Workers In Ryan Plant Ready To Go On Strike

(By The Associated Press) A CIO protest against what it called a threat to use the draft law as a club on strike-minded workers went to President Roosevelt today in the midst of preparations for a walkout next Tuesday at the Ryan Aeronautical company in San Diego. Union representatives said the strike would start then unless federal conciliation efforts bring the workmen and the company, which has millions of dollars in defense orders, to an agreement on wages.

Richard T. Frankenstein, CIO negotiator, telegraphed Mr. Roosevelt to state, as a California board chairman did, that strikers would be deprived of deferment status under the draft law if they walked out of an industry essential to defense.

The Eaton Manufacturing company strike in Ohio and Michigan, although ended by a federally-arranged settlement Wednesday night, still figured in the later-industry-defense triangle. Detroit AFL chief announced that returning strikers of the rival CIO-UAW union would be required to join the AFL union.

Refusal by the unions to disclose whether any strikers had returned to the Saginaw, Mich., plant obscured the picture. The company makes airplane engine parts at five plants.

Jap Premier May Answer Hull Speech

(By The Associated Press) TOKYO, Jan. 17.—With the Japanese press already assailing Secretary Hull's testimony on United States defense needs as "a clear challenge to Axis, and of an ultimatum," it was reported today that Foreign Minister Yoku Matsuoka was preparing to reply with a speech in parliament next Tuesday.

Moreover, Domei, Japanese news agency announced, Premier Prince Fumimaro Koyama will clarify for the public his cabinet's policy. Pending any official presentation of Japan's attitude, the press singled out such statements by Hull for the bitterest criticism directed at Washington in many months.

Expressions in many Japanese quarters indicated that the secretary of state's remarks had produced deeper anxiety here than any development since Washington last October advised United States citizens to withdraw from the Orient.

White Deer's Health Elected At Midland

MIDLAND, Jan. 17 (AP)—George A. Heath, superintendent of schools at White Deer, accepted today the superintendency of schools at Midland following the school board's action last night in voting six to one to employ him.

Heath replaces W. W. Lackey, superintendent of schools here 35 years, and one of the oldest school heads in Texas.

Congressman Dies WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Representative Sam M. Mesinger, Democrat of Cordell, Okla., died after a 24-hour illness caused by influenza.

War Flashes

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Minister of Shipping Ronald H. Cross re-emphasized today Britain's need for more destroyers to combat German U-boats and reduce "the unquestionably serious" losses of British shipping.

We know how to cope with the submarine today. Give us the equipment, destroyers, and aircraft. I am sure we can subdue this menace," he said.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 17 (AP)—The British Royal Air Force announced today another air raid on the airbase at Catania, Sicily, reported to be the base for German bombers in the Axis offensive against the British Mediterranean fleet.

Welding Course Will Be Taught

A welding school will be organized Monday evening, Jan. 20 at 7 p. m. at Pampa high school. The organization meeting will be the occasion for discussing definite plans and arrangements for the successful carrying out of this project.

Costs and schedules will be considered and all details arranged. Instructors will be M. G. David, and his A. P. I. and A. S. M. E. welders rating, with some experience in aluminum arc welding which is required in aircraft production practices.

Since welding is to play a part in national defense industries it is considered that this course will partially prepare a man for a place in welding operations. The course will last for 144 hours, 48 hours of which will be for actual welding by the student, 48 hours of demonstration by the instructor, and 48 hours of welding theory. The course of study will be similar to that offered in the Lincoln Co. Cleveland.

Interested persons are urged to attend the organization meeting so they become acquainted with the full details. It is emphasized that this course comes under the authority of trade and industrial program made possible by the state department of vocational education.

Cancer Fatal To Roberts Agent

Funeral services were held in Shamrock yesterday for Jett McMurtry, Roberts county farm agent, who died Tuesday in a Dallas hospital.

Death was attributed to a cancer ailment, which the first suffered last November while attending a regional county farm agents meeting in Amarillo.

Mr. McMurtry had been county farm agent of Roberts since May, 1934, coming to Miami from Oklahoma, where he also been a county agent. He was a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M. college, Stillwater, Okla., and had been a school teacher in Shamrock.

Mr. McMurtry was about 42 years old. His father was a former county judge of Wheeler.

Favors Offers Resolution For Joint Session

Ennis C. Favors of Pampa, 122d district representative in the Texas legislature, offered the resolution providing for a joint session to hear the address of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel.

The two houses met in joint session at 10:30 o'clock this morning to hear the governor's message. A joint session was also held at the same time yesterday morning.

Land Tracts Awarded In Court Decision

Here's How W. Lee Failed Last Term

AUSTIN, Jan. 17 (AP)—Summary of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's recommendations to the legislature on first taking office two years ago—and what happened to them: A 1.6 per cent transactions tax, termed a "pyramided sales tax" by opponents, to finance increased old age pensions and other state government costs—abandoned by the lawmakers.

An O'Daniel-espoused constitutional amendment levying a 2 per cent sales tax and increasing taxes on oil, gas and sulphur—defeated by 86 members of the House of Representatives.

Expansion of old age pension rolls—plan adopted by the legislature fell far short of the governor's request.

The lawmakers also rejected O'Daniel's suggestions to: Abolish state ad valorem taxes; Consolidate state agricultural agencies;

Combine more than half-a-hundred treasury funds; Empower the governor to appoint a state budget director;

Empower the legislature, instead of the governor, to select the state auditor; Abolish the death penalty;

Appoint a part-business man committee to investigate the prison system.

Regarding gubernatorial appointments, the senate rejected two of O'Daniel's appointees to the important high commission chairmanship, one of them Carr Collins, O'Daniel's close friend, and failed to act on a third. The fourth was confirmed.

The governor's first choice for life insurance commissioner was turned down and, after he had named a tax commissioner, the legislature abolished the office. He drafted divorcees in his court for the duration.

Awards Presented To 4 Kiwanians Of Stinnett Club

Jack Goldston, president of the Pampa Kiwanis club, presented four perfect attendance awards to members of the Stinnett club, at an inter-club meeting held last night at First Christian church in Stinnett.

Awards were presented to Bill Robinson, Temple Piper, Ed Biebert, and Homer Franklin, president of Stinnett club.

The program was in charge of Joe Gordon of Pampa and consisted of vibraphon playing and singing by Arthur Nelson, and the ventriloquist act of Jack Johnson and "Gusto."

In the latter act, there were numerous references to members of the Stinnett club.

Attending from Pampa were Jack Goldston, Joe Gordon, Alvin Bell, Raeburn Thompson, Jack Johnson, Clyde Carruth.

D. S. Misner of the Stinnett club will bring over a similar inter-club program to the Pampa club sometime within the next six weeks.

Other visits by Pampa Kiwanians are planned to the other clubs of division 6, which is comprised by the three Amarillo clubs, and clubs at Wellington, Sanford, Stinnett, Vega, Tulla, Plainview, Lubbock, and Pampa.

Distributed at the inter-club meeting in Stinnett last night were copies of volume 1, number 1, of the Stinnett club publication "Kiwanis News."

'MAD DOG'

A strip of land 33 miles long, across the north side of Lipscomb county and extending two and one-half miles in Ochiltree county, is vacant, unsurveyed school land.

This was the ruling given by District Judge W. R. Ewing yesterday in 31st district court here.

The suit sustained the holding of the Texas land commissioner that the land is vacant, unsurveyed school land, and the area in question was 5,000 acres in Block S & S, Lipscomb county.

This strip was filed upon by Roy Sansing of Higgins, in June, 1937, for himself and clients, and the case was tried in Lipscomb county last September.

The title suit is the result of a surveyor's mistake, discovered by Sansing and W. H. Sewell, present occupants of the land have the right of purchase of the land from the state.

Plaintiffs in the suit were persons who instituted suit against Sansing after he had filed upon the land in behalf of himself and clients.

