Smith insurance trial opens

By DEBORAH BRIDGES
Staff Writer

Jury selection will begin at 9 a.m. Tuesday in 223rd District Court in the civil trial to determine the beneficiary of $200,000 in life insurance benefits from the policy on the life of Dennis Lee Smith — his wife, Cathy Darlene Smith or his parents, Betty Hayden and William Smith.

The jurors will decide whether Mrs. Smith, 29, "intentionally or willfully" brought about the death of her 30-year-old husband on Jan. 13 and, if so, be ineligible for the $200,000.

Smith was discovered by city police at the couple's residence at 504 S. Finley, dead of two gunshot wounds to the chest and abdomen.

The civil suit was filed in April by the insurance company, Western National Life Insurance of Amarillo, after Mrs. Smith and the Smith's parents presented cross-claims for the life insurance benefits.

Mrs. Smith claims the $200,000 as the named beneficiary on the one-year-old, decreasing term policy.

Hayden and Smith claim the benefits under the provisions of Article 21.23 of the Texas Insurance Code regarding the forfeiture of the beneficiary's rights. The article states the rights are forfeited "when the beneficiary is the principal or accomplice in willfully bringing about the death of the insured."

Western National Life was released from the suit July 2 by a summary judgment by 223rd District Judge Don Cain. A change of venue motion by Smith's attorney was denied by Cain on Oct. 10.

Mrs. Smith was convicted of voluntary manslaughter on Aug. 22 by a jury of ten women and two men after a four day trial in a split verdict.

During the August murder trial, a tale of sexual perversions, spouse abuse, drugs and drinking unfolded. Mrs. Smith testified during the trial that Smith forced her to commit unnatural sex acts and to indulge in smoking marijuana and excessive drinking.

Evidence of a brief affair between Mrs. Smith and a Texas Highway Patrol Trooper, Wayne Williams, also emerged in testimony.

Williams and polygraph examiner for the Department of Public Safety Ron Rogers are among those subpoenaed to appear in the civil trial.

Murder conviction upheld

The Criminal Court of Appeals in Austin has upheld the 1977 conviction of Donny Kuykendall, 25, for the shotgun slaying of a Pampa marijuana dealer on Sept. 15, 1976. District Attorney Harold Comer said today.

Kuykendall, sentenced to 10 years in the Texas Department of Corrections (TDC), has been free on an appeal bond since the July 22, 1977, conviction, he said. Three other Pampans, Ruben Garza, 23, Duane Chapman, 27, and Cheryl Fisher, 21, were also convicted in a conspiracy to murder Jerry Bowers Oliver of 1072 Prairie Dr., Comer said. Chapman is out on parole, and Fisher and Garza are currently on 10 years probation.

"As soon as we receive a mandate by the Criminal Court of Appeals, he (Kuykendall) will be arrested and transported to TDC," Comer said.

Comer said the state contended the four conspired to rob Jerry Oliver of his marijuana.

Kuykendall's defense was that Oliver grabbed the shotgun he was carrying and it accidentally discharged.

Grand jury hears murder cases

The violent deaths of two Pampa residents and an alleged kidnapping are among the cases being considered by the Gray County Grand Jury when it went into session at 9 a.m. today in the Gray County Court House.

Jurors will hear testimony concerning the deaths of Dewell Jackson, 52, of 510 Oklahoma who died of an apparent stab wound to the chest the night of Nov. 12 and James Tucker, 63, 519 Oklahoma, shot in the chest with a handgun on Nov. 16.

Stefan Hunnicutt, 20, of 1140 Neel Road is charged with murder in connection with Jackson's death. He is currently in Gray County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bond.

A 63-year-old woman, Veola Benjamin Dennis of 717 Octavius is charged with the murder of Tucker. The woman was arrested following the shooting death of Tucker at her Octavius home on Octavius at 4:55 p.m., Nov. 17 — a Sunday afternoon. She was freed on $5,000 bond the next day.

Hunnicutt's brother, James M. Hunnicutt, 22, of 1140 Neel Road also remains in Gray County Jail in lieu of a $15,000 bond on aggravated kidnapping charges.

The kidnapping charges stem from the kidnapping at knife-point of a 17-year-old woman, an alleged witness to the Jackson's killing. The incident reportedly occurred at 2:45 a.m. the following morning.

County awards bids

Gray County Commissioners today accepted a $22,982 bid from Culbertson - Stowers for two two-ton pickup trucks for Precinct 3. The bid included the trade-in on two trucks currently being used.

Commissioners also accepted a bid of $7,540 from Culbertson - Stowers for a three-quarter ton pickup truck for Precinct No. 1.

A motion to advertise for bids for replacement of the locks and keys in the Gray County Jail, recommended by Sheriff Rufe Jordan, was approved by the commissioners.

A bid from Steve M. Cullen of Midland was accepted by the court for one oil lease on the Gaines County School land. The bid is for 320 acres at $75 per acre with one fifth royalty to the county.

A state bond in the sum of $50,000 was approved by the commissioners for Tax Assessor Collector Margie Gray.

Gray County bills and salaries were approved in the sum of $130,580.

Italian tremors force closing of Pompeii

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Fresh tremors dealt another blow to the ruins of Pompeii today, forcing the ancient excavated city and popular tourist attraction to close indefinitely.

Fourteen tremors jolted southern Italy during the night and early today, but hundreds of earthquake survivors resisted government orders to move.

New cracks appeared in hundreds of buildings and monuments, weakened the foundations of others and undid earlier repairs in Pompeii, Fausto Zevi, superintendent of archeology in Naples, said.

Pompeii suffered widespread damage when the quake struck eight days ago, killing an estimated 3,000 people in southern Italy. The quake was the first natural disaster to hit Pompeii since excavation began in the 18th century. The bustling ancient Roman city was buried by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius in 79 A.D.

The Vesuvius Observatory and the National Geodynamics Research Council in Naples recorded the new tremors, but there was no immediate report on whether they caused casualties.

One man killed himself rather than leave his dead sons. A deaf woman stayed in her shattered cellar seven days, surviving on biscuits and tomato sauce.

Military officials said many of the homeless in tent camps insulted soldiers and government workers as they arrived with buses to transfer them to hotels being requisitioned by the government.

"Some sent their children running in all directions just to create confusion and delay our operation," said an official outside Salerno.

"Nobody really wants to go, because it would mean leaving their towns, but the weather is ugly and maybe people don't know that it isn't so nice living in a trailer," Giuseppe Zamberletti, the government's special commissioner for the earthquake zone, told The Associated Press.

Two strong aftershocks jolted the quake area Sunday, arousing new fears among the survivors. But the only casualty reported was a 62-year-old man who rushed from his shaking house with two children and died of a heart attack.

"Ninety-five percent of the people here still won't sleep in their houses because they have cracks and might fall down in another quake," said Mario Di Feo of Volturara, a village east of Naples.

But Dr. Vincenzo Palumbo of Calabritto said the people "look with suspicion on the invitation to move to hotels. They might accept going to live in other Italian and European cities where there are other people from their villages. They would feel less alone."

With snow, sleet and sub-freezing temperatures threatening the health of those in tent camps, Zamberletti's office announced that 12,000 beds were available in resort hotels along the coasts.

The government said it would pay the hotels their usual rates, pay for the food and other living expenses of the refugees and get them out by April 30, before the start of the tourist season.

Interior Ministry officials said temporary housing would be built.

The army estimates 265,000 people lost their homes in the quake Nov. 23 and that shelter must be provided for 170,000 of these. About 65,000 are expected to go to relatives or friends in northern Italy or foreign countries, and 30,000 are expected to remain in their towns and villages, getting by as best they can.

More than eight inches of snow had collected on the rubble of some of the devastated mountain villages by Sunday afternoon, police said. Soldiers and firemen in Sant' Angelo dei Lombardi and other towns still had not recovered all of the corpses buried in the rubble, and the stench was considerable despite the cold.

The military command in Naples said 2,915 bodies had been recovered, 1,574 people were missing and 7,097 were injured. It said no one was recovered alive from the ruins Sunday, and rescue workers feared most of the missing were dead.

Feds ban companies cooperating in probe

DALLAS (AP) — The only three companies known to have cooperated with a federal investigation into bribery and fraud at the Army Air Force Exchange Service have been banned from doing business with the huge retailing operation at the insistence of a congressman, according to published reports.

The three suspended companies have pleaded guilty to charges of bribing AAFES employees, but at least one other company accused in the kickback scheme continue to do business with the AAFES. The Dallas Morning News reported in a copyright story.

The three companies — Bazar Sales Co., Churchill Sales Co. and Martin A. Taylor Co. — are awaiting sentencing on the bribery counts and were banned at the specific direction of U.S. Rep. Dan Daniel, D-Va., the newspaper said in its Sunday editions.

Daniel heads the congressional panel investigating the AAFES, the nation's seventh largest retailing operation.

The newspaper said it obtained the names of at least nine other companies that have been linked to bribes and payoffs and still do business with the AAFES. Five of the companies have either pleaded guilty or have been convicted and four are named in court documents, The News said.

Officials close to the federal investigation were quoted in the newspaper as saying the ban is an attempt to apply political pressure to bring the investigation to a speedy conclusion.

Daniel's actions could jeopardize the government's two-year inquiry and "border on obstruction of justice," one unnamed federal official said.

More than 50 AAFES employees, nine military sales representatives and a dozen companies have been linked to the fraudulent purchasing and procurement scheme that reportedly accounted for hundreds of thousands of dollars in illicit payments, the newspaper said.

The ban came after a Nov. 20 letter from Daniel to AAFES Commander Maj. Gen. Duane H. Stubbs in which Daniel said it was "incumbent upon AAFES to suspect these contractors from doing business with the government." The News said.

"The panel (the House Armed Forces Committee Nonappropriated Fund Panel of the investigations subcommittee) is of the opinion that for any or all of the reasons the government could immediately cease doing business with the three aforementioned companies," the letter said.

While the panel understands you have suspended Bazar Inc. Sales Co., serious consideration should be given immediately to suspending the other two." The two other firms were suspended immediately upon receipt of the letter, the newspaper said.

Daniel, contacted at his Washington office Friday, said he does not believe his actions constitute obstruction.

