Polish threaten major walk-out

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — Striking Polish workers, still adamant in their demands, resumed negotiations with the communist government today and raised the threat of a "catastrophic" nationwide general strike if they are not given free trade unions.

The threat came just hours after the workers won yet another concession, forcing the government to restore telephone links between the strike area on the Baltic coast and the rest of Poland.

Strike leaders said that concession might soften their position on some items, but they remained firm in demanding trade unions independent of government control.

Florian Wisniewski, a member of the Inter-Factory Strike Committee, warned that continued refusal by the government to meet the demand might trigger a general strike, "and that would be a catastrophe."

It was not known whether the militant workers in Gdansk could orchestrate a general strike nationwide.

Some 20,000 workers at strike headquarters in the Lenin Shipyards here listened as Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Jagielski sought to limit talks to economic issues, leaving out the political items. The talks were broadcast by loudspeaker.

But strike leader Lech Walesa insisted that the discussion center on the demand for free unions, saying if that problem were solved, "then the others will not be so difficult" and some could be dropped.

Walesa told the strikers who occupied the Gdansk shipyards Aug. 14: "We are not waiting for small achievements but for big ones. We stay here for five years if need be."

In other developments, state-controlled Szczecin Radio reported the strike situation at that western port was "beginning to be worse," and residents were growing weary. It said street cleaners joined the strike.

Sources in Gdansk said the strike had now closed 480 enterprises, up from about 400 on Monday. Some estimated the number of strikers doubled to 300,000. Up to 200,000 more workers may be idled because of the lack of public transportation.

In Moscow, a Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman declared today that Soviet-Polish relations remained "good," and said the "events" taking place in Poland are an internal affair.

Meanwhile, the government-controlled Central Council of Trade Unions began meeting in Warsaw, and informed sources said trade union boss Jan Szydiak, already fired from the Politburo, was certain to be stripped of his union job amid possible sweeping changes in the trade union structure.

The sources, who requested anonymity, said they believed the 40-member presidium of the Trade Union Council would be sharply curtailed and include many new members considered more acceptable by the strikers.

The government changed its stand Monday after the strikers refused to continue negotiations until there was full telephone service. They shouted, "No! No! No!" when asked by their leader if they would drop that demand.

The announcement that the government had agreed was made by Lech Badkowski, a spokesman for the Inter-Factory Strike Committee, who said the concession paved the way for the resumption of talks.

Anna Walentinovic, a strike leader, said a call from Gdansk to Warsaw went through in about five minutes.

Leszek Walesa, head of the committee which represents some 150,000 striking workers in the Baltic industrial region, said the strikers might reciprocate by eliminating some of their remaining demands.

"The basic thing is to fulfill our demand for free trade unionism. So perhaps some, but only some, of the demands can be dropped," he said, without elaborating.

However, he told the strikers who have been occupying the giant Lenin Shipyards in Gdansk since Aug. 14: "We are not waiting for small achievements but for big ones. We stay here for five years if need be."

The regime also agreed to broadcast the first 20 minutes of each negotiating session, and Gdansk Radio played a tape from the central committee's first meeting on Saturday with First Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Jagielski.

After that session, Jagielski said the regime would consider relaxing some aspects of censorship but rejected the strikers' demand for an increase in the average monthly wage from $170 to $237.

The strike began in reaction to rising meat prices resulting from the government's decision to abandon subsidies to keep meat prices down on July 1. As the walkout expanded, the central strike committee expanded its demands to include social and political reforms, including free trade unions, an end to censorship and the release of political prisoners.

On Sunday, Communist Party chief Edward Gierek said the workers would be allowed to choose their own union officials in secret, democratic elections, with no limit on the number of candidates. But the strike leaders said that did not go far enough and the strike would continue.

Gierek also fired Premier Edward Babuch and eight other top officials and promised new economic and production plans.

INGERSOLL-RAND, celebrating the finalizing of its purchase of Cabot Machinery Division, hosted its employees Monday for an old-fashioned "fish fry" on the company grounds. Night employees received an early morning breakfast as they went off-duty earlier today. Below the Cabot sign, a long-time landmark, is now replaced with new Ingersoll-Rand Oilfield Products signs. Ingersoll-Rand finalized its purchase of Cabot Machinery Division Monday at a cost of about $130 million plus the assumption of certain liabilities.

Debates may leave Anderson in the cold

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer

John B. Anderson, the unhappy Republican, has signed on an equally disenchanted Democrat as a running mate, but he still may be left a lonely bystander when it comes to the presidential debates of 1980.

Anderson capped days of speculation by naming former Gov. Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin to the No. 2 spot on his independent ticket Monday. Lucey, once President Carter's ambassador to Mexico and then a campaign leader for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, declared that he remains a dedicated Democrat, but "Jimmy Carter has no chance at all" to win this fall.

Kennedy, after meeting the president at the White House, saw things differently. He said Carter's odds are "increasingly better every day," and he publicly embraced the administration's economic policy, once the target of his severest criticism, as having been improved to the point that he views it as "a step forward."

In Los Angeles, Republican nominee Ronald Reagan and running mate George Bush took pains to clarify their policy toward China and Taiwan, insisting that the flap over their contradictory remarks in recent days resulted more from semantics than substance. Reagan, moreover, charged that Carter, not him, had been hypocritical on the issue.

But Reagan and Carter appeared headed toward a meeting of minds on at least one score, namely that of restricting any White House debates to themselves. The president has made it clear all along he would prefer to meet Reagan alone, and Carter campaigners say they are eager for as many as six debates.

Reagan said Monday he would prefer just two debates, one on foreign policy and the other on domestic issues. But, in any case, both sides confirmed they planned to discuss today the possibility of one-to-one confrontations, possibly outside the proposed format planned by the League of Women Voters. The league wants three debates, starting Sept. 18 in Baltimore, and has indicated it would invite Anderson as the third participant if he achieves a 15 percent showing in the national polls by Sept. 10.

Anderson, a Republican congressman from Illinois for 20 years, has fallen below that mark lately but hoped his selection of Lucey would give him the spurt needed to enter a prime-time television showdown with Carter and Reagan.

Lucey, in Washington, declared Anderson has a real chance to win. "I am not a champion of lost causes or hopeless crusades," he said. "John Anderson's campaign has made tremendous strides."

At the same time, said Lucey, "I am a Democrat today, I was a Democrat yesterday...and I expect to be a Democrat on Nov. 5," the day after the election.

Kennedy said he talked with Carter about the president's new economic blueprint, to be announced later this week, and sees it as a major improvement over previous administration positions. The president still "does not go as far as I would go" toward stimulation of new jobs, said Kennedy, but the plan is superior to the "unacceptable" approach of Reagan.

Kennedy declared also he would "campaign and campaign actively for the president."

The Massachusetts senator took the occasion as well to call Reagan's "two-China" stance an issue which "raises serious questions in the minds of the American people about the competency of a Reagan administration."

But Reagan, in Los Angeles, said his call for an "official" U.S. link with Taiwan was designed to end what he termed the hypocritical claim of the Carter administration that no such relationship exists.

China long ago made a disruption of formal U.S.-Taiwan ties a condition for its own diplomatic relations with America. When full diplomacy was finally exchanged a year ago, the United States dropped its embassy in Taiwan, and established, instead, a private foundation to handle American interests. The foundation is funded by the U.S. government and staffed by State Department employees on leave.

Bush assured the Chinese leadership that Reagan would not disturb that fragile setup, but Reagan himself declared that "I would not pretend, as Carter does, that the relationship we now have with Taiwan is not official."

Still, he added, he has no intention of re-establishing full diplomatic relations with Taiwan, in the sense of exchanging "an embassy and so forth." But he does favor the lifting of terms which he called petty and demeaning to the Taiwanese, such as the bar against meetings between U.S. and Nationalist China representatives in government offices, Reagan said.

Reagan said that nothing in the Taiwan Relations Act prohibits "official" ties. But the Senate Foreign Relations Committee clearly stated that the purpose of the bill was to maintain "unofficial" relations.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale said Reagan's position "carries with it potentially disastrous consequences for our national security" by jeopardizing the developing Sino-American relationship and gives "cheer to only one major nation on earth, the Soviet Union."

Weather

Today's forecast is partly cloudy and fair through Wednesday with no important temperature changes. The high will be near 100 degrees with the low in the 70's. The high Monday was 95 degrees and the morning low was 71 degrees.

No-parking ordinance gets city approval

City Commissioners approved today an ordinance restricting parking in the 1300 block of Christine Street, after a resident gave six reasons for wanting the ordinance enacted.

During the regular commission meeting held this morning in city hall, Bill Quarles of 1313 Christine told commissioners he felt he was speaking for all the residents of the 1300 block of Christine.

"I realize that we are asking you to consider a very localized problem involving only 16 residents of the whole community," he said to the commission. "I don't believe we can ignore the peace of mind of my fellow residents on the street."

Six factors, he said, were contributing to the parking problem around Pampa High School. He listed legalization of 18-year-olds to drink alcohol, resulting in broken beer and wine bottles on lawns; fast food restaurants, resulting in trash accumulation; affluent youth who own more cars; non-restricted lunch program causing more traffic movement; a reduction of parking because of expansion of the high school; and a constant flow of traffic because of the open campus.

With a motion by Clyde Carruth, commissioners approved the passage of the ordinance restricting parking in the 1300 block of Christine from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on weekdays. Holidays and weekends will be open for parking, according to the ordinance.

At Quarles' suggestion, the commission also decided to later amend the ordinance to allow parking on school holidays.

No Pampa residents attended a public hearing on the proposed Revenue Sharing Budget for the 1980-81 fiscal year. A second hearing has been scheduled for Aug. 28 at 5:30 p.m. in city hall.

