Civilian Bombings Will 'Free Britain's Hands,' Nazis Told

LONDON, Sept. 14. (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that if Germany bombed civilians in Poland it would strengthen the resolve of Britain and her allies to "ensure the menace we are now fighting is finally removed."

recent statement to the Reichstag when he disclaimed any desire to make war on women and children. "The restrictions we like the French—have imposed on the operations of our own forces were based upon the condition of similar restraint being observed by our opponents; and his majesty's government must, of course, hold themselves free, if such restraint is not in fact observed, to take such action as they may deem appropriate."

tactics must at all stages be governed by one consideration and one only—namely, the most effective prosecution of the war. "It will add that if action of the kind suggested in the German announcement is taken, it will inevitably strengthen the resolve of ourselves and our allies so to conduct our policy and so to prosecute the war as to ensure that the menace which we are fighting—which this may be another manifestation—is finally removed."

I Saw...

A 15-year-old Pampa girl who would go to a Panhandle college this year if she had enough clothes. She has a job to work for her room and board, and she has made arrangements for her tuition, but as the saying goes, "she hasn't a rag to her name." She attended the same school last year and could go this year only if it were a "judicial colony," she said. Now if you want to help this girl keep on going to college, you can have any garments you care to at the office of Mrs. Willie Baber at the courthouse. The girl's name is...

Traffic Safety Topic Of Initial Program At P-TA

Mrs. H. E. Symonds, president, presided at the first meeting of the B. M. Baker Parent-Teacher Association which was conducted Tuesday afternoon in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Jess Beard was leader of the program which was opened with a sing song led by Miss Margaret Williams, after which Principal J. A. Meek introduced the teachers as follows: First grade, Miss Minnie Allen, Miss Louise Willis, and Miss Julia Shackelford; second grade, Miss Leila Gilford and Miss Mary McKenney with Mrs. John Hessey as substitute; third grade, Mrs. B. G. Gordon, Miss Bernice Larsh, and Miss Lillian Mullins; fourth grade, Mrs. Annie Daniels, Mrs. J. P. Arrington, and Mrs. A. J. Johnson; fifth grade, Miss Beatrice Drev and Mrs. Ralph Morrison; sixth grade, Miss Wise, and Dick Livingston; music, Miss Margaret Williams; and band, Miss Wise.

Joe Gordon, county attorney, and Byron St. Clair, highway patrolman, had charge of the program on traffic safety. Mr. St. Clair opened his talk by expressing his thanks for programs on safety and stated that his primary interest was traffic safety. He pointed out that 1937 was a record year for accidents with 40,000 killed and 1,000,000 injured.

Mr. St. Clair gave the three E's of traffic which include engineering, the building of highways; enforcement, laws enforced by highway patrol organized by legislature; and education through drivers license law. He stated that the board of education should add traffic education to the school curriculum.

"Parents should teach children the safe and sane way to live and the children will be safe and sane drivers. Teach children to go to the end of the block and never J-walk. Do not play in the street; first stop and look both ways before crossing the street; never hang rides on cars; and walk facing traffic," Mr. St. Clair stated. "It is the duty of the parent to protect the child from death and injury, and if this is done, you

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints of urine daily.

When 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sensations show that something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait until your doctor says "Don't take any more medicine, you're all right." They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters get waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ATTEND FIRST MEETING OF B. M. BAKER P-TA

Among those attending the first meeting of the B. M. Baker Parent-Teacher Association this week in the school auditorium were Mrs. H. E. Symonds, center, and Joe Gordon, right. Mrs. Symonds, new president of the unit, succeeds Mrs. Anderson who held the same position for two years. Mr. Gordon and Byron St. Clair presented a program on traffic safety.

have done your part to eliminate traffic accidents.

"The Driver's License law has made truck, bus, and taxi drivers safe and sane drivers. Three E's of traffic are the only sensible way to eliminate traffic accidents and all three must be together. They are like the three-legged stool as all three legs are needed for the stool to stand; likewise, all three E's are necessary for traffic safety," he concluded.

Mrs. Annie Daniel's room received the prize for having the largest number of parents present. It was reported that B. M. Baker teachers are 100 per cent enrolled in P-T-A.

Mrs. Wess Izard of Amarillo will be speaker at the next program, October 10. She will discuss the study course in connection with the procedure course. Mrs. Izard would like to have questions on P-T-A sent to her at 2805 Lipscomb street, Amarillo.

Methodist WMS Meets In Circles For Lesson Study

Members of five circles of Woman's Missionary Society of First Methodist church met this week for a study of the book, "Triumph Through Tragedy."

A meeting of circle one was conducted in the home of Mrs. W. D. Waters, with Mrs. J. Knox as hostess. After Mrs. W. M. Pearce led the lesson study, Mrs. Waters presided over the business session in which reports from the retreat held in Abilene were given by Mrs. C. E. Ward.

Refreshments were served to 11 members and one visitor, Mrs. Clyde Blackwell. Next Monday afternoon the circle is to meet with Mrs. Ed Ward.

Mrs. Sherman White was hostess to the members of circle two who met for a lesson conducted by Mrs. Art Hurs; and a business session in charge of Mrs. C. W. Andrews. Mrs. R. W. Lane is new study leader for the group who will meet next Monday in the home of Mrs. Waldo Parize.

Texas Girl Tells Of Experiences On City Of Flint

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 14. (AP)—Miss Mary Lee Humlong of San Angelo, Tex., who had sailed from Glasgow on the City of Flint, told of the terror that struck the survivors even after they had been rescued. Describing the scene when the sea became rough, the first night after the rescue, she said:

"The passengers began screaming and became hysterical in the holds at every noise, and some of them shouted: 'We're being torpedoed!'"

Miss Humlong gave away her sweater and coats to the survivors, and helped make shoes out of rope.

Another girl, Miss Caroline Stuart of Plainfield, N. J., said she rowed for eight hours after leaving the Athena in a lifeboat.

"Look at these hands," she said. "They were covered with blisters. 'It was only that I had to be back in school that I didn't sail on the Athena,'" Miss Humlong said. "I thought I was the luckiest person in the world when I got passage on the Athena first. I bought my tickets, but on advice of the chaperone of our party I changed to the City of Flint to get back to school (the University of Texas) in time."

"Now I think I'm still the happiest person in the world. There were nine of us Texas girls who slept in the captain's quarters. It was all right, although we sometimes slept on the floor."

A tall, pretty girl, Miss Humlong said her Texas friends on the Athena made the trip to Halifax, N. S., and helped entertain the "city girls."

Third Birthday Of John Teed Observed At Party Wednesday

Observing the third birthday of her son, John, Mrs. A. M. Teed entertained with a party at home Wednesday afternoon.

Favors of balloons and suckers were presented to the youngsters by the hostess and her friends.

Refreshments were served to Mary Lynn Miller, Don Hicks, Charles Swanson, Phoebe and Buster Carter, Marvin Overton, Jon Oden, Marilyn Fitzgerald, James Edwin Vickers, Helen Kay Wilson, Sonny Burrow, and David Fatheree.

Texas Girl Had No Life Preserver

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 14. (AP)—Tales of horror, first in the sudden sinking of the liner Athena and then in repeated submarine scares as they crossed the Atlantic, were told today by more than 200 survivors as they landed here aboard the over-crowded freighter, City of Flint.

With some of the women dressed in dungarees, some wearing men's shoes, the obviously tired and drawn survivors were rushed to impromptu first-aid stations after a roaring welcome as their ship came into the harbor.

The first woman ashore was Mrs. Jean Hayworth of Hamilton, Ont., whose child died aboard the City of Flint of a brain injury suffered in the sinking of the Athena. She was nearly prostrated and had to be helped down the gangplank.

One girl, Elizabeth Brown, of Houston, told a terrifying experience of being tossed into the water without a life preserver when the life boat, from which she set out from the Athena, capsized.

"I saw one man gasp for breath and die," she said. "It was horrible. Just before the lifeboat capsized I had removed my life preserver."

Development in recent years of five United States mineral industries, natural gas, bituminous coal, carbon dioxide, potash and sulphur is attributed largely to underground explorations for oil.

Mrs. Roach Says Average Of 437 Took Part In Play Program Daily

An average of 437 persons daily participated in the summer playground program during the past summer, according to a narrative report prepared by Mrs. Rosemary Roach, recreation project superintendent.

July was the top ranking month in attendance with 9,622. The project was in operation 65 days during the summer, ending on August 31 with a city-wide Sports Day held at the Woodrow Wilson school playground.

Activities of Sports Day included sack races, croquet, ping pong, horseshoe pitching, and craft exhibits.

Soon after the beginning of the summer program, the project assisted in acquiring personnel and costumes for the Top O' Texas Fiesta parade.

Arts and crafts equipment and materials were distributed to all playgrounds, making possible arts and crafts instruction at each playground unit.

Other work started as the summer program opened included activities in rhythm bands and folk dancing.

Miniature golf courses were laid out and a city-wide tournament held.

Instruction in swimming and diving was started at the Pampa Municipal Swimming pool and supervision at the wading pool in Central park.

June Events
Special events during June included three sing songs, city-wide croquet tournament, a supervised party and 34 softball games.

During the first month of the summer program there were five playgrounds and the Central park supervised, but with the beginning

CANYON, Sept. 14.—Baptist students from a wide area will arrive here today for their annual retreat starting at 4 p. m., heralding the opening of the fall semester at West Texas State College.

Brynlide Vaughan, president of the local Baptist Student Union, will welcome the group, which will register at the First Baptist church before going to the Canyon Country club for supper and lodging. Tom Langston, program chairman, will open the first service at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow when the Rev. J. R. Hicks, Canyon Baptist pastor, will talk.

A sunrise service at 6:30 a. m. will open the day's program Friday. Breakfast will follow at 7 o'clock.

The retreat will close Saturday evening with a social at the Baptist church here. Recreation during the three-day meeting of students will include hiking, golf, boating, and playground games.

Tournaments Held
During August, three staff meetings were held and plans made for the tournaments held that month: horseshoe pitching, washer pitching, jacks, Chinese checkers, volleyball, darts.

Targets, bows and arrows and darts used in the tourney were made by the leaders and children themselves.

Women And Children Capture Nazi Tank

WARSAW, Sept. 18.—(Polish telegraphic agency, via Stockholm)—The army and the civilian population of Warsaw are repelling with an incomparable heroism the concentric attacks of overwhelming enemy forces. Anti air craft artillery dispersed German bombers who attacked the city yesterday 14 times.

A German tank which succeeded in penetrating one of Warsaw's suburbs was captured and disarmed by the civilian defenders, mostly women and children.

The Warsaw radio station is working as usual. The radio listeners were greatly amused by the announcement broadcast by the German radio stating that "because of strategic reasons the German armies were compelled to retreat from Warsaw."

Steel Heads Dizzy With New Orders

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 14. (AP)—A visit to offices of the leading steel producers here today showed executives almost dizzy with the sudden rush of domestic orders which many predicted would result in calling back to the mills as many as 125,000 workers before Thanksgiving.

A steady stream of telegrams from branch offices and manufacturers of virtually every commodity from coat hangers to locomotives poured in, telephones jangled, boys trotted in and out with memoranda.

"Consumers," explained a perspiring official, "are putting on the same panicky rush housewives did last week for sugar and flour. If it continues, and we believe it will, the industry will boost its output to 85 or 90 per cent of capacity within 30 or 60 days."

"That will mean as many as 125,000 additional workers will be needed and full time for those now working."

Customers who have been buying 1,000 tons a quarter and now are demanding 5,000 tons for the next quarter, are having to slash their order.

All executives stated there virtually was no war materials involved in the pickup.

Meanwhile, closely related industries began to feel the effects. The Pennsylvania Railroad ordered back 2,000 workers, reopened some of its machine shops. Baltimore and Ohio called back almost 1,000. Steel scrap figures jumped $1 a ton yesterday to $18, a record for the year.

Dilers And Lubbock To Resume Series Here

Pampa Loses And Straight Game 9 To 5

The West Texas-New Mexico baseball Shaughnessy playoff series moves to Pampa tonight with the Pampa Oilers and the Lubbock Hubbers in action. Game time will be 8 o'clock with admission 40 cents. The Oilers are trailing by two games in the series after losing last night, 9 to 5 in Lubbock.

Fans are advised to be at Road Runner park early tonight, not only because a packed stand is expected to see the game but that wonder of baseball, Happy Frank McKeown, will be on hand to give a pre-game demonstration of his skill without hands. He'll also clown the game and he's on a par with Al Schacht.

Advance sale of tickets has been brisk as fans decided to get to the game early and not have to stand in line. Tickets are available at the Courthouse cafe and Champion Service Station. Fans with tickets will be allowed to enter the south gate at the concession stand where cushions will be available.

