

SHIP COLLISION IS FATAL TO 40

HEARING ON PROPOSED HIGHWAY BOND ELECTION IS SET

OKLAHOMA DEPUTY SHERIFF IS SLAIN DURING LIQUOR RAID

"Thar's gold in these here prairies."

Pampa fact: Grocery stores of Pampa have a payroll aggregating $155,350 annually.

The Pampa does not take the burglary "epidemic" seriously—yet. Hundreds of idle men, from everywhere, are coming here looking for employment, and a few of them may be expected to give trouble. Then there are those who prey off of men who are working.

There are two important factors about burglars: 1. Their activities should be halted by efficient patrolling; and 2. The guilty persons should be caught or scared out of town. This can be done if (a) the police force is big enough and (b) if that force is efficient. We have long believed the city has leaned too much upon the sheriff's office to handle the local crime situation. Pampa needs an ample force of capable police officers at all times. A city of nearly 12,000 is big enough to need and to support such a force.

This discussion, however, won't help little Jerry Thomas get his stolen bicycle back unless someone has a clue. Jerry's "bike" was stolen from in front of his home last Friday night. Jerry is wondering what a burglar wants with a bicycle, anyway. This bike was just about everything in Jerry's life, from the standpoint of personal possessions, and if the thief knew how the lad misses the vehicle he would return it forthwith.

There is a strong feeling developing against employment of out-of-town labor. In the cases of a few artisans, this may be necessary. Contractors, furthermore, may have certain old standbys that they wish to retain on their payrolls. But there is no necessity for using other out-of-town workers when there are capable local men who are in need of employment. Local people who are having work done, and this includes official bodies as well, should have an understanding with the contractors who do the work. This is a serious matter; as serious as it can be to a man who has a family in want, and no funds in sight.

Today's compliment goes to the Pampa Hoo Hoo club, whose activities are given publicity in the current issue of the Hoo Hoo magazine, official organ of the lumberman's organization. There is an illustration of an advertisement the organization placed in The News, and the club is congratulated by the magazine for the initiative shown and the facts presented.

TWINKLES
It is perhaps appropriate that a local matrimonial insurance agency has taken suite 16 at an office building.

Economic anemia is going to overtake Texas unless we have a new order of things at Austin, says Clint Small. Meaning we are starving on political promises that are not fulfilled. Right again, Clint.

Another reason for supporting the hero of the North Fork is that we have another oil battle on our hands.

Bill Miller of Quitaque writes that he, although not a Pampaan, is enjoying this column. All right, Bill, we are as susceptible as the next scriber: tell us what you wish and we'll see if we can accommodate you.

Horse-play seems to be inevitable in this county—referring now to the 34 millions "proposed" for paving Gray county by those who would be greatly charged if their project should carry, which it will not, of course.

KILLER GIVES UP AS POSSE MAKES HUNT

Wives of Two Men Hurt at Same Time

W. H. HUMBLE SHOT TO DEATH

Texas Deputy Is Near Death in Another Shooting

HOBART, Okla., June 11. (AP)—While their wives engaged in a fight, a Kiowa county deputy sheriff and the operator of a filling station being raided for liquor shot it out at Roosevelt, Okla., last night. W. H. Humble, the deputy, is dead from gunshot wounds and Sam Allen, the filling station man, is under guard in the county jail.

Wives of both men were in a Hobart hospital being treated for injuries inflicted during their encounter.

Humble, accompanied by his wife, was said to have gone to Roosevelt to raid the filling station. The argument started when Humble explained his mission. Allen is said to have fired three shots which resulted in Humble's death about two hours later. Allen escaped, pursued by a posse of 100 men which went from Hobart, taking bloodhounds from the Granite reformatory. He surrendered later.

Texas Deputy Wounded
SANTA ROSA, June 11. (AP)—Mercedes Torres, 28, deputy sheriff of Cameron county, was in a hospital at Harlingen today, after he was found shot and near death from loss of blood in his automobile, parked near here on the highway.

Although conscious when help reached him last night, an hour after he had been shot, Torres would give no information about the shooting. He apparently had emptied his gun at the person who shot him, for his empty revolver lay beside him.

Two bullets had pierced his chest and emerged from his back.

ANYHOW, THIS ANIMAL MUST LIKE OUR CITY

Whether he came to town to see the bright lights or wanted to show the populace that he for one was certainly unimpressed with the town are matters of conjecture, but the fact remains that a full-grown level-striped badger did appear near the sidewalk in front of The News at sundown last night.

C. Brownie Akers, manager of the Rex theater and the erstwhile Crescent theater, suggested that the animal might have escaped from one of his westerns—probably from "Tarzan the Tiger" which ended here last week.

B. W. Kelly, the wrestling barber of West Foster, who was one of the first to see the badger, declared that the badger was just another publicity hunter. Frank Allison at the Canary Sandwich shop who watched a score of West Foster citizens catch the badger, suggested that the brags might have wanted a hair-cut. Mrs. Allison disagreed with her husband, holding that the badger's appearance had something to do with his opinion of sophisticated newspapers and bias talkies.

The newsboy who now has the badger in a box in the print shop said, "He must have thought this was a hick town."

Don Zimmerman, who inspected the beast after it was placed in the box, said that it was not a badger at all but a coon.

LEGION TRIP IS OUTLINED AT MEETING

Pampa Legionnaires and the Legion band will drive by automobile to Amarillo, and there take a special coach for the Slaton Legion convention June 15, it was decided at a called meeting last night.

The delegation will leave the Legion hall at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. The train will leave Amarillo at 7 o'clock, and will return to Amarillo about 9 p. m. The round-trip fare from Amarillo will be $3.75. The Legion will need a number of cars to transport the delegation to Amarillo.

Not only Legionnaires, but other citizens and members of civic bodies are being urged to make the trip. It is regarded that the occasion will be a good one at which to boost this city. The Legion band will be in full uniform.

Legion members from all over the Panhandle will attend the convention of the 10th district. State Commander "Ogre" Cox and Adjutant R. O. Whiteaker will be among the visitors from the state office.

Trash Haulers Are Required to Have Licenses

An ordinance, to become effective July 1, requiring residents and all operators of business houses in the city to place their trash and garbage in metal containers during their regular meeting yesterday afternoon. The ordinance will also make it compulsory for owners of trash wagons to obtain licenses from the city. The license fee will be $120 a year or $10 per month, per wagon.