The land filed upon was divided into 34 tracts, 18 of which were awarded to undisputed occupants and clients of Sansing, who held prior rights of purchase; 16 were awarded to Sansing by the court.

The remaining 1600 acres was awarded to other plaintiffs, which the court held had perfected their right to purchase, subject to their reimbursement to Sansing of moneys he had expended and assuming the state title.

The immediate suits which the court disposed of pertain to 11 tracts awarded to Sansing, involving approximately 1900 acres. The court rendered judgment for Sansing for 400 acres, holding that the plaintiff had not perfected this prior right to purchase.

The remaining 1,500 acres was awarded to other plaintiffs, which the court held had perfected their right to purchase, subject to their reimbursement to Sansing of moneys he had expended and assuming the state title.

Soldiers Safe From Divorce Suits In Kansas City Court

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 17 (AP)—Ray G. Cowan, the paradoxical jurist decreed today there'll be no drafted divorcees in his court for the duration.

Judge Cowan, a former national official of the Disabled American Veterans, proposed that every divorce seeking wife be required to sign an affidavit that her husband was not in the army, navy, marines or air corps. If it developed that she had sworn falsely, she would be guilty of fraud upon the court and subject to criminal action.

"The draftee should not be worried with marital troubles while away from home," said the jurist, who was so badly crippled in the World war that he still limps.

Paradoxical jurist? Cowan, a bachelor, believes implicitly in marriage.

Cowan, the champion of marriage, is judge of the Jackson county (Kansas City) divorce court where he tries to effect reconciliations. He grants divorces only if convinced the man and wife cannot live together happily.

Judge Cowan hopes his no draftee divorces suggestion will be adopted nationally.

As for alimony, there's not a chance before Judge Cowan. "I positively would not grant alimony against any service man."

Navy Should ConvoY Ships To Britain, Says Admiral Yates

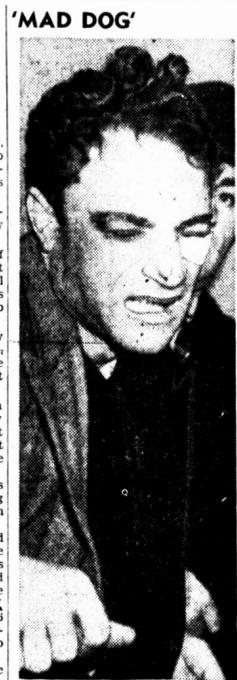

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan. 17 (AP)—The United States fleet, says Admiral Yates Stirling, Jr., U. S. navy, retired, should be concentrated in the Atlantic immediately and used to convoy war material to Great Britain.

"The defeat of Hitler must be our first objective," Admiral Stirling asserted last night in a speech on the "Urgency of Illinois campaign."

As for "we're at war now," the admiral advocated use of the Pacific fleet in the Atlantic except for a detachment that would serve to maintain a "defensive attitude" toward Japan.

Hull Attacked By Jap Papers

(By The Associated Press) TOKYO, Jan. 17.—High command and cabinet officials met today with Premier Prince Fumimaro Koyama for the third time this week as Japan's reaction to the United States attitude in the Far East was reflected in the bitter anti-American comment in the press.

United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull was the target of sharp press attacks.

Secretary Hull's statement Wednesday before the U. S. house foreign affairs committee, in which he asserted that danger to the United States would be "multiplied many fold" if Japan, Germany and Italy gained control of the high seas, was described by the newspapers as "a clear challenge to the Axis, short of an ultimatum."

"The newspaper Yomiuri called Hull's statements an example of America's 'pig-headed anti-Japanism'" and said his criticisms of the Axis powers were prompted by "malice and hatred."

Referring to Hull's assertion that the United States has made no threats toward Japan, Yomiuri asked: "Has a more transparent, barefaced lie ever been uttered by any statesman in the world before?"

Foreign observers expressed belief the almost unprecedented series of conferences were indicative of cabinet and army and navy chiefs.

"They noted that today's conference, which took place in the premier's home and lasted 45 minutes, was attended by the war and navy ministers, the ministers of home and foreign affairs and high-ranking officers of both the army and navy.

Domei, Japanese news agency, said "vital questions" were discussed.

The powerful "Imperial Rule Assistance association" headed by Premier Koyama, also was scheduled to meet today to discuss the advisability of a nationwide expression of the people's "sentiments toward the aggressive attitude of the United States."

Jaycees To Attend Amarillo Banquet

A delegation of Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce members, headed by President Jimmy Dodge, will go to Amarillo tonight for the annual installation ceremony and banquet.

A. M. Minton of Borger, vice-president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled to install the new officers.

Hollis McGrassi will be inducted as president, succeeding Sam Davis. Other officials who will be installed are Bob Stone, first vice president; Bobby Russell, second vice president; Bill Ferguson, third vice president; Guy Walden, treasurer; and Gordon Gill, secretary.

British Raid Nazi Bases In Daylight

Greek dispatches from the Albanian front reported new gains in the bitterly contested Tepeleni mountain sector, while the Greek press declared one-third of Italy's forces have been knocked out of the 11-weeks-old conflict.

Dr. Thomsen Asks Question At Banquet

There were hundreds of persons in Pampa and adjoining towns today who were giving real thought to a question asked last night at the annual banquet of the Adobe Walls council of the Boy Scouts of America in the Schneider hotel here.

The question, asked by Dr. R. Thomsen, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, was: "What kind of a world are we and our children going to be living in when this second world war is over and what are we doing to prepare our children to meet the situation?"

New officers were installed by the Rev. W. J. Stack, pastor of Holy Souls Catholic church in the absence of Earl McClure of Dallas. R. G. Hughes, new president, was unable to be present because of illness of a sister in Fort Worth. He tried to reach Pampa in time for the ceremony but did not arrive until the close of the meeting.

In a brief address President Hughes asked for the cooperation of all officers, Scoutmasters and scouts in carrying out an ambitious program to be outlined for the council.

Glen Morley was toastmaster. Invocation was by the Rev. Robert Boshen. Singing was led by J. Troy Israel. A first aid demonstration was presented by Troop 6 of Borger.

Dr. Thomsen Asks Questions Dr. Thomsen, who has made an exhaustive study of world conditions, said we are living in a troubled nation in a troubled world and that no man can tell what kind of a world our children will be living in when they become men and women.

"I don't believe in dreaming and building up a world of ideals," Dr. Thomsen said. "We must be realistic and face facts. Today we are spending, spending and spending, and we will have a boom for several years but what will happen when it is over—and it will end. We can't always live in a boom world."

"We are building a war machine on which we will get no return, except in protection. We are building a manufacturing agency, but what will we do with them when the war is over? We will have most of the gold in the world when the war is over but what will we do with it? Will we spend it wisely or throw it away? That's something we must think about and it is something we must train our children to think about because they will be the men and women of tomorrow."

U. S. Powerful Nation Dr. Thomsen pointed out that our children will have to pay back the money that is being spent today. It is an absolute impossibility to "pay as you go" in this expansion and defense program even though everyone is taxed to the limit, Dr. Thomsen said.

"I may be wrong but I see a United States of the future that will have more power than any other nation in the world's history," Dr. Thomsen declared. "What will we do with that power? Will we be a dictator nation or will we try to build and give everyone a chance? Our children are the ones who will have to make the decision and it is up to us to train them to be able to cope with the situation they will be facing."

"If England loses this war, and it is still possible, the United States will have to dominate the world to exist. If England wins the war, which we hope she will, we will have to join with that nation in rebuilding the world. We will have nearly all the money. At present we are spending millions in South America to buy back the goods we lost by shady transactions in the past. In the days gone by we sent nuts and bolts to the South American countries that wouldn't fit each other while Germany sent what was ordered. Now we are paying for the 'shred' deals our business men pulled. I hope our children are learning a lesson."

To prove that we don't know what the world of the future is to be, Dr. Thomsen asked if there is any man living who knows whether the small nations of Europe that have been overrun by Germany will rise again; whether one great power will dominate Europe and another the Americas; whether in the future...

