1940 Fords Have Finger-Tip Gearshift As New Feature

Enriched by refinements made possible by the manufacturer under a single unified management of five cars which virtually bracket the motor car, the Ford V-8 and the deluxe Ford V-8 cars for 1940, announced today, possess notable advances in styling, comfort, convenience and safety.

The new cars, now on display at the Tom Ross Ford showrooms, are big, substantial and powerful in appearance. The new styling is a streamlined, front-end design and distinctive modern, with low radiator grilles, long hoods and deeply rounded fenders. The trimly interior is big and roomy, with plenty of seat room, leg room, elbow room and shoulder room.

Two V-8 engines are available, an 85-horsepower engine in the Ford V-8 and the deluxe V-8, with a 60-horsepower engine optional in the Ford V-8.

Four Ford V-8 and five deluxe body types comprise the two lines. A new business coupe as well as a "sedan" "Tuxedo" sedan and coupe are available in both. There is also a deluxe convertible club coupe with automatic top as standard equipment.

HITLER

It must surely be possible to emulate the Red Cross and draw up some universally valid international regulations. It is only when this is achieved that peace can reign particularly in our densely populated continent—peace which, unaccompanied by suspicion or fear, will provide the only possible condition for real economic prosperity.

"To achieve this great end the leading nations of this continent will one day have to come together in order to draw up, accept and guarantee a statute on a comprehensive basis which will insure for them all a sense of security, of calm, in short of peace.

"Such a conference could not possibly be held without the most thorough preparation, that is, the exact elucidation of every point at issue. It is equally impossible that such a conference which is to determine the fate of this continent for many years to come could carry on its deliberations while cannons are thundering or mobilized armies are bringing pressure to bear upon it.

Referring then to the "unthinkable" state of affairs in the west, he added:

Foresees Uter Destruction

"From both sides (eventually) destruction will strike deeper, deeper and whatever cannot be reached by long distance guns will be destroyed from the air... This battle of destruction will be confined to the land. No, it will reach far out to sea.

"Today there are no longer any islands. And the national wealth of Europe will be scattered in form of shells, and the vigor of every nation will be sapped on the battlefields.

"One day, however, there will again be a frontier between Germany and France, but instead of flourishing towns there will be ruins and endless graveyards.

Mr. Churchill (Britain's first lord of the admiralty) and his companions may interpret these opinions of mine as weakness or cowardice if they like. I need not occupy myself with what they think; I make these statements at this moment because I wish to say that I wish to spare my own people this suffering.

"If, however, the opinions of Messrs. Churchill and followers shall prevail, this statement will have been my last. Then we shall fight. Neither force of arms nor lapse of time will conquer Germany. There never will be another November, 1918, in German history. It is infantile to hope for the disintegration of our people.

"Mr. Churchill may be convinced that Great Britain will win. I do not doubt for a single moment that Germany will be victorious. Destiny will decide who is right. One thing only is certain. In the course of world history there have never been victors, but very few of only losers. This seems to me to have been the case in the last war. May those peoples and their leaders who are of the same mind now make their reply. And let those who consider war to be a better solution reject my outstretched hand."

Collaborators said Hitler regarded his proposals as "formal" and that he would now wait for Britain and France to act on them.

Hitler asserted Britain had worked against German interests while Germany never had crossed Britain's path.

"At length he attempted to draw a picture of how France and Great Britain can have peace if they want it.

He said they could have it in the name of all peoples but not in the name of Jewish agitators.

Poland of the Versailles treaty cannot be reconstructed. Hitler said. What Poland is to become he declared, will be determined by Germany and by Soviet Russia alone.

The Fuehrer made more or less specific proposals for the erection of a Polish state provided that it "has no center of intrigue" against Germany and Russia, and settlement of eastern Europe's minority trouble, including some regime for Jews.

