell in a half century ago, Herbert Hoover had the misfortune not only to be president but to have inherited a philosophy of government which held that its proper role in economic matters was to keep out.

As the magnitude of the catastrophe became apparent, Hoover sought to reverse philosophical course and to find in the resources of government remedies for the ills of the economy.

Too late. He was overtaken by events and a successor who was swept into office by an electorate that was not sure exactly what it wanted government to do about the situation but knew it wanted something done.

Franklin Roosevelt certainly did something, although muted debate continues as to how desirable and/or effective much of it was. But as a result, the philosophy of government has changed greatly during the last 50 years. It is now an accepted responsibility of government to concern itself actively not only with the economic well-being of the nation as a whole but of its citizens as individuals.

Now we would appear to be extending this responsibility to corporate entities.

The Chrysler package that the administration wants Congress to approve by the end of the year is a stunner. At $1.5 billion in federal guarantees, it exceeds the annual federal budget preceding the first world war. Of course, we are really talking about different dollars here. A lot has happened to the value since that conflict, but that's a different disaster story.

No cash is immediately involved; the Treasury would be backing Chrysler's loans from private sources. Nevertheless, the government would become deeply involved in the affairs of a major corporation in a key industry. The Treasury secretary's oversight authority would make him something of a super-chairman of the Chrysler board. And in case the rescue failed and Chrysler should be forced into bankruptcy, the government would have first dibs on picking up its facilities — raising the prospect that the government could become an auto producer.

There are good and oft-recited reasons for supporting public aid to Chrysler. There is also a precedent in the successful if much smaller — $250 million — federal bail-out of Lockheed earlier in the decade. The government actually made money on that one.

But there are also arguments against it. A Chrysler rescue, especially if equally successful, would transform precedent into practice. The United States would be moving down the road previously traveled by major European nations of propping up an economy's weakening sisters. Future rescue efforts might not be so successful. The result would be to overload the economy with subsidized enterprises incapable of meeting the competition on their own, a situation that continues to plague many European economies.

Particularly disturbing, as The Washington Post notes editorially, is that this significant innovation in policy is being taken in an emergency situation, not as the result of a thorough and unpressured study of its elements and implications.

Pillow other talk

There was a study made recently concerning how much talk goes on between a happily married husband-wife team.

According to Dr. Ray Birdwhistell who conducted the study, there are many happily married couples who rarely talk to each other.

"Couples don't have to talk a lot to feel that they are happy," he said. "They can talk very little and still be happy." And he ought to know. He's an anthropologist and professor of communications at the University of Pennsylvania's Annenberg School of Communications.

He said he installed microphones and tape recorders in the homes and cars of 100 happily married couples. They turned on automatically when someone talked, went off when they didn't.

He found out that the median amount of conversation per week was 27.5 minutes. This means that there were as many who talked less and as many who talked more.

He said he had 10 or 11 couples who talked for under five minutes and five couples who never shut up.

It took a year for Dr. Birdwhistell to complete his study. He found out that most of the couples talked at particular times of the day.

"You had some people who set aside a time just after they got home from work," he said. "Then, there was one couple who would only talk when one of them was taking a bath. And there were others who just talked before they went to sleep."

Interesting.

Islamic politics: regress report

Most freedom-loving people had no sympathy for the shah of Iran. Granted he was pro-American, but he was a despot nonetheless. His overthrow brought to the world's attention a new political force emerging in the Middle East.

Two years ago Westerners looked upon Islam as a mysterious Arab religion; today it is playing a major role in determining the future of the oil-rich Mideast. In Iran, Afghanistan, Syria and Pakistan politics and Islam are interacting to create new political realities.

Many who were encouraged by the Ayatollah Khomeini's call for the replacement of the dictatorial shah with an "Islamic Republic" have been disillusioned by its repressive nature. The ayatollah, who condemned the shah's suppression, now suppresses his political opponents. Instead of uniformed troops Khomeini uses gangs of street thugs to attack opposition demonstrators. Censorship of the press is as bad as in the days of the shah. The fear of the dread, secret police has been replaced by an anxiety about knife-wielding Islamic hoodlums. There are few examples that better illustrate the truism that repression, whatever the slogan of the repressor, is all the same to the repressed.

In Pakistan the contradiction is no less apparent. In mid-1977 then-President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto was overthrown by Islamic advocate Zia ul-Haq. Now the elections promised by General Zia are canceled and authoritarianism is the rule of the day. "Where does Islam mention modern elections or democracy?" the pompous general boasts. In the meantime Zia proves his faith by publicly flogging those who don't behave by Islam's strict sexual codes. Merchants who don't stay within the state's price guidelines were recently added to the flogging list.

What appears to have happened, at least in the case of Iran, is that the oppressive pro-American regime has been replaced with an equally oppressive anti-American regime. Khomeini recently blamed the United States for his nation's troubles and said that "America-loving rotten brains" would be purged. This is from the same man who reportedly shouted with delight upon hearing that the shah was suffering from cancer. If Khomeini is an example of an Islamic political leader, and millions of Iranians say he is, then the term is not of much value. His regime and those of other Islamic dictators do not differ significantly from the rule of other tyrants.

It is beginning to appear that freedom, which has been losing ground nearly everywhere, is not the way of Islam. There is only a limited number of relatively free societies. We can be thankful when we view the world that we have as much freedom as we've got in American, but even here the trends are not good.

There is very little difference between

Should we save during inflation

By Oscar Cooley

The elderly, disabled, and poor... What about them? Why, they can get help to pay their heating bills this winter. They can get.

And so it goes. Because people are old and officially everyone becomes old at 65 — they are classed, nowadays, as poor and needy. More and more, this assumption is voiced.

It is one of those unwarranted assumptions that people are inclined to jump to. Although in a sense all people are needy, the fact is that a great majority of the elderly are not in need of public aid. Many of them work and earn. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, a fifth of the men and a twelfth of the women over 65 are in the labor force.

The Bureau also reports that most older Americans live in families. This means they have the support of their children or other relatives.

Thirty percent of the elderly live alone, which indicates that they are not sick or disabled.

Most of the retired elderly have at least some savings, commonly invested in the home they dwell in, in other real estate, savings accounts, bonds and stocks. These yield income, year after year. Some increase in value and then yield more income. After their owner can no longer work, they work for him. Interest on savings has been called "the wage of capital."

Now as in the past, it is important that people save for their retirement — important to both them and society. In fact it is vital to them because it makes them independent, a status that most elderly highly prize.

One may make an unwise investment and lose part or all of his savings. But few do. That money came hard and as one grows older and nears the time of dependence on his savings he leans towards conservatism in his investments.

Owning his own home has been highly profitable to many a senior citizen. Houses have risen greatly in dollar value. Many a person of 65 owns outright a home which in the market is worth twice what he paid for it. His "interest" on that investment has been rent he has not had to pay. This, too, has gone up and up.

If he owns bonds, the interest rates on these, too, have probably climbed. Many sound corporate bonds now yield 10 percent or more.

When his bonds mature and he gets back his principal, he has the opportunity to invest in money market funds, which are dependable, liquid, and yield even more than long-term bonds.

The American economy is hungry for additional capital and provides a great variety of notes, bonds and stocks for savers to choose.

From the point of view of the economy, an abundance of savings poised for investment is highly important, for economic growth depends largely on the amount of capital that is available. The economy can be thought of as an enterprise — a farm, let us say. To be productive a farm must have fertilizers, seeds, tools. This is capital. And capital is invested savings.

Thus it is vital to the future well-being and prosperity of America that Americans save for their old-age and so make more and more capital available to industry and agriculture.

Saving is a double boon — a boon to the saver and to those who utilize the savings. If people cease to save for their old-age — if they assume that their Social Security benefits, or Social Security plus employer-provided pension, will pay all their bills after they retire, a main source of capital will dry up and economic growth will cease. In fact, there might result such a dearth of new capital that the old capital wearing out, the economy would shrink rather than grow.

Inflation, as noted in this space before, discourages people from saving, because they foresee their saved dollars shrinking in purchasing power.

However, they should have in mind that they are not "purchasing" with those saved dollars, and perhaps never will. They are working those dollars to earn interest, and often, as a present, interest yields rise during inflation.

In any case, a conservative person, now working and earning but looking forward to retirement, does well to save, inflation or no inflation. It is the surest anchor to windward.

Inexcusable reward

Somewhere along the line — in this case, at the top — the use of school time is being perverted. High schools are not financed by taxpayers to benefit the publishers of magazines and the manufacturers of candy bars.

We largely ignored such activities in the past because for the most part the sales, conducted in after-school hours, didn't consume great blocks of class time.

But it was disturbing to learn this week that the students are not being rewarded for their sales efforts by stars on their foreheads or some other innocuous honor.

No, even monetary prizes are not enough. Among the prizes for high sales at East Rowan High have been absences from high school classes.

The candy sales at East Rowan, so far as we can figure, have fairly well destroyed a week of instruction at the school. Those successful in sales have been out of class for at least 4,400 hours so far and the unsuccessful ones have had to undergo what we imagine is a rather haphazard learning period.

The practice of offering absenteeism from the classroom as a "reward" cannot help but reinforce the notion that education is a negative aspect of life, something that properly takes second place to candy sales. Absences from studies should be the last reward considered by educators.

The need for and the practice of having student fund-raising events have been debated for many years. Generally they are frowned upon by top school officials but they have persisted for special "needs" such as sending a band to march in a distant parade and even for materials in normal school use.

If the county commissioners have not supplied the county schools with enough paper and pencils — and surely they are fundamental — the county commissioners deserve a special visit and a request for supplemental funds.

But we have serious reservations over the use of student time to raise money for any purpose whatsoever. That block of time must be labeled "Hands Off. For Study Use Only."

Pope John Paul

by Paul Harvey

During his historic visit to the United States Pope John Paul focused his every public utterance on how we should help the poor.

In Yankee Stadium he admonished us: "You must never be content to leave them the crumbs from the feast."

He reminded us of the need for "openness to our brothers and sisters in need... openness from the rich... openness to the poor."

His Holiness visited Harlem, symbol of black American poverty, and he visited the South Bronx, symbol of Spanish-American poverty, and then at St. Patrick's cathedral he said, "In a special way my heart is with the poor."

In Boston and New York, Philadelphia and Des Moines, Chicago and Washington, D.C., Pope John Paul arrived with speeches pre-prepared.

The texts of those speeches in six languages—English and Spanish, German and Portuguese, Italian and French—traveled with him in 16 footlockers.

Except for courtesy acknowledgments, all of the Pope's significant public utterances were carefully prepared before he got here.

It is important that we understand this. His persistent reiteration with the "rich" to help the "poor" was not so much a specific reference to anything he saw or experienced in the United States. Those speeches were written to be requested worldwide. Those admonitions were mostly applicable in nations where the cleavage between rich and poor is much more sharply defined than in the United States.

In most of the nations of the world the rich are very rich and the poor are hungry.

Here are his words, translated from those languages, and they properly restate a basic tenet of Christ's teaching: Charity is not enough.

