SPECIAL PENSION SESSION APPEARS LIKELY

Large Crowd Expected At C-C Luncheon

Borger Group To Furnish Program Tuesday Noon

A large attendance is expected tomorrow noon at the joint luncheon of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce at noon at the First Methodist church basement.

A delegation from Borger, leaders in the movement to dam the Canadian River near Sanford, headed by Fritz Thompson, will be guests of the Pampa Chamber.

Thompson, the luncheon speaker, will discuss the advantages to Pampa of the proposed project. He will discuss the local effects of flood control, possible irrigation, recreation, construction, possible water supply and other advantages that Pampa might secure when the project is constructed.

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the project and has agreed to lend it every possible encouragement.

Bob Lindsey, president of the Borger Chamber of Commerce, and other Borger citizens interested in the project are expected to attend.

Walter Rogers, representing the Fire Prevention committee, will call attention to National Fire Prevention Week that started Sunday.

Resident Of County For 40 Years Dies

John Wesley Gordon, 73, a resident of the Panhandle for nearly 40 years, died at the family home 311 North Hobart street at 11 o'clock Sunday night of a heart ailment.

He was stricken late Friday night after returning home from the Lions club carnival and suffered three more attacks before his death.

Mr. Gordon was born in Sonoma county, Cal., but with his parents moved to Cook county, Texas, in 1866. He moved to Gray county, southwest of Miami, in 1899 two years after his marriage, settling on a ranch. A few years later he started farming and moved to Pampa to make his home. Excepting for eight years spent in Clarendon, Mr. Gordon made Pampa his home until his death. Mrs. Gordon preceded him in death June 8, 1936.

Surviving Mr. Gordon are two daughters, Mrs. G. R. Robinson, Port Arthur, and Miss Alice Gordon, New Orleans, La., two sons, Joseph Gordon and Robert Gordon, both of Pampa, three grandsons, Gordon, Jimmy and Thomas Robinson, a sister, Mrs. S. P. Hearse, Mobeetie, and a brother, E. G. Gordon, Miami.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the First Methodist church, of which he was a longtime member, by the Rev. W. M. Pearce, pastor. Burial will be in Miami cemetery by the side of his wife and mother under direction of Clay Funeral home of Pampa.

Funeralbearers will be P. C. Ledrick, R. R. Watson and John Osborne, all of Pampa, W. R. Campbell, J. Marvin Daugherty, Hoover, and J. R. Porter, Clarendon.

Chandler Appointed Kentucky Senator

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 9 (AP)—Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler resigned today and was succeeded by Lieut. Gov. Egan Johnson who immediately appointed Chandler to the Senate, succeeding the late M. M. Logan.

Chandler was appointed to the Senate vacancy caused by the death of Senator Logan last Tuesday.

The senator plans to leave Frankfort tonight for Washington.

50 Pampans To Meet For Kickoff Rally

More than 50 Pampa men will meet at breakfast in Hotel Schneider at 7:30 a. m. Tuesday to get their final instructions before beginning a city-wide canvass in Pampa's annual Salvation Army fund drive.

The Army is seeking $5,000 to carry on relief work in the city during the coming year. It is the only direct relief organization now functioning in the city. There will be no other drives this year for direct relief money.

Arthur M. Teed, general chairman of the drive, asked all team members to be present at the breakfast in the morning. He also stressed the importance of attendance at the breakfast by members of the Salvation Army advisory board.

Mr. Teed also called attention to the fact that the Salvation Army had pledged of $4,600 in the 1938 drive and that less than $125 was unpaid, an unusually small percentage of loss on pledges.

The Rev. W. M. Pearce, pastor of the First Methodist church in Pampa, will be the principal speaker at the "kick-off" breakfast tomorrow. Envoy Frederick Lang of Dallas, here to aid the drive, also will speak briefly.

Immediately following the breakfast the team members will begin their canvass of the city.

Team members who will work in the drive are:

Lions Club—Ewing Leach, Bert Hobson, Raymond Brumley, Mack

GMAC Tested In Anti-Trust Trial

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 9 (AP)—The anti-trust trial of the General Motors Corporation and affiliates—legal test of sales finance methods allegedly used by big automobile manufacturers—was scheduled to start federal district court here today.

Defendants with the motor firm were its finance companies, the General Motors Sales Corporation and the General Motors Acceptance Corporation, and 19 officials, notably chairman Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., and President William S. Knudsen.

Interested onlookers were others of the Detroit automotive "big three"—the Ford Motor company and the Chrysler Corporation. The extent of their freedom to promote their own finance companies hinged upon the outcome of the trial.

A grand jury in session five days indicted the three companies, eight affiliates and 50 individuals here May 27, 1938.

Three almost identical indictments charged that they plotted to set up a monopoly, in violation of the Sherman act, by forcing dealers to finance sales through the manufacturers' own credit firms. This action, the indictment held, did "irreparable damage" to small finance companies.

Later the Ford and Chrysler defendants entered consent charges admitting the practices charged and agreeing to stop them in return for a suspension of the prosecution.

Russia Calls Allies Silly And Criminal

Britain, France Urged To Settle War Immediately

MOSCOW, Oct. 9 (AP)—Soviet Russia threw her weight behind Adolf Hitler's peace gestures today in an editorial in the government newspaper Izvestia, accusing Great Britain and France of "returning to the middle ages" for waging war to "exterminate Hitlerism."

At the same time, it was announced Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov had reached a quiet decision last night with leaders of a German trade delegation.

Izvestia asserted British-French arguments that the war must be prolonged to crush Hitlerism "marks as return to the gloomy middle ages when devastating religious wars were carried on for the purpose of the extermination of heretics and people of different religions."

"It is impossible," the newspaper declared, "to exterminate any idea or any opinion by fire and sword."

"One may respect or hate Hitlerism or any other system of political opinions. This is a matter of taste. But to begin a war for the extermination of Hitlerism means to admit to criminal silliness in policy."

Izvestia said the rapid "disintegration" of Poland was "irrefutable proof that its lack of vital power removes the cause for continuation of the war in western Europe."

It continued: "Even the blind can now see that the Polish state cannot be restored to its former shape and on

Red Cross Roll Call Plans Made

Plans for the annual Red Cross roll call, to begin November 13, were discussed with the local board this morning with O. K. Gaylor, roll call chairman. The board also approved a financial report.

Instead of asking for single memberships this year, firm memberships will be sought because of the additional burden on the Red Cross through local needs and also the European war.

Fifty cents of all individual memberships remain in the local chapter with the balance being sent to the National headquarters regardless of whether a personal membership is $1 or more. All firm memberships, however, remain in the local chapter fund.

Names of several solicitors were filed at the meeting and Chairman Gaylor issued a call for more workers.

Present at this morning's meeting were Alex Schneider, chapter president, Mrs. W. H. Davis, secretary, O. K. Gaylor, the Rev. Robert Boshen, L. L. McCalm, Frank Monroe and Miss Mary Cunningham of St. Louis, field representative.

Municipal Power Plant Upheld By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to interfere with a decision permitting Texas, Texas, to build a power plant and distribution system with funds from a PWA loan and grant.

The Southwestern Gas and Electric company, which now furnishes electric service in the city under a franchise, appealed from the fifth federal circuit court. That court ruled that the company had no standing to challenge the legality of the city's action.

Under the agreement between PWA and the city, the latter is granted $245,000 and loaned $300,000 for the construction of the municipal power system.

Balbo's Newspaper Calls Bolsheviks 'Frauds, Monsters'

ROME, Oct. 9 (AP)—The newspaper Il Corriere Padano, owned by Air Marshal Italo Balbo, governor of Libya, declared today in an editorial that the Fascists were born anti-Communist and are determined to remain.

The editorial was interpreted as a rebuke to some Italian papers which printed favorable articles about Soviet Russia after the development of the new German-Russian partnership.

Il Corriere demanded "not a gram of esteem, not an ounce of sympathy for the Bolsheviks."

"For us," the editorial said, "they are and always will be tragic clowns, professional frauds, models of coarse bestiality and living monsters in the service of the most inhuman, infamous degradation that universal history records."

Britain In 'Complete Accord' Chamberlain Tells Commons

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today Britain and France were "in complete accord" as to the purposes of their participation in the European war, which they frequently expressed, and that any more specific statement of their war aims would be evolved through consultation of the two powers.

Chamberlain's statement was in reply to a question by Laborite Arthur Henderson, who asked "whether it is the policy of his majesty's government to publish in due course of time and jointly with the French government a specific statement of war aims based on principles already enunciated."

"His majesty's government and the French government are in complete accord as to the purposes for which they entered the war," Chamberlain replied.

Lions Carnival Open Tonight And Tuesday

Rain forced the Pampa Lions club to suspend their annual carnival Saturday night, soon after the doors opened for what was to have been the final run of the three-day show. The carnival will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night. Location of the show is on the Santa Fe right of way on West, Atchison.

To sustain the interest of the public new prizes are being offered. The bingo table again proved the most lucrative attraction of the charity circus on Saturday night, with proceeds amounting to $20, soon after the show opened.

Proceeds of the carnival go into the Lions club fund for the benefit of underprivileged children. A crowd of 700 persons attending the opening of the show on Thursday night. Friday night's performance also drew a good crowd, and the Lions had expected the biggest gate at the show on the final night. In order to pay expenses and derive proceeds for the fund, the show has been extended.

W. Lee Gets Answers To His Letters

Capital Steaming With Speculation Over Replies

AUSTIN, Oct. 9 (AP)—The capital steamed today with speculation over the probable result of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's poll of members of the Legislature and the likelihood of a special session again to consider the burning question of social security financing.

Replies to the Governor's letter mailed Saturday to Senators and Representatives are coming in to the executive offices but there was no announcement regarding their contents.

Concensus among capital observers was that a session was probable but the date of convening was uncertain. Some thought it would be soon, possibly within two weeks, while others believed it might be delayed until January.

Four Answer Letter

Four members of the House made public a copy of a joint letter to the Governor, replying to his communication, declaring they believed it would be unwise to permit the provisions of "S. J. R. 12" to be introduced in a special session.

The members were Reps. H. C. Baker of Rosenberg, Delmar L. King of Garner, Jack Langdon of Glen Rose and Leighton Cornett of Clarksville.

The letter said a bill containing substantially the same provisions as embodied in "S. J. R. 12" was "disapproved by an expressed vote of a majority of the House when the House voted a complete substitute for it."

Instead, the representatives advocated an omnibus tax bill similar to one which in the general session received approval of 116 representatives but got nowhere in the Senate.

They said it would be easier for the Governor to persuade six Senators to vote for the omnibus bill than it would be to convince 29 members of the House to change their minds on a statutory sales tax modeled after the provisions of S. J. R. 12.

It was explained the omnibus tax bill would tax luxuries, large estates and special interests. In this broadcast Sunday, Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel announced he had written legislators to ascertain whether they would support a specific tax bill and whether, on the basis of the replies, an extraordinary session was justifiable.

