Ousted colleague buys office furniture from Senate sans bid

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Several Texas senate members may have allowed an ousted colleague buy furniture from his capitol office without first seeking competitive bids, a Dallas paper reported Saturday.

The Senate Administration Committee, responsible for the state property, also may have violated the state's open meetings law by discussing the sale in an Aug. 23 private meeting, according to the Dallas Morning News.

The newspaper reported in a copyright story Saturday that William T. Moore, D-Bryan, defeated in the Democratic primary by Bryan attorney Kent Caperton, was allowed to buy four pieces of furniture at its original cost. The newspaper said the oldest piece of furniture was originally purchased in 1957.

A state law that requires most surplus property to be sold at public auction exempts the Legislature, providing the house and senate have set up their own rules for disposal of the property, the News reported.

The senate did not have rules governing the sale of surplus property at the time of the Moore sale, the newspaper said. The senate has since established a rule prohibiting the sale of any furniture or equipment having historical or antique value.

Moore paid $150 for a sofa, $80 for a table, $10 for a bookcase and $60 for a chair.
 Heading the panel that allowed Moore to purchase the furniture is Sen. Gene Jones of Houston, who is under investigation in connection with allegedly using state time and employees in campaign efforts.

Jones says he cannot remember if the group met in private to discuss the sale to Moore, but several senators claim the meeting was definitely an executive session, the newspaper reported.

Jones agreed Friday if the meeting was not public it would be a violation of the Open Meetings Act that allows only personnel matters and land transactions to be discussed in private.

Mexican-Americans indicted

BEEVILLE, Texas (AP) — A hearing is scheduled Monday in 36th District Court on indictments charging two local Mexican-American leaders with theft from a lumber yard.

Joe Moron, who has been certified the winner in a contested election for the state legislature, and Adam Gonzalez, a Bee County commissioner, both outspoken on Hispanic affairs, are set to appear before District Judge Ronald Yaeger.

Moron earlier won a court battle on allegations filed by his Democratic runoff opponent, Bob Lunsford of Jourdanton, who alleged that convicted felons and unqualified voters cast ballots for Moron in the June election.

Moron's attorney, Wayne Kilgore, has filed motions to quash the indictments on grounds four members of the grand jury that returned the indictments have issued a joint public statement critical of the proceedings.

GETTING OLD FAST

The dramatic reappearance of Abbie Hoffman brought back an era of memories to many of us who formerly thought we were "young." To our surprise, many of our associates were going around saying, "Who is Abbie Hoffman?"

The Yuppies, you remember. You know, the Yuppies, the SDS, the Weathermen, the Black Panthers — it was an era of student (and non-student) activism. "Hell, no, we won't go." The Vietnam war and the war protesters. Timothy Leary, now there's an oldie for ya. The hippies, the "flower child." Long hair. The headbands and beads. The "peace" symbol. The origin of faded, patched, raveled blue jeans. How could you not remember!

A friend remarked, "Well, don't try to go buy a peace symbol these days. I went in a store the other day and asked for one. They didn't know what it was. I had to draw it out for them, and they had to special order it."

But Dennis Ewing, one of our pressmen, topped us all: "That's nothing. I had a guy come up the other day and say, 'Did you know Paul McCartney had another band before Wings?' I told him, 'Bring me my cane.'"

The "older generation" is getting younger all the time.

What is interesting about the outspoken anti-establishment bunch is how establishment they have become over the years. One photo shows Hoffman and companion seated in the living room of their home with a fireplace, Swiss clock, paintings on the wall and other accoutrements of "the establishment."

THE PAMPA CONNECTION

Recently, we ran a photo, furnished to us by the Institute for the Restoration of Ancient History, purported to be a photo of Noah's Ark perched atop Mount Ararat.

On a week's vacation leave to Artesia, N.M., (of all places), we found out it is not. We also learned there is a Pampa connection with the ark.

First, the photo is a photo of a rock formation. Rock.

The president of Artesia Christian College Dr. Howard Davis is a member of the team who took a two-week expedition to Mount Ararat to look for the ark. In fact, Davis is the archaeologist for the expedition. Evidence of the ark has been located on Mount Ararat and expedition members hope to discover more.

A college official told us that the movie "In Search of Noah's Ark" was based on the first expedition to Ararat and that early explorers were unable to get to the ark-like formation to confirm its actually being the ark. Later expeditions have discovered it is merely a rock formation.

The Pampa connection?
 Dr. Davis is a former Pampan. He lived in Pampa until he was eight years old. But, we are told, he still speaks highly of Pampa.

Ag Department trying food stamp workfare

The Department of Agriculture is seeking communities interested in joining a pilot program requiring food stamp clients to work off the value of their food stamps.

Currently, workfare pilot programs are operating in seven locations throughout the country. Legislation passed this May provided money to expand this number of sites to fourteen, and also authorized the program to run for another year beyond its originally scheduled expiration next month.

Sites that are selected to operate workfare pilot projects will receive federal reimbursement for 50 percent of their administrative costs under today's new rules.

In signing the emergency final regulations, Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman said that cities, counties, or other political subdivisions that already sponsor public service employment programs or that have demonstrated an ability to operate such a program are eligible to conduct the projects.

Legislation passed in 1977 specified that the workfare projects be carried out in one urban and one rural area in each of the seven administrative regions of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service.

At the national level, the demonstration is administered jointly by the Department of Agriculture and Labor (DOL). Legislation passed in May provides for extension of the projects through September of 1981, and for the additional of federal funding for administrative expenses.

Potential sponsors must submit an application within the next 30 days if they want to operate a workfare pilot project, Foreman said. She added that the department is actively seeking cities, counties and other political subdivisions that might participate. It is up to the Sponsor to determine what type of jobs food stamp recipients will do.

San Antonio school board to discuss alien children

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The educational fate of illegal alien children attempting to attend classes in the San Antonio School District will be decided by the board at its Monday night meeting.

Lloyd Lopez, community information officer, said the issue will be discussed during the meeting set for 7 p.m.

Classes began in the district's 80 schools last Tuesday, but officials have refused to allow children of illegal aliens to attend classes. The aliens, however, were allowed to register and by last week 256 had done so, Lopez said.

The district decided not to admit the children to classes after a federal appeals court overturned a ruling by a Houston federal

Arts and crafts festival attracts top names

Andrew Wilks, a former Pampa resident, will exhibit his bronze sculpture during the fourteenth annual Top O' Texas Arts and Crafts Festival slated for Oct. 11 and 12 in the M.K. Brown Auditorium.

Sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association, the festival will feature the work of several Texas artists, as well that of artists from Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico. Mrs. Peggy Palmittier is general chairman of the event.

Wilks, a graduate of Pampa High School and West Texas State University, has made bronze sculptures for seven years. He recently resigned his position as art teacher at Stanton Junior High School in Hereford to pursue sculpting full-time.

He has worked with clay and wood, although most of his pieces are originally done in wax. The artist's most recent subjects include a bust of the disciple Thomas and various wildlife pieces. All the bronzes are limited editions. They are cast at Malone Foundry which Wilks owns and operates.

His work has been exhibited at the Best of the Southwest Show in Amarillo, Arts in Action in Snyder, the Cowgirl Hall of Fame in Hereford, and was part of a two man show presented by the Pampa Fine Arts Association in 1979. For three years, Wilks was selected to show his work at the Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair in Kerrville, where he twice received an Award of Excellence.

Each year the Pampa Fine Arts Association sponsors a drawing in connection with the festival. One of Wilks' sculptures, "Eagles," has been chosen for this year's drawing. Donations of a dollar will be accepted for a ticket for the drawing.

The festival will be from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Oct. 11 and 12 noon to 5 p.m. Oct. 12.

judge who said state law requiring illegal aliens to pay tuition was unconstitutional.

However, Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell on Thursday stayed the decision by the appeals court. His action left the original judge's ruling in force.

SASD has been the only local public school system to verify whether its students were legally residing in the United States. Most of the other districts have attempted to verify only whether their students were residing within school boundaries.

Lopez said the board could choose several options regarding illegal alien students.

ANDREW WILKS, pictured with his bronze sculpture, "Eagles," is one of the artists who will participate in the fourteenth annual Top O' Texas Fine Arts and Crafts Festival scheduled for Oct. 11 and 12 in the M.K. Brown Auditorium. Artists from Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico will exhibit their work at the festival.

State survey shows Reagan ahead; race tightening

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Ronald Reagan has a solid lead over President Carter with two months of campaigning to go, but the presidential race appears to be tightening in big, battleground states that could re-elect or oust the Democratic administration.

An Associated Press survey of political leaders and campaign officials across the nation rated Reagan the leader in 25 states with a total of 212 electoral votes — just 58 short of the majority that will elect a president on Nov. 4.

The survey favored Carter for 90 electoral votes in eight states and the District of Columbia.

Independent John B. Anderson was not rated the leader in any state and many officials said his effort is now lagging. Nonetheless, his share could be pivotal in such states as New York and Wisconsin, both crucial to Carter.

The politicians call the race between Reagan and Carter a tossup in 17 states with 236 electoral votes, and that's where the election will be won or lost.

The consensus is that if election day were at hand now, Reagan would capture more than enough of those swing states to win the White House.

The political leaders figure him to be leading, but with signs of Carter improvement, in Texas, Michigan, New Jersey, South Carolina and Mississippi, with 78 electoral votes among them.

On the big-state roster, Reagan is favored in his own California and in his native Illinois; Carter rates as the likely winner in Massachusetts.

But New York, with 41 electoral votes; Pennsylvania, with 27; Ohio with 25; and Florida with 17 all are rated too close to forecast at this point. And as the electoral votes line up now, Carter would need a virtual sweep of those states to win a second term.

He'll also have to hold onto his southern base — a big question mark against the conservative Reagan.

While Carter has carved sharply into Reagan's early margin in national public opinion polls, those surveys don't necessarily equale with electoral votes, which go winner-take-all to the candidate who carries a state.

Here's the way that competition looks now:

New England

Massachusetts (14 electoral votes): Democrats outnumber Republicans 4-1, and Kennedy support is a big Carter asset. Democrats believe Anderson draws most of his support from GOP liberals and probably will not take enough votes from Carter to give Reagan a victory.

Connecticut (8): A tossup, with recent polls showing Anderson declining. A late August poll indicated a virtual dead-heat in a heavily Democratic state that went for former President Gerald R. Ford in 1976.

Maine (4): Reagan seems in the lead, but political leaders say it is close. Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie could be a Carter asset.

New Hampshire (4) and Vermont (3): Solid for Reagan.

Rhode Island (4): A question mark, despite overwhelming Democratic registration. The Anderson vote could be crucial; a pre-convention poll showed him second to Reagan.

Northeast-Middle Atlantic

New York (41): A linchpin of Carter's victory in 1976, now a tossup. Anderson is expected to gain the endorsement of the Liberal Party. If this occurs, Reagan's prospects will be enhanced.

Pennsylvania (27): Gov. Dick Thornburgh, a Republican, says the race is close in a "classic swing state" that was narrowly Carter's four years ago. The key will be Reagan's success in wooing labor and minority voters. Economic woes are a serious problem for Carter in industrial areas.

New Jersey (17): Leaders of both parties say Reagan leads now, but they agree the lead is shaky.

Maryland (10): Political leaders rate Carter as the slight favorite.

Delaware (3): The politicians won't guess the outcome now. Reagan isn't popular with GOP leaders, but Democrats are disorganized.

District of Columbia (3): Carter is considered a certain winner.

The South and the Border States

Florida (17): Carter's last time, a tossup now. Administration handling of the influx of Cuban refugees has irked many and misgivings about Carter could hold down the turnout of black and Jewish voters. Reagan still faces skepticism among senior citizens worried about his commitment to Social Security.

Georgia (12): Carter is a comfortable favorite in his home state, although not by the landslide he got in 1976.

Virginia (12): The one southern state Carter couldn't carry last time seems likely to stay in the GOP column.

North Carolina (13): Carter is thought to be the narrow leader in a state Republican leaders call a tossup. The state ticket of Gov. Jim Hunt, up for re-election, is a Carter plus.

Missouri (12): A likely Carter state. Democratic chairman Tom Cox says Carter would win narrowly now. Reagan campaigners aren't conceding.

Louisiana (10): A tossup, although some politicians say Carter narrowly leads. Much could depend on the role former Gov. Edwin Edwards decides to play. He helped Carter win last time.

Tennessee (10): Leaning Carter's way, although narrowly. Democratic leaders say it will take a campaign battle to win for the president.

Alabama (9): Another close state. Reagan was hurt when he described Tusculumbia as the home of the Ku Klux Klan.

Kentucky (9): Reagan appears to lead, on the strength of conservative support, economic trouble in factory towns, and the popularity of his anti-abortion stand in areas with large Roman Catholic populations.

South Carolina (8): A southern tossup. Democrats say it will be tough for Carter, Republican Harry Dent calls it "kind of even-seven right now."

Mississippi (7): Reagan apparently leads, and Carter could lose without a big turnout of black voters.

Arkansas (6): Carter is regarded as the narrow leader.

West Virginia (6): There's no clear favorite.

Industrial Midwest

Illinois (26): Reagan leads in a state won by Ford in 1976. Pollsters say Reagan runs well in the Chicago area, crucial to Democrats. Both parties say Anderson will take Carter votes.

Ohio (25): A key battleground, and a close contest. Both tickets will invest heavily in Ohio, which Carter barely won in 1976.

Michigan (21): Politicians say Reagan probably would win today, but that the margin is so thin as to make the race a tossup. Reagan has the help of Republican Gov. William G. Milliken, who is persuasive among many independents and Democrats.

Indiana (13): Reagan rates a solid lead.

Wisconsin (11): The politicians say Reagan would win today, though Democrats believe Carter is gaining. The Anderson factor could hurt, too, with former Gov. Patrick J. Lucey as Anderson's running mate.

The Farm States

Minnesota (10): Vice President Mondale goes home often to remind voters that he's working "30 seconds from the Oval Office." Though Reagan enjoyed an early lead, Minnesota seems likely to stay Democratic.

Iowa (8): Usually Republican in presidential years, and probably Reagan's. Inflation, high interest, and the grain embargo all hurt Carter.

Kansas (7) and Nebraska (5): Likely Reagan country. South Dakota (4): Straw polls put Reagan at 50 percent, Carter at about 30 percent in this Republican presidential stronghold.

North Dakota (3): Reagan is the solid favorite, and would be even if the administration didn't oppose a big irrigation project the state has been seeking for years.

The Southwest

Texas (26): The trend is with Reagan, but Democrats claim they can reverse it. George Bush, from Houston, helps the Reagan ticket. The Democratic turnout, particularly among Mexican-Americans, could be a key to the outcome.

