Retail Sales Gain 4.3 Per Cent In City

Pampa One Of Few Cities In Texas Showing Increase

Pampa was one of the few cities in Texas with populations between 10,000 and 25,000 where the dollar sales of independent retail stores showed an increase in August over July, according to the commerce department at Washington.

In the same bracket, Brownsville had the largest increase, of 12.4 per cent, while Lubbock showed the greatest decrease, 10 per cent.

Cities in the population class showed no change as a group, however.

All other population groups showed slight gains.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29. (AP)—The Commerce department reported today that the dollar sales of independent retail stores in Texas during August were 5.2 per cent larger than in July and 1.8 per cent higher than in August of 1938.

Cities with populations between 25,000 and 50,000 enjoyed the greatest gain. They averaged sales increases of 8.9, accounted for by an increase of 24.3 per cent gain registered by Corpus Christi over August of 1938, and an increase of 10.9 shown by Amarillo merchants.

The other two cities in that population group shown in the report registered losses. They were San Angelo with a drop of 1.5 per cent and Wichita Falls with a drop of 10.7 per cent.

Cities of 10,000 to 25,000 showed no change as a group, although individual cities registered great changes. Brownsville had an increase of 12.4 per cent; Harlingen 12 per cent; Pampa, 4.3 per cent.

Abilene showed a loss of 5.3 per cent, Lubbock a loss of 10 per cent, and Tyler a loss of 9 per cent.

Ranch Hand Lays For Three Hours With Broken Leg

While W. J. Goldston lay in the hot sun with a fractured leg, his friend Bobby Dawson rode horses for nearly three hours seeking help yesterday. Goldston suffered the injury when the team of horses he was driving ran away on the A. R. Northcutt ranch, where they were working, on the south bank of the Canadian river northwest of Pampa.

Unable to place the injured youth in the wagon, Dawson un hitched one of the horses and started looking for help. He found several ranch houses but no one was at home. Finally he located a Mr. Perry who accompanied him to where young Goldston was lying. They brought him to Worley hospital about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Goldston and Dawson came here a few weeks ago from Briscoe county and were unfamiliar with the country around where they were working. As a result, young Dawson didn't know where to locate help. He said he changed horses twice and rode miles and miles before meeting Mr. Perry.

Goldston, who is 23 years old, was resting well at Worley hospital this afternoon although suffering from shock and exposure.

Nazi Officer Denies Capture By British

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (AP)—A German naval officer, who said in a broadcast from Berlin last night he was commander of the U-boat which sank the British freighter Royal Scepter, laughed at reports of the British admiralty that he had been captured.

The German identified himself as Lieut. Capt. Herbert Schultze. He spoke over the Columbia Broadcasting system network in an interview conducted by William L. Shirer, CBS correspondent in Berlin.

CBS officials said Schultze's identity was vouched for by the German government, but that they had no independent way of checking it.

You've Got To Make Up Your Own Minds On News--It's All Censored

ATTENTION, READERS OF THE NEWS! You've got to make up your own minds as to the truth of news dispatches from the warring and some of the neutral nations of Europe, and it wouldn't do any good for The News to label news stories published in this newspaper "censored" or "probably propaganda" or "probably true," as some other newspapers are doing, because every story that comes from those countries is censored, cut to the bone, re-written probably, and changed about to the complete satisfaction of Stalin, Hitler, Daladier, Chamberlain, Mussolini and the others.

If all the news that comes from Berlin, Moscow, London, Rome is censored how can anyone tell what is propaganda and what is not? You, the readers, are just as good judges as the editors or the broadcasters. Each may have his own opinion of what is propaganda, half-truth or truth, and each may be right or he may be wrong.

So it's up to the readers. In America you're "on the inside" just as much as anybody else. You must be a juror who reads both sides, takes the veracity of the witness into consideration and then arrives at a verdict. You make up your mind about O'Daniel and Roosevelt; you make up your mind about everything you do; you're a citizen of a democracy—you are capable of making up your mind on this war, or reserving your opinion until more evidence is in—as most people are now doing.

So if one headline in the News says that the Germans are losing heavily near the Lauter river, and another says that the French artillery has never fired into the Siegfried line, bear in mind the censors, and do like your neighbor: wait for more evidence. But nobody can presume to tell you what is truth and what is propaganda when ALL the news from the warring nations is censored.

The things we don't know about the war in Europe are more interesting than the tag-ends of information which the censors have chosen to release.

For instance, how many are dead in Poland? A French source says the Germans lost 100,000 casualties. German official figures are not yet released, but they are certain to be far below half this figure. How many Poles died? How many soldiers? Civilians? Women? Children? We do not know.

Lions Carnival Tent Will Go Up Monday

The big top of the Lions club annual benefit show, the Lions club carnival, will go up Monday on the Santa Fe property south of West Atchison. It was announced at the Pampa Lions club regular weekly luncheon, held at noon Thursday in the basement of the First Methodist church.

Dr. R. M. Brown, Arthur M. Dr. R. M. Brown and Frank Culbertson were named as a committee to arrange for the Lions participation in a Lions-Rotary-Kiwanis golf tourney, to be played in three games, with members of the three clubs alternating as caddies for each other. Caddies are each to be paid 75 cents and proceeds are to go into the funds of the three clubs. City Attorney Walter E. Rogers made a talk on the effect of the European war on the United States.

An announcement of Go-To-Church Sunday, October 15, was made by Paul D. Hill.

Attendance at the meeting was 65, including six guests, County Attorney Joe Gordon, Mr. Hill, members of the Go-To-Church Sunday committee, Harold Miller, of the Danziger Oil & Refineries, Inc., Ernest Caber, curricula supervisor of Pampa schools, Dick Livingston, Baker school coach, and H. Humble Owes Chain Taxes, Mann Charges

$730,130 Owed On Filling Stations, Says Attorney

AUSTIN, Sept. 29. (AP)—The attorney general's department today notified Comptroller George H. Sheppard the Humble Oil and Refining company at Houston owes the State of Texas $730,130 as delinquent chain store taxes on approximately 250 filling stations.

In a letter to the comptroller, Attorney General Gerald C. Mann said a four month investigation revealed the stations were being operated by the Houston corporation, adding:

"We believe that the evidence that we have gathered fully supports our conclusion that the Humble Oil and Refining company owes to the state the sum of $730,130 as chain store taxes which it has failed to report and pay."

Mann requested Sheppard to demand payment of the taxes.

"In the event this company does not comply with our demand, please advise this office and we shall take legal action to collect them," Mann said.

The chain store impost which became operative in 1936 ranges from $1 to a maximum of $750 on individual units in a chain of stores and other merchandising outlets.

Mann said investigators had gathered evidence in all sections of the state and a staff of assistant attorneys general and auditors recently spent more than a month in Houston examining files and records of the corporation.

U. S. Experts Don't Believe Bombers Sunk British Ship

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29. (AP)—The disputed raid of German bombers on a British sea force included military experts here today to the view that the Nazis may weaken but will not break the British naval blockade with airplanes.

Until the final reports are in, these experts are accepting Winston Churchill's statement that the North Sea attack by a score or so aircraft was beaten off without damage.

If German claims should be borne out that a British aircraft carrier was sunk and a battleship crippled, a lot of experts will be confounded and there may have to be a searching revision of American defense strategy.

Congress voted a billion dollar expansion of the fleet last year largely on the strength of official assurances that a bomber can sink a battleship but probably will not, and that a navy still rules at sea.

Germany, by all indications, intends ultimately to employ her aerial might to the full, at sea as well as on land. Far more spectacular raids may thus be expected than Tuesday's North Sea attack, the onslaught on a British cruiser off the Scottish coast reported yesterday, and the British air raid on German naval bases which was started.

Bombing of the merchant ship convoys keeping England fed is in prospect also.

Property Valuations Increase Announced

AUSTIN, Sept. 29. (AP)—The comptroller's department announced today reports from counties indicated a substantial increase in assessed property valuations.

Final reports from 82 out of 254 counties showed an overall increase of $37,537,523 and an overall decrease of $3,480,858, or a net increase of $34,056,665.

With assessments totaling $291,068,430, Dallas reported an increase in assessed values over last year of $3,099,000. Other "big city" counties had not been heard from.

Largest increases reported was in Ector county, which showed $23,852,400 this year compared with $17,749,250 last.

Yoakum county reported the largest percentage gain, or well over 100 per cent. Assessed valuations were $10,616,570 for 1939 and $4,756,400 for 1938.

Sone Asks Citizens To Play In Orchestra

Calling all musicians! Here's your big chance to play in a real orchestra. You are not only invited but you are urged to become a member of the Pampa High school and civic orchestra which was directed by Herbert Miller, director of the Sam Houston band and the high school orchestra.

Yesterday membership in the orchestra was thrown open to all musicians in this territory. So if you play a violin, a viola, a cello, a flute, a clarinet, an oboe, a bassoon, a French horn, a trumpet, a tuba, a trombone, get in touch with Mr. Miller at Sam Houston school or at the high school. It doesn't make any difference whether you are 15 or 50 if you can half-way play your instrument. Supt. L. H. Sone and Mr. Miller want you in that orchestra.

Rehearsals will be held on Monday and Thursday evenings. The rehearsal hall has not been selected but will probably be the band room in the Red building.

It was decided to invite adult musicians who are citizens of this territory to play in the orchestra because there were not enough high school students to form an orchestra. It is also believed the orchestra will develop into a worthwhile community asset.

"There are probably many business men and women in our city who play orchestral instruments and

France Pays No Attention To Latest Threat

PARIS, Sept. 29. (AP)—French spokesmen today reaffirmed the determination of France and Britain to continue their war on the Nazi regime despite the implied threat of the Moscow accord of joint German-Russian action to make them sue for peace.

The nation awaited peace moves by the two great eastern powers, moves which were considered inevitable sequels to the Moscow agreement partitioning Poland, declaring for an end of war on German-Russian terms, pledging Russian-German economic cooperation.

A statement by Havas, news agency with close government connections, keynoted the French reaction: "France and Britain entered the war to halt the realization of Germany's Hegemony. They are fighting for their security and for the security of all civilized states which Germany wishes to dominate and menaces."

Observers Can't See Soviet Army Fighting

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The new Russo-German pact is labeled by informed circles in Paris and London as an ultimatum to the Anglo-French allies to make peace on Hitler's terms or take the consequences.

It is backed by what is described as a "velvet threat" that if the Allies don't acquiesce the Soviet may throw its vast military machine into the war to support Germany.

