Ickes Keeps Watchful Eye On Oil Crisis

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—Federal officials kept a watchful eye today on the efforts of some of the country's oil producing states to meet the crisis brought about by dwindling prices for petroleum.

While they withheld any comment on state orders for oil well shut-downs after crude oil prices were slashed sharply by some purchasing companies, several moves could be taken either by Secretary Ickes, whose inferior department includes a petroleum conservation division, or by President Roosevelt himself.

Both could call on the Interstate Compact commission urging steps be taken to remedy the price cut.

The petroleum conservation division could set up federal tender boards wherever it felt necessary in order to help Texas and other states ordering production shut down to prevent petroleum from the affected fields flowing into interstate traffic.

If the situation became sufficiently grave to warrant such action, the President could call a special session of Congress to enact legislation for strict federal control of the petroleum resource in the "interest of the general welfare."

Representative Lyndon B. Johnson (D., Tex.), whose district includes the Luling field, conferred with Ickes nearly two hours yesterday.

Ickes declined to discuss with reporters the Texas shutdown order. Johnson had no comment.

That Ickes was keeping in touch with petroleum industry's grave condition was a foregone conclusion, however, for two principal reasons.

First, he has from time to time urged enactment of federal legislation that would give the government a check over oil production. He has vigorously supported the Connally "hot oil" act, which prohibits the interstate shipment of oil produced in violation of state conservation laws.

In the second place, one of the three members of the Texas Railroad commission—Jerry Sadler, who has less than a month ago pleaded that additional federal tender boards be established. Sadler urged boards be set up in the South Texas field and in Louisiana.

The only existing tender board, maintained by the petroleum conservation division for the enforcement of the Connally act, is located at Kilgore, Texas.

President Sails to "Cool Off"

Washington weather, including the political kind, having been somewhat heated in recent days, President Roosevelt declared he was taking his 10-day cruise in the North Atlantic "to cool off." He is pictured above, waving good-bye from the bridge of his "cruise ship", the U. S. S. Tuscaloosa, as it steamed from New York.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—Timidity seized the stock market today and prices sank fractions to around 3 points in quiet trading.

From the outset offerings appeared, although not in volume, and the dip was emphasized as the season wore on. Toward the close market makers were slow and transfers approximated only about 600,000 shares.

Traders shied away from commitments, brokers said, because they were wary of the day's developments in Europe and on the international front all around.

Domestic business news was favorable in many sections, including additional second quarter earnings statements reflecting a better situation than had been expected. These were largely ignored, however.

Steeels, motors, chemicals and a few miscellaneous manufacturing shares bore the brunt of the selling. Some of the rails were in supply and the oils at no time developed firming tendencies.

Down most of the time by fairly wide margins were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Kennecott, Westinghouse Electric, Du Pont, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Johnson & Johnson, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Texas Corp., Celanese, Loft, Alka Seltzer and Leche.

Mexico To Fix Deadline For Filing Claims

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 16 (AP)—A Senate committee had an appointment with President Lázaro Cárdenas today to assure him of the Senate's backing in the oil expropriation issue and submit a proposal fixing a time limit for presentation of indemnification claims by the 17 expropriated companies.

The proposal already had been introduced in the Senate by Senator Col. Antonio Romero. Thus, far, the time limit has not been specified.

Through a sternly worded statement by Foreign Minister Gen. Eduardo Hay, the government put it up to the oil companies to decide whether conferences for settlement of the dispute were to be resumed.

Hay's statement said Mexico's position "coincides with the view point of the American government" in holding there should be prompt compensation on the basis of a fair valuation in the property.

Hay said the companies had rejected a compromise plan submitted by Washington before Mexico had an opportunity to study it.

Mexico, the foreign minister said, stands ready always to resume discussions on any constructive basis and would treat with the companies as a group or singly, as desired.

But, he added, "My government must insist again that there be recognized the necessity of an adequate form (for the conversations) which would prevent future conflicts."

He said the companies had insisted on return of the properties for a long period, demanding promises from Mexico there would be no new taxes and asked for preferential treatment in labor matters outside provisions of Mexican law.

Squalus Is Freed From Ocean's Grip

When three of the ten red and white pontoons lifting the sunken submarine Squalus burst to the surface of the Atlantic off Portsmouth, N. H., Navy men from the salvage ship Falcon scrambled aboard to close safety valves and make adjustments, as pictured above. With the Squalus lifted 80 feet off the ocean floor, the most difficult step in one of the toughest salvage jobs in Navy history was completed. But after being towed nearly two miles toward the shore the submarine ran aground on an uncharted mud pinnacle.

ILL FEELING

an investigation had been in progress for some time and two representatives of his department now were in Washington for the purpose.

Harry C. Weiss, president of the Humble, answered Pollard with a statement the company had reduced crude prices "very reluctantly."

He said the new posted prices were "too low" and he commended the "sincere, legal effort to correct the situation that made the reductions necessary."

Weiss denied the cuts were dictated by Wall Street, saying the Humble alone was responsible for them.

"Prior to the start of crude reduction last week," he said, "218,900 barrels of oil in Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana daily were being sold below prices being paid by Humble."

"That had been going on for 10 months."