Grabek or Dilbeck Tonight

Either Frank Grabek or Rex Dilbeck will get the call to try and put the Oilers in the win column. Harris or Bridwell will be the Lubbock hurler. Harris was the leading pitcher in the league during the regular season. Lubbock will present a new fielding sensation in Sparr, right-fielder, who was borrowed from Longview when Stevens went to the hospital.

Solid base blows by the Hubbers, 13 of them, mixed with five Oiler errors, tells the story of last night's game. Harvey Hutton started and toiled until the last half of the fifth when he was relieved by Verrengia who pitched sensationally the rest of the way, handcuffing the Hubbers with two hits.

Sam Malvica led the Oiler batting attack with a triple and single but he also led in errors with two. Seitz bagged a double and single with Summers adding the other hit, a triple, for the Oilers.

Few 'Breathers' Among Class AA Games Friday

Much service in Buffalo football will be seen this season by a former Pampa Harvester, Roy Lee Jones. Roy Lee weighs 193 pounds and is being used as a quarterback and blocking halfback. He is a sophomore, coming up from last year's undefeated freshman team.

The Oilers drew first blood in the second inning when Summers opened with a triple and scored on Malvica's single. Jordan was out but Bailey was walked, as was Beavers. Intentionally Hutton fooled the strategists by letting the fourth pitch go by for a walk, forcing Malvica home. Sparito hit a single through short and Bailey scored. Phillips fanned to end the rally.

The three-run deficit meant nothing to the Hubbers who proceeded to even the count in their half of the inning. Parker hit to right and when the ball got away from Summers he went to third from where he scored when Watkins grounded to Bailey. Sparr singled. Mosel tripled scoring Sparr. Mosel scored on Gorski's out. Zorko walked. Carr doubled down the first base line. Taylor grounded out.

After Seitz and Summers had grounded out, Malvica tripped and scored on a balk. The play was unusual. Jordan was at bat and although Gorski delivered the ball and Jordan smacked the pitch was called a balk. Malvica was allowed to score and Jordan was brought back to bat again.

Hubbers Slug Ball

Another cluster of three runs in the third put Lubbock out of danger. Miller doubled to open the inning and Parker sacrificed and was safe when Jordan couldn't make a play. Watkins tripled and scored on Sparr's sacrifice fly.

One more Lubbock run crossed the plate in the fourth when Carr singled through second. Taylor was safe on Malvica's error. Taylor hit one through Jordan for a hit and Carr scored. Miller tried to steal on the play but was caught.

Another Lubbock run came in the sixth when Mosel opened with a triple and scored on Zorko's blisterer through the box which Hutton stopped but was unable to get either man.

Pampa's other run came in the seventh. Beavers walked, Verrengia walked and Sparito walked, filling the bases. Then Phillips fanned. Seitz led out to center, Beavers scoring after the catch. Summers walked. Malvica flied out.

Lubbock's long run off Verrengia came in the seventh. Miller singled to center. Parker sacrificed. Miller went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Malvica's second error.

Van Horn May Be Next Great Champ Of Tennis Courts

By GALE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Welby Van Horn, a tall, grinning boy from the California tennis incubator, has everybody at Forest Hills saying he will be the next great champion of the courts—perhaps no later than next year.

By a great champion, they mean one like Tilden, Vines and Budge. Welby, who turned 19 only six days ago, looked like the makings of that kind of champion yesterday in swatting Elwood Cooke out of the big tournament in four sets.

Cooke was a Wimbledon finalist this year, good enough to carry

Yankees Lose As St. Louis And Reds Win

Associated Press Staff

"Breathers" are fast disappearing from the schedule of Texas schoolboy football teams.

A 37-game card that brings more than half the Class AA teams into action this week shows many of the clubs are no longer picking "soft spots" and that their pre-conference tilts are fully as hard as those they'll play when they start the championship drive.

Standout tilts on the schedule find Brownwood, a favorite in District 9, playing at Sweetwater, raised the top club in the Oil Belt; the highly-ranked Riverside outfit from Fort Worth engaging Longview, the East Texas power; the powerful Amarillo Sandies going to Fort Worth to dedicate a new stadium with Paschal, and last season's sensation—Masonic Home, showing if it's true about what they say of the Mason's weakness by tackling the big boys of District 2—the Wichita Falls Coyotes.

Other feature games match Olney, highly rated in Wichita Falls District, with Gainesville, a co-favorite in District 5, and Bryan testing the vaunted Beaumont power in a game between Central and South Texas ranking teams. Poly, co-favorite in the Fort Worth District, tackles a tough assignment at Odessa of the Oil Belt.

There are 20 interdistrict games and three intersectional tilts, the latter sending El Paso high to Las Cruces, St. M., Texas, entertaining Gurdon, Ark., and Fort Arthur playing Lake Charles, La.

This week's schedule by districts:

1—Friday: North Side (Ft. Worth) at Lubbock, Berger at Shamrock.

2—Friday: Chillicothe at Quanah, Pampa at Vernon, Masonic Home (Ft. Worth) at Wichita Falls.

3—Friday: Mineral Wells at Big Spring, Fort Worth Tech at Lamesa, Poly (Fort Worth) at Odessa, Brownwood at Sweetwater; Saturday: Edison (San Antonio) at Midland.

4—Thursday: Fabens at Austin (El Paso); Friday: Plainview at Bowie (El Paso), El Paso High at Las Cruces, N. M., Ranger at Yelton.

5—Friday: Olney at Gainesville, Sulphur Springs at Denison.

6—Friday: Sherman at Greenville, Corsicana at Highland Park (Dallas), Athens at McKinney.

7—Friday: Amarillo at Paschel (Fort Worth); Saturday: Childress at Arlington Heights (Fort Worth).

8—No games scheduled.

9—Friday: Cisco at Weatherford.

10—Friday: Denton at Hillsboro, Ennis at Waxahatchie.

11—Friday: Gurdon, Ark., at Texarkana, Tex., at Fort Worth.

12—Friday: Jacksonvill at Marshall.

13—Friday: Grapeland at Palestine, Corsicana State Home at Nacogoches, Carthage at Henderson.

14—No Games.

15—Friday: Lake Charles, La., at Port Arthur; Bryan at Beaumont; Saturday: St. Anthony (Beaumont) vs South Park (Beaumont).

16—Friday: Georgetown at Harlandale (San Antonio), Lockhart at Austin.

17—Upper bracket: Friday: Kingsville at Aransas Pass; Lower bracket: Friday—Donna at San Benito.

Bobby Riggs to five sets, and he wasn't off his game yesterday.

The Los Angeles kid's quarter-final opponent tomorrow will be Wayne Sabin of Portland, who scored a surprising victory yesterday over Adrian Quist of Australia.

The general opinion was that yesterday's series of upsets, eliminating Quist, Cooke and Frankie Parker, the three top-seeded men in the lower bracket, had gone a long way toward giving the title to Riggs.

Riggs figured to win fairly easily today over Harry Hopman, 33-year-old Australian, and his semi-final opponent will be either Don McNeill of Oklahoma City or Joe Hunt of Annapolis, who met today.

In today's two women's quarter-finals, champion Alice Marble faced Ruth Mary Hawick of England, and Dorothy Bundy of San Monica, Calif., played Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco.

Jack Wilson Groomed To Take Patterson's Place

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT

WACO, Sept. 14 (AP)—Muscle Jack Wilson, a sophomore with open power and a Bill Patterson pitching delivery, is the little item so necessary to make Baylor fans forget.

Fellows like Bill Patterson just don't leave football teams without causing rehabilitation plans of Red Cross emergency proportions.

To Coach Morley Jennings, the Wilson boy, 200 pounds of cast iron, could be the antidote for all Patterson worries.

"Big, active and fast, Wilson looks like a fine back. We are counting on his passing and he's a good kicker, although he just started that the past winter. He is a good blocker and defensive man."

"How good will he be? I couldn't say. You just can't count too heavily on sophomore passers."

Wilson's case is a bit different, however. The six-foot, curly-haired handsome kid has had a year's experience with Paris junior college in addition to his freshman pounding with Baylor last fall. His ripping scrimmage play is just a little more than a sophomore usually shows and his passing ranging the bell.

Parks Freshman Favorite

If Wilson isn't enough, there's more ammunition at hand. Dwight Parks, a slender-legged lad from a long line of Baylor athletes, is a passing, kicking and running tail-back whose only handicap is weight—about 150 pounds. His scrimmage work has been satisfactory and he was a freshman favorite.

"Fast and shifty and a good passer—but he's another sophomore," warned Jennings.

Parks will alternate with Wilson at the tailback slot. Quarterbacking in the starting lineup will be handled by Fred Graham, 187-pound senior letterman, while Jimmy Witt, in marvelous condition and heavier after a summer of semi-pro baseball, is due for the starting wing-back position.

Big Milton Merka, 190-pound letterman fullback, returns to that job. Synonymous with Patterson's name last fall was that of Sam Boyd, tall end who earned all-conference honors and all-American mention. His loss hurt. The end situation isn't too bright, even though letterman Sherman Barnes and W. J. Wimpee are back.

"One of our problems, in addition to passing and quarterbacking, will be the ends," said Jennings.

Behind Barnes and Wimpee will come three juniors, Lummus, Lucas and Griffin, but Ernest Marshall, a big junior college transfer, may slip into the lineup.

Three senior tackles are returning, Bennett, Edwards, Frank Marx and Louis Robinson. Jack Anderson, a junior equidman, could push them all aside for a starting post. Guards are practically no worry, what with Leonard Akin and Bobby Taylor, senior veterans, back on duty; sensational Pat Mickler, a sophomore, and juniors Willis and Haley, around.

Center Position Secure

Robert Nelson, who ranked right behind Ki Aldrich last fall, makes the pivot position secure and Hoyt Williams, giant veteran, is still around to pester Nelson for the job.

Five sophomore backfield boys are likely to play some football. List them as Harry Touchy, Louis Self, Weldon Bigony, Ed Hickman and Hugh Pennell. Squadman W. J. Grumbles is running with the first backfield bunch and Malcolm Linder, senior letterman, could lend his speed to the offense.

"We'll be dangerous on the ground. And if we should happen to get good passing—well, we could be a little more dangerous," concurred Jennings.

Kilgore, Henderson In League Finals

HENDERSON, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Kilgore Boomers move here tonight to open the deciding series in the East Texas League play-off.

The Boomers pushed their way into the finals by taking out Palestine several days ago while Henderson won its series with Marshall, knocking out the Tigers 9-4 in the deciding game here last night.

Texas Christian Strong Despite Loss Of Stars

By JERRY BRONFIELD
NEA Service Sports Writer

The utterly unpredictable South-west Conference is primed to keep its tradition intact.

Never in the history of this fast football league has a champion repeated, which means that Texas Christian, the nation's No. 1 club of last season, occupies the well-known spot.

This fact, coupled with a terrific loss of talent, normally should leave the Horned Frogs in a dither but Dutch Meyer shows no pessimism.

Even though T. C. U. lost three All-America nominees in Davey O'Brien, Kl Aldrich and I. B. Hale, plus a half dozen other three-year stars, the Fort Worth entrant, has plenty.

In Jack Odle, 186-pound junior, Meyer insists he has a player better than was either O'Brien or Sammy Baugh at the same stage of development.

Connie Sparks, 195 pound junior fullback, who led the Frogs in ground gaining in 1933, returns along with Earl Hall, veteran halfback.

The attack should measure up to the 1933 caliber but the defense is expected to be a little weak.

LAIN AND CORDIL ARE BACK FOR FINAL FLING

Rice Institute expects to go far if Jimmy Kitta can patch up a line riddled by graduation. Ernie Lain and Ollie Cordil, halfbacking twins who sparked as sophomores and bogged down last year because of injuries, are ready to wind up their careers in a blaze of brilliance.

Arkansas, with a letter man at every position but center, should be the most-improved club in the circuit.

Kay Eakin, excellent punter and ball-carrier, and Ray Cole, a heavy-duty fullback, lead what is expected to be the most varied Razorback attack in years.

The serious loss up front was Center Larry Woodell.

Otherwise Fred Thompson is well set, especially at the ends and guards where eight lettermen return.

Although Dick Todd, greatest running back in the southwest last year, has graduated, Texas A. & M. is well fortified and should be a strong factor by November.

Jack Kimbrough, a versatile junior, will provide the Aggies' biggest punch.

SOUTHERN METHODIST AERIAL CIRCUIS READY

Southern Methodist appears with an old-time Mustang aerial circus. Matty Bell has two good tossers in Jack Mallouf and Preston Johnson, a promising sophomore triple-threat.

A scarcity of ends provides the chief concern.

Baylor may have lost too much when Bullet Bill Patterson and Sam Boyd graduated, but the Bears retain a nucleus which should make them threats.

