Artist Takes Interest In Two MHS Students

Two youths of Muleshoe High School have been recipients of an honor bestowed upon them quite by surprise.

The students, Ernest and Herman Akers, were guests of the Muleshoe Lion's Club recently where they came forth with their natural talent for art. Each of the youths did two charcoal drawings while the Lion's Club members looked on.

Their instructor, Mrs. Elizabeth Black, explained to the members the amazement of their natural talent before they began the time-limited work that day.

This is when they began to be recognized. Seeing the work they had done, in haste, yet very well, Jeff Peeler, local manager of Southwestern Public Service, asked for the drawings so that he might send them to the art department of Southwestern Public Service in Amarillo for their viewing.

Thursday, the results came to Muleshoe and to the young men and their teacher.

Upon reaching Amarillo, the drawings fell into the hands of Al Kipp, executive of the Art

Milepost

Santa Fe Railway officials announce that John Santa Fe turns 100 this year but you'd truly have to say he neither looks nor acts his age.

From that modest beginning at Topeka, Kan., in 1868, Santa Fe has grown into a $2 billion empire whose 13,000 miles of track extend, as Cyrus K. Holliday, its founder and first president predicted, from the Great Lakes to the Pacific Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico.

Santa Fe operates more miles of track in Texas - 3,815 to be exact - than in any other state. There are 7,578 Texans on the payroll who last year earned $58,151,026. The company's '67 tax bill amounted to $2,264,466.

Through the years the railroad has scored some impressive transportation "firsts," including the first to become fully Dieselized in 1954; developing the Autovoyer car for shipment of automobiles in 1960, and the inauguration of "Super C," the world's fastest freight train in 1968, which operates on a 40-hour schedule between Chicago and Los Angeles although it consistently makes the run in little more than 35 hours. These are but a few; the list is almost endless.

While Santa Fe is pardonably proud of its distinguished past, its centennial theme is geared to the future - "Second Century of Progress - On to 2068."

North Santa Fe says whole crew of Pueblo apologizes.

Bob Price

A newspaper man asked me recently what I considered to be the major problems facing the Panhandle and how, I, as your Representative to Congress, proposed to help solve them. Following is the answer I gave him:

Everyday we face new situations that challenge our experience and knowledge, but in my opinion several inter-locking problems face the 18th District of Texas; the need for better agriculture prices, a long-range water program, and the need to attract more new industries for jobs.

As you know, I have always been vitally interested in water. As a rancher-farmer, I know the importance of an adequate supply of good, pure water to our agriculture economy. During the past 16 months, I have consulted with various agencies here in Washington and have studied at length possible ways to conserve and better utilize our present water supplies. I have cooperated with the Texas Water Development Board and have supported and encouraged the formation of Water, Inc. I am extremely proud of the role that the members of my Water Advisory Committee have played in the organization of Water, Inc. and specifically K. Burt Watson, the Chairman of my Water Advisory Committee. Last year, I introduced a bill which would authorize a study to determine the feasibility of bringing water from the Missouri River to the Panhandle and have supported the appropriations to the Bureau of Reclamation and the Corp of Engineers for a study to import water from the Mississippi River.

The agriculture industry is of vital importance to our economy and water will play a key role in helping today's farmer to provide food for our future. The livestock feeding explosion in the Texas Panhandle has attracted tremendous new packing houses - which have and will provide new jobs and better the income of our people. Although my work is not nearly completed, I am pleased with what we have been able to accomplish so far.

Another problem of utmost importance to the people of the Panhandle is inflation. It affects everybody's pocketbook. We must first adopt a sound common - sense fiscal policy here in Washington to curb the rising cost of living so that wages and salaries will hold their buying power. In the Panhandle, we must aggressively seek new industry to provide more jobs and better wages. In visiting with the legislative affairs committee of the many Chambers of Commerce in our district, and in meetings with the Office of Economic Adjustment, of the Department of Defense here, I am convinced the opportunities and potentials of the District are great.

The recent accomplishment of bringing Bell Helicopter to Amarillo Air Force Base proves the success of this. I have visited several times with Kenneth Greenwald and his committee and would like to compliment them on their fine accomplishments. Pursuant to Bell, we are currently working with Dr. Roy Dugger and the James Connally Institute in Waco in establishing a technical institute at Amarillo Air Force Base which will in no way conflict but complement Amarillo College. The trained labor force that this institute would provide the Panhandle in ample supply would be a major attraction to new industry for all the district.

THIRD PLACE---These FFA boys received third place in Green Hand Quiz. They are James Gulley, Steve Holfield, Larry Holfield and Ed Mason.

Basically, I think these issues are the most pressing for our district. In summary I have learned many things from our Town Hall meetings and from my advisory Committees, the most gratifying of which is that if we all roll up our sleeves and work together, there is no problem too large for us to solve.

Reviews that Sting

Tart reviews of movies, plays, books, and works of art have won many a chuckle from the reading public.

