128 On Athenia Reported Missing

GLASGOW, Scotland, Sept. 7 (AP)—Owners of the British liner Athenia, sunk Sunday night off the Scottish coast with 1,418 persons aboard, reported today 128 persons were dead or missing.

The Donaldson Atlantic line, however, still held silent hope the death toll might be reduced.

It pointed out there was the possibility outward bound vessels not equipped with wireless had picked up some survivors.

Accounting for 1,200 whose rescue is known, line officials said 500 passengers and crew had been landed in Scotland, 510 in Ireland and 220 were aboard the rescue ship City of Clont.

Assurance an American ship would arrive next week to take them home was given to American survivors today by John Kennedy, second son of the American ambassador.

The ambassador's son came here to look after the interests of Americans and to hear from them the circumstances under which the liner was sunk.

Emmett Gotcher

A veteran newspaperman and a grand fellow passed on last night when Emmett Gotcher, composing room foreman at The News, died unexpectedly shortly after midnight. "Thirty" was written at the end of the life of Mr. Gotcher, a native Texan who had been with The News more than eight years and who had spent nearly two-score years at the trade. He was an ardent baseball fan who carried more baseball facts and figures in his mind than probably any other person in the Panhandle of Texas. An oldtime player himself, he once managed a creek team at Claude, Texas. Strangely enough, Mr. Gotcher spent his last hours with the game he loved. He was a spectator last night at the first game of the playoff series between Pampa and Midland out at Road-runner Park. Death called the third strike less than two hours after he left the baseball park. Here at The News, Mr. Gotcher was in that class known as a "fixturer"—an employe who loved the smell of printer's ink so well he even was happy when vacation time was ended and he could return to his typotype machine. Emmett Gotcher was part and parcel of the "back room" here at The News. He'll be missed by every last employe. Men's jobs can be filled, but their personalities live on forever. Nobody ever will be able to replace Mr. Gotcher's sly, dry wit and humor nor the part he played as a man in the esteem held for him by his friends.

Versailles Treaty Pages Scattered Over Europe

When the 125 peacemakers finished their five-month wrangle at Versailles and emerged in June, 1919, with a treaty of 453 pages, the world saw a document such as it had never seen before. Though it is the custom today to deride this voluminous pact, it is likely that no war settlement before it embodied the results of so much study or so comprehensive an effort to set up an order that gave hope for the future. The ink was scarcely dry on the signatures, however, before pages began to be torn out of the treaty. The United States refused to sign, or to join the League of Nations set up in the first part of the treaty. The provisions for trial of the Kaiser and other German leaders were never carried out. The reparations provisions went next. Scaled down under the Young and Dawes plans, they were finally abandoned under the Hoover Moratorium of 1931. Disarmament of Germany was at first enforced, but none of the other signatories ever disarmed as provided by the treaty. Germany then tossed the disarmament provisions into the wastebasket in 1935, and 1936, and violated other clauses by remilitarization and fortification of the Rhineland, the Kiel Canal, internationalized, was retaken by Germany, and Heligoland re fortified. The independence of Austria and of Czechoslovakia were specifically guaranteed by the treaty. Germany has conquered both, and seized Memel. It now threatens the independent existence of Poland, similarly guaranteed. Some of the provisions, like the Saar plebiscite, have been carried out. Others, like those providing exchange of prisoners, are obsolete. Gradually the pages have been torn from the voluminous book of Versailles, and their fragments scattered all over Europe. What remains of the treaty? Of its 440 articles, about 125 still have nominal forces. They cover: Guarantee of the complete independence of Latvia, and Estonia. The League, cession of Alsace-Lorraine to France and the status of East Prussia. Renunciation by Germany of her overseas possessions and of rights and leases in China, Siam, Liberia, Morocco, Egypt, Turkey and Shantung. Certain regulations over air and railway traffic, and a provision for mutual respect for the graves of the war dead. At present, not even that last pitiful provision seems safe. It is clear, as the last remaining leaves are stripped from the book of Versailles, that the world faces a new era, not foreseen in 1919. Whether it shall be carried out in a civilized manner or molded from a muck of blood and mud, will be known within a few days. It should be clear that only the former course offers any chance of bettering Versailles.

STATE BARS TO COMMERCE (Los Angeles Times) The Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators follows the recent Congress of Governors in protesting against barriers interposed by States to interstate commerce and urges specifically reciprocal arrangements by which vehicles licensed in one State may operate in others without additional fee. Most States would, in fact, stand to gain as much as they would lose by such an arrangement in actual, immediate cash. And they would put an end to a force which might, in time, impair the unity of the United States. One of the wisest provisions of the Constitution is that which forbids States to impose taxes and duties on goods from other States. The United States would not be a nation today if it were not for that provision. If the writers of the Constitution had been able to foresee that States might erect other forms of barriers to free commerce, there is little doubt they would have forbidden those, too. To tear down the existing barriers and to stop the erection of others is to act in the spirit of our fundamental law.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

CONCENTRATING ON "HOW" Henry E. Jackson, President of the College for Social Engineering, in his introduction to the Thomas Jefferson Bible observes there are three ways of approaching the science of society. (1) Finding out the conditions as they are. (2) Finding out things as they ought to be. (3) and finding out HOW to change things as they are into things as they ought to be.

Now we know things are not what they should be so there is little need wasting our efforts attempting to find out how much poverty, misery and suffering exists; as Steinbeck does in his Grapes of Wrath.

We do need however, to analyze what we ought to do. There seems to be a growing belief that we should attempt to prevent any one from having hardships. If we adopt this as an "ought" we will continue to have more and more suffering. It is necessary to let people learn by making mistakes. The law of compensation works. They must reap what they sow, or they will become more and more helpless.

Instead of this desire or "ought" to keep people from suffering, we should aspire, or "ought" to work to bring about conditions that would make it possible for every person to have an equal opportunity for the pursuit of happiness so that all could be rewarded at the same rate per unit of service but not the same rate per unit of time. This would be our greatest approach to true freedom and liberty.

How to Do This—

Now the problem is how to bring this liberty and this freedom about. There are three fundamentals very necessary to approach this ideal which all good citizens should strive to bring about. (1) Sound money. So we can have an honest measure of services over a period of years. This will tend to help people get and keep for a later use, the wealth they produce. In order to do this we must prevent bankers or the government from creating synthetic credit used in competition with sound money. The New Deal is not doing this but doing the exact opposite. Nor did the Republican administration. (2) We must insist on a free market for labor: That is we must oppose any combination of workmen against other workmen. The New Deal is not doing this, nor did the Republicans. It is sponsoring one group of workmen by collective bargaining against other groups. It is now trying to help the farmers by paying them bonuses because it has harmed them by stabilizing or raising the prevailing wage of all city workers that produce what they have to trade their product for. (3) We must strive for a tax system that does not prevent men of great organizing ability from growing and using their ability to produce more tools which make a higher wage possible. Both the New Deal and the Republicans have failed in this point.

