WILD OIL WELLS, TWO OF THEM BURNING, UNTAMED

Gladewater Menaced With Gas Hanging Over Town; All Fires Held Low.

Hungry flames, fed by thousands of gallons of oil, continued today to leap through billows of smoke in East Texas' oil fields.

The Frank O'Quinn number one, near Overton, continued to spout burning oil, and spreading flames seriously handicapped crews of workmen.

The O'Quinn well was brought in Tuesday night and was ignited shortly thereafter.

Frank H. Allison, superintendent of production for the Tulsa Oil company, burned about the face and body when he remained behind and sought to cut off the flow of oil, will recover, those attending him said.

Gladewater's menace was not a fiery well, but a wild, uncontrollable one located within 1200 feet of its business section. Extraordinary precautions were being taken lest the gas laden air become ignited. Gas hung heavy over the town, and residents were warned to keep fires down to the minimum. Traffic on highways and streets adjacent to the well were being routed away from it.

Clouds of smoke from the burning Bell and Grady Stumpff, which caught fire Tuesday night, continued to roll over the town of Kilgore. As at Overton there was apprehension among the residents.

The work of extinguishing the two wells with explosives has not begun.

It appeared likely early Thursday that Floyd Kinley of Tulsa, Okla., famous oil well fire fighter, would not be ready to set off a nitroglycerine blast to snuff out the Tulsa Oil company's No. 1 O'Quinn before Friday. The blaze roared away unabated and two streams of water were played upon Kinley as he worked frantically pulling hot metal debris away from the vicinity of the well. The flames apparently were increasing in volume.

The wild T. & P. railway well at Gladewater was believed to be increasing its gas pressure and the clouds of gas were settling over the town Thursday like a dense fog. Many residents left the city Wednesday night for safety. All in the danger zone were awakened at midnight, when the wind shifted, and were warned. Efforts were being made to check the flow of gas with sacks of sand and cement.

CITIZENS ASK SECOND TRIAL IN BIG DRIVE

Denver Officials Expected to Be Present to Take Answer to Their Proposition to Pampa.

GOAL FAR AWAY

Only $20,000 of Total Sum of $60,000 Pledged; Workers to Be Given Lists of Names Tomorrow.

Whether Pampa's railroad committee will notify the Fort Worth & Denver Northern of inability to furnish right-of-way and terminal facilities or will guarantee to provide these assets will be decided tomorrow morning at a city-wide mass meeting in the city auditorium.

So important is this meeting that the presence of hundreds of citizens is imperative. Unless there is a group large enough and generous enough to indicate that the necessary $60,000 can be raised in the next few days, the railroad committee headed by Mel Davis will be obliged to tell the Denver that the obligations asked of Pampa will not be met.

In addition to the need for funds, the committee must have at least 50 men to make a quick canvass of persons and firms who are being listed today. Denver officials are expected to be present tomorrow to receive Pampa's answer.

At yesterday's sessions of the railroad committee, failure to raise the required sum was acknowledged and no solution was seen. Protests of citizens bring another mass meeting before the close of the drive resulted in the call issued for Friday morning.

Only $20,000 of the proposed $60,000 has been pledged and the list of contributors is small. The million dollar asset the road would provide permanently is matched by nearly a million which would permanently be spent for labor and supplies during the next six months. Terminal facilities would be costly, and Pampa ultimately would be a division point for a northern extension of the Burlington system.

Oklahoma Under-Sheriff Is Slain by Negro Thief

WATONGA, Okla., June 25. (AP)—Guy Jarvis, 38, Blaine county under-sheriff, was shot and killed by a negro today as he attempted to arrest the man at a farm house seven miles northeast of here on a charge of stealing gasoline. George Bender, deputy sheriff, was slightly injured by buckshot.

A posse of officers and citizens immediately started in pursuit of the negro, said to be Fillmore Davis, 45, Watonga. When last heard from, Davis fleeing in the car of the murdered officer was headed north from Okemere on state highway No. 8.

