'Bandit' Raid Turns Out To Be A Surprise

Posse Of Officers Arrest Un-Armed Ex-Convict

Texas Rangers, state highway police, an FBI official, and officers of the Gray county sheriff's department ran down a "hot tip" that fizzled out late yesterday afternoon.

Working on the information that the notorious Charlie Chapman, much wanted bank bandit and robber, was barricaded in a tourist cabin on the Lefors road in South Pampa, the officers headed by Capt. Manny Gaut, Lubbock Ranger, A. W. Miller, Amarillo FBI agent, Capt. Jim Line, Amarillo state highway patrol, Sheriff Cal Rose and Chief Deputy Sheriff George Pope, with Rangers Neal Arthur and Pat Talliferio, of Amarillo, and local deputies, went to the cabin about 5 p. m. yesterday.

Their tip was that Chapman had been in the cabin for several days that he was barricaded there with a machine gun, and that he ventured out only at nights.

Seated In Car When the officers arrived at the cabin they found the back door open and the cabin unoccupied. However, they learned almost immediately that the man who occupied the cabin was seated in an automobile parked about a block or two away.

The man was taken into custody. Officers immediately found Chapman, but not the much-hunted Chapman.

It developed that the man, however, was an ex-convict and that he had served a term for burglary in the Huntsville penitentiary and had been paroled from there in December of 1938. The man was unarmed and officers found no firearms in his room.

He was being held in Gray county jail here today pending investigation to determine if he is wanted by police of other cities.

The raid was organized at the direction of Chief Deputy George Pope to whom the original information was given that Chapman was in hiding in Pampa.

"From the first information we received," Chief Pope said, "and in view of the fact that Chapman has been reported in this locality, it seemed logical that our information might be correct.

"We are not overlooking any bets, so the raid was planned and carried out," he added.

FDR, Fearful Of War, Sailing Home

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Aug. 23 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull, saying he felt it necessary to "keep abreast of fast-changing international conditions" broke off today a two-week vacation here and returned to Washington.

Jury Recommends Death For Negro

KAUFMAN, Aug. 23 (AP)—Florence Murphy will be sentenced to death for raping a white woman near Terrell if the jury's recommendation is carried out.

The jury deliberated five minutes last night and found the 25-year-old negro guilty.

The state ended its case when the attack victim identified the defendant as her assailant. Murphy then testified he was not in the vicinity when the attack occurred on Aug. 9. Earlier A. A. Elliott, a farmer, identified Murphy as the negro he saw walking down a country lane a few minutes after the woman was assaulted and stabbed.

There were 5,334 persons in Gray county today who thought it fitting that the number of vacation days remaining between now and the opening of the schools is thirteen, the traditional symbol of bad luck, in this case bad luck only insofar as it marks the finish of three months of summer play.

They'll be lucky at that, for though school opening does end the happy-go-lucky playtime, going to school these days does not mean the rigorous, monotonous schedule that some schools enforced on energetic young Americans even as short a time as 20 years ago.

Today, public school training is not something that is set apart from life, but a part of life itself, with the whole matter attuned to practical ways to make students good citizens so that they may ably fill their part in the world's work.

In Pampa Tuesday morning, September 5, the class of 1940 will register at the high school. That afternoon, September 6, the next morning, September 7, and on Thursday afternoon, September 8, the basic classes are scheduled to begin. The 1939-40 session will end on May 24.

No complete schedule has been made on the observance of holidays. Students will have two days off to celebrate Thanksgiving, either November 23 or November 30, the basis likely being what Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel decides is the proper date, a 10-day vacation at Christmas, and two days off at Easter, Sept. L. L. Souter said.

For the four Pampa ward schools and the Pampa Junior High school, registration and the starting of classes will begin on the same day, September 5. Supt. Souter estimates the total district enrollment at 3,400.

Buildings In Grand Shape During the summer all of the ward schools have been re-decorated, and are in excellent condition. George Hancock and his corps of janitors have been kept on duty all during the season, have painted, decorated, repaired roofs, and done other carpenter and maintenance work.

Campuses of the schools have been beautified by National Youth administration workers, directed by G. N. Cochran, supervisor of the seven-county area which includes Gray.

Harvester park and the practice field at the rear of the east stands are in good shape and ready for the opening of the 1939 football season.

Bus Superintendent Joe Shelton has the school district's fleet of 17 buses ready for the coming school year. The vehicles, mostly wooden bodies on some of the buses, have been removed and steel ones attached. For the Hoover students, a new 30-passenger bus has been purchased, Supt. Souter has announced.

The school district's Pampa campus from Lima, Ohio, Monday by J. M. Daugherty, school board member. It will be used to replace two of the old buses.

Pampa Resident 27 Years Dies

Jno. T. Ashley, 67, resident of Pampa since 1912, died last night in a local hospital where he had been admitted Monday morning. He had been in failing health for more than a year, however.

Mr. Ashley was one of the city's greatest baseball fans. He attended the ball games here Sunday afternoon although he should have been at home. He never criticized, but always encouraged players. In his younger days he was a professional baseball player with Alabama and he knew the hill a youngster has to climb to be a star.

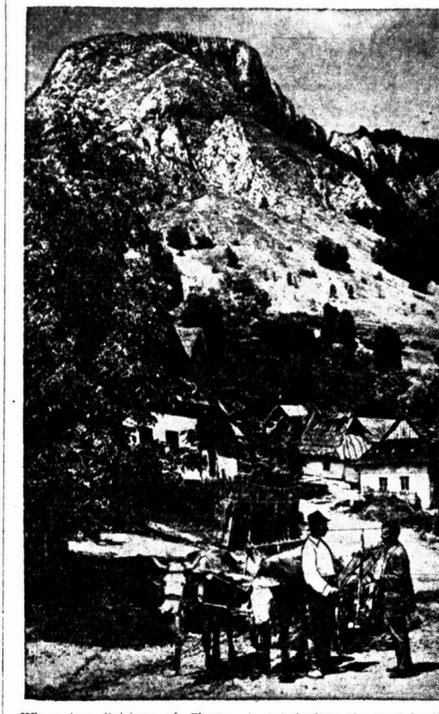

While in Alabama, Mr. Ashley was a painter for a railroad company. He painted and worked in lumber yards here, cared for 1 was and more recently was city poundman. His hobby was raising game chickens and he had several outstanding birds.