Our ideals of better wages and more liberty for every person cannot be accomplished until these three things are done. They are the "HOW" that will bring about more prosperity and happiness for all and not for any class. But the politicians cater only to the class that have the votes and pay no attention to the rights of the minority. That is the reason the majority of workers must become informed if we are to return to conditions that will permit us to vote for our government officials. We must concentrate on "HOW" to do these "OUGHTS."

A DECENT WAGE NOT THE PROBLEM

We hear a great deal now a days about a decent wage. No one as yet has defined what it means by a decent wage. Probably most people mean a wage that people can live decently on. But what was a decent living a generation ago is not regarded a decent living now. A decent wage should be a constantly changing wage.

What we should strive to do is to bring about conditions so that everyone can get the highest possible wage for a given unit of production without stopping a natural growth that should follow increased knowledge.

If one man produces 10 times or a 100 times as much as another, he should receive 10 times or a 100 times as much; and if one man does not produce enough to get a decent wage or a decent living, he should receive from the employer exactly what he produces, measured on an open market. Private charity should take care of him and not the employer.

Our aspirations should be to try to have each man get what he produces as nearly as possible. If we strive for a decent wage, or what might be known as a minimum wage; it invariably results in one man being paid more per unit of production than another. This tends to discourage the rapid producer that is paid less per unit than the slow producer and retards his production. The result is everybody suffers.

The highest possible pay for everyone per unit of production is the kind of wages we should strive for and not a mystical thing called a decent wage.

Who then is free? The wise man, who is lord over himself, whom neither poverty, nor death, nor bonds affright, who bravely defies his passions, and scorns ambition, who in himself is a whole, smoothed and rounded, so that nothing from outside can rest on the polished surface, and against whom Fortune in her onset is ever defeated.

Behind The News Of The Day

BY BRUCE CATTON Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The Dies committee on un-American activities is preparing what it hopes will be a knockout blow against the Communist Party in America.

It hopes to prove conclusively—and it will start shortly after it gets through examining Earl Browder—that the party is in fact an organized, full-instructed agent in the United States of the Russian government.

Chairman Dies says the committee has in readiness at least 25 witnesses, including a number of "high-ranking ex-party people." Through their sworn testimony the committee expects to demonstrate that the party comes under the law requiring foreign propaganda agents to register in this country with the Department of State. "I think we'll get enough evidence to justify the

BLACKOUT

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD.— Out here you listen to a lot of actresses talking about the movies they want to do, and most of the time you can spill the salt cellar on their rosy dreams before taking. Not so with Lillian Gish; after hearing her tell it, I believe she'll make that movie if it breaks her.

Miss Gish, the flutter-and-throb girl of the silents, has become quite a cosmopolitan since her voluntary desertion of the screen that made her famous. Those ten-year years away from Hollywood, years spent in much success on the New York stage, in travel, in writing, have been kind to her appearance. She looks as slim, as pretty, as slightly fey a person as the Griffith ingenue whose history, like Mary Pickford's, was practically the movies' history.

It's a movie about the movies, as you may have heard, that Miss Gish is burning to make. She has the script ready—she did it in collaboration with Myron Brinig, author of "The Sisters" and other novels—and it's going the rounds of the studios. She wants to play in it, and she wants David Wark Griffith to play in it and help produce it.

"I'm afraid the studios fear new things," she says, in her guest room at Pickfair. "Once I wanted to make a religious picture, and everyone was sure a religious picture would fail. So I put my own money into it and 'The White Sister' broke some records."

The film, as she projects it, would be a serious study of the growth of the movie industry from its beginnings. It would dwell on Edison and the other pioneers, and it would show how Griffith developed and perfected the art of the silent film. It would touch upon the making of many of his history-making pictures, "The Birth of a Nation," "Way Down East," "Intolerance" and "Broken Blossoms."

"Mr. Griffith did more," she says, "to develop motion pictures as they are today. And finally, it would be entertaining—because we'd see to that."

The girl who left the stage when she was 12 to cover her "awkward age" in that new, scorned medium of the movies—where she stayed some 20 years—is not lingering in Hollywood "this time." She leaves soon for Broadway, but she may make a movie at once if one of the Hollywood companies carries out its plan for an eastern production for her.

People You Know

A young fellow of about 23 years old, Robert S. Carter from Olyphant, Pa., looks about as young as Frank Monroe, now principal of Junior high, did when he, Frank, came to teach in Junior high five years ago, and Bob is creating about as much interest now among Junior high students as Frank did back in 1934. Mr. Carter who locks somewhere around 16 traveled the farthest west this week that he ever was. He came to Pampa from New York where he was working in a bank when Ernest Cobe, then principal of Junior high, met him. Mr. Cobe, now supervisor of curriculum in the high school, learned that Mr. Carter wanted to teach school, and the Pampa man became interested in Mr. Carter. Ernest then induced the easterner to apply for a position in Junior high. . . . But the thing about Mr. Carter that impresses the students, particularly the boys, is that he is an airplane pilot, and knows quite a bit about motors, having attended a General Motors school. He teaches math in Junior high, and they say things have got to come out of the very top which may reflect his training in the bank. Mr. Carter is a graduate of Bucknell University in Pennsylvania, one of the better schools in the east. Well, Mr. Carter welcomed to Junior high which has always been this one's favorite school and welcome to Pampa, don't get run over by the cowboys riding down Cuyler and don't get scalped by the Indians (Comanches).

He has grown up since and seen re- vivals. And it would have interest for anyone who knows pictures as they are today. And finally, it would be entertaining—because we'd see to that."

WANT BUND TO REGISTER Chairman Dies and other members of the committee are convinced they will have little difficulty in proving their case. They expect to be able to present the same sort of proof in regard to the German-American Bund, which they say should also be compelled to register.

To date the Department of Justice is maintaining an air of interested inactivity in this matter. If definite proof can be dug up by the Dies committee, the department would move swiftly to force the party—or the Bund—to register. Refusal to obey the law would render leaders of an organization liable to fines of $1,000 and prison terms of two years. Committee members believe that if the Communist Party could be compelled to register it would be almost completely crippled as far as its activities in this country are concerned. They predict that such organizations as the American League for Peace and Democracy, which are not strictly Communist organizations but in whose activities the party has played a leading role, would draw completely away from the party; that the "united front" of leftist and labor groups which the party has worked to build up would collapse; and that the left-wing service would be unable any longer to show any friendship for the Communists.

DIES WILL CALL PROFESSORS Meanwhile, the Dies committee also proposes to undertake a continuing exercise in propaganda analysis. Chairman Dies plans to call as a committee witness Prof. Harold D. Lasswell of Yale to tell the committee all about the technique of foreign propaganda.

