

FDR 'Sorry' Many Americans Favor Adopting 'Efficient' Dictatorships

HIDE PARK, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt named dictatorial today as one of five essentials to permanent world peace.

He admitted frankly that what he termed the corporate state or government, as maintained in Italy, Germany and Russia, was more efficient than a democracy.

Delays are inherent in the American system, he said, because of its system of checks and balances in the legislative, executive and judicial branches.

The president remarked that he was sorry to say that a large number of Americans were willing, because of the greater efficiency of the corporate state, to adopt that form of government.

At a press conference he listed these objectives which he said must be realized before a permanent peace could be assured.

1. Freedom from fear, so that people will not be afraid of being bombed from the air or attacked by another nation. That, he said, means removal of the weapons which cause wear, or disarmament.

2. Freedom of information. That is important, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, because the whole country must be able to get news of what is going on in every part of the world, without censorship. He said that it meant not freedom of the press alone but freedom of every means of distributing information and that without it there could be no stable world.

3. Freedom of religion. Under democracies, the president said, this freedom has been maintained fairly well but not in countries living under other systems of government.
4. Freedom of expression. A person should be free to voice his opinions, the president said, so long as he does not advocate overthrow of his government.
5. Freedom from want. That must be accomplished, Mr. Roosevelt declared, by removal of cultural and commercial barriers between nations.

The outlining of these objectives, the chief executive said, raises the question of whether we are going to seek the five "freedoms" or give them up, or encourage, by lack of opposition, those nations which have removed them in order to achieve a somewhat more efficient government.

That system, he said, might almost be called an American invention because it was first put into effect in the United States. The example was followed in other nations, some of which added or retained a king as a symbol. Mr. Roosevelt added,

Today, he said, many of the latter countries all over the world are being threatened or their forms of government have been ended by conquest. Set up in their place, he said, is a system which has abolished two of the safeguards of democracy—the judiciary and legislature.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Britain's historic use of force to secure control of the navy of her late ally greatly increased England's power and resistance to the impending Nazi attempt to destroy her.

Equally important may be the effect on the world at large. This demonstration of British determination—and sea power—will tend to halt the dry-rot which since the collapse of France has attacked the confidence of some neutrals in England's position and intentions.

It also is calculated to restrain nations which have shown decided inclinations to take advantage of Britain's involvement in this life and death struggle.

These are likely to be the immediate effects. It is difficult to see clearly beyond the carnage and destruction which still hang over Europe, but a permanent severance of the bonds of alliance which have held France and England together so long would be bound to have a far-reaching repercussion on the political situation in post-war days.

For many years the Anglo-French brotherhood has been dominant in European affairs.

The British operations in disposing of the Great French fleet haven't been finished and there may be more fighting between brothers.

The London Daily Herald states that nearly 250 French warships have fallen into British possession.

While this greatly improves Britain's position, the nature of this added strength shouldn't be misunderstood. It probably lies more in the fact that Germany and Italy have been deprived of the use of the French navy than in the actual power added to the British fleet.

Prime Minister Churchill says that the seized units will be "extremely useful" and that "undoubtedly" it shouldn't be overlooked, however, that in many cases the British will be unable to replace spare parts on the French ships, or provide munitions, because these differ from the English, and the French naval plants are in German hands.

Also, the French fleet was a tremendously important part of the Allied blockade upon which they depended so much to defeat Germany. The operations of this blockade are so vast that they reach into the Pacific. Any weakening of it makes England's lone task just so much greater.

However, if the French fleet had fallen into the hands of the German-Italian entente, it would have increased their sea-power to approximate parity with that of Britain—a handicap which could easily be disastrous for the British. As it is, England will have an advantage in tonnage of more than two to one—probably nearer three—and in efficiency the difference is held by many naval experts to be far greater.

Some Shooting Due In Sunday Election

MEXICO CITY, July 5 (AP)—Reports of scattered pre-election disturbances moved Mexican officials to reinforce today the guards assigned to keep order during Mexico's presidential balloting Sunday.

They said they expected no serious disorders, but summoned 3,000 military college students to supplement 5,000 soldiers.

Observers declared, however, they would be surprised if election day passed without bloodshed and disorders, following the spirited year-long campaign of Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, the administration candidate, and Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, anti-administration leader.

Both have fought in numerous revolutions.

There are two other candidates—Gen. Rafael Sanchez Tapia and a last-minute surprise entry, Ramon La Paz, drugist of Mexicali, Lower California. Little has been heard from them.

Warships At Alexandria In Strange Fix

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 5.—The powerful British navy swept the seas today to bring French warships under its control—possibly if possible but in fights to the death if necessary.

The British were ready for action especially at Alexandria, key eastern Mediterranean port, where a strong British battle fleet lay poised covering a formidable French force whose commander apparently was undecided whether to comply with a British ultimatum for cooperation.

The situation of the British and French warships at Alexandria was strange. Strong forces of both fleets were rushed there together many weeks ago to take up a joint protection of allied interests in this vital corner of the world near the entrance to the Suez Canal.

Then came the Petain armistice, providing that all French warships, including those in the Mediterranean, return home. Next, after days of uncertainty, came the British ultimatum.

Thursday morning, while the French Admiral was debating what to do about the British order, both the British and French ships were attacked by Italian warplanes, and they fired together at the attackers.

(The Petain government of France has ordered the French warships at Alexandria to fight their way home through the British lines. Adolf Hitler gave permission for the scuttling of the ships if necessary to avoid capture by the British.)

Although the ultimatum was delivered as long ago as Wednesday.

Willkie Demos In Texas Won't Have Vote Says Rayburn

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Willkie Democrats in Texas are advised by House Majority Leader Rayburn (D-Texas) that they will have no voice in the selection of the presidential candidate at the Democratic National convention in Chicago.

Informed of a proposal by some Texas Democrats that unless President Roosevelt were nominated the party should nominate Wendell Willkie, Rayburn replied:

"The men who are advocating that won't be delegates to the convention and won't have a vote. I'll say that."

3,000 Attend Fourth Rodeo At Canadian

Special To The NEWS

CANADIAN, July 5.—Anvil Park rodeo was witnessed by 3,000 people yesterday afternoon. There were 633 automobiles on the grounds, these from thirteen states. One hundred sixty-five were Texas cars and 145 bore Kansas licenses.

Fast action obtained throughout the show lasting two and a half hours. Every western and south-western state and a representative cowboy in one or more events.

There was no disaster from heat as there was a cool breeze the entire afternoon.

The grand entry preceding the show proper was led by Slim Whaley and Lynn Beutler each carrying the red, white and blue braided lasso. They were followed by several score cowboys and cowgirls in gala attire and left the audience anticipating a first class performance.

Miss Sydna Yokley, smiling and charming, made the grand entry riding Sonny Boy.

Brahmas Hard To Ride

The Brahma bulls, brought to South Texas from India years ago, were unsatisfactory for bareback riding. However, Clarence Mayberry of Elk City, Okla., and Bud Fisher of Shawnee, Okla., managed to stay seated the required length of time.

C. A. Studer was almost a deserted city yesterday, as banks, postoffice, city and county buildings, and most stores and offices closed for the holiday, and Pampans visited Lake McClellan, the Anvil Park rodeo, and other Independence day attractions.

Pampa Passes Quiet Fourth

With the exception of one fight that led to two men being charged with disturbing the peace, one man arrested by county officers for intoxication, and a few other arrests for misdemeanors, Pampa had a quiet Fourth of July.

In Pampa jail today were seven prisoners, all on minor charges. One of these held was charged with disturbing the peace in a fight that occurred in a house on East Denver street Thursday afternoon. The other man charged was released on paying a $10 fine.

Both men were bloody as the result of the fight and had their wounds treated at a local hospital. No report of any accident was received by either city or county police officers.