Russia Gains Baltic Hold Thru Estonia

Soviet Virtually Takes Over North Baltic Republic

MOSCOW, Sept. 29. (AP)—In a new treaty of friendship with Germany, signed early today, Soviet Russia promised economic support in war and at the same time committed herself to consult on joint "measures" with Germany unless Great Britain and France agree to peace.

Overseers took the reference to "measures" as an implied threat of possible military aid against Germany's enemies in the west.

Shortly before the Russian-German treaty was signed, Russia announced conclusion of sweeping military and trade agreements with her little Baltic neighbor, Estonia, once part of the Russian empire.

Thus Russia gained a firm military and economic hold over the North Baltic and greatly increased her influence over the Gulf of Riga, where Latvia's port is situated; the Gulf of Finland and the Gulf of Bothnia, vital commercially to Sweden and Finland.

Russia won the right to fortify two strategic Estonian islands—Saare Maa (Oesel) and Hiiuma (Dagoe)—and the mainland port of Paldiski as naval and air bases.

To Increase Trade

The ties with Estonia give the U. S. S. R. the right to create naval and air bases and maintain a "limited number" of troops on Estonian territory, along with economic privileges which, it was estimated, would increase Russian-Estonian trade by four and one-half times.

The people took the alarm calmly, generally moving without panic to designated shelters.

Allies Warned To Make Peace With Hitler 'Or Else'

MOSCOW, Sept. 29. (AP)—Soviet Russia and Germany in a series of three agreements teamed up today to try to compel Britain and France to make peace on German terms, partitioned Poland with a hands-off warning to the rest of the world and projected an economic program by which the Nazis would get Russian raw materials.

Soviet Russia at almost the same time announced a 10-year mutual assistance pact with Estonia, making the little republic in effect a protectorate of her large neighbor by giving Russia the right to establish naval and air bases and Soviet garrisons on Estonian soil.

The accord thus greatly extended Russian power in the North Baltic. A trade agreement with Estonia also was reached.

The Nazi-Communist agreements, concluded by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov and Joseph Stalin, included what was interpreted as an implied threat of possible Russian military aid for Germany unless Britain and France agreed to peace.

BERLIN, Sept. 29. (AP)—The division of Poland between Germany and Soviet Russia completed, the two powers today confronted Britain and France with peace overtures backed by a threat they would "consult each other as to necessary measures" unless the western powers agreed to end hostilities.

Adolf Hitler's axis partner, Premier Mussolini, appeared chosen for the role of "peacemaker" in the opinion of informed quarters. Those sources pointed out Italy ranks first among the "friendly powers" mentioned in the German-Russian accord.

The new German-Russian border gives Germany more territory than the recent line of military occupation, making the River Bug the chief element of the boundary.

The military mopping up in Poland was nearly completed, but the German high command announced the actual entry of Nazi troops into surrendered Warsaw recently would not begin until Oct. 2. The Polish troops, disarmed, will begin to march out tonight, it was announced, but two or three days are needed to arrange details of the turnover.

The new Moscow accord, as reported by the official German agency, DNB, accomplished these things: The treaty, according to the agency's text:

1. Put Germany and Russia side by side in urging France and Britain to end the war and, if they refuse, in cooperating to restore peace.

2. Established a mutual German-Russian frontier in conquered Poland, wiping that country from Europe's map.

3. Pledged Germany and Russia to work out an economic program so that "the volume of the German-Soviet exchange of goods will again attain a high peak."

War Debt Problems Up In Neutrality Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29. (AP)—Chairman Pittman (D.-Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee said today the administration's neutrality bill would modify the Johnson act forbidding loans to nations in default on World War debts.

Senator Johnson (R.-Calif.) promptly announced he would offer an amendment to the bill to prevent it from conflicting with the anti-loan act.

Pittman said he thought the Johnson act would be modified by a provision of the new bill permitting 90-day credits to belligerent governments.

"The Johnson act was passed in peacetime," Pittman said. "We are now facing a new condition in Europe."

He added that because Germany was not classed as a war debt defaulter it could, so far as that act was concerned, borrow all the money American citizens were willing to lend. On the other hand, he said, Great Britain and France could obtain no advances unless the Johnson act was modified.

Greater Production In Mexico Reported

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 29 (AP)—Mexico's industrial and agricultural production is today greater than in past years, Secretary of National Economy Efraim Buenrostro told a meeting of business men. "In agriculture," he said, "the zones under cultivation are greater than ever before."

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—Reeling and traders' wariness kept many sections of the stock market in the red today and some pivotal issues lost fractions to around 2 points.

Business got away to a fast start but slowed thereafter. Transfers approximated 1,500,000 shares.

Founding of the erstwhile leaders lent opportunity to switch into otherwise neglected divisions.

There was some improvement among the metals, automobile equipments and New York fractions.

At the finish prices were better than their lows for the day. At one time losses ran to as much as 2 1/2.

Foreign markets were inactive and inclined to weakness but steadied toward the close. Weakness at Amsterdam was said to have been due to "foreign" liquidation.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—Corn prices tumbled more than 1 cent as a result today as farmers sold almost 300,000 bushels to Chicago dealers. It was the largest loadings of corn to come here from the country in more than a year, falling to around 50 cents a bushel. December corn reached its lowest level since September 1.

Finland Quaking In Her Boots As Reds Grab Estonia

HELSINKI, Finland, Sept. 29. (AP)—Soviet Russia's shove into the German sea "Gulfstream" through a military assistance pact with Estonia today set a shiver of apprehension throughout the Baltic states.

The 10-year pact permitting Russia to establish naval bases and airbases on the Estonian islands of Saaremaa (Oesel) and Hiiuma (Dagoe) and in the port town of Paldiski (Baltiskil) put Russia into a position to become boss of the Baltic.

Latvia already has created a comit of state for defense, and other northern states appeared likely to take precautionary action.

The Finnish press asserted Chancellor Hitler planned to ask Stalin's participation in a peace ultimatum to England and France.

If the ultimatum should be refused, the newspapers said, Hitler was prepared to give Russia all of Poland except pre-World War German areas in return for military assistance.

Repeal Of Arms Embargo Within 3 Weeks Predicted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Criticism of the administration neutrality bill came unexpectedly from a few senators who have approved its basic principle—repeal of the arms embargo.

Sponsors of the measure were confident, however, a majority of the senate favored it. They predicted passage would come within three weeks after the start of debate Monday.

The senate foreign relations committee approved the legislation 16 to 7 yesterday, but arranged another meeting today to act on the wording of various amendments.

Besides carrying out President Roosevelt's recommendation that belligerents be permitted to purchase arms, munitions and implements of war in the United States, major provisions of the bill would:

1. Limit credit to belligerent governments on all purchases in this country to 90 days. There would be no restriction on credits allowed private citizens and companies of belligerent nations, but the munitions control board would advise Congress every six months regarding the nature and extent of those, and Congress could restrict them if it deemed advisable.
2. Require belligerents to take title to all goods purchased in this country and carry them home in their own or other non-American ships.
3. Permit the President to designate "combat areas" in which American citizens and ships could not travel.

Taft Opposes Provisions
Senator Taft (R-Ohio), a supporter of the embargo repeal, told reporters the credit restrictions should apply to individuals residing in belligerent countries as well as to belligerent governments.

"Under this bill," he said, "there would be no reason why a privately-owned munitions company could not buy all the goods it wanted on whatever terms it could get."

Taft also criticized provisions which would prevent American vessels from carrying cargoes or passengers to such territories of belligerents as New Zealand and Australia.

"I think the law should declare a general war zone around Europe," he said, "and should permit free operation of American shipping in other areas."

Colorado's two Democratic senators—Adams and Johnson—voiced disapproval of some of the bill's provisions. Both have supported the principle of arms embargo repeal.

Outrageous Adams called the measure "outrageous" and told reporters he would offer an amendment to eliminate every provision except that repealing the arms embargo. He said the bill would surrender the traditional American policy of freedom of the seas and complained particularly of a provision imposing jail sentences on Americans who traveled in forbidden combat areas.

Johnson criticized the credit provisions, saying: "There is nothing to keep an individual in a belligerent country from buying in large quantities and turning the goods over to the government."

He said also war zones should be designated by the belligerents themselves instead of by the President.

The committee tightened up the credit provisions to some extent by making it clear that credits could not be granted for more than 90 days and by specifying that belligerent governments which did not pay their bills in that period could not obtain further credit.

It also revamped the shipping section to permit American vessels and airplanes to carry passengers to British and French ports in the Caribbean and South America, to refuel in those ports, and to transport goods—such as airplane parts—which might be necessary for repair work. Neither armaments nor other cargoes could be unloaded at belligerent ports.

Subs Driven From Shipping Routes, British Announce

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—German submarines were said in an authoritative statement today to "have been driven from thickly dotted shipping routes" around the British coast.

"In less than a month," the statement declared, "they have found the pace too hot from them and have retreated from much-used shipping channels and are now forced to operate much further out in the open sea where the 'catch' is bound to be a much smaller one."

The Ministry of Information announced that during yesterday and last night Royal Air Force aircraft carried out further reconnaissance over Germany and the western front.

"In spite of opposition," the announcement said, "valuable information was obtained. All aircraft returned safely."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE TEMPTATION OF JESUS
Text: Matthew 4:1-11
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Jesus, according to the writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews, was "in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin." He bases upon this fact the sympathy and understanding of the Master as a great high priest who is "touching with a feeling of our infirmities."

Here we have in our lesson the specific story of the temptation of Jesus. We think of this as a three-fold incident in His life: the temptation when He was hungry, to make stones into bread; the temptation to cast Himself down from the pinnacle of the temple, trusting to the sacredness of His body and person to protect Him; and the temptation to find all the kingdoms of the world under His sway if He would fall down and worship the tempter.

It would be a mistake to think of this three-fold incident as constituting all the temptation in the life of the Master. On the contrary, we have evidence that He was assailed with weakness and temptation again, and again, even as we are. There were times when He went into the mountains and continued all night in prayer to God, times when unquestionably He felt His weakness and some temptation incident to His real humanity. There was that final hour of agony and temptation in the garden of Gethsemane, when it required all the resources of prayer and discipline to enable Him to say as He prayed that the final cup of suffering might pass from Him. "Nevertheless not as I will, but as Thou wilt."

This story of the temptation, following His baptism and at the outset of His ministry, would seem to have some special place and significance. What was His real meaning and significance? Was it not the sort of temptation that every man, great or small, feels at some stage in his career, frequently at the beginning?