Psychiatrist says live longer and better with pets

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pet a dog. Stroke a cat. Talk to a bird. Watch fish swim. You'll feel better for it, and a University of Pennsylvania psychiatrist says he has proof.

Dr. Aaron Katcher says research indicates cardiac patients and those with high blood pressure live longer and live better when they have pets.

"It helps them survive," Katcher said during an interview in a cluttered third floor office which he uses as director of Penn's Division of Behavioral Sciences.

But Katcher cautioned that though limited studies show potential health value in having a pet, an animal "isn't a cure-all like chicken soup or penicillin."

"They can have a positive effect, a small effect," he said. "They are not a cure for heart disease, but they can help."

"People with heart disease are usually lonely. Pets, especially cats and dogs, are a very important source of companionship. As people get older they are needed less by their family and friends and frequently feel abandoned. This feeling of uselessness results in depression. A pet fills this void."

Besides companionship, Katcher cited other health-related benefits from pet ownership:

—Activity. "Busy people live longer. When you have a pet your day is active. You walk the pet, talk to the pet, go to the store to buy pet food ... A dog or cat gives you a need for exercise. You have to take the animal out for a walk."

—Touch. "Touch has a very calming effect. Pets give a person something to fondle, to touch. You communicate, not with words, but with touch."

—Distraction. "Animals distract you from bad thoughts and worries, another calming effect."

—Safety. "The presence of an animal helps build a feeling of safety, and that's important in a city where people often are afraid to go out alone, or even live alone."

Katcher said experiments at Penn's School of Veterinary Medicine indicate that the presence of a dog tends to reduce blood pressure. It goes up when people are together.

"Pets are not substitutes for human contact, but offer a kind of relationship which other human beings do not provide."

"When people talk to people there is a rise in blood pressure, especially in those who talk fast and are energetic, enough to put them in the hypertensive range," Katcher said.

Speaker claims abortion issue threat to rights of Texas women

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — The president of the National Abortion Federation said Saturday she sees a "serious threat" to Texas women's rights to have abortions.

Terry Beresford of Baltimore, Md., spoke at a news conference before delivering the keynote address to the annual meeting of the Texas Abortion Rights Action League.

About 100 persons were pre-registered for the meeting.

"Texas is one place where we see a serious threat, so we are very much supportive of the political efforts of TARAL in reaching and mobilizing the public," Ms. Beresford said.

She said it was "perfectly clear" it would take political action to keep abortions from being driven underground, where medical quality would suffer.

Ms. Beresford said she sees a threat to abortion rights in an alliance between the "New Right" and the "Protestant Fundamentalist Movement" as exemplified by the recent National Affairs Briefing attended by Ronald Reagan in Dallas.

"If you look at the amount of money pocketed by some of these fundamentalist preachers, it raises questions about what they mean by 'moral majority,'" she said.

Ms. Beresford said that when leaders of the conservative religious movement speak of "traditional family values" they are harking back to "a mythological American family at the turn of the century, which never existed."

Laws protecting reporters are recommended

AUSTIN (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has recommended new state laws protecting reporters' confidential sources and opening courtrooms to television cameras.

At its final meeting before the Legislature convenes in January, the committee issued a final report on its between-sessions studies, including the fair trial-free press issue.

It made these recommendations:

— A "shield law" prohibiting courts from compelling — under pain of contempt judgments and jail sentences — reporters to identify sources of information received in confidence.

"The states which have considered and passed these shield laws recognize that the public is best served when the press is able to obtain and publish information on matters of public concern," the committee said.

Meet to focus on bilingual needs

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Secretary of Education Shirley M. Hufstедler will open the nation's first public hearing on bilingual education Monday at 9 a.m. at the Institute of Texan Cultures.

The two-day hearing will focus on the responsibilities of school districts to serve children with limited English skills and educators and other persons from Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico are scheduled to testify.

"San Antonio is a tribute in itself to what can be achieved when people of diverse cultures and languages work together," Ms. Hufstедler said in announcing the hearing. "Therefore, the city is an ideal setting for examining the issues involved in affording all students an equal educational opportunity."

The hearing invites comments on the U.S. Department of Education's proposed regulations published last August 5 dealing with public schools' responsibilities under the 1964 Civil Rights Act to 3.5 million youngsters whose primary language is other than English.

"Our proposed policy is built on the principle that students must be taught English as quickly as possible, but they must also have help in a language they can understand so they can progress in school until they are ready for classes taught in English," the education secretary said.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, in whose district the hearing will take place, was scheduled to introduce Ms. Hufstедler.

Among persons scheduled to participate were Ambassador Abelardo Valdez, U.S. Chief of Protocol and a native of nearby Floresville, who will speak on the importance of multi-lingual skills in international affairs; Liz Carpenter, assistant secretary for public affairs in the U.S. Department of Education, and Antonio Califa, a native of Edinburg who now is in charge of the Office of Legal Standards, Program Support and Litigation at the department's office for civil rights.

Suffering the lumberjacks of the night

By TIMOTHY HARPER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The young woman needed to know whether Robert Crossley's anti-snoring invention really worked. "If it does," she said. "I might get serious about the guy."

Another customer, a prison inmate, wrote that his cellmates had threatened to set his bunk on fire if he didn't stop snoring.

And a Connecticut man worried that if he didn't stop snoring before he died, "it'll take the undertaker three days to quiet me down."

About 35 million Americans — the American Medical Association estimates the number at one in every eight persons, evenly divided between men and women — "saw logs" regularly and enthusiastically.

Letting off sleep, as snoring has been euphemistically termed, can be a sign of serious medical problems, but is generally not considered abnormal, doctors say.

In fact, some of history's more noted snorers include Beau Brummell, Cato the Elder and U.S. presidents such as George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt.

Some people claim their mates' snoring is a most comforting sound, and Irish playwright George Farquhar, circa 1700, hailed the snorer's various sniffs, chirrs, buzzes, zips, pops and wheezes as "The tuneful serenade of that wakeful nightingale, the nose."

But snoring can be a real problem for roommates, husbands and wives, brothers and sisters and sometimes even neighbors whose sleep is shattered by a blissful lumberjack of the night.

The complainers have a point: tests in London concluded that a hearty snore can reach a noise level of 69 decibels. Some jackhammers are quieter.

"He snored so loud," 18th century satirist Jonathan Swift once wrote of a fellow traveler, "that we thought he was driving his hogs to market."

More recently, David Reed of Seattle learned that two tenants in his apartment building had moved out because of his snoring. He was not surprised.

Reed, 38, ruefully recalled that once, after snoring through a night in a barn during a church outing, "Someone thought it was a tractor."

Snoring is caused by vibrations of the soft palate, tongue and other muscles in the mouth as air is inhaled. Drinking, smoking, obesity, congestion, loose dentures, tension and lack of exercise can contribute to snoring, as can more serious medical problems such as enlarged tonsils and adenoids, oral and nasal deformities, nasal polyps, allergies and inflamed sinuses.

Dr. Phillip Green of the sleep disorders clinic at the Marshfield (Wis.) Clinic said snoring can also be a sign of a dangerous condition called sleep apnea.

Apnea is caused by a deformity that makes the sleeper stop breathing for anywhere from 20 seconds to two minutes several times an hour. It can be successfully treated by a tracheotomy, making an incision in the windpipe.

Advice columnist Ann Landers tells wives of snorers to sew ping pong balls to the backs of their husbands' pajamas to discourage them from sleeping on their backs.

A similar ploy was used 200 years ago when snoring colonial soldiers were ordered to do the same thing with musket balls so their comrades could get enough rest to fight the Revolutionary War.

But what about people who snore in any position? Or don't wear pajamas? Ann Landers admits the ping pong ball method is only about 50 percent effective.

Texas museums receive funds

AUSTIN (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Education Shirley Hufstедler announced grants totaling $10.4 million to 405 museums in all 50 states on Saturday.

The grants from the department's Institute of Museum Services included $262,000 for 10 Texas museums.

Mrs. Lee Kimche, director of the institute, said Texas museums are among the best in the nation.

"From the John E. Conner Museum with its local history collections to the art education program at the University of Texas Art Museum to the Laguna Gloria Art Museum's programs which support regional artists, Texas is a microcosm of the diversity and quality of museums nationwide," she said.

The Conner museum is in Kingsville, Laguna Gloria in Austin.

Mrs. Hufstедler made her announcement in a ceremony at Laguna Gloria, on the shores of Lake Austin.

"In any well-constructed learning plan for our nation, museums must occupy a place of great prominence," she said.

Bush applauds Reagan apology

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Republican vice presidential candidate George Bush said Saturday that Ronald Reagan is a stronger presidential candidate than ever because he was big enough to apologize for a mistake.

In brief remarks to the Texas Republican convention, Bush brought up a comment Reagan made recently about the birthplace of the Ku Klux Klan.

"One of the big and very important differences between Reagan and Jimmy Carter was vividly spelled out this past week when Governor Reagan was man enough to apologize to Governor Fob James of Alabama over a remark that was deliberately misinterpreted and misunderstood," Bush said.

"That misunderstanding has been clarified ... but one thing stands clear in my mind — that Ronald Reagan is a man big and strong enough to make that apology."

Bush went on to list a number of mistakes he said Carter had made, including "foolishly allowing his brother, Billy, to set up a White House meeting for the representative of Libyan dictator Qaddafi."

Pampa grad outlines Sul Ross Band plans

ALPINE — The Sul Ross State University Band will be taking some new directions this year under the direction of Pampa native, Dr. Alfred N. "Buzzy" Green, new band director at the university.

Green, also an assistant professor of music, said he was planning many "exciting activities and style changes. The first new look will be the use of 'corps style' marching techniques," Green said. "This marching style features custom arrangements and unique drills, an overall effect which is exciting for the expert and the novice alike." He also said this style of marching results in much less "wear and tear" on the marchers.

Many of the traditional elements will still be there, he said, but with added showmanship. "The single most important element in this new style is an uncompromising quality of performance which is the foundation for excellence in band performance. The band heritage which is so much a part of West Texas will continue at Sul Ross as it does in so many public school band programs in this area."

Green, a native of Pampa and former Berger teacher, plans to increase the visibility of the Sul Ross band through an intensified performance schedule. In addition to performances at football games and the traditional spring concert schedule, he said part of the university band will perform at home basketball games, and the entire band will present additional concerts throughout the year.

"Preparations are also being made to provide a band for the Sul Ross rodeos," Green said. Two four-day rodeos are scheduled next year with one fall rodeo in Alpine and the spring rodeo in Fort Stockton.

"The goal of the band in its performances at the basketball games and rodeos will be to provide the spirited atmosphere which is an important part of such events and to offer additional musical and recreational activities for the band members."

Green said that all students enrolled at the university who have had band experience are invited to play in the band.

People in the News

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Jerry Lewis has been sued for separation by his wife of 35 years, Patty Lewis, who also asked for division of an estimated $7 million in community property of the couple.

The suit filed in Los Angeles Superior Court on Friday cited "irreconcilable differences," according to Mrs. Lewis' attorney, Robert H. Powsner. The couple were married April 30, 1945, and were separated Aug. 29.

The community property includes interests in motion pictures and television programs, Lewis' autobiography and their Bel-Air home, the suit said. Mrs. Lewis also sought spousal and child support and custody of their only minor child, 18-year-old Joseph. The couple also has five adult children, Gary, Ronnie, Scotty, Chris and Anthony.

SEATTLE (AP) — A radio station's proposal to rename a city park in honor of the late rock guitarist Jimi Hendrix has been labeled "crass commercialism" by the city's parks superintendent. Radio station KZOK, with a rock music format, began promoting the idea on the air this week and received "overwhelmingly positive" response from listeners, says promotion director Janet Wainwright.

But, Parks Superintendent Walter Hundley said naming a park after Hendrix, a Seattle native, should come only after "careful consideration, not after some media hype."

The station is proposing that the park, which has not yet been selected, be named on Sept. 18, the 10th anniversary of the Hendrix's death. "I think it's a cheap commercial gambit," Hundley said, adding that the station should have consulted with the city Park Board and its park naming committee.

Despite his reservations, Hundley said he expects the board and committee will give the idea due consideration when the proposal comes before them formally.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television actress MacKenzie Phillips has been ordered to pay her estranged husband $1,500 in temporary alimony until their divorce trial takes place on Nov. 5.

Her husband, Jeffrey Sessler, had asked for $17,000 in temporary alimony. The couple were married on Aug. 15, 1979.

Graphic design studio opened at West Texas

CANYON — Art instructors and professors at West Texas State University hope that a graphic design studio on campus will aid students in "bridging the gap between the university experience and the real world."

The studio, named "The Layout," is housed on the second floor of Mary Moody Northern Hall. Five drafting tables and storage areas line the narrow work area.

Margie Adkins, WTSU assistant professor of art, and four students enrolled in Art 490, Individual Problems, will work in the studio.

Art and communication graphics majors enroll in the special problems course during the senior year. In the class, students prepare for senior art exhibitions and work individually on art work for portfolios.

Adkins explained that through an academic art program students do not have the opportunity to accept jobs or work closely with printing firms. Students concentrate on class work and student art shows without contacting "the real world."

Adkins and the students will accept art jobs on a contract situation only from persons involved at WTSU and from area non-profit organizations. No money will be involved.

The design studio at WTSU was modeled after a similar one at Arizona State University at Tempe.

Reference and research materials, equipment and subscriptions to art-related periodicals have been purchased with $400 received by the art department from sources outside the university.

Contact through the studio with printing firms, advertising agencies and other businesses which hire artists may enable students to have job offers before graduation, Adkins said.

The studio will open for the fall semester and non-profit organizations interested in contracting with Adkins and the students should contact the WTSU department of art in the School of Fine Arts.

Med school accepts Pampan

Richard Thomas Lane of Pampa has started courses as a member of the largest entering class to date at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center School of Medicine (TTUHSC). He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Lane of Pampa.

"Our objective is to reach an enrollment level of 120 entering students and the fact that the accrediting body approved an increase to 100 entering students speaks well of our progress in developing a quality educational program at Texas Tech," Baskett said.

Entering medical students will spend the next two years in Lubbock studying the sciences basic to medicine.

During their junior and senior years, these students will be based at medical school regional academic health centers in Amarillo, El Paso and Lubbock. Portions of their education will be spent in rural practice settings as well as in urban teaching hospitals and medical school teaching clinics.

Clayton's troubles tied to campaign money statute

By ROCKY SCOTT
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — The personal and political future of Texas House Speaker Billy Wayne Clayton, charged with racketeering, extortion, fraud and conspiracy, dangles at the thread-slender end of a state campaign finance law.

