Iraqi ground forces invade Iran

Hostage release denied by Iran

Iraqi ground forces invaded Iran today, Baghdad reported, as Iranian jet fighters bombed and strafed the Iraqi capital and nine other targets in Iraq. Iraq said its MiGs hit three more air bases in Iran following heavy raids across much of Iran Monday

Iraq reported 47 Iraqis killed and 116 wounded by Iran's U.S.-made jets and claimed 20 were shot down and many of the pilots were taken prisoner. Iran said all of its planes returned safely and its forces downed 16 Iraqi MiGs Monday and today. Iraq admitted the loss of three planes.

Baghdad Radio also claimed that Iran released all 52 American hostages unconditionally today and said "this surprise move goes to show that the racist regime in Tehran is a collaborator with U.S. imperialism." Iran's government radio denied the report, saying the Baghdad broadcast was a lie. Tehran Radio said the hostage matter "has been frozen indefinitely" by the Iranian Parliament. A State Department spokesman in Washington said the department had "absolutely no confirmation of the report whatsoever."

A spokesman for the State Department's Iran Working Group said he did not believe the report was reliable. But when department spokesman Joe Reap was asked if he considered the report credible, he replied: "We're not characterizing the report."

The invasion was reported in a communique broadcast by Baghdad Radio, which said Iraqi ground forces "advanced to take control of vital positions inside of Iran" to "break the racist government" of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini

The targets were not specified. But Radio Tehran said Iranian armored troops routed Iraqi troops around Khorramshahr, Iran's main port on the disputed Shatt al-Arab estuary at the head of the Persian Gulf

Reporting on the air war, the Iraqi state radio said Iranian jets struck all over the country, attacking Baghdad, Masul, Nineveh, Basra and six airfields and bases.

"Many men, women and children were killed," the broadcast "The largest portion of casualties occurred among the workers of the petrochemical and fertilizer factory of Basra, where 20 were killed and 50 wounded. Damage at the airfields was limited to one runway that was quickly repaired, the communique said.

It said Iraqi planes raided three air bases and military airfields in western and southwestern Iran, "inflicted heavy destruction and burned many enemy aircraft on the ground.

Iraq said its invasion was in retaliation for the "unlawful and irresponsible closure to navigation of the Hormuz Strait." which connects the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman and through which much of the Arab world's exported oil passes.

Iran said Monday it would take action against all ships entering the Persian Gulf through the strait if they sailed too close to the Iranian coast on the north side.

It declared the gulf a war zone, warned ships against carrying supplies to Iraq and ordered all merchant ships in the Shatt al-Arab and adjoining waters to leave immediately, "otherwise the Iranian army cannot be held responsible for any damage to these vessels.' Iraq's President Saddam Hussein said the Iranian threats to shipping in the Strait of Hormuz constituted a declaration of war. But Khomeini, Iran's revolutionary leader, said Iraq had declared war on Iran and that Iraq would suffer the consequences.

The border war between the two neighboring oil nations escalated sharply in the air Monday. The Iraqi Air Force roamed far across Iran's skies to attack Tehran's Mehrabad Airport, 300 miles across the border, and 10 other airfields ranging 700 miles from Tabriz in the north to Boushehr in the south.

Iran said "innocent people" were killed but gave no figures. It claimed Iranian Phantom jets bombed Iraq's Waset Province, 100 miles east of Baghdad, and Basra, Iraq's big port 300 miles south of Baghdad on the Shatt al-Arab.

Tehran Radio said Iranian forces also sank four Iraqi gunboats in the Shatt al-Arab and claimed Iranian artillery destroyed Iraqi oil installations and a gas refinery at Al-Faw.

President Hussein last week abrogated the 1975 treaty that put the Iran-Iraq border midstream in the Shatt al-Arab He proclaimed Iraqi sovereignty over the entire estuary. The waterway., formed by the meeting of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, is Iraq's only waterway to the Persian Gulf as well as the outlet for the Iranian ports of Abadan and Khorramshahr.

Despite all the hostile military activity reported around the gulf shipping lanes, sources in the U.S. oil industry said the war apparently was having no major impact yet on oil shipments from the area, which supplies 40 percent of the non-communist world's petroleum

The exports pointed out that the oil-importing nations' storage tanks are filled as a result of the current glut in the oil market, and this would postpone adverse effects of an interruption in oil shipments from the Persian Gulf.

One diplomat in London pointed out, however, that both Iran and Iraq "have studiously avoided attacking their neighbor's exposed oil installations

Kissinger says lack of diplomacy the cause

ROMULUS, Mich. (AP) — Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger says a failure in diplomacy has made it impossible for the United States to ease the Iraq-Iran conflict.

Diplomacy requires "preventing such situations from arising."

Kissinger said Monday. "But now there is nothing we can do." Iraq and Iran are both well-armed countries dominated by "radicals." Kissinger said. He said Iraq is heavily supplied by the Soviet Union, while Iran has "inherited" weapons supplied by the United States to the former regime of the late shah.

Kissinger, in Detroit to campaign for Michigan Republican congressional candidate Vic Caputo, said Iran would be "draining American good will" if it were to ask the U.S. "to defend the country that is holding American hostages.

Kissinger also told a news conference at Detroit Metro Airport the recent explosion of a U.S. Air Force Titan II missile in Arkansas, is the type of accident "that is probably inevitable - I don't think it's the administration's fault." He did not say why he believed the accident was inevitable.

Kissinger reiterated his support for Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan. Kissinger said he would not expect to serve as secretary of state in a Reagan administration.

FBI apologizes to state's sheriffs

published remark concerning alleged graft and corruption among Texas sheriffs is "sweeping and unfounded" and "does not reflect the official policy or position of the FBI.' Special Agent-in-Charge James Abbott issued a public apology Monday for a remark attributed to an FBI agent who said he believes half the sheriffs in Texas are on the take. "The ... agent mentioned in the Sunday article authorized spokesman for the Dallas division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation." Abbott said in a statement

'Furthermore.' he continued, "such a broad, sweeping statement that 50 percent of the Texas sheriffs are 'involved in at least some form of graft' is utterly unfounded, irresponsible and deplorable.

The article, published Sunday by the Dallas Morning News, quoted a veteran FBI agent who helped investigate corruption in East Texas as saying he believed half the sheriffs in Texas are involved in some form of graft.

It also quoted U.S. Attorney John Hannah of Tyler, who successfully prosecuted sheriffs of Gregg, Fannin and Cherokee counties on corruption charges.

among Texas sheriffs was due to their absolute authority under the

Hannah told the newspaper he believed widespread corruption

Hannah said at a Tuesday news conference he has sent a letter to the Texas Sheriffs Association to clarify any misunderstanding that may have arisen from the published reports Hannah said he was not apologizing because he felt he said nothing to apologize for.

FBI agent Bill Hinshaw, quoted in the article, denied making the remark about half the Texas sheriffs being corrupt.

That's a little strong "Hinshaw in Georgia, said in a telephone interview with radio station KGRI in Abbott said the statements attributed to Hinshaw and Hannah are "not supported by any facts available to the FBI.

The special agent of the FBI quoted in the article is not presently assigned to any FBI office within the State of Texas and is not the authorized spokesman for any FBI division within the state," Abbott said. "The statements attributed to this agent and the U.S. Attorney mentioned do not reflect the official policy or position of the FBI.

Abbott said cooperation among law enforcement agencies is "our final hope for success" in fighting crime, and "the irresponsible statement of any FBI agent or member of any other law enforcement agency falsely criticizing the profession serves no useful purpose and corrodes this necessary trust

Defendant says on tape Clayton not known to become involved

HOUSTON (AP) — A defendant in the Texas Brilab trial told an FBI informant in an October 1979 meeting that House Speaker Billy Clayton "is not somebody right off the top of your head that would become involved" in handling state insurance programs.