When the ordinance goes into effect, it will also be a violation of its provisions for drivers of trash or garbage wagons to scatter refuse they haul to the dumping grounds on the streets. A license will not be granted an operator of a trash or garbage wagon unless it fulfills specifications outlined in the ordinance and is properly equipped. The city has a right to refuse or to revoke any license if the drivers violate the ordinance. The metal containers must also be of a specific size and must be sanitary. The containers must also be regularly disinfected. Haulers of garbage or trash will not have to pay fees at the city dumping ground as the license fee will cover the charges which have been made heretofore.

The ordinance was passed in order to create sanitary conditions and to eliminate fire hazards. It will be strictly enforced, the commissioners stated. In discussion of the ordinance before it was passed, citizens pointed out some haulers have been very negligent in hauling the refuse to the dumping ground, some times scattering the streets with it. This was unavoidable, as the wagons were not properly equipped. The ordinance will eliminate both nuisances, it was said.

CORRECTION

The News carried a story yesterday in which it was stated that C. E. Guthrie, office deputy of the sheriff's department, was the father of Deputy Jeff Guthrie, finger print expert of the force. Mr. Guthrie is the brother, not the father of Jeff Guthrie. The News regrets the error.

SHOOTS HIS WIFE

ELDORADO, Ark., June 11. (AP)—Shuler Webb, 45, farm and oil land owner in South Union county, shot his wife to death at their home near Strong today and then turned the gun on himself as the culmination of prolonged domestic troubles. Webb is in a critical condition at a hospital here with three bullets in his chest.

SKELLY WILL BUILD REFINERY NEAR TO CITY

An item in the two-year expansion program announced by Skelly Oil company yesterday at New York will be the construction of a new refinery in the vicinity of Pampa, according to Frank P. Graham, president of the Skelly Oil company here. Plans for the building of the plant are now under consideration, and a definite announcement regarding the company's building program in this section is expected soon, Mr. Graham said. Expansion of the company's oil pipeline system also is being considered.

Should the company build a refinery, it would be the fifth in this immediate vicinity.

STOCKS CRASH AGAIN

NEW YORK, June 11. (AP)—Stock prices crashed before a new bear onslaught in the stock exchange today, recording the most severe declines since December, but bears were driven to cover in the final few minutes of trading, and sharp rallies substantially reduced the losses in the more active issues.

Pleads Not Guilty

OKMULGEE, Okla., June 11. (AP)—Johnny Wilson, 20, year old Henryetta, who shot and fatally wounded Roy Bingham, 22, at Henryetta last night, pleaded not guilty to a murder charge when arraigned this morning at Henryetta. He was remanded to jail without bond.

Bishop James Cannon Appears Again Before Senate Committee and Reiterates Unwillingness to Talk

WASHINGTON, June 11. (AP)—Walking in on the senate lobby committee as abruptly as he walked out on it last week, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., answered questions today at activities of the Southern Methodist church but persisted in his refusal to undergo examination on his 1928 anti-Smith campaigning. The churchman surprised the committee meeting which had been called to determine what to do about his defiance. The investigators decided to give him a chance to testify and to consider their future course only after learning his attitude.

ROAD VIEWS TO BE AIRED NEXT JULY 7

Two Millions to Be Voted Upon by 3 Precincts

BIGGER ISSUE ALSO PROPOSED

Action on McLean's Petition Delayed to Friday

On July 7, a hearing to determine whether a two-million dollar road bond election should be called in precincts Nos. 1, 2 and 3, will be held in the county courthouse here, according to action of the county commissioners in passing on a petition for the election yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Should the commissioners grant the petition for the election, it could be held 30 days after the hearing, on or about August 6. The hearing, according to law, must be held in not less than 15 days and not more than 30 days after the petition was presented.

Arguments and testimony presented at the hearing could have no effect on the decision of the court, as the commissioners have the sole power to order the election and they may do it at their own discretion. The election would decide whether $2,000,000 in bonds shall be issued to pave and improve roads in Road District No. 5, which comprises precincts Nos. 1, 2 and 3. The new district was created Monday afternoon.

Action on the petition calling for a county-wide $3,500,000 bond election, signed by 300 citizens of McLean, Alarand and LeFors, was postponed until Friday, and the commissioners will recess until that date. The commissioners desired to investigate the legality of the petition. It was not necessary to hold a hearing on a county-wide bond election, which may be held 30 days after the petition is submitted.

Those present at the meeting yesterday were Commissioners Tom Kirby, Lewis O. Cox and Judge Ivy E. Duncan.

A day or a week may be required for the hearing, Judge Duncan said this morning, but every proponent and opponent of the election will be given opportunity to express his views, either through himself or his attorneys.

The petition to pave the roads in road district No. 5 embodies the original plans approved by many citizens in precincts Nos. 1, 2 and 3. The petition calling for the $3,500,000 bond election was signed after McLean and Pampa citizens failed to agree on a county-wide road building program. Residents of McLean and Alarand who attended a meeting of the commissioners Monday stated that all those who signed the petition for the bigger bond issue were planning on voting against it at the election.

If the $2,000,000 bond issue should be approved, all state highways in the three precincts and most important roads would be paved. Also, $380,000 of the bond money would be used to pay the outstanding indebtedness on road bonds already issued in precinct 2. This is required by law.

WILDCAT HOLDS INTEREST THIS WEEK

The rank wildcat, Baldrige and Lilley's No. 1 Melton, 330 feet north and west of the east half of the southeast quarter of section 95, block B-2, H&GN survey, is holding the interest of operations this week.

The well is now spraying from 45 to 75 barrels of oil from 3,140 feet, the pay being barely penetrated. No gas is coming with the oil, although gas was encountered above the oil. The wildcat is several miles from production.

Danceiger Oil and Refining company's No. 1 Shaw, 330 feet south and 286 feet east of the east 39 1/2 acres of the northwest quarter of section 5, block 1, ACH&B survey, was completed for 25 barrels daily with 10,000,000 feet of gas coming with the oil from 2,725 feet.

Many Expected to Hear Josh Lee

The famous Josh Lee will be in Pampa Friday evening for a humorous address under the auspices of the American Legion. Mr. Lee is a widely known public speaker and humorist. He is head of the public speaking department of the University of Oklahoma. It will be remembered that he was in Pampa last winter, but due to the severe cold not many Pampa citizens had the opportunity of hearing him. Those who did hear him reported that he was an entertainer well worth going many miles to hear. He is full of wit and humor, and keeps his audience roaring with laughter from start to finish.