This is the club to watch if you seek a dark horse.

Dana X. Bible, starting his third year at Texas, may show some results of his rebuilding, but the Longhorns don't figure too strongly.

Outside the conference, Texas Tech looks strong but not up to last year's standard.

Hardin-Simmons has one of its most formidable squads in years.

Centenary needs a little more line strength.

Arizona expects to show a slight improvement.

New Mexico starts anew under Mike Caswell, late of Michigan State and is in better shape than most clubs faced with reconstruction.

Nova 5-9 Favorite To Thump Galento

By SID FEDER
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14 (AP)—The odds-layers established Lou Nova a 5 to 9 favorite today to thump Tony Galento soundly Friday night, and a lot of the customary "short-ends" immediately wondered why.

Nova himself, under dog in the last three fights that "made" him as a heavyweight contender—against Olin Barlund, Tommy Farr and Maxie Hieser, doesn't like it even a little bit. He vowed positively it was a put-up job to get his "nanny."

And the man in the street was even more mystified. Both fighters were in fine condition at the conclusion of their workouts.

Nova has shown he can be hit. And the two-ton Galento from Jersey has definitely demonstrated he can toss the heavy artillery.

On that basis, this corner likes Galento to win—in a hurry. He must do it in six rounds. Otherwise, Nova is the lad.

Galento will have the weight pull as usual, scaling 230 pounds to Nova's 205.

Chambers To Stage Battle Royal Monday

Promoter Cliff B. Chambers will stage another of his famous battle royals at the Pampa Athletic arena on Monday night. On top of that he'll present Alfred (Dutch) The Great Mantell of Amarillo as the third man in the ring. The battle will begin at 8:30 o'clock sharp.

Last time Promoter Chambers staged a battle royal it was 18 minutes before the end came with two maulers still in the ring. The battle royal starts out with six men in the ring. At the going they go together and may the best man win.

Tough cookies signed by Chambers for the battle Monday night are Otto von Ludwig, Don Carver, Ray Clements, Billy McEwin, The Red Shadow and Charlie Carr.

The Ray Clements mentioned is none other than the "Big Train" former referee, who has returned to the Panhandle after wrestling in heavyweight circles in the north. He met a 275 pound giant recently and that was when he decided to reduce back to a light heavyweight and come to the Panhandle.

The first two maulers to be eliminated will meet in the preliminary. The second two to fall will be semi-finalists. The top pair will return in the main event.

Favorites In U. S. Amateur Eliminated

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP)—No matter what happens today in the third and fourth round matches of the 43rd national amateur golf championship (and anything can happen in this one, it seems) you can lay it on the line no favorites will be eliminated.

The reason? There are no favorites left!

A bunch of guys named "Joe" cut a wide swath through the field of 64 qualifiers yesterday, and the talent toll was terrific. Ushered to the sidelines in the most dazzling series of upsets in years were the defending champion; two others who had won the amateur; a former national open king; the former medalist; a former British amateur champ; four former rulers of the public links, and four who have won the national collegiate laurels.

The boys still in their fighting come from everywhere.

The sprinkling of "big names" still in the running included Harry Todd of Dallas, western amateur champion; C. Ross Somerville, the Canadian who won the 1933 amateur; John P. Burke of Rye, N. Y., the collegiate ruler, and Ray Billocks of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., finalist in the 1937 amateur.

Although last year's champion, Willie Turnesa of Elmford, N. Y., was eliminated along with B. Patrick Abbott of California, the runner-up, last year's defeated semi-finalist survived. Dick Chapman, of Greenwich, Conn., and Ed Kingsley of Salt Lake City, who lost out a year ago, romped through a pair of matches yesterday.

Turnesa dropped a two-down decision to George Dawson of Chicago.

Greatest surprise came, however, when Johnny Goodman of Omaha, 1937 winner and national open victor over this same course in 1933, collapsed on the last two holes to let Don Schumacher of Dallas, in with a one-up victory. One up going to the 17th, Goodman took bogie fives on the last two holes, losing both.

Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, bowed out to Gordon Kummer of Milwaukee, 3 and 2. Kingsley took care of Charley Yates of Atlanta, former British amateur victor, 5 and 3, in the second round.

The field slashes down to four in today's pair of 18-hole rounds, and the survivors battle Friday in the 36-hole championship round comes up Saturday.

He's also a humorist and his line of chatter will be heard tonight. He's a Pampa fan, having been here on several occasions.

"I like the people of Pampa, they're different," declares Happy.

"I like that ball team too. They're really playing ball despite the fact that they'll get no share of the gate receipts. Pampa fans certainly can't do too much for those swell boys. I know every one of them personally and they're tops."

Harvesters And Lions To Tangle Tomorrow Night

The Pampa Harvesters, 33 strong, will accompany Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean to Vernon where they will get their first baptism under fire when they meet Coach Pat Gerald's Lions tomorrow night. Upon the return to Pampa, coaches will cut the squad, sending several boys to the Guerrillas being coached by Oscar Hinger.

The Harvesters will leave for Vernon at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, by bus, stopping in Childress for dinner and exercise. The return trip will be made on Saturday.

With the exception of Pete Dunaway, the boys will be in good shape. Dunaway suffered a sprained ankle Tuesday afternoon and will be able to play only a small portion of the game if at all. His place will be taken by LeRoy Giles, up from the Guerrillas, who has been showing plenty of promise. Giles and "Chief" Cartie will divide the kicking when Dunaway is absent.

Probable starting lineup against the Lions will be Bob Clemmons and Ed Terrell ends; R. C. Cantler and Roland Phillips, tackles; Wayne Giddens and Wayne Fade, guards; Co-Captain Glen Nichols, center; Co-Captain Grover Heiskell, quarter; James Carille and Aubrey Green, halves; LeRoy Giles, full.

Vernon will field a team of eight lettermen who were regulars last season plus several reserve lettermen. The Lions are rated one of the top teams in the north half of the state.

Many fans plan to accompany the team to Vernon for the opening game. Any fan who can take members of the pep squad may call the Pampa News leaving their name and telephone number and the number of passengers they can take.

Armless Player Will Entertain Stands Tonight

"Why be unhappy, somebody's in worse shape than you are," is the philosophy of Happy Frank Keown, the armless baseball player, who will appear preceding the Pampa Oilers-Lubbock Hubbers baseball game tonight at Road Runner park at 8 o'clock.

Although both arms have been amputated at the elbow, "Happy Frank" can bat, pitch, catch balls, dress and undress, pack and unpack his suitcase and do a million and one things. He teaches people nothing for it. He makes his living by appearing in ball parks over the nation and by selling magazine subscriptions.

Your Version Of Truth Just As Good As Any

The United States is in for a stronger dose of propaganda from Europe than it swallowed in 1914-1918. This is nothing at all to become indignant about. It is perfectly natural for each side in a war to try to persuade everybody that it is in the right. We would do the same; in fact, we have.

The right to propagandize is so tightly woven in with freedom of the spoken and the written word that it is difficult to try to protect people from exposure to propaganda. The people can, however, learn to estimate it, to discount it, to weigh it.

All the tricks of World War propaganda are already being repeated. Polish radio stations are already telling their hearers that German airplanes are dropping gay balloons filled with mustard gas designed to kill innocent Polish children, and also strewn poisoned candy for the children to pick up. Because these are old stories told during the World War and proved untrue, it seems very unlikely that there is any truth in them this time.

Similarly, Germans escort an American correspondent through a ruined village, show him the bodies of mutilated peasants, Germans, the Germans tell him, killed by the Poles. The correspondent reports what he saw, what the Germans told him. That was his job.

But as to whether what the Germans told him was true, he expressed no opinion, nor do we need to form one on such slender evidence. What we do know is that these pitiful murdered people were victims of war—and that is about all.

The American newspaper correspondents in Europe are an unusually well-trained, responsible group, anxious to get the truth and tell it to you without distortion. That is their reputation among those who know journalism. Foreign visitors to the United States have observed that the American public is better informed on foreign events than the public of any other country.

But even these crack correspondents can only report to you what they are able to learn, and what the countries involved will allow them to transmit. Sometimes, what with censorship and a thousand restrictions, that isn't much.

For instance, when the German government in Berlin announces that it has taken Warsaw, the correspondent usually sends a dispatch stating that it has made such an announcement. Whether or not it is true must remain for time and cross-checking to discover.

Time works for truth. Of all reports from Europe, nothing is lost by waiting. If they are true, they will stand up with time. If not, time will eventually knock them down.

Take it easy, read with discretion, weigh each dispatch against the source and the probable interest of that source, balance report against report, and arrive at your own version of the truth. It will probably be as accurate as any other.

NEW HAM AND EGGS CAMPAIGN (Rock Island Argus)

Under a different name the $30 every Thursday plan is coming up for a vote in California again in a special election in November. This time it is known as the California retirement life payment plan. To the man on the street it is commonly known as the ham and eggs plan. It was supported in 1938 by Sheridan Downey, who was elected senator on the Democratic ticket, although the plan was defeated.

Backing the proposition now are many so-called poor elements. But the odd fact is that they are spending more than the opponents of the plan. It is estimated that they will spend at least a million dollars in their effort to put over the pension plan. The opposition will do well to raise a fifth of that sum.

The ham and eggs organization has 375,000 members, who pay a cent a day in dues. In addition, each member will be assessed $5 for the campaign. On the other side are banks, chambers of commerce, and conservative groups and citizens in general.

They haven't raised a war chest yet for the new campaign, and there is dissension among them as to what organization should direct the drive. But there is still time for putting up a well planned fight against this movement, and funds are expected to be forthcoming, for the opposition is being warned that the ham and eggs proposal cannot be beaten just by depending on conservative citizens to go to the polls.

Resisting these ideas seems to be a full time job for the conservatives. It is a penalty they have to pay, perhaps for living in a beautiful climate.

COLLAPSE OF THE C. I. O.?

(Los Angeles, Cal., Times)

If Benjamin Stolberg, labor expert, is correct in his article in the current Saturday Evening Post, the C. I. O. has at the present time only about 1,250,000 dues-paying members and is rapidly disintegrating; a fact concealed, he says, by a "pillar of fire and smoke" at its head, John L. Lewis. The disintegration is due to control by Communists and "fellow-travelers" according to the author.

Harry Bridges, according to Stolberg, was the most important figure in the Communist movement up to two years ago and his present denial of Communism excites "the hilarity of the whole labor movement."

Union of the C. I. O. and A. F. L. will never take place, Stolberg thinks, because neither the Communists nor Lewis will permit it; but neither the Communists nor Lewis want a complete breakdown of negotiations for fear of adverse effect on the political prospects of Roosevelt.

The article contains some caustic characterizations. John Brophy, Lewis' chief mate, is called "not a Communist, unless a patient in an asylum is a psychiatrist," and of William Green, A. F. L. head, it is said he is "never at a loss for the wrong word."

There is only one Communist-dominated union in the A. F. L., says the author, the American Federation of Teachers. This is so strongly Communist according to Stolberg, that non-Communists have been forced out of the ranks.

Stolberg appears to have a fund of information which should be of interest to the Dies committee.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life ---

A COMMON ERROR OF HAM AND EGGERS, TOWNSENDITES AND NEW DEALERS

The fallacy on which all Ham and Eggers, Townsendites and New Dealers base their theory of recovery is that those rich men who have money are absolute dummies. These advocates of spending to provide a short cut way of producing wealth seem to think the rich have no sense at all, that they do not have any conception of how wealth is created and distributed. Their whole plan is based on the theory that the so-called rich man is so dumb and ignorant that he believes hoarding money or wealth is a way to keep it and to make it grow.

Practically everyone of these people who believes he has a shortcut method of producing wealth without work will admit immediately that he would not think of keeping money in his sock or in a safety deposit box or burying it if he had no present use for it. All of this type of persons will admit that they would invest it or loan it for any interest rate they could get rather than keep it idle provided the borrower was sure to return it as agreed. Look at any newspaper and you will find that short-time money is loaned for less than one-tenth of 1 per cent. These men would rather take one-tenth of 1 per cent for the use of their money than to hoard it. So this is evidence that those people who have money make every possible effort to put it into circulation so that wealth can be created and they can be benefited.

Now if these people, who believe in such pleasant magical ways of producing wealth, are smart enough to know that wealth even cannot be kept or increased by hoarding money, then it seems absurd for them to claim that those people who in the past have had enough will power and good enough judgment to accumulate wealth are so dumb that they would do things which people without wealth themselves would not undertake to do.

No, men of means spend money or invest money and do not desire to keep it any more than the Townsendites, Ham and Eggers, or New Dealers.