Randall Wood, an Austin attorney, said on secret tapes recorded by informant Joseph Hauser that "I have never seen Clayton try to push any state agency around.

Wood, Clayton and another Austin attorney, Donald Ray, are on trial in federal court on charges of extortion, racketeering, conspiracy and bribery. The charges arose from the Brilab investigation and involves an alleged insurance kickback scheme.

The seven-woman, five-man jury listened to tapes again today and heard Ray say to Hauser, "While there are some people with greasy fingers and sticky palms in Texas, most of the bureaucrats are as honest as the day is long.

Wood was asked if the speaker would use his position to influence the awarding of a multimillion-dollar-a-year state employees health insurance contract.

Wood answered, "If the speaker could be put in a position where he could save the state or the employees some money, he might be

U.S. District Judge Robert O'Conor Jr. has given a stern warning to defense attorneys for attempting "to put on trial" the government's key defense witness. And during a late Monday meeting in his Houston courtroom.

O'Conor curtly told the attorneys "We are not going to get out of here anytime soon if this continues. I am running this court and you are not and don't think

An obviously angry O'Conor made the statement after defense attorneys asked for permission to dig deeper into the relationship between Hauser and Waco, Texas, insurance executive Bernard

Roy Minton, defending Clayton, said he believed Hauser was lying to the jury when he told them Rapoport was a close personal riend, and "they should know this. O'Conor said, "If you want to prove that, then bring Mr. Rapoport as a witness. You are trying the witness." Minton said he was doing everything possible to shorten the case but that he was afraid to bring Rapoport as a witness in this second week of the trial because the judge might rule it irrelevant. The judge issued two stern warnings during Monday's cross-examination of Hauser

First he said, "The witness (Hauser) is not on trial, move along. And later, when he told attorneys to furnish Hauser with a copy of previous testimony, "We are not conducting a memory test of this

Hauser, twice convicted of bribery and of taking kickbacks in insurance deals, served as an FBI informant in the undercover Brilab investigation that touch almost every section of the nation. His testimony, and secret tape recordings he made, led to the June 12 indictment of Speaker Clayton, Austin attorneys Donald

Ray and Randall Wood, and L.G. Moore, regional director of the International Operating Engineers Union. Clayton, Ray and Wood are now on trial before a seven-woman, five-man jury on charges of bribery, conspiracy, racketeering, and

Moore is to be tried later on the same charges

During Monday's testimony, Hauser said he had been paying off labor officials since 1965 to get union insurance business 'Those are the facts of life. In my experience, nobody in America does any business with union officials without paying for it. No one can be successful without bribery when dealing with labor unions. The government witness also said he didn't come to Texas "to target" Clayton, but the politician's name first was brought up by

The jury also listened to tapes in which Moore said he could "cut a deal" with the house speaker

Moore continued, "I can say, look, Billy, you get this deal and you get this, Okay?" Hauser: "Beautiful.

Moore: "Now he's that kind of guy.

The government has accused Clayton of accepting a $5,000 bribe from Moore with a promise of an additional $500,000 to help secure a rich state employee insurance contract for Hauser, who then was posing as a representative of Prudential Insurance Co. Clayton said he received the money but thought it was a campaign contribution and planned to return it later. Tapes of the Sept. 20, 1979 meeting between Moore and Hauser also revealed this exchange:

Moore: "I think I can wire that (delete) up... I really do. The Speaker of the House. I'm going to have breakfast him in the next two weeks. ... He's my friend. I've kept him, you know what I mean, when his ass was in a box and I'd go get one of my guys off his ass or something.

During the meeting, Hauser said, "We could lay 25 to 50 (thousand) on the speaker in two seconds."

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - A giant Air Force transport plane believed to be carrying a damaged nuclear warhead was to land at the Pantex nuclear weapons plant just before noon today, the Amarillo Globe-News reported

An Air Force C131 carrying "hazardous materials" had an estimated time of arrival of 11:50 CDT, the newspaper said. The warhead, believed to be in the nine-megaton range, was ejected from a missile silo during an explosion last week in Arkansas The warhead was believed removed from the area Monday and transported by flatbed truck to an Air Force Base outside Little Rock, Ark. The Federal Aviation Administration office at the Amarillo International Airport confirmed this morning that an Air Force

Military Airlift Command (MAC) transport plane was due to arrive in Little Rock at 8 a.m. en route to Amarillo An FAA spokesman told the Globe-News the plane would arrive in Amarillo "about an hour" after leaving Little Rock. Paul R. Wagner, the ranking Department of Energy official at Pantex, confirmed Monday that the weapon was destined for Pantex, but said he had not been told when it would arrive.

"I have been told ... that the damaged warhead from the Titan missle accident will be sent to Pantex for disassembly or analysis,' Wagner said. Meanwhile, the Air Force still would not confirm or deny a nuclear weapon was involved in the weekend accident. At the devastated Titan II missile silo site in Damascus, Ark., the warhead, apparently contained in one of two canisters labeled "Do Not Drop," was loaded onto a flatbed truck Monday and taken to

Little Rock Air Force Base Arkansas law enforcement officers followed the truck on the 90-minute trip to the base near Jacksonville, about 12 miles northeast of Little Rock. Two helicopters flew ahead to report traffic conditions. The weapon in question — carried by the Titan II intercontinental ballistic missile - is the largest in terms of yield in the U.S.

arsenal. This conclusion is based on the "throw weight" of the Titan II, or its ability to carry heavy items The Titan II is a liquid-fueled rocket with the range of some 7,000

The blast, which killed a sergeant and injured 21 other men, occurred Friday about 81/2 hours after a wrench socket was dropped by a workman in the silo and hit the rocket's first stage, starting a Nuclear material from past military accidents has invariably wound up at Pantex and remained stored there.

Pantex, which is wholly owned and operated by the DOE, serves as a final assembly point for all the nation's nuclear weapons. Nuclear weapons being removed from the nation's arsenal also are disassembled there.

A June 1976 environmental assessment report on Pantex said part of the plant housed plutonium-239 residue from military accidents. The residue "is mixed and diluted by the debris" making recovery of the hazardous material "virtually impossible," the report said.

The residue is from military weapons accidents in Palomares, Spain, and Thule, Greenland, the report said.

In Spain, a B-52 bomber loaded with four nuclear bombs collided with a KC-135 tanker during refueling operations. In Greenland, a B-52 bomber crashed on ice while attempting an emergency

City approves increase for apartment utilities

By DEBORAH BRIDGES Staff Writer

Protest by the legal representative of a group of apartment house owners concerning the proposed city utility rate increases did not sway city commissioners today who voted unanimously to accept the rate increase ordinances during the commission meeting today. Jean Martindale, a local attorney and apartment owner, told commissioners in the session this morning that the proposed water, sewer and water rate changes for multi - family dwellings were 'arbitrary and discriminatory' against apartment owners.

'You have singled out one group. You have singled out multiple family dwellings, and you are saying they will pay more. This is discriminatory," he said.

Mayor Thompson defended the legality of the oridnances, saying, We believe that all of the ordinances are legal, and we believe them to all be all right.

Martindale questioned the recent study made by the city staff concerning the rates.

In response, Wofford said, "We picked 14 multi-family dwellings at random and used them to make the determination.

Several Supreme Court cases involving similar matters were mentioned by Martindale. The commissioners really should look at all guidelines set forth by past Supreme Court decisions and not just one or two," he said.

Bob Joplin questioned why the city could raise apartment house rates and not motel rates, saying the two were really the same. The new rate ordinances will base rates for multi - family dwellings on the number of apartments per meter and the amount of each service used. Other action taken by the commission included the acceptance of the $5.38 million budget for fiscal year 1980 - 81 and the tabling of action on a rate increase request by Metropolitan General Inc. for ambulance service. The commission was still in session at press time today.