County and federal officers left Enid shortly before noon in an effort to capture the slayer. Deputy sheriffs here said they believed he was racing toward Leo Springs, in western Oklahoma, where he formerly resided.

BOURNEDAL, Mass., June 25. (AP)—Miss Elfin Edstrom, 17, whose uncle Charles Johnson, told police she had been kidnapped early today from his home by men who left him bound and gagged, returned later. She told police a man had thrown a blanket over her head and attempted to strangle her, but that she succeeded in escaping to the home of Louis Norris, a neighbor.

Miss Edstrom's face was swollen and her mouth was bleeding.

Summer Down to Its Best Efforts

CHICAGO, June 25. (AP)—Summer got down to business today.

Still smarting from last week's blister, the Midwest sweated anew under temperatures that neared all-time records.

Iowa was hardest hit. The thermometer burned up at 105 in Waterloo yesterday, within three degrees of the state maximum for June. Three men and a baby boy died from heat. Crops were scorched by a week of hot winds and were in a critical condition.

"We Are Ready for the Denver—Are You?" Ask Shamrock Group

Playing under the shadow of a placard with this assertion and question printed on it, "We're ready for the Denver, are you?" the Shamrock band gave a concert at the east entrance of the city hall this afternoon.

The colorfully-uniformed band paraded the streets of the business district before the concert. The large placard, said Guy Hill, secretary of the Shamrock chamber of commerce, suggested the anxiety that Shamrock has for Pampa's ultimate action regarding raising funds for the right-of-way. He explained that Shamrock had raised money,

The state rested at 9:47 a.m. Crosby, who did not see the actual shooting of the youths last June 7, illustrated by slapping his hands together the three fatal shots fired by Guess.

MELLON GOES ON TO FRANCE

WASHINGTON, June 25. (AP)—Washington looked today to Secretary Mellon for a contribution toward solution of the delicate situation that has arisen over the moratorium proposal.

Official acceptance of the principle had been received from all the larger powers involved, with the biggest tough spot in the immediate road being France's counter proposition.

Secretary Mellon has been "vacationing" in England. Facts and figures he obtained in a series of conferences with officials there played a considerable part in President Hoover's decision to offer to suspend war debt and reparations payments for a year.

And now Mr. Mellon, through in England, is extending his "holiday" to France.

Diplomatic circles here felt positive that the secretary of the United States treasury would discuss the French attitude with the proper officials. There were expressions of hope that possible objections could be met without involving the United States in European politics.

The immediate difficulty, more than anything else, appeared to be desire on the part of France to retain the unconditional reparations payments for actual war damage. The French note was held secret here, but no one denied that unconditional reparations were involved.

On this point, however, President Hoover said in announcing his plan that the United States would suspend collections on war debts due it provided the other interested powers agreed to a holiday from "all" intergovernmental payments.

So far the situation is as follows: Germany accepted the proposal gratefully and unconditionally.

Great Britain approved it in spirit as well as in letter.

Italy endorsed it cordially and completely without "political reservations."

Austria approved unconditionally. Bulgaria expressed appreciation. France submitted the counter proposition.

Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Poland, and Belgium were "sympathetic" but have made no official response.

WHAT LABELS MEAN—AND DON'T

Uncle Sam is a wise old fellow, requiring makers of medicine to print certain data on the labels, but many of us do not appreciate the intent of the ruling to the extent of reading and understanding what is said.

Advertising can be in a sense truthful and still be misleading if it is not read wisely. Reputable druggists do not recommend some medicines which the public demands, and the public is not wise enough to demand such recommendations.

But there is a huge class of medicine addicts who are hunting "sure cures." Their pathetic searching for relief is played upon by clever manufacturers, who make cleverly designed claims which, when analyzed, do not really claim what they seem to do.

The universal cures are worst offenders, and honest testimonials as to one type of cures should inspire no expectation of help for another type. The manufacturers, however, use every absurdity in their claims.

Your physician is your first refuge in time of sickness, but when you wish other remedies remember to read the labels carefully in order to avoid false hopes and worthless expenditures.

In the old days a man used to boast of the clubs he belonged to, now he's more concerned with those he takes to the links.

