Mrs. French Cooks, Bakes As 800 Watch

Valuable Prizes Given Away To Many Housewives

Nearly 800 women and a sprinkling of men who like to know what's new in the kitchen turned out at the LaNora theater this afternoon for the first class of the three-day Pampa News cooking school, directed by Mrs. Arreva D. French.

On a stage set with all the new and modern kitchen appliances, Mrs. French went through the details of cooking and baking with actual recipes. The recipes Mrs. French used today will be found on the women's page of today's Pampa News.

The interest in the opening day of the school was the greatest of any of the cooking school inaugurated days held here in the past. Mrs. French is, widely known here having conducted the Happy Kitchen school for the Pampa News last year. It is expected her audiences on tomorrow and Wednesday will tax the capacity of the theater to standing room.

The school will be conducted again on both days from 9 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon. If you want to be sure of a good seat, it will be necessary that you get to the theater early.

A nursery is maintained on the mezzanine floor as a courtesy to mothers who may wish to bring their children and leave them there while they attend the cooking school. Today the children were given free balloons and soft drinks. Attendants are on the job to see that all children are well cared for.

Mrs. French was introduced to the women of Pampa today by Wayne Phelps, of The News advertising department. The cooking school instructor explained many of the household appliances which are being made possible annually by The News and the co-sponsoring merchants of Pampa.

Recipes used each day by Mrs. French will appear the same night in The Pampa News. Women also are urged to take note of the recipes which make notes of the kitchen suggestions made by the instructor.

Remember—the school continues tomorrow and Wednesday from 9 to 12 o'clock each forenoon. Get to the school early and assure yourself of a good seat.

HITLER GETS MOST OF POLAND

Germany and Russia agreed on this final partition of Poland. Germany takes the shaded area. Russia the rest. The new partition along the heavy dotted line wipes out the temporary line set up by military officials earlier, which temporarily gave Russia everything east of the Vistula. The Bug river rather than the Vistula now becomes the chief dividing line.

Senator Borah Answers Nevadan In Senate Battle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Senator Borah (R-Idaho) asserted today that if Congress lifted the arms embargo to Europe's warring nations, he did not "see how" the United States could refuse to send armies to help the allies "in their hour of greater need."

The veteran Idaho Senator took the Senate floor to voice the views of the opposition to the administration's neutrality bill to repeal the arms embargo after Senator Pittman (D-Nev.) had asserted that retention of the present law's embargo was "a discrimination in favor of Germany."

Pittman, chairman of the Foreign Relations committee, was the first speaker in the momentous neutrality discussion. Reading a lengthy prepared address, Borah charged that the administration bill to revise the neutrality law had been accepted in Europe as an attempt to aid Great Britain and France in their struggle with Nazism.

Repeal of the embargo, he contended, would be likely to put this country in the position where it could not deny further help to the democracies.

WAR FLASHES

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

(By The Associated Press) Oct. 2, 1914—Germans driven back at Gasl, East Africa. British troops arrive at Antwerp, Belgium.

BUDAPEST, Oct. 2 (AP)—Kálmán Hübner, "little fisherman" of Hungary's Nazis, writing today in Vírradat (down), demanded that the government remove all restrictions on his party and restore it to full rights. The article by Hübner, who Saturday challenged Baron Laszlo Vay, government party leader, to a duel over political issues, appeared with his picture in a column paralleling a photograph of Adolf Hitler and quotations from the German Führer's speeches.

BERLIN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Responsible German quarters laughed today at reports from London of British warplane reconnaissance flights over North Germany, Berlin and Potsdam. "Citizens of Berlin and Potsdam must have slept soundly," one official declared, "because no one heard the motors."

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The British government advised the House of Commons today that sportsmen might be asked to make sacrifices to aid wartime economy. Agriculture Minister, Dorman Smith said the government was considering whether to restrict fox hunting.

'We're Going To Hang Out Washing On Siegfried Line'

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—A catchy ditty—"We're going to hang out the washing on the Siegfried line"—is being plugged on London night clubs and vaudeville as a suggestion to the World War song. "It's a long way to Tipperary."

With the tune reminiscent of "Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag," the words of the chorus go like this: "We're going to hang out the washing on the Siegfried line, 'Have you any dirty washing, mother dear."

"We're going to hang out the washing on the Siegfried line, 'Course the washing day is here. "Whether the weather may be wet or fine. "We'll rub along with a care. "We're going to hang out the washing on the Siegfried line. "If the Siegfried line's still there."

The song was written by Michael Carr and Jimmy Kennedy, both of British extraction.

New Technique In Torpedoing Used, Says Norwegian

OSLO, Oct. 2 (AP)—The master of the sunken Norwegian freighter Solnas said today he believed the ship was the victim of a new torpedo technique. He said no explosion was heard in what he described as a new-style torpedoing of the Solnas last Thursday.

"The Solnas was stopped in high seas, preventing the Germans from coming aboard," he said. "Five engines heard a hissing sound, then felt a bump. "The submarine disappeared and five minutes later the Solnas began sinking from holes in the engine-room and bunk room, indicating that a new device penetrated the ship's hull without an explosion."

Hitler May Open 'Complete War' After Peace Move Fails

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

There's more blood on Europe's harvest moon. We are rapidly nearing the end of the astonishing phase of comparative inactivity in the war between Hitler and the Anglo-French allies, and the immediate future should see the lid begin to rock.

The Nazi chieftain has been holding his hands in hopes of getting peace as soon as he had crushed Poland.

The sparring will finish when he officially recognizes (what he already knows) that there are no buyers for peace at his price.

Once that prospect is written off the books it is likely that the "complete war"— wholesale bombings and intensified submarine activity—which the Nazis have been threatening will get under way.

Hitler is persisting right up to the eleventh hour in his efforts to end the war to his own satisfaction. This is due to two reasons: 1. He frankly wants to avoid a major conflict with the English and French.

2. He wants to register with world opinion the claim that he is a man of peace and that the Anglo-French allies are the aggressors. The corollary to this is that if he is driven to desperation, he will be justified in using desperate means for defense.

The belief that Signor Mussolini might be called in to act as Herr Hitler's peace salesman was further strengthened by the visit of Italian Foreign Minister Ciano to Hitler in Berlin over the week-end.

Meanwhile, of course, the Nazis are holding over the Allied heads the threat that Russia may join Germany in war unless the Allies agree to peace.

Churchill Answers Hitler England last night gave a sweeping answer to Hitler through its master manipulator of words, the great Winston Churchill, recently appointed first lord of the admiralty.

"We are going on to the end," declared Churchill in a broadcast. How long will it take England to win? Well, says Churchill, that depends on "how long Herr Hitler and his group of wicked men whose hands are soiled with blood and corruption, can keep their grip up."

After admitting a number of attorneys to practice and receiving a few motions, the court adjourned until next Monday.

Waiting action by the court were anti-trust proceedings against the American Medical Association, 12 Midwest oil companies and a group of milk dealers in the Chicago area. The government was unsuccessful in lower courts.

These were among more than 400 cases that accumulated since the court adjourned for the summer on June 5.

Quick Audience For Solicitors Of Army Asked

The advance gifts committee of The Salvation Army financial effort today began its solicitation in Pampa under the leadership of its special chairman, J. L. Southern.

He is a Southern, to raise $5,000 necessary to carry on the work of the organization in Pampa. "Although we have only just begun," Cha. man Southern said, "we have practical evidence that the response will be good. We ask that the committee calling on you be seen as quickly as possible. These men are giving both their time and money and should be given the courtesy of a quick audience so they will not have to lose too much time from their own business."

Chairman Arthur M. Teed of the general campaign asked that many avail themselves of the mail and send their contributions to J. M. Collins, local treasurer of the advisory board. Contributions should be sent to Mr. Collins in care of the Southwestern Public Service company.

Oil Field To Close 11 Days In October

The Panhandle oilfield was closed today, the first of 11 days during the month of October. The shutdown order of 11 days was made public Saturday but up to today the local office of the commission has received no order.

Under the new order, which followed closely on the heels of an announcement that the fields of the state would be allowed to produce for 31 days during October, shutdown days, designated were October 1, each Saturday and Sunday during the month, and October 27.