Public service finalists told

NEW YORK (AP) - Nineteen daily newspapers have been selected as finalists in competition for the public service award of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Ten entries were picked as finalists in each of the two circulation categories of the contest. Two entries from the Miami Herald are in the final 10 among large newspapers. The winner of each category will be announced at the APME convention in Phoenix, Ariz., in November. A total of 132 entries - 89 from large newspapers and 43 from smaller dailies - were judged this year.

All daily newspapers that are members of The Associated Press are eligible to enter. The finalists were announced here Monday by Joseph W.

Shoquist, chairman of the judging committee and immediate past president of APME. Entries covered a wide range of subjects, from police brutality to business mergers to quality of education. Many of the reporting efforts resulted in removal of public officials from office, passage of corrective legislation and other reforms. "Collectively, the contest entries reflect many of the ills, along with many strengths, of today's society," Shoquist said. "They also demonstrate the excellence of journalism that exists in numerous newspapers, large and small, across the nation. Finalists, listed alphabetically, in the over-50,000 circulation category are:

—Arizona Daily Star, Tucson, for an investigation of the University of Arizona football program that unearthed wrongdoing and resulted in the resignation of the football coach. —Boston Globe for articles on the deterioration of Boston's mass transit system due largely to management weaknesses.

-Chicago Sun-Times for articles on automobile insurance fraud involving collusion among lawyers, doctors and hospitals in the -Chicago Tribune for its "black-tax" series which showed homeowners and auto owners in predominantly black neighborhoods of Chicago paid substantially higher insurance rates than did residents of white neighborhoods. -Gary, Ind., Post-Tribune for an investigation of theft and corruption by Gary police officers. -Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal for articles on sordid conditions in Kentucky nursing homes.

-Miami Herald for articles on brutality by Miami policemen and coverage of rioting by black residents as the result of the acquittal -Miami Herald for stories on drug trafficking in Key West, Fla -Newsday of Long Island, N.Y., for stories on court laxity in

August consumer prices jump

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumer prices - which were unchanged in July - jumped 0.7 percent last month because of a very large spurt in food costs and a boost in car prices, the government said today.

If consumer prices rose at the same pace for the next 12 months, the annual compounded inflation rate would be 8.6 percent. For the first eight months of 1980, the rate was 12.1 percent, compared with a 13.3 percent level for all of 1979, the Labor Department said.

Patrick Jackman, a department economist, said consumer prices should accelerate even more in September, reflecting continued escalation in food prices and the virtual end of a months-long decline in mortgage interest rates. "We should be back to a 0.9-percent to 1-percent monthly increase in September," said Jackman. That pace would once again bring inflation into the double-digit range All the figures in the Consumer Price Index are adjusted for seasonal variations In a separate reoprt, the Labor Department said the average worker's take-home pay after taxes rose 0.3 percent last month. The department's August report on consumer prices showed

-Food prices at the grocery store jumped 2.3 percent, following a 1.2 percent hike in July and much smaller rises earlier this year. Meats, poultry, fish and eggs rose 4.1 percent and accounted for half the monthly boost. Egg prices alone spurted 6.6 percent. Fresh fruits and vegetables also registered substantial increases. -All housing costs rose 0.1 percent, following a 0.7 percent decrease in July. While mortgage rates fell 4.3 percent, the price of a house increased 1.7 percent and rents rose 0.6 percent -All transportation costs went up 0.9 percent, the largest monthly advance since March. New- and used-car prices rose 1.7 percent and 2.3 percent respectively. Public transportation spurted 4.4 percent, reflecting large price increases for airline, intercity

-Household fuels rose 0.5 percent, the smallest increase this year for this index, which includes heating oil, electricity and natural gas. -Prices of apparel and their upkeep rose 0.6 percent compared with a 0.4 percent increase in July. The introduction of fall and winter clothing was largely responsible for this boost. -Medical care increased 0.7 percent, the same as in July. Charges for hospital care rose 1.5 percent while physicians' fees advanced 0.5 percent

-The cost of entertainment spurted 0.8 percent with restaurant meals up 0.6 percent. The overall increase in the Consumer Price Index was slightly larger than many economists expected, but not all that surprising. The lack of any change in the index in July - the first time that has happened in more than 13 years — was considered a fluke, due to the very steep decline in mortgage interest rates after they had rocketed above 15 percent earlier this year. This downward trend in housing costs has now reversed, and will show up even more conclusively in September. Food prices, due mainly to the severe drought that has plagued the nation's farm belt, also will continue to jump. That drought destroyed millions of tons of grain and corn and killed huge numbers of poultry which showed up particularly in the accelerating egg prices. Consumer prices rose 1.4 percent in February and March, 0.9 percent in April and May, 1 percent in June and not at all in July.

The department reported that the CPI in August stood at 249.4 before seasonal adjustments. That means that what cost $1 in 1967 was nearly $2.50 last month.

The Labor Department also said a worker's real spendable ' earnings - take-home pay after deductions for Social Security and federal income taxes - increased 0.3 percent on a seasonally adjusted basis in August

That followed a 0.2 percent increase in July. Before then, this measure of take-home pay had been declining constantly under the ravages of double-digit inflation. Despite the two monthly improvements, real spendable earnings

Border war could block oil shipment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The border war between Iran and Iraq could temporarily block shipment of about 7.5 percent of the world's daily oil supply but would have little direct impact on the United States, government officials and oil industry sources say. Deputy Energy Secretary John Sawhill told a Senate hearing Monday that while the United States gets much of its oil imports from Persian Gulf nations, it buys none from Iran and very little of the 3.2 million barrels Industry sources, who asked not to be identified, said high world oil inventories could help cushion the blow of a Persian Gulf oil cutoff.

Oil industry experts say the Iran-Iraq conflict so far has caused no reduction in oil production or exports by either country, but an independent analysis prepared for the Energy Department before the fighting broke most likely source of major disruptions at the head of the (Persian) Gulf is the extremely difficult relations between Iraq and Iran."

Fredric S. Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

An ideal place to live

The 38 households of Key, Ohio, are upset. Washington says their village does not exist.

Why? Because Key has no government. No mayor or council. No ordinances. Sounds like an ideal place to live.

Key is in southeastern Ohio, west of Bellaire. The question of its village-hood came up when a church applied to build an FM broadcasting station at Key because it had been given land there, and was turned down by the Federal Communications Commission. The FCC decision was confirmed by Judge Frederic Coufal, who complained, "Key has no organizations, schools or government."

This bit of bureaucratic tyranny may provide insight to one thing that ails America: We are so smitten with bigness that we have lost sight of the value of freedom to the folks who live at the wide places in the road.

A real strongman

Poster by poster, portrait by portrait, statue by statue. China is conducting a nation-wide campaign to remove most of the vestiges of the late Chairman Mao, who once seemed slated for deification.

In a political sense, the effort is revolutionary, but in practice the task poses some difficulties. Students in Peking tried for days to consign one huge statue of Mao to

First they tried to pull him over with brute strength, but he wouldn't

Next they tried a tractor without success.

A bit of dynamite was called for, and then a bit more, but this succeeded only in blowing off one of his kneecaps and parts of his head. Stubborn fellow, that Mao.

Single parent families increase by 80 percent

The number of families maintained by only one parent jumped nearly 80 percent in the last decade, the Census Bureau reported.

That's bad news. But what can be done about it? A White House Conference on the Family was convened this year to find out. The answer seems to be, not much.

Single - parent homes are increasing even though the number resulting from the death of a parent is becoming less likely. Divorce, saparation and premarital births are becoming more and more common in our society.

It is easy to become judgmental in this area and condemn contemporary morals. To the extent that family desertion and parental irresponsibility are increasing, they are indicators of social disorganization and must be deplored. But it may be better not to rush

In the long run, we are confident that the family will continue to function as the basic social unit. It always has, in one form or another, in all societies we know of, both primitive and advanced. There is something elemental about the monogamous couple together with each

Social attitudes toward other arrangements may change, but the two-parent family remains basic. So long as it satisfies the deepest yearnings of the human heart, the family will survive.

