WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) - Patsy Carroll is sick of monsters, tired of running, mad as hell and just a little upset about her children's night terrors.

"Where do you go to give up?" asked Louise Thomas as she mounted a tattered white symbol of surrender on her front porch. Said Kathy Scheid: "It was kind of like Payloy's dog. When the sirens went off. I became irrational.

The source of this fear and frustration was a killer tornado last year and the second storm last week - a haunting reminder of 'Terrible Tuesday.

It was a year ago April 10 that a giant twister knifed into this Northwest Texas city of 100,000 and killed, crippled and destroyed with random perversity.

"The Storm Without Pity" read a banner headline in the Wichita Forty-five persons died, hundreds were injured and thousands were left homeless. Losses ran into the tens of millions.

Witnesses said three separate tornadoes converged into a single broad twister that danced along a populous corridor for more than eight disastrous miles.

It struck at 6 p.m. that Tuesday and by 6:10 it was gone. In its wake was a paralyzed city without power or water or a functional disaster Recovery was slow, painful and by no means total.

After what crisis counselors labeled a "very hard year," city planners announced last Tuesday that 80 percent of the 5,500 homes damaged or destroyed had been rebuilt

DES use widespread among cattle feedlots

LYONS, Kan. (AP) - The cancer-causing growth hormone DES was being used at many cattle feedlots that did not fall under a federal order to stop slaughtering, the head of the Kansas Livestock Association said Saturday.

The order, issued Friday by the federal Food and Drug Administration and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, temporarily halted slaughtering at 30 feedlots where cattle were given DES.

The lots - in California Colorado, Kansas, Texas and Nebraska - must hold the cattle for at least 35 days to allow the drug to be eliminated from the animals' systems.

"Our concern is that this is just as far as they've investigated, and that there may be more" lots where the drug was used, said Kenneth Knight of Lyons, Kan., who is president of the Kansas Livestock Association

Another cattle feeder, one whose feedlot is among 15 in Kansas on the federal list, said the order did not include many feedlots where DES is used.

The feedlot owner, who asked not to be identified, said he believes large supplies of DES are still available at farm cooperatives and supply outlets. Some ranchers have several that the drug may cause cancer in humans and animals, and its use was banned. Health officials generally agree that a brief exposure to DES is relatively harmless, and the danger lies in prolonged exposure. Knight said that when the 35 days is up and the cattle are released for slaughter, there will be a glut on the market and prices will fall.

We feel it's going to be a total market disruption. Knight said. He said his group's position was "to let us work out some reasonable way to market the cattle.

Jewelry maker sues Hunts in silver deal

NEW YORK (AP) - A Manhattan jeweler has sued the billionaire Hunt brothers of Dallas, claiming they "devised a scheme" to artificially boost the price of silver.

The class-action suit against Nelson Bunker Hunt and W Herbert Hunt was filed Friday in U.S. District Court by Wander & Co Wander claimed the scheme was carried out by buying silver futures and demanding delivery rather than liquidating contracts, then using the bullion as collateral for loans to further futures trading.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

Debt, not printing press, causes inflation

By Oscar Cooley

Many people who should know better lay inflation to the "government printing presses" printing too much money. One can almost see those presses grinding away. In fact, they were so pictured by Milton Friedman in his TV program, "Free to Choose," March 7. In his excellent book by that name, Friedman terms inflation "a printing press phenomenon.

Friedman of course knows that today's money is not produced on printing presses or in mints. It is neither paper nor metal but an intangible "debt," or credit, if you

A dollar bill is simply a token, or evidence of debt - debt of the United States government to the holder. The same is true of a dime or any other U.S. coin. Bills and coins (currency) are produced by the government and placed in the Federal Reserve banks, which are government

When a commercial bank, which has a

When a person or firm that has a deposit in the commercial bank wants currency to make payments, it withdraws.

A "deposit" in a bank is simply a debt of the bank to the depositor. If it is a checking deposit, he can collect all or part of the debt at any time by writing checks on it, or by withdrawing currency, that is, converting the bank's debt to him into paper currency and coins. Money, in short, is debt of banks to depositors, and all payments are made by either checks or currency, whichever the payer and the payee find convenient and agreeable to both. Whichever is used. payment is effected by the transfer of debt on the books of banks from one creditor to another. Neither checks nor currency have intrinsic value: they are just paper or

It is plain that the government does not cause inflation by over-producing money on a printing press. It prints only the tokens that the public wants and asks for at the windows of banks.

If our money is debt, and inflation is caused by too much money in circulation, it must follow that there is too much debt. That is all too true. We have created a vast over-supply of money by going too deeply the banks are the most reliable debtors. My check on our local banks is accepted by every creditor because he is confident the banks does owe me that money and will transfer the debt to him when he presents the check. Alternatively, he will accept currency because that is debt of the U.S. government, which also, he figures, is good

When a bank lends $1,000 it goes in debt $1,000 to the borrower-depositor. Since he can now draw on this and spend it as money, the bank has created 1,000 new dollars. Likewise, when a bank, either commercial or Federal Reserve, buys a $10,000 U.S. bond, it goes in debt $10,000 to the seller of the bond, who can now draw on the debt and spend it as money. Money is debt. When the debt is repaid to the bank. the money is destroyed.

This has been overdone, as Friedman so well describes in his book. On net balance vast amounts of money have been created for which there were not enough goods to exchange at prevailing prices. Hence the prices have risen to absorb this glut of

We blame inflation on government spending because the government pays out billions of dollars, much of it borrowed, without getting goods or services in exchange. These are called "transfer payments." They are a one-way transfer. They put money in circulation without producing goods to match it.

There is only one cure for such inflation. Having created more money than goods, we now have to create more goods than money. This necessitates working harder. producing more goods, and receiving less wages for our work.

If we refuse to accept less wages, some of us will find ourselves unemployed. This state of affairs is called recession. Normally, it follows inflation. It is the "morning after."

Civil Rights

By D.R. Segal

One of the worst jobs a reporter can draw is to interview a newspaper person. Neither one trusts the other. I was interviewed by a man from The New York Times the other day...no, scratch that. He did not interview me. He interviewed an associate of mine and I forced him to sit down and talk with me for a while. (I want to be accurate about it.) The man from The Times was not faintly interested in what I had to say and he left all the good stuff out of his story. So I will tell you the part he didn't put in.

What he came to see us about was a newspaper we've bought in Greenville, Miss. A deceased owner, Hodding Carter, the father of the Hodding Carter you see on TV all the time, won the Pulitzer Prize in 1964 for having urged "moderation" in the South's response to the "civil rights" movement. Several papers have said, Oh, ain't it a shame that those folks in California have bought that paper because civil rights is not part of their scenario. I explained to The New York Tirhes man that before he wrote his story - which I rather suspected would follow that script - he should know that The Register was involved in "civil rights" 22 years before Mr. Carter, and in rather a more resentful atmosphere

It was in 1942 that Franklin Roosevelt decreed the internment of all Japanese-Americans (which means Americans of Japanese descent) because they might be spies. Americans of German or Italian descent were not put into concentration camps, mind you, only Americans of Japanese descent

The then co-publisher of The Register and founder of the Freedom group, R.C. Hoiles, editorially challenged the internment procedure as being a gross violation of the rights of American citizens. and he pounded away at the issue. You can imagine it was not the popular thing to do and it required an act of courage and conviction. Strangely enough, more than 25 years later, R.C. Hoiles was given an award for his courageous campaign. I told this to The Times man to establish that we very nearly invented "civil rights" as a subject of journalistic concern and had something of a tradition for espousing individual liberties (which, I suppose, is what "civil rights" means). The Times man wrote it all down and made noises which I misinterpreted to be utter fascination with my text and the manner in which I presented it. Imagine my surprise when I discovered he'd left it

Oh, well, as the late Sen. Theodore Bilbo used to say, nobody pays any attention to "them lyin' noozpapahs" anyway. And reporters can be trusted mostly to screw

Berry's World

The intransigent Israelis Historically, Americans have found reason to support and admire the cause of independence for Israel. The diligence with which its people transformed a desert into a modern nation, and the bravery they have shown while defending it against armies superior in number, have earned the Israelis respect in much of the world. The virtues of Israel do not, however, erase the clouded history of the lands on which that nation rests. The territory deeded to the Jewish state in 1948 - not to mention the areas taken and retaken in four wars since then - is soaked with blood of men though the centuries who insisted that it was their rightful possession. In such a zone of conflicting passions, antagónists must be strong, and prudent as well, for any miscalculation could lead to a conflagration that would endanger not only the region but — for reasons of oil and religion — the

The United States, probably to its economic discomfort, has rather steadfastly supported Israel through three decades of tension. The bond has been stretched on occasion, but has held fast. Presumably it will survive the fiasco of a recent United Nations reolution condemning Israel, as usual - that the Carter administration deceitfully claims to have supported by mistake. The embarrassment over the apparent equivocation in U.S. policy toward enforced Jewish settlements in Old Jerusalem should not, though, cause us to lose sight of a recent discouraging trend in Israeli actions. Menachem Begin's government increasingly is adopting a hard line on the settlements issue, not only in Jerusalem but on its outskirts. where 1.000 acres were seized last week, and in parts of the sensitive West Bank area, taken along with half of Jerusalem from Jordan in the 1967 war. Moshe Dayan, the former Israeli foreign minister, asked during recent parliamentary debate on the settlements why the Begin government felt compelled to roust Arabs from the new Jewish Quarter of East Jerusalem: "Why? What do we want? How do we want to live?