"Our position is that anyone who violates the rules is not going to do business with the military resale system," he said. "Why should we tolerate people who won't live by the rules?"

The congressman would not say who gave him the names of the three companies. "I was just told they had violated the rules and I wanted them out of there," he said.

"The letter from Daniel only clears the way for Gen. Stubbs to suspend these other companies," said AAFES spokesman Col. Dick Henry.

Bazar has filed suit against AAFES seeking reinstatement because the company was suspended without hearing or other due process. An attorney for Churchill Sales said a similar suit would be filed in behalf of his client.

"We had a firm agreement with AAFES that they would give us an opportunity to come down and see them before they did this," said Churchill attorney Plato Cacheris of Washington.

Armed conflict expected between Syria, Jordan

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria doubled its forces on Jordan's border to 50,000 troops and 1,100 tanks over the weekend, well informed sources said today. Observers in Damascus said armed conflict could break out any day.

They said a letter from Saudi King Khaled, who is trying to mediate the conflict, to President Hafez Assad contained threats, and appeared to have been counterproductive. The substance of the threats was not known, but Saudi Arabia is a big financial backer of the Damascus government.

Saudi Prince Abdullah Bin Abdul-Aziz, deputy premier and commander of the national guard, delivered the letter to Assad during a three-hour meeting Sunday. Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat also conferred with Assad for more than two hours Sunday, and an aide to Arafat described the border situation as "very serious."

King Hussein of Jordan strengthened his forces on the Syrian border Sunday, saying they would not attack the Syrian troops facing them but would "cut off the arm" of anyone attacking them. Jordan is a U.S. ally, while Syria is the Soviet Union's chief ally in the Middle East.

Syria began massing troops and tanks along its frontier with Jordan 10 days ago, just before the convening of an Arab summit conference in Amman which Assad boycotted because he expected it to back his enemy Iraq in its war with Iran. Hussein in response reinforced Jordan's forces on the border.

The king ordered another division to the border Sunday, called up reservists, mobilized civil defense units, tightened airport and border security and began stockpiling fuel, a highly placed Jordanian source said. Jordan now has three divisions at the frontier, compared to two for Syria.

However, the border remained open and the two government's embassies in Damascus and Amman were reported conducting business as usual.

Hussein made a helicopter tour of the frontier Sunday and inspected positions, some just a few hundred yards from the Syrian lines. He was shown on television shaking hands with scores of officers and soldiers and telling his cheering troops that Jordan will "never attack an Arab brother but we will cut off the arm of anyone attacking us."

The highly placed Jordanian source, who declined to be identified, said Hussein's buildup was "strictly precautionary... and we have no intention whatsoever of pre-empting the Syrians."

"The whole situation, to us, is nothing but muscle-flexing by the Syrians who think they can intimidate Jordan," he said. "The Syrians are talking like a big power to a small power. The Syrians want to weaken Iraq by attacking Jordan."

Asked if Jordan would seek help from Iraq, the source said, "We can depend on ourselves."

Syria also claims Jordan is training and supplying terrorists of the fundamentalist Moslem Brotherhood which the Syrians blame for a 16-month-old campaign of bombings and political assassinations aimed at overthrowing Assad. Syrian sources said this was the explanation for the border buildup given to U.S. Ambassador Talcott Seelye in Damascus over the weekend.

Israel's deputy defense minister, Mordechai Zippori, said Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government was watching the Syrian-Jordanian crisis closely "to make sure there won't be any surprises or changes in the situation that could turn in Israel's direction." But Israel's military chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Rafael Eytan, told an audience in southern Israel, "The deeper the disunity in the Arab world, the more advantageous it is to Israel."

Supreme Court to rule on male draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to judge the constitutionality of a male-only military draft.

The court will decide whether the government may require young men to register for possible military service and require them to serve when young women face no such requirements.

Some 4 million men were required to register for the draft last July. If the justices uphold a lower court's ruling — and their decision probably will not be announced until sometime next spring or summer — the government might have to destroy all records of that registration.

If an all-male draft is ruled a form of unconstitutional discrimination, Congress will have to amend the Military Selective Service Act to include women as potential draftees.

A three-judge federal court panel in Philadelphia last July '8 struck down the nation's 31-year-old draft law because it excluded women.

"The principal reason the government proffers for a male-only registration is that it provides military flexibility," the panel said. "The record here, however, reveals that women do serve a useful role in the military and provide important skills... flexibility is not enhanced but is in fact limited by the complete exclusion of women."

Under a landmark 1976 Supreme Court decision, laws treating men and women differently cannot stand unless they serve "important governmental objectives" and are "substantially related" to achieving such objectives.

Applying that standard of judicial scrutiny, the three-judge panel said the draft law "unconstitutionally discriminates between males and females."

While government lawyers limited their arguments to the validity of draft registration, the three-judge panel's decision struck down the entire Military Selective Service Act, which includes military induction as well as registration.

Military induction has not taken place since 1973. Even if military registration and the draft were upheld, Congress would have to pass a new law to allow for call-ups to resume.

Ironically, the legal challenge that led to the three-judge decision was filed in 1971 as a protest to the Vietnam war, and for years lay dormant.

HER NEW HOME. Teresa Caruso, 80, sits next to a small fire in the ruins of Lioni, Italy. Many of the survivors of last Sunday's earthquake spend their nights outdoors away from the fragile buildings which could collapse in the tremors which have followed the main quake.

Local districts must pay for removal of asbestos

DALLAS (AP) - Federal agencies will help Texas locate deadly asbestos in school buildings, but the high cost of removing the lethal substance probably will be borne by local districts, officials say. Asbestos was installed in schools nationwide from around 1940 until it was banned in 1973. The fibrous material was used for fireproofing, soundproofing, insulation, and decoration, and the Environmental Protection Agency says it is present in about 15 percent of Texas' 6,000 schools.

"Probably local people would have to force removal," T.R. Jones of the Texas Education Agency said. Federal laws which take effect in February direct the EPA and the Education Department to help find and remove asbestos from schools.

But no money has been appropriated, and Texas officials say cost of the complex and expensive process of removing asbestos will fall entirely on local districts.

Larry Thomas, an EPA assistant toxic substances coordinator, says children may be more vulnerable to asbestos exposure than adults.

"Children have a higher respiration rate than adults, and that's bad," Thomas said.

Breathing frequently allows more of the thin asbestos fibers to be inhaled, he added. The danger is increased when the asbestos is loose and children damage it or play with it.

Preliminary studies, in which Texas schools were asked by the EPA to take samples and send them to the health department for free analysis, showed that nearly half of the samples from 184 Texas schools showed the presence of asbestos.

Three deadly diseases are linked to asbestos exposure: asbestosis, a chronic lung disease; cancer of the lungs, throat, esophagus, stomach, intestines and rectum; and mesothelioma, a cancer of the membranes that line the stomach and abdomen.

Jack Pace, plant director for the Odessa school system, says his district is in "a state of confusion" concerning what to do about asbestos and how to do it.

One arrested for ambulance theft

HOUSTON (AP) - The nephew of a 32-year-old man shot to death has been charged with the theft of a city ambulance containing his uncle's body.

Reyes Ponce, 21, is being held without bond.

Police said Roberto Junco died after being shot 10 times at a Saturday night church dance.

Paramedics L.D. Spann and J.T. Matlock said they found Ponce at the church parking lot and determined he was dead. Matlock said some bystanders in a crowd of about 50 apparently believed Junco was still alive and became angry, contending the paramedics were not doing anything.

Matlock said the body was placed in the ambulance and "we pretended to work on him until police could get there."

The paramedics said they soon realized the ambulance was moving and they jumped out when they saw its driver running behind the vehicle.

Police said the ambulance was driven to a hospital where it was cornered by patrol cars and the arrest was made.

Iran claims and Iraq denies capture of Iraqi oil terminal

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Iran claimed its commandos captured one of Iraq's major oil shipping terminals in the biggest naval battle of the Persian Gulf war, but Iraq said its forces repulsed the attack and sank a frigate and three other warships.

Iran said its naval forces occupied the giant Mina al-Bakr oil terminal at the northwestern corner of the gulf and hung the red, white and green flag of the Islamic Republic of Iran "at the highest point" of a derrick.

It said Iranian warships sank four Iraqi missile boats and seven other gunboats in the three-day battle.

Iraq said the Iranian claims were false, and the political commentator of Pars, the Iraqi news agency, invited "anybody who seeks the truth to visit al-Bakr."

An Iraqi communique said in addition to the four Iranian warships sunk, Iraqi forces shot down three of Iran's Phantom jet fighter-bombers and two helicopter gunships.

Iran said one of its gunboats was badly damaged but admitted no other losses.

Tehran Radio said the battle began Friday with Iranian raids on Mina al-Bakr and the port of Fao, 12 miles to the north. Fao, at the mouth of the Shatt al-Arab estuary, is the site of the pumping stations that send crude oil to Mina al-Bakr and Khor al-Amaya, another offshore loading terminal nearby.

The two deepwater terminals had a combined capacity of 2.8 million barrels of crude oil a day, but they have not been in operation since the early days of the war.

However, the pro-Syrian Lebanese newspaper As-Safir reported that Syria has agreed to allow Iraq to resume exporting oil through the 550-mile pipeline from the Kirkuk fields in northern Iraq to Mediterranean terminals in Syria and Lebanon.

The pipeline has a capacity of 1.2 million barrels a day, but Iraq stopped using it in 1976 to protest the Syrian army's intervention in Lebanon to prevent the defeat of the Christians by the Moslems in the Lebanese civil war.

There was no confirmation of the report from either Iraqi or Syrian authorities.

Two abducted in holdup

TEMPLE, Texas (AP) - Two Temple men were back home today after a harrowing weekend robbery-kidnapping that started when an armed man forced his way into their restaurant and ended seven hours later when they were freed from the trunk of a car.

Temple police said the gunman still was at large early today.

Sgt. Ron Flippo said the two victims were closing up at the Peninsula's Wharf restaurant shortly after midnight Sunday when a bearded man brandishing a gun forced his way into the building, taking an undetermined amount of money from the office and the restaurant and bar cash registers.

The two employees, bar manager David Hernandez, 22, and busboy Billy Lynch, 17, told police they were forced into the trunk of Lynch's 1971 Chevrolet and driven to Dallas, where they were discovered by two newspaper deliverymen about 7 a.m. Sunday.