Every such man is assailed with a sense of human weakness. Moses felt it when he shrank from the responsibility to which God called him. The greatest prophets of Israel felt it, even in the hour of their destiny and call. It is said that Thomas Carlyle, who was not a religious man in the conventional sense of the term, experienced in his early life a crucial turning point which he compared to the Christian experience of conversion. It was a facing of the question whether his life was to be simply for the sake of a career and the fulfillment of worldly ambition, or whether it was to have some deeper and nobler purpose. John Stuart Mill, who was the Christian faith and way, experienced much the same thing.

If this experience of crucial decision had an important place in the lives of such men, how much more must it be in the lives of those who have a sense of a Christian call and a Christian work!

The world today has plenty of evidence of those who have renounced the mission of godliness and service and life saving, or dreams of power, to be realized through violence and hate. It is the great significant fact of all human history that the greatest and best of all men, in the hour of trial and temptation, chose the way that enabled Him to say with truthfulness of His mission to men, "I am come that they might have life and that they may have it more abundantly."

BTU Association Will Meet Sunday

Palo Duro Baptist Training Union association will meet with Central Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

State leaders will speak and plans will be completed for the B. T. U. revival next week.

Two speakers, Dr. Clay I. Hudson of Nashville and Dr. T. C. Gardner of Dallas, will lead the conferences along with Mrs. George Charles of Longview, Mrs. A. Adamick, and Robert Patterson of Pampa.

FDR Sees No Public Interest In War Industrial Plans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today that, since the United States was not in the war and was not going into it, he saw no public interest at this time in war and industrial mobilization plans being considered by various government and private boards.

Frequent attempts by reporters to get the chief executive to talk about these war policy and industrial plans evoked presidential reiteration that reports were brought up to date from time to time and since this country was not a party and did not intend to become a party to the present conflict there was no reason to make public the reports.

The President said army and navy boards prepare defense plans every year.

From time to time, he added, special boards, such as the present war resources board, take up other phases that fit in with the defense plans.

French Report Destruction Of 12 German Subs

PARIS, Sept. 29 (AP)—An official report that 12 German submarines had been sunk by the British and French fleets in less than a month was disclosed today.

The president of the Chamber of Deputies naval commission told the chamber last night British units had sunk 10 U-boats and the French two.

Military observers said the rate of destruction was in excess of the rapidity with which Germany could replace submarines and train new personnel.

The official disclosure coincided with military reports that French bombing planes were carrying out missions of "capital importance" nightly against German military objectives.

The general staff reported today the night had been "calm" along the entire western front, but that French advance guards were active in the sector west of Saarbruecken where a small German attack was reported yesterday to have failed.

The German-Soviet Russian agreement on partition of Poland and the possibility of greater cooperation between Moscow and Berlin may decide the Allies' future strategy.

Informed French circles said they expected a German "peace ultimatum" as the result of the agreement, behind which lay the shadow of the Russian military machine. The same circles made it clear they believed France and Britain would refuse any such offer.

Indications the French were expecting the war to take a bolder turn were seen in repeated warnings through the press that all who were able should leave Paris.

UNREALITY WILL BE SUBJECT OF LESSON
"Unreality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 1.

The golden text is: "There is that maketh himself rich, yet hath nothing; there is that maketh himself poor, yet hath great riches." (Proverbs 13:7).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty. . . . Both riches and honour come of Thee, and Thou reignest over all; and in Thine hand is power and might; and in Thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all." (I Chronicles 29:11, 12).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Material sense has its realm apart from Science in the unreal. . . . What is termed material sense can report only a mortal temporary sense of things, whereas spiritual sense can bear witness only to Truth." (pages 480, 298).

'Invisible Government Of Oil Monopoly' Is Charged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—John B. Dalley of Houston, told the monopoly committee today "dominant interests" in the Texas oil fields had formed an "invisible government of oil monopoly" which was "confiscating" oil under his family's property.

The Texas Railroad commission, Dalley said, had refused to grant a permit for drilling a well in the old ocean field on a twenty-acre tract owned by his family for about twenty years.

The refusal, he said, was based on a state law requiring construction of wells at specified distances apart. But he contended he should have been granted an exception made possible by the statute.

Dalley summarized orally a prepared statement he filed with the committee. In the statement, he asserted that "under the administration of the Texas Railroad commission grave abuses have arisen."

"The fact that the fee owners of a 20-acre tract in one of the greatest oil fields in the world on the Gulf Coast of Texas cannot get a permit to drill a well on their own property," he said, "while the operators themselves can get exceptions to the spacing rule order, in a number of cases without any delay, is an indication of a grave situation and one which is not unnatural in view of the fact that distasteful power over one-half of the oil reserves of the United States has in recent years been maneuvered into the hands of one man, a political official."

"The invisible government of oil monopoly appears to be stronger than the government of Texas and it may be stronger than the government of the United States."

Tiemann Named Public Weigher Of Precinct 2

Gray county now has a public weigher, as a result of an order passed by the county commissioners at their meeting yesterday, under which a $2,500 bond of A. A. Tiemann of Pampa for the office of public weigher of precinct 2 was approved.

This is believed to be the first time Gray county has had a public weigher, in the opinion of County Judge Sherman White. Each precinct is entitled to have a weigher, but to date precinct 2 (Pampa) is the only district of the county with such an office, the county judge said.

Mr. Tiemann's job will be to weigh cotton, wool, sugar, grain, hay and pecans, according to the conditions outlined in the bond, which is signed by E. S. Carr, W. T. Wilke, and the public weigher. Reimbursement of the weigher is a fee of 10 cents on each weight sheet, Judge White said.

Other business transacted at the commissioners' meeting Thursday consisted of an order to pay the treasurer of the United States $648.95 for barbed wire used along right-of-way on the Pampa-McLean road, amending of the budget to provide $200 salary for extra deputy hire, and approval of four paupers monthly payments, at $7.50, $15, $18, and $22.50.

NEW MINISTER

The Rev. B. A. Norris of Washington, Pa., arrived today to become minister of the First Christian church. Rev. Norris was born in central Kansas and received his B. He was accompanied to Pampa by Mrs. Norris and their son, who is four years of age.

Drought Threatens 'War' Wheat Crop

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—A fall drought which has overspread the farm belt threatened today the first American "war crop" of wheat since 1918.

Days without rain or with only scattered showers have created the worst fall drought in years for some sections, a survey showed.

The drought has delayed soil preparation and wheat planting well beyond normal dates. Wheat farmers in the southwest drilled seed into the dust and hastened to apply for federal crop insurance.

In sections already sown to wheat the drought has prevented or retarded germination.

Livestock pastures apparently will be available for cattle and unless rains come soon winter winds may play havoc with plowed land bare of top growth.

The farm belt survey showed excessively dry spots in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas as well as in scattered areas of Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas and Indiana.

With wheat prices raised about 15 cents a bushel by the war—they are 17 cents higher than a year ago—farmers are intent on seeding the 1940 crop. Much acreage now being put in to permit producers to qualify for insurance may have to be abandoned, crop experts said.

The drought brought a rush of insurance applications.

$17,000 Road Contract At Stinnett Let

An order to construct 1.2 miles of connecting highway between Highways 117 and 152 at Stinnett was approved by the Texas Highway commission yesterday in Austin. Estimated cost was set at $17,400.

Highway 152 is the unimproved road running east and west from Stinnett to Dumas and Highway 117 is a paved road running north and south between Fannhandle and Perryton through Borger and Stinnett.

When a survey was made for Highway 152, engineers designated the road to leave Highway 117 south of Stinnett. The old road left the highway north of Stinnett. The 1.2 miles to be paved is to connect the old north road to the new south road, meeting west of Stinnett.

The loop will begin at the courthouse and continue to an intersecting point on Highway 152.

According to word received at Chamber of Commerce headquarters here from Jim Douglas, district engineer for the Highway department, a contract for grade and drainage and also paving of Highway 152 in Moore county, between Stinnett and Dumas, will be let next month. The same program in Hutchinson county, between Stinnett and the Moore county line, is expected to be ordered a month or two later.

It was also revealed that a paving program on the 10 miles of the highway between Wheeler and the Oklahoma line would be started soon.

Jury Indicts P. M. Meador

Bonds totaling $7,500 were posted today by P. M. Meador, Gray county farmer indicted Thursday by a 31st district court grand jury on a charge of murder and of failing to stop and render aid in another, in alleged connection with the automobile-motorcycle crash east of Pampa on September 2, that resulted in fatal injuries to W. D. Kelly, Kelley, 17, and serious but not fatal injuries to Kelley's companion, Clifford Jones, 24.

Meador was charged in the indictment for murder with having driven the motorcycle into Kelly's car, thought killing Kelly by driving an automobile on and against Kelly, said automobile having been driven and operated by P. M. Meador. Bond was set at $5,000 on this indictment.

In the other indictment, Meador was charged with having failed to stop to render aid in another, assistance being defined as including carrying Kelly to a physician and surgeon for medical and surgical treatment. Bond was $2,500 on this second indictment.

RUSSIA

today, definitely solved questions resulting from the disintegration of the Polish state and thereby established a secure foundation for permanent peace in Eastern Europe.

DNB quoted the treaty, "They unanimously voice their opinion that it would be in the interests of all nations to bring to an end the state of war presently existing between Germany on one side and England and France on the other."

"Both governments, therefore, will concentrate their effort, if necessary in cooperation with other friendly powers, toward reaching this goal."

Should, however, the effort of both governments remain unsuccessful, the fact would thereby be established that England and France are responsible for a continuation of the war in which case the governments of Germany and the U. S. S. R. will consider each other as to necessary measures."

Informed sources here said it was too early to say how Germany and Russia might try to re-establish peace in Europe.

Whether the Berlin-Moscow agreement forecast proposal of a peace conference to which such neutrals as Italy and the United States might be invited was not yet known, these sources said.

While the German armies were reaching the finale of their conquest of Poland and the German foreign minister was achieving a new diplomatic triumph in Moscow, Adolf Hitler was at Wilhelmshaven, Germany's Baltic naval base.

A dispatch from Wilhelmshaven said Hitler heard the personal report of the U-boat commander whose submarine sank the British aircraft carrier Courageous. It said he also bestowed iron crosses on the entire crew.

His presence at the North Sea—within two hours flying time of Great Britain by fast planes—increased the conviction in political and military quarters here that stronger German measures against Britain might be imminent.

Corn Shuckers, Choir Entertain Kiwanis Meeting

Three members of the Corn Shuckers, new musical aggregation which came to KPDM this week from Station KWTO at Springfield, Mo., and Miss Helen Martin's Pampa High school a capella choir entertained Kiwanians in an all-musical program at their regular weekly luncheon in Hotel Belmont Friday.

The Corn Shuckers, made up of Benny Edmondson, guitar; Bill Kenton, accordion; and Bill Gilbert, bass piano, played five numbers for the members in attendance. The Corn Shuckers are heard over KPDM each evening at 5:30 o'clock.

