Clayton pleads innocent

HOUSTON (AP) - Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton today pleaded innocent and asked for a speedy trial on indictments from a federal grand jury investigation of alleged insurance kickback

Also appearing for arraignment before U.S. Magistrate Frank Waltermire were Houston labor leader L.G. Moore and two Austin attorneys, Randall Wood and Donald W. Ray.

All joined Clayton in pleading innocent. -The U.S. attorney's office filed two motions, one asking that tape recordings made of conversations involving the defendants and FBI informant Joseph Hauser be made available to defense attorneys but Mike Ramsey, Moore's attorney, said he did not expect the case to go to trial within the 70 days required by the federal speedy trial act.

that none of the information on the tapes be released to the news

"I'll be shocked and amazed if it does," Ramsey said. After the hearing attorneys were asked to meet with the magistrate in closed chambers The indictments, handed down by a federal grand jury recently, were the first to come from the FBI undercover investigation of alleged insurance kickback schemes, a probe code-named Brilab. Brilab spread from the Louisiana underworld to the Texas legislature and involved Speaker Billy Clayton, once one of the most powerful political figures in Texas, a man who is a Baptist deacon and who became a rich man by building the family farm into a highly productive operation and by investing in banks. Scheduled to appear with him for arraignment are L.G. Moore, a Texas labor leader, and two Austin attorneys, Randall D. Wood and Clayton's attorneys are expected to ask for a speedy trial. The speaker, who once said he would withdraw from the race for re-election to the powerful post if convicted, wants to get the legal matters settled before it is too late to make his bid for an unprecedented four consecutive term as head of the House

The 51-year-old legislator has commented frequently on the pending indictments but after his indictment was ordered byi U.S. District Judge Robert O'Conor Jr. not to discuss the charges.

His chief attorney, Roy Minton, told newsmen, "You are standing next to a man who wanted to be heard by the media.

The indictments came almost five months after the panel began hearing witnesses and listening to tape recordings of conversations involving Clayton, Moore, Wood, Ray and FBI informant Joseph

The indictment claims that on Nov. 8 Moore and Hauser met with the Houston speaker and Clayton accepted $5,000 from the Houston

Clayton later said he thought the money was only a campaign contribution and that he had put it in a safe place, intending to return it to Moore at a later date. At this same meeting, the indictment claims, Clayton agreed to receive an additional $600,000 if a $70-million-a-year state employee insurance policy was awarded to a firm that Hauser claimed he represented.

Moore, a giant of a man who is regional director for the Operating Engineers International Union, appears from the indictments to be involved in many of the taped telephone calls and conversations with the speaker and the two Austin attorneys

Moore worked hard for Democrat John Hill in the former state attorney general's unsuccessful bid for governor.

A native of Nacogdoches where his parents lived on a dirt farm. Moore worked his way to the top of the labor movement. In 1975 he was appointed by then-Gov. Dolph Briscoe to the Texas Amusement

Congress to boost Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will move quickly to shore up the financially fragile Social Security system and make sure that retirement benefits continue to be paid on time, the chairman of a key House subcommittee promises.

However, an analyst for a senior citizens' group said the outlook for Social Security in the next few years may be even bleaker than the system's trustees indicated in their annual report to Congress on Thursday

The trustees said the Old Age and Survivors trust fund, which paid out almost three-quarters of the $124.9 billion in Social Security benefits in 1979, could run out of money in late 1981 or early 1982 unless it is able to borrow from the Disability Insurance and Hospital Insurance (Medicare) funds

And under adverse economic circumstances, the trustees said, the three funds together might not have enough money to pay benefits on time beginning in

Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Texas, chairman of the House Ways and Means subcommittee on Social Security, said his panel is 'concerned about the report, but the word should go out that there is nothing to be "The Social Security program will continue, as it has for 40 years, to pay benefits on time," he vowed. "The report is the Congress' warning signal and the Congress will act.'

Pickle said the subcommittee will meet next Thursday to consider the Carter administration's proposal to allow interfund borrowing and also to shift some of the payroll tax from the burgeoning disability fund to the old-age fund.

Pickle's optimistic outlook wasn't shared by James M. Hacking, assistant legislative counsel for the American Association of Retired Persons

"The immediate future looks rather pessimistic," he said. "What is worse, after reviewing the assumptions the trustees made, their worst case might turn out to be optimistic.

Under the worst of three possible economic scenarios, the trustees foresaw inflation rates of 16.6 percent this year, 13.7 percent in 1981 and 11 percent in 1982 before a drop to 9.8 percent in 1985. That outlook also included declines in the real gross national product of 1.7 percent this year and 1 percent in 1981, and unemployment of 7.4 percent this year, 9.1 percent in 1981 and 6.8 percent by 1985.

The payroll tax, now 6.13 percent, already is due to climb to 6.65 percent next year, 6.7 percent in 1982, 7.05 percent in 1985 and 7.65 percent in 1990. Eventually, those higher taxes are expected to put the Old Age and Disability fund in the black for reversal of policy, the Carter administration has told U.S.-based multinational grain shippers they can sell foreign-grown grain to the Soviet Union, the Minneapolis Tribune reported in a copyright story today.

The administration's policy change reportedly was so quiet that confirmation of the switch came first from officials of Cargill Inc., a worldwide grain-handling company based in Minnetonka, Minn

A spokesman for the U.S. Department of Agriculture confirmed the news later, but only under condition that he not be quoted by name, the newspaper said.

The USDA spokesman told the Tribune that no announcement of the change in grain-trading policy was planned, and there was no official statement of why the administration changed its position.

Cargill had voluntarily stopped selling foreign-grown grain to the Soviet Union shortly after President Carter announced the embargo of U.S. grain sales to the Soviet Union in January.

Carter ordered the embargo Jan. 4 after the Soviet Union's military intervention in Afghanistan. He withheld 17 million metric tons of U.S. grain the Soviets had on order, but allowed 8 million tons, which had been promised in a five-year contract, to be delivered.

