Bratton And Geiger Make Best Times

30 Soap Box Derby Cars Will Race This Afternoon

Awards to all heat winners in yesterday's elimination races will be made this evening at 5 o'clock in front of the Soap Box Derby grandstand just before the start of today's championship heats. Medals of gold, bronze and silver will go to the winners, and Joseph each will be given a baseball, autographed by movie star, Gene Autry. Four silver loving cups will be presented to owners of cars with best appearance, best brakes, best steering apparatus, best paint job, and a fountain pen and pencil set will be awarded the boy owner of the best upholstered car. Presentations will be made to tonight's winners immediately following the completion of all heats in each class. Thrills and spills again were assured several thousand race fans beginning at 5 o'clock this evening when the first heat in the Pampa Soap Box Derby finals will be run on the Old Miami highway hill, three miles north of town.

A crowd of 1,500 persons crowded in the hot sun yesterday afternoon to watch the preliminary eliminations, and race officials decided to move the starting time of the championship heats to 5 o'clock this evening. This, they said, will permit more persons to see the races and move them into late afternoon when it will be cooler.

50 remember—today's Soap Box Derby finals will begin at 5 p. m. instead of the originally planned time of 2:30 p. m.

Race fans yesterday saw the list of 60 boys out to 30 as they flashed down the hill from the special starting ramps at speeds of between 30 and 35 miles an hour.

Cars Collide
The biggest thrill of the afternoon came when two Class A racers, Joe Cox in car 42 and Tommy Saunders in No. 16, collided on mid-hill, rolled over and headed into the ditch at the side of the track. Saunders, in the lead at the time, lost control of his car, turned sideways on the course and was crashed into by Cox who was close on his tail. Saunders' car threw two wheels. Both cars underwent repairs last night and the two will race again this evening. The winner of this race will then be paired with Clarence Simmons, a Thursday winner with a fast car.

Best time of all cars in the Thursday preliminaries was made by Car No. 21, driven by Wesley Geiger, ten-year-old Class B driver. His time was 50 1/4 seconds for the 1,200-foot course. Mark Bratton, 14-year-old Class A driver of Car No. 56, had second best time for the afternoon. He was half a second behind.

Louisiana Tender Boards Demanded By Jerry Sadler

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Jerry Sadler, member of the Railroad commission which administers Texas oil laws, urged government officials yesterday to establish federal tender boards to administer the Connally hot oil act in Louisiana as well as Texas.

He recommended that boards be set up at New Orleans and Baton Rouge, La., and Houston, Texas. The Connally act makes it a federal offense to ship across state lines oil produced in violation of state conservation laws.

Sadler asserted 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 barrels of Louisiana crude oil moved into Texas monthly, and was "not only depressing the market price in Texas but in forcing reduced production in our state is curtailing tax collections."

Late News
LONDON, July 21 (AP)—Pacific utterances in Berlin over the free city of Danzig were interpreted today in Britain as a new invitation to the British government to return to the policy of appeasement. "Nobody ever doubted that Hitler would prefer to get Danzig without war," one British official said, "but as long as Germany insists Danzig must return to the Reich then the situation is not too hopeful."

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt in discussing neutrality legislation today said that from every capital in Europe—without exception—there was evidence of preparations for an eventuality that was believed to be fairly close.

DERBY CHAMP TO BE CROWNED

A Pampa Soap Box Derby champion will be crowned out on the Old Miami highway hill this evening. He will go to Akron, Ohio, next month to represent the Pampa News in the All-American Derby finals on August 13. And, in the above photo you will see how he will appear when he competes at Akron against 100 other boys from the United States, Hawaii, Mexico and Canada. He'll wear the new official helmet, lined and padded, and provided in head sizes to fit. The solid metal helmet provides a maximum of protection and the shatter-proof safety goggles also will be standard equipment. Tonight's races start at 5 p. m. and the champion will be picked about 7 p. m.

Post To Enter Float In Parade At Chicago

Pampa, the Top O' Texas, and the 18th district will be in the forefront of the parade at the American Legion national convention to be held in Chicago September 23-27.

Right at the front of the Texas delegation in the parade will be the 18th district float. It is planned to have each of the congressional districts in the state represented.

To secure funds for the construction of the float, members of the local post of the Legion at their meeting last night donated a part of the sum.

District Commander Charlie Malsel of Pampa is writing letters to posts and to chambers of commerce in the district asking their contributions.

Theme of the 18th district float will be a dramatic presentation of the old west.

Order of the parade at the national convention is based on membership quotas attained. Two years ago at the New York convention, Texas was in 49th place, just behind Hawaii, and preceding the host department. At Los Angeles last year Texas Legionnaires were in 23rd place. This year Texas will be in seventh place, and the 18th district by virtue of having the largest membership, will lead the Texans in the parade.

R. A. Webb, I. J. Hival, commander, Charlie Malsel, district commander, and Ray F. Barnes, publicity committee chairman were named at the meeting last night as members of the 18th district float committee.

Proceeding the national convention in Chicago, the department convention will be held in Waco, August 26-29, with the 40 and 8 conclaves scheduled for the first two days of the gathering.

Eight Negroes Have Served On Juries In Travis County

AUSTIN, July 21 (AP)—Negroes on juries are not oddities in Travis County.

Two members of the race served recently on a trial jury in a $58,000 damage suit against the City of Austin. A search of court records reveals others have served in similar capacity.

Still others have been members of grand juries. Negro physicians and clergymen have, perhaps, most frequently been selected as grand jurors, although non-professional members of the race have served.

As many as eight Negroes have been on panels called for civil suits and although some have been excluded, as many as two have been on juries returning verdicts.

House Passes Hatch Anti-Politics Bill

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The Hatch bill to curb political activities of federal officials won house approval last night after a long, boisterous session in which a republican-democratic coalition defeated stubborn attempts to modify its language.

The measure, passed by a vote of 242 to 133, goes back to the senate for acceptance of minor amendments. Senator Hatch, democrat, N. M., its author, predicted this would be forthcoming quickly.

Hatch told reporters: "The purpose of the bill is to prevent office holders going to political conventions as delegates. It is not intended to limit the right of a person to express his political opinion, but only to prevent the average office holder not already covered by the civil service from going out and managing or engaging in my campaign or anybody else's."

The final vote found all the republicans present—157—joining 83 democrats and two progressives in support of the measure.

The house nullified a revision proposed by its judiciary committee after President Roosevelt had called the original senate bill poorly drawn. Hatch had contended, however, the committee draft would emasculate the bill.

In rejecting the committee's recommendation, the house accepted a job-side vote proposal by Rep. Dempsey, democrat, N. M., declaring most persons in the executive branch of the government must not use their official positions to influence an election and must not participate in "political management or political campaigns."

But the chamber agreed to these exceptions: members of congress, the President and vice president, heads and assistant heads of executive departments, and presidential appointees who determine nationwide policies and policies relating to foreign relations.

The measure finally passed also would forbid solicitation or receipt of money for political purposes from persons paid from relief appropriations.

Fines of $1,000 and imprisonment for a more favorable outlook persisted in spite of yesterday's Danzig incident in which a Polish border official was shot by a free city customs officer.

Optimism expressed by Prime Minister Chamberlain in a letter made public yesterday was furthered by arrangements by United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy to start a brief vacation in France today after he had conferred at length with the prime minister yesterday.

The Chamberlain letter, urging support of a government parliamentary candidate, had said there were no international disputes which "could not be solved by peaceful means."

Manley Given Two Years At Stinnett

A Hutchinson county jury on Wednesday sentenced T. K. Manley of Gray county to serve two years in the penitentiary, after deliberating from 4:45 Tuesday afternoon.