Similar to revenue provisions of famous "S. J. R. 12," defeated in bitter battle at the regular session, the bill would call for a two percent "consumer" tax on the sale of tangible personal property, a two percent tax on the sale of public utility services and a 25 percent increase in taxes on natural resources.

The purpose would be to raise revenue temporarily for old age See O'DANIEL, Page 8

10,000 Fired In 'Slow Down' Strike

DETROIT, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Chrysler Corporation closed its Dodge division twenty minutes after the start of operations today and sent 10,000 workers home.

Herman L. Weckler, vice-president in charge of Chrysler operations, said union employees had started a "slow down" strike after the management had refused to rehire 64 employees dismissed last week.

Weckler said both the dismissals Friday and the shutdown today were brought about by employees allowing automobiles on the final assembly line to go past untouched, disrupting production.

Speakers Call For Jampacked Churches Sunday

Pampa's annual Go-To-Church appeal was launched over the radio Sunday afternoon when Paul Hill, speaking in the absence of General Chairman C. H. Schulkey, was heard over Station KPDM.

Mr. Hill, representing the layman's viewpoint, addressed his appeal to all residents in the Pampa area. He urged that they become possessed of the spirit of the go-to-church movement and asked that they particularly re-dedicate their lives in this respect with a new start on next Sunday, Oct. 15, which will be observed in all Pampa churches as "Go-To-Church" Sunday.

It is to be hoped, Mr. Hill pointed out, that every Pampa church will be jammed to the doors next Sunday, and that the inspirations received on that day will continue to make the people church-minded on each Sunday throughout the year.

Mr. Hill called attention to the fact that speakers, urging church attendance, will be on the radio at 12:30 o'clock noon daily over KPDM all this week through Friday.

At noon today G. C. Stark, superintendent of the Sunday School at Central Baptist church, and the Rev. Fr. Ambrose Kenney, assistant pastor of Holy Souls church, spoke in behalf of the church movement. Two more speakers will be heard at the same hour Tuesday.

Windshield stickers, carrying the go-to-church message, were distributed in Pampa churches Sunday.

It Belongs To You

As editor of the high school paper, it is my duty to acquaint you with the purposes and aims of the school paper.

Our page is published not merely to entertain the students through the columns of the Sagebrush and the features, but to serve in a serious and more profitable manner.

First it is to provide the school with news. Through no other source could you find out all that happens in the school each day. It provides a medium for the publication of articles written by students in journalism and in English. Any student who writes a theme which the teacher considers outstanding, may have it published in the Little Harvester.

Another purpose is to help sponsor school activities. The student council, the faculty and the school paper, working in collaboration, can make Pampa High one of the best schools in Texas. Through special articles it is the duty of the paper to honor the attainments of individuals. It strives to encourage cooperation between the community and the school through keeping both students and patrons well informed of the activities of the school.

To encourage the ideals of true sportsmanship is one of its greater objectives. Through recognition of outstanding endeavors on the part of the students, it helps to promote scholarship. Its greatest problem is to record the history of the school in permanent form. Nowhere on file can you find a more complete record of the past happenings of the school.

If we as a group, do not publish all the material the students feel should be in, we have failed in our aim. If such a thing happens, let some member of the staff know about it.

E. W. Cabe Speaks On Schools Over Radio Program

"There are more people associated with the school than any other enterprise in our community," stated E. W. Cabe, supervisor of instruction of Pampa schools, in a talk on the 30-minute radio program presented by Pampa schools, Friday afternoon, from the auditorium of Senior High school.

Mr. Cabe announced that there are 129 teachers, 12 custodians, and over 3,400 students, nearly 3,600 associated with the school. The total valuation is $27,000,000, and the budget is $330,000 each year. He said the enrollment exceeds the scheduled capacity by some 780 pupils.

The A Cappella choir presented two numbers, "Climb! Up the Mountain" and "Today There Is Ringing."

Several members from the Baker school had parts on the program. Among those were a talk on the physical education program by Aaron Meeks, principal; a story by Claude Giles; a clarinet solo by Dee Griffith; and a flute solo by Winona Wise, band director.

Miss Margaret Williams was accompanist for all musical selections. Mr. Cabe announced numbers.

Juniors Choose

Ross Buzzard As Class President

Ross Buzzard was elected president of the junior class last Wednesday during homeroom period. Billy Moutins was chosen vice-president and Tolene Davis, secretary.

Ross was president of the sophomore class last year. While in Junior High, he was president of the Leaders club. He also was president of the Junior High Dramatics club and won first place in interschool debating.

Billy has been business manager of the Harvester football team for two years. While in Junior High he was business manager of the Reaper team. He played basketball for two years.

Tolene is a member of the annual staff. Her freshman year in Junior High she was secretary-treasurer. She's a member of LaRosa society. As a freshman she won a trip to San Antonio in home economics. This is the beginning of the second year in Pampa for Tolene.

Students Named For Positions On Harvester Staff

Nichols To Occupy Status of Editor

Following a four-weeks trial period, twelve students were chosen for positions on the Little Harvester. The staff is as follows: Jeanette Nichols, editor; Jack Johnson, school editor; Peggy Williams, news editor; Hugh Stennis and Ed Terrell, sports editors; Donna Day and Tommy Close, feature editors; Mary Lee Morris, art; Jewel Hill, exchange editor; Pat Flanagan, distribution manager; and Jo Simmons and Elouise Nollner, typists.

Assistants to write headlines are Bobby Dan Lane, Vaughn Darnell and Billy Behrman. Reporters are Joe Cargile, Billie Jean Buck, Betty Jean Carlson, Gertrude Ingram, Geneva Nichols, Georgie Reeve and Billy Jean Buck.

Jeanette was editor of the Little Harvester last year and was editor of the Junior High paper in the school which she attended.

Jack has been sports editor of the Little Harvester two years. He is a member of Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists and is a member of the annual staff. He is a member of Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists and is a member of the annual staff.

Peggy was headline editor of the Little Harvester last year. She is a member of the Quill and Scroll and the National Honor Society and is president of the French club.

Hugh was editor of the Little Harvester last year and was editor of the Quill and Scroll. Ed plays guard on the football team. Donna Day was on the typing team last year and belonged to the Debate club. Tommy Close was exchange editor of the Little Harvester year before last. She was chosen the most popular girl in her class for three consecutive years. She represented the school in extemporaneous speaking last year.

Mary Lee is a member of the band. Jewel is a pep squad member. Pat is a new student, but he worked on the paper in the town from which he came.

Jo Simmons and Elouise Nollner are new students from Canyon. They typed for the Eagles Tale, the Canyon High school paper.

Student Council Sponsors Dance

Pampa High swung and swayed last Friday night in the high school gymnasium while the Harvester staff sponsored the student council.

The social and finance committees of the council planned the dance. The social committee is composed of Bonnie Lee Rose, chairman, Nevin Johnson and Ray Boyles; and the finance committee consists of Anna Belle Lard, chairman, Joe Nelson and Kathleen Palmer.

The music was furnished by a nickelodeon. The Harvester-Oiney game was broadcast.

Chaperons were Miss Anne Louise Jones and Aubrey Steele, sponsors of the student council.

Outweighed at almost every position the Guerillas resorted to a passing attack that clicked but could not overcome Kelton's advantage. Kelton won by the score of 13 to 7.

Wayne Fade

Southern fried chicken! That is what Walter Wayne Fade attributes his football success to. "Cherry pie is good, too," Wayne will tell you in his bashful way.

Pagin's life ambition is to become a doctor or a mechanical engineer. Gary Cooper and Ann Sheridan are his favorite movie characters. In girls he prefers red or Auburn tresses. This is Wayne's first season on the Harvesters and he is holding down a first team berth as left guard.

From reports which the Harvesters brought back from Casper, Pagin had almost as good a time as did Warner Phillips.

My favorite teachers are Miss Bruce, Miss Anne Louise Jones, Mrs. Alexander and Mr. Herd. Wayne reports, "but I can get along with any of them!" Wayne is a senior.

"Chief" Carlisle

James Chief Carlisle, Harvester halfback, came to Pampa three years ago from Dallas, and he played football for the first time with the Harvesters last year. Carlisle plans to attend college, and he hopes to play football there.

Chief, after a prolonged debate, decided that the irresistible combination of "Oomph Girl" and a redneck was just "too much" for him; so Ann Sheridan scores again. However, Chief isn't far behind her in scoring. Spencer Tracy also stands high in this plunging Harvester's estimation.

This is Carlisle's last year with the Harvesters. Although he is classified as a junior, he will have passed the age limit.

"Chief Wahoo—ugh!" But it's his grandfather, not James, that let out the war whoops. Chief isn't much like his old time ancestors as far as war-paint and feathers go; but when he goes out to bring home the bacon, he always comes back with the pigskin.

A Cappella Choir Sings For Kiwanis Convention

Thirty-Seven Make Trip To Wichita

Members of the A Cappella choir left Sunday morning for the Kiwanis Club District convention held at Wichita Falls. Miss Helen Martin, director, made the trip.

Yesterday the choir sang at a religious musicale in the First Methodist church of Wichita Falls. "Today There Is Ringing" and "Cherubim Song" were sung. Other programs not scheduled will be attended today, explained Miss Helen Martin, director of the A Cappella choir.

Members of the choir attended a barbecue Sunday night and will attend a dance tonight. They will return Tuesday afternoon.

Choir members who made the trip are Maxine Holt, Charlyne Jaynes, Lucille Johnson, Clarabel Jones, Jeanne Knox, Jeanne Lively, Norma Jean McKinney, Janet McMullen, Dorothy Miskimins, Harriett Price, Vera Sackett, Betty Jean Sperry, Orene Alford, Mary Etta Burba, Jimmie Enloe, Dorothy Fisher, Helen Harris, Meribelle Hazard, Anna Belle Lard, Jerry Smith, Betty Jean Tieman.

The music was furnished by a nickelodeon. The Harvester-Oiney game was broadcast.

Chaperons were Miss Anne Louise Jones and Aubrey Steele, sponsors of the student council.

Karr, Evans Take Oath Of Office Last Wednesday

A Cappella Choir Sings In Assembly

Student council officers: Bobbie Karr and James Evans, president and vice president respectively took the oath of office in the assembly last Wednesday. Other representatives to the council were introduced.

The A Cappella choir under the direction of Miss Helen Martin sang "Oh Susannah," "Today There Is Ringing," which they sang at the Kiwanis convention at Wichita Falls and "Climb! Up the Mountain."

A girls trio composed of Meribelle Hazard, Betty Jean Tieman and Clarabel Jones sang "Moon Love" and "Freckle Face," which they dedicated to Cecil Branscum. Harry Kelley spoke on loyalty to your school and to the team.

Announcements were made by Bonnie Lee Rose concerning the dance last Friday night, by Carl Brown about caring for school property, and by Miss Evelyn Gregory concerning the election of junior class officers.