Clayton, Austin attorneys Donald W. Ray and Randall B. Wood, are scheduled to go on trial Monday before U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor Jr. for allegedly trying to reopen a $78 million state employee insurance contract.

L.G. Moore, regional director of the Operating Engineers Union, was also charged June 12 by a federal grand jury after the 10-month FBI Bribery-Labor — investigation, but has been granted a separate trial.

At the center of the government's case is a $5,000 "campaign contribution" made by Moore and key FBI informant Joseph Hauser during a Nov. 8 meeting last year in Clayton's office.

The government maintains that because Clayton did not report the money as a campaign contribution, the speaker took the money for using his "influence" in reopening the bidding on the insurance plan.

"The failure to report was an important element in this case," said Ronald Woods, assistant U.S. Attorney who handled the government's case during the seven-day pre-trial proceedings in late August on more than 45 defense motions to dismiss the charges.

"There would not have been a case," Woods added, if Clayton had reported the $5,000.

Hauser, who received $65,000 for his work as an informant, and FBI agents Michael Sacks and Larry Montague posed as executives for Prudential Insurance Co. during the investigation.

It was Hauser's promise of saving the state $800,000 in premiums, tape recordings show, that led Clayton to express his interest in reopening the bidding on the insurance plan.

Moore asked Clayton if he would accept a $5,000 contribution from "an old friend" for Clayton's gubernatorial campaign, then in the planning stages.

Clayton said the contribution would be "no problem," adding "we appreciate this."

After Hauser told Clayton "all we want to do is get in" on the contract bidding, Moore said as much as $500,000 more could be contributed to the speaker's campaign.

Clayton noted that the contribution would have to be reported. "Why do you have to report it?" Hauser asked.

Clayton then put the money in a drawer. Later in the conversation, the speaker told Moore and Hauser he had to make campaign contribution reports "every two months."

But by Jan. 15, 1980, the speaker had not reported the money. Two months had passed and FBI agents and Justice Department attorneys felt Clayton had no intention of reporting the $5,000.

Austin FBI agent Fred Ligarde questioned Clayton about the $5,000 on Feb. 8, just prior to a story about the investigation being released in the Los Angeles Times.

Ligarde said he asked the speaker twice if he had received any money from Moore, Hauser or anyone in exchange for his help in getting the contract reopened.

"Did you give the speaker every opportunity to tell you about the $5,000?" Woods asked Ligarde after calling the agent to the witness stand during the fifth day of the hearing.

"Yes, I did," Ligarde replied.

"Did you phrase your questions in such a way that the $5,000 would have come out?" Woods continued.

"I believe I did," Ligarde answered, adding that Clayton never mentioned the money during the 15-minute interview in the speaker's office.

Roy Minton, Clayton's flamboyant, spell-binding attorney from Austin, wasn't at all surprised the speaker didn't mention the money.

First of all, Minton reasoned, Clayton was under no obligation to report the money since he never intended to use it. Clayton returned $5,000 to federal marshals after news of the investigation leaked out.

And, Minton added, there was no way the government could prove that the money returned was not the $5,000 originally given Clayton — since Ligarde had already testified the money wasn't marked in any way.

Second — and perhaps more important — Minton said Ligarde's phrasing elicited the proper response from his client.

Asking Ligarde to "forgive me" because "I'm going to pick at you a little bit," Minton boomed in.

"You asked the speaker," Minton queried, "if he recalled Moore offering anything in exchange for using his power and the power of his office to influence" the bidding on the insurance plan — "isn't that correct?"

"Yes," the agent responded, later adding he was "essentially asking him (Clayton) if he had received any money."

But under Minton's folksy, razor-sharp cross-examination, Ligarde also said he had never mentioned the $5,000 to the speaker.

So, Minton reasoned, all Clayton said was that he had not taken any money for using his "influence" or anything that could be construed as accepting a "bribe."

Well, wondered Minton, did Ligarde have any idea what the effect would be if a politician were asked if he took money to use his position to influence "state legislation or other business?"

Union credited with past achievements

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia public school teachers, now in their fourth walkout since 1970, say militancy pays off.

Their clout in the classroom has grown under union contracts, they say, and their salaries have doubled and tripled, zooming from last to first in the nation. Even the school district acknowledges that better pay has brought more experience to the classroom.

"If it wasn't for our union we wouldn't have a decent school system today," said math teacher Nathan Allen, 58, as he walked the picket line last week with several dozen colleagues in front of Northeast High.

Teachers in America's fourth largest city struck Sept. 1 for more money, and to save the jobs of 2,300 union members fired by the Board of Education to balance a $757 million budget. Job security and class size are the chief issues in the dispute.

The 220,500 pupils, scheduled to end their summer vacation Friday, were given another day off. Elementary and special education students, about half of the total, were ordered to report to the city's 283 schools for a half day on Monday.

"No strike is a lark," said Martin Britchkow, 49, a business education teacher for 23 years.

Britchkow recalled the financial losses suffered in the three-day strike in 1970, the 11-week walkout in 1972-73, and the one-week of picketing in 1978 and said "it was all necessary because you can't expect people to listen to you unless you sacrifice."

Some teachers on the picket line, claiming the board saves $2 million daily in salaries while the strike continues, think it will last at least another week.

Connally reviews remarks

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Former Texas Gov. John Connally does not see that recent criticized remarks of Ronald Reagan will have any permanent damage on the campaign.

"That was no great step forward," Connally said when asked at a news conference about Reagan's "foot-in-mouth" remarks.

"However, it will not really hurt at this point. The campaign is just beginning ... but I do not recommend that he keep it up."

Connally, who was here to address the Texas Republican Convention, said the only advice he had given Reagan was to stick to standard issues "such as 10 percent inflation, 10 percent prime rate, high taxes and unemployment."

Connally also said he thought President Jimmy Carter's announced Sept. 15 trip to Texas, the day before Reagan's long scheduled trip to San Antonio, the Rio Grande Valley and Houston was no coincidence.

"I'm sure it was all planned," Connally said. "He will be talking about a bunch of own."

Chiropractic for Health

by Dr. Gerald O. York Jr.

Americans probably suffer more from headaches than almost any other ailment. They can be minor or severe, be a sharp pain or a long continuous throbbing. A headache, since it comes and goes, is often ignored. However, recurring headaches should not be ignored. They are usually not a disease in themselves but rather symptomatic of some other problem. A chiropractor can help determine where the source of the headache is and what other organs may be causing difficulties. The chiropractor can then make the necessary adjustments, and let nature take its course.

The facilities of DR. GERALD O. YORK, JR., at 1121 S. Hobart, are the finest chiropractic facilities available. At my office, I can perform adjustments and provide other treatment designed to ease and get rid of the pain of headaches and a number of other ailments. Chiropractic care not only restores health, it builds health. Call 665-1627 for an appointment or information. Open twenty four hours a day.

NOTRE DAME halfback Phil Carter (22) breaks away from Purdue defenders for a 16-yard gain in the second quarter, setting up Notre Dame's second touchdown in South Bend Saturday. Notre Dame ran away from Purdue without quarterback Mark Herrmann, 31-10.

Panhandle downs River Road, 20-13

PANHANDLE—Tod Mayfield scored from two yards out to break a tie and provide Panhandle with a 20-13 win over River Road Friday night in a football opener for both teams.

Allen Sanders of the Wildcats had just raced 74 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter to tie the score at 13-13. A two-point play on a pass failed.

River Road opened the scoring in the first quarter when Duke Sanders grabbed a 51-yard

The Panthers tied the score in the same quarter when Robert Broyles ripped one yard for a touchdown and Kevin Brown kicked the PAT for a 7-7 deadlock.

Broyles put the winners in front with a seven-yard run in the second quarter. The kick failed for the extra point and Panhandle led 13-7 at halftime.

Alabama pounds Georgia Tech

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Billy Jackson ran 13 and 5 yards for touchdowns on his first two carries of the season and world-class sprinter James Mallard caught a 39-yard scoring pass in his first crack at organized football as Alabama opened defense of its national championship Saturday with a 19-3 victory over Georgia Tech.

In extending the nation's longest major college winning streak to 22 games, the Crimson Tide took advantage of a fumbled snap by Georgia Tech punter Jeff Pierce to set up Jackson's first touchdown just 3:41 into the season.

Alabama then got its offense untracked in the second period and put the crusher on the head coaching debut of Tech's Bill Curry.

Jackson's 5-yard run at 5:07 capped a 50-yard drive and Mallard, who has run the fastest 200 meters in the world in each of the last two years, got behind defensive back Ken Taylor in the end zone and grabbed Don Jacobs' 39-yard yard heave for a 19-0 lead with 32 seconds left in the half.

Mallard, a 6-foot-2, 185-pound senior from Tampa, Fla., came out for football a year ago, but bowed out because of a foot injury and his training schedule for a trip to the 1980 Olympics. He came out again this fall and is listed as a fourth-string split end.

Alabama, ranked second entering the 1980 season and attempting to become the first team to win three consecutive national championships, gave Bear Bryant his 297th coaching triumph against 77 defeats and 16 ties.

Groom wins, 14-0

GROOM—Pat Koetting and Michael Fraser scored touchdowns as Groom opened the 1980 gridiron season with a 14-0 win over Happy Friday night.

Koetting took a 39-yard scoring pass from B.J. Knight to open the scoring in the first quarter. Dwain Weller ran for two extra points for an 8-0 lead.

Groom piled up 304 total yards while Happy had 259 yards.

Groom visits White Deer Friday night for an 8 p.m. confrontation.

Notre Dame wins

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Mike Coury, Notre Dame's "mystery-mac" quarterback, threw for one touchdown and ran for another Saturday and Phil Carter rushed for 142 yards to lead the 11th-ranked Irish to a 31-10 victory over Purdue.

The Irish had the advantage before the game started as Mark Herrmann, Purdue's passing great, was unable to play because of a sprained thumb suffered in practice earlier in the week.

Herrmann was replaced by freshman Scott Campbell, who gave a good account of himself and in one stretch completed 10 passes to lift the ninth-ranked Boilermakers from a 17-0 deficit to within 17-10 in the first half.

Coury opened the second half with a 57-yard pass to Tony Hunter, and seven plays later, hit Hunter with a nine-yard touchdown pass and the Boilermakers never recovered.

Late in the fourth quarter, Coury scampered 14 yards around left end for a touchdown which clinched the outcome.

Carter scored one of ND's touchdowns on a one-yard plunge and carried 29 times for his 142 yards, while Coury completed 10 of 13 passes for 151 yards. He also gained 59 yards rushing.

Campbell completed 17 of 26 passes for 178 yards. His 10 completions in a row came on his last attempts in the first half.

Pampa wins Borger Tournament

Pampa High's volleyball team stopped Borger, 15-5, 7-13 and 15-12, in Saturday's finals to successfully defend its Borger Tournament title.

Coach Lynn Wolfe said her Harvesters, now 9-0, were tested severely by Borger.

"Borger has a fine team this year," Wolfe said. "They were very consistent at returning our hits, and it didn't matter if it was a spike. They also spiked quite a bit themselves."

Borger was unbeaten in tournament competition going into the finals.

Wolfe became a little concerned when Pampa dropped its opening game to Perryton, 12-14, but the Harvesters rallied to win the next two, 15-2, 15-6.

Strong and accurate serving by Deanna Porter (11-11) and Shanna Barker (12-12) led Pampa's comeback against Perryton.

Pampa reached the finals with 15-3, 15-4 wins over Dumas.

"Our serving was consistent all during the tournament and we also had good teamwork," Wolfe added.

Pampa hosts Hereford at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday night in Clarendon College-Pampa Center before entering the West Texas Tournament Friday and Saturday.

Pampa opened the season with 15-2, 15-3 wins over Hereford.

It's war when Pittsburg, Houston hook up

By GARY MICHOCES
AP Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers wear black. The Houston Oilers wear blue.

Those are fitting colors for Sunday's National Football League opener here between the two teams, whose roughhouse rivalry runs deeper than the playoff battles they've had the past two seasons.

"Houston played the hell out of us even when they didn't have a good record," recalls Steeler tackle Joe Greene.

"We play hard football and dare the other team to do the same thing. The Oilers always accept the dare."

During a 1977 game in Houston, Terry Bradshaw sustained a cracked wrist, backup quarterback Mike Kruczek had his shoulder separated and defensive back Tony Dungy wound up quarterbacking the Steelers in defeat.

"It's good, clean football — but we're kind of rough on each other," Bradshaw has assessed.

Dan Pastorini, since traded for Ken Stabler, was the Oiler quarterback in that 1977 victory, but a severe ankle sprain kept him from finishing the game.

Then there was the 1978 game in Houston. The Oiler trainer called that one "World War III" after Pastorini cracked ribs, Earl Campbell cracked one rib, and wide receiver Mike Renfro was lost for the year with a knee injury.

"I've had 31 broken ribs in my career. I think about 30 of them came against Pittsburgh," Pastorini once said.

"After a game, you usually go in and look at your players who are hurt," reports Oiler Coach "Bum" Phillips. "After you play Pittsburgh, you count casualties."

In the 1970 game that marked the opening of Three Rivers Stadium, the Oilers handed Pittsburgh a 19-7 defeat. Houston is the only team in the American Conference Central Division ever to win at Three Rivers. The Oilers have done it three times.

Overall, Pittsburgh leads the series 16-6. But the teams have split in regular season the past three years.

And, of course, Pittsburgh and Houston have played the past two seasons in the AFC championship. Each time, the Steelers won the division title, and the Oilers made the final as a wild-card.

In the 1978 title game, Oilers and water didn't mix. Houston was crushed 34-5 by Pittsburgh in freezing rain.

"The behinder we got, the worse we got," "Bum"

Phillips said.

Last year, the Steelers won 27-13, but a pivotal call by the officials denied Renfro a touchdown reception.

"We had respect for the Oilers going into the game, and it's no less now," said Steeler Coach Chuck Noll.

Respect. That's a word you hear often when the Oilers and Steelers talk about their rivalry.

For sure, there have been some angry incidents. In the 1978 AFC title game, Oiler tight end Mike Barber made some threats after he suffered a knee injury when hit by Steeler safety Mike Wagner. But they've since patched up their differences.

After Houston beat Pittsburgh 20-17 last year in Houston, some Oilers accused the Steelers of taking cheap shots at fullback Earl Campbell.

"Now, that's just the way they play — tough," said Campbell. "I have the greatest respect for the Steelers."

Once, the Oilers even boosted Pittsburgh into the playoffs by defeating Cincinnati. After the season, the Steelers sent each Houston player and coach an attaché case for Christmas.

The Oilers aren't in the mood for gifts this season.