These were among the other most material phases of his speech:

1. A renunciation of further territorial claims, save for his old colonial demands.

2. A declaration that Germany and Soviet Russia together would "relieve one of the acutest danger spots of Europe" by working for a peace zone in eastern Europe.

3. A specific assurance to the world that he had no designs on Rumania, the Ukraine, the Urals or Denmark and an expression that in eastern Europe generally, and Scandinavia as well, his interests were wholly economic.

4. A declaration that one of Germany's tasks in dealing with fallen Poland was the establishment of a "new order of ethnographic conditions, that is to say resettlement of nationalities"—and a further declaration that it was a problem not restricted to this particular sphere but a task with far wider implications, for the east and south of Europe is to a large extent filled with splinters of German nationality, whose existence cannot be maintained.

Saying that if the present war was allowed to go on the "vigor of every nation will be sapped on the battlefields," Hitler added it would be a struggle in which "there are no longer any islands"—an obvious reference to Britain's vulnerability to air attack.

Such a war carried to the end, he added, would leave a frontier of "ruins and endless graveyards" between Germany and France.

Germany, he said, had no demand to make on England or France, and thus there was no reason for carrying on the struggle.

"As the victors of the world war are listed as essential to European security. Clarification of the foreign policies and aims of European states;

CLUB FORMED TO SUPPORT M'NUTT

Paul V. McNutt

Reno Stinson, Pampa, was elected president of a Panhandle-wide McNutt-Ford-President club at an organization meeting of representatives from Panhandle towns here yesterday afternoon. The group is the first regional organization of its kind to be formed in Texas.

Stinson, of virtue of his office as president of the club, will serve as chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Boyles and Mr. Ketter also will serve as members of the committee.

Immediately following his election to the presidency of the Panhandle McNutt-Ford-President club, Mr. Stinson addressed the group and expressed his admiration of Mr. McNutt and of his progressive views and capabilities as a leader.

"I appreciate the honor that has been accorded to me," Mr. Stinson said, "and I wish to say that the officers and members of this club will do all in their power to assist in the organization for other McNutt-Ford-President clubs in the counties of the Panhandle."

The Panhandle-wide club will cover all counties in the 18th congressional district, it was announced.

Fraises McNutt

"I know of no person who has all of the qualities for the presidency of the United States that are possessed by Paul V. McNutt," Mr. Stinson said. "His record shows him to be an outstanding leader, a progressive, and a man who is capable of assuming the duties that fall to the lot of the president of the United States."

Freeding the election of officers, Mr. Ketter explained the purpose of the meeting and outlined some of the highlights of Mr. McNutt's career as a national and international figure.

"It is barely necessary to make any statement," Mr. Ketter said, "concerning the pacific conflict between this man of ours and a third term to President Roosevelt, as Mr. McNutt has stated publicly several times that he will not be a candidate should President Roosevelt seek a third term. It is on that basis that this club is organized."

Lawyer in 1914

Mr. Ketter briefly sketched the public activities of Mr. McNutt, which include his becoming a lawyer in 1914, enlistment in the army, his discharge in 1918 as a lieutenant-colonel, his marriage in 1918 to Miss Kathleen Timclat of San Antonio, dean of Indiana University.

reorganization of the internal economic systems of individual states—along with organization of markets and currency regulation—to revive international trade; establishment of an "unconditionally guaranteed peace" and a sense of security on the part of individual nations by sanctioning Europe as remade and by reducing armaments.

"Why should this war in the west be fought?" he asked. "For the restoration of Poland? The Poland of the Versailles treaty will never rise again. This is guaranteed by two of the largest states in the world (Russia and Germany)."

He thus ended his speech: "As the victors of the world war people and chancellor of the reich I can only thank God at this moment that He has so wonderfully blessed us in our hard struggle for what is our right, and beg Him that we and all other nations may find the right way, so that not only the German people but all Europe may once more be granted the blessing of peace."

