

Italian premier resigns after coalition's economic plan fails

ROME (AP) — Premier Francesco Cossiga's five-month-old coalition government, under fire from labor and the powerful Communist Party, resigned Saturday after Parliament rejected its key economic program by one vote.

The fall of Cossiga's pro-U.S. government raised the prospect of a long political crisis in this NATO-member nation at a time of mounting union unrest over plans by automaker Fiat to fire 14,000 workers because of slumping car sales.

After the government fell, however, Fiat announced it will hold off for three months its plans to dismiss workers, hoping to avoid fueling political and social tensions. Communist leader Enrico Berlinguer had promised his party's "moral and material support" if Fiat workers decided to occupy the plants of Italy's largest private employer.

Cossiga submitted the resignation of the coalition of his Christian Democrats, Socialists and Republicans after the Chamber of Deputies, the lower house, voted down the economic package 298-297 in a secret ballot. Moments earlier he won a confidence vote in an open ballot by an overwhelming margin, 329-264, in the 630-seat chamber.

"A dark page in the history of the Italian parliament was written today," declared Claudio Signorile, deputy secretary of the Socialist Party. "There are no precedents of a government winning a vote of confidence and 10 minutes later being beaten on a provision it considered so important."

The Communists, Italy's second largest party after the Christian Democrats, led the fight against the economic program which called for increases in sales taxes on certain products and measures to transfer some heavy social costs from industry to the state.

Supported by the far-right Italian Social Movement and leftist Radicals, the Communists proposed hundreds of amendments that effectively blocked discussion of the program itself.

Political analysts said Cossiga, who has agreed to stay on in a caretaker capacity, would likely be asked to succeed himself. But negotiations for a new government could take weeks, particularly if Socialist leader Bettino Craxi renews his bid to become premier himself.

School official says,

Feds should pay for alien education

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — If the federal government wants free education for the children of illegal aliens, the federal government should pay for it, a Texas Association of School Boards official said Saturday.

"These delegates have to go back home and levy taxes to pay for the education of non-citizens, something they're not really excited about doing," TASB governmental relations director David Thompson told a reporter at the annual convention here.

The controversy over paying for the education of illegal aliens will be a key plank in TASB's legislative platform for the upcoming session in Austin. The program was to be voted on later Saturday.

"Primarily our position is that the children of illegal aliens really should not be provided free education at all," he said. "We feel state education dollars should best be spent on citizens of the state."

A federal judge, however, has said illegal alien children are entitled to free education in Texas schools.

"If the federal government orders this done, then the federal government ought to pay the additional cost it will generate," Thompson said. The illegal aliens, he said, are the responsibility of federal officials, not local or state officials.

Thompson said, however, TASB's major effort before the 1981 Legislature will be teacher salaries. The association has recommended to the Legislative Budget Board that state funding of education be increased $1.6 billion over last year, including a 22 percent salary increase for teachers over the next two years.

"This is not pie in the sky," Thompson said. "We feel this is a very realistic proposal and we hope Gov. (Bill) Clements will feel the same."

Clements will speak Monday to the joint meeting of the TASB and the Texas Association of School Administrators.

Embassy guarded after attack

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. Embassy was under protective guard Saturday after it was blasted by three rocket-propelled grenades in an assault apparently linked to the war between Iran and Iraq.

No one was injured in the Friday attack, but the rockets punched three large holes in the back of the embassy building and destroyed two offices, embassy officials said. Syrian troops and Lebanese police threw a protective ring around the building after the attack.

Maine residents, special breed to survive winter

By JULES LOH

AP Special Correspondent

MOUNT DESERT, Maine (AP) — The North Atlantic coast grows a special breed of mankind. Call them survivors. When the cruel earth tilts toward winter, it takes that kind to endure.

David Beale is such a one. So was Henry Abel, David's grandfather, who raised him. When David was a year old, his father was lost at sea in a winter storm. His mother, yet another Maine widow, took David to live with her father, Henry Abel.

"Henry died last June," David said in his rich, down-East accent. "It's going to be a lonely winter without him."

"He was 86. We buried him just across the road, where all the people from the head of the Sound are buried. A lot of old timers are buried in that cemetery."

Some Sound is a six-mile-long gouge in the granite flank of Maine, carved eons ago by receding ice, a fiord.

The head of it is where Alexander Somes, the area's first pioneer, stopped to settle, and no wonder. It is a safe harbor, guarded by timbered mountains soaring up on both sides from deep blue water, a cathedral of nature.

Henry Abel settled there for the same reasons. "He came to Maine from Boston when he was 19 or 20, looking to live away from the city, I suppose," David Beale said.

"He opened a restaurant over on Blue Hill Bay but soon moved over here where the winters are a little less wild. He met my grandmother here. She was the daughter of a sea captain who spent his life sailing a schooner, hauling cargo.

"Henry opened the restaurant here on the Sound the year I was born, 1938. So I have never known another home. He named it Abel's Lobster Pound and that is the name it will always have. I started working here, doing chores, when I was three.

"When I graduated from high school I joined the Merchant Marine. Two years later I came home and got married.

"My wife, Carol, and I worked in the restaurant during the summers, but I still had to find work in the winter. I did some lobstering, some shrimping. I froze both feet one winter.

"I had made some money in the maritime, but we were trying to save to buy the restaurant from my grandfather.

"He had the place appraised, and by 1961 we had enough to put a third down on the mortgage. I believe you appreciate things more if you work for them rather than have them handed to you.

"We work. Carol is in the kitchen. I'm at the lobster cooker and all four of our children work. We work hard, but it is a pleasant place to work."

My, yes. Abel's Lobster Pound is tucked into the side of a hill, not visible from the road. A small sign is insufficient warning; you have to know where to look to find it.

The restaurant overlooks the Sound, but the more romantic sit at candlelit tables spaced on the slope down to the water's edge, and dine on Maine lobster under pungent Norway pines.

Former Demo governor backs Reagan

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Former Texas Democratic Gov. Preston Smith told a news conference Saturday that he's backing the Republican presidential ticket, but he won't switch parties.

"My political and governmental beliefs have not changed," Smith said in a prepared statement. "I am not switching parties, and neither am I switching my governmental philosophy. I am now and always have been a conservative Democrat."

Smith, an executive committee member of Texas Democrats and Independents for Reagan-Bush, said he is supporting GOP presidential nominee Ronald Reagan because "the federal government is involved in our personal and family lives more than our forefathers ever dreamed."

"It is possible that a change in the leadership of our national government will not ... change the direction our federal government is moving, but it is my belief that we should bring about a change if possible," he said.

Volcano quiet six months later

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Mount St. Helens quieted down Saturday, exactly six months after the volcano ended 123 years of dormancy and began spewing ash and steam.

Though the volcano rumbled some Friday, Greg Johnson of the U.S. Forest Service said Saturday, "She's quiet today and visibility is good."

The volcano started the day Friday with two quick blasts of steam — reaching as high as 15,000 feet — accompanied by low-level harmonic tremors. But it remained silent the rest of the day, Johnson said.

A.B. Adams of the University of Washington geophysics center said no significant seismic activity was recorded overnight, though there were avalanches, which are common.

On March 27, Mount St. Helens began spewing steam and ash, ending a 123-year hiatus in activity.

The climax came May 18 with a shattering blast that blew away the top 1,300 feet of what had been a 9,677-foot peak, killing 31 people and leaving 32 others listed as missing and presumed dead. Later, there were major ash eruptions on May 25, June 12, July 22 and Aug. 7.

Hearings asked in rail petition

CLINTON, Okla. (AP) — The Santa Fe Railroad has petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington for authorization to abandon a 136-mile stretch of track between Clinton and Pampa, Texas.

The state Transportation Department said the ICC apparently intends to proceed without holding local hearings on the matter. But state Corporation Commission officials said they will request oral hearings.

Railroad officials have estimated it would cost $8 million to upgrade the Clinton-Pampa line.

Oklahoma upset by Stanford

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Sophomore quarterback John Elway fired three touchdown passes and burned fourth-ranked Oklahoma with some timely running as he led Stanford to a 31-14 upset Saturday.

Elway hit on 14 of 25 passes for 187 yards as the Cardinals jumped to a 17-0 halftime advantage on the rain-slickened artificial turf of Owen Field.

Stanford stretched the lead to 31-0 before Oklahoma finally scored.

Elway, a 6-foot-4, 202-pounder, threw two of his scoring passes to split end Andre Tyler, and scored once as the Cardinals rebounded from an upset loss last week to Boston College and pushed their record to 3-1.

The defeat snapped a 20-game home winning streak for the Sooners, 1-1, after a 29-7 victory over Kentucky two weeks ago. Oklahoma had not lost since it played Texas at Dallas last year.

Stanford's feat was accomplished without the services of its star running back Darrin Nelson, who sat out the game with a bruised hip.

Hogs slip past Tulsa

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Ish Ordonez kicked a 41-yard field goal with 7:28 left in the game and 15th-ranked Arkansas eked out a 13-10 victory over fumble-plagued Tulsa Saturday.

Tulsa lost five fumbles and turned the ball over on downs once at the Arkansas 2, but still came within a hair of tying Arkansas. Stu Crum's 46-yard field goal attempt with 2:40 to play was wide right and Arkansas killed the clock.

Tulsa had a chance for a chip shot field goal when it drove 35 yards to the Arkansas 3 with less than six minutes left in the third quarter, but the Hurricane disdained the field goal. Running back Kenneth Lacy's fourth-down dive was inches short of a first down.

Arkansas, which did not get a second-half first down during the first 10 minutes of the third quarter, drove from its 10 to the Tulsa 18 early in the fourth period, where Ordonez badly missed a 35-yard field goal attempt.

The Razorbacks started the game like it would be a rout, taking the opening kickoff 75 yards to the Tulsa 5 in 12 plays. Ordonez hit from 22 yards for a 3-0 lead with 8:49 left in the first period.

Tulsa quarterback Kenny Jackson, who ran around the Arkansas ends almost at will, engineered a 70-yard Tulsa drive that produced a TD on Kenneth Session's 10-yard run with 8:49 left in the second.

Arkansas' Steve Douglas, who recovered two Tulsa fumbles, grabbed one of them at the Tulsa 28. Three plays later, Gary Anderson bolted 20 yards down the left sideline to make it 10-7. Crum hit a 36-yard field goal in the final seconds of the second quarter to tie the score.

Wheeler shuts down McLean

McLEAN—Benny Baker rushed for 208 yards and scored two touchdowns to lead unbeaten Wheeler to an 18-0 romp over McLean Friday night.

Baker, who carried 16 times, set up one touchdown with a long run and scored on runs of one and 34 yards.

Baker scampered 62 yards to set up the Mustangs' first touchdown, a one-yard plunge by Ty Henderson in the first period.

Baker ripped off a 51-yard carry to set up another TD, that a one-yard sneak by him to make it 12-0.

Baker's final TD made the score final as all of Wheeler's conversion attempts failed.

Wheeler rolled up 335 total yards while limiting McLean to 78 yards rushing and 15 yards passing.