Four Men, Women Rescued From Gulf

CORPUS CHRISTI, July 5. (AP)—Four men and a woman were brought into Port Aransas today by a United States coast guard boat at noon today after spending two days in the Gulf of Mexico without food and water.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vogel of Kansas City, Mo., W. A. Logan of Houston, G. B. Skelton and Edgar Roberts, Guide, of Port Aransas.

None the worse for their experience, the fishermen reported they ran out of gas early Wednesday night while attempting to return to Port Aransas ahead of an electrical storm. Unprepared for a long stay, the party had no food, water or cigarettes until a passing tugboat yesterday stopped and gave them a jug of water and promised to return for their plight to the coast guard at Shreveport. Meanwhile, a search by boat and airplane was started yesterday and continued until a coast guard boat reached them late this morning.

Sadler And Smith Order 2 Additional Oil Shutdown Days

AUSTIN, July 5 (AP)—Two additional statewide production shutdown days a month for July and August were imposed on the Texas oil industry today by a majority of the state railroad commission.

The shutdown days, ordered for July 10 and 18 and August 8 and 16, were in addition to five per month recently imposed.

Commissioner Jerry Sadler, who said he and Chairman Lon A. Smith had signed the order, estimated the additional close-ins would reduce the current approximate 1,300,000 barrels a day average statewide production by 80,000 barrels daily.

He declared the shutdowns also would apply in the giant East Texas field.

Late News

NEW ORLEANS, July 5 (AP)—Harry Jacobs, chief engineer of the Louisiana State Board of Engineers, was charged with murder today in the fatal shooting last night of his wife, Mrs. Edna Jacobs, 46.

NEWTON, N. J., July 5 (AP)—Three German-American Bund leaders were released today in $1,000 bail on charges of inciting racial and religious hatred. Bail was furnished by Gustav Elmer, national Bund treasurer.

G. Wilhelm Kume, acting national leader of the bund; August Klappert, camp manager and Matthias Kohler, a bund officer and trustee, had been arrested yesterday at an Independence Day rally in Andover Township.

British Oil Men Given 24 Hours To Leave Rumania

France Breaks Off Relations With Britain

France Breaks Off Relations With Britain

GIBRALTAR, July 5 (AP)—Airplanes attacked Gibraltar three times without success today in the first air raids of the war on this British naval stronghold.

The raids started in the early hours. Searchlights went into action. Several bombs were dropped but all fell into the sea and there were no casualties and no damage.

In the third raid a plane was seen attempting to make a dive-bombing attack but was driven off by shore batteries.

(By The Associated Press)

A stern french protest against Britain's attack on the French fleet in the Mediterranean was delivered in London today—apparently a sign that the estranged Allies were about to break off relations.

Reports in Berlin said France already had severed diplomatic relations as Britain kept powerful units of the French fleet bottled up in Alexandria harbor, ready to attack at the first gesture of defiance.

Although the protest of the French charge D' Affaires in London meant that British-French relations still existed, there were indications that they were strained to the breaking point.

The French embassy called the protest "as drastic and as stern... as it is possible to make."

"We do not know what will happen or when the French will make a decision," British circles at Alexandria said.

"We only know that no French ship shall ever leave Alexandria to surrender to the enemy."

It was clearly indicated that any French attempt to slip out of the harbor would result in a repetition of yesterday's Anglo-French naval action in the western Mediterranean—the greatest sea battle of the war.

Following up yesterday's naval battle, the British fleet scoured the seas to bring French warships still at large under its control.

The London Daily Herald declared that in all nearly 250 French warships, "the greater part of which was the second biggest fleet in Europe," have fallen into British hands.

Besides capital ships numerous cruisers, destroyers, submarines, including the world's largest, and scores of auxiliary vessels were seized in actions started Wednesday.

An Italian source said that as a result of Britain's action both continental and colonial France henceforth will attack British vessels coming within the 12-mile coastal limit.

The British said the London Admiralty had offered "fullest facilities to all French officers and men at Alexandria who wish to continue the war."

This was interpreted here to mean that the French automatically would receive pay equal to British seamen if they continue to fight.

All French officers and crewmen remained aboard their vessels today. No British had yet boarded the French ships.

British naval sources declined to say whether French Vice-Admiral Godfrey, commanding the units at Alexandria, had been given any definite time to make his decision.

It was understood the alternatives to fighting with the British were the same as those handed the French at Mers El-Kebir.

Usually well-informed sources, meantime, declared that the majority of the French officers and seamen want to fight on with Great Britain against Italy and Germany.

It was understood the British are not pressing the French for a decision at present, confident that whatever happens no French warship ever will leave Alexandria to fall into enemy hands.

Miss Yvonne Thomas Becomes Bride Of Jack Stroup At Lubbock

Couple To Be At Home Here Following Trip

In a double ring ceremony solemnized Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Lubbock, Miss Yvonne Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Thomas, became the bride of J. O. (Jack) Stroup, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Stroup, of Quitaque.

The Rev. Halle Gantz, pastor of First Christian church of Lubbock, officiated as the vows were read before an improvised altar of gladioli in the church parsonage.

The bride was attractive in a dusky rose redingote with black and white accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Degart of Turkey. After the ceremony the couple left on a 10-day trip to Galveston, Fort Arthur, and other points in south Texas. Upon their return they will be at home at 404 North Ballard street, in Pampa.

Miss Stroup, who was graduated from the local high school, attended Baylor University. She is a graduate of West Texas State college at Canyon. While in high school and college, Mrs. Stroup won numerous beauty contests. She is head of the English department of the local junior high school.

Mr. Stroup, a member of a pioneer family of Quitaque, is a graduate of Quitaque High school and Wayland college at Plainview. For three years Mr. Stroup was assistant manager and bookkeeper of the Panhandle Lumber company in Borger until he was transferred in June to Pampa, where he is associated with the same lumber company.

Out-of-town guests attending the service were Mrs. O. W. Stroup and Mrs. J. E. Stroup of Quitaque, Miss Gladys Stroup of Amarillo, Miss Ruth Stapleton of Lockney, S. S. Thomas, Jerry Thomas, Miss Jeta Duncan, and Miss Josephine Thomas of Pampa.

Glamorous Stars Like Simple Slacks Suits And Housecoats 'Around House'

Simple lines mark this afternoon dress, created by Edith Head for screen star Joan Blondell. The soft, pleated green crepe skirt is topped by a big-sleeved blouse with a tie-silk pattern of green and white.

By LUCIE NEVILLE
HOLLYWOOD — Lots of June brides, home from the wedding trip and settling down to housekeeping, are finding their trousseaux lack one important item: something simple to wear at home. Something washable and cool for hot summer mornings, pretty for breakfast and practical for housework.

Across the Hollywood breakfast tables these mornings you'll see pinafores, slacks suits and housecoats. It mostly depends on what the husbands like them to wear. Ann Sothen prefers pajamas, but says that spouse Roger Pryor likes her in feminine clothes, and his favorite is a pink chambray dress with a starched white pinafore.

Joan Blondell (and hubby Dick Powell) likes a short-skirted linen suspender dress with an organdy blouse for garden or "dirty work" and the substitutes a gingham plaid or polka dot top.

Lana Turner says her husband Artie Shaw approves her slacks suits and materials — and doesn't care if her hair isn't carefully arranged. She slips a cotton fishnet snood over it until the studio hairdresser tackles it. Mary Martin, another pinafore fan, winds a print turban around her head until she has time for hair-dressing.

Billy Burke says she's most comfortable in the slide-fastened housecoats and likes seersucker ones for summer because they wash easily and look fresh.

Ann Rutherford confesses she'd rather postpone dressing as long as possible. She eats breakfast in bed, then puts on a flower robe matching her nightgown while she helps with the housework.