50 Millions A Year Asked By Governor

HIGHER TAXES ON UTILITIES, NATURAL RESOURCES ADVISED AUSTIN, Jan. 17. (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today urged the legislature to impose additional taxes aggregating approximately $50,000,000 per year, including a general transactions tax.

O'Daniel said a total of between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000 was needed for bigger old age pensions and other social security purposes. The current revenue for social security is $9,000,000 a year.

He also asked an extra $7,500,000 yearly to retire the large general deficit, $5,000,000 for elementary institutions, $5,000,000 for elementary and high schools, and $2,500,000 for the colleges.

To finance social security and permit the abolition of the state ad valorem tax for general purposes, he suggested a 1.6 per cent transactions tax. The rate, he pointed out, could be reduced if the ad valorem levy is retained.

The governor advocated higher taxes on natural resources and public utilities to supply money for function other than social security. He estimated this increase would yield $11,000,000 a year.

When O'Daniel proposed a like transactions tax two years ago, it mustered little support in the legislature. At that time, however, it was in the form of a constitutional amendment. This time he submitted a bill and asked the lawmakers to expedite action on new taxes.

"There is no reason," he said, "why this legislature should not during the first 30 or 40 days of the session pass tax bills to finance these necessary services of the state government, and in order to expedite such consideration, I hereby submit as emergency legislation the following:

(a) The subject of raising necessary revenue to finance social security, including old-age pensions, aid for dependent children, aid for the blind, and teacher retirement;

(b) Raising revenue to meet the other necessary obligations of the state.

The governor said that the program he now is recommending was the same one on which he went before the people last summer and that the people registered their approval of it at the polls. He also struck back vigorously at the argument that the levies should be imposed because of national defense spending.

It was the second half of the governor's biennial opening message to the lawmakers and it was delivered in person. The first half, delivered yesterday, dealt with governmental reorganization and all other matters except taxes and social security.

"It is already being urged by some people," O'Daniel asserted, "that this session of the legislature should refuse to levy the necessary taxes to meet the state's obligations because of the fact that the national government now is engaged in a vast expenditure of public money to make a program of national defense."

"Two years ago, members of the 46th legislature were told by the tax-dodgers' lobbyists that taxes should

Activities Of Sub Deb Club Planned Here On Thursday

Plans for organization of a Junior Council of Clubs were discussed at a meeting of Sub Deb club Thursday afternoon in the home of Miss Martha Frances Pierson.

Arrangements were made for an old-fashioned party to be given soon with Miss Betty Lee Thomasson as hostess, and bowling team was discussed. The group will meet Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the bowling alley.

Refreshments were served to Misses Betty Plank, Gretchen Ann Brunton, Dorothy Drescher, Frances and Ruth Shier, Betty McAfee, Betty Lee Thomasson, Iris Williams, Elaine Carlson, Martha Pierson, Betty Ann Culbertson, Vera Brunow, Harriett Price, Dorothy Miskimins, and Frankie Foster.

Another meeting of the club will be held Thursday evening at 7 o'clock with the Misses Shier as hostesses.

'The Modern Parent' Topic At Meeting Of Discussion Group

To hear the Rev. R. G. West, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, discuss the topic, "The Modern Parent, Social Engineer," a large group of parents from the high school and Junior high discussion groups met Tuesday morning in the high school cafeteria.

"As parents we should keep up with the changing times or a revolution results," Rev. West said in considering the parent and the child's relationship in the home. "Most problems in the home arise because of the following things: Outside playmates, economic situations, outside associations and interests."

The group then discussed how to face and meet these problems. It was decided that it is best to forget self and think of the best interest of the child.

"A democratic spirit in the home must prevail. Parents and children should be able to talk over their problems in a democratic way," it was pointed out. Scientific approach and sympathetic approach also were discussed.

"If a child ever gets to feel that he has lost the confidence of his parents, the parents have lost their best hold," the speaker continued. He urged parents to keep faith with their child, and in conclusion he discussed the value of religion in the home.

Religion gives a cause around which all may gather. It develops the high qualities in the home and makes for better living conditions," he added.

The next discussion group meeting will be Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock with Mrs. J. L. Southern giving a review of the book "On Foot in Heaven" by Hartzele Spence.

The first pressed steel frame for automobiles was introduced by the Peerless Motor Car company in 1903.

Monthly Health Program Of B-WP Given Thursday

A monthly recreation program sponsored by the health committee, was conducted Thursday evening in the city club rooms for members of Business and Professional Women's club.

Opal Wright is chairman of the committee, which conducts the healthful exercises and games at these sessions.

Also the group sponsored a radio program and speaker, Dr. R. Malcolm Brown who spoke in the interest of cancer control recently.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's club, Inc. is the first organization to issue health examination forms for business and professional women. Dr. Minnie L. Maffret, president of the federation, has announced. To this end, Dr. Ewythe Hershey, national health chairman, has sent to all the 44,000 members an appeal to find out if they are "fit for their jobs."

The health appraisal program, started with the new year, as prepared by Dr. Hershey, director of the division of maternal and child health of the National State Board of Health, and an advisory group, is in the form of a booklet for members to fill out, and which will give their health conditions. This provides a complete record of the individual's home habits, diet, recreation, responsibilities, attitude toward work, living conditions, general philosophy, and the steps to take in order to improve their health.

Dr. Hershey also includes with the booklet a letter addressed to the examining physician, setting forth the fact that the member presenting it wishes to attain the optimal level of health possible for her, and that the annual examination is one aspect of the health program undertaken by business and professional women that they may be "fit for the job."

This letter also includes detailed health examination record which is to be filled in by the examining physician. When this is done, the member will know from this chart whether she has any physical, mental, or emotional handicaps.

Dr. Hershey was assisted in the compilation of this material by Miss Dorothea Campbell, state department of Health, Charleston, W. Va.; Dr. Mary Louise Newman, Jacksonville, Ill.; Miss Anna L. Pittman, Kansas City, Mo.; and Miss L. E. Burke, Colorado Tuberculosis association; Mrs. Christine A. Thompson, Nevada state department of health; and Dr. Ruth Tichenor, Miami, Fla.

"There is no physician who can give you good health unless you are interested in attaining the best health possible for yourself," Dr. Hershey warns members. "Unless you are willing to study intelligently the factors which influence your health and have the determination to attain the optimal level of health for yourself."

"That good health is your greatest asset you will not deny, but to the extent you realize its advantages professionally, economically, socially, and in the enjoyment of life itself? Too many of us are complacent about our health because we do not have any particular diseases," she said.

"Most health programs and health activities have for a long time concerned themselves with matters of disease. We have been satisfied with our health condition until we have become victims of some specific illness or disease. This has resulted in our acceptance of a mediocre standard of health. To answer all the questions in 'Are you fit for your job?' every woman should appraise her health habits and standards, see her doctor and her dentist each year, and take necessary steps to obtain her best health level."

Dr. Maffret, an outstanding surgeon and gynecologist in Dallas, Texas, says of the health project, "Members of the federation will have no excuse in the future for not knowing what to do in the field of health. Personally, I think this health examination record is the superior of anything I have ever seen for use in doctor's offices. The letter to the examining physician is worth the entire record, and should be put into the hands of every individual club member."

Sub Deb club will meet at 10:30 o'clock in the bowling alley. Junior American Legion auxiliary will meet at 8:30 o'clock in the American Legion hall.

SUNDAY B. G. K. club will have a breakfast in the home of Miss Elizabeth Mullinar.

DESIGNED FOR LARGE FIGURES

PATTERN 8785

It seems scarcely possible that merely by putting in a few simple darts, and sewing together two pieces of fabric (see the small diagram) you can create a slip that fits like figures with inspired perfection. But it's a fact—that's just what you can do with design No. 8785. The reason it fits so beautifully is that there are horizontal darts under the arms to create essential bust fullness—just enough and not too much. Long vertical darts at the waistline draw it in to slenderizing smoothness.