When will our 'allies' carry the load?

As Japan and West Germany continue to challenge the United States in economic terms, it is time they increased their contributions to the maintenance of world peace through strength.

It is not realistic to expect that these two countries, defeated in World War II, can continue indefinitely to rely upon the United States to provide the men and conventional weapons necessary for their national

Why should this country supply men and conventional weapons for the defense of West Germany and Japan when these countries are entirely able to furnish the manpower and support the cost themselves?

One argument has been that Germany and Japan, having been the aggressors in World War II, are not to be trusted if fully rearmed. That argument grows weaker with the passage of time and no longer seems cogent. The United States is in a sharp recession. We have a substantial deficit in the balance of payments. Our national debt is increasing at the rate of $80 billion a year. Inflation is in double digits.

And yet we continue to spend far more of our gross national product in defense that do Japan and West Germany, neither of which face the same acute economic problems that we do. We are now increasing our defense spending by about 5 percent a year in constant dollars.

Why should Japan spend less that 1 percent of its GNP on defense while we spend 5 or 6 percent? The lower taxes in Japan give Japanese industry a cost advantage in world markets. In effect, we are subsidizing their products.

The same is true, to a lesser extent. of West Germany.

It is time our most affluent allies began to carry their fair share of the defense burden.

Millionaires are on the increase

By Oscar Cooley
There are 574,342 millionaires in the United States. Nobody has counted them but that is the estimate of U.S. Trust of New York, which specializes in managing the money of rich people.

Although everybody would like to be rich, millionaires are widely despised. You are supposed to earn your bread by the sweat of your brow, and nobody's brow can sweat that much. Therefore, it is concluded, to get together a million dollars and more a person must have used illegitimate means. A millionaire must be a crook.

Yes, a millionaire is a crook, but so is everybody else. We all sin; there are no perfect human beings. There's no reason to believe millionaires are any worse sinners than are paupers - or columnists. Just about all of us are ambitious to be richer than we are. Millionaires differ only in that they have been quite successful in satisfying that ambition. Surely it is not a sin to succeed

The theory that nobody can earn a million dollars is just that -- an empty

theory. Many, perhaps most, believe it to be true because they have not managed to earn that much, nor have the great majority of their friends. But this is sorry proof. Neither have they swum the English

What does it mean to "earn" money? We picture a wood chopper out chopping down a tree, a store clerk punching a cash register, a teacher in the classroom, and we say they are earning wages. How do we know they are. All we really know is that by going through certain resultful motions they are getting money. Isn't the same true of the stock broker or movie star who gets. let us say, a million dollars as a result of a couple of years' effort? The economist answers the earning question by saying that if a person gets money as a result of doing, saying, or just being something which people will freely pay to have done, said or been, he has earned it. So, each does that for which he believes people will pay him the most, and one gets a few thousand dollars, another maybe a million. Both are Millionaires die faster than poorer people, says the U.S. Trust. That is, their death rate per thousand is higher. This is because millionaires are relatively old, on the average. It takes time to accumulate a million dollars.

A year ago, American millionaires were increasing at the rate of 15.4 percent per year, but this year they are increasing at only 10.3 percent. Could this be because of the higher rate of inflation in 1980? If so, it would indicate that inflation is rough on the very rich - that the prices they pay tend to rise more rapidly than the prices they receive. Then too, it is likely that the economic recession of 1980 has cut into the incomes of the rich more than into those of the less rich. It goes without saying that inflation is bad for both rich and poor. This is one enemy they both have in common.

Of all the states, New York has the largest number of millionaires -- 56,096. But Idaho has 24,738 millionaires, or 26.46 for every one thousand residents! This is 10 times the concentration in New York and more than 10 times that in the nation as a whole. Why the millionaires are so concentrated in Idaho, deponent sayeth not. Can it be because everybody is so fond of potatoes?

Some resent the wealthy, saying if there were fewer very rich people there would also be fewer very poor ones, but that I doubt. Some countries that have few if any millionaires are well supplied with poor

The wealthier a person is, the smaller the proportion of his income that is spent and the larger the part that is saved. Those savings are invested, creating capital goods and equipment which go to work in the economy producing consumer goods for sale in the market. The more the savings, the more the production of consumer goods and, therefore, the lower the cost of such goods to all, poor and rich.

A large part of the nation's capital is supplied by the savings of the wealthy. Millionaires are handy people to have around. Without them, the poor and middle class, saving less, would have to get along without the generous increase of goods provided by an economy where savings and nvestment are large.

Department stores are capturing an increasingly large share of the retail dollar, The Conference Board reports. In 1956, they accounted for only 26 percent of the $43.5 billion in sales of general merchandise, apparel and furniture. By 1976, they earned more than 44 percent of the $154.3 billion in sales of those kinds. Over the same period, the share of business earned by specialty shops and variety stores declined.

WASHINGTON -- If John Anderson does They have been building Anderson up as the one they really fear, and this year the perverse voter says, "If Carter doesn't like him, Anderson can't be all bad.'

The Carter people feel that Anderson is a spoiler and will siphon votes away from their man. But they won't admit this publicly. What they're saying out loud is that Anderson is damaging the two - party

"We have nothing against John Anderson personally," one of the president's people told me. "But this country can't afford three presidential candidates.

"Why is that?" I asked. "It detracts from the issues. The choice between Reagan and Carter is very clear Anderson muddies it, because the people don't know what he stands for." "The people didn't know what Carter stood for when he was running for president in 1976.'

"That was different. Carter was running almond has no real support in this country well in the November elections, he will owe on the Democratic ticket. Anderson is and should not be listed on the menu. "So?

But if you have to choose between vanilla, strawberry and butter almond, then you really have to think about it. No one should have to choose between three flavors. Do you get what I'm driving at?

"I'm not sure. But there are people in the country who are very unhappy with vanilla and strawberry, and would take butter almond just to protest the lack of choice.

"The majority of the people like vanilla and strawberry. Butter almond has nuts in it, which confuses the issues. "You're not suggesting John Anderson is

Revolutionary think tank

By Anthony Harrigan

The Ethics and Public Policy Center in Washington has performed a major public service in reporting on the insidious work of the Institute for Policy Studies in the nation's capital

Americans who have never heard of the IPS have been profoundly affected by its efforts to influence decision making in the United States.

Dr. Ernest Lefever, director of the Center, accurately described the IPS as "the hub of a revolutionary political network." The declared aim of the IPS is, in his words, "the radical transformation of America's basic intellectual, religious, economic and political institutions.

The IPS seeks the unilateral disarmament of the United States, the breakup of America's intelligence services, and the dismantlement of its capitalist economic system.

Dr. Rael Jean Isaac, who has taught at Brooklyn College, is the author of the report entitled "America The Enemy Profile Of a Revolutionary Think Tank' which has been published by the Center. According to Dr. Isaac, the IPS represents an unprecedented success story "the achievement of the New Left after its supposed demise, in shaping United States policy." The new novel, "The Spike," is widely assumed to be based on the IPS. "In the novel," Dr. Isaac says, "it is the channel through which the Soviet Union hopes to take over the United States.

IPS writers have produced, in Dr. Isaac's words, "a veritable avalanche of publications." He notes that the "IPS has practically become an institutional columnist for The New York Times," with numerous IPS articles used on the opposite editorial page

The IPS has established cooperative programs with various colleges, including Antioch College. It has a joint program on "militarism" with the Cato Institute, a libertarian organization that opposes national defense efforts. It has supporters on Capitol Hill, such as Rep. John Conyers of Detroit. It made films designed to discredit U.S. intelligence agencies. It has been very active on behalf of the Palestine Liberation Organization, a terrorist group. The former head of its Transnational Institute unit, a Chilean radical, was in the pay of Cuba's intelligence service. The new head of that IPS unit is Tarig Ali, a leader of the British section of the Trotskyite Fourth International.