Brenda Marshall thinks she has found the perfect summer outfit in gabardine slacks and shirt. The suit is mantled with stitched-down pleats in the trousers, four-inch, link-fashioned cuffs on the long sleeves, and a pleated bosom shirt. A small monogram in aqua-marine is embroidered on the white shirt pocket.

"A trick I learned about slacks-suits from one of the shapelier stars: get the trousers a size larger than the bust. Most gals don't match hip and bust measurements in perfect proportion, and since they don't wear girdles with these sports suits, the trousers are usually too snug. Also, you'll sit and sprawl more comfortably than when you're wearing skirts. The shops probably will argue that it can't be done, but if you'll yell loud and long enough they'll sell you a Size 14 blouse and Size 16 slacks, and you'll look as perfect as any glamor girl.

Miss Abernathy Becomes Bride Of Borger Man

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Abernathy of Phillips camp, south of Pampa, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Wilma Allene Abernathy, to Harrison M. Watson of Borger.

The nuptials were solemnized in the parsonage of the First Methodist church on Friday, June 28, at 2:30 o'clock with the Rev. W. M. Pearce, pastor, officiating.

The bride wore a white eyelet embroidered dress with blue and white accessories. Her corsage was of tallinn roses.

Attending the bride was Miss Phyllis Cotten of Phillips, who wore a powder blue linen dress with rose accessories. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Watson attended grade school at Hopkins and later Pampa High school, completing her work there in 1938. She also did post graduate work in 1939. While in Pampa High school she was a member of the pep squad for two years and was active in various sports. She represented her school three consecutive years in tennis.

Mr. Watson was graduated in 1936 from Hamlin High school where he was active in track and basketball. He is an employee of the Phillips Petroleum company at Phillips. The couple is at home at present in the Head apartments.

Miss Alice Porter of Phillips also attended the ceremony.

Life Leaves You Behind If You Try To Mark Time

By RUTH MILLETT
One young couple is building their first home.

Another young couple is expecting the first baby.

Another is venturing to start its own business.

All three (and they represent thousands of young people) are right. Life can't stand still. Young people can't mark time just because no one can see around the bend in the road.

There is only one way to live and that is to go ahead with plans and dreams—to go ahead with living.

If the plans are interrupted, it can't be helped. But they may not be interrupted. Where nothing is certain, it is best to go ahead with a positive rather than a negative way of life.

That goes for establisher families as well as for the young just beginning to build their homes.

It goes both for men and for women. Women feel particularly helplessness when faced with a negative way of life.

WOMEN'S WORK STILL IMPORTANT

That isn't the answer. Women's work is just as important as ever—perhaps more important, since the troubled times have made us all more appreciative of the beauty and peace of family life.

Women must try even harder than usual to make their homes happy, tranquil places for their husbands and their children.

As Pearl Buck, Nobel prize winner, pointed out in a recent interview: "Homes must be kept happy and everyday life cherished with special care."

Her advice to mothers and families: "Keep the children of the family unrighteous and preserve for yourself the things that give you the most permanent spiritual satisfaction."

At a monthly meeting of the executive board of Business and Professional Women's club this week in the home of the new president, Ruth Walstead, committees for the year were named. The group voted to discontinue regular meetings of the club for the summer but the board will continue to have meetings.

Katie Beverly was named club mother for the year of 1940-1941.

Committees were named as follows: Publicity, Lillian McNutt, chairman; Maurine Jones, Gypsy Malloy, and Miriam Wilson; health, Opal Wright, chairman, Anna Grammas and Mildred Overall; education, Gladys Robinson, chairman, Jessie Bumpus, Audrey Fowler, and Madge Rusk; international relations, Mable Gee, chairman, Yeda Lee Olson and Ida Hughes; publications, Ruth Caraway, chairman, Ida Adams and Irene Ballard; finance, Ruba McConnell, chairman, Maurine Jones, Lillian McNutt, Anna Grammas, Myrtle Simpson, Sue Van Winkle, Gypsy Malloy, Ruth Griggs, Betty Dunbar, Leah Behrman, Oree Kromer; public affairs, Grace Pool, chairman; Julia Kelley, Adeline Brazill, Lela Mann, Ellen Sartor, and Anne Heskey; legislative, Letha Northup, chairman, Genevieve Briscoe, Sibyl Taylor, and Leora Kinard; program coordination, Dalton Hall, Clara Lee Shewmaker and Laura Bell Cornelius; social, Lorraine Fite, chairman, Ruby Boss, Mary Fleming, Roberta Wasson, Natha Tinnin, Reba Baird, Margaret Wallace, Blanch Anderson, Pearl Mitchell, and Katherine Ward; Council of Clubs, Frances Graver; and jury service for women, Audrey Fowler.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to Ruba McConnell, Lillian Jordan, Madeline Murray, Letha Northup, Ruth Walstead, Gladys Robinson, Madge Rusk, Grace Pool, Audrey Fowler, Dalton Hall, Vera Laird, Ruth Caraway, Opal Wright, Lorraine Fite, and Lillian McNutt.

Doomed to Disappear
Due to the melting of the Polar ice, sea levels are rising at the rate of one foot every 12 years. As a result, many of the smaller islands in the Pacific Ocean will disappear entirely as the water rises.

Mrs. Dodd Named Honoree At Shower Given Recently

Mrs. Tommy Wagoner and Mrs. Ed Mills entertained with a miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Bill Dodd, the former Miss Irene Graves, at the home of Mrs. Mills recently. Games were played during the afternoon and refreshments of pink and white ice cream, individual cakes, pink and white mints, and spiced tea were served.

The gifts were presented in a pink and white basket to Mrs. Dodd by Eddie Zane Graves and Patsy Jean Mills.

Guests present were Misses E. K. Rhode, Ray Ballinger, Ida Graves.

Bethany Members Meet For Visitation

Members of Bethany class of First Baptist church met at the church this week for visitation.

Following the devotional by Mrs. J. W. Munn, the group visited absentee and prospective members.

Next Thursday morning at 11 o'clock the class will meet in the home of Mrs. T. B. Solomon for business and visitation.

Mrs. Johnson Leads WMS Program For McCullough Group

McCullough Memorial Woman's Missionary society met this week in the church parsonage with Mrs. Orvil Johnson as program leader.

A prayer by Mrs. C. T. Nicholson preceded the call to worship by Mrs. Johnson and the scripture by Mrs. G. T. Nicholson. Topics on the program were given by Mrs. O. G. Smith and Mrs. Edna Andrews, followed with silent prayer. Mrs. Nicholson dismissed the group.

Attending were Misses Edna Andrews, C. T. Nicholson, Orvil Johnson, C. E. Vernon, O. J. Foster, and the hostess.

Mrs. Edna Andrews will be hostess to the society on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Couple Honored At Housewarming

MEAMI, July 5 — Seventy-five neighbors and friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Ross Cowan Tuesday evening when they gathered for a housewarming in their new country home.

Gifts were presented, a large number being sent by friends who were unable to attend.

A tour of inspection of the new home was conducted before refreshments were served by Mesdames Alfred Cowan, W. C. Scott, Clara Schrimbre, Ollie Duniven, W. R. Campbell, A. Hockett, E. Sides, George Watson, and W. F. Locke.

128 Persons Killed
In U. S. Yesterday

(By The Associated Press)
Although it was a "safe and sane" Fourth as far as fireworks went, at least 128 persons met violent deaths throughout the country.
There were only two fireworks fatalities reported in an Associated Press survey, one in Colorado and one in Maine. At a Fort Worth, Tex., fireworks display a section of boardwalk collapsed, plummeting 200 persons 15 feet, but none was killed, 40 were injured.
Automobile accidents accounted for at least 63 deaths and drowning for 35.