"You must take of your substance, not just of your abundance, to help the poor."
"More than crumbs from the feast..."

Such expressions, in any language, are pertinent and appropriate.

The Pope's announced purpose is to revitalize the church.

For obvious reasons, this emphasis will help.

But America in the past half-century has become a land where the wealth has been redistributed more equitably than in any other nation in the world.

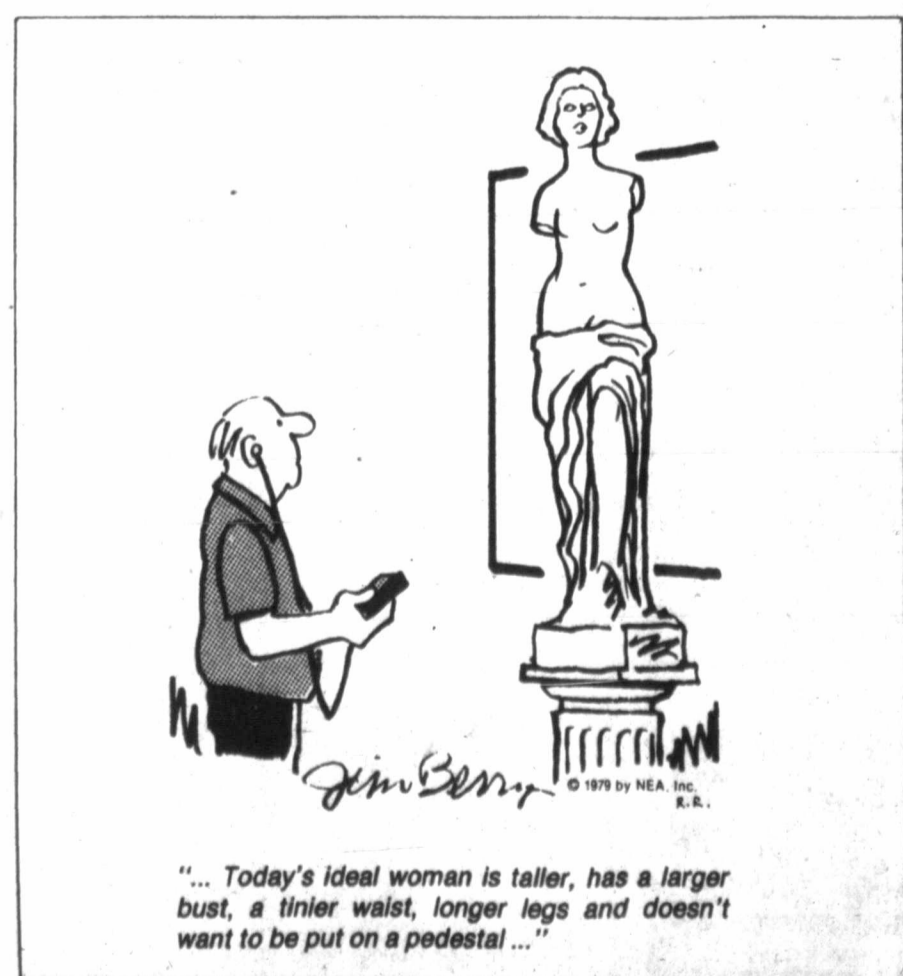

In our country, not one person necessarily goes to bed hungry.

It would have been encouraging to us if His Holiness might have read aloud from the Sept. 30 Chicago Tribune and its 56 pages of help-wanted ads—56 pages of jobs begging for workers willing to work.

He might also have wanted to remind the poor to do for themselves what they can.

Anti-Iranian rallies spread across Texas

By The Associated Press

Anti-Iranian demonstrations spread to two college campuses in Texas Monday, where Iranian flags were set afire and the nation's leader was burned in effigy. There were no arrests.

Hundreds of Texas A&I University students surrounded about 50 Iranians and forced them to take refuge in a dormitory during a protest on the Kingsville campus.

Campus security guards quickly formed a protective line to prevent a confrontation between the two groups, university officials said.

The demonstrators, who burned an Iranian flag and sang "America," demanded the 200 Iranian students attending the college be deported. They remained outside the dormitory for about 30 minutes, then dispersed.

In Beaumont, an engineering professor at Lamar University asked several Iranian students to leave his classes shortly before about 500 protesters burned the Ayatollah Khomeini in effigy.

Anti-Iranian demonstrators marched through downtown Houston for the fourth time in five days.

Bud Leonard, Lamar's vice-president for university relations, said a "scuffle" between American and Iranian students occurred late Monday morning in front of the campus police office.

However, he said, the confrontation consisted mostly of "pushing." There were no arrests and no injuries reported.

Campus police escorted several Iranian students to safety from shouting matches with groups of sign-carrying protesters who called on the United States "to quit bleating like sheep and start roaring like lions."

Dr. F.C. Jelen, a Lamar chemical engineering professor said he asked four Iranians to leave two of his morning classes.

"Classes exist to teach, and the students cannot learn when such feelings of animosity exist," Jelen said. "I asked them — I did not force them — I asked them to leave, and they did. An American student sitting next to an Iranian student is just not going to put his full efforts into his studies," he said.

The protest was organized by Lloyd Ewart, 28, an ex-Marine, who said he was asked by school administrators early Monday to cancel the demonstration.

A 25-year-old Iranian student, shoved about by the Lamar crowd, said he "could not blame" the students for their anger, but he could "not believe the American hostages would be harmed."

In Houston, a small bi-plane circled the 40-story Dresser Tower that houses the Iranian consulate and dumped leaflets during another demonstration.

Signed "The John Wayne Society - Every American Citizen is a Member," the leaflets urged that Americans stop buying where Iranians work, that restaurants be fired and denied housing and that restaurants and merchants refuse to serve them.

"If in doubt, ask for identification. Only Iranians will refuse," the leaflets read. "Starve the Iranians out of Our Country."

The leaflets also called for daily noon rallies at the consulate, where several hundred persons began the Houston demonstrations Thursday by heading their protest march with huge American flags and photographs of Wayne, the late actor the protesters described as a symbol of American patriotism.

NORMAN HOBGOOD, 107, of Arkadelphia, Ark., says the United States has learned something in each war during the last century. He is the oldest living veteran of the Spanish-American War and was honored Monday in a ceremony at Henderson State University.

Roberts County lockup meets jail standards

MIAMI — Roberts County Sheriff Eddie Brines beamed with pride Monday after he was notified that the Roberts County lock up had been certified by the Texas Commission on Jail Standards.

"We have tried to do what they asked," Brines said while waiting for the commission's supervising inspector to arrive at the facility. "We have made certain improvements recently and tried to keep it the jail up."

Joe Slater, inspector for the commission, said Roberts County was one of only twelve jails in the state that has received certification since the new standards for jails went into effect.

"The county jails receive so much bad publicity it is nice to see something nice happen for a change," Slater said. "The Roberts County facility has met all standards set down by the state and we are happy to award their certification."

The jail facility is not considered a county jail, but a lock up where prisoners are kept for no longer than 72 hours. They are then transferred to other facilities in the area.

County Judge Newt Cox said the lock up has cost the taxpayers some money, but the certification is well worth it.

"We have spent $13,405.81 on the jail so far," Cox said. "We have tried to do everything the state has asked us to do in keeping up with the standards they set down."

Slater said the facility was one of the few facilities in the Panhandle that meets the required standards.

"There are several facilities in this area that don't meet the standards, so it is nice to see when one does."

Jubilee Saturday

A Derbytownt Jubilee, sponsored by the McLean Band Boosters to raise money for the band, will be held at 7:30 Saturday night in the McLean High School auditorium.

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under the age of 12.

Interest on savings accounts raised

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The State Depository Board — expressing concern over the possible effect on smaller banks — has reluctantly raised the interest rate banks must pay on state savings accounts.

"That was a rough one," State Treasurer Warren Harding said of the board's decision Monday to hike the annual rate from 10.5 percent to 11.5 percent.

With a balance of approximately $2 billion in time deposits, the interest rate increase should earn the state an additional $20 million a year.

More than 1,300 banks keep state deposits.

Two — the First State Banks of Chilton and Rising Star — said they were not reapplying because of higher interest rates.

The board raised the interest rate from 9 percent to 10.5 percent on Oct. 11. The two banks hold a combined total of $286.391 in state time accounts.

Area news in brief

Kelton farmer to be honored

Billy Buckingham of Kelton will be recognized for his accomplishments in farming by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce at the Golden Spread Agri-Business Seminar Friday.

Buckingham has been farming in the Kelton area for 21 years. He has a diversified operation including cattle, grain sorghum, wheat and cotton.

In addition to his farming operation, Buckingham has been active in community affairs. He has served as a member of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service County committee and as president and secretary of the Kelton Lions Club. He teaches a youth class at the First Methodist Church in Kelton and is a member of the Kelton Volunteer Fire Department.

In 1970, the Shamrock Chamber of Commerce recognized Buckingham as its Outstanding Farmer.

Outstanding Farmer-Rancher nominees from each county in the Amarillo trade area will be recognized at a luncheon held during the Agribusiness seminar. One will be picked to receive the Top Hand Award as the outstanding farmer-rancher in the area.

Buckingham was selected by the Crops Committee and the Livestock and Range Committee, which operate as part of the Wheeler County Program Building Committee.

Several topics of interest to those involved in agriculture and agri-business will be presented at the seminar. These will include "Transportation from Farm to Export," "America's Energy Crisis," "Bringing the Space Program into the Grain Markets" and "Livestock Outlook for the 1980s."

Congressman Jack Hightower will be the Luncheon speaker. His topic will be "Agricultural Legislation."

Wheeler County payroll to go on computer

The Commissioners Court of Wheeler met in Regular Session at 10 a.m. Monday in the Commissioners Court Room, Wheeler County Courthouse.

Commissioners attending were: Elmer Harrison, Bill Atherton, Clois Hanner, and E.E. Henderson. Judge W. Morgan presided.

The agenda included regular business and approval of bills.

County Fire Marshal Ken Daughtry proposed the purchase of fire education material for schools, public buildings, and fire personnel. The motion was approved.

Daughtry also proposed fire department organization throughout local counties for maximum fire protection during emergencies.

Bob Bell of Mutual of Omaha presented a new insurance program for county employees. Action on the issue was tabled until further information could be received.

County Auditor Ron Gowdy asked for a streamlining of county procedures and systems by putting all county employees on a computer for payroll checks. This would eliminate duplication of work. The motion was agreed on.

Consideration of an agreement for the state to survey and inventory bridges on public roads and streets was also discussed. Salary for the Precinct 1 constable was put under consideration.

police report

Mrs. Joe Davis of Corral Real Estate, 319 W. Kingsmill, reported someone damaged the garage door lock at a residence at 1829 N. Banks. An unknown amount of damage was done.

The Pampa police department responded to 30 calls during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today.

minor accidents

Lots Rosenbach, 47, of 1701 Grape was backing from a private drive at 1817 Lea when she collided with a 1978 Lincoln driven by 42-year-old Dorothy Chisum of 2115 Lea. Chisum was traveling south on Lea when the mishap occurred.