Once you try it on, you'll never be satisfied again with run-of-the-mill slips that lack these details. Make it of satin, lingerie crepe, linen, or batiste, either with shoulder straps, or built-up shoulders.

Pattern No. 8785 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, and 52. Size 38 requires, with built-up shoulders, 3 yards of 38-inch material; strap style, 2 1/2 yards.

For a PATTERN of this attractive model, send in 10¢ COIN, YOUR NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE to The Pampa News Today's Pattern Service, 211 W. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.

What's new for spring? What kind of clothes top the list? Where are waistlines? How do shoulders look? To what length will skirts go? You'll find all the answers in our "Our New Year" now ready—answers all workers should know that you can make for yourself. Mail your order now!

Panel Discussion Feature Of P-TA In Junior High

Selections by the Junior high school sextette, directed by Mrs. Clifford Braly II, opened the meeting of Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium.

Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson presided as secretary in the absence of Mrs. E. M. Keller.

The devotional was presented by Mrs. W. Purviance who quoted various scriptures and spoke on "Our New Year." Also she read "Promise" by Grace Noll Grouwell.

A panel discussion on "Economic Security" was led by Ernest Cabe with Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, Judge C. E. Gary, Mrs. R. G. West, and W. B. Weathered talking part.

The question, "What can we do as parents and teachers to train our boys and girls to have economic security in their future life" was discussed.

In presenting "Spending and Saving in the Average Family," Mrs. R. G. West suggested postal savings as a good way to train boys and girls in saving. Vocational training in the schools was discussed and it was decided that boys and girls could be trained to think and use their hands at the same time. It was suggested that vocational education should be broadened in the schools to train more students.

Mrs. Hunkapillar, who spoke on "Economic Literates," pointed out that many of us do not understand the economic set-up in our lives.

The P-T-A singer group sang two songs directed by Miss Helen Martin with 20 women participating. Carroll Kiebrew's room won the award for having the largest number of parents present.

Sunday Evening Discussion Series To Begin At Church

On Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Rev. Russell G. West, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, will conduct the first of a series of six Sunday evening discussions on the general subject, "If Christ Could Have His Way."

Instead of preaching a sermon, the pastor will lead the people in an open discussion.

Those who plan to attend these services are invited to prepare themselves to discuss the following subjects: "If Christ Could Have His Way: 'In Our Hearts', 'In Our Homes', 'In Our Churches', 'In Our Community', 'In Our Nation', and 'In Our World'."

On this Sunday morning the Rev. West will preach a special peace sermon on the statement found in the New Testament, "We Have No King But Caesar."

Couple Entertains With Steak Dinner

SKELETTOWN, Jan. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Stephenson of the Skelly Schaefer camp entertained recently with a steak dinner. The occasion being in honor of the birthdays of Carroll Coulson and Mrs. Stephenson.

The three course dinner was served at 7 o'clock when places were laid for Miss Mary Earl Davison of Panhandle, Carroll Coulson, Mr. and Mrs. Max Hause, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Coulson, and the host and hostess.

The group enjoyed a preview later in the evening.

Modern Merchandising

Last Christmas the volume of goods sold at retail was the largest in our history. Millions of Americans thronged stores of all kinds. Some of them bought ten-cent gifts. Some bought presents costing thousands of dollars. All of them got what they wanted—and they got it at a reasonable price, whether it was a fur coat or a box of groceries. They bought nationally known brands of goods, and they bought private brands. And they knew that they were getting the quality they were paying for.

Most of us don't give much thought to the retail industry. We take it for granted. We know that the stores are always ready to serve us—that their shelves are filled with the luxuries and necessities we want. Retailing today is a miracle of efficiency. Behind the particular stores we patronize lies an intricate, superbly developed system which has no counterpart elsewhere in the world. That goes for the chain store, the progressive independent store, and the super-market. All of them want our trade—and all of them are striving to do a better job, and to give the consumer more for his money.

The service they render the public has resulted from free competition—which is the American way of doing business. In this country, any man has the right to open a retail store. He has the right to take customers away from his competitors if he can. He has the right to try new ideas, new innovations, new sales techniques. And those rights are the consumer's best guarantee of a fair deal. The "gyp" merchant doesn't last long.

Think of that next time you go shopping. Remember that nowhere else in the world has retailing reached so high a peak of efficiency and service. The person who lives in Pampa gets the same goods at the same prices as the person who lives in a great metropolitan city. That's how merchandising, in all its many branches, serves its country.

SPELL OF CHRISTMAS BLACKED OUT AGAIN

It was a striking cartoon by Carl Sordahl which appeared in "The Chicago Tribune" on Christmas day, and it was as simple as it was striking. The drawing revealed a figure arrayed in white garments, standing on the clouds of the heavens and knocking on a darkened world. The caption above the drawing quoted the words of Jesus recorded in Revelation 3:20: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock."

No one could fail to catch the meaning. He who alone can save a perishing world from its sins comes anew to that world which rejected Him so many years ago, and still He is pleading that he might find room for Him. And he was the urgency of His knocking felt more clearly than on Christmas day, 1940. The whole world seemed to have been caught in the spell of the day and the message of peace and good will. Even the war-mongers observed an undeclared truce, and the instruments of murder and destruction were silenced for a day.

Then from countless hearts welled up the pleading cry: "If there's any stop their insane carnage for a day, why can't they stop it altogether in the name of the Prince of Peace?"

Men grew hopeful. A spirit of joyous optimism filled the very air. Calloused editorial writers and world-wise commentators spoke of how the spirit of love was still the strongest force in the world, and perhaps Christ's way would still work if men would only try it. Let America suggest the idea, they said. Let its President remind the warring nations of their desperate sin and folly, and urge them to walk in the way of peace. Let him say to them, "Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God."

Four days went by, the spell of Christmas still lingered, and all the world waited breathlessly on a quiet Sabbath evening for the word of hope which only one man seemed to have the power to speak. "Nonsense!" said the voice from the White House. And the peace hopes of a world were again blacked out.

Behind The News

By BRUCE CATTON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The fight over President Roosevelt's aid-the-democracies bill is shaping up as a straight party fight—and Republicans are beginning to suspect the administration planned it that way from the start.

Here is the way one Republican prominent in his party's leadership in the House analyzes what he believes to be administration strategy: "First of all, we had Mrs. Roosevelt's piece complaining that none of the Republicans applauded the President's message. "Next the President invited congressional leaders in to confer about this bill. He had all the Democratic leaders from both houses, and apparently took great pains to shape the bill by their advice—but he didn't have in one Republican.

"Next the bill was introduced—not, as you would expect, by the chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, or by any measure of bi-partisan sponsorship, but by the Democratic floor leaders. "In other words, it has been made strictly a Democratic party bill from the beginning. And we Republicans are rising to the bait."

KEEPING DEMOCRATS TOING THE MARK Making a break along party lines, might have two

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the share of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

NO PEACEFUL PICKETING

In Judge William J. Palmer's decision, refusing to vacate an injunction against picketing, as a result of the California Supreme Court's decision, he makes some timely statements about picketing.

No Peaceful Picketing

On the subject, the Judge said: "Peaceful picketing is a self-contradiction and aptly describes nothing that is known to man. To use the term is as inept as it would be to speak of a peaceful burglary or a peaceful hold-up or a peaceful war."

"It is an alliterative euphemism, coined possibly through carelessness, but seized upon avidly by legislators and judges, thus to make it easy to give blanket approval to practices, many of which are plainly immoral."

"There is no essential difference between the type of peaceful picketing which closes down a man's business and the type which involves throwing a rock through his shop window."

He described as "unfortunate and inept" a statement of the majority supreme court opinion that Section 922 of the State Labor Code "is an apparent effort of the Legislature to preserve the economic freedom of the toiler from the oppression of the employer."

This language, he said, suggested "that the man who risks his own capital and what he can borrow, who pours his total energy and his dreams into building a business, whereby he can provide jobs for his fellow citizens and supply them with the means with which to support themselves and families, is an oppressor of the toiler."