The high school a capella choir of 40 voices sang four numbers. The musical group will accompany the Pampa Kiwanis delegation to Wichita Falls where they will be featured on the Sunday, Oct. 8 program of the Texas-Oklahoma district Kiwanis convention.

The convention runs three days, Oct. 7, 8, and 9 and the Pampa club is expected to have a large delegation of members in attendance.

Friday's program was in charge of R. W. Lane, Kiwanis club program chairman. Guests at the luncheon included E. J. Radcliffe, William Hyde, Alfred Adams, Clyde Oswald, and Paul Hill.

Mr. Hill spoke briefly on plans for Go-To-Church Sunday which will be observed Sunday, Oct. 15, and the club unanimously went on record as endorsing the movement.

German-Soviet pact, including Gen. Maurice Gamelin, commander-in-chief of the Allied forces.

New diplomatic developments were expected in informed sources within 48 hours. Diplomatic activity following the announcement of the German-Soviet accord overshadowed military action for the moment. The general staff reported a calm night along the entire western front with some activity by advance French guards, particularly west of Saarbruecken, German industrial city.

Military dispatches reported French and British aviation units were continuing reconnaissance flights deep into German territory. In preparation for possible German air attacks Paris underwent a daylight air raid alarm for more than a half hour, the first since Sept. 11.

The World War cost the United States over 50,000 men killed in action, 228,000 wounded, 57,000 dead of disease and 6,500 dead of other causes.

Regardless of the war with its horrors and bloodshed, the grim truth is, that long before our children will grow up to fight they will be killed off by a menace that has taken a far greater toll than the wars. who have not been afforded the opportunities of orchestral work. There are also boys and girls in our school system who refrain from taking up stringed instruments since there is no organization in which they may eventually hope to demonstrate their various capabilities and talents," Mr. Sone said.

It is planned that the orchestra will get under way early next week. Mr. Miller has already interesting musical selections.

The orchestral instrumentation planned is as follows:

- Stringed instruments: 1st Violin 8 members, 2nd Violin 8 members, Violas 2 members, Violoncellos 2 members, Contrabasses 2 members, Woodwinds: Flutes 2 members, Clarinets 2 members, Oboe 1 member, Bassoon 1 member

- Brasses: French Horns 2 members, Trumpets 2 members, Trombone 2 members, Tuba 1 member

- Percussion: Tympani 1 member, Snare Drum 1 member

37 members

Mr. Sone and Mr. Miller invite all persons who can play, even though only fairly well, any of the aforementioned instruments to join in making this new project a success with Mrs. Lou Roberts at the Pampa High school office, or contact Mr. Miller at 819 North Frost street, telephone 1781-R. One-half credit per year will be offered those junior and senior high school members of the orchestra.

order that American ships can continue to trade at ports outside the war zone, at least in the Pacific basin area.

Foreign traders and shipping men said they did not want a law which would keep American ships from visiting Australia, New Zealand, India, Singapore, Hongkong, or even Vancouver, B. C.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 29 (AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin believes if the European war lasts over three years, Joseph Stalin will be a victor. The Detroit radio priest addressed more than 17,000 at a peace rally last night.

CHUNKING, Sept. 29 (AP)—Suburban areas of Chunking where the city's electric and industrial enterprises are situated were heavily bombed last night by Japanese warplanes.

Authorities declined to discuss results of the raid.

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—The British government announced tonight that a Royal Air Force unit had attacked the German fleet at Helgoland and "some of the planes have not yet returned."

A communique of the Ministry of Information said: "On Sept. 29 units of the Royal Air Force carried out attack on ships of the German fleet in Helgoland light."

"In spite of formidable anti-aircraft fire the attacks were pressed home at a low altitude. Some of our aircraft have not yet returned."

LONDON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Britain's "big nine" inner cabinet met today for a close study of the Soviet-Russo-German "infernal pact" maneuver with every outward indication of spinning the partition of Poland as the price of peace.

Foreign diplomatic circles said Britain and France also jointly went over what they called Russia's "vicious threat" to enter the European war unless the peace proposal was agreed to.

Informed sources, declaring they viewed the move as a supreme effort to "frighten" Britain and France into a quick peace, said the desired result would not be produced, that Britain was determined to "end Hitlerism."

could not go much beyond that in increasing the two nations' commerce.

Informed sources said the government had no information as to whether Germany and Russia had included a military alliance in their Moscow talks.

The clause in the Berlin communique announcing the new agreement in which "joint consultations" on "necessary measures" if the war continues was interpreted in some quarters here as a possible threat, however.

The reported new Berlin-Moscow accord came shortly after an authoritative announcement last night that Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador to London, had assured the British press he was willing to start negotiations for a war trade agreement.

British planes were reported today to have driven off two attempts by German warplanes to raid the coast of Scotland.

For the second successive day, Royal Airforce planes foiled a German air attack yesterday, beating back a squadron of bombers.

The British considered the German flights as unsuccessful stabs at the British navy, primarily. Although acknowledging a British destroyer had been attacked Wednesday, the admiralty declared no ship of the navy had been damaged.

Carefully-Worded Resolution Framed By U. S. Bankers

SEATTLE, Sept. 29 (AP)—In a carefully worded resolution which did not identify its target, the American Bankers association stood committed today for "full consideration of equitable measures for progressively narrowing and finally closing avenues of escape from sharing the tax burden."

The resolution, adopted before adjournment here yesterday of the bankers' annual convention, asserted the "avenues of escape still remain open in certain directions," and leaders of the association said it was aimed directly at the tax-exempt features of government, state and municipal bonds.

At the same time the bankers called for curtailment of many government expenditures and elimination of many types of public projects.

RUSSIA GAINS

Moscow and Tallinn pledged mutual aid in case of "direct aggression or menace of aggression arising on the part of any great European power" against the sea frontiers of Estonia or through Latvia. The pact will run 10 years.

German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Russian Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov signed their agreement early today in the presence of Joseph Stalin in the Kremlin—36 days after first startled the rest of Europe with conclusion of a German-Russian non-aggression pact.

Pelish Frontier Fixed

Von Ribbentrop left Moscow by airplane today. At the airport an honor guard brass band played and swastika flags flew.

Highlights of the agreement, as announced here:

1—Establishment of a mutual frontier through Poland. It was reported that allowance still existed for creation of a small Polish protectorate state.

2—A warning to third powers not to interfere with the new boundaries.

3—An agreement to strive for peace.

This was coupled with a declaration that if Russian-German peace efforts failed, Britain and France "will bear the responsibility for continuation of the war, and Russia and Germany will then consult on necessary further measures."

4—An agreement fully to develop economic relations. Russia promised to supply Germany with raw materials in exchange for industrial goods over a long period of time. This was an expansion of the trade pact which briefly preceded the Aug. 23 non-aggression pact.

The Soviet promise of raw materials to Germany might prove a tremendous factor in war. Wheat, timber, manganese and cotton were regarded as the principal commodities involved, possibly with some petroleum and coal.

The entire world has only about $110,000,000,000 in money in circulation.

Harvesters Will Open Season Here Tonight

Pampa Boys Determined To Give Oklahoma Champions A Fight They'll Remember

WHAT—Opening football game of the 1939 season.
WHEN—Friday night, 8 p. m.
WHERE—Harvester field, Pampa.
BETWEEN—Pampa Harvesters and Central Cardinals of Oklahoma City.
COACHES—Pampa, Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean; Central, Dale Arbuckle.
ADMISSION—General admission, adults 50 cents, students 25 cents.
OFFICIALS—Referee, Steve Mathews, (East Texas State Teachers) Bitter, Headlinesman, W. D. Lane (Daniel Baker) Berger; Umpire, Hendon Hicks (Baylor) Pampa; Field Judge, Clarence Barrett (Georgia Tech) Pampa.
BROADCAST—Station KPDN, Pampa, by Harry E. Hoare, sports editor, The Pampa News.

Kayoed on their first two starts of the season, the Harvesters of Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean will face even tougher competition tonight when they open the 1939 football season on Harvester turf against the Central high school Cardinals of Oklahoma City. Game time will be 8 o'clock.

First real football weather of the season struck during the night on the crest of a high wind. The sun came out as usual early this morning but a cold wind still blew. Coaches, players and fans hoped for the wind to die down but for the weather to remain seasonable.

New Uniforms Here
 Coach Dale Arbuckle and his red-clad Cardinals arrived here yesterday fit and ready. He gave his boys their last workout yesterday afternoon. Last night the Harvesters went through a lengthy workout under the lights at Harvester park. The Harvesters will appear in their new uniforms tonight. The uniforms are of a rich gold with green inserts in the shoulders of the jerseys and the back of the pants. The numbers are also green. Green and gold Sox have been added to the equipment this year. Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean drove their charges thru hard scrimmages the first three afternoons of the week and then pulled their punches last night in tapering off for the opener here. Although not completely satisfied with blocking and other details, coaches believe their charges have improved and should give the veteran Cardinals a tough battle. The Harvesters showed flashes of great football against Verrion in the opening game and last week in Casper, Wyo., they displayed more and even better football. The Harvesters are not being brought along too fast. They're

Rice Picked To Win Title In Southwest

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
DALLAS, Sept. 29 (AP)—No less authority than the seven head greeners, we present exclusively, and with positively no extra charge, the final standing of the Southwest football conference—some three months in advance:
 1—Rice Institute. 2—Texas A. & M. 3—Arkansas. 4—Southern Methodist. 5—Texas Christian. 6—Baylor. 7—Texas.
 Seven coaches, equipped with incredible prophetic powers, went down the line putting the finger on each other. Six of the seven boldly placed Rice in the execution chamber while the seventh, whose name is withheld for obvious reasons, strapped the Texas Aggies in the favorite's seat.
 However, Coaches D. X. Bible of Texas; Matty Bell of S. M. U.; Fred Thomson of Arkansas; Homer Norton of Texas A. & M.; Morley Jennings of Baylor and Leo Meyer of T. C. U. could not see where Rice's manpower could be headed off.
 Most shocking revelation of the composite selection was vaunted Texas Christian's position. Undeclared and Sugar Bowl kings of '38, the Christians rate a cool second division berth—down in fifth position. There is the "sleeper" in the race.
 One coach, cautiously feeling his way around, summed up the thoughts of six others with: "Any one of five teams could win the championship—Rice, Texas, Christy, Arkansas and the Aggies. Of course, Baylor and Texas are capable of knocking off any one of them on any given Saturday."
 Which, simple deduction will prove, leaves you right back at the starting post.
 Full blooming of the season, with every team in action tonight and tomorrow, will enable the public to get an immediate line on a coach's ability to converse with the crystal ball.
 Tonight, at Los Angeles, the "fifth place" Texas Christians, hampered a trifle by a minor foot injury bothering Jack Odle, their successor to Davey O'Brien, a big-time serious foot injury to Bob Sherrill, great guard, open against U. C. L. A.—potentially powerful with two Galle negro backs, Ken Washington and Jack Robinson—a nimble name-sake for the "Big Boy" hero—y-say-Jack Robinson's fellow.
 Tomorrow, in day games, the underdog Southern Methodists give their two sparkling sophomore backs, Preston Johnson and Den-cy Dick Miller, a big-time baptism against Oklahoma's rugged Sooners at Norman; the high-gear Texas Aggies entertain a doomed Centenary team at College Station; Arkansas' new air machine plays Mississippi State at Memphis and Baylor opens with a breather against Southwestern at Waco.
 The only night game finds Rice, despite pesky injuries to their scorers, Ernie Lain and Olie Cordill, tremendous favorites over a Vanderbilt team that has no less than 15 casualties, including their key backs, Capt. Ray Andus, half-back, believed lost for the season, will start for the Commodores; a knee cartilage torn in the opening tie with little Tennessee Poly, slipping back into place.