Go-To-Church Campaign Will Take To Radio

Pampa's Go-To-Church campaign, which will be climaxed Sunday, Oct. 15 in all churches of the city, will take to the air Sunday afternoon.

Dr. C. H. Schulkey, campaign chairman, will speak over Radio Station KPDD at 4:45 p. m. Sunday on the Go-To-Church movement. Dr. Schulkey will outline the aims and objectives of campaign and will also discuss plans for the radio and newspaper campaign to be conducted during next week.

Following the chairman's opening remarks on Sunday, two lay speakers from churches of the city will speak daily over KPDD at 12:30 noon from Monday through Friday.

Each of the laymen will make his remarks brief and will tell listeners "Why I Go To Church." Each speaker will be allotted from two to three minutes on the air.

On Monday at 12:30 p. m. speakers from Holy Souls and Central Baptist church will speak.

Windschief stickers, carrying the Go-To-Church campaign message, were ready for distribution today, and the pastors of all churches in Pampa were asked to go to Paul Hill's store, W. Foster street, and get as many of the stickers as needed.

"We want all pastors to get these stickers Saturday," Chairman Schulkey said, "so that they can be distributed among members of the various congregations at services this Sunday."

ELECTRICITY

cost 3 1/2 cents and the remainder cost 2 cents.

The minimum monthly bill is $1.50 for both residential and commercial schedules.

Announcement of the new rates was made today by J. M. Collins, manager of the Pampa branch of the Southwestern Public Service company.

Mr. Collins pointed out that this rate reduction is the eleventh made during the 14 years that the company has been furnishing electric service in Pampa and is in line with the company's policy of reducing rates as rapidly as possible with proper maintenance of the system and rendering of first class service.

The rate reduction program has resulted in a total reduction of 72.5 per cent in top rates since the company took over the Pampa system. Stated in another way, the present top rate is only slightly more than one-fourth of the original rate. Reductions made in the lower steps of the rate from time to time have resulted in an even greater reduction in average rate.

The bottom step of the new rate is 1 1/4 cents per kilowatt hour. This low step will enable both residential and commercial customers to make fuller use of the latest electrical appliances.

Mr. Collins further pointed out that the large aggregate rate reduction of 72.5 per cent was not achieved by sacrificing expenditures for modern machinery and equipment, but on the contrary, improvements and betterments have been made constantly, thus assuring good service and also promoting further rate reduction through increased efficiency.

Not All Pension Checks To Be $6

Applicants for Texas Old Age Assistance commission payments in Gray county have become confused over the flat $6 a month out in pension payments, which becomes effective over the state this month, John B. Hessey, in charge of the Pampa office of the TOAAC, said today.

The cut simply means that where as clients formerly received checks ranging from $10 to $27, in Gray county, such clients will now receive checks ranging from $4 to $21, not that all checks will be only $6.

One woman who applied for a pension called at Mr. Hessey's office, located on the second floor of the court house, and said that if $6 was all she could receive she did not want to make an application.

Texas Old Age Assistance checks, in some cases over the state, will be as low as $2. The minimum pension checks, before the October slash, was $6, although there were pension checks of $5 some time ago, since discontinued.

October checks for Gray county clients are due on Oct. 15.

England Must Back Water To Take Hitler Up

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Herr Hitler's peace proposals call for a general conference which would provide for a measure of political and economic life and also would provide for a measure of disarmament.

These were conciliatory touches in his long speech.

Again no further made a sweeping renunciation of any further territorial claims, excepting for his old colonial demands. And he said the colonial claims were made in the form of an ultimatum but were based on political justice.

In fact, Hitler said his interests in both eastern Europe and Scandinavia were wholly economic.

On the whole it appeared he was striving, without giving way on any vital points, to present a program which might attract favorable attention.

