

Three family members die in house fire

HEBRONVILLE, Texas (AP) — A fast-moving fire that left three persons dead in the first fatal residential fire in 25 years may have been ignited by a gas kitchen stove apparently turned on for extra warmth, investigators said.

The fire, spurred by high winds, raced through a two-story frame house early Sunday, gutting the residence and leaving four persons hospitalized, firemen said.

Television repairman charged in murder of Dallas housewife

DALLAS (AP) — A television repairman convicted twice of sex offenses and once for impersonating an FBI agent has been charged in the strangulation death of a young lawyer's wife, whose body was found near a message scrawled in rosy pink lipstick on a bedroom mirror.

$500,000 bond set by Night Magistrate Tom Boardman. He was arrested early Sunday by homicide detectives and arraigned on murder charges before Boardman later in the day.

husband in their fashionable North Dallas home. A macramé rope was wrapped around her neck and her husband, Don Martinson, found a neat trail of her clothing nearby.

The note "Now we are even Don" was emblazoned in lipstick on a bedroom mirror, causing the case to be called the "lipstick murder."

Realtor Board announces private property week

April 13-19 is Private Property Week in Pampa, according to Elmer Balch, president of the Pampa Board of Realtors. The local group will join realtors across the nation to observe the week.

sponsored two defensive driving courses, installed outdoor turf carpeting at the Senior Citizen's Center, donated to the fund to recruit physicians, planted trees in city parks, helped judge the Christmas decorating contest and hosted the annual coffee in honor of outstanding business people.

Candidate added to ballot list

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The state headquarters of the Texas Democratic Party completed the court-ordered job today of notifying 32 county chairmen that Joe Sullivan's name must be replaced on the Democratic primary ballot as a candidate for Congress.

Absentee voting for the May 3 primary began today

Sullivan, of San Antonio, filed as a Democratic candidate for Congressional District No. 21, presenting a petition with the required number of signatures.

Gibson Jones, also of San Antonio, brought suit claiming the petition of voters was not in order

Sullivan appealed to Federal Court Judge D.W. Suttle and Suttle on Friday ordered that Sullivan's name be placed back on the ballot until a full hearing could be held on the dispute. No date was set for the full hearing.

Alien smuggler contends farmers need help

By The Associated Press While immigration officials say profits from the smuggling of Mexican aliens are soaring, a convicted "slaver" says he was performing a service by secretly transporting aliens across the border.

"You could call it a form of slavery," said Immigration and Naturalization Service Director Paul B. O'Neill in Houston.

"This is a very big business," said O'Neill. "Some dropshouses have probably had $1 million in people go through in one year."

The farmers and ranchers were crying for somebody to work," said Jerry Pettijohn, now serving time at a Federal Correctional Institute in Bastrop for alien smuggling.

"Then when they get here, they're detained until someone — a relative or an employer — pays enough to get them out. The smuggler makes money on both ends," O'Neill told The Dallas Morning News.

INS officials told the newspaper that one ring operating out of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, smuggles as many as 1,000 Mexicans into Texas a month — each paying at least $250.

Texan looks at record in long horseback ride

BRUSH, Colo. (AP) — When horseback rider Thomas Gaddie galloped through northeastern Colorado, he'd already been in the saddle for two months — attempting a record-breaking 12,000-mile ride from Dallas to Prudhoe Bay, Alaska and then back to Texas.

On Feb. 12, Gaddie, a prominent Dallas contractor, shut down a major portion of his lucrative fireplace building business and set out to realize his American Dream.

Founding "The Texas Big 'Un, Inc." with the motto "Clear Across Texas. Then Some," he billed his 12,000-mile trek as The World's Greatest Horseback Ride, and said he would complete the journey in 10 months at a cost of $200,000.

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

April 15, 1980

You are in a luckier period than usual for material acquisition until autumn of this year, so don't overlook any opportunities to enhance your income or security now.