Mr. Ashley was an admirer and supporter of Jim and Mrs. Ferguson. Survivors are the widow, four daughters, Mrs. Harry Dean, Mrs. Tharon Solomon, both of Pampa, Mrs. O. E. Siger, Elbe, Wash., and Mrs. Carl Wilkenson of Shamrock, and one son, J. T. Ashley, Jr., Coolidge, Ariz.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Central Baptist church by the Rev. T. M. Gillham, assistant pastor. Burial will be in Shamrock cemetery under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home.

I Heard-- That the Barbers planned to use Ben McHenry, Herald McAbb, Lefty Cox and one or two other former Road Runner stars when they play the Lions club ball team at 7 o'clock tonight at Road Runner park but that the deal blew up when Manager Malcolm Brown of the Lions announced that the newcomers would have to put on a hair-cutting demonstration, on the teammates, to prove they were barbers. The game is scheduled to start under the rays of the fading sun and end under artificial light.

War Throws Gory Shadow Over Europe

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 (Canadian Press)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King today called a meeting of the Canadian cabinet for tomorrow to consider European developments and their possible consequences to Canada. King spent most of last night in conference with Lord Tweedsmuir, Canadian governor general.

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 (AP)—All avenues of travel out of Germany were limited today with French and British citizens and other foreigners fleeing for fear of war.

No seats in airplanes could be obtained after early morning. Trains ran throughout the day with corridors filled.

British and French citizens were advised by their local diplomatic officials to leave Germany. The French step followed upon a direct order transmitted from Paris to the French ambassador, Robert Coulondre.

American residents besieged consular and diplomatic officials asking for advice. Invariably they were told that United States officials have no information on which to give counsel.

Many tourists in Berlin, however, took to their heels without waiting for specific word.

Only one French newspaper correspondent was left behind to hold the French journalistic fort. All British newsmen departed excepting five chief correspondents.

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The home office took steps today to place England's air raid precautions on virtually a "war basis," effective tonight.

Arrangements were made for immediate extinguishing of London's street lights "at any time it is considered necessary."

Birmingham's A. R. P. department issued notices calling upon householders to erect their air raid shelters, darken their windows and see that their gas masks are clean and ready for immediate use if the occasion should arise.

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP)—King George VI, breaking his annual vacation because of the tense international situation, will leave Scotland for London by train tonight to be on hand for tomorrow's emergency meeting of the British Parliament, Buckingham Palace announced today.

White Urges Plan To Build New Highway

Judge Would Use Bond Monies Of Five Counties

A plan to "pool" monies to be allocated to five Panhandle counties by the state under the recently passed road bond assumption law, was advanced today by County Judge Sherman White, of Gray county.

Judge White said his plan calls for the counties of Ochiltree, Gray, Donley, Roberts, and Hall, through which would pass the proposed North-South road through Pampa from Perryton to Turkey, to take the state-allocated money each year and put it into a combining fund to aid in paying the counties' share of the proposed highway improvement.

Among provisions of the road bond law is one which stipulates that monies allocated to the counties from the lateral road account can be used for the purpose of cooperating with the state highway department and federal government in the construction of farm to market roads.

Judge White already has contacted the county judges of Ochiltree and Roberts counties who look upon the plan with favorable attitude and who plan immediately to take the matter up with their commissioners.

The Gray county judge met with Judge Dave Shanks of Ochiltree county yesterday while in Perryton with the Pampa delegation to attend the annual Perryton birthday celebration.

Members of the Gray county commission are unanimously in favor of taking the money and turning it back into a fund to aid the state in building state highways which are sorely needed and wanted in Gray county, Judge White stated.

"We want to do everything within our power to cooperate with the state highway department in getting the money," he said.

Japan Still Has Faith In Hitler

TOKYO, Aug. 23 (AP)—Japan believes her anti-Communist partnership with Germany will continue unharmed, a government official indicated today, despite the German-Russian move for a non-aggression pact.

A foreign office spokesman said his government had received "intimate information" beforehand on the non-aggression development and held the feeling Germany had taken precautions against any damage to the anti-Communist accord.

(Germany, Japan, Italy, Hungary, Manchukuo and Spain are joined in the anti-Communist pact in a pledge to combat the spread of communism.)

Britain Rejects Nazi Ultimatum--War Seems Likely

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Adolf Hitler was reported today to have answered a firm warning by Great Britain with a statement that he would not alter freshly expanded demands against Poland.

PARIS, Aug. 23 (AP)—The government announced tonight after a meeting of the national defense council that "because of the international situation the government has decided to complete the military measures already taken by recalling an additional contingent of reserve soldiers."

BERLIN, Aug. 23 (AP)—Reliable sources declared this afternoon that Adolf Hitler told Sir Neville Henderson, British Ambassador, Germany could not modify her demands or vital rights because of the British guaranty of Poland.

"These demands and 'vested rights,'" it is understood, were: 1. The unconditional return of Danzig to the Reich. 2. The return of those sections of Poland which were once German, namely, Pommerellen, Pomorze and Polish upper Silesia.

3. A rearrangement of Polish-German relations much along the lines of the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia. Hitler, according to advices considered reliable, is determined to settle the dispute with Poland in one of two ways.

Either Poland yields to these demands peacefully, in which case there will be no bloodshed; or she fights, in which case Germany will see to it that a new partition of Poland occurs.

These terms, it was understood, have been communicated during the past twenty-four hours not only to the British government but by special couriers to most governments of Europe.

Sir Neville flew from his post today and spent three hours at Berchtesgaden this afternoon with Hitler in his Bavarian mountain chalet.

He bore with him what was described as Chamberlain's reply to the courier-sent statement by Hitler.

In London, however, there was no confirmation of the report of courier-sent messages and Sir Neville's mission was described as a communication of the British cabinet's announcement last night that Britain would resist force against Poland to the utmost if Poland were attacked and resisted.

The couriers from the fuhrer were said to have been dispatched yesterday a few hours after Germany and Soviet Russia had announced their intention of negotiating for a non-aggression agreement.

At the same time, the belief was generally current in Berlin, although not officially verifiable, that the German army now on duty along the Polish border from the high Tatras mountains to the Baltic received instructions yesterday to hold itself "in the highest state of alarm."

Official circles in Berlin were so convinced the Polish trouble would be over within 48 hours that Sunday's Hitler-led celebrations at Tannenberg, East Prussia, were regarded as an occasion for celebrating another bloodless victory.

Supposedly the message from Hitler to Chamberlain was identical with that dispatched to other governments.

The showdown, these sources felt, would come soon after the return of Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop from Moscow, where he arrived today to sign a non-aggression pact with Russia.