A 1978 Ford driven by Leona N. Nixon, 24, of Clarendon collided with a 1975 Volkswagen driven by Deborah Louise Dardul, 16, of 2228 Russell. The accident occurred at the intersection of Perrytown Parkway and 23rd Street. No injuries were reported at the scene. Dardul was cited for failing to yield right of way.

fire report

12:35 a.m. Tuesday — A house fire at 1105 S. Banks caused heat and smoke damage to the kitchen area and smoke damage to the entire structure. The owner, Phillip Jackson, had turned off the gas and extinguished the fire by the time firemen arrived. Probable cause was a leak in the gas line.

Biggest peacetime evacuation in history

Canadians should return home today

MISSISSAUGA, Ontario (AP) — More than 220,000 Canadians spent their second night away from home because of a chemical train derailment and fire, but the government said they should be able to begin returning today.

In the United States, six derailed propane tank cars in northwest Florida were burning for the third day, and about 500 persons had been evacuated from their homes. But about 1,500 evacuees in Holland, Mich., returned to their homes Monday after a derailed tank car of highly toxic hydrogen fluoride gas was righted and a leaking escape valve was closed.

Several hundred firemen brought the fires in the wreckage of the derailed Canadian Pacific freight train under control Monday and put a temporary canvas patch on the rupture in an upended tanker leaking chlorine that vaporized into a deadly gas.

Propane gas was still burning in another derailed tank car nearby, and Fire Chief Gordon Bentley said until that fire was out, the chlorine could still explode. He said the fire should be extinguished today, and then a steel patch would be fitted to the car and the chlorine would be pumped out and taken away.

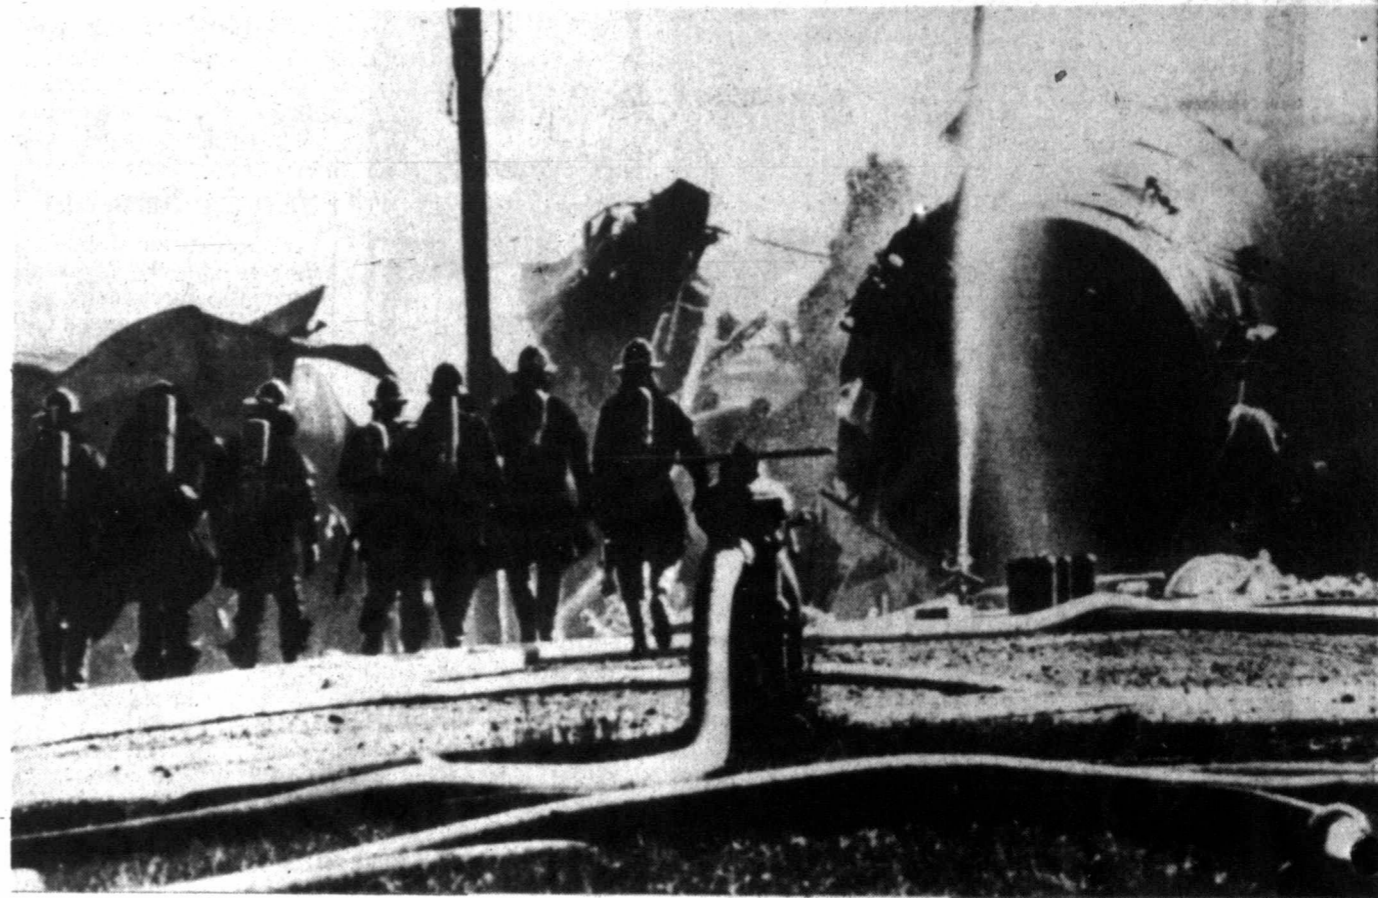

The derailment occurred just before midnight Saturday, when 25 of the 106 cars in a CP Rail freight train loaded with chemicals jumped the tracks half a mile from one of the most densely populated areas of Mississauga, 10 miles west of Toronto.

No one was injured, but the provincial government ordered a 60-square-mile area evacuated because burning cars of propane threatened to explode, the chlorine. An estimated 223,000 persons fled from their homes in Mississauga and part of nearby Oakville, taking refuge with relatives and friends or in hotels and hastily improvised public shelters in the Toronto area.

It was the biggest peacetime evacuation in Canadian history.

Propane, butane and toluene fumes also were escaping from some of the cars damaged in the derailment as several hundred firemen fought the fires, and 400 police patrolled the nearly deserted city to prevent looting.

KEN HOLLAND

The House also a home

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is also a home for Rep. Ken Holland.

But it's not dedication that causes the South Carolina Democrat to bunk on the couch in his congressional office and shower in the House of Representatives' gym. He says it's economic necessity.

Holland admits that may seem unusual — what with his $60,700 annual congressional salary — but he says eight or nine other congressmen are doing the same.

He won't identify the others but did say there are more Republicans than Democrats in what he calls the "office sleeper society." Holland says most have families back home and don't want — or can't afford — to maintain homes in two cities.

Holland, 45, doesn't expect the arrangement to last forever, but for now the light burning late in his office doesn't necessarily mean he's working.

The unusual living arrangement started earlier this year when he had a chance to buy his dream house — a three-bedroom house on 15 acres atop a mountain near Gaffney, S.C.

But it was expensive. "We had to make a decision on how bad we wanted it," he said in an interview. "We pretty well liquidated everything we had to buy it. We figured we'd never have a chance to buy something like that again."

Selling his house in the Virginia suburbs left Holland with no place to live for the three or four nights a week he spends in Washington. The cheapest basement apartment he could find near the Capitol was renting for $450 a month, he said.

"It just struck me as silly to spend that kind of money," he said.

So he sent his wife and children home to South Carolina and moved to the office. He says that although his little home is "not as comfortable as some would like it, it's very convenient. It keeps you close to your work."

It is also safe, since all congressional office buildings are under 24-hour guard — a factor not lost on Holland, who recalls that Rep. Robert Michel, R-Ill., was assaulted walking to his nearby apartment.

And it is free. No rent. No mortgage. No property taxes of $1,334 a year — which Holland said he paid on his Virginia home. No utility bills.

Holland's office shows no signs of its double use. His clothes hang in a closet next to the office bathroom, with the signs of his rural roots — boots and a guitar — squeezed in among the business suits.

Each morning he rises early and goes to the House gym where he exercises, showers and shaves.

Evenings, he often cleans up correspondence and other congressional duties. Sometimes he plays his guitar for relaxation.

He eats breakfast and dinner in the House dining room. Most lunches come from the government-run canteen in his office building.

FOCUS

Secretary of Education

This is American Education Week, and one person who could soon play an important role in deciding the federal government's education policies is Shirley Hufstедler, President Carter's choice to head the Department of Education. The Department of Education is the nation's newest Cabinet department, and is scheduled to begin operations next year. It will take over many programs now in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and other Cabinet departments. Mrs. Hufstедler has served as a federal judge in California since 1969. If the Senate approves her nomination, she will head an agency with a $14 billion budget and about 18,000 workers.

DO YOU KNOW — Which house of Congress must approve Cabinet level appointments?

MONDAY'S ANSWER — Jerry Brown succeeded Ronald Reagan as governor of California.

For former U.S. Treasurer

It is back to tamales

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Her signature appears on millions of $1 bills, but today Romana Acosta Banuelos is back to making money the way she did for years before becoming U.S. Treasurer — making tortillas, tamales and other Mexican food specialties.

Mrs. Banuelos was the highest-ranking Mexican-American appointee of the Nixon administration. Now she runs Ramona's Mexican Food Products Inc., which she began 30 years ago in suburban Gardena. She also is active in banking and community affairs and glances occasionally at the 3rd Supervisorial District of East Los Angeles.

Mrs. Banuelos seemed the ideal political appointment when President Nixon chose her for treasurer in 1971. But the nomination ran into immediate controversy culminating in televised Senate hearings after immigration officials found illegal aliens working in her plant.

Mrs. Banuelos, who believes political enemies were behind the immigration raid, satisfied the Senate that she was unaware of the illegal workers and was confirmed unanimously. Raymond Farrell, then head of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, later termed the raid "a put-up job."

But she shows no bitterness over the controversy and says she enjoyed her three years in Washington. Her company, which this year will gross more than $12 million, had "beginnings in a small shed in front of the house where she was raising two sons who are now vice presidents of Ramona's."

Mrs. Banuelos' second husband, Alejandro, invented some of the food processing machinery used at the plant.

Ramona's — the company got that name because everyone kept mispronouncing Romana — now has more than 400 employees. But Mrs. Banuelos, 53, still watches over the making of the tamales, burritos, chile rellenos and other products that are sold in markets and on trucks throughout Southern California and in several other states.

She resigned as U.S. Treasurer in 1974 because "there was nothing for me to do," Mrs. Banuelos says. "I'm a very energetic and active person with a lot of plans, so there was no reason for me to stay there. Also, the company suffered while I was gone, quite a bit."

Mrs. Banuelos became a Republican after working for former California Gov. Edmund "Pat" Brown's first election as a Democrat.