Business management is vital to the maintenance and operation of any business, but it is impossible unless the executive has some control over his forces. "That control is impossible without a method and freedom of selection and discharge based on the presence or absence of efficiency, honesty and loyalty," the court said.

The court's opinion also warned that totalitarian powers are seeking to split up the United States by stirring up controversies between classes, political parties, and religious and racial groups, and asserted that it is communistic ideology which arrays employees against employer in a life-and-death, class struggle.

"It is regrettable to note some recognition of this ideology in the opinions under consideration," Judge Palmer declared, and warned courts that they should steer clear of such dangerous fallacies.

DIFFERENT KINDS OF KINDLY SENTIMENT

Every individual has some sentiment that he believes is kindly. The real problem is to determine which kind of altruistic sentiment is in the long run kind to the recipient and to every human being.

Men who appear to be very wise contend that the best way to help mankind is to teach man how to help himself and to give him encouragement when he is doing useful and helpful things and allow him to make choices and errors without too severe criticism. On the other hand, there are men who contend that man must be given direct relief no matter how imprudent; that he must not be permitted to make short-time labor contracts below some arbitrary wage even if they themselves have no better contracts to offer or know of no one else who has.

Long Time View

Men with this kind of kindly sentiment invariably condemn men with sentiments that are governed by a long time view and even contend that they are selfish. They even want to make laws to force the man who believes in helping people to help themselves to be kindly the way they think they should be.

On the other hand, the man who believes the best kind of assistance to mankind is helping men to help themselves is perfectly willing to let any man give directly to temporarily relieve suffering. He never wants to pass a law to prevent this sentimentalist from using his energies in the way he thinks best.

It is time we came to realize that we must not try to force other people to have the same kind of sentiments and emotions that we have. Possibly we might be wrong. It might not be well to use force to coerce others to be sentimental and helpful the way we think is the best way to do it.

Our whole trouble comes from attempting to force other people to be kind or helpful and give assistance the way one particular group believes is the proper way.

advantages, from a purely political standpoint. In the first place, the Democrats have plenty of votes in each house to pass the bill without Republican help—provided all of the Democrats can be kept in line. On a bi-partisan issue, any Democrat who felt doubtful about the bill could vote against it without getting a black mark on his party record, simply because all party lines would be down anyhow. On a straight party measure, introduced by the floor leader and backed by energetic party leadership, a Democrat would join the opposition at his own peril.

Beyond that, a party break would definitely put the Republican party—as far as Congress is concerned—in the position of being the party of the isolationists. The New Deal is operating on the theory that a large majority of Americans support the aid-the-democracies idea, and during the last campaign repeatedly charged that the Republicans are on the other side of that particular fence.

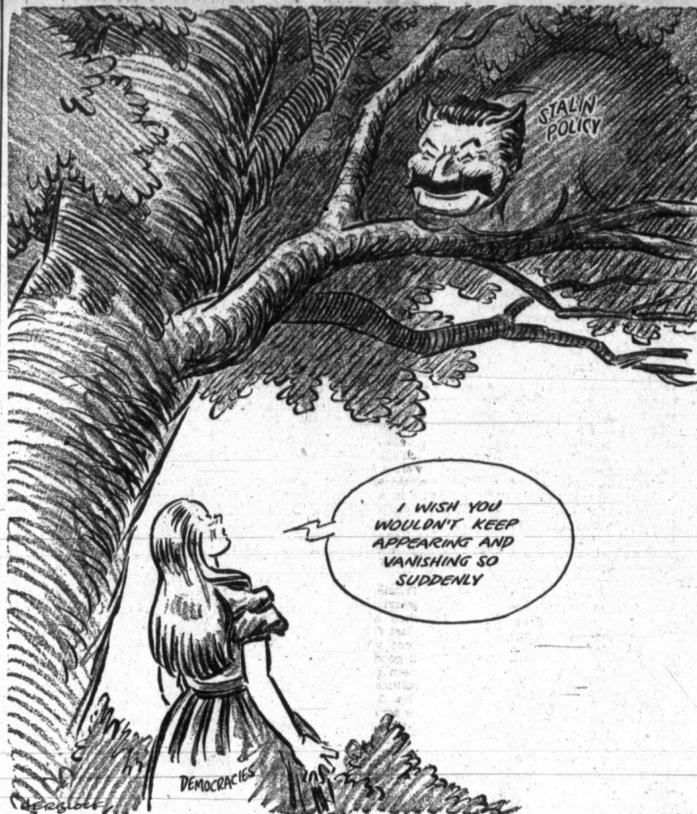

Lastly, getting the Republicans thus on record might kill the political future of Mr. Wendell Willkie. Republican support for this bill could hardly have been sought without swinging a beam or two from the spotlight on Mr. Willkie. Putting the party on the opposite side would pretty well end his claims to party leadership.

VORYS CALLS IT A SHOWDOWN

The fight in Congress will be bitter, and there will be strong efforts to amend the bill. But Congressman Vorys of Ohio, who successfully led the fight to amend the bill which revised the neutrality act, doesn't think amending the present bill would help much.

"This is the showdown," he says. "This is the one time Congress gets to pass on the whole policy of aid for Great Britain—with all of its implications. There's little point to amendments. It's the basic policy and the things that are likely to come from following it that matters. Here's where we decide on the whole business—and no congressman will be able to say, afterward, that he didn't know it was loaded."

THE CHESHIRE CAT

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17.—Behind the screen: Basil Rathbone learned what censors think of him when 20th-Fox began filming "Blood and Sand." There had been no objection when Tyrone Power nearly ran him through to finish the duel in "The Mark of Zorro." But in the new picture, a scene was firmly rejected which would have had Power as a matador, killing a bull. Of course they'd have used a stock shot of some previous bull fight but that didn't make any difference. The censors' attitude is that villains deserve killing, but bulls don't.

Speaking of slaughter, Humphrey Bogart says that he has to kill as many people in "High Sierra" than he did in the picture with the title, "Anybody Living is Purely Accidental." Having done very well by the James Boys, 20th-Fox is going to glorify an even less credible personality from the annals of crime—the she-bandit, Bell Starr. I wouldn't say that she'll be represented as a wronged and misunderstood girl, exactly; but it does seem to me that life outside the law will look more attractive when such a role is played by comedy Carol Landis.

TURNIPS—NEWEST ALLERGY

Every new picture has to have an allergy story. If it's a western, the pre agents discover somebody's allergic to horse dander or saddle soap; if it's a boulevard comedy, the leading man is made ill by the gal perfume or her coiff feathers. "Tobacco Road," since the shiftless half-starved Lesters are always gnawing at raw turnips, it was inevitable that some one in the cast would be thrown into sneezes and fits by turnips. Carole Landis is the one chosen. The publicist says each morning prep men carefully hollow out several turnips and substitute pieces of apple for Bondi-turnip-eating scene.

Charles Laughton went into a Beverly Hills clothing shop, looked at a few things, and complained indignantly about the high prices. After trying to soothe him, the clerk lost patience. "That makes us even, Mr. Laughton," he said. "I always have believed you are being paid too much."

Success stories: Constance Moore first was hired for singing roles, but played in 16 B pictures and had to change studios before she got a change to sing. Besides the role of Belle Starr, Carole Landis also has been promised a singing lead in "Sun Valley." She attracted Hollywood's attention while warbling with dance bands, but in four years she hasn't had a musical number.

DOES BING HAVE PORTERS, TOO?

A call sheet at RKO bore this twisted but true announcement: "Company ill due to idleness." Bob Hope never misses a chance to rib Bing Crosby about his leisurely race horses. Other day he said, "I hear Crosby is giving his jockeys saddles that can be made up into lorry berths."