High positions said they thought there would be "some fighting" but neither Britain nor France would come in.

Next to columns of stories accusing the Poles of atrocities against German nationals, the controlled press declared the Nazis now had returned to the foreign policy of Prince Otto Von Bismarck. The Iron Chancellor's assertion "We Germans fear God — and nothing else in the world" was recalled.

The press emphasized that the "wise policy" of Bismarck who first negotiated a "reinsurance treaty" with Russia in 1887, was abandoned by the "most imprudent and foolish measures" of Kaiser Wilhelm, now in exile at Doorn, the Netherlands.

Russian Pictures Published German newspaper readers also were treated to a sight which was spectacular—considering Adolf Hitler's bitter fight against Communism in time past. Published side by side were photographs of Soviet Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov and Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop.

Probably it was the first time since the Nazis came to power in 1933 that they had permitted the picture of a German leader to be used alongside that of a Communist. The caption: "Our picture shows Ribbentrop and Molotov, the ministers of the countries which have decided to return to their traditional friendship."

Britain Now Determined To Aid Poland

Ambassador Flies To Berchtesgaden To Tell Fuehrer

PARIS, Aug. 23 (AP)—France's ranking army and air chiefs met Premier Daladier at the war ministry late this afternoon for an emergency review of the critical international situation.

The premier, who is also war minister, suddenly called in Naval Minister Cesar Campinchi, Air Minister Guy Lachambre, Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, General Maurice Gamelin, commander of all French armed forces, and Admiral Jean Darlan, the supreme naval commander.

Before Bonnet went to the national defense conference, he had a long talk with General Auguste Nogues, resident general of French Morocco, and commander-in-chief of all French colonial forces in North Africa.

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The British ambassador, Sir Neville Henderson, flew to Berchtesgaden today to deliver to Adolf Hitler a declaration that Britain's guaranty to Poland remains unaltered by the projected German-Soviet nonaggression pact—that Britain is determined to aid Poland if necessary.

Officially it was disclosed the envoy, Sir Neville Henderson, was instructed to say his government is "determined to resist to the utmost" any resort to force by Germany which Poland considered a threat to her independence and chose to resist.

The ambassador's instructions were said to be along the lines of a statement issued here last night after a long British cabinet meeting.

Meanwhile, the British committee of imperial preferences, composed of representatives from the cabinet, dominions and military services, met during the morning.

Last night's statement also pointed out "there is nothing in the difficulties that have arisen between Germany and Poland which justify the use of force involving a European war with all its tragic consequences."

It also said there were no questions in Europe "which should not be settled by peaceful means, if only conditions of confidence could be restored," and that the British government was and had been ready "to assist in creating such conditions."

It was emphasized in official circles Sir Neville's mission was to declare Britain's position regarding her pledge to Poland, and not to open direct British-German negotiations on the Danzig dispute.

Times Sounds Keynote On the heels of British and French declaration of determination to stand by Poland, the two powers made ready for quick conversion to a war footing. Both expected Germany to be the aggressor.

Deputies Hurl Gas Shells Into Crowd

SOUTH BARRE, Mass., Aug. 23 (AP)—Sheriff's deputies discharged at least four tear gas shells and half a dozen gas grenades into a milling crowd in front of the struck Berre school building today. A woman strike sympathizer smashed a window of an automobile carrying workers into the mill.

The altercation marked the first use of tear gas in the four-week strike and occurred as some citizens were demanding state police aid to avert repetition of a clash last night in which 11 persons, including a 10-year-old girl, were injured by flying stones.

One of the gas shells struck a 24-year-old strike man in the leg, causing serious injury.

Japanese Disturbed By Russian Treaty

MOSCOW, Aug. 23 (AP)—German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and Premier-Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov's German-Russian non-aggression treaty this afternoon.

The talks started at 3 p. m. (6 a. m. CST) at the Kremlin, just two hours after Von Ribbentrop's plane alighted here from Germany.

It was noted the Japanese ambassador, Shigenori Togo, did not go to the airport to greet the representative of Japan's anti-Communist partner.

Japanese circles were reported unofficially to be deeply disturbed by the Russian-German collaboration which has upset the calculations of European diplomats.

Last Pre-School Activity To Be Planned By Troop

At the regular meeting of Girl Scout troop 1 to be held at the Girl Scout house at 6 o'clock Friday evening, plans will be made for a last vacation activity before the opening of school, Secretary Frances Deering said today.

Last Friday, the troop members held a slumber party at the house. They sang songs until 2 o'clock in the morning.

At 7:15 o'clock Saturday morning, they cooked breakfast, each girl taking part in cooking the meal and in cleaning up. At 9 o'clock Mollie Kennedy, Erma Lee Kennedy, Robbie Lee Russell, Elmarie Allen, Frances Deering, Betty and Lavanda Johnson, and Mrs. Palestine Gething went swimming in the Pampa Municipal Swimming pool. Mrs. Gething and Lavanda Johnson are troop lieutenants.

Boy Ridiculed As 'Convict' Kills Tormentor

VENICE, Calif., Aug. 23 (AP)—Police Officer P. C. Stebbins today arrested a youth who identified himself as Richard Jensen, 14, and said he admitted striking a playmate because "he called me a convict."

William Williams, 13, was found dying yesterday beneath the home of Jensen's parents at Montrose, Calif., his throat choked with wire and his skull crushed.

The policemen quoted the boy as saying: "He called me a convict. He was teasing me about spending time at Whittier (state school). After I hit him a couple of times, everything went black."

Police released him to Sheriff's deputies from Los Angeles.

Sheriff's Capt. James Burns and Deputies Larry Cormack and Virgil Gray, who questioned the Jensen boy's mother, Mrs. Frances Jensen, said she heard unusual noises in the basement yesterday and went to investigate.

They quoted her: "When I got to the door leading under the house, Richard called and said 'Don't come in here, Ma.'"

"When I asked him why, he said, 'Don't come in here, Ma, because I just killed Billy Williams.'"

"Then he ran to the garage, got his bicycle and raced away, I screamed at him to stop, but he paid no attention."

The Williams boy, garroted with a strand of copper wire, his skull crushed with a claw hammer and his body showing knife wounds, died as he was being removed to an ambulance.

The Jensen boy was committed to Whittier state school in 1938 as an "incorrigible," but was released to his parents' custody last June.

Woman Appointed

LOWLY PHILS DROP REDS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23 (AP)—The Phillies shut out the Cincinnati Reds to 9 yesterday with Phil pitcher Walt Hoge yielding only five hits. Philadelphia scored three of the four runs in the sixth.