One reviewer was "underwhelmed" by a movie. Another said he saw a play under bad conditions: "the curtain was up." A third, having called an actor the worst he had ever seen, described his next performance as "not up to his usual standard."

But while readers chuckle, the person on the target end may be seething. If the criticism is really rough, he may collect damages for defamation of character?

He may—if the reviewer steps outside the legitimate bounds of criticism. The law frowns on attacks that are directed not at the work itself but at the character of the person who created it.

For example, an art critic was held liable for saying not only that a certain work of art was bad but also that the artist was a swindler.

But within his proper scope, the reviewer has enormous leeway. His honest opinion, however severe, is protected by the constitutional guarantees of free speech and free press.

Furthermore, the law recognizes that a critic may have to use pungent language to make his point. As one court put it, the critic may indulge in "all those delightful touches of style which go to make an article readable."

What about adverse comments outside the field of the arts? By and large, if it is a matter of legitimate public concern, the same broad freedom of opinion prevails.

Thus, courts have rejected the complaint of a public contractor, criticized for his workmanship, of a financier, criticized for promoting a new transit system; and of a football coach, criticized for his strategy.

True enough, such brickbats may be hard to bear. But the public is benefitted. Not only is freedom upheld but also taste is fostered—by the encouragement of work that is good and the discouragement of work that is bad.

As for the hapless victim, he himself has invited criticism by submitting his work to the public in the first place.

"He should not be thin-skinned," commented one judge. "If the criticism so invited is not gentle."

Does thunder sound more ominous when we are under a cloud? Does the lowness of the ceiling affect chances of being struck by lightning?

Yes, thunder sounds more impressive when you are directly under a thunderhead. The low cloud ceiling makes the noise louder and the thunder is also likely to be closer too.

The lowness of the ceiling above you is important. When a thunderhead moves in overhead, and is very low, the danger from lightning is considerable. The greatest danger comes after the hardest rainfall - when some think the worst is over.

And the nearness of the cloud base is an indication of the lightning danger. While the electrical discharges we call lightning may streak down from some height, they are more frequent if the distance to the surface of the earth is not great.

Tomato Breeding No Overnight Job Says Specialist

Breeding disease resistance into tomatoes is no overnight job, Dr. A. L. Harrison of the Plant Disease Experiment Station in Yoakum says. The Yoakum facility is a unit of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"Nematex," the nematode resistant variety of tomato, took more than 20 years to develop and release, according to the plant pathologist.

Basically the same procedure is used in breeding disease resistance into any tomato. It is first necessary to find a source of resistance, fortunately the tomato has many wild counterparts which are resistant to certain diseases.

In case of "Nematex" a horticultural type tomato was crossed with a wild tomato that did not resemble the horticultural type, but had resistance to nematode root knot. The cross resulting from the horticultural and wild types was analyzed and screened for the resistance passed on from the parents. Those offspring which were resistant to nematode root knot and also were good producers of fruit were crossed again and again until the desired characteristics were set.

The development of "Nematex" has greatly increased the value of the garden tomato by keeping the nematode root knot organism under control. The improved variety is not weakened by galls formed on the roots and will not be as susceptible to secondary organisms, Dr. Harrison says.

At Yoakum the specialists are also working on varieties which will be resistant to various wilt and other diseases.

Impressed? Yes... so much that he went several steps further in order to get the opinion of a professional artist, Stefan Kramer.

Klip came to Muleshoe Thursday to hand, in person, the drawings done by the youths along with Kramer's comments and four of his famous lessons as a contribution to the youths, as he, too was very impressed with their work.

The work and lessons were presented to Ernest and Herman in the art department Thursday.

Klip explained that the critic Stefan Kramer is a graduate of the Wisconsin Academy of Art and studied under Henry Gasser and John Pike. He attained international recognition when Life and Modern magazine of Paris, France, wrote of his brilliant and striking technique back in 1962.

"The watercolors of Stefan Kramer are soundly intimate in life, real and emotional from an element in the color which confers on them a dramatic character. The artist has never resorted to distortion nor to artificial means."

Perhaps this is what he said in the two Muleshoe High School students work, as he took much time in evaluation of their drawings and adding his suggestions for improvement and words of encouragement to be returned to them.

Mrs. Black said she was very much impressed with their natural art talent when they first came to her class.

"They are from a very large family and had not had the chances some students had had, yet they carry on and progress rapidly with their work.

"I was sent into deep puzzlement about their talents," Mrs. Black said, "and I continued to probe their background for the 'why' of it all."

"It was not until I met their mother that I learned where their talent and stamina came from. It has been instilled in them from her and through her loyalty to them and their ambitions."

"They will have a hard time, financially, but with a possible art scholarship for each of them, they will be able to continue the course in which they are so capable," she concluded.

The youths live with their family near Progress.

Cobb's

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm looks with alarm at the plans of some retiring officials in his letter this week.