Flippo said Lynch's car had been abandoned on the parking lot of a Dallas apartment complex.

Hernandez told police the gunman confronted him as he dumped a load of trash at a large metal bin outside the restaurant. Lynch said Sunday afternoon that the man held a gun to Hernandez's head and ordered the busboy to lie on the kitchen floor.

"If you turn around and look at me, I'll kill you," Lynch said the gunman told him. The men were taken outside and forced into Lynch's trunk, he said in a telephone interview with the Temple Daily Telegram.

"He told us we had best be quiet or he would pull over and kill us," Lynch said. "I didn't really believe him. I figured he was going to take us out somewhere and get rid of us."

He said the bandit stopped in Temple for gasoline, then drove for about 2 1/2 hours before stopping.

"It was really cold, but we got plenty of air through two holes cut in the rear deck for speakers," Lynch said. He and Hernandez remained silent during the drive, he said.

It was shortly before 3 a.m. Sunday, he estimated, when the gunman pulled stopped the car, turned on the radio, left a car door open and abandoned the car.

The two men wrapped themselves in a towel and huddled together to stay warm, he said. Shortly before 5 a.m., they tried to escape, he said.

"About 5 a.m., we started to freeze to death," he said. They tried to pry open the trunk with a tire tool and began shouting for help.

Their cries were heard by two unidentified newspaper deliverymen, who called police and firemen when they could not open the trunk.

The two men were freed by fire rescue teams about 7 a.m. and drove back to Dallas in Lynch's car a short time later, Lynch said.

"I'm just glad to be back," said Lynch, a junior at Temple High School.

"They were lucky they weren't killed," Flippo said.

Blaze levels home, kills elderly Dallas couple

DALLAS (AP) - A fire that roared through a Southeast Dallas residence and killed an elderly couple apparently began in a workshop attached to the frame house, investigators said today.

Firefighters discovered the body of a 71-year-old woman on a living room couch before finding the remains of her 68-year-old husband in a hallway late Sunday, investigators said.

The fire apparently was ignited in a workshop attached to the two-bedroom house, officials said. A neighbor reported the blaze at 9:58 p.m. and firefighters doused it about an hour later.

The victims' names were withheld pending notification of relatives.

A spokesman for the Dallas County medical examiner said both victims suffered burns, but an official ruling was withheld pending an autopsy.

East Texas lawmen search for escapees

QUITMAN (AP) — Texas Rangers, state troopers and officers from 10 counties combed a wide stretch of East Texas underbrush today for two inmates who fled the Wood County Jail after a deputy was wounded.

A third escapee, identified as 17-year-old Edward Morrow, was found hiding in a culvert near the jail late Saturday, a sheriff's spokesman said.

More than 150 lawmen, including officers from the Texas Department of Corrections, were searching for Willie Morrison, 20, who was awaiting trial for forgery, and Gary Blaylock, 29, who faced a theft charge.

The deputy, 37-year-old Bill Wansley, remained hospitalized in fair condition today with a shoulder wound.

Authorities converged on a 30-mile area south of Quitman using dogs, horses and a helicopter shortly after the trio escaped about 10 p.m. Saturday.

A sheriff's office dispatcher, who asked not to be identified, said lawmen investigated a report that one of the inmates had been spotted Sunday afternoon near Mineola, about eight miles south of Quitman. But the escapee did not turn up, he said.

The inmates broke a visiting booth window at the jail and walked through an unlocked door, said Wood County Sheriff Bill Edd Jones.

They grabbed a .38-caliber revolver owned by dispatcher Maxine Whittaker, he said, and left on foot after shooting the deputy.

Jones said Morrison and Blaylock were believed to be in the Quitman area, but authorities issued an alert for a wide area of East Texas.

Morrow was scheduled to be tried on a forgery charge, Jones said.

Ritualistic killer strikes seashore hiking trails again

POINT REYES STATION, Calif. (AP) — A killer who ritualistically makes his victims plead for their lives before slaying them may have killed four people whose nude bodies were found this weekend at a seashore park, police said.

Authorities have tied the man to three other killings over the last 15 months and are worried that what they believe is his compulsion to kill may lead him to strike again.

"He commits his acts in an effort to achieve psychological relief, but the murders will not satisfy him and the problem will get worse," Marin County Sheriff Al Howenstein said Sunday. "Without question, this individual is capable of striking again."

Authorities found four bodies on Saturday near a hiking trail at Point Reyes National Seashore, 30 miles north of San Francisco. They had been looking for two women who disappeared Friday during separate hiking trips at Point Reyes, and they also came upon the bodies of two other people a half-mile away who had been dead for up to six months. The corpses were so badly decomposed that their sex could not be determined.

Howenstein said the killings were similar to the unsolved slayings of three women who were killed over the last 15 months on hiking trails on Mount Tamalpais, which is about 20 miles south of Point Reyes.

Authorities have come up with a physical description of the man based on information provided by a witness to one of the Mount Tamalpais slayings. He is depicted as being in his late 20s or early 30s and dressed in hiking clothes with a knapsack on his back.

No sexual motive has been established in any of the killings, said Howenstein. He added that it could not be immediately determined if the latest victims had been sexually assaulted.

One of the women found at Point Reyes was identified as Diana O'Connell, 22, who was said to be from the "East Coast." Earlier, she had been identified as a New Yorker. The second woman was identified as Shana May, 25, who police said recently moved to the San Francisco Bay area from Troy, Idaho.

According to Howenstein, the killer shot the two women Friday to draw attention to himself after the first two Point Reyes murders were undetected.

Officials said the March murder of Barbara Schwartz on Mount Tamalpais was witnessed by a woman whose name was not released. They said the witness was drawn to the scene by loud voices.

Crash injures six, investigation begins

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — The pilot of a private plane that crashed during an emergency landing attempt remained hospitalized today while federal investigators tried to find out why the craft overshot a runway at Mustang Island Airport near here.

Douglas Leach, 43, of Lilburn, Ga., was trapped inside the wreckage for a short time after the twin-engine jet smashed into a mud flat Sunday afternoon, authorities said.

Federal Aviation Administration investigators were on the scene today, an FAA spokesman said.

A spokeswoman at a Corpus Christi hospital said Leach was "holding his own" with multiple injuries, including a fractured leg. Five of the six other passengers also were injured in the crash.

The turboprop jet apparently lost the left engine after making a customs stop at the immigration office in Brownsville, officials said.

"It was going to make an emergency landing and overshot the runway," Assistant Fire Chief R.K. Gibson said Sunday afternoon. "It ran out in a mud flat, and people on the scene say it was pretty well covered with mud."

Gibson said the wet mud kept the plane from exploding when fuel began to leak.

"It didn't catch fire and was not burning," he said.

Police in Port Aransas, on Mustang Island, said the pilot radioed in that an engine was out.

"The plane lost both its wings when it came down and was pretty messed up," a police spokesman said.

The plane was en route from Acapulco, Mexico to Atlanta, Ga., Gibson said.

All seven occupants were transported about 40 miles to Corpus Christ Memorial Medical Center, including the pilot, who was trapped inside the plane for a short time, Gibson said.

Five of the other six passengers, in undetermined condition Sunday afternoon, were J. Mack Robinson, 57, of Atlanta, with rib injuries; Robin Robinson, 16, of Atlanta, with an eye injury; Chris Shadburn, 17, of Atlanta, with head and facial cuts; J.H. Brice, 66, of Roswell, Ga., with a head injury; and Mary Brice, 66, of Roswell, Ga., with a shoulder injury.

Jill Robinson, 13, of Atlanta, apparently suffered no injuries in the crash.

Reynolds said "He sees Santa as a liability instead of an asset."

Western Temporary Services, Reynolds' employer, suited up about 180 Santas in 1975 and 1976. But this year only 30 orders have come in at "the world's largest supplier of Santas," Reynolds said.

Several department stores, including Joskes, Sears and Dillards, traditionally hire Santas for every shopping day during the Christmas season. But this year, they are cutting back to weekend-only Santas or cutting St. Nick altogether.

"Many stores are letting the malls take the responsibility of getting a Santa," Reynolds said. "But I remember when the mall and all the large stores had Santas, and the lines of children waiting to see them still were long."

"I wasn't too crazy about kids to begin with," he said. "And the suit was hot and uncomfortable. You couldn't see because of the wig and beard. The chair was something out of a torture chamber. And you've got kids crawling all over you."

Stores giving Santa the boot

DALLAS (AP) — Many of Santa's helpers may soon be standing in the unemployment line because department stores are tightening their belts and booting St. Nick.

And one shopping center Santa says the businessmen who are cutting the jolly old elf for budget reasons are ruining the spirit of Christmas.

"Without Santa Claus, Christmas is nothing but crass commercialism," lamented Dean Reynolds, a 42-year-old insurance executive who has decked himself in red flannel and white fur for eight Yule seasons.

"Santa is a catalyst to the Christmas spirit," Reynolds said. "When you've got someone like him in your store spreading good cheer, and everyone's laughing and smiling, then it adds to the spirit of the season."

Reynolds, who charges a minimum $10 an hour to "ho, ho, ho," says the rent-a-Santa business in the Dallas area is at the bottom of a four-year slump because department store executives are trying to trim St. Nick out of their budgets.

"Some guy sitting at the top with a pencil and paper is thinking, 'Where can I cut expenses?'"

Reynolds said "He sees Santa as a liability instead of an asset."

Western Temporary Services, Reynolds' employer, suited up about 180 Santas in 1975 and 1976. But this year only 30 orders have come in at "the world's largest supplier of Santas," Reynolds said.

Firefighters work on last of brush fires

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Homeowners were surveying the wreckage of their burned-out homes, trying to decide whether to rebuild or move away, as firefighters worked against four blazes, the last of 11 fires that scorched Southern California for a week.

Foresters worked feverishly to reseed ground cover, trying to avert the threat of flooding. Officials were worried that the charred, barren ground would not soak up water from overdue winter rains.

And in San Bernardino, police sent out armed patrols to hunt rats that fled into the city from areas hit by the fires. "They're not really dangerous, but they are pests," said Police Lt. Dave Thomas.

The blaze called the Indian fire, still burning out of control in a rugged wilderness area east of Los Angeles, was expected to be contained today.