At that time, the administration asked U.S. multinational grain traders to give up doing business with the Soviet Union

Mother charged with slaying children

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) - When James Doolittle walked into Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Stella Almarez was kneeling at the altar alone. Outside in the waning daylight, her four young daughters were playing, he said. At about midnight, the girls, ranging in age from 2 to 10, were found dead in bed — two with single gunshot wounds in the head, two with knife wounds in the neck Authorities say they were killed Wednesday by their mother, who then put a .32-caliber revolver to her forehead and pulled the trigger. The 29-year-old woman was arrested Thursday for first-degree murder after police conducted a bedside interview at Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital Under police guard, Mrs. Almarez was in stable condition. No formal charges had been filed against her as of late Thursday night. Stunned by the killings and by the arrest, friends and neighbors in this community of 16,600 say the family was deeply religious and the girls were "good kids." Mrs. Almarez was a nice, quiet woman who

Almarez arrived almost immediately after the killings, Brenneman said, and is not a suspect. His whereabouts at the time of the murders had not been established by authorities Thursday

"All he could say was 'my babies, my babies, my family - they're gone.'' said neighbor Rose Leise

The girls were identified as Odelia, 10; Antoinette, 7; and twins Stella Lorraine and Gloria Irene, 2. Their bodies were taken to Lincoln for autopsies, and services tentatively were planned for Tuesday in Trinidad, Colo

"I was just there picking up communions to take to a nursing home," said Doolittle, a Norfolk barber. "I didn't speak to her at all I wish I had. She was kneeling at the alter there, praying...she just looked deep in prayer to me

The family moved here from Trinidad, Colo., in 1973 and had been living in their Park Street home for more than a year. 'They always seemed like the perfect couple," said Douglas Brozek, who once worked with Almarez. "She really cared for the kids a lot and they seemed like a real close family. 'There was no indication whatsoever that something like this could happen. They seemed to be the last people that something like this would happen to.

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Richard Pryor's doctor has postponed skin graft surgery on the critically burned comedian and has issued his most pessimistic evaluation yet of Pryor's recovery chances.

'Richard Pryor is in critical condition and very, very ill." Dr Richard Grossman said Thursday in announcing today's surgery had been postponed. "I cannot overstress the seriousness of Mr. Pryor's Hospital spokeswoman Nona Egan said Pryor was "no better than the day he was brought in here." At that time, doctors said Pryor had a one in three chance of surviving.

Grossman said the earliest that the skin grafts could be attempted would be Monday

His evaluation was the most pessimistic since Pryor was admitted to the Sherman Oaks Community Hospital June 9 with third-degree burns over the upper half of his body. He suffered the burns when his clothing caught fire at his home. Grossman said the decision to delay surgery was made when he 'was not 100 percent happy" with the condition of Pryor's wounds

Pryor's condition worsens while he observed the comedian undergoing whirlpool treatment Thursday morning.

However, the burn specialist said, "Despite extreme pain, Pryor is cooperating fully with doctors to improve his situation.

Ms. Egan said a variety of medical specialists had been for consultation on the 39-year-old entertainer's condition.

Nevertheless, the only visitors the hospital has allowed Pryor to see regularly - actors Jim Brown and Stan Shaw - accompanied the comedian on short walks to help improve his breathing. Grossman said. With burns this serious, every body organ is affected," the doctor said. "We are very concerned with complications. Pryor still has pneumonia. We have brought back the pulmonary specialist because Mr. Pryor's lung problem is difficult (to treat).' On Tuesday, Pryor underwent surgery to remove the burned skin on the top half of body The 75-minute, three-stage operation was deemed a success. according to the hospital's assistant executive director, Gary Swaye, despite the fact Pryor had already contracted pneumonia

Justice Department blasted

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - New Orleans restaurateur Joseph Marcello was intentionally asked to testify before a special grand jury here the same day his brother was indicted, Marcello's attorney has charged

New Orleans attorney Russell Shonekas said the Justice Department hoped the ensuing publicity would make it easier to obtain a conviction for reputed organized crime boss Carlos Marcello, indicted in the FBI's Brilab (bribery-labor) operation.

"Now in the newspapers we've got Joseph killing the judge and Carlos trying to bribe the whole United States, and it really looks great,' he said.

The grand jury, which is investigating the May 29 1979 assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. here, did not convene Thursday. It was recessed until an undetermined

Joseph Marcello was the first witness subpoenaed to appear before the special grand jury after it was empaneled Tuesday. The same day, Carlos Marcello was indicted in New Orleans on bribery charges.

Joseph Marcello was excused after 10 minutes of testimony because Shonekas had recently undergone surgery and could not accompany him. He was expected to complete his testimony later in the month.

Shonekas said he had tried to have his client's testimony postponed until he recovered, but said the U.S. Attorney's office insisted upon Marcello's appearance Tuesday.

U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd declined to comment on Shonekas' statements. "The only thing we can surmise is that it was to have him appear before the grand jury the same day his brother was indicted so as to make it look like the entire Marcello family was in trouble,' Shonekas said.

"Joe knows nothing about the judge's killing, and nobody ever told him anything about it," he

Lava dome threatens jets

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — A lava dome growing in Mount St. Helens' gaping crater could explode at any time, and planes flying above the volcano are taking a terrible risk, warns a U.S. Geological Survey scientist.

'The mountain obviously is not dead,' geologist Pete Rowley said Thursday.

But the mountain, which blew its top in a violent explosion May 18 and erupted towering clouds of ash on May 25 and June 12, was quiet Thursday.

A cloud of steam rose to about 10,000 feet and drifted to the north in clear weather, said U.S. Forest Service spokeswoman Linda Flegel.

A small earthquake measuring 2.6 on the Richter scale was recorded at 10:05 a.m. Thursday. Centered about 10 miles northwest of Mount St. Helens, it was not necessarily associated with the volcano, she said.

Despite the outward calm, the lava dome grew about 20 feet on Wednesday, Rowley said. The dome, formed by molten rock pushing up through the floor of the crater, measures some 660 feet across and 200 feet tall and is higher than a wall of ash across the north side of the crater.

Rowley warned that some "idiots" in a press helicopter hovering over the dome Wednesday would have been the first to die had the dome Their presence was like "giving raw meat to the volcano," he said.

When the volcano erupted on May 18, at least 24 people were killed and 44 are missing.