Astros win

HOUSTON (AP) — Art Howe's two-run single fueled a seven-run third inning Saturday to lead the Houston Astros to a 9-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the first game of a twinning doubleheader.

Houston started the third with singles by Joe Morgan and Enos Cabell. A walk to Jose Cruz loaded the bases.

The first run scored on a wild pitch by St. Louis starter Bob Sykes, 6-10. Other runs scored on a fielder's-choice grounder by Luis Pujols, an error by shortstop Mike Phillips, a double by Joe Niekro and Morgan's second single of the inning.

Houston took a 2-0 lead in the second on a two-run single by Gary Woods.

IT WAS EASY (new york ap) — It was one of the most disastrous holes in the history of pro golf, the 12 that Arnold Palmer took on a par-five hole in the 1961 Los Angeles Open.

Almost 20 years later, he was asked for the umpteenth time how it happened. "It was very easy," Palmer replied. "I missed a 20-foot putt that would have given me an 11."

Big plays, defense leads Pampa past Hereford, 20-7

By L.D. STRATE
Pampa News Sports Editor
HEREFORD—Pampa, geared by an quick defense, whipped giant-sized Hereford, 20-7, Friday night to make Larry Gilbert's head coaching debut a successful one.

"It's nice to win that first game, especially against a team of Hereford's caliber," Gilbert said. "After playing them, we came to the conclusion that Hereford had a better team than we thought they did. Offensively, we were going to the right places, but we just couldn't move them out. We had to depend on our big plays and that's what won it for us."

Pampa's offense was effective enough to score two first-half touchdowns, both by Bobby Dorsey on a long run and a pass from quarterback Sam Edwards.

With one minute left in the first quarter, the Whitefaces marched 77 yards in 16 plays to score their only TD on John Phibbs one-yard run.

Although overall statistics were just about even, it was Pampa's defense that stood out above everything else. The quick Harvester defense limited Hereford to only 10 yards rushing the second half and accounted for Pampa's final score when Billy Ward pounced on a loose ball in the end zone in the third quarter.

Hereford had the edge in total offense, 157-154, but Pampa took better advantage of its scoring opportunities.

The Harvesters scored on their first possession of the game when Dorsey, aided by key blocks, broke loose down the sidelines for a 54-yard scoring scamper. Just before the first quarter ended, Phibbs went across from one yard out and Scott Daniels knotted the score at 7-0.

Early in the second quarter, Hereford tried to take the lead on a 39-yard field goal attempt by Daniels, but it was wide and short of its mark.

With 4:51 to go before halftime the Harvesters started on a 70-yard scoring march, capped off by Edwards screen pass to Dorsey, who sped untouched for 14 yards into the end zone with 37 seconds on the clock. Cavin Coleman's kick made it 14-7 at halftime.

"That was the big play that was the key to victory for us," Gilbert said. "I have to give a lot of credit to the offensive line for breaking Dorsey loose."

It was Pampa's defense that added an insurance score in the opening minutes of the third quarter.

With Hereford stranded on its own 40 and forced to punt, the ball sailed over Don Delozier's head on a high snap from center. The ball rolled back to the three where Delozier, who reached for it, was tackled by Ward. The ball was kicked into the end zone and was covered by Ward for six points.

"That had break just kind of took the wind out of their sails," Gilbert said.

Pampa's defense, paced by Robbie Leffel, Harold Landers J.B. Taylor, and James Borchardt, just simply outkicked Hereford.

"Our quickness played a big part in the win," Gilbert said. "Our defensive scheme was to limit them inside and make them go outside."

Leffel, at linebacker, seemed to be in two places at once as he batted down two passes and collected four solo tackles, two behind the line of scrimmage.

Landers had five solo stops while Taylor and Borchardt had four each.

Andy Richardson had a pass interception for the Harvesters when he made a leaping catch of Allan Ward's aerial on Pampa's 43.

"I was really proud, and so were the other coaches, of the intense effort our players gave," Gilbert said. "I've got all the respect in the world for Hereford, but I just felt like we wanted it just a little bit more than they did."

Dorsey was the game's top rusher with 85 yards on eight carries. Other Pampa rushers were Steve McDougall, 1-16 yards; Edwards, 8-15 yards; Arthur Lee Williams, 5-6 yards, and Leroy Kuhn, 5-2 yards.

Edwards, who completed five of eight passes for 59 yards, threw twice to McDougall for 27 yards. Dorsey's TD catch accounted for 14 yards while Richardson and Coleman each snared one pass for 10 and eight yards respectively.

Phibbs topped the losers in rushing with 64 yards on 13 carries.

Pampa was penalized three times for 25 yards while Hereford was flagged eight times for 46 yards.

Hereford chalked up 12 first downs compared to eight for Pampa.

Both teams threw one interception. Pampa never lost a fumble, but recovered one.

The victory proved costly, however, when strong safety Clay Coffey sprained an ankle when he stepped on a water sprinkler.

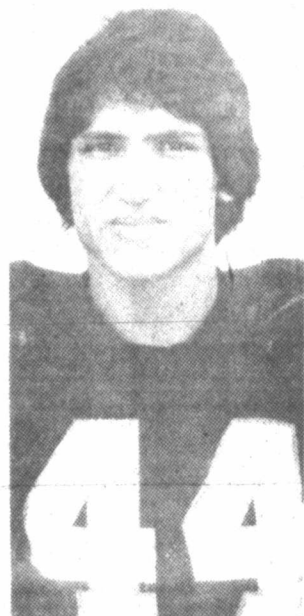

Gilbert said he would be out at least two weeks.

"It's a big loss for us," Clay was one of our leaders. That means Edwards will have to go both ways for us now."

Pampa hosts Dumas at 7:30 p.m. Friday night in Harvester Stadium. Dumas was a 49-0 winner over Lamar (Colo.) Friday night.

"We're all looking forward to our home opener," Gilbert said. "Dumas has a new coach and a new system that I don't know anything about yet, so we're going to have to be ready for them."

Wheeler storms past Stinnett

VALENCIA

STINNETT—Swift halfback Willie Valencia scored four touchdowns to lead defending Class B champion Wheeler past Stinnett, 31-8, in a season football opener.

Valencia scored on runs of 48, 23, and 21 yards in the first period and a three-yarder in the third stanza.

Valencia opening TD came on the third play of the game after Stinnett had fumbled the ball away.

Teammate Russell Gaines booted four extra points and a 22-yard field goal.

Willie Dodd scored for Stinnett on a 39-yard run in the final period.

Valencia collected 139 yards on 12 tries, while Benny Baker, Wheeler's all-state back, rolled up 194 yards on 23 carries.

Wheeler rolled up 403 total yards while an Arthur Cepeda-led defense held the losers to 167 yards. Cepeda, a 5-3, 155 pound junior linebacker, was credited with 13 tackles.

"Our line pretty much dominated their line," Wheeler Head Coach Joe Allan said. "They had a lot of speed in the backfield, but their plays were slow developing and we were able to keep them from breaking outside."

Wheeler has an open date this week and will host Booker at 8 p.m. Sept. 19 in the annual homecoming game.

White Deer shuts out Miami, 18-0

MIAMI—White Deer shut out Miami, 18-0, Friday night behind the running of Steve Abernathy, who rolled for 118 yards on 30 carries and scored the game's first touchdown on a three-yard run in the first quarter.

Teammate Robert McCowan followed with a one-yard plunge in the second quarter and Darin Bennett rounded out the scoring with a 9-yard scoring pass from quarterback Darin Skaggs in the third quarter. Miami's Keith Gray rushed for 108 yards on 26 carries.

Statistics were just about even with White Deer having the edge in total yardage, 260-255.

Both teams were penalized 30 yards.

White Deer hosts Groom Friday night. Miami has an open date.

Canadian slips past Morton, 22-21

MORTON—Canadian hung on for a 22-21 win over Morton Friday in a schoolboy football opener.

The game was up for grabs all the way as Morton jumped off to a 7-0 first-quarter lead. Canadian bounced back to second two second quarter TDs on a 25-yard run by Mike Thompson and a three-yard plunge by Craig Young. Morton tallied another TD before halftime, but missed the extra point try to give the Wildcats a 14-13 edge going into the dressing room.

Morton jumped in front again, 19-14, in the third quarter. Bear Schafer's one-yard keeper in the fourth quarter put Canadian in front to stay, but Morton's safety with two minutes to go made it close.

Young led Canadian in rushing with 166 yards on 34 carries while Thompson picked up 77 yards on 16 steps.

Schafer completed seven of eleven passes for 124 yards and one interception.

Van Morrow snared two passes for 77 yards while Donnie Rex pulled down three for 31 yards.

The Highliner--it's roof-mounted--is really exciting: a precision unit that combines with the most popular AM/FM radios, 8-track tapes and cassettes.

The significant feature is the four speakers: each set of two (right and left) speakers for both driver and passenger) is aimed directly at the listener's ears.

This arrangement gives maximum stereo separation, distortion-free sound and insures clarity at lower volume levels.

American League roundup

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Oakland A's opened the door for the Baltimore Orioles — and that was a mistake.

Given the opportunity, the Orioles barged right through and ran past the A's 8-7 Friday night.

"We definitely needed this one," said Baltimore third baseman Doug DeCinces. "Things weren't going well."

The Orioles trailed Oakland 7-5 in the ninth when the A's fumbled away their apparent victory, allowing three runs to score. A throwing error by second baseman Mike Edwards on a grounder by Al Bumbry was the key. That let the first run in before Rich Dauer contributed a sacrifice fly for the tying run and Ken Singleton a double for the game-winner.

"The door was open and all we had to do was walk through," added DeCinces.

The error, incidentally, was Oakland's fifth of the night. Another A's error led to another Baltimore run in the fourth.

The sloppy performance caused some problems in the Oakland clubhouse. It was temporarily ruled off limits to members of the media and when the door was finally opened, there was evidence of a tantrum. Next to an overturned table were mounds of potato chips, beans, and sliced fruit, and broken condiment bottles.

No one would say who ruined the postgame snack as Manager Billy Martin was huddled in his room with members of his staff.

The victory helped the Orioles keep pace with the New York Yankees in the American League East race. The front-running Yankees also won a comeback decision, 6-5 over the California Angels in 10 innings.

Elsewhere in the AL, Kansas City defeated Cleveland 2-1; Seattle trimmed Boston 4-2; Texas nipped Milwaukee 6-5; Detroit blanked Minnesota 1-0 and Chicago turned back Toronto 3-0. Yankees 6, Angels 5.

Willie Randolph's infield single with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th inning gave New York its victory over California.

Rick Cerone tripled with one out to start the Yankee rally. Andy Hassler, 4-1, intentionally loaded the bases to set up a force play at every base. He struck out Bobby Brown, but Randolph topped a 2-2 pitch to the right side of the infield and the ball bounced off the glove of second baseman Bobby Grich as Cerone scored the winning run.

Rict Gossage, 6-1, gained the victory with two perfect innings of relief.

The Yankees had tied the game at 5-5 with three unearned runs in the seventh.

Royals 2, Indians 1
Frank White tripled home the tying run and then scored the winning run and Paul Splittorff pitched a four-hitter as Kansas City edged Cleveland.

White's triple scored Jose Cardenal, who had singled with one out in the fifth off Rick Waits, 10-13. Willie Wilson then singled home White to give Kansas City a 2-1 lead which Splittorff, 11-9, protected the rest of the way.

George Brett of the Royals, managed one hit in four at bats and saw his major league-leading batting average drop to .399. Mariners 4, Red Sox 2.

Leon Roberts' run-scoring triple keyed a four-run second inning that carried Seattle and Floyd Bannister over Boston.

Bannister, 8-10, scattered nine hits before needing relief help in the ninth from Shane Rawley, who gained his 13th save. John Tudor, 6-3, took the loss as the Red Sox dropped their third straight game. Rangers 6, Brewers 5.

Jim Sundberg knocked in three runs with a homer and a two-run single to lead Texas over Milwaukee. Sundberg hit his ninth homer in the second inning to put the Rangers ahead 1-0 and the Texas slugger later knocked in two more runs in the seventh to provide the Rangers with a 6-1 lead and their eventual winning run.

Jon Matlack, 9-6, was the winner while Moose Haas, 15-12, took the loss. Tigers 1, Twins 0.

Champ Summers' grounder in the first inning drove in the only run of the game and Dan Schatzeder hurled a five-hitter as Detroit nipped Minnesota.

Schatzeder, 9-10, went the distance for his sixth complete game of the season. White Sox 3, Blue Jays 0.

Lamar Hoyt tossed a two-hitter and Chicago took advantage of Toronto errors for two unearned fifth-inning runs en route to victory over the Blue Jays.

Stabler big key to Oilers Super Bowl bid

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

All the speculation ends Sunday. Will Ken Stabler make a difference? Can he lead the Houston Oilers past Pittsburgh?

Of course, one game does not make a season — but if the Oilers and their brand-new 35-year-old quarterback hope to make this a championship season, they'll have to battle their way past the Steelers to do it.

They'll make believers out of a lot of people if they can do it Sunday in Pittsburgh, where they've won just three of 12 games. In the second weekend of the 1979 season, Houston was blasted 38-7 in Pittsburgh.

"Well, we played them second last year and that was a disaster, so I guess opening up is better than playing them second," Houston Coach Bum Phillips observed.

Sunday's other games in the first weekend of the National Football League season are Detroit at Los Angeles, Oakland at Kansas City, Chicago at Green Bay, Cleveland at New England, Atlanta at Minnesota, Miami at Buffalo, the New York Giants at St. Louis, San Francisco at New Orleans, Tampa Bay at Cincinnati, Baltimore at the New York Jets, Denver at Philadelphia and San Diego at Seattle. Monday night's game is Dallas at Washington.

For Pittsburgh, the quarterback will, of course, be Terry Bradshaw, winner of the Most Valuable Player award in Super Bowl XIV, when he guided the Steelers past Los Angeles 31-19.

The Rams, who almost upset the Steelers in the Super Bowl, begin a new era. They'll be a few miles down the road from the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum in their new home, Anaheim Stadium.

For the moment, the great quarterback debate seems to be settled. Pat Haden, who lost his starting job to Vince Ferragamo midway in 1979 due to a broken finger, has regained his No. 1 spot.

For the Lions, whose promising 1979 season wound up as a 2-14 disaster when quarterback Gary Danielson was injured, 1980 holds even more promise. Danielson is back and has Billy Sims in the backfield with him. Sims, out of the University of Oklahoma and the Heisman Trophy winner as a junior, was the No. 1 draft pick in the league.