NEW YORK — Singer John Denver, whose sentimental tunes have taken him to the top of the record charts, is looking for a new high — this one in photography.

Manhattan's Hammer Galleries will be holding a debut showing of Denver's photographs this week. The show will feature 60 prints of color landscapes and wildlife scenes, according to People magazine.

Denver, 36, said he's been a shutterbug ever since he was a child and has almost "missed the bus to concerts" because he was out taking photographs.

The prints will sell for $900 each. Denver said the proceeds will go toward his Windstar Foundation, which studies ecology and energy.

CHICAGO (AP) — Rita Jenrette, whose congressman-husband was convicted in the Abscam scandal, may write an article for Playboy magazine about life in Washington, a magazine spokesman says.

Playboy spokesman Dave Salyers said Mrs. Jenrette, wife of Rep. John Jenrette, D-S.C., already has attended one conference with editors.

Salyers said some photographs were taken of the 30-year-old Mrs. Jenrette fully clothed. But he said no contract was signed, and he knew of no verbal agreement to write the story.

Jenrette, who served three terms in Congress, was convicted Oct. 7 of taking part of a $50,000 payoff from undercover FBI agents posing as representatives of Arabs seeking special immigration legislation. Jenrette is appealing.

He was defeated Nov. 4 in a re-election bid.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Britain's Prince Charles, on a three-week visit to this former British colony and neighboring Nepal, made points with a large crowd of farmers when he greeted them in their native tongue.

The 32-year-old heir to the British throne then switched to English during the Sunday visit and told the crowd of 5,000 he was impressed with what he had seen and heard during his visit.

"I hope your buffaloes continue to yield good quality milk and your harvests are ever fruitful," he said.

Catholic Worker Movement founder dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Dorothy Day, a crusader for social justice who renounced Communism 50 years ago to convert to Catholicism and launch the Catholic Worker Movement, has died at the age of 83.

Miss Day was "a trumpet calling for all of us to find Christ in the bread lines, the jails, a tenant farmer, migratory worker or Negro," said the Rev. Dennis Geany, one of many Catholic priests and laymen who came under her influence.

She herself summed up her life's work more simply some years ago as an effort "to bring about the kind of society where it is easier for people to be good."

Miss Day died Saturday in her room at Maryhouse, a residence for homeless woman on Manhattan's Lower East Side. Maryhouse was one of some 40 homes for poor men and women that she helped to set up across the country.

Diet facts & fallacies

DIET CENTER
Hughes Bld.
Suite 328

In our society, eating is practically synonymous with socializing. Whenever people get together for a party, card game or even coffee breaks, pastries and other tempting snacks are served. On other occasions food is the main reason for getting together and the meal becomes a social ritual: Easter, Pass-Over, weddings, christenings and funerals, for example. With so much food being constantly available, it is no wonder that people on diets have trouble. Each time they're forced to be around food, a number of factors come into play, making abstinence difficult.

Aroma is even more compelling than taste. Humans are acutely sensitive to odor. In fact, when they can't smell, they can't taste either. Color can enhance a food's desirability because people are conditioned to associate certain colors with pleasant tastes. Temperature, texture, taste and hunger can also reinforce a person's decision to eat. At Diet Center people learn to achieve their weight goals by overcoming these constant temptations. 'The Sage of Baltimore' has been sorely missed

His admirers will be lifting schooners of suds today, or reading through a volume of some of the most robust prose ever written in what he called the American Language; his publisher for the occasion has brought out a new anthology and an appreciation by a collection of his proteges. In his hometown of Baltimore, his old newspaper will commemorate him, and, closer, a Cal State Fullerton student will do a one-man reading of some of H. L. Mencken's sauciest commentaries.

Henry Louis Mencken, were "the Sage of Baltimore" alive today, would be 100 years old. Were he alive today he would probably, having completed an editorial or column at The Sun, repair with a handful of friends to his favorite saloon, and hold forth in a voice remarkably like W. C. Fields' on the great political carnival of the election year. Would that he were alive today!

Just possibly the greatest editorial writer in the American newspaper tradition, Mencken spared none of the political jackasses that paraded across the landscape his printed horselaughs. The more button-downed, linear stylists dismissed his magnificent invective as idle carping. But he would dismiss them more effectively — with the same sort of scalding sarcasm he reserved for any of the other humorless puritans who insisted the world be hum drum.

Mencken's triumph is that his libertarian commentaries will be read and appreciated long after the "serious" analyses of boards of supervisors and congressional subcommittees are forgotten. A premier editorialist and political correspondent, Mencken regarded those who presumed to rule as the most ludicrous of clowns. That universal perception of the temporal nature of government will last, for it is eternal; the more modulated pundits, Walter Lippmann and his emulators, will pass. Imagine, just try, a one-hundredth birthday commemoration for Joseph Kraft!

Anyway ... Mencken was much more than a newspaperman, for which he wanted to be remembered. He held no college degree, but he was a scholar of the first order. As editor of The American Mercury and co-editor (with George Jean Nathan) of The Smart Set, he introduced a host of important young writers — from Theodore Dreiser to Sinclair Lewis — to an America he regarded as culturally barren.

Not only a libertarian who despised the majoritarian uglinesses of democracy, Mencken was an evangelical atheist (one of whose most cherished friends was a Roman Catholic nun). When someone expressed concern for his soul should it show up one day at St. Peter's Gate, he calmly replied that he would simply announce: "Gentlemen, I was mistaken!" The abuse he heaped on self-righteous religionists, we daresay, fit nicely into the tradition of the Great Denouncer of Pharisees and Philistines Himself, and served gracely His purpose.

Mencken did fall out of grace with his vast audience. At his popular height during the Jazz Age of the Twenties, he found the Depression era of the Thirties less appreciative of his attacks on the politicians. Readers were convinced that salvation was in political government, not in the more libertarian marketplace they had been told by the politicians had failed them. Mencken was left privately to complete his three-volume autobiography, which restored him to pre-eminence among writers.

We salute, fittingly enough, in our editorial column today a man whose gusto, whose fun, whose scholarship and whose perceptiveness we wish we could begin to approximate in this space from day to day. Mencken was allergic to any suggestion — which seems to have conquered journalism today, alas — that reporters and editors should write down to some imagined lowest common denominator of reader. No egalitarian, he addressed people as if they were on his level, or expecting that they might want to learn. Damned if he didn't enjoy the widest of all possible readership.

Sense and nonsense about oil profits

By M.T. Owens, Jr.

During the summer of 1979 Americans suffered through their second major "energy crisis" of the decade. Long gasoline lines, short gas station hours, steadily rising prices led Americans to seek scapegoats, and with the encouragement of the evening news and the government, citizen ire fastened upon the oil companies.

It was widely charged that the oil companies had "rigged" the market, causing the crisis for their own gain. Citizen anger was apparently justified when the third quarter financial figures revealed what seemed to be extraordinary high oil company profits: most up 100 percent over the same quarter of 1978.

Two government studies released in July, 1980, have absolved the oil companies of rigging the market in 1979 and of causing the gasoline lines that plagued the country during that summer. Indeed, the report by the Justice Department's antitrust division blamed the gasoline prices and allocation policies of the Department of Energy, as well as the "guidelines" of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, for aggravating the problem precipitated by falling Iranian production in the winter of 1979. Still, reports of high oil company profits continue, and suspicions linger.

Perhaps now is the time to examine the economic functions of profits in general and the charges that the oil companies in particular exploit the public while reaping extraordinary high profits.

Many Americans have been brought to think that profit is some sort of booty, extracted from either the consumer or the worker, and that it must be eliminated if we are to have a just economic system. It goes without saying that this is a shocking departure from the American tradition of free and private enterprise. More to the point, it is simply not true. Profits are a return to individuals who have invested in machines and other capital. Such investment involves reduced present consumption on the part of the investor, as well as risk (a particularly important factor in energy-producing industries). To eliminate profit entirely would be to destroy the incentives that induce people to save and invest. It would therefore destroy the capital that has made the American worker the most productive worker in the world, and without which economic growth would be impossible.

Most Americans, of course, still understand the proper role of profit in the American economic system, but there is still widespread concern that some profits are excessive, or "obscene," particularly in the oil industry. Much of this concern is fostered by a totally misleading way of expressing profits, which has been adopted by many government officials and public commentators and has done a serious disservice to those Americans who wish to understand these important issues.

The actual profit levels in the oil industry become apparent when one uses either of two legitimate ways of measuring profit: 1) profit or net income as a percentage of sales or gross income; and 2) return on stockholder equity, which is the ratio of net income to the value of common stockholders' investment plus capital surplus and retained earnings. Let us consider oil profits as measured in these ways.

1) Net income per dollar of sales: Whereas most Americans believe that more than 40 cents of each dollar of sales in the petroleum industry is profit, the actual figure is closer to 8 cents per sales dollar, which is in line with manufacturing in general. By eliminating the after tax accounting profit on each gallon of gasoline, the price to the consumer would be 5 cents per gallon lower. In the short run, gasoline would be a little cheaper, but in the long run no one would invest in the petroleum industry and there would soon be very little oil at very high prices.

2) Return on stockholders' equity: Business Week has estimated that the return on equity for the oil and coal industry during the year June 1979 to June 1980 was 25.7 percent compared to 15.9 percent in all industries. It is somewhat misleading to compare rates of return over only a year. To get a true picture of relative rates of return, it is necessary to compare them over longer periods of time. From 1964 to 1973 the rate of return for petroleum was 11.4 percent compared to 11.7 percent for all manufacturing. From 1974 to 1978, the rate of petroleum was 14.9, slightly higher than the 13.9 rate of return for manufacturing as a whole. During given years, the rate of return for petroleum may be high as in 1974 and 1979, but over time, the rate falls to normal as we would expect in a competitive industry such as petroleum. Both methods of measuring profit indicate that over the long run, oil profits are not higher than normal.

But there is a third way of measuring profit which is as misleading as it is sensational. This is to express net income in terms of a percentage INCREASE over another period. This measure is totally irrelevant, since it does not take into account whether profits were high, normal or low during the period with which current profits are being compared. In addition, the true profits as expressed above may not change, but if the dollar value of net revenue increases, profits will still seem to have "increased."