Ed Chow, director of the state Department of Emergency Services, has refused to reduce the size of the restricted area around the volcano. The "red zone" boundary would extend 20 miles from the volcano, he said. Meanwhile, Paul Rea, a hydrologist for the U.S. Forest Service, said it will be decades before Spirit Lake, just north of the mountain, becomes productive again after being inundated by logs and mud. It will also take decades for other lakes and streams near the volcano to recover from ash and mud from the eruption, he SLIDING TO A DIFFERENT DRUM -Bored with the usual way of going down a slide, three-year-old Joshua Halsey tries a new way. Heat Wave Bakes State

FORT WORTH. Texas (AP) — Temperatures in North and West Texas consistently have been rising over the 100 degree mark - and summer hasn't even arrived

Weather forecasters attribute the heat wave to a reticent mass of hot air that has settled in for the duration - similar to conditions in July 1978, when North Texas temperatures hit at least 100 for 18 days straight

During that period, at least two dozen persons died of heat-related causes in the Dallas-Fort Worth area alone. Dallas-Fort Worth already has experienced eight days in a row of 100-plus degree weather Forecaster Dick Elder of the National Weather Service office in Fort Worth said a cold front has been trying to break through the hot air for several days but has not made it south of the Red River.

"It is a summertime weather pattern. It just formed earlier than usual," Elder said. Elder said only a disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico could break

"We can get easterly waves and tropical depressions coming up from the Gulf and the cloud cover can drop temperatures as much as 10 degrees," he said. Parts of West Texas were also broiling in record heat. El Paso meteorologist John Chambers said high temperatures there have been 100 or higher for the past ten days, including eight days when the record was equaled or broken.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas may be too dry to sizzle in this summer's heat, if Texas A&M scientists' fears of a major drought prove correct.

"Another drought is not a matter of 'if,' but a matter of 'when," said Dr. Jack Runkles, director of A&M's Texas Water Resources

"Statewide droughts seem to follow a cycle of every 20 to 25 years," Runkles said. "The last major drought in the state ended 23 years ago, and the threat of inadequate rainfall looms with each passing day.

The State Climatologist's Office at A&M says the areas hardest hit since last October are the High Plains, the Trans-Pecos region, the Edwards Plateau and the South Texas border area, where rainfall has been 20 to 70 percent of the normal.

Since February, those areas and most of the rest of Texas received only 30 to 70 percent of normal precipitation, and levels at lakes and reservoirs as well as underground water tables are way down.

Carter will visit Pope

ROME (AP) — President Carter met with Italy's president and prime minister today as he and his aides sought at the start of a week-long European trip to minimize their differences with America's allies over how to deal with Soviet aggression.

Carter met briefly with Italy's 83-year-old Socialist president, Alessandro Pertini, in a tapestried room of the 16th century Quirinale Palace atop the highest of Rome's seven hills. "I hope you feel at home," Pertini told Carter, who is staying at the palace.

"As soon as I saw you I felt immediately at home," the American replied

After the private session with Pertini, Carter flew by helicopter to the Villa Madama, another of this city's Renaissance palaces, for a meeting and working lunch with Prime Minister Francesco

As Carter and Cossiga stepped out of the palace, the American president told reporters that their talks had been "very fruitful, very thorough, very friendly and very constructive.

Carter then entered his armored limousine, and a squad of jackbooted Italian motorcycle police led his ten-car motorcade through Rome's winding downtown streets to the tomb of Italy's unknown soldier, an obligatory stop for all visiting heads of state. Police and soldiers toting rifles and subn Carter's route as small clusters of Italians gathered to watch the motorcade go by The presidential party then went for a tour of the Colosseum. where Carter immediately encountered a group of American tourists and paused briefly for some handshaking

Carter spokesman Jody Powell said the opening talks went well, with Carter thanking the Italians for being among the first to call on Iran to free the American hostages.

The presidential party clearly wished to begin the trip without focusing more attention on the widely reported differences between the United States and her allies.

During the long flight from Washington that brought Carter to this ancient capital late Thursday night, Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie told reporters that he believed one potential point of major friction with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt will evaporate Carter and Schmidt will meet in Venice on Saturday, the eve of the seven-nation economic summit conference around which the president's trip was built. Carter formally began the business of his trip with a brief meeting today with Italy's 83-year-old Socialist president, Alessandro Pertini, in the 16th century Quirinale Palace. He planned a later session with Prime Minister Francesco Cossiga and set aside time to tour the Colosseum and the nearby ruins of the ancient Roman Forum American officials said Schmidt asked for the early meeting with Carter. It comes against a backdrop of concern in Washington that the chancellor, when he meets in Moscow on June 30 with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev, might place himself at odds with Carter over the deployment of middle-range nuclear missiles in Europe. Some U.S. officials are worried that Schmidt might propose a freeze on the deployment of the additional American weapons.

thus threatening a six-month-old North Atlantic Treaty Organization decision to deploy the missiles to count nuclear superiority in Europe. Muskie told reporters aboard Air Force One that Schmidt "insists he still supports" what would be known as the Theater Nuclear Force, or TNF. "Apparently, there has been some rhetoric that there is a when it's talked out, there will continue to be agreement.

change" in Schmidt's position. Muskie said. "I would expect that From the start of the trip, the potential for differences has been played down. In an advance version of his remarks that was distributed to reporters, the president said: "I will be totally frank with you, as I will be with them (the leaders at the economic meetings in Venice). The industrial democracies are being tested.'

Fewer Portland people in masks

Portland had improved.

PORTLAND. Ore. (AP) — Fewer people were sporting surgical masks in downtown Portland, and cars and buses kicked up less dust as some 200 miles of streets were swept clean of gritty volcanic ash from Mount St. Helens

The Oregon Department of Environmental Quality said Thursday that hazy conditions over the city had lessened and pollution levels in most areas had subsided

An air pollution warning — a notch above an alert but just below an emergency — was extended until 2 p.m. today. The warning also applied to Tillamook County west of Portland.

Gov. Vic Atiyeh planned to inspect the cleanup by National Guardsmen on Saturday. He had authorized 100 Guardsmen to help the city with the cleanup.

Measurements for 24 hours ending noon Thursday showed pollution levels were down in most areas, said DEQ spokesman Mark Fritzler. The high level in downtown Portland was 1,137 micrograms per cubic meters of air on Wednesday - down from the high measurement of 4,770 micrograms on Tuesday, Fritzler said. "We've had 300-500 levels in several areas.... We attribute that to the cleanup, milder weather and people cutting down their driving.'

Five hours after Gregory Paul Brown's birth, the 25-year-old Jehovah's Witness died of massive hemorrhaging caused by a tumor in her jaw. She had refused chemotherapy for fear of endangering her unborn child.

"Essentially, Anita was giving her life for that of a child she had not yet had," cancer surgeon Ronald Lapin said Thursday. "She was positive, laughing and joking until the very last," said her husband Tom Brown.