So if the men of affairs would invest their money, or spend it, or give it away, or loan it, then this money would be in circulation just the same as it would be if it were turned over for pensioners to spend. In fact, it would be spent in a manner that would make it possible for all workers to have higher wages—not as the pensioners would do—spend it, and result in all wages being reduced.

This is a fact that Ham and Eggers, the Townsendites, and the New Dealers all overlook. Consequently, their conclusions obviously are all wrong. Wealth cannot be created by the fiat method of contention that one man's spending benefits society more than another man's lending, investing, giving, or spending.

WHY THE BELIEF IN ABILITY TO PAY TAX THEORY

Most all economists from Adam Smith down, seem to advocate that taxes should be paid in proportion to Ability to Pay. How this ability to pay is to be measured differs greatly. The last two decades, our politicians believed in a steep graduation which amounts to practically confiscation of the larger producers.

The only case where ability to pay theory works is in case of war. When a people are at war against another nation, self-preservation requires each individual to use his talents and resources for one purpose and one purpose only, that is to win the war. This gives the government officials the right to stop any other development and use this wealth to win the war.

But when there are no wars, there never has been a time that this ability to pay tax theory works. Yet people take it as a self-evident truth, as an axiom that needs no proof. Every time a peace time government adopts this theory of taxes it always gets into trouble. It will not work for the reason that the ability to pay theory is not based on equality before the law. It is arbitrary. It is force. It is war itself. It gives the government officials the power to confiscate wealth needed to be used in research and expansion.

In peace time there are thousands of different things needed and there is no way of measuring ability to pay. The result is the ability to pay theory stops progress and development. And it is a law of nature that what does not grow and increase, must dwindle and decrease.

The ability to pay theory is a hangover from war condition. It should be challenged by every lover of liberty in peace times.

Freedom suppressed and again regained bites with keener fangs than freedom never endangered. Cicero

Behind The News Of The Day

BY BRUCE CATTON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—When President Roosevelt—who has proclaimed a state of limited national emergency—remarked that he had no intention of trying to censor the American press or radio "at the present time," he set this reporter wondering.

Suppose the President did have such an intention—under existing laws, just what could he accomplish along the line of censorship?

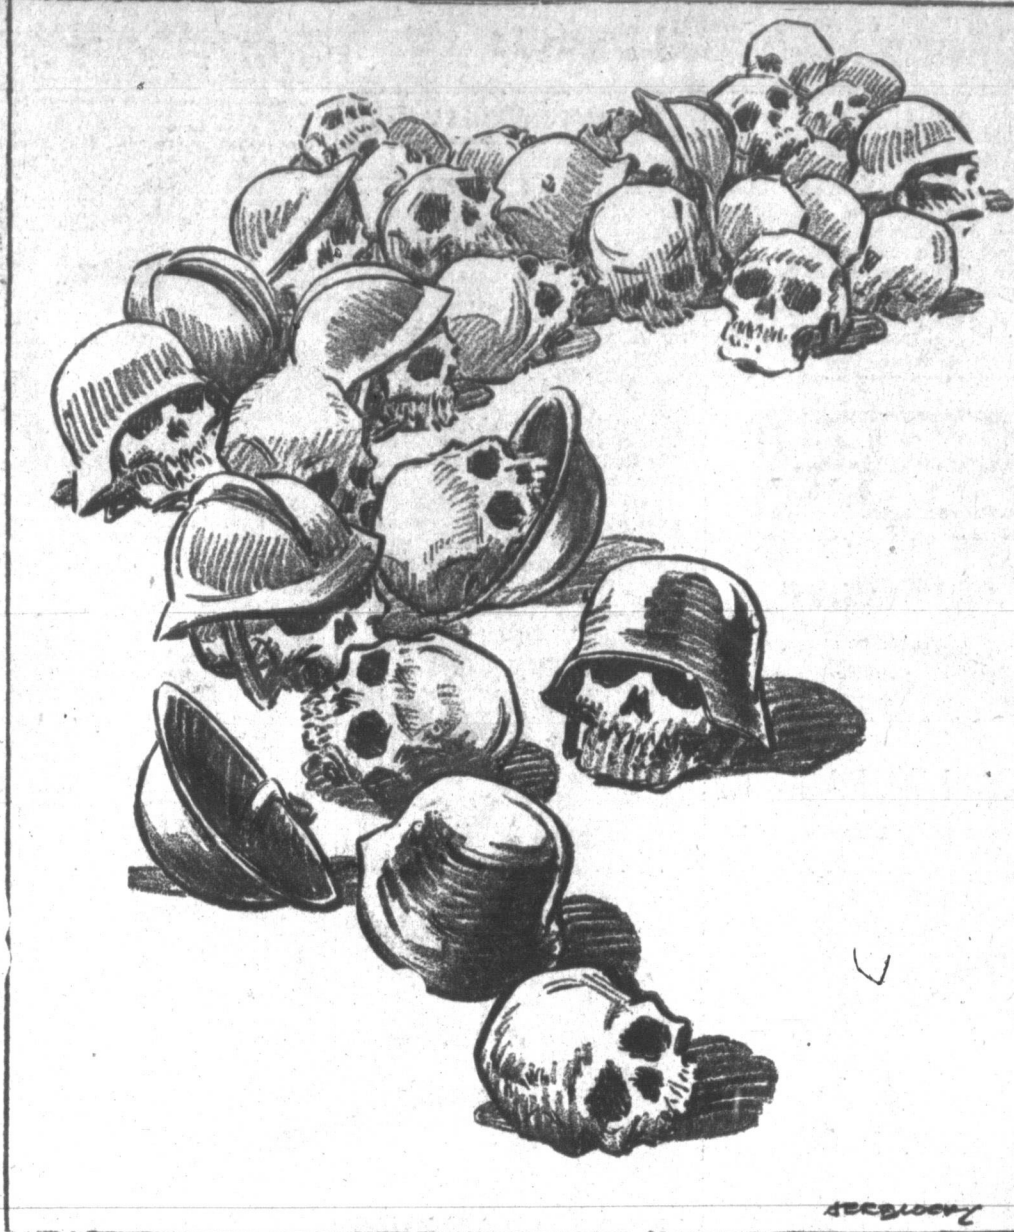

There are two answers, as follows: as far as the press is concerned, he could do practically nothing. As far as radio is concerned, he could do practically everything.

First, the radio. Under the Federal Communications act of 1934, the President may at his discretion use almost any means of regulating or controlling broadcasting. He may even take over stations or networks to be run by the government. He may order equipment removed from any station.

Such powers would be in the hands of the President in time of war, in time of threat or emergency, or in time of national emergency. The likelihood of such powers would be in the hands of the President in time of war, in time of threat or emergency, or in time of national emergency.

FACES THAT WON'T BE SAVED

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14.—When David Niven heard that he'd have a few more weeks here before being called back to military service and the new war, MovieTown began saying that Samuel Goldwyn had sent a request straight to King George and the War Ministry that Niven be spared long enough to finish his starring role in "Raffles."

It's a cinch, anyway, that Goldwyn didn't make an appeal to a certain old colonel of the Guards Regiment, because the actor himself never has been able to explain to that officer just what he has been doing in America all these years.

The last attempt, when Niven visited his country about a year ago, was a total flop. "David said the elderly soldier, 'you've been off somewhere, what?'"

When Niven mentioned America, the colonel brightened and wanted to hear about the hunting in the jungles and whether there had been trouble with the natives. "No, that's South America, sir," said the younger man. "I've been in North America, California, mostly."

"California," meditated the colonel. "Have we aarrison there?" "No, sir," said the actor. Then, forgetting the word "cinema," he continued, "I've been making pictures."

"Pictures!" sputtered the old fire-eater. "I'd never have thought you'd turn to anything so silly as painting."

Bandit Agrees Times Are Tough. A stick-up man, popped out of an alley off Hollywood Boulevard and poked a gun into the ribs of a strolling extra. The actor said, "you're wasting your time, brother. I haven't worked in a month, and I haven't got a dime."

"You're talkin' me times are tough!" wailed the bandit as he opened the cylinder of his revolver. "Look—no bullets!"

Al Hill is an actor-author who once collaborated on a book called "Easy Pickings," a treatise on pickpockets and old-fashioned tricks of larceny. For a gangster picture at Paramount, Hill was one of several character players to be interviewed for the part of a pickpocket. The casting director said, "Sorry, but you're not the type."

Said Hill disconsolately as he started for the door, "Okay, but keep me in mind, will you? Then he went back to the desk and said, "By the way, here's your watch."

They say that a cheapie producer, who writes and directs an occasional picture, and finances them on promises, found himself without a leading man for one of his films. So he turned in and played the part himself. Trade paper reviewers, surprisingly enough, wrote that the leading man gave a very good performance and was worthy of better material.

"They say I'm an actor," mourned the producer next day. "They try to

People You Know

One thing you can say about the Harvesters this fall is that they have more chatter than usual. Just as J. W. Graham was the best-liked boy on the team last season, so Glen Nichols, whose wit and good humor are a continual delight to his friends, is probably the best-liked boy on the squad this year. Glen is co-captain and is playing the center position at present, though his favorite position is at end. Both players and students who do not play, are always hanging around Glen to hear what he is going to say.

Friends of Father Zienta of White Deer are concerned over his present illness which is confining him to his bed, but they are confident he will finally come out winner over his ailment which includes "a bum lung," as he says. "It'll take more than what he's got to whip him," said Bob Manning, Pampa friend, who visited him the other night. The doc says that Father Zienta must remain in bed for several months, but Mrs. Conley says you can tell "by the way he smiles and bucks up in that bed that he's going to come out of it." It was due to lack of information that this column neglected to mention that Jack Hessey, Pampa high school graduate of last year, left the other day with J. W. Graham and Doc's wife to attend Rice Institute at Houston. That makes about seven Pampa boys at Rice.

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

First of two articles advancing new theories on how to keep healthy while swimming.

Research done by Dr. H. M. Taylor of Jacksonville, Fla., on the effect of swimming on ears and sinuses has won him the Casselberry Prize of the American Laryngological association.

Dr. Taylor has found that infections of the nose and throat are caused by swimming because man has invaded an environment to which he is no longer adapted. Man is essentially a land animal and not a water animal.

When man breathes, the air taken into the nose is warmed before it gets down into the lungs. The area over which the air passes is kept moist by glands which secrete mucus. Tiny hairs keep material in motion so that germs deposited in the breathing area are emeshed in the mucus and carried away from disposition.

Animals that live in the water have a different kind of nose and throat than have human beings. They can close the nose to keep the water out if they wish to do so. This is true of alligators, pelicans, diving petrels, hippopotami and porpoises.

The only way in which man can protect himself while swimming is to develop a proper method of breathing. By exhaling through the nose when the head is under water, and inhaling through the mouth when it is above, the swimmer can maintain a positive air pressure in the nasal cavities and protect his sinuses and his Eustachian tubes from water. All new methods of swimming, such as the Australian crawl, provide for this kind of breathing.

Doctor Taylor points out that the swimmer should take a deep inhalation through the mouth just before diving and then exhale slowly through the nose while under water. The rush of air into the nasal cavities incident to diving feet first causes frequent infections of the sinuses, the middle ear and the mastoid in swimmers of all ages.

Investigations made by Doctor Taylor show that all aquatic animals have the ability to close the ear in order to prevent water from coming in contact with the eardrum. The human being has no such apparatus. If a person has a permanent opening in the eardrum because of an infection he must either avoid swimming or diving or arrange some method of keeping water out of the ear.

Swimmers frequently suffer from infections like boils in the ear, pointing that the external auditory canal is not intended to stand long the action of water. As substitutes for the valves possessed by animals living in water, humans may use rubber stoppers or plugs of oiled wool.

Doctor Taylor points out that you may hold your hand in water for 30 minutes and the action of the water will be sufficient to wrinkle and lower resistance of the skin. Softening of the skin by water breaks it and opens up opportunity for infection.

administration could do to control the press as long as the country is neutral.

It ought to be added, probably, that no one in the government is worried by this fact. Wholly aside from the little matter of the freedom of the press, it is pointed out that the newspapers have amply demonstrated their willingness to co-operate in previous grave crises.

During the last war—after the United States got in, that is—the Postoffice Department did try to get through a bill which would have put stringent restrictions on newspapers through control of their use of the mails. Congress refused to pass the bill, however; as it turned out the newspapers themselves established a central bureau of censorship for the handling of government information.

PAMPA FOLK who go over to the Alanreed fair tomorrow and Saturday are going to see some of the best exhibits ever put on display in this section of the country. . . . And, there will be all kinds of products, too. . . . Chief among them will be some of the best apple exhibits ever displayed in anybody's fair.