It is reported that at the end of the year American planes will be manufactured at the rate of about 2500 a month, as compared to the 1400 monthly production rate today.

Propellers now are made of wood, light metal alloys, steel and plastics.

Reunion Held
By Wall Family

SKELLYTOWN, July 5. — When the Wall family holds its reunion next year, Ray Wall will probably have answered all the questions that were asked him at the reunion held last Sunday at the Wall home in Skellytown and at Lake McClellan.
For Ray is a welding foreman for the Gulf Oil corporation in Venezuela, and questions as to life in South America were frequently asked him this week at the family gathering.
It was the first time the Wall family had been together, and the occasion of the first time some of the members had seen others since childhood.
The family met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Wall in Skellytown, then later in the day held a picnic at Lake McClellan, where the children in the group went boating.
There were 26 in all at the reunion.
C. W. Wall, 64, Skellytown, was the oldest person attending. The others were:
Mr. and Mrs. Chester Guthrie, and children, Leon, Ira, and Bessie, of Stratford; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Refford, Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Wall and children, Dale and Charlene, Skellytown; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wall, and children, Fred, Orval, Wayne, and Ianhoe, Skellytown.
Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wall, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wall, and children, Almada Jo, and Helen Louise, all of Shamrock.
Guests of the family present were Miss Wanda Cornit, Sunray; Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Phillips and infant daughter, Martha, Skellytown; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gann and daughter, Alene, Amarillo.
Dox Wall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wall, was not present at the reunion, due to an injury he received in an accident a week ago. He is a patient in Worley hospital in Pampa.

Howard Buckingham, Jr. won first prize and a bathing suit in senior men's diving and swimming events at the city pool yesterday. He won first in the diving and first in the 40-yard free style event in which Never Johnston finished second and almost in a dead-heat with Buckingham.
The closest and most thrilling race of the afternoon was a 100-yard breast-stroke battle between Art Swanson of Pampa and Don Curi of Amarillo. The pair finished almost in a dead heat, but judges with the aid of spectators finally decided that Swanson won by a hair.
The race between Johnston and Buckingham was also a thriller. Amarillo, Perryton and Phillips sent teams to the meet which was watched by several hundred fans. Jim Edwards, recreation supervisor and Manager Oscar Hinger of the pool were in charge of the contests. Bathing suits and sports clothing were given as prizes.
More out-of-town entrants than Pampans competed for honors. Pampa's best divers and swimmers were not entered in the events all of which were won by Perryton and Amarillo boys and girls.
Swanson's breast-stroke was easily the outstanding demonstration of the afternoon. Mr. Swanson showed Pampan's he still has the form he acquired when he was a college swimmer.
Skeet Wise of Pampa won second in men's diving. It was the first time he had attempted several of the dives he performed in several years. He gave Buckingham a close race. Johnston and Buckingham plan to attend the state meet at San Antonio on which yesterday's victories qualified them.
Shirley Schneider of Amarillo won the junior girls prize of a bathing suit, and Norma Joe Robinson of Amarillo won the senior women's prize. Gene Noland of Amarillo won the junior men's prize of a bathing suit. The junior diving was won by Dock Patton of Perryton with his brother coming in second. Noland led the meet with 12 points, winning two swimming trials and a second. Bernard Smith of Amarillo won a first and a second in junior swimming.
Weaver McCaslin of Phillips and Bryan Kiser of Perryton staged a thrilling 100-yard backstroke race with McCaslin pulling ahead just before the finish. Don Curi easily won the junior boys backstroke. Noland also led the 100-yard junior boys free style. Shirley Schneider of Amarillo won the 40-yard free style for junior women. Bernard Smith of Amarillo won the 40-yard free style. Noland won the junior boys 40-yard backstroke.

Write On Only One Side Of Package Urges Postoffice

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—It's only 172 days until Christmas, but the postoffice department came out today with a plea to the people to be a little more careful—not care- less—in mailing packages.

Wrapped in the millions of pack- ages which Americans mail every year is a parcel of unintentional grief for the clerks and postmen.

It comes from writing on more than one side of the package.

"We don't seem to be able to do anything about it," said a post of- fice spokesman. "The people think they help us when they write ad- dresses in a couple of places, but they hurt us."

Director Of Adult Work To Speak At Methodist Church

The Rev. Leo Rippey of Nashville, Tennessee, director of adult work of the Methodist church, will speak Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

He is a native of the Panhandle, having graduated from Clarendon college and Southern Methodist university. Also he has relatives in McLean. He has been director of Christian education in Washington, D. C., and Memphis, Tennessee, and has held his present position for the past 10 years.

The Rev. W. M. Pearce, pastor, will preach at the evening service of the church which is to be held on the lawn.

Baptist Training School Will Meet In Berger Sunday

The Baptist Association Training union will meet at the First church in Berger, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in a regular quarterly meeting.

The program includes a playlet by the Berger church, special mus- ic, conferences, and an address by the Rev. Lee Perry. These pro- grams are always well attended, and many cars will go from the Pampa churches.

God To Be Subject Of Lesson-Sermon

"God" is the subject of the Les- son-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 7.

The Golden Text is: "Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thank- giving, and honour, and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever. Amen" (Revelation 7:12).

Among the citations which com- prise the Lesson-Sermon is the fol- lowing from the Bible: "Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart... He shall receive the blessing from the Lord, and right- eousness from the God of his salva- tion" (Psalms 24:3, 4, 5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scrip- tures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God's being is infinity, freedom, harmony and boundless bliss. 'Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is lib- erty.' Like the archpriests of yore, man is free to enter into the hol- iest—the realm of God" (page 481).

Alamazan Rejects Patriotism Plea

MEXICO CITY, July 5 (AP)—Blunt rejection by an independent presidential candidate of an appeal to put "patriotism above partisan- ship" concerning Sunday's elections heightened interest today in Mex- ico's heated political situation.

The party of General Juan Alam- zan said the suggestion "would be very good in Switzerland or Eng- land but not in Mexico where we live in an age of trickery."

The proposal to accept the an- nounced results of Sunday's elec- tions without stirring up discord in the country was published yesterday by ex-President Abelardo Rodriguez.

A spokesman for Alamazan's party said the suggestion "would be ac- ceptable provided the elections were legal, but they will not be legal. This is clear since from day to day we see an infinity of outrages and crimes. The party therefore consid- ers itself within its rights in re- jecting such a suggestion."

40 Injured As Lake Worth Walk Collapses

FORT WORTH, July 5 (AP)—Forty persons were injured, two seriously, when a section of the board walk at Lake Worth Casino crashed through late last night.

The walk was jammed with spec- tators for a fireworks display. Two hundred persons were dropped a distance of 15 feet when a section of the walk 30 by 20 feet caved in.

107 Planes Downed

LONDON, July 5 (AP)—A reliable, although unofficial estimate placed the number of German planes shot down over and around the British Isles since the start of the war at 107 with a "large number" badly damaged.

MAKING MALTED MILK

Malted milk was invented in 1852. It is mainly a whole milk combina- tion, with the liquid separated from a mash of ground barley and wheat flour. Heated to 125 degrees F. in vacuum pans, it then is dried, sifted, and ground.

Twice Burned—At Least Once Shy

During and after the World War, the United States sent a vast volume of goods to Europe. It got nothing in return. What happened was that great sums of money were lent. Our goods were bought with the money. When the time came to pay back, Europe had no money to pay, and no goods which the United States wanted.

Whatever part of our production was sent to Europe during and after the World War turned out to have been really a gift to Europe, whatever we expected at the time.

So, thought the United States, we will be smarter next time. Investment in Europe since the World War prevalently took the form of the building of American plants there to produce goods on the spot within the economies of the various countries where the enterprises were set up.

