Mrs. Judd Believed To Be In Phoenix

Fugitive Declares She Was Desperate And Persecuted
PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 26. (AP)—Investigators concluded today that Winnie Ruth Judd, 34-year-old trunk murderer, escaped through an unlocked door from the Arizona State Hospital for the insane Tuesday night. Y. C. White, executive secretary to Gov. Bob Jones, said an all-night investigation revealed that one door from the woman's ward leading to the outside was unlocked Tuesday and remained unlocked throughout yesterday. A Mexican girl attendant slept in a bed pushed against the door, which opened outward, White said attendants told him. Most of the attendants and patients went to a dance Tuesday night. "I am convinced now the attendant was not in her bed, or that the bed previously had been pushed away from the door, and that all Winnie Ruth had to do was walk out," White said. The slim, blonde slayer of her two best friends, who dismembered their bodies and stuffed them into trunks which were shipped to Los Angeles, refused to attend the dance and was left unattended in the ward. White expressed the belief Mrs. Judd was still in Phoenix. Sheriff's See MRS. JUDD, Page 7

Pennies Will Buy Greatly Needed Shoes

Coins To Be Laid On White Line On Sidewalks
Serums as well as shoes will be the objective sought when the Pampa Goodfellows club starts its "Mile of Pennies" here Saturday noon. Money obtained from the laying of pennies on a white line on sidewalks in downtown Pampa will be used not only to purchase shoes for Pampa school children, who otherwise might not be able to attend school on this account, but also to pay for scarlet fever, diphtheria, typhoid and smallpox serums the club annually purchases for the inoculation of children. Last year the club purchased 181 pairs of shoes for needy Pampa children and provided serum for 600 inoculations. There will be four teams at work Saturday, each competing to see which one can pave the stripe in its block first with pennies. The white line on the sidewalks will be the signal for Pampans to put down their "pennies for the penniless." Teams will be provided with funds to change nickels, dimes, and quarters, into pennies from those who wish to contribute. A general committee meeting to organize the campaign will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the American Legion hut. Chairman of the four teams are Ray F. Barnes, William James, M. P. Roche, and Frank Culbertson. Members of the teams are: Dan Williams, John Hall, Sherman White, George Cree, B. L. Hoover, E. M. Keller, M. C. Johnson, C. C. Sauer, L. R. Franks, Leo Southern, Ed Vicars, R. W. Orr, Earl Perkins, Pat Riley, Reno Stinson, L. L. Sone, R. B. Saxe, Matt Sellers, Frank Thomas, Ralph R. Thomas, Ed Tracey, Pete West, Dr. Roy A. ### U. S. Women? Wonderful! Men? Bragging Bores! Says Writer

By RUTH MILLETT
If you have a man handy, read him this. But don't expect him to like it. C. V. R. Thompson, the Englishman who wrote "I Lost My English Accent," that witty and aware book Americans are reading under soft lamps and in subways, puts cynicism aside when American women are mentioned and just beams. "They are wonderful," he says, "without a single chuckle provoking reservation and willingly tells why he thinks so. "America is not a man's country. It's a woman's country. And no wonder. "American women have decided minds and decisive tongues. They know what they think and how to express themselves. They are minor experts on everything from child-rearing to art. It's a novelty for an Englishman to find women who are articulate on subjects other than drapery and nursery chores. "American women go wherever their men go, and never seem out of place. "They REALLY run their homes—deciding how much is to be saved each week and who are to be the week-end guests. "After watching them go about their business—gay-looking, trim, feminine—it is a shock to go back to London. The average English woman by comparison looks appallingly shoddy, has big legs and big feet, is wearing the very thing she

Freighter To Leave Russia For Hamburg

Nazi Press Exults Over Soviet Rap At Britain
BERLIN, Oct. 26. (AP)—Authoritative Germans declared today that Soviet Russia had agreed to allow the United States steamer City of Flint to leave the port of Murmansk in charge of her German prize crew as soon as they considered the vessel seaworthy. A spokesman indicated the vessel would be brought to Germany as a prize. "The German prize crew will get aboard again," he said, "and you may rest assured the ship will not be headed for the United States." The United States embassy said the German foreign office had "informally communicated" to the embassy that the City of Flint entered Murmansk because she had suffered "havaria" (sea damage) and that her American crew was safe and unharmed. Authorized German sources said the case of the American ship had been clarified between Germany and Soviet Russia. A Hamburg prize court, informed sources said, is expected to judge the contraband question in accordance with international law. The City of Flint was en route to great Britain with what Germans have said was contraband when See FREIGHTER, Page 7

Russian Laughs At Chamberlain

LONDON, Oct. 26. (AP)—Germany was accused by Prime Minister Chamberlain today of inviting Soviet Russia to join a crusade against the British Empire in the war which he indicated Britain was ready to pursue to the end. The prime minister, giving his weekly war report to the House of Commons, replied directly to the Danzig declaration of German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop that Germany would make a finish fight. "There can be but one reply," said Chamberlain, "and we are prepared to give it." His accusation that Germany sought to bring Russia into the war against Britain after laughter from Soviet Ambassador Ivan Malsky who was listening from the diplomatic gallery. Chamberlain gave official confirmation that the German pocket battleship Deutschland sank the British freighter Stonegate, indicating that the swift warship was operating on the high seas far outside the British blockade. The Stonegate's crew was rescued by the United States freighter City of Flint last week in the Atlantic and landed at Tromso, Norway, after the American vessel herself was captured by a German raider. Chamberlain said "it seems now to have become the rules for merchant ships to be sunk without warning," but declared enemy submarines were being destroyed "at a sufficiently high rate" to give Britain confidence their menace eventually would be halted.

Garner Upsets Senate By Arguing Day Has 24 Hours

By W. B. RAGSDALE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—The unique discovery by Vice President Garner that a day has 24 hours, not 504, has upset the traditional calm of the Senate as much as anything that the realistic Texan has done in his seven years as its presiding officer.

Some senators complained when the vice president, accustomed to the faster pace of the House, brought a whip lash speed to parliamentary procedure in the chamber. The Senate always has been allergic to speed. But members still find themselves compelled to perform a certain amount of acrobatics if they get to their feet in time to object to a bill before Garner spansk it into a running start for the White House.

In that case, however, the vice president only introduced the briskness of his personality into his duties as presiding officer.

Since 1789, the Senate has had a rule that no member shall speak more than twice on any one question in debate on the same day without the Senate's consent. To employ that rule in a way which would forestall filibusters, majority leaders frequently have resorted to the practice of recessing from day to day instead of adjourning.

If the Senate adjourns, the next day is a new legislative day. If it recesses, the same old day is just 24 hours longer.

By the Senate's legislative calendar, it is now October 4. From its standpoint, the Yanks haven't yet won the world series, and the City of Flint has not yet been captured — though the capture has been debated on the Senate floor. Dragging out the days to an enormous total of hours prevents senators from speaking twice in the same day by the legislative calendar. The practice is a roundabout way of limiting debate.

But in Texas, the sun rises, a man gets up and does his day's work, the sun sets, the man goes to bed and sleeps. The day is over in 24 hours. The next sun rises on a new day.

The vice president concluded this week that he can prove it is not now October 4. He has offered to show the Senate.

That it might put a new weapon in the hands of would-be filibusters is purely beside the point as far as Garner is concerned. Senatorial friends who have tried to argue the question with him came away with something like this ringing in their ears:

"I refuse to strain my mental integrity to the point of ruling that a day is longer than 24 hours. If the Senate wants it otherwise, it should change its rules." Garner's friends think that the Senate will uphold him. In his seven years of presiding over the chamber, it has not overturned one of his rulings, a record for any vice president.

German Declares Britain Fibbing About Sea Losses

BERLIN, Oct. 26 (AP)—A German spokesman hinted today that Great Britain was not telling the whole story of the cost in British tonnage of the bitter war at sea. German submarines, warplanes and surface raiders almost daily are challenging British supremacy on the seas with British sunken shipping calculated in the hundreds of thousands of tons.

But the German admiralty and propaganda ministry, for the time being, are giving no precise figures on the accomplishments of Nazi sea raiders. A propaganda ministry spokesman said "the whole story cannot be told now and for actual German accomplishments at sea, the world, for the time being, must be content with the understated admissions of the British admiralty."

Raiding at sea is the German answer to British efforts to blockade Germany. It was said in critical quarters.

Any cargoes in British ships which the British would hold up if they were destined for Germany are regarded as fair game for the German raiders.

"We are doing to them what they are trying to do to us," was one comment in quarters close to the government.

The British have reported losses since the outbreak of war of 45 ships totaling 399,319 tons and disclosed that German raiders had sent four, aggregating 17,761 tons, to the bottom yesterday alone.