She gave birth Tuesday by Caesarian section to the 4-pound baby three weeks prematurely at University of California-Irvine Medical Center. The infant has no trace of cancer and is given a good chance of survival, doctors said. Mrs. Brown's story is all the more tragic, Lapin said, because her tumor could have been removed in its early stages if she had found a surgeon who would operate - as Lapin eventually did - without using the blood transfusions barred by her religion. The cancer came to light more than 21/2 years ago, when she went to a dentist complaining of pain in her jaw. When X-rays failed to pinpoint the cause, a thin slice of tissue was examined under a

A year and a half ago, she married Tom Brown, a hay truck driver in Nevada, who knew of her condition.

The surgeons also performed a tracheotomy, cutting a hole below the blockage in her throat so she could breathe and take in food.

Three months pregnant at the time of the operation, Mrs. Brown refused to take cancer drugs that could hurt her child. Six months later, the tumor had grown back and she was down to 80

"She knew she was dying and just going to live long enough to deliver this baby," Lapin said. "That 80-pound weakling has really taught me a lesson about faith and life and what these people stand for. She's been a lift to others -

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me
This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must, understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

Sports instrument of political pressure

Although the Russians are trumpeting claims of victory, the U.S.-led boycott of the Moscow Olympic Games has dealt the Soviet Union a major propaganda defeat.

When the deadline for entering Olympic teams fell recently, 85 nations had accepted invitations to compete. Fifty-six others had either joined the boycott or remained undecided. Unfortunately, such NATO allies as France, Belgium, Holland, Britain, Denmark and Italy will send teams, and their presence will be used to validate Soviet claims to international respectability despite the invasion of Afghanistan

Great nations and leading Olympic contenders will be conspicuously absent, however, including the United States, West Germany and Japan - the third, fourth and fifth top medal winning countries in the 1976 Montreal Games. Their absence will make the competition in some sports meaningless.

Predictably, Russia's propaganda machine has been turned upon the United States, which Tass accused of inadmissible "attempts to use international sport as an instrument of political pressure." This is irony of a high order.

'The Soviet Union itself boycotted the Olympic Games from 1920 to 1952 and threatened to boycott the Mexico City Games in 1968 in order to force the exclusion of South Africa. Outside the Olympics, the Soviet Union has boycotted dual track meets with the United States in 1966, 1967 and 1968 to protest U.S. actions in Vietnam, boycotted the 1967 World University Games in Tokyo, the 1974 World Cup in Chile, a gymnastics meet in Spain in 1975, the 1978 world shooting meet and 1979 women's basketball championships in South Korea

Better than most, it seems the Soviets understand the use of sports "as an instrument of political pressure," We seem to be learning the

Troubled South Korea produces nervousness

Any sign of political instability in South Korea produces nervousness in Washington

The truce that ended Korean hostilities in 1953 was just that - a cease-fear agreement that left the Korean peninsula in a state of war that, technically at least, prevails today. With the United States committed by treaty to defend South Korea, anything that might incite another invasion from the north is a matter of concern.

At the moment, there is no evidence of the North Korean troop movements that would almost certainly precede a full-scale invasion. Even so, the possibility can hardly be ignored in the light of disorders that have been preoccupying the South Koreans.

It is important to Americans to view the current unrest in South Korea in its proper perspective. South Korea is not Iran. The student protests in the streets of Seoul recently and the virtual takeover of the provincial capital of Kwangju were not mounted by anti-American mobs bent on severing their country's ties with the United States.

On the contrary, South Koreans are all but unanimous in their opposition to communism and their desire for a continued alliance with the United States. There is hardly a family in South Korea that does not mourn a relative lost during the 1950-53 fighting. And the brutal behavior of North Korean troops during their brief occupation of most of South Korea left a residue of bitterness what remains to this day.

There are, however, serious strains in the fabric of South Korean society. Life in the rural village remains rooted in the Confucian traditions that emphasize submission to the authoritarian family and state. But in South Korea's growing cities, students and an educated middle class are gravitating toward Western concepts of individual

In the wake of the assassination of President Park Chung Hee last October, the government promised a liberalized constitution and a measure of freedom for a democratic political opposition. Those promises appeared to have been betrayed by growing military influence in the government. When, in the wake of demonstrations in Seoul, the military ordered the arrest of political opponents and then imposed martial law, serious trouble became inevitable

All of this puts the Carter administration in a difficult position. To avoid even greater disorders, it is urging restraint by the de facto military government in Seoul. But, unless a degree of order is restored, the North Koreans may be sufficiently misled by their own propaganda into thinking that South Korea is on the verge of collapse. And that misconception could lead to war.

No more news spies

The Central Intelligence Agency announced in 1976 that it would hire no more journalists as spies.

Now Adm. Stansfield Turner, the CIA director, says the policy has been modified to permit the use of journalists by the agency with the approval of the director.

That modification should be rescinded and the CIA should return to the ban on "any paid or contractural relationship with any full-time or part-time news corresponsdent accredited by any U.S. news service. newspaper, periodical, radio or television network or station."

Otherwise American newspersons abroad will lose credibility with their foreign news sources and with their American audiences.

Foreign correspondents can serve their country better by providing the field is "Execunet" service being the American people with a full, unbiased, independent account of foreign affairs than by providing a cover for government espionage.

Reporters serve society in an important role, one they cannot perform with credibility if any of them become secret agents.

The peril we live with

By Oscar Cooley When a people become as comfortable, as tolerant, as peace-loving as the Americans are, they come into peril vis-a-vis the hungrier, more aggressive people of the world.

It is natural for us to assume that others equally love peace and seek to prosper through honest work and cooperation. But sin dwells in the very marrow of men's bones. The temptation to gain through power is always present, and man is easily lured by the utopia pictured by medicine men such as Karl Marx.

Born-again Americans are lulled by the pretended virtues of Marxism. They cannot believe that the disciples of the demi-god, Marx, would engulf the world in a blood bath to wash away capitalism and establish global Communism. Yet, there are ample signs that Moscow would not hesitate to do

TOPAWO HILANTA OUT AL HEA

Some Americans are awakening to the monster that confronts us -- confronts the world, in fact, as testified to by Chinese Premier Hua Guo-Feng in Tokyo. Herbert Stein, economist, voice a stern warning in the form of an "undelivered basic speech" published in the Wall Street Journal of May 28. He poses as a candidate for president. describing the confrontation as he sees it defend America. For ten years or more, says Stein, "the Soviet Union has been devoting massive resources out of its weak economy to building up its military might." He sees the invasion of Afghanistan as the "final proof" of the "aggressive intentions which

and stating what he if elected would do to motivate this Soviet build-up." Meanwhile, "The American defense forces have been starved out and stagnating." Now we must choose. "We can rapidly rebuild our military forces...or we can prepare to live under the conditions the masters of the Soviet Union will dictate

Stein would "increase our expenditures for defense in real terms...by 15 percent per year for the next four years." This would be one-third or $190 billion more than

A resolution adopted by a conference committee of Congress would increase defense spending by about $40 billion over the next five years.