Seven Student Council Boards Named Monday

Seven committees for the ensuing year appointed by the executive council last Monday were voted on and accepted at the last student council meeting.

Those committees are social, led and found, the publicity and bulletin board, the assembly, the school property, the finance and the usher bodies.

On the social committee are Bonnie Lee Rose, chairman, Nevin Johnson and Ray Boyles. The last and found committee is made up of Jack Morehead, chairman, Mary Nell Minatre and Geneva Welton.

On the publicity and bulletin board committee are Junior Frasier, chairman, Blanche Day, Bill Puckett and Hershel King. Jack Johnson, chairman, Ross Buzzard and James Evans are on the assembly committee. On the school property committee are Carl Brown, chairman, Budgy Wilson, Geneva Cooper and Edwin Taylor. The finance committee is composed of Anna Belle Lard, chairman, Joe Nelson and Kathleen Palmer. The usher committee has Don Mendez as chairman and Irwin Miskimins.

Harvesters Play Plainview First Conference Game

Friday night at Plainview the Pampa Harvesters play Plainview in their first conference tilt of the 1939 season. For the past week the Harvesters have been drilling in practice to stop the strong Bulldog eleven which is rated as a leading contender for the district one championship.

Plainview is the only undefeated team in district one. They hold a victory over Borger in the only conference game played so far. Tied in score and penetrations, Plainview won the game by making 13 first downs to Borger's 10. Friday Plainview defeated Quanah 19 to 0.

Pampa has won only one of their four games but are improving with every game, according to Coach Ocus Mitchell. Central High of Oklahoma City fell before the Harvesters 7 to 8 and in the last game the Harvesters lost to a strong Oiney team 7 to 8.

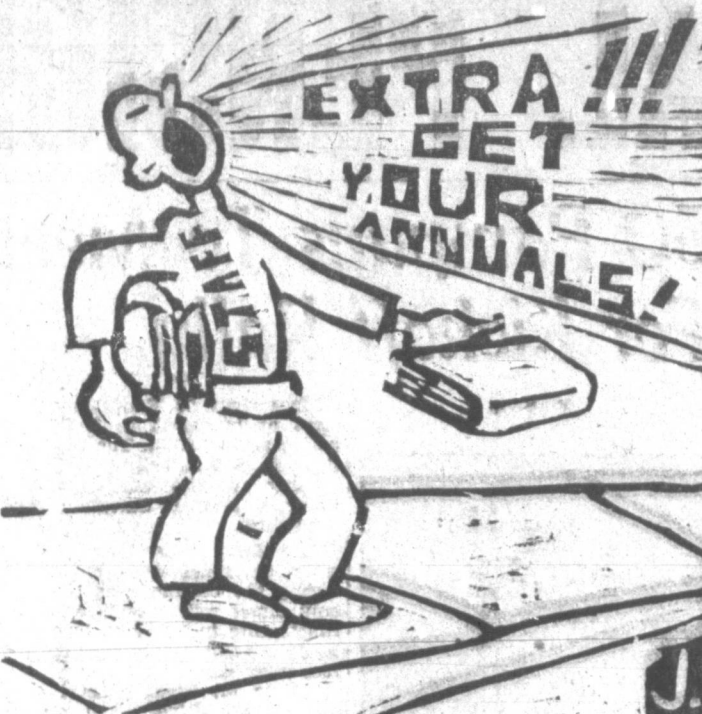

James Carlisle, powerhouse of the Pampa backfield, will not be able to play in the Plainview game because of a broken bone in his foot. The Harvesters will miss his power and line backing.

Architects Present School Plans To Board Wednesday

New Building To Be By Harvester Park

Plans for a possible new school building were presented by Towne and Funk, architects from Amarillo, at a call meeting of the Board of Education and school officials held last Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the city hall.

Needs for the new school building were outlined by Superintendent L. L. Stone and Principal D. F. Osborne. The crowded condition in the elementary schools is not a new situation. There has been a need for room for five or six years.

Each year for fourteen years, ward school children have been placed in temporary cottages on the campuses of Pampa schools. Some of these cottages have been moved two or three times. The average membership in each classroom of the elementary schools is 35 to 40. Every available corner is being used in high school.

The new plans are to bring the sixth grade to Junior High school and the fifth graders who live near Junior High school. After taking 200 students to the new high school, there will be 1,100 students left on the campus of Junior High school.

The building as planned will contain 27 class rooms, five laboratories, a band room, a library, a cafeteria, an auditorium and a gymnasium. A small separate building will be built for the shop and agriculture rooms.

The new building will be just south of Harvester park, facing Mary Ellen street. A picture of how the new building will look when completed is on display in the Pampa Drug.

An application was filed last year for a new building, costing $350,000, but was rejected because the federal government had ceased to grant P. W. A. projects for this kind of work. Estimated cost for the new building is $245,000.

A definite statement concerning the new building was made this afternoon at a meeting held at 2:30 o'clock in the city hall.

School Sponsors Specials to Game

Special trains will be sponsored by the school to Plainview and Lubbock, according to Superintendent L. L. Stone.

The round-trip ticket to Plainview will be $1.95 and to Lubbock, $2.65. A sufficient number of tickets must be sold or the trains will not be run, Mr. Stone reports.

Last year a special train was run to Amarillo.

Johnson Begins 1939-40 Annual Sales Campaign

Two Sophomores Buy First Books

Jack Johnson started the ball rolling for 1939-40 annual sales when he sold the first books at Harry Hoyle's and Burl Graham, sophomores. The sales campaign started last week after the staff held the first meeting. The price of the book was set at $2.50.

All seniors are asked to have their pictures made as quickly as possible. A fee of 50 cents will be charged for the proofs until November 1, and after that date the price will be raised to 75 cents.

Fletcher's Studio will have charge of the photography. Seniors may go to the studio from 5 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon or the third or fourth periods if they have a study hall at that time.

A box for snapshots has been placed on the door of 205 and all students are asked to deposit there any snapshots that they possibly can.

Annuals may be bought by making a deposit of $1.50 to any of the following staff members: Joan Gurley, Anna Belle Lard, Jack Johnson, senior; Tolene Davis, Billy Behrman, juniors; Kathleen Palmer, John Knox, sophomores; and Beatrice Stotts, Jane Crouch, freshmen.

Olney Club Beats Harvesters 7 to 6

Although outgaining Olney, the Harvesters were noed out 7 to 6. The game ended with Pampa in possession of the ball on Olney's four-yard line with two downs left. Dunaway accounted for Pampa's touchdown.

James Carlisle, left half-back, broke a bone in his foot and will be lost the rest of the season. Carlisle was the powerhouse of the Pampa backfield as well as being a top-notch line-backer and his loss for the season would hurt the team more than the loss of the game.

The Harvesters rolled up 203 yards from scrimmage to Olney's 230 and outgained them through the air 68 yards to 45. Pampa also led in first downs 15 to 7.

Dunaway kept the Cubs away from our goal line with long punts which averaged 49 yards for each kick.

Collins, Olney quarterback, accounted for most of the Cubs' yardage and scored their only touchdown. He converted for the extra point that won the game.

FFA Boys Attend Fair At Dallas

Four delegates from the F. F. A. chapter attended the State encampment and Future Farmer Day at the State Fair in Dallas, last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The boys were guests of the State Fair along with 1,500 Future Farmers of Texas.

The delegates, Herndon Sloan, Bill Scofield, Thomas Gower and Oran Rake, left Friday morning and returned Sunday evening, accompanied by J. L. Lester, sponsor.

Last Thursday the Green Hands, first year agriculture boys, were initiated into the F. F. A. club at a regular meeting.

The next regular meeting of the F. F. A. will be held Thursday evening in the agriculture building at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Lester urges all members to be present.

Problems In Growing House Plants Discussed

Local gardeners are becoming more interested every day in the appearance of their flowers which are to be entered in the annual exhibit of the Pampa Garden club which is set for Friday, October 13, in the annex of First Presbyterian church.

A timely paper on "House Plants" has been prepared by D. L. Parker to benefit Pampa flower growers. The article is as follows:

"As the winter season is rapidly approaching some thought should be given to what house plants we can have in the home this winter, how to take care of them, the proper soil, and several other problems that go into raising plants successfully in the home.

"First of all we should carefully select plants that have been tried and tested for indoor cultivation. The conditions with which living plants have to contend when brought into our ordinary living rooms are trying indeed. The fluctuations of temperature are usually not only great, but also sudden; light is neither uniform nor abundant, and the atmosphere is generally excessively dry. The last condition is particularly true in the winter time when our rooms are heated by artificial means and every degree of heat that is thus supplied for our individual comfort is taxing the energy of the plant in causing transpiration of water at a time when, normally, plant growth is at its minimum activity.

"The cultivation of plants in the house, then, is very largely an individual problem of overcoming a set of opposing conditions which will never be the same for two individuals or for the same individual in two different places. What we have to strive for is to maintain a fairly comfortable, average condition and when we do this, it is really surprising what satisfactory results we can obtain.

"Good soil is an absolute necessity to success with plants and there is only one way to get it—by mixing. There is no hard and fast rule to be laid down for the amounts of the different ingredients of a potting soil. They will vary with the character of the soil in your locality. We have found, however, that in this locality, a soil composed of equal parts of rotted sod, manure, leafmold or peat moss and sand will give excellent results. Plants ordinarily grown in the house. The most important thing in this soil is proper mixing. This can be accomplished by turning all ingredients together for a number of times.

"Another problem is what to try to raise in the home. Some of us have better 'luck' with some than the others. We should concentrate on those plants. In listing a few we would suggest Boston ferns, and other hardy ferns, begonias of different varieties, geraniums, primroses, and cyclamen. For the plants we suggest the philodendron or devil ivy as it is commonly called, branching English ivy, the Kangaroo plant, and Wandering Jew. For the hardier plants we suggest the Rubber plant, Pandanus Vetchi, Crotons, Chinese evergreens, and Nephthytis. All the latter plants are hardy and easy to handle and do not require an abundance of sunlight." Mr. Parker concluded.

FORMER PAMPA ARTIST

Mrs. Marilyn Wiley, above, of Wheeler, a former Pampa art instructor, won three prizes and an honorable mention in the art exhibit at the Tri-State fair held recently in Amarillo. Miss Wiley won first in the professional section with a portrait, first on a study in black and white, second place on an animal picture, and honorable mention on her landscape painting. Miss Wiley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wiley of Wheeler, received her degree in art from Texas State College for Women at Denton. Since leaving Pampa she has taught two terms in Pearsall schools near San Antonio and has spent the summer in Taos, New Mexico, studying under Alexander Hogue. With an additional six hours study, she will secure her master's degree.

Business Takes Large Grain Of Salt With Boom

Encouraging indeed is the marked tendency of the business world to take with a large grain of salt the upsurge of business due directly and indirectly to the European war.

Coming just when it did, the upsurge was welcome, and the prospect of profitable business is pleasant to many firms who for the past two years have been operating in the red.