His peace proposals would seem to be sweeping enough so that they would call for full consideration of the Anglo-French brotherhood were it not for the fact that he leaves unanswered several fundamental points on which the allies have taken what they claim to be irrevocable stands. These briefly are:

1. That they will not make peace with German troops occupy Poland, and that Poland must be restored.

2. That they will no longer accept the unsupported word of the German government.

3. That they will not cease war until they have "crushed Hitlerism."

If Hitler has said his last word (and that is what he said) it is patent that the allies can find no basis in his proposals for a conference unless they are prepared to back water, and a lot of it.

There are no insects living in the ocean.

their own thoughts and sing their own songs.

The Star said: "In any discussion of Hitler's peace, it is essential to remember how much weaker he is than he was on the first day of the war. There is plenty of evidence to show that Hitler is fighting blind."

The Star said: "The immediate official reaction to the Hitler speech. Prime Minister Chamberlain, who previously has said he would give unhurried, careful consideration to any German peace plan, is to deliver his weekly war review before parliament Tuesday."

It was considered possible he would then make his first public reference to Hitler's proposals, consulting with the French government before making an official reply.

Observers in London gave the Hitler proposal an extremely remote chance of acceptance. They pointed out that any peace terms would be guaranteed only by Hitler's word, which is unacceptable to the British government; they questioned whether a peace would remove the constant threat to Europe's security; and considered it unlikely that Britain and France would agree to Germany and Russia reconstituting some sort of Polish state between themselves.

an audience as quickly as possible when they call Mr. Southern called attention to the fact that these men have taken time from their daily work to contribute to the drive. This low step will enable both residential and commercial customers to make fuller use of the latest electrical appliances.

Mr. Collins further pointed out that the large aggregate rate reduction of 72.5 per cent was not achieved by sacrificing expenditures for modern machinery and equipment, but on the contrary, improvements and betterments have been made constantly, thus assuring good service and also promoting further rate reduction through increased efficiency.

M'NUTT CLUB

rock Mr. Stinson, of virtue of his office as president of the club, will serve as chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Boyles and Mr. Ketter also will serve as members of the committee.

Immediately following his election to the presidency of the Panhandle McNutt-Ford-President club, Mr. Stinson addressed the group and expressed his admiration of Mr. McNutt and of his progressive views and capabilities as a leader.

"I appreciate the honor that has been accorded to me," Mr. Stinson said, "and I wish to say that the officers and members of this club will do all in their power to assist in the organization for other McNutt-Ford-President clubs in the counties of the Panhandle."

The Panhandle-wide club will cover all counties in the 18th congressional district, it was announced.

Fraises McNutt

"I know of no person who has all of the qualities for the presidency of the United States that are possessed by Paul V. McNutt," Mr. Stinson said. "His record shows him to be an outstanding leader, a progressive, and a man who is capable of assuming the duties that fall to the lot of the president of the United States."

Freeding the election of officers, Mr. Ketter explained the purpose of the meeting and outlined some of the highlights of Mr. McNutt's career as a national and international figure.

"It is barely necessary to make any statement," Mr. Ketter said, "concerning the pacific conflict between this man of ours and a third term to President Roosevelt, as Mr. McNutt has stated publicly several times that he will not be a candidate should President Roosevelt seek a third term. It is on that basis that this club is organized."

Lawyer in 1914

Mr. Ketter briefly sketched the public activities of Mr. McNutt, which include his becoming a lawyer in 1914, enlistment in the army, his discharge in 1918 as a lieutenant-colonel, his marriage in 1918 to Miss Kathleen Timclat of San Antonio, dean of Indiana University.

reorganization of the internal economic systems of individual states—along with organization of markets and currency regulation—to revive international trade; establishment of an "unconditionally guaranteed peace" and a sense of security on the part of individual nations by sanctioning Europe as remade and by reducing armaments.

"Why should this war in the west be fought?" he asked. "For the restoration of Poland? The Poland of the Versailles treaty will never rise again. This is guaranteed by two of the largest states in the world (Russia and Germany)."