The Raiders, who may be playing their last season in Oakland, have a great quarterback debate of their own going. Dan Pastorini, acquired from Houston in the Stabler deal, battled almost evenly with journeyman quarterback Jim Plunkett during the preseason in terms of passes attempted and completed and yards gained. Each threw three interceptions. But Plunkett tossed for five touchdowns to Pastorini's one.

In Cincinnati, Ken Anderson is injured once again so Jack Thompson, the No. 1 draft choice in 1979, will be the quarterback as Forrest Gregg, Cleveland's head coach during 1975-77, takes over the Bengals' reins.

Expos move closer to Phils with 8-0 win over Giants

By KILEY ARMSTRONG
AP Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Phillies have the Montreal Expos breathing down their necks — and they could find that it's more than hot air.

"We needed to break out against somebody. We need my bat and maybe this means I've got it going," Warren Cromartie said after his 12th homer of the season — one of his four hits on the night — helped the Montreal Expos move to within less than one percentage point of first place in the National League East with an 8-0 win over the Giants Friday night.

Cromartie's homer came after Gary Carter led off the second inning with a bunt single off Giants' starter and loser John Montefusco, 4-7. Rowland Office had a two-run single later in the inning.

In other NL games Friday, Los Angeles shutout Philadelphia 1-0; Atlanta defeated Pittsburgh 7-4; Cincinnati got past Chicago 5-3; St. Louis knocked off Houston 7-5 and San Diego defeated New York 4-2.

Dodgers 1, Phillies 0.

The Phillies, meanwhile, were losing to Los Angeles as Dodger right-hander Don Sutton struck out 10 batters and allowed only three hits over eight innings.

Don Stanhouse pitched the final inning to preserve the shutout, the Dodgers' 18th of the season. Meanwhile, Steve Carlton suffered only his eighth loss of the year against 21 wins.

Braves 7, Pirates 4
Relief hitter Jeff Burroughs wasn't complaining after his 13th home run of the year propelled the Atlanta Braves to their fifth straight victory.

Burroughs' shot went deep into the left-center field stands off Pittsburgh reliever Grant Jackson in the eighth inning with two runners aboard to snap a 4-4 tie. Rick Camp, 5-4, was the winner in relief.

Reds 5, Cubs 3
Johnny Bench batted in a pair of runs with a sacrifice fly and his 22nd homer of the season to lead Cincinnati over the Cubs.

Tom Seaver, 7-7, struck out a season-high 10 batters, and the veteran right-hander yielded eight hits and walked two before getting ninth-inning relief help from Mario Soto, who picked up his third save.

Cardinals 7, Astros 5
St. Louis pinch-hitter Mike Ramsey picked up his first game-winning hit of the year when he stroked a two-run double off reliever Joe Sambito in the ninth inning to score George Hendrick and Tito Landrum with the winning runs.

The Cardinals rallied for three late-inning runs off Astros starter Nolan Ryan before roughing up Sambito.

Padres 4, Mets 2
Gene Tenace drove in two runs and Barry Evans tripled in another and rookie Gary Lucas earned his first major league save as the Padres downed New York.

FOOTBALL'S VALUE
YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Nothing is debated more than how much college football means — or should mean — to a player and here is how a star Colgate fullback of last season, Angelo Colosimo, feels about it: "College football is relevant to life. It represents hours of time and effort put in to something worthwhile."

Centuries old elm still grows

By TAD BARTIMUS
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Kan. (AP) — Long before there was a wheatfield to surround it or a plaque to honor it, this country's biggest elm tree was a passive witness to the growing pains of America.

When it sprouted its first leaf, the Plains belonged only to the buffalo and other wild creatures of the field, and to the Indians. It was 17 years old when George Washington was born. U.S. Cavalry troopers tethered their horses under it as they passed to and fro between Fort Leavenworth and Fort Riley — gateway to the West. Anxious women, in calico bonnets gathered under it as their strong-backed men repaired wagon wheels disabled in the ruts of the Oregon Trail only a stone's throw away.

In the lawless early days of the frontier, violent men threw a rope over the mighty tree's lowest branch and claimed their own justice. Lovers have picnicked beneath it, a dozen generations of little boys have clambered up to its highest arm just to see if they could do it, and lightning, the wrath of the heavens, has wounded it three times in this century.

But Nature has spared it while capriciously striking down its peers with a disease that has left a pox of stumps throughout America.

So, because it survived and flourished, a hundred or so folks in straw farm hats and clean cotton dresses gathered on a hot day at the edge of a Kansas wheat field this summer to pay homage to the tree.

By act of the National Register of Big Trees of the American Forestry Association, the Louis Vieux

Elm — proper name Olmus Americana — was designated the largest known example of its species.

The Louis Vieux Elm is, by measurement of the Kansas Wildlife and Fisheries Department, 99 feet tall; 23 feet, two inches in circumference, and has an average crown spread of 133 feet. It is still growing. Last year it took 10 men to lock arms and reach around it. This summer it needed a little extra help from an 11th volunteer.

But the story of the giant elm can't be found in dry statistics. Its story is in the people who lived in harmony with its over nearly three centuries.

Six descendants of Louis Vieux — a half-French, half-Pottawatomie fur trader who was born in 1810 and died in 1872, came back to the tree's dedication to sit in its shade and talk about their own roots. Most had never met before.

They didn't look alike or talk alike. They had different styles of life, different politics, different religions. But they all traced their blood lines back to the Vieuxs who settled more than 100 years ago in the spot where they found each other, under the big tree.

Elsie Blackhawk, whose face at 75 is as weathered as a fine apple left too long in the hot sun, came by herself, from Bartlesville, Okla.

Mercedes McKillop flew in from Monroe, Wash.

Angeline Kekahbah reveled in the long day of sunshine and conversation and hated to leave for home in Pawhuska, Okla.

Helena Allemand made a little holiday out of her easy journey from Ogeden, Kan., and brought along some old pictures to pass around. Herbert Whitlow brought along his pretty, grownup daughter Chris from Tecumseh, Kan.

"We are a proud people, and we knew about Louis Vieux and some of the family history. But being here with these other folks is very special for me," says Elsie. She says she is one-third Cherokee, one-third French, and one-third Pottawatomie.

Mercedes, who had the same grandmother as Helena and Elsie, described her branch of the family as "part of the classic exodus to California during the Dust Bowl days."

She eventually went on north to Washington State.

Helena says her heritage is the same as Mercedes — but she and her relatives are very proud of their Indian blood.

The descendants sat together under the tree and traced their ancestry back to three brothers: Whitlows to Louis Vieux; Elsie, Mercedes and Helena to Paul Vieux; Angeline to Charles Vieux.

Those three men were born to a French fur trader and a Pottawatomie mother who ran a trading post in what later became Milwaukee.

The Vieuxs kept moving south as white homesteaders encroached on their land, and finally, in 1857, Louis settled near the big tree beside the meandering Vermillion River. He sold supplies, hay, grain and horses to the Army and travelers going by his homestead on the Oregon Trail.

Louis occasionally represented the Pottawatomies at treaty talks in Washington, D.C., and in 1867 was a signer of a pact that allowed the Indians to either hold lands in common as a reservation or establish individual claims of 80 acres or more.

That's when the family started to scatter.

Louis got 315 acres, including the big tree, because of his high tribal position.

When he died in 1872, records indicate he was overseer of 44,000 acres of prime land, owned part of a successful watermill, had livestock, and was a major power in the Kansas territory.

LOUIS VIEUX ELM. Shown in full leaf where it grows near Wamego, Kan., the tree has been designated the largest known example of its species in this country. The people grouped under its boughs were attending the ceremony. The tree dates from 1715. (APN Illustration)

Car has criminal record

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — An inventor who plans to build electric cars in Berkeley with city help has been convicted of bank robbery and writing bad checks, a newspaper says.

And the Dallas-based company of Edmond X. Ramirez is declaring bankruptcy for the second time, the San Francisco Examiner reported Friday.

Ramirez, who demonstrated his electric car for Berkeley officials Thursday, said the report was part of an effort by "our enemies" to discredit "the world's only really electric automobile."

The paper also reported that Ramirez is being sued by the Texas attorney general's office for illegally selling securities in Ametrax Inc., the firm developing the car.

Berkeley officials said they are aware of Ramirez's record and will proceed with plans to help him obtain federal grants and private loans to build an assembly plant expected to employ 400 people and turn out 10,000 cars a year by 1982.

"We are satisfied that the man is not a crook," said Berkeley assistant city manager Walt Toney. He said the city had done "an extensive investigation" and was "satisfied the company is above board."

Ramirez said his car, the Excar-1 Liberator, is 15 percent cheaper to operate than conventional automobiles and will travel 100 freeway miles at speeds up to 83 mph before its batteries need recharging.

PAMPA MEALS ON WHEELS provides a friendly smile and a warm meal. Pampa senior citizen Eula Riggs, right, receives her noon meal from Alice Herbert, a volunteer for Meals on Wheels. Meals on Wheels is one of agencies supported by the United Way.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES available to Pampa boys, ages 11 to 18, include trips to Philmont, the National Boy Scout Ranch in New Mexico, top photo. Philmont Ranch provides a natural habitat for many scouts to explore — complete with a selection of wilderness animals. Scouts also learn the outdoor joys of an early morning breakfast, bottom left, and the delicate balance needed for a rope bridge.

bottom right. Approximately 50 percent of the funding for the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council comes from the United Way. Pampa Boy Scout troops and their leaders have been involved in placing United Way posters in the windows of Pampa business establishments as a means of communicating the need and importance of the campaign to Pampans.

United Way gears up for annual campaign

United Way workers and the agencies supported by the United Way are gearing up for the annual campaign which kicks off Sept. 30 with a banquet at M. K. Brown Auditorium.

The fund-raising drive, headed by General Campaign Chairman Charles M. "Chuck" White, will continue through the month of October.

The United Way, a non-profit organization, is working with 13 agencies in Pampa.

The Boy Scouts of America is one of the 13 organizations supported by the United Way, and the Adobe Walls Council in Pampa will mark its 50th anniversary in 1981. Fifty percent of the Boy Scout funding is derived from the United Way. This organization moved to Pampa from Panhandle around 1940 to become the Adobe Walls Council.

Overall, the council serves 15 counties, basically covering the eastern half of the Texas Panhandle. Three of those counties are in the Oklahoma Panhandle. Pampa has 23 units consisting of Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers. Altogether there are some 800 youths and adults involved in scouting here.

The Cub Scouts are ages 7-10 and their activities involve the home and neighborhood. Boy Scouts, ages 11-17, center more around community service and the adventuresome outdoors.

Explorers are coeds, ages 14-21, who work toward gaining an insight in their chosen field. Surveys are taken from the high school and then work training is placed at what is known as a specialty post, such as at the hospital in the field of medicine.

Objectives of scouting are to build citizenship, character and personal fitness through programs designed to help youth become important assets to the community and society.

Outstanding service to scouting by adult leaders is recognized with the Silver Bear Award.

Nationwide, there are about 35,000 professional scouters and 2,500,000 volunteers.

Another agency the United Way funds is the Genesis House, located at Browning and Starkweather.

Several years ago, a Pampa minister recognized a desperate cry for help from one girl who needed a home. He called on a woman who had started a hotline service and pleaded with her to help this girl. The woman he called on was Lois Still, and in 1971, she opened a temporary shelter for homeless girls — the Genesis House.

The Genesis House was born through the sponsorship of the First Presbyterian Church. Afterwards, other churches, organizations and individuals began joining in.

In 1975, St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church donated the old Catholic Rectory and six lots of land to open a home for teenage boys.

In operation for 10 years, there have been 300 boys and girls have passed through those doors. The youths come from all walks of life and all types of backgrounds. While most are addicted to the streets, they have made great adjustments through the Genesis House within four to six weeks.

Lois Still said, "They are basically teenagers needing a chance," and she wants to see them get that chance.

When residents first arrive at Genesis House, they are introduced to a family-type group living where they learn how to prepare meals, shop, housekeeping, develop socially and use decision-making skills.

Mrs. Still said many of these young people arrive as high school drop-outs and have a poor self-image, disrespect for law and order or any type of authority. She said they are enrolled in Pampa's public schools and soon no longer care to "drop-out."

Through working part-time in a special work program, they are taught to schedule and learn the value of their time and money. Counseling and planned recreation are also provided by a social director.

Genesis House is known as one of the finest homes for teenagers in the state of Texas and will accept youths between the ages of 13-18. Anyone needing advice or assistance may contact Lois Still at her office, 665-7123.

The concept for Meals on Wheels, another United Way agency, originally began in England during World War II. Terrifying bombings during the war had left people homeless and in despair. As a result, a group of people formed an organization to supply those people in need with meals.

Pampa's Meals on Wheels program has been in operation for two years since Oct. 9, 1978. It is a non-profit community service organized by the Gray County Committee on Aging. Credit for the funding goes to the United Way and other various groups and organizations.

Any person 55 years of age or older who is unable to prepare their own meal or has no one to cook for them is eligible to participate in the program. Also anyone who needs meals temporarily because of illness or other circumstances is eligible for the program.

Meals are prepared at the Leisure Lodge under the direction of a registered dietician. Special diets, prescribed by an individual's physician, may be prepared for those who need them.

Volunteer workers devote 45 minutes to an hour at lunch to deliver the hot meals. Starting at 11:30 a.m., a friendly worker arrives at their door and their faces beam.

Many of the Senior Citizens that desperately need Meals on Wheels, also so desperately need the social contact. Some may not have families living here or anyone to check on them.

Birthdays are also remembered. Each patron receives a small gift or flower and a miniature cake... a gift of love.

Anyone interested in volunteering for Meals on Wheels may contact Shirley Kucifer in her office at 665-1461.

Meanwhile, "Meals on Wheels" will keep on rolling.

In our fast changing times, people are feeling more of a need to reach out. As the economy continues to soar, stress may begin to develop with individuals and families. People may begin to feel a lack of confidence, and small problems may become magnified.

Mark Englander of the Family Service Center thinks physical health and mental health go "hand in hand." Englander says there is nothing shameful or wrong with admitting that problems have become intolerable or that our daily lives are confusing.

Family Service Center, another United Way agency, is located in the Hughes Building in downtown Pampa.

Caseworkers Englander, Jeff Bearden and Cynthia Simmons have a good ear for listening and an open heart. They see an average of between 18 and 24 clients daily. Six centers in the Panhandle area serve Wheeler, Gray and Roberts Counties. The largest percentage of clients are from Gray County and, specifically, Pampa.

Clients of the agency include children needing a listening ear for emotional difficulties, marital couples, and lonely people who have isolated themselves and have no one to turn to.

Center services include individual therapy for children, adolescents and adults. Other techniques used are psychometrics testing and family and marriage therapy. Another major area dealt with by the center is chemical abuse, which includes alcoholism and drug abuse. In addition, the service offers assistance with parenting skills, smoking and obesity if the problems are present in conjunction with a mental difficulty.