While the Nazi press was preparing the nation for what Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's newspaper, the Essener National Zeitung, warned would be a "relentless" fight, more than 20 army and air force generals and staff officers were reported to have conferred in Adolf Hitler's chancellery last night.

Cowboys To L. A.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26 (AP)—Two halfbacks, Irish Ray O'Doul and Slippery Earl Esley, will carry the brunt of Loyola's offensive strength Friday night when the Hardin-Simmons eleven moves in from Abilene, Tex., for a renewal of their grid rivalry.

The pair has been a mainstay for the Lions this season.

Adolf Hitler, reported calling French occupation of German territory "an affront to Germany's military honor" may have had in mind scenes like this, where a German railway station has been captured by French troops.

Drouth Brings Disaster To Farmers In Western U. S.

By BRUCE CATTION
Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—While the nation's attention has been centered on the European war, a major disaster has developed inside the United States.

One of the worst autumn drouths on record has parched farm lands in 30 states. Confused mass migrations of stricken farm families are beginning in northern Texas and Oklahoma. The Farm Security Administration reports that 115,000 families are in urgent need.

An informal committee of congressmen and senators is studying the situation and is preparing to ask for relief funds of at least $50,000,000 before this session of Congress adjourns.

Department of Agriculture people say that this drouth is fresh. It is petty—for while it covers the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, the great plains area and the southeastern states, it does not cover all of any one of the states affected.

In any drouth-area state there will be one county where there is no harvest and no pasturage, and an adjacent county where bumper crops are being gathered. In some localities adjoining farms will show similar contrasts.

SOUTH SUFFERS THE MOST
In northern Mississippi, Arkansas and parts of Alabama, the situation is worse, because heavy floods last spring devastated many farms. After the floods subsided, the nearly destitute farmers managed to get a crop in and hoped for the best. But the autumn drouth dashed their hopes.

Congressman Wall Doxey of Mississippi, a member of the drouth committee, says conditions in his district are desperate.

"We've got a nearly complete crop failure, not only of cotton but also of corn and garden truck," he says. "The cotton crop isn't running 20 per cent of normal, and we don't have enough corn to feed our chickens until Thanksgiving. Folks down there are selling everything they have just to get enough to eat."

Congressman Francis Case of South Dakota says the drouth in the Black Hills area is the worst ever experienced there.

His own district illustrates the spotty nature of the drouth; of its 24 counties, about a third are getting in good crops while another third report extremely bad conditions—with the rest reporting that they are at least able to get in enough feed for their livestock.

NEED MORE MONEY FOR DISTRESSED

Farm Security Administration, which is making grants to distressed families, says it is going to need some more money before very long. At the beginning of this fiscal year, it had $118,000,000 for grants and loans—and applications from 400,000 families, a far higher total than the money would cover.

Since most crop loans are made in December and January, money which was set aside for that purpose is still available and can be drawn on for the drouth emergency; but it will have to be replaced, and the estimate is that the $50,000,000 the congressmen are talking about will be none too much.

If heavy rains come now they won't undo much of the damage as far as this fall's crops go, but they will help next year's wheat crop. Planting of winter wheat has been going on during the last few weeks, but unless the drouth ends pretty soon the seed won't sprout.

Incidentally, the drouth brought an unexpectedly high percentage of compliance with AAA's crop insurance and acreage control program in the wheat belt.

Expecting high war demand next year, many farmers had been refusing to go in on the program and were planning to sow lots of winter wheat. The drouth upset their plans, and now there is a rush to get in on the program.

Ruby Keeler Will

Divorce Al Jolson

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 26 (AP)—The love song of Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler is ended, but for Al the melody lingers on. Singer Jolson sadly confirmed today reports that Miss Keeler had left him and would sue for divorce. They celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary with an elaborate night club party last Sept. 21. Jolson said that just before Ruby left he told her:

"I hope everything will work out all right. I hope you'll be back right away."

"Maybe," she replied. Miss Keeler and Albert Jolson, Jr., 4, the boy they adopted from a Chicago nursery, were in seclusion at the Tocoia Lake home of her parents.

M'Phail Plan 'Silly,' Says Sens Manager

By JUDSON BAILEY
 NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Started out of a sound off-season slumber by the alarm of Brooklyn's early rising Leland Stanford MacPhail, wants to supplement the World Series with games between the other clubs, most of the major league magnates are cautious.

Some of them have been burned before by their own criticism of the red-head's red hot schemes—such as night baseball—and are willing to give his latest brainchild a hearing.

This is what MacPhail said he intended to have anyway at the annual meetings at Cincinnati in December, when he will propose that the first place clubs play each other, as now, and the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth teams also meet.

"Inter-league competition should not be confined to two clubs. A series of inter-league games in which all clubs participate would fairly determine the question of supremacy each season," argued MacPhail.

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, snapped: "Just say for me that MacPhail is nuts. Somebody proposed this a long time ago and it was just as silly then as it is now."

William E. Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, declared, "Theoretically I'm inclined to favor MacPhail's idea. However,

I don't feel the plan is practical. One objection is that such a plan would tend to take away interest in the big series."

Alva Bradley of the Cleveland Indians said he would be ready to give MacPhail's idea consideration if it were brought up, "but I would not want to take a position on it right now."

Old Connie Mack dissented loudly.

"To my way of thinking it would be a real failure. There would be no real rivalry. I don't believe any of our clubs in the second division, or even those in the lower part of the upper, would draw enough to make it worthwhile, financially, to play the games."

Railroads Helped By Business Boom

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—The business boom may remove from Uncle Sam's doorstep one of the biggest depression problems—the railroads.

Industrial expansion is helping the industry the way it wanted to be helped. Traffic has increased to the highest figures in the nine years and some roads for the first time since 1937 are operating in the black again.

Wall Street rail statisticians estimated today net operating income of the class I carriers for October would approach $100,000,000 to make the best showing for the month since 1930.

The September-October rise in freight movement, it was said, has been one of the most rapid in the history of the industry.

Many roads are taking advantage of improvement in revenues to buy new equipment, repair old and carry out deferred maintenance expenditures on tracks and other property.

new equipment, repair old and carry out deferred maintenance expenditures on tracks and other property. This extra spending by the railroads has been felt far and wide by suppliers of materials, of equipment and by men who have returned to payrolls.

Describing herself as "persecuted" and "desperate to see my father," in a letter she addressed to Gov. Bob Jones, Mrs. Judd fled late Tuesday night from the Arizona State hospital here, where she was committed as mentally unbalanced after twice being condemned to hang.

She was gone from the hospital almost 12 hours before attendants discovered her absence because she had fashioned a dummy figure in her bed.

From the hospital she went to the home of her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. H. J. McKinnell, spent about 10 or 15 minutes there, then disappeared. Her aged father was reported near death.

Mrs. McKinnell delivered to Governor Jones a letter from Mrs. Judd in which the slayer contended Dr. Louis J. Saxe, hospital superintendent, and his staff "persecuted" her.

"I am desperate to see my father," she wrote. "I am going to see him tonight, then somehow see my husband, and I will surrender to you on condition you promise me Dr. Saxe will be forced to leave me alone."

The German press interpreted Soviet Russia's rejection of Britain's contraband list as a "sharp protest against blockade warfare" which might lead to serious trouble between the two powers.

Commenting on what to Germany is one of the war's most serious aspects, Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' newspaper Der Angriff said "Moscow's note contains a clear warning susceptible of causing far-reaching consequences unless it is observed."

(Russia, in her protest, called the British contraband list a violation of international law and objected to inclusion of foodstuffs, fuel and clothing which it said would "subject children, women, and aged people and invalids to every hardship and starvation.")

So, the man you are reading this to says, "Oh, he's just trying to get in good with Americans. Of course he isn't going to find any fault with us."

Well, Mr. Thompson did make a few more remarks—about American men, maybe that had better be repeated here.

"American men are distinctly inferior to American women. Their conversation is mostly limited to bragging—and that on four topics—their business, their hangovers, their success with blondes, their golf game.

"They aren't good listeners. When they aren't talking themselves, they are waiting to get their say in."

"The ideal situation, of course, would be for all American girls to marry Englishmen. I've started the movement.

Thank you, Mr. Thompson. Did that man you're reading this to say, "For what?"

War Flashes

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Great Britain has decided against conducting a propaganda campaign in the United States, says the Marquis of Lathlain, British ambassador to the United States.

But, he told the Pilgrim society last night, Great Britain feels that it has the right "to explain to you and all other democracies what we are doing and why we are doing it. The judgment is your inalienable right!"

Gray County Has One Automobile For Every 3.7 Persons

Statistics prepared by the American Automobile association show that one of every five persons in the United States has an automobile, an Associated Press dispatch from New York announced today.