The Legion members anticipate so large a crowd that they have secured the district court room for the occasion. Tickets are now on sale by members of the Legion. Proceeds derived from this entertainment will be used in paying the Legion band's expenses to the district convention at Slaton.

ROUND-UP OF GANGSTERS NOW UNDER WAY

CHICAGO, June 11. (AP)—Under fire of city council criticism, Chief of Detectives John Stege launched an intensive police drive late today which he promised would cleanse Chicago of gangsters within six hours.

Chief Stege informed the administrative police committee he had organized a special detail of his men whose experience in gang battles qualified them to guarantee immediate results.

Two men wanted for investigation in the killing of "Jake" Lingle, star gangland reporter of the Chicago Tribune, were in custody awaiting examination at the detective bureau. Sam Hunt, dragged from a gang automobile a week ago, surrendered with a "home" and denied implication in the Lingle shooting but was held for a show-up before witnesses to the slaying. Ralph Pierce appeared with Hunt, and was locked up with investigation.

MACNIDER IS OPPOSED BY SENATOR BROOKHART

WASHINGTON, June 11. (AP)—The nomination of Hanford MacNider of Iowa, as minister to Canada, was reported to the senate "without recommendation" today by the senate foreign relations committee after Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, objected to the nomination as "personally offensive" to him.

Such an objection by a senator from the state of a nominee usually goes a long way in the senate and just what will result from Brookhart's complaint against MacNider was problematical. Some senators believed it would at least block action at this session.

Brookhart and MacNider are both Republicans but bitter political foes. Each supported President Hoover in the 1928 campaign.

ALL ABOARD TANKER LOST AFTER CRASH

Vessels Hit in Fog in Massachusetts Bay Waters

FLAMES COVER SEA AT ONCE

News Not Known for Hours—Radio Is Burned

BOSTON, June 11. (AP)—Flaming oil, spouting from the depths of a stricken oil tanker, believed to have been the Pinthis of Fall River, today was thought to have claimed the lives of more than forty persons aboard that ship and the passenger liner Fairfax outbound from Boston, when they collided in Massachusetts bay last night.

So suddenly did the tragedy occur that not a single person on the tanker was believed to have escaped the fog enshrouded inferno which followed the impact.

At least a score of the Fairfax's passengers and crew were unaccounted for, while the Pinthis carried a crew of 19.

Aboard the big passenger liner scenes of wildest confusion succeeded the shock of the crash. Men and women, believing the ship doomed, hurried themselves into the sea only to perish amidst the raging oil which poured from the tanker in all directions. Others were burned in their berths by the white sheet of fire which seared the port side of the ship.

Radio Cut Off
The flames which swept both craft melted their radio antennae and temporarily ended possibility of summoning aid. The tanker, a-fire from stem to stern, settled slowly into the water, plunging from sight 20 minutes after the crash.

The Fairfax was bound for Norfolk, Va., and had aboard 140 persons, almost evenly divided between passengers and crew. The Pinthis left Fall River early yesterday for Chelsea and Portland, Me., laden with 12,000 barrels of gasoline. The spot where the disaster occurred, off Scituate, was where the Shell Eastern Petroleum corporation, which had the Pinthis under charter, calculated she would have been at approximately the time of the collision.

Officials of the corporation said this forenoon that they had tried unsuccessfully throughout the night and morning to reach the ship by radio.

The first and for hours the only news to reach the outside world of what had occurred in the fog came in a message received from Captain Arcubald Brooks, commander of the Fairfax, who asked that ambulances and medical aid be held in readiness here for the arrival of the first survivors.

ENGLEWOOD, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow has received letters urging her to stay at home and keep quiet (meaning to refrain from campaigning for her husband in the senatorial fight). Telling of the letters in a radio address she said: "It seems to me a little unfair not to be allowed some part in this latest adventure of my husband's. We have always done things together. She quoted from Kipling's "Kim": "The husbands of the talkative have a rich reward in the hereafter."

PAMPA GREATLY NEEDS MORE CAPITAL

The News endorses most heartily the arguments being placed before Pampa capitalists by the Hoo Hoo club of lumber dealers. This appeal, in brief, is that those who have funds to invest can do nothing more effective in building a greater city than to make loans available to those who wish to erect residences and business structures.

In an advertisement published in The News Sunday, this message was part of the Hoo Hoo appeal:

"Pampa needs more money for the purpose of helping build more houses and other buildings. Every lumberman will tell you that scores of men and women would like to build a home. Many other scores who are living in cramped quarters will tell you. Several business men, who are desirous of erecting good buildings, will repeat: we need more money.

"We have some loan companies, we have a local building and loan association, and these all repeat: 'We could loan a large amount of money on good security to people who are responsible, but the money is not available.'

"It is easy to say that it takes time to get the loan companies to realize that Pampa is a steadily developing town, that has a substantial future. But that does not help. The fact is, that it does take time, for men who have money to invest always look askance at an oil town until it has proven itself.

"We who feel that we know that Pampa's present is substantial and that her future is assured have not been able to convince the outside man with money, especially along these lines. We know that our oil and gas field with its attendant industries will be here a long time. We know that long after flush production ceases, these large payrolls will be here. We feel that before such a time comes, our agriculture will be developed.

"Pampa's growth is being held back because of this. Let's solve this problem as soon as possible so that there will be no stop in our advancement.

"If you are back of Pampa and will lend money for the construction of office or business buildings as well as residences, loans to be well secured, address Pampa Lumbermen's Hoo-Hoo club. Your name will be withheld and you will be furnished information concerning applicants for financial backing. Confer with your favorite lumberman."

If Pampa is to become the city which all good citizens desire, much of the money which is accruing to local people from their oil properties will have to be used in building that city. Quite a number of fortunate and enterprising citizens are doing this very thing, but there are many who have not yet begun.

The Hoo-Hoo club has the right formula for a bigger, better Pampa.

VARIETY IN THE KITCHEN

People who travel about this country a good deal often complain that American cooking is getting standardized. It makes little difference, they say, whether you eat in San Francisco or New York, Galveston or Bangor; the food you get will be just about the same, cooked in much the same way.