Not too many persons are familiar with the fact that some of the country's finest apple orchards are to be found right here in the Alanreed section of the Panhandle. . . . Just as advance proof and a sample of what is to be seen at the Alanreed fair, J. H. Hill, who has orchards seven miles north of Alanreed, sent us a sack of golden delicious apples that make your mouth water on sight. . . . Mr. Hill, only one of a number of orchardists at Alanreed, has a four and one-half acre orchard which has nothing in it but the golden delicious apples. . . . All in all, he has eight and a half acres of apple orchards.

GRAY COUNTY has a lot to boast about in the way of wheat and oil and their kindred products, but one must not overlook the fact that right here in our front yard is produced some of the nation's finest orchard yields. . . . It's a comforting thought to know you can go to the Alanreed fair and see apples much different from the kind they're tossing back and forth in Europe right now.

Is there a faint stirring, perhaps in the grasses of the Meuse-Argonne cemetery, or is it merely the wind scudding over the knolls where 14,420 American boys lie buried? . . . There is a dull, throbbing sound, borne on the little winds that sweep across the graves. It is a sound which the wind recognizes if they can hear. . . . It is the sound of guns.

THE MAGINTON line is very near these graves, only a few miles across the hills. And there the guns are booming again, as they boomed in 1918 when the boys of the Meuse-Argonne were quick with life instead of still and dead. . . . Blow the other way, little winds! Do not bring again to Meuse-Argonne the sound of guns! . . . You took away from these dead everything they had. . . . Shall they not even now sleep in peace?

There is nothing like a young married couple getting the right start in life—a start that will properly usher in their probable future. . . . Thus, in a sense, the young Polish couple who were married in Chelsea, England, the other day are to be congratulated. Just as the ceremony was finished, an air raid warning sounded.

EVERYBODY DUCKED for the shelters, and the newly married pair spent the first 10 minutes of their honeymoon in a bomb-proof shelter beneath the registrar's office. . . . The shower of rice which used to be the portion of the newly married has been replaced in today's world by a shower of shrapnel. This lone Polish couple stands as a sort of symbol for a whole generation.

Famed Eiffel Tower Weathers All Storms

FOR 50 years a storm of criticism has raged around the Eiffel Tower, famous Paris landmark. Even before its construction began, critics labeled it "Tower of Babel," and a "frightful, odious nightmare." Today it has been termed unsafe, out of keeping with its surroundings, and petitions for its removal have been circulated.

But the old tower, reaching 1000 feet skyward, takes criticism as well as it withstands the ravages of time and weather.

Built in 1889 as the central attraction of the French International Exposition, the tower is encircled in height only by the Empire State building (1248 feet) and the Chrysler building (1040 feet). It weighs 15,400,000 pounds, is composed of 12,000 steel plates held together by 2,500,000 rivets.

Approximately 17,000,000 persons have "climbed" the tower. Elevators now carry visitors to landings on each of the three platforms, but in the early years of the tower's history the climb was made on foot. Visitors pay most of the handsome revenue the tower brings the French government, and advertising rental now increases its annual earnings. The tower paid for itself—7,800,000 francs—in two years.

The 50th anniversary of the completion of the Eiffel Tower is commemorated on the French red-violet stamp above.

A BID FOR A SMILE

Mark Twain and Chauncey Depew were traveling on the same ship and each was invited to make a speech. Twain spoke 20 minutes and made a great hit. Then it was Depew's turn. He rose and said: "Mr. Toastmaster, Ladies and Gentlemen: Before this dinner Mark Twain and myself made an agreement to trade speeches. He has just delivered my speech, and I thank you for the pleasant manner in which you received it. I regret to say that I have lost the notes of his speech and cannot remember anything he has to say." Then he sat down to the accompaniment of much laughter. Next day Twain met an Englishman who had been at the dinner. "Mr. Clemens, he said, "I consider you were much imposed on last. I have always heard that Mr. Depew is a clever man, but, really, that speech of his you made last night struck me as being the most infernal rot."

Hitler Pictured As Gorilla By Artists

LONDON, Sept. 14 (AP)—British cartoonists have turned to their World War files for inspiration in caricaturing German leaders as huge gorillas, usually clutching a fistful of children's bodies.

There's only one difference in technique. When Raemaker, the Dutch cartoonist, set the fashion in 1914, the Germans were always crowned with the spiked helmets of the old Imperial army. Today the "gorillas" wear the flat fatigue caps of Nazi officials.

Hitler is almost always a gorilla in the less restrained sheets, although the evening standard continues to picture him as an ineffectual little fellow with enormous feet.

Coebbel's sometimes is pictured as a snake, and Goering appears as a pig.

Texas Christian Strong Despite Loss Of Stars

By JERRY BRONFIELD
NEA Service Sports Writer

The utterly unpredictable Southwest Conference is primed to keep its tradition intact.

Never in the history of this fast football league has a champion repeated, which means that Texas Christian, the nation's No. 1 club of last season, occupies the well-known spot.

This fact, coupled with a terrific loss of talent, normally should leave the Horned Frogs in a dither but Dutch Meyer shows no pessimism.

Even though T. C. U. lost three All-America nominees in Davey O'Brien, Ki Aldrich and I. B. Hale, plus a half dozen other three-year stars, the Fort Worth entrant has plenty.

In Jack Odle, 180-pound junior, Meyer insists he has a better passer than was either O'Brien or Sammy Baugh at the same stage of development.

Connie Sparks, 195 pound junior fullback, who led the Frogs in ground gaining in 1933, returns along with Earl Hall, veteran halfback.

The attack should measure up to the 1933 caliber but the defense is expected to be a little weak.

LAIN AND CORDIL ARE BACK FOR FINAL FLING

Rice Institute expects to go far if Jimmy Kitts can patch up a line riddled by graduation. Ernie Lain and Ollie Cordil, halfbacking twins who sparkled as sophomores and bogged down last year because of injuries, are ready to wind up their careers in a blaze of brilliance.

Arkansas, with a letterman at every position but center, should be the most-improved club in the circuit.

Kay Eakin, excellent punter and ball-carrier, and Ray Cole, a heavy-duty fullback, lead what is expected to be the most varied Razorback attack in years.

The serious loss up front was Center Larry Woodell.

Otherwise Fred Thompson is well set, especially at the ends and guards where eight lettermen return.

Although Dick Todd, greatest running back in the southwest last year, has graduated, Texas A. & M. is well fortified and should be a strong factor by November.

Jack Kimbrough, a versatile junior, will provide the Aggies' biggest punch.

SOUTHERN METHODIST AERIAL CIRCUS READY

Southern Methodist appears with an old-time Mustang aerial circus. Matty Bell has two good tossers in Jack Mallouf and Preston Johnson, a promising sophomore triple-threat.

A scarcity of ends provides the chief concern.

Baylor may have lost too much when Bullet Bill Patterson and Sam Boyd graduated, but the Bears retain a nucleus which should make them threats.

This is the club to watch if you seek a dark horse.

Dana X. Bible, starting his third year at Texas, may show some results of his rebuilding, but the Longhorns don't figure too strongly.

Outside the conference, Texas Tech looms strong but not up to last year's standard.

Hardin-Simmons has one of its most formidable squads in years.

Centenary needs a little more line strength.

Arizona expects to show a slight improvement.

New Mexico starts anew under Mike Casteel, late of Michigan State and is in better shape than most clubs faced with reconstruction.

Nova 5-9 Favorite To Thump Galento

By SID FEDER

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14 (AP)—The odds-layers established Lou Nova a 5 to 9 favorite today to thump Tony Galento soundly Friday night, and a lot of the customary "short ends" immediately wondered why.

Nova himself, under dog in the last three tilts that "made" him as a heavyweight contender—against Gunbar Barlund, Tommy Farr and Maxie Beer, doesn't like it even a little bit. He vowed positively it was a pull-up job to get his "nanny."

And the man in the street was even more mystified. Both fighters were in fine condition at the conclusion of their workouts.

Nova has shown he can be hit. And the two-ton Galento from Jersey has definitely demonstrated he can toe the heavy artillery.

On that basis, this corner likes Galento to win—in a hurry. He must do it in six rounds. Otherwise, Nova is the lad.

Galento will have the weight pull as usual, scaling 230 pounds to Nova's 208.

Chambers To Stage Battle Royal Monday

Promoter Cliff B. Chambers will stage another of his famous battle royals at the Pampa Athletic arena on Monday night. On top of that he'll present Alfred (Dutch The Great) Mantell of Amarillo as the third man in the ring. The battle will begin at 8:30 o'clock sharp.

Last time Promoter Chambers staged a battle royal it was 18 minutes before the end came with two maulers still in the ring. The battle royal starts out with six men in the ring. As the going gets together and may the best man win.

Tough cookies signed by Chambers for the battle Monday night are Otto von Ludwig, Don Carver, Ray Clements, Billy McEwin, The Red Shadow and Charlie Carr.

The Ray Clements mentioned is none other than the "Big Train," former referee, who has returned to the Panhandle after wrestling in heavyweight circles in the north.

He met a 278 pound giant recently and that was when he decided to reduce back to a light heavyweight and come to the Panhandle.

The first two maulers to be eliminated will meet in the preliminary. The second two to fall will be semi-finalists. The top pair will return in the main event.

Favorites In U. S. Amateur Eliminated

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP)—No matter what happens today in the third and fourth round matches of the 43rd national amateur golf championship (and anything can happen in this one, it seems) you can lay it on the line no favorites will be eliminated.

The reason? There are no favorites left!

A bunch of guys named "Joe" cut a wide swath through the field of 64 qualifiers yesterday, and the talent toll was terrific. Ushered to the sidelines in the most dazzling series of upsets in years were the defending champion, two others who had won the amateur; a former national open king; the tourney medalist; a former British amateur champ; four former rulers of the public links, and four who have won the national collegiate laurels.

The boys still in there fighting come from everywhere.

The sprinkling of "big names" still in the running included Harry Todd of Dallas, western amateur champion; C. Ross Somerville, N. Y., the Canadian who won the 1932 amateur; John E. Burke of Rye, N. Y., the collegiate ruler, and Ray Billings of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., finalist in the 1937 amateur.

Although last year's champion, Willie Turnesa of Elmford, N. Y., was eliminated along with B. Patrick Abbott of California, the runner-up, last year's defeated semi-finalists survived. Dick Chapman, of Greenwich, Conn., and Ed Kingsley of Salt Lake City, who lost out a year ago, roared through a pair of matches yesterday.

Turnesa dropped a two-down decision to George Dawson of Chicago.

Greatest surprise came, however, when Johnny Goodman of Omaha, 1937 winner and national open victor over this same course in 1933, collapsed on the last two holes to let Don Schumacher of Dallas, in with a one-up victory.

One up going to the 17th, Goodman took bogie lives on the last two holes, losing both.

Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, bowed out to Gordon Kummer of Milwaukee, 3 and 2. Kingsley took care of Charley Yates of Atlanta, former British amateur victor, 5 and 3, in the second round.

The field slashes down to four in today's pair of 18-hole rounds, and the survivors battle Friday in the 36-hole semi-finals. The 36-hole championship round comes up Saturday.

Harvesters And Lions To Tangle Tomorrow Night

The Pampa Harvesters, 33 strong, will accompany Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean to Vernon where they will get their first baptism under fire when they meet Coach Pat Gerald's Lions tomorrow night. Upon the return to Pampa, coaches will cut the squad, sending several boys to the Guerrillas being coached by Oscar Hinger.

The Harvesters will leave for Vernon at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, by bus, stopping in Childress for dinner and exercise. The return trip will be made on Saturday.

With the exception of Pete Dunaway, the boys will be in good shape. Dunaway suffered a sprained ankle Tuesday afternoon and will be able to play only a small portion of the game—if at all. His place will be taken by LeRoy Giles, up from the Guerrillas, who has been showing plenty of promise. Giles and "Chief" Carille will divide the kicking when Dunaway is absent.

Probable starting lineup against the Lions will be Bob Clemmons and Ed Terrell, ends; E. G. Candler, Wayne Roland and Wayne Fade, guards; Co-Captain Glen Nichols, center; Co-Captain Grover Heiskell, quarter; James Carille and Aubrey Green, halves; LeRoy Giles, full.

Vernon will field a team of eight lettermen who were regulars last season plus several reserve lettermen. The Lions are rated one of the top teams in the north half of the state.

Many fans plan to accompany the team to Vernon for the opening game. Any fan who can take members of the pep squad may call the Pampa News leaving their name and telephone or the number of passengers they can take.

Your Version Of Truth Just As Good As Any

The United States is in for a stronger dose of propaganda from Europe than it swallowed in 1914-1918. This is nothing at all to become indignant about. It is perfectly natural for each side in a war to try to persuade everybody that it is in the right. We would do the same; in fact, we have.