THE PAMPA Oilers turned in a splendid victory last night in their first game of the West-Texas-Mex league playoff series. . . . And the actors over here are thinking of giving up their war with the stagehands now that the real thing is being produced on the European front. . . . The problem seems to be for the expert to pick out the cases in which the results would be good and to avoid those in which they would be unsatisfactory.

Most surgeons feel surgery should not be tried in the early stages of increased blood pressure. They say the operative method should be confined to those with severe high blood pressure or symptoms that are troublesome, and those who do not improve after having rest in bed and who do not have any complications, such as failure of the kidney or of the heart, which make fatality likely.

Surgeons recommend that these operations not be tried in people after the age of 40, but be limited to those few younger people who have high blood pressures that do not respond to other treatment.

Illustrating this point, there is the case of a young surgeon who was forced by rising blood pressure, inability to concentrate, falling vision, and persistent headaches, to resign his teaching positions and to give up his practice. After an operation involving the cutting of the nerve roots, his blood pressure returned to normal and he was able to return to his work.

In many instances the results are not nearly as good or as sensational.

Italy's Dream of Wealth Far From Realization

THREE years ago, Italy conquered Ethiopia, proclaimed the rebirth of the Roman Empire and waited for the fruits of victory to pour in. But the vast profits which Mussolini expected to reap on his African adventure have not been immediately forthcoming.

Economists agree that the mineral and agricultural wealth Italy sought in Ethiopia are there, but it will be years before they can be developed to make the colony pay a profit. Foreign capital is wary of Duce-controlled investments and Italy is spending all it can afford now. The Spanish campaign took men and money that might well have been used in the development of Ethiopia.

Loyal Fascists did not rush in to colonize newly acquired territory, as expected, and the absence of expert farmers has slowed the production of wheat, cotton and other farm products.

Construction of roads from the coast to the principal cities of the interior has broken the transport monopoly once enjoyed by the French-owned Addis Ababa-Jibouti railroad. Cities have been modernized, slavery abolished and many advances in sanitation and public health achieved.

Resistance to Italian domination is gradually being wiped out by a huge military police force. Shows above is a current stamp of Italian East Africa, two-cent red and orange, one of a series of 20 issued for Eritrea, Italian Somaliland and Ethiopia.

French Continue To Advance As British Tommies Move Forward

PARIS, Sept. 7 (AP)—With British reinforcements moving up, the French armies engaged in "marked activity" today, driving spearheads into Germany's Siegfried line.

This morning's communique No. 7 from the war ministry indicated the Germans were offering stiff resistance but that the French were pursuing action on the western front to relieve Poland on the eastern front.

The British expeditionary force, which has been landing in France since early this week, is expected to be in position to throw its weight into battle within a few days.

The French and British general staffs have been coordinating action since the start of the campaign Monday, an official announcement disclosed.

On that day, the announcement said, Maj. Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside, chief of the British Imperial general staff, and air chief marshal Sir Cyril Newall, commander of the British Air Forces, conferred with Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin, French supreme commander of land, sea and air forces, and Gen. Joseph Vuillemin, chief of staff of the French Air Forces.

General Gamelin is slated to be generalissimo of the Allied Forces.

Saar Basin Target
Premier Daladier meanwhile set about building a national union cabinet to prosecute the war.

A person close to him said the makeup of the war government would be announced in a day or two.

The military campaign remained in the preliminary stage, with the "no man's land" between France's Maginot line and Germany's Siegfried line as the main theater of action.

The Saar basin, between the Rhine and the Moselle, was the target of the French.

The best summary of action yet available said French troops, under cover of several hours' artillery preparation, began the war Monday by occupying the ground between the Maginot line and the frontier. Tuesday night they penetrated into German territory at several points.

Yesterday French forces cleaned out several German "pockets" and machine gun nests to gain a foothold for further thrusts into the enemy fortifications.

The depth of these spearheads varied but they were said to be scattered all along a 100-mile front.

The French strategy is understood to be aimed at breaking several gaps in the Siegfried line to permit clashing flank attacks.

About 11 a. m. (4 a. m. CST), the war ministry in its communique No. 7, reported "marked activity on both sides" at the front.

Millions More Coming
Landing of the British force was disclosed by government sources early today. The size of the unit, whose arrival recalled the first landing of British in France Aug. 16, 1914, was not given.

But it was the vanguard of an army that, government sources predicted, could give France "millions" of men under British conscription laws, contributing "indefinitely stronger" support than in 1914.

Military observers said Britain had 100,000 troops available for rapid transportation to France when the war broke out Sunday.

The government indicated the crossing of the British force was accomplished without difficulty.

Landing of the Tommies was preceded by the arrival of British air fleet units which are now operating with the French from French air bases and are directing raids on the Ruhr and Aachen (Aix-La-Chapelle) industrial districts in Germany opposite the Belgian frontier.

The British dispatch of troops was far swifter than in 1914, when the Germans were already overrunning France and Belgium before they arrived. Today the French staff said their army was fighting on German soil in a varying line between the Luxembourg border and Lauterbourg, situated on the easternmost tip of the Bas Rhin department jutting into Germany.

Marne Anniversary
Twenty-five years ago this week the battle of the Marne took place after the arrival of the British.

The chief fighting developed late yesterday along a 100-mile front page between the Rhine and Moselle rivers and fanned out slowly over the rugged countryside southeast of the Ardennes mountains.

Despite the difficulties of the rough, forest-covered terrain through which they were operating against prepared Nazi positions, a French general staff communique said last night, the troops were pushing forward into German soil.

'Old Hitler' Fails To Cramp English

By DREW MIDDLETON.
LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP)—You meet so many interesting people in blackouts.

A gentleman down the street cuts quite a swath with the boss. He has thick black hair right down to his collar. The first time the sirens blew he won the race to shelter by a head—and what a head! It looked like a newly shaved billiard ball.

The English sense of propriety isn't wavering. A fellow near the office spent all day building a sand bag parapet. When he got through he stuck up a sign reading: "In event of air raid, please do not loiter."

Fibs are doing a whale of a business. Down at the "Roses and Crown" the landlord told a silent drinker he had no whiskey left. "That's all right," said the silent drinker, "there's no sacrifice too heavy in war time. Give me gin."

You ought to hear the Cockneys pronounce Polish plane names. A cabbie said this morning, "Old Hitler's captured" and then sneezed. . . . It turned out the sneeze was the name of a town.

One newspaperman nearly got a load of buckshot where it would do the most good the other night. . . . He spent ten minutes trying to get into the wrong house and his rich midwestern exclamations shattered the quiet of a peaceful suburb. . . .

By that time the household had mobilized and an indignant old guy in a white nightgait, "sporting gun" and cricket bat, convinced the newspaperman he didn't have the wrong key but the wrong house.