Gray county's average of passenger automobiles exceeds the national figure, the average being one passenger automobile for each 3.7 persons. "But," he added, "irrespective of all the facts and circumstances, all ultimately lose. The destruction of wealth can never, in the last analysis, lead to a better order of things."

CANYON, Oct. 24—Ex-students of West Texas State college are asked to imagine Pr. F. R. A. Terrell as Peanut King at the Homecoming night club next Saturday night.

And Dean of Men Harris M. Cook presiding over a game of questionable antecedents. And Prof. L. S. Baker acting as master of monstrosities.

For the faculty will turn native, let down their hair, and shed their dignity to make this Homecoming the most hilarious in college history. More than six thousand feet of floor space has been added this year through renting of a big tent from Amarillo tent & awning company. The tent—Monte Carlo—will be one of half a dozen major attractions and will have dancing girls, a Leopard Club, wild imitations, and decorations to fit each performance. Guy Harp is in charge.

The night club will climax the big day and will follow the coronation of the Homecoming queen at 7:30 p. m. A score of ex-student beauties will compete for the honor after a day of being given special courtesies.

An assembly program, a student state program, a Buffalo-Rattlers football game at 2:30 p. m. will be high points in a day marked by special features. A hobby display, limerick contest, and selection of the favorite ex-student couple are among the new features.

Long Fears Leche May Try To Regain Governor's Office

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 26 (AP)—State police kept guard of Louisiana's capital today as reports circulated that Governor Earl K. Long feared former Governor Richard W. Leche, who resigned in June, might try to regain the office.

Leche, now under several state and federal indictments, expressed doubt at the time of his resignation as to its legality since there is no state law covering such a contingency. Long, then lieutenant-governor, stepped into the governorship.

Long brought the military into the state political scene Monday and removed from office Attorney General David Ellison. It was the first such use of militia since the dictatorial regime of the late Huey Long. Earl's brother, Long asserted Ellison was in office "illegally" and ordered the militia to remove him.

The Morning Advocate said today Ellison was reported to have been preparing an opinion holding that Leche was still governor. His removal and appointment of a new attorney general by Long ended such a threat, if it did exist.

Experienced observers, however, saw little probability of Leche regaining office. Governor Long demonstrated his control of the state militia when a company assembled here shortly after the attorney-generalship coup. Long denied, however, that he had ordered the guards.

Missouri Delays Glass Extradition

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 26 (AP)—Frank C. Harris said today he would take no action on Texas' request for extradition of George Glass from St. Louis pending the return of Gov. Lloyd C. Stark.

The Governor is expected to return from New York late this week. Glass is sought on charges of illegally paying the poll taxes of several union workers at San Antonio.

Glass, who spent several months in Texas as an employee of the International Garment Workers union, was indicted jointly with Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio and two other persons Oct. 15. Payment of their poll taxes qualified the workers to vote in the election at which Maverick was elected Mayor last May.

Attorneys for Glass attacked his indictment at his extradition hearing yesterday, charging it was "of a political nature."

"They are merely trying to use Glass as a whipping boy and a springboard in a political drive on Maverick," asserted Howard Elliott of St. Louis, who, with Bernard Ladd of San Antonio, represented Glass.

"We wish to express our sincere gratitude to those who so lovingly and tenderly ministered to us in our great sorrow. We thank them for the beautiful floral offerings, their loving words of sympathy and every act of kindness rendered to us at this time. May God's richest blessings rest upon you and His never-failing love abide with you always."

Guest Speaks At Quarterly Banquet Of Methodist Men

A quarterly Methodist men's banquet was held Wednesday evening in the First Methodist church with 106 members and guests attending.

Dick Hughes presided as toastmaster of the program which featured an address by Sam Braswell, district lay leader of Clarendon, on "Choice and Standards." Mr. Braswell spoke of the fine privileges which we have in free America and the obligations as Christians to uphold the standards of the church.

Group singing was led by Ken Bennett and several numbers were played by the Cornhuskers orchestra. Talks were made by Roger McConnell, chairman of the board of stewards, and W. L. Campbell, president of the Brotherhood class, who discussed the Harvest Day observance next Sunday.

The meal was served by members of the Susannah Wesley class.

Capone Named In Tax Lien For $22,245

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26 (AP)—An income tax lien for $22,245 today named Al Capone, internal revenue agent said, however, that the lien would not interfere with the former Chicago gangster's release Nov. 19 from Terminal Island jail since it is a civil matter.

The senate was held in session more than seven hours yesterday, but it succeeded in disposing of only three more amendments. All were rejected.

Final Vote On Neutrality Bill Due Tomorrow

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—Senate opponents of the neutrality bill switched their strategy today— with little hope of success—in an effort to get a clearer test of their strength for retaining the controversial arms embargo.

With a final vote expected tomorrow, Senator Clark (D-Mo.), an opposition leader, said he would try to insert in the bill the language of the existing law forbidding arms shipments to belligerents.

He conceded that his amendment had little chance of adoption, but said that it would provide an affirmative test instead of a negative or "backdoor" approach through a motion to strike out the bill's section repealing the embargo.

Clark said he would offer his proposal after all other amendments were disposed of. The time was uncertain, for a fresh flood of amendments slowed up floor action yesterday.

With senate passage of the bill repealing the embargo and providing a "cash and carry" system of trading with belligerents regarded as a foregone conclusion, interest was turning to the house, where embargo advocates hoped for a better chance of victory.

Survivors are the parents, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lomax, Pampa, and Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Chisum, Miami, and three aunts, Mrs. Roy Sewell and Mrs. Guinn Killingsworth, both of Pampa, and Miss Florence Chisum, Austin, and five uncles, Roy Chisum, Pampa, B. J. Lomax, Hereford, Earl Chisum, Polsum, N. M., Henry Chisum, Prescott, Ariz., and Frank Chisum, Patterson, Calif. All attended the funeral services.

Church Packed At Chisum Funeral

W. M. Pearce, pastor. Burial was in Fairview cemetery under direction of Duane-Carmichael Funeral home.

Young Chisum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chisum, had lived in Pampa nearly all his life. He was employed at Montgomery Ward here.

U. S. Gunboat Has Eye On Freighter
MEXICO CITY, Oct. 26 (AP)—The United States gunboat Erie, assigned to neutrality patrol in the Pacific, today was in the Mexican port of Manzanillo, reportedly to keep the German freighter Havelland under surveillance.

A spokesman for the American Embassy here declared it was a "coincidence" that the Erie and the Havelland should be at Manzanillo simultaneously.

It was learned from authoritative sources, however, that the Erie had picked up and trailed the German freighter shortly after the Havelland sailed from Punta Arenas, Costa Rica, last week.

These sources said the movements of the ship had aroused fears it might be planning to serve as a supply boat for a German U-boat or commerce raider.

Harvesters Leave Early This Morning

Thirty Harvesters, coaches, business managers and team managers left at 9 o'clock this morning for Lubbock where tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the turf at Texas Tech Field the Harvesters will do battle with the Lubbock Westerners.

The Harvesters were scheduled to stop in Plainview for dinner and then go to Lubbock where they were to work out on Tech field at 2:30 o'clock so that the boys will learn the tricky wind channels between the highstands and also the slant of the sun.

With the exception of James Carlisle and Ed Terrell, the Harvesters are in pretty fair condition. They're anything but in the pink of condition because of sprains, bruises and torn ligaments but coaches are not putting out the crying towel.

Coach Mitchell said he was undecided about a starting lineup. Bob Clemmons hurt his leg running plays Wednesday afternoon, which will mean that Glen Nichols, although suffering from foot infection, will probably have to start at one end with Kenneth Mullings at the other end. R. G. Candler will be at one tackle position with Roland Phillips or Carroll Montgomery on

A special train carrying Pampa fans will leave the Santa Fe station here at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, arriving in Lubbock at 12:40 p. m. The return will be at 6:15 p. m. in two sections, with one train stopping in Plainview for the Amarillo-Plainview game to-

Lubbock's coaches are moaning and groaning over their crippled team. Word received here today revealed that Jack Lovin, quarterback, is on crutches with a sprained ankle. Also that Jackson, ace halfback, will be out of the game and that Jimmie Williamson will have to start. Scouts for the Harvesters report that Williamson is the best man in the Lubbock backfield and has been kept under wraps so far this season.

The following story, soaked in tears, arrived in Pampa this morning:

Canadian Team In 1940 May Be Plains Sensation

By TEX DE WEESE

CANADIAN, Oct. 26—Coach Wiley Hudek's Canadian High school football team hasn't set the world on fire this fall, but it wouldn't be a bad idea for all the vice-presidents in charge of gridiron activities in District 2-A to keep an eye or two on Hudek's charges come September and October 1940.