He thus ended his speech: "As the victors of the world war people and chancellor of the reich I can only thank God at this moment that He has so wonderfully blessed us in our hard struggle for what is our right, and beg Him that we and all other nations may find the right way, so that not only the German people but all Europe may once more be granted the blessing of peace."

Barnes Acquitted In Jury Verdict

Non-jury cases were being heard in 31st district court today, following the dismissal of jurors for the week late Thursday afternoon.

Saturday will mark the conclusion of the second and first jury week of the term. The third week, starting Monday, is civil jury, and the entire jury docket is to be called.

A verdict of "not guilty" was returned by the jury at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the case of State of Texas vs. Charles M. Barnes. The defendant, with O. L. Barn, had been indicted on July 12, 1937 on a charge of swindling and theft by false pretext. The case against Barnes had been dismissed.

12 miles of new water mains. He also explained that there now is no possible danger of a water shortage here with the city's water storage capacity more than doubled and auxiliary units installed to take over the work in case the present pumping system should be thrown out of commission.

Every bit of work done on the recent installation, Mr. Williamson explained, has been approved by state fire insurance inspectors with the result that Pampa now has one of the lowest key fire insurance rates in the country.

The new system, according to Mr. Williamson, has not cost city property owners any tax increase. Bonds are being paid off at the rate of $3,500 a month from water revenue and operating costs have been cut down appreciably because of the more efficient system.

The city manager also showed members of the tour 5,000 Chinese elm trees which have been planted at the waterworks park. These trees will be distributed free to Pampans beginning next February.

All that he will ask, Mr. Williamson said, "is that the property owners promise to take good care of them. We hope, through this plan, to add greatly to Pampa's beautification."

SERIAL STORY

WORKING WIYES

BY LOUISE HOLMES

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, on Feb. 1 Marian leaves the office with a good house. She finds her days filled with preparations for the arrival of the baby. One day she meets Angie Doran, urges her to come to the apartment.

CHAPTER XXVIII

MARIAN and Angie Doran, each carrying a large paper sack, went to Marian's apartment. They talked of inconsequential things until they were seated in the sunny windows. Angie took it for granted that Dan was the head of Marian's house and Marian let her think so.

Marian opened the conversation by saying, "I did a thoughtless thing once, Angie, a cruel thing. I didn't realize it at the time, but now I know."

"I've hated you for a long time, Marian—but I don't know—if it hadn't been you it would have been someone else."

"Yes, Sally Blake did the same to me. It was when she began to edge in on me that I thought of you, realized what I had done. Women are cruel to each other, Angie."

Angie shrugged. "What about men being cruel—what about Grant Fellows?"

"I know—it's a law, I guess. After all, to the men we work for, we are nothing more than machines. When we get rusty, when our mechanism slows down, when we have lost our new, shiny look, we are replaced by a later model."

Angie nodded. "You are among the lucky few, Marian. You have a husband and you are going to have a child. When I first worked for Mr. Fellows I could have married. A fine man wanted me, but I couldn't see it. I was ambitious for a career. I thought marrying a poor man was hiding my talents."

"Marrying a poor man, keeping his home, bearing his children—it's the greatest career in the world, Angie."

"Yes, it's where we women belong."

After a little silence, Marian said, "Tell me about yourself, Angie. In my poor way I'm trying to make amends for the many years when I thought of no one but myself. I want my baby to have the right kind of a mother. I want you to know that I'm sorry for what I did to you—I want to ask you to forgive me."

"Thank you, dear. I'm too glad to have the little hurt erased. Fortunately, I was a before-hand person. I have a small annuity and live comfortably, happily. I think I shall live even more happily after today."

She smiled and there was understanding between them.

Angie remained for lunch. When she went away, Marian felt that one more wrong had been righted. It was as if she were impelled to smooth her past life, put it neatly in order, before taking the onward path.