Bette Davis finally gets a comedy. In "The Bride Came C. O. D.," she plays a giddy gal whose wealthy father hires a free-lance aviator, Jimmy Cagney, to keep her out of scrapes. Cagney does a good, impersonal job until they make a forced landing in a desert. That experience ends with the guardian getting slapped. Incidentally, the town's chucking about the actor's assignment to a flying role. He gets air-

An interesting scrap book entitled "Scrap and Crumbs of Life and Death," has been compiled through the years by Mrs. Paul Olmstead of Pampa, a native of Bartlesville, Okla., where she was born and raised. The first clipping was published in a "Corry" paper in 1872. It deals with the death of a great uncle of Mr. Olmstead. The clippings are dated from 1872 to the present time. One tells the fantastic story of one Wallis Olmstead who saw a black snake—milk a cow by winding itself around the cow's hind leg and suck itself full of milk. The cow didn't object, the clipping ends on their head, says Mr. Olmstead.

He also has picked up, from various sources, a great many priceless anecdotes of the War Between the States. One of the sources was his grandfather, who was chief of staff to General Longstreet in the last mentioned war. Some of the stories he has used in other books, and some of the best he has saved for "Lone Star Preacher," which he publishes today.

The book is in theory, fiction. Its chief character is part fiction and part fact; his name is Praxiteles Swan, of all things, and he is a tall, rangy, loud-mouthed, tough-muscled circuit rider of the Methodist (South) persuasion. He is without doubt one of the grand characters of war fiction, a man of parts and a man apart, as a preacher friend of mine used to say.

Praxiteles landed in Texas as a very young man, and on his first Sunday knocked the daylight out of two rascals and held services in a saloon. He became a power in the Brazos country, fought well both on the earthly plane and for the hosts of heaven. When the War Between the States came along he, with a good many other preachers, wondered where the Lord would prefer that they take a stand. Praxiteles went with one of the Texas companies to Virginia as chaplain, and inevitably became an officer, although he was as often called Elder as Captain.

Colonel Thomason's book is really a succession of war stories, strung on the cord of Praxiteles' imagined life—stories such as the one about the Texas boy who shot a pig and was ordered shot himself. Or the time Praxiteles watched a squad of Confederates playing cards on the chest of a big Yankee, stripped naked, with a candle in his teeth to give light. You know the sort of book it is, and if you can stomach a great deal of detail about a great many battles, you'll like them all.

"LONE STAR PREACHER," by John W. Thomason, Jr. (Scribner's: $2.75).

John W. Thomason, Jr., is a lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps. He is a native of Huntsville, Texas, who went from the University of Texas to New York to study art, and from there into the Marines for service in the first World War. He distinguished himself in that bloody mess, and has continued with the Marines since. But he has not forgotten how to draw, and somewhere in his campaigns he has picked up the knack of writing very well indeed.

ONLY on rare occasions do we do it, but we agree with a writer in a current magazine that one of the best ways to relax is to dine by candlelight. . . . We all scurry about so that shattered nerves often sneak up and pick our pockets of self-composure before we know what's happening. . . . But, says this writer, if you will take a lesson from your grandparents and try candlelight, you'll relax in spite of yourself. . . . Almost every movie fan will sympathize with the lady who was watching a film in a local theater the other night. . . . Two girls immediately behind her had a bag of candy which they rattled continually. She turned, gave them an annoyed glance. But the noise went on. . . . Finally, she looked around and said quietly, "Goodness, girls, what are you doing—building a nest?"

All sorts of men have all sorts of ideas about what constitutes the ideal girl, but here is what students of St. John's college, Brooklyn, N. Y., have generally agreed upon as the requisites for their dream girls. . . . She should exhibit good taste and have knack for being charming, avoiding sophistication—in other words, she must be a lady. . . . She should have a good disposition. . . . She isn't dumb, neither is she too intelligent. . . . She likes what you like (or pretends to), and dislikes what peevs you. . . . She is able to cook and to sew, and she is attractive—not necessarily beautiful. . . . And, we might add to that list: . . . She keeps you guessing, if she's smart.

THIS column no sooner hit the living rooms last night than there was a lot of wedding ring dangling going on in Top O' Texas homes. . . . There's something woozy about the way that ring will act, as you already know, if you've tried it. . . . BMI radio tunes listed as topics during the week include You Walk By, High on a Windy Hill, Because of You, Accidentally on Purpose, Walkin' by the River, I Hear a Rhapsody, There I Go, Here's My Heart, So You're the One, and I Give You My Word. . . . You're the One, if you are an All-Request Hour fan you can hear any of them via KPDN.

Which reminds you that four out of the top 15 sheet music best-sellers throughout the nation last week were BMI songs: There I Go, I Hear a Rhapsody, So You're the One, and I Give You My Word. . . . In addition to these songs, which are BMI's own publications, the No. 1 song both among the sheet music sellers and among the best-selling records, is "Frenesi," which is covered by BMI license. . . . So much for music.

WELL, fellows—you may as well know the worst. . . . Mental measurements prove that women are men's superiors. . . . Comparable groups of men and women recently were tested at John Hopkins university. . . . The women did more mental work in a given time than the men and performed their brain tasks more accurately. . . . The following statistics are cited, too, to prove the point that there is no need for women to have that inferiority feeling: . . . Women own 70 per cent of the nation's accumulated wealth. . . . Five million wives are gainfully employed, and 2,000,000 of them are supporting wholly or in part their husbands or their families. . . . Women spend 85 per cent of the national income. . . . Women know how to handle men better than men know how to handle themselves, according to a Hunter college vocational expert. . . . Women live longer than men, have more resistance to disease and extreme temperatures, and suffer fewer accidents than men, according to insurance statistics.

And, ladies, here's a tip: . . . Men do not really enjoy considering a woman helpless and unable to do a single thing without some big, brave man's assistance. . . . Quiet, self-confident competence on a woman's part is masculine admiration every time. . . . All you have to do is expand your natural feminine conviction that men are only little boys, after all.

Incidentally, girls, if your husband or boy friend gets flip with you—

COME AND GET IT What to Eat in Winter—and Why

VITAMIN G WARDS OFF GERMS, ADDS ZEST TO LIFE

(Mr. duBois, a former food chemist for the government, is a nationally recognized authority on diet.)

By WILBUR L. duBOIS, M. A. Vitamin G is something of a newcomer to the alphabetical family and usually pals around with vitamin B in foods.

For a long time it wasn't discovered, or in fact, suspected, but it is there. A liberal supply is important in keeping health and vitality at a high level.

The palmist considered three-score and ten a reasonable life span, but suggested it could go beyond "by reason of strength." He might have said, "By reason of vitamin G." It is thought that this vitamin has a definite influence on the length of life.

Deficiency in vitamin G may be responsible for various ills. Among them are digestive disturbances, nervous depression, general weakness, and an unhealthy condition of the skin.

Infectious disease is more easily contracted, and the prime of life definitely shortened, by the early development of conditions that should arrive only with old age.

Here is another vitamin that helps our winter fight against colds and other physical ills that assail us in cold weather. An extra supply is good health insurance.

A good housewife looks ahead. She has a bit extra on the pantry shelves. If she has fruit trees, she cans the fruit and puts it aside for future need.

Vitamin housekeeping may be managed in much the same way. The body can take and store three or four times as much vitamin G as is absolutely necessary for present need. There might be a shortage some day. Then mother nature could look on the vitamin shelf and open what she required.

Best source of this vitamin is milk, fresh, dried, and condensed. Eggs, lean meat and leafy green vegetables also furnish it.

Every child should have at least a quart of milk a day and adults half that much. In cold weather it is smart to even raise the ration.

Milk also supplies all the necessary minerals except iron and a form of protein which is perfect for human use. Drink milk for health.

Vitamin G is soluble in water and much is lost if the liquids are drained from cooked foods and thrown away. Cook in as little water as possible and use the liquids in food preparation. Save the juices.

There are other vitamins, but A, B, C, and G are the important ones, and so to have during cold weather.

NEXT: Making up your menu.