No new production summary for the month has been issued here and production is on the basis of the August order.

British Claim Plane Flight Over Berlin

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—A night reconnaissance flight by British planes over Berlin and the sinking of a British freighter by an armed raider were marked up today on the credit and debit sides of Britain's wartime ledger.

Announcing the first British flight over the German capital, the air ministry said that "successful" air reconnaissance by day and night had been carried out over Germany and that the night reconnaissance included Berlin and Potsdam. There were no other details.

The attack on the 5,051-ton British freighter Clement in the South Atlantic by an armed raider was announced by the ministry of information. The communiqué said the reader had not been identified.

Secretary Of State 68 Years Old Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, engrossed in one of the most strenuous periods of his career, observed his sixty-eighth birthday anniversary today. He was too busy for any celebration.

The white-haired Tennesseean who has repeatedly sought to throw the weight of the United States into the scales on the side of "order under law," now dealing with a world in much of which force prevailed.

A believer in more liberal trade as a path to world peace—one of the tenets of his trade-agreements program—Hull was trade between some great nations utterly cut off by war and other nations reorientating their whole commerce for the struggle.

War has brought a vast amount of work to the gentleman from Tennessee, who already has spent 30 years in the service of the United States—23 years in the House of Representatives, two in the Senate, and six as Secretary of State.

President Roosevelt, who usually lunches in his office with Secretary Morgenthau on Mondays, invited Hull today for a birthday luncheon. No other guests were included.

George Cardinal Mundelein Dies

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—George Cardinal Mundelein, 67, archbishop of Chicago, died suddenly today. He was found dead in his bed at his residence in Mundelein, Ill., by Msgr. Patrick Hayes. Father Hayes had gone to the Cardinal's room to call him when the prelate did not appear for his customary morning devotions.

The cardinal, who won wide notice for building the Chicago diocese into one of the largest and wealthiest in the world, was regarded as in "perfect health" as late as yesterday.

One of the best known of the Catholic clergy in the United States, Cardinal Mundelein was mentioned as a papal candidate on the death of Pope Pius XI this year.

The cardinal attracted world wide attention in 1937 when he referred to Adolf Hitler, in a public address, as "an Austrian paper hanger and a poor one at that."

He was a close friend of President Roosevelt, whom he visited in the White House on several occasions. The president was a guest to the Cardinal at a luncheon at the prelate's Chicago residence in 1936.

In 1924, at a banquet honoring the cardinal, hundreds of civic leaders and Catholic laymen were stricken ill in a poison plot which shocked the nation. Several died. Poison was found in the soup, and investigators traced the plot to an anarchist chef, Jean Cronos.

Under Cardinal Mundelein's tenure, the first eucharistic congress of the Catholic church ever brought to the United States was held in Chicago in 1926.

General Shunned By Poles As Deserter

BUCHAREST, Oct. 2 (AP)—Once proud Field Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, commander of Poland's vanquished legions, was described by refugees today as a broken exile, shunned by fellow officers who coldly regarded him as a general who deserted his doomed but fighting army.

The field marshal, along with a number of other Polish officers, is interned at a Craiova hotel. Germany was reported, at the same time, to have protested to Rumania because refugee President Ignace Moscicki of Poland was allowed to resign and name a successor while on Rumanian soil.

Moscicki resigned Saturday and named Wladislaw Raczewski, who is in Paris, as his successor. He had been kept in "limited" domicile but left for Paris after resigning.

14 Stands Completed For Lions Carnival

Digging of post holes for the 75x100 foot tent and clearing of the ground for the annual Lions club carnival to be held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, was under way this morning.

Joe Burrow, in charge of construction, said that while all of the 14 stands for the carnival had been constructed and were ready to be put in place, he did not expect the carnival to begin taking shape until late tomorrow, when the tent would be erected and the stands installed. The carnival grounds are on the Santa Fe right-of-way on West Atchison.

Souvenirs, sandwiches, cold drinks, and coffee are to be sold at the carnival, while the stands will include such attractions as bingo, rat-race, doll, cat-rack, duck the nigger, bottle rack, and hoop-la.

Past presidents of the Pampa Lions club are due to provide amusement for the crowds as they take their place on the ducking apparatus, where well-aimed baseballs will topple them into a tank.

The annual carnival is given by the Lions club for the benefit of the club's fund for children. From this fund the club receives the money that pays for glasses, eye treatment, shoes, tonsil operations, and other advantages for Pampa children who could not otherwise have them.

All proceeds of the carnival go into this fund. Services and expense of putting on the show is borne by the club members and not a member participating receives one cent for his work in conjunction with the annual benefit.

Essay Contest And Radio Talks To Feature Go-To-Church Campaign

Pampa's annual Go-To-Church campaign which will be climaxed Sunday, Oct. 15, in a general city-wide movement, swung into high gear today as Dr. C. H. Schulky, general chairman of the campaign, and the Rev. W. M. Pearce, representing the Ministerial Alliance of Pampa, met with principals of Pampa's schools in the office of the public school superintendent.

Complete cooperation of schools and school authorities was asked at this morning's meeting and principals went back to their schools to launch plans for an essay contest in language and English classes.

The plan will be explained to all pupils at assembly exercises in the school tomorrow and the assignments of writing essays will begin at once. Best essays selected by the judges will be printed in The Pampa News and read over Radio Station

Can we, in the hour of greater need, should that hour unfortunately come, refuse to send our armies?

"Having put our hand to the plow and declared the reason therefor when the furrows are comparatively smooth, will we turn back when we come to the roots and stumps of impending defeat?"

"I do not see how we could. I doubt most seriously if we would. The only way I see that we can stay out of this war, having taken the first steps toward the military side, is for the war to end before we get there."

Borah departed from his prepared address to say: "This law was not intended to prevent war in Europe. It was to prevent the sale of arms and ammunition to warring nations of Europe. It is the law of the land and no arms have gone to Europe."

Referring to former Gov. Alfred Smith's assertions that the "law has not worked," the Idaho senator said: "It is working. It is preventing profits out of the sale of arms. 'How has it not worked?' he asked."

"We know," Borah said, "that the manufacturers of arms and munitions are quite active in a desire to repeal the existing law. Why? Because it is working."

Senator Pittman (D-Nev.) began a momentous Senate debate over the nation's neutrality policies by asserting the existing arms embargo.

Armed Raider Sinks British Steamer

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Ministry of Information announced today that an armed raider had attacked and sunk the 5,051-ton British ship Clement of the Booth line in the South Atlantic.

The five-year-old Clement had called at New York August 29. "The raider has not yet been identified, but the correct steps are being taken," the ministry said.

It said it was believed the raider was either a cruiser or a "pocket battleship." (British preoccupation heretofore has been chiefly submarines.)

(Up to the announcement of the sinking of the Clement at least 31 British ships had been sent to the bottom since the beginning of the war.)

Mrs. French Begins Three-Day Cooking School At Theater

Nearly anyone can prepare a good meal if she has everything to cook with, you have often heard said. But, how to streamline your budget and at the same time provide your family with three palatable meals daily is being convincingly proved at the three-day Cooking School which began today under the auspices of The Pampa News in the LaNora theater from 9 to 12 o'clock each forenoon.

Needless to say it takes skillful planning and wise buying, to be able to do this. For this reason, a limited budget. For the three-day housewife, this would take years of experimenting by the trial and error method.

However, Mrs. A. D. French, who is conducting the Happy Kitchen Cooking School, being an expert in marketing as well as in the preparation of meals, will demonstrate practical ways of making limited budgets provide amazingly attractive meals.

Admittance to the Cooking School is free to all the women who will take advantage of this opportunity to see and hear this noted lecturer combine prudent marketing with the serving of delicious, nourishing meals, and with many time-saving household hints thrown in.

Not one item is overlooked as the lecturer takes you easily step by step through the problems of marketing, management and actual preparation of the meal itself. And her budget also allows for the marketing of the meal itself.

Make the most of this opportunity now afforded you by your newspaper, cooperating with national and state food accounts in making this school possible, and attend these Cooking School lectures. Be sure to make it a point to be on time as you will not want to miss one word of this interesting program.