Now that has gone the same way. The German Nazis having overrun country after country, American losses in those countries will reach $500,000,000, the Department of Commerce estimates.

The attitude which will be taken by the German government in its conquered territories is well forecast by what happened in Germany itself. American plants there during recent years simply failed to yield any return to American owners because the Nazi system of exchange control permits almost no money to be paid out to foreigners. In a sense, the building of such plants was simply a gift to Germany.

Such, it is reasonable to expect, will be the fate of American enterprises in Belgium, Denmark, Holland and France, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Austria.

Since scarcely anybody would advocate sending an expeditionary force to recapture the General Motors plant in Germany or the Standard Oil refinery in Holland, the United States is now squarely up against the question, can anything be done at all?

Probably not, though a study is now being made of foreign assets in the United States owned by nationals of the countries which have confiscated our own. Possibly a little confiscating might be done here in partial compensation.

But the United States, as Mexico knows, is dead set against confiscation.

WHAT FIFTH COLUMNISTS LIKE (Daily Oklahoman)

In the excitement of this crisis there will be much loose talk of fifth columnists. People will be unjustly accused.

When things aren't going right in government it may not be because of fifth column activity. It may be just plain stupidity or incompetence.

Nevertheless it is educational to apply the test: What would a shrewd fifth columnist like to see our government do at this time?

He would delight to see any policy adopted that would delay or halt preparation for the type of defense that can be assembled quickly. He would like to see all possible energy diverted to the type of defense that cannot be useful in less than three or four years.

He would hate to see a large body of young men put to work immediately to learn the science of tank driving or aviation or the handling of anti-aircraft guns. He would greatly prefer that we fritter away our energies on occupational camps where boys and girls are given almost any sort of training except the kind most needed for immediate defense of America.

He would like to see our skilled mechanics all put to work on battalions that can't be finished in less than three or four years, instead of making tanks, airplanes and anti-aircraft guns, which can be produced more rapidly and are needed for immediate defense.

He would like to see millions of dollars spent on peonodoggling—on duplicating surveys that have already been made—on monuments, museums, recreational projects, postoffices, athletic stadiums and such. That would take manpower and money away from the making of guns, tanks, tank traps, fuel depots, airplanes and other things of which there is such a tragic shortage, and need.

He would love to see our government bureaus snarled in a mess of red tape, with a lot of talk and no action. He would love to hear public servants say: "Let's not get excited, let's look several years ahead and do it this way instead of rushing into decisions that are needed now."

He would not say, "Billions for defense but not one cent for postoffice."

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, July 5—What Wendell Willkie may have to say about foreign policy in the near future is being awaited with intense interest by very diverse groups in Washington.

Washington originally had Willkie pegged as an interventionist, meaning that his ideas on Hitlerism and the importance of helping England were more or less in line with Roosevelt's.

His nomination hence was extremely depressing to the isolationists in Congress and to the peace societies. But just recently these groups have taken new heart.

A report has reached them to the effect that Willkie would soon issue a statement on his foreign policy—a statement emphasizing the importance of keeping out of war and the dangers inherent in "stab in the back" speeches, which would definitely remove from him all traces of the interventionist label.

This report came from sources close to Willkie in New York, and for the moment, at least, was accepted by the isolationists as authentic.

THIRD PARTY PLANS DISCUSSED It came at a moment when threats of a third ticket in the presidential race was coming from two directions. Senator Burton Wheeler of Montana declared that there would be "a new and great anti-war party" if the Democrats failed to put a stiff anti-war plank

Common Ground

By R. G. HOLLES

This column contends there can be no satisfactory program until we measure the shares of such man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

TWO CONCEPTS OF FREEDOM—TWO CONCEPTS OF CHRISTIANITY

There seems to be two distinct concepts as to the true meaning of freedom. There can be no true freedom until we come to the common ground as to the true meaning of freedom that we want.

St. Augustine, the most powerful prelate in the Catholic church, was Bishop of Hippo in the period of about 400 to 418 A. D. In explaining this, Everett Dean Martin, in his lecture before the Investment Bankers' Association, had the following to say:

"The Catholic Christian church had just become the established church of the Roman Empire. It had reached maturity under political dictatorship, and it was inevitable that the forms of human association among men, in spite of the Christian doctrine of freedom, would take on something of the color of Roman dictatorship."

"And so the Bishop of Hippo conceived the idea of God as the absolute sovereign of the universe—like an oriental despot, like Diocletian, before whose throne kings and delegates of nations of the world were obliged to prostrate themselves on the floor. God became the Caesar of the universe for St. Augustine. . . ."

"Augustine held that the will is free only if you can get what you want, only if you may overcome obstacles to a realization of your desires."

This seems to be the same interpretation of freedom and justice as advocated by the socialists and totalitarians. They contend that labor is not free because it cannot have the fruits of former labor who abstained and became capitalists. Their aim is to take the fruits from capital in order to make it free.

In the same address, Dr. Martin said: "The First Interpreter—Pelagius"

"Now, there was one man in the Christian world who risked his life to oppose that doctrine" (St. Augustine's). He came from a more cultivated background than did St. Augustine, for Augustine's background was Roman. This man's background was Greek. The British church was founded under Greek and not Roman influences. It has always emphasized the influence of the mind. It has always insisted on a measure of human freedom and responsibility.

"The man who came into North Africa to oppose the great St. Augustine was a man named Skotus Pelagius. Pelagius held in substance that man's will is free or may be free if man will learn to exercise the independence of his reason or of his judgment. Pelagius held that an act is free when the act has the assent of the mind, an act is free when a person is competent to give his assent."

"That is the doctrine that holds now in English-American common law. The reason we do not permit a minor to make a contract that is binding, the reason why we say that a man accused of a crime may not be punished if he can be proved not to have understood what he was doing, is precisely the Pelagian doctrine. It is that freedom depends on moral and intellectual responsibility. If a man is not a free moral agent there is no use in talking about his freedom."

"Now, this whole conception of freedom is important, because if you take the Augustinian point of view you will not be a political liberal. Logically you can't be. Political liberalism starts out with the psychological and philosophical doctrine which is the uncompromising affirmation of the necessity of personal responsibility. This is what we mean historically by individualism. Liberty and individualism are interwoven so that the one is really always found in the matrix of the other."

From this, it is seen that true freedom, is democracy; that it does not mean that men should be equally capable or have equal material things or equal enjoyment. It simply means that they should have the right to try to create and enjoy with due regard to all other people's equal right to create.

As contrasted to this, the New Deal socialism and the Augustinian theory was that the individual was a creature of the state and had no inalienable rights.

Thus, it seems that the old conflicting doctrines of Jesus, supported by Pelagius, and Augustine, supported by Hitler and the New Deal, are old, old problems. Prosperity and character and integrity of men largely depend upon which one of these interpretations of freedom and true Christianity prevail.

It has been demonstrated in Russia, Germany, Italy.

A people who would choose their own course must be able to see the way.

They "see" through a press that is free and able to tell them all the facts.

Deprive the press of the power to tell them the facts and they are blinded.

Attacks on advertising, since they would hamper and restrict the press in its business of giving the people the facts, amount to attempts to blind the people.

There could be only one object in wanting to blind the people, and that would be to rob them of their liberty.

Mr. Hanson was entirely right, therefore, when he said:

"If we in America are to continue to have economic freedom, or freedom itself, we must have the right freely to advertise our goods, our services and our ideas without interference by government."

In their platform. On the same day, Dr. Francis E. Townsend threatened the formation of a third party if the two major parties ignored, his group's old-age pension plans.