"We felt we had participated in his election," she recalls. "Then Brown was asked at a banquet in East Los Angeles if he intended to make any Mexican-American appointments. His response was 'Yes, if there are any who are qualified.' It was the same story we had heard before. If we were qualified to vote for him, there should have been someone who could be appointed."

Method guaranteed to cut inflation

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the most effective restraints on inflation is self-sacrifice, or the willingness of individuals and groups to live with less. It's guaranteed to cut into inflation.

But, as it is with so many of the solutions, the difficulties begin with the execution.

Doing with less might sound good to people who feel the need for self-discipline. But who goes first? The White House? Congress? Business? Labor? Farmers? Consumers? Landlords or tenants, big business or small?

Perhaps the United Steelworkers of America. At least that union's wage policy committee has issued a document that takes a more comprehensive view of conditions than is customary in union-management relations.

The 36-page report finds that wage and benefit levels won by the union in earlier contracts have put some employers "at a serious competitive disadvantage" and "cost literally many thousands" of jobs.

The report doesn't advocate that negotiators go easy on the steel companies, but it does suggest that the union restrict the rate of wage increases at some plants to permit them to remain in business.

A small beginning, and maybe one made mainly for reasons of self-interest, but it exceeds the accomplishments of certain other groups, including, some would say, the executive branch of the government.

The latter is criticized by inflation tilters for reneging on its promise to balance the budget and instead continuing to maintain big deficits, which economists maintain have helped to worsen inflation.

Conservation put into practice

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a Massachusetts town of 38,000 people, federal officials think they have found a way to put years of rhetoric about energy conservation into practice. By winter's end, the town could see its fuel oil use cut by 50,000 barrels.

Federal officials hope to try the idea across the country. Devised by the federal volunteer agency ACTION, the project began Oct. 24 in Fitchburg, 47 miles northwest of Boston.

By mobilizing the community to partially weatherproof its homes, Fitchburg Action to Conserve Energy (FACE) hopes to save 2.1 million gallons of oil and reduce fuel bills by $2 million. Fitchburg's heating oil, at 95 cents a gallon, is among the highest priced in the nation.

Today, ACTION Director Sam Brown and Massachusetts Lt. Gov. Thomas P. O'Neill will tour the project.

Their visit comes a day after President Carter ended oil imports from Iran, where some 60 Americans are held hostage. Faced with the loss of 700,000 barrels of Iranian oil, or 4 percent of U.S. consumption, Carter appealed to the nation "to redouble efforts to curtail the use of petroleum products."

"To cut our energy use by the 4 percent Iran gives us," Brown said in an interview, "takes just the simplest use of existing resources, people and ingenuity, which Fitchburg is proving can be done."

The idea's author, Don Green of ACTION, said, "People all over are aching for a way to help out, but they hear talk about millions of barrels of oil and think cleaning the back of their refrigerators won't help. We thought if we could get one town to work together, we could show that all those small efforts make a difference."

Tamara Stanton, ACTION's Fitchburg coordinator, described FACE:

The local antipoverty agency had $175,000 from the Energy Department to pay federal job trainees to do total weatherproofing, but it lacked the workers. ACTION convinced the Energy Department to allow volunteers to do partial weatherproofing.

It also convinced the Department of Housing and Urban Development to give the city $95,000 for materials for moderate-income families, so a family of four with an income of $14,000 can get free caulking, weather-stripping and insulation. Half the residents qualify.

Volunteers fanned out to explain the project from 10 FACE offices, which were also used as schools to train residents in weatherproofing.

FACE leaflets were inserted in newspapers and in gas and electric bills. Last Tuesday, 7,500 leaflets were carried home by school children.

FACE hopes to partially weatherproof 7,700 of Fitchburg's 14,000 residences. Already, 750 have been done for a saving of 187,500 gallons of oil.

U.S. to open another trade office

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is opening another trade office overseas in an effort to boost the sales of American farm products in the Middle East.

The office was being officially opened today in Manama, Bahrain. It will serve as a "focal point for export sales promotion and as a home base" for U.S. exporters and representatives of states wanting to develop their export efforts in the region, says the Agriculture Department.

Thomas R. Hughes, head of USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service, said the new agricultural trade office — the first in the Middle East — will oversee operations in Bahrain, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates, Syria, Jordan and Iraq.

Those countries imported about $600 million worth of U.S. agricultural products in the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30, he said.

Hughes and Robert H. Pelletreau Jr., U.S. ambassador to Bahrain, were among those attending the opening.

The new office is one of a network authorized by Congress last year in key trade areas of the world to help expand U.S. farm exports. One was opened in September in Miami to serve the northern Caribbean and Central American regions.

Another will open Nov. 19 in Hamburg, West Germany, which is among the top foreign markets for U.S. farmers.

Other offices will open this year in Warsaw, Poland; Singapore; and Seoul, South Korea.

One of the functions of the trade offices is to work with non-profit trade associations that cooperate with USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service in market development projects.

Currently, says the agency, 47 of these groups are working in foreign countries.

Farm exports hit a record value of $32 billion in the last fiscal year, and department experts have projected they will rise further to about $38 billion in 1979-80.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary figures by the Agriculture Department show that cattle prices declined by more than 3 percent last month, but that retail beef prices held about steady.

According to the figures, market prices of U.S. Choice-grade steers averaged $65.90 per 100 pounds in October, down from $68.16 in September.

The report, which officials describe as tentative, showed that the all-cut retail price of beef was nearly $2.27 a pound, 0.1 of a cent higher than in September.

As a result, according to the figures, the so-called farm value of a pound of beef sold lower in retail stores than in September while the middlemen's share increased, reflecting larger margins between the producer and the consumer.

In a related report, USDA estimated total red meat production last week at 757.5 million pounds, a gain of 3 percent from output a year ago.

Beef production, at 398.6 million pounds, was down 10 percent from a year earlier. A decline also was shown for veal, down 21 percent to 6.2 million pounds.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Joint Chiefs of Staff say a recent 7 percent pay increase is not enough to keep essential military personnel in the armed forces.

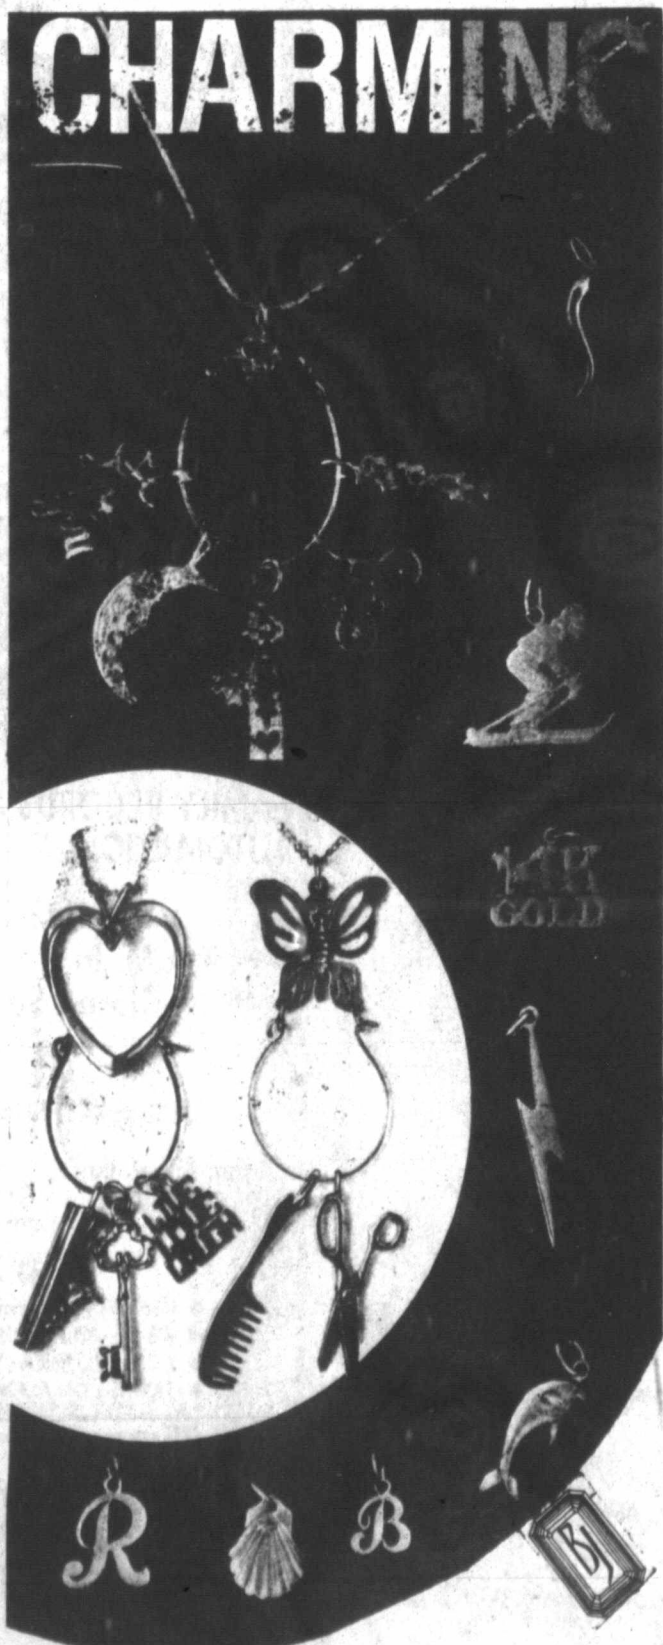

In a memorandum to Defense Secretary Harold Brown last week, the chiefs said disillusionment with military pay is the main reason skilled enlisted personnel and junior officers leave the all-volunteer military. They said civilian policy-makers must pay higher salaries or settle for diminished military readiness. While they indicated the 7 percent pay increase would not be adequate, the chiefs did not specify another figure, saying only that military salaries must keep pace with inflation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carter administration support of a loan-guarantee program for the Chrysler Corp. will not depend on whether the new Chrysler wage contract meets anti-inflation guidelines, Treasury Secretary G. William Miller says.

But he warned Monday that the guarantees might not be issued until Chrysler workers make sufficient sacrifices to help their employer. His statements appeared to contradict remarks from Alfred Kahn, the president's chief inflation fighter, who suggested Saturday that if Chrysler's tentative contract with the United Auto Workers violates the guidelines, "either the loan guarantee should not be authorized" by Congress or should not be "actually extended" until the pact is in compliance.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women are catching up with men in enrollment at the nation's colleges, according to a new Census Bureau report.

The study, released Monday, says men attending college outnumbered women by 1.4 million in 1970, but by 1978 the gap had shrunk to about 410,000. The report says two-year colleges have been a significant factor in the increase.

THE NEW HAVEN FOOD CO-OP is one of a new generation of food cooperatives. The store was opened in a boarded up supermarket and offers members huge discounts. (AP Laserphoto)

Co-ops thrive save consumers money

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The Food Fair sign still towers over the parking lot, but inside the vast supermarket one of America's new generation of food cooperatives has unplugged the soft music and taken over.