Manley was charged with receiving and concealing stolen property. The defendant's attorney, Curtis Douglas, filed a motion for a new trial but Judge Jack Allen overruled the motion.

Manley was later released, however, after Judge Allen had approved a $2,000 appeal bond.

39 Russian Planes Shot Down Claim Japs

TOKYO, July 21 (AP)—Thirty-nine Soviet planes were reported shot down today in a battle over Lake Bor, in the outer Mongolian-Manchoukuo zone of hostilities.

A more favorable outlook persisted in spite of yesterday's Danzig incident in which a Polish border official was shot by a free city customs officer.

Optimism expressed by Prime Minister Chamberlain in a letter made public yesterday was furthered by arrangements by United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy to start a brief vacation in France today after he had conferred at length with the prime minister yesterday.

$400,000,000 Trimmed From Lending Bill

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—The Senate banking committee trimmed $400,000,000 from President Roosevelt's $2,800,000,000 lending program today, then added $80,000,000 for reclamation projects in the west.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), voicing views of the minority committee members, told reporters Republicans still were "not satisfied" and would seek further curtailment of the measure.

The committee agreed to cut from $750,000,000 to $350,000,000 a proposed authorization for toll roads and from $500,000,000 to $350,000,000 the total which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation could expend for railroad equipment to be leased to the carriers.

WEDDING IS RIOT TO NEIGHBORS

Sixteen-year-old Mrs. Parsilla Locapira, schoolgirl bride in New York's "Little Italy," smiles here as she adjusts the tie of her 60-year-old husband, Carmelo Locapira. But despite this apparent domestic tranquility, police continued to stand guard outside the tenement. Below, irate neighbors, who had roiled in disapproval of the May-December marriage, mill around the honeymooners' tenement.

Model Plane Races To Be Held Sunday

The Panhandle wind blew out the model airplane races planned for this forenoon out at the Soap Box Derby course, and the races have been postponed until Sunday.

H. D. Balch, in charge of the contest, said today the races would be held at the East Airport at 5:30 o'clock Sunday evening.

Upwards of 40 planes had been entered in the contest scheduled for this forenoon. More than $100 in prizes will go to three winners in each of three divisions.

Mr. Balchrope said all contestants had agreed to the Sunday date for the meet and that the program will be carried out Sunday evening as originally planned for today.

Oregon Law School Dean Will Testify In Bridges Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21 (AP)—The Harry Bridges defense today requested a subpoena for Wayne L. Morse, dean of the University of Oregon law school and arbitrator of the Pacific Coast longshore contract, to testify as a character witness for the Australian-born labor leader in his deportation hearing.

The application, said Morse's testimony would "show Harry Bridges is a man whose integrity and character are such that he is to be believed when testifying under oath."

Bridges has repeatedly denied he is or ever has been a member of the Communist party.

Long Decries Attacks On New Orleans Boss

NEW ORLEANS, July 21 (AP)—Governor Earl K. Long and Mayor Robert B. Maestri of New Orleans were united today in an effort to save the old Huey Long political machine from wreckage.

Earl, broker of the late "Kingfish" and Maestri, Huey's early financial backer, are the two remaining of the four principal heirs of Huey's formerly well-ordered domain. Governor Richard W. Leche, titular chief legatee, has resigned, and Seymour Weiss, sometimes called No. 2 political man in Louisiana, is under federal mail fraud charges.

Long yesterday took occasion during a speech in North Louisiana to decrie Shreveport and Monroe newspaper attacks on Maestri.

"They branded the fairest and squarest man in the state as an oil crook," Long said. "He is 100 per cent honest. He's given more constructive work as mayor of New Orleans in three years than anyone else ever gave in 40 years."

Maestri, in New Orleans, said he was interested in "a number of oil

Peace Rumors In Europe Multiply

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—Talk of overtures toward European "peace" discussions spread today despite lack of confirmation.

One report was that Britain's ambassador to Germany, Sir Neville Henderson, might "very shortly" establish contact with Reichsfuehrer Hitler "to find out just what his terms are for world peace."

Some saw a possible connection between this and reports current in some foreign diplomatic circles here that Britain might favor some "new and sensational attempt to come to a settlement with Germany."

There was nothing concrete to support either rumor, yet evidence of a more favorable outlook persisted in spite of yesterday's Danzig incident in which a Polish border official was shot by a free city customs officer.

Optimism expressed by Prime Minister Chamberlain in a letter made public yesterday was furthered by arrangements by United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy to start a brief vacation in France today after he had conferred at length with the prime minister yesterday.

Ewing Rules In Favor Of Girl's Mother

Judge Decides To Let Barretts Keep Contested Infant

Patsy Ann Chambers, 18-months-old daughter of Dixie Lee Chambers, 21-year-old former theater cashier of Sand Springs, Okla., was still in actual possession of the infant's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barrett, despite a ruling by Judge W. R. Ewing that awarded technical custody of the baby to the mother.

Custody of the child was given to Miss Chambers by Judge Ewing after a district court jury had been hopelessly deadlocked, 9 to 3, all day yesterday, last night and until 9:30 a. m. today in the girl's hebes corpus battle to regain custody of the baby from Mr. and Mrs. Barrett, Pampa.

From the outset of the deliberations, which began at 10:30 a. m. yesterday, the jury had voted numerous times, nine jurors declaring that the girl was morally fit to have custody, and three of them voting that she was not the proper person to have custody of the child.

Jury Discharged
Upon the announcement that there was no hope of reaching unanimous agreement, Judge W. R. Ewing ordered the jury into the courtroom this morning and dismissed it.

Judge Ewing then announced from the bench that in a hebes corpus proceedings, a jury merely acts in an advisory capacity to the court, and that in view of the fact that nine out of the 12 jurors had agreed that Miss Chambers was a moral person, he would exercise his legal prerogative and award her custody of the child.

Aaron Sturgeon, Pampa, and E. T. Miller, Amarillo, attorneys for the Barretts, immediately filed notice of appeal to the Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo.

Following notice of the appeal, Judge Ewing made the further provision in the judgment that the baby remain in the custody of the respondents, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett, pending hearing by the appellate court.

Former Order Violated
The court said he took this action because at a former hearing the end of last May when he awarded custody of the child to Miss Chambers with the same provision, that the court's order was violated and an attempt was made

Neutrality Vote Hurt Business, Says FDR

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt contended at a press conference today a decision to defer action on neutrality legislation until the next congressional session would hurt business.

A prominent businessman, Mr. Roosevelt said, told him recently that the failure of Congress to act on neutrality was killing the nicest little business boom you ever saw.

Businessmen, the President asserted, do not want to make commitments because they do not know what form neutrality legislation may take when Congress convenes next year. They do not want to place orders or take them, he said, for instance, he said, a newspaper owner, not knowing how a war might affect his business, would hesitate to place an order for a new press. At the same time, the President said it would take more than a mere crisis to impel him to all Congress into a special session to come to grips with the neutrality problem.

For several years, he added, there have been recurring threats which

Plains Fairly Cool, Rest Of State Hot

While many sections of the state reported new heat records for the summer yesterday, Pampa enjoyed a cool south breeze which held the temperature to 96 degrees high reading at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, according to the United States Weather Reporting Bureau here.

At noon today the temperature was 94 with the climb about even with yesterday's recordings.

Reports to the United States weather bureau at Dallas today showed more than 40 Texas cities and lower south relief yesterday from heat of 100 degrees or higher.

