Clyde Patheree has just handed us an almanac. Oh yes, they are still shed, by the makers of Black Draught and Cardui. In this day of scientific weather forecasting day by day, the good old practice of predicting the seasons a year or more in advance has been follotten. Dr. DeVoe is still prognosticating, however, and the Pampan is going to put him and the daily forecasters in the test. Dr. DeVoe writes for to the test. Dr. DeVoe writes for the almanac, and includes a lot of useful information besides.

In short, this column has adopted Dr. DeVoe's prophecies for this year and readers will find it of int npare them with the official U. S. forecast at the bottom of this page each day.

Today, our almanac says, will be clear and pleasant. It may not be, but until we get more evidence to the contrary we are going to be-lieve it. We even think it will be the same way tomorrow, and warmer but growing unsettled on the next three days. That is as far as we are going now, but read-ers are privileged to call us up for forecasts further down the line. BLACKWELL, Okla., Dec. 31. (P) The picture of a drink-maddened ex-convict, careening up and down a highway beside which the bullet-pierced bodies of two sisters were found, was painted today by offic-ers seeking Earl Quinn for the mys-terious Griffith murders.

County Attorney Bruce Potter to-day disclosed a chain of evidence by which he hopes to lay the slayings of Jessie and Zexia Griffith, Black-

He said Quinn, armed with pisto another band of steel to and gas-filled "gun", set out along upa with downstate points, the highway in a motor car, to "hiers, returning to their schools from Christmas vacation, were shot to leath near Tonkawa, Okla.

The former Missouri convict crazed with drink, halted several motorists in his search for the boot legger, according to the county at-torney, who believes Quinn fired a shot at the gitis' motor car, wounding Zexia, 35; forced them to enter his car; attacked the younger sis-ter, Jessie, 24, and then killed both and tossed their bodies alongside the road.

Fine Button Quinn, said the investigator, pos sessed a pistol amiliar to that with which the young women were slain. A button found in the girls' bloodtained coupe hatches a vest left in Quinn's room at Tonkawaw, Pot ter said.

Sunday morning Juinn and his wife, the latter now held, drove to Wichita, Kas., quarreled and separ-ated. Potter believes Quinn went to Kansas City, his former home.

Belief Dispelled

The year 1930 dispelled the belief that when activity ceased in the Bowers, Marland-Finley - the South Gray fields—the oil play in this section would be over. Operators and geologists are no longer positive that they know where oil can be found. The Cockrell-McIlroy operations west of Pampa and the Graham-Cess-Hoover gusher southwest of Pampa made believers out of a good many skeptics. The geologists are willing to admit that oil might be found anywhere in the county. They won't say positively that it cannot be found. All thi shas augmented the belief of some enth; isiasts that the oil development of Gray county has a of it before it begins to play out. The Graham pool seemed more significant of late when a dozen large gassers were brought in on the plains in that vicinity.

As Bob told it, it told Fanny he plans to run away and leave his unsympathetic wife on Halloween night. David and Fanny go to a costume party that evening, but a quarrel over money starts their evening off wrong.

A MOMENT OF WEAKNESS

When the party was at its height Bob Daniels appeared suddenly at Fanny's elbow, dressed in a shapeless white gown and completely masked with a grinning death's head. Fanny did not recognize him until he whisperd his identity to

"You didn't think, did you, that I would go away without a good-by?' he asked while they were dancing.
"I didn't know. I felt dreadfully abused. Are you actually going to-

"I actually am. My car's outside with my trunk strapped on the back. Leila got suspicious—kept such a watch on me I had to let it down out of my window by a rope-and shin down myself." He laughed gleefully.

"I ought to scold you," said Fanny, "but I can't. I don't believe you are much over seven years old."
She was immedately happier, now that Bob had not gone cff without a word of farewell. Her black depression, which she had been fighting hectically all evening, showed a silver edge; at least she was of par-

A passing waiter cached a tray of glasses filled with champagne behind a palm and Fanny drank one glass, then two. It was such a good joke on the waiter. A little later she made no objection when Bob guided her through a side door, down the steps and along the path to the sunken garden.

The little garden might itself have been a ghost in the moonlight—the ghost of a more romantic, more fanciful, more mettlesome age. An ancient figure of Pan played on his pipes and watched them covertly. To Fanny he seemed to be laughing to himself, mocking their youth and dreams and trivial gropings after "Do you know what the old boy is

THE YEAR 1930 COMES TO AN END

Another year of our lives has come to an end and with it our successes and failures have past into the background. We stand at the portal of a new, and we hope, a more successful year.

However, despite the reverses of the last few months, Pampa and the surrounding panhandle territory has been fortunate during the past year, considering the rest of the nation. Pampa has been in the "white spot" of the national business map during the entire year while the greater part of the country has been shrouded in blackness and the bordering color, grav.

Pampa, itself, has received the new beautiful city Hall, the county courthouse, the La Nora theatre, a new fire station, and numerous new business buildings of modern design. These have enhanced the beauty of the greater part of the country has been shrouded in living quarters. Desirable location. R. J. Robbins, 1252 S. Barnes. pl FOR RENT — Modern southwest bedroom, twin beds. 811 N. Frost. m the rowing business section. In fact this city is taking ppearance of a metropolis.

ul structure opposite the new Gray county court house. Other good news has come to our ears as the new year dawns. The new railroad from Childress to Pampa another outlet for Pampa and Gray county products. It will mean a more direct line to southern markets which has been lacking in this community in the past.

The petroleum industry in this locality has suffered somewhat of a reverse in the last few months but to offset this, the natural gas industry has advanced considerable and has brighter prospects during the coming year

With pipe lines under construction leading out of the Texas panhandle and running into various parts of the east, it looks well for this business. As the lines are completed there will be daily millions of of gas transferred from the panhandle oil field to the east. This will mean additional gas wells to feed the long, black, winding monsters.

Perhaps along with the gigantic stride of the petroleum successes is the rise of agriculture in the Texas panhandle. A few years ago this short grass country fed thousands of cattle. As the people tion, the large cattle ranges were subdivided in to small farms. The rural business is changing from the range to the farm with many crops suitable to this climate.

Modern methods of farming are being instituted more and more by the great help of the 4-H clubs for the young rural boys and girls and by the good advice of the county home demonstration agent and the county farm agent. These agences have done an immense amount of good in Gray county in the last year.

The nation as a whole has been rather hard hit by the drought and floods and market crashes in the past year but it cannot last forever because it never has in the past. We all have our reverses at times but we have to keep a stiff backbone and not weaken even though the strain is great.

Bright times are in the offering, they are just beyond the horizon. Forget the past we are at the beginning of a new year and we wish you all a happy and a prosperous one.

F. O. Rose, Cabot company chemist, was admitted to the Worley hospital Tuesday, following injuries he received at the Kingsmill plant when he slipped on a wet floor and wrenched his back.