What do we want? An Arab lived in the Jewish Quarter. So what? The Israeli government has grown more insistent on the settlements ever since completion of the peace treaty with Egypt. Indeed. Begin's new foreign minister. Yitzhak Shamir, opposed many of the concessions granted the Egyptians in the course of negotiations for the pact. And Shamir's appointment is not the only dangerous personality emplacement to occur in recent days. Earlier this month, a hard-liner, Moshe Landau, ascended to the post of chief justice in Jerusalem, from which he will rule on settlement matters

Israel has learned some hard lessons during its 30-plus years of struggle in the Middle East. Unfortunately, it seems not to have learned much from the triumph of moderation that brought about the Camp David accord with Egypt. If it continues its policy of virtual intransigence on the issue of settlements on land to which Arabs have just claim. Israel will spell misery for itself and for any United States government that cannot make clear where its support for the Jewish state begins and ends. We say this mindful that Americans may perceive justice in the tangled Mideast differently, and legitim ately so. That means the formulation of a single, consistent U.S. stance will remain extremely difficult, perhaps growing more so. It's all the more reason, we think, to wish the State Department was not professing to speak for all of us on the matter.

Jimmy Get your gun

Even when he cuts the budget, Jimmy Carter seems to botch things

The president is inclined to trim the military budget only slightly, but personnel appears to be among the few areas targeted. And if the administration remains true to form, it will especially hit at the pay premiums to skilled positions at the middle levels of the services.

No expenditure of government is laudable, per se. Within a budget of more than $600 billion, though, there are priorities. It would seem to us that in a time of international peril when most would rather not see a return of conscription, the maintenance of lean, sophisticated and well-trained armed forces is among the more prudent of expenses. Not surprisingly, then, it is one of the few that Jimmy Carter has indicated he'll cut

Denial of increased pay won't improve the re-enlistment rate running below 50 percent in many areas of the service. The personal financial crunch faced by those in uniform is not limited to the rank-and-file, which Carter may envision filling by compulsion with a draft, but can be found among the very technical crews that man submarines and aircraft as well. The more of them and the better they are, one would think, the less the need for armies of unwilling foot soldiers to go trooping around the globe. But the thinkers are leaving military employment in droves, choosing the high-paid positions in private industry for which their skills qualify the m...

The pay differential that feads to honorary discharges was graphically depicted by THE WALL STREET JOURNAL in a recent editorial, It cited a plane handler on the aircraft carrier NIMITZ, which was among the crafts dispatched to the Persian Gulf area when tensions increased. He works about 100 hours a week with F-14 fighters costing $25 million apiece. He's paid less per hour than a cashier at McDonalds.

Most military personnel of higher ranks and skills of course earn more than the man on the NIMITZ, but the disparity with civilian employment remains. It should surprise no one that a declining percentage wish to stay where they are, bountiful military pensions notwithstanding. Jimmy Carter, the man who talks tough to the Soviets when it is to his political advantage to do so, might consider how idle his threats will be when his military might is left untended. Desirable as it often would seem to get this commander-in-chief out of the White House, the thought of him trying to man the battle stations is hardly Bad news, and good news.

First the bad news, the April 15 'you-know-what' deadline is fast approaching for everybody wishing to avoid the audit

Now the good news. According to a news release we received this week, more than seven out of every ten Texas taxpayers can expect federal income tax refunds in 1980. Refunds are expected to average $610, for a record total of $46.1 billion nationwide.

This year, more than 70 million refund checks are expected to be issued from among a record 93 million individual returns filed. According to the information, returns mailed before the end of March should bring refunds within six to eight weeks. But late filers will take longer as the bulk of the returns flow in at the April 15

authorizes Gaines County oil fields

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) -The Texas Railroad Commission on Monday authorized the operation of a portion of the Wasson 72 Field in Gaines County as a unit, which is expected to result in the production of an additional 21.7 million barrels of oil.

The 5.040-acre West Texas project will be operated as the South Wasson Clearfork Unit, beginning June 1.

The area has 109 producing wells and has vielded more than 38.3 million barrels of oil since production began in Shell Oil Co.'s secondary recovery operation calls for the use of 32 injection wells.

International excursions save dollars in gasoline

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - A drive to the gas station is an international excursion for some El Paso automobile owners who are crossing the border into Mexico where they pay less than half the U.S. price for gasoline.

Gasoline prices are lower in El Paso than most other cities in the United States

But West Texas motorists can cross the border to Juarez, Mexico and fill up for a fraction of the price they'd pay in El Paso.

The average price for all grades of gasoline is slightly less than $1.15 a gallon on the United States side of the border. The El Paso price for regular gasoline ranges from $1.05 to $1.21 a gallon. It takes about five minutes to drive from downtown El Paso across the Rio Grande River to the nearest Juarez service station.

Prices in Mexico have not changed recently - 47 cents a gallon for regular and 67 cents for unleaded gasoline.

But, the high demand for gas in Juarez causes some rationing and long lines. Last Monday, though, it was not difficult to fill up the tank at Pemex prices.

Pemex is the national oi! monopoly of Mexico.

The main problem in Juarez is the shortage of unleaded gas. Last year a delegation from the Juarez Chamber of Commerce met with Pemex officials and asked for a larger allotment of unleaded

Pemex officials, who were told much of the alloted gas went to U.S. vehicles, refused the request.

Filling 'er up in Mexico, however, does have its disadvantages. Two recent incidents cooled the popularity of Mexican fuels.

A mistake in the mixture of diesel fuel at one Texas-Mexico border town sent owners of some expensive U.S. cars scurrying to

In Juarez. Pemex officials startled frugal motorists when they announced regular gasoline stored in a large tank was accidentally mixed with water and distributed to filling stations.

And, the Mexican pumps ring up prices and quantities in pesos and liters. Some drivers find it handy to carry a calculator

Some U.S. motorists insist on souping up the Mexican gas with additives. Others say it's a must to add a little high-priced U.S. ethel in each tank to give the foreign gas an extra kick and fewer knocks.

Ironically, in the early 1970s, high gasoline prices in Juarez forced many Mexican motorists to cross into the United States for fuel

In November, 1971 Pemex officials said gasoline sales in Juarez dropped 46 percent after Mexican prices were raised above those in the United States. Mexican gas was 22 cents a gallon before the

There are about 35 stations in Juarez compared with more than 250 in El Paso

There are no self-service stations in Mexico. But Juarez filling stations are much like the United States counterparts in some areas attendants don't wash windows.

EPA surmounts old Standard goal

HOUSTON (AP) - Donald C. O'Hara says the Environmental Protection Agency has finally accomplished what the old Standard Oil Trust was unable to do at the peak of its power.

The president of the National Petroleum Refiners Association says the EPA has effectively closed the door to the entry of new competitors into the refining business. O'Hara said only one large domestic refinery has been built since

"In order to get permission to build a new plant you must make a 'trade-off', that is, you must offer to close down some other polluting facility in order to balance the emissions," he said.

'Since only an existing company can do this, this rule has the effect of barring new competitors from entering the refining

Thus, he said, the industry seems to be entering into a new era like the early days of the New Deal.