Crimson Tide rolls past Vanderbilt

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Defensive back Jeremiah Castille blocked a Vanderbilt punt, caught it on the bounce without breaking stride and scored to highlight No. 1 Alabama's 41-0 Southeastern Conference football victory over the Vanderbilt Commodores Saturday.

It was 50th consecutive victory for the Crimson Tide on its home field and the 299th victory for Coach Bear Bryant, who needs 16 more to set an all-time record of 315.

Alabama held a 10-point lead on a 1-yard dive by Joe Jones and a 32-yard field goal by Peter Kim when Castille rushed in untouched to block Jim Arnold's punt in the second quarter. The ball bounced high and Castille grabbed it as it came down for a 43-yard scoring play.

The Tide, en route to its 24th consecutive victory and its 24th straight SEC triumph, made it 20-0 with a 45-yard field goal by Kim just before the half ended.

Alabama is now 3-0 and Vanderbilt 0-3.

Piersall ties for second in PGA Tournament

AMARILLO—Donnie Loerwald of Amarillo Country Club fired a 70 Friday to overtake Thursday's leader William Blackshear and claim the title in the West Texas Chapter of the PGA's Northern Texas Section Club Professional Championship tournament at Tasoca Country Club.

Mickey Piersall of Pampa Country Club made a late charge to finish in a tie for second with Blackshear of Morton Country Club. Both shot a three-day total of 214. Piersall had been in fifth place entering the final round. The Pampa assistant pro had rounds of 71-72-71.

Loerwald finished the 54-hole tournament with a total of 212.

Terry LeGate of Plainview Country Club shot a 216 to finish third.

Loerwald also combined with Curtis Stoerner of the Frona Country Club to share the pro-pro division title with Hereford's Mike Horton and Danny Snider. Both teams had totals of 202.

S.A. Smith of Andrews Country Club captured the seniors division with a 238 total.

Dallas falls in pro cage tilt

DALLAS (AP) — Julius Erving got the first basket ever in Reunion Arena, newly built home of the expansion Dallas Mavericks, and led all scorers Friday night with 22 points as the Philadelphia 76ers cruised to a 113-106 exhibition win over Dallas.

Crenshaw leads Napa Tournament

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Ben Crenshaw built a 7-stroke lead before taking his first bogey in two days and finished the third round of Napa's $300,000 golf tournament with a 5-stroke edge after a 4-under-par 68 Saturday.

It was the third consecutive round under 70 for the 28-year-old Texan, who hasn't won a tournament since January, 1979, but has finished second seven times since then.

Crenshaw's 54-hole total after Saturday's round on the 6,870-yard Silverado Country Club North Course was a 15-under 201. Jack Renner surged into second place at 206 by birdying the final three holes and finishing with a 5-under 67.

"I don't imagine Ben is too scared," said Renner, who has had a rough year on the pro tour, winning $65,101 compared to $182,000 last season.

"The only person I have to worry about is myself," said Crenshaw.

The Napa tournament, the Anheuser-Busch Classic, offers a first prize of $54,000.

Crenshaw has won $183,727 so far this year, and a victory Sunday in his final tour event of the year would move him to fifth place on the money-winning list topped by Tom Watson, who has a record $513,408.

Watson, also making his final 1980 tour appearance, posted a 70 Saturday and was in a six-way tie for fifth place at 210.

J.C. Sneed, with a 67, was in third place at 207, and Johnny Miller was next at 209 after shooting a 72. Joining Watson in fifth were Bobby Wadkins, Lon Hinkle, Dave Eichelberger, Tom Weiskopf and Gary Hallberg.

NFL roundup

Mizzou fans face long NFL season

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Being a pro football fan in Missouri can't be much fun these days.

If you live on the eastern edge of the state, you've got the St. Louis Cardinals. They're 0-3.

If you're a few hundred miles away, on the western border, you've got the Kansas City Chiefs. They're 0-3.

And binding them together on Sunday is yet another unpleasant circumstance. Each will be trying to drop that zero against an unbeaten team.

St. Louis plays the Philadelphia Eagles, fresh from their 35-3 Monday night walloping of the New York Giants — the same Giants who shocked the Cardinals 41-35 three weeks ago. Philadelphia has won its last three games against the Cards.

The Chiefs play the San Diego Chargers, who pounded the Denver Broncos 30-13 last Sunday. The Chargers swept the two-game season series from Kansas City in 1979.

And here's something else to mull over before the kickoffs:

The Eagles are the top-scoring team in the National Football League this year with a whopping 104 points in three games and have allowed a league-low 16. The No. 2 scoring team? The Chargers, of course, with 94 points. If ever a couple of teams needed a home-field advantage, the Cards and Chiefs are those teams.

Two other teams also will be looking for victory No. 1 of 1980 — the New York Jets, who play the Colts in Baltimore, and the New Orleans Saints, who visit the Dolphins in Miami.

And three other teams will be at home trying to keep their records perfect through four games — the Detroit Lions against Minnesota, the Buffalo Bills against Oakland and the San Francisco 49ers against Atlanta.

In the rest of Sunday's games, it's Chicago at Pittsburgh, Cleveland at Tampa Bay, Dallas vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, Houston at Cincinnati, Los Angeles at the New York Giants and Seattle at Washington. Monday night's game is Denver at New England.

While the Eagles were retaining their hold on first place in the National Football Conference East, one game ahead of Dallas, by thumping the Giants, Dick Vermeil was moving his coaching record over the 500 mark. Vermeil now has a pro record of 32-31. His counterpart on the Cardinals, Jim Hanifan, still is looking for win No. 1.

Two receivers carry lengthy streaks into the game. Towering Harold Carmichael of the Eagles has caught at least one pass in each of his last 115 games, a league record, and St. Louis' Mel Gray has receptions in his last 92 games.

The Chargers are trying to go undefeated through the first four games of a season for the first time since 1966.

The Jets, whose defense was so solid the first couple of weeks before falling apart against the 49ers last week, have to contend with the Colts, who beat them 17-14 in their season-opener when New York's Pat Leahy missed an easy field goal in the closing minutes.

Miami quarterback Bob Griese appears to be back in the driver's seat, out of which he has been kicked so often in recent seasons. In 1979, Coach Don Shula gave Don Strock the No. 1 quarterback job, only to call for Griese in the closing weeks of the year when the Dolphins needed crucial victories to win the American Football Conference East crown.

Before last Sunday's game, Shula yanked Griese again — and again had to call on him when the Dolphins' offense stalled. Griese's two touchdown strikes and a timely pass that set up a last-minute field goal helped beat Atlanta. Miami has beaten New Orleans in the teams' only two previous regular-season meetings, 21-10 in 1970 and 21-0 in 1974.

The Steelers, who suffered through a 1979 replay of sorts last Sunday, are hoping to experience another replay. Pittsburgh, which lost 34-10 in Cincinnati a year ago, came roaring back the next week with a 42-7 pounding of Denver, when Terry Bradshaw threw for two touchdowns and Franco Harris ran for 121 yards and two TDs. Now the Steelers are coming off a 30-28 loss to the Bengals and return home to face Chicago. In their last meeting, five years ago, Pittsburgh romped 34-3.

Green Bay, which absorbed the worst shelling of the season so far, a 51-21 pounding by Los Angeles, returns to Milwaukee hoping to handle the Dallas Cowboys and squelch some of the talk about Bart Starr's security as coach and general manager of the Packers.

Nebraska rolls

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Jarvis Redwine slashed through mistake-prone Penn State for 189 yards and two touchdowns while quarterback Jeff Quinn added another to fire unbeaten and third-ranked Nebraska to a 21-7 victory Saturday.

Redwine's 1-yard run in the third period capped a 13-play, 74-yard drive. The touchdown put the game out of reach for the 11th-ranked Nittany Lions, who suffered seven turnovers and had their quarterback sacked nine times for 89 yards in losses.

Nebraska, now 3-0, cashed in on two Penn State turnovers to race to a 14-0 lead midway through the second period.

Pampa's 21-20 homecoming loss to Borger Friday night was like a doctor telling a patient he was cured before presenting him with the bill. The setback was yet to come.

through the holder's hands, but kicker Cavin Coleman picked it up and ran into the end zone for an apparent two points. But the official ruled Coleman lost control of the ball as he crossed the goal line.

three previous setbacks to Pampa, was about to settle an old score by tallying twice with 3 1/2 minutes to play. Pampa still has a 26-20-2 series lead.

The Harvesters suffered a relapse after coming from a 7-6 halftime deficit to score two fourth-quarter TDs.

Borger delivered the bitter medicine by scoring on its final two possessions to snap a two-game losing skid and end Pampa's three-game losing streak.

Edwards led Pampa rushing charts with 72 yards on 14 carries while Williams was right behind with 69 yards on seven carries.

After Robbie Leffel's punt was blocked on the 50, Harrington hit Tony Tilman with a 43-yard strike down to Pampa's three. Halfback Mike Meek plunged over on the next play and Mike Plumley's PAT made it 20-14 with 3:15 to go.

Pampa tallied early in the fourth quarter after an 11-play, 64-yard drive that started late in the third stanza.

Edwards completed four of eight passes for 66 yards, two going to McDougall for 37 yards. Dorsey and Williams snared one each for 16 and 13 yards respectively.

Statistics were almost as close as the score, but Borger's ball-control offense, a controversial ruling on a conversion try and two lost fumbles worked against the Harvesters the first half.

Pampa's offense had possession only 0:33 of the opening quarter, but still managed to score first after the Harvester offense held Borger on Pampa's one.

Hagler twice rocked Minter in the second and opened another nasty cut under the English fighter's nose.

Expos nip Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Jerry White's two-out, seventh-inning double scored the lead run as Montreal beat Philadelphia 4-3, evened their crucial three-game series at a game apiece and boosted the Expos to within a half-game of the front-running Phillies in the National League East.

Chris Speier, who had three hits, opened the seventh with a double off Phillies ace Steve Carlton, 23-9. Bob Pate sacrificed Speier to third and after pinch-hitter Ken Macha struck out, White delivered his double to give the Expos a 3-2 lead.

The Expos scored their eventual winning run in the eighth on Larry Parrish's RBI single, offsetting a run-scoring base hit by Keith Moreland in the Philadelphia ninth.

Olympic village now a federal prison

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — The Olympic Village, where the world's athletes danced, slept and ate during the 1980 Winter Games, officially became a federal prison Friday. Officials of the federal Bureau of Prisons are gathering in nearby Ray Brook to dedicate the $27-million facility, although it is not expected to receive its first prisoners until next month. The facility was always intended to be a prison after it served as housing for 1,400 athletes at the Lake Placid Olympics. During the Games, however, the prison featured such unprison-like amenities as the Olympic discotheque, an all-night restaurant, unlimited helpings of ice cream, and of course, freedom of movement for the occupants. In the seven months since the Games, workers have labored to strip the place of the luxuries and transform it into a secure 500-bed prison, primarily for youthful offenders between the ages of 18 and 26. Today, hardly any reminder of the 1980 Lake Placid Olympics remains. "The only bit of Olympic memorabilia I found was a nameplate with a foreign name on the ground. Most of the other stuff was ripped off," says James Kimberling, a deputy warden at the new prison.