Roswell may sell seized liquor to Juarez saloons. And her citizens will follow it up just to be stubborn.

The depression has been blamed for a lot of things, but we do not think it should be held responsible for the large number of one-eyed cars seen here every night.

Clearing The Brambles

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, June 24. (NEA).—President Herbert Hoover, once press-agented as "the great humanitarian," is now being put forward to the country as a human being.

There have been opposite views about the Hoover personality. One held him to be a cold, unsympathetic, fish-like and short-tempered individual whose emotions were aroused only by statistics, criticism or thoughts of a second term.

Next year Mr. Hoover comes up for renomination and re-election and it is very obviously good politics for his friends and supporters to promote that second conception of Hoover among the voters and eradicate the first.

Hoover himself has always shown an aversion to such practices as "baby-kissing" and to letting the public in on details of his private life. His friends say he has heretofore refused to allow himself to be dramatized according to the accepted fashions of political bunfunk.

Hoover now makes a deliberate effort to "contact" pleasantly with people. He is careful to smile for photographs—in wasn't always so careful. At the recent big Republican dinner in Indiana he very humanly invited everyone to remove their coats.

But the change in Hoover and his attitude toward his public has been most distinctly marked in his daily life at the White House.

Time was when a reporter who wanted to write a feature story about Hoover ran into a virtual stone wall at the White House. The president, it appeared, might as well have been a block of ice in so far as concerned those little human titbits of news that most people like to read about the great.

The most startling innovation of the "humanizing" effort was the use of a National Broadcasting Company representative who spent a day in the White House and then went on the air to tell the country about "a day with the Hoovers."

BALLOONBALL WILL BE ISSUE IN INTERNATIONAL MEET

BRITISH AND AMERICANS IN BIG TOURNEY

Scioto Club Course Will Be Tough But No Pessimism Seen.

COLUMBUS, O., June 25. (AP)—The balloon ball goes up for an international trial tomorrow in one of the biggest golfing shows of 1931—the Ryder cup matches between teams of home-bred British and American professionals.

Captain Walter Hagen's forces, completed only after Denmore Shute had beaten Frank Walsh at the 90th hole of the competition for the tenth and last place, will carry the home colors into battle as favorites to win the two-day competition over the rugged layout of the Scioto Country club.

The Americans, whether they like the over-sized ball or not, have the advantage of greater familiarity with it plus the confidence of being on home soil and the fact that the British likely will start without the services of one of their best professionals, Henry Cotton, and with another seasoned campaigner, George Duncan, in poor condition.

The invaders, led by Captain Charles Whitcombe, have found Scioto an exceedingly troublesome battleground, in addition to manifesting a marked prejudice against the American ball. They have confidence nevertheless in their team strength and the record of having beaten their rivals in two of the three team matches played since 1928.

The rival captains, after a good deal of jockeying and master-minding, were slated to pick their line-ups today for the four Scotch foursomes, Friday, and the eight singles contests, Saturday, all to be over the 38-hole routing.

The expectation was that Hagen would pair his men in the four-omes as follows: Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell, Leo Diegel and Al Espinosa, Hagen and Wiffy Cox, Denmore Shute and Billie Burke.

Sarazen, Diegel, Farrell and Hagen are veterans of all the Ryder cup competitions. Cox, Shute and Burke won places in the home-bred ranks for the first time.

Sport Slants

BY ALAN GOULD

Knute Rockne was missed by the "gang" at Poughkeepsie this year. The scene of the intercollegiate regatta long has been a focal point for the gathering of the clans, closing the college athletic year, and "Rock" was a central figure there in the smoke-filled halls of argument in 1930.

The fact is that it is difficult to tell whether a boat race or a football game is coming off on the day following the chin-fests in the Nelson House. Crew racing seems to have a special fascination for gridiron coaches. Some of them, of course, such as Ed Leader of Yale, were football men as well as oarsmen in college.

Rockne did not lack for an audience when he and Jack Chevigny used this correspondent's quarters a year ago for a detailed explanation of the "double spinner" that the great Knute sided boys about but never actually used on the field.