'While the government antitrust lawyers are still talking about free competition, the overall government policy is leading us into a controlled industry in which we are sheltered from competition," he

O'Hara said a great deal has been written about the first great antitrust case under the Sherman Act which, the breakup of the Standard Oil Trust in 1911.

Q. Can a hearing loss be a threat to a person's life?

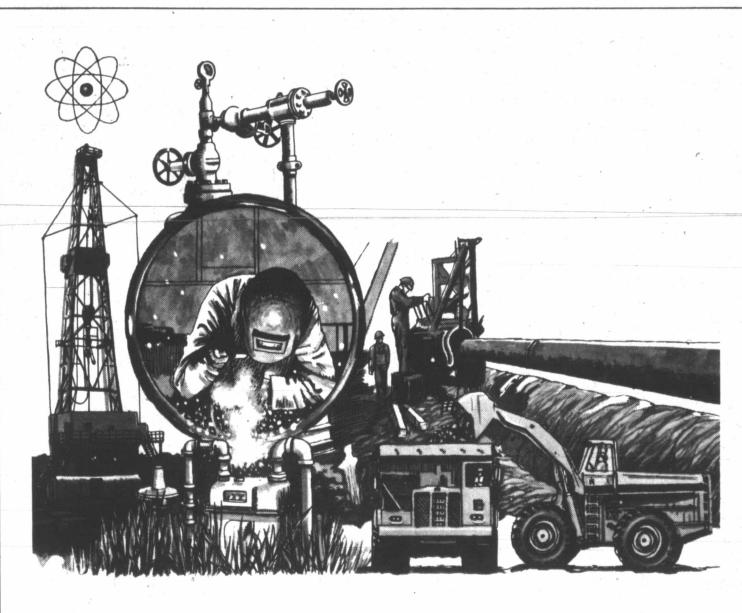

A. Yes, most definitely in the case of an acoustic neuroma, a disease of the eighth nerve. The longer one waits, the more problems that could occur.

Q. Are there any audiometric testing procedures that are diagnostic of any medical loss?

A. No, by themselves, audiometric testing procedures are not capable of determing a medical loss, they must be interpreted by a person qualified to diagnois.

Some people think Pioneer Corporation is just a gas utility headquartered in Amarillo, serving the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas.

That we are, but it's only one of our businesses.

Pioneer Corporation is a diversified, energyresources corporation with facilities and/or operations in 14 states.

Pioneer covers the energy spectrum. We explore for and produce oil and natural gas both onshore and offshore. Operate rigs for contract drilling. Explore for and mine vanadium and uranium for nuclear power generation. Extract liquids from natural gas. Through other subsidiaries, we manufacture and fabricate oil field equipment and sell it worldwide . . . and sell, service and lease heavy equipment for construction, roadbuilding, aggregate production and surface mining.

Pioneer is committed to producing energy resources now, finding them for the future. In the past five years, $415 million has been invested in exploration and capital improvements.

Energy. It's Pioneer's business to find it, to produce it. And we're doing it right here at home to help lessen America's dependence on foreign energy sources. The future is promising, and with your wise use of all our vital energy resources, we will make it.

Wildlife sues EPA

Emphasizing that the ocean 'is not a bottomless dump," the National Wildlife Federation has filed suit against the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to force it to phase out any of the 131 unstudied ocean dumpsites which may be unsafe

The 131 sites are located off the coasts of nearly every coastal state, including Texas, in the country. According to the suit, filed in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) issued regulations on January 16. which authorized ocean dumping of largery contaminated dredged material" at the 131 unstudied ocean dumpsites for at least three years.

The regulations violate the London Ocean Dumping Convention, and international treaty and the Marine Protection Research and Sanctuaries Act of 1972, says the suit. Both the treaty and the Act state that the EPA administrator is prohibited from approving ocean dumping sites that have not been studied.

Kenneth Kamlet, attorney for the NWF, explained that the dredged materials being dumped at the sites are "spoils" from harbor and river bottoms which are highly contaminated with industrial pollutants and Undredged harbors will eventually fill up. preventing the dockage of large ships. Obviously the navigation channels must be kept open. Kamlet said

"But the government has a responsibility to allow dredged materials to be dumped only in those ocean sites which can safely handle the spoils.

SBA FARM DISASTER COURSE GETS TOLL-FREE

Texas farmers and ranchers who want information about the disaster recovery loan program of the U.S. Small Business Administration now have a toll-free number they may call SBA has already assisted more than 10,000 agricultural producers in Texas, and this toll-free number will make it easier for farmers throughout Texas to receive information about the SAB program

Farmers who have questions about being eligible or how to apply for an agricultural disaster loan may receive a brief explanation by calling, toll-free, 1-800-692-4296 from anywhere within Texas. If a farmer has already applied to SBA for assistance, he may leave his name, address and phone number with the receptionist and a loan officer will call back at once using another line rather than tying up the toll-free number for any SBA physical disaster loans are available in counties recommended by the governor and subsequently designated by the SBA administrator. Loans are made only for crop losses not already covered by insurance or other disaster or deficiency payments.

If you are new to the business of making fuel alcohol (as a great many people are at this time), the first obvious question is, "Where do I go for information?"

There are a number of sources of data on ethanol production, some better and more reliable than others. The Texas Department of Agriculture has contacted a number of these groups and individuals and we have a list of firms which have data available, and are capable of responding quickly to public requests for information.

Since some of the private firms and out-of-state groups charge for this information, it is suggested that a list of available material and price list be requested. We also have several booklets in the office which describe in general terms what can be

"What's to eat? And other questions kids ask about food," the 1979 yearbook of Agriculture is now available from the U.S. Government Printing Office.

Published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in honor of the International Year of the Child, the book is designed and written especially for nine-to-twelve year olds.

Between covers of the new yearbook is the story of food, from early struggles to get enough food to eat to tomorrow's problems of supply. It is the first yearbook designed for children and the first issued by USDA in paperback. Paperback keeps the price down to $4.50 per copy and helps insure the widest possible use.

The new yearbook tells the story of food in two ways. It tells the story of those who produce our food and it tells us how our health. well-being and pleasure are affected by food. There is no better audience for that story than our young people.

Eight sections of the book cover different topics, including the history of food eating, tours of supermarkets and shopping tips, latest work in nutrition and what a body does with the food it's fed. a 50-year-ahead look at the kinds of food that will be eaten then, easy to do vegetable gardens, and funny sayings and crafts for the

aa

Just imagine a meal with home-grown, mouth watering cucumbers, tomatoes, green beans, bell peppers, cantaloupes, radishes, onions and lettace.

It's enough to make anyone, especially youngsters, jump with joy And youngsters can take an active part in growing these tasty treats through a 4-H gardenin project.

Gardening is a good way for 4H'ers to help their families beat the high cost of living and provide good, home-grown With living costs expected to skyrocket during 1980, a productive garden can help families figh inflation.

Furthermore, a gardening project helps youngsters learn responsibility as well as learn about the growth and development of plants. Through gardening, young people can also learn the basics of insect and disease control.

You don't need a lot of space for a garden. You can plant vegetables in tubs or pots or any handy container that has good drainage. A window box can be used to grow lettace, radishes and beets, and a five-gallon bucket or can is large enough for eggplants, tomatoes and peppers

Plants grown in containers will have to be watered and fertilized more often than those grown in a typical garden. Soil should be a mix of organic matter, peat moss and sand. Adequate mixes can be made at home or purchased at local garden centers or nurseries.

Vegetables can also be grown around the edges of flower beds. A border of lettace, onions, carrots or parsley is attractive as well as edible. Plant tomatoes, peppers or eggplants with taller flowers and put beans or cucumbers against a fence or screen.

The first step to a successful garden is planning. Decide what and how much you want to grow and the garden location. Select a site that will get plenty of sunlight and drains well

Once the garden soil has been tilled, you're ready to plant your favorite vegetables. Be sure to select adapted varieties. Information on these is available at the County Extension Office.

Gardening can be both an enjoyable and worthwhile activity for young and old alike.

