Age is political factor

LONDON (AP) — A leading British doctor says political leaders should be made to quit at 65, and before if they are no longer fit.

"I'm 62 and I know that I'm slowing down. I admit it, but politicians often do not seem to want to," Dr. Hugh L'Etang writes in his book "Fit to Lead," published today.

He singled out three incumbents:

Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev "is looking a bit dodder. There is a question of whether he has had a heart pacemaker fitted."

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat "has had heart trouble."

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin "has had heart trouble or a mild stroke."

The author, who edits a widely-read medical magazine called The Practitioner, said Sir

Winston Churchill, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and former Prime Ministers Anthony Eden and Harold Macmillan all clung to power when they were no longer physically up to it. He also raises questions about drugs taken by President Kennedy for his ailments.

The author acknowledges that Churchill was 65 — the retirement age he recommends — when he became Britain's wartime prime minister. But he criticizes his postwar years in office.

Arson suspect in fatal fire

Cattle suffer in late storm

Still digging out after 2 feet of snow, concerned Nebraska and Montana ranchers were rounding up new-born calves and jacking extra hay to their cattle today as a new snowstorm bore down on them from the Colorado Rockies.

In the rain-battered South, residents were urged to leave Franklinton, La., as a second flood crest rolled toward the homes they fled two days ago. And hundreds of Mississippi residents in low-lying areas between Jackson and Columbia fled to high ground, waiting for the Pearl River to crest today.

In Montana, Sweetgrass County authorities searched for a rancher who was reported lost in deep, swirling snow after he left Big Timber for his ranch 40 miles away.

A winter storm watch was posted for Nebraska through tonight, after a day-long respite from a three-day storm that left more than 2 feet of snow.

The heavy, wet snow caught Nebraska cattlemen at the peak of calving season, and officials feared a new storm could devastate the calf crop. A 1975 storm killed 56,000 calves, costing cattlemen $4 million.

One cattleman, Oran Magnuson, of Arthur, Neb., said he'd already had at least 30 calves suffocate in snow drifts of up to 12 feet. He called the situation "desperate."

Murder suspect is symbol for elderly

EASTWOOD, Md. (AP) — Sympathetic letters from around the country are pouring in to a quiet, lean 68-year-old retiree charged with killing a teen-ager he says threw snowballs at his house.

He has been interviewed by a national magazine and a network television news show.

The charges against Roman Welzant are serious — in May he will be tried for second-degree murder, assault with intent to commit murder and related firearms counts — yet people are contributing to a defense fund. More than $1,700 has been collected, in small contributions, many from elderly people.

To many, Welzant has become a symbol of the oppressed, elderly American, living on a fixed income, fearful of assault or robbery.

"Apparently from the letters we're getting from all over, people are suffering the same as we did," said Welzant.

More than 10 years ago, Welzant began having skirmishes with the local teen-agers who hung out behind his rowhouse in this blue-collar Baltimore suburb.

"It was a general day-to-day thing, a rock coming through a window, an egg splashing against the side of the house," Welzant recalled.

His war, for that is what it became, reached a climax Jan. 4 when he allegedly shot and killed Albert Kahl, 18, and wounded James Willey, 16. His attorney, Russell White, said the teens had thrown snowballs at his house, then assaulted Welzant when he went outside to identify them.

Welzant chain-smoked as he sat in White's office, recounting what he said were years of constant harassment. He and his 64-year-old wife, Genevieve, said they lived in fear of being attacked and of having their house vandalized.

Mexico jail escape prompts tightening border security

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Searchers prepared to comb the mountains of northern Mexico today for nine "desperate" prisoners who overpowered a guard, broke out of the Juarez penitentiary and may have flown to freedom.

One of the escapees was caught Sunday in Mexico, according to Juarez police and the U.S. Border Patrol, but they declined to give details of the capture.

The 10 inmates, armed with pistols, took a guard hostage as they fled Saturday morning. The guard was released unharmed a few blocks from the prison, where he said two cars were awaiting the escapees.