Fort Worth And Nashville All Square Again

NASHVILLE, Sept. 29 (AP)—Those folks down in Fort Worth are going to see more of the Nashville Vols, even up today at two games each with Fort Worth in the Dixie series. Nashville squeezed out a 10-8 victory over the Panthers last night. The teams clash again tonight in the fifth game, then return to Texas to finish it up.
 Sam Nahem is Manager Larry Gilbert's pitching choice tonight. The likely opposition is Ed Bear-tracks Greer.
 The Vols got another dose of Fort Worth hitting last night before a small crowd of 3,000. The Texans, trailing 10-6 in the ninth, rushed across two runs and had two more on the bases until Ace Adams shut off the rally.
 Ray Starr, a Vol castoff, and George Jeffcoat hooped up in fine duel for six innings. Suddenly base hits began to fly from nearly every bat.
 Manager Bob Linton's Texas League crew scored five times in the sixth, largely on four Vol errors, then added another in the seventh before cutting loose in the final inning.
 The Vols' big inning was the eighth when they took four markers to break a six-all tie. Starr's wildness proved his downfall but his successors were scarcely an improvement.

51 Grid Games Will Establish League Favorites

(By The Associated Press)
 Fifty-one games tonight and tomorrow will round out the first month of play in Texas schoolboy football, putting the list of undefeated teams to a fourth of the original field and establishing favorites in every section.
 Three games were played last night but only one counted in the title race. Arlington Heights of Fort Worth and Fort Worth Tech played to a scoreless tie in the Fort Worth district.
 North Dallas downed Bonham 52-18 in an interdistrict tilt and class AA Waxahachie defeated Class A Kerens 14-6.
 Eight conference games are scheduled tonight. Twenty-four interdistrict tilts also are scheduled, four of them tomorrow night.
 School officials say that the books now being used in the lower grades in Texas are far more attractive than those which grandmother studied. Many of the texts are gaily illustrated.

Hinger Silent On Guerillas' Starting Lineup

Coach Oscar Hinger will take his Guerillas to Canadian tonight for their second game of the season. After a long but light workout yesterday afternoon Coach Hinger was still undecided on his starting lineup.
 Since several Harvesters, who have another year of eligibility, joined the Guerillas, battles for starting positions have been hot. Guerillas who thought they had places in the bag and decided to take things easy had to perk up when the ex-Harvesters joined the squad. Now the original Guerillas are fighting for their jobs and doing mighty good job.
 While the Guerillas were losing 6 to 0 to Stinnett last Friday night, Canadian dropped a 26 to 6 game to the big Perryton Rangers. The Guerillas showed a strong defense but an erratic offense and it has been scoring that has been stressed during workouts this week.
 The Junior High Reapers went to Amarillo for a conference game with Sam Houston this afternoon. The Junior High Peewees will meet Panhandle's Middlets here at 4:30 P. M.

Miami Plays In LeFors Tonight

Special To The NEWS
LEFORS, Sept. 29—The LeFors Pirates of Coach Francis Smith will face their third consecutive conference foe of the season tonight at Shaw field here when the wild Miami Indians of Garrison Rush come to town.
 The game was originally scheduled to be played in Miami but was changed by agreement this week.
 Coaches Smith and John Rankin will be able to field a near full lineup against the Warriors. Injuries to three of four boys have healed sufficiently to allow them to play.
 Miami's Warriors are inexperienced but have shown plenty of promise in practice.

McLean Tigers To Meet White Deer

Special To The NEWS
WHITE DEER, Sept. 29—It's not Armistice Day, nor is it Thanksgiving, but tonight's the night the McLean Tigers come to White Deer for their annual football struggle.
 The Tigers have their claws sharpened and are ready to tear into the Bucks who defeated them 14 to 13 right in their own lair last year.
 Game time will be 8 o'clock and a sellout is expected.

Sam Houston Beats Lamar Juniors 20-6

BEAUMONT, Sept. 29 (AP)—Sam Houston's Bearkats came from behind here last night to defeat Lamar Junior college 20-6.
 Bob Barfield climaxed a 67-yard drive with a 14-yard run for a touchdown that tied the score. A 70-yard surge with Brown driving over from the 8-yard line and a three-run plunge by Brown in the fourth quarter brought the other Sam Houston touchdowns. Brown kicked the extra points.
 Godfrey Choate ran 56 yards with a pass for the Lamar touchdown.

Colonels Want To Win Second Game Of Little World Series

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 29 (AP)—The Louisville Colonels of the American Association want to go home on the long end of a 3 to 0 score in their little world series battle with Rochester Red Wings of the International League and it looks now as if they might do it.
 The Red Wings lost the series opener Tuesday night, 7 to 0, and went down last night, 3 to 1.
 If the Colonels can do it again tonight they may be able to windup the minor league classic tomorrow night in Louisville. It takes four games to win the series.

Reds Win First National League Flag In 20 Years

By JOHN FRYE
CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 29 (AP)—No longer do they sigh, "remember when . . . ?"
 No longer do they yearn for Pat Moran.
 Gone are those long, lonesome years of being kicked from back bay to the shores of Lake Michigan and the banks of the Mississippi.
 Hall to the champions and hail to the team of Cincinnati Reds that rooted itself from the depths to the stars in two years.
 Hall to the champions and write these names large—Werber, Frey, Goodman, McCormick, Lombardi, Cralt, Berger, Myers. Write these names in gold—Derringer, Walters. And write this in letters of fire—McKechnie.
 Hall to the champions and salute the St. Louis Cardinals, who gave nothing and, by a 5-3 score, stepped out of the National League pennant race as game a club as ever fought its way through a wooly season.
 There are those who say the Cardinals are the better team, and could give the New York Yankees a stiffer fight in the world series.
 But there are none who say the Reds didn't work for every one of the 95 victories that gave them their first National League pennant in 20 years and their second in history.
 They won yesterday as more than 17,000 people alternately lived and died in the gathering shadows. They won as Paul Derringer stood, as heroic as Horatio, and fought back a tide of St. Louis baseballs big enough to win any two ball games this season.
 This man from Kentucky saw 14 balls go singing past his ears and saw three more Cardinals get on base on errors by Billy Myers. He walked Johnny Mize (on purpose) once.
 There was that seventh inning, when the Cards got four whole hits with nothing to show for the trouble but improved batting averages.
 Derringer did what every rookie dreams of doing. He struck out two of the heaviest sluggers in the league, Joe Medwick and Johnny Mize, on six pitched balls in the ninth to end the ball game.
 Paul can't and won't claim all the credit. The Cardinals aided and abetted his cause no little but putting a low estimate on Ival Good-man and Ernie Lombardi's arms. Joe Medwick started that seventh with a double but he wanted a triple and Ival threw him out at third.
 Johnny Hopp doubled for Curt Davis in the eighth but strayed too far from second and Ernie cut him down on the next pitch.
 But that's all water under the bridge. The Skaakes lie ahead. No matter which way you bet, you'd better hedge.

 While the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals have been busy deciding the National League pennant, some of baseball's old-timers have been occupied in establishing platforms for their 1940 contract negotiations.
 Take Paul Waner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who streaked from nowhere in one of the season's most spectacular hitting sprees; take Lefty Robert Moses Grove of the Boston Red Sox, Emil (Dutch) Leonard of the Washington Senators and Oral Hildebrand of the New York Yankees—take 'em, if you can.
 The eyes of the world may have been on that classic at Cincinnati— which the Reds won yesterday, 5-3, to clinch the National League pennant—but there were other fish to fry on the baseball front.
 For one thing Old Man Mose—contrary to the legend of song writers—ain't dead. The fellow who has been pitching 15 years with great success in the American League and has been the mainstay of the second-place Boston Red Sox all season won his 15th game yesterday, 4-2, from the Washington Senators with a six-hit pitching job.
 For another, Leonard, the knuckleball specialist whose name was never so much as breathed in early season calculations, took the second game of the doubleheader, 6-1, for Washington on a similar six-hit performance. It was his 20th victory of the season.
 Oral Hildebrand, discounted as a probable world series starter for the world champion Yankees, came up with a six-hit hurling chore yesterday to best the Philadelphia Athletics, 8-4, in the first game of a doubleheader, Sam Chapman hit a home run in the ninth to win the second game for the A's 5-4.

 Rookie Babe Young hit a homer and later scored the run that won the first game of a bargain bill for the New York Giants from the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3. Bill Jurgas batted in five runs with a pair of doubles to take the nightcap, 8-3, for the Giants.
 The Boston Bees and the Brooklyn Dodgers divided a pair of tight pitching spectacles. Dick Erickson's four-hit work taking the first for the Bees, 3-1, and Lefty Vito Tamulis shutting out Boston in the second, 3-0, on three hits.

Town Of Pecos Distinguished For Knotted, Wind-Torn Salt Cedars

By FRED GIPSON
(Written for the Associated Press)

Pecos is a town of salt cedars. Old, knotted, twisted trees they are, wind-torn, ragged, and staggering like drunks after an all-night spree. They grow in every yard. They border the streets. They overhang the irrigation ditches.

They're stubby trees. Some have trunks two and three feet in diameter, yet seldom do their tallest branches over-reach the rooftops of the houses they surround. Their foliage is matted and thick. The shadows they cast on the white alkali soil beneath are black, and the black shades are cool.