But there is very little of the wild hallelaloo that greeted the "war boom" of 1915 and 1916. Like everything else, the business situation is different. And like everybody else, business men learned something last time.

It is entirely possible that direct war business may not be nearly as great this time as last, even if the arms embargo should be repealed. In the first place, the British and French are much better equipped to supply themselves, and the horrible shortage of shells and war materials which so hurt the British in 1914 is unlikely this time.

On the question of developing the social way of life, the author says, "It is only natural that varying classes of creatures, whose needs acutely required it, should separately 'invent' the social way of living. And once they had entered this channel, there was no leaving it, save in such very rare instances as we have considered in the case of the socially parasitic ants. It is only with the greatest rarity that a social creature can ever again become solitary, for society is like a protecting shield for an organism which has become individually incompetent."

The trouble with our social structure today is that we have failed to develop a social way of living. Our failure seems to be lack of respect for other people's equal rights to the pursuit of happiness. We have contended we were social, yet we passed tariff laws, immigration restrictions, pro-ter, collective bargaining rules. All of these interfere with the rights of others. This naturally leads to war and conflict. It greatly reduces production and, consequently, greatly lowers the standard of living.

The reason we build these artificial barriers is because the individual has not yet been trained to understand that the more freely and minutely we divide different kinds of work to be done and the more we specialize on different kinds of work and freely exchange, the production, the greater will be the production and the higher the standard of living for all. This is where so-called democracies invariably fail. The great mass of people have never been able to understand this. This is the reason it has always been necessary in the past to establish a covenant or a constitution by which people should agree to protect the majority from making combinations against the minority.

The book certainly is a very interesting study of the social habits of ants. They lived long before mankind existed. If we can learn by the successes of social relations among ants, rather than go through the experiences ourselves, we will save much suffering and make much greater progress.

Such uplift as war conditions bring to business must be regarded not as something in itself, but simply as a chance to reduce unemployment and the relief burden, to get budgets back on a sounder basis, and, in short, to get solidly to our feet.

The Nation's Press

ECONOMIC POWER (New York Times)

The Institute for Business Research at Berlin presents a picture of the comparative economic strength of Germany and the Allies which, while it fails to indicate the full strength of the British and French and overestimates that of Germany in several respects, is none the less entitled to serious study. It helps to indicate the dimensions of the problem that Britain and France confront.

In 1930, the institute declares, the number of French-British industrial workers exceeded that of Germany by 23 per cent. But the territorial acquisitions of last year, including Austria, the Sudetenland and Czecho-Slovakia, increased Germany's capacity by roughly 2,000,000 industrial workers to a total of 14,400,000, which exceeds the Allies' total by a few per cent.

In production goods industries the capacity of Germany, according to the institute, is 37,500,000,000 marks, against Britain's 25,400,000,000 and France's 10,900,000,000 marks. The total expenditure of Germany on armaments in the last six years is placed by Hitler at 90,000,000,000 marks, while the institute gives British expenditure on armaments in the same period as 25,000,000,000 and France's at 15,000,000,000 marks.

German predominance is particularly great, according to the institute, in airplane production. It emphasizes, finally, that its estimates do not include the additional capacity of coal mines, steel works and other industrial plants in conquered Polish territory.

Even if we accept these figures as otherwise reliable, however, there are obvious reservations to be made regarding them. Comparative expenditures on armaments in the last six years give some indication of initial striking power, but not of strength if the war is prolonged. It is perhaps legitimate to count the workers in conquered provinces as part of one's industrial man power, but they must be constantly watched and terrorized; and there is no warrant for giving them the same quantitative value as freely co-operating citizens.

Finally, the important question of proper balance remains. All the essential materials for war must be available, and they must be available in the right proportions. Here is where the economic weaknesses of Germany appear. The institute itself admits, for example, that Germany's iron output is still dependent for roughly 75 per cent on imported iron ore, while of these imports about 45 per cent has been cut off by the British blockade.

No doubt Germany took care to be well stocked in advance with many essential materials, but these stocks cannot last indefinitely. Yet it is essential for Germany to keep her supply of many essential materials, and particularly oil, in a full uninterrupted flow.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Holles

ADVOCATES OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING INVARIABLY CITE SWEDEN

The next time you hear a theorist or a visionary man, without experience in lowering the cost of living, contend that wages can be raised by collective bargaining and points to Sweden as an example, you might ask him this question. How does he explain that in Sweden they have 29 people for every automobile, while in the United States there are four people for every automobile. In other words, we have seven times as many automobiles in the United States per population as they do in Sweden.

If collective bargaining is a Utopian way of raising the standard of living of workers by making things scarce, as collective bargaining does, then how does he explain this difference in the standard of living in these two countries? The United States, up until the last few years, has been a country relatively free from restrictions that prevented men from selling their services to the world's highest bidder. Collective bargaining, of course, has gained rapidly the last few years, under the forced laws of the government but we still have 10,000,000 people out of work. And, in spite of all the inventions and science, our standard of living is not increasing.

If the standard of living can be raised by collective bargaining, it would seem that this Utopia of Sweden, that is so strongly unionized, would have more cars than one for every 29 people.

NECESSITY OF SOCIAL WAYS OF LIVING

I have just read a very interesting book written by Caryl P. Haskins, Director, Haskins Laboratories, Research Professor of Union College, Research Associate, Harvard University, Research Associate at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, on comparing the social development of ants with those of men.

On the question of developing the social way of life, the author says, "It is only natural that varying classes of creatures, whose needs acutely required it, should separately 'invent' the social way of living. And once they had entered this channel, there was no leaving it, save in such very rare instances as we have considered in the case of the socially parasitic ants. It is only with the greatest rarity that a social creature can ever again become solitary, for society is like a protecting shield for an organism which has become individually incompetent."

The trouble with our social structure today is that we have failed to develop a social way of living. Our failure seems to be lack of respect for other people's equal rights to the pursuit of happiness. We have contended we were social, yet we passed tariff laws, immigration restrictions, pro-ter, collective bargaining rules. All of these interfere with the rights of others. This naturally leads to war and conflict. It greatly reduces production and, consequently, greatly lowers the standard of living.

The reason we build these artificial barriers is because the individual has not yet been trained to understand that the more freely and minutely we divide different kinds of work to be done and the more we specialize on different kinds of work and freely exchange, the production, the greater will be the production and the higher the standard of living for all. This is where so-called democracies invariably fail. The great mass of people have never been able to understand this. This is the reason it has always been necessary in the past to establish a covenant or a constitution by which people should agree to protect the majority from making combinations against the minority.

The book certainly is a very interesting study of the social habits of ants. They lived long before mankind existed. If we can learn by the successes of social relations among ants, rather than go through the experiences ourselves, we will save much suffering and make much greater progress.

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—It sounds funny to hear reputable military scholars talk about battles and maneuvers in terms of the psychological effect they will have on one lone man well removed from the battle front, but that is the sort of talk most current in informed spots in Washington.

"Hitler is a mystic," we are told. "He has had phenomenal success with his guesses as to what will work for Germany and what will not. He has consistently outguessed his generals. He has convinced a large part of the German population that he is infallible. Also he has convinced himself, and that makes him vulnerable."

That is a composite quotation from several sources. It represents what certain skilled observers believe to be the basis of French-British strategy. Constant pressure of the blockade, of propaganda among the German population, of fighting on "German soil" on the west front—these and other factors are looked upon as likely to press Hitler into some decision which may turn out badly. The "myth" of infallibility will be shattered. There might come a reshaping of German policy and an early end of the war.

The thing sounds almost too slick but there is a substantial tracy of fact running through it. It is generally accepted that Hitler moved into the demilitarized Rhineland four years ago in violation of the advice of his army executives. They thought France would fight. They were wrong. Hitler was right.

The same thing happened in Austria. The generals were wrong again. Neville Henderson, British Ambassador to Germany, stated in his report of conversations with Hitler that even General Goering, No. 2 Nazi, was surprised and displayed at the sudden move last spring into the rest of Czecho-Slovakia. Goering and the generals were wrong. Nobody made a fight.

Hitler was right again about the speedy success of the drive through Poland. Again, reports here indicate, some of his generals had been mistaken.

Now informed sources here indicate that there is real conflict once more between Hitler and some of his generals as to whether a drive against France should be launched in event no peace comes at the end of the Polish conquest. Strategists here say England and France would like nothing better than for Germany to try a break through Belgium.

If such a drive were successful even in the beginning it might give Italy and Russia the incentive

GEE—AN ANGEL!

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9.—Ray Kiser, the dance-bandmaster, and Adolphe Menjou, the articulate fashion-plate, are having quite a time in their association as the top names in RKO's "That's Right-You're Wrong."

The trouble centers mostly on the matter of clothes. Kiser cheerfully admits being the sloppiest, most disreputable individual in the entertainment world, not excepting Jimmy Savo.

His slovenly appearances not due to his face, which seems to have been designed by some celestial sculptor with a belly-ache. Nor is it due entirely to his figure, which looks almost normal at a distance.

Kiser has a special knack for making the most of his bad points. Once in New York, under the care of the town's most expensive tailor, he endured 15 fittings for a coat. But the tailor himself gave up after two weeks of trying to shape the trousers. He explained, almost tearfully, that he had to consider his reputation.

TRIES SLUM CLEARANCE

Menjou has about given up trying to reform the One-Man Slum. Here is a sample of off-stage dialog: M.—"Kiser, my poor boy, what's that you're wearing—buckram? You look as if you'd fallen into a jute bag."

K.—"Whaddya expect for 25 bucks? Please confine your slanderous remarks to my face, Mr. Menjou. It can defend itself."

M.—"But just let me send you my personal tailor. He's positive—"

K.—"You do, and I'll embroider my initials in his gizzard."

M.—"But Kay, think of your public. Think of—"

K.—"Mr. Menjou, I am a band-leader, and I am judged by what I put into that microphone. It would be different if I were a ham actor who needed sartorial elegance to cover up his histrionic inadequacies. Naming no names, Mr. Menjou."

M.—(exciting)—"Gik%zxxx klj-&eqmxbx"

KYSER LIKES "DIFFERENT" PLOT

Kiser is probably less impressed than any other newcomer in Hollywood. He never had the faintest idea of becoming an actor, even after studios began to offer him film and his hand spots in pictures.

The plots were all alike, anyway; unknown orchestra becomes famous overnight, and leader marries beautiful singer. He accepted this RKO job because the plot is different (closely paralleling his own experiences), the cast isn't strong and the leader doesn't marry anybody.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

Mrs. John Ketter is in mourning. Smokey, her cat for 13 years, is dead. Smokey was a regal aristocratic cat of high birth. At the age of four months he won the blue ribbon in the Kansas City cat show, Angora division. Shortly afterward, Mrs. Ketter, who was then Peggy Arnold, acquired Smokey. Last week, Mrs. Ketter discovered that Smokey had a cancer on the side of his head, and rather than see him suffer a slow death, she had him put to sleep by the city.