The Canadian team is pretty much green material this season and Coach Hudek thinks they've done remarkably well for a bunch of youngsters starting from scratch. In fact, he's downright proud of them.

The beauty of it all lies in the fact that practically the same team will be back next fall with a 1939 season of experience stowed away in their think tanks.

Hudek's First Year

Incidentally, this is Hudek's first year at Canadian High. He calls Denison, Texas, his home town, and he is a product of East Texas State Teachers college at Commerce.

Coach Hudek is a determined young man who has his mind set on making life miserable for coaches and teams in other towns of District 2-A, namely Perryton, Phillips, Panhandle, White Deer, and Spearman.

The 1939 Canadian High team was just beginning its daily workout when we arrived at Hoover stadium here yesterday afternoon.

of breaking into the game unless his injuries heal more rapidly than expected; Frank Redwine, though somewhat bruised up, has a slight chance of getting to see action against the Harvesters. And that "ain't" all.

Pat Farris, regular right tackle, stand-out of the line thus far, suffered rather painful rib injuries in the Breckenridge battle and in all probability will be out of the line-up a week or more, and Co-Captain Lee Jackson, one of the mainstays of the Bronco Busters' backfield combination, had an old shoulder hurt, re-injured in the Buckaroo tussle and will be on the sidelines.

So, as Coach Weldon Chapman so aptly expressed it: "We will have to play our second string against the Harvesters—our best team will be in the hospital or on the sidelines."

And the blues the Lubbock mentor is singing are the real McCoy. So, it will be a rebuilt lineup which faces the Harvesters in the district's most important battle for the week.

Here's another thing. You are mistaken if you have an idea that Hudek doesn't have the makings of a ram-rodding backfield for 1940 in Lawrence Briggs, fullback; Billy James, halfback, and Rosser Rivers, flashy right end.

Passing Fair Impressive

Put it down in the little old book that the passing combination of Briggs to James will be heard about plenty. And here is a guess that Right End Rivers will be the choice this year for All-Conference end. He is as sweet a piece of football machinery as graces any man's Panhandle High school grid this year, and Canadian fans swear by him.

Canadian has played seven games so far this fall and has won only two of them. They have defeated the Pampa Guerrillas, 45 to 6, and Spearman, 24 to 6. Coach Hudek's charges have been set down by Perryton, Phillips, Panhandle, Shamrock, and White Deer.

But, says Coach Hudek and all the hometown fans, 1940 is another year.

To Play Keltan

Keltan High comes to Canadian for a game this Friday night and Canadian goes to Clearendon for a game the following week, Nov. 3. They will close the season Nov. 10 with a game here with Mobeetie or Higgins.

Perryton, Panhandle, and White Deer remain undefeated so far this fall in conference play.

Top game of the conference this week will be the one to be played Friday between Perryton and White Deer.

Canadian's conference-season ended with the White Deer game last week.

But—All Canadian is placing its faith in its new coach—Wiley Hudek—and his determination to go places with his 1939 team in 1940.

The Road Must Be Kept Open For Youth

Repeatedly it has been said, but it can not be said too often: The war in Europe must not be allowed to distract the United States completely from its own internal problems. They are just as important in spite of the war situation—perhaps more important.

The American Youth Commission has done a service in calling attention to the fact that the United States must "put its house in order at all costs," and that immediate objectives must be "the improvement of the health, education, and employment opportunities of our young people, to the end that they may have a sense of quickening life and power in this nation."

The Youth Commission, which is not a governmental agency, was formed in 1935 by major educational institutions and associations. It has a distinguished non-political board.

It believes that the first duty the United States owes to its youth is to take care that it is not involved in the European war unless its territories are actually invaded, or its vital interests attacked. For it is youth which is sent out to die, which bears the brunt of the sacrifice, the loss, the tragedy.

Look at the pictures of the young men being called to the colors in Europe—French, German, British. They are bright-eyed, beardless kids, many of them looking as though they would fit better into a Boy Scout uniform than into the shapless dungarees which are today's war kit. This is no reflection on these boys. They will fight bravely enough, and die bravely enough, just as their fathers did. Look at your own picture. World War veteran, as you were when you put on khaki in 1917. These kids are no younger than you were then.

So the best service we can render our youth is not to sacrifice them. But the Youth Commission looks even farther ahead. "By remaining at peace," it insists, "all the countries of this hemisphere can be of inestimable value to the other nations of the world when the present struggle is over. With their youth vigorous and unimpaired, they may become for a time the only repository of sound government throughout the world."

Go back to 1919. Hitler, a demobilized corporal, finds a civil life awaiting him which offers no place, no opportunity, no hope. He turns to political agitation. A million other veterans, equally frustrated, are eager listeners. Younger men, reared amid the privations and booming horror of the war and its aftermath, are equally eager for something that promises—that offers hope. Directly from the seed-beds fertilized by the World War, there springs up Hitler, and 1939 is on the way.

Its youth is any country's greatest asset; in a sense, its only asset. It must be guarded jealously by remedying deficiencies in employment, in education, in health. The promise of useful employment must be realized. Only by thus keeping the avenues of hope open to the coming generation can the American future be kept bright.

The Nation's Press

WAR AIMS (New York Times)

In the House of Commons yesterday Chamberlain was asked by an Independent member "whether he is aware that there is a steady and growing demand in the country for a more specific statement of the government's war aims." He did not reply to the question, and the cries of "No" which greeted it from various parts of the House challenged the accuracy of the opinion which the questioner expressed. Nevertheless, the proposal for a restatement of England's war aims, in more specific terms than have been employed thus far, is a matter to which the British Government can scarcely have failed to give consideration, particularly in view of the active campaign for an immediate peace which Germany is now making, with the vociferous support of both Italy and Russia.

It must be recognized at the outset that in the present extraordinary situation there are special difficulties which handicap any effort to restate British and French war aims in precise and unequivocal language. The governments of both countries have repeatedly declared that they are fighting for the reconstruction of Poland as an independent nation and for the destruction of Hitlerism as a threat to the peace of Europe. But the achievement of the first of these objectives has admittedly been complicated by the sudden intervention of Russia. How are the British and French Governments to deal with that intervention, in so far as their objective in the eastern half of Poland is concerned? If they announce that they are still determined to reconstitute the whole of Poland, as it existed at the end of August, will not this declaration be equivalent to declaring war on Russia, at a time when they must naturally desire to face Germany as a single enemy and when they must still hope that Russia and Germany will quarrel? On the other hand, if they announce that their efforts to reconstitute an independent Poland no longer include as a part of Poland and the eastern half of that country, will it not be charged that they have deserted their ally and will it not be said that they are willing to accept as an accomplished fact, in the case of Russian aggression, what they are unwilling to accept as an accomplished fact, in the case of German aggression?

There are difficulties also in any precise definition of the second war aim—that is, the destruction of Hitlerism. It is easy enough to define Hitlerism in general terms and to trace its evil course through Europe in terms of human suffering, the destruction of good faith, and the debasement of all values. It is more difficult to state, in advance of some shift of power within Germany itself, the precise nature and extent of the political changes which would be required as evidence that Hitlerism has been destroyed.

It is possible that difficulties of this kind will lead the British and French Governments to believe that it is not practicable at this time to define their war aims in more specific language. But it seems certain that the proposal is one to which they must be giving thoughtful consideration. For if we assume that there is to be no major offensive on the Western Front in the immediate future—that is, if we assume that the British and French Governments will proceed as cautiously as Mr. Chamberlain has indicated in the matter of accepting risks which may not be worth the cost, and if we assume that Hitler, managing this time to hold his famous "patience" because it suits his present purpose to do so, orders no German attack in the next few weeks—then we are now facing a period of undetermined length in which inactivity on the Western Front will be far overshadowed in public interest by the declarations of the rival statesmen.

In this debate over the objectives of war and the conditions of peace, the British and French Governments have the moral advantage of the immensely superior cause. They will naturally desire to state their aims as effectively as possible, in terms that will hold the sympathy of the neutral nations and attract support within Germany itself, from those elements of the German people who must already be asking themselves whether subservience to Hitlerism is worth the price, if the price is a long war, and if a fair and acceptable alternative is available.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Holles

OUR WORST BELIEFS I recently gave a list of our worst economic beliefs that caused us to have the worst and longest depression in our history. Among these worst economic beliefs is the belief that people want work. And when people believe they want work, then any act of a private citizen or of the government that creates work is regarded as good and desirable and should be encouraged. Certainly it should be, if people do actually want work, as most people carelessly contend.

When it is analyzed, however, it is found that no one wants work for work's sake alone. Instead of wanting work, they want the products resulting from work. So, anything that enables the worker to produce more products is good, since it is products of work desired and not work itself.