Attractive food samples will be given away at each session of the school. Make your plans now to attend each session of the school tomorrow and Wednesday and invite all your friends and neighbors to be present.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By ALICIA HART

If it has been longer than you care to admit since you looked closely at your mouth and considered its appearance from every angle, how about doing so right now? Don't let all the talk about eyes being the focal point of beauty convince you for a moment that the mouth isn't a conspicuous feature.

You can't actually change the shape of your mouth, of course, but by skillful application of lipstick you can build it up a bit more, shorten a line there, make too-thin lips seem fuller, too-thick ones more delicately formed.

As a start toward applying lipstick to achieve a certain effect instead of simply to bring color into the face, buy a lip brush. With this, proper outlining can be done. Then the spaces inside the lines may be filled in easily. Hollywood makeup experts approve of this method.

In addition to learning more about what can be done with lipstick, do something about those down-sloping lines from sides of the nose to corners of the mouth. Specifically, repeat this exercise ten times while you have night cream on your face.

Pinch Away Those Lines

Keeping lips tightly together, lift the corners of the mouth and grin. Don't merely smile. Keep lips together and GRIN. Grin until the corners of your mouth seem to be pushing upward against cheek bones. Relax and repeat.

Now, bend forefingers and using sides of them and cushions of thumbs, gently pinch upward from corners of mouth to temples. Lift the flesh gently, pinching lightly. Repeat ten times, and don't remove face cream until you have finished.

Also, and importantly, examine your teeth. Are they shiningly white and in excellent condition? If not, better see your dentist at once. No smile can be leveler than the teeth behind it.

MODERN MENUS

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

The period of the harvest festival is the church supper season. Parishioners and their friends save their appetites for those get-togethers around good American menus. This menu is typical—perhaps even a little better. Veal loaf with spicy cider sauce, casserole of potatoes, corn, bacon and tomatoes, late garden salad, bread and butter pickles, hot rolls, fall fruit, chocolate cake, coffee. Cook food in 12 serving quantities, rather than in larger amounts. The results are better for home chefs.

Veal Loaf
(12 servings)

Two pounds ground veal 1 pound ground pork, 1/2 cup partially cooked peas, 1 cup cracker crumbs, 3 eggs, 3 tablespoons milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 tablespoon ground sage, 1/2 teaspoon curry powder.

Mix veal and pork thoroughly; add peas and cracker crumbs. Beat eggs slightly and add milk, melted butter, salt, pepper, sage and curry powder. Add egg mixture to meat. Shape in a loaf, and press into a heat resistant glass loaf pan, 2-quart size. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F) for 2 1/2 hours. This veal loaf may be served directly from its baking dish.

Spicy Cider Sauce
(12 to 14 servings)

Four tablespoons bacon-fat, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-3 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 cups cider.

Melt bacon fat in a 1-quart saucepan. Stir in sugar and nutmeg, stirring constantly. Stir in cider gradually; cook slowly for 5 minutes.

Late Garden Salad
(12 to 14 servings)

Three tablespoons unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 3/4 cups boiling water, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 1/2 cup vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon mace, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 cups shredded cabbage, 2-3 cup chopped celery, 1/2 cup chopped green pepper, 1/2 cup coconut.

Soak gelatin in 1/2 cup cold water for five minutes. Pour boiling water over gelatin in 2-quart utility dish; and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add lemon juice, vinegar, salt, spices, and sugar; stir until dissolved. Chill. When liquid starts to congeal add cabbage, celery, red and green pepper, and coconut. Chill for 2 1/2 hours or until set. This salad may be served directly from its dish.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social knowledge by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should a father scold a son for neglecting the small courtesies—if he fails to set a good example for the boy?
2. Should the son of the household be taught to seat his mother at the table?
3. Should a son be taught to let his sister go through the door first?
4. Should children be taught "company manners"?
5. Should a boy be taught to write thank-you notes—or is it only necessary to teach girls to do that?

You are a married man who does not like to write letters.

Would you—

- (a) Expect your wife to write your notes of thanks and to write your family?
- (b) Write your own thank-you letters, and the letters home which your family expects?

Answers

1. No.
2. Yes.
3. Yes.
4. No. They should be taught that good manners are for everyday use.
5. A boy should be made to write such notes, just as his sister is made to do.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b). Aside from its being unfair to your wife to expect her to do this for you—her letter cannot really take the place of one from you.

HOLLYWOOD CAMPUS FASHION

Campus girls take notice: If the films influence your fashions, use imagination when assembling your sweater ensembles. An important Hollywood designer has created some very unusual campus costumes for young screen stars. Hooded sweaters are well liked. They frame the face prettily or, worn down, make a soft neckline. One wide-ribbed gray basque sweater has a hood lined with bright embroidered wool flowers. In another ensemble the same plaid wool that is used in the skirt and matching tam is also used to make a necklace of inch-square tags to wear with its accompanying black shetland sweater. Another Hollywood idea that college and high school girls may like is to run narrow velvet through sweater neck and sleeve banding.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life ---

There is probably no problem that is of more importance to the American people than the extent to which free entertainment is to be furnished. Rome fell because the populace insisted not only upon free bread but free circuses.

The real reason the destitute want cash instead of relief in kind is that these people want entertainment. They are not satisfied with food and shelter, and educational books. They insist upon having their relief in money so that they can appropriate part of it at least for entertainment.

As an illustration, in Santa Ana, Calif. library has 26 copies of "Grapes of Wrath" and hundreds of important books that are informative and character building are absent from the shelves of the library, all because people insist upon entertainment rather than upon information.

Those people who seem to think that education is a simple matter and can be accomplished by majority rule—public education—invariably jump at the conclusion that any man who sees the inevitable results of public education at public expense is against the poor being assisted in securing their education.

The trouble with those people who jump at conclusions is that they are not really interested in education and the poor but are only interested in having a method that will permit them to educate people and force other people who are real educators and producers to pay to spread their ideas.

Control Of Wool Prices Debated

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Recalling World War days when wool prices skyrocketed, administration officials are searching for some means of preventing a recurrence of that situation during the present conflict.

Already it seems World War wool price history may repeat itself. After the present European war began, domestic wool prices advanced sharply. Government commodity experts believe the advance will continue unless something is done to curb it.

It has been proposed in high administration circles that the government set up a purchasing agency to buy wool which in turn would be released on regular markets to keep prices from becoming "excessively high."

This suggestion has received little support, however, from agriculture department officials. In a special report they stated that the secret of high wool prices in the World War and prospects of high prices during the present conflict lay in the fact that Great Britain had obtained a virtual monopolistic control over foreign sources of wool.

While domestic production of wool is larger than during the World War, it is not sufficient to supply the nation's normal needs. Consequently, the United States now as during the last war must look to other countries for supplies.

But Great Britain already has arranged to buy the entire Australian clip for the duration of the war and is negotiating for New Zealand's output. These countries produce the bulk of the southern hemisphere crop. Agriculture department officials stated that consequently Great Britain was in a position to dictate world wool prices.

The officials argued that a government purchasing agency could do little more than private buyers toward making ample supplies of wool available at "reasonable" prices.

Embargo

go was "a discrimination in favor of Germany."

Speaking as chairman of the foreign relations committee, Pittman offered the administration's neutrality bill to repeal the arms embargo as "the most important legislation that has ever been proposed to Congress" and said it was designed "for the purpose of keeping us out of a European war."

Long before the Nevada senator opened debate for proponents of new neutrality legislation, crowds overflowed the Senate's galleries.

Pittman told his colleagues that "no such grave situation has threatened the world in all history" as the current conflict abroad. He said these developments abroad had aroused a feeling "of fear and distrust in the minds of all people," but added:

"There would seem to be, fortunately, no sufficient grounds for fear of being drawn into this war as we were forced into the World War, so long as we conform to the admitted precepts of international law and prevent our citizens from subjecting themselves to destruction in the mad war raging in Europe."

The Nevada senator said opponents of the legislation had contended repeal of the arms embargo would favor France and Great Britain, because they presumably would control sea commerce with the United States.