ARIES (March 21-April 9) Attend to any financial matters you may have postponed. Today you should find the approach to handling them efficiently. Find out more of what lies ahead for in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Instead of getting caught up and worrying about the affairs of others, spend more time with situations having a direct bearing on your self-interests.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Normally you're extremely restless unless you're where the action is but today you need time to yourself in order to recharge your energies.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The practical manner in which you handle an issue can make the progress you've been hoping for a reality today. Keep your feet on the ground.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Important goals can be achieved today because you already have at your disposal the requisites for success. Use them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Let experience guide you completely today and you won't go wrong. The same techniques that worked for you before will again prove effective.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You are at your best today when you involve yourself with others. When you help them, something valuable will be added to your own storehouse.

Olympians upset over decision

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Tears glistened in Robert J. Kane's eyes as the U.S. Olympic Committee president conveyed the news that, for the first time in history, the United States will not be sending a team to the Olympic Games.

Ralph Mann, a silver medalist in the hurdles in the 1972 Olympics, choked up while discussing the decision and had to walk away from a group of newsmen.

Although almost everyone anticipated a pro-boycott vote, there was nothing cut-and-dried about it. The decision wasn't an easy one to make, as evidenced by the emotion displayed following Saturday's historic vote by the USOC's House of Delegates.

Yielding to pressure from the Carter administration, the delegates voted by a 2-to-1 margin to boycott the 1980 Summer Games in Moscow as a protest against the Soviet Union's military intervention in Afghanistan.

Douglas F. Roby, one of two Americans on the IOC, told The Associated Press that if the Carter administration is able to get the Western bloc of nations to join the U.S. boycott, the International Olympic Committee would not stage the Summer Games, which are scheduled to begin July 19 in Moscow.

"If they get the important ones (nations), it is my opinion the IOC will cancel the Games," Roby said, mentioning Great Britain, France, West Germany, Australia, New Zealand and Canada. "The IOC doesn't want to see any half-baked Games."

Many of the delegates said the keys to quick passage of the boycott resolution were stirring appeals by Vice President Walter Mondale and USOC treasurer William Simon, a former cabinet member in the Nixon and Ford administrations.

But most of the athletes didn't buy the administration's reasoning.