"When a major purchaser cut the price last Wednesday and a few smaller purchasers also cut, it made 150,000 more barrels daily in this territory being sold below Humble's price."

Explorer Outlines Alaska's Advantages

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, arctic explorer, said today the problem of developing Alaska was "chiefly a psychological problem since we no longer are frontier-minded."

"The territory, he said, would make a good home 'in general for people of any nationality irrespective of the climatic conditions they have been used to,' and could easily be developed to the point where it would stand comparison with Scandinavia."

Commenting on Secretary Ickes' advocacy yesterday of the idea of transplanting refugees from Europe to Alaska, Stefansson said most people's minds are burdened with misconceptions about Alaska and don't realize how easily the territory's resources could be developed.

"Take newspaper, for example," he said. "If the Plains can export newspaper to America and make a profit even after paying the tariff, think what Alaska could do. It is nearer to the United States and wouldn't have to pay duty."

Southern Alaska, he said, is as warm as Philadelphia in the winter, and the summers are not very hot, making gardening and dairy farming practical. The interior has extremely cold winters and hot summers, making it ideal for wheat farming.

When the commission got down to the business at hand, Humble's application for a greater share of East Texas allowable, Rex Baker, company attorney, informed the officials a three-judge federal court in San Antonio had ruled the company was entitled to 44 per cent more oil.

He expressed the opinion, however, that as a consequence of the hearing a new order would have to be field-wide in effect and that producers in a position similar to Humble's district be given a greater share of allowable.

Italy Urges Nazi-Polish Negotiations

ROME, Aug. 16 (AP)—Direct negotiations between Germany and Poland for the German acquisition of Danzig emerged today as the apparent Italian plan for settlement of that problem.

The controlled Fascist press proposed such negotiations with a unanimity of expression that seemed to indicate official inspiration.

Italian newspapers promised that if Poland negotiated a settlement with Germany Chancellor Adolf Hitler would "not only respect but largely satisfy the economic needs of Poland."

Feeling that the Danzig problem would come to a showdown within a month was expressed in official circles.

However, Premier Mussolini's preparations to give Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco a grandiose reception here in the latter half of September indicated it was expected neither a major crisis, nor the likelihood of a war, were imminent.

This coincided with latest authoritative reports here on what really happened at the week-end Salzburg meeting of the German foreign minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, and the Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano.

These reports were to the effect that Von Ribbentrop gave Ciano full assurances Germany is not going to let a war start over Danzig, but will try to achieve evacuation of the free city "by compromise."

When Danzig police claimed that Rozanowski had fired at least one shot, the official Polish version was that the Polish soldier had not fired at all.

"A Polish soldier appeared this morning on Danzig soil close to the frontier barrier at the border crossing of Koblitz."

When the Danzig frontier guards called out, the Polish soldier pointed his rifle at the Danzig officials.

"The Danzig officials thereupon made use of their weapons, where-by the Polish soldier was mortally wounded."

Shot in Back
Danzig police said the soldier wore a Polish army uniform but carried no identification papers.

Four shots were fired, police said, one of them by the Pole, who was shot in the back.

The new incident came as the League of Nations' high commissioner, Prof. Carl J. Burckhardt, was attempting to quiet the troubled Danzig situation by bringing Polish Commissioner General Marian Chocinski and Arthur Greiser, Danzig's senate president, together in a conference.

The conversations, which began at noon in Burckhardt's office, were expected to extend beyond the differences over Polish customs administration in the Nazi dominated free state.

The soldier is the second Pole to be killed in recent border incidents. A Danzig citizen also was slain in a border shooting.

Practically no efforts were being made to conceal the military nature of the "protective police force" believed by many observers to number 12,000 men for this city of 400,000.

SKELLYTOWN, Aug. 16—A picnic group assembled at the R. W. Talley home at Bowers City recently and went to the Hopkins recreation park near here for a steak fry and marshmallow roast.

The supper was served from a long table by the light of a huge bonfire, after which the group enjoyed games and visiting.

The presenters were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Talley, Marjorie Ann, Kathryn Joe and Russel Dean Talley, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith, Skellytown, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hughes and children, Lota Mae, Barbara Jean and Billy Hughes, Skellytown.

Limiting Of Vets Urged By Sisler

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 16 (AP)—Baseball can be saved and made to prosper if the number of veterans on teams in various sandlot tournaments are limited, says George Sisler, imperial potentate of the semi-pro division of the national pastime.

Too many tournaments are old settlers' reunions. Too many teams come to meet such as the 1938 national semipro tourney boasting of the former major leaguers and ex-minor league stars on their rosters.

The quick, studious, Sisler, who was pushed among the has-beens of the game he loves and which made him famous, would limit the veterans and specify the number of rookies in the lineup.

Safeguarding U. S. Lifeline In Panama Begins At Once. It is good to learn that the construction of the third set of locks of the Panama Canal is to begin at once.

More and more it is apparent that the Canal Zone is the jugular vein of the United States. In any "new Munich" that might be attempted in South America, the Canal is vital.

The Panama Canal was opened in 1914. It was not only a wonder of the modern world, but its facilities were considered ample. Today even those marvelous locks, which operate with such precision, are barely big enough.