My own idea was that Rockne used the "double spinner" for the double purpose of sending up a smoke-screen as to his own plans and to josh the advocates of the Warner system featuring the spinner.

Rockne called the turn on Cornell a year ago, although he admitted: "This rowing fascinates me, especially because I don't know so much about it. But I can tell a crew that has the physical stuff in it."

After Cornell had won its first big race in 15 years, "Rock" emphasized the effect it would have in restoring keener athletic spirit in the university. Had Rockne lived to visit Ithaca this spring he would have noted the fulfillment of his prediction. The revival at Cornell has been most marked since Jim Wray brought the Big Red rowing back to its former high place.

"Pickle" Racing

It is unfortunate that the crowds attending the Poughkeepsie regatta do not have a chance to witness the popular contest known as the "pickle race".

This is rowed off on the day before the championships. The participants are assistant coaches, substitutes, waiters or hangers-on who know how to handle an oar. The prize is a jar of pickles. The battle could be no more furiously fought if the blue ribbon of the regatta was at stake.

Cornell's "pickle boat" was this year's winner and the Ithacans were the terror of the river before championship day. The Red "picklers" took their training serious, for one thing, and harassed the regular crews day after day with offers of a race at any time under any conditions.

These Ithacans-at-large rowed about, looking for exercise and trouble. They took on the Navy plebes, beat them, and then tackled the Wisconsin varsity just as the Badgers were out for a "secret" time trial. As a crowning insult, the Cornell "picklers" offered to replace Pennsylvania's varsity in the main race.

The "pickle race" has become an institution and if the stewards of the rowing association ever decide to extend the regatta program a day or two, to spread out the competition, they have a ready-made preliminary "crowd-pleaser", as the fistic boys would say.

"Dizzy" Dean Sees Homers Fly Overhead — Indians Defeat Cats.

By The Associated Press
Shreveport, Dallas and San Antonio, all deep in the second division, made pennant life miserable Wednesday for Beaumont, Houston and Fort Worth, who are battling desperately for the Texas league pennant.

Jerome "Dizzy" Dean tried to save his Houston mates from the Dallas Steers, but "Dizzy" was careless in pitching to centerfielder Loepp who hit a pair of home runs to give Dallas a 4 to 3 victory. With this win, the Steers made a clean sweep of the two-game series. Dean was charged with the defeat. He has now won 11 and lost 5 for Houston.

A pair of reserve players, Perry and Vorhoff, returned to the Shreveport lineup after a month's layoff, and it was their playing that gave the Sports a 9 to 5 decision over the Beaumont Exporters. Perry hit a home run in the first and Vorhoff hit for the circuit in the second.

A night of free hitting featured the Fort Worth and San Antonio contest which San Antonio won 13 to 12. The Indians pushed across seven runs in the third inning, but even this did not faze the Cats who staged several spurts and finally pulled into a 12 to 8 lead, but the Indians charged again, and this time went to the front to tie the game at 12-all and then got a run across in the first of the eleventh to win.

Wichita Falls was the only first division club to win Wednesday. The Spudders bested Galveston 9 to 2 to make a clean sweep of the series.

SCHMELING IS IN SHAPE FOR LONG BATTLE

Spars Eight Periods And Ends Strong — Strib to Coach Gridders.

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., June 24. (AP)—Max Schmeling is in condition, both in spirit and body, to fight fifteen rounds, at terrific pace when he climbs into the ring in defense of his title against Young Stribling in Cleveland a week from tomorrow night.

The world's heavyweight champion was convinced of this today as a result of his eight rounds of sparring yesterday, the longest workout of his training campaign. Perhaps there was some doubt in Schmeling's mind as to his ability to go ten rounds at terrific speed, but whatever doubt existed was quickly dispelled after he finished exchanging punches with four sparring partners.

Schmeling fought eight and went through two rounds of calisthenics without a rest. He was going harder in the last rounds than he did in the first, which indicated perfect condition, according to his handlers. GEAUGA LAKE, June 25. (AP)—Bill Stribling is going to college next fall to repay southern football for the services he receives daily at his training camp from Lake Russell, head coach at Mercer university in Macon, Ga.