To take a simple example: suppose a firm has third-quarter sales or gross revenues of $1,000, invested capital of $500, and makes a net income of $50. Its profit represents 5 percent of sales ($50/$1000) and 10 percent of invested capital ($50/$500). If during the third quarter of the next year, sales, investment and net income all double over the previous third quarter, the profit rates do not change; they remain at 5 percent of sales or 10 percent of invested capital. But since net income has increased from $50 to $100, the firm would be said to have increased profits by a sensational 100 percent over the same quarter of the previous year!

We have many serious economic problems. Government, business, the news media, and individual citizens all have something to contribute toward solving them. But nothing is solved by creating groundless anger and resentment. Let us take a fair look at our problems and set to work on them.

Today in history

Today is Monday, Dec. 1, the 336th day of 1980. There are 30 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Dec. 1, 1918, the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes united to form the nation of Yugoslavia.

On this date: In 1824, an American presidential election was turned over to the House of Representatives after a deadlock developed among four candidates — John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson, William Crawford and Henry Clay.

In 1878, the first telephone was installed in the White House.

In 1944, the World War II battle for the Saar basin in Germany began.

In 1954, the United States signed a mutual security pact with Nationalist China.

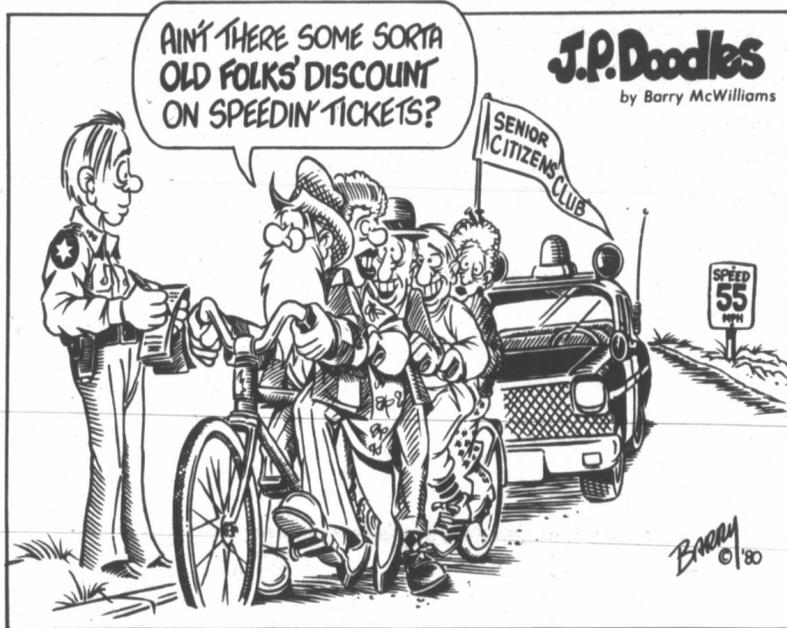

Ten years ago: Luis Echeverria Alvarez was sworn in as president of Mexico.

Five years ago: President Gerald Ford met with China's deputy prime minister, Deng Xiaoping in Peking.

One year ago: The United Nations Security Council took up the issue of the American hostages in Iran. All delegates called for release of the captives, but no resolution to that effect was introduced.

Today's birthdays: Director-actor Woody Allen is 45. Comedian Richard Pryor is 40. Singer Bette Midler is 35. Singer-actress Mary Martin is 67. Baseball player George Foster is 32.

Thought for today: Love what's lovable and hate what's hateable. It takes brains to see the difference — Robert Frost, American poet (1874-1963).

The 55-mile speed limit

By Paul Jarvey

The National Safety Council says the highway death toll is down since the 55-mile speed limit became law.

The Department of Energy (DOE) says gasoline supplies are up, partially as a result of the 55-mile speed limit.

But ... Transportation Secretary Adams says an increasing number of motorists are ignoring the 55-mile limit.

And whenever citizens manifest disrespect and disdain for a law they consider unnecessary, it makes it easier for them to ignore other laws.

Is the 55-mile speed limit worth what it's costing?

Charles Lave of the Institute of Transportation Studies, University of California, Irvine, computes that the energy saved by driving 55 could be saved instead by keeping tires properly inflated.

Driving at 55 is an enormous cost in wasted travel time, he says, a cost he computes at about $6 billion a year.

Even if, as the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration believes, the slowdown saves 4,500 lives per year, that is $1.3 million per life saved.

We could save that many lives at one-twentieth the cost by putting a smoke detector in every home.

We could save that many lives at one-one-hundredth the cost by investing in kidney-dialysis machines.

Although slower driving may save a life at a cost of $1.3 million, that life could be saved with additional mobile cardiac-care units at a cost of only $2,000.

At $1.3 million per life saved, the 55-mile speed limit is no bargain.

Mr. Lave suggests that we allow drivers of fuel-efficient cars to exceed the speed limit: two kinds of license plates would identify the fuel-efficient car and the gas guzzler.

Rewarding by being allowed to drive faster would accelerate the sale of economy cars. Detroit should appreciate that.

Then we would gradually phase out the gas guzzlers — and all go back to cruising speed again.

The saving in time would total 102 man years per year of time that is now wasted.

That many people working at something instead of driving nowhere would inevitably improve our nation's productivity astronomically.

Granted, the saving of even one life is construed by many to be worth whatever the cost.

All some of us are beginning to ask ourselves is whether there are not less costly ways to use the same time, energy and money to save more lives.

Clements could keep Tower out of cabinet

By Evans-Novak

WASHINGTON — The selection of Sen. John Tower of Texas as secretary of defense, so firm a few days ago that Reagan insiders believed it would not change, was cast in doubt by an inconclusive meeting between him and President-elect Reagan.

"I got the impression that the meeting did not go well from John's standpoint," one senior official in the transition said. Tower expressed his desire for the Cabinet post, but Reagan made no commitment one way or another.

Since the possibility of Tower's nomination had been so widely publicized, the President-elect's silence probably reflects hostility to the nomination by Gov. Bill Clements of Texas. That belief in Clements' role is privately expressed by Tower himself.

Transition officials who reported Tower's nomination was a certainty, later called it 50-50. "It all depends now," said one well-placed Republican source, "on how hard John Tower decides to push. It's sure not the 100 percent it was a couple of days ago."

The principal difficulty confronting Tower is his succession in the Senate. When his nomination seemed sure, Reagan transition officials had not realized that Texas law requires a special election within 90 days after a successor has been appointed to replace him. In most states, the appointed successor could serve until the next general election, in 1982.

That difficulty was compounded when former Gov. John B. Connally, the Texas Republican most likely to win a special election, let it be known that he would neither accept the 90-day appointment nor run to complete the term.

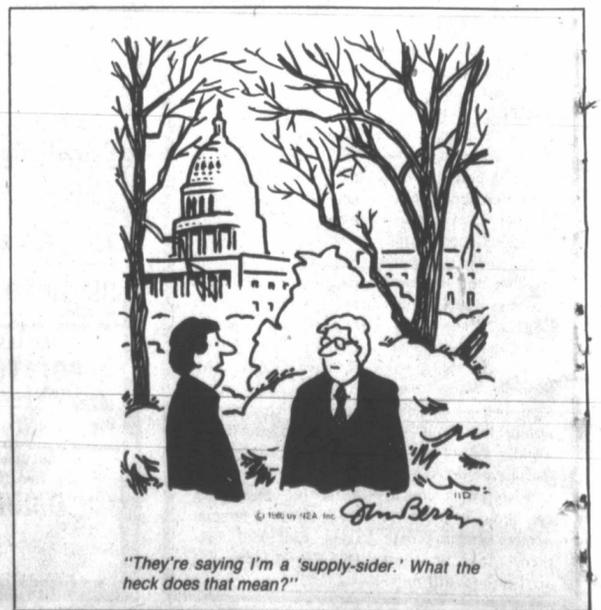

With Republican control of the Texas Senate seat by no means certain and Republicans controlling the new Senate by only 53 to 47, Gov. Clements and other Texas Republicans have been negative about Tower moving to the Pentagon.

But Clements' opposition goes beyond that. A former oil executive and former deputy secretary of defense, he has expressed the opinion that the next secretary must have management experience. That would seem to disqualify Tower.

If Tower is not selected, the list for the Pentagon spot includes former HEW Secretary Caspar Weinberger, Democratic Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Gen. Alexander Haig and Connally.

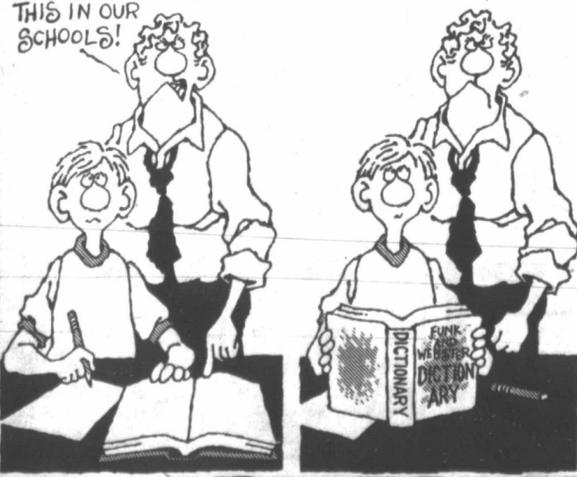

All have handicaps. Weinberger is strongly opposed by the Reagan defense advisers as an economist. Reagan's "kitchen cabinet" of intimate advisers feel Democrat Jackson would be inappropriate in the Cabinet. As a retired officer, Haig's nomination would require an act of Congress and goes against well-established policy. Ex-Democrat Connally continues to have severe critics in the Republican Party.

Fabric combines safety, fashion

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 55 percent of all pedestrians killed in the United States are hit by cars at night, according to the National Safety Council. But now, thanks to a recent innovative fabric finish, those statistics are expected to drop dramatically.

"Joggers, cyclists and pedestrians are 'lighting up' their lives by wearing activewear treated with a new reflective finish that glows in the light of an approaching car," says Joyce McClure of the Fiber Information Center.

Millions of microscopic reflective beads applied to man-made fibers such as acrylic, nylon and polyester give maximum safety protection when an entire jogging suit or cycling garment is treated, she explains. The wearer's silhouette is visible in a larger, more recognizable shape, giving the motorist more reaction time.