Seymour bolted under a reading of 110 and Wichita Falls reported 107. Of six cities reporting 106, Paris' figure represented a new high for the year, suffering in the same bracket were Bridgeport, Childress, Graham, Waxahatchie, and Sherman.

Seven cities had 104—Clarendon, Corsicans, Mount Pleasant, Memphis, Eastland, Greenville, and Weatherford.

Dallas was hardest hit of the larger cities, with 102.

Lending Fund Unnecessary, Claims Jones

WASHINGTON, July 21. (AP)—Republican senators contended today Jesse H. Jones, the federal loan administrator, had provided new material for their drive to scrap most of President Roosevelt's $2,800,000,000 lending program.

Jones was reported authoritative to have told a closed session of the senate banking committee late yesterday the Reconstruction Finance Corporation could finance the program for two years with its present borrowing authority.

The former RFC chairman was said to have added, however, that some amendments to existing law would be necessary to carry out such features of the lending program as leasing of equipment to railroads and construction of toll roads.

Committeemen of both parties told reporters Jones nevertheless had reiterated his previously expressed support of the lending program. They added, however, he testified under questioning the RFC had unused borrowing authority totaling about $1,400,000,000.

The first year's outlays under the lending plan would aggregate only $770,000,000, and Jones was said to have declared the RFC could finance those advances and meet all its other commitments. He added committee members asserted that repayments to the RFC during the first year would make it possible to finance the lending program for a second 12 months.

Senator McNary (R., Ore.), minority leader, told reporters Republicans believe federal agencies now in existence can take care of the items contained in the lending bill, and there is no need for further authorization.

The Republican strategy called for a joint effort with anti-administration Democrats to impose restrictive amendments, then make a final stand against the bill itself. Despite a growing congressional desire for adjournment, there were no authoritative predictions as to when the legislators could go home.

The Senate banking committee considered holding night sessions in an effort to bring the lending bill to the floor by Monday, but there was a chance debate would not begin before Wednesday.

Unless the bill is taken up in both chambers early next week, leaders said, it is improbable Congress can quit by July 29. The week-end of August 4-6 appeared more likely.

Wagner Act Foe May Head NLRB Probe

WASHINGTON, July 21. (AP)—With a critic of the Wagner act as its probable chairman, a special committee of five house members will begin a far-reaching investigation into activities of the National Labor Relations Board shortly after congress adjourns.

The investigation was ordered yesterday in the house. An almost solid republican delegation joined a sizeable democratic bloc in overriding pleas of labor committee members to await consideration of Wagner act amendments.

If house precedent is followed, the investigating group will be headed by Representative Smith, democrat, Va., who sponsored the resolution and who voted against the Wagner act. Speaker Bankhead will appoint the committee members.

The committee will have full subpoena powers. The house directed it to find out whether the labor board has been fair in its interpretation of the Wagner act and check on the general effects of the law on employer-employee relations.

The committee also will have the right to suggest amendments to the Wagner act and recommend changes in the personnel of the labor board.

Chairman Norton, democrat, N. J., of the labor committee denounced the proposal as one to "usurp" the powers of her committee. Smith, she shouted, "is the last man in the world to pass upon labor legislation."

At one point in the debate, Smith asserted: "I voted against the national labor relations act when it first came before congress, because it was palpably unconstitutional. But time has changed the Supreme Court and the Supreme Court has changed the constitution."

Rep. Ramspeck, democrat, Ga., assisted Mrs. Norton in her fight. He said that while he had not always agreed with the labor board, an investigation by a special committee "would make worthless the work of the labor committee," which has been holding hearings for 10 weeks on Wagner act amendments.

Yes, Business Is Good —In Munitions

So much thought—and so many words—are being given in Washington to what the United States should do about selling munitions during a war, that almost nobody pays any attention to the fact that right now, not waiting for any war but the one in Asia, we have quite a munitions trade on our hands.

This isn't hypothetical, something that is going to happen, or might happen some time in an indefinite future. This is happening, right now.

In the first five months of 1939, the United States sold $50,000,000 worth of armaments abroad. That includes only actual munitions, war planes, machine-guns, shells, explosives and bullets. The trade is moving briskly along at a rate above $10,000,000 a month. Sales for 1939 are now expected to be $130,000,000. We have never before or since the World War sold any such armory of the weapons of death in a single year.

Such figures, of course, do not include scrap-iron and other equipment and materials destined for war no less definitely, though less directly. This is only the finished product, ready for the pull of the trigger.

France ordered 20 millions worth, Britain 14, Canada has ordered a million and a quarter, and far Australia just placed an order for four million and over in new planes. The Netherlands took two and a half millions, and ordered five millions more for their East Indian possessions. Rumania sent for a million and a quarter.

China, which took seven millions last year, has fallen to only about a half million thus far this year. But of course what is going on in China is not a war.

In any event, some thought ought to be given, not only to a war trade that may some time develop, but to the war trade that is now going on. While senators debate and quibble about hypothetical future things, the United States is rapidly getting into the position of armorer to the world.

Such trade, while welcome in a sense, is not the most solid foundation on which to build prosperity. We found that out in 1920. Must we find it out all over again?

The Nation's Press

NO INFLATION? (New York Herald-Tribune)

When a combination of mining and agricultural representatives proposed in Congress recently the emission of $2,000,000,000 in fresh currency we pointed out here the total lack of relationship between the money supply and the state of business. We showed that the volume of currency outstanding had risen by 50 per cent since 1929, and that the volume of demand deposits in the banks had risen 90 per cent, but that in spite of these facts there had not been even an approximate return to the prosperity of a decade ago.

Elsewhere on this page a reader makes two inquiries about the editorial referred to. He wishes to know, first, where the figures showing demand deposits at $34,000,000,000 were obtained; second, "where," if there has been such an expansion of currency and bank deposits, "is the inflation which the conservative press has taught its readers would inevitably follow such monetary expansion?"

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

COMPLEXITY OF SOCIETY AND GOVERNMENT CONTROL By R. C. Hoiles

These New Dealers who have no creative initiative themselves and have made themselves feel their importance by spreading covetousness, envy and hate, are the ones who invariably tell the public that the more complex society becomes, the more the government will have to regulate the individual. This belief has become very general, judging by the number of regulatory laws passed.

LESS INTERFERENCE NECESSARY The facts of the matter are that the more complete society becomes, the more dangerous and the more damaging government interference with private initiative becomes. When society was primitive and there were only very simple occupations, government interference with private initiative was much less damaging than it is now when there are so many different kinds of complicated work to be done. When the government interferes with these complicated undertakings, it simply paralyzes production in the complicated industries and thus puts out of balance natural exchanges.

It is true as society becomes more complex that government might be required to more definitely define what man's rights in property are and devote more of his energy in protecting these rights, but it should be very careful not to interfere with free creative enterprise.

It is absurd, for instance, for the government to interfere with a man's right to sell his labor or his production for short periods of time in any manner he sees fit. The government, of course, has a right to prevent a man from selling himself into slavery but it had that right years ago when society was more simple. Now that social relations are complicated, it is more necessary that the different talents of different individuals be permitted free sway for creative work.

It is largely this increased government interference with creative initiative by such things as mismanaging its control over credit used as a medium of exchange that we have had the worst and longest depression in our history.

So the next time you hear these "holier-than-thou" friends of the poor pleading for more government control, you can mark it down in your notebook that these individuals have no creative ability themselves and the only reason they are advocating more and more government control is because it gives them more power. Their vote counts as much as the greatest genius in the country. It satisfies their ego and their vanity, or possibly they want some government office for themselves or their allies or relatives. They are not thinking of the poor but only pretending to be interested in the poor so as to make themselves appear important and satisfy their own ego.