The new locks, when completed, will be understood to be for the use of U. S. naval vessels in general, with such exceptions as the military authorities might make.

EXAMPLE OF NEW DEAL CHICHANERY. The so-called "self liquidating" housing appropriation purported to amount to eight hundred million that was refused by the House of Representatives, is an example of New Deal chicanery.

The Nation's Press UNDECLARED CIVIL WAR

The recent riots in Cleveland at the Fisher Body plant of General Motors corporation shed more light on the military character of the C. I. O. tactics and revealed the true meaning of picketing.

The military character of the C. I. O. storm trooper units was revealed as soon as Lewis undertook to control the steel and motor industries.

The distorted propaganda regarding the attack upon the South Chicago plant of the Republic Steel company sought to conceal the fact that the rioters planned the fight and started it.

The communist influence in Lewis' movement is nowhere more plainly revealed than in the organization of its mobile fighting forces.

PEOPLE AS RABBITS. I read the other night a summary of Nora Waln's book "Reaching For The Stars," and also a report of the sit-down strikes made by the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

"I saw and heard German men and women rest their heads in their hands and cry in despair, 'We never had this in Germany before. It is not right. But what can we do?' Many times I witnessed this.

"There was much patient suffering. 'Also, very frequently, I heard a hope expressed: This terrible time will pass. It can't last.' By some miracle, apparently, with no civic effort on the wisher's part, a Santa Claus, a fairy godmother, would make everything right again.

"Rabbits nibbling in a field of clover display no corporate concern when a weasel slips in among them. Seemingly their caution is only enough to register brief personal alarm. Individually anxious, the rabbits hastily hop aside from the path the quiet weasel is pursuing toward his selected victim.

'SOMETHING ELSE FOR YOU, MY FRIEND'

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON. NEA Service Staff Correspondent. HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15—Red-headed little Dolly Haas has waited out that jinx that for three years has been trying to strangle her career with idleness.

Movietown is full of stories about players, especially foreign ones, who were brought here to languish in obscurity. Most of these people have been sent away; a few, such as Iona Massey, Melitta Korjus and Hedy Lamarr, eventually have been boosted to prominence.

Columbia brought her here on a contract for $1250 a week, which isn't hay even for an established European star who doesn't need English lessons. One picture after another was prepared for her and shelved.

During the first year, she loved Hollywood and was content to wait—especially with a $1250 weekly check to soothe her impatience. Then she acquired a new interest through marriage to John Braun, a director for whom she had worked in England.

WILL MAKE FILM WITH PAUL MUNI. Finally Columbia and the actress arranged an amicable parting and she went to New York. Warner Brothers wired her to hurry back for a test for "Career Man," but as soon as the test was seen Miss Haas immediately was announced for the feminine lead, opposite Paul Muni, in James Hilton's "We Are Not Alone."

It's a fine opportunity for her, this role of a young Viennese dancer who is stranded in England during the tense days at the outbreak of the World War. It has drama (which ends at the gallows), emotion, enough comedy, and even a little singing and dancing to do. It's a star-making part for an actress who has been a ballet dancer, a revue warbler, a comedienne and a gamblin of the Bergin type.

DOLLY IS TINY. HAS RED HAIR. She stands only an Inch over five feet, weighs 102 pounds and has a face that mirrors a vibrant, voluble personality. Her eyes are reddish-brown and she has been stubbornly proud of her carrot-colored locks ever since she was told, as a child: "Darling, you're not really ugly—it's just that red hair. When you get on the stage, you can have it dyed, or wear a wig."

Half English and half German, with theatrical ancestry on both sides, Dolly Haas never was in doubt about her future on the stage. At first, though, she studied only ballet, and was giving recitals in Hamburg at 7. At 9 she had decided to be a singer. At 11, when she was asked by Max Rheinhardt to be Puck in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," she asked, "Who is this Shakespeare, anyway? I am going to be a star in musical revues!" And she was.

Supt. L. L. Sone and the school board are sorry indeed that Lambert Marks, Spanish and Latin teacher, will not be back next term. Mr. Sone said that Mr. Marks was one of the most satisfactory teachers who ever taught in the local system.

Mr. Marks resigned to teach in the Los Angeles system. He had been trying to get a position in that system for a couple of years, and the local school board knew of his ambition in that direction. Mr. Marks was popular with teachers, pupils and patrons. He played the flute in a trio with Mrs. Carr and Herb Miller, and the trio became unusually popular. Mr. Marks spoke Spanish like a native and inspired his pupils to like the language of old Mexico where at Guadalajara he taught a year. He inspired them to like Mexico and its songs and people. Mr. Marks was scheduled to leave today for a visit of several weeks in old Mexico. Yes, Mr. Sone is truly sorry that Mr. Marks resigned.

Her accent was a problem at first, but not in the usual way. Miss Haas had an American diction catch before she went into pictures in London, and the directors complained that she talked like a Yankee. Later, during her years at Columbia she was mildly criticized for sounding like a Britisher. Now, at Warner, they say she speaks like an American, and so must assume a foreign accent.

easy to start—and, once started, is likely to be mortally hard to stop. NO EXPERIMENT NOW. The food stamp plan was an experiment three months ago. Now it is getting out of the experimental stage and being readied for 50 or 100 cities. You are hardly being overly-imaginative if you begin figuring that sooner or later it might be expanded to apply to all of the relievers in the United States.