In chalking up his fourth straight triumph and his of the season, Hoge, former Chicago Cub right-hander, struck out eight and issued only three passes. Only in the seventh, when the Reds filled the bases with two out, was Kirby in difficulty.

Oklahoma Considers Sali Water Order

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 23 (AP)—Earl Foster, state commission attorney, said today the corporation commission was considering a supplementary oil field shutdown order which would permit wells to pump salt water.

Foster said the commission had been flooded with requests for this concession, especially since O. O. Owens, Tulsa operator, obtained a Creek county court injunction allowing him to pump water to prevent damage to his wells.

Owens maintained he was not violating the spirit of the state's 15-day shutdown because he was returning the oil to the formation.

Some Grounds For Optimism

A glance at the various business barometers—and a cursory reading of the more experienced analysts and forecasters—produces some grounds for optimism. For several months industrial conditions have been improving. And the "conservative" tendency shown by the last rebellious Congress in its closing weeks has proven to be an excellent psychological factor. Congress didn't do what business asked—the fact is that it left an unusual number of major problems untouched—but most business men think there has been a healthy change in attitude on the part of many Senators and Representatives.

Most significant recent event in the business world has been a fairly sharp rise in the index of durable goods production. Heavy industry almost always goes down first when a "depression" or a "recession" is pending and almost always goes up last when we are on the verge of a "recovery" movement. In June durable goods production jumped about ten points, and later figures indicate that the betterment has continued.

Production of consumers' goods, major barometer of the "light industries," started upward several months ago and, by and large, has held its course. As retail sales figures show, consumer purchasing power in most areas is relatively good.

Improvement is also evident in that all-important field—employment. According to Business Week, employment gained 400,000 in a recent month—biggest increase for that month in ten years. This upward trend in jobs, say most of the economists, should continue well into fall and perhaps longer.

Looking at specific industries, there seem to be a few black spots. Home building has finally tended downward, by comparison with last year, but the reduction in interest rates put into effect by FHA is expected to slow and possibly change the downward trend. Automobile production is low just now, but a sharp rise in output will set in soon, as the new models flow off the assembly lines. Retail inventories in most lines are low, which is always a good sign. There has been a fairly substantial amount of new security financing. And electric power output, in the light of the season, is at an excellent level.

Big question mark is whether the reductions in WPA appropriations (from $2,200,000,000, the amount spent in the year ending June 30, to about $1,570,000,000, the amount appropriated for the current fiscal year) and the consequent cut in WPA employment will have a serious deleterious effect on business. Hope is that private capital, encouraged by the relative economy-spirit shown by Congress, will take up the slack. Many feel that, for the first time, industry has a chance to prove that large-scale deficit-spending by the government is no longer necessary to support the nation.

The Nation's Press

SPEND-LEND DEFEAT

President Roosevelt's comment that industry and the taxpayer will suffer as a result of the decision of the House not to pass his spend-lend bill this session is the reaction of a man disappointed in the failure to have made into law one of his pet measures. The immediately stronger tone in stocks and the continued upturn in general business indicated that the country approved the action of the House and did not believe it would react against the quarters named by the President. The bill had little merit in the first place, excepting for its vote-getting possibilities, for it would have done nothing more than pour more millions into the pump that has already been primed with a score of billions. The claim of the New Deal that it was based on the self-liquidating plan was exposed effectively by these congressmen who showed it was nothing of the sort. Instead, they branded it as "spreading by deception" and charged, it was nothing more than similar wholesale spending which has gone before.

ROOSEVELT'S DIFFERENT OBJECTIVES

In signing the bill creating a judicial administrative officer to handle the fiscal affairs of the Federal courts, President Roosevelt issued a statement alleging that this bill completed the last of the "objectives" of the court bill on which he was so spectacularly defeated two years ago. So long as these "objectives" are now accomplished, he indicated, it was a matter of indifference whether it was done by the methods which he originally proposed, or by the others which have reached the same result. This is the second time that Mr. Roosevelt has announced this doctrine. As to the legitimate part—and perhaps some of the illegitimate part—of his real objectives, this may be to some extent true. But, since Mr. Roosevelt has chosen to revive this issue, it is important to remind the country again that these are not what he then said were his objectives. He presented his proposition to Congress under false pretenses (the words are used deliberately, with full realization of their seriousness) alleging that he was seeking one thing when actually he was seeking another. An now such of the objectives, good or bad, as have been accomplished, are the ones which he then unsuccessfully tried to keep secret.

Such a method of dealing with Congress and the people is, in the first place, a sacrifice of intellectual integrity. It is, in this respect, the darkest blot on President Roosevelt's career. And its very vulnerability enabled his opponents to score their first outstanding victory against him. They professed to take him at his word—a course to which he, at least, could not object. They took, as to the words he used, a course to which he, at least, could not object. They took, as to the objectives which he said he had, and proved that such of his expressed complaints of the courts, and proved that, as he stated them, the facts he asserted did not exist. And they blasted the "method," which he now dismisses as indifferent, with a devastating conclusiveness unexampled in American public documents.

THE LAW OF THE JUNGLE

A correspondent contends that we advocate the Law of the Jungle. He fails, however, to specify any particular statement that we have made that would justify such a conclusion.

Evidently he comes to that conclusion as many people do, who give only lip service, because we believe in the competitive system or free enterprise.

It is strange how people can get the idea that there is some other way of measuring progress than by competition or a free market. It is hard to understand how those who would eliminate the competitive system can believe that the government can miraculously and magically eliminate the competitive system. When these people are pressed, they never can explain how government officials can be selected with enough wisdom and enough honesty to tell each man where he must work and how much he must receive. It is hard to conceive how anybody who makes any pretense of being logical, or consistent could believe that a governmental official will promise most anything to get a job, would have wisdom enough to tell how much a farmer should get for producing a bushel of wheat, how much a man should receive for making a pair of shoes, or transporting a ton a mile, or delivering a lecture or writing a story, filling a tooth and the hundreds of thousands of other operations done in a modern world.

This would be exactly what would be required if the competitive system is to be eliminated. It would seem to anyone who has made any study of liberty that this would be a return to the Law of the Jungle. It would be the greatest scramble that ever existed as to who should have the power to regulate the lives of people in this manner.

But the competitive system, or the free market, does have respect for other people's equal rights. But the Law of the Jungle has no respect for other people's rights—it makes no contracts and is not dependable. But a free market, or the competitive system, is dependable and does have respect for other people's rights and is the exact antithesis of the Law of the Jungle.