The Family Service Center is funded primarily by the Texas Mental Health - Mental Retardation in Amarillo, which provides 79 percent of the financing. The other 21 percent comes from United Way and various groups and organizations.

Client fees are based on an individual's ability to pay. Englander said no one should allow financial difficulties to interfere with their seeking help here.

The center maintains a toll-free telephone number 24 hours a day for anyone seeking advice or help. The number is 1-800-692-4039. The number for the Pampa Family Service Center is 669-3371.

The United Way is an organization made up primarily of volunteers who work to support a broad range of agencies and human services in the local community. Volunteers raise money, plan for future community needs, allocate funds raised and recruit more volunteers.

In 1979, the Pampa United Way Campaign raised a total of $197,669.60. Their goal for this year is $193,900.

Other agencies supported by the Pampa United Way are the American Red Cross, the High Plains Epilepsy Association, the Community Day Care Center, the Salvation Army and the Senior Citizens Center. Three agencies that are not located in Pampa are Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation Inc., the Southwestern Diabetic Foundation and the USO.

FAMILY SERVICE CENTER Counselor Mark Englander observes clients as they relax using their creative talents with ceramics. The center believes that the arts and crafts group is one of the best therapy groups they offer.

GENESIS HOUSE youth work in the garden patch, as a part of their activities. Genesis House is devoted to extending a helping hand to those youths who have encountered problems which can be resolved by providing a home-like environment with a parental-type discipline.

Tips for a youthful face

COLLEGE STATION — Keep your face "young" to look your best in the '80's, says Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist.

An awareness, and then avoidance, of specific routine habits can help reduce premature aging of the face, she points out.

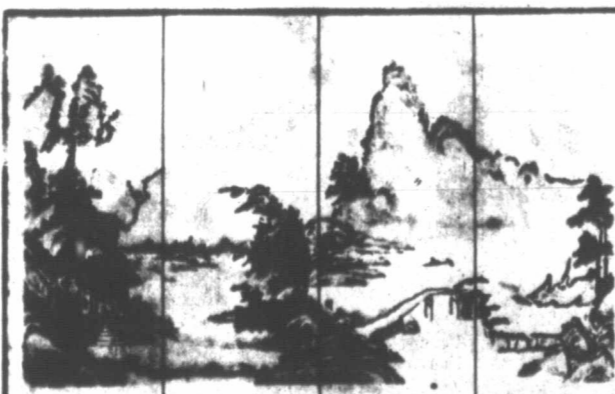

Mrs. Saunders is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The following outlines some of the causes of an "older than you would like" appearance:

- Wrinkling your forehead and raising your eyebrows often causes horizontal forehead grooves.
- Knitting brows when angry or thinking results in scowl lines.
- Frequent squinting produces crow's feet.
- Frequent smoking causes premature wrinkles above your upper lip and around the eyes.
- Tugging eyes when applying eye makeup results in drooping eyelids.
- If you chew on your upper or lower lip, then you have curved lines surrounding your mouth.
- Overindulgence in alcohol produces dilated or broken blood vessels.
- Yo-yo dieting can wreck your complexion.
- Too much sun causes leatherized skin.

Chiropractors to screen for scoliosis

Chiropractors across the state of Texas will screen for scoliosis free during the week of Sept. 15-20, according to Dr. Tom Rice, president of Texas Chiropractic Association. There is no obligation for the patient to do anything other than keep the appointment which he makes with his chiropractor. Recommendations will be made, but the patient is free to do what he pleases with the information.

The chiropractic profession is keenly aware of the fact that scoliosis is becoming more prevalent in our nation and they are taking every precaution possible to find these cases in the early stages. There may be only one severe curve, but more likely there will be several as the backbone compensates for the first one and attempts to keep the body in line of gravity.

Scoliosis hits the two sexes with about the same percentage but for some reason, girls tend to have progressive curves as they reach adolescence. After the growth spurt between the ages of 12-16, the spine becomes more stable and further progression is gradual or nil. However, many times this remission is followed by degenerative joint changes. Patients who develop scoliosis with a major thoracic component of 50 degrees or more are going to suffer from impaired lung function. Breathing may become strenuous to the patient because of the rib cage deformity and immobility.

All scoliotic patients should be observed regularly throughout their lives. Sometimes the 'watch and wait attitude' makes the patient complacent and he drifts away from care until the deformity becomes so severe that treatment is difficult.

The Texas Chiropractic Association is sponsoring this week of free screening across Texas. This is a public service project, and according to Dr. Ruby Perkins, Public Relations chairperson, the examination would not take more than five to seven minutes per person. She urges each person who feels he or she has a problem to call a local chiropractor and ask for an appointment to be screened.

Kadingo, Drury wed in Dallas ceremony

Ann Frances Kadingo became the bride of James Frank Drury in a recent ceremony in the Northlake Baptist Church in Dallas. The Rev. Roger Bray, associate minister of the First Christian Church in Garland, officiated.

Parents of the bride are Dr. and Mrs. N.G. Kadingo, 1201 Charles. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Drury of Dallas.

The bride wore a gown of candlegown chiffon and lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion, accented with lace appliques, fell from a candlegown satin headpiece trimmed with seed pearls.

Maid of honor was Jan Oliver of Dallas. Milburn Drury of Dallas, father of the bridegroom, was best man.

Candlelighter was Nickita Kadingo of Pampa, sister of the bride. Ushers were Jeff McCafferty and Craig Stout, both of Dallas. Mrs. Bonnie Hunkill of Dallas registered guests.

Music was provided by Nickita Kadingo, vocalist. Assisting at a reception in the church parlor were Mrs. Dinah Nichols, sister of the bridegroom, Ginger Hukill and Jill Hukill Diez, all of Dallas, and Sandra Hawthorne of Amarillo.

The couple will make their home in Dallas.

The bride, a 1978 graduate of Pampa High School, attended Columbia College in Columbia, Mo. She is employed as a dance instructor by Toby's Studios in Dallas and Richardson. The bride is a student at Buster Cooper's School of Dance in Dallas and is a member of two professional dance companies.

Drury is employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Theresa Baird and Ray Conner

Baird, Conner to wed

Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Baird of Pampa announce the engagement of their daughter, Theresa Wynell, to Ray Dean Conner. The couple will be wed Oct. 24 in Central Baptist Church in Pampa. The bride-elect, a 1980 graduate of Pampa High School, is employed by the City and School Tax Office of Pampa. Conner is a 1979 graduate of Pampa High School. He is employed by Sivalis, Inc.

DEAR ABBY: As a professional counselor, I encounter many people who don't know how to handle grief or the loss of a loved one. They are grieving alone because their friends are afraid to visit them. Why do friends stay away? Because they don't know what to say.

I have learned more from dying and grieving people than I have from books. Perhaps these tips on how to give support to those who are terminally ill or are struggling to cope with a tragedy or loss will be useful to your readers. Please feel free to edit as you see fit and use in your column.

PHYLLIS W. HENDERSON, STAUNTON, VA.

1. When there's a terminally ill person in the family, everyone asks the family, "How is he?" Those who must live with that person need to hear, "How are you?" The family is hurting, yet they're treated as if they were invisible.
2. Don't worry about what to say. Speak from the heart. Or say nothing. Sometimes just hugging or holding someone can convey more than words.
3. Don't worry about what to bring someone who is very ill. Bring yourself. And give of yourself. Don't be like the person who runs in and says, "I've come to cheer you up... I'm double-parked. Gotta run. Bye!"
4. Be there later. Chances are, their numbness will wear off long after the crisis or the funeral, but by then, everyone's gone home. Anniversaries, birthdays and holidays are hard times to be alone.
5. Don't shut the children out. If there are children in the family, listen to them, and don't hide your tears. You should teach them that tears are healing. (They are.) Ask each child if he/she wants to attend the funeral, and accept each answer as right for that child.
6. Don't stay away. Go even if you have a knot in your stomach. Go even if you're afraid you might say all the wrong things. Chances are they won't remember your words, but they'll feel your touch and remember that you came when they needed someone.

must be kept going because we hope that one day in the not too distant future, help will be available to all who suffer the devastating handicap of deafness.

Bless you for being such a sweet, funny, caring person.
NANETTE FABRAY

DEAR ABBY: What is the difference between a mule and a donkey? What exactly is an ass? Is an ass the same as a jackass? And have you ever heard of a hinny? And which of these is sterile?

STUPID CITY KID (AGE 36)

DEAR CITY KID: A mule is the offspring of a male ass and a female horse (mare). A mule is almost always sterile.

An ass is a donkey. And a jackass is specifically a male donkey.

A hinny is the offspring of a she-ass and a stallion. A hinny is also usually sterile. (Class adjourned.)

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for publishing my 1971 letter urging people who are hard of hearing to wear hearing aids. The good news is that through the advances in medical research and surgical techniques, my hearing has been completely restored!

Although I have never had nerve deafness, there are wonderful advances being made to help those with a nerve loss.

The Ear Research Institute in Los Angeles has a research program where it has implanted 100 totally deaf people and brought them into a world of sound. This research program

PEEKING at PAMPA

Surely pretty Debbie Juenger has the biggest, brownest eyes around. And she's so petite, so wonderfully thin! Her marriage to Gregory Bowers last night was a lovely occasion.

One of the most delightful parties of the season was the bridal shower for Debbie at the country club last week, given by Cindy Harris, Sharon Martindale, Joyce Cambern, Katie Cross, Cheryl Bristow, Rae Elder and Susan Heare. Old and new friends arrived from Amarillo, Borger and other towns along with Pampa well-wishers. Many were Debbie's high school classmates.

Colors in decorations and gifts were blue and white, the bride's color plan for her new home. Especially lovely was her delicate china in the sand dollar pattern.

Debbie's mother, Dorothy Juenger, was in pale blue. And Greg's mother, Ella Mae Bowers of Amarillo, was in dark blue. Pretty classy when even the bride couple's mothers dress in appropriate colors, huh?

Debbie will work in a law office in Morristown, N.J., where the couple will live. Grey is employed by BASF Chemical Co.

When asked why she chose Saturday night instead of Saturday afternoon for the wedding, Debbie said she knew better than to invite golfers off the course to see her get married. She understands — because she's a golfer and so is Greg. Likewise her father, Ed Juenger, is a regular player. In such a case, you have to consider Saturday afternoon golf.

A week ago Wednesday was get-together time for several groups in Pampa. The Pampa teachers assembled at the M.K. Brown auditorium for an all-day session. Understand that Dr. Bob Phillips, superintendent, got them started right. The parking lot and nearby cafes were full of bright-eyed, well-dressed teachers, greeting old and new friends.

Seems to me that the women teachers these days are a lot younger and prettier than they used to be — and that the men teachers are handsomer, more personable. Or am I getting older? Anyway this group impressed me with their enthusiasm for teaching and for life. Didn't see a scowl or hear a gripe among them.

Another meeting, that evening, was the Republican rally, Texas style, at the auditorium. People of all faiths and fancies seemed to turn out for the speaking barbecue, planned by Jim Campbell and Bobbie Nesbit.

How many gatherings in a town our size would attract two governors? Well, Pampa did. Our present governor, Bill Clements, was here — and so was former Governor John Connally. (The title of "Governor" stays with you for life, they tell me.) Also present were committee chairmen, convention delegates, office seekers and a milling crowd of listeners and hand-shakers and esters. Heard that a lot of them said Pampa was a fine place to enjoy pleasurable friendship and entertainment.

Is everybody familiar with the marvelous sculptures being done by G.L. Sanders? Works for the telephone company and does his sculpting in his spare time. Does wood carving, antelope-horn carving and bronzes of excellence, has exhibited here and in other places.

G.L. says some of his best work was lost in a fire some years ago. And he has given away many of his best carvings and sculptures to friends and relatives — aren't they lucky? He finds his satisfaction in the completion of a fine piece of art. And he keeps pictures of his work.

Birthday parties are always fun. Think perhaps the ones at the Pampa Club are the most fun of anywhere. When a cake-with-candles is brought in and the band strikes up "Happy Birthday," everybody in the room sings lustily, whether he knows the honoree or not. Some celebrations are early and some are post-birthday parties. It makes no difference in the good time. Such fun to have friends and be friends in Pampa!

Don Lane was honored with a party last Saturday night at the club on his exact birthday. His wife and family were present along with several friends, including Dean and Caroline Copeland.

Otis Nace had a happy birthday that night and was surprised with a cake topped with a miniature golf course. Golfers, greens, flags, clubs and all the other paraphernalia of a course were there, including a wee sand trap with a ball buried in it.

Speaking of golf, understand that the Top of Texas annual tournament at the Pampa Country Club was a big event. Congratulations are in order for a former Pampa, Richard Ellis, winner of the tournament. Dozens of golfers not playing there for the week-end went to towns around. Saw several owners of station wagons loading them with golfers and carts, to spend the Labor Day holiday enjoying their favorite sport.

Best to you. PAM.

MENDING MATURE MARRIAGE

By Louise Pierce

Some wisecracks say that no old horse should ever be out of the harness completely. Well, this aging mare found out this summer that it's not easy to be back in the traces when you've been unharnessed for 16 years.

In July, Otis' charming secretary, Genie, was on vacation. So there I was, precisely where I used to be — answering the phone, typing, tending to the mail, greeting people, dashing on errands and running, running, running.

In spare (?) time, I did the cleaning. Years ago I ran the whole gamut without a puff. But this time my joints creaked a little.

But the situation was endurable, even enjoyable, because I loved my boss.

I even managed to be useful. I think. As Otis used to tell me when we were in the lumber business, "If you can't find what they want, just keep them talking until I can get to them." I did it 16 years ago. And I did it again this year.

Those few days caused me to recall some of the positives of working together in a compatible older marriage.

We mates need to help each other in every possible way, even if it upsets our special routines. I hadn't been away from my own office for a week in years, and it took considerable evening work to maintain my schedule. Also, what with new regulations that have been popping up in the business world, I had to give a little time to studying them. I didn't do any day dreaming — nor much at night either.

But my husband needed me. And I love to be needed, as who doesn't? Besides, he helps me too, at home and wherever else I need assistance. When I'm working at home all the time, he comes whistling in and heads for the kitchen to help me get dinner. When the place needs cleaning but I'm happily snowed under at my desk, he runs the sweeper and wields the dust cloth. We work at helping each other's projects, always unhesitatingly.

Many of my friends are wives of lawyers, doctors and other professional or business men. Once a year they are their husbands' secretaries for two weeks.

When I went to work for Otis this year, I reminded myself that, in his domain, he was the top authority and the sole decision-maker. I run my office and he runs his. We're subordinates when we help each other.