25 TEAMS BEGIN PLAY TODAY IN SHAMROCK CAGE TOURNEY

Both Girls, Boys Teams Seeing Action

When officials of the Shamrock Invitation Basketball tournament started drawing for first round games they discovered 25 teams entered which will necessitate continuous play during Friday and Saturday. First game was to be played at 9 o'clock this morning with the final game late Saturday night.

Some of the feature games of the tournament will be played tonight with both boys and girls teams in action. At 8:30 o'clock the LeFors Pirates will meet the winner of the Shamrock-Briscoe game. One hour later the Alanreed and Quail girls will play. The last game of the night session will be between Alanreed and Kellon.

All 25 teams will see action today. The second round will start at 9 o'clock Saturday morning with the winner of the Mobeetie-Canadian game playing the winner of the Quail-Pampa Gorilla game.

Stina Cain of Wheeler will be one of the officials. Garrison Rush of Miami was to have been the other but he called Shamrock officials last night and said he would be unable to serve as an official.

Pairings for the first round are: 9 a. m.—Shamrock vs. Briscoe. 10 a. m.—Mobeetie vs. Canadian. 11 a. m.—Quail vs. Pampa Gorilla.

12 Noon—Groom vs. Samnorwood. 1 p. m.—Panhandle vs. Wheeler. 2 p. m.—Lakeview vs. Wellington. 3 p. m.—Samnorwood vs. Mobeetie girls.

4 p. m.—Alanreed vs. McLean. 5 p. m.—Shamrock vs. Canadian girls. 6 p. m.—Alanreed vs. Kellon. 7:30 p. m.—Winner Shamrock-Briscoe game vs. LeFors. 8:30 p. m.—Alanreed vs. Quail girls. 9:30 p. m.—Alanreed vs. Kellon.

Lombardi Refuses To Sign Contract

CINCINNATI, Jan. 17 (AP)—For those daff folk who take things on their face value, an early word of encouragement about the second annual Ernie Lombardi situation may be fitting.

Ernie has provided the baseball world with some preliminary hold-out thoughts by announcing from the shores of the Pacific ocean, where he keeps in condition by seining driftwood, that the proffered 1941 contract for his services with the Cincinnati Reds is slightly unsatisfactory.

This has a familiar ring. Last year the big catcher did the same thing, though for different reasons. Then he was on the downsizing after his unhappy accident in the 1939 world series—widely and unfeelingly described as "Ernie's swan dive"—and a few scattered tom-toms were beating for his scalp.

Yet in the early days of March, Ernie rumbled into camp, blew on his handkerchief, and signed up.

Such differences as may exist this year should be easily compromised to the mutual advantage of the champions of all baseball and their No. 1 catcher.

Baylor And Rice To Battle Tonight

All Southwest conference basketball teams see action this week-end with the Baylor-Rice battle at Houston tonight standing as the feature. Baylor is undefeated. Rice, the preseason favorite to repeat with the championship, has lost one game and if the Owls drop another will be considered just about out of the race—or, at least, in a very difficult position, what with the series-against powerful Arkansas at Fayetteville ahead.

The Razorbacks open a series at home tonight against the Texas Aggies with Arkansas favored to win both games without serious trouble. Texas meets Southern Methodist at Dallas tonight and moves over to Fort Worth tomorrow night to engage Texas Christian.

Spearman To Play In Class B Bracket

Special To The NEWS
WHITE DEER, Jan. 16—Spearman was voted out of District 2, at a meeting of the football executives of District 2, Class A, Tuesday afternoon at White Deer high school.

Spearman school officials at a meeting last fall said their school would not participate in Class A football in 1941 but would play in the Class B bracket. Spearman officials were not present at the White Deer meeting.

Representing the schools were J. M. Carpenter, superintendent, and Bill Mack Gibson, coach, Canadian; R. E. Vaughn, superintendent, and Harold Walker, coach, Phillips; Kellus Turner, superintendent, and Jack Atkins, coach, Panhandle; E. D. Kelley, principal, and Chester Payne, coach, Perryton; Glenn Davis, principal, and Gene McCollum, coach, White Deer.

A luncheon in the school cafeteria preceded the meeting. E. D. Kelley of Perryton was elected district chairman, succeeding George A. Heath, White Deer, who has served for the past six years. R. E. Vaughn and J. M. Carpenter were elected to the executive committee.

One of the chief purposes of the meeting was to select the all-district football, but it was decided that the coaches would select their later.

The closing date for playing district games set for Nov. 22, 1941. The price and sale of tickets to all games will be left to the host team.

'Five Minutes' Wins $10,000 For Owner

DENVER, Jan. 17 (AP)—Five Minutes to Midnight, a bronco that gives the horse laugh to that old stuff about man's faithful servant, has won a $10,000 western outlaw still race for profit.

He's earned about $10,000 for his owners. For the 18-year-old outlaw horse, it's an easy business, this tossing riders in rodeos such as the current National Western Stock Show and Rodeo in Denver. It requires working only about 16 to 20 seconds a week, then going out on the range for two or three weeks to think up new means. He's been to London, New York, Chicago and almost all the stops on the rodeo circuit.

The shaggy old "Eleven Fifty-Five" showed his 15 years' rodeo experience yesterday by tossing George Hoster, Sterling, Colo., on the second jump.

Tradition says he was found wandering in a blizzard near Calgary, Alta., and two cowboys kept him from feeding him milk from a bottle.

Peter Welch of Calgary, who reputedly bought the little thousand-pound package of dynamite for $45, sold him to Vern Elliott of Johnson, Colo., and Ed McCarty in 1927. "There's no price tag on him," Elliott replies to questions about Five Minutes' value. "I wouldn't part with him for any money. It would be just like selling my wife."

Football League To Sign Up Czar

CHICAGO, Jan. 17 (AP)—Owners of National Pro league football clubs have plunged into another round of informal discussions on a proposal to set up a pro football ruler similar to baseball's commissioner, Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

They prepared the way for formal action at the regular April meeting by rewriting a part of the league's constitution yesterday, inserting a clause that provides for a commissioner.

Betting Men Favor Henry Over Fritzie

By SID FEEDER
NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—The chilled bathers of Jacobs Beach who never get their feet wet, couldn't make up their minds today whether the betting men believe in miracles. The simple creatures of habit or have turned charitable at long last.

The odds were 5 to 9 that Henry Armstrong would win back his welterweight title in a 15-round ruckus with Fritzie Zivic in Madison Square Garden, Friday night, and making Henry the Hammer favorite just didn't add up, even to those fortunate enough to own an adding machine.

First off, Fritzie gave the great little negro warrior a considerable opening when he took the 17-pound crown last October. Secondly, in his recent training, Henry has not looked good while the Pittsburgher has been as impressive and smooth as a political machine. And, if you want No. 3, Armstrong will be without the services of his manager and long-time pal, Eddie Mead, for Friday's shindig. Ray Arcel, the veteran second, will handle Henry's corner in place of Aling Eddie.

Some said the betting boys may pit Fritzie on the short end of the price because Armstrong hasn't been the wagering underdog around here in so long the gambling men just couldn't change now. Possibly the more logical reasoning is that Armstrong was great for so long, and Zivic was kicking around the bush leagues for so long that the boys believe this is just another miracle the little buzzaw can perform. Henry is near the end of the road now, but he, himself, is convinced he's a better man than Zivic any day in the week.

Win or lose for either, however, the folks who bet the bill for the wily wallop will be at the Garden are giving Proprietor Mike Jacobs plenty to smile about this time. Up to last night, the advance sale was just under the $30,000 mark, and "Uncle Mike" predicted a sellout.

Naturally, it won't disappoint him.

Mobeetie Routs Wheeler 41-17

Special To The NEWS
MOBEETIE, Jan. 17—The Wheeler Mustang hoopers contested the Mobeetie Hornets Tuesday night in the local gymnasium, but were outed of a victory by the accurate ball placement of the Hornets. The two teams are old rivals and an exciting game is always witnessed. This match was no exception, for there was plenty of excitement during all four quarters.