Most significantly, says Dr. Isaac, under the Carter administration, there has been a movement of IPS - linked people "into the National Security Council and the Department of State

The Ethics and Public Policy Center report is packed with facts and extensively foot - noted. It points out, for example, that the Rubin Foundation has poured millions of dollars into the IPS. Another $2 million came from the now defunct DJB Foundation whose founder said the chief enemy of mankind was "the injustice of governments and of the United States government in particular.'

Despite this ugly record, the IPS is still identified by The New York Times simply as "a research organization in Washington,

The full report on the Institute For Policy udies is available from the Ethics and Public Policy Center for $1. It is a dollar well spent for Americans who want to understand why the country has adopted left - leaning positions in recent years. Indeed, this report is an enormously important public document in this presidential election year.

GREG TROLLINGER of Pampa goes on the attack during the Harvesters' high school tennis opener against Plainview last weekend

Strateline: Sports

By L.D. STRATE Pampa News Sports Editor

The biggest thing working against the Pampa High tennis squad in their opener last weekend at Plainview may not have been their opponent, but the fans in the bleachers.

Tennis is one sport when overzealous partisan cheering could be considered unsportsmanlike conduct when it bothers the fellow on the other side of the net.

Pampa's Greg Trollinger, who lost his singles match in three sets, had trouble concentrating due to a boisterous crowd, according to Coach David Martin.

"It was a heartbreaker to lose," Martin said. "He not only had to play his opponent, but he had to compete with some rabid fans, who made playing almost impossible."

Trollinger and doubles partner Mark Elliott encountered the same problem, Martin said. They dropped their match, 2-6, 6-4, 3-6. On the positive side, Billy Price and Richard Van Kluyve won their matches while drawing raves from Martin.

Price, who didn't pick up a racquet until two years ago, scored a 6-2, 6-1 decision while Van Kluyve won in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1. Billy is living proof of what hard work and genuine effort can do," Martin said.

Van Kluvve has improved his mental approach to the game, which has made him a valuable asset to the team, Martin said. "He's the type of player who can be depended upon in the clutch."

In the girl's division, Collene Hofacket and Leslie Eddins won their doubles match, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2.

Other winners were Mark Spence, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, and Mark Elliott,

Rich Gossage's 31st save of the season protected Tommy John's career-high 22nd victory, both of which were greatly assisted by Toby Harrah's first save of sorts. And Harrah plays for the other team. With Cleveland threatening to tie the game in the ninth with Harrah on third base. Harrah was hit by pinch hitter Ron Hassey's line drive for the final out of the game, preserving the New York 'Yankees' 4-3 victory over the Indians Monday

"I've been in the game a long time," said Cleveland Manager Dave Garcia, "and I can truthfully say I've never seen anything like that.

It was just a freak thing. It was the kind of freak thing that goes in your favor when you're going good, and the New York Yankees are going better than anybody else.

Their record in September is 18-4. The victory, combining with Baltimore's 5-3 loss to Boston, increased the Yankees' lead to five game over the Orioles in the American League East. Any combination of Yankee wins and Oriole losses adding to eight assures New York of its fourth division crown in five years.

Both clubs have 12 games left. Elsewhere in the AL, Toronto edged Detroit 6-5 despite Tom Brookens' five runs batted; Kansas City's George Brett went 1-for-4 and his batting average dropped to .393 as his Royals also went down, losing to Seattle in 11 innings, 54; California clubbed Milwaukee 7-3, and Minnesota blanked Texas 1-0.

The Yankess, who didn't touch Cleveland starter Len Barker for a hit until two outs in the sixth, had gone ahead 4-2 with three runs in the eighth on two walks, a bad hop double and a bouncing single by Bob Watson. Gossage came in for the ninth, an entry which has meant peace of mind for the Yankee pitching staff this summer.

In Gossage's previous 18 appearances over 282-3 innings, the hard-throwing right-hander hadn't surrendered a run. But Jack Brohamer's pinch-single, a walk, sacrifice and Rick Manning's RBI-grounder snapped Gossage's string and put the tying run on third.

Hoping to get Gossage to balk, Harrah bluffed a dash for the plate. The same ploy had worked over the weekend against rookie Dan Petry of

But this time he returned to the bag and couldn't avoid Hassey's line drive down the line. It was a single for Hassey, but Harrah, who had turned into fair territory, became the third out.

Tony Perez was in the middle of many pennant races when he played for Cincinnati and Montreal. This season with Boston, he can only play spoiler in September. He was pivotal in damaging Baltimore's pennant hopes Monday

Perez had a single, a double and a homer, his 22nd and first in six weeks, which keyed a three-run rally in the seventh as the Red Sox defeated the Orioles.

It was the first time since July 19 that the Orioles had taken a lead into the seventh and not won a game, ending a streak of 32 straight under those conditions

Mariners 5, Royals 4

George Brett's ninth inning homer tied the game and both teams scored a run in the 10th, but Willie Horton's single in the 11th scored Bruce Bochte to allow Seattle to win a

'Empress' holds reader interest

EMPRESS. By Sylvia Wallace. Morrow. 384 Pages. $12.95. "Empress" is the story of Marianna Curtis, who, orphaned at a young age, rises to stardom in Hollywood only to abandon her career when she meets and marries the handsome Shah of Bahrait. It seems like a dream come true, but this is not a story with a fairytale ending, despite the royal palace, servants and riches. The marriage is an unhappy one. And on the eye of her 15th wedding aniversary, Marianna summons a handful of old friends and family to Bahrait.

The group includes Selma Shapiro, the head of Hanover movie studios; Doug Braden, an aging, former screen idol and Marianna's former lover; Father Flynn, a Roman Catholic priest, and Calvin Gropper, an international statesman and the Shah's closest companion.

Marianna has summoned them and to Bahrait because each serves a purpose in her plans for the future — plans that do not include the Shah. However, just as she announces her plans, "fate" steps in, and suddenly Marianna is forced to make crucial decisions - decisions that not only affect her future, but also the future of Bahrait and, perhaps, the world.

"Empress" is an enjoyable novel, with enough twists and turns to keep the reader's interest. The story is set in Boston, Hollywood, Paris, Venice, and the fictional country of Bahrait. The characters are well-developed and consistent.

Sylvia Wallace has apparently drawn from real life situations and settings. A reader may guess who the character might resemble — but that's not the purpose of Mrs. Wallace's book. She is a focused writer - and her purpose in telling Marianna's story is clearly summed up in the title, 'Empress.

I'm there to serve the sale and to encourage bidders not to feel sick about losing something they want. I've never heard anyone say they were ill about spending that much money. but they were sick they didn't go that extra leap.

Of course, it's their decision, but the nature of the leaps is hers, "based on experience," she says. "At a big painting sale, I don't fiddle around with $50 increments. At $2,000 I start with $250 leaps or we'd be there all day You've got to realize a sale can be very boring. When John Marion, the president of the company, was training me to be an auctioneer, he said, don't muck around. Four years later, she still adores "marrying people with the objects they want," and she's excited about developing the gallery's new coin department ("I don't give up anything, I take on"). But the bewitchment of riches has vanished. "I work in this rarified atmosphere with a great deal of money and I think my price tag once was worldly things, but no more," she says "I live a spartan life in my studio apartment on the upper East Side," with a chest of drawers, a bookcase, pullout sofa, bedside table, desk and four paintings. Guess what? I spotted a full-time, stay-at-home mother the other day, which brings my total to three this year.

I'm bragging. It was just a fleeting glance of her in flight, but it was enough to excite me. Why, I haven't seen a woman like that since 43 percent of the species migrated into the working force.

When I mentioned this to a teacher friend of mine she nearly dropped the phone. "Tell me," she shouted, "where did you spot this rare bird?'

"In the car, where else? She was driving some children around." "Was she in our neighborhood?"