The right to propagandize is so tightly woven in with freedom of the spoken and the written word that it is difficult to try to protect people from exposure to propaganda. The people can, however, learn to estimate it, to discount it, to weigh it.

All the tricks of World War propaganda are already being repeated. Polish radio stations are already telling their hearers that German airplanes are dropping gay balloons filled with mustard gas designed to kill innocent Polish children, and also strewn poisoned candy for the children to pick up. Because these are old stories told during the World War and proved untrue, it seems very unlikely that there is any truth in them this time.

Similarly, Germans escort an American correspondent through a ruined village, show him the bodies of mutilated peasants, Germans, the Germans tell him, killed by the Poles. The correspondent reports what he saw, what the Germans told him. That was his job.

But as to whether what the Germans told him was true, he expressed no opinion, nor do we need to form one on such slender evidence. What we do know is that these pitiful murdered people were victims of war—and that is about all.

The American newspaper correspondents in Europe are an unusually well-trained, responsible group, anxious to get the truth and tell it to you without distortion. That is their reputation among those who know journalism. Foreign visitors to the United States have observed that the American public is better informed on foreign events than the public of any other country.

But even these crack correspondents can only report to you what they are able to learn, and what the countries involved will allow them to transmit. Sometimes, what with censorship and a thousand restrictions, that isn't much.

For instance, when the German government in Berlin announces that it has taken Warsaw, the correspondent usually sends a dispatch stating that it has made such an announcement. Whether or not it is true must remain for time and cross-checking to discover.

Time works for truth. Of all reports from Europe, nothing is lost by waiting. If they are true, they will stand up with time. If not, time will eventually knock them down.

Take it easy, read with discretion, weigh each dispatch against the source and the probable interest of that source, balance report against report, and arrive at your own version of the truth. It will probably be as accurate as any other.

NEW HAM AND EGGS CAMPAIGN (Rock Island Argus)

Under a different name the $30 every Thursday plan is coming up for a vote in California again in a special election in November. This time it is known as the California retirement life payment plan. To the man on the street it is commonly known as the ham and eggs plan. It was supported in 1938 by Sheridan Downey, who was elected senator on the Democratic ticket, although the plan was defeated.

Backing the proposition now are many so-called poor elements. But the odd fact is that they are spending more than the opponents of the plan. It is estimated that they will spend at least a million dollars in their effort to put over the pension plan. The opposition will do well to raise a fifth of that sum.

The ham and eggs organization has 375,000 members, who pay a cent a day in dues. In addition, each member will be assessed $5 for the campaign. On the other side are banks, chambers of commerce, and conservative groups and citizens in general.

They haven't raised a war chest yet for the new campaign, and there is discussion among them as to what organization should direct the drive. But there is still time for putting up a well planned fight against this movement, and funds are expected to be forthcoming. For the opposition is being warned that the ham and eggs proposal cannot be beaten just by depending on conservative citizens to go to the polls.

Resisting these ideas seems to be a full time job for the conservatives. It is a penalty they have to pay, perhaps for living in a beautiful climate.

COLLAPSE OF THE C. I. O. ? (Los Angeles, Cal., Times)

If Benjamin Stolberg, labor expert, is correct in his article in the current Saturday Evening Post, the C.I.O. has at the present time only about 1,250,000 dues-paying members and is rapidly disintegrating; a fact concealed, he says, by a "pillar of fire and smoke" at its head, John L. Lewis. The disintegration is due to control by Communists and "fellow-travelers" according to the author.

Harry Bridges, according to Stolberg, was the most important figure in the Communist movement up to two years ago and his present denial of Communism excites "the hilarity of the whole labor movement."

Union of the C.I.O. and A.F.L. will never take place, Stolberg thinks, because neither the Communists nor Lewis will permit it; but neither the Communists nor Lewis want a complete breakdown of negotiations for fear of adverse effect on the political prospects of Roosevelt.

The article contains some caustic characterizations. John Brophy, Lewis' chief mate, is called "not a Communist, unless a patient in an asylum is a psychiatrist," and of William Green, A.F.L. head, it is said he is "never at a loss for the wrong word."

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hollies

A COMMON ERROR OF HAM AND EGGERS, TOWNSENDITES AND NEW DEALERS

The fallacy on which all Ham and Eggers, Townsendites and New Dealers base their theory of recovery is that those rich men who have money are absolute dummies. These advocates of spending to provide a short cut way of producing wealth seem to think the rich have no sense at all, that they do not have any conception of how wealth is created and distributed. Their whole plan is based on the theory that the so-called rich man is so dumb and ignorant that he believes hoarding money or wealth is a way to keep it and to make it grow.

Practically everyone of these people who believes he has a shortcut method of producing wealth without work will admit immediately that he would not think of keeping money in his sock or in a safety deposit box or burying it if he had no present use for it. All of this type of persons will admit that they would invest it or loan it for any interest rate they could get rather than keep it idle provided the borrower was sure to return it as agreed. Look at any newspaper and you will find that short-time money is loaned for less than one-tenth of 1 per cent. These men would rather take one-tenth of 1 per cent for the use of their money than to hoard it. So this is evidence that those people who have money make every possible effort to put it into circulation so that wealth can be created and they can be benefited.

Now if these people, who believe in such pleasant magical ways of producing wealth, are smart enough to know that wealth even cannot be kept or increased by hoarding money, then it seems absurd for them to claim that those people who in the past have had enough will power and good enough judgment to accumulate wealth are so dumb that they would do things which people without wealth themselves would not undertake to do.

No, men of means spend money or invest money and do not desire to keep it any more than the Townsendites, Ham and Eggers, or New Dealers.

So if the men of affairs would invest their money, or spend it, or give it away, or loan it, then this money would be in circulation just the same as it would be if it were turned over for pensioners to spend. In fact, it would be spent in a manner that would make it possible for all workers to have higher wages—not as the pensioners would do—spend it, and result in all wages being reduced.

This is a fact that Ham and Eggers, the Townsendites, and the New Dealers all overlook. Consequently, their conclusions obviously are all wrong. Wealth cannot be created by the fiat method of contention that one man's spending benefits society more than another man's lending, investing, giving, or spending.

WHY THE BELIEF IN ABILITY TO PAY TAX THEORY

Most all economists from Adam Smith down, seem to advocate that taxes should be paid in proportion to Ability to Pay. How this ability to pay is to be measured differs greatly. The last two decades, our politicians believed in a steep graduation which amounts to practically confiscation of the larger producers.

The only case where ability to pay theory works is in case of war. When a people are at war against another nation, self-preservation requires each individual to use his talents and resources for one purpose and one purpose only, that is to win the war. This gives the government officials the right to stop any other development and use this wealth to win the war.

But when there are no wars, there never has been a time that this ability to pay theory works. Yet people take it as a self-evident truth, as an axiom that needs no proof. Every time a peace time government adopts this theory of taxes it always gets into trouble. It will not work for the reason that the ability to pay theory is not based on equality before the law. It is arbitrary. It is force. It is war itself. It gives the government officials the power to confiscate wealth needed to be used in research and expansion.

In peace time there are thousands of different things needed and there is no way of measuring ability to pay. The result is the ability to pay theory stops progress and development. And it is a law of nature that what does not grow and increase, must dwindle and decrease.

The ability to pay theory is a hangover from war condition. It should be challenged by every lover of liberty in peace times.

Freedom suppressed and again regained bites with keener fangs than freedom never endangered. Cicero

Behind The News Of The Day

BY BRUCE CATTON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—When President Roosevelt—who has proclaimed a state of limited national emergency—remarked that he had no intention of trying to censor the American press or radio "at the present time," he set this reporter wondering.

Suppose the President did have such an intention—under existing laws, just what could he accomplish along the line of censorship?

There are two answers, as follows: as far as the press is concerned, he could do practically nothing. As far as radio is concerned, he could do practically everything.

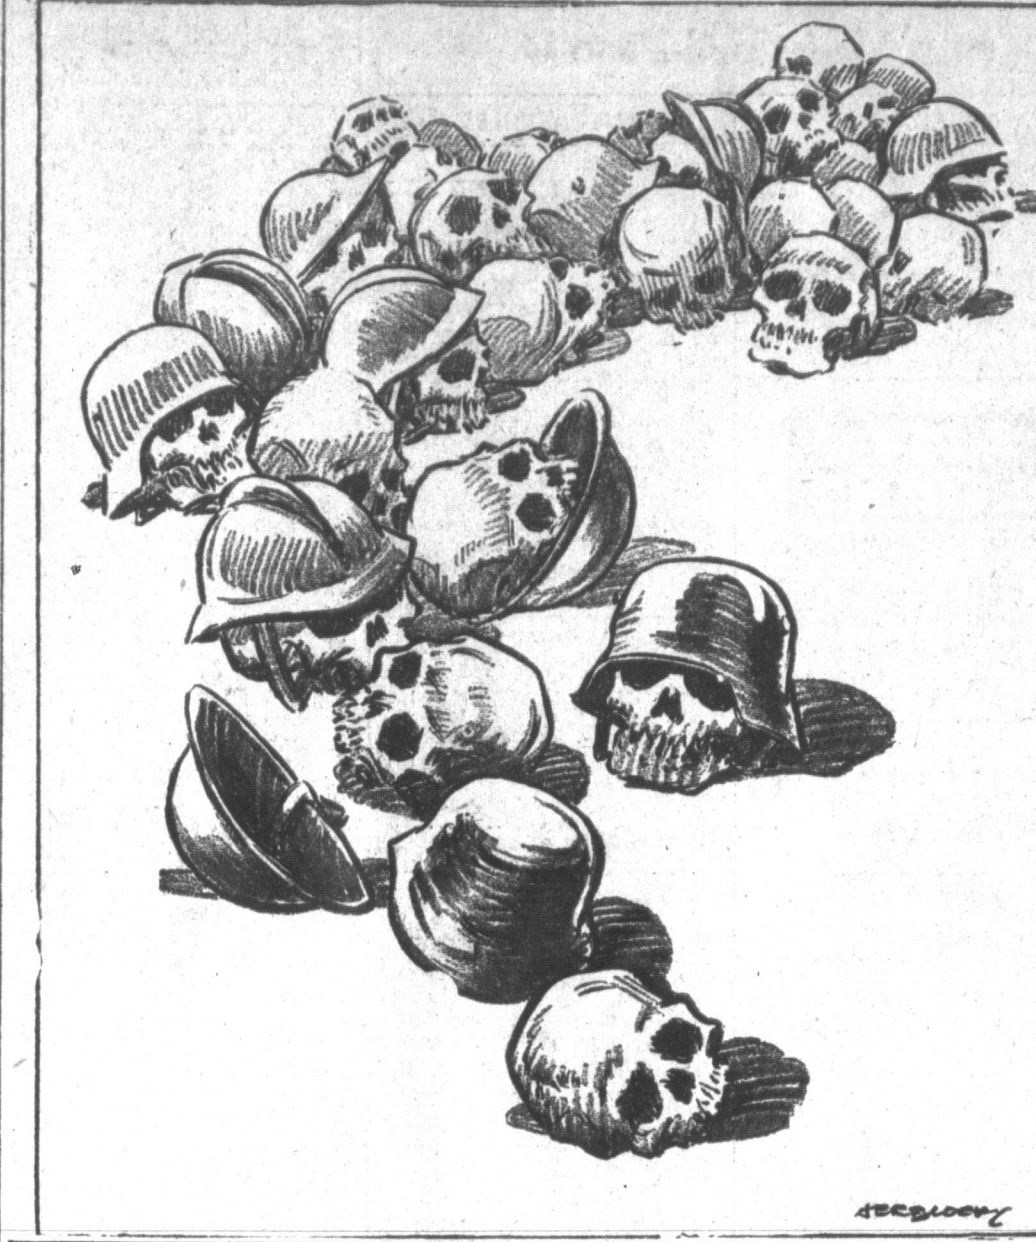

First, the radio. Under the Federal Communications act of 1934, the President may at his discretion use almost any means of regulating or controlling broadcasting. He may even take over stations or networks to be run by the government. He may order equipment removed from any station.

The likelihood that any such powers would be invoked specifies that the President is empowered to take such rigorous action in time of war, in time of threat or peril to this country—or "to preserve the neutrality of the United States."

The likelihood that any such powers would be invoked is very slight, however, according to the Federal Communications Commission.

"Broadcasters are doing a remarkable job of censoring their own stuff," says a spokesman for the commission. "We have been told that a commission of liberal censorship exists in European countries."

FACES THAT WON'T BE SAVED

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14.—When David Niven heard that he'd have a few more weeks here before being called back to military service and the new war, Movietown began saying that Samuel Goldwyn had sent a request straight to King George and the War Ministry that Niven be spared long enough to finish his starring role in "Raffles."