Russell, a curly headed, 220-pound husky who played tackle for Tennessee, coached at Carson Newman for seven years, and then shifted over to Mercer in Stribling's home town, is training the southern challenger for his fifteen-round heavyweight title match with Max Schmeling in the Cleveland Municipal stadium July 3. Bill won't study at Mercer next fall but he will return Lake's favor by teaching his football players something of football work and the straight arm. "Stribling's left jab," says Russell in a soft southern draw, "is just about the finest thing in the way of a straight arm that could be taught halfbacks and defensive linemen. He's promised me he'll come over and show the boys something about footwork, too, keeping the weight properly balanced so you can shift quick in any direction."

Jack Lenfesty of Chicago is captain of next year's golf team at the University of Michigan.

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Touch your Adam's Apple with your finger. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal cords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords.

When a lawyer makes a statement before a jury he backs it up with sound evidence and facts. Here are the facts.

Certain harsh irritants, present in all raw tobaccos—which are expelled by LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—are sold by us to manufacturers of chemical compounds. In other words, the removal of these irritants in the manufacture of LUCKY STRIKE is not a mere laboratory procedure for the purpose of getting an advertising phrase—it is a definite and vitally important process in rendering LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes less irritating than other cigarettes. Remember—LUCKY STRIKE comes to you after certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos have been expelled through the exclusive "TOASTING" Process. THE MELODY GIRL by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY Beryl Borden, secretly in love with Tommy Wilson, knows that he would never be happy with her half-sister, Irene Everett, and tries to prevent their marriage.

"The next time you come to a shade tree park the car," he said at last. "You've got trouble to spill. It's written all over your face."

Beryl decided that Tommy was right. "Well?" Tommy invited as she still hesitated after the car was comfortably parked in the shade.

"Sure. Go ahead." "It's pretty tough. Sure you can take it?" "Of course. Shoot!" Beryl drew in her breath. "I can't get Irene back for you," she said. "She's married."

Tommy just smiled. He didn't say a word or make a move—he just smiled. Neither spoke for a long time. Tommy's voice was hollow when he did look at Beryl and say gently: "Tell me about it."

She told him all she knew and was tempted to add what she thought, but appreciated the futurity of it. She might as well tell him that he was lucky to lose Irene.

After that she went home. There one stroke of good fortune had fallen her. Irene and her new husband had departed. Mrs. Everett was still greatly excited and, apparently forgetting that hot words had passed between her and Beryl a few hours earlier, insisted on repeating all Irene had said.

Her mother looked at her doubtfully. She did not understand and so could not reply. But there was something she did mean to say, and be firm about it, too. Her voice became sharp. "It wasn't at all nice of you to stay away and not wish your sister happiness," she said. "Irene was terribly disappointed, and I don't know what Prentiss thought of it."

"You're a thoughtful girl," Prentiss said soberly. "I know I'm going to be a happy man. I really am." She smiled at him. "You wouldn't mind taking some flowers to mother, would you?" she asked. "As a peace offering?"

And so she got her orchids, with a bunch of roses for her mother. Beryl was not at home when the bridal couple arrived there. She had a battle royal with her mother, who stoutly denied any previous knowledge of Irene's plans. After that she went to find Tommy.

Beryl didn't believe that Irene had told Prentiss about her engagement to Tommy Wilson, but it would do no good to interfere now. Perhaps it wouldn't have helped anyway. If Prentiss believed Irene loved him he'd say she had the right to break her engagement to Tommy. Beryl realized that her own interest in Tommy might have confused her sense of values.

She got into her car (she still had the old one she'd got in trade for her boat) and drove off at a rattling speed. Tommy was not at his uncle's home. Neither could she find him at the theater. Finally, after driving about the town for an hour she glimpsed him in a garage. She stopped, parked, and went back to the place to tell him she wanted to talk to him.

Tommy agreed sheepishly to come with her, expecting she had decided to lecture him. They climbed into her car, Beryl at the wheel, and drove toward the South Shore.