"We might put it the other way," Pittman argued, "and say that the maintenance of the embargo is a discrimination in favor of Germany, because it prevents Great Britain, which is surrounded by water, from purchasing in our market arms, ammunition and implements of war, while Germany, being a land power, has access to arms, ammunition and implements of war that may be manufactured in Russia, Italy, Rumania, Yugoslavia and other countries."

Pittman said under the existing law Germany could get American goods through other countries as Russia, Italy and Rumania.

Pittman said he had "every confidence" in President Roosevelt's declaration that he intends to do everything possible to keep the United States out of war. Also, he said, he was confident Mr. Roosevelt would not misuse any discretionary powers granted him by neutrality legislation. In this connection, however, Pittman said many mandatory provisions had been written into the bill because "authority should not be delegated where it is unnecessary, to the President or any other single man or group of men. We know that the delegation of such authority is not only unnecessary but unnecessary."

Citing the proposed prohibition against transportation of goods to belligerents in American ships, Pittman contended that "if our vessels cannot carry on commerce with belligerents and the belligerent powers know it, there will be little excuse, if any, for the destruction of American vessels on the high seas with the inevitable loss of the lives of our seamen."

He expressed the opinion that "it was the inhuman and illegal killing of our seamen on the high seas" which was responsible for this country's entry into the World War.

Pittman said many people believed that a prohibition against the sale of American armaments to belligerents "will entirely eliminate us from any part in the destruction of human lives during war."

"How mistaken and unfounded is this conception," he said, "we are participating in mass murder by the Japanese in China today."

The senator contended that Japan now was purchasing raw materials in the United States and using them to manufacture arms for the war in China.

Pittman supported a provision of the bill, sharply criticized by Senators opposed to the legislation, which would permit belligerent governments to obtain credits up to 90 days on purchases in this country.

He said 90-day credits were considered cash payments in international dealings.

"Not Johnson Act Conflict" — "In the very nature of things," he said, "it requires some time for a draft or a check upon a foreign bank received by American citizens to be transmitted through banking channels to the foreign drawee before the seller can get actual credit for the money due him."

Pittman argued that the credits would not conflict with the Johnson act, which prohibits nations defaulting on their war debts from floating loans in the United States. He said Attorney General Cummings had ruled in 1934 that the Johnson act would not affect ordinary commercial dealings with defaulting countries.

Discussing effects of the legislation on the American merchant marine, Pittman agreed that the prohibition against the use of American ships in trade with belligerents would be "injurious to some extent."

He said American vessels could pick up additional shipping in the Pacific and the South Atlantic, however, and added:

"No matter what the effect may be on our merchant marine x x x no patriotic citizen will oppose making such sacrifice and if a great sacrifice is made it is better that our government as a government should assume such losses than that our merchant vessels should be permitted to engage in commerce with belligerents.

"This commerce must and shall be discontinued during the war."

Amarillo To Atlanta Airline Route Asked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The man who financed Wiley Post's round-the-world flight sought federal permission today to become an airline operator and establish a route from Amarillo, Tex., to Atlanta, Ga.

Testifying at a civil aeronautics authority hearing, F. C. Hall, Oklahoma City oil producer, said he had been a "good angel" to spectacular aviation and now sought to recoup his expenditures by operating the proposed route.

The Texas-Georgia route, which Braniff Airways, Inc., also seeks to fly, would extend via Dill, Oklahoma City, Muskogee, Tulsa and Shawnee, Okla.; Fort Smith, Ark., and Memphis, Tenn.

The application of Trans-Southern Airlines, Inc. was before a CAA examiner, F. A. Law, Jr. Attorneys for the airline declared that the name would be changed if the application were granted, because the title had formerly been used by another concern and this had become known to them only after the application was filed. Hall is president of Trans-Southern.

BRITISH

land and of the peace gestures emanating from Berlin.

Great Britain strengthened herself for hostilities on the World War scale, apparently intending to ignore any Nazi-Communist peace offer.

The first official reaction to indications that Adolf Hitler would propose through a neutral power that the war be called off on a basis of the partition of Poland came from fiery Winston Churchill, British first Lord of the Admiralty.

Churchill told Britons last night "We are going on to the end."

Prime Minister Chamberlain was expected to amplify the government's stand in a message to the House of Commons today on the German-Soviet Russian treaty of limity. Chamberlain will give the House his fifth war review at another session tomorrow.

Deflight Described
Meanwhile, King George's first proclamation under the armed forces act approved by Parliament at the outbreak of war, raised Britain's men called to the colors almost to a potential 500,000.

An information ministry communique told of a dogfight yesterday over Germany's Siegfried line between five Royal Airforce planes and 15 German air fighters.

It acknowledged three British warplanes were shot down but said eight of the 12 men in the British crews were observed escaping by parachute.

It paid two German planes were shot down.
The nation heard its red-haired admiral chief broadcast in a voice that burned with defiance.

"It was for Hitler to say when the war would begin," Churchill declared, "but it is not for him or his successors to say when it will end. It began when he wanted it and it will end only when we are convinced that he has had enough."

He told the nation that "a large army has already gone to France" and that "British armies upon the scale of the effort of the great war are in preparation."

He also made this friendly gesture to Italy: "We appreciate in England the reasons why this great and friendly nation of Italy, with whom we have never been at war has not seen fit to enter the struggle."

Of Britain's own position, Churchill declared "we believe we are entitled to the respect and good will of the world and, particularly, of the United States."

The admiral chief drew a parallel between the present conflict and the American Civil War, declaring that "all of the heroism of the South could not redeem their cause from the stain of slavery, just as the courage and skill, which the Germans always show in war, will not free them from the reproach of Nazism with its intolerance and brutality."

Churchill ignored the challenge to answer questions asked by a voice in German which broke into a British Broadcasting corporation program before his speech. The questions were:

"Where is the British aircraft carrier hit by a German bomb in the North Sea?"
"What caused the sinking of the Athenia?"
"Why did Churchill say a U-boat commander who had sent an SOS to him had been captured when the commander in question had returned to Germany?"

HITLER

on the docile, unhappy German people."
That colorful sentence summed up one of Hitler's chief aims—to cause a revolt among the people of Germany.

Whatever Russia may do about lending military support to Germany, Soviet Leader Stalin continues to pull prime feathers out of the Nazi goose.

The Muscovites today summoned Latvia's foreign minister for a conference. Informed quarters said the purpose was to negotiate a "non-aggression" pact giving Russia military and naval concessions similar to those she obtained from little Estonia.

This would further strengthen Russia's position in the Baltic. Thus Hitler sees an important zone of influence slipping from him.

At the same time Stalin conferred with Turkish representatives, and diplomats in Moscow believed he was formulating a plan to keep the Balkans neutral.

Woman's Body Found On Desolate Island

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 2 (AP)—Desolate "Duck Island," a stretch of land along the Delaware river once used by a novelist as a setting for a murder mystery story, was combed today by police seeking clues to the perpetrator of the second double slaying there in less than a year.

Pemberton Wener, a Trenton junk collector, who found an artificial limb while scouring the "island" a few days ago, saw a woman's leg protruding from a heap of paper yesterday and thinking he had made a similar discovery pulled aside the paper.

What he saw was the body of Mrs. Katherine Werner, 36, mother of two children, her head crushed and her body peppered with shotgun wounds. He told police he saw next an old sedan parked nearby and in the rear seat discovered the body of Frank Casper, 23, father of a five-year-old boy.

Mussolini May Present Hitler's 'Peace Offensive'

BERLIN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano left Berlin today to return to Rome, concluding the first conversations between the Rome-Berlin axis partners since the outbreak of the war in Europe.

Although there was no official comment on the result of Ciano's conversations with Fuehrer Hitler and German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, the speed with which they were concluded indicated to observers that both countries were in complete agreement on future moves.

Ciano arrived here only last evening.