It's a cinch, anyway, that Goldwyn didn't make an appeal to a certain old colonel of the Guards Regiment, because the actor himself never has been able to explain to that officer just what he has been doing in America all these years.

The last attempt, when Niven visited his country about a year ago, was a total flop. "David," said the elderly soldier, "you've been off somewhere, what?"

When Niven mentioned America, the colonel brightened and wanted to hear about the hunting in the jungles and whether there had been trouble with the natives. "No, that's South America, sir," said the younger man. "I've been in North America, California, mostly."

"California," meditated the colonel. "Have we a garrison there?" "No, sir," said the actor. Then, forgetting the word "cinema," he continued, "I've been making pictures."

"Pictures!" sputtered the old fire-eater. "I'd never have thought you'd turn to anything so silly as painting."

Bandit Agrees Times Are Tough A stick-up man popped out of an alley off Hollywood Boulevard and poked a gun into the ribs of a strolling extra. The actor said, "you're wasting your time, brother. I haven't worked in a month, and haven't got a dime."

"You're telling me times are tough!" wailed the bandit as he opened the cylinder of his revolver. "Look—no bullets!"

Al Hill is an actor-author who once collaborated on a book called "Easy Pickings," a treatise on pickpockets and old-fashioned tricks of larceny. For a gangster picture at Paramount, Hill was one of several character players to be interviewed for the part of a pickpocket. The casting director said, "Sorry, but you're not the type."

Said Hill disconsolately as he started for the door, "Okay, but keep me in mind, will you?" Then he went back to the desk and said, "By the way, here's your watch."

He got the job. Reviewers Praise Producers' Acting They say that a cheapie producer, who writes and directs an occasional picture, and finances them on promises, found himself under a leading man for one of his films. So he turns in and played the part himself. Trade paper reviewers, surprisingly enough, wrote that the leading man gave a very good performance and was worthy of better material.

"They say I'm an actor," mourned the producer next day. "They try to submit word-for-word copies of their talks in advance, but are simply asked to hand their notes to the official censor before going on the air."

FCC officials point out that radio is tackling its new role of war-coverage without precedents to fall back on. Officials of networks, as well as of individual stations, have displayed full willingness to cooperate with the commission.

If the FCC or the President desires any change in method of presentation or in type of program during the war in Europe, there is every evidence that the people will comply willingly with any suggestion made.

"I'm making suggestions—which might or might not be taken up—there isn't much of anything the

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

One thing you can say about the Harvesters this fall is that they have more chatter than usual. Just as J. W. Graham was the best-liked boy on the team last season, so Glen Nichols, whose wit and good humor are a continual delight to his friends, is probably the best-liked boy on the squad this year. Glen is co-captain and is playing the center position at present, though his favorite position is at end. Both players and students who do not play, are always hanging around Glen to hear what he is going to say.

Friends of Father Zienta of White Deer are concerned over his present illness which is confining him to his bed, but they are confident he will finally come out winner over his ailment which includes "a bum lung."

When he says, "I'll take more than what he's got to whip him," said Bob Manning, Pampa friend, who visited him the other night. The doc says that Father Zienta must remain in bed for several months, but Mrs. Conley says you can tell "by the way he smiles and bucks up in that bed that he's going to come out of it."

It was due to lack of information that this column neglected to mention that Jack Hessey, Pampa high school graduate of last year, left the city day before yesterday and Doyle Auld to attend Rice Institute at Houston. That makes about seven Pampa boys at Rice.

So They Say

The madman of Europe must be stopped. That may not be neutral, but it's the way I feel. —SENATOR CLYDE L. HERRING (Dem., Iowa).

The present anti-profititeering laws are inadequate to do a real job. —ATTORNEY GENERAL FRANK MURPHY.

ruin me with good notices. Now I'll have to pay myself a bigger salary, and I can't afford it." The casting director of a quickie studio approved an actor for a job. He instructed him briskly: "Be on the set at 7 tomorrow morning. We'll pay $7.50 a day. You're to play a railroad engineer. Wear overalls and a cap and smear on a little grease. Bring your own locomotive."

administration could do to control the press as long as the country is neutral.

It ought to be added, probably, that no one in the government is worried by this fact. Wholly aside from the little matter of the freedom of the press, it is pointed out that the newspapers have amply demonstrated their willingness to co-operate in previous grave crises.

During the last war—after the United States got in, that is—the Postoffice Department did try to get through a bill which would have put stringent restrictions on newspapers through control of their use of the mails. Congress refused to pass the bill, however; as it turned out the newspapers themselves established a central bureau of censorship for the handling of government information.

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

First of two articles advancing new theories on how to keep healthy while swimming.

Research done by Dr. H. M. Taylor of Jacksonville, Fla., on the effect of swimming on ears and sinuses has won him the Casselberry Prize of the American Laryngological association.

Dr. Taylor has found that infections of the nose and throat are caused by swimming because man has invaded an environment to which he is no longer adapted. Man is essentially a land animal and not a water animal.

When man breathes, the air taken into the nose is warmed before it gets down into the lungs. The area over which the air passes is kept moist by glands which secrete mucus. Tiny hairs keep material in motion so that germs deposited in the breathing area are emulsified in the mucus and carried away from disposition.

Animals that live in the water have a different kind of nose and throat than have human beings. They can close the nose to keep the water out if they wish to do so. This is true of alligators, pelicans, diving petrels, hippopotami and porpoises.

The only way in which man can protect himself while swimming is to develop a proper method of breathing. By exhaling through the nose when the head is under water, and inhaling through the mouth when it is above, the swimmer can maintain a positive air pressure in the nasal cavities and protect his sinuses and his Eustachian tubes from water. All new methods of swimming, such as the Australian crawl, provide for this kind of breathing.

Doctor Taylor points out that the swimmer should take a deep inhalation through the mouth just before diving and then exhale slowly through the nose while under water. The rush of air into the nasal cavities incident to diving feet first causes frequent infections of the sinuses, the middle ear and the mastoid in swimmers of all ages.

Investigations made by Doctor Taylor show that all aquatic animals have the ability to close the ear in order to prevent water from coming in contact with the eardrum. The human being has no such apparatus. If a person has a permanent opening in the eardrum because of an infection he must either avoid swimming or diving or arrange some method of keeping water out of the ear.

Swimmers frequently suffer from infections like boils in the ear, proving that the external auditory canal is not intended to stand long the action of water. As substitutes for the valves possessed by animals living in water, humans may use rubber stoppers or plugs of oiled wool or cotton.

Doctor Taylor points out that you may hold your hand in water for 30 minutes and the action of the water will be sufficient to wrinkle and lower resistance of the skin. Softening of the skin by water breaks it and opens up opportunity for infection.

PAMPA FOLK who go over to the Alanreed fair tomorrow and Saturday are going to see some of the best exhibits ever put on display in this section of the country. And there will be all kinds of products, too. Chief among them will be some of the best apple exhibits ever displayed in anybody's fair.

Not too many persons are familiar with the fact that some of the country's finest apple orchards are to be found right here in the Alanreed section of the Panhandle. Just as advance proof and a sample of what is to be seen at the Alanreed fair, J. H. Hill, who has orchards seven miles north of Alanreed, sent us a sack of golden delicious apples that make your mouth water on sight. Mr. Hill, only one of a number of orchardists at Alanreed, has a four and one-half acre orchard which has nothing in it but the golden delicious apples. All in all, he has eight and a half acres of apple orchards.

GRAY COUNTY has a lot to boast about in the way of wheat and oil and their kindred products, but one must not overlook the fact that right here in our front yard is produced some of the nation's finest orchard yields. It's a comforting thought to know you can go to the Alanreed fair and see apples much different from the kind they're tossing back and forth in Europe right now.

Is there a faint stirring, perhaps in the grasses of the Meuse-Argonne cemetery, or is it merely the wind that sweep across the graves. It is a sound which the silent ones underneath the ground will recognize if they can hear. It is the sound of guns.

THE MAGINOT line is very near these graves, only a few miles across the hills. And there the guns are booming again, as they boomed in 1918 when the boys of the Meuse-Argonne were quick with life instead of still and dead. Blow the other way, little winds! Do not bring again to Meuse-Argonne the sound of guns! You took away from these dead everything they had. Shall they not even now sleep in peace?

There is nothing like a young started couple getting the right start in life—a start that will properly usher in their probable future. Thus, in a sense, the young Polish couple who were married in Chelsea, England, the other day are to be congratulated. Just as the ceremony was finished, an air raid warning sounded.

EVERYBODY DUCKED for the shelters, and the newly married pair spent the first 10 minutes of their honeymoon in a bomb-proof shelter beneath the registrar's office. The shower of rice which used to be the portion of the newly married has been replaced in today's world by a shower of shrapnel. This lone Polish couple stands as a sort of symbol for a whole generation.

Hitler Pictured As Gorilla By Artists LONDON, Sept. 14 (AP)—British cartoonists have turned to their World War files for inspiration in caricaturing German leaders as huge gorillas, usually clutching a fistful of children's bodies.

There's only one difference in technique. When Raemker, the Dutch cartoonist, set the fashion in 1914, the Germans were always crowned with the spiked helmets of the old Imperial army. Today the "gorillas" wear the flat fatigue caps of Nazi officials.

Hitler is almost always a gorilla in the less restrained sheets, although the evening standard continues to picture him as an ineffectual little fellow with enormous feet.

Coebels sometimes is pictured as a snake, and Goering appears as a pig.

Famed Eiffel Tower Weathers All Storms

FOR 50 years a storm of criticism has raged around the Eiffel Tower, famous Paris landmark. Even before its construction began, critics labeled it "Tower of Babel," and a "frightful, odious nightmare." Today it has been termed unsafe, out of keeping with its surroundings, and petitions for its removal have been circulated.

But the old tower, reaching 1000 feet skyward, takes criticism as well as it withstands the ravages of time and weather.

Built in 1889 as the central attraction of the French International Exposition, the tower is exceeded in height only by the Empire State building (1248 feet) and the Chrysler building (1040 feet). It weighs 15,400,000 pounds. It is composed of 12,000 steel plates held together by 2,500,000 rivets.

Approximately 17,000,000 persons have "climbed" the tower. Elevators now carry visitors to landings on each of the three platforms, but in the early years of the tower's history the climb was made on foot. Visitors pay most of the handsome revenue the tower brings the French government, and advertising rental now increases its annual earnings. The tower paid for itself—7,800,000 francs—in two years.

The 50th anniversary of the completion of the Eiffel Tower is commemorated on the French red-violet stamp above.

A BID FOR A SMILE

Mark Twain and Chauncey Depew were traveling on the same ship and each was invited to make a speech. Twain spoke 20 minutes and made a great hit. Then it was Depew's turn. He rose and said: "Mr. Toastmaster, Ladies and Gentlemen: Before this dinner Mark Twain and myself made an agreement to trade speeches. He has just delivered my speech, and I thank you for the pleasant manner in which you received it. I regret to say that I have lost the notes of his speech and cannot remember anything he has to say."

Then he sat down to the accompaniment of much laughter. Next day Twain met an Englishman who had been at the dinner. "Mr. Clemens, he said, "I consider you were much imposed on last. I have always heard that Mr. Depew is a clever man, but, really, that speech of his you made last night struck me as being the most infernal rot."

Hitler Pictured As Gorilla By Artists LONDON, Sept. 14 (AP)—British cartoonists have turned to their World War files for inspiration in caricaturing German leaders as huge gorillas, usually clutching a fistful of children's bodies.

There's only one difference in technique. When Raemker, the Dutch cartoonist, set the fashion in 1914, the Germans were always crowned with the spiked helmets of the old Imperial army. Today the "gorillas" wear the flat fatigue caps of Nazi officials.

Hitler is almost always a gorilla in the less restrained sheets, although the evening standard continues to picture him as an ineffectual little fellow with enormous feet.

Coebels sometimes is pictured as a snake, and Goering appears as a pig.

Higgins Students Leave For College

Special To The NEWS HIGGINS, Sept. 14--The annual fall trek to colleges began here in earnest this week when a number of students from this vicinity departed for their various chosen schools.

Richard Henderson, student of paleontology begins his second year at Oklahoma University, Norman.

Nacmi Dearing enters her first year at Northwestern Oklahoma State Teachers college, Alva.

B. C. Hurn enrolled for his first year at Park College, Parkville, Mo.

Miss Charlotte Newcomer, freshman, has chosen Baylor-Belton; Charles Bryant Weis, a pre-medical student, freshman, Baylor; J. K. Mung, Jr., a sophomore student of Oklahoma State University, Austin; and Clarence Schultz, who made an outstanding football record in high school, entered his first year at Silver City, N. M.

Ed Herber of Lipscomb has begun his second year at Wichita, Kans., business college; David Shahan and Harold Shahan also of Lipscomb are classified as juniors at A. & M. College Station, and Elaine Barnes, her second year home economics student at Goodwell, Okla.