Undeniably the eating habits of all Americans are quite similar. Nevertheless, there are sectional differences, and the traveler who takes the trouble to inquire about them and to ask for the local specialties can still enjoy a good deal of variety in his meals.

The United Press recently sent a story from New York, analyzing the various sectional preferences in the matter of food. Some of its conclusions are interesting.

New York, for instance, holds up corned beef hash as its favorite restaurant dish. Philadelphia slings to its traditional scrapple. Dwellers in the middle west do not like things highly seasoned. New Orleans, on the other hand, does. Minnesota people eat a great many steaks. California goes for salads.

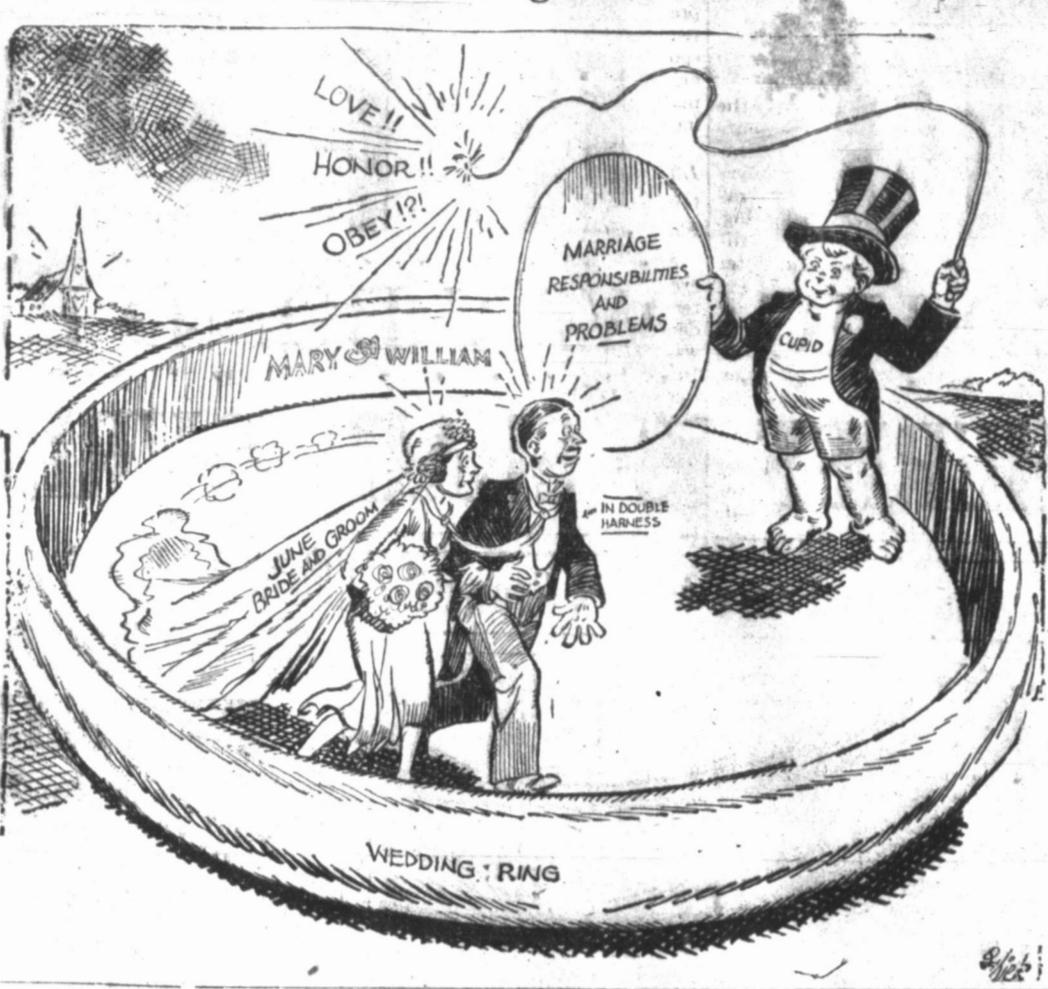

So it goes. One could add other things. Boston will give you pie for breakfast, and will implore you to have codfish cakes on Sunday morning! San Diego will introduce you to hot tamales. Michigan and Wisconsin will press Lake Superior whitefish on you. Maryland can show you a thing or two about fried chicken. Baltimore will give you oysters. Any New England state can prove the excellency of blueberry pie for the traveler.

There's a fair bit of variety there. It is possible that the uniformity of menus is more due to the traveler than to the native sons. The man who goes about the country ordering ham and eggs, or hamburger and onions, at every place he comes to has no one but himself to blame. If he'll take the trouble to find out what the local favorites are he can vary his diet considerably—and, incidentally, do some mighty pleasant dining as well.—NEA.

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance—speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter & Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks.

The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand.

Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies. Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and accuracy in manufacturing. Beneath its graceful lines and beautiful colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence.

An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate.

Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

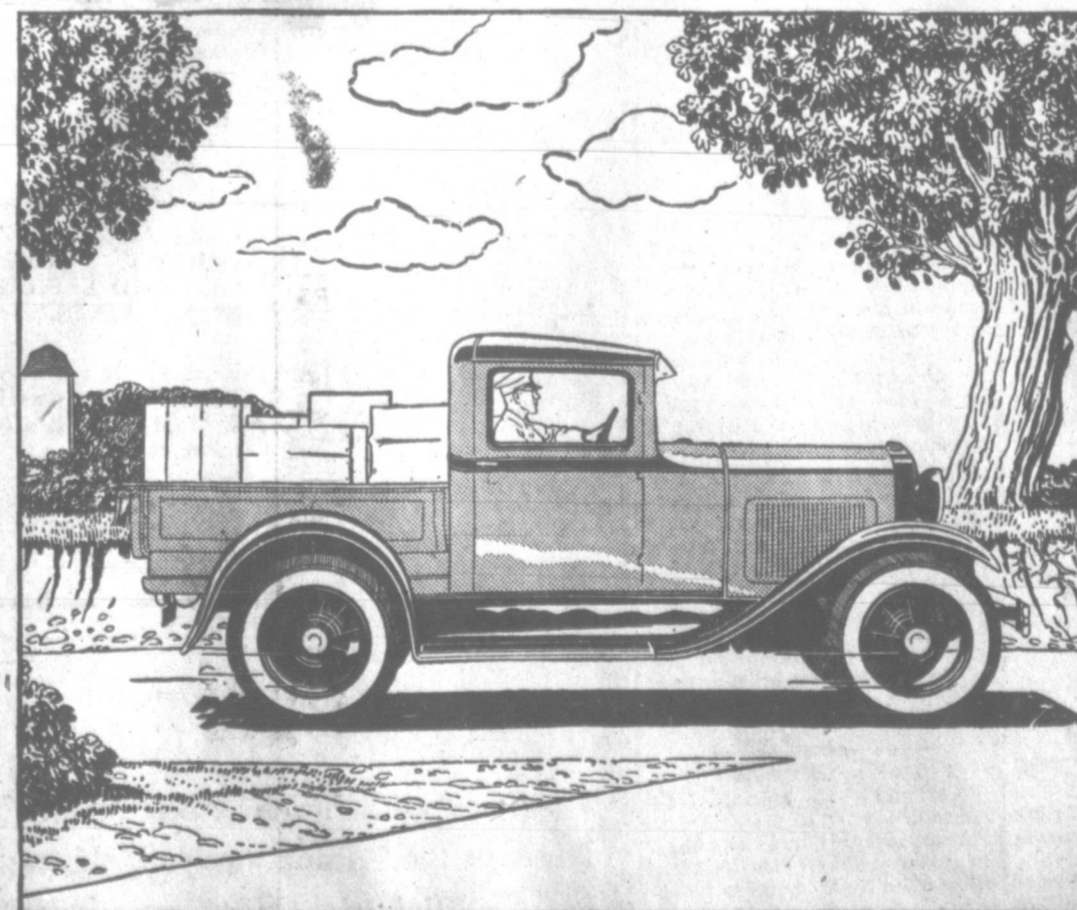

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.

SHARKEY-SCHMELING BOUT MOST IMPORTANT IN 3 YEARS

FIGHT PARTY TO BE HELD BY THE NEWS

Believing that many boxing fans will probably not have access to the radio broadcast of the Sharkey-Schmeling battle tomorrow evening, The News will have a free "fight party" for all who care to hear the blow-by-blow megaphoned report.

The News will be connected by high speed leased wire to the ring-side, and the blow-by-blow account will be only a few seconds behind the actual fight. The wire will be opened about 7:30 p. m. in order to obtain results of the preliminaries and to announce the sidelights before the big bout begins at 8 o'clock, Pampa time.

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 11. (AP)—In the most interesting and most extravagantly ballyhooed fight since the late Tex Rickard pulled the strings of the heavyweight punch and Judy show, Jack Sharkey will fight Max Schmeling tomorrow night, 15 rounds or less, at the Yankee stadium for the "heavyweight championship of the world."

It is by all odds the most significant heavyweight bout since the retirement of Gene Tunney, but whether the winner will be recognized outside of Germany, Lithuania, and the United States remains to be seen.

With any kind of an even break from old man weather, a crowd of 75,000 fans probably will pay in excess of $700,000 to see the big show. This is a far cry from the figures attending the last of the outstanding Rickard extravaganza on Chicago's lake front in 1927, but it exceeds anything on the books of the heavyweight business for the past three years. In addition the customers will have the happy opportunity to serve a double purpose in benefiting the children's milk fund, sponsored by Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, and in aiding the recovery of the indigent heavyweight division.

Today, the two main questions up for debate among the railbirds are: First, can Schmeling carry the fight heights that three previous foreign challengers, Firpi, Carpenter, and Heene, failed to reach? Second, can Sharkey overcome the temperamental jinx that has seemed to pursue him in international competition and fight at his best?

This fight is no exception, when it comes to the speculative "ifs" and "buts" or even the loose talk that everything is "in" and "all right" for one principal or the other. So far as that goes, it is just the ballyhoo that has become a part of the game.

The claims from one corner that Schmeling will win if he crowds and harrasses Sharkey from the outset are countered by the cries that the Teuton will have his ears cuffed off if he mixes too willingly.

The belief that Sharkey is due for one of his good fights and, therefore, will emerge the winner is offset by his record of consistently putting up mediocre bouts against foreign rivals. It is this strange feature of Sharkey's career that seems to give Schmeling the best chance to capture heavyweight honors that any invader has had since Luis Angel Firpo knocked Jack Dempsey out of the ring at the Polo Grounds seven years ago.

Sharkey has fought his good fights almost exclusively against the domestic punch absorbers. His most impressive performances were scored against Harry Wills and George Godfrey, the so-called black menaces; Jim Maloney and Tommy Loughran, representing the Irish-American contingent.

Against this, there is Sharkey's record of being knocked out early in his career by Romero Rojas, the Chilean; beaten by bounding Johnny Risbo, the Austrian boxer; held to a draw by old Tom Heene, the New Zealander; victor over Phil Scott, the Englishman, in a very questionable bout at Miami where Phil might easily have been declared the winner on a foul, whether, or not he was hurt by Sharkey's low blows.

This information may be good for the hunch-players, even though not conoling to the patriots, who will consider it a national calamity, scarcely less important than the Wall Street crash, if the heavy-weight title is lost to America. In spite of it, the form players have made Sharkey a 9 to 5 favorite in the betting and he probably will enter the ring at that figure.

The training camps have contributed little but wordage to the general discussion. The main facts are that Sharkey, best of a poor crop of American heavyweights, has the fighting equipment and experience with which to beat back the challenge of the young, hard-hitting and courageous German. No one yet, however, has successfully predicted what Sharkey will do on any given evening in the ring, so that the rest of the argument may just as well be preserved for tomorrow night.

ST. LOUIS FANS FORESEE PENNANT AFTER GIDDY CLIMB OF CARDINALS

The power and brains back of the sensational reirth of the St. Louis Cardinals. Taylor Douthit (left), outfielder, drove in many runs needed during the drive. Manager Gabby Street (center) gave the club a "never-say-die" spirit, and got winning efforts from "Wild Bill" Hallahan (insert) and other pitchers. The big bat of Ernest Orsatti (right) was a winning factor.

"Great" Shires Is Bench Warmer

CHICAGO, June 11. (AP)—Arthur "The Great" Shires is again warming the White Sox bench.

The White Sox first baseman was forced out of yesterday's game with the Athletics when he was hit in the face by a ball during batting practice and "Bud" Clancy stepped into his role and won the game in the eleventh inning.