Boosters meet Monday night

TCU crushed by Georgia

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Buck Belue fired two touchdown passes, kicker Rex Robinson became the school's all-time leading scorer and a swarming defense set up two quick fourth quarter touchdowns as 10th-ranked Georgia buried Texas Christian 34-3 in college football Saturday.

The Bulldogs, struggling offensively early in the game, finally assumed command on their sixth possession when freshman tailback Herschel Walker bolted 41 yards to the 8, setting up Belue's 4-yard scoring pass to Ronnie Stewart.

Walker, suffering a slightly sprained ankle on the play, was used briefly as a decoy in the second quarter, but never carried again the rest of the day and finished with 69 yards on 9 carries. Officials said the injury wasn't serious, but that they were not taking any chances.

Belue's other touchdown pass was a 28-yarder to Chuck Jones just before halftime, giving the Bulldogs, 4-0, a 20-3 advantage.

Robinson contributed field goals of 31 and 36 yards. He added 4 extra points, running his streak to 79 in a row since missing his first kick as a freshman. Robinson lifted his career total to 211 points, two more than former record holder Alan Leavitt.

Stewart also scored on a 7-yard run early in the second quarter and Barry Young, another freshman tailback who had 83 yards rushing, added another 54 seconds later on a 5-yard run. Both scores were set up by pass interceptions.

TCU's only score came on Greg Porter's 46-yard field goal against a brisk wind with 3:20 remaining in the first half. It was the longest of his career. It was TCU's third straight setback this season.

Fry levels charges at former aide

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — University of Iowa football Coach Hayden Fry has charged that a former aide of his supplied the University of Nebraska with volumes of information about Fry's coaching tendencies that helped Nebraska in its 57-0 humiliation of Iowa last Saturday.

In a story in Saturday's editions, the Des Moines Register quotes Fry as saying that Jerry Moore, a former assistant on his staff at Southern Methodist, cooperated with Nebraska. Fry did not claim there was anything illegal about the assistance Moore allegedly gave Nebraska.

Moore was an aide with Nebraska in 1972, then succeeded Fry as North Texas State head coach when Fry came to Iowa in 1978.

Fry said Nebraska had "the book, the audibles, the whole thing."

"We came here so quick that we left six years of game film from North Texas State, plus the last two at Southern Methodist," Fry said.

"I'm an old coach who sticks with things that work. You break down eight years of films, throw the information in a computer, and you can get a pattern of tendencies in a hurry.

"The films are silent and you don't acquire audibles from silent films. I don't know the extent that North Texas cooperated with Nebraska, but Jerry spent a week at their last spring practice."

He said he and his coaches were suspicious during the game because Nebraska seemed to know so much about his team. He said his suspicions grew as he studied the game films "so we started calling around."

"I won't call Tom Osborne (Nebraska coach) because Nebraska did nothing illegal in acquiring all the information possible," Fry said. "They beat us, 57-0. But with all the information they had, they're not as good as it seemed and we're not as bad."

Fry did say he planned to call Moore and North Texas Athletic Director Andy Everest, also a former Fry football aide.

Astros blank Reds

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Joe Niekro and Dave Smith combined on a four-hitter and Craig Reynolds clubbed a two-run double as the Houston Astros blanked Cincinnati 2-0 Saturday.

The Astros, who also beat Cincinnati 2-0 Friday night, solidified their hold on first place in the National League West.

Cincinnati starter Mario Soto, 10-7, pitched 4 1-3 innings of hitless ball until Denny Walling got an infield single in the fifth to start Houston's two-run surge.

Alan Ashby then hit a fly ball to right field and it fell for an error on center fielder Dave Collins, who ran into right field and deflected the ball from right fielder Ken Griffey.

Reynolds, batting .218 going into the game, then hit his eighth double of the season down the first base line, scoring Walling and Ashby.

Niekro, 18-12, allowed only one hit going into the sixth when Griffey and Dave Concepcion each singled but George Foster hit into a double play and Dan Driessen struck out to end the threat.

Niekro went 7 2-3 innings before giving way to Smith, who picked up his ninth save. He fanned three batters in 1 1-3 innings of hitless relief.

Town council bans burgers ordered by police radio

HOLBROOK, Mass. (AP) — Lunch or suppertime orders for "Three burgers with mustard ... hold the onions" have stopped crackling over the police radio in this southeastern Massachusetts town.

The town's selectmen decided to hold the pickles, hold the lettuce, and in fact hold all food orders that hungry officers placed over the police network.

Starting Friday, officers could no longer order food over the radio. But they may radio a number code that disguises their takeout orders.

The selectmen's decision came after taped police messages were played before a crowd of townspeople. It settled a months-long dispute between the police chief and some officers.

Chief Francis Mack said the police radio had been used for ordering food "for six or seven months (and) ... I decided to end it."

He issued his 24-member force a warning four months ago after he overheard an unidentified officer mimicking his voice over the radio.

Then on Sept. 6, he monitored conversations in which some officers ordered burgers from an off-duty officer's cookout. He claimed the department was open to a Federal Communications Commission penalty for "needless communication" not related to police business.

As punishment, he ordered an extra 16 hours of duty, without pay, for five officers who allegedly used the radio to order hamburgers and to pick up apples.

"This is a lot more serious than ordering hamburgers," said Charles George, the town counsel. "These men are supposed to be using the radio for police business, not kidding around."

The officers protested Mack's extra-duty punishment, and their lawyer, Gerard McAuliffe, told selectmen ordering of food "goes on every day in every police department in the state."

Selectmen and 60 townspeople, including most of the police department and their families, listened to tape recordings of police radio traffic Thursday night.

"Tell Sarge that he can swing by for a hamburger or something at that house on the corner of Spring and South," one message said. "Yeah, with onions. And it's a freebie right?"

Another message went: "Yeah, I just saw him getting some apples down Union Street a few minutes ago. These are rotten apples."

Selectmen overruled Mack's punishment, but insisted on the code.

So in future, hungry officers could order food by phone and radio a code number to a cruiser to pick up the meal for delivery to police headquarters.

Court says natural father may get custody of illegitimate child

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas Court of Appeals ruled Friday that state law provides that the natural father of an illegitimate child could be given custody of the child instead of prospective adoptive parents if he has shown interest in the child.

However, the appeals court affirmed a Sedgewick County District Court decision which gave custody to the child's mother, Jan Risner, formerly of Wichita and now living in Killeen, Texas.

The appeal arose out of complex custody matter of whether a parent loses "all parental rights to a child if the adoption consented is not completed."

The court rejected that contention of the child's natural father, Michael Treiber, of Wichita. Furthermore, the Appeals Court held that the district court acted in the child's best interests in granting Ms. Risner custody of the child.

The court said the record showed the couple was never married and lived together four months before separating. "Unknown to either, Jan was pregnant when they ceased living together," the opinion said.

When Treiber learned of the pregnancy, the court added, he offered to marry her, but she refused. "He then offered to support Jan and the child or to take custody of the child."

A baby girl was born Jan. 8, 1978, and the mother gave her consent through a state-approved adoption agency to allow a Wichita couple to adopt the child. Temporary custody was granted to the prospective parents on Jan. 10, 1978, and the baby was given to them.

Treiber filed a petition on Jan. 11 seeking a restraining order to prevent the baby from being adopted and asking for custody if the mother wanted to give it up. That request was denied and the mother later withdrew her consent for adoption and the courts awarded her custody on Feb. 16, 1978.

Valdez says Carter track record important

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House protocol chief Abelardo L. Valdez says a candidate's track record of minority appointments is more important than any bid for Hispanic attention on the campaign trail.

He said campaign professionals have jammed more ethnic symbolism into Ronald Reagan's appearances lately, but there were few minority appointments when the GOP presidential candidate was governor of California and there are few minorities in his organization now.

"You know how it is with cramming for a test. You remember a few things on the day of the exam, but it's all forgotten when the exam is over," Valdez said in remarks prepared for delivery Saturday at the Texas state Democratic convention in Houston.

The Floresville, Texas, native said it would be a "sad likelihood" that minorities would be forgotten after election day if Reagan were elected.

"His public record of recognition for blacks, for Hispanics, for women and other minorities is not just woeful — it doesn't exist," Valdez said.

Reagan attended Mexican Independence Day celebrations Sept. 16 in heavily Mexican-American areas of South Texas, which is becoming one of the major battlegrounds for the state's 26 electoral votes.

Valdez pointed to President Carter's appointment of almost 200 Hispanics to high-level positions in his administration.

The protocol chief said Reagan's foreign policy would rely too heavily on the threat of force.

"It is a world in which every time he hears thunder, he sends out for the Marines. For Ronald Reagan, being president would be like playing the lead in 'Those Magnificent Men in their Flying Machines,'" Valdez said.

He said Carter's foreign policy has placed its emphasis on peace, respect for diversity and human rights, including the development of a more cooperative relationship with Mexico.

Ballad composer says he is happy with 30-day jail term

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Barry Sadler, composer of the "Ballad of the Green Berets," says he's happy with the 30-day jail sentence he received on a conviction for shooting a man to death in December 1978.

Criminal Court Judge Raymond Leathers on Friday ordered that Sadler, 39, serve his sentence in the metropolitan Nashville workhouse. Leathers formally sentenced Sadler to a four- to five-year sentence, but suspended all but 30 days of it and put him on probation for two years.

"I'm just glad it's been resolved," Sadler said. "I'm pleased with the court."

Sadler had pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter in the death of Lee Emerson Bellamy, who was shot outside a Nashville apartment complex. Sadler said Bellamy had been bothering a woman who lived at the complex.

Sadler was a Green Beret when he wrote and sang the hit song in 1966. In recent years, he has been writing books.

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Gov. Ella Grasso is showing noticeable signs of recovering from a bout of digestive problems she has suffered in recent months, her physician says.

"During the last week or so I would say she's made a decided turn for the better," Dr. Joseph Russo said at a Friday news conference.

The gastritis surfaced as a side effect to radiation treatments Mrs. Grasso received after cancer surgery in April. Russo said there was no indication the cancer had recurred.

The illness has forced Mrs. Grasso to curtail her activities, but Russo said she would probably be able to resume her normal schedule in "a matter of weeks."

Pipeline malfunctions in Petrolia

PRETOLIA, Texas (AP) — Another attempt was to be made Saturday to install enough pipe to import water for this small, waterless North Texas town.

Earlier attempts, including the use of plastic waterline Friday, have failed.

City secretary Pat Haney said the plastic pipe used Friday snapped at the same location where it had buckled on three previous attempts — at a 300-foot section over the Wichita River.

"We tested the line again today and it busted in the same place," Ms. Haney said Saturday. "There was not enough support to keep it from shifting and breaking when we tested the line."

City councilmen have decided to use galvanized pipe in the section that crosses the water because the plastic pipe could not withstand the pressure above ground, she said.

"The councilmen are in the process of changing the pipe and we hope to have the new pipe down and ready for testing tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon," Ms. Haney said Friday.