And Mrs. Arnold was a woman who could never forget, even though you met her only once or twice. Her sensitivity and intelligence were indeed remarkable, and drew friends like a magnet. She was a member of a pioneer Panhandle family, and she had a fine-flavored hospitality. Smokey's death reminded us what a great woman Mrs. Arnold was, and now without changing the subject abruptly, it might be recorded here that Mrs. Ketter's favorite football team is the Reapers. She reads every line about them, and goes to see them play. "That team'll beat Amarillo," she says. "I like those Reapers!" Mrs. Ketter said.

Figures show that each succeeding year the tendency is for the diagnosis of cancer to be made earlier. X-ray helps make a distinction between cancer and an ulcer of the stomach.

A new device called the gastro-scope, which permits the doctor to look directly into the stomach, is another aid to the diagnosis of such conditions.

If cancer of the stomach has advanced so far that there is already much fluid in the abdomen or much involvement of the liver, there is little that can be done even in the way of surgical procedures. If the condition is seen sufficiently early much can be done by getting the patient into good condition and then proceeding with an operation under the best modern conditions.

Approximately 20 per cent of all patients with cancer of the stomach who are operated on can have a five-year cure from this condition.

The European war is not a simple clash of armed forces. There will be many battles in economic, diplomatic and ideological fields.

Apparently the government felt its singing would be more effective than his shooting.

Those who urge the A. F. of L. to make peace with the C. I. O. might just as well urge the democratic nations of Europe to make peace with Hitler.

collapse of the "myth of infallibility" could bring on a quick end to the war.

The whole thing is tenuous but this is a very tenuous war. Even though the troops are arrayed in battle line, it still is a "war of nerves."

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

Not many years have passed since cancer of the stomach was considered a fatal disease. New methods of diagnosing this condition much earlier than used to be possible have been discovered.

The technic of operation has progressed greatly. Better anesthetics are used and the treatment given patients before and after the operation has improved.

People are better educated about cancer and are likely to consult a doctor much sooner than before.

Despite all of these improvements, cancer of the stomach still has a higher death rate and a lower percentage of five-year cures than any type of cancer. It is a condition in which the most that can be done is accomplished by modern surgery. Nothing is gained by any sort of injections, vaccines or serums.

Cancer of the stomach is such a damaging condition that the patient who comes to operation is frequently in too weak a condition to undergo a great physical strain at the time the operation is required.

Physicians in the Massachusetts General Hospital made a study of 691 patients with cancer of the stomach seen during the 10-year period ending in 1936. The value of any cancer cure or treatment is based on the number of patients who are surviving five years after a correct scientific diagnosis and the application of the method of treatment.

Figures show that each succeeding year the tendency is for the diagnosis of cancer to be made earlier. X-ray helps make a distinction between cancer and an ulcer of the stomach.

FOR AMERICAN UNITY

We have a people of greatly diverse ancestry. They or their forebears came from every country in the world. They represent every racial strain, every religious faith, every political creed.

Population figures show the possible challenge to our unity. The 1930 census gives the total population of the 48 states as 122,775,000. Of these 38,727,000 whites were either born on foreign soil, or both parents or one parent were born on foreign soil.

(The figures go back one generation. Grandparents were considered the number would be much greater.) In short, these here grouped comprise 3 out of every 10 people in America.

The 38,727,000 break-down in racial lines as follows, to name the principal ones only: German born, or having one or both parents German born, 6,978,000. This is the largest group. Next is Italy with 4,546,000. Then come England, Scotland, Wales and North Ireland, 4,352,000; Poland, 3,342,000; Canada, 3,370,000; Norway, Sweden and Denmark, 3,191,000; Irish Free State, 3,088,000; Russia, 2,669,000; France, 2,100,000.

Although it is impossible to say how different nations abroad will make their final war alliances, this shows that Americans of German, Italian and Russian ancestry together number 14,088,000. Great Britain, Canada, Poland, and France number 11,502,000. In addition there are 4,300,000 Jews from many different lands.

No one would contend that all German-Americans approve of Hitler. They do not. Nor that all English-Americans are in love with British imperialism. They are not. Nevertheless, one need not shut his eyes to human nature. Men are not men if their sympathies, in millions of cases, were not with the land of their fathers, however loyal they are to America. Men are not to be considered outlaws because they think of the "old country" with warm emotion.

Roosevelt recognized this in his neutrality statement. But beyond a certain point there is danger in these figures. Ours is a peculiarly cosmopolitan people. For 150 years, under the constitution and a general policy of isolation from Europe's ceaseless wars these people of many bloods and faiths have lived together with greater unity and finer tolerance than can be found recorded anywhere of a territory so large. Without the Bill of Rights of our constitution and except for the tolerance and good will that came from a settled policy of not taking sides in every conflict abroad, can it be supposed that the Old World's passions and hatreds might not have come to curse and divide our people as they curse Europe today?

We were lucky to come through the World War so well. But there is today less of good will between racial groups, and in 1937, since then we have had the casualties of war and a 10 year depression. The old American neighborliness has been put to a terrific strain. For this reason, it behooves us all, regardless of our sympathies with various warring nations, to not put it under new strains today. There will be those, however, who will want us to help fight their old country's war. That has already been shown by the cry for embargoes, quarantines, etc. As Artemus Ward said in the Civil War, "For this cause I would sacrifice all my wife's relatives."

Until and unless congress votes our participation as a nation, what man we prepared to say to these zealous partisans? It seems to me we have every right to say to them: "You and I have all we can do at home. Do your full duty first to this adopted land of yours, dearer to you than the 'old country', else you would not be here. But if in addition, you feel an overwhelming desire to help the land of your fathers, you can do so without asking us who think differently to join you. You can open your purse in the purchase of medical and surgical supplies. You can buy food and clothing to alleviate civilian suffering. You can equip doctors and nurses. You can donate to the Red Cross. Our neutrality laws permit you to be as generous as you wish to be in thus helping your fatherland or race against its oppressors. But please don't ask the rest of us to underwrite your sympathies or resentments, nor ask us, who will fight only for the Stars and Stripes, to fight for or against a foreign flag with which our whole people are at peace."

Strange Submarine Reported Off Maine

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 9 (AP)—The latest report of a strange submarine in the Gulf of Maine came today from the state's sea and shore fisheries commissioner, Arthur R. Greenleaf.

While five miles off Portland lightship on coastal patrol, Greenleaf said, he and two wardens saw the submersible come within 50 yards of their motor cruiser yesterday, start to circle the patrol boat, then speed off to the southeast.

Portsmouth (N. H.) navy yard officials said no American undersea craft was near the position given.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

TRANSLATING "GOVERNMENT SPENDING" By WALTER E. SPAHR, Professor of Economics, New York University

A table of appropriations by Congress for the New Deal for the years 1933 through 1938 is being prepared during the last days of the recent session, by Representative Bolton of Ohio. A consideration of these astonishing figures is set forth in a pamphlet called "tax typhoid" published by Mr. C. Forbes in this pamphlet. Mr. Forbes' strikingly accurate figures are set forth in the following summary taken from Representative Bolton's table:

Table with 2 columns: Year and Amount. 1934..... $ 8,757,503,992 1935..... 11,765,851,635 1936..... 10,205,488,177 1937..... 10,782,458,819 1938..... 10,270,725,789 1939..... 12,116,861,603 1940..... 13,346,415,563

From Mr. Forbes' observations on such huge sums I have selected the following which I am presenting in substance: Every time you draw a breath the government at Washington spends $717.

To meet the estimated (1938) expenditures of $32,900,000,000 during the first four years of the New Deal, it would have required that $46,545 be laid aside every day from the moment Christ was born. This was more than $1300 for every family in the land. It was twice the total national debt when President Coolidge finished office. It was far more than any government on earth ever spent in peacetime during so short a period.

No fewer than 33 separate Federal, State and local taxes have been clamped on every loaf of bread. Drugs carry 140 taxes. The equivalent of almost five weeks' expenditures for groceries is paid for taxes on those groceries. There are 201 taxes on all and its products—taxes that would make a stack of $5 gold pieces 1900 times higher than the average man's income. Building, Washington gets more in taxes on cigarettes than the manufacturers who produce them receive.

In 1935 the tax bill of General Motors was over $5,000,000 every month, more than $1,250,000 every week, equal to $334 per year for each of the 199,125 persons in its employ. For every dollar it paid in wages, 61 cents went to tax collectors. If you own a car you pay 27 kinds of taxes, 117 on its upkeep. Railroads pay $1,000,0

Reds Look Like Monkeys In Final Fiasco

Yanks Stomp Lombardi In Last Inning

By GAYLE TALBOT
CINCINNATI, Oct. 9 (AP)—The one engraved memory of the 1939 World Series ever will be the amazing sight of Ernie Lombardi's outside catcher, down and being stomped by relays of Yankees.

Somewhat the scene is symbolical of the entire series. The New York Hoiligans were not content to beat the Reds four straight, first with phenomenal pitching and then with a breath-taking exhibition of hitting, but they had to wind it up by making monkeys out of the National Leaguers.

"This town has loved the Reds and taken a terrific pride in them all season, but after yesterday's final 7 to 4 beating, after having watched them blow a two-run lead in the ninth, the citizens filed out of Crosley Field muttering — "Those bums!"

They were particularly bitter about Lombardi, who probably set an all-time record for clumsiness in a single World Series contest. But they also were breathing fire at the mention of Billy Myers, the ill-starred little shortstop who muffed a toss from Lonnie Frey on a perfect double-play ball and set off the Yankee stampede.

If the Yankees simply had won the game about 7 to 0 it would have been better.

There was no disgrace in bowing to what even the old-timers admit is the greatest club there ever has been. But for the Reds to prove that they were capable of winning a game; to outpitch, outpitch and outfield the champions for eight innings; go into the ninth with the ball game in their pockets and then fall smack to pieces—that made the Burghers plume mad.

When the ninth opened, the Reds were ahead 4 to 2. Bucky Walters was pitching tight ball after having relieved Paul Derringer the previous inning. The Yankees had made only three hits, two of them home runs by Charlie Keller and Bill Dickey.

Keller, rookie batting hero of the series, singled. Joe DiMaggio scratched a blow to left. Dickey slapped a roller squarely at Frey—an easy double play. Lonnie flipped it to Myers. Myers dropped it, and the panic was on. Keller scored.

Sulkirk filed out, and on the next play Joe Gordon dumped a roller down the third-base line to Bill Werber, who fielded it beautifully and pegged it to Lombardi in plenty of time to nip DiMaggio at the plate. Frey dropped it and fell all over the infield as DiMaggio slid across for the tying run.

But that was the only ninth inning, and Lombardi hadn't even begun to suffer. Crosetti walked to start the tenth, and was sacrificed to second. Keller grounded to Myers, who juggled the ball. All hands were safe. Take it away, Lombardi.

Lombardi looks comical. DiMaggio lined a hit to right, and everybody started running. Ival Goodman, caught up by the epidemic, let it get through him but quickly recovered and made a perfect throw to the plate to cut off Keller.