SHE rested during the afternoon. It was unreasonably warm and she made a call glass of iced coffee, pouring the hot, amber liquid over cracked ice. It steamed pleasantly, the glass frosted over. Rich cream gave the glass opaque, golden shades. Sipping the drink, Marian was startled by a brisk rap on the door. One of the neighbors, keeping an eye on her. She opened the door.

"Carma Forbes—" she exclaimed. "My dear—am I glad to see you? Come in quick."

Carma came in. Her dark suit was as smart as ever, her small hat as extravagant, but there was a subtle difference. The restlessness was gone, serenity had taken its place. She did not glow like Dolly, she had not acquired Marian's wistful beauty, but she was serene, at peace. Marian hurried to the kitchen for another glass of iced coffee and Carma followed.

"Well, well," she said, "I guess I'm just one jump ahead of the stork."

"Hardly that," Marian laughed. "Most any minute I'll be presenting the news to the appreciative world with another citizen."

"I heard that you had quit your job, but I had no idea you were doing yourself proud like this. I got your address from Mr. Fellows."

"You're a good sport, Carma," she said.

"You're dining with friends and she hurried away. "Give Dan my love," she said. "Tell him that I'm going to make a papa out of my husband one of these fine days."

Marian put on her hat. The picture at the neighborhood theater was Dark Victory. Dan had liked it, he had wanted her to see it. Dark Victory—must one go through the darkness to be victorious?

She has done things that simply turn us cold when we think about them." Marian felt qualified to speak on that subject.

"I have tried to forget, but it's a black memory. I must have been insane."

"If we learn through mistakes—if we try and try—I'm preaching to myself, Carma."

"I have learned," seriously. "I'm trying."

"Are you working in Springfield?"

"No, I'm going to be married. I'm here in Chicago to buy my trousseau."

"That's lovely. Do I know the lucky man?"

Carma shook her head. "I knew him in high school. I used to hear from him when I lived here. He has a hardware store in Springfield." Carma spoke without enthusiasm.

"You don't love him, Carma?"

"No, but I like him a lot. We'll have financial worries, business is hard in his line. I'll wear my clothes year in and year out. But I don't care. I thought maybe—if I made a go of it—I could wipe out this other thing."

WERE they all making amends? Was life compromise and sacrifice? But were they not fortunate to have a chance to make amends?

Marian said warmly, "You'll find happiness, I know you will."

Carma looked down, brushing an imaginary something from her skirt. "Do you ever see them—Pete and Julie?"

"No, it's been a long time. I wrote to Julie. I apologized. I said I wanted her and Pete to think well of me, if they could."

"Did you hear from her?"

"Yes, a nice little note. Pete added a postscript. To a grand girl. Thanks and forget it. Oh, Marian—it isn't right that any woman should lose so much just because she's a fool."

Marian knew what she meant. She, herself, was living on a waste hope that she might be given another chance. Without that hope she would have wanted to die. Carma had no hope.

"You're a good sport, Carma," she said.