No one will contend that he is glad when he makes a mistake so that he can do the work over again. No one will put in a day doing a job if he can do it in an hour. This is evidence that it is the products of work that is desired and not work.

But there is all the difference in the world as to the kind of laws we have and what public opinion is, if people mistakenly believe that they want work instead of the fruits, or the products, of labor. When people know that it is the products of labor they want, rather than work, then they will be against things that will make work without production and be for things that will make it possible for each man to have a higher reward for a given unit of work.

No Limit to Wants People are mistaken about wanting work probably because they believe there is a given or limited amount of work to be done. They do not seem to understand that man's wants are unlimited and that these wants are supplied only by work. If wants are unlimited, then there is an unlimited amount of work to be done to supply these unlimited wants.

The mistaken idea that people want work instead of the fruits of work results in having tariff laws, prorate, limiting people joining unions. These limitations are not because people want work but because they want to get a fictitious return for their work. They want to get more for doing a given amount of production than other people are willing to do the same amount of work for. This also tends to cause people to believe that work is wanted rather than the fruits of work.

It is important that the public comes to understand that the workers really want the fruits of work and not work in itself.

THE PRESIDENT'S NEUTRALITY IDEAS

It seems rather absurd to think that it is possible for the President to be neutral in anything. For any man who has come to believe so much in his own wisdom as the "resident has repeatedly done, it is impossible for him not to take sides. Invariably men of this kind do not study things from a long time standpoint but emotionally try to bring about a condition that he thinks is the way it should be.

The President has shown his partiality in various ways. He is showing it now by his determination to have the arms embargo act changed so that we can ship munitions and he can have the authority to tell what shipments of other materials can be made in American bottoms. He showed his partiality in holding the Bremen in New York for some 36 hours. He showed his partiality by permitting the French to inspect our airplanes against international policies. He shows his partiality by wanting to extend 90 days' credit instead of cash. He has shown his partiality by the speeches he has made and the criticisms he has publicly expressed of Germany.

For this reason, when it is so well known that it is impossible for a man with the personality of Roosevelt to be impartial, it seems we will much more likely keep out of war by limiting the power given to the President by Congress. He is too emotional and changes his opinions too often to trust with too much responsibility in treating the allies on an impartial basis.

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—A minority freshman congressman, who refused to be squelched by cold-blooded tradition that keeps first termers tongue-tied, is responsible for one of the biggest obstacles facing the administration neutrality bill when it gets to the House.

The first-termer responsible is Congressman John Vorys of Ohio, who slipped into last summer's Bloom bill—somewhat to the surprise of everyone concerned, including himself—an amendment prohibiting the sale of arms and munitions to belligerents.

If the Bloom bill had not carried that clause, the administration's task in getting the embargo repealed would be considerably simpler. Not only does the clause complicate the parliamentary situation a bit,

THE SPOOK SEASON

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 26—Short takes: a fire truck raced across the Paramount lot, and a couple of newly-hired writers dashed out of their office to see the excitement.

"It's nothing," said a studio cop. "Demille walked all through his lunch hour, and now he's sending out for a sandwich." "Ninotchka's" three comic Communists—Sig Ruman, Felix Bressart, and Alex Granach, who'll be kept together for future films—have been tagged "Karl Marx Brothers" on the screen. He says, "I'm just not my type."

If anything happens to David Niven in the English army, his heirs can blame Hollywood. The actor really didn't have to go to war; but with all the publicity and the inquiries of everybody he met, there isn't much else he can do now. His farewell to Movietown is a paid, mostly action and comedy. The comedy offerings likely will broaden into actual slapstick. Anyway, Mack Sennett and Producer Harry Joe Brown have been signed to do a series with bathing girls, Kops and mustard pie. Title of the first feature: "Up at the Altar, or Love in a Pullman Car."

Eleanor Powell will Toe-Dance. For the first time, Eleanor Powell goes to toe-dance in the new Broadway Melody. And Joan Bennett will hoof and sing (as a night club entertainer) for the first time in "Honey Across the Bay." Joan Crawford, cast opposite Clark Gable in "No, No, Nanook, Not Too Deep," says a happy farewell to her typing as a clothes-horse, even though she wears one dress in the picture, and in fleeing through a South American jungle with Gable that costume will be reduced to a few shreds as the Hays office will permit. Gable, incidentally, will be much tougher and less suave than usual; knocks out practically everybody in a prison colony before he makes his escape.

Garbo Members in Wig, False Teeth Marlene Dietrich has a job at Universal for as long as she'll play roles of risqué or slightly rowdy glamor. Her current western, with Jimmy Stewart, is considered a certain smash, and her next flicker will be called "Almost an Angel." She made her success in the roles of girls who were no better than they should be, and fell out of favor the minute she tried to be a lady. The colony believes that Greta Garbo is getting around to all manner of odd places these evenings—amusement parks, gambling casinos and dance halls. But in disguise, of course. It's said she has a dark wig and a set of slightly imperfect false teeth—caps made of celluloid—which make recognition impossible if she doesn't talk too much.

First American movie bought for showing throughout Soviet Russia since Chaplin's "Modern Times" is Deanna Durbin's "100 Men and a Girl." An actor walked into a boulevard bar the other day and exclaimed to his jobless pals: "I've just learned why I haven't been working. My agent has been dead for two years!"

but it drew into being a surprise pro-embargo majority in the House and now makes the creation of a repeal majority an uphill fight.

VORYS QUIET IN COMMITTEE As a freshman, Vorys was assigned last winter to the House foreign affairs committee. He was neither more nor less vocal than the other pro-embargo members when the Bloom bill was before the committee.

Because he studied the question thoroughly, and had gained (in the Ohio legislature) some skill at drafting bills, the minority on the committee turned to him to draft its thoughts and put them into shape for submission to a vote.

Congressman Hamilton Fish of New York, as ranking minority member on the committee, led the fight for an embargo amendment to the Bloom bill. But he was glad to have Vorys draft the amendment. When the committee voted it down he encouraged Vorys to offer it from the floor of the House.

So what the House got was the Vorys amendment—one bearing the name of a supposedly obscure freshman—and from force of circumstances the young congressman took a more and more active part in the fight for his creation.

CLAUDE HEATEN ON FIRST VOTE The amendment was beaten when it was first offered.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

Eight-year-old Dollie Ritter of Skiatook, Okla., has written a touching tribute to "my dearest aunt," the late Mrs. J. A. Rush of Skellytown in a poem she sent recently to relatives at Skellytown. Mrs. Annie Culbertson certainly did enjoy her recent visit to Las Vegas, N. M. During a rodee there they had some horses that could square dance. They had planned to have the horse square dance only one day, but it was so popular that they held it every day.

Mrs. Culbertson told of the huge monastery for training Catholic priests there. It is housed in the old Montezuma college, and all the 800 students in the college are from Old Mexico. Thanks, Carl Benicel, for the picture, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." Smeof the best lines in that picture were those in which James Stewart said: "My father ought to say a person ought to feel all the time as if he had just come out of a tunnel—when he is out in the open so he will be conscious of every tree, rock, every leaf, every blade of grass." That picture, despite many inaccuracies, was worth sitting through twice, and we did. Tippy Reynolds, who suffered a broken collar-bone in a football game at McMurry where he is a student, is coming home this week-end to spend several days, and a lot of people are always glad when Tippy comes home.

At the eye clinic conducted by the Bureau of Health of Philadelphia, one or two cases of mirror writing are seen every year. There is a greater tendency for left-handed children to develop mirror writing than for right-handed children to do so. Mirror writing may also occur among left-handed children who are mentally retarded. These children are found to be undernourished in many instances of neurotic, fretful and timid. It is said when such children are transferred to a boarding school where they are properly fed and housed, they soon began to write normally.

Mirror writing, therefore, seldom continues after the first year of school life, particularly if every possible consideration is shown toward the child to develop him into a healthy, social specimen.

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

Occasionally a child attracts attention because everything that he writes is reversed. In other words, the writing can be read only when it is held up before a mirror.

Opinions differ as to the cause of this "strange" phenomenon, and none of them has been accepted as the true explanation. Obviously the difficulty might be either in the eye, the brain or the hand. Some experts contend every image seen by the eye is impressed on the retina in back of the eye and goes to the brain in a reversed position. It is known that photographic cameras with ground glass plate in back show the image upside down and backwards unless built to overcome this arrangement.

The normal person corrects the reversed image, but it is believed that some people have an inherited tendency to confuse the left-right order. Another theory is that mirror writing is a natural sequence of left-handedness. Dr. Max E. Smukler, who has made a special study of the subject, feels that social, economic and physical conditions are the most important factors in producing "mirror writing." It does not represent a definite change in the tissues of the body but merely a symptom, he says.