Down went Lombardi. Keller and the ball in a cloud of dust. The ball rolled free. The crowd groaned, and so did Lombardi. DiMaggio circled third about this time, running like a scared rabbit, and headed for the mad scene around home plate.

Somebody warned Lombardi. He grabbed the pellet, dived at DiMaggio, and down he went again. Ernie had been engulfed. The World Series was just a painful memory.

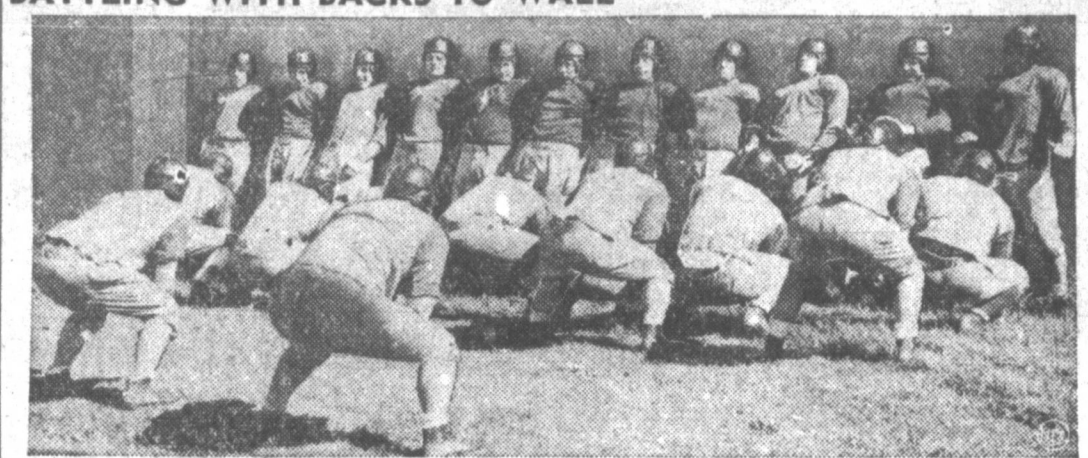

Bill McKechnie, who now holds the doubtful distinction of being the only manager to lose two World Series in consecutive games, had no word of complaint.

The sign on the Reds' bulletin board still said: "Next stop New York. Train leaves Monday at 5:30 p. m."

Yank Keller Outstanding Series Hero

By SID FEDER
ABOARD THE YANKIES WORLD SERIES SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—The hilarious New York Yankees celebrated their fourth straight world baseball championship well past the regular-season curfew this morning, but Manager Joe McCarthy took time out to register a "beef."

Joe, it seems, has been reading the papers. And he wasn't altogether pleased. He believes too much emphasis is being placed on the eclipse of the Cincinnati Reds rather than the greatness of his hired hands.

"So, while the players paraded up and down the cars of the train, roaring their 'Roll out the barrel; we've got the Reds on the run' theme song, Joe rose to inquire: 'Why is everybody saying the Reds split wide open to blow the series? Why not admit the greatness of the Yankees under fire?'"

"After all, the Reds were the best team in the National League. They were supposed to be plenty hot. And with two pitchers, like Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters, they figured to make it tough as hell. So what? So we beat 'em four straight. Doesn't that prove anything?"

Everywhere you looked, in any car aboard the train, you could find a cheering section of players. And off in a corner, talking earnestly with his wife, sat the "Forgotten Man" of the series, Lou Gehrig, the old Iron Horse, now in the roundhouse for keeps.

As usual, the customary "hero and goat" roles were discussed, argued and ironed out most of the night. There wasn't a dissenting voice in selecting young Charley Keller, the rookie right fielder, as the outstanding "hero." Charley led in everything. He was only one away from records set by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in home runs, runs scored, extra base hits and extra bases.

He hit for 438 for the four games, ganged out three homers, a triple, double and two singles, drove in six runs, and scored eight.

About the post all agreed Ernie Lombardi's little nap on home plate in yesterday's finale was the correct comedy touch. All it needed was music to put it on the big-time circuits.

McLean Crushes Canyon 22 To 0

Special To The NEWS
McLEAN, Oct. 8.—Costly fumbles and a stubborn defense by a determined Canyon team held the McLean Tigers to a safety in the first half of their game here Friday night, but McLean came back with one touchdown in the third period and two in the fourth to win 22 to 0.

McLean's offense started clicking in the second half and long end runs by Mantooth, the Tiger tailback, and line plunges by Bond were responsible for two of McLean's touchdowns. Doolen missed his first try for point, but the second conversion was perfect.

A sensational 49 yard run by Bond accounted for the Tigers' last touchdown, late in the fourth quarter. From then on substitutes finished the game. McLean chalked up 15 first downs to seven for Canyon. Canyon threatened once, in the third quarter, when they penetrated to McLean's 19 yard line, only to lose the ball by a fumble.

Canyon was unable to make appreciable gains through a stout McLean line, and scored all but two of their first downs through the air.

Methodists Going Back To Notre Dame This Week

By FELI XR. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Nine years ago the late Knute Rockne's bald head bobbed nervously around the Notre Dame bench up at the Irish lair in South Bend.

Upstarts from Texas, the Southern Methodists, were giving him great Mickie a close afternoon. The score was tied at 14-all and the minutes were fading when Notre Dame gained the ball on the Methodist five on a pass interference ruling. The Irish punched it across and won, 20-14.

Next Saturday the Methodists go back to South Bend.

Nationally speaking, its the top game of six scheduled for South Conference teams. The Methodist ammunition isn't quite as strong as it was in 1930, but a sophomore named Preston Johnston is coming along and the fireworks may be explosive.

The Methodists covered up in a ragged 16-0 conquest of North Texas Teachers last week, but somehow the wire was feel like the sector is sending forth a pretty well equipped representative this week-end.

Down home there are two more games just as loaded with possibilities. Sophomore Texas, a positive sensation after its 17-7 smashing of Wisconsin, makes the annual trip to Dallas for a date with another equally sensational eleven, Oklahoma's Sooners, 23-0 conquerors of Northwestern.

At Tyler's Rose Festival two of the nation's ranking undefeated teams, the Texas Aggies and Villanova, collide. The Aggies rumbled along to their third straight win last Saturday, overpowering rugged Santa Clara, 7-3, while Villanova, owner of an amazing record of no defeats in two years, buried South Carolina, 40-0.

Arkansas opened the conference race with a 14-13 edging out of Texas Christian, the defending champion, and there was reason to believe it will handle Baylor at Waco next Saturday. But the Baylor jinx is one that Arkansas has to waco next Saturday. But the Baylor jinx is one that Arkansas has to waco next Saturday.

Bucks Smother Spearman 40-6

Special To The NEWS
WHITE DEER, Oct. 9.—Taking the Spearman Lynx in their stride, the Bucks ran away with their first conference game here Friday night by the score of 40 to 6.

Driving down the field from the kickoff, Hawkins went over left tackle for the counter in the first quarter and made the point. It was in the second period, Hawkins went over right tackle for another goal and made the point. Again he scored on a 60-yard run and kicked the point. Taking the ball on the punt, he dashed back 70 yards to ring up his third score, but failed to make the point. Russell, fullback, then did his bit by going through the center for the fifth counter.

With the second string in for the Bucks, Reed of Spearman, went over left tackle for their score.

Later in that period, the first string returning to the game, Hawkins chalked up another score with no point, ending the third quarter, 40 to 6.

Throughout the fourth period, the second string held their own, and neither team scored, leaving the final score 40 to 6.

Nichols Switched To Back As Coach Changes Grid Lineup

By FELI XR. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Nine years ago the late Knute Rockne's bald head bobbed nervously around the Notre Dame bench up at the Irish lair in South Bend.

Upstarts from Texas, the Southern Methodists, were giving him great Mickie a close afternoon. The score was tied at 14-all and the minutes were fading when Notre Dame gained the ball on the Methodist five on a pass interference ruling. The Irish punched it across and won, 20-14.

Next Saturday the Methodists go back to South Bend.

Nationally speaking, its the top game of six scheduled for South Conference teams. The Methodist ammunition isn't quite as strong as it was in 1930, but a sophomore named Preston Johnston is coming along and the fireworks may be explosive.

The Methodists covered up in a ragged 16-0 conquest of North Texas Teachers last week, but somehow the wire was feel like the sector is sending forth a pretty well equipped representative this week-end.

Down home there are two more games just as loaded with possibilities. Sophomore Texas, a positive sensation after its 17-7 smashing of Wisconsin, makes the annual trip to Dallas for a date with another equally sensational eleven, Oklahoma's Sooners, 23-0 conquerors of Northwestern.

At Tyler's Rose Festival two of the nation's ranking undefeated teams, the Texas Aggies and Villanova, collide. The Aggies rumbled along to their third straight win last Saturday, overpowering rugged Santa Clara, 7-3, while Villanova, owner of an amazing record of no defeats in two years, buried South Carolina, 40-0.

Arkansas opened the conference race with a 14-13 edging out of Texas Christian, the defending champion, and there was reason to believe it will handle Baylor at Waco next Saturday. But the Baylor jinx is one that Arkansas has to waco next Saturday.

He hit for 438 for the four games, ganged out three homers, a triple, double and two singles, drove in six runs, and scored eight.

About the post all agreed Ernie Lombardi's little nap on home plate in yesterday's finale was the correct comedy touch. All it needed was music to put it on the big-time circuits.

Higgins Pounds Gage 19 To 6

Special To The NEWS
HIGGINS, Oct. 9.—By a score of 19 to 6, the Higgins Coyotes came out victorious in their game with the Gage football squad on the Gage field Friday night.

The first touchdown was made in the first five minutes of the first quarter by Bud Forsau, 158-pound Coyote captain.

G. C. Farnell, Higgins, 135-pound fullback, made the second touchdown in the first five minutes of the second quarter.

Jack Hauser, 120-pound quarterback, Higgins, made the third touchdown in the last 15 seconds of the second quarter and carried a ground play for the extra point.

In the second half Gage opened up their aerial attack completing three passes, one a touchdown. The try for the extra point failed.

This game marked the second victory for the Coyotes this season. They played the Follett Panthers last week and won by a score of 6 to 0.

The kick was good, making the half end 19 to 0.

With the second string in for the Bucks, Reed of Spearman, went over left tackle for their score.

Later in that period, the first string returning to the game, Hawkins chalked up another score with no point, ending the third quarter, 40 to 6.

Throughout the fourth period, the second string held their own, and neither team scored, leaving the final score 40 to 6.

22 Texas High School Teams Unbeaten, Untied

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff

The championship drive will be in full blast this week in Texas schoolboy football with conference games dimming the importance of the struggle to keep in the list of undefeated, untied teams.

Twenty-seven games counting in the standings are listed, bringing all districts into the conference grind.

Unbeaten teams in two of the championship affairs. Sweetwater meeting Midland in district 3 and Forest battling Woodrow Wilson in the Dallas district.