An estimated $180,000 will be added to the budget from revenue sharing, City Manager Mack Wofford said. The proposed use for the funds include an approximate $88,000 for the water line replacement program and about $92,000 for street maintenance, he said.

Tony Anderson, director of public utilities gave a progress report on the 5-year-old, two-inch water line replacement program.

Over 20 miles of line have been replaced, Anderson said, since March 1975. Cost of replacing the lines, he said, is costing from $4.50 to $6.50 per foot.

Other commission business include a transfer of $300,000 from the Water and Sewer Fund to the General Fund and an award of the M. K. Brown Auditorium floor refinishing bid to Witt Builders with a bid of $3,533.

Sept. 23 was set as the date to receive bids on prisoner meals and painting of M. K. Brown Auditorium.

In final action, commissioners approved the current accounts payable.

Labor leader expected to testify for Clayton

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton and two Austin attorneys, the first to be indicted in the FBI Bribe investigation, face a Sept. 8 trial date on charges stemming from an alleged insurance kickback scheme.

After a sixth day of pre-trial hearings Monday, U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor granted a separate trial for a fourth defendant, labor leader L.G. Moore of the Houston suburb of Deer Park.

Moore is expected to be a key defense witness for the speaker and his attorney, Mike Ramsey, said his client had been "only boasting and conning a con man when he said he could control Speaker Clayton."

Ramsey, who told O'Connor that Moore's testimony will be vital to Clayton's defense, said he would not allow the union official to testify if he was tried with the other defendants.

Roy Minton, Clayton's chief defense attorney, said, "The government is going to indict Mr. Moore again. They could bring in the dumbest, youngest law clerk and get him. Let's face that fact."

O'Connor granted Moore limited immunity from possible prosecution on other charges stemming from his testimony during Clayton's trial.

Earlier in the day, Minton told O'Connor he planned to call Moore as a witness in Clayton's behalf.

Minton said he anticipated the regional director of the Operating Engineers Union would acknowledge that many of his statements the FBI secretly taped were lies.

No trial date was set for Moore.

'Killer' well may be drilled

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The owner of an offshore natural gas well burning in the Gulf of Mexico says a "killer" well will be drilled at an angle to intersect with the wild well and choke it off with mud.

The job of drilling the new well and pumping down the mud to cut off the fuel source could take more than three weeks.

"It's a big torch," said Jim Stewart, an operations manager for Mesa Oil Co. of Houston, Texas, of the well spewing flames 200 feet high Monday about 100 miles south of Lafayette.

The well blew out Sunday, forcing evacuation of the 37 crewmen. Stewart said four of the 37 were slightly injured in the blowout. They were treated at a Texas hospital and released.

East Texas under fire threat

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Forest Service declared 52 counties of East Texas in "extreme fire danger" following a week-long rash of wildfires that engulfed 4,700 acres of forest and rangeland, a service official said.

"That means we are asking people to do no outside burning whatsoever," said Lou Sloat, heading a command post the service established Friday in Lufkin.

Firefighters battled 26 separate wildfires covering 212 acres Monday, Sloat said.

Sloat said some of the fires appeared to be the work of arsonists, including five blazes reported Sunday in Shelby County and a similar rash of forest fires last week in Panola County.

Over the weekend, 15 firefighting crews were needed to contain a wildfire in Trinity County that burned 210 pine plantations, the spokesman said.

There has been no significant rainfall in the heavily-forested section this month and temperatures approaching 100 degrees, combined with low humidity, have been noted daily. National Weather Service reports show.

Archbishop relinquishes U.S. citizenship

DETROIT (AP) — Archbishop Valerian Trifa, accused of participating in the World War II massacre of thousands of Romanian Jews, has relinquished his U.S. citizenship in federal court here.

William Swor, attorney for the 65-year-old head of the Romanian Orthodox Episcopate of America, said Monday that Trifa will remain in the country as a resident alien.

Trifa of Grass Lake was charged with illegal entry into the country in 1950 and with obtaining his citizenship in 1957 by lying about his involvement with Romania's fascist Iron Guard during the war.

Several Jewish groups have contended for several years that Trifa was a leader of the Iron Guard, a group that advocated killing Jews and Masons.

THE FIRST "FORGET-ME-NOT" from the local Disabled American Veterans (DAV) Chapter is pinned on Pampa Mayor Ray Thompson by DAV Auxiliary Commander Juanita Armstrong, as the chapter's annual week-long fund drive gets underway. Past Commander Julian Carlson, left, looks on. Proceeds from the sale of the DAV flowers will go for chapter activities and for the Veteran's Hospital in Amarillo.

AG DEPARTMENT SETS PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing will be held on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's proposed regulations implementing provisions of Title II of the Energy and Security Act which authorizes biomass energy and alcohol fuels loans and loan guarantees, Deputy Agriculture Secretary James H. Williams announced.

The proposed regulations will determine how the Farmers Home Administration, the credit agency of the Agriculture Department, will carry out certain parts of the Act, which was signed into law by President Carter on June 30.

The hearing will be held in Lubbock on August 29, at the Holiday Inn, 6624 Avenue H.

Two other hearings will be held prior to that date in Georgia and Iowa. In order to gain the widest possible public participation, the hearing will run from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The Energy Security Act authorized $600 million for the Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Program of loans and loan guarantees to alcohol fuels and other biomass energy projects over the next two years.

USDA funds will be used to assist energy projects which use agricultural or forestry products or residue. USDA has responsibility for projects up to 15 million gallons of capacity.

The proposed regulations appeared in the Federal Register on Tuesday, August 5.

Anyone wishing to participate in the public hearing should contact the Office of Public Participation, Room 118 A, Department of Agriculture, Washington, DC 20250, Telephone 202-447-2113.

YEAR BOOK PICTURES SCHEDULED

Yearbook pictures for the 1981 Pampa High School seniors are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday of this week at the library classroom at PHS.

Photographs for the graduating high schoolers will be taken from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. by Blunck's Studio of Clinton, Okla. both days.

Seniors are asked to wear dress clothes for the picture taking. No deposit is required for the regular yearbook pose, however, a deposit will be necessary if the student wants a special setting.

Appointment cards setting the time for posing were sent to the seniors. If a student did not receive an appointment card, he should go either day and have his picture made.

Make-up day as been scheduled for Sept. 24. On that day, the 9 through 11 grades will also have their pictures made.

Texas weather

By The Associated Press
Scattered thundershowers were forecast today for Southwest Texas, extreme northwest sections of the Panhandle, Southeast Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

The remainder of the state was to have clear to partly cloudy skies and hot temperatures.

Highs were to be mostly in the 90s, ranging upward to as warm as 105 in North Central Texas and 107 in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

A few thundershowers were reported during the night in Southeast Texas and Southwest Texas, but the activity stopped during the early morning hours.

Skies were mostly clear statewide during the pre-dawn hours.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s and 80s. Extremes ranged from 61 at Marfa and 66 at Dalhart to 83 at Dallas-Fort Worth and Galveston.

Polish strike could end in free union elections

WARSAW, Poland (AP) - Poland will be the first Soviet Bloc country with freely elected union leaders if the striking workers reach an agreement with Communist Party chief Edward Gierk and he honors his pledge.

But political observers cautioned that even if the workers elect their leaders freely, the Communist regime still may restrict union activities.

"These elections should be fully democratic, secret and with an unlimited number of candidates," said Gierk Sunday night in an attempt to end the strike, now in its 13th day, that is paralyzing the industrial belt along the Baltic coast.

He said even the leaders of the strike could be among those elected, and he announced the biggest shakeup in the Communist leadership in 10 years.

Strike leaders said the election promise didn't go far enough toward giving them the fully free trade unions they demand. Others were suspicious.

"Let's wait and see," said one critic of the regime. "Don't forget that the Communist Party is at the controls, and it can always build clamps into that new trade union law they pledge to enact."

A foreign diplomat said Gierk's speech was "unprecedented, reflecting official concern and readiness for some degree of compromise."

"This may signal a major shift in government policy," said another, "but it is too early to predict what impact it will have on Gierk himself."

A Western diplomat said that Premier Edward Babuch was sacrificed because of the government's failure to live up to previous promises to redress grievances of the workers and stabilize the wobbly economy.

"It was not a move to get rid of Babuch," the diplomat said. "They made a symbolic gesture by firing the premier," who was regarded as a relatively moderate technocrat.

But he added: "It was important that Gierk fired those hardliners who failed in their posts and had become politically untenable."

The hardliners purged included Maciej Szczepanski, director of the radio and television services; propaganda chief Jerzy Lukaszewicz and planning committee chairman Tadeusz Wrzaszczyk.

Szczepanski and Lukaszewicz helped create the crisis, one diplomat contended, by their heavy-handed presentation to the public of the increases in meat prices on July 1. The price boosts touched off a fast-growing strike movement that threw the country into its worst crisis since the price-increase riots in Gdansk in 1970.

Gierk replaced those ousted with new blood, politically untainted technocrats, many of them university graduates and six of them still under 50.

Some observers considered the choice of 54-year-old Jozef Barecki to be the new radio-TV chief particularly significant. He had been editor-in-chief of the Communist Party newspaper Trybuna Ludu.

One of the most important changes, some observers said, was the return to the party Politburo of Stefan Olszowski, the former foreign minister who holds a master's degree in the humanities. Olszowski was an alternate member of the Politburo and was removed last February. But "he was kept in the wings" as ambassador to East Germany, one diplomat noted.

Gower Champion dies at opening of new show

NEW YORK (AP) — Gower Champion, winner of two Tony awards and producer and choreographer of such Broadway hits as "Hello, Dolly!" died at the age of 61 just hours before the opening of his latest venture on the Great White Way.