Behind-the-scenes discussions of these possibilities took place during the Republican national convention at Philadelphia. Commonest guess was that if a third ticket materialized it would include the peace groups, the old-age pensions and such left-wing labor strength as would follow John L. Lewis. There was enough of this talk so that a number of congressmen returned from the convention to Washington looking around anxiously for the first signs of a bolt.

WILKIE STAND MAY KILL THREAT The makings of such a movement are at hand, but as of today the chances are that it won't take place—free to one against it, according to one speaker who is baffled with both the Townsend and the isolationist groups.

One trouble is that it would be very hard to cement these diverse elements together into a new party. For one thing, Dr. Townsend himself has ideas very much like Roosevelt's on foreign policy.)

I'VE TOLD YOU SO MANY TIMES!

Around Hollywood

NEW YORK — We asked Patsy Kelly, the movie comedienne, the other day about her fan mail. She usually plays tough-gal roles, and while she isn't homey, she isn't exactly beautiful, and we wondered what sort of mail responses those circumstances elicited.

A lot of letters are "gimmies," she says. "You must make a lot of money, loan me a thousand," etc. But there are still quite a few proposals of marriage.

A surprising proportion of the letters come from Australia and New Zealand, where she has never been, but which she regards with breathless awe because she is an ex-vaudevillean and Australia and New Zealand are the vaudeville valleys with a circuit of 40 or more weeks of work a year.

She also has a great following in Cuba. "When I went to Havana last winter," she says, "they treated me like I was a trans-Atlantic flier or something. They don't consider a reception is a party unless they barbecue at least 150 pigs. And then when you get home, you find a note thanking you for coming. Imagine that!"

In Cuban popularity she concedes the palm, however, to her fellow comedians, Laurel and Hardy. "Why," she says with amazement, "there were three theaters in one block in Havana all playing Laurel and Hardy pictures the same day."

She even went herself, and now considers that Laurel and Hardy, speaking dubbed-in Spanish dialogue are the funniest thing on earth.

Our mail this morning contained a post card from Violet Heming, the blond Broadway star who is in Toronto playing the lead in "Susan and God" Violet is now the owner of one of the famous thousand islands in the St. Lawrence river. It was presented to her by a fan who was too poor to send flowers.

"It's a tiny crumb of land hardly big enough for a cabin," she says, "but it's cute."

The island is not necessarily a great real estate windfall, as it is listed in value at $15. To retain ownership she must pay 72 cents in taxes a year to the Canadian government. To get around this yearly nuisance Violet offered the government the bulk sum of $10 if they would declare it tax-free. "The Canadian government doesn't do business that way," she was informed.

And Exhibit C is the Bond family—Lord Bond, kind and henpecked; Lady Bond, masterful and really efficient; Cedric, home from New York temporarily and a really nice lad. Plus servants, for comic relief as usual.

Is it not possible to see how there will be a tangle over Denis? Doesn't it seem very likely that there will be a situation between Daphne and Lord Bond's son? Can't you imagine Lady Bond riding straight into a neighborhood brawl, banners flying? And can't you imagine most of the rest of Mrs. Thirkell's book? The answer is that, of course, you can, and that although there is hardly an attempt at originality, the writing is very shrewd, and very clever, and you'll enjoy reading again about an England, that we once thought existed.

People You Know

By Archer Fulfillingim

The very last persons in the bar-escape line at Lake McGillion were Ole Nellis, Ole Gregory, Leora Kinard, Florence Jackson and Mable Davis—that is except the people who went through two or three or four times, including this one and Johnny Campbell and Floyd Allen.

It was good to see our old friend Lloyd Waldron of Panhandle at the picnic, also May-Boyles of the same town.

Speaking of Lloyd—there is no one in Pampa that is to this town what Lloyd is to Panhandle, a man who has a unique quality of sincerity and a telling brand of personal magnetism that endears him to all his friends, and the enemies of his friends. . . . Father Arnold A. Boeding of Groom was at the picnic in his shirt sleeves, and he mentioned that the Groom Red Cross is being given a certain amount of wheat out of each load that comes to Groom.

Dorrell Ford, life-guard at the lake, says he's having the time of his life down there. Warren King took Dorrell's place at the city swimming pool. . . .

One of the prettiest girls we have seen in a long time came with Warren Finley to the barbecue. She was Betty Lou Ford who came to Pampa recently from Manhattan, Kans., where she was a sophomore and Delta Delta Delta. She is brunet and petite and has wind-blown hair. She is the daughter of W. F. Ford, manager of the Panhandle Lumber Co. The Fords moved to Pampa last winter from McPherson, Kans. Betty Lou is not only attractive but she appears to be intelligent and democratic and is not a bit snooty, and she is going over in Pampa. . . .

Mrs. Middleton is his loving, understanding and sometimes very tired wife; Mr. Cameron is Mr. Middleton's level-headed partner in an architectural firm. Exhibit B is the Stonor group, including Mrs. Stonor, who is vague and talkative around a heart of gold (besides being Middleton's sister); Denis Stonor, her stepson, both ill and a composer; Bonnie Stonor, brother's protector, forthright, hail fellow well met.

And Exhibit C is the Bond family—Lord Bond, kind and henpecked; Lady Bond, masterful and really efficient; Cedric, home from New York temporarily and a really nice lad. Plus servants, for comic relief as usual.

Is it not possible to see how there will be a tangle over Denis? Doesn't it seem very likely that there will be a situation between Daphne and Lord Bond's son? TOLERANCE can be stretched too far. When it becomes easy-going indifference to wrongs or dangers, our tolerance becomes a boomerang that will destroy the very liberties we are trying to protect. . . . How long would we live if white cupules tolerated foreign germs in the blood? How long would we tolerate in ourselves the lowest level of thoughts and desires?

Tolerance does not mean that we let others do just as they wish. We do not allow a man to rob our homes with impunity. We set up heavy penalties for assault and murder. We know that we permit men to steal, force checks, slander reputations, civilized life could not exist.

YET, we tolerate far more serious crimes than these. We know those who would destroy tolerance itself to preach hatred and violence undisturbed. We allow agitators of various stripes to stir up our people to racial, class, and religious animosities that mean the end of democracy and civilization. . . . Look what happened in every democracy in Europe which the Nazis have taken. Fifth columnists and traitors were tolerated. They used political parties, newspapers, radio, sabotage to undermine the people's will to resist. No wonder Hitler could boast that the countries were lost before his armies started marching.

That was not tolerance! It was mental blindness. It was moral callousness. It was the decay of the vital instinct of self-preservation. . . . With such lessons before us, we would be fools indeed if we let that kind of tolerance betray us, too, and cost us the American idea.

ALL that happened in foreign democracies is going full blast in

It is quite possible to define the crimes of those who work to undermine our democracy. Private military groups, foreign allegiance, advocating overthrow of our government, preaching religious intolerance and class hatred—these are all crimes which can be dealt with by law, without infringing upon fundamental liberties.

WE must enact and enforce laws by which we can deal with these common enemies just as we do with lesser criminals, as thieves and murderers. No self-chosen vigilantes or other well meaning people should be allowed to punish such criminals outside the law.

Belle Star Was Forerunner Of Notorious Bonnie Parker

By A. W. NEVILLE

The custom of selective history to embalm the sinner in its pages more often than it does the saint preserves the records of Texas desperados but neglects the record of the good. But human nature likes drama in its history, even if violent.

The trail of violence Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker blazed across North Texas and adjacent states within the decade had a counterpart more than 60 years ago in Belle Starr and Jim Reed who operated in the general region of Lamar county and the neighboring Indian Territory. Reed, Belle's first husband, was killed in northwest Lamar county in 1874 after becoming an outlaw as a result of depredations in Texas and the Territory.

The place of his slaying has been disputed. A few years ago a published story said Reed was killed near McKinney, by a supposed friend seeking the reward for his capture, dead or alive. On the other hand, documentary evidence and statements of men who knew Reed fix the place a few miles from Paris.