North Side makes its bid for the Fort Worth title in a tilt with Masonic Home's undefeated Masons; Lamar and San Houston, unbeaten in conference play in the Houston district, tangle, and Kerrville and San Antonio Tech, each without defeat in the San Antonio district struggle, battle it out.

The top interdistrict games send Erackendridge's unscathed on Eagles out of their San Antonio hailiwick into West Texas for a fling at San Angelo's unbeaten bobcats, and McAllen to Houston to play Austin in another game between teams with perfect records.

Twenty-two teams are undefeated and untied, including Electra, El Paso High, Gainesville, North Dallas, Breckenridge, Corsicana, Tyler, South Park (Beaumont), Austin, Harlingen, Kingsville and Robstown.

Sweetwater and Livingston are unscored on and Tyler and Breckenridge have run up the highest totals, the former with 171 points and Breckenridge with 122.

lington Heights (Fort Worth) and Paris.

There are more than 50 games on the week's schedule with 12 of them interdistrict affairs and four inter-sectional.

1—Pampa at Plainview; 2—Vernon at Wichita Falls; 3—Odessa at Lamesa, Sweetwater at Midland; 4—Ysleta at Bowie (El Paso); 6—Sulphur Springs at Highland Park (Dallas); 7—Poly (Fort Worth) vs. Riverside (Fort Worth); Masonic Home vs. North Side; 8—Adamson (Dallas) vs. Dallas Tech, Forest vs. Woodrow Wilson; 9—Ranger at Brownwood; 10—Corsicana at Hillsboro, Waxahachie at Waco; 11—Marshall at Gladewater, Texarkana at Kilgore, Athens at Longview; 12—Palestine at Nacogdoches, Mexia at Jacksonville, Lufkin at Henderson; 13—Lamar (Houston) vs. San Houston (Houston); Regan (Houston) at Ctrone, Milby (Houston) vs. San Jacinto (Houston); 14—Livingston at Goose Creek, South Park (Beaumont) at Galveston; 15—Kerrville at San Antonio Tech, Harlandale (San Antonio) at Austin; 16—Lower Bracket; Brownsville at San Benito.

Today's Guest Star
"Box Sexton, Cincinnati Enquirer: 'Why did P. D. R. spend 97 million on the Tennessee Valley project just to get a yardstick with which to measure power, when he could have attached a meter to the bats of the Yankees and found plenty of power at no cost?'"

This Is the Top
The Cincinnati Times-Star is known far and wide for its nifty headlines. . . . but it topped them all with this one: "Like mother binding hurts of children, Cincinnati welcomes her Reds." . . . That wins this week's gilt picture frame.

SERIAL STORY

WORKING WIVES

BY LOUISE HOLMES

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday Dolly arrives as Marian prepares to leave for the hospital. Marian explains everything, her hopes of retaining the wreckage of their marriage. Then she asks Dolly to call the doctor, "It's going to happen very soon."

CHAPTER XXX

It was after midnight. The hospital was quiet. The corridors were dark except for shaded lamps on the nurses' desks. Now and then a red light flashed over a door, reflecting itself in the shining floor. In a brightly lighted room, Marian was being lifted to a rubber-tired cart. She was pale, her eyes black with suffering. She caught Dolly's hand.

"You'll go with me?" Dolly raised her eyes to the still genial face of Dr. Moss. "May I?" He nodded.

Marian said, "I'm going to be brave, Dolly. But if I should forget myself, if I should beg for Dan, don't weaken, don't send for him. I've explained how I feel about Dan. I want to be ready for him. Promise me."

"And if anything should happen—?" She bit a quivering lip. "Yes, dear."

"Tell him that I was brave. Tell him that I was happy to have his baby. Try to make him understand how much I love him—how much I have always loved him." "You'll tell him yourself, darling." Dolly held her hand as the cart was trundled down the quiet hall. She stood by staunchly. When Marian cried out, "Dan—Dan—" she soothed her gently. After that there was blessed oblivion for Marian.

The sun was making a rectangular patch on the carpet when she awoke. She stirred and Dolly went to the bed. She kissed Marian's white cheek.

"It's all over, darling," she said. "A girl?"

"Yes. Dr. Moss says that she is the most beautiful little girl."

"A beautiful little girl. Her name is Glad—Glad Harkness." Marian's long lashes fell, she was asleep. She looked very young and small in the high white bed. They took Glad home after two weeks. Randy and Dolly and a strangely shaken Marian, took her home. Randy had been doubtful about the small apartment. He had suggested larger quarters and nurses, a fleet of them, he said. Marian had refused.

"No," she had said. "Glad's father is supporting her."

TRYING weeks followed. Marian's strength was slow in returning; the baby's food formula had to be changed and changed again. The summer heat came early, long scorching days, humid nights. Steadfastly, Marian cared for the baby, letting the housewife slide, resting when the baby slept.

Her love for the child was something like worship; she watched her development with a half fearful awe. To Marian, the tiny infant was a miracle, a God-given miracle.

Randy and Dolly came every day. They quietly installed comforts, an electric refrigerator which the apartment did not afford, fans, linen sheets, which were cooler than muslin. Marian grew thin, blue shadows made her eyes enormous, her hands were rough from daily laundry work.

Dolly expostulated, she begged, she even became angry. Randy talked earnestly to Marian. They were friends. What were friends for, anyway? He'd send a maid, two maids—better still, he'd find an apartment near the lake.

Marian stood firm. Wearily she reiterated the old theme. "Dan says to stick it out. Dan says if you accomplish a thing yourself, you have pride—"

"But Dan would send you more money if he knew," Randy argued. "You're losing weight—you'll be sick."

"But Glad is gaining—she's all right." "She'd gain faster—" "Dr. Moss says she is perfect." Marian laid a beseeching hand on his arm. "I'd crawl on my knees to ask for help if the baby needed it. But she doesn't. Dan and I are providing for her. Please let me do this. Please let me do it the hard way."

They let her alone after that, standing by, ready. July was a nightmare of burning heat and parched winds. Toward the end of July, Glad developed a heat rash, she fretted and had a little fever. Marian's hollow eyes became frenzied pools. That was when Randy and Dolly stepped in. Dolly had said crossly, "I guess you can pay a visit to your best friend. I guess Dan wouldn't mind that."

They drove for hours, finally stopping at a white cottage in the cool darkness of deep woods. Lake Michigan danced and sparkled beyond the trees. A fresh little breeze rustled the leaves. Marian stumbled as she stepped from the car and Randy carried her to a cool, green and white bedroom.

Doing so, he muttered, "And we didn't get you here a moment too soon, young lady. In fact, hardly soon enough."

The August days were like a blissful dream. Marian lay in her bed, sleeping, rousing to look with contented eyes at the baby who, under the able ministrations of the nurse, lost her rash and fever immediately. After a few days, Marian moved to the wide porch swing, there to idly hope and plan and dream.

The weeks hurried by and she awoke each morning to new strength. She could feel energy and vitality humming through her veins. She swam and rested, she tanned a beautiful brown, rich color dyed her cheeks and lips. The baby was a rolicking pink and white bit of gladness.

With the coming of September, Marian realized the time had come to think about the long trip to Portland. Marian wanted to go, she was well and strong, the baby was old enough to travel. Instinctively, she shrank from going. It meant so much, that journey to Portland, so very much. Dan's letters had not shown one sign of interest, had given her not one shred of hope.

ON Sept. 10, Randy's chauffeur took them back to the apartment. Dolly had made it ready. There was food in the refrigerator. The rooms had been cleaned and aired.

Marian set a day for her leaving and she worked toward it feverishly. A few new clothes for Glad, who had outgrown everything, a few conveniences for travel. She had her own old dresses changed a bit and cleaned.

On the last night, with nothing left but a bed and one chair, these to be called for on the morrow, Marian sat in the bare emptiness, the baby in her arms.

"We're going to see your daddy, Glad," she said softly.

The baby crowded and kicked and threw her little arms about. She had a straight, strong back and straight, strong legs. Marian often likened her to a rose bud—if a rose bud could have shining blue eyes. Her hair was definitely reddish and Marian loved it. The ends duck tailed engagingly, it was thick and silken. She laughed and hugged the small body.

"We'll see your daddy in a few days," she repeated. "Oh, Glad, will he want us? You're to be my offering, my precious gift for him."

Randy and Dolly took them to the train. Lifting the baby from Marian's arms, Randy said, "You've got something here, Marian."

She laughed. "Naturally I think so." To herself she said, "I have done one perfect thing. It is enough to make up for all the things I didn't do?"

WTSC Exes To Name Queen Candidates

Special To The NEWS

CANYON, Oct. 9.—West Texas State College students are preparing for their greatest homecoming on October 28 and former students living in Gray county will be asked to nominate a candidate for homecoming queen.

One ex-student will be designated in each county to call meetings of the former students, who will nominate their candidate and certify her name to Mrs. Tommie Montfort of Canyon, who is general chairman of homecoming.

This year's program is so large that a circus tent will be rented and pitched near Cousins Hall. It will house the Monte Carlo cantina, where games of various kinds will be directed by Guy Harp, Mr. Harp says his sideshow will have "atmosphere" and color.

J. B. Spier of Canyon will direct that portion of the Ex-Student Night club which will be housed in Cousins Hall. This will include Coconut Grove, Rainbow Gardens, Old Tasson bar, an oriental room and broadcast. Nearly two hundred persons will be needed to run various parts of the night club.

The "Faculty Follies" will be featured at a morning assembly program. Student stunts will enliven the football game at 2:30 o'clock between St. Mary's university of San Antonio and the Buffaloes. This will be an Alamo conference game. A student football queen will be crowned.

Continuation of the homecoming quest will take place in the main auditorium at 7:30 o'clock.

Bette Grable Does Not Deny Romance

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9 (AP)—Bette Grable, blond film actress, her mother, Mrs. Lillian Grable, and Artie Shaw, the band leader, arrived on the same transcontinental train. The reporters' question about a Shaw-Grable romance, the answers were:

Mrs. Grable: "You know I can't discuss romance now."

Mr. Shaw: "You'll have to ask Miss Grable." "Why don't you tell them? It's nothing to be ashamed of, and after all, it's the truth."

Checks May Make Reds Feel Better

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9 (AP)—The defeated Cincinnati Reds felt bad but they were expected to recover some by the time they receive checks of $4,262.58 as individual shares in the World Series pool, little short of the four-game series record of $4,674.87 received by each member of the Chicago Cubs team last year.

Each Yankee will get $5,614.26. The players' pool this series was $440,117.84, the third highest in history. The largest pool was $460,002.66 in 1928, when the Yankees played the New York Giants six games.

Nazis Look To FDR For Mediation Plan

BERLIN, Oct. 9 (AP)—Germany waited confidently today for the peace many of her millions believed just around the corner.

Nazis cited two reasons for their optimism that the end of Polish resistance in the east forecast an end to European hostilities.

First, they said, Adolf Hitler's hand was open to anyone who would clasp it in peace.