Champion's death was announced Monday night as the curtain rang down on the opening performance of the new musical "42nd Street," which he had directed and choreographed. The announcement from producer David Merrick, as cast members wept, stunned the audience, and the theatergoers filed out in silence.

The Illinois-born Champion, a veteran of more than 30 years in stage and film, died earlier in the day at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center here. The hospital said he said he suffered from a rare blood cancer.

At his side when he died were his second wife, Karla, and Gregg Champion, his son by his first wife and onetime dancing partner, Marge Champion.

"He never gave the impression that he was that bad," said Ginny King, a dancer in "42nd Street." She said Champion had been away from the show "only when he absolutely had to be — when he was so sick he couldn't stand up."

Champion began his professional dancing career at age 15 in the Coconut Grove in Los Angeles.

He appeared in Broadway revues before World War II and after serving in the Coast Guard returned to a dancing career in Hollywood. In the late 1940s, Champion turned to choreography.

He appeared in such films as "Mr. Music" and "Show Boat," won Tony awards for his work on "Hello Dolly!" and "The Happy Time," and choreographed and directed "Bye, Bye, Birdie." He said his first wife, the former Marge Belcher, starred in the "Marge and Gower Champion Show" on CBS-TV in 1958.

The new "42nd Street" is a remake of the 1930s film musical.

After the show, the cast turned out at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to drink, eat, dance and wait for the reviews.

Merrick declined to talk about the loss of his director or anything else except what the critics would say.

Asked if he thought Champion's death might affect the future of the show, he replied, "I won't know what the future of the show is until I see the reviews, will I?" The first reviews included mixed ones from The Associated Press and The New York Times. Both reviews had special praise for the dances choreographed by Champion.

A memorial service will be held Thursday at the Winter Garden Theater.

Commodore Robert Peary, Matt Henson and four Eskimos planted an American flag at the North Pole in 1909. The party spent nearly 30 hours at the spot, which many explorers had tried to reach earlier. Peary, who won wide public acclaim for his discovery, was made a rear admiral by Congress in 1911.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE.

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

OPINION PAGE

Two ways to spread a message

Detractors of the way we in the media handle controversial topics are growing more numerous and loud every day, and as a rule that's fine. In the last week, we've been made aware of a pair of different approaches to seeking redress from broadcasters, and they illustrate the right and wrong ways of going about it.

The first is Atlantic Richfield's monthly half-hour production, "Energy Update." Done in the form of a slick news show, the program attempts to set straight media-bred misconceptions about the fuel business. It is sent free to more than a hundred television stations, which are allowed to use the tapes in any way they see fit.

Arco, and particularly its president, Thornton Bradshaw, have not been stouthearted spokesmen for the marketplace in the past, but "Energy Update" has the potential for effectively soft-selling a non-governmental point of view. Other companies also have taken to various forums to try to correct perceived media errors. A power company in Illinois has produced a reply to 60 Minutes using background material it says was selectively omitted from the CBS show that examined its nuclear plant. Many firms have purchased newspaper advertisements to present their case.

The tack taken by the AFL-CIO's government employee union (AFSCME) is different. Whereas the corporations previously cited have incurred the expense involved in trying to attract the public to their perspective, AFSCME wants to reshape the broadcast image of labor unions with an effort that is reliant on state coercion. That is a tactic to which organized labor increasingly has had to resort as its obsolescence in the post-industrial age becomes more apparent to wage earners and most everyone else.

AFSCME has sent out a pamphlet instructing followers on how to gain access to radio and television time in order to tell the good side of unionism and to correct for what is called a "pro-business" bias over the air waves (implying that its own point of view is anti-business, an interesting admission). The AFSCME strategy relies on application of the "Fairness Doctrine," a lever held over broadcasters by the Federal Communications Commission. The object is to force the stations to provide air time at their expense so that the union can respond to what it considers slights. The FCC's power to revoke broadcast licenses if the demands aren't met is stressed.

The distinction between the freedom-of-speech approach being tried by many of the nation's companies and the threatening tone of the AFSCME brochure is not hard to grasp. The "Fairness Doctrine" is a pernicious instrument. Regrettably, it is also a weapon used by allies of business such as Accuracy in Media, whose weekly report appears in our section on Saturdays. We would hope that AIM might appreciate the difference between Arco and AFSCME, and confine itself to setting the record straight in a non-coercive way.

Remember hostages

This is another day of imprisonment for the American hostages in Iran.

We call attention to this because most Americans seem to have stopped counting. The hostage crisis, like hunger in Cambodia and the war in Afghanistan, has assumed the status of an accepted reality, however cruel and unjust.

This is so in part because Americans, as well as their government, see no likely prospect of freeing the hostages anytime soon. Consequently, the temptation is to lapse into resentful, resigned silence.

In Washington, this sort of posture is known as a "low profile." As diplomatic strategy in the wake of the failed rescue mission of last April, it makes considerable sense. Shouting at the Iranians didn't free the hostages during the 171 days that preceded the rescue attempt. There is even less reason to think that it might do so now.

Better, perhaps, to permit passions to cool on both sides and hope that even the Ayatollah Khomeini comes to realize that holding diplomatic hostages is counterproductive. Khomeini's willingness to release the ailing Richard Queen may reflect such a realization.

But there is also danger in this muted approach. As Washington deliberately de-emphasizes its confrontation with Iran, popular awareness of the hostages themselves tends to dissipate. Their reported dispersal to secret locations in unknown cities far from the hot atmosphere of Tehran only serves to dim further the national consciousness.

This must not be allowed to happen. The imprisonment of this country's diplomatic mission to Iran is as outrageous and unacceptable today as it was on the morning of Nov. 5, 1979.

We must continue to signal Iran that the lowered voices in Washington denote anything but a willingness to abandon the men and women still languishing under the guns of their captors.

Africa: new election issue?

By Julian Bond
A new issue in U.S. presidential politics may become an important part of the fall debates between Ronald Reagan and Jimmy Carter. It concerns what many supporters of the Republican presidential nominee still look upon as the "dark continent" — Africa.

So far, Reagan has no African policy. The former California governor was alone among this year's major-party presidential candidates in refusing to answer questions on the subject posed by the non-partisan magazine Africa Report.

The Carter-Mondale Presidential Committee did respond, promising the continuation of policies "that would promote the fulfillment of African aspirations, satisfy American interests and serve the cause of international order, peace and justice."

Let's try to go beyond Reagan's silence and Carter's rhetoric to see where the two candidates really stand on Africa.

The Reagan camp tends to view every foreign-policy question as a test of American willingness to halt Soviet expansionism. The few statements on Africa made by Reagan and his advisers suggest that Cold War politics would dictate their policies toward the continent.

For example, Reagan wrote two years ago in his syndicated newspaper column that the Soviets want nothing less in Africa than "domination of the ocean oil routes from the Red Sea to the Atlantic and control of southern Africa's mineral riches."

"There'll be a great deal of focus on the U.S. - U.S.S.R. relationship" in African policies under a Reagan administration, predicts Uri Ra'anana, a Reagan adviser who heads the international security studies program at Tufts University. Another adviser, Raymond Tanter of the University of Michigan, agrees that Reagan would "deal with Africa from the perspective of East-West conflict."

While Reagan was resting up from the Republican Convention, Carter dispatched Vice President Walter Mondale on the first African safari of the 1980 vote-hunting season. The 72-person tour — which included three black members of Congress and NAACP Executive Director Benjamin Hooks in addition to diplomatic personnel — visited Senegal, Niger, Cape Verde and Nigeria, this country's second largest oil supplier. Any favorable notices the trip might have received in the U.S. press were pushed aside by news of our third largest source of oil, Libya, and the president's brother, Billy.

If Carter's African policies have been marked by as much indecision as have his domestic policies, his commendable intentions toward the continent began four years ago with a decided tilt away from the global view promulgated by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. It is Carter's position that Soviet influence in Africa can best be countered by U.S. support for the African goals of self-determination, economic development and an end to minority rule.

Carter's policies have been individualized, tailored to the complex politics and sociology of each African country. That contrasts sharply with Reagan's view of Africa's many states, governments, languages and religions as undifferentiated territory in the struggle between West and East.

Reagan may be provided an opportunity to discuss his views on Africa in greater detail before Election Day. International demands for sanctions against South Africa are likely to intensify unless that country quickly agrees to end its illegal occupation of Namibia.

Such demands might inspire Reagan to challenge Carter's record of unsuccessfully urging South Africa to withdraw its troops from Namibia and allow "free and fair" elections. Reagan's sketchy pronouncements on the subject suggest that he might consider improving U.S. relations with a strategically located, rabidly anti-communist state to take priority over punishing South Africa for its illegal presence in Namibia and its immoral racism at home.

The U.S. tilt toward seeking African solutions to African problems will be threatened by a Reagan attack from the right — or by Carter's proclivity toward adopting his opponent's policies as his own. Any return to the doctrine of tying U.S. interests to Africa's racist, anti-communist governments as part of a global struggle against the Soviet Union can only drive another wedge between an increasingly isolated United States and a region whose strategic importance grows daily.

The Camp Waldorf accord

by ART BUCHWALD

NEW YORK — The story of how Teddy Kennedy agreed to appear on the podium with President Jimmy Carter last Thursday night is now leaking out in dribs and drabs.

It is a tale of all-night negotiations, frayed tempers, pleas for unity and sometimes bitter recrimination.

The negotiators met soon after Teddy's speech on Tuesday night, when the Carter people realized that if Kennedy did not appear on Thursday evening the Democratic Party would be torn asunder. Top aides from the Carter and Kennedy factions closeted themselves in a tent at Camp Waldorf on Park Avenue.

Teddy's people knew they were dealing from strength. His chief negotiator said, "Our boy is going back to Cape Cod unless he gets his $12 billion jobs program in the next budget."