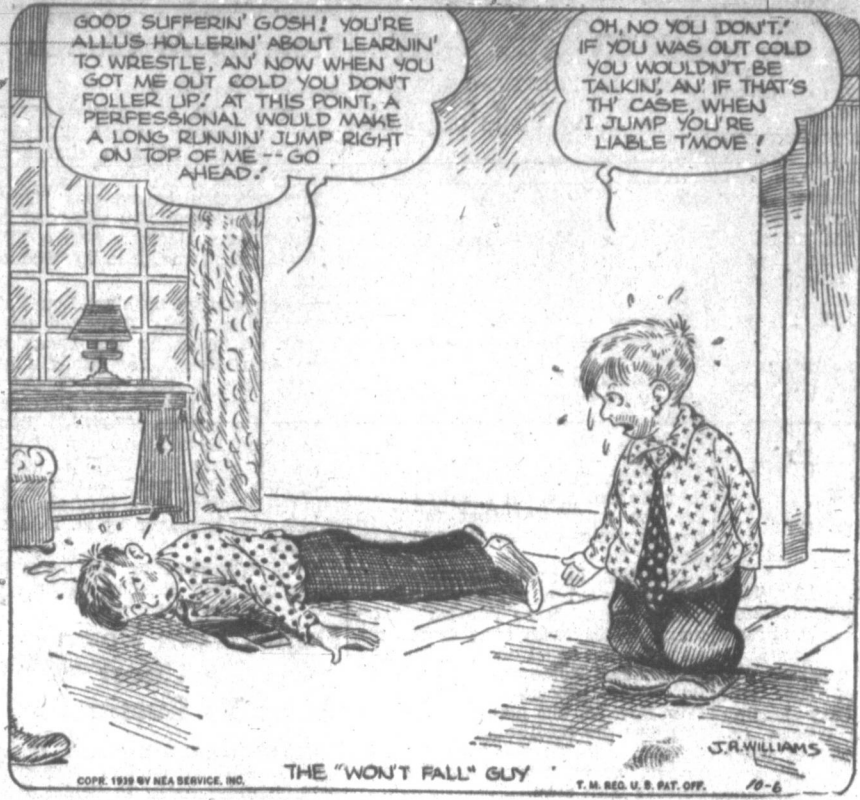

Carma was dining with friends and she hurried away. "Give Dan my love," she said. "Tell him that I'm going to make a papa out of my husband one of these fine days."

Marian put on her hat. The picture at the neighborhood theater was Dark Victory. Dan had liked it, he had wanted her to see it. Dark Victory—must one go through the darkness to be victorious?

"Try to forget it. Everyone of us has done things that simply turn us cold when we think about them." Marian felt qualified to speak on that subject.

A resident of Gray county was among the 12 persons in Amarillo Wednesday who became citizens of the United States before the United States District Court for the northern district of Texas. Federal Judge James C. Wilson administered the oath of allegiance.

The new American from Gray county was Alois Laznick of LeFlore, a Yugoslavian. He was the only one of his nationality in the group.

Russian allegiance was renounced by two persons from Lipscomb, German by six, one each from Dimmitt, Dalhart, Polk, Borger, and Amarillo. Great Britain by two, both from Amarillo, one a citizen of Canada, the other a native of Ireland. A Borger man renounced allegiance to Holland, and a Dalhart man to Mexico.

Declaration Of Panama Played By Texas Prof

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—The danger of the United States becoming involved in war because of possible repeal of the arms embargo will not hold a candle to the inherent dangers in an attempt to enforce the Declaration of Panama. Dr. John L. Mecham, University of Texas authority on Latin-American affairs, said in an interview today. Coupled with his criticism, he asserted "dreams of a great trade expansion into Latin America by the United States are doomed to disappointment" because of the United States rate of exchange. He described the rise of the Mexican peso last week, possibly due to European gold stores in Mexico, as an action "of a confidence in Mexico that is purely artificial." The Panama Declaration he termed unnecessary and dangerous and possible of enforcement only by force. "The United States is the only nation in the western hemisphere that has a navy to speak of, and it will be up to the United States to enforce the new policy," he said. "The declaration is contrary to international law because it reverts again the old discarded principle of a 'closed sea.'" "The declaration is a presumption but, then, too, so was the Monroe Doctrine. The doctrine was described by British statesmen as a 'case of international impertinence.'" If we have belligerent activities within safety zones, then I suppose United States patrols will undertake to stop them, and the chances for conflict will be very great. "The Monroe Doctrine really ran counter to international law and so does the declaration."

Turkeys Will Be Cheap This Year

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 6 (AP)—Drumstick gnawin' is going to be popular in the United States this autumn!

Turkey experts sounded this proclamation today and listed two reasons: Some states will have two Thanksgiving days—one federal; one state. The 1939 turkey production is the largest on record—and the birds are selling at prices approximately the same as those asked for first grade hamburger. Directors of the Northwestern Turkey Growers' Association, who represent thousands of growers in 11 states, invited the nation's housewives to "try a wing," not only on a holiday, but any time, because, they emphasized, the gangling birds are the only meat that failed to benefit from the recent war-time price hike.