Women Shuck Corn

WHEATLAND, Ind., Oct. 26 (AP)—Farmer Roy Prather told women of the Wheatland Methodist church, "harvest it yourselves and I'll give you a field of corn." So 10 of them went into the cornfield, and in 90 minutes husked over 80 bushels.

The Rev. J. S. Kerr hauled the corn to an elevator and sold it for $15.25, to help pay off the church debt.

Fish and Vorys, however, had a notion that when the vote was as close as that the fight ought to be carried a little farther. They demanded a feller vote—in which the members pass down the aisle on a yea and nay division and are counted individually, although their names are not recorded.

On the teller vote, the embargo cause picked up strength. The Vorys amendment was adopted by a two-vote margin—159 to 157.

The administration forces demanded a roll-call and sent their whips out to round up absentees. Vorys' colleagues took it for granted this effort would beat the amendment. They gathered around the bold first term and congratulated him for having made a game fight in a losing cause.

The roll-call had surprise results; for the amendment, 214, against 173. Forty members were paired, and one—Sabath of Illinois, who was paired with Minority Leader Martin, who had left the floor—voted present.

The administration in the present battle thus finds itself with a House which is formally on record in favor of the embargo. And Mr. Vorys has shed the cloak of obscurity which almost always mantles a first-term Congressman.

Tex's Topics

By Tex DeWeese

Cold and hard, like chemical analyses, are the war communiqués issued by belligerents on activity along the Western Front. From French communique, No. 92: "There were numerous gas attacks during the day, on both sides, more especially in the region east of the Moselle. Our artillery was particularly active in the same district."

No mention here of the lives lost, the blood spilled; nothing of the gas that haunts a battlefield not of the powerful shells that level whole buildings in one ghastly blast. There is no hint of men going mad, dying with disease, weakened by the fever of death. . . . War communiqués are as impersonal as a report of an chess game. Only by occasional vague implications do they give even a faint hint of what is really happening.

THE most reassuring fact about the war situation lately, to Americans is a growing belief that the United States really can keep out of the war. . . . A month ago there was an almost fatalistic feeling that we would necessarily be dragged in. The main argument then was merely how soon that would happen. But now courage and sanity are reasserting themselves, and it is felt more definitely that in spite of international confusion we may be really the masters of our own destiny.

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." Likewise a nation. A rational belief that we can remain neutral, even thru a long foreign war, helps us to do so. . . . There still remains a great deal to be done in this country—things more important than sending an army into foreign service.

ACCORDING to the Public Health Bureau of the American Optometric Association, 10,000,000 American school children have defective vision. Most of these cases need immediate correction; and most of the children affected come from families of the lower income brackets.

This is an appalling condition. It means that many of the cases will be neglected simply because parents have inadequate means to meet the necessary cost of treatments. It means that many children will be left with vision faults that will become more serious as they grow older.

IT IS a serious problem; but it is only one of the myriad of internal social and economic enigmas this country faces today.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

WEIGHT OF AUTHORITY WITH PRESIDENT By WALTER E. SPARR Professor of Economics, New York University

Considering the multitude of importances involved in the proposal to repeal or amend the so-called Neutrality Act, it is interesting to speculate as to how the President's views on these issues are being made known to the public. The President's feelings on these issues are being made known to the public in a number of ways. He has issued a number of statements, and he has been interviewed by the press. He has also been seen in public places, and he has been seen in the company of other officials.

There are many technical questions of international law and international relations involved in this issue which are understood, in so far as they can be understood, only by close students of international law and relations. Most of these issues have a long, intricate history which is a closed book to all except these students.

A fact to be remembered is that our Department of State has in it some of our finest students of international relations. These men have access to, and maintain close contacts with, the outstanding authorities on international law and relations in our leading colleges and universities and elsewhere, and are aware that every important act of the Department of State is scrutinized carefully by these specialists.

The consequence is that there is at the disposal of the lay public—which includes many Congressmen—a body of authority and opinion of genuine competence which ought to be looked to for guidance.

Red Cross To Make Clothes For Refugees

Special To The NEWS
PANHANDLE, Oct. 26—The Carson County Red Cross chapter will start immediate production of hospital and refugee garments. The production will begin on a limited scale, unless the need becomes more urgent. The National Red Cross headquarters has sent out an appeal to all chapters for the following supplies: hospital bed shirts, women's and children's dresses, boys shirts and washable suits, layettes, men's sleeveless sweaters, socks, hose, sleeping caps, and mufflers. These garments will be made by the Red Cross sewing room here. Some sewing and knitting will be done in the homes by responsible women. Mrs. Herman Powell, production chairman, will be in direct charge of the sewing room.

The Bussey Drug store has donated the use of the large airy room in the rear of the store for Red Cross headquarters and sewing room. There is an urgent need for sewing machines, and anyone having one to loan please contact Mrs. T. H. McKenzie, Carson County Red Cross chairman. It is necessary to have some donated materials, however. Chapter funds will be used to get the work started.

Rev. George Thompson, Junior Red Cross chairman, will start the organization of Junior Red Cross chapters in the various schools of the county in the near future. The officers will meet at the Petrola school house Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in an effort to organize a Junior Red Cross in the school, and in Skellytown in the near future in the interests of roll call, production work, and Junior Red Cross.

Roll call area chairmen will meet this week to start the annual membership drive from Nov. 11-30. The Panhandle Area will meet Friday afternoon in the Christian church, and Mrs. E. H. Little, chairman, is asking for thirty helpers.

Girl Stowaway Back Home In Galveston

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25 (AP)—An 18-year-old Galveston, Texas, girl who stowed away on the Mexican gunboat Durango saying she intended to marry a member of the crew, disembarked here today from the S. S. Morazan from Vera Cruz and said she was going home to her mother in Galveston, her romance shattered.

The girl, Miss Doris Barton, blonde and blue eyed, declined to discuss details of her courtship but said she remained on the ship during a visit on a Sunday afternoon in September and hid in an empty oil barrel for five hours out of Galveston.

On "going up for air," she said she was turned over to an officer's wife for a seven days' cruise and given in custody of the American consul at Vera Cruz.

She said her intended fiancé did not know she had boarded the vessel until after it had left Galveston.

Sen. Nye Suggests New Slogan, 'LaFayette, We've Been There!'

OCTOBER 26, 1939—"LaFayette we have been there!" That was the slogan suggested for America today by Senator Gerald P. Nye, "after our experience on French battlefields in the last war."

"We're not in danger if we keep our money at home," declared the North Dakota senator in an article written for Look magazine. "The United States can stay out of the European war if we will forego the terrific gains which a foreign war offers us."

"President Roosevelt's promises, though well intended, I am sure are not enough to keep the United States out of war," said Senator Nye. "Senators who wish to repeal the embargo are also sincere. But we all must agree that if we send our money overseas in any form, our sons will follow."

Declares We Would Be "Suckers"
Stating that England and France had "made Hitler," Senator Nye added, "Let them face the problem which they created, instead of saying to America, 'Come on, suckers, get in with us!'"

"Certainly we don't see England and France crushed," said Nye. "I don't think they will be defeated. More probably all participants will be exhausted, in a long war, ending peace without victory. Such an end to the World War might have been better."

"An embargo on arms and munitions (and on other war materials, if possible)," continued Senator Nye's Look article, "a cash-and-carry policy on all other goods; a curb on foreign propaganda, and legislation to take the profits out of war would all promote peace. If we keep our money out of this war, our men won't be dragged in. American economy must not be geared to dependence on war."

Farmers in northern Smith county have appealed to game wardens that deer are eating their crops. It is unlawful to shoot the animals and officials and farmers agreed the only solution is to trap the deer and remove them. They are looking for an expert trapper.

The prohibition party was organized in 1889.

Maury Maverick Says He'll Remain Santone's Mayor

OCTOBER 26, 1939—"It looks as if I'll remain mayor of San Antonio," declared Maury Maverick, former Texas congressman, today in an article for Look magazine. "The leaders of the mob which broke up the recent Communist meeting in San Antonio are staging a movement to recall me from office. No respectable citizens have joined this move and it looks as if I'll remain mayor of San Antonio. I still believe that any citizen—even a Communist—has a right to talk. This may sound demagogic but it's true and it's also important."

"I am no reformer. I love sinners," continued Mayor Maverick. "But I promised a city free of graft and open vice and that's what the people are going to get. Back when Texas was still a republic, Grandpa Sam Maverick was mayor of San Antonio. Now, almost a century later, I am mayor. I don't know about Grandpa's headaches, but I have plenty."