A STUDY OF DEPRESSIONS

A very interesting study of depressions has just been issued by a committee of the National Association of Manufacturers. It presents some very logical explanations of what causes depressions and prosperity. It is a small folder of 36 pages. Parts I and II are devoted to a study of the 1937 and 1938 depression. Part III explains the most important conditions which have prevailed in previous periods of prosperity in the United States. Part IV presents what the committee believes are conditions necessary for sustained prosperity, once recovery is attained.

Public opinion must be created that will permit prosperity. There seems to be so much misunderstanding as to the cause of depressions and prosperity by what is purported to be the educated class, we will have a race as to whether we can get the public to understand the cause of prosperity and depressions quickly enough to return to prosperity before we become so depressed as to be willing to accept a dictator in order to reduce our distress.

With this idea in mind, I am having five copies of "A Study of Depressions" mailed to the libraries in the cities in which the newspapers run this column. This is in hope that patriotic people will make use of this folder so as to become acquainted with some very sound fundamentals as to the cause of depression and prosperity.

PREVAILING WAGE RACKET

The ruling several years ago that W.P.A. workers should receive the so-called prevailing wage, was certainly one that did much to retard recovery. One of the primary causes of the lack of recovery is the slowness in adjusting wages that were out of balance. When one is asked to define what the prevailing wage is, it is usually found to mean a wage established by force, by coercion, or intimidation. It is not a wage that is established that will furnish employment for all people. It is an arbitrary wage, a wish wage, or a blackmail wage.

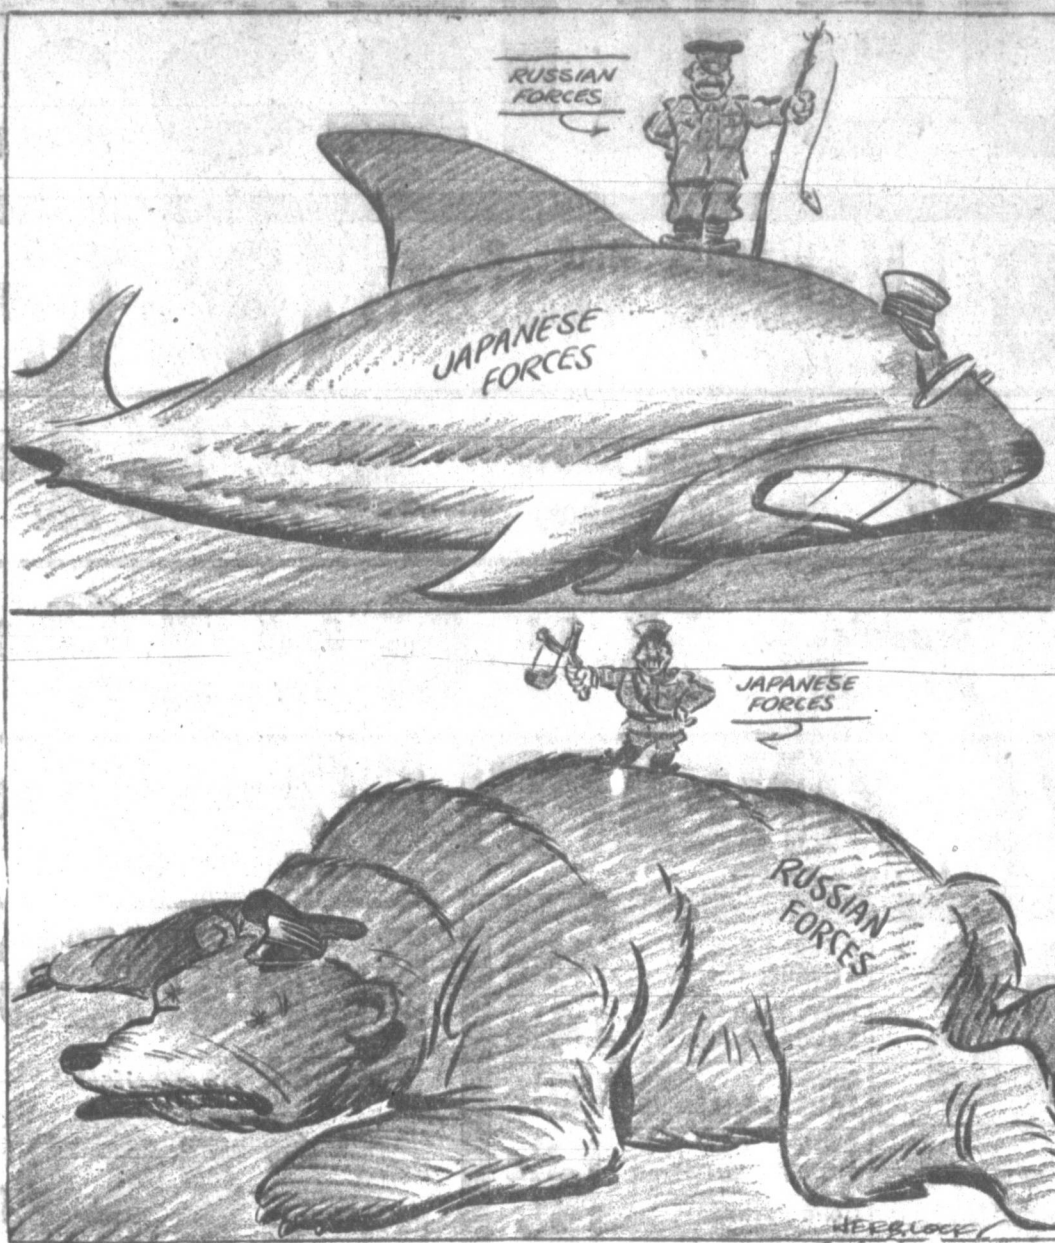

There certainly is no reason in the world why workers who are being furnished made-work should receive the same wages as the man who has a job because the employer believes he is making a profit on the work. Invariably on these made jobs, the workers do not produce nearly as much per hour as they produce on private jobs.

The fact is that no one knows what wages should be. There is no reason to believe that the prevailing wage is the right wage. The right wage is the wage that is low enough that will furnish employment for all workers. It is a wage such that the workers can have a choice of employers and be independent and not afraid of losing their jobs. Prevailing wage rates are the wages of wage slaves who are afraid of losing their jobs.

Behind The News Of The Day

WASHINGTON. — For just about the first time since the government started spattering big concrete dams all over the far west, some real price-cutting competition has developed in the cement industry. As a result, the government stands to save better than $1,500,000 in the building of Shasta Dam, in California, and looks forward to similar savings on other jobs.

THE OPEN SEASON FOR TALL TALES

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

The vast interest in vitamins has raised the possibility that all of our ordinary foods might be fortified by adding to them extra quantities of the various vitamins. For instance, there is the possibility that cereals may be deficient in vitamin B, in iron and in calcium when they are refined from the whole grain, and the suggestion has been made that additional vitamin B, iron and calcium could be added to prepared cereals to make them more useful in the diet.

It has been recognized that vitamin D is needed for certain purposes and already we have available irradiated milk and milk to which extra vitamin D has been added, as well as other foods which have thus been enriched. Chewing gum, beer, cake, flour, candy, ice cream and sausage have at one time or another been advertised as fortified with vitamin D.

Certainly there is no reason why people should pay extra to get extra vitamin D in foods when in the first place there is no evidence that the person needs extra vitamin D and, in the second place, when beer and sausage are not in the regular diets of the infants who do need it.