Can we spend, not $40 billion but $190 billion, more over the next half-decade? That would mean increasing the defense budget for next year from about $153 billion to $200 billion, and nearly $50 billion a year thereafter.

Stein thinks we could. After the four year period, he says, we would be devoting only 8 percent of our total production to defense, whereas in the Eisenhower presidency, (1953-61) we spent 10 percent of total product for defense. Further, our product today is almost twice what it was then and our population only 25 percent more.

The American people would have to relearn the meaning of economy and sacrifice. The government would have to quit unrecessary expenditures, such as aid to those who are not in dire need. Taxes might have to be raised, and that in peacetime would be a bitter pill.

But is it peacetime? "We have the economic problem of war, not of peace," says Stein. No shooting war has been declared, but Soviet Russia has shown by her acts that she considers herself at war with all the countries that have not adopted Communism. War is not avoided by simply aying, "We are at peace.

When the Soviets invaded Afghanistan, we reproved them by ceasing to sell them grain, but they suffered no want -Argentina saw to that. This dammed up the flow of 18 million tons of America grain to market, and as a result our farmers found themselves selling grain at a lower price. Who was punished, the Russians or the American grain growers?

Perhaps we already "live under the conditions the masters of the Sovie Union dictate to us." Are they behind the hike in the price of oil? One can imagine nothing they could have done that would have hur us more and them less.

Even if they were not superior to the United States militarily, they would dominate the Persian Gulf by virtue of geography. The best defense step we could now take would be to become wholly independent of Arab oil.

America is strong because it is a free society, but the Russians do not evaluate freedom as highly as we do. They put their faith in guns, bombs and tanks. When they will test their weapons on us is the critical

WASHINGTON (NEA)-The world's largest corporation, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., may be unable to cope with the competition spawned by the federal government's decision to deregulate the telecommunications

With assets of more than $100 billion and annual profits approaching $6 billion. AT&T isn't about to declare bankruptcy or hold a going-out-of-business sale.

But there are disturbing indications that AT&T became so lethargic during the decades in which it enjoyed a virtual monopoly protected by a web of federal regulations that it now is incapable of bestirring itself from its torpor.

The most recent evidence of AT&T's complacency while threatened with unprecedented competition is the company's seemingly irrational determination to press for major increases in the price of long distance telephone calls.

In early March, the company asked the Federal Communications Commission to approve a 10.5 percent increase in its long distance rates. When the FCC voted in late May to approve only a 5 percent hike (worth almost $6000 million in additional revenues) AT&T promptly announced that it would reapply for the other half of the proposed increase.

That course is being pursued at precisely the time when a trio of companies is capturing thousands of former AT&T customers every month - including hundreds of major corporations in the financial, auto, airline and other industries by providing long distance service prices 35 to 75 percent lower than AT&T's rates.

Two of those competitors are subsidiaries of long-established corporations - the Southern Pacific Communications Co., which is promoting "Sprint" service, and the Internationa Telephone & Telegraph Corp., which is marketing "City-Call" service.

But the most aggressive new entrant in offered by the MCI Communications Corp., whose gregarious, feisty founder and board chairman, William G. McGowan, has been playing David to AT&T's Goliath for

At&T's first response to those challenges has been to marshal its vast resources to finance endless litigation and regulatory challenges that discourage many potential competitors

U.S. District Court in Chicago is the trial of a civil suit in which MCI seeks $900 million in damages from AT&T on the grounds that the giant firm illegally thwarted competition

Five years ago, AT&T tried another strategy, attempting to convince Congress to suspend all applicable antitrust laws and grant it a legal monopoly of the long distance market. The bill promoting that scheme was introduced in the House and Senate as the "Consumer Communications Reform Act" but it offered neither reform nor benefits MCI, ITT, Southern Pacific and others banded together as the Ad Hoc Committee for Competitive Telecommunications and, in a fierce lobbying struggle, defeated the AT&T initiative. AT&T still controls between 95 and 98 percent of the long distance market, which oduces an estimated $25 billion to $29 billion in annual industrywide revenues, but its competitors are growing at a rapid MCI's profits, for instance, soared from

A WANTED MAN, Chuck Laney, a former television mouseketeer, is seen here at his job as store manager of a San Diego supermarket. Laney was among four missing mouseketeers sought in a nationwide manhunt that will bring the famed television troupe together for a special in November honoring the 25th anniversary of the Mickey Mouse shows.

Disney Studios had lost track of Charley Laney, Larry Larsen, Don Underhill and Ronnie Steiner during the past 20 years. The idea was to get all the members of the kiddle show troupe together for a reunion TV special scheduled for November in honor of the Mickey Mouse Club Show's 25th anniversary.

So Disney Studios put out an all points bulletin. and the last of the missing Mousketeers checked in at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

It turned out that three of the final four live right in Disneyland's backyard. Larsen, who at 'about 40" is the oldest Mouseketeer, is an engineer in Orange County. Underhill is a credit manager at an Orange County firm and Laney is a supermarket manager in the San Diego area.

New bill could release captive coal shippers'

By SOLL SUSSMAN Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)- Texas

congressmen are promising a push on behalf of the so-called 'captive shipper'' when the railroad deregulation bill comes up on the House floor.

The bill in present form would enable a monopolistic railroad to continue raising freight rates on coal," Rep. J.J. Pickle, a Democrat from Austin, said Thursday.

"I am not opposed to wholesale deregulation of railroads," he said in a statement. "But we should not rush pell-mell into accepting (the bill) without some changes.'

Pickle was one of 19 Texas congressmen who signed a letter to President Carter endorsing an amendment by Rep. Bob Eckhardt, a Democrat from Houston.

The Eckhardt amendment would set a more lenient guideline, after deregulation, for allowing the Interstate Commerce Commission to examine a railroad rate case if rail transportation is the only method available for shipping a commodity.

deregulation would allow railroads to raise rates too high for the coal they haul without competition from western states to Texas.