I found this newspaper caught on some weeds in my front yard out here on this Johnson grass farm -- I know you're supposed to keep a lawn mowed and trimmed under some rules I didn't vote on, but how many neatly-mowed laws have you ever seen that were worth anything at catching wind-blown newspapers? When it comes to mowing or being informed, a thinking man knows where to draw the line, and besides, weeds have their rights, the same as college students. Just because they're obnoxious is no reason for getting rid of them. Give them time, they'll both go to seed sooner or later.

At any rate, I pulled that newspaper off the patch of weeds and sat down on the front porch and right off ran into two items that startled me.

One said that Prime Minister Lester Pearson of Canada, who has retired, will become a professor of international affairs.

Right Brother

A high speed camera proves that takes only one-fourth of a second to wink an eye. It's the fastest way we know for a guy to get into trouble.

at a university up there, and the other said President Johnson, when he leaves the Presidency in January, will also become a college professor.

I've been thinking, do those fellows know what they're getting into? Aren't they jumping from the frying pan into the fire?

If President Johnson thinks Viet Nam is a headache, wait till he runs into a bunch of militant college students. Up to now, the U. S. President's office has been safe in Washington, but look what can happen to a college president's office.

Why, I can imagine General Westmoreland over in Viet Nam saying, "All right, move me to Washington as Chief of Staff or leave me here with the war, but whatever you do, don't make me president of a college. I've got my family to think of."

Somebody ought to let the President and the Prime Minister know what they're getting into, and if they still persist in going ahead, the least their governments can do is provide them with a life-time use of tanks for getting to and from classes and underground bomb shelters to teach in.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Healthy Ornamentals

COLLEGE STATION—Keeping fungi and nematode populations under control on ornamental plants will make them healthier and more attractive, says Dr. C. W. Horne, Extension plant pathologist at Texas A&M University.

The most effective means of controlling black spot and powdery mildew is by chemicals. The chemical controls should be applied as soon as the leaves are extended. Re-treatment should be done at seven to ten day intervals during the season, advises the specialist.

Phaltan is effective on both of the fungi. Acti-dione (PM) and sulphur karathane are recommended for control of powdery mildew, while maneb or captan are good controls for use against black spot.

It is important to keep a plant free of these fungi in order to avoid susceptibility to diseases. All the food (sugars) that a plant needs to carry out metabolism and growth is manufactured in the leaves. Keeping the foliage healthy will mean fewer problems, Horne says.

Nematodes can be a problem on many types of plants around the home and the root knot nematode is the most common. "Nematode Killer" and "Nema-X" are good controls for nematodes. These chemicals are available in small packages for homeowners. The granules can be worked into the soil prior to planting or can be used around the roots of living plants.

TSTA Joined School System In Applying Sanctions

AUSTIN--The Texas State Teachers Association today joined teachers of South San Antonio school district in applying sanctions to that district. The teachers charged that the South San Antonio school board had unethically failed to re-elect certain professional personnel and refused the discuss the reasons or to grant hearings.

Ninety percent of the South San Antonio teachers -- 270 out of 300 -- have agreed not to accept contracts for next year unless the local board rescinds its actions. The next scheduled meeting of the board is May 20. Sanctions means notification to all teachers of unsatisfactory conditions within a school district, with a request that no teacher accept employment there until the conditions have been corrected.

The TSTA advisory committee of the state executive committee, in giving notice of in-attention to apply sanctions said, "A normal program of education for the students of that district cannot operate under existing circumstances."

TSTA staff members who visited in the district, on invitation of school personnel including local unit officers, confirmed this conclusion. They conferred with members of the school board, administrators, and teachers.

The TSTA sanctions notice will go to each of the 400 local units of TSTA throughout the state and to each state teachers association in the nation, as well as to the South San Antonio school officials. The National Education Association will be advised also. The state executive committee of TSTA will review the action at its June meeting.

Band and Twirling School to be Held

The 21st annual McMurry College Summer Band and Twirling School will be held on the campus July 14-27, Dr. Raymond T. Bynum, band school director and director of McMurry's Indian Band, has announced.

"We have lined up a top-notch faculty of practical bandsmen who will send students home better prepared to meet the demands of their own bands, both in marching and in concert performance," Dr. Bynum said.

The school is held for two weeks each summer and attracts hundreds of high school and college band students and twirlers from West Texas and New Mexico. Instruction is given in individual instruments, marching, conducting and twirling.

The faculty will include Fred Smith, Brownfield, clarinet; Tim Jones, Hamlin, French horn; Judy Mathis, Roscoe, percussion; Barbara Spertberg, Falls, flute; Warren Thaxton, Cooper High School, Abilene, trombone; Cecil Morris, Denver City, bass; Kyle Ellison, Graham, oboe and bassoon; Bill Spencer, Mann Junior High School, Abilene, cornet and trumpet.

Ed George, Lincoln Junior High School, Abilene, saxophone; Darryl Phillips, Memphis, baritone and theory; Bob Brooks, Clyde, theory and administrative assistant; Willis Giddens, Friona, theory and administrative assistant.