The New Haven Food Co-op, which moved into the boarded-up building last month, is replacing the manager's office and vending-machine area with a library and a day-care center.

The Co-op has a van for transporting elderly shoppers, posters explaining food additives, a delicatessen serving knishes and pickled herring, and, in the tradition of most food cooperatives started in the 1970s, a wide selection of whole-wheat spaghetti and organic peanut butter.

But perhaps most important for many of the 3,500 people who are members of the Co-op, it offers a discount of up to 12 percent in exchange for 12 hours of work each year.

Although cooperatives have been around as long there has been commerce, two periods in the past century produced a burst of new food cooperatives in the United States. The 1930s, when the nation was in a depression, and the 1970s.

Frederic F. Gammons, the 72-year-old treasurer of Cooperative Consumers of New Haven, a food cooperative that has been incorporated since 1937, sees a pattern.

"It seems to be a consensus among us that the times are right for a greater pressure for co-ops," he said. "We feel times are getting harder."

There are 920 well-established food cooperatives in the United States and several thousand smaller food-buying clubs, according to the Washington-based Cooperative League of the United States of America which says the number is still growing.

A rising interest in cooperatives, for food, housing and other necessities, prompted Congress to pass legislation last year establishing the National Consumers Cooperative Bank.

Piscataways fight over tribal chief

ACCOKEEK, Md. (AP) — Maryland's oldest residents, the Piscataway Indians, fought the government in order to bury their chief, Turkey Tayak, in their ancestral lands. Now they're fighting again — even at the funeral — over a successor to the 83-year-old chief.

The great spirit teaches us to respect each other as brothers," says the traditional burial ceremony. "If you have any hard feelings today against anyone, please leave them at the gate."

But after the burial on Sunday, as Billy Redwing Tayak was ordained as the new chief, a shouting match erupted at the gravesite between rival factions. On one side are Indians who say Tayak cannot be chief because his mother was not an Indian. On the other are the Tayak family who say Billy was named chief in his father's will.

The body of the Piscataway's 27th chief, who died last Dec. 8, was buried in an unmarked grave in an old burial ground, now Piscataway Park, located along the Potomac River across from Mount Vernon, Va.

Tayak gave the land to the federal government in the 1960s to keep it safe from development. He died in the belief the National Park Service would permit his burial there.

But officials told Tayak's survivors that burials were prohibited in federal parks. In the months before Maryland's congressional delegation got Congress to authorize his burial in the park, the family kept Tayak's body in a cemetery crypt.

About 200 people attended the ceremony, conducted by Chief Bill Eagle Feather, a Rosebud Sioux who described himself as "the last living traditional chief in the U.S. from South Dakota."

A steel casket, draped with a painted deerskin with a single feather on it, was borne in a two-mile procession that made four ceremonial stops representing the principal compass points.

As Tayak's body was taken from the casket and placed in the grave, women chanted and mourners dropped bits of evergreen into the grave.

And while Tayak's family filled in the grave, Eagle Feather sang the death song of the Plains Indians.

Afterwards, he conducted "chechpe woonye," a flesh offering ceremony. Using a double-edged razor blade, he cut bits of flesh from the upper arms of a dozen people and buried the offerings in a small red cloth bag in the grave.

The trouble began during Billy Tayak's ordination, when about 12 Indians began chanting "Billy's not chief" of the 500-member tribe.

Lilly Proctor of Camp Springs, Md., said Tayak cannot be chief because that title traditionally passes through a mother's bloodline.

"Billy's mother wasn't an Indian," she said. "Turkey told us that years ago. He said Billy couldn't be no chief."

Billy Tayak says his father named him chief in his will. He said he doesn't recognize the dissidents as Piscataways.

When the ordination ended, cries of "welcome, Chief Tayak" mixed with "He's a fraud, a Mickey Mouse Indian."

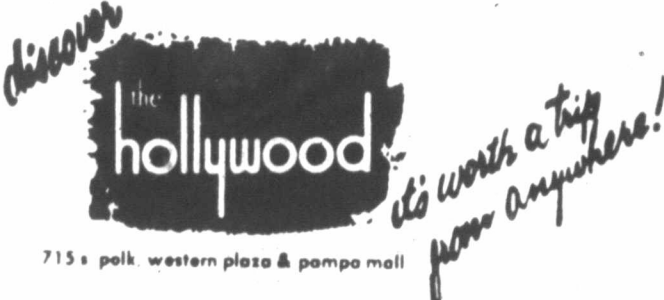

Mark Tayak, 21-year-old son of Turkey Tayak, said, "I want him to be buried in peace. Put no bloodshed on my father's grave."

Park policemen escorted the dissidents away.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed AMERICA FIRST, in which the writer was opposed to our taking in the boat people, sickened me. I was further sickened to read that your mail was running 200 to 1 in favor of turning away the refugees!

I would like to think that the writers of those letters are in the minority, otherwise I fear for the future of our country.

Your answer to AMERICA FIRST must have touched the heart and soul of every decent human being who read it. It was the finest letter you ever wrote. Our founding fathers would have been proud of you.

Keep up the good work, Abby. You may be speaking for the silent majority.

AN AMERICAN IN TUCSON

DEAR AMERICAN: I know now that I was! My mail usually confirms the theory that many more people will take up the pen to oppose something than to support it.

However, since printing a sampling of the discouraging response, I have received a blizzard of mail from readers—easily 10,000 to 1—in favor of providing refuge to the boat

Allergy problems

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have three small fibroids in my uterus. They were discovered during a D and C to stop the bleeding. The doctor told me I shouldn't wait more than six months before having surgery.

My problem is I'm one of those in a thousand who's allergic to medications. I mean everything. So what can I do? I've been sitting here crying and am depressed and afraid of having it done for fear that I will not make it through surgery. I get so deadly sick whenever they try anything new. They also think I have one bad ovary.

When I think about it I just get cold, sick to my stomach because I know there's no way out except surgery. Isn't there anything they could give for allergic people? How about the cut? Couldn't they put medicine on it so I wouldn't need so much medicine for pain afterwards?

DEAR READER—There are people like you who have enormous problems taking almost any medicine, including antibiotics. The best thing you can do is tell your doctor about your history and give him a list of all the things that you know that you're allergic to.

Yes, there are lots of things that can be done to help people with such problems, including medicines to block the allergic reaction. Of course, the best treatment of all is to avoid the things that a person is allergic to.

I presume you're going to have a hysterectomy and probably have your ovaries removed as well in view of the comment about having one bad ovary. That might also depend on your age. In some cases the doctor can do a vaginal hysterectomy which leaves no scar on the abdomen at all. However, the pain after most such surgery isn't limited just to the incision through the abdominal wall but is related to the overall surgery inside the abdominal cavity. People have different levels of pain thresholds and maybe you'll be fortunate enough not to require much medicine for that problem.

Talk to your doctor about how disturbed you are about this and the fact that you've been crying and depressed. It might be that you would be helped with some professional counseling before surgery. There are lots of things that can be done to help people who are depressed. Again, removing the cause is a big help and, in your instance, the anticipation of surgery is certainly a precipitating cause. No one looks forward with joy to having surgery.

Because you expect surgery and will have changes that are associated with the menopause, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 5-12, Menopause. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Other readers might want to know that not all fibroid tumors of the uterus need to be removed. It depends a lot on the size and whether they are causing symptoms or not. Excessive bleeding can be caused by fibroids and that is one reason why they must sometimes be removed. Sometimes the fibroid tumors get smaller after the menopause.

people. And they're still coming in. Thank you, readers. You are beautiful!

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 years old and it's like I am walking around in a fog. I just found out that my "mother" is really my aunt, and my "aunt" is my real mother.

My mother wasn't married at the time, so she gave me to her married sister to raise. Later, my real mother got married and had children. That means my brothers and sisters are really my cousins, and the kids I always thought were my cousins are really my half sisters and brothers. I feel terrible to think almost everybody in the family has known this all along and I had to find it out from a stranger.

There is nothing I can do about it because I feel toward the aunt who raised me just like any kid would feel toward his own mother. And I don't honestly feel anything extra special for my real mother who I thought was just another aunt.

I guess what I want to say is this: Please tell people if they have a secret like this in their family, it's best to tell the kids before they hear it from strangers. HURT AND IN A FOG

DEAR HURT: Excellent advice!

MENDING MATURE MARRIAGE

By Louise Pierce

The majority of middle-aged couples seem to be close enough to each other in age and feeling to adjust to the changes that come to them as they grow older.

Their friends are usually near their age. Activities and pleasures are geared to long-married happiness. I call this a good life, the best Otis and I have ever known. Frequently we quote to each other the old adage, "You're only as old as you feel." The way we love dancing, golfing, visits with friends and trips near and far, we'll always feel young and happy in our special situation.

It's understandable that a 20-year-old girl who marries a 60-year-old man may encounter problems when she's 40 and he's 80. Likewise a young man who ties himself to a woman old enough to be his grandmother (it happens now and then) probably won't be ready to slow down when older age catches her. In such cases adjustment is a problem, requiring give and take that may not be easy.

There can also be a serious problem when a man and wife are about the same age but one wants to settle into comfortable retirement and the other insists on continuing to look and act half her age. I got a letter on this problem.

DEAR LOUISE: You make a lot of sense, but my roommate is not one bit like you. I can't believe what 46 years have done to my dream girl.

She absolutely refuses to join the Social Security set. My perpetual butterfly almost blew a fuse when she passed 65 and I told her it was time to apply for Social Security.

She still dresses like a teenager, acts like one and does her best to look like one.

What am I going to do with my rose who refuses to fade? FRUSTRATED FARMER

DEAR F.F.: You're going to have to figure out how to reach a level of interest, understanding and enjoyment that will let you have happy communication and compatibility. Your 46 years together are too close to your Golden Wedding for either of you to think of abandoning your life together.

You must both learn to adjust a little. If you can get your sparkling butterfly to flutter a bit less while you strive to dig out of your shell and meet her half way, there is no reason why you can't learn to come to terms with the middle-aged differences that are dividing you.

First of all, many people try to cling to their youth by acting 17 instead of 70, not knowing that the effort fools nobody but themselves. Medical science is working on slowing our age processes but they have not yet perfected this wonderful possibility. So, meantime, although a black wig can disguise white hair, nothing short of a face lift (and how many can afford it?) will erase the wrinkles that reveal our real age.

Women's figures change with age, and the junior sizes would be inappropriate on mature women. They would also fit an aging butterfly badly. But there is no harm in dressing a little younger than your years—or in using hair-dos and make-up that others may consider too youthful for you.

Sometimes dressing youthfully makes an older woman feel younger and peppier. And that can keep her outlook on life more enjoyable.

If your wife finds personal satisfaction and a lifting of her spirits in this way, don't take that pleasure away from her. After all, it's no crime and no health hazard. She could have broken bones, mental problems or cancer. Thank your lucky stars that she's able to act 20 years younger than she is rather than 20 years older.

She may have refused Social Security because she felt, as a few do, that it is a charity. But it is a law-given right—and each of us who paid into it is entitled to receive its benefits.