Beryl did not know how to begin what she had to say to him. Her mood disturbed Tommy. Usually if Beryl had anything to say she said it. He decided she did not intend to scold him. He'd been willing to take it, but was glad it wasn't forthcoming. He'd never been so low in spirit before in all his young life.

Now it worried him to have Beryl sitting there looking so gloomy. "The next time you come to a shade tree park the car," he said at last. "You've got trouble to spill. It's written all over your face."

in her room all evening. Her mother climbed the stairs to point out something she thought Beryl might have overlooked. It was that Irene would be in an influential position now where she could help Beryl a great deal.

"How do you mean—help me?" Beryl asked. "Why, in your career," her mother explained. "Don't you think you'd better write her a nice little note and apologize?"

Beryl smothered the anger that rose within her and laughed. "I guess you don't know how funny that is," she said. "It's not funny. It's serious!" "It's funny. Irene has nothing to do with my career. I'm what I am without her help. And I don't suppose," she added suddenly, "that you'd accuse your darling daughter of meaning to turn my boss against me?"

Mrs. Everett answered uneasily: "How can you say such unreasonable things?" However, her eyes avoided Beryl's. She was thinking of something that Irene had said when she found Beryl gone that afternoon and a large part of her triumph spoiled.

"I'll show her!" Irene had declared. "I'll see that she never gets another contract with the Gaylord Soap company. And it won't do her a bit of good to be turned down. Other people won't be so keen about her then."

Mrs. Everett sighed, wishing Beryl were as reasonable as Irene. "Honey, you mustn't do that," she had said to Irene. "Your father and I need Beryl's help."

Irene had seen it at once and admitted she was wrong. It was a comfort to have a daughter like Irene—one who could be obliging. It would be a little thing for Beryl to acknowledge her fault as readily as Irene had done and write to her sister.

As usual her argument with her mother was of short duration. Mrs. Everett, thinking it over, felt that she had not made the situation any better for Irene. She came in softly the last thing before she went to bed and brought a tray of light refreshments for Beryl.

"Are you sure you're well," she asked. Beryl nodded. "I wish you wouldn't quarrel with me," her mother said forlornly. "I've had to have a child get married and go away. Irene didn't mean the cross words she said. It was just temper and she was sorry right away."

"Poor little Irene..." But Beryl hadn't been thinking of her sister—she was thinking of something that frightened her. (To Be Continued)

Protest of Oilers Is Upheld by League Officials—New Ruling Is Announced as Panhandle Comes In

Officials and managers of teams in the Gray-Carson baseball league last night upheld the Phillips Oilers' protest of last Sunday's game with the White Deer Bucks and the result of the game reversed, giving the Oilers the win. The Oilers declared that the Bucks were using two ineligible men in the lineup and entered a protest before the game was called. White Deer took the long end of the 8 to 6 score.

The protest centered around a clause in the league rules regarding signing and transfer of players. In the future all players transferring from one team to another in the league must do so with the agreement of team managers and their names must be in the hands of the president of the league 10 days before they will be eligible to play.

Teams may sign players who have not played in the league but their names must be in the hands of the president by 9 o'clock the night preceding the game.

Panhandle was formally accepted into the league to replace the Pampa Jemco, who withdrew last week.

STOCKS ARE STRONG

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—The stock market continued strong today, although the advance was interrupted by profit-taking.

Advances in the earlier trading ran from 1 to 5 points, with metals showing the widest improvement. Copper stocks rose 1 to 3 points, led by Anaconda which reached 313-4. Case climbed more than 5 and International Harvester 3. Gains in the rails were modified.

Call money renewed at 11-2 per cent.

COTTON IS ACTIVE

NEW ORLEANS, June 25. (AP)—Cotton had a rather active opening today, which was first notice day. July deliveries, notices were issued for 30,000 bales here and for 34,000 in New York.

First trades here showed losses of two to three points as cables were worse than due. The market soon rallied however on the report that the notices were being promptly stopped. July traded up to 9.75, or ten points above the opening, while December advanced to 10.50, or 19 points up. The strength of December was attributed to transferring from July to that month.