The question also arises as to whether or not leogamarine, which lacks vitamin A, should not be fortified with that substance.

Then, again, various preparations of tomato juice and of orange juice vary in the amount of vitamin D that they contain. Canned tomato juice usually contains about 40 per cent as much vitamin C as fresh orange juice. It has been suggested that extra vitamin C could be added to canned tomato juice so that it could be as rich as orange juice in vitamin C.

The difficulty of fortification of foods with vitamins is that the average person does not study labels to know exactly what there is in the foods that he buys. If there is indiscriminate fortification of all sorts of foods with all sorts of vitamins and minerals, one will have no

Roy Webb, son of Dr. R. A. Webb, couldn't find a job when he came home from college this summer, so he created one, and now he is manager of a ten-cent delivery service, located east across the street from the city hall. Roy, a former Harvard, has furnished his delivery boys with white "Harvey" sweat shirts. Among the boys are Bill Rice, Don Stevens, Joe Bob Zimmerman, and Othel Burnett.

Speaking of jobs, we hadn't seen Elicie Kennedy all summer until yesterday, and he reported that he has been and still is working for the Bovard supply company where his father works, and Dickie looked as if he really had been working. By the way, Dickie has decided to go to Texas A. & M. college next fall. He says that maybe he'll improve as much as Howard Jensen did. (There was quite a contingent from Pampa at Texas A. & M. last year, and a bigger one is certain next year.)

Kelly Patterson and the guy who sits right behind him at the ball games are the noisiest fellows in the west bleachers. Kelly is the kind of a fan you think the Brooklyn partisans would—or should—be, and that's no slam, either. Kelly, James Arter says that the Shreveport, La., fans are known as the "Left Shoe" club because all the fans pull off their left shoe and start pounding their stands with them when the club gets behind or in a tight place.

idea as to what one is getting. It is conceivable also that the points of safety in dosages may thus be passed.

The general principle has been adopted by the scientific bodies of the American Medical Association that it is satisfactory to add vitamins and minerals to foods in order to bring them up to the natural levels of the best in their field with the understanding, however, that such additions can be limited to vitamins or minerals for which a water-distribution is considered to be in the interest of the public health.

So They Say

We must remember that it was easier to get the vote than it may be to retain our jobs.

The mayor of New York is fighting the multiplication table.

God is Brazilian!

I intend no slur on worthy individuals whom misfortune beyond their control has brought to actual need, when I say that those on government relief should, like the citizens of the District of Columbia, surrender their right to vote. It is too much like a judge sitting in an action in which he has a financial interest.

Extend Oil Compact

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt has signed legislation extending for two years from Sept. 1 congressional consent for oil-producing states to enter into compact dealing with control and disposition of their crude.

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Every other actor you meet will confide, sooner or later, that his real ambition is to become a director. Hearing it so often, you become skeptical—but looking back on the past few years there's evidence aplenty that the boys do mean it.

Richard Dix, so set on directing, once had a contract that allowed him that privilege as well as acting; but "Man of Conquest" has delayed the day for him again. George Raft is talking about it now—for "some day"—and Lewis Ayres, who talked about it, already has had one fling behind the cameras, admits now he wasn't yet ready. But several actors—notably Norman Foster, Glenn Tryon, Raoul Walsh, Ricardo Cortez—have made the switch in the past dozen years or so.

There's nothing new about it. A long time ago Mack Sennett was acting in his own comedies, and from his comedies came directors like Mal St. Clair, Eddie Clive, Wesley Ruggles, David Butler hummed about before he got on the right side of the camera—behind it.

The other day Irving Cummings celebrated 30 years in the movie industry, where many another has been engaged that long without cause to celebrate. Cummings, too, was once an actor.

Commercial tie-up aside, it was an interesting gathering. Cummings told how Francis Powers, pioneer director among the guests, had induced him, then a resplendent stage juvenile, to appear in the scorned flickers for a salary of $30 a week, and subsequently had let him go because he demanded $35.

Cummings draws his present four figures weekly because, after a term of years as leading man and star (remember him with Lotie Pickford in that fabulous serial, "The Diamond from the Sky?") he noted when shaving one morning that his hair was thinning and his chin was showing a slight tendency toward repeating itself.

Both physical manifestations being incompatible with the status of romantic leads of the day (though nowadays they're laughed off with a toupee and chin exercises), Cummings decided to break over them and there.

It was as tough then to convince producers that an actor could direct other actors as it is today. Nobody would take a chance on him, although many producers offered him roles in which to peddle his brand of pork. So Cummings mortgaged his house and job and borrowed $6,000 and by self-proclamation became Irving Cummings, director.

He couldn't afford any other leading man than himself, and he did most of his camera set-ups and all his stunt work, but after a big dissolve indicating time's passage he had what he wanted—a couple of two-reelers about the Northwest Mountains.

Hollywood looked right through them, but Cummings took his stunting scars still visible on his right eye—and his cans of film to New York. He sat in a day-coach all the way with the cans underneath the seat—and when he got there and won a showing, he could come back to Hollywood as a successful director.

He's one of the reasons actors keep on wanting to direct—a credit title doesn't need a toupee to look impressive.

With pennant campaigns at fever heat, now's the time to go to bat on a baseball quiz. If you miss three parts of questions, you strike out.

THE recent fracas between Lieut. Col. It does, however, highlight one of WPA's worst headaches.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Father of Baseball Started Civil War

AMERICA honored Maj.-Gen. Abner Doubleday as the "Father of Baseball" in the centennial celebration at Cooperstown, N. Y., where the West Point cadet, in 1839, saw his ideas for an improved game first put into play.

However important his contribution to the national game, which has spread over both North and South, it does not constitute his sole claim to fame. He served in the army with distinction and to him belongs the honor of firing the first Union gun in the war between the states.

Doubleday, in command of the artillery at Fort Sumter, was noted by Charleston secessionists as the blindest of the "Black Republicans." Before hostilities began he was the target for much verbal abuse, and, strangely enough, the first cannonball fired from a southern cannon, missed his very inches.

Doubleday's answer was a shell into the Confederate battery and a second into a group of secessionists watching the bombardment. Then the 19 southern batteries surrounding the fort opened fire. Rescue attempts failed. For 7 days and a night the defenders of Fort Sumter were subjected to heavy bombardment from four sides. Finally, after 34 hours of battle, the commandant, Maj. Robert Anderson, surrendered.

The victorious populace of Charleston clamored for the head of the "Black Republican," but Doubleday marched out behind Major Anderson with full military honors, and returned to Washington. Doubleday died in 1899.

The U. S. 3-cent baseball stamp above, purple, enlarged, commemorates the centennial of the game Abner Doubleday originated.

Newspaperman Dies In Highway Crash

LONGVIEW, July 21 (AP)—Financial services for Carl F. Worthen, 39, business manager of the Longview News and Journal, who was killed in an automobile accident in Montgomery county yesterday, were arranged for 1 p. m. here today.

Burial will be at Ruston, La., the former home of Mrs. Worthen. The automobile in which Worthen was riding overturned when a wheel slipped off the paving, said the driver, C. H. Ahrens of Longview. Ahrens escaped serious injury. The men were returning from Galveston, where Worthen had gone to recover from the shock of the death of a brother in South Dakota last week. He also had taken his son, Gene, to a camp near San Antonio. Mrs. Worthen and a young daughter were at home here.

Worthen had been secretary of the Longview News Company, Inc., for eight years and was active in civic affairs of the city. He came here from Monroe, La., where he gained wide experience in the newspaper field.