Church Service Held For School Opening

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
MIAMI, Sept. 6.—Under the direction of Mrs. Bill Mann of Pampa, the Young People's department of the First Methodist church held a service Sunday evening welcoming the teachers in the Miami schools and bidding farewell to the students who will leave soon for college.

The prelude was played by Miss Florence Hitchcock, at the piano, after which the Young People's choir sang a special number. Miss Ardena Shields gave the welcoming address. Miss Francis Dean Carmichael, president of the Young People's division, responded. In her talk she thanked the members of the church for the training given the young folks during the past year.

A special number was given with Miss Carmichael at the piano, Hugh Harmon, trombone, Jack Carmichael, cornet and Horace Shields, clarinet.

Rev. W. A. Hitchcock introduced Dr. W. C. House, district superintendent, who made a speech. The service was closed by the choir singing "Blest Be The Tie That Bind."

Some Fascists thought the British and French might accept a conference rather than go ahead with the war.

British and French quarters here were of a different mind. They said the war would go on to a finish unless Hitler met the condition imposed by their countries for peaceful settlement when Mussolini last week made his first proposal for a conference—recall of German troops from Poland.

Building permits in Paducah, Ky., in January, 1939, totaled $30,850, compared with $750 for the same month of 1938.

Il Duce Due To Urge Peace When Poland Loses

ROME, Sept. 7 (AP)—A speedy German conquest of Poland, followed by peace overtures in which Premier Mussolini would take the initiative, was predicted today in Italy.

Some Italian quarters expected Mussolini would make the first move in the pacification program by reviewing his proposals for a conference of the powers on the general settlement of the political and economic ills of Europe.

They felt the German drive into Poland shortly would place a large part of that country under German occupation and that the time then would be ripe for the new move.

Such a proposal would be made with German victory in Poland an accomplished fact and, coming from Mussolini, would be in line with his ideas for a reparation of world wealth to give Germany and Italy political and economic parity with Great Britain and France, informed quarters said.

Some Fascists thought the British and French might accept a conference rather than go ahead with the war.

British and French quarters here were of a different mind. They said the war would go on to a finish unless Hitler met the condition imposed by their countries for peaceful settlement when Mussolini last week made his first proposal for a conference—recall of German troops from Poland.

Beaumont Leads In Traffic Safety

AUSTIN, Sept. 7 (AP)—Beaumont with two traffic deaths leads all other Texas cities in safety accomplishments for the first seven months of the year, the public safety department announced today.

Waco listed only two deaths but on a population basis Beaumont had a slight edge.

The Beaumont ratio was 3.08 deaths per 100,000 population compared with 3.28 for Waco.

San Antonio topped the list with a ratio of 10.51.

Other ratios included: Laredo 9.71; Austin 9.52; Galveston 8.77; Fort Arthur 6.92; Amarillo 6.19; Wichita Falls 5.83; Corpus Christi 5.13.

Smith Accused Of Entertainment Bill Of $1,000 At Hotel

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7 (AP)—Evidence was introduced at the government's first "political scandal" trial here to show that Dr. James Monroe Smith, former Louisiana State University president, ran up an entertainment bill of nearly $1,000 at the Roosevelt Hotel in December, 1936, and January, 1937.

Dr. Smith and Seymour Weiss, former Huey Long lieutenant and head of the Roosevelt Hotel, are among the five men now on trial for mail fraud in the $75,000 sale

Taxicabs Won First Battle Of Marne For Allies 25 Years Ago

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Twenty-five years ago today the first battle of the Marne—one of the great turning points of history—approached its climax.

In a few hours a most amazing military maneuver was to begin. A fleet of 1,100 high-bodied, creaky, old-fashioned French taxicabs would roar out of the eastern gates of Paris with fresh troops to save that city from the first serious threat made upon it during the World War.

Parisians have been feeling to the provinces these past few days but not so many as a quarter of a century ago when the German hordes were within 18 miles of the capital and the French government had fled to Bordeaux.

Again a German army is pushing east in the hope of snatching "lightning" victory. But the big push for the time is eastward into Poland. Fate, however, seems to have decreed that if Germany is to be halted—if Poland is to be saved as Paris was in 1914—the French army must strike. And on this anniversary, dispatches from Paris say the populace is impatient for news of a major French offensive.

Historians say today that if Germany had won the first battle of the Marne, the former Kaiser would now be the overlord of Europe instead of an exile in Holland. They say it crushed Germany's chances of winning the first World War.

Allies Outnumbered
The battle began on Sept. 5 on a line from the outskirts of Paris eastward to the impregnable French fortress of Verdun. The Germans, in a pell-mell rush over northern France, had dangerously stretched their communication and supply lines. But there were 34 German divisions facing only 20 for the Allies. These included French, Belgians and only four British divisions—"The Old Contemptibles."

of Bienville hotel furnishings to L. S. U. The government said the school bought furnishings it already owned.

Dr. Smith's "entertainment" bill was disclosed in a Roosevelt Hotel ledger sheet which was introduced in evidence. District Attorney Rene A. Viosea said the bill was paid when an L. S. U. check for an insurance payment was diverted to Smith's account.

Dr. Smith's seats at the Roosevelt Hotel were incurred during the season his daughter, the former Marjorie Smith, made her debut to society.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Waked Calves—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blocks up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks punk.

A more harmful movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making his bowels freely, ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Don't carelessly refuse anything else.

Pampa And Lubbock Win Playoff Openers

Midland Will Play In City Again Tonight

The Pampa Oilers opened their drive for the 1939 West Texas-New Mexico league pennant last night with a 10 to 6 victory over the battling Midland Cowboys. The two teams will meet again tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Road Runner park for the second game before moving to Midland to finish the series from which a winner will emerge to meet the victor of the Lubbock-Big Spring series.

Missing from the Oiler lineup last night was Gordon Nell, league home run king. Nell left the team, going to his home in Hollis, Okla., without notifying anyone. Nell's departure followed a difference with the team management.

The rest of the Oilers went out last night and battled all the way to down the Cowboys. They were behind until the sixth inning but they never stopped fielding brilliantly and taking their cuts at the plate.

Fans Shower Players
Fans attending the game showed their appreciation by raising $98 in an appreciation fund which was divided equally among the remaining players, excepting Manager Grover Seitz, who took no part of the gift.

While the Oilers were beating Midland, the Lubbock Hubbers, defending league champions, scored all their runs in one big inning to defeat the Big Spring Barons 8 to 1. Al Carr's home run with the bases loaded started the trouble for the Barons.

Frank Grabek took the mound for the Oilers and although nipped for 13 hits, one a home run by E. Jordan with a mate on base, he tightened in the clinches. Grabek fanned 10 Cowboys, three of them in a row in the second inning. Raines started on the hill for the Cowboys. He was in trouble in the third but his teammates put him ahead in the fourth. The Oiler attack in the sixth sent him to the showers and bespectacled Joe Piet relieved, only to be met by the steady Oiler batter.