EDITOR'S NOTE - They lack jobs for the present and dreams for the future. China's youth - at least much of it - is thus being referred to as a "lost generation." The problem is of great concern to China's leaders, who are trying to motivate those youths who are slipping from the proletarian path

By VICTORIA GRAHAM Associated Press Writer

SHANGHAI (AP) - They sit idly in cafes, swilling champagne or smoking desolately They wear bell-bottom pants, sport smuggled sunglasses and tote fancy tape recorders blaring live-for-today

Many children of China in their teens and 20s are aimless in a society where everyone is supposed to have an aim. They are selfish in a society where everyone is supposed to think beyond self. They live for the moment in a society where everyone is supposed to live

Many are jobless, marginally employed or miserable in a menial or countryside work. Some get into real trouble: murder, gang fights, rape, robbery, black markets

A bewildered young woman in the Communist Youth League, the cream of youth, wrote plaintively to her newspaper: "I become more and more confused about the meaning of life. My existence is so short of vitality that I have become dispirited, not knowing what to do

'We young people are lacking in spiritual ballast. Her letter, which appeared in Shanghai's leading newspaper. Wen Hui Bao, struck an empathetic chord for millions of young Chinese. It aroused the concern of propagandists and launched a national press forum and pep talk for doubting youth.

Propagandists hasten to point out that most Chinese young people

MY PREROGATIVE

BY DEBBIE DUKE

I want to congratulate several Pampa High School students on their fine performances at a recent University Int rscholastic League contest in Amarillo. Senior Mika Moore, after receiving a bronze third place medal for her ready writing entry, will be representing Pampa High in the region contest. Others receiving places of recognition were Valerie Swindle, fifth place in both feature writing and editorial writing: Melissa Mackey, fourth place in headline writing: and Cheryl Whitmarsh, fifth in typing. I want to wish Mika the best of luck as she progresses into regional competition

--DD---

Following my recent column concerning the school vs. Judy and Jimmy Mamou, I received a letter from a (former?) admirer, who disagreed immensely with my opinion. I would now like to take time to respond to this letter.

I am glad that you took the time to write to me. I am, however, unchanged in my feelings towards the Lunch Encounter situation You say that spending a lunch hour with a "black and white, one of whom had been a prostitute, is a waste of one's time." I strongly disagree. I. personally, am inspired by those who have gotten on the wrong path and then made a turn around to take the hard road back to righteousness. The Mamous were attempting to prevent the youth of Pampa from making the kind of mistakes that they, as well as millions of others, have made

You also made it clear that I owe the school board an apology You're absolutely right.

I found out later that I didn't get all my facts about the situation The school board did not meet to decide whether the Mamous could speak at the school; it was reportedly a "chain-reaction" of discussions which finally ended up in a decision reached by the superintendent of schools. So in this case I do apologize to our school board, with hopes that they will accept my apologies.

As far as accepting the judgment of a more mature mind goes. I do (or is it, have) to accept the decision. However, I do not have to feel that it was a fair and just one.

I will read the book you mentioned in your letter. "As a Man Thinketh" by James Allen, when I get a chance. Maybe by doing so I can see a different side of this situation.

Maybe I am alone on my feelings towards this situation. I'm not sure. I'm not carrying it any farther than this because there is, of course, nothing I can do to correct or change what has been done in the past or what might be done in the future

PERSONAL NOTE: Have a nice day; Doyle!

The current get-going campaign, however, is not aimed at model youth, but those slipping from the proletarian path. In the underground Evergreen Cafe in a converted air raid shelter on Huai Hai Road, six young men drink coffee. A 22-year-old unemployed man says he failed his college entrance and is living at home. getting money for cigarettes and sweets from his parents. He doesn't like it, isn't sure he'll try again for college and wants to drive a taxi.

In perfect proletarian form, however, he adds: "But I will gladly go wherever the state sends me

Officially, the plight of youth is blamed on the turnultuous Great Proletaian Cultural Revolution from 1966 to 1976 and corruption by the radical Gang of Four. They, including the widow of Mao Tse-tung, were arrested in 1976.

During that period, politics, not work or education, was the sole measure of man. Factories and schools closed and young people drifted for years. Today, the tide has turned from revolution to modernization. China needs intellectuals and skilled workers but a generation of them is The 25-year-old son of two professors has positively radiant prospects in China, but he, too, is disaffected: "It's hard to make long-range plans and pointless because you don't have much control over where you go or what you do," says the man, a language student who asked not to be identified. "I probably will be assigned to a job I don't want. My future isn't my own. He worries too "about another political upheaval that will turn our lives upside down again.

What he wants, he says, is a good education and a good job that will earn him money and respect. "Most Shanghai youth," he says, "just want a tape recorder, some music and a few friends. Maybe some are like your beat generation.

Teammates return Cabell to Astros

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

There was a hijacking at the Orlando, Fla., airport Friday and Enos Cabell was told to return to Cocoa.

But no laws were broken, the pirateers - Joe Morgan and J.R Richard - got off scot-free and the Houston Astros had a full complement of 25 players to continue their workouts even though the Major League Baseball Players Association has called off the last week of exhibition games.

The players did, however, agree to open the season as scheduled next Wednesday. They set a May 22 strike deadline to work out their differences with the owners, and the Astros hope to make a serious challenge in the National League's West Division after finishing just 11/2 games out a year ago.

"They (Morgan and Richard) said we're a team and they wanted me with them," said Cabell, the only member of the club who had left camp. "I had checked out of my condominium and everything. I was gone. This just shows you how close we are on

The Mutt-and-Jeff posse of the 6-foot-8 Richard and the 5-foot-8 Morgan came close to missing Cabell after getting permission from Manager Bill Virdon to go after him. The third baseman was on a 12:40 p.m. flight to visit his family in California and his teammates, still wearing their multicolored Astro uniforms, didn't track him down until 12:35.

'We didn't know which airline, so we had to run around the airport from airline to airline looking for a flight that left at that time for Los Angeles," Morgan said.

"It tripped me out," Cabell said. "When I saw Joe and J - man, I couldn't believe it. Neither could anyone at the airport.'

"Me and J.R. are his friends," Morgan explained. "We thought he should stay along with the rest of us. When we got there, we just told him we'd come to get him. I told him if I'd done all that running around the airport, making a spectacle of myself with my uniform on, and found out he wouldn't come back, there was gonna be a fight right there on the spot.' With all exhibitions off, the Cabell chase livened an otherwise

dull baseball day as the players held toned-down workouts while the front offices kept paring down rosters toward the 25-man opening-day limit

Several veterans received the pink slip. The Philadelphia Phillies cut pitchers Doug Bird and Rawly Eastwick, infielder Bud Harrelson and outfielder Mike Anderson and put reliever Warren Brusstar back on the disabled list, where he spent most of The Kansas City Royals released pitcher Ed Rodriguez, the Los Angeles Dodgers trimmed infielder Teddy Martinez, the Pittsburgh Pirates placed pitcher Don Robinson on the disabled list, the New York Yankees did the same to sore-shouldered Don Gullett, who hasn't pitched since July 1978, and Pat Zachry of the New York Mets also was disabled. The Yankees signed catcher Johnny Oates, recently released by the Dodgers.

Fueled in the fourth quarter by Gervin and reserve Kevin Restani, the San Antonio Spurs fought off Houston 106-101 Friday night to even the best-of-three, National Basketball Association first-round playoff series.

The San Antonio victory sends the series back to Houston Sunday for the deciding third game.

"It was a win for Gervin. He can do that to you," said Harris, who's been plagued by Gervin for many years. "I've coached against Gervin in the NBA, the ABA and in college, believe it or not. I was coaching at Earlham State when Gervin and Eastern Michigan beat us. Nothing he does surprises me."

San Antonio's interim coach Bob Bass has been around the three-time NBA scoring champion for five seasons. He also was not surprised Friday night

"It was a typical George Gervin game. That's the way he has played in the playoffs for three years. I knew he would come up with a big one," said Bass. "It was a super game, and it was under tough pressure. We had to have it."

Gervin had come within two performance Friday night, but still showed the calm demeanor that earned him the nickname. "Iceman."

"Everybody asks me my secret. I have no secret. I never change my game," said Gervin, who was held to only 19 points Wednesday night when the Rockets won the first game, 95.85

The Rockets led Friday night's bruising, seesaw contest 74-73 after three periods.

But the Spurs outscored Houston 12-2 to open the final quarter. Gervin had seven of those 12 points. The Spurs were leading 95-86.