U.S. and Mexican officers, using planes and a helicopter, concentrated their initial search along the border southeast of Juarez, which is across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Texas.

"It appears that there was an aircraft waiting for them," said assistant chief Border Patrol agent Ray Reeves in El Paso. "We think they're hid in the mountains south of Juarez."

Juarez police said two men, believed to be escaped inmates, pistol-whipped two police officers in Zaragosa, just southeast of Juarez, and commandeered their squad car. The car was found abandoned nearby.

"Apparently there was a rendezvous there," Reeves said.

All the inmates were Mexicans charged with drug offenses, and were armed with pistols smuggled into the federal prison, Reeves said.

HOUSTON (AP) — Arson investigators are taking a close look at a fire that killed a Houston woman, her three daughters and infant grandson, who huddled helplessly upstairs as flames consumed their home.

"I'm not going to say it's a suspicious fire," said a Houston fire captain who asked not to be named, "but there were some things that were not normal. He said the charring patterns and the path the fire took through the house were unusual, "and it looked like there could have been more than one ignition point."

"It's been turned over to the arson division, which is standard anytime you have a fatality in a fire."

The fire apparently started downstairs in the two-story duplex, fashioned from an old brick house just southeast of downtown.

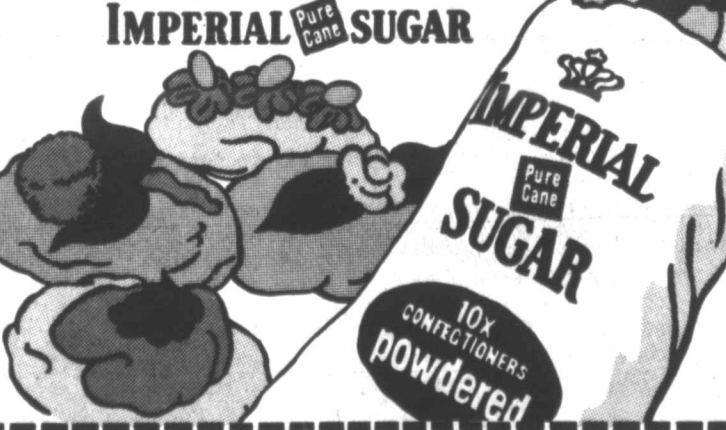

The victims were identified as Irma Lee Bryant, 39, her daughters, Deborah Jean Strawder, 19; Lisa Bryant, 8 and Tiffany Bryant, 3, plus Mrs. Strawder's 2-year-old son Derrick, by arson investigator I.L. Sherrouse.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Since the gasoline crunch has become a fact of life, I have stopped driving my car to work in favor of taking the express bus.

I am appalled at the total lack of breeding exhibited by those who ride the buses. They discuss the most personal things at a shouting pitch.

Without wanting to, I have learned what color shorts one woman's husband prefers, and even more personal preferences expressed by tasteless loudmouths who ride the bus.

The other evening, on returning home, a group of regular riders passed around cans of beer, large bottles of wine, potato chips, salami and cheese!

Are these people so friendly that they have to do their social interacting on the bus? How do I escape?

NAUSEATED IN NORTHBRIDGE

DEAR NAUSEATED: Buy a transistor radio with an earplug attachment, and stick it in your ear!

DEAR ABBY: I work for five doctors. I've been here for only one year and have the responsibility of running the entire office. There are four psychologists and one psychiatrist (the boss, whom I will call Dr. J.). There is another girl in this office, and between us we book the appointments, file, type, fill out insurance forms, call in prescriptions, do hospital billing, etc.

The girl I work with is blond, cute and well-built. She's nice and we get along fine. What bugs me is that she can get away with anything. If she starts working on an insurance form and it gets tough, I have to finish it.

If I tell Dr. J. that he is behind on his dictation, he gets hostile and asks me not to bother him with that. If the blonde tells him, he smiles and thanks her!