Burros stand in the shades of the salt cedars and shut sleepy eyes against the fierce glare of the sun. Dogs crouch in the shade and snap at persistent flies. Dusty children play there and the hens lie on their sides and dust themselves with their wings.

At night the birds seek shelter in the cedars, and sometimes outstretched branches are worn bare of foliage. They sag, bowed down by the chickens that roost there, too. Huge, lazy, rusty lizards rattle the rough bark, searching for bugs and flies in the crotches and hollows of the old trees.

W. B. Bucholz brought the first salt cedars to Pecos, back about 1880. He brought them from Galveston, switch cuttings, packed in soil and wrapped in sacking and tied to the tongue of his wagon. He soaked the cuttings every time he crossed a stream on his journey to the west.

Or R. E. Johnson brought the first salt cedars to Pecos, date, 1886. He brought them from California, tied to the tongue of a wagon.

Or a westward-bound citizen reported to have been a saloon-keeper through the first cedar, but whether his cuttings from the Corn Belt were tied to a wagon tongue and soaked in whiskey, your correspondent was unable to learn.

One thing is certain, however. Don't go about the town of Pecos, recklessly contending any one of these three men or any other three men brought the first salt cedars into the Pecos River Valley. You'll get into trouble.

You can find any number of salt cedar trees about town that are the parent tree of all the rest. And you can find just as many people willing to crawl up in your hair the moment you show the slightest indication of doubting their version of how the first salt cedar was made to take roots in Pecos.

An old-timer's observation to the effect that salt cedars have always grown on the upper reaches of the Pecos river is definitely cut.

Your correspondent was set right on that score a number of times.

No—the first salt cedar was brought into Pecos, tied to a wagon tongue. There's quite a bit of feeling on the matter, irrespective of any mild curiosity as to why a bundle of cedar switches could not have ridden just as safely inside the immigrant wagon bed. Still it's of no particular importance.

Wagon tongue or no, the cedars are there, growing in a soil white with alkali. They grow and thrive, making a shady oasis and resting place in a limitless expanse of greasewood and switch mesquite and hot, burning distance.

Other trees grow there, it's true. A few cottonwoods and Chinese elms, set out by the residents. Mostly they are growth-stunted things, or ragged and scraggly. But Pecos is a town of salt cedars. They grow by the thousands, and lend to the town distinctiveness that sets it apart from other towns.

at bloom-time, when their branches sag with the pink and purple sprays of blossom, they make of the town a place of rare beauty.

On the nights when long, horizontal flames of fog roll down the Pecos River Valley and the moonlight streams through, the salt cedars make of the town a strange, weird, fantasy of loveliness, almost unbelievable.

Bucholz or Johnson or somebody was doing more than he realized when he tied a few switches of salt cedar to his wagon tongue and headed his team for this point on the Pecos river.

NEUTRALITY PROCLAIMED (Los Angeles, Calif., Times)

In two proclamations yesterday the President outlined the position of the United States with respect to the European war. The first was a neutrality proclamation of conventional nature...

Aspects of war trade far more likely to involve the United States may go on unhindered. There is nothing to prevent the export, in American ships, of raw materials and such indispensable war supplies as oil to any belligerent...

A CURIOUS DECISION (Los Angeles Times)

The decision of Wayne L. Morse, Pacific Coast water front arbiter, overruling penalties decreed by Irving Stalmaster, local arbitrator, on union longshoremen for refusing to pass through a Chinese picket line...

The Morse findings apparently do not disturb Stalmaster's twice-found verdict that the "quickie" strike was illegal. As a matter of fact, they could not, since the Secretary of Labor herself had already so ruled and pointed that fact out in personally upholding Stalmaster's decision.

The point made by Morse is that a Federal arbitrator has no authority to inflict penalties, no matter how serious a breach of the rules is committed. He admits that penalty provisions are "conflicting," but says that the union is responsible for disciplining its members.

In the case in question the union not only refused to discipline its members but appealed to the Department of Labor against Stalmaster's penalty of one week's suspension and fined to get Stalmaster fired. Mme. Perkins ruled that Stalmaster was right. Does Morse outrank the Secretary of Labor?

Since a union obviously will not punish its own members in such a case and the Federal arbitrator may not do so, even if appealed to, the Morse ruling seems to build down to one permitting an employer-employee agreement to be violated without any penalty at all.

The head of the German army ended his orders at the beginning of hostilities with these words: "Forward with God for Germany," repeating the phrase used by the Kaiser at the start of the World War.

The head of the Polish army, in a similar statement, urged his people to fight with the assurance that the "rightness of the cause" and "confidence in the justice of God."

The story is told of Abraham Lincoln that a friend once asked him: "Do you think God is on our side?" He replied, "I'm much more concerned to be on God's side."

There is not here a key for every individual who today seeks a right course amid war's confusions? When God's support is claimed for conflicting human aims, a clear and certain sense of right will uphold him who seeks, not to enlist Deity, but first to know and do His will.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life -- -- By R. C. Holles

SHOULD WE SHIP ARMS?

Congress will decide within a short time whether we will repeal the law that prevents the United States from shipping instruments of war or not.

On one side of the question, it might be said that there is little doubt there will be more commodities the United States can supply than in war, than can be paid for without including munitions.

There certainly is one thing that we will have to be constantly guarding against and that is furnishing the belligerents wealth and taking their notes for it. There will undoubtedly be a great deal of pressure within a relatively short time to furnish the allies with commodities on credit.

So there is no need of amending the law as far as our trading and aiding the allies. The allies will simply have to produce a different kind of thing than if we were permitted to manufacture munitions of war and ship to them.

On the other hand one advantage of changing the law so that we could ship munitions of war to belligerents would be that it would develop defense equipment so that we would be better able to protect ourselves in case we were attacked.

If, however, we are permitted to ship direct munitions of war, the pressure will undoubtedly be greater to extend credit and an undue amount of credit will undoubtedly have a tendency to get us mixed up in the war.

So there are arguments on both sides of the question, as to whether we should revise the neutrality law and permit the selling, by cash and carry, munitions of war.

Probably one of the most important questions in the revision of the bill will be the amount of power and authority it gives the President in regulating the lives of our citizens in the pursuit of happiness. This is a very dangerous part of the revision of the law.

SKILLED WORKERS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF UNSKILLED WORKERS

I believe Gus Dyer is the best columnist in the United States. His column appears weekly in this newspaper. I believe he is the best columnist because he is the most consistent writer who is always fighting for the greatest possible liberty for everybody.

In this issue, Gus Dyer explains very clearly how the minimum wage law discriminates against the unskilled worker because the worker who has not had experience and is not efficient cannot earn the minimum wage.

As Gus Dyer says, these laws were put over by the labor leaders from the big cities where skilled labor was more usually done. He points out that it is impossible for some communities to grow and develop and give their unskilled workers an opportunity to learn under this law.

Everytime a reader of this paper sees one of Gus Dyer's articles, they will be well repaid for reading it. He understands the fundamental principles on which this government was founded and on which Jesus based his teachings.

Behind The News Of The Day

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28--If the European war generates a runaway demand for such American raw materials as are protected by the government's conservation policy it is going to collide head-on with Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes.

Ickes suspects that there presently will be a concerted attack on conservation, due to the fact that Europe will be wanting extra-large quantities of oil, beef, timber and so on; and as long as the United States remains neutral he proposes to see to it that the policy of protecting resources from undue exploitation is upheld without the slightest relaxation.

"I am apprehensive that there will be the usual effort, in the name of patriotism, to rape our natural resources for the sake of profit," he says.

"I think true neutrality means keeping our natural resources for ourselves and our children."

SET TO FIGHT WASTEFUL PRODUCTION

Oil probably will give Ickes his biggest problem. In the last war (before the United States got in) demand for fuel oil for the allied navies shot the price of mid-continent crude up to around $3 a barrel; the demand is likely to be greater this time, and Ickes foresees a campaign to boost oil production to a wasteful extent.

The federal government has no direct control over oil production, but can control indirectly through the "hot oil" act, which enables the government to deny interstate commerce to oil produced in defiance of state laws based on federal conservation practices.

When an oil field is exploited too rapidly, methods are used by which a good part of the oil is permanently lost; and it is such methods which Ickes hopes to bar, through the "hot oil" law and the exercise of moral suasion on authorities in oil-producing states.

The last war, Ickes remarks, damaged America's timber and grazing resources extensively. In 1916 the demand for Sitka spruce became so heavy that pending legislation to establish Olympic National Park in the Puget Sound area was defeated, and timber was cut wastefully.

MOUNTAIN MEADOWS SUFFER FROM WAR

As to grazing: war-time demand for beef cattle led to the issuance of grazing permits in Yosemite, Sequoia, Mt. Rainier, Crater Lake, Glacier and Wind Cave national parks, and the National Park Service asserts that it took 30 years to restore the mountain meadows there.

Use of the range lands in the National Parks also increased, speeding their depletion. Today, under the Taylor grazing act, the government is limiting the amount of stock which can be grazed on the public lands in 13 western states.

HOLD ON TO YOUR EMOTIONS—HERE WE GO!

Around Hollywood

By BILL PORTER NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28--It all started over Michia Auer's pants. He, as Callahan, and Marlene Dietrich as Frenchy, were playing poker in the Bottle Neck Saloon. With a little co-operation from her dancing girl colleagues, Frenchy managed to win all of Callahan's money as well as his pants.

This was the prelude to one of the most exciting, realistic and unusual scenes I have ever seen made—the fight between Marlene Dietrich and Una Merkel for "Destry Rides Again."

It took shape when Una Merkel, Mrs. Callahan, stormed into the saloon to retrieve her husband's pants. The dialogue meant little, except that Una called Marlene a so-and-so and Marlene called Una a such-and-such and they went after it hammer and tongs.

The unusual publicity story on a fight of this kind is that the principals refused to let doubles do their dirty work and suffered through it themselves. That is so much hooey. The actors don't have a chance to say whether they want doubles or not.

If the director thinks that a scene is dangerous he takes no chances on injuring his principals and holding up production. He hires doubles. Director George Marshall did just that for this fight scene, and the girls he hired were reasonable facsimiles of Merkel and Dietrich, albeit a little bit huskier.

EXTRAS APPLAUD FIGHTERS The scene started with a long shot, and the two girls went into action. They put on such a good show that the crowd of extras applauded spontaneously when they arose from the floor and brushed themselves off.

A nurse dashed over with anti-septics and painted their abrasions. And Dietrich just bout floored everyone by producing a bottle of champagne and splitting it between the two girls—a nice gesture of thanks for doing her work.

Then came the closeup and Miss Dietrich and Miss Merkel in person. They had just after received detailed instructions from Director George Marshall. Una clutched one of Marlene's club-heeled shoes in her hand like a chub and Marlene had her hand over Una's shoulder and gripped tightly in the back of her hair.