Many of the coal hauling rate cases that have come before the ICC in recent years stem from the protests of Texas utilities and industries.

"Deregulation is to promote competition, and if a monopoly exists deregulation simply opens the door to exploitation,' Rep. Phil Gramm, a Democrat from College Station, said at a news conference.

The letter to Carter noted that the increasing cost of rail freight rates for coal threatens the national energy policy of converting from oil and gas to

"The energy inflation embodied in this bill places an unnecessary burden on coal use- and thus on utility efforts toward coal conversion," the letter said.

"We would hope that you would support our effort to make these needed changes in deregulation policy," it said.

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Cuban refugees, apparently irritated by hot weather and lack of second helpings at dinner, instigated a "ruckus" at the processing center here Thursday night, Immigration and Naturalization officials said.

No one was injured in the disturbance, but "15 or 16" refugees were tagged as instigators and separated from the other Cubans, said Mike Trominski, senior district INS officer in charge.

After officers reported a "ruckus with hollering and banging about," Trominski said, about 50 support officers were called in.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) -The U.S. Jaycees has selected five of its members, all presidents of state Jaycees organizations, as recipients of the Clayton Frost Memorial Award.

One of the recipients was Jay Brim of Austin, Texas.

The award is named after the late Clayton Frost of Winston-Salem, N.C. Frost, former president of that state's Jaycees, who died in 1946 while returning from the installation of a new Jaycees chapter. The presentations were made during the group's annual convention in Cleveland.

DEAR ABBY: I am very upset and hope you can shed some light on a problem concerning our son who is now 19. (I'll call him Mike.)

About five years ago I found several pair of girl's panties hidden under Mike's mattress. I was shocked and told my husband about it. He spoke to Mike, who explained that he and a neighbor boy had "found" them in a trash can behind an apartment building. His father told him to get rid of them, and nothing more was said about it.
All through high school Mike was active in sports, music, clubs, etc. He was very popular with boys and girls. He is now in his sophomore year at college and has been going steady with the same girl for two years. (I'm sure they're doing more than just holding hands.)

Mike is now home for summer vacation. While cleaning his closet, I found a bra, panties and garter belt stuffed into his tennis shoes! I asked him what they were doing there. He got red in the face, said they weren't his and accused me of snooping. Believe me, I was not.

Please help me. I don't know how to handle this. WORRIED IN ST. PAUL

DEAR WORRIED: Apparently your son has had a fascination for female undergarments since adolescence. Don't be upset. It does not mean he is homosexual: Many males share this kind of behavior and function normally as men.

If your son feels that he has a problem, he should

And it might relieve your mind and your husband's to look into the program, too. The more you understand about a subject, the less worrried and upset you

DEAR ABBY: When I became pregnant four years ago at age 43 - I was surprised and certainly not prepared for another child. (I had three grown children.) My sister-in-law gave us an old beat-up baby bed she had had in her basement for years. My husband sanded it down and painted it, and it looked like new. We used it until our baby outgrew it, then we sold it along with some other used

When my sister-in-law heard that we had sold the bed, she demanded that we give her part of the money we got for it. Abby, that baby bed was junk when she gave it to us, and nothing was said about returning it.

Religion in the news

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) - They were a motley crew, ex-thieves, protstitutes, cripples and wastrels, led by a white-bearded old "soldier," besieging the gates of heaven.

"Booth came boldly with a big brass drum," Vachel Lindsay's classic poem puts it. "(Are you washed in the Blood of the Lamb?)

The saints smiled gravely, and they said he's come. (Are you washed in the Blood of the Lamb?)" The scene, with a white-robed Jesus standing on the glimmering stairs into paradise, gazing down at the besmirched lot, is the high point of the American premier of a musical drama, "The Blood of the

It is based on Lindsay's poem, "Gen. William Booth Enters into Heaven," written at the death in 1912 of the founder of the Salvation Army. The show had its first U.S. production last week at the Army's National Centennial Congress.

"Drabs from the alleyways and drug fiends pale — " the poem portrays that battered company led toward the pearly gates by Booth, "Minds still passion ridden, soul-powers frail.

"Vermin eaten saints with mouldy breath, unwashed legions with the ways of death — (Are you washed in the Blood of the Lamb?)" The musical, with that old Army song, "Are you washed ..." running through it like an echo, was staged four times at the Army gathering and filmed for television, offering a rare combination of vivacious entertainment and moving religious message. It captures both the jolly buoyance and devoutness of the Salvationists, mirthful, peppy, dancing to their fervent songs, their trumpets blaring, drums pounding. Big voiced lassies made their banjos bang," the poem pictures

"Tranced, fanatical, they shrieked and sang. (Are you washed in the Blood of the Lamb?)" Lindsay, who before fame struck was a wandering vagabond who otien had been fed and bedded at the Army's centers and knew its ways, metered his poem to its tunes and the beat of drums. Booth died blind and still by faith he trod, Eyes still dazzled by the ays of God," the lines go. "Booth led boldy and he looked the chief: Eagle countenance in sharp relief, Beard a flying, air of high command, Unabated in that holy land.

The musical starts in total silence with old black-and-white movies Booth's jammed London funeral, the stillness broken finally by the crescending words of the poem read in the background. The gray film dissolves into a bright blue sky of soft, scudding clouds.

Then comes two hours of frolic, fun and love-in-action, of poignant cenes of Salvationists helping the outcasts, jobless, unwashed and afflicted, doing it with zestful dancing and catchy songs. And at the end, the resonant echo, "Are YOU washed ...?

ASHINGTON (AP) — An official of the U. S. Catholic Conference parges that a government study published last fall misuses latistics to suggest that tuition tax credits would benefit well-off thates more than black and poor children.

The Rev. Thomas Gallagher, the conference's education secretary, says the study's conclusions show a "deliberate bias on be part of a federal agency which should be objective and neutral in s research bject of his criticism is a study entitled, "Tuition Tax Credits for mentary and Secondary Education: Some New Evidence on Who uld Benefit," issued by the office of the planning-evaluation retary of the U.S. Department of Education. Gallagher says the study cites figures to show blacks and poorer dren make up a disproportionately low percentage of non-public Gool enrollment, thereby concluding they would benefit less from dion tax credits. But Gallagher adds:

In fact, a major argument in favor of tax credits is that they will flow more minority students to take advantage of non-public ducation, thereby altering the ratio." Contrary to the study's plications, he says tax credits also would "make it easier for dren from lower-income families to attend non-public schools." He says the study misused the data to reflect administration

Lowenstein uses head to become a hero

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

Baltimore's John Lowenstein used his head and was carried off the field a hero...on a stretcher.