Lamesa And Pampa To Play Again Tonight

Error Loses 4-3 Battle For Oilers

Frank Grabek will be on the mound tonight at 8:30 o'clock when the Pampa Oilers face the Lamesa Lobos in the second game of their current series. The final of the three games will be played Saturday night, beginning at 9:15 o'clock, before a Ladies Night crowd. On Sunday afternoon Big Spring will be here for a doubleheader, the first game at 2:30 o'clock, with the final game of the home stand Monday night with the Barons.

Lamesa nosed out the Oilers 4 to 3 last night in the series opener. The Oilers staged a brilliant ninth inning rally but it fell short of tying the score. The score was tied 3 and 1 going into the ninth when Lamesa staged an uprising to put two men on base with two away. That was when Archibald hit a roller to Pietras at second. Pietras fielded the ball beautifully but hurried the throw and the ball went into the bleachers and both runners scored. Archibald going to second from where he scored on Wooten's single.

Oilers' Rally Short
The Oilers came back with two runs in the ninth when Guinness singled, Pietras fanned, Bailey doubled and Beavers, hitting for Huton, singled and then stole second. But Moss fanned for the fourth consecutive time and Jordan followed suit to end the rally. Jordan already had two of the seven Oiler hits behind him.

The Oilers drew first blood in the opening inning when Moss was safe on an error, went to third by some sweet base running when Jordan hit a short single into right, and scored when Seltz hit a short fly to left.

There was no more scoring until the fifth when Lamesa went to the bleachers with a single and Archibald walked. Wooten sacrificed. Hay was safe on a fielder's choice when Pietras tried to get Reeves at the plate but failed to get the fifth when Lamesa refused to drop. Huton fanned six and walked two, one of them intentionally.

Red Hay, ace of the Lobos staff, was seldom in trouble as his slow curve ball floated across the corners of the plate. He refused to drop to the bench via the strikeout route, including Moss four times and Jordan twice. Hay also walked two batters.

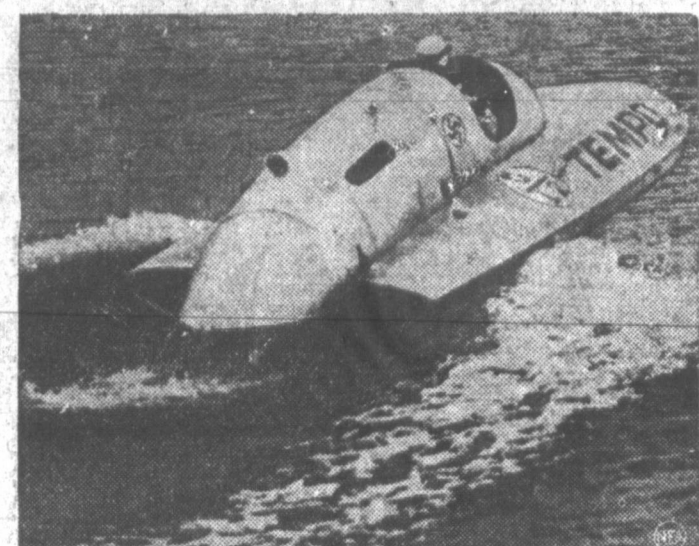

Jordan led the Oilers at the plate with two singles. Wooten, Lamesa first baseman playing with an injured hand, smacked two for the Lobos, including the blow that brought in the winning run.

The Oilers almost got into trouble in the second when White lifted a pop fly a few feet behind second. Pietras went back after the ball but Seltz also came in and the ball dropped between them with neither making an effort to touch it. It was a base hit according to the rule book, there being no place in the scoring sheet for an error of omission.

Umpires In Trouble
Umpiring decisions caused numerous arguments as Ehrhidge and Fritz called 'em wrong, in the opinion of

'Hollywood Adonis' To Be McEwin's Opponent

Out to Tie Records Into Knots

Man stuck at controls of new speedboat Tempo, with which German automobile racing driver hopes to establish new records. Job is equipped with 16-cylinder motor which generates 500 horsepower.

Monday's wrestling card at the Pampa athletic arena looks like a wild and bloody affair but one can never tell what a bunch of wrestlers will do. Even the roughest turn scientific once in a while as Frank Wolff demonstrated two weeks ago. But there's little chance of Wolff going clean against Pete Belcastro in the main event. Belcastro is the roughest of 'em all and Wolff isn't the kind to stand up and take dirt without retaliating.

And Tiger Billy McEwin isn't the type to go clean even against the Hollywood adonis, Karl Gray, who will make his initial appearance on a local mat in the semi-final.

Charlie Grip, one of the best known wrestlers in the world, will visit Pampa for the first time and will appear against Dale Haddock, Detroit roughster, in the preliminary which will get under way at 8:30 o'clock sharp.

Two decisions on base brought loud protests from the Oilers, one when it looked as though Reeves was out at second and again when Malvica stole third. On each occasion it looked as though the ball was waiting for the runner. The decision which proved costly as the tying run scored two plays later.

Both teams played sparkling ball at times. Huton limited the visitors to five hits, all singles, while Hay gave up only seven bingles, one a double by Bailey. Five of the hits came in the ninth.

Pampa dropped into third place in the league standing as Big Spring downed Clovis to stay in the lead and Lubbock beat Amarillo to take second place. Borger dropped Midland in the other game of the night.

Shreveport Sports, going strong at the opening of the Texas league season, have hit their stride again.

They took a twin bill from the Beaumont Exporters last night, 13 to 12 and 11 to 4. The victories placed the Sports only two games behind second-place Houston, who lost to the San Antonio Missions, 6 to 3. The Mission lead soared to three full games.

Home runs by Stan Schino and Lou Novikoff assisted the Tulsa Oilers to a 3 to 2 victory in the opening game, but Fred Marberry pitched and halted the Fort Worth Cats to a 5 to 2 triumph in the afterpiece.

The Dallas Rebels scored only five earned runs but trounced the Oklahoma City Indians, 14 to 2.

Reds Will Play Even Better Ball, Says McKechnie

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—Bill McKechnie says his Cincinnati Reds are going to play better ball from here on, which is bad news for seven other National league clubs. It might be taken, in fact, as a prediction, the Reds will meet the Yankees in the next world series, except that McKechnie would scalp any one who quoted him as making such a prophecy.

"We're going along very nicely, very nicely," was what the Reds' pilot actually said. "I think we're going to be better, too. Our pitching is improving steadily. The rest of the club has been better than the pitching, but now we're getting the right balance."

"And by the way," said McKechnie, "that's all this yelling about the Giants' injuries? I think we've got a whole substitute outfield, but we're not holering."

None of the Reds will talk tonight, but Secretary Gabe Paul went so far as to admit they would have an awful seating problem on their travels in Cincinnati if they could reach the world series. They can pack only 29,000 into Crosley field, Gabe said, but he thought maybe they could install some temporary bleachers in the street back of the left-field fence.

Stanford Netter Whips Favorites

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 21 (AP)—Young Bobby Low of Stanford, who has made Longwood Bowl tournament officials blink twice over his harsh treatment to seeded players, hoped to make them wince today when he engaged Adrian Quist, Australian Davis Cup tennis star, in a semi-final match.

If the youngster should succeed as he did against such favorites as Gil Hunt of Washington, and Dave Freeman, national junior champion, it seemed likely the club officials would be reduced to tears, for they with an eye on a big Sunday "gate," want Quist available for the final, against either Gene Makó, top seeded in this tourney, or Jack Crawford, Quist's teammate, who tangle in the other semi-final tomorrow.