The Spurs were leading 95-86 with 4:48 remaining, before Moses Malone and Robert Reid combined to bring Houston to within two, 98-96 with 1:33 remaining.

Gervin got the next four points in 41 seconds to give San Antonio a 102-96 advantage. Malone and San Antonio's James Silas then traded a pair of free throws each, leaving the Spurs with a 104-98 lead with 41 seconds remaining.

Rudy Tomjanovich's three-pointer brought the Rockets within striking distance, but San Antonio reserve center Paul Griffin's driving layup iced the game with 11 seconds remaining.

Restani got nine of his 11 points in the final period.

"Both teams played well. It was a good playoff game," said Harris. "They made a couple of good plays more than we did in the fourth quarter."

Asked what he planned to do Sunday, Harris simply replied.
"Just play. We just have to go out and play hard. If we play there like we did here tonight, we'll win. I think the home court makes a significant difference."

Houston and San Antonio both posted 41-41 records in the regular season and split the season series, 3-3.

ANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — Amy Alcott says one important lesson she's learned during her five years on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour is she should not put too much

A relaxed Alcott went out and shot the finest round of her career Friday, a 7-under-par 65, to move into a four-way tie for the lead midway through the $305.000 Winners Circle tournament.

Jane Blalock, Pat Meyers and Donna Caponi Young shared the lead at 6-under-par 138 as the 72-hole tournament went into its nationally televised third round today at Mission Hills Country Club.

"I've learned that golf is a game where you can really be your own worst enemy," said a beaming Alcott after her 65 tied a Winners Circle record set by Sandra Post last year. "I've noticed that when I'm not playing well, I begin to expect too much of myself, put too much pressure on myself and press harder and harder every day.

"That's not the way to play golf."
Alcott was deadly accurate with her short and middle irons Friday.

"It's what I would almost term a perfect round of golf," said the 25-year-old who has won nine tournaments since joining the LPGA circuit in 1975. "I don't think there can be such a thing as a 1975. "I don't think there can be such a thing as a perfect round, but this wasn't far from it."

Her confidence bolstered, Alcott said, "I think

Ali-Weaver fight set

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali, seeking to win the heavyweight title for the fourth time, will meet champion Mike Weaver for the World Boxing Association championship in Brazil during July, The Associated Press learned Saturday.

Promoter Bob Arum confirmed that the 38-year-old Ali would make Weaver his first comeback opponent this summer in South America, although he would not specify the site or date. The AP learned it would be held in Brazil's 165,000-seat Marcado Stadium.

that the scheduled 15-round fight.

The total purse will be $8 million to $10 million, with Ali receiving the bigger share. Ali's money could surpass the reported $6.2 million he earned for his second fight against Spinks — the largest payday in boxing history.

In a surprise development, little-known promoter Murad Muhammad, from Newark, N.J., made the financial arrangements for the match. Murad Muhammad has been promoting inmate James Scott's light heavyweight fights from Rahway (N.J.) State Prison.

Arum, who said he has the signed contracts from Ali and Weaver, normally handles the financial arrangements as well. He and rival promoter Don King took turns staging the lucrative Ali extravaganzas during the 1970s.

Asked how Murad Muhammad had entered the picture, Arum said: "I've been doing a lot of other things lately. He hustled the money He's entitled to be co-promoter."

Arum said that a down payment had been made to Ali's representatives and he expected Weaver's representatives to get their first payment this week.

"The rest of the money has to be delivered for it to be official." Arum said by telephone from Houston. "I expect it all to be tied up next week. It looks good to me."

On Friday, Charles Lomax, attorney for Jabir Muhammad, Ali's manager, said that negotiations for Weaver-Ali were ongoing. But he also said that there were negotiations for an Ali comeback bout against Larry Holmes, the World Boxing Council champion.

King, who promotes Holmes' fights, said Friday he had met Ali in Los Angeles two days earlier: "I want Holmes, I want Holmes," King quoted Ali as saying. King said he had offered Ali $7 million to fight Holmes, who would make $3 million.

I'm playing well enough to win the tournament—but I'm not gong to put a bullet through my head if I don't."

Alcott, who had opened play with a 73 over the 6,242-yard, par 36-36—72 Mission Hills course, had eight birdies and one bogey.

"Not too bad for a wet-nosed kid," she said with a grin.

Blalock, one of the top players on the women's tour for the past decade, had her second 69 to share the top spot. Meyers, who owns one victory in her four years on the tour, and Young, the winner in Las Vegas two weeks agol each shot 67.

Debbie Massey was a stroke back of the lead with a 70 that put her at 139, while first-round leader Sandra Palmer and Beth Solomon were two shots off the pace. Palmer, who opened with a 66, stumbled to a 74, while Solomon had a 72.

Two of the favorites for the $37,500 first prize, Nancy Lopez-Melton and JoAnne Carner, remained in contention halfway through the LPGA's richest tournament Lopez-Melton had a second-round 69 that put her at 141, and Carner celebrated her 41st birthday with a 71 that gave her 142

Post, the two-time defending champion, was at 149 after a 70 Friday.

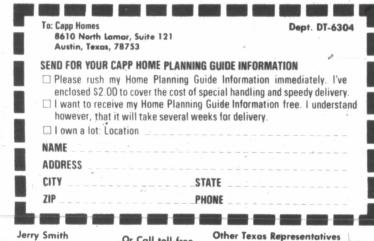

The tournament, officially named the Colgate-Dinah Shore Winners Circle, will wind up Sunday with the final round also scheduled for national television.

LONDON (AP) — Gary Player is still not sure he wasn't conned. Playing against Fuzzy Zoeller of the United States in the World Match Play Golf Championship last fall, the South African ace found that his opponent regularly conceded two-foot putts to him.

Racing officials end struggle

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Peace has come to championship auto racing after a turbulent 17-month struggle that threatened to strangle Indianapolis-style racing.

Representatives of the U.S. Auto Club and Championship Auto Racing Teams have reached agreement, after months of bickering, threats and cajoling, on the formation of a Championship Racing

Members of both groups will take part in CART's Twin 200 race at Ontario, Calif., on April 13, as well as the USAC race at Texas International Raceway on April 27.

The original dual schedule of 27 races will be pared to a single slate of "about 15," with each race run this year under the rules set by its original sanctioning body. The agreement, announced jointly Thursday by Dick King, USAC president, and Pat Patrick, chairman of CART's board of directors, was finalized Wednesday at a marathon meeting in Hot Springs, Ark. The release said the CRL expects by July 1 to develop a single set of rules on such things as allowable manifold pressure and the use of articulated skirts on the recently developed ground effects cars. "USAC did what we asked for 17 months ago, and that was to give us a voice in what's going on," Patrick said. "I just want to get the details worked out and go racing.

King said he isn't happy about using two sets of rules this year, but "It's a way to get together. It will create difficulties, but if it brings peace in the family, it's the right thing to do."

The CRL will be administered and sanctioned by USAC, with two CART directors - Patrick and car owner Roger Penske - added immediately to the USAC Board of Governors

The CRL's six-man Board of Governors will be comprised of King. Patrick, Penske, veteran driver A.J. Foyt and car owners Rolla Vollstedt and Jim Hall. Car owners Sherman Armstrong and Bob Fletcher were named as alternates.

The members of CART, most of the top teams and drivers in champ car racing, broke away from USAC in October of 1978 in an effort to gain a stronger voice over the rules and regulations of the

Angels picked to win second division title

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer Gene Autry, the Cowboy, the good guy in the white hat, owner of the California Angels, finally triumphed over the bad guys in the American League West last season. A half-pennant won't be enough satisfaction this time.

"I think we have the best team in our division and we should win again — providing we play well," says Manager Jim Fregosi, "We gained a lot of experience by going through a pennant race and a championship series. It's part of maturing, part of growing up I feel the team is ready to go all the way now

The Angels were plagued by injuries last year but still scored 866 runs, most in the majors in 15 years. The ringleader was Don Baylor, who hit 36 homers, drove in 139 runs, scored 120 and won the Most Valuable Player Award.

Fregosi's major worries concern outfielders Dan Ford (knee surgery) and Joe Rudi (Achilles tendon) and the pitching staff - free agent Nolan Ryan has gone home to Texas and the Houston Astros. while Frank Tanana and Chris Knapp missed much of 1979. Hopefully, Tanana and Knapp will join Dave Frost and Bruce Kison, who jumped the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, in the starting rotation.