As a pinch hitter with the Orioles trailing the Oakland A's 3-2 in the seventh inning Thursday night, Lowenstein first got his bat in the way of a pitch from Rick Langford for a game-tying single. Then, he got his head in the way of a throw, allowing Al Bumbry to race home from third with the run that gave Baltimore a 4-3

Lowenstein came through after Oakland center fielder Dwayne Murphy fielded a single by Bumbry and nailed Doug DeCinces at the plate for the second out of the inning. Lowenstein's single scored Mark Corey but, as he headed for second on the throw from the outfield, he was struck in the back of the head by a throw from first baseman Jeff Newman, the cutoff

Bumbry advanced to third on Lowenstein's hit but stopped there until Newman's throw caromed onto the outfield grass. He then scooted home with the winning run, giving the Orioles their fifth consecutive victory. In other American League action, the New York Yankees shaded the California Angels 7-5, the Boston Red Sox blanked the Seattle Mariners 2-0, the Cleveland Indians edged the Kansas City Royals 5-4, the Milwaukee Brewers pounded the Texas Rangers 10-4 and the Minnesota Twins downed the Detroit Tigers 5-1. The Chicago-Toronto game was rained out.

The A's have dropped three in a row and six of their

Yankees 7, Angels 5

Lou Piniella's pinch double drove in the tying and go-ahead runs in the sixth inning after Graig Nettles, Rick Cerone and Reggie Jackson homered in the first three innings. The Yankees' seven-game winning streak is their longest of the year and kept their AL East lead over Boston at seven games. The Angels, defending champs in the West, have dropped nine in a row and 15 of their last 16 games. Rudy May, the third Yankee pitcher, hurled 41-3 scoreless innings to pick up the victory, striking out eight while allowing two hits.

Red Sox 2. Mariners 0 Bob Stanley scattered eight hits in pitching his first shutout of the season as the Red Sox posted their third victory in a row and ninth in the last 10 games. Seattle starter Mike Parrott held Boston hitless through the first four innings and scoreless until the sixth when Fred Lynn singled and scored on a double by Tony Perez. Jim Rice singled Perez home.

Indians 5, Royals 4

Miguel Dilone collected three hits and Toby Harrah drove in two runs to lead Cleveland. Dilone, who reached base seven straight times in the two-game series, singled leading off the first inning, stole second and scored on Mike Hargrove's double. Harrah delivered a sacrifice fly in the first and singled a run across in the sixth, which proved to be the winning run when Amos Otis and Willie Wilson homered for Kansas

Brewers 10, Rangers 4 Sub shortstop Ed Romero, filling in for the injured Robin Yount, lashed three hits and scored three runs and Ben Oglivie blasted his 18th home run of the season. Two Ranger errors, singles by Jim Gantner, Romero and Don Money and a sacrifice fly by Cecil Cooper produced three runs in the third. Romero knocked in two runs with a double and Charlie Moore contributed an RBI single in the fourth. Oglivie hit a two-run homer in the fifth and added an RBI single in

National League baseball roundup

AP Sports Writer Nolan Ryan said he felt "kind of ill," but St. Louis' batters were the ones who ended up looking rather sickly.

Ryan allowed just one hit over seven innings before tiring and giving way to reliever Joe Sambito, who finished up as the Houston Astros beat the St. Louis Cardinals 2-0. It was Houston's 12th straight home victory, a club record, and kept the Astros three games ahead of Los Angeles in the National League West.

"It definitely wasn't my best outing of the year," said Ryan, who struck out seven and evened his record at 5-5. "I started feeling bad when I was warming up. I had the good fastball, but I wasn't getting the curve over.'

Garry Templeton had the only hit for the Cards, a third-inning

In other National League games, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Montreal Expos 5-3 in 10 innings, the Atlanta Braves edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3, the San Francisco Giants trimmed the New York Mets 4-3 in 10 innings, the San Diego Padres beat the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3, the Chicago Cubs topped the Cincinnati Reds 5-2.

Dodgers 5, Expos 3 Pinch-hitter Joe Ferguson's

two-run homer with one out in the 10th inning was the winning blow for the Dodgers. It was the second homer of the year for Ferguson, who had gone into the game hitting .132.

The Dodgers had sent the game into extra innings when three pinch-hitters combined to produce a run in the bottom of the ninth. Reggie Smith doubled. Derrel Thomas laid down a bunt and was safe on a fielder's choice and Dusty Baker delivered a sacrifice fly. Braves 4, Pirates 3

Jeff Burroughs, who hit 41 home runs in 1977, belted his first of the season as Atlanta beat Pittsburgh. Burroughs had gone 61 games without a homer,

Glenn Hubbard drove in the Flannery, who is batting .415 winning run with a sixth-inning double. It was Pittsburgh's fourth straight one-run loss. Giants 4, Mets 3

Jack Clark hit his 12th home run of the season and tripled home the winning run in the 10th inning as the Giants dealt New York its fifth straight loss. Clark has seven hits in his last 10 times at bat.

Padres 4, Phillies 3 Dave Winfield drove in three runs and Tim Flannery singled home the game-winner in the sixth as the Padres snapped Philadelphia's six-game winning streak. "I've been hitting all my life with five runs batted in since being called up from Hawaii two weeks ago. The statistics back him up - in his last two minor league seasons, Flannery has hit 350 and 345

Mike Vail's seventh-inning single scored Jesus Figueroa with the tie-breaking run, then the Cubs added two more in the ninth on Barry Foote's double. Mike Tyson's triple and Figueroa's double. Mike Krukow, 5-7, got the victory and Bruce Sutter worked the last two innings to earn his 15th save, tops in the majors.

The bout has also brought together two other longtime rivals - co-promoters Bob Arum and Don King, who are working in conjunction with the Olympic Installations Board, which operates the stadium. Leonard, who is making the second defense of the title he won from Wilfred Benitez last November, is ranked the 9-5 favorite by Las Vegas oddsmakers, although you'd never convince Duran's Panamanian countrymen that the man they call "Hands of Stone" should be an underdog. They have been parading all over town wearing buttons which say "Duran Campeon" claiming the title for their man before the first punch is thrown

Much of the anticipation over this fight hes been in the contrasting styles of the two fighters. AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The U.S. Supreme Court papers of the late Tom C. Clark have been donated to the University of Texas by Clark's family. Clark is the only Texan and UT graduate ever to serve on the court.