I'm tired of doing most of the work and not being appreciated. Don't tell me to find another job. I really like my work. Besides, we're in an area where the auto industry just laid off 3,300 workers, and jobs are scarce.

Any suggestions? HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: Tell Dr. J. that for sake of his business and your peace of mind, you simply must unburden yourself. Then let him have it. And if he knows which side his bread is buttered on, he will be more sensitive to your feelings and will show more appreciation and consideration in the future.

DEAR ABBY: I can't understand why a woman would feel hurt or insulted if a widower proposed to her and offered her his late wife's wedding rings.

When I was 19, I married a man with five sons ranging from 9 to 16 years old. His wife had been dead for two years. When he offered me his first wife's rings, I felt honored. To me it symbolized that he loved me as much as he had loved her. Furthermore, I felt that if I could accept five human beings that were her flesh and blood, I could certainly accept the rings she had worn.

Although it was hard for the boys to accept me at first, after two years we have a loving family relationship. PROUD TO BE NO. 2

DEAR PROUD: You are No. 1 in expressing an unusually broadminded, unselfish attitude.

Q. My doctor recently prescribed a drug called Nardil (phenelzine) for psychological depression. He told me to avoid certain foods because they could interact with my medicine in a dangerous way.

I have forgotten most of the things he mentioned and wonder if you could list them for me. Must I really stay away from all those foods or can I indulge occasionally?

A. Your doctor wasn't fooling when he said you should avoid special foods while you are on Nardil.

This antidepressant belongs to a class of drugs called Monoamine Oxidase (MAO) inhibitors. Similar medications such as Marplan and Parnate or high blood pressure pills like Eutron or Eutronyl can also produce unexpected and lethal adverse reactions in the presence of special foods.

Combining any of these drugs with such things as pickled herring, ripe bananas, avocados, chicken liver, aged cheese, fava beans, sour cream, chocolate, ripened sausage or liver pate could raise blood pressure so high that you could blow a blood vessel in your brain and suffer a fatal stroke.

Symptoms to be alert for include severe headaches, neck stiffness, palpitations, nausea, vomiting, sweating, chest pains and sensitivity to sunlight. Any of these adverse reactions could be an indication of a hypertensive crisis and requires immediate medical attention.

People taking any MAO inhibitor medications not only must avoid certain foods but they should also stay away from red wines (especially Chianti), sherry and beer.

Large amounts of caffeine and even some over-the-counter drugs such as cold remedies, allergy medications and diet pills can be extremely hazardous in combination with your antidepressant.

As long as you are on Nardil I'm afraid you won't be able to indulge in any of these foods or beverages, even occasionally.

Q. Every month I lose at least two days from work because of severe menstrual cramps. I've tried all sorts of remedies including potent pain killers but nothing works very well and many of these drugs just turn me into a zombie.

I recently read about some new drugs that are supposed to bring relief from this problem. Can I buy them without a prescription? Are there any side effects or special precautions I should be aware of?

A. There are two drugs which have revolutionized the treatment of painful cramps. Motrin (ibuprofen) and Ponstel (mefenamic acid) have been shown to dramatically alleviate many of the problems associated with debilitating menstruation.

Neither of these drugs is really new though. Ponstel has been prescribed since 1967 and Motrin has been available for the treatment of arthritis since 1974. However, it has only been within the last few years that researchers have discovered how helpful these drugs can be for severe menstrual cramps.

Both drugs do require a doctor's prescription. Because they are only used for a few days each month, side effects are rare. Nevertheless, you should be aware that indigestion, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, gas, headache, rash and dizziness have been associated with longer-term use.

All in all these drugs are remarkably effective and safe when used under a doctor's supervision. Got a question? Write to Joe Graedon in care of King Features Syndicate, 235 E. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10017.

FARM SCENE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government experts say farmers' income will be down sharply this year from the near-record level in 1979, but the big question is by how much.

According to the Agriculture Department's latest figures, net farm income last year was $33 billion, slightly less than the $33.3 billion indicated a couple of months ago, which would have equaled the all-time high set in 1973.