But that is only the half of it. About the first of September, FSCC is starting a new experiment. It is going to make the blue stamps available to people in the low-income brackets who are not on relief at all. This is due to happen in Shawnee, Okla., and that experiment will be about as much worth watching as anything that will happen in the United States this summer.

Officials of the FSCC are frank to say that they don't know where the whole business is going. Will it eventually take in all the relievers, plus all the low-income wage earners? If so, how many hundreds of millions will it cost, and where will the money come from? They don't know and they won't even try to guess.

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

One of the most serious diseases that affects human beings is myasthenia gravis, which produces a characteristic weakening of the muscles of the body, ending in some cases in complete disability.

In many instances the first sign of this developing weakness of the muscles is a drooping of the eyelids, which may begin on one side or both simultaneously, and which may also reduce to some extent double vision. This may be the only weakness of the muscles that will be observed.

There is a tendency for the weakness to become more pronounced toward the end of the day. The drooping of the eyelids is much worse at night than it is in the morning.

If the rest of the face is involved early in the condition, the facial expression will become dull, and there is inability to close the eyes tightly or to separate the teeth widely. Associated with the effects on the muscles of the face there is difficulty in chewing, and there may be inability to hold the jaw up. A characteristic appearance of such a patient indicates him seated, holding the lower jaw up with the fist, with the face expressions, and the hands either partially or completely closed.

As the neck muscles become involved, there is a tendency of the head to drop over. As the muscular weakness spreads, the person affected may have trouble getting up or sitting down.

Fortunately, this disease seldom attacks young people, and is seen more commonly in people beyond 30 years of age.

For many years medicine had little in the way of help for patients in the way of help for patients suffering from this serious disability. Now a new drug, prostigmine, has been applied. Its effects on the disease are so rapid and complete that some authorities recommend that it be tried even when there is doubt about the existence of such a condition. Relief of the symptoms by the drug indicates that the diagnosis is correct.

One group of investigators reported 22 cases treated with the new drug, in which there was only one death. That occurred in the case of a patient who did not take the dosage of the drug that had been prescribed for him.

Medicine is exceedingly fortunate when drugs with such specific powers are discovered and properly applied in disease. Obviously drugs of this type are powerful, and their successful use is dependent on accurate diagnosis of exactly what is wrong with the patient. These drugs cannot be taken except with the advice and prescription of a doctor who understands the nature of the disease.

Recent articles in this column have discussed the future outlook for federal bond prices and the various options that might be taken by the government to support these prices, in case the top-heavy structure began to topple. The best way of meeting the situation, namely an upward conversion of interest rates through re-funding, is too unlikely to be seriously considered.

Another option would be open market buying of the bonds by the Treasury. This is not a new device, for the later Liberty Loan Act authorized the use of not more than 5 per cent of the proceeds of one loan to buy the bonds previously issued. The object was to support the price, make the government's credit looser, better, and to assure a better price for the new issue. The Treasury now has full power to engage in open market operations, either to buy or to sell federal bonds. When individuals start buying and selling securities in which they are interested with a view to raising the price, the practice is called "wash selling." It is one of the worst offenses that can be committed in the Wall Street region. When the Treasury engages in similar buying or selling of government bonds, it becomes, some way, an entirely proper operation to preserve an orderly market.

The effect of large buying of bonds by government agencies would be to keep the price up. This, in turn, would keep down the yield or investment return. It would create easier conditions in the money market. All other interest and discount rates would also be kept down, or prevented from rising.

Whether or not such an influence upon interest rates would be desirable would depend on circumstances. If the budget were still badly balanced and if large additional loans were still to be made, the manipulation of interest rates would create a fictitious situation in which the new borrowing would occur at lower rates. Thus it would create a need for further, continued manipulation of the same sort in order to support the price of a still larger mass of low-interest debt.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Kubens' Masterpiece Reproduced on Stamp

BELGIUM'S new series on Peter Paul Rubens provides important additions to the collections of philatelists who search for famous paintings on stamps. The Rubens set, purchased for the restoration of the artist's Antwerp home, includes six of his paintings.

"Descent From the Cross," generally accepted as Rubens' masterpiece, is reproduced on the highest value of the series, shown above. Rubens painted "Descent From the Cross" for the altar of the Antwerp cathedral in 1611, a year after his appointment as court painter of the Netherlands.

Other Rubens works which appear on stamps are paintings of his first wife, Isabella Brant, the artist's sons, his second wife, Helena Fourment, and her two children, a portrait of his sister-in-law and a self-portrait.

Rubens' home is depicted on the two other values of the series. The Hercules Pavilion of the residence is shown on the stamp, below.

Sooner Claims He Caught Crying Fish

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 16 (AP)—He has the corpus delicti. Frank Creasy wouldn't dare spin that yarn about the "whatsit" fish he hooked out of 30 feet of water in the Gulf of Mexico.

He has sent vivid descriptions to experts at leading aquariums but none has been able to identify his 4 1/2 inch fish.

On either side of the critter's body are bladders. The fish, Creasy says—and he's in no mood for levity, being a gent who takes his angling seriously—used three bladders to talk.