The applied finish covers less than 5 percent of the surface and, as a result, fabric softness and durability are not impaired. A soft, acrylic jogging suit still absorbs moisture and wicks it to the surface for evaporation.

"Nylon running shorts retain their comfort, lightness and durability," Ms. McClure points out. "And a polyester jacket will not lose its ability to 'breathe.'"

"Other protective uses include socks with reflective yarns woven in, shoelaces, armbands and even dog collars to protect Fido at night.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last year you devoted an entire column to what and what not to give for Christmas gifts. I thought it was one of the most helpful columns you ever wrote. Please run it again.

OVER 80

DEAR OVER 80: That column was so well received I've updated it. And here it is:

DEAR READERS: Can you believe it's time to prepare for the holidays again? Well, it is, so do yourselves a favor and do your Christmas (or Hanukkah) shopping early.

If you're wondering what to give Aunt Bessie or Grandpa, who don't get out much, let me tell you what not to give them:

No dusting powder, after-shave or cologne. (They probably have several unopened boxes gathering dust on their closet shelves.)

Grandpa doesn't need another necktie, and Aunt Bessie doesn't really want any more brooches, necklaces or bracelets.

With the price of groceries so high, folks who live alone on a fixed income probably would be delighted to receive a basket of goodies. Include small cans of salmon, chicken, ham, tuna, vegetables, fruit, instant coffee, tea bags, crackers, cookies and instant soup mixes.

Older people who live in confined quarters do not need more "things" that are ornamental only. Don't send music boxes, statuettes or other bric-a-brac.

Another thoughtful gift is lined stationery with envelopes and a generous supply of postage stamps. (Enclose some felt-tip pens, too.)

The homebound will appreciate a box of greeting cards for all occasions so that they, too, can send birthday, anniversary, graduation, get-well and condolence cards to others. (Be a sport! Stamp some envelopes.)

Don't give anyone a gift of clothing unless you're absolutely sure the size is right. That goes for the color and style, too.

If you're tempted to pass along a scarf, purse, wallet or some other useless little doodad you received for Christmas three years ago, please don't. It's a pretty fair bet the recipient will find it just as useless as you did. (Besides, you might get it back the year after next.)

If someone on your gift list is living on a pension, a check for any amount would be much more appreciated than a frivolous little trinket. Or give someone who's counting pennies a year's subscription to a newspaper or magazine you know he or she will enjoy.

Please, don't ever send a gift in a box bearing the name of a store unless you bought it there. Should the recipient want to exchange it, he will be embarrassed, the store clerks will look bewildered, and it won't make you look too good.

If you buy a gift on sale, be sure it's appropriate, since if the recipient tries to take it back he will be told, "Sorry, sale merchandise is not returnable."

Don't give anyone a pet unless you're absolutely sure it's wanted and will be properly cared for. And if you want to delight someone who considers his pet a "member of the family," include a tin of cat or dog food for the pet.

Don't give wine or liquor unless you're sure the recipients imbibe. Candy, nuts and fruitcake make wonderful gifts for those who aren't counting calories, but please have compassion for those who are, and lead them not into temptation.

Resist giving toddlers stuffed animals and dolls that are bigger than they are. And parents will thank you for not sending their children horns, drums, sirens or whistles. If you give a child a game or book, be sure it's in the appropriate age range.

Instead of giving someone a gift with permission to "exchange it if it's not what you want," save yourself (and him) much time and effort and give him a gift certificate in the first place.

Holiday time can be very depressing for people who are alone, so if you know someone who might be alone and lonely, give him (or her) the best gift of all — an invitation to spend the holiday with you and your family. Loneliness is the ultimate poverty.

LOVE, ABBY

(Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

High-scoring Broncos face Oakland

OAKLAND (AP) — The Denver Broncos, coming off a pair of high-scoring performances, face a stiff challenge tonight when they meet the Oakland Raiders, who have relied heavily on defense lately.

"I can see the pride growing game after game," says Burgess Owens, the free safety on the Oakland defensive unit which has become one of the most respected in the National Football League.

The Broncos take a 7-5 record into the nationally televised game and will be virtually out of the American Conference playoff race if they lose. They trail San Diego, 9-4, and the Raiders, 8-4, in the AFC West.

The Raiders were 2-3 early in the season and facing a major adjustment on offense, with journeyman Jim Plunkett thrust into the starting quarterback role after Dan Pastorini suffered a broken leg. Plunkett, who hadn't started an NFL game in two years, came through with some outstanding passing and the defense was outstanding week after week as the Raiders went on a six-game winning streak. The streak ended last week with a 10-7 loss to the Philadelphia Eagles.

"They are the most physical team we've faced," Philadelphia's Wilbert Montgomery said after going up against the Raiders' defense, which yielded only 13 first downs and 271 yards.

Oakland's standout players on defense have been cornerback Lester Hayes, the NFL interception leader with 10, and linebacker Ted Hendricks, having perhaps the best season in his 12-year pro career.

The Oakland offense managed only 275 yards last week, with 86 coming on a late touchdown pass from Plunkett to Cliff Branch. In the last two games, Plunkett has completed only 19 of 58 passes and been sacked 12 times.

Denver has won its last three games and six of the last eight. Two weeks ago, the Broncos outscored the New York Jets 31-24 and last week they rolled past Seattle 36-20.

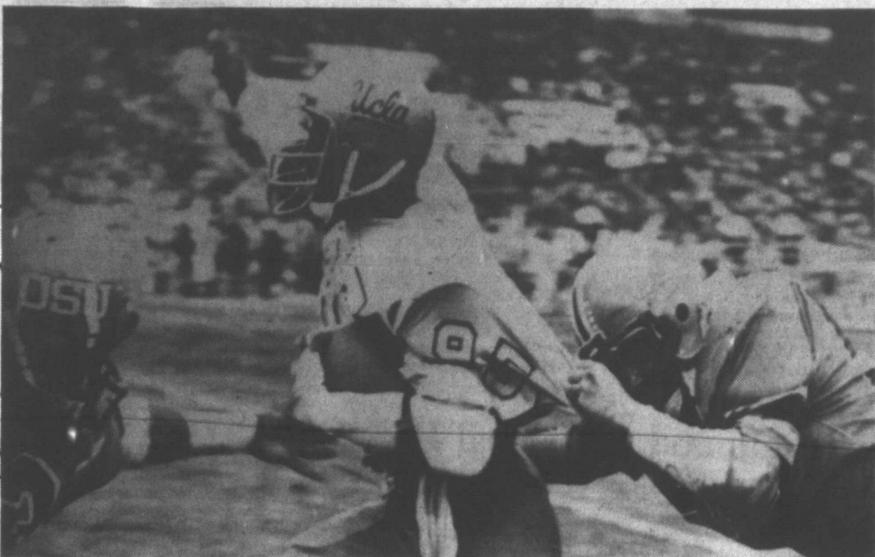

Craig Morton, the 37-year-old veteran who has beaten out younger Matt Robinson for the Broncos' quarterback job, threw two touchdown passes against Seattle despite being weakened by the flu. He is now the third-ranked passer in the AFC.

The Raiders have the best Monday night record in NFL history, 15-1-1. A sellout crowd is expected tonight — but maybe not until midway in the opening quarter.

A group of fans concerned over owner Al Davis' attempt to move the Raiders to Los Angeles is asking ticketholders to stay out of the stadium until five minutes after kickoff in a "Save the Raiders" no-show demonstration.

College football roundup

National championship still up for grabs

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
 AP Sports Writer

You think the college football season has been unreal so far? Consider this: it's still possible for the top eight teams in last week's Associated Press poll to lose before the national championship is decided.

What happens, for instance, if Southern California beats second-ranked Notre Dame and Florida knocks off third-ranked Florida State next Saturday and Notre Dame then turns around and disposes of No. 1-ranked Georgia in the Sugar Bowl?

And if fourth-ranked Pitt, which took care of No. 5 Penn State 14-9 last Friday, bows to South Carolina in the Gator Bowl...and Florida State defeats sixth-ranked Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl...and No. 7 Michigan loses to Washington in the Rose Bowl? Would the winner of the Cotton Bowl between eighth-ranked Baylor and No. 9 Alabama be the national champion? Would there be a national champion?

All that supposition would become academic if Georgia, the only team to go through the regular season unbeaten and untied (11-0) as a result of Saturday's 39-20 victory over Georgia Tech, handles Notre Dame (9-0-1, with one game left prior to the Sugar Bowl). The Bulldogs rolled to a 17-0 lead and went on to defeat Georgia Tech with freshman sensation Herschel Walker, as usual, the man of the hour. He rushed for 205 yards — 144 in the second half — and scored on runs of 1, 23 and 65 yards in smothering the national freshman record of 1,586 yards set by Pitt's Tony Dorsett in 1973. Walker has 1,616, even though he didn't play until the second quarter of Georgia's opening game and saw limited service in two others because of a sore ankle.

"I thought he got very competitive in the second half when it got hairy," said Coach Vince Dooley. "It seems when the game got tighter, he got better."

"He certainly hurt us more than any back we've played this season," said Georgia Tech's Bill Curry. "Every time we came back, and we did on several occasions, he led them back."

The modest Walker, who combines 220 pounds of power with 4.5 speed, had an uncharacteristic last laugh. "Everyone said before the season I'd never make it. I reckon they were wrong," he said.

Walker said he "didn't think about the record before the game. It's okay to beat the record, but the most important thing was to win the game. It's just like a dream now."

The weekend's other big winners were Gator Bowl-bound Pitt; Oklahoma, which buried the Big Eight championship and a berth in the Orange Bowl, and Peach Bowl-bound Miami, Fla., which knocked off No. 18 Florida 31-7.

Elsewhere, Alabama, its dream of a third consecutive national championship apparently — anything seems possible this season — shattered, captured state bragging rights with a 34-18 victory over Auburn; No. 12, Holiday Bowl-bound Brigham Young walloped Nevada-Las Vegas 54-14 as Jim McMahon scored two touchdowns and threw for five and No. 14 UCLA whipped Oregon State 34-3 in Tokyo's fourth annual Mirage Bowl.

Besides Penn State (Fiesta) and Florida (Tangerine), which lost to other bowl teams, several postseason entries were embarrassed by clubs with losing records. Texas (Bluebonnet) bowed 24-14 to Texas A&M (4-7) while Rice (5-6) swamped Garden State Bowl-bound Houston 35-7.