San Antonio's chief executive was outspoken in his discussion of the vice and crime conditions he inherited in the city. "The worst stories that had been told about San Antonio are mild in comparison to what I really found when I took office," he declared. "I know, of course, that a mayor is supposed to be a stuffed shirt and praise the city in sweet Chamber-of-Commerce words. But I'm not going to do it. I'm going to tell you the truth about San Antonio."

Maverick explained why he chose a northerner—referred to in his article as "a dandy"—for his new police chief. He also told what was being done to improve health and housing conditions. "San Antonio's slums are said to be the worst in America," he declared. "These hovels are now slated for extinction."

About another element of civic corruption he said: "Prostitution is a problem. I am frank to admit. For more than half a century we have had a red light district. It's one of our old Spanish customs, and I can't stop it overnight. But one thing is sure: We don't let vice help run the town as it did before. And we have put a stop to mass picketing of our thoroughfares by the streetwalkers. But we still have too much vice."

"Ten thousand soldiers come to town every payday. We can't blame everything on them, of course, but they do make our vice control problems even tougher. The best we can do at the moment is to exert severe police and health control. I would like to see prostitution wiped out. But I don't know how to do it."

McNutt Manager To Visit In Amarillo

HOUSTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—The race for the McNutt-for-President campaign in Texas was lighted today. J. Patrick Beacom of Huntington, W. Va., associate chairman of the Paul V. McNutt campaign, conferred with local Democratic leaders in the initiating move to line up Texas support.

He emphasized, however, that the McNutt forces were not trying to get Texas delegates to the national convention pledged to vote for the former Indiana governor, "but we would like Texas on the McNutt roster in the event Vice-President Garner does not become the party nominee."

He said McNutt would not be a candidate if President Roosevelt seeks a third term.

While he had no dates listed, Beacom gave his itinerary for Texas: Brownsville, Laredo, San Antonio, Austin and El Paso. He planned to stop at Amarillo while on the return journey from the west coast, where he will go after leaving El Paso.

He Squared Himself With His Conscience

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 26 (AP)—An unnamed man today squared himself with his conscience and with 12 Northwest Texas and Oklahoma merchants for $150 worth of merchandise "taken from your establishment and not paid for."

Payment was made through cashier's checks. The letters were signed by a Wichita Falls attorney.

Was the merchandise stolen? Did the checks settle for long-forgotten accounts? How long did the matter remain on his conscience? The answers to these questions remained with the man and his attorney.

"I was paid a fee to preserve this man's confidence, and I will not break it under any circumstances. I believe he was perfectly sincere," said the attorney.

A Wichita Falls bank revealed that the 14 checks approximated $150 and were payable to Northwest Texas and Oklahoma stores for amounts of from $1 to $39.

Rattlers And Buffaloes To Go Saturday

CANYON, Oct. 26—West Texas state college's Buffaloes will battle the Rattlers of St. Mary's university of San Antonio on the local homecoming day next Saturday afternoon.

But the Buffs may take a lesson from their own schedule, there is always a chance for the home team on homecoming occasions. So it was last week when the Buffs met a spirited Oklahoma City university eleven on the latter's big day. O. C. U. won, 19-14, although there are several ways of showing that it could have been an upset.

The Buffaloes will perform on five homecoming occasions this year, which in the opinion of the coaches is far too many. But how to win their own game is the problem now.

Last week the Buffs lost to a team which was defeated by team (Texas Wesleyan) which played to a 14-14 tie with a team (St. Louis) which last week was defeated 47-0 by St. Mary's. In other words, the Rattlers are a powerful, well-advanced aggregation doped to win over the locals by several touchdowns.

Many local fans, however, believe the Buffs will yet emerge as the most powerful West Texas State eleven of recent years. If so, the sophomores will have to come through, and Pippin Foster Watkins must be given protection while he plays the air with passes.

Game time will be 3:30 p. m. The game will be preceded by a student-student parade, concert of visiting high school bands, and crowning of the football queen.

Prize Crop Of Grid Nicknames Bloom In South

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Maybe they have a livelier sense of humor or a more vivid imagination, but the writers behind the Mason-Dixon line have come up with Fordham's prize crop of football nicknames.

It really isn't a contest. When someone thought of calling Duke's George McAfee the "Iron-rod" because he came close to a seasonal high.

But there are others almost as good, such as: Charles (Smiling) Kate Anastasio, Louisiana State; George (Dog) Carter, Granville (Blermiak) Harrisson and Jack (Phantom) Nix, all of Mississippi State; Red (Paddletop) Hiestand and Ray (Bird Dog) Andrews of Vanderbilt; George (Bad News) Catefo and Leonard (Milkman) Coffman of Tennessee; J. B. (Pinhead) Henson, South Carolina, and Allan (Sweet Pea) Johnson, Duke.

And what else could they call R. C. Pitts of Arkansas but "Zazu"? In the southwest, the names are even more descriptive. Baylor's Mills Evans is known as "Crazy Legs." Jack Crain of Texas is the "Nucna Nugget" because he finds pay dirt, Chelsea Crouch of Southern Methodist is called "Chop Chop" because of his way he runs. So Joe (Boo-Hoo) Boy of Texas Aggies must be a pretty sad fellow.

Two song titles have given nicknames to grid stars. North Carolina's "Sweet" Lalanne was a natural, but it took the entire publicity campaign for Fordham to think up "Little Sir Wrecker" for John Kuzman, their big tackle.

Two Minnesota Gophers have odd nicknames. John Mariucci is known as "Mouse" and Harold Van Every, because he likes 'em, is called "Peanuts."

Tigers Ready For Clarendon Team

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

McLEAN, Oct. 26—Preparing for what they believe will be their hardest game of the season, the McLean Tigers went through a brisk scrimmage yesterday afternoon. They met the Clarendon Bronchos. District 3-A's burliest team, at McLean Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Coach "Cricket" Christian was cheered by an absence of any serious injury on his squad, although Back, first string quarterback, and Jones, right guard, both have injuries. However, they will be able to play Friday night.

Accurate blocking and line play by the Tigers enabled Mantooth and Bond, Tiger backs, to break loose on long runs which downed Memphis last Friday 24 to 13. If they are present Friday night, the Bronchos may not succeed in their efforts to stop Bond, McLean's big fullback, who, observers agree, is one of the hardest-running backs ever to grace the Panhandle prairies.

Sainte Genevieve, who lived in the fifth century, is the patron saint of Paris.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

The Humble Oilers rose up and took three games from the league-leading Texas Company five in the Class B bowling league at Berry. Always last night, E. & M. Cafe took two out of three from Gunn-Hinker man while Dr. Pepper dropped six games, three to Jones Everett and three to E. & M. Cafe in a post-poned series.

Heavier of the cafemen set up a new record when he topped 632 pins. He had two games of 234 each in the series.

Kaye Kicks Self Right On Varsity

By LOU BLACK

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 26 (AP)—Howie (Two-Plays) Kaye, Yale's place-kicking specialist, has a few words of advice for football managers.

"Boot a football long enough and you'll kick yourself right on to the varsity."

Light as college players go, the 160-pound halfback thought his gridding career was over when he broke an ankle in his freshman year. But he determined to stick close to the game. In order to do so and avoid injury, he went out for a managerial job.

Last spring, between rushing water out to the athletes and attending to other odd jobs, Kaye kicked a few placements and did it so well he was brought to the attention of Head Coach Ducky Pond. Ducky put him on the varsity before long, and Saturday at Ann Arbor, he may get a chance to deliver a vital boot against Michigan. Already at Middeburg, (Va.) Junior has delivered with his speciality in important spots. His field goal beat Columbia.

Alanreed Tournay Set For Dec. 1-2

ALANREED, Oct. 26—There will be a basketball tournament for both boys and girls in the Alanreed gymnasium on Dec. 1 and 2.

A number of teams have been invited to attend and a good attendance is expected. The officials have not been selected, but plans will be completed in the near future.

There will be night and day games for both the boys and girls.

The Junior High Reapers do not have a game this week but on next Friday, they play LePors Junior High here.

SERIAL STORY

JOAN OF ARKANSAS

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Kay Granger wins the homecoming queen election. Keith doesn't get in from the celebration until 1:30. Webber is snappy, later blames Joan for keeping Keith out. She starts to protest that she did keep Keith from drinking, then stops, walks away from Dan.

CHAPTER XIV

A HIGH-GEARED Tech steam-roller crushed West Virginia that Saturday and started preparation for the homecoming game with Vanderbilt.

"Won't be able to see you at all this week," Keith told Joan in class Monday. "Slocum is going absolutely punch-nutty. Honest, the poor guy is going around muttering to himself. Why, his wife has forbidden him to drive the car because he can't get his mind off football. She's afraid he'll wrap himself around a tree while trying to dope out a new play."