"It cried like a baby when I lifted it from the water," Creasy says. "Whatsit" has six legs, and they are most unusual: "Each of the legs lighted up—flashing on and off."

At the end of each leg is a claw similar to a cat's. "It fought like a bass when it hit my shrimp. It has wings (he pointed them out) which enable it to whip through the water faster than a trout."

The only similar fish science has catalogued is the "red gurnard," only known to exist in the British tropical seas. It does not have the wings or electric light that my fish has.

Then again it might be a Saphirin, but they're supposed to have gone out of existence about 200 years ago.

Creasy wishes "Whatsit" hadn't gobbled his shrimp and caused him all this worry.

Packed Stands Expected For New Party

Pampa Drops 4th Straight To Midland

The Pampa Oilers will return home tomorrow night for a big birthday party honoring Gordon Nell, who will be 32 years old. The party will be held at Road Runner park at 8:30 o'clock when a group of fans will present the home run king of the league with a purse and other gifts.

Although temporarily in a batting slump, the Oilers are expected to break loose when they get home and average four straight losses while on the road this trip.

The Oilers power can't be throttled for long, there's too much of it, fans declared yesterday after looking back and seeing that the Oilers have gotten only eight hits in their last three games after getting 14, including four home runs, on their fourth last game.

Fans getting up the birthday party for tomorrow night will set their sights on a packed grandstand. They anticipate a crowd of 2,000 fans which will fill the stands to capacity.

Large Crowd Expected
"Let every baseball fan in this section go out to Road Runner park tomorrow night and welcome the Oilers home," urged L. N. Atchison, chairman of the committee on arrangements, today. "Show them we are behind them and behind our Nell who is the powerhouse of the league and the most popular player in the league regardless of where he plays. We want every seat in Road Runner park filled to prove that he's the king in Pampa."

Not only Nell will receive gifts, but several fans will be in on the give-away at the game.

Every baseball fan in this section is being given an opportunity to take part in the birthday party. Boxes for money and gifts have been placed in the Pampa Office Supply on West Kingsmill avenue.

Big Nell had an opportunity to leave the Oilers when Tulsa waved a large sum of money at him but Nell decided he'd rather play ball in Pampa. "This is my second home and I like everybody, so why should I go somewhere else to play ball," was Nell's answer to Tulsa.

Nell Coming Back
And Nell is already making plans to go back here for the 1940 baseball season. He's got it all worked out how he can supervise the plowing and planting of his cotton crop.

Cus Halliburton got away to a bad start in the first inning last night when the Midland Cowboys scored their four runs and the Oilers were able to make only two the rest of the game. Halliburton limited the Cowboys to seven hits but his teammates were unable to collect bingles behind him.

The flight of the Lubbock Hubbards was temporarily halted last night by the Berger Gassers while Big Spring continued to climb with a win over Amarillo, putting them within 14 games of the Oilers. Lamesa tripped Clovis twice.

It was "Buz" Ross who tamed the Lubbock Hubbards. The third baseman for the Gassers will be remembered as the relief pitcher who held the Oilers to one run in eight innings here last week. Last night was the first time Ross had ever pitched a full game. He used to relieve for an inning or two when with Huber but he had never been a pitcher.

Summers (left) and Poffenberger (right) were the Oilers' out with a home run and again in the fourth with a double but no one else could get on base.

Bob Bailey, quiet first baseman, was chased from the game in the game when he got into an argument with Umpire Howell. That changed the Oiler line-up. Nell going to first base, Beavers behind the plate, Phillips to left field and Summers to right.

It was a home run pitched to Nararajo with the bases loaded in the opening inning that spelled doom for Halliburton who pitched great ball the rest of the way, allowing

Poffenberger Tells His Side Of Story

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 16 (AP)—Pek's Bad Boy of baseball hunched his brickyard laborer's shoulders and took his licking standing up to day when they busted him out of organized baseball for keeps.

Elwood Cletus (Boots) Poffenberger, the crossroads husky who went out with hay in his hair to stand big league batters on their ears—and took his licking standing up to day when they busted him out of organized baseball for keeps.

Lloyd Summers (left) and Poffenberger (right) were the Oilers' out with a home run and again in the fourth with a double but no one else could get on base.

Bob Bailey, quiet first baseman, was chased from the game in the game when he got into an argument with Umpire Howell. That changed the Oiler line-up. Nell going to first base, Beavers behind the plate, Phillips to left field and Summers to right.

It was a home run pitched to Nararajo with the bases loaded in the opening inning that spelled doom for Halliburton who pitched great ball the rest of the way, allowing

Guyenes Sale Disapproved By Bramham

The Pampa Oilers are not only in the midst of a batting slump but are having player troubles. The new worry hit the Oiler management late this morning when Business Manager Harold Miller received a telegram from W. G. Bramham, president of the minor league league, announcing that he was disapproving of the Guyenes-Malvia deal which sent Eddie Guyenes to Lamesa and brought Sam Malvia to Pampa.

President Bramham said the deal violated rule 11, section I, of the minor-league rules which prohibit the re-acquisition of a player's contract till after the selection period intervenes—whatever that means (said Miller).