Injury or no injury, Shires is destined to warm the bench for sometime as his batting average is less than his last winter's fighting mark.

CLUSTERS OF HITS WIN YE OLDE GAMES

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Yesterday's lesson in the Texas league had to do with the base hit and its effect, if any, on the outcome of a ball game.

The San Antonio Indians, in a boisterous mood, banged out 16 hits off two Wichita Falls pitchers. The Spudders, experiencing an off day, could gather only seven blows off one San Antonio chunker. Now, which team won?

You were right—the Spudders. Why? Because Mr. Klono, who plays center field for the Spudders, smacked a home run in the tenth inning with one of his playmates on base, whereas the Injuns had not been able to gather their hits in clusters. The score, 4 to 2. And are the Spudders in the habit of doing tricks like that? Oh, my yes; that is why they are leading the Texas league by six and one-half games today.

Getting back to business, the victim of Klono's big punch was Duro, who up to that time had lunged a very creditable game for the downstarts. The extra-inning victory enabled the leaders to square the series. Joe Moore did nobly for the losers, contributing a double and three singles to the cause.

Houston lost ground in the race when the Fort Worth Cats squared their series, 7 to 6. The Buffs were almost a week behind the Spuds today, and only eight days remaining before the club owners will vote on a split season. The Cats sewed up yesterday's verdict in a hurry, jumping on Ray Lingret and hurled good ball in the last six innings, but to no avail. Dick McCabe went the route for the felines.

Lefty Stein, who can look better one day and worse the next than almost any pitcher in the league, had one of his very good days, and the Waco Cubs made it two straight over Dallas, 6 to 5. Not only did the Cub southpaw hold the cellarites to five hits, but he smacked a homer in the sixth with the bases loaded to rectify any mistakes he might have had. About the only mistake he made all day was throwing a fence ball to Homer Eggert, Steer infielder, with two aboard in the third.

Shreveport took a firmer hold on third place by walloping the straggling Beaumont Exporters again, 6 to 2. They were only a half game out of second place today. Underhill limited the Shippers to four hits, two of them doubles by Bud Stapleton, while his mates hopped on Vaughn and Mallet for nine, including four-baggers by Perry and Krauss. Underhill registered six strikeouts.

Try For Best Record
NEW ORLEANS, June 11. (AP)—The speedboat "Miss Greenville" shot out from the Canal street wharf here today at 9:03 a. m., up the Mississippi river for St. Louis in its attempt to break the speed boat record of 87 hours, 31 minutes set in 1929 by Dr. Louis LeRoy in the "Bogie."

Chicago Growth Cited
CHICAGO, June 11. (AP)—The population of Chicago was announced today as 3,373,753, an increase of 679,948 since the 1920 census.

CARDS SLIDE AS FAST AS UPWARD TRIP

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

A little thing like a rapidly ascending elevator, which causes unpleasant sensations in many quarters, shouldn't bother the St. Louis Cardinals a bit from now on. The Cards went up to the top of the National league with about the greatest possible speed, winning 17 out of 18 games, and have been coming down from the heights with about as great rapidity.

The Cardinals came to a temporary stop in their losing yesterday after dropping five straight games, but it took them ten long innings to gain a 2 to 1 decision over the Boston Braves and even that triumph left them with a record of only two victories in their last 12 games.

The Chicago Cubs, who appeared to be heading for the job of successors to the Cards as League leaders, suffered another setback after losing two out of three to Brooklyn. They ran into Phil Collins of Philadelphia and got only six hits. The Phillies pecked away at Pat Malone, winding up with a three-run burst in the eighth for a 6 to 2 victory.

All the other National league games and the Washington-Cleveland contest in the American league were rained out.

Another champion club, the Philadelphia Athletics, played second division baseball as they dropped an eleven-inning struggle to the Chicago White Sox by a 7 to 6 count. The worst exhibition came in the tenth inning when Philadelphia could get only two runs on five hits, having two men thrown out at the plate.

The Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers put on another exhibition of poor fielding and heavy hitting. The Red Sox made 17 hits off four Tiger hurlers and reaped the benefits of four errors, all of which figured in the scoring for a 12 to 6 victory.

The New York Yankees got a fast start against the St. Louis Browns and scored all their runs in the first two innings to win 5 to 3. The rest of the game was a close battle between Herb Pennock and George Blaholder, who succeeded Dick Cofman on the mound.

Mrs. P. A. Williams returned Tuesday from a vacation trip to Trinidad, Colo., where she visited Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Williams.

B. E. Boyd of the Pickering Lumber company, has returned from a two-week vacation spent in Eastern Oklahoma and Southern Kansas.

She was becoming convinced that Alan did not love her. She more than suspected that he loved Natalie. And yet she wanted him. Just as these men wanted Payne's dollars. She felt she had a right to take what she could get, just as they did.

Only she forgot that these men were fighting under a banner, figuratively at least. Everyone in the world, who knew that they were in the Street, knew what they were there for. They were all after the same thing, Payne among them. When it was all over, he wouldn't be any more bitter than he had a right to be.

But Philippa had never worn sword or shield. She had fought from ambush. She was doing it now, following out the plan she had conceived at her desk. "I'm moving away from home," she said, to begin the "discussion." Alan stared at her.

"I've had trouble with father," she explained, and Alan heard her catch her breath in a sob. "But, why, I thought..." he began. Philippa interrupted him. She was turning his ring upon her finger, drawing attention to it.

"It satisfied mother that you're really going to marry me, Alan," she said brokenly; "but Dad won't believe it. So I'm leaving." "But, Philippa, where are you going?" "Oh, I don't know," she cried helplessly. "I don't know what to do. It's dreadful, when you've never lived alone before. Oh, of course, I know thousands of girls are doing it right here in New York, and we'll have some place to see each other then, without being out all the time, or something. I suppose it's having father abuse me, that did it."

The appeal to Alan was not in vain. But he didn't want to feel tender toward her, so he coughed his answer crisply. "Nonsense," he said; "there's no reason why you should feel that anyone has forsaken you. We'll find you a place to live. The idea isn't new to you, you know." "N... o... o..." Philippa agreed; "but I've got to find a place right away."

"Take an extra hour at lunch. Engage a taxi and keep it; it will save time." "But Alan, aren't you going to look with me?" She seemed surprised and hurt, quite forgetting she was a very capable business woman.