However, Navy (Garden State) downed Army 33-6 while Arkansas (Hall of Fame) shaded Texas Tech 22-16 to finish 6-5 and avoid becoming the fifth team ever to go to a bowl with a losing record.

J.C. Watts, Oklahoma's slick wishbone quarterback, led the Sooners past Oklahoma State by scoring on runs of 22, 5, 5 and 15 yards. Freshman Buster Rhymes opened the scoring with a 66-yard gallop while fellow rookie Jerome Ledbetter added three second-half touchdowns, one on a 95-yard kickoff return.

"We have won the Big Eight championship unshared and we are happy to be going back to the Orange Bowl," Sooner Coach Barry Switzer said.

Alabama led Auburn by only 21-18 at the half before pulling away on a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns — Don Jacobs' 7-yard pass to Bart Krout and Billy Jackson's 14-yard run. The Crimson Tide took the lead for good on Major Ogilvie's 1-yard run in the second period after freshman quarterback Walter Lewis set it up with a 73-yard dash.

"I said some things at halftime that weren't very complimentary to some individuals, and I don't normally do that," Coach Bear Bryant disclosed.

BYU's McMahon surpassed the 300-yard passing mark against Nevada-Las Vegas for the 11th game in a row, extending his own national record. He connected on 20 of 36 for 338 yards and finished the regular season with 283 of 444 for 4,571 yards and 47 touchdowns. The last two are NCAA major college records.

Sports

McMahon ran 11 and 2 yards for touchdowns and passed 21 yards to Matt Braga, 32 to Dan Prater, 2 and 10 to Scott Phillips and 23 to Eric Lane.

In Tokyo, UCLA's Freeman McNeil rushed for 109 yards and three touchdowns before sitting out the second half against Oregon State, boosting his career total to 3,195 yards and breaking Wendell Tyler's school record by 14. His scoring runs covered 2, 10 and 1 yard.

After surrendering an early touchdown to Florida, which took the opening kickoff and marched 80 yards down the field, Miami stormed back to upset the Gators as Jim Kelly threw scoring passes of 19 yards to Jim Joiner and 16 to Pat Walker while Mark Rush and Smokey Roan each ran for a TD.

In other traditional matchups, Tennessee mauled Vanderbilt 51-13. Arizona State clobbered Arizona 44-7 and Boston College nipped Holy Cross 27-26.

Walker looking forward to Notre Dame

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Georgia's fabulous Herschel Walker, who shattered Tony Dorsett's freshman rushing record in Saturday's 38-20 triumph over Georgia Tech, says the top-ranked Bulldogs now can focus their attention on meeting No. 2 Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl.

"I'm real excited. We're 11-0 after we set out to go undefeated and win the Southeastern Conference," said Walker. "Now I look forward to playing Notre Dame. They're a real super team."

The 18-year-old Walker ripped Tech's defenses to shreds Saturday, pounding out 205 yards in 25 carries, including three touchdowns to break the all-time NCAA freshman rushing record as Georgia finished the regular season as the only major college team undefeated and untied.

Walker, who rushed for more than 200 yards in a game for the fourth time, lifted his season total to 1,616 yards, bettering the old mark of 1,586 set by Pittsburgh's Dorsett in 1973.

"Notre Dame has a super team and we can't play sloppy," said Walker, adding that he didn't know how he would do against one of the nation's top defensive teams but "hopefully I can do better against Notre Dame."

Quarterback Buck Belue, who scored one touchdown and passed for another, also was anxious to face the Irish.

"It's Notre Dame now. That's our final goal. We want to be No. 1 on Jan. 2 to prove we deserve the No. 1 ranking," said Belue.

Asked if he felt his Bulldogs were the top team in the nation, Georgia Coach Vince Dooley replied:

"How would you tell? You can question our schedule. You can question a lot of things. All I know is that we haven't lost yet and that's what it's all about."

Walker, after a slow first half in which the 6-foot-2, 220-pounder had only 61 yards and a one-yard touchdown plunge, exploded in the second half for scoring runs of 23 and 65 yards, the latter breaking Dorsett's mark.

"I didn't think about the record before the game. In fact, I didn't even find out that I was close until two weeks ago," said Walker, who as usual, gave credit to his offensive line.

MISSOURI'S MIKE Foster (25) doesn't quite stop Colgate's Mike Ferrara (44) as he shoots. Missouri stalled in the final minutes of its second-round game in the Great Alaska Shootout to win over Colgate, 73-67.

North Carolina wins shootout

By BRUCE BARTLEY
Associated Press Writer
ANCHORAGE (AP) — Among the hoariest of sports clichés is the one that says good big men will beat good little men. North Carolina lent credibility to the saying with its 64-58 victory over Arkansas in the championship game of the Great Alaska Shootout.

The game was either tied or the lead changed hands 15 times in the first 10 minutes of the second half Sunday night. But with the score tied at 42, Arkansas' 6-foot-10 center Scott Hastings — voted the most valuable player in the tournament — fouled out.

The biggest of the Razorbacks left on the floor was 6-6 and their quickness was not enough to cope with the 13th-ranked Tar Heels front line of James Worthy, Sam Perkins and Pete Budko, all 6-9.

North Carolina began dominating at both ends of the court and pulled to a 10-point lead. Then the Tar Heels spread out their offense, slowed the tempo and held on until the buzzer.

In other games Sunday, Louisiana State breezed by Georgetown 76-67 for third place. Missouri nipped Alaska-Anchorage 54-53 for fourth and Colgate thrashed Nicholls State 94-77 for seventh.

Arkansas, ranked 20th in The Associated Press pre-season poll, downed 11th-ranked Missouri and 12th-ranked LSU earlier by complementing Hastings' steady play with deadly shooting and ball hawking by speedy guards U.S. Reed and Darrell Walker.

But North Carolina's own quick backcourt duo of Jimmy Black and Mike Pepper held Walker scoreless for the first 28 minutes Sunday. He finished with nine and Reed with five. The two 'Hogs had averaged a combined 34.5 points in the two previous games.

"Arkansas didn't shoot as well ... but I like to think our defense had something to do with that," said Tar Heel Coach Dean Smith, "plus we have some shot-blockers in Worthy, Perkins and Budko."

"If we had another big man, we'd be a great basketball team," said Arkansas' Coach Eddie Sutton.

He said his guards had a bad night but agreed with Smith that the Tar Heels' defense was partially responsible.

Hastings scored a game-high 20 points, the only Razorback in double figures, while Worthy got 16, Al Wood 14 and Black 13 for North Carolina.

LSU Coach Dale Brown was mighty unhappy with the way his Tigers played Saturday against Arkansas so he restructured his lineup Sunday against 16th-ranked Georgetown.

The Tigers made Brown look like a genius as all five starters scored in double figures. The final score was closer than the game as LSU led by as many as 22 points and was in control throughout the second half.

"I'm really convinced that with the class teams, the really gifted teams, it's all locked up in here," said Brown, tapping the side of his head. "We learned from that failure."

"We came up here to get our baptism of fire and we certainly accomplished that feat," said Georgetown Coach John Thompson. "We wanted to find out a few things about our team and we did. Now it's time to go home and do some work."

The other top-20 team, Missouri, needed a shot at the buzzer to beat Alaska-Anchorage. Carl Amos scored on a followup with six seconds left to cut the Seawolves' lead to 53-52.

Alaska-Anchorage was unable to get the ball in play in the required five seconds, leaving Missouri to inbound the ball under the Seawolves' basket with one second remaining.

Unbeaten Pampa hosts Plainview

After a 3-0 start, the Pampa Harvesters are still in the experimental stage of the 1980-81 basketball season. Coach Garland Nichols isn't one to do away with a winning formula. He just wants to mix things up a bit.

"There will probably be some lineup changes against Plainview," Nichols said. "Not because I'm demoting anybody, but because I want to take a look at everybody in certain situations.

With at least 25 games to go, that sounds like a good idea.

Pampa, coming off double wins over Lawton McArthur to open the season, disposed of Hereford, 67-52, Saturday night.

"Our shooting percentage was right at 50 percent and we didn't have as many turnovers," Nichols said.

Nichols liked what he saw in the final quarter when the Harvesters scored 18 points.

"We showed some explosiveness toward the end," Nichols added. "What we're working for, however, is to have a solid game all the way through."

After viewing the game film, Nichols said the Nelson brothers (Mike and Charles), Ed Guerra and Terry Faggins had the most impressive performances.

The Nelsons combined for 28 points while Guerra and Faggins had nine and eight points respectively.

The Harvesters now turn their attention to Plainview, who invade Harvesters Fieldhouse at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

"They're not very tall, but they're quick and that's the type of team that can cause us trouble," Nichols added.

The Bulldogs, 2-1, are led by 6-3 center Ritchie Norrell and 5-9 playmaking guard Alton Jackson.

"They've played everybody tough," Nichols said. "They like to run a lot of different things."

Pampa also meets Altus (Okla.) on the homecourt Friday night instead of playing there as stated on the schedule.

That game also tips off at 7:30 p.m.

NFL roundup

Browns take command of Central Division

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

The Cleveland Browns can rightly claim control of their own destiny now, but they can't help but benefit from one of the most crucial showdowns of the 1980 National Football League season Thursday night when Houston plays host to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Browns unlocked a tie in the American Conference Central Division Sunday by winning a 17-14 thriller over the Oilers, whose Thursday night confrontation with Pittsburgh should pare the race to two teams.

"It was obviously a very big win for us," Browns quarterback Brian Sipe said. "We are in control of our own destiny."

Pittsburgh's 23-10 victory over Miami left the Steelers and Oilers tied for second in the division at 8-5, while Cleveland moved in front by a game at 9-4.

Steelers Coach Chuck Noll said his team still was on the road to recovery from a series of disabling injuries to players like wide receivers Lynn Swann and John Stallworth, running backs Rocky Bleier and Franco Harris, Jacks Ham and Lambert and quarterback Terry Bradshaw.

Fullback Cleo Miller ran for two short-yardage touchdowns to give Cleveland a 14-0 lead in the second period. Don Cockroft's 25-yard field goal in the third quarter provided the Browns with their eventual winning margin.