Sept. 29, 1980

This coming year you will make several important friendships that will prove beneficial. Two will be with older persons and one will be with a member of the opposite sex.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Even though you do not want to hurt another's feelings, sometimes it is more helpful to tell it like it is rather than to paint a false rosy picture. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Commercial dealings could be a bit more complicated than they seem today. Don't assume something is factual without a proper investigation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is one of those days where seeking an easy out may be more harmful than facing an unpleasant situation. Don't duck challenges.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Normally you're the type who always plans a few steps ahead, but today you could cut down your productivity because you have no blueprint.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your reasoning in joint ventures today may be a shade sounder than that of your contemporaries. Listen to their views, but trust your own judgment.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Possibly through no fault of their own, persons you were depending on today may let you down. This shouldn't stop you. You can do alone what needs doing.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you may make commitments for the sake of expediency. This could cause you problems later. Don't make any promises you can't keep.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There's a possibility you'll be a trifle extravagant today and that's OK, provided you aren't generous with things belonging to another.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Enjoy yourself today, but try not to treat serious matters lightheartedly, especially if they involve an associate or your mate. They won't appreciate it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be careful with whom you discuss business or financial matters today. You could tell too much to the wrong person and do yourself a disservice.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be expectant. Think positively today, but try not to manufacture unrealistic or false hopes. Your imagination could play disappointing tricks on you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This can be a rewarding day, provided you don't take things for granted. Something you think is a shoo-in may not come so easily.

Narcotics agents 'busted' in small Oklahoma town

SEILING, Okla. (AP) — The good ole' boys had been keeping a pretty close eye on the comings and goings at a patch of marijuana near here and had reported a couple of Texas cars there Thursday, so lawmen were ready to move quickly when more strange cars were spotted by a farmer early Friday.

While Dewey County Deputy Steve Hickman waited with the radio, Oklahoma Highway Patrol Trooper Bob Thomas grabbed his AR-15 rifle and crept quietly up to the car parked at the edge of the patch.

Two men were talking inside the car on a two-way radio and failed to see the approaching trooper.

"Put your hands on the windshield," Thomas commanded.

The two "suspects," who sheepishly raised their hands, turned out to be agents from the Oklahoma Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs and the Amarillo police.

Dewey County Sheriff Larry Pike, who was still chuckling about the incident Friday afternoon, said the two "suspects" had been talking to two more agents and two more police officers back at a cafe in Seiling at the time of their arrest.

Those officers, too, were under surveillance by local lawmen who didn't recognize any of them.

The sheriff said the six officers had gone to Seiling on Friday after a group of drug dealers was arrested Thursday in Amarillo.

He said the arrest was made after an informant told Amarillo officers the group had picked marijuana from a spot near Seiling.

The Amarillo officers decided they needed to investigate further and called Oklahoma narcotics agents for assistance, the sheriff said.

Pike said he got a call from one of the agents Friday morning seeking directions to the site, "but I've had people try to fool me before."

So the sheriff declined to give the agent any information about the exact location of the marijuana patch until he could confirm the agent's identity.

The sheriff said local residents cooperate with lawmen by keeping the patch under surveillance since repeated attempts to kill out the marijuana have been unsuccessful.

Merchants 'hoodwinked' by professed Christian

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Police have arrested a man who allegedly hoodwinked Tidewater merchants and individuals out of more than $5,000 worth of goods and services on the strength of his professed Christianity.

Police said John Durham, 33, allegedly obtained typewriters, cats and dogs, tools, veterinary services, floor-cleaning supplies and equipment, and house and motel room rent over the last 10 weeks without paying for them.

Durham was being held Friday night on $25,000 bond on a local bad-check charge and on fugitive warrants, from Texas and Missouri. The bad-check charge was made after a grocery store complained that a $260 check had bounced.

Authorities in Missouri, which has warrants for Durham's arrest on additional bad check and theft charges, told Virginia Beach police that they will seek Durham's extradition.

Durham was picked up about 6 p.m. Friday after police were tipped off by a man who said he had read about Durham in a newspaper article.

"He said he had been ripped off by Durham for $50 the other night and that he knew where Durham was," a police spokesman said.

Upon his arrest, police said Durham told them, "Everything's a mistake."

Police recovered two Siamese kittens Durham had allegedly obtained from a Chesapeake woman without paying for them. They also recovered two electric typewriters he allegedly obtained from a Portsmouth office supply firm.

"He was a smooth talker," said a real estate agent who evicted Durham from a house he rented in Brigadoon.

The agent, who did not want to be identified, said that Durham — accompanied by three women, two children, and four dogs — rented the $450-a-month home in mid-July.

After making a deposit of $185, Durham paid no rent, the agent said. He said Durham and his entourage left the house in late August.

Durham then headed for the resort strip and stayed in the Hilton Inn for three days before leaving without paying the bill.

Durham repeatedly told merchants that he did not believe in using credit cards.

"He came in and said he had bought a house in Brigadoon and needed some tools to fix it and his car up," said Jerry Greene, owner of a hardware store.

"He said that as a Christian he didn't believe in using credit cards, but that he was having trouble in getting money transferred from his bank in Missouri," Greene said.

Durham asked for the tools on credit and said he would return in a few days to pay for them. Greene said he let Durham charge $70 worth of tools.

Durham called a week later and tried to add $100 worth of merchandise to the bill.

"He was never very pushy," Greene said.

"He'd just say, 'Well, I wish you would.'"

Durham also allegedly received office equipment on credit from a Portsmouth firm that is still awaiting payment of a $1,294 bill.

Frontier eases move to Denver

DENVER (AP) — Representatives of about 200 flight attendants will meet with Frontier Airline officials in October to discuss the best way of easing their transition to Denver.

Early next year, between 190 and 215 Frontier Airlines flight attendants — currently based in Kansas City, Dallas-Fort Worth or Salt Lake City — will be reassigned to fly out of Denver. Said Larry Bishop, the airline's vice president of corporate communications.

Kathi Norris, master executive council chairman in Denver for the Association of Flight Attendants, said discussion focusing on easing the flight attendants' transition to a new base will start Oct. 6.

Frontier plans to close operations bases in Kansas City next February, in Salt Lake City in March and in Dallas-Fort Worth in April, Bishop said.

Flight attendants from the three cities will either have to move to Denver or commute to Denver. Flight crews — captains, first officers, and second officers — were consolidated in Denver some time ago, Bishop said.

Norris said a number of tenured attendants will have to resign because of the consolidation. She said the union will try to negotiate severance pay for those people.

Norris said attendants are "really sore" about the consolidation. Many of them have been living in their neighborhoods for 18 to 20 years and are firmly established there, she said.

Commuting to Denver is possible, she said, but not certain because commuting depends on an empty seat being available. She further noted that commuting adds hours to the flight attendant's work day.

Bishop said consolidation has been under study for a couple of years as an economic and convenience measure.

After the consolidation of all flight attendants to one base, 75 percent of Frontier's personnel will be based in Denver.

C-R-O-S-S-W-O-R-D's: An addiction

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifteen letters, two words: The only American invention more popular than the martini.

If you quickly thought, in ink, "C-R-O-S-S-W-O-R-D-P-U-Z-Z-L-E," then you are probably among the estimated 40 million U.S. fanatics whose daily or weekly fixes take them down and across.

"It's an addiction," said Michelle Arnot, one of only about 300 regular crossword "constructors" in the country. "Once you become a good solver, that's it. You're hooked for life."

"And it's the cheapest entertainment going," said Margaret Farrar, the octogenarian grande dame of crosswords.

A transplanted English editor, Arthur Wynne, originated the modern "word cross" in the New York World newspaper in 1913, but Mrs. Farrar made it "America's favorite licit indoor activity in the days before television."

Hired as the World's crossword editor in 1920, she took a $25 advance to edit the first crossword book — and the first book ever published by Simon & Schuster — in 1924. Mrs. Farrar, who was later crossword editor of the New York Times, easily recalls the crossword craze that swept the country in the Roaring '20s.

There were contests and tournaments. Many newspapers ran crosswords every day. Linguists hailed the puzzles for reviving fine old words. Psychologists said crosswords were a healthy way for young people to socialize.

In 1925, a group of Mah-Jong manufacturers sent crossword publishers a Valentine: "Roses are red, violets are blue, We'd like to cut your throats for you."

The crossword quickly spread across seas and languages, spawning cryptic, crostic, double-crostic, anagram, scrambled and other assorted word puzzles.

Among newspapers, only the staid New York Times resisted crosswords. Until 1942.

That's when publisher Arthur Hayes Sulzberger reputedly tired of buying competitors' papers to do the crosswords.

So Sulzberger hired Mrs. Farrar, of whom mystery detective "Nero Wolfe" creator Rex Stout once said:

"If I were bound for a desert island, the 10 books I would want along would be 10 crossword puzzle books edited by Margaret Farrar. Then I wouldn't bother to look around for footprints."

Indeed, many addicts find satisfaction even when they don't finish a puzzle. Said Noel Coward: "When I make 'I Across' fit in with 'I Down,' my day is made."

Manhattan commuter John Chervokis gauges his day according to how quickly it takes him to do the daily crossword on the train to work. He says that for three years, it has not taken him more than seven minutes. "In arrogant ink."

While crossword tournaments are again in vogue, with up to 200 participants expected at the unofficial national championship next March in Stamford, Conn., most solvers view puzzles as simply a pleasant pastime.

Will Weng, another retired New York Times crossword editor now editing books, said the 15-by-15-square daily puzzles, progressively more difficult through the week, can be completed in a half hour without a dictionary. The 23-by-23 Sunday puzzle is designed to take a couple of hours, with references.

Eugene Maleska, the current Times crossword editor, says constructors earn $20 for daily and $100 for Sunday puzzles.

Maleska advised that "a good crossword contains words everybody knows. The definitions are the key."

He said American definitions, while still not as convoluted as those in the London Times puzzle favored by aficionados, are becoming more zippy.

For instance, instead of "Bird's home," the clue for "nest" might be "raven's haven," or "nutcracker suite."

Maleska said he is also demanding less reliance on the traditional "crossword" words like gnu, esne, Ibo, anoa, anet and anil.

Nonetheless, Maleska said, he still receives three times as many puzzles as he can use, and he has an edited and approved backlog through 1981.

None of the crossword editors were concerned their puzzles are getting too hard. Mrs. Farrar recalled a printshop mixup left one 1950s puzzle with numbers not matching clues.

"We got a ton or two of angry letters," she said. "But we also got letters from people who solved it anyway. They wanted more like it."

Mid East war takes toll on stock market

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The combination of a war in the Middle East and rising interest rates has put a damper on the great bull market of 1980 in recent days.

Gold prices, which got above $700 an ounce before they fell back Friday, reached their highest levels since last February. And stock prices closed out the past week with a substantial loss.

But to many Wall Street analysts, the big surprise was that the fighting between Iran and Iraq, and resulting concerns about world oil supplies, didn't provoke an even more negative reaction from the world's investors.

"I'm floored by it," said Edward Yardeni, economist at E.F. Hutton & Co. "I thought that gold would do much better and stocks get hit much harder than they did. The market is apparently convinced that the war is going to be over pretty quickly."

"Certainly if potential sellers ever needed an excuse to sell, they had it this week," observed Newton Zinder, technical analyst at Hutton, in his daily market commentary on Thursday.