Near the end of the first hour, while July remained steady and at the top, the later months eased off seven points on realizing.

GRAINS DECLINE

CHICAGO, June 25. (AP)—With ideal harvest weather conditions prevailing in Kansas and elsewhere over domestic winter crop territory, wheat prices tended downward early today. Predictions were current that the next government crop report would give much higher estimated yields than the previous report.

Opening unchanged to 3-8-1-2 cents lower, wheat afterward held near to the initial limits. Corn started unchanged to 1-2 higher and subsequently advanced all around.

FLIERS—

ern Europe from the Lofthansa store to guard against losing their way as they did yesterday after landing in England. They set their course on a direct route across middle Poland instead of the more northerly route via Koenigsberg used by Lufthansa planes.

They were advised to fly at an altitude of 1500 meters above the clouds where favorable west winds and clear weather were reported. The sky was overcast here with low-hanging clouds in contrast to yesterday's sunshine.

Post and Gatty dropped down out of the moonlight last night at 8:30 p.m. (1:30 p.m. EST), nearly 24 hours to the minute since they left Harbor Grace, N. F., and about 34 hours after they left New York. They had made the ocean hop in 16 hours and 17 minutes and stopped at Chester, England, and Honover, Germany, for brief intervals for fuel.

Sleeps at Bath

BERLIN, June 25. (AP)—It's a port in a storm for a weary transatlantic airman.

Harold Gatty, of the flying team of Post and Gatty, was so tired last night from his rigorous trip across the Atlantic that he fell asleep in a bathtub. Attendants at the Tempelhof airfield bailed him out and sent him to bed.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 25. (AP)

—Oklahoma relatives and friends of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty were satisfied grins today as they settled to scrutiny of the news for additional information of the "round-the-world fliers."

Their confidence in the fliers' ultimate success bolstered mightily by their flight across the Atlantic, the persons here most intimately concerned over the safety of the "Winnie Mae" and its occupants were visibly relieved.

Wants A. P. Reports

Mrs. Wiley Post, en route from Walters, Okla., to Oklahoma City that she may keep in closer touch with the Associated Press for information, admitted last night that she slept "mighty little" while her husband and his Australian navigator were roving across the water in their single-motored monoplane. She and F. C. Hall, oil man backer of the fliers, said today they felt the greatest hazard of the flight was past when Post and Gatty reached England early yesterday, and that the rest of the record-seeking series of hops should prove comparatively easy.

WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND

FORT WORTH, June 25. (AP)—Russell Barnett, 48, produce man, was killed in the bed room of his home here at 3 a.m. today. His wife, 40, to whom Barnett had been married for 22 years, admitted shooting her husband, saying "I shot to protect myself."

The Barnetts have a boy, 13, and a girl, 17.

Two hundred ninety candidates for admission to the bar are in Jefferson City for the examinations conducted by the state board of law examiners. Six women are taking the tests.

Approval has been given for the award of the Royal Geographical Society patron's medal to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd for his work in the Antarctic and for his two polar flights.

Incaised in a German-silver coffin said to have cost $20,000, and preceded by thirty-five carloads of floral offerings, the body of Daniel Lamascia, Bronx beer runner slain by police, was buried.

BRINGS LETTERS IN FAITHFULL CASE

NEA Boston Bureau. Transmission by Telephoto. Dr. G. Jameson Carr, ship's surgeon of the liner Franconia, an acquaintance of Miss Siarr Faithfull, here is pictured as he arrived in Boston from Europe en route to New York to deliver what was expected to be important evidence in the mystery of the Greenwich Village beauty's death. He carried three letters from Siarr, one of which was the last she is known to have dispatched before leaving her home for the last time on June 5th Dr Carr believes his evidence would account for Miss Faithfull's movements during the last twenty-two hours before her body was found in a Long Island beach.