The columns of this paper are open for anyone to point out how the competitive system, with the government attempting to preserve equal liberty for all, can approach the Law of the Jungle.

A REAL PLAN

As an economical or political plan seems to be regarded as necessary, not only in Russia, Germany and Italy, but the United States, I want to submit a plan. The Townsends, the Ham and Eggers and the New Dealers have all been advocating what they regard as a plan to restore prosperity. All of these organizations contend that those people who do not agree with them have no plan to offer, that they only criticize and find fault with their plan.

Of course, I do not believe that the Townsend Plan, the Ham and Egg, or the New Deal are plans at all. They are simply claims, without any evidence in history or any logic to substantiate. They are all based on one thing—that is, spending, increasing the wealth by taking from one and giving it to another.

The plan that I believe will produce character and prosperity is to return to and believe in the respect for other people's equal rights. The plan is based on a free market and that every man in the United States has the right to the pursuit of happiness to produce something that he believes will benefit him most; that no one has a right to combine or interfere with this inalienable Godlike right.

This plan would use all the talents of all the people. It would not limit production. It would not give anybody any special privileges. It would be an approach to what Jesus was teaching—that each man had certain inalienable rights; that the personality of a man was sacred; that it could not be interfered with by the government or by his fellowman, so long as he gave others equal rights.

This was the plan the framers of the Constitution adopted and, to the degree that we carried out this plan did the people prosper and develop.

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON

Pampa News Washington Correspondent

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Native Yankee caution never deserts the New Englander. Conditions that would make a mid-westerner glow expansively and predict a year of pretty good business will lead the New Englander to admit only that right now things aren't too bad. Then he'll add that he isn't at all sure about next month.

So you can't say business men here are optimistic. They are freely admitting, however, that right now things aren't too bad—and some of them forget to add the gag line about next month.

Which means more than a mere rise from the low of the current depression; for New England had a private depression of its own long before the big 1929 crash took place, and the fact that that depression is pretty well licked now is good news any way you look at it.

TETILE PLANTS SHUT DOWN

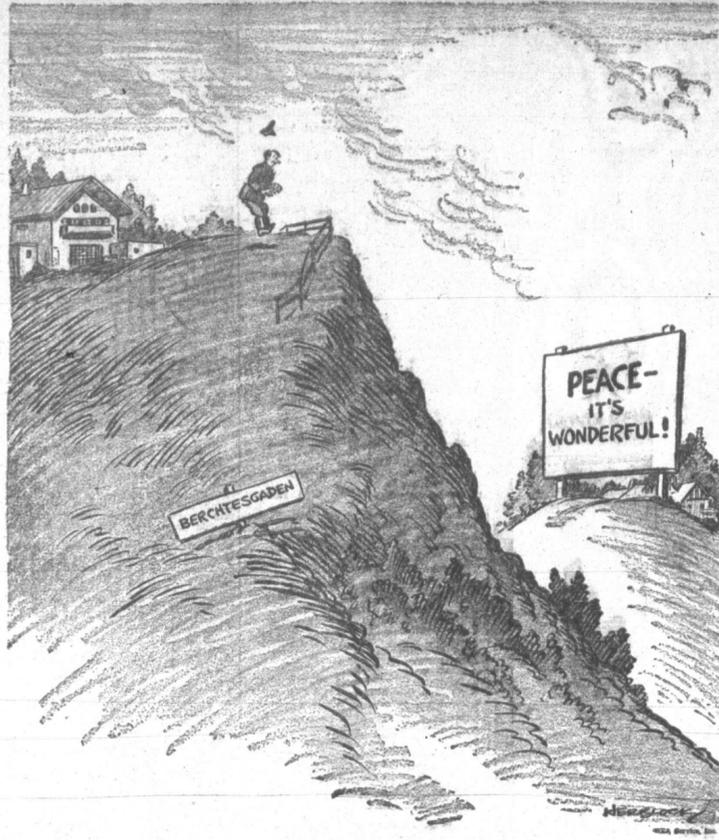

New England industrialized itself ahead of the rest of the country, and as the rest of the country caught up with it, a lot of New England industries migrated away. This has been most notably true of textiles, but to an extent it has been true in other lines also. All through the early twenties New England's business was going steadily downhill.

In the middle twenties New England started a counter attack. The governors of her six states got together and caused the formation of the New England Council, an advisory and co-ordinating body which was to be, and is, supported by subscriptions sold to business men. Its first president was John S. Lawrence, a former textile manufacturer, and under his guidance the organization went to work.

It tried, first, to get all the data it could on what the problem really was, and next to figure out some solution. The symptoms of the problems were all too visible—empty factories in cities and towns all over the area. A part of the solution seemed to be to persuade industrialists that these factories were still perfectly usable and that New England's supply of skilled labor and her transportation facilities were valuable assets.

Somewhere between 1925 and 1930 the long process of migration was stopped, and since then New Eng-

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Only yesterday Hollywood planted a crop of singing starlets and reaped a harvest, mainly through Deanna Durbin and Judy Garland. Today Deanna and Judy are entering their gracious teens—and the second crop is ready to go to market.

Maybe there always were children who could turn a coloratura trick. Deanna put the spotlight on them and by her own screen work paved their way. There are now at least four youngsters who can and do tackle operatic arias with collected calmness—youngsters who are making it tough for the "just-so-cute" school of kiddie actors whose principal asset is curls and a smile and baby talk.

Jackie Ware and Leni Lynn are being introduced in "Music School" with Jascha Heifetz. Linda Ware, 13, is hitting the high notes in "The Star-Maker" with Bing Crosby. Leni Lynn, also 13, has just had her opinion that she is a "mush-bush" at Paramount too when mention is made of Linda's vocalizations. You are supposed to be surprised. (Please do, won't you?)

Linda Ware and Jackie Nash, first, were their pictures started before, will be up for inspection before Leni and Gloria. On Pasternak's record with Durbin films, I'd predict that Gloria will have the most fortunate "first" of the quartet—simply because the story in which she appears, "The Under-Pup," is a story built around a little girl and her problems. Linda Ware appears as a "discovery" of star-maker Crosby.

Jackie sings as a "mush-bush" in "Music School" of her film, and Leni is spotted in the filming of a Broadway musical.