Jerry Jordan, Oiler hot corner artist, put his hitting clothes on last night and bagged two singles, a double and triple on his five times at the plate. Eddie Beavers, catcher, followed Jordan with the willow by bagging two singles and a triple despite his sprained ankle. Every play on the team got at least one binner.

Carr Disputes Ludwig's Claim He's An American

Telling Blow Fails to Tell Story

Leo Rodak shoots a telling blow to Nick Camarata's stomach during one of many heated exchanges in 10-round battle in New Orleans, but Camarata got the decision. The Chicago featherweight had to be satisfied with the cheer.

With the exception of Grabek who laid down a nice sacrifice to help the cause.

There was also some diamond-studded fielding turned in by the Oilers. Joe Phillips, after letting a hard one get away from him in the opening inning, came back with one of the prettiest catches of the season when he raced back against the fence and then ran parallel to the fence and rapped against Sapratake Everson's hard drive. Phillips had to leap high after getting his eye on the ball. Manager Grover Seitz came up with a nice play when he took Willoughby's hard drive in right center. The other piece of defensive robbery came in the sixth when Malvica made a lightning throw to Piet's hot grounder to retire the side. Bailey helped by stretching half way to the pitchers box to take the throw.

Midland's Petzold, second baseman, was the defensive star when he handled six assists without an error. He was all over the right side of the field gobbling up sure hits and turning them into put-outs.

Oilers Break Loose
The Oilers broke loose in the second when Beavers was safe on a triple. Malvica was safe on Hale's error. Jordan then followed with a triple and Bailey beat out and infield single.

Midland went one up in the third with a barrage of hits and an error. With one away and then Kerr singled to right, the ball going thru Summers to the fence. Hale singled and K. Jordan came through with his home run to score Hale ahead of him.

Midland went another up in the fifth on singles by Cox, Hale and J. Jordan.

Then it was the Oilers turn and they put the pressure on Raines. Beavers singled, Malvica doubled and Jordan doubled to end Raines' tenure on the mound. Piet walked. Bailey and Grabek sacrificed. Sapratake also drew a walk and Jordan scored on Phillips' infield out.

Midland Rally Nipped
A walk to Summers and singles by Beavers and Jordan gave the Oilers another run in the seventh and they led the game in the eighth when Sapratake opened with a single, advanced on Phillips' sacrifice and went to second on Seitz' infield single. Summers hit to the infield but an attempt to get Sapratake at home failed. Then Beavers sacrificed but again the try for the runner at home missed. Malvica lirted out to short but on an attempt to get Beavers at first, Cox threw the ball away and Summers scored.

Midland staged a ninth inning rally when Willoughby opened with a single. Piet fanned but Everson singled scoring Willoughby. Cox forced Everson. Kerr dropped a looper over short and then Grabek fanned Manager Sam Hale for his tenth strikeout to end the game.

The Oilers pulled two snappy double plays to help the cause. The first was on a hard hit ball through the box by Raines. Grabek just touched the ball enough to change its course near Sapratake who made a lightning throw to Malvica who managed to get Raines at first. Sapratake took a high fly back of second and threw to Bailey for a double in the seventh.

Bowling Sponsors To Meet Tomorrow

A call for sponsors for bowling teams to meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Schneider hotel to discuss organization of leagues has been called by Alex Schneider, president of the Pampa Bowling Association.

The meeting will be open to everyone desiring to sponsor a team, either of men or women.

As many leagues will be necessary to accommodate teams. There were three leagues rolled last year with 26 teams in action. This year the number of teams is expected to exceed that number.

Joe Berry, operator of the Berry Alley, announced today that for the next two weeks he would charge women bowlers 10 cents a line.

The victory added half a game to the margin of Cincinnati's National League leaders, who split a pair of extra-inning extravaganzas with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Five errors contributed to the Reds' loss of the first game, 5-4 in 11 innings. They tightened up to give Paul Derringer perfect support in the nightcap and won 4-3. It was Derringer's 19th victory.

The New York Giants won their fifth in a row with a 16-hit, 10-4 foray against the Boston Red Sox and increase the champions American League lead to 15½ games.

Detroit shut out Cleveland 2-0, and the Chicago White Sox defeated the St. Louis Browns 7-2.

Dutch Leonard gained his 17th decision as the Washington Senators downed the Athletics, 6-3.

Pampa Boys To Play Shamrock Tomorrow Night

There'll be baseball in Pampa tomorrow night despite the fact the Pampa Oilers will be in Midland to play in the Shaughnessy playoff series. The game will be between a group of local boys and the Shamrock Irishmen, strong independent team. Admission will be 25 cents. Game time will be 8 o'clock.

The Pampa All Stars are being organized by Fred McGaha, Pampa boy who is attending Texas university and playing for Billy Ditch and his Longhorns.

Shamrock's battling Irish will send A. P. Mays, who formerly hurried for the Pampa All Stars, to the mound with Morgan receiving. The balance of the starting lineup will be Canlie at first, Rogers at second, Arrington at short, Anderson at third, Clinch in left, McMullen in center and Sutherland in right.

Aussies Will Play In National Meet

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Those strange sounds coming from Forest Hills today were not air raid sirens, as first reported. They were the concerted sighs of relief emitted by our tennis officials at the news the Australians would play in the national championships after all.

For a couple of days, it looked like the tournament starting today would be the greatest single bust since the Black Tom explosion. The victorious Aussie Davis cuppers—Adrian Quist, Jack Bromwich, Harry Hopman and John Crawford—had been ordered to return home by the first boat and climb into wartime khaki.

This meant the men's division was left without a real gate attraction, barring, possibly, Bobby Riggs. There's slight prospect of excitement in the women's divisions, but Alice Marble a real argument.

Matches today included: Frank Guernsey, Jr. vs. Perenc Puncoc of Yugoslavia.

The French and Polish teams have asked the committee to call off their competing matches for the Hamilton Russell cup against representatives of the hostile nations.

Amarillo Again Picked To Win In District One

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff

Battle fronts of Interscholastic League football bristled with action today but only four teams of the top division's 101 will see actual combat this week.

Games in two districts open the twelfth annual campaign as Tyler, Jacksonville, Midland and Lamasa "jump the gun" on the field.

The feature tilt brings Jacksonville and Tyler together at Tyler tomorrow night. Tyler is the favorite in district 11 and Jacksonville is considered a threat in the district 12 scramble.

Lamasa and Midland, both of the Oil Belt, engage lower division opponents, Lamasa entertaining Tahoka Friday night and Midland being host to McCombans Saturday night.

Most of the other teams open the season next week but some wait until Sept. 22.

The first week of practice brought definite favorites forward in a majority of the districts but there was no change in the status of Corpus Christi, Corsicana and Amarillo, still ranked as the outstanding teams to beat in the title drive.