"Great. What were the ages of the children?" "What's that got to do with anything?" I asked.

"Plenty," she said. "Have you any idea what it's like trying to find a homeroom mother these days?'

"I mean it. We had one poor mother who was the only one who didn't work outside the home. She was homeroom mother for grades 3, 5, 8 and 9. The poor soul finally unravelled. She was calling herself to bake cookies, chaperone field trips, help with testing, assist on the playground, clear tables in the cafeteria, and make costumes for eight happy feet for National Foot Care Week." 'What happened to her?'

"One day she put herself on hold and she hasn't been heard of since. We call it Homeroom Mother Burnout.'

"That's a shame. There used to be so many," I observed. "That's what they tell me," she said, "but not anymore. Do you have any idea what it is like to be the only mother listed under 'IN CASE OF EMERGENCY ?** "I had no idea.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Prompted by reports of construction problems at a Texas project, a congressional panel opened hearings today on the federal government's regulation of nuclear power plant construction.

Nuclear Regulatory Commission Chairman John Ahearne was scheduled to testify before the House commerce subcommittee on oversight and investigation.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Texas, the subcommittee's chairman, said the investigation of nuclear power plant construction started after the NRC proposed a $100,000 fine for the utility supervising the South Texas Nuclear Power Project.

"Certainly, one must be troubled that it has taken a prolonged, intensive investigation in order to justify significant regulatory action based upon underlying deficiencies which were known to the

Oswald appeal ruling months away

FORT WORTH (AP) — If attorneys appeal a judge's order halting exhumation of Lee Harvey Oswald's grave, it could be "three or four months" before an appeals court could rule on the controversy, the presiding appeals court judge says.

Judge Frank Massey of the Fort Worth Court of Civil Appeals said Monday that state law requires the court to give the case a priority setting.

'We must give precedence to temporary orders designed to preserve the status quo," Massey said. "As a result, we would provide for early arguments in this controversy if it should reach us. We could hand down a decision in three or four months, but it would take at least that long.'

State District Judge James E. Wright ruled Friday that the grave at Rose Hill Burial Park cannot be opened.

British author Michael Eddowes contends the grave contains the body of a Russian spy instead of accused presidential assassin Oswald. He says an autopsy and additional tests will prove his claim, which he has advanced in a book, "The Oswald File. Eddowes' attorneys have not yet filed a notice of appeal.

In a previous lawsuit, the appeals court turned down Eddowes' Oswald's brother, Robert, opposed Eddowes' suit and asked

Wright to grant a temporary injunction keeping the grave closed. Oswald's widow, Marina Oswald Porter, has consented to an exhumation, saying she wants any questions about the body's identity answered. In surprising testimony before Judge Wright last month, Mrs. Porter said she now is not sure the grave contains

General Telephone guilty in discrimination suit

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal appeals court ruled Monday that a Texas telephone company discriminated against Mariano S. Falcon, a Mexican-American, by not promoting him to field inspector.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling thus upheld a decision by U.S. District Judge Sarah Hughes in the civil rights suit by Falcon against General Telephone Company of the Southwest. However, the case was sent back to Judge

Hughes for further findings of fact on Judge Hughes' ruling that 13 Mexican-Americans who were not hired by the company's Irving district, though they applied, were to receive back pay awards and job security awards.

The 5th Circuit said it was impossible for it to rule on that issue without further information Falcon was hired as part of an "affirmative action" program. The company said he was not promoted to field inspector because others were more qualified

"That claim, even if true, does not mean that Falcon was not considered qualified," the 5th circuit said.

The fact that others were considered more qualified was not good civil rights reasoning, the ruling said, because the company "has the obligation to articulate some legitimate, nondiscriminatory reason" for chosing somebody other than a minority member who applies for promotion. Falcon was awarded damages of $1,040 - the difference in pay involved.

Since the case was remanded, the court did not rule on how much of a fee the company will have to pay Falcon's lawyer, as the victor in a civil shake would be assassin CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) - Imprisonment has done nothing to shake Sara Jane Moore's belief that her attempt to assassinate Gerald Ford five years ago was the right thing to do. But now, 50 years old and serving a life term, Ms. Moore says her days as a would-be presidential assassin are over. "I'm not at this time a potential assassin of anyone," she said in a telephone interview from the Federal Correctional Institution at Alderson. "The fact that I'm well-known, I've been in prison and my age, well it's not a role for me. I can be more effective in other ways, like writing or speaking, rather than as an assassin.

It was the second attempt that month on Ford's life. Seventeen days earlier, Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, a member of the Charles Manson family, aimed a .45-caliber pistol at him in Sacramento. The gun failed to go off, and Miss Fromme is serving her sentence in a California

Eagles crush Giants

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Wilbert Montgomery has come out of

The once reluctant seventh-round draft choice from Abilene Christian, who dropped words almost as often as baseball's silent man. Steve Carlton, finally is tooting his own horn.

Montgomery let it be known that he has arrived, after accounting for 154 of the Philadelphia Eagles' 382 yards in a 35-3 victory over the New York Giants in Monday night's National Football League

"I think I'm a complete back now," said Montgomery, who ran for 87 yards, scoring from the one, caught passes for 67, including the Eagles' first touchdown, a 3-yarder from Ron Jaworski.

"I block well and I'm a pretty good pass receiver. And I'm getting better," said Montgomery after the unbeaten Eagles third victory of the season and 10th straight over the Giants since 1975.

The Eagles now have scored 104 points in three games and allowed just 16 to Denver, Minnesota and the Giants. The defense held the opposition under 100 yards on the ground for the third

Eagles' Coach Dick Vermeil said Montgomery, the league's third best running back before this past week's games, should gain 100 vards every game he plays

Montgomery wasn't ready to go that far.

"Every guy is entitled to his opinion," said the 5-foot-10 Montgomery. "But everybody must execute and create blocks for you to do well.

Montgomery said he hated Monday night games.

"I don't think anybody likes Monday night games. It takes too much out of you. You end up waiting around too long," Montgomery said. "It makes the week (the next week) too short, because you don't get enough time to recover.

In addition to Montgomery, the Eagles' offense had to tip its collective helmet to quarterback Jaworski, who completed 18 of 29 passes for 240 yards and three touchdowns. He ran the team as if it was dictated from a text book.

New York scored first on an opening period 50 yard field goal by Joe Danelo, Jaworski, Montgomery and company then took over.

Jaworski sent the Eagles ahead on that 3-yarder to Montgomery. He then completed a 22-yard pass play to Harold Carmichael, the 115th straight game the wide receiver has caught at least one pass - an NFL record.

SWC teams boast strong passing attacks

DALLAS (AP) - Southwest Conference football teams are collectively playing the most efficient passing game they've managed in the last decade, since the veer options made it one of the country's foremost rushing fronts.

Eight of the nine teams are con necting on more, than 50 percent of theirattempts-- and what makes that statistic even more unusual is the team that isn't

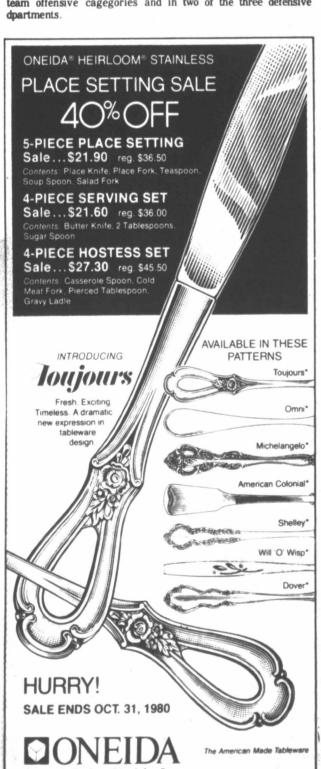

That's SMU, the SWC's most pass happy crew in the last few years with Mike Ford at the throttle. The Mustangs have won their first two games with a ground game built around sophomores Craig James, Eric Dickerson, Charles Drayton and Michael Charles. And Ford, the busy jun or who has a shot at becoming the first 10,000-yard career passer in NCAA history, is working less and

As a result, SMU is hitting 44.7 per cent of its passes. That's dead last among SWC marksmen as Arkansas is leading with 70.6 per cent, Texas A&M and Houston are tied for seventh with 50.8 per Arkansas' Tom Jones, the sophomore who won the starting job this fall, leads in completion percentage at 70.6 on 24 of 34. Rice's Randy Hertel is second at 68.8 per cent on 11 of 16.