Carter's top aide said, "He's got it. But he has to be in Madison Square Garden, out of sight, while the president makes his acceptance speech."

"No way," the Kennedy man said. "Teddy stays in his hotel suite until the speech is over."

"Okay, as long as he gets to the Garden before the applause for Carter starts. But we want Teddy when he arrives on the podium to embrace Carter just like Menachem Begin does all the time."

"Teddy never embraces anyone. We might let you have a handshake if Carter agrees to do away with tax shelters."

"We don't see any problem with that. But we have to have more assurance that there is party unity. We want Carter to be able to lift Teddy's arm in a victory gesture for the covers of Time and Newsweek magazines."

"It can't be done," the Kennedy negotiator said. "Teddy has tennis elbow and it hurts him to lift his arm over his head."

"He's been lifting his arm during the entire campaign."

"He only got the tennis elbow after he decided not to put his name in for nomination."

"How about the other arm? Carter will stand on his right."

"Teddy hurt that arm sailing. Teddy doesn't want Carter lifting either of his arms."

"Would he lift it if we came out for his national health program?"

"I'll have to check that with him," the aide called Kennedy and then said to the Carter people, "Teddy would like to do it but his doctors say he has to keep his hands in his pockets."

"You have to give us something," the Carter man pleaded. "It would look terrible if Teddy comes on the platform and keeps his hands down. What about a smile? Can we count on a big Kennedy smile when he's up there?"

The Kennedy man said, "Impossible. A smile from Teddy is non-negotiable."

"You've got us up against the wall. Suppose we give Massachusetts a new naval base, three Air Force bases and a contract to build a strategic bomber."

"That's worth Teddy making a fist, but not a smile."

"So what's he going to do when he arrives on the platform?"

"He'll shake hands with Carter and Rosalynn and say hello to Amy and then wave to the crowd."

"But that will look terrible on television. We want to leave New York united. Surely Teddy can give us a little more than that. What if he kisses Amy on the cheek? That can't hurt him with his supporters."

"I'll check with him," the Kennedy man said.

The aide spoke to Teddy and hung up the phone. "Teddy says he doesn't kiss children."

"So all we've got so far," the Carter man said, "is Teddy showing up on the podium. Is that it?"

"Isn't that enough? If you don't like the terms, he can always fly out before Thursday night."

"I better check with the president."

Carter's aide called up Jimmy and told him the terms. There was some back-and-forth talk and then the aide hung up. "The president said we'll agree to everything, as he feels Teddy's appearance is essential to his victory in November."

"Did you tell him Teddy wouldn't smile?"

"Yes, and Jimmy said he wasn't worried, because he'll be able to smile enough for both of them."

A stumblebum...but honest?

By Robert Walters

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Carter has offered the nation a truly impressive defense of his honesty and integrity. It's a shame he can't present an equally compelling case on behalf of his judgment and competence.

At the beginning of an extraordinary press conference devoted almost exclusively to his brother's activities, the president clearly was brimming with indignation over the notion that anyone could conceive of him as a dishonorable man.

"Integrity has been and will continue to be a cornerstone of my administration," said Carter, his blue eyes flashing the icy stare seldom seen in public but familiar to intimates as a sure sign that the president is mad.

"When questions of propriety are raised, I want to make sure they're answered fully," the president added forcefully. "When the questions concern me, I want to answer them myself."

With a pair of bold strokes — a virtuoso performance at the press conference and the simultaneous release of a wealth of detailed documentary material — Carter appeared to have defused the issue, possibly turning a family embarrassment into a political coup.

Some nagging questions remain to be resolved — and the wrong answers could rekindle the controversy — but there is no immediate cause to question the president's motives or actions.

But Carter's sensitivity on the matter of integrity unfortunately is not matched by an equal concern about the issues that have bothered many Americans during the past 3½ years — his apparent lack of competence and judgment.

At the press conference, he flippantly rebuffed, then rejected one especially pointed query: "Do you recognize that there is this charge of incompetence — that hangs over your presidency?"

In fact, Carter's handling of the controversy created by his brother's relationship with Libya typifies the backing and filling, the fumbling and stumbling that have become a hallmark of his administration.

It required three long weeks for the White House to temporarily resolve the matter — from July 14, when Billy Carter's role was first disclosed by the Justice Department, to August 4, when the press conference was held and the supporting documents were released.

During that period the public was told that:

— The Carter brothers did — or didn't — discuss the problem during Billy's negotiations with the Justice Department.

— There was — or wasn't — "any contact in either direction between the White House and the Justice Department."

— The president did — or didn't — provide his brother with copies of State Department cable traffic.

Those conflicting and contradictory statements are consistent only with Carter's penchant for shooting himself in the foot. Even he acknowledged making "some mistakes because we were in a hurry to get all the information out."

But the president, apparently oblivious to a weakness widely perceived elsewhere, concluded that "I don't have any concern about having acted other than competently in this case."

Carter appears to be equally unaware of the possibility that his decision to recruit his brother as an intermediary between the White House and Libyan government, to apply pressure for release of the hostages held in Iran, represented a serious lapse of judgment.

The president's own notes show that a meeting his brother arranged between a senior Libyan diplomat and Zbigniew Brzezinski, assistant to the president for national security affairs, represented "the first time the Libyans have ever been in the White House since I've been here."

Exactly one month later, Billy Carter received his first payment ($20,000) from the Libyan government.

But it is Brzezinski — not the president — who now is willing to acknowledge "there was the risk that this approach would enhance Billy Carter's status in the eyes of the Libyans" and thus advance his influence-peddling career.

Iranians threaten death to hostages if U.S. tries another rescue attempt

The Associated Press
The Moslem militants holding 49 of the 52 American hostages in Iran say they will be put to death immediately if there is another U.S. military attempt to free them.
The militants added they are moving their captives again to foil a rescue attempt being planned to improve President Carter's chances for re-election.
"Since the issue of the American hostages is a key factor in U.S. policy as the presidential election approaches, the Americans are planning somehow to escape the mortal consequences of this development and to free the hostages before the crucial decision by the Islamic Consultative Assembly," said a statement from the militants broadcast by Tehran Radio.
"If world-devouring America embarks on the slightest military move before the fate of the spies has been decided, both the attackers and the spies will all be dispatched to hell on the spot."
The militants who seized control of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran last Nov. 4 said they were on "full alert" and were moving the hostages they hold to new locations. Those held in the towns of Shiraz, Gorgan, Zanjan and Qazvin have already been moved elsewhere, they said without elaboration.

Today was the 297th day in captivity for the 52 Americans. Three of them are held in the Iranian Foreign Ministry in Tehran, where they were when the embassy was occupied, and are not under the control of the militants.
The death threat was similar to one the militants made after the aborted U.S. rescue mission April 25. They also announced then that they were transferring their captives to other cities to foil future rescue attempts, but U.S. officials believe most of them never left the embassy.

Carter Administration officials heatedly denied a report last week by Washington columnist Jack Anderson that the United States was planning a military invasion of Iran. But Defense Secretary Harold Brown declined to say whether there might be another rescue attempt.
Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the leader of the Iranian revolution, has empowered the new Iranian Parliament, or Majlis, to decide the fate of the hostages. But three months after it first met, the assembly is still dealing with organizational matters at a snail's pace, and there is no indication when it will get around to the Americans. Meanwhile, members of the hard-line Islamic majority periodically demand that the hostages be put on trial as spies.

The prosecutor general's office announced that four more persons had been put on trial on charges of participating in the big military plot against Khomeini which the government said it uncovered in July. The announcement said the four included a woman, two clerks and a soldier. About 500 persons were reported arrested in connection with the plot, and more than 60 have been executed.

Tehran Radio also reported the execution of six more persons for drug offenses.

Ax murder trial site studied

MCKINNEY, Texas (AP) — A state district judge says a decision on whether to move the trial of a woman accused in the slaying of a Wylie schoolteacher will be issued by Wednesday.
Judge Tom Ryan said Monday he will decide on a motion for a change of venue after reviewing testimony about extensive publicity surrounding the case of Betty Gore. The 30-year-old woman was found hacked to death in her home June 13.
Candace Montgomery, a friend of the victim, has been charged with murder in the slaying. Her attorneys contend the publicity has ruined her chances of a fair trial.

In a hearing Friday, defense attorneys Robert Udashen and Don Crowder subpoenaed seven members of the news media, four attorneys, an architect and a social worker to testify about the possible adverse effect of news coverage on the case.
Prosecutors presented the testimony of three Collin County law enforcement officers, who said Mrs. Montgomery could be fairly tried here.

Slain couple found in Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Investigators reported no leads and no motive today in the slayings of a man and a woman whose bodies were found in the trunk of an abandoned car in southeast Lubbock.
Police said the bodies of Deborah Bennett, a former Lubbock resident, and Jimmy

A preliminary investigation showed the victims were both shot once in the head late Saturday or early Sunday, the investigator said.
Knox said no money was found on either victim.
Dewbre and Ms. Bennett were last seen alive about 4 p.m. Saturday at a bar located about six blocks from where the bodies were found, Knox said.

Feminists schedule march

NEW YORK (AP) — A decade ago, Rosemary Gaffney remembers, people kept asking, "What do you girls really want?" They don't ask that anymore, she says, and on the 10th anniversary of the Women's Strike for Equality she sees less interest in talking about feminism than in doing something about it.
There is also less interest in marching for feminism, which is why, Ms. Gaffney said, it was difficult to get women to help organize today's Fifth Avenue parade in commemoration of the 10th anniversary of the Women's Equality March.
This year's parade featured speeches by grass roots organizers who were to talk not about theory, but action, she said.

PROSTHESIS IS A REPLACEMENT

Prosthesis is an artificial device used to replace a missing part of the body, such as a heart valve, hip and/or knee joint, or an eye. An artificial eye can appear so natural that it may be overlooked in an emergency case. If a substitute eye, for example, is not removed from the body on a regular basis, serious infection can occur in the eye socket which may complicate the basic problem and increase needed hospital and emergency care.