As with Deanna, Pasternak has cast Gloria in a role in which she is only incidentally a singer. The "under-pup" is a poor little girl with a lot of family who wins a prize that sends her to an exclusive camp for wealthy girls whose families are too "busy" to bother much. Gloria gets into trouble, but she wins out in the end. The story is that simple—with adornments of "human interest" and occasional song—and it's the formula, if you want to call it that, that has made the Durbin films so appealing.

In person Gloria is "sweet" rather than "cute," and she has the same sort of pique that distinguished Deland has slowly been winning back the lost ground. BUILD NEW FACTORIES During the last three years, for instance, more than 14,000,000 square feet of idle factory space has been returned to active use. In addition, $38,000,000 worth of new factory construction has taken place. A large amount of idle space remains, to be sure, and in some cases empty factories which might still be used are being torn down simply to save taxes and upkeep; but the trend has been reversed, and although New England shares in the national depression her own private depression is being conquered.

Charles F. Weed, vice president of Boston's First National Bank, and present head of the New England Council, says that the present business outlook would be quite satisfactory if two uncertainties could be removed—uncertainty about the European situation, and uncertainty about what the gentleman in the White House is going to do.

It is the latter uncertainty which he considers the more damaging; and he believes that business' objection to the new deal is more a matter of the administration's general attitude than of any specific New Deal act. He does not, for instance, share the rather common New England feeling that the reciprocal trade treaties are damaging to this section.

They may hurt some particular lines and help others," he remarks. "If the result in greater prosperity for the country as a whole, New England will share in it and be better off."

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

A participant in one of the several fist fights that have taken place this summer at a local skating place was J. P. Matthews, former Harvester and now a Rice footballer. It was quite a knock-down fight and J. P. was laughing most of the time. "I enjoyed that fight," he said.

One of the most interesting trips of the summer was the junket of Miss Daisy Jim Daugherty, local nurse, and Miss Helen Martin, school music supervisor, to Alaska. After driving up to the snow-line on Mt. Rainier, they sailed from Seattle in Alaska their boat stopped at Juneau, Fairbanks, Nome. They bought train tickets and rode to the Matanuska valley, settled by tenants and bowlers from the States. Daisy Jim said the valley was pretty and productive and that everybody seemed to be content. Once in a while they'd meet somebody going back to the States or see somebody who was "trying to get away," who was "down on Alaska. As for Daisy Jim, she likes Alaska. Miss Martin is not back yet, but she'll have at least one unique story to tell when she does return. . . . Jan Wampler, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Wampler, stood and watched his father string of a chicken's neck.

The anxiety state is likely to be related to some condition which the patient himself does not recognize. For instance, the example cited is that of a man who felt that because of illness he was unable to work and could not support the girl that he wanted to marry. The real cause of his symptoms was a hidden desire to avoid the marriage.

These anxiety states may reflect themselves in the body physically by a wide variety of symptoms, including a rapid heart rate, a rise in the blood pressure, an inability to swallow, pains in the abdomen, due to contractions of the lower outlet of the stomach, and an excessive breathing rate.

The patient develops hysterical symptoms so that sometimes he will not see because he is convinced in his own mind that he cannot see, or he will not hear because his subconscious mind tells him that he cannot hear.

The doctor should find out all of the circumstances surrounding the patient's life and then determine the extent to which these subconscious thoughts are concerned in the physical state. If the doctor merely explains in simple non-technical language the nature of the condition, realizing that the patient may help to bring it under control.

Mere relief of the physical symptoms will not control the condition, because of the underlying mental state. It is for that reason that many of these patients go from one doctor to another seeking relief. In many instances the patient is dissatisfied with the explanation that is clear and is seeking something outside the realm of fact as an excuse for his unfulfilled desires or his unrecognized fears.

It is necessary for the doctor to use suitable remedies to control spasms of the muscular tissue at the opening or closing ends of the stomach and to remedy a too rapid heart rate or a similar physical condition in order to protect the health of the patient during the period while attack on the cause is being made.

It is not well to hazard a guess that a rapid heart rate is based on a mental causation alone. It is necessary to rule out absolutely any physical causes that may exist. This the doctor may do by making a complete physical study of the heart and sometimes even by using the electrocardiograph to trace the action of its mechanism.

Physicians in California have recently remarked that one-third of the practice of most patients who have what are called anxiety states. These are patients whose symptoms are chiefly the result of what are called anxious reactions.

Any situation or group of circumstances, whether real or fanciful, which threatens the emotional or social life of the individual concerned, may lead to such reactions. Ordinary anxiety is the result of a recognized cause. Examples are fear of harm in a motor accident, or dread of being shot while bullets are flying.

You can't believe all these figures you see in the papers nowadays, on account of so many of em is just somebody's guess, figuring that a number of the kind after take time off from making a living to check up on em anyway. For instance, I was reading someplace where some fellow had it all figured out how many caterpillars take, laid end to end, to reach around the Equator, and I forget how many it was but it was a gosh awful lot of caterpillars, and that's where he had you, an account of no-body not being able to find that many caterpillars all the same age; And if you could, chances is you wouldn't get more'n half way round before you'd find out you was several caterpillars off, on account of the equatorial caterpillar contraction and expansion, or something. And that's why you shouldn't out to get too worried about this other fellow that says California is short on babies; He says we only got 49,543 new babies in the first six months of this year, and that puts us behind all the rest of the country at the rate of 8 babies for each 1000 population. Now that can't be nothing else but some more of that pernicious political propaganda, deliberately designed to discredit the administration by making the lack of babies up with the falling off of production. And in the second place, the figgers is misleading besides picking the worst time of the year, it's no way to compare babies in California anyway, on account of so much of the population waiting before coming to California, 'till after they was through raising babies.

P. S.—And anyway times is tough, and everybody can't afford a baby and a dog both.—J.

The Pampa school band, under direction of A. C. Cox, and a delegation of Pampans attended the Perryton Birthday party and Ochiltree county Golden Jubilee yesterday and had a "big time."

The band marched in the parade and played in the massed band concert. Old timers attended the reunion and all saw the ball game, the amateur rodeo and the bathing beauty contest, won by Doris Jean Russell of Spearman.

Perryton, noted for its wide streets, staged something new when the long parade moved from one side of the main street and returned on the opposite side. Five bands marched in the parade which was featured by cowgirls, riding on beautiful Palomino horses, carrying flags, beautifully decorated floats entered by clubs and old timers.

At noon old timers were entertained at a barbecue with a brief program following.

Miss Sydna Yokley of Canadian gave a calf roping exhibition and her time of 29 seconds would have won second place had she competed in the contest.

Pampans talked roads with Ochiltree county highway boosters and plans were made to "get together" soon.