Clark was appointed to the court by President Harry Truman and served as an associate justice from 1949 to 1967. He died in 1977. Clark received bachlor and law degrees from UT.

His papers, filling 375 boxes, will be housed in the Tom Clark Manuscript Reading Room of the Tarlton Law Library. THE MID EAST WAY OF OIL CONSERVATION

Carter Minimizing Differences with Allies

ROME (AP) - President Carter and his aides are minimizing their differences with allies over Soviet aggression as they begin a week of talks in Europe.

During the long flight from Washington that brought Carter to this ancient capital late Thursday night, Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie told reporters that he believed one potential point of major friction with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt will evaporate. Carter and Schmidt will meet in Venice on Saturday, the eve of the seven-nation economic summit conference around which the president's trip was built.

Congress may move to shore up Social Security System. WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress will move quickly to shore up the financially fragile Social Security system and make sure that retirement benefits continue to be paid on time, the chairman of a key House subcommittee promises. The system's trustees, in their annual report to Congress on Thursday, said the Old Age and Survivors trust fund, which paid out almost three-quarters of the $124.9 billion in Social Security benefits in 1979, could run out of money in late 1981 or early 1982 unless it can borrow from the Disability Insurance and Medicaid funds. Under adverse economic circumstances, they said, the three funds together might not have enough money to pay benefits on time beginning in 1983.

Due to some mixup, however, no flat-rate bill was ever sent to the house.

Three years ago, Mrs. Fielland — thinking she was paying for the water heater on her regular electric bill - had a switch installed on her water heater so she could turn the heater off to conserve energy. When her bill did not go down, she notified TECO.

"We checked our records, and we found we had no record that this was a flat-rate water heater." Truax said. "The bill totals about $1,700 - which is what the flat rate would have been from 1958-80.

Mrs. Fielland said she would pay the bill, reluctantly.

"If this payment had been on my bills all these years ... I could have decided whether to use the hot water or not, or whether I wanted to get a more efficient heater," she said. Bicycling Back To The Past

Farm scene

WASHINGTON (AP) — A buildup in the world's oilseed supply appears to be continuing with little sign of leveling off soon, meaning a possibility of a further price crunch for U.S. soybean farmers if they bring in another bumper crop this year.

The Agriculture Department said Wednesday that world production of oilseeds — mainly soybeans but also including a variety of other crops — in 1979-80 now is estimated at 177.5 million metric tons.

That is a decline in prospects from a month ago primarily because of "lower soybean estimates for Argentina and Brazil," two leading competitors of American soybean farmers in the world market.

But the report added:

"The growth in world consumption of oilseed products is slowing, and 1979-80 use is not expected to absorb the estimated output."

"As a result, carryover stocks of both oilseeds and oilseed products are expected to rise substantially this year. Much of the ... buildup will be in U.S. soybeans, cottonseed, sunflowerseed and sovbean oil.

"Canadian rapeseed and Brazilian soybean and soybean oil stocks are also likely to expand."

A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds and is equal to 36.7 bushels of soybeans.

The record U_sS. soybean harvest last year — part of the 1979-80 world production total was about 61.7 million metric tons, or more than 65 percent of the world output of 94.5 million tons.

All told, as an illustration of the impact of U.S. soybeans, the crop accounted for about 41 percent of all oilseed produced in the world in 1979-80, according to the report's figures.

"It is still too early to predict 1980-81 oilseed output reliably," it said. "However, an analysis of U.S. planting intentions and probable yields, combined with trend projection of the foreign oilseeds crop, implies a 1980-81 harvest somewhat below the unprecedented 1979-80 level.

Thus, the report added, world production of oilseeds in the year ahead could range between 162 million and 178 million metric tons, depending on actual plantings and weather conditions.

According to recent USDA calculations, American farmers may average about $6.10 a bushel for last year's soybean harvest, an average based on prices over the entire 12-month marketing year that will end on Aug. 31. That compares with $6.66 a bushel in 1978-79.

The price outlook — as well as production — is extremely fuzzy for the coming year, but USDA analysts currently are projecting soybean prices at the farm in 1980-81 at between $5.75 and $7 a bushel.

Names in the news

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Crosby says her decision to live with a man before marriage would have caused her father great pain had he lived. But she says she wishes Bing Crosby was alive to share her happiness now.

In a copyright interview in the July issue of McCall's magazine, the 20-year-old daughter of the late crooner said Crosby once "painted himself into a corner" in telling an interviewer he would disown his daughter if she ever made such a decision.

"I'm grateful that I never had to use one of Daddy's greatest lessons to me — that there is a time to be selfish — in a way that would have hurt him, hurt us both, in those last years of his life," said Miss Crosby, who is now married and a member of CBS-TV's "Dallas" cast.

"My one regret is that Daddy isn't here to share the tremendous joys of my life right now," she said. "I would have confronted him with my decision and ... and I believe his love and trust would have

Corporate taxes may increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee is proposing raising taxes by $4.2 billion — primarily on large corporations — as its chief contribution to the beleaguered drive to balance the 1981 budget.

Meanwhile, the House seemed to shed its recent rhetoric about budget restraint Wednesday as it expanded from $15 billion to $16.5 billion an emergency spending bill needed to keep some federal programs solvent.

The package includes money for refugee-aid, disaster relief, black-lung menefits to disabled coal miners and a special federal unemployment fund that went broke earlier this month.

The House hoped to complete action on the spending bill today and send it to the Senate.

NEW YORK (AP) — All that time in the air is taking its toll on Broadway's longest-running "Peter Pan," says actress Sandy Duncan.

Miss Duncan, whose matinee performance Wednesday marked her 321st show in the starring role, told the Daily News she doesn't know if she'll be back after her upcoming honeymoon with dancer Don Correia.

"They want me to tour with the show or even do it at the Palladium in London," she was quoted as saying. "Both ideas intrigue me, especially London.

"But this has been a long run and while I love doing the show, the flying sequences take a lot out of you. It's hard on my back, although I see a chiropractor regularly."

A show press agent said Miss Duncan, who has lasted longer in the part than Mary Martin in 1954, has flown 45.7 miles in the show BUILDERS PLUMBING SUPPLY