The Oiler business manager had not checked up on that rule but he thought it had something to do with a team trading or selling a player and then re-acquiring his contract before a certain period of time had elapsed.

Since the deal, the Oilers acquired Joe Saporito, a class man for second base. Guyenes was a class man and Malvia a rookie which enables the Oilers to place a seasoned man at second base. Now, if Guyenes has to return to the Oilers and Malvia go back to Lamesa, the Oilers will have to release Saporito and secure a rookie second baseman, in order to come within the rookie limit.

However, the deadline for securing new players is today. Where does that leave the Oilers regarding securing a new player to fill out the roster? No one knows.

"Maybe we can buy Malvia outright from Lamesa and put either he or Guyenes on second," Miller remarked as his face lit up with the thought. "Wouldn't that be a combination?"

The Boston Bees were smitten by the one-run bugaboo again, dropping their 29th encounter of the season by that margin to the Phillies.

The only N. L. game not decided by a one-run margin went to the Dodgers, 8-5, over the New York Giants. The Dodgers won it in the easy way, piling up their runs in the first three innings and then coasting home.

The Detroit Tigers' combination of Buck Newsum's hurling and Benny McCoy's hitting was too much for the Cleveland Indians—12-3. Buck hurled three-hit ball and Benny drove home six runs.

Lynn Nelson of the Athletics caused the Boston Red Sox to slip when he wielded the whitewash brush to win a night game, 3-0. He allowed only four hits.

National Doubles In Third Round

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 16 (AP)—Heartened somewhat by yesterday's results, United States Davis Cup tennis players today as their 1939 hopes went into action in the third round of the national doubles tennis tourney.

Longword officials have given the foreign survivors of the men's division an extra day of rest while calling upon such favored domestic pairs as Frank Parker of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, and Bobby Riggs of Chicago, and Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., the Wimbledon finalist, to take to the courts and strive for quarter-final berths.

The top-seeded Parker and McNeill engaged Robert Peacock and Douglas Imhoff of San Francisco, the national intercollegiate champions, in one of today's third-rounders and Riggs and Cooke opposed such sturdy Southern rivals as Russell Bobbitt of Atlanta, and Frank Guernsey of Orlando, Fla., in the other men's match.

Babe Ritchie Will Fight Maxie Baer

DALLAS, Aug. 16 (AP)—Madedap Maxie Baer, the fading former heavyweight champion, has accepted a $10,000 guarantee to fight Babe Ritchie, husky ex-footballer, at Lubbock in mid-September.

Pup Thomas, Lubbock promoter, exhibited a telegram here signed by Ancl Hoffman, Baer's manager, which accepted terms for the fight. The date was set for September 15, although conflict with a Lubbock high school football game on that date may necessitate a switch.

Ritchie, who recently jolted King Listinsky to sleep in two rounds and who has shown great promise, is training in Dallas now under the guidance of Tony Herrera, once one of the cleverest lightweight champions known.

Pool, Lunch And Dance To Feature Golf Tournament

The biggest golf tournament ever staged in this section of the Panhandle is what the Top O' Texas Golf tournament, to be played over the Pampa Country club course August 21-24, is being called. The entertainment will also be tops with a Dutch lunch, Calcutta pool and a big dance.

The big invitation tournament begins next Monday with qualifying all day. At 5 p. m., there'll be a driving contest on the Number one fairway. The Dutch lunch will be held at 7:30 o'clock to be followed by the Calcutta pool. On Tuesday night there'll be the tournament dance.

An entry fee of $3 charged players in the tournament entitles them to practice the rest of the week, qualify and play throughout the tournament, to attend the Dutch lunch, Calcutta pool and the dance. A special ticket at $1 will entitle the holder to attend the three social events and to allow a companion to accompany him to the dance free of charge.

There'll be prizes in every flight. The champion will receive $100 in merchandise, the runner-up $50 in merchandise and the consolation winner $35 in merchandise.

There'll be hotshot golfers here from all over the southwest. Entries have been received already from players at Borger, Phillips, Amarillo, Dalhart, Shamrock, Clearmont, Memphis, Woodward, Sayre, Erick and Frederick, Okla.

Gene Root, pro at the Huber course in Borger, sent word yesterday that he would have 12 players in the tournament, including Dale Storie, defending champion. At least four will be here from Memphis, Clearmont, Woodward and Frederick. More than a dozen are scheduled to move in from Shamrock.

But don't sell the local boys short. The Pampa Country club will have such stars as the Austin brothers, Reg Greenhaw, Jimmie Richison, Mark Heath, C. F. McGinnis, Floyd Ward, Lefty Cox, Joe Parkinson, Larry Trenary and a bunch of others who will be knocking at the championship door.

And the good players will be in the minority because there's going to be flights for every player up, or down, to the newcomer. If a player shoots away over 100 there'll be a flight for him and there'll be prizes in every flight. Every dollar taken in will go into the prize and entertainment funds. There'll be no profit made on the tourney.

Also there'll be a flight for the old golfers—that is, players over 50 years.

Specter Of U. S. Control Seen In Oil Price Crisis

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
AUSTIN, Tex. 16 (AP)—In today's oil crisis, state conservation officials see the specter of federal control.

They believe the ability of the states to regulate the oil industry is facing a new test. If the states fall down, control by the federal government may be just around the corner.