Those income figures do not take inflation into account, but they do serve to illustrate in a general way what is happening to the farm economy when related to farmers' gross receipts, value of inventories and expenses in any given year.

For some time, USDA has been saying 1980 net farm income — the amount left over after paying production expenses — may decline "about a fifth" from last year. That would put the figure at around $26 billion or so.

Howard W. Hjort, the department's chief economist, has declined to project a flat figure, being content for now to stick to the view that income will drop around 20 percent from last year.

One reason for Hjort's caution is that relatively small shifts in farm marketings — meaning gross income — can have a significant bearing on what farmers actually net.

Severe weather, here or overseas, could drive commodity prices up sharply, for example, and boost the dollar value of what farmers sell this year. Conversely, prices could worsen and pinch gross receipts.

"Cash receipts for crops and livestock are forecast to increase about 5 percent (in 1980)," says the latest outlook report by USDA's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service. "Prices will be higher (than last year) for most crops, but total production will probably be somewhat lower as yields are unlikely to match the record highs of 1979."

But production expenses are projected to rise by about 13 percent this year and thus "will more than offset the gain in cash receipts," it said. "Fuel and fertilizer prices will increase the most."

One indicator of how things are going involves the agency's use of quarterly figures projected as an annual rate. In other words, if the statistics in a three-month period continued unchanged, they would reflect farm receipts, expenses and net income for the entire year.

For example, based on indications for the April-June second quarter, the report projects cash receipts at an annual rate of $135.5 billion. Allowances for values of farm inventories boosted "total gross farm income" to $152.5 billion.

Preliminary figures show cash receipts actually totaled $128.9 billion in 1979 and total gross income, including inventory allowances, $146.7 billion.

But expenses in April-June are projected at an annual rate of $126.5 billion for 1980, compared to $113.7 billion last year. That leaves net farm income, on an annual rate, at $26 billion, compared to the $33 billion in 1979.

WASHINGTON (AP) — For years, the only agency in the Agriculture Department that has been headed by a "chief" has been the Forest Service. All other agency heads are called administrators. But the department's Soil Conservation Service, the agency that provides technical assistance for protecting the nation's soil and water resources, soon will be headed by a chief.

The title change was announced by Norman A. Berg, who is in charge of SCS, as part of a reorganization of his agency.

Sometime "in late spring," when the reorganization is put into effect, he will become Chief Berg.

When the SCS was established as a part of the Agriculture Department 45 years ago — its anniversary will be April 27 — the agency was headed by a chief, Hugh H. Bennett, who remained in charge until 1951.

Hubert W. Kelley Jr., SCS information director, said Bennett was "the first and last chief" of the agency. The title was abandoned after that, he said.

The forthcoming SCS reorganization also will provide for lesser chiefs, including an associate chief, five assistant chiefs and six deputy chiefs.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report scheduled for release today by the Agriculture Department will provide an updated look at what has been happening to prices farmers get for a wide range of products.

The monthly price report, to be released after 3 p.m. EST, will include preliminary farm prices for March, many of which will be based on quotations as of mid-month.

A month ago, the report showed farm prices overall edged up slightly but, for the first time in more than two years, averaged below what they were a year earlier.

Readable policies is goal of State Insurance Board

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Insurance Board is nearing a decision that could eliminate most of the gobbledygook that makes auto insurance policies as readable as Egyptian tomb inscriptions.

Board members Bill Daves, Lyndon Olson Jr. and Durwood Manford will hear a pitch from their staff and the insurance industry in favor of a readable automobile policy at a special April 17 hearing.

The new policy is half the 9,000 words of the existing standard policy. It modifies some coverages, usually in favor of the policyholder. Sentences are short and full of "personal words" such as you, your, we and us. The policy is organized logically, with clear separation of different sections and big, bold-face headings. "I think we are going to have a better product... It's going to be more understandable," said Donald O'Brien, the board's director of auto insurance.