S. J. Parker, who lived in Celina, Collin county, was a special Texas Ranger in the late '60s. He was 88 when he told the story of Reed's death. He said he had been at Paris, Lamar county, with a posse of three men and there heard the Reed gang heading for the Red river crossing at Mill creek, northeast of Paris. Near Roxton he encountered Belle Starr and four men who had seen Parker and his posse approaching and were prepared to fight. The officers rode by without indicating they had seen the outlaws, but after passing Parker and his men were turned suddenly and began shooting.

Belle was captured but the men escaped. Ike Spurgen, one of Parker's men, set out the next morning on Reed's trail, and when he returned can't seem to get together.

Justice Bonner held an examination and the man having credentials, apparently of a law officer, no charge was filed against him.

The statement made to Justice Bonner was that the man was traveling with Reed, although the latter did not know him. The couple stopped at a house northwest of Paris, and while eating dinner the outlaw's companion made an excuse to leave the table. He went into the yard and got his pistol from the holster on his saddle. When Reed observed this he upended the table, but the other shot him through it.

The woman at whose house the affair occurred came to Paris and made a statement supporting the killer's story.

The woman who made history in North Texas under the name of Belle Starr was born in Missouri and named Myra Mabelle Shirley. She married Reed at about the close of the Civil War and soon afterward her parents settled in Dallas county near Seneca. After Reed's death she spent most of her time in Indian Territory where she married Sam Starr. She was found of disloyalty hereafter on horseback and some times had her picture taken at Fort Smith, Ark., which was not far from her headquarters. She was killed near her home some years later by a man who, it was said, mistook her for another person.

SERIAL STORY

PEACE—SHE'S WONDERFUL

BY ISABEL WAITT

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY Mrs. King... after a turtle crawls over her...

CHAPTER IV CAROLE LOVE finished her grapefruit...

"Poor little thing," she said to Peace, as she looked at the still furiously swimming turtle...

Denny half rose. "Next time I travel, it will be without pests. Carole gave her honeyed curls an almost imperceptible toss towards Mrs. King..."

"I hope I'm not intruding," Rhoda's tone was crisp, her nod a stiff smile, which when she discovered the turtle...

Denny, a bit flustered, began a formal introduction, then stopped abruptly as Carole passed on down the aisle...

"I'mmm," Rhoda's eyebrows went up. "Boy meets glamor girl. Boy'll bear watching..."

"Ssssh!" Denny frowned at Peace. "Don't be silly. Rhoda's heather suit didn't become her in the morning..."

"I wired him not to. I'm taking a taxi to his office. Aunt Tilly said it would save time. He's pretty busy..."

"Are you fond of him, Rhoda?" "Fond? What a way to put it. I haven't seen him since we were kids. He twisted my camera the wrong way and broke it. I remember, I hated him at the time..."

"Chicago. A third of the way," Denny sighed. "I'll be thankful when I've changed trains safely with—Why, where is Peace? That child can be in more places! Mind if I go to see what she's up to?"

Rhoda shrugged. "Run along. Personally, I can't say I'm sorry a third of this—what did you call it—almost honeymoon—is over. Every time I do manage to attract your attention I feel like saying, 'Remember me? I'm the girl you're engaged to!'"

Denny flushed, as he tried to laugh. Funny, he had never noticed how sharp her voice could be. She didn't look very well either, a bit sallow under the rouge of her peaked little face...

"You should have a swell time with your cousin," he said. "Most of the afternoon till midnight. But be sure you're on the right train at the stroke of 12, Cinderella..."

"If we didn't have the infant along—You don't mind, do you, Denny, if I have a little fun without her? I can't very well take you with us and stick her in a day nursery, or could we?"

"We could not. I promised Warren not to let her out of my sight, and I'd better be hunting her up right now!" Denny concealed the slight hurt he felt...

After all, Bertrand was Rhoda's cousin and it was natural she should want to see him. Hang it! He was her fiancé, wasn't he? Which one of them was she ashamed of?

THEY reached Chicago on the dot. Rhoda dashed ahead for a taxi, while Denny gathered up the baggage and Peace and installed them on the bus for the transfer to another station...

Carole Love was on the same bus. And the pest, Mrs. King might not be talking Carole's ear off about him, but she was certainly looking at him. Her sibilant whisper reached his clearly...

"See? They've split up. Don't dare be seen together. Wait till I get—" The rest was lost to him...

The big bags had been previously checked through, but Denny carried the overnight cases to the parcel window to be free of them until the train was made up...

Peace clung to the waterbottle prison. "Hand it over, honey, then we'll go home some fun." Peace drew back. "Parby and Joan wants some fun, Uncle Denny..."

"But we can't carry that thing!" "Let her keep them." Carole's porter had brought her luggage to the same window. "Excuse me for the suggestion, Mr. Denny..."

"Dennis, Wayne Dennis." "Mr. Dennis. But since we're all talking the same train tonight, why can't I take care of your—your little girl? Then you could spend the day with your friend. I do wish I'd dared offered before, but then I didn't know we were all going the same route. We'd have a swell time in Lincoln Park, hunting a raft for the turtles to rest on, wouldn't we, honey?"

"Dance up, and down, spilling water on Denny's gray trousers." "That's terribly good of you, Denny flushed, as he tried to Miss Love. But Miss Lowell is spending the afternoon with—a relative. And as for this chicken, I don't dare leave her out of my sight?"

Mrs. King hissed darkly. "What more do you want?" She tugged at Carole's elbow. "Come on. Let's get a paper. Maybe this one will have—"

Idiot that he was, he had let her walk off when he might have invited her to go to Lincoln Park with them. Now he had lost her. Perhaps it was better though. Rhoda would never have understood. He watched the two women stoop at a magazine stand. He couldn't fathom them; one so antagonistic and suspicious, the other so sweet and co-operative. Co-operative, that was the word. He wished Rhoda would be a little more co-operative about the obligation he had undertaken. A man felt so lost with another man's child...

"Won't dare let you out of my sight," Peace was saying, as she hid the turtles behind her. Denny hadn't noticed. "Come on, honey. The park sounds pretty good to me. There'll be a zoo and animals..."

"Elephants?" "Elephants and monkeys and buffaloes and popcorn and peanuts and everything..."

THE blue waters of Lake Michigan glistened in the hot afternoon sun. Denny hadn't realized the zoo had so many exhibits. Peace was running him ragged. He had been quarterback at college, but this 6-year-old had tuckered him out. He found a shady tree, stuck the waterbottle he'd lugged all the afternoon under it, and said, "Now, we'll take a nap." To his astonishment Peace obeyed, lying on the newspaper he spread for her...

He awoke with a guilty start. Forty winks? Terror smote him, till he saw her buff frock a few yards away. Denny stood up. What was she doing, crawling on her hands and knees? He went forward to investigate...

"It's Joan, Uncle Denny." Peace explained without looking up. "Me took her out to do her exercises in the sun, and she runned away..."

Belief that only the turtle was lost set him to helping in the search, though the little beast was probably in Kansas City by now. "Yoo-hoo! I know where she is!" Denny heard a girl's voice call from behind a bush. And when she straightened up, he saw that it was Carole...

Boeing Plant In Seattle And Many Others Being Expanded

The question of how many aircraft American factories can turn out is rhetorical. How many do we want? The President has suggested to congress that 50,000 planes a year should be the rated capacity of American plants. For the next two years the armed services probably will have to be satisfied with less than that...

Boeing Plant In Seattle And Many Others Being Expanded

The Seattle factory of the Boeing Aircraft company probably will be expanded even further in the next few months. The question of how many aircraft American factories can turn out is rhetorical. How many do we want? The President has suggested to congress that 50,000 planes a year should be the rated capacity of American plants...