It is extremely important that the existence of body substitutes, both external and internal, be brought to the attention of emergency room personnel.

DAVID KENNEDY

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — David A. Kennedy, 25, son of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy, has pleaded innocent to a charge of driving while intoxicated. Kennedy, who has been living in Sacramento after spending three months in a drug rehabilitation program, was pulled over last month by police who alleged he had been driving on the wrong side of the road and had driven through a stop sign. Officers said he failed a roadside sobriety test and had a blood-alcohol level of 0.17 percent when tested at headquarters. In California, a driver is presumed to be intoxicated when his blood-alcohol level is 0.10 percent or higher.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — James Garner believes that a man convicted of attacking him after a traffic accident got what he deserved — 100 days in jail and a $500 fine.

Aubrey Leigh Williams, a free-lance photographer, was sentenced Monday and ordered to pay Garner's hospital bills.

Garner, 52, star of the defunct television show "The Rockford Files," was hospitalized for a week following the Jan. 18 attack.

During a three-day trial, Garner testified that Williams' car tried to pass him on the right on a twisting road.

When Garner pulled to the left to allow Williams to pass, the vehicles collided, the actor said. Garner said Williams walked over to his car and began beating and kicking him.

Williams maintained Garner had been driving erratically prior to the collision and had started the fight.

Germans watch Polish strike

By ROBERT H. REID
Associated Press Writer
BONN, West Germany (AP) — With West Germany's national elections less than six weeks away, Chancellor Helmut Schmidt's conservative opponents are using the Polish crisis as the springboard for a new attack on Ostpolitik, the West German brand of detente he inherited from Willy Brandt and a cornerstone of his foreign policy.

The Christian Democratic Union, the chief opponents of Schmidt's Social Democratic Party, has called for an end to economic credits and other concessions to Poland until the Communist regime there bows to the demands of the workers.

The conservatives charge that events in Poland demonstrate the lack of fundamental social and human rights in the Soviet Bloc despite Western trade, military and political concessions as a result of detente.

"What West Germany has gained from Ostpolitik is much less than what it has given," wrote Rainer Barzel, once an unsuccessful CDU candidate for chancellor.

The CDU's attack was stepped up last weekend after Schmidt called off an official visit to East Germany, citing uncertainties created by the Polish crisis. Earlier in the week, Polish Communist Party chief Edward Gierk canceled a meeting with Schmidt in Hamburg to discuss a credit of 1.2 billion marks ($667 million) to help the Polish government cope with its economic problems.

Schmidt and the moderate socialists of the Social Democratic Party counted on the two meetings to bolster his image as a world statesman and champion of detente in advance of the Oct. 5 elections, in which he faces Bavarian Premier Franz-Josef Strauss, one of Western Europe's most anti-Soviet politicians.

The Christian Democrats asserted in a statement Monday that "after 10 years of detente, the reality still exists that the Soviet Union continues and intensifies a war in Afghanistan and continues its arming, and the German chancellor does not want to travel to East Germany because workers strike in Poland."

Senatorial, congressional primaries in 3 states today

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Wendy Yoshimura, who hid out with Patty Hearst while a fugitive on weapons charges, has been paroled after eight months in a work-release program, corrections officials say.

Ms. Yoshimura, 37, who was paroled Monday, had been living in a halfway house operated by the Volunteers of America. The corrections department said Ms. Yoshimura had a good prison record and was not viewed as dangerous.

She was arrested with Ms. Hearst five years ago in a San Francisco apartment they were sharing.

Just 21 years after winning a hard-fought statehood battle, Alaskans were going to the polls today to decide whether their relationship with Uncle Sam has been a success.

Meanwhile, voters in Alaska and two other states were casting their ballots in senatorial and congressional primaries.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., who was formally denounced by the Senate last year for financial misconduct, was in his first runoff election, seeking his party's endorsement for re-election. In Oklahoma, 11 Democrats and five Republicans were seeking nominations to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Sen. Henry Bellmon, a Republican.

In Alaska, Sen. Mike Gravel faced two challengers in the Democratic primary. Democrats were also selecting a candidate to face the state's only congressman, Republican Rep. Don Young, in November.

The referendum proposal being decided in the Land of the Midnight Sun calls on the governor to form an 11-member Alaska Statehood Commission to study "alternative forms of association possible between the United States and the people of Alaska."

Among the alternatives would be a return to territory status. Alaska was a territory before becoming a state in 1959.

Another possibility was secession from the union, but there appeared to be few backers for that plan. And a third proposal was for the state to demand that the federal government give up some of its authority over its vast holdings of land in Alaska.

Congress is considering legislation to place more than 100 million acres of federal land under protection as conservation areas and that has stirred bitter opposition from advocates of greater development in the state.

In Georgia, meanwhile, Talmadge, a 23-year veteran of the Senate, faced the first runoff of his political career against Lt. Gov. Zell Miller.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Just a word to SLEEPY-TIME GAL, and all the others who complain about neighbors who mow their lawns in the early hours of the morning:

I mow mine from 6 a.m. to 8 a.m. — before the sun comes out. With the temperature 100 degrees during the day, I have no apologies for mowing my lawn during the coolest hours. If SLEEPY-TIME GAL wants to mow my lawn for me when she gets up and the sun is scorching, I'll be happy to work out a deal.

HOT IN BIRMINGHAM

DEAR HOT: If you can't work out a deal with your neighbor, read on for a suggestion from an Arlington, Va., reader:

DEAR ABBY: Poor SLEEPY-TIME GAL. She has our sympathy. We had the same problem a few years ago. However, it was solved when you mentioned it in a column titled, "Ten Nays for Good Neighbors." We clipped it and showed it to our neighbors, and I must say it did a lot for our good-neighbor relations.

We had to get it photostated because so many of our friends wanted copies, including a guard at the White House in Washington, D.C!

I'm enclosing a copy with the request that you kindly print it again.

ARLINGTON READER

DEAR READER: Consider it done.

TEN NAYS FOR GOOD NEIGHBORS

- 1) Thou shalt love thy neighbor, but not his wife, nor shalt thou covet thy neighbor's house, or his car, or any other thing he owneth.
- 2) Thou shalt keep thy dog, and thy stereo, and thy lawnmower quiet while thy neighbor sleepeth.
- 3) Thou shalt borrow from thy neighbor rarely, and when thou doest, returneth undamaged and without delay that which thou hast borrowed.
- 4) Thou shalt not alloweth thy pets nor thy children to run amok, despoiling thy neighbor's lawn, flower beds and fence.
- 5) Thou shalt keepeth thy lawn green, thy fence painted and thy driveway uncluttered even as ye shall also keep thy vehicles in thy garage where they belong.

6) Thou shalt watcheth always for criminals and fires in thy neighborhood and guard thy neighbor's home and his property even as thy own.

7) Thou shalt not use thy home for any unsightly or illegal activity.

8) Thou shalt always stand ready to help thy neighbor in his hour of true need, even as he does for thee.

9) Thou shalt not parketh thy camper, nor thy RV, nor thy van in the street where it blocketh thy neighbor's view and createth a safety hazard to all.

10) Thou shalt not hold wild parties or orgies that lasteth until wee hours unless thou shalt inviteth thy neighbor too.

DEAR ABBY: Recently a local physician collapsed and died while jogging. He had no identification on his person, which caused much anguish to his family.

Your concern for people prompted me to ask you to please tell your readers who run and jog to carry identification with them. Thank you.

Former jockey writes satisfying thriller

WHIP HAND. By Dick Francis. Harper & Row. 293 Pages. $9.95.

This latest thriller by former jockey Dick Francis deals mainly with crime in the world of horseracing.

But this time the hero, one-time steeplechase champion Sid Halley, is kept busy trying to solve not one but three crimes.

One involves a mysterious ailment that strikes down champion 3-year-olds as they reach peak form.

A second revolves around a consortium of crime syndicates that are bridging trainers and jockeys wholesale and thus manipulating many of the major races in England.

Finally, Halley agrees to enter a case that has nothing to do with racing. This one deals with a smooth confidence man who has involved Halley's former wife in a charity solicitation racket that she believed to be on the level.

This third case case was apparently dragged in as an excuse to introduce the former Mrs. Halley and also to involve the hero in a new romance with his ex's apartment mate.

Three investigations at once seem quite a task for a former jockey who has lost one hand in a racing accident, but Halley handles them in stride.

Despite the complicated mixture of plots, the author manages to hold our interest and skillfully brings it all to a satisfying climax.

AT WIT'S END

By Erma Bombeck

My husband and I were sitting around the table after dinner the other night when he broke the silence by asking, "What's your feeling about blowing up Jack-in-the-Box?"

I slammed down my coffee cup and shouted, "Can't we have one meal in this house without pressure? That's not a decision to make in a day. A person needs time to think about something that important. Give me a break!"

Now, for those of you reading this column in the cool pines of the mountains where the air is fresh and a little fire takes the chill off the house in the evenings, you will not understand a word of this piece.

But those in the Southwest deserts, the plains of Texas, the East and the Midwest in temperatures that exceed 105 degrees will marvel at my self-control.

Excessive cold weather isn't pleasant. It makes you move faster, seek crowds for warmth and actually creates a camaraderie of discomfort.

But people in hot weather are sure they have been singled out by God for (a) not tithing, (b) not tipping, (c) not missing their children at camp. For their punishment they have been sentenced to Solar Hell.

Hot weather makes you mean.

If everyone doesn't get into the car at precisely the same instant...four doors slamming as one...it will set you off.

If you answer the door and the people say hello and introduce themselves before entering, you want to grab them by the throat and drag them in.