"We think the market is acting remarkably well in what could have been a disastrous three days."

True, on Thursday and Friday it looked considerably less impressive, faced with some new interest-rate increases. The Federal Reserve raised its discount rate — the interest charge it imposes on loans to its member commercial banks — from 10 to 11 percent.

And many of those banks quickly responded with an increase in their prime lending rates from 13 percent to 12.5 percent.

With declines of 8.79 on Thursday and 15.87 on Friday, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed out the week with a net loss of 23.63 at 940.10.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index fell 1.82 to 72.99, and the American Stock Exchange market value index was off 5.60 at 334.46.

Big Board volume averaged 54.67 million shares a day, against 56.62 million the week before.

At about mid-afternoon Thursday, total turnover for the year on the NYSE surpassed the record of 8.15 billion shares set in 1979, with more than three months still to go in 1980.

One common explanation for the market's seeming indifference to developments like the Iranian-Iraqi war is that investors are taking a longer-term view of things these days.

A shift toward conservatism among the American electorate, tax changes to encourage investment, promising new technological advances in the battle to improve productivity — such factors are cited as foreshadowing a brighter decade ahead than the sluggish '70s.

Even the prospect of little relief from inflation is said to be working in the market's favor. "Stocks as inflation hedges have returned as a popular concept," said Lee Idleman, director of research at Dean Witter Reynolds Inc.

AP poll shows Reagan hurt by his stands on abortion, ERA

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ronald Reagan's opposition to the Equal Rights Amendment and abortion appears to be costing him votes in his quest for the White House, particularly the votes of women.

The latest Associated Press-NBC News poll says Reagan draws less support from women than from men. And Jimmy Carter is the beneficiary of that difference, drawing much of the support among women that Reagan fails to get.

At least part of that weakness in Reagan's appeal to women comes from his stands against both the proposed ERA and abortion. Support for both is significant among all likely voters.

And Reagan does the worst among women who disagree with his positions on the two issues.

Interestingly, independent John B. Anderson, a strong supporter of the ERA and opponent of efforts to ban abortion, benefits only marginally from his policy differences with Reagan and Carter.

The AP-NBC News poll, taken Monday through Wednesday, says Reagan is the choice of 45 percent of the male likely voters, while Carter is the choice of 31 percent — a 14-point edge. Independent candidate Anderson is the choice of 13 percent and the rest were undecided or named others.

In contrast, the women among likely voters split their votes, with Reagan getting 39 percent and Carter 36 percent, with Anderson garnering 13 percent. Thus, Reagan enjoys a clear margin among men and only a rough split among women.

Reagan is strongly opposed to abortion and opposes ratification of the ERA. Carter and Anderson support the ERA. Carter personally opposes abortion, but he has said he does not support a constitutional amendment to ban abortion. Anderson has come out strongly for the right of a woman to have an abortion.

Both abortion and ERA are backed by people likely to cast ballots on Nov. 4, the AP-NBC News poll said.

A woman's right to an abortion is favored by a 72-24 margin among likely voters, with the remainder not sure. The ERA is backed a 41-28 edge, with 13 percent saying they are not sure and 18 percent saying they haven't heard of it.

On both issues, Reagan does best among those who agree with him.

Those who oppose the ERA favor Reagan over Carter by a 60-24 edge, with Anderson drawing 7 percent. In contrast, those who back the amendment give Carter 38 percent; Reagan, 29 percent; and Anderson, 21 percent.

Similarly, those who oppose abortion give 54 percent to Reagan, 27 percent to Carter and 9 percent to Anderson.

Those who favor abortion split, with Reagan getting 37 percent, Carter 35 percent and Anderson 15 percent.

The contrasts are even more stark for women who are likely to vote.

Women who favor the ERA favor Carter by a 41-26 margin over Reagan, with Anderson drawing 23 percent. Women who oppose the amendment back Reagan by 55-27.

Likewise, women who favor abortion give Carter 38 percent, Reagan 34 percent and Anderson 16 percent. Those women who oppose abortion favor Reagan by a 51-29 edge over Carter.

As with all sample surveys, the results of the AP-NBC News poll can vary from the opinions of all Americans or all likely voters because of chance variations in the sample.

For a poll based on 1,512 interviews, the results are subject to an error margin of 3 percentage points either way because of such chance variations. That is, if one could have talked to all likely voters with telephones last week, there is only one chance in 20 that the findings would vary from the results of polls such as this one by more than 3 percentage points.

Of course, the results could differ from other polls for a number of additional reasons. Differences in the exact wording of questions, differences in when the interviews were conducted and different methods of interviewing could also cause variations.

Cleveland foresees peaceful desegregation

CLEVELAND (AP) — School buses are set to roll in Cleveland on Monday, and by the end of the week, officials say, they will have brought about full-scale integration in Ohio's largest school system.

All officials involved predict a peaceful and successful transition from the partial desegregation in effect for the past school year.

Last year, children in all elementary, some junior high and a few high schools in the 82,000-pupil system were bused from one part of Cleveland to another.

On Monday, the school system begins busing about one-third of the more than 40,000 students to be bused to achieve integration. By Thursday, full-scale implementation is to be complete in the system where two-thirds of the students are black.

The city is the most recent to employ systemwide desegregation. Los Angeles integrated its public schools with busing two weeks ago.

In Cleveland, all desegregation decisions are being made by a court-appointed administrator, Dr. Donald Waldrip, rather than by a school board. Waldrip — the hand-picked choice of U.S. District Judge Frank Battisti — took over the desegregation plan on Aug. 15.

Three weeks earlier, Battisti had found top school officials, including Superintendent Peter Carlin, in contempt of his 1978 order to end segregation of the city's schools. Battisti conducted 23 days of contempt hearings in April and May.

The desegregation of Cleveland schools has taken longer than expected because of administrative turmoil, court orders and appeals, some of which are still to be decided.

"In 1978, when this desegregation started, there was a great deal of hostility toward the idea. In 1980, the issue has shifted to one of competence and whether this school system can run the district," said Leonard Stevens, director of the court-created Office of School Monitoring and Community Relations.

The office was created by Battisti in May 1978 to observe progress of the desegregation order and help the public understand the process.

Stevens said his office, which includes 160 monitors, will concentrate on high schools and junior highs and spot check elementary schools. Monitors also will observe some bus pickup and dropoff points.

Police officials say 292 officers will be also assigned to monitor the situation. Cleveland has been free of violence in earlier integration efforts and none is expected Monday.

No action against tanker pilot

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — No action should be taken against harbor pilot Harry Eugene Knight, who was guiding the tanker Capricorn when it collided with a U.S. Coast Guard vessel in an accident that claimed 23 lives, says a state Board of Pilot Commissioners.

The probable cause panel of three commissioners Friday rejected a recommendation by the Department of Professional Regulation that Knight was "slightly negligent" in his handling of the Capricorn before the Jan. 28 accident at the mouth of Tampa Bay.

The 605-foot oil tanker collided with the 180-foot buoy tender on a clear, calm night between two turn buoys just west of the Sunshine Skyway Bridge. Twenty-three of the 50 crewmen aboard the Coast Guard vessel died when their ship rolled over and sank within five minutes of impact.

Ken Ortel, representing the DPR, told the board most of the blame for the collision belonged to the Blackthorn.

The cutter, he said, was on the wrong side of the channel when the accident happened. But Knight should have sounded four whistle blasts as a danger signal earlier than he did, Ortel said.

The panel said it will tell the DPR, which regulates harbor pilots, that Knight displayed neither negligence nor incompetence.

A U.S. Coast Guard Marine Board of Inquiry was formed soon after the accident and spent six weeks taking testimony. Its final report has not yet been released.

The National Transportation Safety Board conducted a joint investigation with the Coast Guard, ruling several weeks ago that most of the blame for the tragedy should be put on the officers of the Blackthorn, Lt. Cmdr. Jim Sepel and Lt. John R. Ryan.

Sepel, commander of the Blackthorn, was criticized for allowing Ryan to assume command of the vessel when he was unfamiliar with both the rules and the waterway itself, the NTSB said.

Sepel and Ryan are awaiting a decision about whether they'll face court martial proceedings.

AP poll shows Reagan hurt by his stands on abortion, ERA

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ronald Reagan's opposition to the Equal Rights Amendment and abortion appears to be costing him votes in his quest for the White House, particularly the votes of women. The latest Associated Press-NBC News poll says Reagan draws less support from women than from men. And Jimmy Carter is the beneficiary of that difference, drawing much of the support among women that Reagan fails to get.

At least part of that weakness in Reagan's appeal to women comes from his stands against both the proposed ERA and abortion. Support for both is significant among all likely voters. And Reagan does the worst among women who disagree with his positions on the two issues.

Interestingly, independent John B. Anderson, a strong supporter of the ERA and opponent of efforts to ban abortion, benefits only marginally from his policy differences with Reagan and Carter.

The AP-NBC News poll, taken Monday through Wednesday, says Reagan is the choice of 45 percent of the male likely voters, while Carter is the choice of 31 percent — a 14-point edge. Independent candidate Anderson is the choice of 13 percent and the rest were undecided or named others.

In contrast, the women among likely voters split their votes, with Reagan getting 39 percent and Carter 36 percent, with Anderson garnering 13 percent. Thus, Reagan enjoys a clear margin among men and only a rough split among women.

Reagan is strongly opposed to abortion and opposes ratification of the ERA. Carter and Anderson support the ERA. Carter personally opposes abortion, but he has said he does not support a constitutional amendment to ban abortion. Anderson has come out strongly for the right of a woman to have an abortion.

Both abortion and ERA are backed by people likely to cast ballots on Nov. 4, the AP-NBC News poll said.

A woman's right to an abortion is favored by a 72-24 margin among likely voters, with the remainder not sure. The ERA is backed a 41-26 edge, with 13 percent saying they are not sure and 18 percent saying they haven't heard of it.

On both issues, Reagan does best among those who agree with him.

Those who oppose the ERA favor Reagan over Carter by a 60-24 edge, with Anderson drawing 7 percent. In contrast, those who back the amendment give Carter 38 percent; Reagan, 29 percent; and Anderson, 21 percent.

Similarly, those who oppose abortion give 54 percent to Reagan, 27 percent to Carter and 9 percent to Anderson.

Those who favor abortion split, with Reagan getting 37 percent, Carter 35 percent and Anderson 15 percent.

The contrasts are even more stark for women who are likely to vote.

Women who favor the ERA favor Carter by a 41-26 margin over Reagan, with Anderson drawing 23 percent. Women who oppose the amendment back Reagan by 55-27.

Likewise, women who favor abortion give Carter 38 percent, Reagan 34 percent and Anderson 16 percent. Those women who oppose abortion favor Reagan by a 51-29 edge over Carter.

As with all sample surveys, the results of the AP-NBC News poll can vary from the opinions of all Americans or all likely voters because of chance variations in the sample.

For a poll based on 1,512 interviews, the results are subject to an error margin of 3 percentage points either way because of such chance variations. That is, if one could have talked to all likely voters with telephones last week, there is only one chance in 20 that the findings would vary from the results of polls such as this one by more than 3 percentage points.