The twirling school will be headed by Terry Stephens, Lubbock, currently featured twirler with the Texas Tech Band and recognized as a National Champion baton artist.

In addition, Sandra Smith and the McMurry Maidens will be members of the staff, Miss Smith will be in her third year of teaching at the McMurry twirling school and is herself a former student of the school.

Out of town students will be housed in McMurry dormitories and the two week schedule calls for several concerts and other events, plus a recreational program, Dr. Bynum said. Students interested in attending may contact Dr. Bynum at the McMurry Band Hall or write to P. O. Box 575, McMurry Station, Abilene, 79605.

WASHINGTON BUREAU NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Nixon Hits Radicals--His Campaign Strategy--Kennedy's Drive--On To California--

Washington, D.C.--Richard Nixon's strategy for the 1968 election campaign is increasingly based on the assumption that the majority of Americans are tired of radicalism, lawlessness and mob demonstrations. In addition, it is the Nixon strategy to reflect statesmanship and bipartisanship in his statements on foreign affairs.

The latest example of his basic domestic policy was evidenced in Nixon's tough statements on demonstrations and sit-ins at Columbia University. He termed them a "national tragedy and a national disgrace," particularly lambasting professors who are bemoaning the fact that "members of the educated elite" were acting to start society down a road that ends "with every man becoming a law unto himself."

This tone is a basic theme of his campaign and, judging from gains registered by the former Vice President in public opinion polls in the past six months, is in tune with public sentiment. Nixon is so obviously "the" major party candidate who speaks out in blunt words on the present domestic crisis, and to whom the nation can look for firm handling of lawlessness, he is very likely to ride to victory on this wave of sentiment unless something happens to change the national mood. (Nixon now has over 700 probable convention delegates.)

In 1960, it will be recalled, the Nixon campaign effort depended to a very great extent on a carefully-pitched composite and basic appeal, contained in almost every Nixon speech that year. That appeal was the product of much research and work by a professional team and was supposed to win over a majority of U.S. voters. The latest research on the 1960 election shows Nixon did indeed get more votes than John Kennedy--popular votes.

This time Nixon's inner circle feels an even better vehicle is being ridden. The drive and energy of Senator Robert Kennedy, meanwhile, shows the former Attorney General to be a strong candidate. His vote in Indiana was important but California (next month) is looked to by Kennedy workers as the clincher, in convincing delegates that he is the man who will excite the most people and FLY-UP CEREMONY--Girl Scout Troop 103 prepared and served the meal for their mothers as a Mother's Day present, May 10, in the Richland Hills Cafeteria. draw the largest Democratic turnout in November. The Kennedy pace in Indiana was rugged and the money, energy and organization which supported his physical efforts were considerable. All contributed to the Kennedy battle but there is no denying that Kennedy, like his brother, is a good campaigner and wins over people in personal appearances. All indications point to quite a battle at Chicago between Kennedy and Vice President Hubert Humphrey. It will be somewhat reminiscent of the 1956 convention at Chicago when the late John Kennedy and the late Estes Kefauver fought it out in a dramatic battle for second place with Adlai Stevenson. Kefauver won by a hair, at the last minute. The next time John Kennedy competed at a convention he had the top nomination sewed up before he arrived.

RECEIVES DIPLOMA--In the adult education program conducted here, David Gutierrez took his G.E.D. examination in Levelland and received his high school diploma. He is the only one out of an enrollment of 31 to take this examination. Ralph Stevenson is director of this program and Mrs. Horace Blackburn is teacher for the adult class which includes first through eighth grade. The class began last October of 1967 and has classes two nights a week.

TOPS Idea Came From AA

A woman who says she "had never organized anything in my life" is founder of the 220,000 member TOPS club. She is Ester Manz, here for the Texas convention of TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) at Hotel Texas. Mrs. Manz, who weighed 200 pounds by the time she was 18, remembers sitting in the doctor's office when she was expecting her fifth child. "I was tugging on my skirt," she remembers. The skirt was short because it was tight, not because it was the style as it is now, Mrs. Manz said. As each expectant mother left the doctor's office, she reported on her weight loss or gain since her last visit. Mrs. Manz gained less weight with her last child than with the other four because she felt that she "had to report to those women" but she was still overweight. Reading an article about Alcoholics Anonymous, she wondered if "overweights" might band together to "fight food instead of alcohol." So on January 29, 1948, Mrs. Manz and three of her friends met at a Milwaukee recreation center, ironically, in the kitchen. The center's director had encouraged Mrs. Manz to begin with 10 members, but "heavy people are afraid somebody will laugh at them if they go at anything in a big way," she said. But TOPS has snowballed in a mighty big way. Lately several thousand new members have been joining each month and TOPS members lost 899,94 tons in 1967. It all began with those four members who, shortly after they organized were written up in the Milwaukee green sheet, an insert of special features. After the article appeared, the TOPS room in the recreation center, was so packed that the founding members couldn't get in. Soon other chapters sprang up over Milwaukee and then in other states. The Milwaukee recreation department refused to sponsor TOPS when the organization became state-wide because it could no longer afford to furnish supplies. "TOPS could have gone under then," says the founder. But instead, members rented club rooms and continued their weekly meetings. Meanwhile, they wrote parodies to popular songs, sought each other's moral support when they felt a dessert tempting them, went to AA meetings to see how they were operated, counted calories and followed their doctor's advice. Mrs. Manz and her fellow TOPS members realize that