If the weatherman gives the temperatures from around the country and doesn't mention your bedroom, you want to smash in the set.

I don't want people telling me to remember this next winter.

I don't want people making jokes about my potholder mitts that I went to touch the steering wheel and turn the ignition.

I want friendly tips on how to keep cool by putting a cucumber over each eye or running my wrists under cold water.

When I'm hot, just let me wallow in self-pity, be irritable, and occasionally vent my anger on a stranger with dry underarms. ("You call yourself an American!")

As I crawled into bed, I said to my husband, "I've thought about Jack-in-the-Box and I think we should waste him."

"Good night," he yawned. "I yelled, 'What do you mean by a crack like that?'"

Every body deserves a good night's sleep!

One of the most common questions asked about waterbeds is "How hard are they to move?" Well, rest assured, because waterbeds are designed to be very portable. The frame comes apart at the corner, and there are no big bulky mattresses or box springs to lug around. At Shallow Waterbeds, every bed comes with a fill and drain kit, (as shown above) at no extra cost. It includes a six month supply of water conditioner, a hose adapter for a snug fit in your fill valve, and a sink adapter so you can fill your mattress with warm water right from your sink in the bath or kitchen. It even includes a pump to make draining your mattress simple and easy. So drop on by and let us show you how easy it is to move, or better yet sleep in a nice heated waterbed.

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

August 27, 1980

An alliance you form this coming year may not appear to be too promising or productive at first. Yet later, as part of a team, you will benefit in material ways.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Before accusing another of foot-dragging, make sure you're behaving as cooperatively as possible. It takes two to tango. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) From time to time we all have to do chores of which we're not overly fond. This could be your lot in life today, so accomplish your duty with a smile, not a frown.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Steer clear of situations today involving friends who have problems with one another. Their disputes could place you in the middle.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Family disagreements should not be aired in public today. Instead of getting sympathy or support, you could end up looking bad to others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Strive to be encouraging, rather than critical, of those who express their ideas or plans to you today. Sour grapes will only create resentment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It's important to live within your means at this time, so buy only that which is necessary. Think carefully before taking on long term obligations.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Patience and perseverance are required today because you may be stymied in things affecting your self-interests. Seek alternatives to circumvent roadblocks.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Realign yourself to the fact that it is going to take effort and patience to accomplish what you are working on today and you'll fare better.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) When out with your pals today, make sure everybody is willing to shoulder the load in a group endeavor, or you could wind up carrying the entire burden.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There are no free rides being offered today. Only persistence will achieve goals worth obtaining.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Individuals with unyielding dispositions may get you down today. Rather than hassling with them, walk away. They'll stop when they have no one to harass.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Money matters may be your trouble today when an old forgotten obligation becomes due. If you don't take care of it, things could get worse.

Workers advocate 'flextime'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 9-to-5 Monday-to-Friday grind may become a workaday relic — replaced by something called "flextime" — judging by the enthusiasm of California workers testing a new time schedule.

"I just love it. My morale is higher, and I am actually producing more than I did under the old schedule," says Jeanette Smith, a clerk in Los Angeles' personnel department.

Los Angeles and San Francisco are experimenting with flexible work schedules, or "flextime," as a means to increase productivity and reduce air pollution and traffic congestion at peak hours.

Flextime differs from the more often proposed four-day week. Every two weeks, Miss Smith works 80 hours spread over nine days — eight nine-hour shifts and one of eight hours — giving her an extra day off every other week.

"It's like a bonus having that extra day off," adds Fern Johnson, 29, a personnel manager, who is also on the so-called nine-80 plan. "I am able to use the time to do things with my family, like take the children to the beach and the amusement park."

In June, the Los Angeles City Council ordered plans drawn up by the end of the year to put some 37,000 municipal workers on flextime, although only two departments with about 800 employees have complied so far. It is the first major city in the nation to impose flextime across-the-board.

Most employees work the nine-80 plan, but some are being allowed to experiment with four 10-hour days each week.

Under both plans, Los Angeles employees may start their days anytime between 6:30 a.m. and 8:30 a.m., as long as they put in the required number of hours.

A few employees have been granted hardship exemptions because they cannot coordinate their longer flextime days with the shorter school or day-care schedules of their children.

San Francisco is easing into the plan more slowly, with only 200 employees in its public works department experimenting with flextime.

"This is a test," explains Jerry Costanzo, deputy director of the agency. "If it works here, the city may expand the program."

San Francisco lets workers set their hours, as long as they put in eight hours sometime between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. The sole restriction: everyone must be in the office during the "core periods" of 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

"Nearly everyone on the program loves it, and productivity is increasing," Costanzo says.

The San Francisco plan was drawn up in bargaining with Local 21 of the International Federation of Professional and Technical Employees, which over the past five years has won similar contracts for about 600 other government workers in the San Francisco Redevelopment Agency, Alameda County and the City of Hayward.

"What we're trying to teach the employers is to make the worker task-oriented instead of time-oriented," says Dennis Bouey, whose union is in the forefront of pushing for flextime.

Most unions oppose flextime, seeing it as a way employers can get overtime work without paying for it. Bouey says most employers resist flextime "until they see how well it is working elsewhere. Then it becomes as much a matter of being competitive as it does of being progressive."

Government officials and business executives from around the county have contacted Los Angeles to find out if flextime is working, says Joan Morefield, head of the city personnel department's administrative services division. She tells them it's working fine.

Bush to address state convention

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — George Bush, Republican vice presidential nominee, heads a long list of prominent speakers for the State Republican Convention in San Antonio Sept. 5-6, says State GOP Chairman Chester Upham.

Bush will make the main speech Saturday morning, Sept. 6.

Other major speakers include Gov. Bill Clements, the convention keynote; National GOP Chairman Bill Brock, Sen. Orrin G. Hatch of Utah, Rep. Guy Vander Jagt of Michigan, Sen. John Tower of Texas and former Gov. John B. Connally.

Upham said the convention also would take part Sept. 6 at noon in an hourlong nationwide program sponsored by the Ronald Reagan-Bush campaign to gather volunteer support for the campaign.

The convention proper begins Friday afternoon and continues through Saturday.

Hearings on the state party platform will begin Sept. 2 with Ray Barnhart, Pasadena, as chairman of the convention committee.

Upham said Jerry Smith of Houston would be chairman of the convention rules committee; and Jim Oberwetter, Dallas, of the credentials committee.

Fanola County to reinstate county agent

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Federal Judge William Wayne Justice has ruled that Panola County must reinstate a former black county extension agent and pay five years back salary to former agent Harold Wells.

In the ruling, Justice said the county was guilty of denying the former agent Harold Wells' pay and privileges because of race.

The federal judge agreed with Wells' complaint that he was denied equal opportunity by Panola County and is eligible for retroactive compensation.

With the ruling, Panola County will be forced to reopen the extension office. It is now the only county in Texas without a working extension office.

National League baseball roundup

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Relief pitcher Tug McGraw's intentional walk to pinch hitter Joe Ferguson turned into a two-run single. His walk to Bill Russell turned into a free-for-all.

Los Angeles snapped a 4-1 tie in the ninth inning when Dusty Baker singled home a run and the Dodgers added three more to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 8-4.

After Baker's run-scoring hit, McGraw tried to intentionally walk Ferguson to load the bases and set up a potential double play.

On the second pitch, Ferguson leaned across the plate and drove the ball into right field, scoring two runs.

That brought shortstop Bill Russell to the plate.

McGraw's first three pitches to Russell were well inside and had Russell leaning over backward. The fourth one hit him.

Russell rushed the mound but never reached McGraw as both benches emptied: The umpires tossed Russell out of the game, which brought Los Angeles Manager Tom Lasorda screaming onto the field. Lasorda also was ejected.

McGraw, however, only drew a warning. Davey Lopes, the veteran Dodgers' second baseman, was especially incensed.

"There will be a day when McGraw hits (bats) and he'll be dead, and you can put that in the newspapers," said Lopes. "That was bush. He's got his day coming. I don't care if it's eight years from now."

"I thought he had a little more class. I guess he doesn't."

Lasorda charged that McGraw should have been ejected from the game.

"It was as plain as the nose on your face that McGraw was trying to hit him. He should have been thrown out and heavily fined."

"What gives him the right to throw four balls at a guy who had nothing to do with it (the pitch that Ferguson hit)," Lasorda said.

In other National League games Monday night, Montreal defeated San Francisco 3-1, Atlanta outlasted Pittsburgh 9-6, Cincinnati blanked Chicago 2-0 and St. Louis topped Houston 3-1.

Cardinals 3, Astros 1
A run-scoring double by Mike Phillips backed Don Hood's four-hitter as St. Louis snapped Houston's 10-game winning streak.

Phillips' hit scored Terry Kennedy and, one out later, Ken Oberkfell's grounder scored Ken Reitz with the eventual winning run.

Reds 2, Cubs 0

Tom Seaver and Mario Soto combined on a two-hitter as Cincinnati blanked Chicago 2-0, handing the Cubs their seventh straight loss.

Seaver, 5-7, surrendered just one hit over 61-3 innings in his strongest performance since coming off the disabled list Aug. 4. He struck out four and retired 14 in a row at one stretch.

Cesar Geronimo homered for the Reds, his second of the season.

Braves 6, Pirates 6

Dale Murphy drove in four runs with a double and a homer and Chris Chambliss smashed a two-run homer as Atlanta downed Pittsburgh.

Murphy drove in three runs with a first-inning, bases-loaded double and followed Chambliss' home run in the sixth inning with a solo shot.

American League roundup

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

George Brett is doing it all for the Kansas City Royals this year well, almost everything.

Currently sporting a major league-leading .398 average, Kansas City's fair-haired third baseman has been carrying a big stick since the All-Star break.