Directors, in annual meeting, said they expected a newspaper advertising campaign to put turkey on many tables twice next month instead of the usual once. President Roosevelt has indicated they expected a Thanksgiving Day Nov. 23, but many states have clung to the traditional last Thursday of November, this year the 30th. Hence, some commonwealths will observe both days. With the nation's turkey production estimated at 31,957,000, some 22 per cent larger than last year, officials said few growers would make a "fair" profit.

Two Phillips P-TA Members Attend Wellington Meeting

HOPKINS, Oct. 6—Mrs. Karl W. Rippel, Tri-County council president, and Mrs. W. M. Parker, precinct vice-president, attended the board of managers council held at Wellington, September 30. Mrs. Rippel was one of the members on the panel discussion. Her subject was hospitality and she stated that the most important aim of a hospitality committee is to be sure that members are comfortably seated and are made to feel at home at all meetings. She suggested that two teachers and three mothers be used as the ideal hospitality committee.

Policeman Indicted In Girl's Slaying

MAUC CHUNK, Pa., Oct. 6 (AP)—Benjamin Franklin, 33, suspended Pennsylvania police corporal, was indicted on murder and involuntary manslaughter charges today in the "toy gun" slaying of 14-year-old Joan Stevens, Nesquehoning school girl, June 5. The Stevens girl was killed while Franklin and Private Edward Swartz questioned her about a purported bank robbery scheme. Franklin contended he fired in self-defense when the girl yanked a pistol from her purse and threatened to "blow your brains out." The pistol proved to be a toy.

LeFors Baptist WMS Has Week Of Prayer Program At Church

LEFORS, Oct. 6—LeFors WMSU week of prayer opened Monday night with the YWA in charge of the program.

The program theme was "Open Doors." The devotional was read by Dorothy Jean Kratzer, and a talk on evangelism was given by Mildred Scaggs. A song was led by Mari Lou Hall after which Stella Benefield gave a talk on "Opening the Doors of Our Negro Neighbors." Mary Alice Wells gave a talk on "Looking Through the Door at Our Foreigners" and a talk on "Christian Education and Institutional Care," was given by Mary Lou Hall. A poem, "Are We Christians?" was read by Mildred Kratzer. The program was closed with a prayer by H. D. McDonald.

Danes Turn Down Offer To Chart Ships To Russia

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Oct. 6 (AP)—Danish shipowners turned a cold shoulder today to Soviet Russia's inquiry as to whether they would charter ships to transport timber from the White Sea to England and France. Norway has replied the Soviet can have as many ships as she wants, while Swedish and Finnish owners showed interest in the proposition, but reserved a final decision. Russia's gesture aroused speculation as to her position inasmuch as Germany has notified neutral countries she considers woodpulp as contraband. Five Swedish ships, two of them loaded with woodpulp, were seized by the Germans yesterday.

Chinese Repulse Jap Offensive

HONGKONG, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Japanese army's first major offensive in nearly a year appeared today to have resulted in a definite Japanese setback with heavy losses.

Chinese reports declared, without Japanese denials, that the columns which had been driving on Changsha, capital of Hunan province, had been thrown back and were withdrawing across the Mi river, 40 miles north of the city. A few days ago the Japanese reported their advanced units in the suburbs of Changsha, port on the Siang river about 180 miles southwest of Hankow. The drive was the first big Japanese land operation in China since the occupation of Hankow Oct. 25, 1938. Estimates of the total forces engaged on both sides ran as high as 500,000. A Japanese military spokesman in Shanghai said it was possible no attempt would be made to capture Changsha since it had "no military significance." A Chinese spokesman asserted the Hunan offensive had cost the Japanese 10,000 dead. Air is 20 degrees cooler inside a Panama hat.