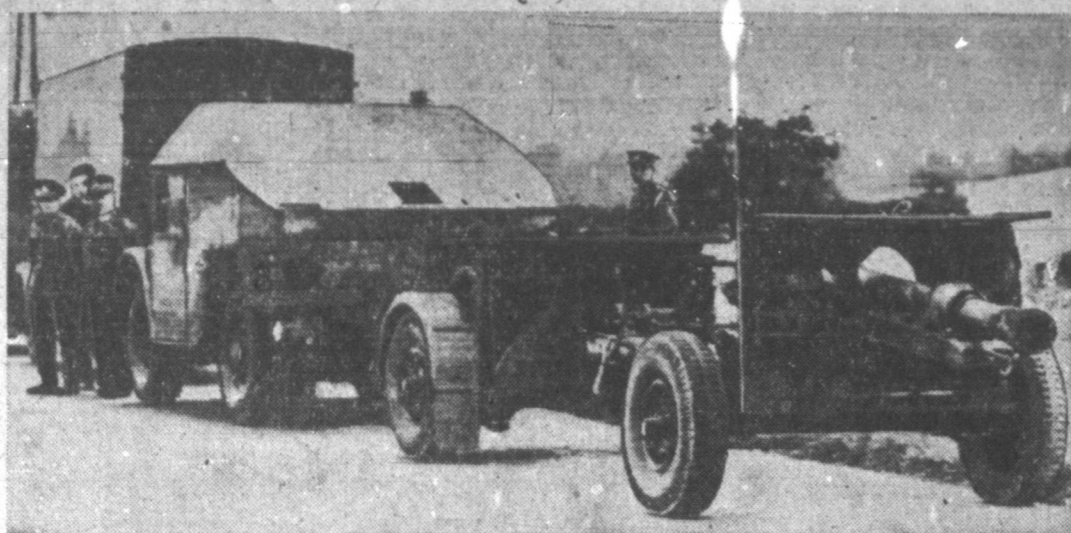

Italian circles said they believed the conversations had resulted in full clarification of questions arising from the present European situation, especially the new relations between Germany and Soviet Russia.

Some observers saw in Ciano's visit new reason for believing that Premier Mussolini may assume the role of mediator in a "final peace offensive" by the Reich.

Observers speculated on Mussolini's possible assumption of the role of mediator noted that semi-official comment in Berlin stressed the "European mission" of Il Duce.

Informed quarters placed increasing emphasis on what they termed the German-Russian-Italian desire to end "this purposeless conflict."

Resolution In Honor Of Siler Faulkner Read In District Court

Resolutions of respect to the memory of Siler Faulkner, Sr., one of the organizers of Gray county and a former county judge, who died September 27 of injuries received in an automobile accident near Spearman, was read in 31st district court here as the second week of the September term opened this morning.

W. J. Smith, a member of the Gray County Bar association committee that drafted the resolution, read the document, which was ordered by District Judge W. R. Ewing to be incorporated into the minutes of the court.

The resolution read: To the Gray County Bar association: We, your committee, appointed to prepare resolutions for the death of Siler Faulkner, wish to submit to you the following:

Whereas, there has passed from our midst one who was closely associated with the legal profession, a former county judge, a man who has held the respect and esteem of the people where he had lived for his outstanding public service and sterling citizenship; and

Whereas, for a great many years he served Gray county as chairman of the Democratic party, and his entire state and country, an unselfish party leader, whose fidelity and devotion to his principles of government was of the highest character; and

Whereas, in the untimely death of Siler Faulkner we, the bar of Gray county, and its citizenship, have lost a true friend and a sound counselor and adviser, and the state has lost a worthy citizen and champion of Democratic institutions:

Therefore, be it resolved, by the Gray County Bar association, that we, individually and as a group, hereby express our deepest regrets upon the loss of Judge Faulkner; that we extend unto the bereaved family our sincerest and heartfelt sympathy.

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be furnished the family; that a copy be embraced in the minutes of this association; that further copies hereof be presented to the Gray county district and county courts, and that a copy be furnished to the press of Gray county.

Respectfully submitted: W. R. Ewing, Chairman. John F. Sturgeon. Henry J. Jordan. Thos. C. Braly. W. L. Smith.

The above and foregoing report and resolutions therein contained, unanimously adopted by the Gray County Bar association, this 30th day of September, A. D. 1939. S. D. Stennis, president, Arthur M. Teed, secretary.

Russia Making 'Trade Pact' With Latvia

MOSCOW, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Latvian foreign minister, William Munters, and two secretaries of the Latvian foreign trade commission landed at the Moscow airport at 5:15 P. M. (8:15 A. M. CST) today. They were met by foreign office officials and the staff of the Latvian legation.

The Latvian legation said merely that Munters was coming "to clear up the situation created in the Baltic by Soviet-German and Soviet-Estonian pacts."

Latvia, which has excellent harbors—some of which are fortified—on the gulf of Riga and on the Baltic, provides a natural trade outlet for Russian shipments to the west.

An agreement with Latvia similar to the one Russia made with Estonia would strengthen the Soviet position in the Baltic.

Unofficial reports from abroad said that Russia had shifted 20 divisions of troops from the Estonian border to the Latvian frontier, but there was no confirmation here.

Announcement of the Latvian minister's impending visit was coupled with indications that Russia is seeking to bolster her position in the southeast by formulating a plan to keep the Balkans neutral under the leadership of the Kremlin.

Presentation of this plan, informed quarters expected, would be accompanied by demands upon Rumania for return of Bessarabia, the rich oil region Russia lost after the World War.

The Russian program, diplomatic circles said, calls for an agreement with Turkey designed to strengthen the Soviet position in the Black Sea. Moscow, they declared, seeks to prevent Turkey from reaching any agreement with France and Britain that would leave the Dardanelles open to allied warships in event of conflict with the Soviet.

This situation, it was believed, was the subject of a four-hour conference last night at the Kremlin between Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu, Russian Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov and Joseph Stalin.

British and French quarters in Moscow showed no concern over these developments on the diplomatic front. Instead, they indicated they would be pleased if the negotiations resulted in confining the war to western Europe.

Mines Removed By French At Front

By JOHN LLOYD

PARIS, Oct. 2 (AP)—French military reports today said French forces had consolidated their positions and removed thousands of small mines left behind by Germans on the western front.

They said the French had taken advantage of the absence of heavy fighting and that only numerous, localized encounters continued.

Unusual aerial activity marked the past few days, it was asserted, with Nazi fliers making stiffer efforts to turn back allied reconnaissance flights.

An account of a battle fought Saturday over German territory, disclosed today, said three French and five German planes were shot down. The account said that two French reconnaissance planes and nine protecting fighters were attacked by 15 German planes.

After a "long" fight, eight of the French ships returned, it was said, bringing "valuable" photographic information concerning German positions.

The French announced capture of a small number of prisoners, from whom they said valuable information on German defenses in advance of the Siegfried line was expected to be obtained.

French guns, they said, now dominate the industrial valleys of the lower Saar, Blies and Lauter rivers.

Odessa Stands Out As Best West Texas Team

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff

The championship campaign will be in full bloom along the Texas schoolboy gridiron trail this week. Interdistrict games last week established leaders in each section but the 21 conference tilts on the schedule this weekend will serve to bring forward favorites in the district races.

As the teams hitched up their belts for October's gruelling drive, these teams stood out in the state on the basis of a month's play:

West Texas—Odessa, Amarillo and Breckenridge.

North Texas—Gainesville, Mason Home and Woodrow Wilson.

Central Texas—Corsicana and Waco.

East Texas—Tyler and Lufkin.

South Texas—Austin, Brackenridge (San Antonio) and Austin (Houston).

Gulf Coast area—Corpus Christi, Port Arthur, Kingsville and Robstown.

Thirty teams are unbeaten and untied and five have been tied but have not met defeat.

Tyler's Lions meet in sored on Kilgore, Breckenridge tangles with Stephenville, Conroe plays Austin (Houston) and Edinburg takes on Kingsville, all conference games except the latter.

There also are 21 interdistrict tilts scheduled, headlined by the clash between Amarillo and undefeated Brackenridge.

Breckenridge's battering buckeroos and the air-minded Tyler Lions drew most of the comment. These teams bid fair to set some kind of scoring record if they maintain their present standards. East has run up over 100 points, Breckenridge in two games and Tyler in three.

Besides those previously mentioned the unbeaten, untied teams include:

Electra, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Sweetwater, El Paso High, Gainesville, Paris, Masonic Home, Forest (Dallas) North Dallas, Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), Corsicana, Livingston, South Park (Beaumont), Kerrville, Austin, Brownsville, Harlingen, McAllen and Robstown.