The Mobeetie squad added another victory to their record, for when the final bell rang the score was 41 to 17 in their favor. High point man was alive by Robinson with 15 points to his credit. Close on his trail was Eubanks with 13 points.

The tall Berger Redburns handed the Mobeetie girls a startling defeat, with the final score being 21-31. There will be a return game played on the Berger court on February 4.

In a thrilling game from start to finish, the Mobeetie B team played the Wheeler girls. The guest team finally built up a lead to give them the game by a score of 26 to 21.

Directors Of Berger Gassers Elected

BERGER, Jan. 17—Six local men and a Phillips resident were elected to the board of directors of the Berger Gassers baseball club Wednesday night in the annual organization meeting.

The directors include Vern Underhill, C. Hester, George Finger, Walter David and R. L. Grimes of Berger, and Hugh Miller of Phillips. Election of officers was postponed due to absence of two board members.

At least six rookies have signed up for tryouts during spring practice, it was announced, and several more ready to sign.

18,000 Expected To See Armstrong Try To Regain His Title Tonight

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—The largest crowd of the indoor fight season, possibly 18,000, is expected to watch Henry Armstrong try to take his welterweight title back from Fritzie Zivic tonight in Madison Square Garden.

This will be Henry's first scrap since he went down to unexpected defeat by Zivic last October, and it is tonight or never for the busy little negro who not so long ago held three championships simultaneously. If Zivic trounces him again, then it's adios to one of the greatest of modern fighting men.

So much, at least, has been gathered from Henry's conversation. He has plenty of money for a fellow of simple tastes, accumulated in as furious and as crowd-pleasing a career as any other fighter ever lived thru. Henry, however, would like to retire with one title. It is a sort of monument that all fighters aspire to.

Californians Learning To Play Tennis In Florida

WINTER PARK, Fla., Jan. 17 (AP)—Coach Gordon Apgar of Little Rollins college is building one of the country's best collegiate tennis teams out of a bunch of California youngsters.

Enrolled at Rollins, a school of about 400 students, are Eddie Alloo and Ed Amark, two of the game's most promising youngsters, and Pauline Betz and Dorothy May Bundy, the second and third highest ranking women players in the country.

With this lineup, Coach Apgar figures his tennis team can go gunning for collegiate titles and any other championships.

Miss Betz and Miss Bundy are regarded as strong contenders for the women's singles title vacated by Alice Marble, and each picks the other to win it.

Young Alloo has been a ball of fire in winter competitions thus far. Although ranked only 17th nationally, he upset Kramer, Betsy Grant and Bobby Riggs in succession in the Dixie tournament at Tampa last week, losing to Frank Kovacs in the finals.

Leading Golfers Clash In First Round Of Meet

The "sudden death" competition, after the comparative ease and luxury of matching strokes merely with old man par, brought together some of the country's biggest "name" golfers and some still hidden in virtual obscurity.

In the main event of the man to man battles were paired Ben Hogan, of White Plains, N. Y., leading money winner of 1940, and Sam Snead, the

Goslin Likes To Watch Young Players Develop

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 17 (AP)—Goslin, a money hitter who seasons past liked to go to bat when a hit meant the ball game, gets a kick now watching young players develop under his teaching.

"My biggest joy will come if I can send a new star to the major leagues," said Goslin, honeymooning here with his bride of a week.

When time caught up with the veteran outfielder and his playing days were over, he became part owner and manager of the Trenton, N. J., club in the class B Interstate league.

"I am just as happy now with a bunch of youngsters in a minor league as ever I was as a player," he declared. "When the time came for me to leave the big league, I felt I had been given my share of good fortune."

Goslin, a money hitter throughout his 19 years in the American league, goes for young players who show up best under fire.

"I don't care if a boy gets only one hit so long as he gets it when it is needed," he explained. "You can tell money hitters when you see them. They have a lot of confidence and when the chips are down they walk up to the plate like they're the spot."

Big league clubs are bidding for two of Goslin's young pitchers and an outfielder, but he plans to keep them for another year.

"They'll be worth more then. It's true," he said, "but that's not the only reason I want to keep them. If those boys go up now they are bound to be farmed out."

"I would rather have them with me. They know me and aren't afraid to ask questions."

"And anyway, I know it would have broken my heart if I had been farmed out after I went to the American league."

Sports Writers Figure Conn Will Dethrone Louis

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17 (AP)—For future reference—a majority of nationally known sports experts who would venture an opinion between bites of steak figure that Pittsburgh's Billy Conn should dethrone Champion Joe Louis when the two meet for the heavyweight title next June.

A consensus of views from such sports personages as this speaker of baseball, Dr. John B. Sutherland, who coaches the Brooklyn Dodgers pro footballers, also picked the Cincinnati Reds to repeat in the National league this year, and one vouched safe that the New York Yankees are "in" as world's series champs.

Fritzie Zivic, another home town boy, was favored five to two to make a successful defense of his welterweight title tomorrow night in New York when he climbs into the ring against the former holder, Henry Armstrong. Brooklyn drew two votes.

Reports from Europe indicate that deadly anti-aircraft fire has practically stopped dive bombing.

Former Pampan Dies Of Brief Illness

T. D. (Doc) Moss, 42, former Pampa resident, died yesterday afternoon in a Perryton hospital of a brief illness. He was widely known as a civic leader and business man.

Truck Drivers Strike

DALLAS, Jan. 17 (AP)—Bob Rogers, business representative of the truck drivers local union, said today a strike at the Houston and North Texas Motor Freight lines here may involve the company's entire Texas and Oklahoma system.

Rogers said the men asked pay increases of about 40 cents a day each.

Sun Shines But Temperature Hovers Around 30 Today

Despite the sun, shining for the first time to any extent in over a week, temperatures in Pampa rose only two degrees this forenoon, advancing from 28 degrees at 5:30 a. m. to 30 near noon.

not be raised to pay pensions because grown children should support their parents. Since then, those sons have shouldered their rifles and marched away to train for defending our country, and these tax-dodgers' property. Do they now propose to let the aged fathers and mothers of these patriotic sons suffer for the need of food, clothing, and medical care while their sons are away, by arguing that pensions should not now be paid because of our national defense program?

O'Daniel charged that "tax-dodgers' lobbyists with their tongues argue that the national defense program is costing the taxpayers so much money that no taxes should be raised for social security purposes, while with both hands they are raking in huge profits because of the national defense program."

Wages May Include Board And Lodging

In developing information pertaining to claims for Federal old-age and survivors insurance, it has been found that some employers do not understand that wages may include other items than cash, Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo, Texas, Social Security Board office, said today.

"In instances where an employer hires a person and agrees to pay him a certain amount of cash per day, week, or month, plus his board and lodging, then, these last items are considered wages and are taxable under the law."

It was explained that the taxes, similar to premiums paid on an insurance policy, represent a percentage of the worker's wage. Until 1943 the tax is 1 per cent paid by the worker and 1 per cent paid by the employer. Employers deduct each worker's tax from his pay and send it in quarterly, with an equal amount of their own, to the Bureau of Internal Revenue. At the same time, the employer makes a report showing the amount of wages paid to each employee.

"The worker's wages," Reed said, "as reported by his employer when he turns in his taxes, are credited to the individual's social security account kept for each worker according to his social security account number by the Social Security Board. When a claim is filed, the wages credited to that worker's account are used to compute the amount of his benefits."

DAYLIGHT RAID

A Royal Air Force communique said "a very heavy raid was carried out by a very large force" of German Junkers dive-bombers and Italian fighting planes on Malta and that "civilian property suffered considerably."

Throughout the attack, the RAF sent British fighter planes slashed at the raiders and shot down five of them, while anti-aircraft fire accounted for five others.

The RAF also reported a report raid on the new German air base at Catania, Sicily, in which grounded Nazi planes were blown to bits and fires set which were visible 50 miles away.