South Getting Used To New Golf Ball

Carl Dillon, sports editor of the Miami Daily News, sends along a letter with the following interesting information about the new golf ball:

"The nation-wide poll being taken to determine whether or not the new golf ball is suitable to the average player interests me very much and I have been reading your comments daily. We are not taking part in the poll for the simple reason that the new ball has been in play here since January and the players have become so accustomed to it that there is no complaint about the new ball nor a demand for the return of the smaller and heavier pellet."

"Several opponents of the new ball, I note, speak of its misbehavior in the wind. No one should know better than a Minnauan about its conduct in the face of a heavy breeze as there is always a stiff ocean wind sweeping across our courses. Yet I have found no one who believes the new ball acts unfavorably in the face of a wind.

Hill It Right!

"Another opponent of the new ball wrote that it penalizes partly hit shots. Why shouldn't it? All our leading golf players will tell you that every shot should be hit with a full swing. A partly hit shot should be penalized just as much as a kick in football that slips off the side of the punter's foot or as much as a feeble roller to the infield in baseball.

"Northern players have not given the new ball a fair break. Why not wait until the end of the season before taking a poll? The result might be much different then. The general opinion here seems to be that the U. S. G. A. never will go back to the old ball, though there is a possibility that the governing body may agree to the new size with the old weight."

Another Side

Mr. Dillon's comment, especially as regards the wind, strikes a new note in the discussion. It was the ball's alleged queer conduct in the wind on the British links recently that aroused members of the British Ryder Cup team to protest and prompted a statement from Gene Sarazen that he "wouldn't be able to break 100 with the new ball at Carnoustie."

The Miami chamber of commerce should thank Mr. Dillon. Probably thousands of golfers will hasten to Miami next winter to play the new ball in those friendly ocean breezes in which the new ball behaves so beautifully.

But perhaps it isn't the wind at all! It may be that Miami is teeming with good golfers to whom balloon balls and the breezes that blow are as naught.

Mrs. S. E. Burgess of Wichita, Kans., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Marian Walstad, and sister, Mrs. E. L. Ledrick, Mr. and Mrs. Ledrick and the visitors motored to Miami yesterday to visit other relatives.

Smoke a fresh cigarette

Nature, not parching, Makes CAMELS Mild

HARSH tobaccos require harsh measures, like parching, to make them tolerable to the throat.

But the choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended are naturally mild and gentle. Parching would only ruin their exquisite flavor and aroma.

No matter where you buy Camels you will find them always in factory-fresh condition. Their rare flavor together with their natural moisture is air-sealed-in by moisture-proof Cellophane. We call it the Humidor Pack.

This protective wrapping is dust-proof, germ-proof and weather-proof. A great boon to the smoker.

No stinging particles of peppery dust to irritate the throat; no brackish smoke from stale tobacco; no burnt tongue from the hot smoke of dried-out cigarettes.

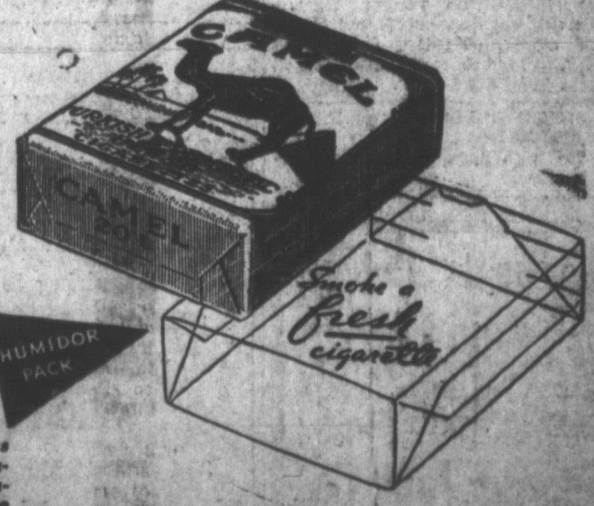

Just the cool, mild fragrance of choice tobaccos expertly blended and properly conditioned.

If you are not a Camel smoker, switch over for just one day. Then leave them—if you can.

Leaving the moisture-proof Cellophane on my Camel package when I open it protects the cigarettes against the odors of powder and perfume