The only other men's matches on today's program were a semi-final doubles affair between Gene Makó and Frank Parker, who appeared to have U. S. Davis cup berths clinched, and Johnny Doeg and Gardner Mulloy, and a quarter-final clash between Quist and Crawford and Norman Black and Frank Froehling of Chicago.

Softball Teams Play 105 Innings

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—Two Chicago teams today claimed a new softball marathon record—105 innings of continuous play.

Managers of the teams, Windsor Park and Cheltenham Boosters, composed chiefly of junior city life guards, said the 105 innings exceeded the previous record of 102 innings established by two Texas teams.

The time of the contest was approximately eight hours. The score was announced as 157 to 135 in favor of the Windsor Park Boosters.

Don't fail to be out on the Miami hill this afternoon at 5 o'clock to see the future Barney Oldfields in action. Those kids in the Soap Box derby are taking it as seriously as did the big boys in the Indianapolis classic. The winner will go to Akron, Ohio, to compete in the derby in which entries will be from the United States, Hawaii, Canada, and Mexico, D. F.

Hey, boxers, the TAAF boxing tournament has been postponed a week or until August 3 and 4 so that you will be given more time to enter. Deadline for getting your entry blank to the Sports Editor of The Pampa News is next Wednesday night. If there aren't 25 entries in the bag by that time the tournament will be called off. This is positively the last call. There are already 10 boys ready to go.

O'Brien Leads In All-Star Balloting

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—With the deadline at midnight tomorrow, the race of ballots to determine a college all-star squad to oppose the New York Giants professional football champions August 30 remained a free for all today except possibly two positions.

Quarterback Dave O'Brien of Texas Christian set the pace for all vote getters with 381,662. Wisconsin's Howie Weiss led a commanding lead among the fullbacks with 236,447.

The leaders included: Tackles—Bob Hank, Indiana, 296,158; Joe Mihal, Purdue, 228,726; Ed Behner, Notre Dame, 220,963; I. B. Hale, Texas Christian, 172,824.

White Sox Have Won 15 Of Their Last 19 Games

By BILL WHITE, Associated Press Sports Writer.
Wonder what kind of super-ethyl gas Jimmy Dykes is using in that White Sox machine of his?

The Chicagoans have won 15 of their last 19 games, have risen from fifth place to a challenging position in what is left of the American league race, and are just three and one-half games back of the runner-up Boston Red Sox.

Until two days ago the Sox hadn't been able to shut out an opponent but now they are boasting about a pair of whitewashing jobs.

The second consecutive one game yesterday, and the Red Sox were the victims by a 4-0 score as Thornton Lee turned in a nine-hit job.

However, all this leaves them still something short of the leading Yankees, who are at it again. The champions took No. 8 in a row from the St. Louis Browns by 2-1 yesterday. Red Ruffing's four-hit pitching brought his thirteenth win of the year.

Bobby Estelle helped Washington to an 8-7 victory and a sweep of the series over the Detroit Tigers when he bugged a home run in the eighth with a mate aboard.

The other American league tussle, Mel Harder of Cleveland had to pitch himself out of a lot of trouble before he came up with a 3-2 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics.

The National league had only two games but both were important. The Philadelphia Phillies, not feeling a bit sorry for the battered Giants, jumped from sixth to fourth place by virtue of their 8-4 victory over the taped-up Terriers. That shoved the New Yorkers down to sixth place.

The defeat was the New Yorkers' sixth straight, their longest losing streak of the campaign.

The Boston Bees, humming merrily along with seven wins in 10 games since the all-star contest, offered an unbeatatable combination in stopping the Cubs again, this time by 2-1. Sailor Bill Posedel hurled six-hit ball.

Jaycees Win First Softball Game 13-6

The Jaycees won their first game in the Softball league last night when they downed the Royal club 13 to 6. In the other attraction Cities Service defeated the Gulf Retailers 15 to 6.

Moon was on the mound for the Jaycees with Robbins behind the plate. Nelson and Woodbridge tried to stall the Jaycees but were unsuccessful. Kilgore and Keyser divided the catching.

Muney pitched winning ball for Cities Service with Sheridan behind the plate. Christopher and Starnes worked for the losers with R. Stephens receiving.

Tonight Skelly will meet Phillips in the first game and LePors will play Danciger in the nightcap.

and they brought him $1,420.40 each—or $2,840.80 for a $4 investment.

Round The Razzberry Bush

By HARRY HOARE

Recently I remarked that the life of a baseball manager was anything but a bed of roses. Well, the same goes for umpires. They are called everything but a gentleman by both players and fans. They can't associate with players on either team and can't stay in the same hotel with the visiting team. Now isn't that a life! I admit they are blind some of the time—and so do they.

But most of them call 'em as they see 'em. Last night Umpire Ehrhidge called Fulwider's hit fair and I'll bet half, well not quite half, of the fans in the stands agreed with him. Ehrhidge was unable to tell for sure whether the ball curved foul after it had passed over the fence or before but he thought it was fair. Fritz, on first, could see the flight of the ball and so could the gang in the press box and it was a foul ball, gentlemen. I'm not going to call the two disputed decisions on base. Umpire Fritz was called to them then I. But I will call them from my roost when they are over the plate and believe me some of those umpires should consult me first. I can't tell whether they are high or low but I call 'em when they get any part of the plate. But we have a pretty fair bunch of umpires in this league.

Softball Teams Play 105 Innings

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—Two Chicago teams today claimed a new softball marathon record—105 innings of continuous play.

Managers of the teams, Windsor Park and Cheltenham Boosters, composed chiefly of junior city life guards, said the 105 innings exceeded the previous record of 102 innings established by two Texas teams.

The time of the contest was approximately eight hours. The score was announced as 157 to 135 in favor of the Windsor Park Boosters.

Paestine Replaces Tyler In 5th Place

Home runs by Bradley and Becker which drove in three rallies won for Paestine over Tyler, 4 to 1, last night and the Paes replaced Tyler in fifth position of the East Texas league.

Five pitchers were relatively ineffective in a 23-hit skirmish Jacksonville took from Marshall, 10-9. Longview made six errors and still won from Kilgore, 8-7, while league-leading Henderson was trouncing Texarkana, 11-5.

Tonight's games: Paestine at Tyler, Longview at Kilgore, Henderson at Texarkana, Marshall at Jacksonville.

Better Wins Daily Double After Two Years Of Wagering

EDMONTON, Alta., July 21 (AP)—For three years Dan Zegarchuk, a middle-aged, unemployed painter and decorator from Winnipeg, has been playing daily doubles at the race track. Always he has played the first horse in the first race entry list and the eighth horse in the third race.

Today Zegarchuk was a confirmed believer in his system. He bought two daily double tickets at the Edmonton fair grounds track yesterday. They were the only winning ones.

Five Out Of Eight Left In T-M Meet Are From Texas

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 21 (AP)—The eyes of Texas are certainly on this 1939 Transmississippi golf tournament—and probably winking a little.

Don't be surprised if there is an all-Texas final or even an all-Texas semi-final.

Eight frontiersmen of the links, all that are left of the 243 who signed up for the championship drive Monday, struck out today in quarter-finals of the best T-M meet in its history and five of them were sun-tanned sons of Texas.

The Lone Star State may corner everything in sight by the time the 36-hole safari is finished tonight. Meet these Texas rangers of putter and five-iron—Harry Todd, Western Amateur champion; Don Schumacher and red-headed O'Hara Watts, all of Dallas; handsome John Barnum of Edinburg and freckled Morris Norton of Wichita Falls.

Watts started the day's firing against young Ray Lowell Jr. of Colorado Springs; Barnum drew Ed Kingsley of Salt Lake City; Schumacher opposed Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich. and Todd went out against Norton for a little Texas feud.