But I've known a few cases where our kind of harmony did not prevail — and trouble resulted. Sometimes a couple owns a business together and each wants to decide every debatable question, large or small, that arises.

Annoying, even serious quarrels can erupt over who's boss. I know of two cases in which the result was divorce. In one instance the couple split their joint-owned business and went into competition in separate firms, across the street from each other.

Cases like that are sad. No business prestige in the world is worth the loss of a good marriage — or even a moderately happy one.

DEAR LOUISE: Since V.Y. and I retired, he follows me around the house like a puppy. Always wanting to help me when he's only in my way, rearranging things, doing over the things I've done, telling me how much he's improving everything. I've never had anybody under my feet while I did housework and I don't think I can stand it forever. What can I do about it without hurting his feelings? B.A.

DEAR B.A.: Be easy with him because his working life is now at home with you. And he loves you or he wouldn't want to be with you instead of downtown playing dominoes with other retirees.

Ask him to divide the housework with you — for instance, you might sweep while he dusts, in separate rooms. Or he could clean outside — the garage, the walks, etc. while you did the inside work. I've known several wives of retired men who used this plan and found that it worked out fine.

DEAR LOUISE: My wife has always tried to boss our house.

CULTURAL ARTS WORKSHOP

You can learn to knit, crochet, needlepoint and embroider if you attend a special cultural arts workshop Sept. 11 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the courthouse annex meeting room. The Extension Homemaker Council Cultural Arts Committee has planned the free workshop so participants can come-and-go or come-and-stay. Bring a sack lunch if you plan to stay during the entire program. The schedule and supplies you should bring include:

10 to 11 a.m. — Basic needlepoint for the beginner. Bring large needlepoint canvas, needle, yarn and scissors.

11 a.m. to 12 noon — Crochet. Bring a crochet hook, skein of yarn and scissors.

12 noon to 12:30 p.m. — Lunch break. Bring a sack lunch; drinks will be provided.

12:30 to 1 p.m. — Basic crewel embroidery or tatting (if we find an instructor). You will need a crewel needle, linen type fabric, and crewel yarn.

1 to 2 p.m. — Basic knitting. Bring a set of knitting needles, one skein of yarn and scissors.

If you have questions about the details, contact the county extension office at 669-7429. The program is free — everyone is invited to attend and learn these basic skills.

WISE-UP, TIGHTEN-UP YOUR HOME — AND SAVE ENERGY

One of the easiest energy-saving measures a homeowner can take is the installation of weatherstripping and the application of caulking — to tighten up the house. At least that's what the experts say. Install weatherstripping and apply caulking to prevent heat loss in the winter and heat infiltration during summer months.

First, find the "trouble spots" in your home where air moves in and out — wasting as much as 37 percent of your heating or cooling money.

Usually these unwanted openings are found around doors and windows, electrical and plumbing connections, and where different materials are joined together.

Weatherstripping and sealing materials can be applied easily and economically by the homeowner. Only a few common tools are required. For the job, you'll need a hammer, scissors, a screwdriver, caulking gun, steel measuring tape, weatherstripping and sealing material.

Weatherstripping is available by the foot — or in handy kits complete with the seal and suitable fasteners for a single door or window. Weather seals may be made of a variety of materials. Some are surface mounted and will be clearly visible after installation, while others will be concealed when the door or window is closed.

Four basic types of weatherstripping are available for application by the homeowner — pliable gaskets, rigid strip gaskets, spring-metal strips and threshold weatherstrip.

PLIABLE GASKETS — Flexible gaskets of vinyl, rubber and felt are attached with adhesive, brads or staples to the door and window stops. When the door or window is closed, the edge presses lightly against the gasket. Pliable gaskets are highly visible. Don't try to point them away, either! Painting gaskets may cause them to harden.

RIGID STRIP GASKETS — Rigid strip gaskets usually are made of tubular vinyl attached to a metal strip, or they're made of a felt-type material glued to a wood strip. Attach both types with nails or screws to door and window stops. Rigid strip gaskets are visible, too. You can apply paint to the wood or metal strip, but don't paint the gasket itself.

SPRING-METAL STRIPS — Attach strips of bronze, aluminum or copper with brads to window and door frames. Use this type of weatherstripping on either double-hung or casement windows. Spring-metal weatherstripping provides good draft control, but it may make doors hard to open and close. Installation is not difficult, but take care not to kink or bend the metal strips.

THRESHOLD WEATHERSTRIP — You can stop drafts and blowing moisture at the bottom of outside doors by using door-bottom weatherstripping. It's usually packaged in easy-to-install kits along with fasteners and complete instructions. Among the most common types of threshold weatherstripping are metal and felt or vinyl strips attached to the bottom of the door. These strips of felt or vinyl compress against the threshold to keep drafts and moisture out. This type of weatherstripping is inexpensive and easy to install. If that still doesn't solve the draft problem underneath a door, check the threshold itself. A badly worn threshold may be the problem. If so, replace the worn one — and consider a metal unit if the old one was wood. Some metal units have a raised vinyl inset that will compress against the bottom of the door to form a seal, making weatherstripping on the door unnecessary. Metal threshold units are available for doors of varying widths.

Follow these pointers for successful application of caulking or sealing materials:

Apply sealing material only to clean, dry surface; remove old, dried sealing materials — and clean the area with a solvent to remove grease or other substances that would prevent a tight bond; deposit sealing material at the bottom of the seam, so it fills without bubbling; never apply sealing material to a porous surface alone — prime before application; never skip — use enough sealing material to fill the crack or seam; and if sealing material shrinks during drying, reapply.

Miniature preserves town's history

By Anita Gogno

MINERSVILLE, Pa. (NEA) — Picture this sturdy mining town back in the 1930s: Hills dotted with coal breakers, streets lined with company row houses, and miners, dark and sooty, led to work by the beamed headgear common to their profession.

"It was back in the early days of bootlegging," says construction worker Steve Sausnock, referring to an era he knew well. The 61-year-old Sausnock has recaptured that era by building a miniature coal breaker complete with bins, deck shakers, rollers, jigs and coal.

A coal breaker, explains Sausnock, is a preparation plant to which coal is delivered after it has been mined. There the coal is broken into several sizes.

Lumps of coal are put through crushers, a different set for each size. After the lumps are sized and separated, they are cleaned and delivered by chute to waiting trucks.

Sausnock's miniature breaker is modeled after those he and his brothers constructed and operated near this mining town in the 1930s.

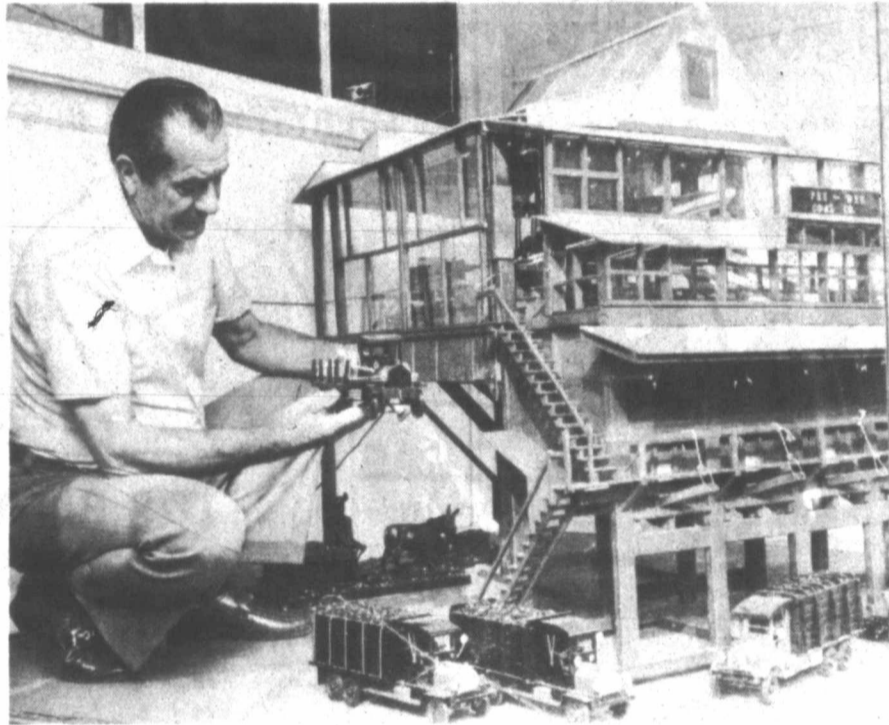

"We built several of them," he says. "In 1934, there was the Hillside breaker over on Dowdowntown Road. Then Black Diamond in 1936."

"Then there was the war. In 1947, we built the Glenworth. She's still in operation under another owner." His other breakers are now defunct.

Sausnock spent two years making and perfecting his miniature breaker. The display, constructed of wood and glass, is 4 feet long, 4½ feet high and 3 feet wide.

He even added one-sixth horsepower motor so that the breaker comes to life at the flip of a switch.

At the sides of the breaker sit realistic black-and-red coal trucks with New York license tags, stick shifts, water cans and tool boxes. The foot-long trucks, modeled after 1917 vehicles, required about a week's work each.

STEVE SAUSNOCK and his brothers built and operated full-size coal breakers in the '30s and '40s. Now he has replicated that work in miniature to preserve the history of his Pennsylvania's mining town. (Photo by Harry Folino)

He followed no pattern in building the display.

"I look at something good, visualize it, then get down to brass tacks and make it," he says of his working method.

Sausnock began constructing miniatures in wood only three years ago after he was haunted for days by the image of an old car he had seen on television. He tried to build a small model of the car from wood scraps.

Now his hobby consumes 10 to 12 hours of his time each week.

Couple wed in honky tonk

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — The groom paced nervously in his ivory tuxedo near the pool tables while the bride donned her white gown and veil in a dressing room across the spacious bar.

When guitarists Larry Edwards and D.J. Brown struck the opening chords of David Allan Coe's "Would You Be My Lady?" the couple marched up the dance floor "aisle" to a stage usually reserved for singers of sadder songs.

Sandra Garvin did indeed vow to be Johnny Watkins' lady, and he vowed to be her man.

After Justice of the Peace Ruth Nicholson pronounced them husband and wife, the couple wheeled around to join in the applause from family, friends and club employees.

The Thursday evening event was a new kind of function for the folks at Santa Fe Junction, a popular country and western nightspot here.

But Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, both 23, said it seemed the appropriate spot for their wedding.

SMUTTED WHEAT:
Wheat planting time is fast approaching and there is cause for concern among wheat producers in regards to bunt on wheat. This sometimes is called "Stinking Bunt" or "Covered Smut" as it gets its name from the characteristic fishy odor given off by infected heads.

During this past harvest, bunt showed up in several fields scattered over the area. This caused concern among the elevator people because bunt does cause marketing problems and price discounts. Our Panhandle wheat has had a good reputation among buyers. However, if this stinking smut continues to increase, buyers for our grain may become harder to obtain in the market place.

The prevalence of bunt varies from year to year. It depends in part on the existence of soil conditions favorable for infection to occur following planting and in part, to the extent to which preventative measures such as seed treatments have been used. Soil can become infested with bunt when smut balls shatter off before and during harvest or when the balls are planted along with healthy seeds.

The smut spores can live in the soil for several years—possibly ten to twenty years, but the exact time is not known.

Therefore, we recommend farmers with supposedly clean ground to use seed not known to be infected with bunt or stinking smut. We also recommend seed treatments with a fungicide and an insecticide.

FUNGICIDES SUGGESTED FOR WHEATSEED DISEASE:

- Captan 30 at a rate of 270cc per cwt
- Captan 25 at a rate of 4 1/2 oz. per cwt (drill box)
- Thiabendazole (Mertectisp) at a rate of 2 oz. per cwt
- Penylmercury Acetate (PMA) at a rate of 2 oz. per bu
- Terra-Coat LT2 at a rate of 2 oz. per bu
- Terra-Coat L-205 at a rate of 2 oz. per bu
- Terra-Coat SD-205 at a rate of 2 oz. per bu (drill box)
- Arsan 50 Red at a rate of 2 oz. per bu (drill box)
- Vitavax 200 at a rate of 3-4 oz. per cwt
- Vitavax 25-DB at a rate of 4-6 oz. per cwt (drill box)

(These fungicides will not control soil insects!)

INSECTICIDES RECOMMENDED FOR WHEAT SEED INSECT PROTECTION:

Seed treatment with heptachlor or lindane is effective in controlling wireworms. Actually, there are three kinds of smut affecting wheat: Bunt (Covered Smut), Loose Smut, and Flag Smut. Area farmers need to be concerned with Bunt and Loose Smut.

The following information about Smut Diseases of Wheat is furnished for your information:

Smut diseases of wheat are not often seen. Many farmers believe these diseases no longer exist or are no longer a threat. Smut diseases, however, are still present and occur statewide. Smut appears to cause more damage on wheat since ethyl and methyl mercuries were banned as seed protectants. If the use of seed protectants, resistant varieties and smut-free pure seed is not practiced, smut disease poses a threat to Texas wheat industry. All diseases are either seed borne or soil borne.

BUNT (STINKING BUNT):
Bunt on wheat, sometimes called Stinking Bunt or Covered Smut gets its name from the characteristic fishy odor given off by infected heads. Two types of losses result from bunt infection in wheat:

- 1) Smutted heads - total loss and reduced yield in proportion to their number.
- 2) The presence of bunt in thrashed wheat and the foul, fishy odor makes the wheat unfit for milling and dockage when sold.

Bunted heads usually stand more nearly erect than healthy heads because of the lighter weight. During growth, the kernel is formed into a smut ball which is shorter and plumper and lighter weight than normal wheat grain. The smut ball consists of a mass of oil, foul smelling, dark brown powder which are the spores of the bunt fungus.

Many smut balls are crushed during thrashing—spores are released lodging on healthy kernels, especially at the brush end and in the grooves. Soil becomes infested, bunt balls shatter before and during harvest or when the balls are planted with healthy seed.

LOOSE SMUT:
Loose smut is the most easily recognized of all wheat smut diseases. Characteristic dusty black appearance of diseased heads, an appearance that has given it such common names as smut, black, and black smut. An important difference between this and the other diseases of wheat is that infection is carried over from season to season within the grain and not as spores in the seed surface.

Loose smut is recognizable as soon as the affected head emerges. Usually the entire head is diseased.

Because Loose Smut is not surface borne on the seed, contact seed protectants will not control it. To be effective, any control method must kill the fungus in the seed without injuring the germ of the seed. The only seed protectant material that gets Loose Smut are those with systemic activity (Vitavax).