While their brethren are out visiting, Texas Christian and Arkansas open the conference race at Fayetteville—a game the experts were saying only a couple of days ago belonged to Arkansas but now is just a big question mark.

Defeated, 6-2, by U. C. L. A., the Christians, nevertheless, looked far better in defeat than the Arkansas, three-touchdown losers to a Mississippi State team that had been gifted with two touchdowns by the handicappers before game time.

The Christians, their Jack Odle's passing hampered by a wet ball, ran rings around U. C. L. A. but gave out of steam inside the ten-yard stripe twice and brought away nothing but a decisive victory in statistics. Arkansas, figured to be a strong title contender, showed nothing startling against Mississippi State in absorbing a 19-0 licking.

The "something" that seems to afflict Rice Institute's clubs apparently is still around. Almost unanimous choices to win the flag, the Owls, despite some yoman work by Owen Lain and Olie Cordill, spilled a 12-0 lead over a badly crippled Vanderbilt team and lost, 13-12, in the last four minutes.

Rice, equipped with everything but that same mysterious "something," tries a comeback against Centenary at Houston next Saturday night.

Centenary was no puzzle to a powerful band of Texas Aggies, who in piling up 46 points against none in their first two games, look better by the day. If they come through against Santa Clara at San Francisco Friday night, you can start linking Big John Kimbrough, DeRace Moser and the rest of their stout playmates with the title. The Aggie line is a concrete wall—smothering Centenary's veterans backs in the 14-0 triumph.

Loaded with sophomores who scrapped their way into a veteran lineup, Southern Methodist, which plays North Texas Teachers at Dallas, looked dangerous in tying Oklahoma, 7-7. The Sooners, a veteran team that was destructive last season, were almost lucky to get away with a tie game of fumbles.

Coach D. K. Bible's youngsters, green through but a bunch of hustlers, treated Florida to a 12-0 licking and they won't be too much on the short end when they play Wisconsin at Madison Saturday. The trip may awe a few of the sophs, but there's a football team at Texas this year.

Baylor's two sophs, Jack Wilson and Dwight Parks, came through in the breezing, 34-0, to win over Southwestern, but the veterans looked a little better also. Baylor teams come along with wear and next Saturday's game with Okla-

Arkansas And TCU To Play Tossup Game

By FELIX E. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Oct. 2 (AP)—The groggy Southwest Conference came off the floor at the count of nine today, still seeing double after a week-end battering that dropped three of its proudest battlers.

Flattened were Rice Institute, Arkansas and Texas Christian, but the Texas Aggies, Texas and Baylor were still swinging and mapping strategy for a little avenging along the intersectional front next weekend.

While their brethren are out visiting, Texas Christian and Arkansas open the conference race at Fayetteville—a game the experts were saying only a couple of days ago belonged to Arkansas but now is just a big question mark.

Dodgers Wind Up Third In First Division

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

With as much fanfare as a mouse entering its hole, the 1939 baseball season expired yesterday and shortly will be buried in the history books.

Chiefly 1939 was the year the New York Yankees won their fourth consecutive American League championship and the Cincinnati Reds battled through to their first National League pennant in 26 years.

The Yankees devoured their opposition. They took the lead in the first week of the season, clinched their championship September 16 and finished with a 17-game margin.

The Reds had a nip-and-tuck scramble with the St. Louis Cardinals at the start of the season and gave an encore at the end of the show, although they led the senior circuit all the way from May 26. Their final margin was four and a half games.

The Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers provided the year's major surprises. Both were deep in the second division year. The Dodgers wound up third in their only first division finish since 1932, yesterday nosing out the Philadelphia Phillies in the rain 3-2.

Harry Gumbert managed to come up with one of his best pitching performances, a four-hitter to give the Giants a 5-0 shutout over the Boston Bees; the Chicago Cubs nosed out the Cardinals, 2-1, and Cincinnati's champions dived a meaningless double bill with the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-1 and 8-0.

In the only American League games the St. Louis Browns beat the Chicago White Sox, 4-3, and Cleveland and Detroit split a twin bill, 8-3 and 1-0.

Pneumatic tubes for transmission of messages were introduced in 1853.

Guerillas And Reapers To Play At Home Friday

At least three Pampa school football teams will be in action Friday and a fourth will play if a game can be arranged. On Friday night the Harvesters will be in Olney but the Guerillas will entertain Kelton at home. On Friday afternoon the Junior High Reapers will be at home to big Buchanan of Amarillo.

Harvester Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Frejan will spend this week trying to gear up their offensive to last a full 60 minutes. Against Central of Oklahoma City on Friday night the Harvesters went in high for 15 minutes but faded badly the rest of the way.

Pass defense will also be stressed in this week's workouts, coaches announced today. The high-flying Cardinals last Friday night heaved 30 passes and 13 of them hit the mark for 163 yards while four others dropped out of the hands of receivers. And not a single one of the passes was intercepted.

The Harvesters came out of the Friday night game in pretty good shape. Only Bob Clemmons had to be taken from the game and Kenneth Mullings filled his end job in fine shape. Clemmons got hit on the head and had a bad headache the rest of the night.

It will be pass defense that will receive the attention of Coach Oscar Hinger and his Guerillas as they prepare for Kelton, always a tough team in Pampa. Proceeds from the game went to the senior class of the McLean high school.

Bud Mooney led the Pampa attack from his number two position with three goals. Hub Burrow, at number three, was next with a pair of goals. Travis Lively, Jr., made the extra score. The passing and checking of George Garrett at number one was outstanding. "Red" Horton, 15-year-old protege of the Lobos, played two chukkers relieving Burrow and his riding was exceptionally pleasing.

George Dwyer was the power of the McLean attack but he was able to get away for only one goal. Eric Cubine registered the other score. Sam Cubine and Tom Harlan rounded out the McLean team, Ed Clifton not being in the lineup.

McLean rode hard and fast but the Pampa defense was too strong.

Ruffing, Gomez Say They Are In Shape To Pitch

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—The limb started to creak under the weight of the "experts" over the weekend, with indications that the Yankees' "best balanced" pitching staff had suddenly become completely top-sided.

A couple of kinks, one in Red Ruffing's trusty right arm, the other in Lefty Gomez's side, suddenly turned all the world series analyses into a considerably battered set of humpy dumpties, although things grew somewhat lighter with the latest communications.

Just how much each of these elbowers—the same twins who twirled the Yankees to three previous world championships—was improved remained to be seen. However, with the up-and-at-em Rhinelanders pulling into town today, headed by Pilgrims Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters, one and all agreed this was no time for the two top hurlers of the Bronx's favorite sons to come up with kinks.

Despite the reported readiness of El Gofito and Rufus the Red to return to the firing line, the "experts" who've been foreseeing a sweep for the champs weren't so sure today. And some who had got down with a bob or two on murderers' row at those 3-1 odds were even starting to hedge a bit.

As the Cincinnati crew headed for the big town, it became evident Manager Bill McKechnie was going to follow the best accepted policy of leading with his ace for from the Yankee Stadium battlefield.

These were that Ruffing's salary wing, which had seen no actual competition since December 17 and had turned sore on Saturday, was considerably looser and felt freer after a workout yesterday. The other was that Gomez, who strained a side muscle some days ago, had left the hospital, had reported for duty at the stadium and insisted he'd be ready to pitch one game of the fall classic against the Cincinnati Reds, which begins Wednesday.

The third game comes off, unless as pot of rain interrupts, in Cincinnati Saturday. With a day off for traveling, McKechnie is almost sure to come back in the third and fourth tilts, with Derringer and Walters. Probably Bump Hadley and Gomez would oppose them. Junior Thompson, the ex-class "B" hurler, is likely choice for the Reds' fifth game topper, if necessary.

the first trick of the series' bridge game. The good deacon announced he would toss Paul Derringer against the fearsome fallers of the junior circuit in the opening game.

This would mean that Derringer and Ruffing would do the honors in the first game, which comes as no surprise. Walters would follow for the Reds and Monte Pearson, the stylish right-hander from California, for the Yanks in Thursday's game, leaving Gomez to take one of the later tilts.