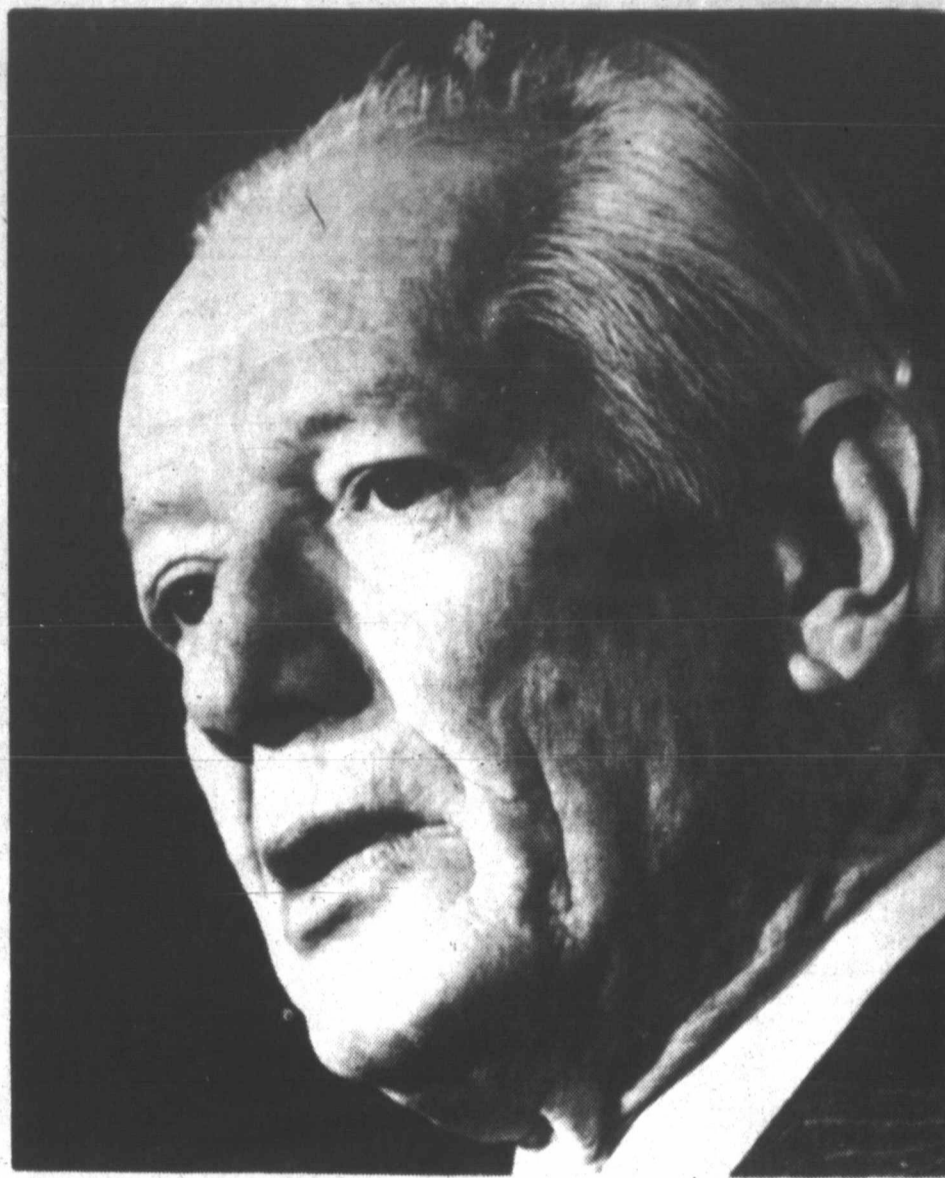

"Some of the delegates alluded to the fact that our lives may be threatened by the developments in Afghanistan, that our democracy was at stake," said Fred Newhouse, a gold and silver medalist in track at the 1976 Games. "I don't think Congress agrees with that, or they would have initiated the draft.

Still, the athletes accepted the decision gracefully. Their own resolution calling for the United States to compete at Moscow never came up for a vote after the boycott proposal passed, 1,604 to 797 with two abstentions. Each of the 275 delegates in attendance had about 10 votes.

"We lost. It is as simple as that," said Anita DeFrantz, a rower who has been spokesman for the athletes since Carter called for the boycott in January. DeFrantz, an attorney, said the athletes still are considering a lawsuit against the USOC for preventing them from competing at Moscow. But support for the lawsuit appeared to be waning.

The USOC resolution proposed that the United States reject the Soviet Union invitation to compete unless President Carter decides, by May 20, that the international situation has changed and Americans can go to Moscow.

SADDENED BY BOYCOTT DECISION, U.S. Olympic Committee President Robert Kane, with tears in his eyes, discusses the decision with reporters at a news conference in Colorado Springs. The decision has been met with emotion by Olympic athletes. This is the first year in the history that the United States has decided to boycott an Olympics. (AP Photo)

Ballesteros terms Masters 'tough week of golf'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A potential rout turned into a test of character and courage for Seve Ballesteros. "This was my toughest week in golf," the dashing young Spaniard said Sunday after losing eight shots of a 10-shot advantage before recovering to win the 44th Masters golf tournament.

"I have a lot of heart," he said. "You must have a lot of heart to stand up under the pressure I have had this week."

"My ambition was to win the (British) Open, but I feel this is the hardest to win. There's so much pressure. Maybe I feel more at home in Europe."

The reigning British Open champion appeared headed for a record-setting victory under leaden skies Sunday, touring the front side of the 7,040-yard Augusta National Golf Club course in 3-under 33 to take a 10-stroke edge over the field.

Then came a bogey at No. 10, but there was no concern.

Worry began to enter his mind at No. 12, the treacherous little par 3 guarded by water, which caught his tee shot. He dropped, and then needed two putts to get down. It was double bogey and only a 5-shot lead after playing partner Jack Newton of Australia sank his second straight birdie putt.