If the states handle the situation well, federal control may be given a substantial back-set.

Officials referred to, specially, are Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission and chairman of the interstate oil compact commission, and Jerry Sadler, likewise a railroad commission member.

"The present crisis is the armageddon of oil production," Thompson said in an interview.

Sadler used the words "acid test." The point is, they explained, that states, by conservation laws and regulations, have held down production, on the theory this would stabilize prices.

But, despite the fact crude stocks are at the lowest point in 12 years and demand for gasoline is at a record high point, major purchasing companies have slashed prices.

Jokes Palm Hitching
If prices can be summarily reduced in spite of state cooperation and production control, then the state plan of proration must be a failure. It follows something else might be tried.

The something else most likely, in the opinion of Thompson and Sadler, is control by the federal government. A bill which gives the federal government limited control over the industry was introduced in congress near the end of the last session.

"Secretary Licks is just sitting up there with itching palm, waiting to get his hands on oil," said Sadler.

First Gun Is 'Fired'
Gubernatorial rivals write each other letters.

Has the first serious blast in the next campaign for governor been fired? Many about the capitol think so.

Reference is to Thompson's urging Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to call a special session of the legislature to consider financing social security by an additional tax on crude oil.

En route to Austin from a national guard training camp Saturday, Thompson dictated a 300-word letter to the governor, Monday he delivered a radio speech over a statewide hookup.

In letter and speech he called for higher taxes on oil and reiterated opposition to a sales tax. An adequate tax on oil would make a sales tax unnecessary, he said.

The reason for writing the letter and delivering the speech when he did unquestionably was the oil situation, admittedly serious. Quick action was necessary, if it was to be taken.

But in making his plea to O'Daniel and explaining it over the radio, everyone hereabouts agrees he certainly sketched possible issues between him and the governor should they once again become candidates.

For example, he said: "That the governor disagrees with me on the method of financing social security does not make him right nor me wrong. I personally, have always been fundamentally opposed to taxing poverty to relieve need. . . that he recommended a sales tax is an issue between you and him."

Replying to Thompson, also via letter—their offices on the second floor of the capital adjoin—O'Daniel said that since the legislature had failed to levy any taxes at the recent general session he could see no good reason in calling it into a special session for the same purpose.

O'Daniel Takes Crack
The governor also took a thimble

crack at Thompson's absence at the start of the oil crisis. Thompson is a colonel in the national guard and was training at Palacios when the Sinclair-Prairie company cut the price of oil. He rushed to his offices, when the situation became worse, without changing from his field uniform, and the word "militant" accurately describes his activity in trying to arouse public sentiment and rally opposition to the price reduction.

O'Daniel wrote Thompson he was "glad to know that you have finally decided to aid them (other members of the railroad commission) in their work."

Speech Trial Balloon
Some observers believe Thompson's radio speech was a trial balloon on the reception to which would depend his decision whether to make another try for the governorship.

O'Daniel stays clear of oil problem details.

Despite the proximity of their offices, O'Daniel and Thompson did not confer on the oil situation.

Thompson, incidentally, was reappointed to the interstate oil compact by O'Daniel, and actually is O'Daniel's personal representative on the commission. The governor of each compact member state is its official representative of that state.

Thompson said, he was available to the governor at all times and sat in his office awaiting a call. "The governor hasn't commented on that point."

With just whom the governor did confer on oil conditions, if anyone, has not been brought out. All the activity seemed to press correspondents to be in the railroad commission offices.

O'Daniel informed the governor of Oklahoma in effect the latter had telephoned—he was leaving it all up to the commission because the legislature had given the commission the duty of supervising oil and he would not step in until the commission had failed.

Former Gov. Dan Moody, attorney for major oil companies, was much in evidence about the capital. He said he did not talk to O'Daniel.

O'Daniel summoned and talked with Commissioner Sadler but the latter insisted they did not discuss oil.

Thanksgiving Day Celebrated In 1622 On July 30
PLYMOUTH, Mass., Aug. 16 (AP)—While opponents and proponents of President Roosevelt's proposal to advance the date of Thanksgiving day a week continued to clash today, the archives of this ancient home of the holiday's originators disclosed wide variance in the date of the observance was a matter of little moment to the pilgrim fathers.

In fact, they liked it in December and they liked it in July—and in October and November as well.

Of course, the Plymouth settlers did not have the convenience of business to consider, or football schedules either, when they held their first observance after the harvest back in 1621, presumably in October. The exact date has not been recorded.

In 1622 the observance was held

Comment On Thanksgiving Day Change

(By The Associated Press.)
Several governors today commented on President Roosevelt's announcement that he would advance the date of Thanksgiving from Nov. 30 to Nov. 23.

Iowa—Gov. George A. Wilson (R) said if he had anything to say about it, the date would remain Nov. 30.

Rhode Island—Gov. William H. Vanderbilt (R) said "there appears to be some common sense in the idea."

Massachusetts—Gov. Leverett Saltonstall (R) said "I shall hesitate a long time before I make a change."

West Virginia—Gov. Homer Holt (D) said he probably would follow President Roosevelt's lead and advance Thanksgiving day to Nov. 23.