Of course, the results could differ from other polls for a number of additional reasons. Differences in the exact wording of questions, differences in when the interviews were conducted and different methods of interviewing could also cause variations.

Cleveland foresees peaceful desegregation

CLEVELAND (AP) — School buses are set to roll in Cleveland on Monday, and by the end of the week, officials say, they will have brought about full-scale integration in Ohio's largest school system.

All officials involved predict a peaceful and successful transition from the partial desegregation in effect for the past school year.

Last year, children in all elementary, some junior high and a few high schools in the 82,000-pupil system were bused from one part of Cleveland to another.

On Monday, the school system begins busing about one-third of the more than 40,000 students to be bused to achieve integration. By Thursday, full-scale implementation is to be complete in the system where two-thirds of the students are black.

The city is the most recent to employ systemwide desegregation. Los Angeles integrated its public schools with busing two weeks ago.

In Cleveland, all desegregation decisions are being made by a court-appointed administrator, Dr. Donald Waldrup, rather than by a school board. Waldrup — the hand-picked choice of U.S. District Judge Frank Battisti — took over the desegregation plan on Aug. 15.

Three weeks earlier, Battisti had found top school officials, including Superintendent Peter Carlin, in contempt of his 1978 order to end segregation of the city's schools. Battisti conducted 23 days of contempt hearings in April and May.

The desegregation of Cleveland schools has taken longer than expected because of administrative turmoil, court orders and appeals, some of which are still to be decided.

"In 1978, when this desegregation started, there was a great deal of hostility toward the idea. In 1980, the issue has shifted to one of competence and whether this school system can run the district," said Leonard Stevens, director of the court-created Office of School Monitoring and Community Relations.

The office was created by Battisti in May 1978 to observe progress of the desegregation order and help the public understand the process.

Stevens said his office, which includes 100 monitors, will concentrate on high schools and junior highs and spot check elementary schools. Monitors also will observe some bus pickup and dropoff points.

Police officials say 292 officers will be also assigned to monitor the situation. Cleveland has been free of violence in earlier integration efforts and none is expected Monday.

Christmas stamps to be issued

The U.S. Postal Service reminds us that Christmas is just a lick away. The two 1980 Christmas stamps, both 15-centers, will be issued Oct. 31 in two separate locations — in Washington, D.C., and Christmas, Mich. The new stamps are being printed in the standard commemorative size instead of the smaller regular stamp size used in 1977, 1978 and 1979. The Art Masterpiece adhesive depicts a detail of the Madonna and Child taken from the Epiphany Window in the Bethlehem Chapel of the Washington Cathedral. The contemporary design features antique toys on a window sill. It is obvious that the Christmas, Mich., location was selected because the name of the city adds to the seasonal identification for first day cancellations. Different inscriptions appear on the stamps. Across the bottom of the stained glass window design is a line "Christmas USA 15 cents." In the same position on the other stamp are two lines "Season's Greetings" and "USA 15 cents." It is interesting to note that the toy design, showing a top, a horn and a drum was taken from the personal collection of the designer, Bob Timberlake of Lexington, N.C. The drum was manufactured around 1817. The horn dates back to 1920 and the top was crafted in the early 1800s.

To get your first day cancellations, you may use either of the two methods accepted by the Postal Service. You can purchase the stamps at your local post office and affix them to your own envelopes. All envelopes must be addressed and have return addresses. The stamp should be placed in the upper right corner of the envelope and the return address on the right side near the bottom. Forward your envelope to "First Day Cancellations, Postmaster, Washington, D.C. 20013 (or "Christmas, Mich. 49862"). No remittance is required and it must be postmarked no later than Nov. 15. If you prefer the Postal Service to affix the stamps, then send your request and envelope with 15 cents per stamp included. Don't send cash. A money order is the best method. Forward to "Art Masterpiece Stamp, Postmaster, Washington, D.C. 20013" or "Season's Greetings Stamp, Postmaster, Christmas, Mich. 49862." Orders must be postmarked no later than Nov. 15.

Athlete's daughter seeks to clear him

By VERN BOATNER
The Arizona Republic
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — At about 6:30 a.m. on May 28, 1888, in a one-room cabin south of the town of Bellemont on the banks of the North Fork River in Oklahoma Territory, an Indian child was born.

The boy was of the Sac and Fox tribe and could trace his lineage back to the fierce warrior chief, Black Hawk, who had so bloodily defended his lands against the onrushing pioneers.

The mother named the boy Wa-tho-huck, which meant "Bright Path." The world would come to know him as Jim Thorpe, the greatest all-round athlete of modern times.

But it also would come to know him as a center of dark controversy that has disturbed his daughter Charlotte, a child of her father's first marriage, more than a little. Disabled and with plenty of free time on her hands, she is devoted to clearing his name.

Thorpe won both the pentathlon and decathlon at the 1912 Olympics in Stockholm, Sweden. But he was stripped of his medals and his name was removed from the record books after it was discovered he had played minor league baseball during the summers of 1909-10.

It took those striving for Thorpe's reinstatement as an amateur 60 years before the Amateur Athletic Union restored his amateur status.

By then, Thorpe was dead. He died of a heart attack March 28, 1953.

Efforts to get Thorpe's medals and trophies returned and his name reinstated in the Olympic record books were dealt a blow last March when Lord Killanin, then president of the International Olympic Committee, said, "Nobody can do anything about it after all these years."

"Somebody can, and somebody will," said Ms. Thorpe, who was instrumental in the creation of the Olympic Justice for Jim Thorpe Foundation.

The foundation, she explained, is not interested in the return or duplication of the two gold medals, which were presented to the runners-up in the decathlon and pentathlon.

But she does want the two trophies presented to Thorpe, one by King Gustav V of Sweden and the other on behalf of Czar Nicholas II of Russia. The trophies now reside in the Olympic museum in Lausanne, Switzerland.

The controversy had its roots in 1907, when Glen S. "Pop" Warner already was recruiting from coast-to-coast for his athletic teams at Carlisle, Pa., Indian School.

Thorpe didn't play much that first year but was almost unstoppable in 1908 as the Indians met the best teams in the East.

By then, he stood 5-foot-11 and weighed about 190 pounds. He was a one-man track team for Warner. It was nothing for him to win five events.

Thorpe did not return to school in 1909-10, and it was during this period that he ran afoul of the amateur rule. He always maintained he didn't know he was violating any rules, and he talked openly about his baseball experiences after returning to school.

Thorpe made everybody's All-America team in 1911-12 as tiny Carlisle became a national power. The Indians lost just one game each season.

Thorpe, whose exploits were well known by then, easily made the Olympic team. Just as easily, he dominated the pentathlon and decathlon.

In January 1913, the storm broke over Thorpe's head. He was asked only to return the medals, but he angrily shipped back the trophies also.

On Feb. 1, 1913, he signed with the New York Giants baseball team. Thorpe lasted six years in the majors, winding up his career at Akron, Ohio, in 1928 when he was 40.

Throughout this period, he had been playing professional football in the winter, starting with the Canton Bulldogs in 1915 for the then-enormous sum of $250 a game.

He found fame disappeared quickly. He bounced from one job to another, serving as a dance marathon referee, emceed a cross-country marathon, was a painter and played bit parts in movies. During the Depression, he served as a laborer for 50 cents an hour.

He was to have been buried in Shawnee, Okla. But when the governor vetoed a bill appropriating money for a memorial, Thorpe's third wife angrily switched the burial to what is now known as Jim Thorpe, Pa.

Potatoes are nourishing diet staple

By TOM HOGGE
AP Wine and Food Writer
An American nutritionist recently said man can live on potatoes alone for up to five months and remain in good health.

It was a fitting tribute to the unsung spud, which for generations has served as a staple for the needy and a delicacy for the gourmet.

The potato not only contains iron, calcium and other healthful properties, it is one of the cheapest vegetables available. This has prompted the U.S. Department of Agriculture to undertake research to produce a tuber much more resistant to plant disease and possessing more flavor than those grown a decade ago. And it contains on an average only 200 calories.

The potato originated in the Western Hemisphere, where the Incas cultivated it around 500 B.C. In the 16th century, the Spaniards took it back to Europe where it was generally shunned as unclean because it was reproduced by budding rather than fertilization.

The Americans regarded the potato as inedible long after it had become a standby on European dinner tables.

My recently published book, "Potato Cookery," goes into the Epicurean aspects of the tuber, as in this recipe for Gratin aux Champignons.

- 5 medium potatoes, peeled and sliced thin
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 1/2 pounds fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 1 clove garlic
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup Swiss cheese, grated
- 1 small bunch parsley, chopped
- 1 small onion, minced
- 2 cups heavy cream

1 ounce Cognac
Dry potatoes and sprinkle them and mushrooms with salt and pepper. Rub 2-quart baking dish with 1 tablespoon butter. Put in alternate layers potatoes and mushrooms. Sprinkle each layer with nutmeg, cheese, parsley and onion. Top finally with layer of potatoes and cover with mixture of cream and cognac. Sprinkle top with cheese and dot with remaining butter. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven till potatoes are easily pierced. Serve very hot. Serves 6-8.

Sleek plastic car will save energy

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — George Sharman says the adage, "if you build a better mousetrap people will beat a path to your door," may apply to mousetraps, but it has nothing to do with new automobile designs.

Sharman, 31, has come up with what he says is a car that will save gasoline as well as lives, but, apparently, nobody is interested enough to come across with money to start production of the vehicle.

After building a prototype and showing it around the country, Sharman asked for private money and then federal funds for production. "But," he says, "I've hit a brick wall."

The only whispers of interest came from Great Britain and Mexico.

"I want this to be an American car," Sharman says, "but I'll go where necessary to get the proper financing."

Joining Sharman in the design and construction of the auto were Anthony Buonauro, who works in the product development and technical service division of U.S. Steel Corp., and Raymond Earl Thomas, a researcher in reinforced plastics for Dow Chemical Co.

The four-seat sports model car is made of plastic, with foam blocks of varying densities sandwiched between the inner and outer skins, reinforced with graphite and directional glass.

That means, Sharman says, the car "is virtually crush-proof."

The developer says the vehicle, powered by an 80-horsepower engine, can get at least 50 miles to the gallon.

The total cost to the customer — $8,500.

Sharman, a native of Houston and a graduate of Texas A&M University, says the big auto makers are financially wedded to steel-based technology, "and you won't see any major changes there until the 1990s. That longer-term planning won't solve the energy problem of today."

The sleek-looking red auto, called the Energy Efficient Vehicle (EEV), weighs only 1,900 pounds and because of the energy-absorbing foam, can take a hard lick without falling apart.

Sharman says the average American car weighs somewhere around 3,200 to 3,500 pounds, "and that's foolish, to have that heavy a car to carry a 175-pound driver."

The dashboard contains displays for speed, oil pressure, coolant temperature, manifold vacuum, oil temperature, battery current, fuel level and miles per gallon.

As Sharman explains, "Any display will blink once a second for any abnormal reading such as low fuel or overheating. The miles per gallon indicator will keep the driver aware of the efficiency of the vehicle."

He adds, "It must be emphasized that the EEV will not be revolutionary, but a natural evolution of technologies that have proven themselves in areas such as the space program. We just took it a step farther and have proven that a safe, economical automobile can be built."