I also believe that your non-fading rose needs to update her attitude toward you. Tell her about us. Last week Otis worked hard all day Friday, took me dancing that night, and played golf on Saturday. I hoped to dance again Saturday night. But when I saw how tired he was, I said, "We've partied enough for one weekend." He was wonderfully grateful and we enjoyed a quiet evening at home. It made for continuing compatibility.

Tell your butterfly you can't go back to your teens with her but you won't ask her to act 60 with you. Settle for how you felt and acted when you were both fortyish. It would be a good compromise for you.

BSP chapter chartered in Wheeler

Alpha Mu Alpha chartered a new Beta Sigma Phi chapter in Wheeler during a candlelight initiation ceremony last week.

The new chapter, Nu Phi Mu, was formed by nine members. Alpha Mu Alpha president, Margaret Dorman, introduced new members to the goals and purposes of Beta Sigma Phi.

Officers were elected and installed. Forming the new chapter are Kim Vise, Betty Chapman, Tracy Burton, Melodia Velasquez, Becky Brown, Robbie Killingsworth, Rhonda Wallace, Tammy Jolly and Donna Bradstreet.

Assisting Margaret Dorman with the evening's ritual were Denise Ware, Melonia Simmons, Donna Velasquez, Kim Goad, Marlene Miller, Carletta Burton and Diane Trussell.

Side Band Club to meet in Panhandle

The "Eyes of Texas" Side Band Club will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the club room of the First National Bank in Panhandle. All members and prospective members are urged to attend.

Kwahadi Dancers to be here Saturday

The Kwahadi Indian Dancers will perform at St. Vincent's Gym, Highway 70 and 23rd St., at 8 p.m. Saturday. Cubs and Scouts in uniform will be admitted at a reduced price.

Clean gravy spills on carpet promptly

If turkey gravy spills on your carpet, promptly scrape up the solids and absorb the excess liquid with a soft cloth. Make a cleaning solution of 1 teaspoon mild detergent, 1 teaspoon white vinegar and 1 quart warm water, and apply it to the spot with a clean rag. Be careful not to soak the carpet through. After the carpet dries, apply a dry-cleaning fluid. Once that's dry, too, vacuum gently. This and tips for removing a score of other common household stains are available from: Stain Removal Guide, Dept. KIC, The Eureka Company, Bloomington, Ill. 61701.

TWEEN 12 AND 20

Happy ending

By ROBERT WALLACE, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: Like many teens, I used to smoke pot and drink alcohol. I couldn't wait for Friday night so I could party.

Then I started getting loaded before school and during lunch. It didn't take long before I was cutting class to do my thing.

I had lots of people around me but I didn't have any true friends. I mean people who loved me and cared about me. I was really messed up.

Then I started going to church and liked what I heard so I kept going back and now my life has changed so much. These people care about me and love me and showed me that I do not have to get high to get rid of my problems. I just give them to God and He takes care of things for me.

Dr. Wallace, I just had to share my newfound happiness with someone. Thanks so much for letting me share it with you. — Darcy Davenport, Columbus, Ohio

Darcy: You shared your happiness with me and millions of readers. Your story has the perfect ending.

Dr. Wallace: I'm writing to see if you can help my 16-year-old sister. She feels she is too short. She is 5-foot-1 and always has to wear platform shoes. Our younger brother is much taller than she.

Because she is so small, guys never ask her out. Is there anything that can make her spurt up? — Gayle, Goshen, Ind.

Gayle: At 16, your sister has another year or so to grow. Only Mother Nature can make her spurt up.

I know many girls who are no taller than your sister who have very active social lives. Is it possible that there is something else keeping the boys away?

Dr. Wallace: My best friend is very popular, is very pretty and is a cheerleader.

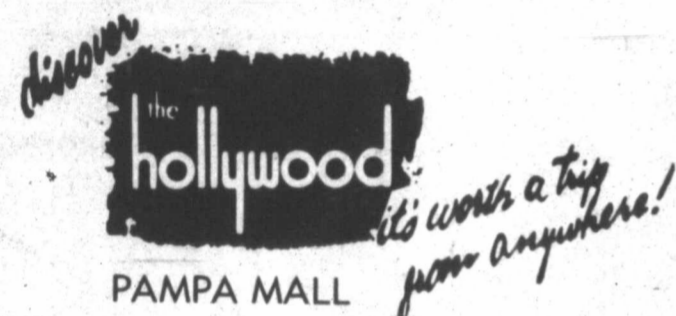

It now seems that every guy that I like, she likes and of course, they go to her.

Our friendship is slowly slipping away. Should I start liking guys that I can keep or battle for the guys she and I both like?

In the first situation I can retain the friendship. In the second one our friendship will end. — Kit, Odessa, Texas.

Kit: Go out with any boy you feel will be an enjoyable date.

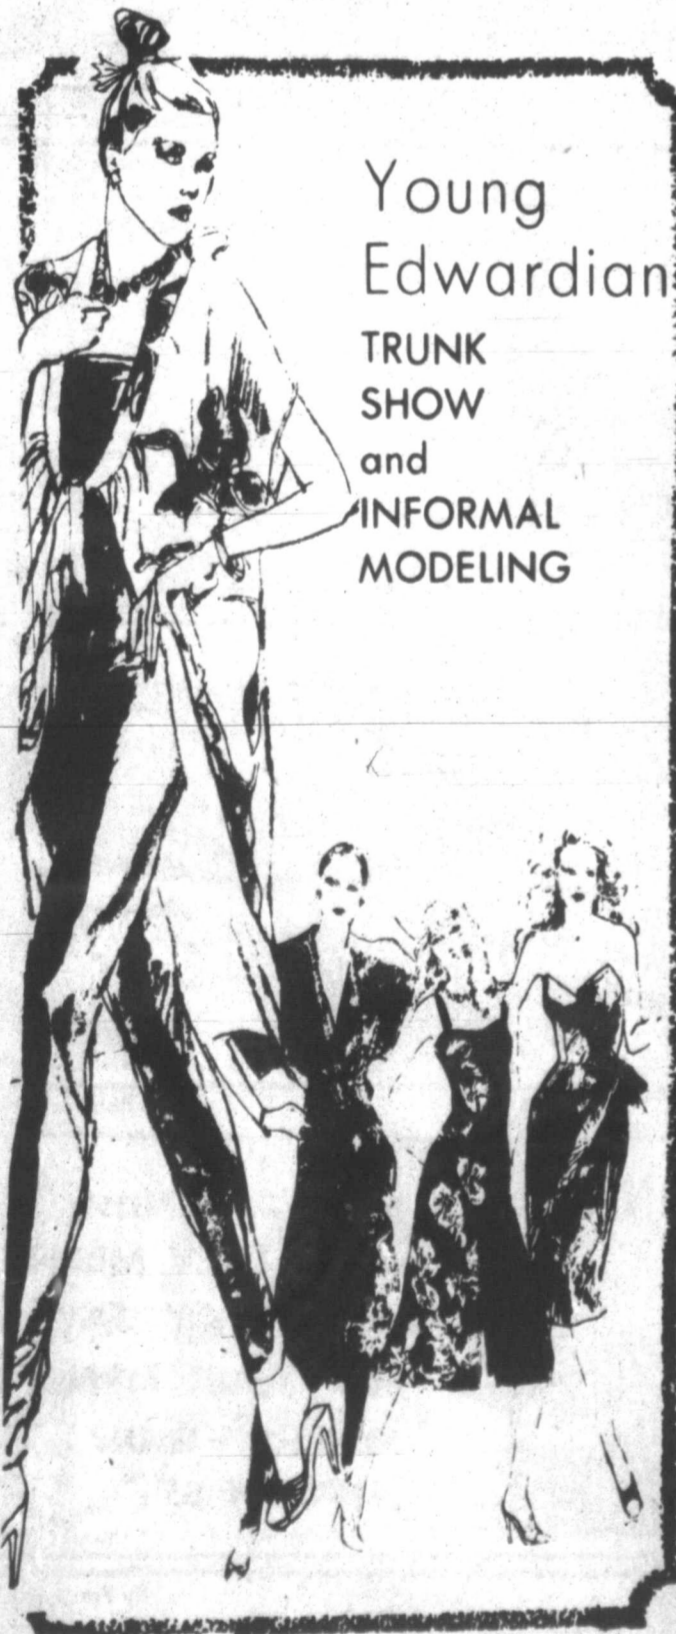

If that will cause a breakup of your friendship with your cheerleader friend, the friendship wasn't really that strong to begin with.

Your involvements with groups and organizations should produce many fringe benefits this coming year. Be quick to accept any invitations where you can meet new people.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Use your practicality today to bring your dreams to fruition. Something you're hoping for is within your reach if you'll take the logical steps to achieve it. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have a few pluses going for you today in competitive situations. One is your persistency, and the other is people working secretly for you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There's no reason to doubt today that you can be successful in any situation where you have experienced victory in the past. Duplicate your previous actions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be alert today. New financial opportunities could develop. The efforts of another may open the proper channels.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're fortunate today in that you tend to benefit from your partnership arrangements. You have staunch allies who can be relied upon.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your earning potential is exceptionally good today, owing to your industrious attitude. Zero in on areas of greatest reward.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Opportunities could arise today to further enhance an old, established relationship you dearly value. Utilize these possibilities.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Visualize the way you would like to see a trying situation you've been involved in end, and direct your efforts toward that goal. It could be done today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Tackle situations which should be better organized with the seriousness they deserve today. Orderliness will make everything easier.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In your commercial dealings today you could come off with a better price if you don't appear to be too eager. Bargain a wit.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Not only are you a good idea person today, but you also know how to implement your plans responsibly. Put your gifts to use.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is a good day to remind someone indebted to you of his or her obligation. Your chances of getting that's owed you are promising.

Straightline: sports

By L.D. STRATE

There was some worry among the Pampa coaching staff with the inability of the Harvesters to produce more touchdowns in the 17-0 win over Palo Duro last week.

Head coach Danny Palmer made it known that he was delighted with the District victory, but added, "it's not good to run 16 and 18 plays a quarter and not score any points."

Palmer was speaking mainly of the unproductive second half since the Harvesters had scored in both the first and second quarters.

Pampa had some impressive statistics the second half despite never crossing the goal line. Ten first downs, 170 total yards and only one offensive penalty.

Nevertheless, the defense gave Palo Duro nothing but goose eggs and now the Harvesters will meet Amarillo High Friday night for the district title.

Expect at least 10,000 people at Dick Byrns Stadium Friday night so fans should get their tickets early. Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students and can be purchased at the high school business office or Citizens Bank and Trust.

Garland Nichols, new Pampa High basketball coach, will be one of the guest speakers at the season start Open Club meeting Nov. 29 at Travelodge West in Amarillo.

The first of eleven scheduled basketball games will feature the West Texas State basketball coaching staff.

Arkansas' 29-0 victory over Baylor Saturday gave the Razorbacks a slim 27-2 advantage in a hotly contested series that dates back to 1904. Baylor won the series opener, 17-0. However, the Bears haven't beaten Arkansas there was a 7-7 tie in 1976 at Wood since 1974 when Baylor won a 21-17 thriller at Fayetteville and advanced to the Cotton Bowl.