It got even tighter. He went to the par 5 13th, a hole he birdied the first three days, and found water again, ultimately missing a 10-foot par putt.

Newton had another birdie, and further along the course, Gibby Gilbert was within two shots of the lead, after playing the 16th.

Seve said he started talking to himself.

"You are so stupid. What are you doing here. You were in a comfortable position. Now you are in trouble.

You are going to lose the tournament."

He parred the 14th and then applied the clincher, two-putting from 20 feet for a birdie 4 on the 520-yard 15th.

It was over, and he knew it.

So did everyone else.

Ballesteros parred out, finishing with a par 72 that left him with a 13-under 275 total, good enough for a 4-shot victory over Newton, the 1979 Australian Open champion, who closed out 68-279, and Gilbert, who went 67-279.

It made the handsome Spaniard, who celebrated his 23rd birthday last Wednesday, the youngest Masters champion ever — about three months younger than Jack Nicklaus was when he won the first of his record five Masters.

Sonics and Bucks are back where they started

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

After four games, the Milwaukee Bucks and Seattle SuperSonics are right back where they started — and the Sonics couldn't be happier.

"We've got to be favored now, going back to our house," said Seattle forward John Johnson after the Sonics beat the Bucks 112-107 Sunday to even their best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series at two victories apiece. The Sonics will be at home when the series resumes Tuesday night and also for the seventh game, if necessary.

The Sonics led all the way Sunday, scoring the first 10 points of the game and building the lead to as many as 18 points before turning back a late Milwaukee rally. Seattle guard Gus Williams led all scorers with 32 points.

In the other Western Conference second-round series, the Phoenix Suns staved off elimination by beating the Los Angeles Lakers 127-101. Los Angeles, leading 3-1, will get another chance to wrap up the series Tuesday night on its home floor.

In the East, Boston and Philadelphia both moved within one victory of advancing to the conference finals by winning Sunday. The Celtics clobbered the Houston Rockets 100-81 to go up 3-0 and the 76ers beat the Hawks at Atlanta 107-83 to take a 3-1 lead. Both can end their series at home, Boston playing tonight and Philadelphia Tuesday night.

Suns 127, Lakers 101

Paul Westphal scored 25 points and six other Phoenix players hit double figures as the Suns beat Los Angeles to stay alive. Phoenix went ahead early in the first period, built the lead up to 25 points in the third quarter and was never threatened.

Americans in love with Ballesteros

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — American golf has a love affair going with a young Spanish gauchito named Severiano Ballesteros, but it's a one-sided romance. The crush is more with the counter than the courted.

Seve has eyes only for another damsel overseas — the European tour.

American golf, Seve says in effect, is too grim and impersonal. It's too cut-throat. Players are money mad. There is little fun in the game.

Golfers here concentrate so much, said the exciting new Masters champion, the most exciting figure to emerge in the sport since Jack Nicklaus. They don't talk much. We don't have a fiesta when we play (in Europe) but everybody is happy when you win.

There's big money here. More tension. You know, money's money. They (Americans) really are hungry. Me? I don't worry about money. I want to win and be happy.

These are depressing words to Commissioner Deane Beman and the architects of the $13 million American tour, suffering a lack of identity and a downturn in popularity.

With the aging Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus descending from their once-lofty pedestals to be replaced by an almost indistinguishable wave of young lions in plaid slacks, the game is thirsting for a new and dramatic personality.

Now they have one in the handsome, 23-year-old Spaniard, considered by most of the international golf community to be the world's No. 1 player.

He currently is the reigning champion in two of the four major tests — the British Open and the Masters. His horizon appears limitless.

Recognizing this, the PGA tour offered Ballesteros a player's card, free access to the tour without the necessity of going to a qualifying school. The card would require Ballesteros to give first allegiance to the U.S. tour.

No, gracias, Seve said.

Some American pros were stunned by this rebuff. The lockerrooms seethed with caustic comments. You just can't hit the ball as crookedly as Seve does and win consistently, said two-time U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin.