Another big advantage of the EEV, Sharman says, is easy repairs for those cars banged up in accidents.

There is only one sure answer to the energy problem, Sharman says, and that is to replace "the present gas-gulping, unsafe fleet of passenger vehicle with new improved world cars."

PEEKING at PAMPA

Aren't we glad to be living in a city that recognizes and enjoys the talents of its citizens?

The Pampa Mall was crowded with sight-seers on the 19th and 20th, viewing the work of nine local photographers that was on exhibit there. Event was sponsored by the Fine Arts Association. Stretched almost the length of the complex, with each exhibitor having two or three large displays of his best work.

Vondel Simmons of Canyon had a showing as did Pampans William McCarley, Mary Ann Woosley, Ed Sackett, Ernest Upton, Frank Anderson, Wallace Birkes, Will Brazeale and Tim Gikas.

Crowds seemed especially drawn to the flower pictures and views of longhorn cattle by Ed Sackett — and to the splendid views of famous sites all over the world by Wallace Birkes.

Also sponsored by the Fine Arts, along with the Pampa Civic Ballet and the fine arts committee of the Chamber of Commerce, was the award coffee that took place in the Chamber's conference room Friday.

Fifty-seven Pampans who support "Business In The Arts" were awarded certificates in appreciation of their efforts in this field, the documents being signed by Governor Clements.

Betty Henderson ("Smiley's" wife, you know) acted as hostess and Fauncine Mack (Bob's wife and pretty Debbie's mother) served coffee and cookies. Jim Ward (He's on his own as Chamber president this year — but he's also Norma's husband) welcomed the guests.

Got only a few of the names of the recipients because I wasn't there. But I heard that Jeanne Willingham, Aubrey Steele, Peggy Palmittier, Kirk Duncan, Otis Nace and W.C. Bass were among them.

Many women in Pampa are able to juggle careers and home life successfully and harmoniously. One such lady is Rochelle Lacy, who keeps husband, Calvin, and three children (high school and college ages) breezing along happily. Children dance, act, sing, emulating Rochelle's many talents.

This popular history teacher at Pampa High is also a writer, I understand. Wrote a beautiful ballet-and-play a year or so ago for the Pampa Civic Ballet Christmas show. Was directed by Jeanne Willingham and starred lovely Angela Day as a gorgeous butterfly.

Costumes for the ballet were made by Rochelle's mother, Irene Smith, an accomplished seamstress as well as a nationally known photographer along with husband, Irl. Irene also made the fabulous costumes for the Shakespearean plays that Rochelle used to direct.

Always have admired ladies who "get up and go," especially when they live alone. Saw Ada Parsons eating out, waving to friends, smiling that irresistible smile of hers. Also spied Gladys McMillan with friends. And Edda Lee Haggard was looking fine. Isn't Chris Atkinson one of the most charming ladies you ever knew?

Louise Hukill, always so spry, isn't letting her recent injury slow her down. A speeding car hit hers from behind, causing a severe whiplash. But she goes where she wants to anyway, wearing her neck support and laughing about the pain. Brave lady, worth imitating.

Understand that the Gray County Extension Homemakers Council sponsored a program on "Cults" in the courthouse. Among the speakers was Police Chief J.H. Ryzman, who talked and answered questions. Fine thing for the Chief to assist in the kind of worthy program. Wife is the daughter of Judge and Wilsie Parker.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan also gives his time to the community. Always welcomes visitors to his

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman, married 15 years and have two children. I have a dream. I want very much to go on a vacation with no husband, no children — just me alone! I want a week of doing whatever I want to do, with no pressure from anyone, without worrying if everyone else is happy and content. I would dearly love freedom from all home responsibilities — to sleep as late as I wished, eat when I want, go to sleep when I like, and not have to explain why. A place at the beach would be my idea of heaven!

My husband thinks my "dream" of a one-week vacation all alone is "unnatural." He thinks a happily married woman who has this kind of dream is crazy.

DEAR LILLIAN: Just keep making those deposits, and watch the interest grow!

DEAR ABBY: My grandma came to me for advice. She's 75 and has been married for 58 years. I'm 21, and I've been married less than a year. Grandma says Grandpa (he's 76) is impotent, and he blames her. He says if she were "more of a woman," he would be more of a man. He told Grandma that if she didn't cooperate more he was going to find himself another woman. (They live in a senior citizens' complex and he wouldn't have to look far.)

Poor Grandma is so upset I feel sorry for her. What advice can I give her? (P.S. I am serious.)

DEAR CONCERNED: Tell Grandma that the University of Oregon Medical School in Eugene has an excellent human sexuality program. She and Grandpa should look into it. It could save their marriage. (P.S. I am serious, too.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANYONE FOR WHOM IT IS NOT YET TOO LATE: The gestation period of a mother's advice is anywhere from one hour to 50 years. Losing one's mother before having thanked her for the many precious things she taught you is one of life's greatest tragedies.

Do you have questions about sex, love, drugs and the pain of growing up? Get Abby's new booklet: "What Every Teen-ager Ought To Know." Send $2 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Well, do I see a psychiatrist, or go to the beach?

NEEDS A BREAK
DEAR NEEDS: Assuming your children will be properly looked after, I see nothing unnatural about your dream. And surely, there is nothing "wrong" with anyone (male or female) who wants freedom from all responsibility for a week. Go to the beach, and send your husband to a psychiatrist if he thinks you're crazy.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 26, female, black, single, ready, willing and able. There is a new teller at the bank where I deposit the company checks. He's black, too, about the right age for me and totally dreamy. I observed that he doesn't wear a wedding ring, which may or may not mean anything. After I made the deposit this morning, he touched my hand when he handed me the receipt. Then I looked up and saw that beautiful smile, and my heart melted.

One of the girls who work at the bank told me that he asked her if I was married or going with anybody, so he must be interested in me, too.

How can I let him know that I would like to know him better without appearing too forward?

FARM FORUM
by Gary Sutherland

Ordinarily a wheat producer would pay very little attention to the opening of a new bakery...but there can always be an exception. One of those exceptions may well be the recent announcement by the US Wheat Associates of the opening of a new bakery in Beijing (your map may still say Peking) China. Executives of the US organization declare the opening of the bakery and baker's training center to be a major step forward in the future development of the wheat market in the People's Republic of China. Currently there are very few bakeries in the PRC, but the Chinese government is wanting to expand quickly as the popularity of bread products becomes established with the Chinese people. It looks like US wheat may be the mainstay for Chinese bread.

Son of Sam pen pal to many

By RICHARD T. PIENCIAK
Associated Press Writer
ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — David R. Berkowitz, Son of Sam, killer of six, pen pal of many.

The former taxi driver and postal clerk who terrorized New York City for nearly a year is a prolific letter writer from behind the walls of the Attica Correctional Facility.

Pecking away on his Underwood Model 315, he juggles a postal love life, assuring one female pen pal he will not marry the other.

He writes his family, his lawyer, his court-appointed business conservator. He writes publishers, reporters, the governor, the state Crime Victims Compensation Board, petitioning for better treatment of inmates and crime victims.

"I have a lot of leisure time, a lot of time on my hands," is how Berkowitz, who can be paroled no earlier than 2008, explains his voluminous correspondence.

He writes Dee Channel, his self-appointed Christian counselor, as often as three times a day. He writes to a psychiatrist who once diagnosed as phony his claim that bloodthirsty demons made him kill.

Berkowitz is now convinced that the psychiatrist, Dr. David Abrahamson, author of a controversial "psycho-history" of former President Richard Nixon, is one of a select few who understands him. Berkowitz says he is helping the doctor write a book about him.

"Son of Sam is big news, big money, big fame should someone get his inside story," he teases, sometimes implying that he may not have acted alone in 1977. At the same time, he chastizes "greedy writers" who have the "audacity" to profit from his crimes.

But despite a year of promises to tell that inside story, including claims that he belonged to a Satanic coven and had help from group members in the Son of Sam killings, Berkowitz remains mum.

He reads nearly everything he can get his hands on. His favorite topics are the occult, mass murderers, prison escapes, animal mutilations, legal executions and himself.

He wrote a Buffalo television critic that there will always be killers "because any individual with death and destruction on his mind will always be guaranteed plenty of publicity and a willing audience when he turns to anti-social acts for recognition or whatever else."

The curly-haired "44-caliber killer" continues to get attention. It came recently from reports he was receiving Social Security disability benefits and had applied for veteran's aid. A bill to deny Social Security payments to prisoners was introduced and Social Security officials now say Berkowitz's aid will be cut off.

Last year, so many inmates leaked tidbits about Berkowitz that he obtained a court order prohibiting autograph expert Charles Hamilton from peddling autographs, fingerprints and bits of information.

There have been several TV movies vaguely based on his case. A court-authorized book, being written from official records with the help of Berkowitz's former attorneys, will be released this fall.

Berkowitz seems to need and thrive on the attention.

Last year, he complained that New York newspapers had carried little about the Hillside Strangler case in Los Angeles or mass murderer John Gacy in Chicago. "How quickly people forget about things."

It may be that his hints that there is more about his case are designed to keep him from becoming a forgotten headline himself. Last October, for example he wrote his case's investigators:

"They all knew of the numerous inconsistencies, the numerous discrepancies, the numerous unanswered questions, etc. ... Honestly, I could probably type 10 full pages detailing every inconsistency, every known fact that I wasn't alone, that it wasn't me."

"That gun in my possession is all they've got. But if only they knew the real motive."

The New York City police insist Berkowitz acted alone. His hints to the contrary and some circumstantial evidence led authorities in Minot, N.D., and the New York City borough of Queens to announce last year they were investigating the possibility that there was more than one killer. The conspiracy theorists see something sinister in the deaths subsequent to Berkowitz's arrest of John and Michael Carr, sons of Sam Carr, a neighbor who Berkowitz claimed had commanded him to kill to satisfy demons.

Supporters of the multiple-gunner theory suggest that one or both sons may have been involved in the killing. They say that would better explain the term Son of Sam.

Both the Queens and Minot investigations remain open officially but there have been no announced developments. The moving force behind the persistent interest in the Son of Sam case and the conspiracy theory continues to be Berkowitz himself. He has enticed investigators with unsubstantiated statements made in letters.

One thing is clear through all this conspiracy talk. Berkowitz likes attention and feeds it with information hard to prove or disprove.

One example is statements he made about a July 1979 prison stabbing incident that left a deep gash in his neck. On one occasion Berkowitz wrote he was the victim of certain people who wanted to kill him, on another he contended he had arranged an attempted hit.

Berkowitz says he's content with prison life. He once said: "If the press or media ever got a hold of a few pictures of my cell — forget it. The world would be in a uproar."

TIME ON HIS HANDS. David R. Berkowitz, known as the Son of Sam killer, is shown in Attica, N.Y., State Correctional Facility. He is there serving a 315 year prison sentence for the murder of six young people - and while there he has become a tireless letter writer. "I have lots of leisure time, a lot of time on my hands," he once wrote, in explaining his voluminous correspondence to family, lawyers, journalists, preachers, politicians and publishers. Van Dyke show funny and achingly realistic

"The Dick Van Dyke Show" was excruciatingly funny and achingly real. Its superb writing and outstanding cast made us care about Rob, Laura, Sally, Buddy and even Mel. Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore won our hearts. The show was the brainchild of Carl Reiner, who played Rob's vain TV star boss. CBS, October 1961-September 1966.