Ohio—Gov. John W. Bricker (R) said "sure, I will conform; there would be no sense in each state observing separate dates."

Pennsylvania—Gov. Arthur H. James (R) said "under the circumstances I shall follow his (Roosevelt's) lead."

Wyoming—Gov. Nels H. Smith (R) said: "I see no reason for any change. However, this much may be said, it is the first time the president has done something that hasn't cost the taxpayers a lot of money."

Wyoming law requires observance on the date designated by the President.

Oklahoma—Gov. Leon C. Phillips (D) will proclaim Thanksgiving on the usual date. "Business and churches and people and turkeys," he commented, "are tuned to the last Thursday in November."

Drill Held By LeFors Firemen

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS.
LEFORS, Aug. 15—Twenty of LeFors' volunteer firemen met last night for a fire drill in the city square. Fire Chief D. M. Jones gave the instructions as to how the drill should be carried out. The drill consisted of straight hose practice, which was the first for any of the firemen.

The Ritsley Truck and Implement company of Pampa donated an old bus to the department and work will begin soon on remodeling the bus, making a first class fire truck. The fire truck is expected to be ready for use at the next meeting, August 28.

Fire Chief D. M. Jones announced that plans will be made for a house for the truck at the next meeting.

New equipment which is to be added included a pump, 150 feet of hose, a siren, two ladders, two fire extinguishers, an ax and a crowbar.

July 30, which must have precluded the garnishing of the traditional turkey with cranberries, which would be far from mature so early.

Some turkey growers have complained a date earlier than Nov. 30 would be injurious to their industry. Others said it would make no difference.

Among objectors to the president's manipulation of the calendar are Plymouth's five select men, none of whom is a Mayflower descendant.

California Governor Agrees With Facts In Steinbeck's 'Okie' Novel

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 16 — Governor Culbert L. Olsen of California declared today that "California's new state administration proposes to abolish the dole and to put the poverty-stricken to work producing their food, clothing and shelter. We propose to let them process and consume surplus commodities, to let them earn their own way. But we need the help of the federal government."

Governor Olson's statement appeared as part of an article entitled "California's Answer to 'The Grapes of Wrath'" which he wrote for Look magazine, released today.

Presenting the story behind John Steinbeck's best-selling "Grapes of Wrath," Look declared that: "For a few dollars a day and a few days work a week, more than 300,000 migrant laborers travel up and down the highways of California harvesting cotton, fruit and vegetables as each crop ripens. Three or four workers vie for every job. Whole families travel together, usually earning less than $40 a year. Their rattletrap cars eat a good share of that, but without their cars they couldn't follow the crops. There are perhaps a million such migrants. Washington, Oregon, Texas, Florida, and even New Jersey have them. But in California their problem is most acute. Most of these people were Martin building on Main street formerly occupied by Dunlap and Co. Mrs. Lassiter also stated that the theme of the exhibits would be built around the Texas food standards.

The County Council will have their display food needed for one person for 365 days in a year for a safe diet. They will show in their display how to gain the necessary amount of foods in the daily diet, showing that each person needs 91 gallons of milk, 30 dozen eggs, 175 pounds meat, 200 pounds potatoes, 200 pounds green or yellow vegetables, 200 pounds citrus fruit, 200 pounds other fruits; 170 pounds grain products, 20 pounds butter, 70 pounds sweets and 15 pounds dried peas and beans.

The individual displays at the fair will include canned products, clothing and home improvement projects. Judges for these exhibits will be Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, Gray county home demonstration agent and Miss Bernice Westbrook, Hutchinson county home demonstration agent.

A flower show open to all growers will be held the first day of the fair. Bouquets will be used and details of the flower show will be announced later, according to Mrs. Lassiter.

Japan leads all other countries in production of raw silk. China and Italy are next, in the order named.

THE KIWANIS CLUB ENCOUNTERS A DIFFICULTY
ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—The Kiwanis club attendees prize, so eagerly sought, was hard to give away here on one occasion.
Ray Johnson, manager of radio station WDBJ, offered 15 minutes of free time as a prize. The first four names drawn were those of doctors whose code of ethics does not permit them to advertise.

THIS YEAR THOUSANDS HAVE COMPARED AND SWITCHED TO FORD V-8!

	THEY COMPARED BRAKES and found the Ford hydraulic brakes the biggest ever used on a low-priced car. Greatest in total braking area. The only ones with 12-inch drums.		THEY COMPARED RIDES and found Ford levellest in starts and stops and on the turns and over rough going. Its passenger ride-base, on transverse springs, is much the longest at the price.
	THEY COMPARED ENGINES and found the Ford V-8 fastest, most powerful, and the best all-round performer at the price. It's the only low-priced V-8 in the world.		THEY COMPARED COSTS and found the 85 horsepower Ford V-8 gave more miles per gallon in this year's Gilmore-Yosemite run than any other leading low-priced car.
	THEY COMPARED CHASSIS and found Ford the steadiest riding because it's the only car at the price with Torque-tube Drive and 4 radius rods for fully stabilized ride.		THEY COMPARED QUALITY and found Ford alone at this price using valve seats on all valves, semi-centrifugal clutch, and a lot of other things that spell fine car engineering!

For low-cost transportation at its best—now as always