Comment On Sports

BASEBALL
BY PETE FRITICHE

Washington, D.C.—Hank Bauer's Baltimore O's are making noises like it was 1966 all over again and have already surprised fans and sports writers by their fast start. It's too early to call the season a success for the Birds but one can at least say this team acts differently from that of last year, and very much like that of 1966. This is, of course, bad news for other American League teams. Detroit which more than any other team crushed the O's last year, has been picked to win the flag this season. It would be ironic if the Birds derailed the Bengals in 1968, as they themselves were derailed by the Tigers in 1967. The big difference in the Oriole effort this year is pitching. Bauer already has a no-hitter from his staff and is getting route-going performances from most of his starters. The hitting has been robust and timely and it this keeps up, who is to stop Baltimore? This year, though, the Birds are sure to find the league more balanced than in 1966—and more teams capable of making a run for the money. Thus it may be harder for Bauer to come back this season than it was for him to win the flag in 1965. But Baltimore is a genuine contender, which in itself is news because many sports writers figured the O's a so-so fourth or fifth place team after Detroit, Minnesota, Chicago and Boston. Whoever wins the junior league flag, it seems they might very well be up against a National League repeater. The St. Louis Cardinals, continue to look strong. Cincinnati, San Francisco, Pittsburgh or several teams might edge the Cards but the Redbirds look like the best bet. What a field day smart announcers will have if and when the Orioles meet the Cardinals in a World Series!

some people such as herself, simply cannot eat as much as other people. For example, her five children "need to watch their weight, and they do." However, she says her husband, Gilbert, "could eat three times as much as I could." TOPS has established a research center at the Deaconess Hospital in Milwaukee to study such people as the Gilbert and Ester Manzes of the nation, to see why some people have a weight problem and some don't. But while the mystery remains unsolved, TOPS continues to grow. Says its founder, "I've signed so many new charters this year that I think my arm will fall off."

Planting Dates for Soybeans Stressed

With soybean planting time close at hand, producers should carefully consider planting dates to obtain top yields this season. This situation is particularly true in southern areas of the South Plains, adds the agent.

With regards to seeding rates where moisture is adequate, Adams recommends 60 pounds of seed per acre for 40-inch rows and up to 90 pounds in narrow row spacings. If moisture is a limiting factor, this rate should be reduced somewhat.

Under conditions of good moisture and management, closer spacings have given increases of two to five bushels per acre more than regular row spacings.

Prior to planting, however, the seed should be inoculated with a specific bacteria culture for soybeans, adds the agent. Being a legume, soybeans are capable of obtaining nitrogen from the air if the proper bacteria are present in the soil. A good crop of soybeans will leave about 25 pounds of nitrogen in the soil for the following crop.

Planting and all subsequent tillage practices should be made so as to favor pod set high enough above ground level to allow the combine clutter bar to be set below the bottom pods at harvest time.

Soybeans produce low income compared to most crops now grown in Bailey County, but circumstances such as June hail in 1968 makes soybeans a recommended crop according to the county agent.

In addition to yield reduction, Adams points out that late-planted soybeans tend to be smaller in plant size and have lower set beans. This condition often contributes to higher field losses at harvest.

Adams emphasizes that soybean varieties vary considerably in maturity. Early maturing varieties such as Wayne and Clark have produced the highest yields on the northern High Plains. An intermediate maturing variety such as Hill has performed well in the Lubbock-Plainview area. Lee, a late maturing variety, has given top yields in areas south of Lubbock. However, Lee and Hill both gave satisfactory yields in most areas south of Plainview last year.

If late plantings cannot be avoided, later maturing varieties offer the best yield potential, explains Adams. Although early varieties will mature more rapidly, they often tend to produce smaller plants than later maturing varieties. For this reason, yields may be produced more if these early varieties are planted late in the season, says J. K. Adams, county agricultural agent.

Agronomist Outlines Johnson Grass Control

With Johnsongrass beginning vigorous growth, now is an excellent time to begin control of this troublesome weed. Herbicides are most effective when the weed is in a young, succulent stage.

"Eradication of Johnsongrass and other weeds is essential for efficient crop production," points out Dr. Robert B. Metzger, Extension area agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock. "Johnsongrass not only competes for water, nutrients and sunlight but may serve as a source or habitat for insects and diseases."