Miss Lillie Schwab and Mrs. Phyllis Thomas have entered Amarillo Beauty school.

Other students John Thomas, Jack Herring, Misses Sybil King, Nella Mae Smith and Eddie Buzzard will enroll for their first year at W. T. S. C. Canyon, and Miss Jocelyn Daunter, a former T. S. C. W. student at Denton, will enroll as a junior in business administration.

Texas Tech, Lubbock, will claim the largest number of students when Misses Lula Esther Scott and Lina Lee Shahan of Lipscomb enroll in home economics; Miss Esther Laubhan, a junior in primary education; and sophomores Richard Cole, Jack Patton, Clifford Brown, Glen Rice, and Paul Kutichinsky.

ANSWER TO CRANUM CRACKER

Problem on Editorial Page There are several solutions to this problem. He could build two diagonal roads from the corners across the tract, and then two circular roads across them spaced at proper distances from the center.

He could also build one road from north to south in the middle of the tract, and two roads equally spaced from east to west across it, and finally one oblong road across all these.

By using circular roads, you can work out other solutions.

The United States produces 77 per cent of the world's automobiles and has one registered car for each 45 persons against only one for each 32 persons in four other leading nations.

A "census" of drinking water sources in Texas recently showed there were 640 city water systems, 3,200 roadside supplies, 12,000 school supplies and 900,000 private sources.

There are 3,675 counties in the nation, of which 2,900 are "agricultural counties" employing county agricultural agents.

SERIAL STORY

WORKING WIVES

BY LOUISE HOLMES

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday Sally Blake, unpleasantness at the office, and frequent clashes with Dan kept Marian's temper on edge. There is no reconciliation after her last clash with Dan. Her whole life is in turmoil.

CHAPTER IX

THE Harkness 12th wedding anniversary fell on a Saturday. Harassed by unwelcome thoughts, wishing to fill every hour, Marian decided on a celebration. Perhaps a wistful longing to bring Dan back to her side had something to do with the decision.

"Let's have someone in Saturday night," she suggested at breakfast on Thursday.

"Why Saturday night?" Dan asked. "It's our wedding anniversary, Dan!"

He raised his eyebrows. "Why celebrate the 12th? We haven't celebrated for years."

"I'm surprised that you know it is the 12th."

"I should." They were off again. Marian bit her lip. Quarrels were too devastating. She tried again.

"We never see anyone. Wouldn't you like it, Dan?"

He nodded soberly. "Who could we ask?"

"Well—we haven't seen Bill and Amy Ellen since we were married—but they're here in Chicago."

"Yes, I suppose we could ask them."

"Do you remember the day we went to see them? Bill out of a job—Amy Ellen thin and half sick."

"Yes, I remember."

"What about Bill? Do you ever see him?"

"I sold him $2000 worth of equipment last month."

"You did? Is he in business?"

"Purchasing agent for Tinley Motors."

Marian buttered a slice of toast thoughtfully.

"Shall we ask them?"

"All right."

"And Carmie—she's desperately unhappy. I wish I knew a man to invite for her. Maybe if she got a little attention—"

"I see Randy Means almost every day. He was in my fraternity at the university."

"Is he nice? Would Carmie be interested?"

"I know she's swell, but—" Dan countered. "Some good chap would do well to meet her. Let me think—"

"Oh, she won't mind being the odd one."

THAT evening Marian called Amy Ellen Sands. They were very chatty, exchanging regrets that so many years had elapsed since their last meeting.

And how was Amy Ellen? Let's see—her boy must be 12 years old. Three others? My, my—how lovely. At last Marian proffered her invitation and Amy Ellen accepted.

Dan caught Randy Means at the Medinah Club. Sure he'd come, he'd like very much to come.

"Lucky to get him," Dan remarked as he replaced the instrument. "He's popular as the dickens. Dates, freedom—"

Marian looked at him narrowly. "Would you like dates and freedom, Dan?"

He shrugged. "I'm pretty well trained to double harness."

Carmie hesitated over Marian's invitation. What was the use? She might as well accustom herself to loneliness. When Marian hinted that Dan had invited a most attractive man, she became more interested.

"You may like him," Marian said. "Anyway, he's unattached."

"Uh-huh—I know. Divorced, paying huge alimony, sour on women."

"Not at all. He's a bachelor. Rich and good-looking."

"Yes, I know that kind, too. Concealed pigs—"

Marian laughed. "All right, don't come. What do you want for nothing?"

"I'll be there."

They called Dolly from across the hall and she entered into the plan with enthusiasm. Dinner for six—well, seven—of course she and Marian could manage it.

"I'll do the jumping up and down," she offered. "What shall we serve?"

Marian knitted her brows in thought. It was actually fun to be giving a party. Why hadn't she done it often? "Cocktails first," she decided. "Dan can be responsible for them."

"Gosh, I haven't mixed a cocktail since I don't know when," he put in. They were all in a lighter mood, carried on by a common interest.

Dolly suggested, "How about having chickens done at the restaurant? We can fix vegetables and a nice salad—"

"Yes," Marian nodded. "And those meringue shells from the pastry shop are delicious. Ice cream is an easy dessert."

"Maybe we're doing a good turn," Marian said. "Maybe Randy Means will take a fancy to Carmie." She told Dolly about Carmie and Pete, ending with, "She's just about crazy, Dolly."

"The poor girl," Dolly sympathized. "We'll put them side by side at the table—or would it be better to put him across from her so he can see how pretty she is?"

THE next morning Marian went to the office with the comfortable feeling that her apartment would be cleaned, that the ordering and arrangements for the party were being capably taken care of by Dolly. Friday passed pleasantly, Saturday morning was without untoward incident. Marian left the office at noon for a manicure and hair-do. Her nerves had eased, she felt physically much better.

Arriving home at 4 o'clock she found the table set in the living room. Shining silver, pale green linen, a bowl of violets in the center. Everything was neatly ready in the kitchen, peeled potatoes in cold water, a white head of cauliflower ready to be steamed, carrot slivers which were to surround the cauliflower.

Marian dressed carefully, a simple black dinner gown, long and clinging with exquisite collar and cuffs on the long-sleeved, tailored blouse. She had bought the dress for the occasion. Its purchase had pushed the Manning bill to a new and alarming high. In it, Marian was her smooth and brittle best.

Dolly, flushed and radiant, rushed back and forth between the kitchen and the living room. She had a slightly tousel look. Her shell pink dress matched the color in her cheeks. In spite of being fully three years old, the dress was vastly becoming.

When she ran to her own apartment for a favorite knife, Marian caught the lapel of Dan's coat as he would have passed her.

"Do I look nice, Dan?"

He patted her cheek. "Beautiful, Marian."

"You didn't need to call me Marian," wistfully.

Again he touched her rouged cheek. "I know," he said.

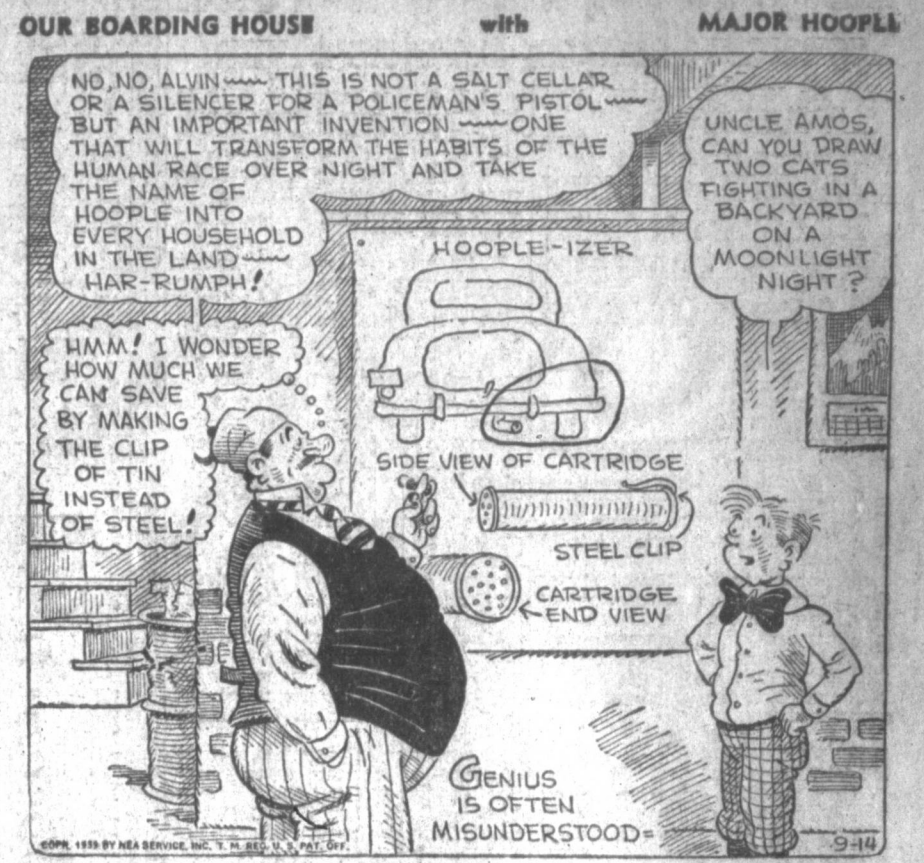

Dolly came hurrying across the hall.

"Gosh, I haven't mixed a cocktail since I don't know when," he

Europe To 'Pay' For War With Great Economic Collapse, Predicts Flynn

By JOHN T. FLYNN
(Written for NEA Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—Europe has just started on what is about the most expensive form of activity man can find—war.

We have all known for some time that Europe is pretty close to being busted—at least some of her important countries are that way.

All of these countries owe more than they can pay. All of those countries which fought in 1914 had to repudiate the debts of that war, one way or another.

Now they are embarked on another war. And the puzzling question to the man on the street is: "What are they going to use for money?"

Germany has given a partial answer to that in the last few days. She has increased the income taxes on even the lowest brackets to 50 per cent.

Remember, in the United States the income tax on incomes up to $4,000 is 4 per cent. In Germany it is 50 per cent since the war started. What it will be presently I do not yet know. How would you like to hand over half of your wages to the government?

TWO FINANCIAL ROADS TO WAR

There are only two ways to pay the costs of war. One is with taxes. The other is with borrowed money.

At the present time Europe has raised taxes so high to keep going her efforts against collapse during the depression and to support her war industries, that it is literally impossible to get much more in the way of taxes.

We may be sure, therefore, that Europe will begin at once to borrow money. England, in fact, has already authorized a loan of $2,500,000,000 pounds—which is ten billion dollars—a tidy sum for a beginning. How will European countries borrow? There are several ways to do this. One is to borrow from the people—sell them liberty bonds or "save democracy" bonds. The other is to borrow from the banks. The effect in each case is quite different.

HOW THE PEOPLE PAY FOR WAR

There are two ways to borrow from the people. One is to ask them to buy bonds voluntarily, or for that matter involuntarily, as Mussolini did two years ago when he forced everybody to buy bonds up to ten per cent of their capital holdings.

The other way is to seize their external investments. Englishmen, Germans, Frenchmen all own large amounts of stocks and bonds of other countries and of industries in other countries. Suppose an Englishman owns a share of U. S. Steel stock. The government can order him to turn that stock over to the treasury. In return it will give him an English bond for the value of the stock.

When that is done the government owns a share of U. S. Steel stock and the Englishman owns an English bond, which means he has loaned the government that much money.

The government now has a share of stock in an American corporation. It can send that share to New York and sell it on the Stock Exchange for the current price and use that money to buy things it needs in the United States.

England has about $7,000,000,000 of such securities in various countries. I do not have at hand the holdings of Germany and France. But Germany has already taken over the external investments of her people and England has already issued a decree making a start at doing the same thing.

"BANK MONEY"

The other way to borrow is from the banks. This is the dangerous thing. This is the thing that got us into so much trouble in the World War.

It is an inflationary process. When the government borrows $100 from me, I hand over the $100 to the government. Before the loan I had the hundred. After the loan the government has it. The amount of money in the country has not been increased by the loan. The government will spend it instead of me.

But when the government borrows from the bank it is different. The bank does not hand over cash. It gives the government a credit on its books. It creates a deposit for the government. It creates what is called bank money. It actually brings into existence an additional $100.

After the loan is made there is a hundred dollars more in the country than before. If it borrows a billion there is a billion dollars more. That is why it is inflationary. It increases purchasing power, sends up prices, increases wages and profits. The more billions the government borrows, the more inflation. The more the inflation the greater the collapse when the war is over.

Europe will pay most of the expenses of the war in this last way. That is why, when the war is over, Europe will go into a gigantic economic collapse.