Here's how close critics see the respective district races:

District 1—Amarillo, with Lubbock and Plainview as chief threats.

District 2—Wichita Falls, with most trouble from Vernon and Olney.

District 3—Sweetwater, with Abilene and Odessa next in line.

District 4—El Paso High, with stiff competition from Bowie (El Paso).

District 5—Silverman favored, with Gainesville next in line.

District 6—McKinney, facing strong opposition from Highland Park (Dallas) and Sulphur Springs.

District 7—Poly and Riverside rated about even, with the usual threat from Masonic home.

District 8—Woodrow Wilson, with Adamson next in line.

District 9—Breckenridge, facing trouble aplenty from Brownwood.

District 10—Corsicana ranked first; Cleburne, Waco and Bryan offering chief competition.

District 11—Tyler and Longview due to fight it out for the title, Texarkana and Gladewater offering trouble.

District 12—Lufkin hands down favorite.

District 13—Austin of Houston; San Antonio (Houston) and Comroe packed trouble.

District 14—Beaumont and Livingston co-favorites.

District 15—Free-for-all with Austin, Breckenridge, and Jefferson of San Antonio and Kerrville in the top bracket; Austin is getting most of the votes.

District 16—Corpus Christi in the upper bracket; McAllen in lower. Robinson due to give Corpus Christi trouble; Harlingen chief threat for McAllen.

Matty Bell Says Squad Too Light

(By The Associated Press)

If Southwest conference football coaches are worried over expanded waist lines among their squadmen, they shouldn't need be concerned much longer.

Nature, in the form of a blazing sun, along with tough scrimmage sessions for such an early period, ought to cut a ton or so of beef from the prospects before the week.

However, what to do about Matty Bell, Southern Methodist mentor, is another matter. Matty is lamenting that his squad is too light, pointing out the starting team even averaged out at 90 pounds.

Bell was not the only coach doing the moaning. At Fort Worth the Texas Christian university mentors worried over a lack of reserve strength in the line, made even more acute by loss of Bob Cook, senior tackle, who may be out all season because of an injury.

Big Jack Wilson was the talk of the Baylor training camp. The Paris young man has been shooting passes in Billy Patterson manner.

Only one man was absent from the Texas Aggie ballclub. He was Pete Henry, sophomore guard, who hasn't yet recovered from an attack of malaria.

University of Texas coaches appeared confident the Longhorns would pull out of the cellar this season and waxed enthusiastic over the showing of backfielders E. B. Patrick and Raymond (Wild Horse) Mayes and Guard V. D. Basey, a trio of sophomores.

At Rice Institute, Coach Jimmie Kitis announced scrimmage under game conditions would come up by the middle of next week.

Galento Arrives In Philadelphia For Nova Fight

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7 (AP)—Bear Batters' Tony Galento rolls into town tonight, eight days in advance of his heavyweight fight here with Lou Nova, for a reception his admirers predict will shade some of Fifth Avenue's famous hero parades.

George McClelland, Philadelphia's No. 1 parade marshal, called out ten string bands, a drum and bugle corps and floats left over from the New Year's day Mummies procession.

George Blake, of Los Angeles, was chosen yesterday to referee the scheduled 15-round bout, Sept. 15.

Recall Meeting Called

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Another mass meeting, sponsored by the recall committee campaigning for the removal from office of Mayor Maury Maverick and Fire and Police Commissioner Louis W. Lipscomb, will be held in front of the municipal auditorium at 8 o'clock Friday night, it was announced today.

The Dominion of Canada is larger than the United States proper and Alaska combined.

Sports Practically Eliminated From League Playoffs

(By The Associated Press)

Three Texas league teams have won spots in the Shaughnessy playoff series and the fourth berth is practically settled.

Houston's leading Buffs downed Shreveport last night 8 to 6, and practically eliminated the Spits from the playoff by dropping them a game and a half behind the fourth-place Fort Worth Cats with only two more nights of play.

Dallas' Rebels and the San Antonio Missions are deadlocked in second position.

Dr. Sutherland Will Send Team Against Giants

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Dr. John Bain Sutherland and his Pittsburgh pounders of '38 take a final fling together tonight.

Before a crowd expected to reach 50,000 or more, Dr. Sutherland-Jock to the boys—his Panther provokers of last fall and various other eastern "all stars" tangle with the New York professional Giants, champions of the National League, in the fourth annual Herald Tribune fresh air fund game.

For Sutherland, who "abdicated" as football emperor at Pitt after last fall's campaign, it means the end of the parade up the gridiron glory road for some time, if not for keeps.

The chances are Jock will bow out with an "all star" starting lineup consisting of nine of his Pittsburgh greats of last season and two other guys from Carnegie Tech.

Such a lineup, preponderantly heavy with men who played as a unit on one fine college team, is something new to these all-star collections, and figures to make it somewhat hotter than luke warm for the Giants, who have been installed favorites at odds of something like 3-5 off their 9-0 victory over the National All-Stars in Chicago last week.

To the Giants, fresh from their three-field-goal victory, the all-star lineup doesn't make much difference. Still, if Sutherland sends his Pitt team to the wars intact, as now seems certain, the cash-and-carry boys are going to need more than just the accurate kicking toes of Ken Strung and Ward Cuff.

home the winning run in the tenth inning as the Rebels defeated Tulsa's Oilers, 6 to 5. A walk and a two-bagger by Scharen was good for the winning Mission tally as they edged out Beaumont, 4 to 3.

The Cats thumped Oklahoma City's Indians, 6 to 2.

Uncle Sam To Ferret Out Foreign Spies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The federal government moved with stern swiftness today to crush the activities of foreign spies within the nation's borders, while an augmented naval and coast guard fleet steamed the Atlantic seaboard to protect American shipping.

President Roosevelt, bolstering the United States' neutrality in the European conflict, ordered a "comprehensive and effective" drive against espionage, sabotage and neutrality violations.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation will direct it. The treasury reorganized its personnel divisions handling neutrality and other enforcement work. It dispatched four coast guard cutters from the west coast to assist two destroyers and as many coast guard vessels ordered into the North Atlantic yesterday to patrol the eastern coast line.

The President's order to ferret out spies came late yesterday. Attorney General Murphy, in a separate statement issued earlier, said:

"There will be no repetition of the confusion and laxity of 20 years ago which caused havoc. At the same time we do not want to turn our activity into a witch hunt."

The Panama Canal Zone, meanwhile, was placed under military rule, a step taken previously only during the World War.

Secretary Woodring said the order followed long-standing plans for the security of the canal during times of international tension.

The new coast patrol will extend several hundred miles out to sea and eventually will cover the shore line from New England to the Gulf of Mexico and Panama Canal. Airplanes also will be utilized.

The patrol will furnish the government information on the presence of belligerent craft in waters adjacent to the United States so that shipping in the vicinity may be warned.