Meanwhile, three runners continue to gain at better than 100 yards a game. Texas junior A.J. Jones is averaging 145.5 yards per game, followed by Baylor junior Walter Abercrombie at 112.0 and James at 111.5. Abercrombie set a Baylor career rushing record in the 43-15 victory over West Texas State. He has 1.771 vards to surpass the record of 1,713 set by Larry Hickman in 1956-58 and he's done it in 19 games. He has 20 more regular-season games left in his Baylor career to pad the mark.

And the way the Bears are going, he may add a few. After opening the season with the seventh-best total offense day in SWC history (655 yards against Lamar). Baylor kept the gates open against West Texas. The Bears continue to lead the SWC in all three team offensive cagegories and in two of the three defensive

Phillips looks ahead to Bengals

HOUSTON (AP) - The Cincinnati Bengals couldn't get Burn Phillips' attention Sunday, not even when their 30-28 upset victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers was flashed on the Astrodome scoreboard.

But today, Phillips is thinking ONLY of Cincinnati.

"They have always had good individuals and good athletes and they will be ready to play next week," Phillips said of this week's opponent. "And we must be ready also because we are on the road now.

It's hard to ignore the Astrodome's $1 million dollar scoreboard and the 47,878 Oiler fans' thunderous approval of the Cincinnati victory. But Phillips said he wasn't a scoreboard

"We had our own 'board' to worry about," Phillips said, referring to Houston's eventual 21-16 victory over Baltimore.

Phillips just hopes he doesn't have to face the Bengals without the services of running back Earl Campbell, who reinjured a groin pull in the first quarter Sunday and spent the rest of the game on the sidelines.

Although he was ably replaced by Rob Carpenter, even Carpenter is hoping Campbell

"I think I have a lot of ability but I'm not the tackle-breaker that Earl is," said Carpenter, who rushed 114 yards on 24 carries and scored one touchdown. Carpenter would like to see the work load distributed more evenly, however. "If Earl is healthy, I think we could be a better team is we spread the work around just a little bit more," Carpenter said. "Now I know how Earl feels. I'm beat to a pulp.

"I know he's Superman, but Superman even is affected by krypton. When we rotate our backs, it takes a load off Earl and that helps all of us." Oiler fullback Tim Wilson also had a

DEAR ABBY

DANA HACKETT

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband of 42 years died three weeks ago, and immediately following his funeral, my children insisted that I go to stay with my sister in another town to get away for a while.

Yesterday I came home to an immaculate but very empty house. I have three wonderful daughters (all married) whom I love dearly, but sometimes I wish they wouldn't be so helpful. In my absence they came in and cleaned my house - even the garage, from top to bottom! Every closet, cupboard and corner had been cleaned out, so there was not one trace of my beloved husband. All of his clothes were gone; even his fishing gear, golf clubs and tools had been disposed of. I know they did this only to spare me the difficult job of sorting through his belongings and deciding what to do with his things, but I really think I should have had a say in making those decisions.

I know my daughters meant well and what's done is done, so I am not going to say anything to them about it, but I just had to get this off my chest. Thanks for listening,

HEAVYHEARTED

DEAR HEAVYHEARTED: I understand your feelings and agree that your daughters wanted to spare you one of the most painful and difficult tasks a widow must face. However, you should have been consulted first. Perhaps your letter will prevent other well-meaning children from doing what yours

Whose side are you on, Abby? GRAND ISLAND, NEB.

DEAR GRAND: Yours.

DEAR ABBY: With reference to the letter putting down the woman who came to a wedding in silver lame stretch pants and a tight sweater: I suggest that one is offended by what one wants to be offended by.

Several years ago, when miniskirts were in style, I decided they looked good on me, so I wore one to Easter services. The pastor mentioned to me that he considered such attire out of place in church, particularly when worn with high heels! I think what really bothered him was the fact that some of the congregation were distracted by my shapely legs and failed to pay proper attention to what he had to say. If a woman looks good in short skirts or a sweater and stretch capris, she should wear them, and criticism be damned. As long as she is neat and clean, it's nobody else's business how she dresses. Some women have great hair or facial features and take advantage of them. Some have great bodies. So what's the difference? Just as beauty lies in the eye of the beholder, so does umbrage.

Charge in on your convenient Hub Charge, Visa, Master Card or American Express!

DEAR ERIKA: I agree. There's nothing wrong with taking advantage of everything you have going for you, but one should consider the occasion. While silver lame stretch pants are great for a disco, they are inappropriate for a wedding. And miniskirts make for maximum distraction in church.

DEAR DR. LAMB - When I'm climbing a hill I have to stop and rest until my chest quits hurting before I can get to the top. It feels like the upper part of my lungs are on fire. On cold windy days, walking on a level hurts, too. All my doctor said when I told him was that I have hardening of the arteries around my heart and I must learn to take it slow and easy.

I'm 58 years old and about 50 pounds overweight and have high blood pressure and asthma I do not smoke or drink. I take Hydroserpine for the blood pressure and that keeps it under control. I don't need any pills for the asthma.

Is there a diet I can follow that would prevent further damage to my arteries? know I should lose weight and I've lost about eight pounds

DEAR READER - You're describing classic angina pectoris - the form of heart pain that occurs with exertion. Most people with such a problem have an exercise threshold. When you're walking on the level in normal weather. your workload is apparently below the threshold level that induces angina, but if you have to walk uphill, increasing your workload, the chest pain occurs. We also know that if you walk into a cold wind, particularly if the front of your chest and throat isn't well covered, you're more apt to develop angina.

Your tendency to have high blood pressure increases the work of the heart and increases your susceptibility to having the anginal pain you're describing. You can decrease the work of your heart and thereby decrease your chances of having pain by decreas-ing your blood pressure and your body weight. That extra 50 pounds you say you have means you have to work that much harder whenever you walk. If you got rid of the 50 pounds it would be a lot less effort to move your body weight from one point to the other and consequently, your

"Diet Center worked for me"

I had tried every diet imaginable before coming to Diet Center. None of them had allowed me to lose weight fast enough to keep me excited and motivated to stay with it. Soon, I would lose interest, go off the diet and gain back what little weight I had lost. I was really fed up with the way I looked and I didn't feel like doing anything or going anywhere. One day, I was looking through the phone book for some kind of reducing program and came across an ad for Diet Center. The idea of private daily counseling and sound nutrition appealed to me so I gave them a call. That call was the start of a whole new life for

In the first 6 weeks, I lost 26 pounds and a total of 26 inches. I was really pleased with my accomplishment and already I was receiving a lot of compliments from my friends and family. I never even considered stopping short of my goal. I went on to lose a total of 85 pounds, and reduced my dress size from a snug 18 to a perfect 8. That was nine months ago, and since then I have taken up tennis and snow skiing and for the first time in 8 years I can get up on water skis! More than 4,000 school board members and administrators are expected for the convention, which starts Saturday.

Clements, a Republican, and White are scheduled to comment on the education planks in the national party platforms.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Railroad Commission ordered Lone Star Gas Co. on Monday to supply financial information on its operation, as well as that of its parent company - Enserch Corp. -

The commission said if the information is not furnished by Oct. 6, Lone Star risks the matter being referred to the state attorney general's office.