The third game comes off, unless as pot of rain interrupts, in Cincinnati Saturday. SERIAL STORY

WORKING WIVES

BY LOUISE HOLMES

Yesterday Dolly is happy in her preparations for her wedding and Marian finds it difficult to keep her mind from wandering. Marian's desire to have a better home is the reason she has left her present quarters. Dolly has heard as she wonders if Dan will ever come back.

MARIAN found an apartment on the Near North Side. It was small and at the back of an old building. For a view it had back yards and the distant elevated. The rent was $30 a month. To Marian it was not a home, but simply a place to hide. She sold much of her furniture and quietly packed.

Dolly, deep in her own exciting adventure, was easily put off. On the last day of October, Marian went to a small church and stood at the altar while Dolly and Randy were married. Their happiness sickened her with a kind of bitter envy. She left them with horror enveloping her like a shroud.

A letter from Dan awaited her at the office on the first day of November. It contained a check for $75. Leaving the check for the floor, she hungrily read the few lines. He had arrived safely, was settled in a pleasant room at the Heathman Hotel. From the window of his room he could see Mount Hood. That was all. The first of November was a gray, never-to-be-forgotten day.

The weeks dragged themselves over jagged stones of discontent and growing antagonism toward life. Sally Blake took on more, and still more, of the secretarial duties while Marian toiled over wearisome charts. She was quiet and reserved. Inwardly, she seethed with rage, her mind swung back and forth between desperation and impotent self-pity.

Toward the last of November, a raw, biting day, Marian met Amy Ellen Sands. Amy Ellen knew that Dan had gone west and cordially invited Marian to spend Thanksgiving Day in the Sands household. Marian accepted for the simple reason that her tired mind could find no logical excuse for refusing.

Afterward she wondered what might have happened had she not gone to the Sands for Thanksgiving Day. Afterward she wondered if the kind gods had known her plight and, in pity, sent Amy Ellen to her.

SOMEHOW, for months, years perhaps, she had been drifting through chaos, clinging to the spar of her own belief in her own conclusions, afraid to let go. Subconsciously, she had been making comparisons and observations. Arguments had been gradually taking form in the back of her mind, arguments which she refused to face. She was ready to be convinced, she needed only the unaffectedly joyous spirit of the Sands family to tip the scales toward saner thinking.

They were utterly themselves, happy together, glad to share their happiness with an outsider. Amy Ellen kissed Marian warmly upon arrival. Bill also kissed her, saying he did it for Dan. The children were natural and unspoiled. Marian's nerves quieted, she laughed for the first time in weeks. Her ready smile meant something.

Janie, aged 3, took a decided liking to her, bringing her dolls and books, leaning against Marian's knee, looking up with trusting eyes. Marian was flattered beyond measure.

When, after a hilarious dinner, Janie climbed sleepily to Marian's lap, she held her with a fierce tenderness. The little girl went to sleep in her arms, her golden head pressed against Marian's breast.

"You're so lovely with the children, Marian," Amy Ellen said. "You should have a few of your own."

"Maybe it's not too late," she allowed herself to much. Saying it, she was wrapped in pride and warmth and mystery.

It was 8 o'clock when all the Sands huddled in the family car and drove Marian home. In parting, Janie presented her with a battered doll. "So you'll remember us and come again," she said.

Marian sat in her ugly, uncomfortable apartment with the doll in her arms. Light snowflakes glistened on the window. She drowsed, not sleeping, allowing her mind to wander back across the years.

She had made fair progress until Dan came home with the news that his salary had been cut. Thirty dollars from now on. Oh, well—what did they care? He had kissed her and she had been less responsive than usual. Those awful bills—And she wanted a new coat—her clothes were rags.

They had been married almost two years when Dan had been forced to take a second salary cut. In the following spring he was earning $22.50. And glad he was to have a job at all. Men, by the thousands, were walking the streets.

By this time collectors were calling at the apartment, hard-faced, hard-voiced individuals who accepted a dollar or two and promised not to tell Mr. Harkness. At last, in desperation, Marian had suggested that she return to her job.

She had said, "Things are getting pretty tight, aren't they, Dan?" They were both sitting in a big chair and she twisted a button on his coat.

"We'll get by—it can't last forever—my work is steady."

HE had pulled her head down on his shoulder. He didn't know about the bills and the collectors. "Hold on, Glad," he had said. "Just hold on and do without things for a little while. It's fun if you only think so. We're in a battle, the world against Glad and Dan Harkness. Are we going to be licked? I'll say we're not."

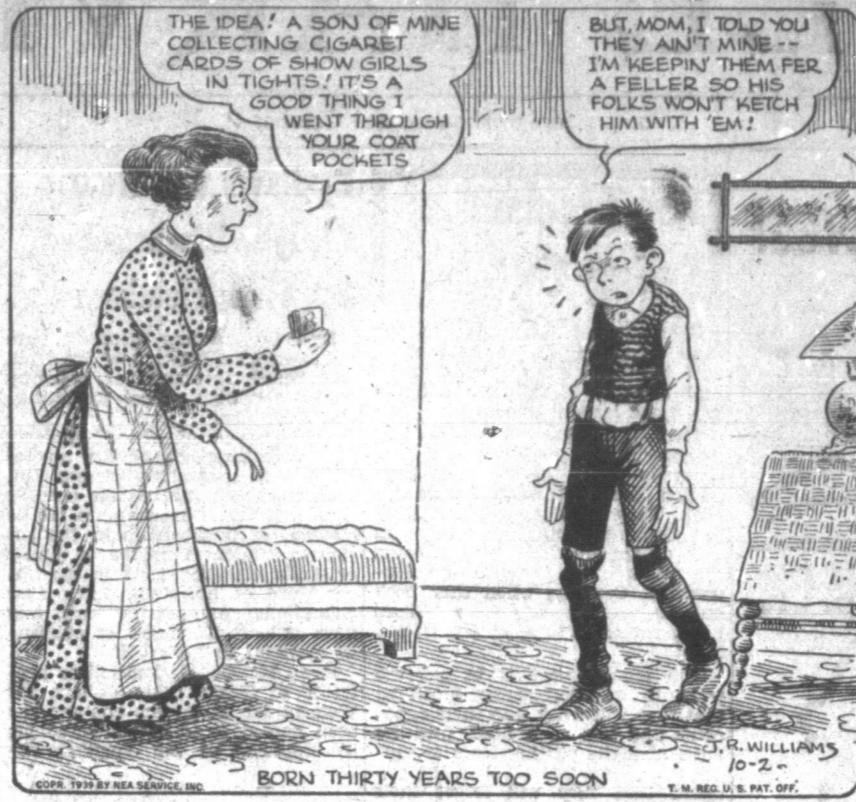

She kept on twisting his button. "Until the depression—I mean the battle—is over, maybe it would be a good idea for me to go into the trenches."

"What do you mean?" scowling down at her. "I want to help, Danny. Mr. Fellows said there would always be a place for me in the office—just until we beat the enemy."

He had swung her to her feet, standing over her. "Men don't take their wives into battle, Glad. They want to go alone—they glory in the fight because they have someone to fight for."

I Have It Too

Maybe you've heard the story of the boy who was continually finding things missing from his locker. It had been going on for some time and he was getting tired. One day in desperation he painted in white paint on his locker, "I have the fish; stay out."

There are other forms of disrespect for the property of others; likewise there are different methods of stopping that disrespect. Probably the most prevalent show of disrespect for others' rights in Pampa High school is not simple stealing but another form of it, mistreating others' property, such as defacing buildings, textbooks, library books and wasting chalk.

However, it's a vicious boomerang for the more textbooks, buildings and supplies which have to be paid for by the taxpayers (your mother and father) the less ice cream, chewing gum and hair ribbons for you.

Be A Booster!

The center passed the pigskin to the star half-back who crashed breath-takingly through the defense to score a touchdown—but no crowd roared at the brilliant play and an almost empty grandstand looked down moping at the two football teams. The losing team lost a little spirit each time they glanced at the empty seats.

Did this incident happen at a Pampa High school game? No, of course not, and it will not happen if the Pampa High school students support their team and go to all football games possible this season.