But he's only one of the reasons that the red-hot Royals are running away with the American League West pennant these days. Another is Clint Hurdle, hitting .302 after a 3-for-5 game helped the Royals beat the Milwaukee Brewers 9-3 Monday night.

"A lot of other guys on this club deserve more publicity than they're getting," said Hurdle, "and if you keep reading the papers, guys are going to get mad because George gets so much publicity."

"But we've got to be realistic," he added. "George is hitting close to .400 and he's the big story. Our attitude is that this is George's time. He deserves the publicity. Our time will come. We'll all get the recognition if we win the playoffs and the World Series."

Another reason for Kansas City's whopping 17 1/2-game lead is Dan Quisenberry, the submarine-delivery specialist who leads the majors in saves with 30. He nailed down Monday night's victory.

Elsewhere in the AL, Seattle beat Baltimore 10-5; Oakland walloped New York 9-1; Cleveland edged Minnesota 4-3; Texas turned back Toronto 5-1 and Boston trimmed California 4-2 in 11 innings.

Hurdle blasted a two-run homer off loser Moose Haas, 14-11, in the second inning to send the Royals on their way. Kansas City winner Larry Gura, 18-5, gave up eight hits, struck out four and walked one in winning for the eighth time in his last nine decisions. Quisenberry provided relief help in the eighth inning.

Brett, meanwhile, collected two singles in four official at-bats to bring his batting average up a point. Brett has hit safely in 42 of 45 games since the All-Star break.

Mariners 10, Orioles 5
Jim Anderson's two-run single capped a six-run first inning that sent Seattle past Baltimore and halted the Orioles' winning streak at eight games.

Winner Glenn Abbott, 9-9, gave up 10 hits before getting eighth-inning relief help from Shane Rawley, who earned his 12th save.

The Mariners jumped on Orioles starter Dennis Martinez, 3-3, for four straight hits in the first inning when they sent 11 men to the plate.

A's 9, Yankees 1
Mike Norris pitched a seven-hitter and Rickey Henderson collected four hits to lead Oakland over New York before the biggest regular-season crowd in the A's history.

Norris, 18-7, won for the eighth time in his last nine starts before the sellout crowd of 49,300 on half-price night at the Oakland Coliseum. He struck out seven, increasing his American League-leading total to 138, and reduced his earned run average to 2.21, also best in the league.

The Yankees remained a half-game ahead of the Orioles in the AL East.

Indians 4, Twins 3
Joe Charboneau hit a three-run homer in the fourth inning to pace Cleveland past Minnesota and spoil Johnny Goryl's debut as manager of the Twins. Goryl replaced Gene Mauch, who resigned Sunday after spending 5 1/2 seasons at the Twins' helm.

Dan Spillner, 12-9, allowed eight hits and three runs in 52-3 innings to gain the victory. Sid Monge earned his 12th save with 31-3 innings of scoreless relief.

Fernando Arroyo, 4-6, took the loss.

In his first seven seasons at Oklahoma, football coach Barry Switzer's teams won 73 games.

High school rodeo results

Pampa, led by Lena Stewart, captured the team championship in the girls division during the Sunray High School Rodeo last weekend.

Stewart won both the goat tying and breakaway roping categories.

Jo Linda Lowery took second in barrel racing and sixth in goat tying while Cindy Leggett placed fifth in goat tying.

In the boys division, Lee Lowrey of Pampa and Hadley Reed of Spearman took third in team roping.

There will be a rodeo club meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday night in the high school cafeteria.

Cowboys release five more

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys cut punter Jeff Gossett Monday, meaning No. 1 quarterback Danny White will do the chores for the time being, the club announced.

The Cowboys released five players, including rookie free agent Gossett. White did all the team's punting while he was a back-up to now-retired Roger Staubach. He was among the NFL leaders but Coach Tom Landry has repeatedly said he wants somebody else to punt now.

Team officials also confirmed that safety Randy Hughes underwent corrective surgery on a dislocated shoulder Monday and will be out for at least eight weeks.

However, tight end Jay Saldi will be back in action sooner than expected. Team doctors thought Saldi had cracked some ribs in Saturday's game with the Oilers, but X-rays proved it was just torn cartilage and should heal soon.

In addition to Gossett, the rookies cut were linebacker Larry Savage of Michigan State, wide receiver Jackie Flowers of Florida State, linebacker Gary Padgen of Arizona State and safety Richard Solomon from Utah.

The cowboys will have to cut five more players by Tuesday to get down to the league limit of 50. Further cuts will then have to be made before the regular seasons start.

Softball deadline

The deadline is fast approaching for teams to turn in their rosters and fees for the upcoming fall softball leagues in Pampa.

Departure of Veeck, Finley leaves void in baseball

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

A note to Bowie Kuhn, the commissioner of baseball:

How about a special game sort of like the one they hold every summer at the Hall of Fame induction ceremonies in Cooperstown, N.Y.?

Only this one would be different. It would be played with orange baseballs. Each team must have at least one midget in the lineup. When the midget draws a walk, have an Olympic champion sprinter ready to go in as pinch-runner.

Hook up a telephone between the dugouts and the home plate umpire. When the manager wants to blow his stack, he doesn't have to storm onto the field. He just picks up the phone and dials the ump. Put a couple of clowns on coaching lines.

That's just half of it. Give out free dishes and orchids at the gate. Present a thoroughbred race horse to the patron who guesses the exact score, inning and identity of the game-winning run-batted-in. Let a barber shop quartet or a rock 'n' roll band provide changeover music.

And don't forget the fireworks.

The game would be a fitting farewell by baseball to the sport's two foremost innovators, Bill Veeck and Charles O. Finley, who announced their valedictories over the weekend.

The imaginative, sharp-witted Veeck, a 66-year-old diamond brat, ended another of his several sorties into big league baseball by selling his Chicago White Sox stock to Ed DeBartolo, a shopping center and sports franchise tycoon.

Jenkins faces narcotics charge

TORONTO (AP) — Ferguson Jenkins of the Texas Rangers, will appear Wednesday in provincial court in nearby Brampton, Ontario, charged with three counts of possession under the Narcotics Control Act.

A native of Chatham, Ontario, Jenkins was arrested Monday at Exhibition Stadium as the Rangers prepared for their game with the Toronto Blue Jays.

A police spokesman said a check of the Rangers' luggage when it arrived Sunday night at Toronto International Airport showed that one bag contained four grams of cocaine, two ounces of marijuana and two grams of hashish.

Jenkins arrived in Toronto Sunday morning for the Rangers' three-game series with the Blue Jays and was scheduled to pitch against the Blue Jays today. However, a team spokesman refused to comment on the charges or whether he would play.

American League President Lee MacPhail was unavailable for comment.

Finley unloaded the Oakland A's to the Haas family (Walter A., Jr. and son, Walter J.) of Levi Strauss, the blue jean moguls.

Their departure leaves a tremendous void in the entire realm of sports, baseball particularly. These two maverick Barnums, men of contrasting backgrounds and styles, used a similar brand of press agency to inject life, vigor and electric excitement in a game that was tending to become moribund through strict adherence to tradition.

Perhaps more than anybody, they moved the game into the Twentieth Century. Their flamboyance, enterprise and revolutionary spirit will be sorely missed.

It is ironic coincidence that they leave together.

Veeck is the son of a former sports writer who graduated to baseball's front office and became president of the Chicago Cubs when young Bill was 11. Bill grew up around Wrigley Field, working as mail clerk, club secretary, treasurer and minor league boss before entering World War II as a Marine anti-aircraft gunner where he lost his right leg as the result of a wound on Bougainville.

Finley, 63, an aristocratic-looking figure with white hair and menacing black eyebrows, toiled in the steel mills for 47 cents an hour and sold insurance. He built a financial empire in doctors' insurance from an idea that struck him while recuperating from tuberculosis. An astute businessman, he bought the A's (then Kansas City) for $4 million, sold the team last week for $12.7 million.

Saints, Falcons given best shots to end Rams reign in NFC's West Division race

By The Associated Press

Last year was one of the best yet one of the worst seasons for the Los Angeles Rams, who a lackluster 9-7 record during the regular season. But they glossed that over with playoff victories over Tampa Bay and Dallas and a creditable performance in the 31-19 Super Bowl loss to Pittsburgh.

Despite the late-season success, there's a lingering feeling around the National Football Conference West that 1980 might be the year the Rams — division champs for the past seven years — can be had.

The New Orleans Saints, 8-8 last season, would seem to have the best chance to end the Rams' long reign. The Atlanta Falcons, coming off a 6-10 campaign, would appear to have an outside shot, with the San Francisco 49ers, 2-14, having to wait a few years before they'll be competing for the title.

The Rams' fortunes will depend heavily on whether four disgruntled veterans — Jack Youngblood, Jim Youngblood, Larry Brooks and Dennis Harrah — decide to return to the fold. The four have asked to have their contracts renegotiated and haven't reported to camp.

Los Angeles Coach Ray Malavasi, who steered the Rams to their first Super Bowl last January, faces what seems an ever-present quarterback controversy — this time with Pat Haden and Vince Ferragamo the principals. Ferragamo took over after Haden was hurt late last season and guided the team to the NFL championship showdown with the Steelers.

The Rams' running game could be hurting early in the season, as Wendell Tyler — last year's leading rusher — is missing the preseason because of an off-season injury suffered in an automobile accident. Elvis Peacock and Eddie Hill figure to see a lot of duty at running back

Harvester coaches worried about reserve strength

After last Saturday's first intrasquad scrimmage, the Pampa High coaching staff is going to be taking a closer look at the Harvester bench.

"The coaches are concerned with our people in supporting roles," said head coach Larry Gilbert. "They're going to have to get tougher both mentally and physically so we don't have such a dropoff when our first team is out of there."