At the sound of "action" Marlene bore forward carrying Una backwards over a table. But her back had no room; and she came down as she bounced back up and walked Marlene one with the shoe. They both then lost their balance and fell to the floor missing the mattresses which cautious prop men had placed there for their protection.

For two minutes they rolled about among the legs of cowboys, miners, Indians, Chinese and dancing girls who gathered around cheering and placing bets on the outcome. They tore hair, scratched and ripped each other's clothes.

SET 'EM UP When Marshall yelled "cut" the extras gathered around and helped the two girls to their feet and then cheered them. The two stunt girls who were still sipping their champagne came over and offered their glasses to Marlene and Una as though admitting that the two stars had put on a better fight, which they had.

After each girl had asked if the other were all right, they began going over themselves for damages.

increased, speeding their depletion. Today, under the Taylor grazing act, the government is limiting the amount of stock which can be grazed on the public lands in 13 western states.

The Alaskan salmon fisheries also suffered from World War demand; regulations were virtually forgotten, according to the Interior Department, and in

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

If you want to hear something that will knock your eye out, so to speak, go to the First Christian church before the football game tonight and hear little four-year-old Helen Kay Wilson give her second piano concert.

Helen Kay who is the daughter of County Auditor Ray Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, is not only as pretty as a picture but at the age of four is a pretty good pianist.

The first time this one heard her was at a high school assembly, and when she walked on the stage there was a great applause because she had played before the high school before, and now she's one of the keys on the piano by name while she is blindfolded. She gets mixed up on some of them but not many.

Another thing, Helen Kay can transpose compositions like a veteran. Her teacher teaches her a piece in one key and the first thing you know she's playing it in another. She practices an hour a day, and doesn't have to be made. She probably inherits her love for music from her mother who is an accomplished pianist and teacher. Her daddy is also fond of music but he doesn't say much about it—except of course, when he is talking about Helen Kay who would play the bass without instruction when she was two and one-half years old.

Once you meet that child, you're sunk I tell you. She's one of the few children who learned to read music before she learned to read English.

Helen Kay may not be a prodigy—she may be too pretty to be one (they say prodigies are seldom pretty, and Helen Kay is just about as pretty as you'd want any child to be), but she'll make you think she's pretty good in the 30 minutes she'll play tonight.

Una's skirt had been ripped completely off and she stood in her petticoat nursing a bruised elbow and a small scratch on the back of her neck.

Marlene's famous game was scrapped in two spots and her silk stockings were hanging loose and a mass of rums. Both girls' lipstick was smeared all over their chins and their hair looked like rat nests. It was the most degrading scene either had ever made.

When Miss Dietrich had regained her breath she confessed, "Yes, this is the first time I've ever had a fight in pictures, but my daughter, Maria, and I tussle like this at home all the time. It's fun."

And Miss Merkel as she wiped the dust from her face snorted and said, "This is swell stuff. I'm going to demand a fight in all my pictures from now on."

This scene was not the end of the fight, however, for it went on for a half day more, although not so strenuously. It was finally broken up by James Stewart, who plays Destry, the deputy sheriff. He ended by soothing the two girls with a bucket of water. The fight was considered a draw.

some areas the damage that was inflicted has never been made good.

All of this, of course, applies to policies to be followed while this country remains at peace. If America ever gets into a war, conservation policies would not be allowed to stand in the way of her own war-time needs.

LOOKING AT IT from the standpoint of outdoor sports, Fall will officially be ushered in tonight with the first home appearance of the Pampa High school football team under the lights out at Harvester stadium.

Pampa dropped the season's opener at Vernon two weeks ago and last week went down before the Casper 'Wyo, eleven at Casper. Coach Ollus Mitchell believes that his charges have had two good weeks of seasoning and that tonight they will be ready to bring out that which is best in all departments of the game.

In spite of two defeats by strong teams, there is no thought on the part of anyone connected with the team that Pampa does not have a splendid chance of coping the District One title this fall.

After all, each of the District teams got kicked in the pants last week with the exception of Plainview, which wound up with a tie.

TONIGHT'S Pampa-Oklahoma City game will be broadcast by Radio Station KPDN. The play-by-play description will be handled by Harry Hoare, sports editor of The Pampa News, who will be making his debut as a football broadcaster.

Some of us listened to an audition the other afternoon, and we're convinced listeners will like the way he handles the situation. Harry reports that ticket sales for the game have spurted since it has been noted that he's going to do the broadcasting.

In France, one of those so-called customs is truffe-hunting. Truffles are sent to root up the edible fungus roots, wherever you can't ever tell what's rattling around in a head like Hitler's got, specially since he's got amalgamated, and chances are if he was to find out that we still got Milwaukee, he'd be able to want to partition Wisconsin right away.

JUDD P. S.—Stalin claims Webster must be in Nazi nets, and non-aggression is just agreeing, unobtrusively, like an insurance salesman.

THE PIG, rooting enthusiastically, finds what he thinks is a truffle. But instead it turns out to be a buried German mine. And with one stout thrust of his porcine muzzle, Mr. Pig goes to kingdom come.

If it were not for the saving fact that every pig we have known personally has had practically no future beyond the butcher shop anyway, we'd say that was a pretty bad joke also.

My Personal Opinion Is...

You can't tell nothing about this war from just reading the papers, facts of the matter is you can't even hardly tell if it's the same war they're talking about or not, on account of it'll say in one place how the Frenchmans made a terrific gain of several yards, and then right on the same page the Germans say the Frenchies for a terrible loss of a yard.

And so the only thing you're sure of is it ain't got over here yet, and that's just the way we wanta keep it, on account of us having some unfinished business of our own to take up our spare time, and anyways who wants a war on their property nowadays the way they run em, they're too mussy.

And that's the reason why we shouldn't ought to criticize the President too much for not wanting to get caught with his pants — er, well, not wanting to be sleeping at the switch in case some of them aggressive non-aggressors wants to come on here and aggress around all over the place, without us having enuff battlehips and airplanes and cannons and things to receive em properly.

No sir, we should ought to be ready and willing to receive em in regular Yankee fashion with extended arms — of the latest model, not only extended but pointed right at em, and that way we could just tell em we don't allow no aggressing anywheres inside the 3 mile limit — wish that limit was farther out, and fer them to take their aggressors and digress to some other place before the sky falls on em.

Course we ain't gonna get in this war, but you can't never tell what's rattling around in a head like Hitler's got, specially since he's got amalgamated, and chances are if he was to find out that we still got Milwaukee, he'd be able to want to partition Wisconsin right away.

THE WORKINGS OF THE WAGES-HOURS LAW

By GUS W. DYER Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

Legislation affecting industry and especially labor is based almost wholly on what politicians with their ears to the ground hear or think they hear in these small towns.

The great cities and the great industrial centers have had the strength of organized labor, and politicians and politicians have their fingers in the big industrial centers in their own interest with little regard to the interest and welfare of the general public.

Small industries in small towns, and conditions in small towns are practically ignored in national legislation.

In 1930 there were 34,755 incorporated towns in this country having populations of 5,000 or less. The combined population of these small towns was greater than that of New York, Chicago, Boston, San Francisco, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, Indianapolis, Des Moines, and Saint Paul. The combined population of the 10,347 incorporated towns having less than 1,000 population is greater than that of Boston, San Francisco, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, Indianapolis, Des Moines, Saint Paul, Louisville, Nashville, Richmond, Salt Lake City, and Saint Paul.

The combined population of the 10,347 incorporated towns having less than 1,000 population is greater than that of Boston, San Francisco, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, Indianapolis, Des Moines, Saint Paul, Louisville, Nashville, Richmond, Salt Lake City, and Saint Paul.

The citizens of these small towns have been free under the Constitution to go on the open markets and buy what they want at the prices set by direct small industries under conditions of constitutional industrial freedom.

The result is that this country is still the land of small industries. The theory that the big industries have driven out the small factories is a stupid myth.

In 1929, 210,359 factories of all types were in operation. Of this number 7,428 employed no wage earners, 24,767 employed from one to five wage earners, and 53,000 employed from six to twenty wage earners. Under the new gasoline-electric revolution, the number of small factories in these small towns is increasing. With the growth of new factories, new opportunities and new life in these small towns, the labor unions and the administration at Washington became much interested in the living conditions of the workers in these small industries. The Wages-Hours Law was passed. The effect of this law was to give a monopoly privilege to skilled labor located chiefly in the big centers, at the expense of the unskilled and untrained workers who would be thrown out as competitors because they could not get employment at the high minimum wage.

Under the Wages-Hours Law a federal officer visits a typical small town. He finds a small sawmill, a small canning factory, and a small general factory in operation. The unskilled negro workers at the sawmill get an average of $1.50 a day, and the unskilled women and girls in the canning and overall plants receive an average of $2.00 a week. All are paid the local market rate of wages. But the employers are arrested and put in prison because they gave employment under freedom of contract, to men and women and girls at the market value of their services, instead of paying them twice the value of their services or an average of $3.00 a day. When told by the employers that they could not continue in business if they paid more than the market value for labor and raw material, they are told to close the doors and managements to these men, women and girls, deny them the inalienable rights of freedom of contract and freedom to work, and give their jobs to the skilled workers of the big industrial centers who have been granted a monopoly privilege by politicians at Washington.

The explanation for robbing 74,000 small towns and millions of workers of their constitutional rights of workers' markets is that the exercise of these inalienable rights might in some way, nobody knows, interfere with a nobody knows, or increase the American people's commerce.

Bankers Convicted In Handling Funds

DALLAS, Sept. 29. (AP)—Already convicted in one case, H. W. Ferguson, president of the Dallas Joint Stock Land bank and his brother-in-law, C. R. Craddock, went on trial today on a second indictment in connection with their handling of the bank's funds.

Ferguson was found guilty of abstracting the bank's moneys by a federal jury yesterday. Craddock was convicted on a conspiracy count.

The indictment charged they abstracted about $6,000 from funds derived from manipulation of a Nueces county farm upon which the bank had a mortgage. Ferguson's attorneys filed motion for a new trial and indicated they would appeal.

Judge T. Whitfield Davidson said he would sentence the two men when the present case, in which a jury already has been selected, is completed.

The second indictment involves a tract of land in Jim Wells county, which was deeded to S. K. Fowler of Kennedy, Karnes county, as was done in the case just completed. It charges an oil lease was sold on the tract and the bank did not get the money.