Commission Examiner Jo Campbell said the information is needed to determine a rate case involving the cities of McGregor Ms. Campbell said Lone Star had refused since May 29 to supply agency station at Canyon on a one-year trial basis.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Railroad Commission authorized Santa Fe Railway on Monday to discontinue the operation of its

The commission refused Santa Fe's request to dismantle the station at Canyon, 16 miles south of Amarillo. Commission Examiner E.A. Galvan reported that several parties, including two grain elevator operators, had protested closing of the station. He said, "Canyon is a crossroads for traffic" in that Panhandle area. BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — City, county and state health officials began a door-to-door search of a 20-block area Monday seeking unreported cases of dengue fever. Nurses asked for blood samples and inquired about recent illnesses while surveying residents of Brownsville's southernmost section, located on the Mexican border. Health department sanitarians also sought permission to search homes for breeding grounds of a mosquito that carries the flu-like

Only one confirmed case of dengue fever has been reported recently in Brownsville, the first in Texas in 35 years.

Dengue fever is a rarely fatal disease that generally lasts about a week. The symptoms include fever, headaches, pain behind the eyes, soreness of the joints and muscles and, in some cases, a head-to-foot rash the information.

DALLAS (AP) - The vice president for production for Shell Oil Co. predicts the oil glut will last only 12 to 18 months. and says the government should open more federal lands for oil exploration

Donald G. Russell also said Monday that if the strife betwewen Iran and Iraq results in a Middle Eastern oil cutoff, it could be "economically disastrous - for both the U.S.

and the rest of the world." Russell was in Dallas to receive an award at the annual conference and exhibition of the Society of Petroleum

Engineers. If Middle Eastern oil is cut off, "prices will likely shoot up and there'll be a race for the available oil," he said. "But most of all, the Third World countries will suffer."

Russell predicted prices would be stable for six to nine months, "barring any world disasters." He added the oil bubble was temporary.

"There's so many factors to contend with," he said. "A rapid recovery from the recession would increase demand, and so would a real harsh winter

...Keep in mind that supply and demand in the world is precariously balanced to the point that 1 or 2 million extra barrels a day flowing out of the Middle East could make it appear we have a glut. But it's *deceiving. Any time a county like ours is importing half its oil, then you can get in trouble. That Middle Eastern oil can be cut off real fast."

merit award

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) -Keith Fuller, president and general manager of The Associated Press, has been selected as the 1981 recipient of the William Allen White Foundation's award for journalistic merit.

John Stauffer, editor and general manager of the Topeka Capital-Journal and chairman of the White Foundation, announced that Fuller would receive the citation during William Allen White Day at the University of Kansas Feb. 10.

"The high quality of the %ssociated Press' news reporting recognized worldwide speaks of his (Fuller's) ability and dedication to journalism, Stauffer said.

Fuller was born in Arlington, Kan., and lived there until the death of his father, when he moved to Beaumont, Texas. He was an Army Air Corps bombardier-navigator in Europe during World War II and was a prisoner of war for 14

After the war, Fuller, returned to Texas, studied at Southern Methodist University and worked for the Dallas Times-Herald and the Dallas Morning News. He joined AP as a reporter in 1949 and headed bureaus in Jackson, Miss., Little Rock, Ark. and Denver. He became president and general manager of AP in 1976. Fuller is the 32nd recipient of the White Foundation's award.

Economists fear a double dip in economy stability

NEW YORK (AP) - At the soda fountain, a double dip is two scoops. To critics of federal spending, it is a person who earns two pensions. To economists, it's when the economy falls again after a brief advance.

Some economists, seemingly a minority, now fear we are going to redip.

At a time when the economy seems to have poked its head up out of the depths, such a viewpoint might be considered sour grapes, coming as it does from members of a profession in which acidity is noted.

Those who foresee the possibility of a a double dip recession claim however that their fears are based mainly in the nature of the present economy which, they say, is weak, uncertain and unconvincing.

They point to: A bad situation in housing. Prices are still rising, interest rates are rising, lenders are complaining they haven't funds to lend.

Between 1978 and last July, says Goldman Sachs, the investment house, the mortgage payments of first-time homebuyers rose 50 percent, caused by a 25 percent price rise and a 32 percent mortgage rate rise.

It believes that if mortgage rates rise to 13.5 percent, only 7.6 million households headed by 25-34 year olds could afford loans. That's just 41 percent of the total households in that age group.

At the outset of other recoveries the numbers were vastly different. In 1971, just under 11 million such families, or 83.5 percent of the total, might have qualified. And in 1975, 12 million or 80 percent.

Housing industry officials aren't much more optimistic. Perhaps the most optimism is expressed by the National Association of Realtors, which comments: "We still have a long way to go to reach the robust level the industry experienced before the present recession.'

-Lenders who are nervous about continuing inflation, and uncertain about fiscal and monetary policy. The existence of fears, doubts and various uncertainties generate restraint. In addition, some savings and loan associations say they aren't acquiring sufficient deposits.

-General uncertainty, about gasoline and heating oil prices, about political leadership, about the cost of food, about the possibility of a depression. The latter fear reappears in business Investments - personal or business - thrive in periods of relative certainty.

-Consumers who are so pinched financially that they might be inclined to rebuild savings and pay overdue bills, if they can, before adding to their purchases.

Various economists list their own special reasons, but these are in almost every catalog of fears. They could add up to a double dip, a return, briefly perhaps, to a recession we thought was behind us.

Crimes against women increasing in India

By SANJOY HAZARIKA Associated Press Writer

NEW DELHI, India (AP) -The crimes of rape, bride burning and dowry demand, reportedly on the rise in India. are causing a nationwide furor. reflected in street protests, heated editorials and irate speeches by politicians.

Indian newspapers carry daily reports of rape and sexual assault on women, some allegedly by policemen.

In June, several police officers were accused of stripping and raping a housewife in the dusty northern Indian town of Baghpat. One of the accused was shot and killed on the street by the rape victim's brother-in-law. An investigation is continuing; none of the men has been tried.

Protests by women's organizations have increased since that incident, and the news media have been giving increasing attention to the problems of women in this tradition-bound, predominantly Hindu nation of 66 million.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government has presented legislation to Parliament which would establish sentences of two years' hard labor for people who demand gifts and cash from a bride's family.

The legislation also seeks to toughen rape laws by for police officers convicted of the offense. Current laws do not differentiate between policemen and other offenders.

An official Indian commission has joined the fray with a report backing the proposed two-year prison term for dowry offenders and also recommending a fine of 10,000 rupees, about $1,250.

The current maximum penalty for demanding dowry is six months in jail and a 5,000-rupee fine, but convictions are few

A woman sometimes "is tortured in every possible way and even deprived of marital rights" if she does not bring sufficient dowry to her in-laws, said the government report.

The report cited numerous cases of harassment and, in some cases, even murder by husbands or in-laws if women fail to provide sufficient dowries at the time of their weddings. Dowry takes several forms, ranging from cash payments to household goods such as furniture, refrigerators, air conditioners and sometimes even motorcycles and cars.

Already this year, between January and July, 67 dowry deaths have been reported Social workers and women's leaders say the real figure is far higher because many cases go

Company stops sale of tampon

CINCINNATI (AP) — Procter & Gamble Co. said Monday it was recalling its Rely tampon, which has been cited by the federal government as linked to toxic shock syndrome.

The company on Monday asked retailers to remove Rely from store shelves and offered refunds to users who have the unused product on hand. P&G said Rely sales amount to less than 1 percent of the company's total

Toxic shock syndrome is a recently discovered bacterial infection related to tampon use. The national Center for Disease Control in Atlanta has received reports of 299 cases since January. The illness has caused 25 deaths since 1975.

Harness said the suspension of sales of Rely removes the product and the company from any controversy surrounding the disease.
"This is being done despite the fact that we know of no defect in the Rely tampon and despite evidence that the withdrawal of Rely will not eliminate the occurrence of TSS even if Rely's use is completely discontinued," Harness said in a statement.