In the bullpen, rookie standout Mark Clear slumped badly after a superb start and only the late-season acquisition of John Montague from Seattle enabled the Angels to fend off Kansas City.

California made a major off-season trade, sending first baseman Willie Aikens to Kansas City for outfielder Al Cowens. The presence of seven-time AL batting champion Rod Carew at first and Baylor for DH made Aikens expendable. Other key Angels are catcher Brian Downing (at Hurdle, the heralded phenom flop of 1978, form the outfield. Veteran Hal McRae is the DH. .326 the top right-handed hitter in the league), second baseman Dennis Leonard, Paul Bobby Grich and third baseman

Carney Lansford. At shortstop,

The Rangers finished five games out last year despite one horrible stretch in which they lost 30 of 40 games. A healthy Jon Matlack, who missed most alcoholism. Bump Wills. To guard against deep slumps in the Texas summer heat, Manager Pat Corrales will try not to use anyone in more than 130 games.

The Minnesota Twins keep losing free agents. Nevertheless, they finished only six games out last year but now must find a replacement for Dave Goltz' in the rotation. There are serious questions behind starters Jerry Koosman and Geoff Zahn and bullpen ace Mike Marshall.

The Twins have a fine young catcher in Butch Wynegar, a solid infield of Ron Jackson, Rob Wilfong, Roy Smalley and John Castino, and a budding star in outfielder Ken Landreaux.

Like Minnesota, maverick Bill Veeck's Chicago White Sox have stayed away from the millionaire free agent market. Nevertheless, they have managed to develop an outstanding young pitching rotation — all left-handed — of Ken Kravec, Richard Wortham, Ross Baumgarten and Steve Trout - plus Ed Farmer in the

Elsewhere, however, there are too many questions, except for Lamar Johnson at first base or DHing, Alan Bannister and Jim Morrison somewhere in the infield. Chet Lemon in center field and Claudell Washington in left. Veeck is counting on a heralded young right fielder named Harold Baines whose nickname is "Cooperstown."

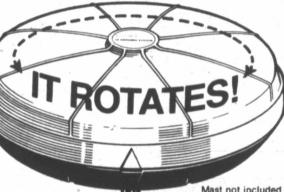

The Seattle Mariners have promising pitchers in starters Mike Parrott, Rick Honeycutt, Floyd Bannister and Jim Beattie, with Shane Rawley and Byron McLaughlin in the bullpen. Bruce Bochte at first, Julio Cruz at second and DH Willie Horton are proven performers but the outfield received a blow with Juan Beniquez' shoulder injury.

And that leaves the Oakland A's of Charlie Finley ... and Billy, Martin. Baseball's new Odd Couple should keep things

Yushan ready for market

AP Special Correspondent

"Humph, humph, humph!"
Avram Lucian Yushan emits three loud grunts. His eyes roll back in his head. He bares his teeth, which glisten behind a sinister growth of black beard. Then with a lunge he attacks two piles of brick building tiles, seven in each pile and weighing a total 168 pounds, with one swoop of his bare hands.

Bam! Wham! Crash! The tiles splatter in all directions, making the dining room of the Little Afghanistan Restaurant on New York's 43rd St. look as if it had just been rocked by an earthquake.

"The strongest man in the world," said Dr. Tiberius Den, a friend and physician from Haworth, N.J. Avram smiled broadly and said something in Romanian. "No other man in the world could do that," advised Justin Herscovici, another friend who is president of a New York firm of international trade consultants

Avram beamed. Dr. Den and Herscovici were present at a formal press conference aimed at introducing Avram to the commercial and theatrical world. Avram, having left his native Romania with his Just to prove how gifted Avram really is, a half-hour film was brought along by a public relations outfit showing Avram bending horseshoes, tying heavy steel bars into Boy Scout knots and breaking heavy chains strapped and locked around his 55-inch chest. Then it was necessary to convince visitors that Avram wasn't just a hunk of brute strength. He also had subtle skills. An apple was placed on a lady's head. Avram peeled it with swoops of a sword.

"He should be good for selling kids' cereal in TV commercials," said his press agent. "Also he would be great in Hollywood as a stunt man or a tough guy."

Indeed he would. But it would be old stuff for Avram.

Avram, former boxer. wrestler, stunt man and sideshow exhibitionist, already has appeared in eight movies in his native Romania. Hungary Belgium and Germany. He lists himself as a professor at the International Martial Arts of Dracula. He started boxing at age 14. became the light-heavyweight champion of Romania, took up karate and even worked a while in a circus. Dr. Den explained that Avram's gifts came from psycho-kinetic energy that emanates from the mind as well as the body.

A special program, planned for the busy homemaker and working woman, will be Thursday from 12 noon to 1 p.m. in the Southwestern Public Service Reddy Room. "The Cost Saving Food Plan" is the title of the first in the series of three lunch programs. Mrs. Mary Sweeten, food and nutrition specialist from College Station, will conduct the program. featuring information on why we spend more on food, how to save on the food budget, how to spend less time in the kitchen, how to shop food sales and how to recognize marketing girmmicks.
All homemakers are invited to bring a sack lunch and attend the free program, sponsored by the Gray County Family Living Committee. Drinks will be provided. The program will begin and end promptly to accomodate work GARDEN SEMINAR:

A garden seminar will be Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in Carver Center. Dr. Roland Roberts, area vegetable specialist, will be in Pampa to conduct the meeting. If you are planning to grow a vegetable garden this spring, you should plan to attend to learn vegetable varieties adapted to this area. The program is free and sponsored by the Gray County Horticulture Subcommittee. HOW TO GET A GOOD FOOD BUY:

Shoppers can get good food buys by knowing the major factors that make good buys — and then using them as a "shopper's guide." These factors vary from the shopper to another—but only in degree and emphasis. An informed "shopper's guide" has three basic parts—family preferences, food costs and wise buying practices. Each part features major factors to Family preferences are "likes" and "dislikes." Informed shoppers know the preferences of all family members. They also follow them in planning menus and comparing different food choices. A "bargain" is no bargain if it end up in the garbar of the state if it ends up in the garbage can

Informed shoppers compare costs by comparing "unit prices" if possible - that is, the price "per pound" or "per ounce". But that is only part of cost comparing. They also read labels for the other parts — nutritive value of a product, amount of 'waste' in a product and the extent of preparation the product will need. In comparing cost according to preparation needs, the shopper must consider the "cost of a convenience product" versus the cost of time and energy spent at home preparing a similar food 'from scratch.''

Wise buying practices include several factors that informed shoppers must know. They are: signs of quality — to get the full benefit of its nutritive value - times of the year each food is most plentiful, has best quality and lowest prices - how much to buy - to allow for planned-overs and avoid "throw-away" leftovers

when special sales occur
new developments in food — and in food markets. FIGHT "SNEAKY" CALORIES - SET WEIGHT-CONTROL CLIMATE

Fight "sneaky" calories. Set a weight-control climate. Unwanted calories "sneak" into the diets of many overweight people who add them without even realizing they re doing it.

Overweight people are very sensitive to the sight, taste, smell and thought of food especially when it's clearly in sight and readily available. In addition, they eat almost as much food when they're thinking about something else as when they're thinking about food. For example, they don't realize how much they are eating when their attention is on television or something they are reading. Finally, some overweight people eat less when they have to prepare their own food — but others have a habit of tasting while preparing foods.

In order to set a climate for weight control, one battle plan is: know when we eat food without realizing it and then re-order eating habits to avoid "sneaky" calories.

Below are suggestions for changing eating

- Put snack foods (crackers, cakes, soft drinks, candy) on a high shelf or in a hard-to-reach place — or avoid buying them at

Buy raw fruits and other low-calorie, high-nutrition items for snacks. In eating snacks, take only one small serving from the package. Put the package back and repeat this each time you decide to snack. Have family members without weight problems keep their snack foods out of your sight - During meals, don't leave serving dishes or pans on the table. Serve your plate and put all food away so you don't have to look at it. Wait at least two minutes after eating before taking a second helping. To get a second helping. take your plate to where the food is kept; get a moderate-size serving and put the food away again before eating.

Here comes Easter with joy of spring

Here's Easter, that joyous meld of sunrise worship, daffodils and jonquils, spring fashions and the sounds of "Alleluia".