"Johnsongrass is the primary overwintering host for maize dwarf mosaic virus, a new disease of grain sorghum in this area of the state," adds Metzger. "Therefore, eradication of the weed may become increasingly important in sorghum production areas."

(several months) of sterilization can be obtained with a mixture such as sodium TCA and dalapon."

In cultivated areas where soil sterilization is to be avoided, Metzger recommends using dalapon at a rate of 10 to 20 pounds per acre on 6- to 19 inch Johnsongrass. Small areas may be treated by spraying foliage until wet with one or two pounds of dalapon in 10 gallons of water. Usually two or three sprayings at two-to-three week intervals is necessary for eradication.

"Eradication of Johnsongrass control on large cultivated areas can best be obtained by tillage and DSMA or MSMA with one-half percent surfactant," points out the agronomist. "This should be applied to vigorously growing plants at three to five pounds per acre. Herbicidal oils may also be effective under these conditions."

Metzger further explains that a combination of crop rotation and herbicides also gives effective control of the weed in cultivated fields. For example, rotating sorghum with such crops as cotton and soybeans will allow the use of pre-plant herbicides which are highly effective against seeding Johnsongrass.

On the other hand, effective Johnsongrass control is difficult in areas of continuous sorghum, adds the agronomist. A crop rotation that includes wheat provides an excellent opportunity for controlling Johnsongrass with tillage and herbicides during the summer after wheat harvest.

Metzger cautions producers to carefully follow the recommendations of herbicide manufacturers as spelled out on the labels for specific compounds.

SPC Offers Special Spanish

LEVELLAND---South Plains College is offering a Children's Workshop in Spanish this summer for children 6 to 15 years of age.

This is a three-week course and classes will be held one and one-half hours a day, five days a week.

The group will be divided into two classes one class for the 6 to 10 years of age, and another class will be for children ages 11 to 15 years of age.

The classes are scheduled for June 17 through July 5 from 9 to 10:30 a.m. and from 10:30 to 12 a.m. with Frank Gonzales, South Plains College Spanish instructor, conducting the course.

The student will learn to speak Spanish through the audio-lingual method. Basic sentences and dialogue conversations will be taught through repetition, imitation and roll playing.

The course will include instruction in rhymes, jingles, songs, games and dances. Subjects covered will include greetings, courtesy expressions, and dramatizations involving animals, members of the family, beverages, numbers, foods, clothing, weather, a date for the movies, etc.

Without conscious effort the student learns the language just as he learned to speak English, by hearing, repeating and speaking.

Audio-visual aids, recording, tapes and other instructional aids will be used in the presentation of the material.

For additional information, contact Director of Special Services Charles Hays at the college.

Proper Soybean Irrigation

"Irrigated soybeans should never suffer for water," says Jim Vaillant, Soil Scientist at the High Plains Research Foundation, "and soil should be kept moist, especially from pre-bloom date on to maturity." An irrigation study in 1967 included two methods of irrigating soybeans with separate tests for three late maturing and three early maturing soybean varieties.

Late maturing varieties included HINN, HILL and an experimental medium maturing type numbered PA8-963. The amounts of water and the stages of growth at which the irrigation water was applied were as follows: Pre-plant - 5.1 inches; Bloom - 4.0 inches; and Pod set - 3.3 inches. The second method was identical to the first with an additional two inch irrigation applied two weeks after pod set. An increased yield of approximately two bushels per acre was obtained with the second method, but was not significant except with the HINN variety which was increased about four bushels per acre. All varieties yielded above 40 bushels per acre in the test. Ordinarily a pre-bloom irrigation would have been included, but was not necessary in 1967 due to sufficient rainfall.

The early maturing varieties used were the PATTERSON, CLARK 63, and WAYNE. The pre-plant irrigation of 4.3 inches was applied later than on the full-season types because of a later planting date. All other irrigation were the same as for the late maturing test. Yields in this tests ranged from 35 to 45 bushels per acre. Again, no significant differences were found in the two methods, but the CLARK 63 variety seemed to respond favorably to the second method.

SEVENTH FIRST-The seventh grade first place ribbon was won by Kathy Howard in Number Sense competition. She is pictured with her award earned in Literary Competition.

ORAL READING---Greta Bamert won first place in Junior High School Oral Reading Competition for the 8th grade. She is pictured with the ribbon she won.

The IRS computer processes and sends out the refunds in nothing flat-- However, you better remember that it takes a little time in the mail, it takes a little time here and there before it gets to the computer. Food for Peace

Act Extended

The House of Representatives approved a one-year extension of the Food for Peace Act Tuesday after banning aid under the program to any country trading with Communist North Vietnam.

Panhandle Congressman Bob Price, one of the sponsors of the bill and a member of the Agriculture Committee which approved the bill said several other changes were made in an effort to ease present restrictions now imposed on the uses this country may make in the foreign currencies it receives in sales abroad of American farm commodities.