O'Brien and a committee of three insurance company representatives and two agents drafted the new policy language, starting with a model used in several other states.

Former board chairman Joe Christie launched the readable car insurance project before he left office in September 1977. It was placed on the back burner by Christie's successor, Hugh Yantis.

Holmes defends world title against Jones tonight

PAMPA NEWS Monday, March 31, 1980 9

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Larry Holmes defends his world heavyweight championship for the sixth time tonight, still fighting in the shadow of Muhammad Ali.

Holmes defends the World Boxing Council title against Leroy Jones at Caesars Palace as part of a four championship-fight television show which also includes John Tate's World Boxing Association heavyweight title defense against Mike Weaver in Knoxville, Tenn.

But most of the talk among the fight crowds here and in Knoxville seems to concern Ali's comeback.

Promoter Bob Arum claims the winner of the Tate-Weaver fight will defend against Ali in a $10 million bout at the New Orleans Superdome in late June.

Calling Holmes the real heavyweight champion and Tate "a figment of Bob Arum's imagination," promoter Don King contended Sunday that no Ali fight was set and that if the retired three-time champion does come back, it should be against Holmes.

King and Arum both have said they have a commitment to ABC for a fight to unify the heavyweight championship in the fall.

But the matter of the moment for the 6-foot-3, 211-pound Holmes is the 6-5, 254½-pound Jones.

The smart money guys don't think Holmes should have any trouble despite Jones' size and his 24-0-1 record. Holmes is a prohibitive favorite.

It's not who he fights, but when he fights that has Holmes upset.

The four-fight show from Knoxville, Landover, Md., and here is scheduled to be televised by ABC from 8 p.m. to midnight EST. Holmes has been told that he could go on as early as 10 p.m. or as late as 11:50 p.m., meaning the champion could sit in a dressing room, taped up and ready to fight for almost two hours.

Nancy Lopez is back in winner's circle

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Nancy Lopez-Melton, back in the winner's circle for the first time in six months, was so happy she wanted to cry.

"It just felt like the pressure came off my shoulders. I felt so good I wanted to cry," said the 23-year-old Lopez-Melton after her 2-stroke victory Sunday in the $150,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament at Mesa Verde Country Club.

"It felt like the first win," said Lopez-Melton, who came from a 2-stroke deficit with five holes remaining to defeat JoAnn Washam and Debbie Massey for the $22,500 first prize.

Consecutive birdies, including a 40-foot putt at No. 16, paved the way for Lopez-Melton as Washam bogeyed three of the last four holes.

Tate confident of win over Weaver

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Big John Tate defends his World Boxing Association heavyweight crown against Mike "Hercules" Weaver tonight, confident of a victory that would set up a possible June bout with former champion Muhammad Ali.

"It's all over now except doing it," Tate said. "I have the fight plan in my mind. I'm not worried."

The Tate-Weaver bout is one of four world championship matches slated on an ABC-TV boxing extravaganza tonight, including the WBA light heavyweight fight between champion Marvin Johnson and Eddie Gregory at the Stokely Athletic Center in Tate's hometown.

The other half of the bill will be filled by the rival World Boxing Council — a heavyweight match between champion Larry Holmes and LeRoy Jones in Las Vegas and a welterweight title defense by Sugar Ray Leonard against Great Britain's David Green at Landover, Md.

The 38-year-old Ali, hoping to claim the heavyweight title for an unprecedented fourth time, plans to come out of retirement for a $10 million fight with Tate in the New Orleans Superdome.

Promoter Bob Arum said the formal announcement will be made Wednesday in Chicago or Los Angeles, with Ali claiming $7 million from the purse. He said Weaver could earn a shot at Ali with a victory tonight, but there would be a new negotiation for splitting the purse.

Ace Miller, Tate's manager, said his fighter was in "the best overall shape of his career," and the official weigh-in Sunday reflected it.