Henderson, Kilgore Lose Series Openers

(By The Associated Press.) Henderson, Okla., and Kilgore, Texas, lost their first and second games yesterday in the East Texas League's regular season, will attempt tonight to make up for defeats suffered in opening games of the Shagbush playoff.

John Simpson's home run broke a 3-0 deadlock last night and gave the Marshall Tigers—the regular season's fourth-place team—a 4-3 victory over the Oilers.

Thirdplace Palestine downed the Boomers, 7-6, led by Jiggs Ingalls' timely hits in the ninth and tenth innings.

Tonight, Henderson plays at Marshall and Kilgore plays at Palestine, a reversal of last night's stand.

The first wire bedding was invented during Civil War times by James Liddy of Watertown, N. Y., who took the springs out of a buggy seat and put them under a mattress.

The mail route from Rock Creek, Wyo., to Richland, Mont., established in 1878, was one of the longest stage routes ever operated. Its length was 500 miles. In early days the mail was carried in the pockets of postmen on horseback.

Yesterday, at the office, Marian to gradual but persistent efforts to...
...suggests that Sally...
...is getting old."

CHAPTER III
MARIAN'S heart sank. Had she not made practically the same move 10 years ago? Every day she seemed to be drawing nearer to the abyss into which Angie Doran had crashed.

She said sharply, "We've never felt the need of an understudy. Miss Herrod has been able to handle my work when necessary."

"Miss Herrod is getting old," Mr. Fellows objected. "She's only 38."
"Well—that's getting along." Marian wanted to say. "But she's safe—she doesn't want my job." Thirty-eight—getting along—in six years Marian would be 38—and the last six years had passed like a brief, monotonous whiff of nothing.

"You're unfair," she remarked with spirit and she frankness engendered by years of acquaintance. "You men are just getting started at 38." Using Miss Herrod as a subject, she was arguing in her own behalf.

He shrugged. "Just the same, Miss Herrod is getting old. We've got to be constantly on the lookout for new talent and fresh slants."
"You're not planning to let Miss Herrod go?"

He pursed his lips. "No. Her job doesn't demand personality, contract or see a picture in the afternoon, mend Dan's clothes, read or knit during the evening."

Just why Dolly's mode of life should add to Marian's discontent, she could not have told. Dolly had nothing. She scripped and saved to buy an annuity for her old age. Old age—Marian shivered.

"Put two potatoes in the oven at 5:30, will you, Dolly?"
"All right—I'm going to bake an apple pie and I'll give you half." She leaned from the door. Marian went down the hall, "Let up a little, Marian," she called. "Your eyes look tired."

THE stairs were nicely carpeted, the foyer had a quiet, luxurious air. Marian wondered where she and Dan would be living if she hadn't helped out. In her mind she always called her work helping out. Certainly Dan would not have been able to pay $75 a month for an apartment. It was one of her annoyances that she never appeared grateful.

He waited at the curb and she got into the car. It was a cheap car, provided by Dan's company. Silently, they drove downtown.

The October morning sparkled through a warm haze. The coming of autumn depressed Marian. It meant that winter was creeping close behind. And winter brought Thanksgiving Day and Christmas, family days which should be festive and gay, but which were not. She and Dan had been married in October, the gold of the day shot with crimson and sober brown.

Dan stopped at an office building on LaSalle street. "Bye, Marian—see you tonight." He patted her gloved hand. "Be a good little secretary—maybe they'll make you an executive to-day."
Marian stepped into an elevator. Dan was different. It wasn't his habit to make cracks like that. Years ago there had been unhappy times over her job, but gradually she had come to accept it. She went through the outer tips in a reflective attitude. "I thought Dan was slated to be sales stenographers and office boy. They returned her greeting courteously. She had hired those girls and that boy; she had the power to dismiss them. It was natural that they should stand a little in awe of her.

"Have you ever let Dan imagine that he is wonderful?" Mr. Fellows' words brought back memories to Marian. Could she ever expect to have that same confidence, that same, unselfish love again? They had been so happy.

ONCE, a long time ago, she had sat at the last typewriter, gazing with purposeful eyes into Grant Fellows' private office each time the door opened. There had been a secretary then. Angie Doran, a poised, beautifully correct person of 30 or more. Angie Doran had engaged Marian and trained her. Later, surmising Marian's aspirations toward the private office, she had discharged her with two weeks' pay. Grant Fellows, himself, had sent for Marian and reinstated her.

Soon after that, Angie had been given a year's leave of absence and Marian had taken her place. Angie had never come back. "Marian had forgotten Angie, only to remember her with increasing frequency as the years passed and young, ambitious girls came into the office.

She had trained the girls with care, deftly slipping any yearning toward her own envied position. Until a few months ago she had been quite successful. Recently Sally Blake had become a major problem. Sally was more than a little responsible for the perpendicular line between Marian's brows.

Sally had applied for a position as stenographer. There had been something about the girl, an avidity, a subtle determination, that Marian had recognized at once. She had told Sally that there was no opening, that she might leave her name.

Later that day, when Marian returned from lunch, Sally had sat at one of the typewriters. Resourceful, not to be put off easily, she had waited for Marian's lunch hour, seen Grant Fellows personally, and been given the job. It had been a blow to Marian. Grant Fellows had never before questioned her authority and she leased Dr. M. E. Curtis, Eastham prison farm physician. O. J. S. Ellington, general manager of the state prison system, said at Huntsville O'Neil Massey and Jack Cade abducted Dr. Curtis after they went off the night cotton gin shift at 11 o'clock last night, drove his automobile across a field, cut the fence and escaped down the highway. The prison manager said the physician telephoned him early today he had been released between Shepherd and Cleveland, and that the fugitives were headed toward Houston.

Germans And French In Siegfried And Maginot Lines May Be Stalemated On Western Front

On chains of underground forts like these depend the French and the Germans to save themselves from each other. The cutaway sketches show how armies will live and fight below ground in the next war. On the French side: (1) Sunken road to entrance. (2) Connecting gallery. (3) Armored steel partitions. (4) Periscopes. (5)

Telephone exchange. (6) Control room. (7) Troop assembly gallery. (8) Heavy gun casements. (9) Machine guns. (10) Observation post. (11) Barracks. (12) Kitchen. (13) Power plant. (14) General stores. (15) Ammunition magazine. (16) Hospital. (17) Water tank. (18) Underground hangar. (19) Underground garage. (20) Tank trap. On the German side: (A) Heavy gun casement. (B) Connecting gallery. (C) Underground railroad. (D) Elevator. (E) Control room. (F) Troop quarters, recreation and living rooms. (G) Tank barricades. (H) Barbed wire entanglements. (J) Anti-aircraft guns.

The Germans, like the French, have set up complete living as well as fighting quarters in underground border forts.