Alan remembered. "You won't need me today," he answered gruffly. "Find a place, and I'll look it over later. But you want to be sure that you aren't making a mistake," he added uneasily. Philippa smiled at him, a pathetically appealing little smile. "Aside from hating to leave mother, I think it will be heavenly to have a place where I can make things for you," she said softly. Alan was not overcome with the joy of anticipation. "Good lord, I hope you don't mean biscuits," he exclaimed.

"Can't you go with me this afternoon?" Philippa coaxed, and Alan was so upset by her decision to leave her father's house, and Natalie's eminent return, that he quite failed to notice how suddenly she had lost bewilderment and dread of living alone.

He was about to say he would go if there was time, when he was interrupted by the office boy with a telegram. It was from Natalie. (To Be Continued)

"Dynamite" Is Talking Movie of Intense Drama

"Dynamite" Cecil B. De Mille's fifty-fifth production, marks a return for the producer to the exciting, luxurious sets and gowns which made his reputation in such pictures as "Manslaughter," "Male and Female," and "Why Change Your Wife?" The new picture will play at the Rex theatre, starting Thursday.

After the costumes and differing customs of "The Volga Boatman," "King of Kings," and "The Ten Commandments," De Mille comes back to bathrooms, boudoirs, smart women and clever men in his newest story from the pen of Jeanie MacPherson.

"Dynamite," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talking picture, abounds with entertaining situations. Its central sequence is a marriage of a society girl to a coal miner on the eve of the latter's execution for murder. It swings from the hectic gaiety of a "wild party," to scenes of intense drama in the depths of a coal mine. Its race of ten pretty girls in the foreign novelty, aero-wheels, is said to be one of the most striking sequences ever put into a motion picture. Ten of Hollywood's prettiest roll head-over-heels in the huge hoops to which their feet are fastened. Not the least interesting feature of this particular sequence is that it is the first scene ever taken where characters talk upside down!

Happy Mother Highly Praises Modern Konjola

Relates How New and Different Medicine Banished Ills of Her Daughter

MISS DOROTHY RHYNE "My ten year old daughter, Dorothy, has been troubled with chronic constipation ever since a small child," said Dorothy's mother, Mrs. J. D. Rhyne, 616 East Eleventh street Amarillo. "This condition caused her to become nervous, and she frequently suffered with bilious attacks and dizzy spells. Often she had severe headaches and I had to keep her home from school for two or three days at a time. She was very flighty, had no pep or vitality, and tired very easily."

"After Konjola so thoroughly relieved me of my ailments, I decided to give it to Dorothy. It is amazing how quickly this medicine went to work. Now she is like a different child. She has only taken Konjola Brooke, Leslie Fenton, Barton Hepburn and Ernest Hilliard.

Mr. De Mille's production staff was brought to M-G-M intact for the making of "Dynamite," and all of his future productions. Ferverell Marley, cinematographer of "King of Kings," was in charge of the photography while Mitchell Leisen acted as art and assistant director.

COLLISION—

passengers had either perished or were unaccounted for and that 12 members were missing of the latter, a majority was reported to have been negro stewards, who leaped to death in the flaming, oil-coated water in the first moments after the impact.

One of the dead, a woman passenger, succumbed to burns, while being brought here aboard a sister ship of the Fairfax, the Gloucester, which removed the passengers.

BOSTON, June 11. (AP)—D. R. McNeil of Baltimore, vice-president of the Merchants and Miners Transportation company issued an informal statement soon after the rescue ship Gloucester docked.

He said the Fairfax was proceeding in a dense fog and that an explosion immediately followed the collision. As far as he knew all members of the tanker's crew were lost. One passenger died on board the Gloucester while being brought to Boston for treatment, he said.

Had Reduced Speed
"I am afraid some members of the crew of the Fairfax were lost," he said, "I believe that they were all negro members of the steward's department. The Fairfax had a ten-foot hole in her side."

McNeil said that two roll calls were taken on the Gloucester while it was proceeding here, but that both were useless because of the confusion. He said that the normal speed of the Fairfax was 12 knots, but because of the fog she was going at half speed.

"The crew acted fine and there was no confusion among the members," he declared. "Oil spread around the vessel on all sides, and the flames burned the hawsers on the port side. Boats were lowered and a search made for the crew of the tanker. One boat was still searching when we left the scene."

"We did not ask for any assistance other than that from the Gloucester because after the first happenings there was no need for aid from anybody other than the Gloucester. At no time were we in any danger of sinking."

McNeil praised the conduct of the sailors and marines who were on board for their coolness and their aid in the rescue work.

List of Missing
BOSTON, June 11. (AP)—The following list of passengers of the S. S. Fairfax, not accounted for after a check of all sources, was issued by Vice-President D. A. McNeil of the Merchants & Miners Transportation company.

S. M. Rose.
A. S. Nulvanti, wife and child, Nashua, N. H.
Miss Gergette Croton, Boston.
Miss M. V. Craven, Boston.
D. T. Constantine.
W. J. Meagher and wife, Milton, Mass.
J. B. Yaker, Kittery, Me.
Mrs. C. Gardner.

An unidentified woman who was lost, he said, was probably one of the above list.

CANNON—

diana, sided with Cannon—saying he wondered "what that has to do with the lobbying investigation."

As Cannon refused to answer a question of Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, about the 1928 Virginia anti-Smith funds, Chairman Caraway said the objection of the Bishop would be considered by the committee.

"In the Huston matter had Mr. Huston made such answers we never would have been able to go to the source of his fund," observed Blaine.

Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, was examined by the lobby investigators several months ago in connection with money received by him for the Tennessee river improvement association.

"This has nothing to do with lobbying nor with the Huston case," asserted Robinson, protesting Blaine's questioning.

At this point, an elderly woman walked to the committee table to say, "this is a Romanist hold-up of Protestant America and I protest." Chairman Caraway rapped sharply for order, and she returned to her seat.

Huge Machine Shop in Which All Kinds of Drilling Tools Are Made Is Proof of City's Oil Position

BY ARCHER FULLINGIM

Besides the 800 oil wells in Gray county, flowing 30,000 barrels of oil per day, one of the most convincing proofs that Pampa is now and has been for 2 years the center of Panhandle oil activities, "the oil capital of the Plains," if one prefers that phrase, is the Jones-Everett Machine shop in South Pampa. This huge establishment, employing from 25 to 30 machinists and iron workers, is the largest of its kind in the Panhandle. The pay-roll ranges from $1,000 to $1,200 per week, or if an average of $1,050 is used, then about $50,000 per year.