The Dallas Cowboys have had 11 straight winning seasons, 25 playoff game appearances, and a super bowl trip, but head coach Tom Landry and the doomday defense paid the price a long time ago.

The brand new Dallas franchise received a brutal welcome from the NFL in 1960, suffering through a winless 0-11 season. The Cowboys ignited the first spark of championship caliber play in the opening game of 1961, scoring 10 points in the final 36 seconds to defeat Pittsburgh 27-24. Allen Green's 25 yard field goal won the game on the final play.

Flashback: Nov. 1960 Quarterback DeWey Cudney threw two touchdown passes to lead Pampa past Amarillo High, 20-0. It was the first time Pampa had ever beaten the Sandies on their home field. Cudney tossed to Jimmy Cook for 36 yards and Scooter Wilson for 30 yards. The Harvesters were coached by Tom Eggs.

No brotherly love in NFL football

By Major Amos B. Hoople
Premier Predictor

Egad, friends, there's a real treat in store for you this week. Two of the nation's finest collegiate classics are on tap.

In their 76th renewal, the Ohio State Buckeyes and the host Michigan Wolverines will butt heads in their annual Big 10 title showdown for the right to represent the conference in the historic Rose Bowl.

Meanwhile, on the greenward at New Haven, Conn., my beloved Yale Elis will play the 96th rendition of their classic with Harvard. Jove! What a series this has been with the Old Blue leading with 52 victories to 35 for Harvard and eight standoffs.

This year's Michigan-Ohio State showdown in Ann Arbor, Mich., is — kaff-kaff — as hard a game to figure as any your correspondent has hand-capped in his long and, ahem, illustrious career.

The edge in our humble opinion (huh?) goes to the Bucks on the sterling arm of sophomore Art Schlichter. He has averaged 10 yards per pass completion and has a personal total offense per game of 190 yards through the Bucks first 10 encounters. We see it: Ohio State 28, Michigan 21. Har-rumph!

This has been a big year for Yale and a disappointing one for Harvard. But this is one contest where past records mean nothing. Alas, I have only bad news for Harvard followers. Yale will prevail, 24-14. Boola, Boola!

The Hoople Three Star special of the week is Indiana to surprise favored Purdue, 24-21. Lee Corso's Fighting Hoosiers have been getting better week by week and should reach their peak against neighboring Purdue. This, the 82nd meeting in this series. Elsewhere, the high-riding Crimson Tide of Alabama will roll over Miami of Florida, 34-17. The Hurricanes pulled perhaps the upset of the year when they whipped the Penn State Nittany Lions — thus warning Alabama to be on its guard.

Out West, it will be Washington over Washington State, 38-26, in their 72nd renewal. And Stanford over California, 30-18, in their 82nd meeting.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES barefoot kicker Tony Franklin watches his 59-yard field goal sail through the uprights at Texas Stadium Monday night against the Dallas Cowboys. Franklin's second quarter field goal was the second longest in NFL history.

Philadelphia ends dominance by Cowboys

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Looking at Tony Franklin, you wouldn't think he and his Philadelphia Eagle teammates had just beaten Dallas for the first time since 1974.

And you sure wouldn't think Franklin had booted a monster field goal of 59 yards, second longest in National Football League history, on the way to the 31-21 victory.

His head hanging amid the hand-slapping, shouting jubilation of the locker room, Franklin said: "Poor. That's all I can say. I made one I wasn't supposed to, and missed two that I was."

While Franklin was being sullen, Philadelphia Coach Dick Vermeil was enjoying his first victory over Cowboy Coach Tom Landry and the game ball his players awarded him. "This (the game ball) is the most meaningful thing that ever happened to me," Vermeil said. "You see, this didn't just happen overnight."

Holding court from a perch on top of an equipment box, Vermeil said his team "realistically is going for a wild card spot."

The Eagles and the Washington Redskins trail Dallas in the National Football Conference Eastern Division by one game with 7-4 records.

Vermeil said Franklin's towering 59-yarder was the product of a committee. "Tony told me he could make it, so I told him okay, so go do it."

Stunned by a Dallas touchdown in the opening 61 seconds, the Eagles didn't play favorites in coming back to win.

Dallas used just three plays to get on the scoreboard with the payoff coming on a 48-yard Roger Staubach pass to Tony Hill.

Quarterback Ron Jaworski evened things up after Tony Dorsett fumbled the ball away to the Eagles. Jaworski spotted Giant tight end Harold Carmichael in the end zone for a 32-yard touchdown that tied the score.

A few plays before, Carmichael had gathered in a third-down pass to mark the 107th straight game in which he has caught a pass, extending his own record.

"I was happy about breaking the record," Carmichael said. "I guess it will end when I quit football."

The Jaworski-Carmichael combination was a familiar one to Eagle watchers, but it wasn't the only game in town.

Jaworski departed late in the second period with a wrist sprain, but was to return in the second half.

In the meantime, backup John Walton managed to stretch the Philadelphia lead with a 29-yard touchdown pass to Charlie Smith, who recorded his first TD reception of the year.

Franklin's club record 59-yarder followed to make the score 17-7 at halftime.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said Franklin's kick took a lot out of his team.

"That took the juice out right before the half," Landry said. "Franklin just made a super kick."

The third quarter saw Philadelphia open up its ground game behind steady Wilbert Montgomery, who became the first Eagle runner to record back-to-back seasons of 1,000 yards. Montgomery finished the night with 127 yards and one touchdown on 25 carries.

Behind Montgomery's rushing, the Eagles found themselves at the Dallas 13, and Jaworski again found Carmichael towering Aaron Mitchell in the end zone for a touchdown.

The Cowboys tried to make a game out of it late in the final quarter.

Staubach again hooked up with Hill, this time for a 75-yard touchdown.

Fighting the clock as well as the Eagles, Staubach managed to strike for another touchdown on a 5-yard pass to Billy Joe Dupree that brought the Cowboys to within three points at 24-21.

An onside kick failed and the Eagles faced a third and two situation at the Dallas 37. Montgomery slid along the jammed center of the line and broke off left end for a touchdown, sealing the game.

Jaworski summed up the victory: "We play as a team and we win as a team."

Auction begins on bowls

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Bowl negotiating between the universities of Oklahoma and Nebraska is apparently in full swing, as the Saturday deadline for the announcement of post-season bowl invitations nears.

Coach Barry Switzer said Monday he talked to Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne that morning. He also admitted a proposed agreement that could keep the Sooners out of the Sugar Bowl doesn't bother him.

"I felt like some kind of deal was going down there," Switzer said of a report of a potential Sugar Bowl agreement Monday. "The Sugar Bowl hadn't contacted us and so I knew they weren't interested in us."

Earlier, Switzer said if his team loses out on a trip to the Orange Bowl, which probably rests on the Sooners Nov. 24 game with Nebraska, he would like to take "a good trip" to the Sugar Bowl.

However, Monday reports out of Little Rock, Ark., indicated an arrangement might be in the works between Southwest Conference teams, Arkansas and Texas, and the Sugar Bowl Committee.

"It seems logical to me that some kind of agreement like that would be discussed," Switzer said. "But, if we miss out on the Orange Bowl they still are going to need a visiting team at the Cotton Bowl. There is also the Fiesta Bowl. We've been there before and that is a nice trip."

Pacers win in ot

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Coach Bob Leonard said Indiana didn't deserve to win, but thanks to a three-point play Leonard had the 500th victory of his career, all with the Pacers.

A three-pointer by Pacer Joe Hassett tied the score at 99 and forced the game into overtime as Indiana beat Utah 113-105 in the only National Basketball Association contest Monday night.

"I don't care what everyone else thinks. It (the three-point play) is one of the greatest plays and it simply gives the fans more," Leonard said.

"We were looking for it (a three-pointer) there at the end, when Hassett came in," Leonard said. "He won a game earlier this year for us with one."

Johnny Davis had missed a three-point attempt, then Hassett, who played only 16 minutes, hit the second attempt at it with two seconds left to make it 99-99 in regulation play.

"I thought we did a good job on defending the first three-point attempt by Johnny Davis, but they got the rebound and kicked it back out to Hassett," said Utah Coach Tom Nissalke. "It would have been very difficult to stop his shot."

Indiana trailed most of the game and went ahead 96-95 on a short jumper by James Edwards with 27 seconds left in regulation play.

200,000 flee homes after explosions, fire

POLICEMAN above wears protective mask as he directs traffic during evacuation of Mississauga, Ont., following the derailment of a train which caused several explosions and fire, releasing chlorine gas into the air. About 200,000 residents of Mississauga and several thousand in the metropolitan borough of Etobicoke were evacuated. Right, the massive rail-car burns while firemen battle the blaze that could threaten Toronto, if the winds shift direction. Below, the map locates areas of evacuation and times after the derailment and fire. Northern boundary of evacuation is Burnhamthorpe Rd., Southern Lake Ontario, eastern Metropolitan Toronto boundary and western north line.

It's time for choosing sides in race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has widely missed its Oct. 15 adjournment target and still has much to do before quitting for the year. But that doesn't stop members from reflecting endlessly on presidential politics.

It's a time for choosing sides. And some lawmakers concede openly that they have ulterior motives for picking a particular candidate.

Like Sen. Paul Tsongas, D-Mass., who wants Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to go the full distance to the White House.

"I'm pleased by the notion I might be the senior senator from Massachusetts," the first-term senator explained.

It's not very pleasant being the junior senator," he added, noting that when he and Kennedy walk through an airport, people inevitably mistake him for a Kennedy aide.

"It happens every time," he grumbled.

For Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia, Kennedy's candidacy may bring back memories of the only election defeat ever suffered by the youngest Kennedy brother. It was in 1961 when Byrd upset Kennedy for the job of assistant Senate majority leader.

Kennedy doesn't forget that election either.

"If I hadn't lost I might be Senate majority leader today," he told a Democratic rally after being introduced by Byrd. "And Bob Byrd would be out running for president."

Meanwhile, President Carter may sometimes give the impression

Bid for pickup approved by court

MIAMI — The Roberts County Commissioners gave approval to a bid by Culberson-Stowers of Pampa for a new half-ton truck for the county road department Monday.

County commissioners voted unanimously to accept the bid of $5,908.47 for the eight-cylinder truck. Culberson-Stowers bid was one of two bids submitted to the court for approval. Commissioners reject the second bid of $6,150.40 for the truck.

Dick Stowers of Culberson-Stowers told the commission it would take approximately 60 days for the vehicle to be delivered.

of feeling a little left out. The other day he warmly thanked a group of applauding congressmen who had accepted his invitation to come to the White House for dinner.

Kennedy's on the cover of Time. Rosalynn's on the cover of Newsweek. It's nice to know someone wants to see me," he quipped.

When Sen. Charles Percy's turn came to speak on the SALT II treaty before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he had little new to offer.

So the Illinois Republican praised colleagues who'd gone before for having "succinctly and concisely condensed all the arguments."

There was laughter. Percy looked puzzled.