Price said they were made as a means of improving the dollar balance of payment situation in international trade. "The PL 480 program has been one of the most useful and helpful programs we have had both for the United States and countries we have helped," Price said. "But the nations we help with the program must recognize that cooperation means help for the United States as well and that we can extend this aid only if we keep our own balance of payments sound."

"One provision in the bill changing the existing program gives authority to those handling negotiations for the United States to enter into agreements specifying that up to 50 percent of foreign currencies accumulated by PL 480 sales could be sold at the current rate of exchange to U. S. importers for the procurement of materials or commodities from the recipient nation," Price said.

Bula News

By Mrs. John Blackman

Bula P-TA met Monday evening, May 13, in the school auditorium for a program and installation of officers.

Mrs. Don Harmon, Muleshoe, president of Bi-County P-TA Council, installed the officers for the coming year.

Those installed were Mrs. J. C. Snitker, president; Mrs.

I. L. Clawson, vice president; Mrs. Keith Hansen, secretary; Mrs. Bradley Robertson, treasurer; Mrs. John Hubbard, historian and Curley Risinger, parliamentarian.

The installation by Mrs. Harmon was very pretty and inspiring. She gave each outgoing officer a candle and as she read the charge for the new officer, the burning candle was given to the new officer.

The new president, Mrs. Snitker, also announced the chairmen for several of the committees for another year.

Following the meeting, refreshments of coffee, punch and cookies were served in the luncheon room.

Harvey L. Whittenburg and Mrs. Lorene Cox, both of Bula, were married Sunday evening, May 12, at 8 p.m. at the Methodist Church in Belen, N.M., with Rev. C. C. Doran, pastor of the church there performing the wedding ceremony.

Rev. Whittenburg has been pastor of the Bula Methodist Church for the past three years.

Mrs. Cox has lived in Bula since childhood and is the mother of D. J. Cox and Jerry Cox of Bula, Miss Diane Cox, student at Tech and Miss Shirley Cox of Dallas.

Following a short visit with his sons, Ernest and Kenneth Whittenburg and their families at Las Vegas, Nev. they will be at home in Bula.

Mrs. John Genter presented her piano students in their annual spring recital Sunday afternoon, May 12, at 3 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Thirty students were presented in a varied program of music, including several ensembles and solos.

Mike and Pat Risinger of Tech spent the weekend with their parents, the W. C. Risingers. Mike had made a trip with a soil judging team from Tech to Kansas State University the past week. The judging team placing third, with Mike placing first in individual standing.

He was high point man in competition with members of 12 teams.

A Letter From Daddy

Her father has sent a letter and a picture, too, to show his family what he's doing while they are apart. It makes them feel close and it comforts them.

Our Heavenly Father has written us a love letter and given us a picture of what He is doing for us while we're apart. Both are contained in the words of the Bible.

In Jeremiah 31:3 He says, "I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving kindness I have drawn thee."

And Our Lord tells us in John 14:2, 3, "In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself: that where I am, there ye may be also."

We invite you to attend church this week. You'll receive a blessing from having done so.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Music Fit For A Chief

When Las Voladores Flying Indians perform at HemisFair '68, the music that accompanies them will be fit for a chief—for Jose Villanueva de la Cruz, the Totonaque chief, plays a reed flute and small drum while dancing atop a 114-foot pole.

These authentic Totonaque tunes are the accompaniment while the Flyers descend from the top of the pole at the Frito-Lay Pepsi-Cola Pavilion in a series of 32 revolutions. Seated only by the ropes around their waists, the Flyers eventually fan out to a radius of thirty feet before reaching the ground.

For more than 400 years this ceremony has been performed, because it has a religious as well as agricultural significance for the Totonaque. The climb to the top of the pole symbolizes their desire to be closer to the male god with a female god of the earth who is water and cold—resulting in a pleasant climate and a good harvest.

The costumes of the Flyers, too, are symbolic. They wear cloth pants and shirts trimmed

This week the Senate has been heavily engaged in debate and amendment of the 1968 Law Enforcement Bill. It is clear to us here, just as I'm sure it is clear to you at home, that this bill probably will be the most important one from this session of Congress.

This Anti-Crime Bill from this session of Congress. It will strengthen local police forces. A special 15-million-dollar bill would be earmarked for anti-crime work, and another special 15-million-dollar bill would combat organized crime.

This bill also would counteract the effect of recent Supreme Court decisions that have made voluntary confessions inadmissible in many court cases. Provisions of this bill would place the decision about admission of confessions in the hands of the highest state and federal courts, rather than the federal courts.

Special electronic surveillance by law-enforcement officials would be permitted by the bill in national-security cases and in the fight against mob crime.

Also, the bill would place some limits on gun sales to minors and felons; and would prevent convicted rioters from holding federal jobs.

I hope the bill will be perfected and passed within the next few days. The need for it is great. Our system of law and order cannot survive unless it has the support of all thoughtful Americans.

Nearly 300 years ago, William Penn envisioned a nation in which "the laws rule and the people are a party to those laws." We have, for nearly two centuries now, prided ourselves on being that nation of laws, not of men.