A newspaper article will not be sufficient to give the impression of immensity and power that a visit would. One might write that it comprises a welding room, a lathing department, a pipe-threading division, a blacksmith shop and still be unimpressed; a visit is necessary. For instance, when one learns that there is a blacksmith shop, he instantly thinks of the blacksmith shops of the old days.

A fleeting glance in the blacksmith shop at the Jones-Everett Machine company while the workers are forging braiden-heads would convince him that it is no ordinary blacksmith shop. He would see a huge gas turbine in which are heated huge round pieces of iron with a four-inch hole through the center. Soon one of the workers with a long iron pole would fish it to the furnace door where a pole crane transfers it to a great anvil under a steam hammer which has a 1500-pound stroke. This big hammer descends every second and in a minute or so a braiden-head has been forged. But still it is not ready for use. It is finished with many a machine in the shop rooms. There is noise, fire, smoke, heat and sparks in this blacksmith shop, and the hiss of escaping steam is in one's ears all the time. As in all huge, crushing machines there is a fascination in this steam hammer. Mr. H. C. McGee, book-keeper at the JEMCO, stated that he could watch it all day and there's many another who could.

The welding room is located next to the office at the front of the building. The acetylene torch in this department is usual and ordinary, but the electric welder—it also has the relentless, fascinating personality of the machine. One does not look at it for long without damaging his eyes. The electric hydraulic press is another machine in this room to observe in action. M. W. Jones, manager of the shop, plans to install a cement floor in the welding room soon.

The JEMCO makes every kind of fishing tool known to the drilling profession, and it is surprising to know just how many there are. To see the display of fishing tools would enlighten many a person who knows that oil wells are drilled but have no idea how it's done. An inspection of a paraffin auger or three-prong grab would be sufficient—one would not have to be told how they are used.

In the lathing room, bearings of any size are bored. These are monster machines and weigh tons, representing an investment of thousands of dollars. A planer, a milling machine and a drill press in this department are impressive machines. All kinds of fishing tools are made in the lathing room. A hacksaw was not in action yesterday, but its silence was not peculiar. Spuds, reamers, center spears, and huge bits are the products of these machines.

At the rear of the shop, is the pipe-threading machines—one for four-inch pipe and under, another loc ut threads on 1 1/2 to 15-inch pipe and one for 10-inch pipe, and one for 10 inch pipe. Of course, every machine in the shop is run by electricity. An idea of the versatility and power of all the machines is gained in the fact that there is not a pipe nor a tool nor any instrument used in drilling oil wells which cannot be repaired, threaded, welded, bored, lathed, pressed, drilled, reamed, forged, sawed, ground, planed or milled in this shop.

J. H. Lutz, shop foreman, is the man who is master of every machine in the house and in the blacksmith shop. Mr. Jones, also, knows the intimate workings of every machine. He has been in the machine shop business for years. There are JEMCO shops at Ardmore and Haldeth, and in those two towns is where "broke" into the business. Since he opened his first shop there has been many improvements made in the machines. Now, operation of the machines depends on skill and technique, not on main strength. Electricity does the rest.

Big shipments of iron in long bars called "billets" arrive at the JEMCO every month or so. From these are forged the fishing tools, the braiden-heads and every tool used in the drilling of an oil well.

The JEMCO office personnel includes Mr. Jones, Mr. McGee, J. T. Manson, field man, and C. F. Jones son of M. W., assistant book-keeper. As strength and power prevails in the machine shop, so do they pervade Mr. Jones' office, which is much more attractive than one expected it to be. At the top of the wainscoting, the letters JEMCO in a diamond are stenciled on the canary plaster walls. The massive oak furniture and the heavy green safe and files were appropriately selected.

"Deacon" Jones as he is known to cronies, is proud of his baseball team whether it wins or loses, but he cannot always depend on the baseball team to win, and the machines never lose.

Is the machine master of man? College professors often say so. But not Mr. Jones. He and his men are the masters, not the slaves, of his machines. Pride in their mastery emanates from each worker.

You ought to visit the place sometime and you'd see what we're driving at.

Texas Oil Notes

DALLAS, June 11. (AP)—Humble Oil and Refining company's No. 4 new well on the northeast end of the Bruner oil field, which blew in making 25,000 barrels of oil daily, came as a surprise to geologists and field men. The well is at least three locations east of what experts called the production line in the Bruner field and is north and east of the complete closure worked out by oil men. The well ran wild for 12 hours but was finally shut in and the flow was restricted to 10,000 barrels daily through a four-inch choke.

Tidal Oil company's No. 1 Seligman test, near San Antonio, which found oil in the Austin chalk at 2,511 feet, but was continued to the Edwards lime because production in the chalk was not of commercial proportions, now is considered a failure in the Edwards. Sufficient indication of sulphur water was encountered in that formation, 2,798-2,801 feet, to lead to the conclusion that it would not produce oil.

Another important test which apparently has proved a failure was Deeg Rock Oil company's No. 1 Hayden Niles, one and a half miles south of Andrews county's only commercial production in the west Texas Premlan Basin. Sulphur water which first appeared in the test at 4,590-95 feet, increased to a hole full at 4,400 feet.

The New Mexico field, which has had several producers recently, had another in the Midwest Exploration company's No. 38 state which blew out and flowed at an estimated 2,500 barrels of oil and 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas from 4,145 feet. The test is three and a half miles southeast of Humble No. 1 Bowers, but apparently in the same deep pay horizon. It is in section 10-19-38.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Saunders and children, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Saunders and children, Mrs. L. O. Saunders, and Mrs. Crossman are in Hot Springs, Ark., for a visit of a month or six weeks.

Wheat Sags Early
CHICAGO, June 11. (AP)—Influenced by moderate speculative selling and a scarcity of buyers, wheat averaged lower early today. Varying constructions were placed on the United States government crop report, and the market effect of the report appeared to be slight. Opening 1/4-3/4 off, wheat afterward rallied somewhat, but then sagged again. Corn, oats and corn starting 1/4 lower to a shade advance, and subsequently holding near to the initial range.