"What'd I say?" he asked.

An aide whispered. Percy joined the laughter — and corrected succinctly, "succinctly," before going on with his speech.

When the frames of his glasses broke the other day, Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, R-Mich., didn't panic. Instead, he gave some unusual instructions to his staff.

"A House of Representatives electrician was summoned."

"Why an electrician?"

"The glasses had metal frames and I reasoned the electrician would have some solder," Vander Jagt explained.

Political times will be changing in Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Presidential politics in Texas so far has been mostly the home-grown variety with Republicans John Connally and George Bush furnishing most of the action.

Times will be changing shortly, with most of the major players announced or scheduled to take the step.

Most of the active Republican candidates are expected in Austin Nov. 18 for the national Republican Governors Association meeting where they will make their campaign appeals to 21 GOP governors.

President Jimmy Carter is expected in Texas on Dec. 8 as part of his first campaign tour after officially announcing. Plans include a fund-raising brunch for the big givers and public reception in the municipal auditorium.

Backers of Sen. Ted Kennedy hope he will be in San Antonio the same day.

Favorite sons Connally and Bush have made numerous appearances, including some very successful fund raisers, in Texas during the past year.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, Sen. Howard Baker and some of the lesser known GOP candidates have paid Texas brief visits recently.

California Gov. Jerry Brown has made two trips to talk with Texas Democrats and Rosalynn Carter has attracted Texas crowds twice in recent months.

Some of the campaign organization, particularly for Connally and Bush, began almost a year ago, but others are now now getting underway.

Connally has a state campaign headquarters in Houston, plus another office in Austin. Jim Campbell of Pampa is his state coordinator.

Bush also has his state headquarters in Houston with Hal DeMoss, Houston, as state campaign manager.

Reagan set up his state office in Austin long before his announcement. Midland Mayor Ernest Angelo is state campaign coordinator.

Carter, Kennedy and Brown have not announced state headquarters or campaign managers.

Democratic and Republican leaders are split on Carter-Kennedy support with at least two of the state's nine members on the National Democratic Committee openly supporting Kennedy. They have accused State Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberg of being partial to Carter.

Presidential races will attract most of the attention from now until November 1980, but there are also three statewide races on the May primary ballot.

Railroad Commission contests in which John Poerner is challenged by Buddy Temple and Jim Nugent faces challenger Jim Hightower are already underway.

Utilities to rise in Roberts County

MIAMI — Inflation has hit in Miami and city residents will begin to feel the bite on December 1.

The City of Miami recently voted for a 14 percent rate hike on utilities offered to residents.

The new rate structure will be $4 for the first million cubic feet and $2.03 per million cubic feet thereafter.

'Prime Time Sunday' in trouble

LOS ANGELES (AP) — NBC's "Prime Time Sunday" made its debut last summer making noises like a world beater, possessed of all the brass and confidence of its host, Tom Snyder.

The show was live, and it had flash — including right-now transmissions by satellite and on-camera technical directions. NBC President Fred Silverman gave the show a boost by starting it in June so it could have a head start on the season; in a bold show of bravado, Snyder vowed before NBC affiliates to make it work, even suggesting he'd quit the business if "Prime Time" flopped.

Silverman and his corps of executives repeatedly declared that NBC wanted a prime-time newsmagazine, and that "Prime Time Sunday" was it. Now, apparently, they aren't so sure.

Last week, word came from industry sources that "Prime Time Sunday" was on its last legs, that the show's disastrous ratings were too low to support NBC's staying with it for a full year, as its producers had been promised. It was said that "Prime Time" would air three more times and then be removed from the schedule in December.

NBC, while conceding that the show's ratings have disappointed, denied that "Prime Time" has been given a cancellation notice. Instead, a Los Angeles producer is working on a segment scheduled to be aired in late January.

And Silverman and others in recent weeks have repeated that NBC is standing by the show. "Prime Time is firmly in the NBC schedule," an NBC spokesman said. "It has the full endorsement of Mr. Silverman and Mr. Small, NBC news chief Bill Small."

Perhaps, but during the important November ratings sweeps period, when competition between the networks is at its fiercest, "Prime Time Sunday" was only allowed to air twice. The show was pre-empted on Nov. 4 and Nov. 11 by movies.

The last time "Prime Time Sunday" aired was Oct. 28, and then for only 20 minutes — the first two-thirds of the show being bumped by the conclusion of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest." That ministration of "Prime Time Sunday" finished dead last in the Nielsen ratings for the week.

Before the first six weeks of this season, "Prime Time" aired only four times, finishing near the bottom of the ratings in each outing with an average audience share of about one-in-five viewers.

Similar ratings failures and frequent pre-emptions preceded the death of "Weekend," the predecessor of "Prime Time."

Meanwhile, ABC's newsmagazine, "20/20," continues to grow and CBS' "60 Minutes" is as strong as most entertainment programs. NBC still wants a newsmagazine. But there are signs that "Prime Time" may not be it, at least for long.

Klan leader may not get diploma

ABSECON, N.J. (AP) — Aaron Morrison may not get his high school diploma because his principal doesn't like the teen-ager's extra-curricular activities.

The 17-year-old is a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Officials at Holy Spirit High School say Morrison's diploma, which should have been issued after Morrison completed summer school, is being withheld because he will not renounce his membership in the white supremacist organization.

But Jerry Kay, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, said Morrison is being penalized for exercising his freedom of association, freedom of political belief and freedom of speech.

Kay said he would sue the high school if Morrison does not get his diploma. But an attorney representing the school and the Roman Catholic Diocese of Camden says Morrison's rights have not been violated and Msgr. Glendon E. Robertson, diocesan secretary of education, says the church will stand behind the school's decision.

Morrison organized a Klan rally in August on the front lawn of his family's split-level home in Barnegat. During the rally, 19 Klansmen faced about 100 anti-Klan demonstrators amid rock-throwing, name-calling and scattered bursts of violence.

"It's not fair," said Morrison, who is now working in Louisiana on the senatorial and presidential campaign of David Duke, a leader of one of the Klan's many factions.

"I don't think a school should dictate or impose its beliefs on students. They don't have an in-depth understanding of my beliefs," he said.

The Rev. Thomas E. Ploude, principal of the Atlantic County high school, described Morrison as an "above average student." He said the school will send a copy of Morrison's transcript to any college, but will not issue him a diploma.

Ploude said the diploma represents more than a mere fulfillment of academic requirements and Morrison does not meet all of the school's standards.

"I don't see at this point that there is anything he can do," Ploude said. However, the priest said he might reconsider if Morrison renounces the Klan and its principles.

Ploude said his decision was based on a school regulation which reads: "Any student who draws unfavorable public notice to the school by his conduct in or out of school will be disciplined by the school with penalties up to and including expulsion."

TEXAS

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements became the first Texas governor Monday to join the Texas Public Employees Association.

"I want your signature or my check first," he asked Gary Hughes, executive director of TPEA, at a brief public ceremony.

Both said Hughes.

"Then what is the secret handshake?" Clements said.

"We just ask that you be an active member," Hughes said.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Payments of local sales taxes to Texas cities are running 11 percent ahead of last year. Comptroller Bob Bullock said Monday.

Total 1979 payments to cities of the one percent sales tax now total $390.4 million, compared to $349.8 million through November of 1978. Bullock said.

November payments to cities totaled $25.8 million with the largest check going to Houston for $4.9 million.

Houston's total this year is $81.4 million, up 11 percent from the previous year.

Dallas got a November check of $3.5 million, bringing this year's payments to $46.7 million, an increase of 14 percent over last year.

Other November checks, with the yearly total, included:

Fort Worth $1 million, $15.6 million for the year, up 7 percent; San Antonio $1.4 million, $21.7 million, up 7 percent; Austin $1 million, $13.1 million, up 11 percent; Corpus Christi $426,336, $9.8 million, up 13 percent; El Paso $861,605, $9.9 million, up 7 percent.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Dwayne Holman, outgoing national president of the Young Democrats, will be honored Nov. 16 at a reception in a downtown Austin hotel. Texas officials said Monday.

Those scheduled to attend include Chip Carter, son of the president, Attorney General Mark

White, State Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberg, former State Democratic Chairman Calvin Guest and former Attorney General John Hill.

Proceeds from the $10-a-person reception will go to the Texas Young Democrats.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Golden Spurs, a precision dance team from J.W. Nixon High School, Laredo, will represent Texas in Monterrey, Mexico, Nov. 20 at a parade honoring the "Dia de la Revolution."

The Texas Good Neighbor Association said the girls organization received an invitation directly from Nuevo Leon Gov. Alfonso Martinez Domiguez and were officially designated as Texas' ambassadors of good will by Gov. Bill Clements.

The 35 girls chosen for the trip will travel to Monterrey on Nov. 19 by chartered bus, then take part the next day in the parade that marks the beginning of the revolution of 1910.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Natural gas rate increases for two Texas utilities were suspended for 120 days Monday by the Texas Railroad Commission.

Entex Inc., one of the firms, has an appeal from rates established by San Marcos for nearby unincorporated areas. The increase would affect 49 residential and five small commercial customers.

However, Entex was allowed to charge the proposed rates temporarily during the suspension since they are identical to those which are now in effect in the city.

The Southern Union Gas Co. suspension covers unincorporated areas near Monahan, Pecos, Poyte, Barstow, Thornton, Wickett and Wink.

The proposed rate would change the average monthly residential gas bill of 7,000 cubic feet from $15.39 to $18.19.

Coupon company 'just like a bank'

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Grocery coupons may be just a piece of paper to most consumers, but to Frank Sullivan, they're money in the bank.

Sullivan, 51, is president of Coupon Redemption, Inc., a clearing house operation with offices here and a plant just across the border in Juarez, Mexico.

The company employs 600 persons at the Juarez plant to process more than 2 million coupons daily. Sullivan said. Each clipping is counted by hand.

"The grocers accumulate coupons until they have enough to make it worthwhile to redeem them. That's when they ship them to us," Sullivan said.

From the El Paso office, the coupons are transported to Mexico where they are separated, logged, counted, re-logged, re-counted and shipped off the manufacturer who issued them.

"We make our money off the handling fee," Sullivan explained. "The manufacturers pay the face value of the coupons plus a 5-cent handling fee on each coupon."

The company pays grocers face value on the coupons plus a portion of the handling fee within 30 days of receipt.

"If they want the money immediately, then they just get the face value and we keep the whole handling fee," Sullivan said.

So why not bypass Sullivan and ship the coupons directly to the manufacturer?

"At the grocery store level, it's next to impossible for the store to sort out these coupons from different manufacturers and invoice them," he said. "There are about 1,800 manufacturers who will circulate 122 billion coupons next year, he added.

Sullivan said the average coupon value is 22 cents.

Sullivan, who says six of the 600 plant employees are men, says, "A lot of people think we are running sweat shops over here. Nothing could be further from the truth." Mexico's minimum wage is $1.21 an hour, he says, adding that his workers average $1.33.

And, he added pointing to row after row of coupon stacks valued at about $4 million, "We're just like a bank... that's all money lying there."