"The Mary Tyler Moore Show" overcame a bad case of pre-debut "flop sweat" to become not only a classic but the most classy comedy of all time. It was a curious blend of acid and vanilla that worked, thanks to the cast and a brilliant writing staff headed by James Brooks and Allan Burns. CBS, September 1970-September 1977.

"All in the Family" was THE comedy of the 1970s. It was abrasive, shocking and stirring, but always funny. Carroll O'Connor's Archie Bunker lives on — though somewhat mellowed — in a new show, "Archie Bunker's Place." Norman Lear, Bud Yorkin and John Rich shaped this English import. January 1971-September 1979.

"The Rockford Files" was about a private eye who was an ex-con and a coward and who solved his cases even as he was falling on his face. The writing was the best of the genre, the cast was appealing and James Garner made its off-the-wall humor look so easy. NBC, September 1974-July 1980.

"The Defenders" were a father-and-son law firm that tackled the issues, big and small, with an even-handedness that precluded courtroom theatrics. E.G. Marshall and Robert Reed were the lawyers and Reginald Rose was the creator. If for no other reason it was noteworthy for the fact that they didn't always win their cases. September 1961-September 1965.

"Police Story" told the real story of police work as no other series had ever dared. Policeman-author Joseph Wambaugh fought to keep it honest and aloof from the screeching-tire, smoking-gun mentality of many cop shows. After its death as a regular series it continued for a while as a series of movies. NBC, September 1973-August 1977.

"Maverick" was the only show to take dead aim at the Western and leave it in a giggling heap on the saloon floor.

Wambaugh fought to keep it honest and aloof from the screeching-tire, smoking-gun mentality of many cop shows. After its death as a regular series it continued for a while as a series of movies. NBC, September 1973-August 1977.

El Paso Unit nerve center for drug war

By JAMES R. KING
Associated Press Writer
EL PASO, Texas (AP) — You would probably not notice anything unusual about the men and women who enter the Property Trust building here, along with insurance salesmen, secretaries, and other office workers.

They all look like average, white-collar workers — some carry briefcases and newspapers. But others carry guns, have top secret government clearances and use special keys to operate a restricted elevator.

Once inside the unmarked, three-story office building, they report to heavily guarded rooms packed with electronic gear, world maps with flashing lights, decoding machines and paper shredders. They are not Army generals or CIA spies, but in a way they are fighting a war.

It is the war waged by a multitude of policing agencies against drug smugglers, illegal aliens and gun-runners.

The low-profile El Paso Intelligence Center here is where the U.S. government pools information from officers in the field and redistributes it to them — it's where the government's right hand gets to know the government's left hand.

"Several agencies might each have a single piece of information," said Deputy Director Horace Cavitt. "An airplane's tail number from the FAA. A license plate from Texas DPS. A name or a description from a police department. A suspicious situation from a sheriff.

"Sometimes when you piece all the bits of information together you see a pattern."

Once the pattern is recognized, surveillance is set up, Cavitt said. Then, officers in the field make the "bust."

Evidence of some arrests is contained in framed pictures that decorate the halls. They are aerial reconnaissance photographs, some of ships on the high seas which Cavitt said were "loaded down with marijuana."

Others show ships being unloaded on remote stretches of beach, with large bales of marijuana being stacked on shore while hidden agents watched before making the arrests.

"Narcotics, guns, aliens — that's what we're after," said Cavitt, who helps run this information clearinghouse set up by the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration in 1974 with 35 persons.

The Federal Aviation Administration is among the agencies with men here.

Record mogul says Broadway first love

NEW YORK (AP) — Clive Davis, pop music mogul, runs Arista Records. His roster of stars includes Barry Manilow and Dionne Warwick.

But he says he lives, loves and is "thoroughly immersed in Broadway." Furthermore, his label "is very eager for songs coming out of Broadway" that his stars could record.

A small problem. In his opinion, today's musicals, unlike those of yesteryear, don't have any hit songs in them.

His solution: He plans to produce his own musicals. He hopes to achieve hit shows and hit songs from same, just as in the old days.

It's a new field for him, to be sure. Before he joined Arista in 1974, he ran CBS-owned Columbia Records and brought to it such stars as Janis Joplin, Santana, Laura Nyro and Blood, Sweat & Tears.

But he was active in musicals back in the mid-60s, when he used to negotiate Broadway show contracts for Columbia. Musical tastes were changing then, rock was blossoming.

The dapper, Brooklyn-born executive says he urged the Main Stem composers he knew then to take note of the new contemporary sounds, to consider the potential. But it was in vain.

So, when he came to power at Columbia, "I sort of took the company out of the area for a number of years. I felt if the music was not that strong, we should not be in it as an investor.

"Now, I really feel one cannot wait for the Broadway producers to come up with the new people writing the songs, the scores, because they seem to be going with the tried and true names. And it's not really productive."

He meant productive in terms of pop music charts. Sure, he agrees, hit musicals continue to show up, shows like "A Chorus Line," and "Annie" continue to pack 'em in.

"But they don't have the kind of music that gave birth to the number of hit songs and standards that you got from 'Oklahoma,' 'South Pacific,' 'My Fair Lady' or 'Camelot.'"

Some veteran tunesmiths, like "Barnum" composer Cy Coleman, contend that few hit songs come from Broadway now simply because record companies don't promote the tunes as they once did.

Davis disagrees: "I love Cy, but that to me is an example of the wrong perspective... there's no hit song in 'Barnum.' If there were, I'd record it tomorrow. That's the exact point I'm making."

His definition of a hit: "It has good lyrics and a strong emotional impact, usually coupled with a melodic 'hook,' a tune that's hummable, memorable because of its melodic theme."

And that hit needn't always be of rock persuasion, he adds, citing the best-selling ballads of Manilow as an example.

In involving Arista with Broadway, Davis wants "to work with composers whom I think can deliver the kind of score Broadway has been missing, great, tuneful songs that could be played around the world."

He realizes there's a whale of a difference between writing catchy pop songs and composing tunes that not only must be memorable but also help propel the plot and characters of a musical.

But he doesn't think there'd be that much trouble. He's not at all horrified at the idea of using two composers — one from the pop-music field, the other from Broadway — on the same show.

"I've lived in the same building, the same floor for 11 years. Why didn't they count me?"

The trouble began early this year when everyone else in her apartment building got a census form, she explained Friday.

The 34-year-old woman, who works in the sales promotion department of Union Paper and Twine in Akron, said she sent

Akron woman wants to be counted

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Judy Everett wants to be counted in the 1980 census, but she says she never got a form in the mail, she didn't get a promised visit from a census-taker and finally she couldn't even get a working phone number at a census office.

for some forms but didn't receive any.

Then she said she called a Census Bureau office and asked to be counted. She waited for a census-taker to visit her, but no one did.

"I mean, they're trying to find out how many people are here illegally. I'm here legally," she said. "I pay taxes. I wanted to be counted. I couldn't get anybody to listen to me."

She said ignored the problem for a while, and then spotted a poster at the post office urging citizens to stand up and be counted. So Ms. Everett said she called the telephone number on the poster.

By midsummer, a census-taker still had not shown up. Neither had the forms.

At that point, Ms. Everett said she called the Cleveland census office. Again, she said she was assured someone would visit her. Again no one came.

Chiropractic for Health

by Dr. Gerald O. York Jr.

Rheumatism is a painful condition of joints and muscles caused by inflammation in those areas. When joints are inflamed, they do not produce proper amounts of lubricating fluid. It is this condition that is considered to be rheumatism. It can start in the neck, knees, arms or back. It may first appear as a fleeting pain and then reoccur in a more severe form. Without treatment, rheumatism may become chronic. Before it gets to this point, it is a good idea to see your chiropractor. Chiropractic treatment may stop or reduce the symptoms of rheumatism.

Chiropractic treatment may help many painful conditions like rheumatism. Great success has been found in the treatment of bursitis, arthritis, and back pain in general. DR. GERALD O. YORK JR. has the finest chiropractic facilities around at 1121 S. Hobart, 665-1627. In addition to spinal manipulation, I offer nutritional guidance and physical therapy. I accept Medicare and most insurance plans.

Adventure writer itchy for mischief

EDITOR'S NOTE — "The High and the Mighty," "Fate is the Hunter," "Soldier of Fortune." All are the work of Ernest Gann, novelist, screenwriter — and real life adventurer. Meet Ernest Gann, as he nears his 70th birthday.

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer

FRIDAY HARBOR, Wash. (AP) — Adventure writer Ernest Gann is an old man of the sea and air, becalmed at the moment on his ranch in the San Juan Islands.

He isn't roving. He's writing outlines for a pack of future books and painting oil pictures of tall ships thrusting through wild seas.

"I'm getting itchy for some mischief," Gann says, patting a wave of brown hair and smiling.

Gann, who will be 70 on Oct. 13, has written more than a dozen action-riddled books about airplanes and sailing ships. He is the literary father of the clear-eyed, square-jawed pilot who brings his disabled, passenger-laden airliner to safety through storm and strife.

His works include "The High and the Mighty," "Island in the Sky," "Fate is the Hunter," "Twilight for the Gods," "Band of Brothers," "In the Company of Eagles" and "Soldier of Fortune." John Wayne and Clark Gable starred in movies made from Gann novels.

Among the black and white photos of old flying buddies and sailing cronies on the walls of his writing studio are two of Wayne, the only celebrity pictured there.

"They ostracized John Wayne because of his patriotism. Well, I agreed with him. This is the greatest country in the world but it's run by 19th-rate people," says Gann.

He attended military academies and the Yale School of Drama, then ricocheted from job to job — general manager of Broadway plays, commercial fisherman, cartoonist, commercial pilot, barnstormer pilot, newsreel cameraman for "March of Time," author, screenwriter.

Gann piloted cargo planes around the globe in World War II and the Korean War, and on one takeoff almost knocked the top off the Taj Mahal with an overweight craft.

Gann's life is the backbone of his books.

"I'm not a poet. I'm afraid I'm just an author, a refugee from the flight deck, an adventurer, I guess, with literary overtones," he says.

"I seem to have some ability to take readers with me where I've been, into the cockpit of an airplane or the deck of a ship."

His autobiography, "A Hostage to Fortune," was published this year as was "Brain 2000," a book he calls "light hammock reading," about the earth flipping on its axis. A miniseries based on his book "The Antagonists" about the Roman siege of Jews at Masada, is scheduled for television next fall.

"I want to take a sabbatical from this life," he says, and go to England to research the Tower of London for a book.

He's still haunted by the part dumb luck plays in men's fortunes. He looks at the pictures on the wall.

"For some reason, so many of my friends up there are dead. Why the hell am I standing here talking to you? They were as good or 'better pilots than I am. They didn't have anything to do with it. So this is what's called 'Fate is the Hunter,' for lack of a better word."