Among Pampans making the trip were: Dr. C. H. Schlukey, chairman of the BGD goodwill committee, Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, Mrs. H. H. Heiskell, Garnet Reeves, L. H. Johnson, Sherman White, H. C. ## Lamesa's Errors Help Oilers Win 8 To 6

Pampa Leaves For Crucial Baron Series

After defeating the Lamesa Lobes 8 to 6 here last night, the Pampa Oilers left for Big Spring where they play tonight and tomorrow night with the team crowding them for second place. On Friday and Saturday nights the Oilers will be in Lamesa. The return home will be next Sunday with Clovis providing the opposition.

The Oilers got only nine bingles off the side-arm shoots of a Mr. Williams but some great base running and errors helped the Oilers cause. Base hits and other errors gave Lamesa their runs with errors playing the more important part although the Lobes got to Hallbourg for six hits in four innings and to Grabek for four hits the rest of the way.

Hallbourg started for the Oilers and was pitching nice ball although giving up hits in the clutches. Manager Seitz saw that Hallbourg was pitching in tough luck so he replaced him with Grabek in the fifth and he held the Lobes in check until the ninth when Nell's error got him in trouble. After he had walked one and allowed a hit, Grabek received credit for the victory, his 10th, against 11 losses.

Errors Prove Costly
After Hallbourg had retired the first two batters, Watson singled, Fullenwider doubled and Harry singled for Lamesa's first run. Lamesa added another in the third when Summers misjudged Fullenwider's fly and he went all the way to third from where he scored after Seitz' sensational catch of Harry's long fly. Bate's single and Nell's error when he let the ball get through him, another error by Summers and Spangler's double gave Lamesa two more in the fourth or enough to tie the score.
Summers was safe in the second on Wooten's error. Malvica singled. Wooten tried to get Malvica on Bailey's grounder but threw the ball into left field. Beavers doubled and Hallbourg singled to score four runs. The next three batters fled out. With two away in the fifth, Nell drew a walk, went to second on Summers' walk, Nell stole third and then stole home on a double steal with Summers. Bailey beat out an infield bunt and stole second in the sixth. Grabek beat out another drag bunt. Bailey scored on Saparito's out.

Lamesa Rally Short

Bailey opened the eighth with a double. Beavers singled. Bailey was trapped off third. Grabek fanned. Saparito singled to score Beavers.

Lamesa rallied in the ninth when Spangler opened with a walk and Blackburn singled. Nell backed against the fence to take Fullenwider's fly but he dropped the ball and two runs crossed the plate. Grabek tightened and got out of the hole.

Sam Malvica pulled the Oilers out of several tough spots with sparkling fielding plays. In the fifth he made a one-handed stab of Williams' hot grounder. He came up with another beauty in the sixth and saved a run on a great stop in the second.

Grabek fanned four and walked two after relieving Hallbourg who was in plenty of trouble, mostly due to erratic support. Williams and his side-arm delivery got five Oiler batters but he walked four.

Last night's win gave the Oilers a game on the Lubbock Hubbers who lost in Borger and a half game on Big Spring who divided with Clovis. Amarillo downed Midland in the other game. The Oilers are now six games behind Lubbock and 3 1/2 games ahead of Big Spring.

Lubbock Ace Beats Sooner In 20 Holes

Favorites continued to win in the second round of play in the Top O' Texas Golf tournament here yesterday afternoon but Jodie Bihl, Lubbock's star, had to go 20 holes to beat Bob Holderman of Woodward, Okla.

Bihl staged a Frank Merrill-like finish to win his match. The youngster was three down with four holes to go when he went to work with long wood shots and deadly approaches to tie the count on the 18th green. The two shot par golf on the next hole but Bihl came thru with a birdie on the 20th to win.

Billy Cook of Clarendon, who made a sensational showing in the recent Broadmoor tournament at Colorado Springs, Colo., dropped a tough match to Dale Storie of Borger, defending champion, 2 and 1. C. F. McGinnis, John Austin, Grover Austin Jr., all of Pampa, came through as did Paul Gore of Amarillo, Bob Holt of Wheeler and Frank Foxall of Memphis, Greenbelt, Okla.

Grover Austin, Gore, Foxall and McGinnis turned in sub-par scores while John Austin shot a 72. Other players failed to turn in scores.

First round matches in the first flight were anything but close as good golfers met Sunday golfers, all in one flight. The afternoon round produced closer golf. One of the toughest matches of the afternoon saw R. G. Allen defeat Jack Goldston on the 20th hole.

Finals will be played tomorrow over the 36-hole route. The public will be welcomed at the course to follow the finalists.

Cards Lose Jimmy Brown, Also Game To Brooklyn

Associated Press Sports Writer
Injuries, always baseball's bugaboo, may decide the National League pennant. It had begun to look like nothing else but time could.

The St. Louis Cardinals lost infielder Jimmy Brown yesterday as well as their second straight ball game to the Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-5. Even though Brown may be back in the lineup within a week, his absence isn't going to help the Cardinals' challenge during this critical interval.

Only Monday, Manager Ray Blades singled out Brown as the key to the Redbirds' rampage.

The slender little shortstop-second baseman collided with Johnny Mize as they raced to take a throw from the outfield. Mize wasn't hurt, but Brown was knocked unconscious and will be in a hospital three or four days convalescing from a concussion.

The Cards have had only one other injury of importance this season—the mishap to Pepper Martin's leg which kept him out of most of the June games. The Cincinnati Reds, on the other hand, have been staggering along without Ival Gooden, Bill Werber, Harry Craft, Lou Myers and Lonnie Frey at one time or another.

The Reds were shut out by the Phillies, 4-0, yesterday as Kirby Higbee recorded his fourth consecutive victory on five-hit pitching. However, the Cardinals' defeat kept the leaders from losing ground. A couple of home runs, including Dolph Camilli's 21st of the season, helped Brooklyn collect seven runs in the first four frames.

Home runs also gave the New York Giants an early start against the Chicago Cubs, and Cliff Melton protected it with eight-hit pitching to win his third in a row, 4-2.

The Pittsburgh Pirates belted the Boston Bees, 9-2.

Half the games in the American League were played under the lights. The New York Yankees crushed the Chicago White Sox 14-5, with five home runs and Rookie Marius Russo's seven-hit pitching.

Bobby Feller earned his 18th victory in a 6-4 affair the Cleveland

SERIAL STORY

Murder on the Boardwalk BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

Yesterday, an astonishing confession... it is revealed that Mrs. Talbot was Yardley's silent partner...