Schumacher is the only former champion left. He won at Denver two years ago.

The hoodoo that haunts Transmississippi defending champions is still alive and kicking.

In the third round yesterday it took the gube of a 12-foot putt for a birdie three by Colorado's Lowell on the first extra hole and when cup swallowed ball, Defending Champion Ven Savage of Salt Lake City had to swallow some bitter disappointment.

The day before Lowell shot a 68, two under par, to drop Eddie Held of Denver, two-time Transmississippi champion.

Todd, whose feet and putter both have given him pain this week, caught fire against Chicago's Art Doering and was three under par for the distance. Norton was even hotter, four under, in crushing Denver's Eddie Stokes, 6 and 5.

Home demonstration workers said the outlook in 1939 for higher prices for ready-made garments caused many farm women to renew interest in home sewing.

SERIAL STORY GHOST DETOUR BY OREN ARNOLD

Yesterday, Quail, disguised, leaves who is running the place. Then he prepares to return for his money. Meanwhile, he steals a gun from the kitchen hotel.

CHAPTER XIV FRANKLIN LARRAWAY, under protest, was standing on a rock by the highway turnoff, singing in a genuinely good baritone: "Ho-o-o-o, for the days on the range! Rolling days, Prollicking days, Out on the open range! Hear you the wish of the larriat's loop,

"The throat! The catch! The jubilent whoop-- Of the cowboys whose daring and generous sharing of work and of pleasure bring joy to the range. Ho-o-o-o, for the western range!"

He finished with a dramatic flourish on a high note and the applause was enthusiastic. A dozen or so travelers waited with Roselee, Christine, Dick and the three old-time cow hands whom they had hired as part of the "atmosphere" for Goldcrest. As were the others, Franklin was attired this morning in cowboy costume. He had borrowed a guitar from one of the cowboys to accompany himself singing and Christine Palmer had gazed happily at him while he sang. It was her idea that he help entertain the waiting crowd, and it had proved to be an excellent idea.

A coupe slowed down and stopped. Roselee greeted the two women who were in it. "Good morning. Were you interested in seeing Goldcrest?"

"Yes. Can we go right on over?" "No ma'am. But if you will please wait for a few minutes-- we are having a lot of fun-- we will all go in together. You see we have all our guides here this morning to greet a special bus party at 10 o'clock. They're due any time. We're having songs."

Roselee smiled at them, and her elusive left dimple flashed, and the two women in the car smiled back and said they'd wait. "More than a hundred college students and some faculty members from a New York university are coming," Roselee went on. "Buses of them, on a coast-to-coast tour."

"How lovely! I'll bet they read about you in the papers. We saw your write-up several places, my dear. I think it's marvellous. We can hardly wait to see your ghost town."

"Thank you," Roselee smiled again at them. "Mr. Larraway here is our advertising man. He's the one who was singing when you drove up. He worked on college publications, and sent a lot of material in to the newspapers and all."

"Did you have to pay to get it published? I should think--" "Oh no. We did buy some advertising, and it helped a lot. But then the news writers and the picture magazines seemed to discover us and they gave us far more attention than we ever expected, really."

"I'm sure you deserved it." Christine called out then. "Here come the buses, Roselee!"

"The five large buses took 20 minutes in arriving because they had been separated on the highway. Two or three more private cars pulled up during that interval, too. Dick Bancroft greeted them. Franklin and the two girls were busy with the college crowd, but when the last bus came Dick and Roselee, riding in their light service truck, led the caravan over the rough two miles to the ghost town. Franklin and Christine rode with the visitors, trying to show as much hospitality as they could. For one thing they enjoyed being hospitable, especially since this was a group of collegians approximately their own age, but aside from that was the salient fact that this morning's callers represented a money "maker" which would approach $200 all told.

When they had all alighted again at the edge of Goldcrest, to walk slowly through the now routine routing worked out by Dick and Franklin and Roselee and Christine, the crowd was more like a picnic assembly or a crowd before a football game. Youth dominated the guests this morning. Boys and girls were making the inevitable wisecracks and asking upward of a million questions. More sedate adults could only follow and look on, but the good spirits there were contagious. They saw the old abandoned residences. The corrals and blacksmith shops. The feed stores--one with a bell which they rang and heard echo powerfully in the great rocky canyon there--the interesting old graveyard, the bank and barber shops and other business places were all visited.

When the four owner-managers had escorted the guests at last to Mrs. Hogan's place in the Ace Hotel for lunch, ordered in advance, one elderly member of the New York college faculty approached Roselee and shook her hand. "I must say, Miss Dale," he smiled, "that we may find some places to disappoint us on this western tour, but your ghost town surely lives up to the publicity."

CHRISTINE and Franklin, alert, took that as a cue to show some courteous attention to the other faculty members and older folk present. Quite by chance they were near a bearded gentleman with an umbrella.

"Are you in the faculty, too, sir?" Christine asked him. "Why--uh--yes, I am. Professor York--that's my name." He stuck out his hand and Christine took it in mild surprise. His voice and manner were hardly in keeping with his looks. For one thing, a professor almost never calls himself "Professor." Christine knew, having been in college only recently herself. He had surprised her, and she caught Franklin Larraway's eye appraising the man curiously, too. But then, college faculty men sometimes are eccentric. Christine made a point of being especially cordial to him, then passed on.

She forgot the incident until most of the group were sitting down to eat. Then, in her hurried survey of the crowd just to be sure no guest was being neglected, Christine saw Professor York quietly walking away from the hotel.

Also she noted that Franklin--looking strangely serious of face--had edged over toward the door of the hotel lobby and was peering out at Professor York. Doubtless Franklin would call him, she told herself.

But Franklin didn't call, and in spite of the bustle and the laughter and the constant happy hum of voices around her, something made Christine glance out again to check up on eccentric Professor York. Maybe she ought to go bring him in, the old dear, she thought, kindly. Roselee and Dick were very busy with the younger folk in the big dining hall, she noted.

She saw Professor York unobtrusively head down the street just gazing here and there, then suddenly cross over. Moreover, he was going directly toward the Goldcrest bank!

That itself needn't have been alarming. And yet--something froze Christine Palmer to attention there. Some nameless inner fear.

The fear was heightened when she saw Professor York look hurriedly around, then disappear inside the bank door. She glanced at Franklin Larraway, caught the awed look of recognition now on that young man's countenance. She started to walk through the crowd to join Franklin, but in that moment he left the hotel and himself ran hurriedly across and down the street to enter the Goldcrest bank.

O'Daniel Assailed As Governor For Big Corporations

ATLANTA, July 21. (AP)—Ripping fiercely into Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's administration, Rep. Albert Derrin of Marlin said here today "He (O'Daniel) has made the best governor the corporations of Texas ever saw, and they will spend a million dollars next year to re-elect him."

The Marlin representative, one of the 56 who successfully fought S. J. R. 12, the sales tax constitutional amendment resolution, blessed by the governor, spoke here at the Cass county melon festival. He asked:

"Are you going to sit back and let him dictate to you as he has dictated to the Legislature for the past six months, and tell you that he is not going to call a special session to raise money for the old people in a decent, respectable manner, just because he could not get what he and the oil, gas and sulphur companies wanted, and at the same time let the old people go in want this winter?"

"He knows he could get the money. Taxes is not what he wants. He said the oil companies want a constitutional amendment and a guarantee into the constitution that the taxes on oil, gas and sulphur can never be increased beyond the meagre sum that they will set forth in the constitution. What a crime, what a man, what a people!"