HALFWAY FIELD DAY:

Results of two years of testing of a new irrigation system which minimizes adverse effects of soil and climatic conditions of West Texas will be explained at the 71st annual Field Day of the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station at Lubbock and Halfway.

This year's program will be from 12:30 p.m. - 5 p.m. on Tuesday, September 9th at the Halfway research site, 14 miles west of Plainview on U.S. Highway 70.

The demonstration of the low energy precision application (LEPA) irrigation system, developed and tested with furrow diking to increase rainfall retention, will be one of four featured stops on the field tour of the research station.

The LEPA system minimizes soil and climatic variables which adversely influence irrigation efficiencies on the Texas High Plains.

After two years of testing, application and distribution efficiencies are significantly higher than either furrow or traditional sprinkler systems. This, coupled with the very low operating pressures, could potentially result in annual savings of up to $50 per acre, if pumping two acre-feet per year from a 300-foot well.

Application efficiency of 99 percent and distribution efficiency of 95-96 percent have been achieved with the LEPA system, regardless of climatic conditions.

The system, developed by Dr. William, Research Agricultural Engineer, replaces the large number of stationary orifices of a conventional drip system with a small number of moving orifices. It can operate as a pivot or as a linear move system at pressures below 10-pounds per square inch.

The motorized unit propels itself across the field and is equipped to unroll its supply pipe as it advances. The nozzles are designed to place the water at low pressure beneath the crop canopy, allowing it to more effectively reach plant roots.

Visitors to the field day will have an opportunity to see the system in operation and discuss it with Lyle.

Other major stops on the tour will demonstrate and report on research being conducted at the center on crop varieties, water management, crop insect control and weed control. Motorized tours will leave the station headquarters area at frequent intervals beginning at 12:30 p.m. and ending at 5 p.m.

DROUGHT COULD CAUSE HERBICIDE RESIDUE:

Herbicide residues in fields treated with Milogard, atrazine, Treflan, or Tolban could be unusually high this fall. Producers who plan to sow wheat on fields that were treated with these herbicides last spring should be made aware of potential problems.

Soil microorganisms which are responsible for herbicide degradation, are much less active during prolonged dry periods. The type summer we have experienced almost assures that microbial degradation has been minimal; therefore, herbicide residues will be higher than normal. Adequate precautions are spelled out on herbicide labels, but after a few years of "getting away with" planting wheat following sorghum that was treated with Milogard, producers sometimes neglect the label.

Because the amount of herbicide that will carry over depends upon rate, soil type, rainfall, temperature, and number of tillage operations, it is difficult to predict if the residue will be high enough to damage small grains.

FARM SCENE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has modified its meat and poultry inspection regulations to allow the use of tenderizers in all red meats and mature poultry.

Under the new provision, a product's label must indicate that a tenderizer has been used. Currently, tenderizers are permitted in beef only.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman said the new rule, which takes effect Oct. 6, applies to all products regulated by the Federal Meat Inspection Act and the Poultry Products Inspection Act.

Products treated with tenderizers at retail stores are also covered, even if the business is exempt from federal inspection rules.

The tenderizers — proteolytic enzymes — permitted under the rule are papain, bromelin, ficin, aspergillus oryzae and the aspergillus flavus oryzae group.

In addition, the rule limits weight gain from the use of a tenderizer solution to 3 percent above the weight of the untreated product.

WASHINGTON (AP) — World sugar production will be up in 1980-81, but it probably will not be sufficient to meet demand so a drawdown of sugar reserves is anticipated, the Agriculture Department reports.

A world sugar output of 87 million to 92 million metric tons is projected for 1980-81, up from the estimated 85.4 million metric tons for 1979-80, according to the department.

Meanwhile, consumption is expected to rise about 1 percent from the 1979-80 level of 91 million metric tons. That means, the department says, a drawdown of world sugar stocks of 2 million to 3 million metric tons.

A metric ton equals about 2,205 pounds.

4-H CORNER

COUNTY 4-H'ER TO COMPETE IN STATE FASHION REVUE:

"Fashion Inspirations" will set the stage for the 1980 State 4-H Fashion Revue — and Bobbie Skaggs of Pampa will be among those competing for top honors during the Sept. 17-19 event in Abilene.

Miss Skaggs, a senior at Pampa High School is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Skaggs.

The state contestant earned the right to compete by winning first place in county and district 4-H Fashion Revues earlier this year.

For the contests, the 4-H'er constructed a five piece fully-lined sky-blue ensemble which features a reversible vest and an eggshell colored wool coat.

Fashion Revue participation is an optional part of the 4-H and Youth clothing program, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says Deana Finck, Gray County Extension Agent. More than 11,000 youth across Texas were involved in the program last year.

Youth ages 9-19, developed skills in fashion, textiles, buying, garment construction, grooming, wardrobe planning and the social-psychological aspects of clothing — as part of the program.

DISTRICT MEETINGS:

The District 4-H Council and 4-H Adult Leaders Association met at Frank Phillips College in Borger, recently. Supper was served with recreation following.

The groups then had their individual meetings. The Gray County 4-H'ers Amy Brainard and Teresa Woods met with other 4-H'ers from Moore, Randall and Wheeler counties to plan the Gold Star Banquet to be held in November. After discussion of various district activities, the meeting was adjourned. Also attending were Gerald Tate, Representative Gray County 4-H Adult Leaders Association and Agents Deana Finck and Carl Gibson.

Farmlands continue to suffer in drought

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Cotton harvesting is widespread across Texas, with hot and dry weather speeding field operations, says Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Thunderstorms have relieved dry conditions in some areas, but most of the state continues to suffer from a season-long drought that has cut crop yields, hurt livestock and threatens range and forest fires, Pfannstiel said in his weekly crop report.

Cotton harvesting is the major activity in South Central, Central and North Central Texas, with some harvesting continuing in Southwest Texas. Ginning remains heavy in the already-harvested areas of the Rio Grande Valley and the Coastal Bend, Pfannstiel said.

Irrigated cotton is doing well in the High and Rolling Plains although water demands have been heavy. Bollworms and other insects are damaging many fields, he said. Dryland cotton in those areas is in such poor shape that some fields are being plowed up.

High Plains grain crops are doing well, with both corn and sorghum maturing rapidly. Some corn has been harvested for silage.

Statewide, land preparation continues for fall plantings of wheat and other small grains, Pfannstiel said. Some planting already is under way on irrigated land, but most farmers will wait for rain to plant.

Fall and winter vegetables are being planted in the San Antonio-Winter Garden area, as well as in the Rio Grande Valley. A fall corn and sorghum crop as well as soybeans have been planted in some South Texas areas, he said.

Livestock continue to decline statewide because of poor forage, he said, particularly in Central and East Texas. Although grazing has improved following rains in South and Southwest Texas, range fires continue to plague much of the drought-stricken state. Markets remain active as ranchers cull their herds.

Feedlot numbers grow as dry pastures fail

AUSTIN — This summer's drought has added a new twist to the forces which normally govern beef production in Texas, but the effects may not become evident to consumers for several years.

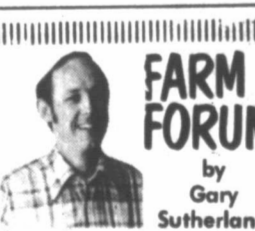

"Figures just released from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service show that 42 percent more cattle and calves moved into Texas feedlots during July than a year ago, with a large percentage of those being moved off of drought-damaged pastures," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said.

"Our cattle herds are at a very low point, and the real impact of the drought will be further reducing them. Consumers should have no trouble finding all the choice beef they want now, but with herds being reduced, we may not be able to say the same thing a few years down the road," Brown said.

As of August 1, Brown reported, there were 1,640,000 head of cattle and calves in Texas feedlots. Despite July's heavy placements—370,000 head—the total was 4 percent less than the same month a year ago. Marketings of fat cattle numbered 355,000 head during July, up 18 percent from 1979, Brown said.

"The nation's seven top cattle feeding states reported 6.89 million head of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter on August 1. This was down 4 percent from a year ago. Placements during July totaled 1,520,000 head, a 25 percent increase from a year ago. Texas produces up to 18 percent of all the choice beef consumed in this country," Brown pointed out.

"The systematic expansion and contraction of the nation's cattle herds — called the cattle cycle — has been mainly a function of cattle prices through most of this century."

With all the problems our farmers are having in getting a crop out, one they have been lucky to miss is volcanic ash. Farmers in the Northeast in the area of Mount St. Helens have faced some unique obstacles as a result of the heavy coating of ash during the past months. Although all the figures still aren't in on damages, it now appears they may top the half-billion dollar mark in agricultural areas alone. Anyone who's bought a bale of hay in the past six weeks can tell that the worst damage was to the alfalfa crop. As a result of the severe losses in ordinarily productive areas, prices have soared all over the country. Farmers in the area say the ash acted as a sealant over the soil and not only kept moisture out but even lowered the soil temperatures so much that extra cultivation was necessary.

IMPORTANT SAFETY WARNING

to owners of older John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractors

Maintaining the safety equipment on your older John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor can be especially important. The original boot (or cover) for the battery's positive post on Model 60, 70, 100, 110, 112, 120 or 140 Tractors manufactured from 1963 through 1974 may have suffered from age or may have been lost or damaged. And if that positive battery post is not properly covered, there is danger of a spark causing a fire and bodily injury if you accidentally touch a metal gas can to the positive battery post when refueling the tractor. A more serious fire can result if you are not using a safety-approved gas can.

If you own one of the above models, John Deere wants to make absolutely certain that your tractor has the battery's positive post properly isolated. To make it easy—and safer—for you, we will send you a new cover, free. Just fill out the coupon provided below and mail it to the address shown. It comes complete with installation instructions and is not difficult to install. But if you prefer, after you have received your kit, make a date with your John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor dealer and he'll install it for a small service charge.

Remember, safety and maintenance go hand in hand. The operator's manual can help you. Read it again. Keep your tractor as safe as it was when it was delivered. It could be the most important thing you do today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though certain household duties can be a drag, you'll feel a real sense of satisfaction for the discipline you display in getting them done.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're quite communicative today, but you'll have no time for idle chatter. You're interested in talking to those who can aid you in learning, developing or finishing projects.

SPEAKING OF SOAPS

BY MARY ANN COOPER

Sharon Gabet (left), as beautiful, unscrupulous Raven Swift, and Lee Godart, in the role of Elliot Dorn, often join forces in schemes that usually mean trouble for others on the popular ABC daytime series, "Edge of Night".

It is definitely the era of the anti-hero on soap operas. Fans who formerly flocked to the clean cut hero and heroines have become fascinated with the most menacing of characters. On ABC's "Edge of Night" Raven Swift (Sharon Gabet) a beautiful woman who will stop at nothing to get what she wants, the Elliot Dorn (Lee Godart) a handsome gigolo who will take anyone for a ride to serve his own interests, fit the bad girl and bad boy image perfectly.

It's not difficult to see why villains are so captivating. Many people harbor a secret desire to be just as ruthless as Raven and Elliot, getting even with those who have wronged them. Lee sees this appeal as "doing things with a smile that other people see as horrible." Sharon describes her 'bad girl' as "Someone who works on pure survival instinct, the most self-centered person imaginable."

It will be a disappointment to some of their fans to learn that Sharon and Lee are much different than the characters they play. Sharon describes herself as 'homey' and domestic. Lee is a bachelor living in New York but is not the lounge lizard that Elliot is.

Sharon, who's played many lascivious leading ladies in the past, says, "I don't really see Raven as evil. I prefer to think of her as a strong woman who is totally, almost recklessly, self-reliant." She defends Raven by saying, "She's smooth and manipulative, but I think she's driven to being the egomaniac that she is -- she's been brought up as a rich brat with very little love in her life. She runs on sheer self-preservation, and loves to create trouble." Lee, on the other hand, feels that Elliot is not quite as single-minded as Raven. Rather than setting his sights on something and getting it at any cost, Elliot is more of an opportunist, ready to take advantage of any situation. He describes Elliot as "an unpredictable man who is capable of being evil because he has no moral standards."

Sharon and Lee are glad that their characters are teaming again in the storyline. "The chemistry between us is incredible," says Sharon. "It's exciting because our characters seem more dangerous as a twosome."

Now a look at what's been happening and what will happen on all afternoon dramas.

Fonda after Coming Home and to know in your closet how brilliant you were." With the determination Ali projects, she'll claim that for herself someday.

Despite a string of movie hits to her credit, Ali MacGraw (now appearing on HBO in Players and Just Tell Me What You Want) still jokes uneasily about her lack of training as an actress. She shines through with natural vitality on screen, but confesses, "I'm struck with terror each time I act. I'm not sure I will ever be comfortable in movies. It must be great to be Jon Voight or Jane Fonda after Coming Home and to know in your closet how brilliant you were." With the determination Ali projects, she'll claim that for herself someday.

Will the real "10" please stand up -- Mary Cathleen Collins or Bo Derek? Beautifully, they are one and the same person. Born Mary Cathleen Collins in Long Beach, California, this golden girl became John Derek's "Bo" and created an overnight sensation in the racy comedy 10 (on HBO this month). But with astonishing modesty, Bo wonders about all the fuss. "I don't consider myself a '10' in any way," she reveals.

New charges hit Garwood

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Marine Pfc. Robert Garwood, already facing court-martial on charges of desertion and collaboration with the enemy in Vietnam, has been charged with two sex offenses involving a 7-year-old girl by the Onslow County Sheriff's Department.

Garwood voluntarily turned himself in Friday and was charged with attempting to commit sexual abuse by force against the 7-year-old girl. In a separate warrant, he was charged with committing a "lewd and lascivious act" on the body of the same child.

The alleged incidents occurred on or about Aug. 7, according to county magistrate Margaret Murrill.

Whether the civilian charges would have any bearing on his court-martial was not immediately known, military officials said.

Garwood was released on $10,000 bond and was to appear Monday in district court. The 34-year-old Indiana native has been stationed at Camp Lejeune Marine Corps Base since May 1979.

It was the second time Garwood, who works as a file clerk at the Marine base, has faced civilian charges in this area since he returned from Vietnam early last year.

He was charged with driving under the influence in February and fined $50 plus court costs and given a suspended sentence after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of careless and reckless driving.

Garwood was informed of the felony sex charges after the Onslow County Sheriff's Department began its investigation Sept. 1, according to arresting officer Det. Douglas Freeman.

While there was a reason the girl's parents delayed reporting the incident, Freeman declined to reveal it.

Garwood appeared before Mrs. Murrill with his lawyers Ed Bailey and Mark Raynor of Jacksonville.

The bond, $5,000 on each charge, was posted by Donna Long of Jacksonville, Garwood's frequent companion and the head of a group concerned about prisoners of war in Vietnam.