Barker Climbs Out On Limb With These Guesses

By HELB BARKER
NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (AP)—Taking the football season's first blindfold test, a guessing game that does no one any particular harm: Notre Dame-Purdue: That's a nice soft one to start with, Purdue has it that they both have pretty fair ball clubs in any man's league. For better or worse, Notre Dame.

North Carolina - Wake Forest: Wake Forest may turn out to be the best "sleeper" of the day, for Penhead Walker has collected a first-class club. However, this conservative corner is content to string along with the old-guard, North Carolina.

Tulane-Clemson: Clemson's 13-10 conquest of the Green Wave was one of last year's major early-season shocks. But we'll take Tulane, possibly proving some guys never learn.

Texas Christian-U. C. L. A.: The Christians lost O'Brien, Aldrich and Hale among others, but there has been little weeping at Fort Worth. U. C. L. A. operating under a new coach, has three stand-out negro stars in Washington, Strode and Jack Robinson, a sophomore back, but the nod goes to T. C. U.

Colgate-New York university: The Violets will out-pass the pass-minded Raiders.

North Carolina State-Tennessee: The Wolfpack's close call with Davidson indicated State is in for a bad evening against Tennessee.

Indiana-Nebraska: Reaching into the back Nebraska.

Wisconsin-Marquette: Wisconsin, but it probably will be close.

Temple - Georgetown: Stabbing uncertainly in the dark, Georgetown.

Washington-Pitt: Charley Bowser is trying to fill Doc Sutherland's shoes. The Violets will out-pass the big show Pitt, but that—and a "purification"—doesn't mean the Panthers are going into a sudden nose dive. The loss of Marshall Goldberg and other 1938 stalwarts will hurt, but we'll take a flier on Pitt.

Stanford-Oregon State: State may be one of the Coast conference's big surprises and gets the call here.

Southern California-Oregon: Possibly close, but Southern California, Rose bowl champion, must be picked to win handily.

Arizona: Need you ask? Minnesota.

Kentucky-Virginia Military: The Soldiers have Paul Shup, one of the country's great backs. He's the principal reason for this hunch on V. M. I.

Louisiana State-Mississippi: L. S. U. to avenge last year's stunning upset.

Alabama - Howard: No worries here for Alabama.

Mississippi State-Arkansas: Probably free-scoring and probably close. By the coin, Arkansas.

Davidson-Duke: Davidson's dangerous in the air, but Duke should mop up.

Texas A. & M.-Cenentary: The Aggies look safe.

Rice-Vanderbilt: The tip is out that Leon and Correll will be good that year, therefore, trustingly, Rice.

Oklahoma - Southern Methodist: Out of a dense fog, Oklahoma.

Texas-Florida: The fog hasn't lifted yet, Texas.

Missouri-Colorado: If anything this is a horse, Bernie, meenie, Missouri.

Santa Clara-Utah: Might be close, but taking Santa Clara.

Skippping over the chalklines otherwise: Auburn over Birmingham-Southern; Dartmouth over St. Lawrence; Carnegie Tech over Citadel; Villanova over Muhlenberg.

Italy Also Hopes War Will Terminate

ROME Sept. 29. (AP)—Italian officials said today they hoped the German-Soviet Russian accord would lead Britain and France to settle their war with Germany. They said the announcement.

Germany and Russia would seek a settlement was in line with the already expressed Italian desire for such a termination of the conflict. They regarded Italy as among the "friendly powers" which the German-Russian declaration said might aid in bringing about a settlement, but expressed doubt Italy would take any formal initiative unless requested.

REDS WIN TITLE

CINCINNATI, Sept. 29. (AP)—There was joy in Vime Street today, for the Reds finally staggered through to a 5 to 3 victory over the tenuous Cardinals at Crosley Field yesterday, and won for CINCINNATI the first National League pennant in 20 long years.

In qualifying to tackle the Yankees in the World Series starting next Wednesday at New York, Deacon Bill McKnight's best increase their margin over St. Louis to three and one-half games with only three contests remaining to be played at Pittsburgh, starting Tuesday.

A Fantastic Contest

It was a weird victory the champions scored today before 17,421 exultant fans. The Reds' first National League pennant in 20 long years.

SERIAL STORY

WORKING WIVES

BY LOUISE HOLMES

Yesterday, Carmie makes a scene, slaps Pete's face. When Randy and Dolly go to take her home, she eludes them. Marian knows Carmie is in no condition to drive. The heavy car apartment, and it dark, her car is not in the garage.

CHAPTER XXII

THEY waited in Randy's car. After 15 minutes, Pete hailed a cruising cab and he and Julie departed for home.

When another half hour had passed, Randy said, "Let's go. Perhaps we can locate her by telephone." Did he mean call the police station and hospital? The fluttering wings were beating in the region of Marian's stomach again.

In Dolly's apartment, Randy made numerous calls. Not one word could be learned of Carmie's whereabouts. There was nothing more they could do.

Randy said, "I threw a swell party, didn't I?"

They laughed shakily. Dan and Marian said good night. As the door swung to, she saw Randy take Dolly fiercely in his arms. Pete and Julie had been driving together by the wretched incident. Randy's swift embrace seemed to say that love was strong, it mustn't be made to wait.

Marian wanted to throw herself into Dan's arms. She was unstrung, she had seen naked emotions that night, a human being stripped of the trappings of civilization. She wanted to be comforted, she needed to be soothed.

Obviously Dan had not been drawn toward Marian by the course of events. In characteristic fashion, he paced the living room floor, hands in his pockets, brooding eyes on the floor. His remoteness drove Marian to the point of frenzy.

Breaking every resolution, giving way to screaming nerves, she snapped, "That's right—pace and scowl. I'd think you would. You men are responsible for all the pain we women suffer. Look what Pete did to Carmie. Look what you've done to me."

Raising his head he stared at her from under drawn brows. She had not known that his eyes could be so cold. This time she was not going to get away with it. This was the end. Involuntarily she braced herself.

"Why did you tell Carmie that Pete would be at the club tonight?" The softness of his voice held a razor blade in its folds. "Why did you—when you knew—? Men in business learn to keep their mouths shut. Women in business might well do the same." Marian groped for a retort.

"If anything happens to Carmie you are directly responsible," he went on. "And you don't care—do you hear me?—you don't care. Nothing that does not affect you concerns you in the least."

Marian's eyes were like fiery slits, her face was like stone. "I wish I had the nerve to slap you like Carmie slapped Pete."

"Ha—you might hurt your pretty hand."

"I hate you—I despise you—" She was shaking with rage.

"It's mutual, my dear." Without a backward glance he left her. She heard him running down the stairs and she knew that he would not walk down the lake, around a few blocks and come back. She knew that he would never come back.

SHE took a little white tablet that night and slept the sleep of utter exhaustion. She had forgotten to set the alarm clock and it was 8 o'clock when she awoke. It was after 9:30 when she arrived at the office. She did the necessary things, one at a time, methodically, carefully. All day she seemed to be moving behind a gray mist. Nothing was clear, nothing impressed her, she felt nothing.

She called Mannings. No, Miss Forbes had not reported for work. She called Carmie's apartment. The bell whirred monotonously. There was no answer.

At 5 o'clock she went home in a cab. There was nothing in the apartment for dinner. It didn't matter. The sight of the markets made her ill. Would Dan have packed his things? She didn't care.

DAN was waiting for her when she opened the door. He stood in the center of the living room, overcoat thrown over his arm, a suitcase at his feet. His hat lay on the chair by the door.

"Just get home?" she asked wearily, for something to say.

"Her eyes fell on the suitcase. Her eyelids were weighted, she could not raise them.

"Where—are you going?" she managed to ask.

"To Oregon."

It meant nothing to her. She passed a hand over her eyes.

"What did you say?"

"I can't take any more, Marian," he said simply. "I asked Mr. Turner for the western territory and got it. I'll have headquarters in Portland."

A sliver of light pierced her haze. The west coast—they'd leave all this behind—make another start.

Another bit of light broke through. Dan hadn't asked her to go with him. He hadn't said, "We'll have headquarters in Portland." She put a hand to her throat.

"It's not a promotion," Dan was saying. "I'm going on the same terms, $35 a week and bonus. I'll send my share of the expenses."

Irrelevantly, she said, "You never got a bonus, did you, Dan?" She had picked out one word and answered from habit.

"No," he said.

"How—how long will you be gone?"

"Indefinitely."

"Longer than May—early May?" Why had she said that?

"Probably." He held out his hand. "Goodby, Marian. Lots of luck."

She laid her hand in his, the fingers were cold and stiff. "Goodby, Dan." It didn't mean a thing—not a thing. The gray mist was getting denser.

He picked up the suitcase and went to the door, reaching for his hat. Dropping the suitcase, he came back and took her in his arms. Holding her, he kissed the little hollow in her throat. "Goodby, Glad," he whispered.

Frank Norfleet's

Ranch Like Museum

HALE CENTER, Sept. 29 (AP)—It's like visiting a zoo to call on the J. Frank Norfleet ranch near here.

Norfleet, who gained national fame in 1919 by tracking down six swindlers and bringing them to justice after they fleeced him of $30,000 in a confidence game, indulges in about a dozen hobbies, evidence of which are found all over the place he calls home.

The little detective, between jobs of tracking down criminals, raises fine blooded polo ponies, prize-winning game cocks, provides a haven for wild geese and ducks on several ponds on his ranch, has a cactus garden with more than 100 varieties of the prickly plant, collects pioneer relics for a one-room museum in his home, attends practically every rodeo and pioneer celebration in the southwest, writes books, keeps odd animals for pets, and carries on a fine farm program that is the envy of his neighbors.

His No. 1 hobby is still tracking down criminals. His last count numbered 97 men he had brought to justice, all practitioners of the gentle craft. Every so often residents of this small town see Norfleet, traveling bag in hand, board a bus or train for another of his chases, perhaps to California, Georgia or Colorado. Last year he was busy seeking a fortune teller who operated in the Dixie states.

As his first book revealed, he travels all over the country. The story of his adventures told of his chase throughout the United States and into Canada after the six swindlers. Lately he has made two trips to New York to make personal appearances on national radio programs. So, traveling is another of his hobbies.

New Oil Field Near Houston Brought In

HOUSTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—Glenn H. McCarthy, Houston oil man, opened a new field near Houston today when his wildcat well in the Anchozarea of Brazoria county was brought in for a producer of high gravity crude oil.

The well, No. 1 Carr, flowed 450 barrels gravity crude oil through an 11-3/4-inch choke in 24 hours from perforations at 10,460-67 feet. It was announced. Tubing pressure was 3,800 pounds.

Location is on lot 155-C, in the center of the J. C. Carr 60 acres in the J. Dee J. Valdes survey.

Twenty eight state taxes are levied under authority of the statutes.