Maginot Line Cost Almost As Much As Panama Canal

(By The Associated Press.)
The elaborate fortifications which face each other on the French-German border, the Maginot and Siegfried lines, have been built at a cost of several hundred million dollars.

The Maginot line—like the Siegfried, not a line at all, but a series of forts and machine gun "pill boxes"—cost as much as the Panama Canal, or some $400,000,000. The cost of the Siegfried line is not known, but 500,000 men worked on it several months.

Both systems are about 250 miles long. The Maginot forts, interspersed with machine gun nests, are underground cities, built on steep hillsides, electric railways and elevators to haul personnel, ammunition and other supplies. Guns range from huge artillery weapons to machine guns.

The Siegfried line is presumed to be on a similar pattern. Each line has tank traps of steel or concrete, or both, immediately in front of it, plus barbed wire entanglements. Supplementary fortifications behind the Siegfried line are said to extend back 30 miles.

One of the few facts known about the German line is that it contains 22,000 steel and cement pill boxes.

Floods In Desert

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Sept. 7 (AP)—Storms of near cloudburst proportions which have swept eastern California and parts of Arizona for two days poured new torrents of water across the Mojave desert and areas to the south today.

Hundreds of travelers were marooned overnight at Needles by flooded highways both east and west. Hotels and campgrounds were full and many slept in parks.

You Didn't Raise Your Boy To Be A Soldier? Well, Uncle Sam Can Turn Him Into One Mighty Quickly

By PRESTON GROVER
WASHINGTON—The current panic among some of the higher-ranking army officers over the state of national defense isn't shared 100 per cent by others who have a hand in keeping the enemy from our doors.

Maneuvers at Plattsburg and Manassas disclosed among other things that the top-ranking reserve and national-guard officers—those from colonel up—aren't especially good. There were exceptions. One reservist general at Manassas, we have been told, did a smart job.

But it was no surprise to the ranks of the army to find this was the case. It is a common joke in the army that fully half the colonels and generals in the reserve would be put to selling Liberty bonds should war start. Some of the others would be told to stay home and take care of the kiddies. Some would be worth a thousand times every dollar of government money spent in training them.

However, nobody expects the early stages of our war to be fought with armies commanded by reserve or even national-guard generals. There are in the regular army a well-known group of upper-bracket officers who will stack up pretty well in a fight. They can compute how much railroad and highway space it takes to move 20,000 men with equipment to a designated spot. They know how to go about getting food there. And if the 20,000 must be expanded to 200,000 quickly they won't be altogether at a loss.

One Thing Has Changed
The big difference between the present condition of national defense and the condition in 1917 lies in other directions. Then we had an army completely unacquainted with the problems of dealing with the civilian personnel that makes up the real national defense. That condition has been largely corrected.

As to the potential trained manpower, it lies largely in two directions, since the Citizens Military Training Corps was organized, 350,000 men have received varying amounts of training.

An even greater potential supply is in the 2,500,000 men who have spent time in the Civilian Conservation Corps. Recently there has been a lot of agitation to have C.C.C. men receive military training—for instance to learn foot drill and gun drill.

We watched C.M.T.C. youngsters at drill this summer. They learned the essentials of foot drill in four days, two hours a day. Teaching them to shoot would take longer—but not so terribly much longer.

Experienced soldiers insist that there is one thing new soldiers lack. They don't know how to take up outdoor camp life after years in the comfort of their homes. They get that knowledge in C.C.C. camps. They learn group living, how to give and take orders, how to get along without pet foods. It would surprise their mothers how fast they could be made into fighting men.

Browder Describes Communist Beliefs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Earl Browder, leader of the American Communist party, told the Dies committee today members of the party must agree with decisions of the Communist Internationale or "part company" with it.

Questioned about the relationship between the party in this country and international headquarters in Russia, Browder repeatedly asserted decisions of the central organization are regarded here as "voluntary agreements."

J. B. Matthews, the committee's chief investigator, developed testimony from Browder that party leaders in the United States "urged very strongly" that members become familiar with a history of the Communist party of Russia.

How the French Maginot line and the German Siegfried line, long chains of hidden underground fortresses, face each other across their common border, the Western front.

Miami Schools Open With 290 Pupils Enrolled

MIAMI, Sept. 7—The 1939-40 term of the Miami Independent schools opened Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Under the directions of Band master Hugh Harmon the students sang "America" with Miss Adella Jane Craig, at the piano, after which Rev. H. B. Cornelison, pastor of the First Baptist church, led in prayer.

Supt. M. P. Stephens introduced Rev. W. A. Hitchcock, pastor of the First Methodist church, who delivered the address of the morning with the theme, "How Far Down the Road Are You Going?"

Mrs. Fred Cook, band mother, was introduced by Mr. Stephens. She announced the meeting of the band mothers who are giving much aid in securing hand uniforms for the band for this year.

Supr. Stephens then introduced the teachers: Miss Willie Shio, first grade; Miss May Bendaratta, second grade; Miss Fernaneta Sawyer, third grade; Miss Ouida Campbell, fourth grade; Miss Mildred McCullough, fifth grade; Miss Clara Phillips, sixth grade; Mr. Hugh Harmon, seventh grade and band director; Miss Oleta Camp, principal grammar school, eighth grade. High school teachers: Miss Juanita Hughes, home ec. teacher; Miss Lola Mae Campbell, social science; Miss Sarah Truitt, English and public speaking; Mr. Hood G. Wills, vocational agriculture; G. B.

Brown Explains Cotton Subsidy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Harry L. Brown, assistant secretary of agriculture, assured cotton exporters today this country was not attempting to "invade" new foreign markets by subsidizing exports of cotton.

The payment of a bounty of $7.50 a bale on raw cotton and an equivalent amount on cotton-manufactured goods sold abroad Brown said, is designed only to "regain our former share of the world market."

Brown's assurances were given before the second day's session of an international cotton conference called by the United States in an attempt to win other countries over to a marketing agreement program providing for an "equitable division" of world markets and for a cut in production until heavy surpluses disappear.

Supr. Stephens then introduced the teachers: Miss Willie Shio, first grade; Miss May Bendaratta, second grade; Miss Fernaneta Sawyer, third grade; Miss Ouida Campbell, fourth grade; Miss Mildred McCullough, fifth grade; Miss Clara Phillips, sixth grade; Mr. Hugh Harmon, seventh grade and band director; Miss Oleta Camp, principal grammar school, eighth grade. or labor has been spared, and in general it is regarded as probably equivalent to the French system.

On both sides of the line, especially-trained troops have manned both lines, for the operation of the machinery of such extensive underground works is almost as complicated as the navigation of a great battleship. Untrained officers and men sent into them would be helpless.

It is the existence of these shields between France and Germany which lead military experts to predict that the first blows of the new war would be struck elsewhere until one side or the other had devised a way to pierce the shields.