Gilbert was most impressed with defensive tackle Billy Ward, quarterback Sam Edwards, receiver Steve McDougall, defensive end James Borchardt, running backs Leroy Kuhn and Mark Kotara.

Kotara, however, will be out indefinitely after suffering a broken wrist.

"We were counting on him to help us a lot," added Gilbert. "He'll be out for quite awhile."

Gilbert said the first team defense looked especially sharp during the scrimmage.

"I was real impressed with the way we got after each other," Gilbert said. "We had a few technical breakdowns, but that can be expected after only one day in pads."

Gilbert said the defensive secondary looked sharp at times and displayed ability at reading the pass.

Pampa's Sept. 5 opener with Hereford is constantly on the minds of Gilbert and his coaching staff.

"We've been going over the offensive and defensive alignments of Hereford ever since two-days," Gilbert said. "We'll be doing the same again today. Even though we scrimmage Lubbock Estacado Friday, Hereford is the one that's going to count."

Pampa's scrimmage with Lubbock Estacado, top-ranked in Class 4A's pre-season poll, kicks off at 4:30 p.m. Friday in Harvester Stadium.

Burner returns with victory

AP Sports Writer

After losing a 12-round decision to Ron Lyle and suffering a burst ear drum and broken ribs in 1977, Joe Bugner told a British newspaper he was getting out of boxing because it just wasn't worth it.

Then, a few months ago in an interview, Bugner, who once lost a title bid to Muhammad Ali, told another British reporter that at age 30 he was going to fight again.

Well, Joe Bugner is back...in a big way. Weighing 240 pounds, the 6-foot-4 Bugner beat a Costa Rican heavyweight named Gilberto Acuna at the Forum at Inglewood, Calif., Saturday night, 39 days before the 38-year-old Ali will try to win the heavyweight title for the fourth time when he fights Larry Holmes in Las Vegas.

Why Joe?

Money!

The heavyweight division currently is so thin in talent that there is good money to be made still by fighting on memory — as the presence of 36-year-old Earnie Shavers, 31-year-old Jimmy Young and 38-year-old Ron Lyle attests.

Lyle, in fact, fought on the same card as Bugner Saturday night and knocked out one George O'Mara in the 10th round. Lyle needed the knockout to win.

It's a wonder Joe Frazier and Ken Norton don't come back.

"When you see some of the black American heavyweights like Leon Spinks and Larry Holmes, who become champions after just a few fights, it make you ask how much experience you really need to win the title," Bugner said.

It's true that Holmes and Spinks together can't match Bugner's 65 fights, but they have something that Bugner has never exhibited — toughness. And, in the case of Holmes, there is a desire to excel that never has been displayed by Bugner.

Bugner, a former European champion, went 12 rounds with Ali in 1973 and 15 with him in a title bid at Kuala Lumpur in 1975 and lost decisions. Neither time did Bugner seem distraught about losing. In fact, he seemed pleased that he had gone the distance with a legend.

Bugner, who was born in Hungary, moved to Beverly Hills, Calif., after he retired following the Lyle fight, got divorced and remarried, bought a big cattle ranch in Australia and acted in three Italian-financed films.

In the interview in which he said he was planning to fight again, Bugner said he would like to make two films a year, have two fights a year and spend the rest of his time on the ranch with his new wife while Tyler works his way back into shape.

The 1980 campaign will be the first in Anaheim Stadium for the Rams, who moved from their longtime home in the Los Angeles Coliseum following last season.

At New Orleans, the main story is still quarterback Archie Manning, who would seem to deserve to be on a championship team by now. Running back Chuck Muncie, fullback Tony Galbreath, tight end Henry Childs and wide receivers Wes Chandler and Ike Harris combine with Manning to give the Saints a powerful offense.

New Orleans' offensive line is again in a state of flux after a year of relative stability. During that year, the Saints allowed just 17 sacks, second best in the NFL.

The left side of the line remains intact, but Conrad Dobler was traded away at right guard, with Fred Sturt the probable replacement. Veteran tackle Robert Woods has moved into the Saints' right guard slot, and first-round draft choice Stan Brock is at right tackle.

New Orleans' defensive unit that allowed 360 points last season will have no major personnel changes. Reggie Mathis takes over the weakside linebacker spot vacated by the retired Pat Hughes, and there's a three-way fight at one cornerback — otherwise, it's the same lineup that finished last season.

Competition has been stiffest, perhaps, for the Saints' kicking job. Punter-kicker Russell Erbleben, the 1979 first-round draft choice, is back after a season in which he suffered assorted health problems. Punter Rick Partridge and kicker Gary Yepremian are battling Erbleben for a job.

At Atlanta, the Falcons appear improved offensively with the addition of top draft choice Junior Miller.

Little League World Series opens today

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — At the Little League World Series "Made in Taiwan" represents top-quality baseball.

In recent years Taiwan has dominated not only the Far East region of Little League but has taken seven of the last nine series' finals.

This year's Taiwan team is from the Hua-Lian Little League.

Hua-Lian's All-Stars faced the Latin American entry from the Pabao Little League of Curacao in today's opener of the 34th Little League World Series.

Another game pitted U.S. regional teams from the South and the East.

Last year, Taiwan's Pu-Tzu Town Little League defeated a team from Campbell, Calif., 2-1. Taiwan again is dominated by strong pitching, with seven hurlers on the 14-boy roster. Fine coaching and hard work are among the reasons for Taiwan's success.

"My kids are very strong physically, which enables them to do many things well," Taiwan manager Hsiaw Ching-Con said through an interpreter. "I feel our overall game is sound.

Our boys are hitting well and the defense is solid."

The Belmont Heights Little League from Tampa, Fla., faced Darlington American Little League's team from Pawtucket, R.I. in the U.S. East-South showdown.

On Wednesday, U.S. Central meets U.S. West at 2 p.m. Grandview National of Des Moines, Iowa, is the Central entry and Kirkland National Little League of Kirkland, Wash., represents the West.

The European entry, Torrejon U.S. Air Force Base of the Madrid Little League in Spain, will play Canada's Trail Little League team from Trail, B.C. at 5 p.m.

The semifinal will be Thursday and the final Saturday. The championship game will be shown three hours late, at 5 p.m., on ABC.

"This will be a great series. There are some fine All-Star teams in competition," said Creighton Hale, Little League president. Hale greeted athletes at a banquet Monday night.

The Little League, which dates to 1939 when it was started with three local teams and now has membership of over 14,000 teams and three million players in 26 countries around the world.

Texas Briefs

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Persons arrested on driving while intoxicated charges got to see a "horror show" every morning after being held overnight in the Austin City jail.

Sponsors of the slide show, with narration, are the Austin police and Municipal Judge Steve Russell.

The show is a collection of color slides showing gruesome results of traffic collisions involving drunk drivers in Austin the past two years. Police say it is a graphic collection of mangled, sometimes headless and burned torsos.

"The program is not aimed at scaring people," said Maj. Kendal Thomas, head of the uniformed traffic division. "We are just trying to make people aware that they can kill or get killed if they get behind the wheel of a car when they are drunk."

"We try to emphasize on people that what they are seeing are not just pictures of pieces of meat lying on the road, but that it used to be a human being and that things like that can happen to them," said Russell.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Public hearings will be held in five Central Texas cities this week over plans of Southern Pacific Transportation Co. to close its railroad freight stations in those cities.

The hearings, Monday through Thursday, will be held in Llano, Beeville, Yoakum, Caldwell and Giddings, by Examiner James Houchins of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Southern Pacific proposes to take agents and stations out of the five cities. Customers who want to ship or receive freight would have to arrange by telephone for trains to stop. The company said this would be a savings of $67,000 a year.

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas County officers raided two homes, arrested seven persons and confiscated more than 14 ounces of cocaine valued at about $40,000, according to Dallas County Sheriff's Capt. Jack Gillis.

"We believe another pound and a half of coke (cocaine) was sold shortly before we raided," Gillis said.

Gillis said the raids, arrests and seizure came after a three-week investigation by officers who followed a tip from an informant who said the cocaine was being delivered to Dallas from Florida.

"Any time you're talking about cocaine, you're talking about a major operation," Gillis said.

Gillis said the cocaine is being smuggled into Florida by a firm that is a front for a nationwide smuggling operation. He said the firm has branch offices nationwide, including one in Dallas.

Student editor refuses order to submit photos

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A student editor who said he had the negatives with him in the courtroom testified Monday he would not submit photographs subpoenaed by the prosecution in the trial of 24 Middle Eastern students.

The defendants are named in misdemeanor charges of disrupting a Jan. 31 speech at the University of Texas by Fereydoon Hoyveda, former Iranian ambassador to the United Nations.

Assistant County Attorney Jeff Blackwelder said the photographs in the possession of Daily Texan Editor Mark McKinnon would help identify those who interrupted the speech.

An attorney for the Iranian and Palestinian students, Jim Allison of the American Civil Liberties Union lawyer, said it was obvious that Blackwelder was "angry" about the case.

Attorney Jim George, representing McKinnon, asked County Court-at-Law Judge Jon Wisser to quash the subpoena for the photographs. George argued that testimony from eyewitnesses would be better evidence.

Blackwelder said he had other photos, and videotape, he would offer as evidence. Eyewitnesses will also testify for the prosecution he said.

Although Wisser began hearing testimony Monday, he said the question of the Daily Texan photographs would be considered at a Wednesday hearing.

McKinnon testified he had the negatives with him, but he would not submit any photos that were not published in the student newspaper. Blackwelder said McKinnon should be held in contempt of court until he gives the photos to the court.

After two hours of procedural arguments — including where the 15 defendants on hand would sit and objections to armed deputies in the courtroom — the prosecution called the chairman of the student organization that invited Hoyveda to speak.