Second, they looked toward President Roosevelt for mediation.

Nazi officials have stressed Hitler's readiness to accept a peace initiative from the United States president.

With no official answer yet from Great Britain or France, however, and army communiques still reporting only minor activity on the western front, German officialdom enjoyed its first week-end of leisure in five weeks.

The army command's communique of yesterday's activities indicated a lull in the west, but said German forces in the east were continuing to march toward the German-Russian border in conquered Poland.

It reported only "local scouting and troop activity," "minor artillery fire on both sides" and "only little scouting plane activity" in the west.

Kuhn Says Germans In U. S. Persecuted

ANDOVER, N. J., Oct. 9 (AP)—Fritz Kuhn, national leader of the German-American Bund, says "the only persecuted race in America is the German element."

Kuhn, free in $50,000 cash bail pending trial on charges he embezzled $14,548 in bond funds, made his charge yesterday to 3,000 Bund members at nearby Camp Nordland at a German day celebration.

"The Bund is willing to fight the question of whether Americans of German descent have the same right to speak their minds as descendants of other races," he said.

"All accusations against the Bund and myself will not be upheld in the courts," he predicted.

Bund members shouted "No" when asked whether they had ever been urged to take an oath of allegiance to a foreign power, commit sabotage or undertake espionage activities.

Woman Claims She Killed Pitcher

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Detective Sergeant Kenneth McGuire said today that Isabelle Messmer, 22-year-old escaped New Jersey reformatory inmate, told him she had killed a man named Buford Armstrong at Odessa, Tex., last March 20.

The woman, who was arrested here last week with a revolver in her handbag, asserted she was registered in an Odessa tourist camp as Dolores Martin at the time of the slaying, McGuire said.

A man by the name of Armstrong who was a former pitcher for the House of David team was slain at Odessa on that date, and a woman named Dolores Martin was indicted on a murder charge in connection with the shooting. No arrests had been made.

Now He Can Say 'Oh Yeah!' To Doctors

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9 (AP)—Charles H. Daniels, Maryland's oldest Civil War veteran, underwent a major operation 18 years ago today. Three physicians said he wouldn't live through the night.

Today, Daniels celebrated his 100th birthday. Two of the physicians are dead.

In 1907, 238,452 inhabitants of Austria-Hungary emigrated to the United States. This was the largest number of people to move from one country to another in a single year.

O'DANIEL

pensions, teacher retirement and aid to dependent children and the blind. If adopted, the measure, which O'Daniel said was the only one which should be considered in view of the fate of other tax proposals at the last regular session, would be effective only until August 21, 1941.

Rep. G. C. Morris of Greenville, a leader of the House forces which blocked "S. J. R. 12," immediately commented it was "obvious Governor O'Daniel still intends to levy a tax, not on the oil, sulphur and gas companies, but on the masses of our people in the form of a sales tax."

In a radio address prepared before the governor spoke, Senator Joe Hill of Henderson charged O'Daniel had not fulfilled promises he made as a candidate. He specifically mentioned $30 a month pensions, and criticized "S. J. R. 12."

Injunction Goes To Court
Meanwhile, a hearing on a petition for injunction filed by Senator Hill and seeking to prevent a slash in the amount of pension checks beginning in October had been set for 5 p. m. today in Travis county court.

The suit sought to enjoin repayment of $1,338,000 loaned the pension fund by a Dallas bank on grounds liquidation of the debt was unconstitutional. First payment on the loan, made in 1937, is due tomorrow.

"We face at this time the most difficult and most critical situation that has ever confronted the citizens of Texas," Governor O'Daniel said, suggesting a "moratorium on politics" to work out a temporary solution of the social security problem.

The governor said he felt "the emergency" would warrant a special session if he could be assured in advance "the job would be accomplished."

He then proposed that in event of a session, plans not considered at the last session, those which did not receive a majority vote in either house and those which would raise insufficient money to meet social security obligations, be discarded.

Remaining would be the constitutional amendment offered at the general session but in statutory form, he said.

"The consumer" tax, he went on, had been erroneously referred to as a retail sales tax, but actually it was a tax on all consumers, and would derive a larger per cent of its revenue from large business establishments.

"I do not expect to submit to the special session any other subject of legislation," he said. "In submitting the plan which I am, I feel this is the last hope we have."

Morris Opposes Sales Tax
Morris said the "consumer" tax mentioned by O'Daniel was the "worst possible form of sales tax," and expressed regret the governor had not favored a session to levy increased taxes on natural resources.

"I will support an omnibus tax, levying an increase on the natural resources of this state," he asserted. "I will not vote for a sales tax, but I will vote for an oil tax, a sulphur tax, a gas tax. I still believe the oil companies are more able to pay additional taxes than the WPA worker."

He declared the governor had asked a moratorium on politics and in the next breath had advocated a special session which should consider only a constitutional amendment which had been the cause of battle in the regular session.

"In other words, the governor is calling for peace, but on his own terms," Morris said.

"I am willing for him to call a special session and give the legislature a free hand to tax those who are able to pay," he said. "If he will do that, I pledge him my full cooperation."

Girl Scouts Of Troop Two Plan Birthday Party

Troop two Girl Scouts met Friday afternoon at the little house to plan a birthday party for the troop on October 18.

Jimmie Jean Hamilton was elected leader of the Robin patrol with Dorothy Stone, second; and Bernadine Breining, secretary. Other patrol leaders are Patsy Jo Burrow, Cora Lee Brandon; assistants, Libby Sturgeon and Dorothy Culbertson.

After Cora Lee Brandon, and Sybil Pierson completed second class work, the girls worked on badges and ranks. Mrs. Gene Patre began a class in dramatics and Mrs. Lee Harrah announced that she would give an award to the girl who does the most outstanding work during the year.

All girls of the troop wishing to re-register as Scouts are asked to take their national dues next Friday.

Fifteen girls and three leaders attended this weekly session.

once been stated by both governments," he added. "No doubt as time goes on both governments will consider whether a stronger position should be stated in more specific form."

Eleanor Rathbone, Independent, interposed in the discussion to inquire whether the Prime Minister is aware there is a strong and growing demand in the country for a more specific statement on the government's war aims?

There were several cries of "No." Chamberlain gave no answer.

While the nation waited for the cabinet to frame a formal reply to Adolf Hitler's peace gestures, Britain kept her war preparations geared to a high pitch.

its former territory. Still the war by Great Britain and France against Germany is being waged under the slogan of restoration of Poland.

"Therefore, continuation of the war cannot be justified by anything and constitutes a senseless slaughter. Termination of this war would meet the interests of the peoples of all countries."

Hitler's "proposals" were described as a "real, practical basis for negotiations for an early conclusion of peace."

The editorial charged the British and French "ruling classes" with attempting "to protect their colonies against German claims and enjoy unshared control over the exploitation of hundreds of millions of colonial slaves."

Russian newspapers printed dispatches from Tallinn, Estonia, asserting Lithuania was eager for the agreement she is negotiating with Russia and for "Soviet protection against imperialist countries."

Helsinki dispatches saying Finland was taking "extraordinary" defense measures also were given prominence.

Diplomatic observers said Russia apparently was striving to strengthen her position in all possible directions.

Interest centered on the impending Finnish negotiations, like Estonia and Latvia, which already have granted Russia important concessions in nonaggression agreements, Finland is dwarfed by her huge neighbor.

But the Finns were expected to put up more of an argument than their neighbors in northern Europe.

Foreign circles said Finland was seeking the diplomatic backing of Sweden and Germany and probably would be supported by Sweden.

Informed Moscow sources foresaw Finnish acceptance of any "reasonable" Soviet proposal, but predicted Finland would balk at paying too high a price.

Belief was expressed here that Russia might seek the unfortified islands of Lantvaesart and Seiskar, which control the approaches to Leningrad through the Gulf of Finland.

If, however, Russia should ask control of the Aaland Islands, it was believed Sweden would back Finnish objections and solicit German support. The islands, lying between Finland and Sweden, are unfortified, but their possession would give Russia power over Finnish and Swedish shipping and might threaten Stockholm.

Germany's interest would be in her heavy imports of Swedish iron, timber and other products.

Fire Hazards To Be Demonstrated At City Schools

School children of Pampa will be shown many of the common fire hazards apt to be found in any home when members of the Pampa Fire department visit schools during fire prevention week, this week, with a miniature house.

The schedule for the week follows:
Tuesday, 2:30 p. m.—Holy Souls school.
Wednesday, 2:45 p. m.—Woodrow Wilson school; 3 p. m.—Sam Houston school.

Thursday, 9:30 a. m.—Junior high school; 1:30 p. m.—Horace Mann school; 2:30 p. m.—Baker school.

Making the trips will be Fire Chief Ben White, Assistant Chief Tom Eckard, Captain Eddy Gray and other firemen.

Home inspection blanks will be distributed among students in all schools, to be filled out with the aid of parents.

Pampa luncheon clubs will be visited during the week by speakers who will discuss fire prevention.

Firemen will visit the business section of the city in search of fire hazards.

Canadian Supervisor Sent To Shamrock

Supervision by the Pampa office of the business of the Texas Old Age Assistance commission will be limited to two counties, Gray and Roberts, as a result of the transfer of a TOAAC investigator.

Canadian, to Shamrock, where he is to be in charge of Collingsworth and Wheeler counties.

John B. Hessey, supervisor stationed at Pampa, planned to make his regular visit to Shamrock tomorrow and to Wheeler on Wednesday.

J. E. Norman, investigator formerly stationed at Canadian, and in charge of Hemphill, Lipscomb, and Hansford counties, has been transferred to Shamrock to replace James E. Nicholson, in Wheeler and Collingsworth counties. Mr. Nicholson resigned to enter the ministry.

Scouts Invited To Attend State Fair

Boy Scouts, Scoutmasters and scouters of the Adobe Walls council today received an invitation to be the guests of the State Fair of Texas at Dallas on October 20. The letter of invitation was received by Scout Executive Fred Roberts.

"This is an invitation to your council to attend the State Fair of Texas in Dallas. All Scouts and Scouters, whether or not in uniform, upon presentation of their membership certificate will be admitted to the grounds if on foot at the main gate and if in a car at the Pennsylvania avenue gate," the letter from L. L. Hiegel read.

The fair this year is one of the greatest and best in history. Added attractions include the National Hereford show, with $10,000 in prizes, a large Chemurgic show, the first of its kind in the southwest, and many other interesting attractions.

Circle Ten council of Dallas will present an appropriate Scout Citizenship Dedication ceremony at a Court of Honor at 11 a. m.

Duchess May Open Home To Officers

PARIS, Oct. 9 (AP)—The French government was understood today to have approved a plan of the Duchess of Windsor to establish a convalescent home for British officers in her Riviera Chateau at Cap d'Antibes.

The Windsor, it was said, will pay all expenses of equipping the home and meet operation costs expected to amount to approximately $75,000.

The Duchess was believed to be planning to be hostess to the first group of British wounded.