We have, in that time, never ceased in our efforts to perfect the system of law upon which our whole society rests. We are still a long way from our goal of perfection. But, however far short of perfection we may be, we are also far ahead of any other nation or society in the world's history in the freedoms and rights enjoyed by our citizens.

Our rights and freedoms will not, however, continue to be the envy of the world if we allow our institutions to be trampled in the streets by mobs which burn block after block of riot-torn cities.

It was Abraham Lincoln who pointed out the dangers of any course other than the course of order.

"Let every American," Lincoln said, "every lover of liberty, swear never to violate in the least particular, the laws of the country."

Lincoln, knew order, must precede progress. No one benefits from the breaking of the laws, except perhaps our enemies who wish to bring destruction upon us. It is no service to anyone, nor to any cause, to advocate violation of the law.

Yet, we hear men in positions of power and leadership telling their followers publicly that they need obey only those laws with which they agree. Statements of that sort are the grossest form of irresponsibility, for they inspire and give excuse to the flouting of

No society based on law and order can give its citizens the right to disobey the law, for once that happens there is no more law, no more order, and no more social progress.

Whatever the remaining injustices of our society, real or imagined, no group or person has the right, under any circumstance, to exact self-determined retribution or revenge. Our imperfections do not justify tearing down the institutions which have given us our advances and our strength.

There are proper ways, and effective ones, to voice dissent.

The principle of free speech, free assembly, free press, and the petition for redress of grievances are not empty principles. They are real—very real—freedoms, and are effective means of changing forms and institutions. Even stronger means, to which everyone has access, are the courts and the ballot box.

Our constitutional guarantee of liberty is firmly rooted in an organized society maintaining public order. Without order, liberty is worthless; for, without order, liberty is smothered in the mindless excesses of anarchy and mob rule.

There is no justice in a mob. The problems we face today are difficult ones, but so were those problems faced by our ancestors. Our forefathers faced their problems squarely within the system given them—the system of laws and of constitutional government.

We must do the same! If we do not, we will surely succumb to the tyranny of a lawless society in which armed camps of fear-stricken citizens react to vigilante justice.

Americans have learned in recent months that a society can neither be secure for men, nor safe for women, if it is lenient with criminals.

Breaking of our nation's cycle of lawlessness is our priority national task. We must approach the restoration of certain order with the utmost urgency.

Fundamentals Music Session Set at College

LEVELLAND--Music 235 - 236 will be offered in summer school at South Plains College this year for the first time. Though the course is designed primarily for the six hours of required music for Elementary Education majors, it is open to interested persons who would like to learn something about music.

During the first semester students will learn note reading, rhythm, musical terms and symbols and how to play some on the piano and autoharp.

No previous music knowledge is necessary for admission to the class, since it starts at the very basic beginnings of music. Mrs. Anne Bullis will be teaching the course, as she does during the long session. Her main goal is not to produce accomplished musicians, but rather to help people enjoy music by learning more about it, and to discover the fun that participating in music can be.

THP Records Six Accidents In Bailey County

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated six accidents on rural highways in Bailey County during the month of April, according to Sergeant Thurman Kaffer, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no deaths, three persons injured and an estimated property damage of $2,875.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first four months of 1968 shows a total of 15 accidents resulting in no persons killed, 11 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $8,918.

The final bill closing the present school year will soon ring. This will be the signal for the beginning of summer vacations. Residential neighborhoods which were quiet between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. will be alive with children popping out in all directions. This means that motorists must be constantly alert at all times during the summer months for children darting out from unexpected places.

The Sergeant added, "During 1967 of the pedestrians killed in rural traffic accidents in four of our school age children."

Some people plant flowers in the spring

But then what does a flower have that a gas light doesn't? Flowers brighten up your yard. So does a gas light. After you install a gas light, it might be the first time you've seen your flowers at night.

Flowers come in different sizes and shapes. So do gas lights—designed to lend distinction to any landscape. Take your pick. If they're taken care of just right, flowers will bloom the whole season. A gas light blooms year 'round, and requires absolutely no care.

Flowers have a wonderful fragrance. You've got us there. A gas light doesn't have an odor at all. But we know you'll overlook that, since a gas light has so many other nice features.

New lower prices on the '68 models are in effect through July 31st. Prices start at $52.79 cash (includes installation and tax) or only $2.00 per month.

Pretty inexpensive when you consider how many springs it will last.

Plant a gas light this spring. Buy a PATIO PAIR (One queue grill) and save $26.00. Prices start at $103.70 (includes installation and tax) or $4.00 per month.

CARD OF THANKS
 I wish to express my deepest appreciation to everyone who was so thoughtful during my illness and confinement to the hospital.
 I extend my gratitude for the doctors and nurses of University Hospital, Lubbock, who were so considerate and attentive and to those who sent flowers, cards, visited me and offered prayers in my behalf.
 "May you each be richly rewarded through the blessings of God," is my prayer.