As the celebration of Christ's resurrection, Easter Sunday is a religious holiday imparting the sense of "re-birth" and a new beginning for the people of many lands and cultures. Few occasions are so joyous in spirit or combine so many symbols of a new and everlasting life.

Easter, the first Sunday following the full moon of the vernal equinox, came early this year. Herewith, a summary of Easter celebration - past and present - as compiled by the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers.

The first Easter sunrise service in the United States was held this morning at Point Udall, St. Croix, in the U.S. Virgin Islands, the easternmost territory of this country.

Within the continental U.S., the first outdoor service was held at Cadillac Mountain, Maine, which received the first sunlight on the mainland because of its eastern extremity and altitude Among subsequent outdoor services are those at Callaway

Gardens, Ga.; Cypress Gardens, Fla.; the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Arlington National Cemetery, Va.; the Grand Canyon, Ariz.; the Gardens of the Gods, Colo.; the Hollywood Bowl, Calif.; and the Punchbowl National Memorial Cemetery, Hawaii. Of the thousands of greeting cards that criss-cross the nation.

many will be illustrated with lambs, rabbits and eggs. In the mythology of Easter, rabbits and lambs symbolize the rites of spring through their ability to reproduce, bringing new life to the

The name Easter is believed to derive from the Scandinavian "Ostra" and the Teutonic "Oestre", both godesses of mythology signifying the coming of spring. Early Christians wore garments of white linen when baptized

This mode of dress may account for the traditional link of Easter with spring fashions. The so-called "Easter parade" — generally following a church service - has become a fixture in many communities. It is believed that the media focused on such an event for the first time, in 1869, when the New York Times reported: "The day being pleasant, the streets and parks filled with pedestrians gladly enjoying the first airs of spring. The ladies

Easter ham brings leftover dividend 1 pound cooked ham cut in julienne strips

It's the smart shopper who plans ahead for a variety of meals when buying the Easter ham. Leftover ham not only offers opportunities to save time and money but also provides a welcome change of pace to everyday meals.

Hamaroni Skillet Supper is an excellent example of how leftover ham can become the basis for an inviting yet quick and economical meal.

When storing leftover ham, the National Live Stock and Meat Board recommends that the meat be carefully wrapped and placed in the refrigerator immediately after serving. For best quality, the ham should be left in as large a piece as possible and cut into strips when preparing the recipe. The leftover ham can be wrapped and frozen for a month.

HAMARONI SKILLET SUPPER

1 pkg. (7 oz.) elbow macaroni 3 tablespoons butter or margarine 3 tablespoons flour 2 cups milk 1 small onion, finely chopped 1/4 teaspoon marjoram leaves 1/8 teaspoon pepper 2 oz. cheese, grated

2 tablespoons chopped pimiento Prepare macaroni according to package directions. Melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Blend in flour: gradually add milk and cook slowly, stirring constantly until thickened. Add ham, onion, marjoram and pepper and cook slowly 5 minutes. Stir in cheese, macaroni and pimiento. Cook slowly 8 to 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

MENDING MATURE MARRIAGE

By Louise Pierce

couples, or singles, can avoid bitter loneliness of their retired and inactive lives. My answer to each of them has been that they can escape being mired in misery only if they determine to do so and carry out that determination. I have frequently discussed the areas in which

Several recent letters have asked how older we older couples can continue in our lifetime work or find new remunerative occupations. But this group does not want or need to work for money. They report that their health is reasonably good, their homes beautiful or at least adequate and their needs met completely. Yet they agonize over being idle, sitting for hours with nothing to do but stare at each other in lonesome fustration. My feeling is that this situation need never occur. In my field of writing, I will always be scribbling or typing as long as I live, even if I never sell another word. I know singers who warble only for their mates, artists who have never sold a painting by will always be at their easels, folk who enter contests of jingle writing or 25-word paragraphs on advertised products they have used

I believe that every individual, or couple, can unearth a latent desire to find satisfaction in a personal effort of some kind.

But if this kind of busy-ness does no appeal to you, there are many community options you can choose. Most cities, and even small towns, have senio activities that sound inviting, even intriguing. And a lot of my friends take advantage of these opportunities

In Amarillo, the senior calendar lists something for seniors to do every day of the week. Gatherings are in different places so there is no monotony of location. The programs are varied and include singing, dancing, lectures, discussions, lunches, bowling, bingo and other pleasurable activities.

The Pampa Senior Center serves lunch every day of the week and provides games, arts and crafts, library reading and other opportunities for our older people

Nobody in our locality need be lonely. And if you attend every planned function every day of the week, you will be so tired at night that you will sleep contentedly Sharing the interests and accomplishments of yourself and your mate with other couples can be rewarding too. Garden clubs are in this category. Most cities have clubs of couples who raise flowers, most notably roses.

I know of many such organizations of older pairs who spend part or all of every day reading about roses, tending their rose gardens and comparing notes with other rose growers. They ### hold exhibitions and are justly proud of the ribbons they win. Each loser makes plans to win the next year. Competition and pleasure are marvelous.

Time and again I have watered and nourished something that looked like the beginnings of a blossom but did not prove to be. Once Otis wanted to pull up a peeping shoot of greenery that I was sure was something that I had planted I refused to let him destroy it. Great was his Crawford. triumph when the stem grew into a worthless pig

Plant culture of all sorts is an absorbing hobby or even a full time work. A few days ago heard an excellent lecture on what vegetables and flowers to plant together to insure better productivity, longer life, and riddance from insects and other pests

Libraries carry much material on this subject Why don't you lay in a supply of this information, select what seems to suit your plans, grow a garden according to instructions -- and see how you can come to achieving the ideal garden?

If you are in an apartment with limited space. you can still have green, growing things on trellises and fences. Watching nature produce and grow can be a fascinating and delightful

Another possibility is volunteering for telephoning -- for a church, a club, a civic group, any other organization in your locality that uses that service. You can meet new friends that way and carry on enjoyable conversations I know an elderly widower who called an elderly widow by mistake. The liked the sounds of each other's voices, started meeting for lunch, then dinner, then movies -- and finally at the alter. To my knowledge they have lived happily ever since. Several of our surrounding towns have senior citizen buses and take trips to neighboring cities for whatever special events there may be. While some of the people on the bus may not be your type, there are almost surely a few with whom you can identify

Find your niche and make use of it, heart and

Rearing children doubles in price WASHINGTON (AP) - The cost of raising a child has nearly doubled in the past decade, according to an analysis of U.S. Department of Agriculture data by the Health Insurance Institute.

It costs an average of from $3,400 to $3,800 a year to raise each child from birth to the age of 18 at a moderate price level, depending on the region of residence, the Institute reports. In 1970, the cost of supporting a child to the age of 18 ranged from $1,800 to $2,000 a year.

Poll shows salary affects health SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) -

Only about one third of adults in California feel they are in top health either physically or emotionally, according to a poll taken for the State Department of Mental Health.

The amount of money one makes definitely affects one's health, the survey found. Fifty-three percent of those making $30,000 or more a year felt well physically, while only 29 percent of those whose family income was $10,000 or less felt tip-top.

About two-thirds of all Californians, the poll found, are plagued with various physical or mental ailments, including back trouble, asthma, high blood pressure, insomnia and

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Thacker and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Story of Lefors.

The bride wore a formal gown of sheerganza and re-embroidered Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta, designed with a V-neckline, semi-empire waist, long bishop sleeves and bell skirt. Inserts of lace, enhanced with tiny seed pearls and sequins, adorned the neckline, bodice, sleeves and skirt, which fell in ruffled tiers to a chapel length train. She wore a veil of illusion bordered in matching lace, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Attending the bride were Phyllis Akins as matron of honor and Kim Blythe, Lequeta Berry and Sandra Story. Michelle Bohannon

Ed Story was best man. Greg Story and Tim Hill were groomsmen. O.C. Akins and Henry Duckworth seated guests and Chad Snell was ringbearer.