Houston had a chance to tie the game in the fourth quarter, but Toni Fritsch missed a 38-yard field goal attempt when he scuffed his foot.

In the AFC East, New England failed to take advantage of Buffalo's 28-24 loss to Baltimore by losing 21-17 to San Francisco. That left the 8-5 Patriots one game back of the Bills, 9-4.

The San Diego Chargers moved a half game ahead of Oakland in the AFC West with a 22-21 victory over Philadelphia. The Chargers are now 9-4, and the 8-4 Raiders face a must situation when they host Denver tonight.

The loss dropped the Eagles to 11-2 and one game ahead of Dallas, a 5-7 winner over Seattle on Thursday, in the National Conference East. Minnesota took advantage of Detroit's 23-17 overtime loss to Chicago on Thursday to move into a tie for the NFC Central lead with a 23-20 victory over winless New Orleans.

The NFC West race remained much the same with both division-leading Atlanta, 10-3, and Los Angeles, 9-4, on the winning side of the ledger. Atlanta edged Washington 10-6, and the Rams whipped the New York Jets 38-13.

Elsewhere, it was St. Louis 23, the New York Giants 7; Cincinnati 20, Kansas City 6, and Tampa Bay 20, Green Bay 17.

Steelers 23, Dolphins 10

Harris topped off his best game of the season with a 9-yard touchdown run that sealed Pittsburgh's victory. Harris ran for 116 yards in the game on 28 carries.

Harris' touchdown capped a 98-yard drive that began as the Dolphins were threatening to take the lead. Steelers cornerback Ron Johnson forced a fumble by Dolphins running back Tony Nathan on the 1, and 15 plays later, Bradshaw had guided Pittsburgh to paydirt.

49ers 21, Patriots 17

Joe Montana threw three touchdown passes, all after the 49ers had intercepted Steve Grogan passes, to lead San Francisco to its second straight victory.

Grogan was intercepted six times as the 49ers set a club record. Two of the interceptions were by Ricky Churchman and one was by Keena Turner that killed a New England drive late in the fourth quarter.

Colts 28, Bills 24

Curtis Dickey ran for two touchdowns, and Baltimore scored each of its four TDs after some sort of Buffalo miscue. Dickey scored twice in the second half after an interception and a recovered fumble.

Colts quarterback Greg Landry, substituting for the injured Bert Jones, threw for a score after a fumbled punt, and he ran for another after Buffalo punter Greg Carter was tackled on his own 8.

Chargers 22, Eagles 21

Dan Fouts threw two scoring passes, and Rolfe Bernischke kicked three field goals as San Diego ended Philadelphia's eight-game winning streak.

Fouts had 342 yards passing and went over the 300-yard mark for the sixth time this season, equalling for the second straight year the NFL record set by Joe Namath.

Philadelphia rallied to within a point on an 11-yard scoring pass from Ron Jaworski to Wilbert Montgomery with 2:50 left, but the Chargers picked up on first down and ran out the clock after the kickoff.

Vikings 23, Saints 20

Minnesota jumped to a 23-0 lead on scoring runs by Ted Brown and Doug Paschal, a 17-yard TD pass by Tommy Kramer and Rick Danmeier's 28-yard field goal before having to hold off a furious New Orleans rally.

Archie Manning threw three second-half touchdown passes for New Orleans, but the Saints saw any chance of their first victory erased when Minnesota linebacker Matt Blair blocked a 25-yard field goal attempt by Benny Ricardo.

Falcons 10, Redskins 6

Atlanta won a club-record seventh straight and held the slipping Redskins to Mark Moseley field goals of 51 and 46 yards.

Steve Bartkowski threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Alfred Jenkins early in the third quarter, and Tim Mazzetti kicked a 23-yard field goal in the fourth quarter for the Falcons.

The loss was Washington's fifth straight.

Moseley's last field goal came with four minutes left in the game after an apparent Redskins touchdown pass of 24 yards from Mike Krucek to Ricky Thompson was nullified by penalties against both teams.

Rams 38, Jets 13

Vince Ferragamo threw four touchdown passes, and Elvis Peacock, who replaced the injured Wendell Tyler in the first quarter, gained a personal high 152 yards for the Rams. Tyler left with a dislocated elbow.

The Rams defense sacked Jets quarterback Richard Todd six times and in the third quarter held New York to minus-2 yards total offense.

Cardinals 23, Giants 7

Ottis Anderson rushed for 168 yards and two touchdowns to pace St. Louis past the Giants. Anderson, who came into the game with 955 rushing yards on the year, went over the 1,000-yard mark for the second straight year.

Neil O'Donoghue kicked three field goals for St. Louis.

Bengals 20, Chiefs 6

Cincinnati scored 13 points in the fourth quarter on Jack Thompson's 1-yard touchdown pass and a 57-yard romp by Pete Johnson, a 250-pound fullback, to break open a one-point game and put away Kansas City.

The Southwest Conference 1980 football race was a September to December fantasy.

Who would have believed?

— The Baylor Bears, picked to rattle around in the second division, would win the championship by a whopping THREE games?

— That the Rice Owls, picked for the musty confines of the cellar, would finish in a tie for fourth place with a final Saturday 35-7 flogging of defending champion Houston?

— That the private schools would bat 12-8 against the state universities in a league where the state schools have had a winning record against the privates since 1963?

— That five SWC teams would go to bowls?

Rice's upset of Houston before the regional television cameras in the Astrodome was followed Saturday by 12-point underdog Texas A&M's 24-14 thumping of the Bluebonnet-Bowl bound Texas Longhorns, who tied Rice for fourth.

Baylor, which meets Alabama in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day, won the conference with an 8-0 ledger.

SMU and Houston tied for second with 5-3 records then came Rice and Texas at 4-4.

Arkansas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech were next with 3-5 records and TCU was alone in the cellar at 1-7.

Arkansas beat Texas Tech 22-16 to give the Razorbacks a 6-5 record going into their Hall of Game bowl game with Tulane.

Asked if it was Rice's biggest victory of the year, Coach Ray Alborn said "They're all big when you've been kicked around like we've been kicked."

Rice running back Alvin Fance said "Rice is No. 1 in Houston."

The Owls finished the year 5-6, the school's best record since 1972.

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman said his players at least have another chance to erase the disgrace.

"Our players should get down on their knees and be thankful they have a chance to redeem themselves in the Garden State Bowl against Navy," he said.

In Austin, Wilson was in tears in the Aggie dressing room.

"This win culminates all the things I've worked for this year," said Wilson, who still has two years to go on his contract but has been under fire and has yet to receive a vote of confidence from the Board of Regents.

Wilson said "I think it goes without saying that this was a very satisfying win for me."

The Aggies also upset Texas last year when Wilson was under fire going into the final week of the season.

Heisman winner to be named

NEW YORK (AP) — George Rogers of South Carolina, the nation's leading rusher, was the favorite for the Heisman Trophy but freshman tailback Herschel Walker of Georgia and defensive end Hugh Green of Pittsburgh were bidding to end the award's domination by senior running backs and quarterbacks.

Rogers role as the favorite got a boost Sunday night when he flew to New York and was escorted into the Downtown Athletic Club, where the winner was to be announced, and where he apparently was to spend the night.

Also expected to finish high up when the voting for the 46th annual Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college football player was announced today were quarterbacks Mark Herrmann of Purdue, Jim McMahon of Brigham Young and Art Schlichter of Ohio State; running backs Jarvis Redwine of Nebraska, Freeman McNeil of UCLA and Marcus Allen of Southern California; linebackers Mike Singletary of Baylor and Lawrence Taylor of North Carolina and defensive back Kenny Easley of UCLA.

Schlichter was the top returning finisher. He was fourth last year behind running backs Charles White of Southern Cal and Billy Sims of Oklahoma — the 1978 winner — and Brigham Young's Tony Dorsett (1,586 yards in 1973).

Herrmann finished second nationally in total offense and fifth in passing and set career NCAA records for pass yardage (9,188), completions (717) and attempts (1,218). This season, he completed 220 of 340 for 2,923 yards and 19 touchdowns, while missing one game.

Other returnees from last year's top 10 were Rogers, who was seventh; Herrmann, eighth, and Florida State middle guard Ron Simmons, who finished ninth but had an injury-plagued off-year in 1980.

No freshman or sophomore has ever won the Heisman Trophy. The only players to win it as juniors were Doc Blanchard of Army in 1945, Doak Walker of Southern Methodist in 1948, Vic Janowicz of Ohio State in 1950, Roger Staubach of Navy in 1963, Archie Griffin of Ohio State in 1974 and Sims in 1978. Staubach was a quarterback, the others running backs, and Griffin was the only one to repeat as a senior.

Rogers, fourth on the all-time list for college rushing list, leads the nation this year with 1,781 yards, an average of 161.9 per game. He has gained more than 100 yards in 20 consecutive games. Walker wound up with 205 yards Saturday in No. 1-ranked Georgia's 38-20 victory over Georgia Tech. His total of 1,616 — a 146.9 average — is fourth nationally and broke the freshman record of Pitt's Tony Dorsett (1,586 yards in 1973).

Herrmann finished second nationally in total offense and fifth in passing and set career NCAA records for pass yardage (9,188), completions (717) and attempts (1,218). This season, he completed 220 of 340 for 2,923 yards and 19 touchdowns, while missing one game.

The Heisman Trophy has gone to an offensive back each year with the exception of two-way ends Larry Kelley of Yale in 1936 and Leon Hart of Notre Dame in 1949. Both were noted more for their offensive exploits.

The University of Pittsburgh waged a late-season campaign for Green, a defensive end, spending an estimated $3,000-$5,000 on multi-colored posters of Green, a defensive end, which it mailed to 4,000 persons across the country.

The Heisman balloting closed Friday, prior to the final regular-season games of Walker, McMahon, McNeil and Allen, who needs 218 yards in his final contest to tie Rogers for national rushing honors.

Some 1,050 electors in six sections were asked to vote for their top three Heisman choices. The country is divided into Mid-Atlantic, Northeast, Midwest, South, Southwest and Far West regions.

McMahon led the country in total offense and passing. During BYU's 12-game regular season, he was 284 of 445 and set a pair of NCAA marks by passing for 4,571 yards and 47 touchdowns. He has gone over 300 yards in his last 11 outings.