Can You Find It?

"Where is the spirit around this school?" This was the main criticism that the Central High boys had for Pampa High school.

"The pep squad and the band are swell," they claimed, "but where is the student body? Don't they give a kick about this?" They raved at their conversation at the pep rally last Friday afternoon.

Pep Squad, Band Give Broadcast

The band and the pep squad gave a radio broadcast Friday afternoon from 3:05 to 3:30 from the high school auditorium.

Juniors, Seniors Choose Annual Staff Members

The junior and senior classes elected annual staff members Wednesday at home room periods.

The seniors elected Anna Belle Lard, Jack Johnson and Joan Gurley to represent them on the annual staff. The juniors chose Billy Behrman and Tolene Davis.

Upon these representatives rest the responsibility of the annual, according to Miss Margaret Jones, sponsor. All planning and choosing of style for the annual is left to them.

A co-sponsor for the annual to aid Miss Jones is to be chosen in the near future. The regular meeting date of these members with the sponsor has been set for Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Jack Johnson has had three years on the Little Harvester staff and is now serving as temporary editor. Jack is especially talented in art, having taken private instructions for four years. He has sold cartoons to three national magazines.

Joan Gurley is also well trained in art work and has two years of high school art to her credit. Last year she worked on the Little Harvester staff. She is a member of the Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists.

Billy Behrman was a member of the 1938-'39 annual staff.

Fifteen Members In Orchestra Now

Seven new members have enrolled in the high school orchestra, which now has a total of 15 members. They are Margaret Burton, Mary Dean Wilkinson, Charles Erickson, Norma Lee Lane, Thelma Mae Osborne, Velma Faye Osborne and Beatrice Hicks, violinists.

Other members are Cora Lee Cargill, clarinet; Waldine Frazier, flute; J. W. Staten, and Bob Addington, trombones; Douglas Stark, baritone; Juanita Osborne, cornet; Claire Dehnert, drums; and Armlinda Cargill, from Woodrow Wilson.

Herbert Miller, instructor, announced that while making rapid progress the organization will not make an appearance until a later date.

Mr. Miller still urges all who are interested in taking orchestra to see Mrs. Lou Roberts in the High School office. Pupils enrolling at this date may still make one-half unit of credit.

Pep Leaders Swing Out

Shag to the left! Shag to the right! Truck it on down! Peck it out! In other words swing it! Out and swing! It is just what the pep squad leaders are doing.

They turn Harvester park into a rug-cutting jamboree and jam the yells out in the jammiest jam-session ever witnessed by Pampa High. They make Artie Shaw, Benny Goodman and their hep-cats look as though they were dancing the minute they back in the Seventeenth Century, when they put out Harvester's truck on "Fight, team, fight!" and shag out fifteen rabs!

The main object is to get the team in a jitterbugging mood so that they will truck into their opponent and jam their noses into the dust. Also the visiting team is supposed to be so interested in the pep squad that they will forget their signals.

First and Second Year Shop Boys Choose Projects

First and second year shop boys, under the direction of J. H. Morehead, Jr., are making projects of their own choice in their class work now.

They are making small articles until their taste determines and then their regular assignments will be given according to their talent. Some of these articles are what-nots, racks, small tables, magazine racks, foot stools, lamps, smoking stands and cedar chests.

An N. Y. A. boy is making useful articles for the school.

Tom Johnson has made a five-foot bow for an archery set which he will later make.

Mr. Morehead says there is an average of 20 boys in his five classes. He has one class of Junior High school boys.

Mrs. Burl Graham Talks To Mothers At P-T-A Meeting

Mrs. Burl Graham talked on the duties of a homeroom teacher at the P-T-A meeting held last Thursday afternoon.

"To establish a friendly relationship between the parents and teachers is to keep a fit of the parents' addresses and telephone numbers, and to arrange social contacts and regular meetings," she was the high points emphasized by Mrs. Graham.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. H. P. Snyder. The next meeting will be held next Thursday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock in the High School auditorium.

Seventy-Two New Students Enroll In Pampa High School

More new people! Pampa High has 72 new students this year, 22 coming from out of state. Besides Texas, there are eight states represented in the class rooms.

One of the many well known teachers is Edna Lea Cecy, Edna Lea was not in that school at the time of the explosion three years ago.

Mr. Davenport, who attended school in San Bernardino, California, last year, has gone to Pampa before. Garden Grove, California, chips in with June Reed. This is June's first year in Pampa High.

Oklahoma leads the parade of states with seven pupils calling the Sooner state home. The Kansas Jayhawkers claim six in Pampa High. New Mexico submitted three of their scholars to the home of the green and gold. From the sunshine state of California there are two pupils of the twenty-odd who now call Pampa High their alma mater.

Arkansas, Missouri, Louisiana and Virginia all did their part with one from each of them.

Sagebrush By The Sage

Hello, folks. This is station S-A-G-E back after a week of bluffing. The status of offended humanity, if I am dead next week, I hope that you get someone worse.

Say, is this a veterans' hospital or a high school? Ed Terrell and "Kansas" Ramos have been flouting an extra pair of legs before the envious eyes of their fellow P. H. S.ers.

The old adage "Nose for News" still holds true for the Sage almost lost a nose last week trying to get some prize scandal, and this all he heard; Mr. Lester forgot to pay his water bill last month. We wonder if it might not be just another case of the absent-minded professor.

Dear students, in case you need some consolation—even if you are not a writer—just drop in the journalism room and read an article called "The Prayer for a Writer." It will give you something to think about.

The Sage overhead two very sensitive girls in a very touchy conversation. Ann Chisholm was remarking about the water making her face draw up, when Betty Cree said, "Ann, I think that you should take a bath."

If peoples' brains were a dynamo, there wouldn't be enough juice to flicker a firefly's tail-light.

Members of the Harvesters were heartily impressed by the demonstration that was given in assembly at Casper. It seems that the student body really had a lot of pep and they were quite certain that their team would win. Harvesters were also impressed at the pep rally that was given just before the game. Casper's band played "The Eyes of Texas" in honor of the Harvesters.

The Sage is willing to bet a coke that Robert Duval went out cutting for the boy who jerked a pencil from his back pocket the other week. The result was that Robert had to back inch-by-inch along the walls of the halls until he got to the door, then, with his hands behind him, start sprinting for home—and incidentally, for some more trousers. The tear made that necessary. Well, as Confucius II, that old philosopher, said, "What you rip is sure to show."

Orchids, as Walter Winchell would say, to Jo Simmons for that unusual voice of hers. It's one of those low voice that makes everyone in hearing distance turn to listen.

Summers have it that Edna Earle Densmore should wear a bonnet more often. It gives her that "little girl" look, which is quite becoming.

Every boy scout does his good deed, but what happens to those who are not boy scouts? It seems that Maxine Cherry has certainly done a good deed or an act of brotherly love. It so happens that "Cherry" has fallen in love with the cutest little stray dog and the other morning, took it to the restaurant with her to eat breakfast.

Could a possible new car be the reason for "Rosey" Brown's riding the school bus?

Seen every day? A group of Harvesters trooping down to a local ice cream store to see if they are lucky enough to be selected for a treat.

Student Council Elects Officers In First Meeting

Steele and Jones Predict Good Year

New officers for the student council were elected at the first regular meeting held last Tuesday. The constitution was discussed.

Those elected were Ray Boyles, secretary; Anna Belle Lard, treasurer; and Ross Huzzard, parliamentarian.

Principal D. F. Osborne, a visitor, expressed his hope that the council would be as successful this year as in the past.

Aubrey L. Steele, sponsor, believes it will be more successful this year than before. This is Mr. Steele's second year as sponsor of the council.

Bobbie Karr, councilor at large, who is now president, and Bonnie Lea Rose, assistant councilor at large, attended the State Student Council convention at San Antonio last year. They obtained many new ideas which will be adopted by the council in an effort to make it more successful.

The duty of a student council member as pointed out by Miss Anne Louise Jones, co-sponsor, is to represent his room in what his classmates want and not to run the school.

The executive committee of the council, composed of the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, met last Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and appointed temporary club leaders to lead the student body Friday night. Permanent leaders will be elected by the students.