If he is to be a world-class player, added PGA titleholder Dave Graham, he will have to learn how to play the difficult, tree-lined golf courses that demand precision as well as distance (meaning U.S. courses).

He bangs the ball off trees, out of bunkers and off adjacent fairways to reap birdies from double bogey situations. He also scores double bogeys and eagles with equal aplomb.

The crowds love him.

Rain-soaked Amy loved the weather

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Amy Alcott once broke the record for women at the famed Pebble Beach golf links, and she said the weather in Raleigh Sunday reminded her of what she had experienced there.

And no one could take issue with that after the 24-year-old Santa Monica, Calif., golfer splashed her way to a 3-under-par 69 to take home the winners' share of $100,000 in an LPGA tour event. Her 54-hole total of 206 was 10 under par and four strokes better than runnerup Donna Caponi Young.

"I usually like playing in this kind of weather," said a drenched Alcott following her romp over the rain-soaked North Ridge Country Club.

She entered the final round of the three-day event with a single-stroke lead over Young and Sandra Post. But they fell far behind early in the round and never could catch up.

"I don't feel like I own the course," said Alcott, even though she successfully defended her title. "I just wanted to go out and beat the field, and I think I played spectacular golf this week."

That may have been an understatement considering three sub-70 rounds. In rain that at times became a torrential downpour Alcott bogied just one hole — the third — and birdied the seventh, eighth, 11th and 13th. The last two made the remainder of the trip academic.

"Amy is just playing fantastic golf," said Young, the Ladies Professional Golf Association money-winning leader with $98,898. "You can't take anything away from her."

The victory was worth $15,000 to Alcott, who moved into third place ahead of idle Nancy Lopez-Melton with $67,986.

The best round of the day was the 67 carded by Dot Germain, who emerged from the pack to finish five shots behind Alcott at 211 and 5 under par for three trips over the 6,142-yard, par-72 layout.

The event was sponsored by the American Defender Life Insurance Co. and the Capitol Broadcasting Co.

Swim champ says 'accept it'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Teen-age superstar Tracy Caulkins had a word of advice for other American swimmers about the Olympic boycott: "The sooner you accept it, the better off you'll be."

"Just get it off your mind — forget about it. If they change their minds, it'll really be a pleasant surprise," Caulkins said at the U.S. Indoor National Swimming Championships over the weekend.

Caulkins, a Nashville, Tenn., high school junior; Austin, Texas, senior Kim Linehan, both 17; and Stanford graduate Mike Bruner each won three individual national titles in the meet that ended Saturday.

Caulkins collected her seventh consecutive high-point award at national meets, and when asked if winning medals was still important to her, she joked: "They say the price of silver's going up."

"It's very pleasing, very satisfying to know I scored more points than any other man here," said Bruner, 23, who now lives in Tempe, Ariz. "Not bad for an old man."

In all, there were three world records, eight American marks and 17 meet records during the four-day meet.

Rowdy Gaines of Winterhaven, Fla., set a world record in the 200-meter freestyle Friday night, and Mary Meagher did the same in the women's 100 butterfly.

Par Arvidsson of Sweden, who also swims for the University of California, had a world record Friday in the men's 100 butterfly.

Saturday night, however, only Steve Lundquist, 19, of Jonesboro, Ga., was particularly impressive as he broke the four-year-old American record in the 100 breaststroke.

"The decision on the Olympics adds to our performances not being quite as good as they will be this summer (at nationals)," said Lundquist. "I wanted a world record, but it will come this summer — I hope."

Boos were heard at the final session Saturday night when swimmers were reminded over the public address system that the U.S. Olympic Committee had voted to support President Carter's boycott of the 1980 Moscow games.

"I'll never be able to say I went to the Olympics," reflected Lundquist, quickly adding, "Oh, maybe in four years..."

To climax the meet, the top four American finishers in the men's and women's 50-meter freestyle events were chosen to try to surpass world bests in the 200 freestyle relay, which is not recognized as a world record event.

Jill Sterkel, Kelly Asplund, Sue Walsh and Susie Thayer broke the previous world best by 3/2 seconds with a time of 1