CHAPTER IX

SINCE Christine had first caught sight of that pitiful body on the concrete bench, she had known horror and remorse. Now she knew terror.

chair, and Christine... Almost at once Bill Yardley opened the door and came in... "Well, Inspector," said Bill, "Puss-in-Boots pulled a fast one, didn't he? I think your men have lost him in the dark...

after 9:30. You see, after Labor Day, I'm permitted to take my horses to the beach. The hitching posts are right beyond that studio. Tonight I went down to see what condition they were in—and there was your little babe-in-the-wood, poking around behind that booth.

But all that—with his inevitable questions—would take time. And if the clairvoyant had had any part in this, why should he have tried to warn her? Now she wanted only to get to her room and satisfy herself that there was, among her belongings, nothing sinister—like this letter—to complicate the incredible position in which she found herself.

"Nothing," she said, "that I can think of." The inspector's face hardened, and he swung upon the disreputable figure in wedding boots who, with Bill, had just returned from the next room and had resumed his seat in the corner by the door.

Christine's spine crawled at the picture his words conjured. "Of course," Bill went on, "the reason I know is that I was trailing you, too. While I was down on the beach, I saw you standing under a light on the Boardwalk, reading something. I was trying to catch up with you when you went into that Temple of Truth place, and—well, I waited in a parked car just off the Boardwalk...

SOME ONE—Christine thought it was Bill—cried out, "Watch him!" Then all the lights went out, and a chair fell with a crash. After that there was in the room nothing but the sound of rattling feet and heavy breathing until the door opened—and slammed shut. Later, sounds of shouts and running came from the darkened corridor outside.

"Well, it had to be. Tomorrow your pictures will be all over the front page. If you're really hard up, why not let me help instead of a complete outsider? Anyhow, I don't trust your funny little boss."

"Not trust him? ... That helpless old babe-in-the-wood?" "Old? He's probably not got much on 30. Lots of men are bald at 30. And he may be helpless, but he doesn't handle the truth any too carefully."

Rumania Threatens To Remain Neutral

BUCHAREST, Aug. 23 (AP)—A high source said today King Carol's government had notified Poland that Rumania would not enter a European war unless her own frontiers were attacked. It was disclosed Poland inquired recently what action Rumania was prepared to take in case Poland was involved in a conflict with other powers. A treaty between Poland and Rumania provides for mutual assistance in event of Russian aggression. It makes no stipulation regarding Germany, Rumanian diplomats disclosed.

Phillips Maps Court Action Against Dam

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 23 (AP)—Gov. C. Phillips plans to take court action if necessary to prevent the start of work on the Oklahoma side of the Denison dam on Red River. The governor said, in a statement issued yesterday, he would insist the bill authorizing the $50,000,000 project be amended in the next session of congress to provide that Oklahoma be given a commensurate share of revenue from sale of power, as well as other changes to compensate the state for loss of land to be inundated.

"If they start working on the Oklahoma side, we'll file an application with the Supreme Court," Phillips declared.

If that tribunal refused original jurisdiction, Phillips said, the next step would be to file suit in a lower federal court and then carry it to the supreme court.

He announced he would ask Secretary of War Woodring again for definite information of the government's intentions.

"I want them to state their full position to see if we can waive part of the loss in compensation for benefits to be obtained," he said.

The only work done so far on the project has been the clearing of trees on the Texas side, obtaining land titles, etc. Land clearing as scheduled was due to start on the Oklahoma side by next week. Actual excavation was due to begin in about 18 to 20 days.

U. S. To Rush Citizens Home If War Comes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23. (AP)—

Amid renewed discussions of American neutrality policy, plans were being perfected today to rush home thousands of United States citizens if war breaks out in Europe. Merchant ships will be relied upon to transport the majority of Americans from danger zones, officials explained, but they added that more than a score of naval vessels in the Atlantic squadron could help if necessary.

The subject was among those considered late yesterday at an unusual meeting of representatives from five government departments, who canvassed various neutrality problems without disclosing any decisions.

There was a widespread belief that President Roosevelt would call Congress into special session in event of war. This led to speculation the non-aggression talks between Germany and Russia might force the administration to re-examine its proposals for revising the four-year-old neutrality laws.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull fought unsuccessfully during the recent Congress for repeal of the arms embargo, favoring instead the sale of armaments and munitions to belligerents on a "cash and carry" basis.

Both friends and foes of this proposal have conceded it would benefit Great Britain and France, because those countries presumably would control sea traffic with the United States.

Some members of Congress argued today this plan would not work if Germany were able to draw on Russia's vast store of raw materials.

A state department report at the start of the year showed 2,559 Americans living in Poland. The department has instructed the American embassy at Warsaw to use its best judgment in advising these residents and any tourists about leaving the country.

The state department has issued more than 47,000 passports in the last three months, but the number of tourists now in Europe is a matter of conjecture.

President Roosevelt is expected to reach Washington Friday after his vacation cruise up the New England and Canadian coasts. He has been receiving prompt reports of European developments.

considering granting higher allowances in the East Texas field. The shutdown has been felt most of all by the small refiners. Larger companies were said to have plenty of crude in pipe lines and storage to fill needs. The smaller refiners in Oklahoma were said to be trading for crude supplies with the larger companies.

Without trees, civilization would disappear.

ber on our good land," said Phillips. "Let them work on the Texas side if they want to."

Phillips pointed out the attorney he had employed in his battle against the dam had presented an amendment to the act at the last session of congress. He said that amendment would have shown legislative intent that Oklahoma would receive part of the income from the dam to compensate for losses sustained.

The proposed amendment, he continued, was presented to Senator Elmer Thomas (D, Okla.), but "for some mysterious reason was left out."

The governor asserted that without the amendment, there were no tangible assurances of repayment for loss of taxable wealth which the state, counties, school districts and other divisions of government would sustain.

"I don't believe it will ever be put in if we surrender our rights," he said. "I don't believe in Santa Claus and I don't like generalities. We want legislation passed that way or we don't want them working on that dam."

Rayburn 'Strongest' Dark Horse, Avers Rep. Wright Patman

DENISON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Sam Rayburn, Democratic House leader, is the "strongest dark horse in the nation" for the Democratic presidential nomination, says Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.).

Patman expressed that opinion in addressing a "Sam Rayburn Day" demonstration yesterday during which Rayburn was thanked for the $54,000,000 Denison dam project he was credited with steering through Congress.

Patman declared Rayburn's "nom-