Tate, wearing a T-shirt that proclaimed "Thank God I'm a Country Boy," hit the scales at 232 pounds. He had ballooned to 260 pounds after winning the championship with a 15-round decision over Gerrie Goetzee last October at Pretoria, South Africa.

Weaver, who weighed in at 207½, carried a 20-9 record into the second title fight of his career. He turned in an impressive performance against Holmes last June before losing by a knockout in the 12th round.

"I'm here to fulfill a dream," said Weaver, an ex-Marine who served in Vietnam. "I'm sure I'm going to win. There's no doubt in my mind. Tate's a good fighter, but I'm a little better. I have a job to do and I plan to do it."

Tate, unbeaten in 20 pro fights, wasn't particularly impressed.

Pampa girls win high-point team

Pampa High School rodeo team members Jolinda Lowrey and Lena Stewart were the high-point girls team in rodeo competition in Happy, Texas, this weekend.

Jolinda took first place in barrels and third place in breakaway roping, while Lena took first place in goat tying and fifth place in breakaway roping.

Together the two girls had 18 points, for the high-point team.

Next week they will be traveling to Plainview for rodeo competition there.

Staubach expected to announce retirement

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer
 DALLAS (AP) — Quarterback Roger Staubach was expected to announce the end of his spectacular career with the Dallas Cowboys today in which he earned every honor except All-Pro.

Staubach, 38, the highest rated passer in National Football League history, called his own press conference at Texas Stadium for high noon to give his decision.

Waiting in the wings to battle for Staubach's job were Danny White and young Glenn Carano, understudies to one of the NFL's all-time stars.

Staubach, as a collegian at the Naval Academy and an 11-year pro with the Cowboys, won two coveted awards, the Heisman Trophy at Navy and Super Bowl VI Most Valuable Player.

He was a 10th round draft choice by the Cowboys in 1964 and served four years in the Navy before he joined the NFL team.

Staubach, who guided Dallas to two Super Bowl victories, won his fourth league passing title in 1979 when he almost personally carried the Cowboys to an 11-5 record and the Eastern Division championship of the National Football Conference.

Staubach brought Dallas from behind five times to victory as the Cowboys' defense crumbled to their performance of the decade.

"We could have lost five more games if it hadn't been for Roger," said Coach Tom Landry. "He had a great year."

Staubach also was knocked out five times, a statistic that concerned wife Marianne and the Cowboys' brass.

He went to doctors in New York City and Dallas for extensive examinations. Staubach has had no lingering problems although in one game he lost feeling in his legs for about 10 minutes.

Staubach, who was making some $200,000 a year, has extensive business interests here, including real estate. Also, he has numerous endorsements and is being heavily courted by the television networks as a commentator.

The 6-foot-3, 202-pound Staubach often joked about not making All-Pro although he was in numerous Pro Bowls.

Staubach was always hurt in the voting because he did not

Two great values from Mellow Roast for great country taste.

Cream Cake Delight

from Ranveig Bentzen, Rockaway, NJ

- 1 package (4 serving size) vanilla flavor instant pudding and pie filling
- 1/2 cup ginger ale
- 1 cup banana slices (2 small bananas)
- 1 pint heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 package (10 or 11 frozen strawberries in quick thaw pouch, thawed)

Mix cornstarch, flour and baking powder together. Beat egg well. Gradually beat in 1 cup sugar and continue beating until very thick, about 5 minutes. Set in cornstarch mixture. Pour into greased 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 350° for 20 minutes or until top is golden. Cool in pan for 5 minutes. Remove from pan and cool on rack. Cut into 12 squares.

Meanwhile, prepare pudding mix as directed. Add 1/2 cup ginger ale and 1/2 cup heavy cream to pudding. Whip cream with 2 tablespoons sugar. Spread pudding over cream layer. Whip cream with 2 tablespoons sugar. Spread remaining whipped cream over pudding and about 1 cup of the strawberries. Sprinkle with sliced strawberries. Chill in refrigerator. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and dust with shaved cream or fresh whole strawberries. Serve with whipped cream.