Keith shook his head dolefully. "He's got us eating, thinking and dreaming football. And that means there'll be no homecoming dance for us Friday night. We thought maybe the Old Man would let us show up for a half hour or so but he's afraid some second string tackle will break an ankle shagging. So," he sighed, "we don't stir out of the Country Club."

"Gee," she said. "Too bad. We could have had fun."

"I can get one of the boys to take you . . ." he offered. "Nope, that's out. No more pinch-hitting."

HOMEcoming activities really got under way Friday. Young grads, old grads—they poured back for two days of riotous reminiscence. They descended upon the university district and really look over.

Joan met so-and-so from '32 and some others from '34. And then there was a flock of matronly Alpha Nus from '24 and '25 who stopped in with paucity, semi-hair husbands.

"Something for us to look forward to," Elaine cracked. "All but a handful of girls had dates for the dance that night in the gym. Kay Granger, done up in black marquisette, was prepared to reign in all her queenly glory."

"To put it in simple words," said Joan, sweeping a glance over her, "you're the nuts."

"Did you ever stop to think that you might have been standing here instead of me had you so desired?" Kay asked softly. Joan pushed her out of the room. "C'mon, get going before I start bawling. I'm not going to your little party, y'know. And besides, Bob Lake has been waiting for you for 15 minutes."

Bob Lake, as chairman of the homecoming committee, was Kay's escort for the dance, and the game next day. He was a Delta Rho from Memphis and had a cute southern drawl. "Have fun," said Joan as they went out the door.

SATURDAY was crisp and golden, not only from the bright November sun but from thousands of mums that were in evidence. Sitting in the stands, Joan, Carol and the others felt a glow of pride as they witnessed the pregame ceremonies. A motorcade of cars rolled around the running track and came to a stop before a portable microphone. That was when Kay took over.

She greeted the returning grads and enthusiastically kissed the rival captains good luck as a battery of photographers went to work. Then as an afterthought Kay ran over and gave Barney Hughes an extra smack for good measure and the crowd roared.

"Cute, eh?" Elaine giggled. The more serious business at hand wasn't quite so cute. Vandy, although the underdog, was loaded for 'bear. Even though the southerners were crippled by injuries they put up a terrific battle until they ran out of competent reserves in the last half.

Midway in the third quarter, skipping lightly behind Dan Webber, who rode the Vanderbilt end all the way out of the play, Keith went down to the 6-yard line on a 35-yard jaunt. Tony Mangano bucked it over in two plays. A few minutes later Johnny Whitehead one straight down the middle. Barney took it on the dead run, picked up a couple of interferences and went over standing up.

OLD MAN SLOCUM ruled with an iron hand before any game but he always let up after it was over. The Gammas celebrated the week-end with an informal dance at the house, and this time Joan didn't miss.

Keith kissed her lightly in the car when he called for her and she gave him a hug. "Nice going today, Rhodes. We really poured it onto them, didn't we?" "Yeah, once we got started," said Joan, sweeping a glance over her, "you're the nuts."

"I don't believe what I read in the papers," she whispered. "Fine. Then let's go out and see for ourselves. You're right about not trusting the papers."

"There it is. Take a look. Big as a basketball." She looked up and he took her in his arms and kissed her—hard. He kissed her again and held it for a long moment. "Hey," she gasped. "Give me air."

When she looked up over Keith's shoulder she saw Dan Webber looking at them from the terrace. He was alone. Dan stared at them for a brief second, then turned and went back inside.

33 Conference Games To Be Played This Week-End

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff

"The Battle of the Bengals"—A traditional game between Corsicana and Waco—made Central Texas the mecca of school football fans today. It is the supreme test for the Corsicana Tigers, long-time favorites to advance far in the state race. Tomorrow night they meet the Waco Tigers, a powerful, high-scoring machine that hopes for a better fate than has befallen Paul Tyson's clubs in the past few years.

One-point defeats have been the nemesis of Tyson's Bengals and for that reason they must stop Wally Spencer, the flying phantom of Corsicana's backfield. Coming with the Corsicana-Waco game in interest will be the clash of San Angelo and Sweetwater at San Angelo. These two teams are members of the fast-diminishing undefeated, untied list and also are top district 3 favorites.

It is by far the biggest week of the campaign with 33 conference games. Also it bears indications of being a banner week for upsets—especially for the teams with perfect records. Of the eleven remaining, a half dozen face opponents liable to take them for a ride. These teams and their opponents for the week include: Electra vs. Vernon, El Paso High vs. Ysleta, Gainesville vs. Greenville, North Dallas vs. Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), Breckenridge vs. Ranger, Livingston vs. Galveston, South Park (Beaumont) vs. Fort Arthur, Austin vs. Jefferson (San Antonio) and McAllen vs. Harlingen.

This week's complete schedule by districts:

Special To The NEWS

PANHANDLE, Oct. 26.—The leading football game in this immediate section Friday afternoon will be between the Panhandle Panthers and the Wellington Skyrockets. The game has been called for 2:30 p. m. at Panhandle.

These teams, who have been in the finals the past two years in Region 1 football, will take up where they left off early last December when Wellington won the regional title here 12 to 6 in a closely contested game.

As Berger is idle and Pampa and Amarillo play in the South Plains Friday, fans will have their best opportunity for a top notch game in this area at Panhandle Friday afternoon.

Following the Wellington game, Panhandle will be idle a week-end, and then it will go down the line in three conference games with White Deer, Perryton and Phillips. Panhandle has already defeated Canadian and Spearman in conference games.

Panhandle, Perryton and White Deer are undefeated in conference play to date. With Perryton to play White Deer this week, one of these teams will be eliminated in conference play.

Captain Coffee, who did not play in the Spearman game, should be in the line-up this week, said Coach Jack Atkins. George Dennis, who has been out all season with injuries, will be a starter at end in the Wellington game. Coffee will take his halfback position and Robertson will be switched to fullback, alternating the place with Duby.

Tom Harmon Will Be Watched Saturday

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (AP)—The All-America possibilities of Tom Harmon, a top ranking gridiron gladiator boy of this football season, will go squarely on the spot next Saturday afternoon.

Before a crowd which may go as high as 70,000 persons, Michigan will entertain Yale at Ann Arbor—with Harmon the young man most of the customers will be watching. This triple-threat Wolverine ace thus far has done everything required of a great star. He's scored 52 points in three games, making seven touchdowns, seven points after touchdowns, one field goal and passing Michigan to numerous additional points.

But he had turped in that remarkable performance against three comparatively weak eleven—Michigan State, Iowa and Chicago.

Bucks To Be Outweighed Friday Night

Special To The NEWS

WHITE DEER, Oct. 26.—The fleet White Deer Bucks will try to keep their record clean by downing the heavier Perryton Rangers in their third conference game of the season on the Bucks' field at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Although the Bucks re outweighed about 20 pounds to the man, and three regulars will be out of the line-up, they will fight one of the most powerful teams in the district. Perryton has shown considerable power in downing the Wellington Skyrockets and the Phillips Blackhawks, while White Deer has shown offensive strength by crushing the Canadian Wildcats, 51-0.

This will be one of the most important and probably one of the most thrilling games in the class A division in the Panhandle. A large crowd from both towns is expected to see the game.

New York Giants To Play Night Games

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Despite long-standing objections of Manager Bill Terry, the New York Giants have decided to install a lighting system in the Polo Grounds and play a full quota of night games next summer, both at home and on the road.

The Giants thus became the last of the big league clubs to haul down their smilt banner and succumb to the financial lure of the arps. Up to now Terry stubbornly has refused to expose his athletes to the night air, but he evidently has been overruled at last. An official announcement will be made in about a week. This will leave Yankee Stadium, alone of the three local ball plants without a lighting system. Brooklyn made a mint of money with its night games at Ebbets Field the past season. The Yankees are willing to play a few night games away from home, but President Ed Barrow is dead set against installing lights—"at least for 1940."

Terry, who has said he never, never would play under lights, will have to shade his eyes and like it.

Texas Girl Injured At Garden Rodeo

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Mary Nell Edwards of Big Spring, Tex., 17, was injured during the opening of the performances last night of the Madison Square Garden rodeo, when her horse bolted and she was crashed against another rider.

A preliminary examination showed she suffered a torn knee cartilage, cuts about the thighs and a sprained left ankle.

The accident occurred during the grand entry but the girl continued to ride throughout most of the routine in which the cowboys and cowgirls were introduced, until her injuries became so painful she had to leave the arena.

The best-man custom at weddings originated in caveman days. Grooms carried off their brides by force, and a faithful friend helped in the escape by warding off attacks by the girl's kinsmen.