Anne Dingus became the bride of Patrick David Redman in a recent ceremony in Austin. Vows were exchanged in Abbey Chapel with the Rev. J. Chris Hines, an Episcopal minister, officiating.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Dingus, 1821 Mary

MRS. PATRICK REDMAN

Ellen. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Redman The bride wore a long sleeved street-length wrap dress of periwinkle blue, featuring a shawl collar and tie belt. She carried a bouquet of white orchids, white roses and statice.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Jane Dingus of Houston and Nancy Dingus Crites of Santa Ana, Calif., and the bridegroom's sister, Mary Kathleen Redman of El Paso.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Robert Redman Jr., of El Paso. Groomsmen were brothers of the bride and bridegroom, Michael Redman of El Paso and William Dingus of Pampa. The bride's father read prayers during the ceremony and her brother, William Dingus, read Scripture passages. Assisting at a reception in Dodson Manor were Stephanie Karr Dodson, Lee Anne Shapleigh and Joyce Karr.

The bride, a 1975 graduate of Rice University, is an assistant editor at Texas Monthly magazine in Austin. Redman, a 1976 Rice graduate, is a second year student at the University of Texas School of Law. He is employed by the Student Attorney's Office at UT. Special guests at the wedding included the bride's grandfather, F.

DR. LAMB

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - So frequently I read about reducing. What I want to know is how can I put on weight? I'm 85 and I weigh 110 pounds. When I was 45 years old I weighed more than 140. My doctor had me in a hospital for a week to check on my weight loss. At the end of testing, he found nothing wrong with me. What do I have to do to put on weight's

DEAR READER - The same laws apply to putting on weight as apply to losing weight. Simply stated, you probably need to consume more calories than you're getting in your diet. Once calorie-containing food is swallowed, there are only certain things that can happen to it. One is that it may not be absorbed. You see this with people who have diseases that interfere with absorption and cause diarrhea-type illnesses. That can be one explanation for a person eating a normal diet and not gaining weight.

The second is that absorption may be normal and you get all of the calories into the body but you lose the calories through the urine. This occurs in a diabetic who's losing sugar in the urine. That's why an advanced diabetic may lose weight whereas as early diabetic may be overweight.

But if you absorb all the calories in your food and you are not losing them through the urine, then the body has to process them. It can use the calories to maintain your body tissues such as your muscle mass and to form new enzymes and hormones if they're needed for the body. If you consume enough calories and proteins for this purpose, then you should not lose weight. If you eat more calories than you need for this purpose, these calories will be stored as fat and you will start to develop fat deposits on the body.

My recommendation to you would be to significantly increase your calorie intake. This might give you more strength and enable you to feel better. To do this you might need to eat more frequent meals than you're accustomed to eating.

Now there are certain disease conditions which increase the amount of calories the body uses and people with these can eat a lot of food and not gain weight. The classic one of these is an overactive thyroid, but I'm certain your doctor has tested this and found your thyroid to be normal. You'd be surprised how many people who are very thin and want to gain weight really aren't consuming many calories. Sometimes it's because they don't like the kind of foods that contain a lot of calories, specifically those

Mansion items up for bid

By LEE JONES Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - If you're looking for a conversation piece with a little history behind it, now's your chance. Fifteen pieces of furniture from the Governor's Mansion are about to be sold to the highest bidder.

The mansion staff and First Lady Rita Clements had planned to put 39 pieces on the market, but Gov. Bill Clements turned 24 of them over to the House on Thursday.

Joann Cook, administator of the mansion, said Friday she and Mrs. Clements earlier had denied the House's request because they believed the pieces were inappropriate for legislative offices.

But Jim Kaster, the governor's legislative contact man, said Speaker Bill Clayton asked him to get Clements to override Mrs. Clements'

'The governor said OK, as long as the pieces remain in the Capitol," Kaster said "I'm going to have a talk with him. ... We'll have to talk about it," Mrs. Clements said of her husband's decision. Kaster said Clayton told him the House "wanted to use the pieces in various members" offices and in the speaker's apartment" in the Still, Texans will have a chance to add a little history to their homes by bidding on the pieces that remain, including beds, tables, chairs, mirrors and wall sconces. The State Purchasing and General Services Commission plans to send out bid sheets for the mail auction sometime this spring.

Each piece will come with a short pedigree if one is known - prepared by Ms. Cook. "We photographed, identified and appraised everything. ... It's hard, believe me," Ms. Cook

Some of the pedigrees aren't too impressive, such as a dresser with mirror bought during the Preston Smith administration from an Austin furniture dealer for $95. One "antique" table is a fake and was purchased as such during the Dolph Briscoe administration to match a piece already in the mansion.

A lot of pieces were stored in the mansion

"I took this on myself because Mrs. Clements and I would walk around the house and she would say. What do you know about this piece?' and I would say, 'Nothing,' "Ms. Cook said.

She said much of her information came from old photographs and an inventory done in the 1960s by Jean Daniel, wife of Gov. Price Daniel

Ms. Cook said "the curiosity item" is a small wicker chair with a round seat, seen in mansion photos taken at the turn of the century and during the "Ma" Ferguson administration. It is beyond repair but "somebody might want it as a souvenir.' she said.

First Lady Rita Clements obtained professional appraisals of all mansion furnishings before placing them in storage while the mansion undergoes renovation. According to a letter sent to all living former first ladies, Mrs. Clements and her staff culled items that "would not be appropriate" in the restored mansion.

The Governor's Mansion Committee and the Texas Commission on the Arts then authorized removal of the 39 pieces of furniture from the mansion inventory.

"This was the first time the committee has strongly exercised its responsibility. There never has been anybody to take care of this furniture, to be perfectly blunt," Ms. Cook said. Each former first lady will have a chance to bid but, legally, may not receive special

One former mansion occupant is a little concerned about selling off furniture that has been used in the governor's house. 'Just the fact that something was in the mansion lends it a certain historic value. A first lady should have the opportunity of looking at it later on. Different first families have different tastes and lifestyles, and I would hope they would not let anything of historic value go." said Rep. Dave Allred, D-Wichita Falls

Allred lived in the mansion as a small boy during the late 1930s when his father, James V.

Allred, was governor While "shook up that they might be selling a bunch of stuff because Rita didn't like it." Allred also understands why the mansion might be ripe for a garage sale

"I do remember exploring the mansion's basement when I was five or six. Stuff was just stacked all over." he recalled — things like a plaster model of a school bus and a marble bust that gave Allred a fright when he rounded a dark

DEAR TAKEN IN: My legal and theological consultants say that it doesn't matter if one, both or neither party reaches a climax during the sex act, it is still considered sexual intercourse. Furthermore, it is the opinion of all consultants that your "marriage" was not valid in the eyes of God or society. Conrad Fowkes plays Don Hughes on 'As The World Turns.'

This week on "As the World Turns" a wedding will take place. While viewers are crossing their fingers to see if marriage between Tom and Barbara will work despite Barbara's complicated past, it would be quite easy to ignore the minister who will be performing the ceremony As it happens, alert viewers of this serial will be treated to a look at real life minister Norman Walter the handsome real life husband of Rita Walter who plays Carol Stallings on "As the World Turns. Though the use of a professional minister in this dramatic sequence might make the participants a bit shaky about the legalities of the situation Norman assures us that Tom and Barbara's wedding bands will only be binding in the world of daytime drama leaving stars Coleen Zenk and Tom Tammi free to pursue

Elsewhere on "As the Conrad World Turns," Fowkes is pursuing his interest in film as he appears in the new Sidney Lumet movie, "The Price of the City." The film, which is now in production in the New York area, stars Treat Williams, and promises to be a dramatic thriller about a unique city

Finally, to round out the network report, NBC has announced that it will premiere a new soap opera as early as late spring entitled "Texas." This serial will be spun off from 'Another World," television's only 90 minute drama. It seems that AW is bursting with exciting storylines these days and the only way to relieve the pressure and give new storvlines their proper attention is to spotlight the entire Houston contingent in their own serial. Of course, this will mean that 'Another World will have to be trimmed to make room for its offspring but it is hoped that the exciting adventures of Kevin Reena, Striker and company will ease the withdrawal pains for AW's most loyal fans.

Now a look at what's been happening and what will happen on all afternoon dramas.

Recap 3/31-4/4 Preview 4/7-4/11

GENERAL HOSPITAL Alan continues to play the loving husband so he will be above reproach when he seizes his opportunity to murder Monica and Rick. Tracy loses her court bid to expose Monica. Rick pressures Monica to tell Alan the truth but she is thwarted by Alan. Tracy tells Edward she suspects thoughts. Jeff decides to divorce Heather. Jeremy