Boeing Plant In Seattle And Many Others Being Expanded

Boeing's 6,500 factory workers gradually are being supplemented by what the personnel department calls "beginners," fresh from the Edison vocational school in which special courses were established several months ago by the Seattle school board. They must work four years before they are skilled—but the bulk of the factory jobs, fortunately, can be trusted to semi-skilled men. Raw workman material is available. The Edison school has a waiting list of 1,500. The Boeing plant

PEACE—SHE'S WONDERFUL

BY ISABEL WAITT

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Upon arrival in Chicago, Rhoda goes to her cousin, Bertrand, leaving Denny to entertain Peace. They go to the park and Denny in worn out trying to keep up with the... Peace takes a nap, awakes to find Peace hunched over a tortoise. Carole hails them.

CHAPTER V

"HELLO!" They said it together, and both laughed. Carole, he thought, seemed a trifle embarrassed. "You'll think I've been following you," she said, "and I have. Partly to get away from that ridiculous King woman and partly for the fresh air. Trains are so tiresome, don't you think?"

"Where's Joany?" Peace demanded, sitting back on her heels. "I think she smells ant eggs. I'll bet if we hunt up the nearest pet store where they sell them, we'll find her." Denny gave her a grateful smile. "Miss Love is right. Trot back for the water bottle and we'll go see." And when Peace had gone, he added, "What a good idea. We could never find a turtle in this grass. But what if they don't have Mexican turtles at the pet shop?"

"They will." They found a taxi and, eventually, after a sightseeing trip of the residential district, the slums, the stockyards, and finally the business section, they discovered a pet store. Had the clerk seen a small turtle, like the one in the bottle, sniffing around the ant eggs? Carole asked with a wink. Why, come to think of it, he had. He'd go fetch it.

Peace hopped up and down, spilling just a little more liquid, slightly grumpy and muddled from park strolls, and finally what they used-to-be trousers. She took the new wriggler in her hand. "Joany's shrunk," she said. "Wait till you feed her!" Denny bought enough ant eggs to supply all Mexico. Meanwhile, Carole selected a water plant. "Darby and Joan's vitamins. Like spinach," she explained.

Would Miss Love have some spinach with them? Denny asked. She was sorry, Carole said, but she'd promised Mrs. King to go to a movie with her, and she was already late. "That child is tired. What are you going to do until train time?"

"Oh, we'll get a bite and go back to the station. The train will be made up early, and I'll put her to bed." CAROLE was gone, and Denny looked forward to a long, dull evening, before Rhoda returned. He took Peace into a restaurant and ordered hot chicken sandwiches for both of them. She sat happily in front of him, her pets on the table beside her, now bountifully sprinkled with dusty ant eggs. What were Rhoda and Bertrand doing? And Carole—he must remember to put her straight that Peace was not his little girl. He should have explained while he had the chance—before Rhoda came back. Mystery was all right for a time, but it might be dangerous. Whatever yarn that King woman had concocted about him should be nipped in the bud.

He shot a glance at Peace to discover her head had dropped onto her arm on the table. She was fast asleep, poor little doll. He let her sleep through several cigars.

She didn't wake up on the way to the station. He held her in his arms in the waiting room until the train was made up. Then he put her to bed. Denny paced from platform to platform of the empty car. Peace, sleeping quietly, and he were the only occupants. He remembered he had promised to send cards to the Warrens en route. Had the child mailed one of those her mother had addressed for her, from Chicago? Probably not. Better to be sure. Leaving Peace in the porter's care, he hurried into the station to send a wire.

"Arrived safely, Chicago," he scrawled. "Don't worry. Won't let her out of my sight. Have been spotted as kidnaper by female pest, so prepare for the worst in next communique." No, that would never do. Women had no sense of humor, and Mrs. Warren might be alarmed. He tore it in half and tossed it into a basket, substituting, "Arrived safely, Chicago. Well and happy. Don't worry. Welcome to little stranger. Regards, D."

In his haste to get back to his charge he had not noticed that the back of the woman writing in a corner belonged to Mrs. King, that she had watched him enter the telegraph office. Nor did he see her pick up the pieces of his first message, fit them together, and read with snapping eyes. He was buying a box of chocolates—two boxes as an afterthought—and a jar of differently flavored barley sticks, when that lady stuck his telegram into her handbag with a muttered: "Prepare for the worst—you bet. Female pest!"

RHODA was certainly making the most of it, Denny slipped the barley candy and one box of chocolates into Peace's berth. Bless her! Sleeping like a cherub. He tucked the other box under his arm. He would tell Rhoda he had given it to Miss Love because of her kindness in the park, he decided virtuously. How long did movies last? Carole wouldn't be back till 9:30, he decided, dreading the dull, empty car. She came in alone, a few minutes after 8. "Hello," she called. "Why, we're in the same car again!"

"You didn't go to the pictures?" "Oh, yes, we did, but Mrs. King had seen one of them, so we left. She's around somewhere, getting off a flock of postcards. Is the little one asleep?"

Denny nodded. "Let me." He parked her suitcase out of the way, and gave her the chocolates. "Why, thank you." Carole opened the box and was offering him a piece when Rhoda breezed in, her pale cheeks flushing. "Oh, there you are, Denny. No, thank you, Miss Love. No candy for me. I didn't know movie stars indulged either." She turned back to her fiance. "Bertrand's in the station, phoning for seats. I dragged him down to meet you. He wants to take me to a musical comedy. Says we've got hours. Perhaps," she added generously, indicating Carole, you'd like to go, too. We could make it a foursome." "But you know I can't leave the child alone. I promised. You go," Denny demurred. "Maybe Miss Love—" Carole shook her head. "Not after all that park sun. I'm going to hit the hay, pronto. If you'll trust me, I'll keep an eye on the kiddie." "Fiddlesticks! She'll sleep right through." Rhoda looked at her watch. "Suppose there was a traffic jam, and the show was late, and we missed the train?" Denny put in.

"Suppose the Japanese should land! You're a regular Old Betty. Never mind about meeting Bertrand till we come back. We're already going to miss part of the first act." Rhoda's lip curled. "Well, don't be lonely."

"And don't you miss the train." Denny felt he needed to smoke that one off. When Mrs. King, her arms full of papers, magazines, and bags of fruit and cookies, bustled in a moment later, he excused himself. The car had a few early train-catchers. The porter was making up sections here and there.

Denny looked in on Peace, then walked up and down outside the great train. The car was air conditioned, so all windows were closed; but, re-entering the rear door, he heard Mrs. King tell Carole: "There's a gang of them, my dear! I saw his moll talking to the awfulest gangster!" (To Be Continued)

Willkie Sure He Can Beat New Deal

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie said today he thought party lines would play little part in the coming presidential campaign, and that the issue was between those who believed in the new deal's philosophy and those who opposed it.

Asked to comment on a statement by John L. Lewis, CIO chief, that Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) was the only candidate the Democrats could nominate to defeat him, Willkie said:

"It doesn't matter who the Democrats nominate. We are going to win."

Willkie added that he agreed with Lewis that President Roosevelt, should he run a third term, could not defeat him.

Willkie said it appeared "more and more certain" that he would set up a three-man control system for his campaign, about which he has been conferring with Republican leaders and other advisers.

The Republican nominee said he was considering "three or four" men to head this group as campaign manager. The other two members would be the Republican national chairman and a personal representative of Willkie to handle the independent organization.

Willkie said he had talked by telephone last night with his running mate, Senator McNary of Oregon. He said he described the type of man he was seeking and asked McNary for suggestions.

Roosevelt Holds Two-Thirds Majority Of Demo Delegates

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt held today a two-thirds majority in pledged and semi-pledged delegates to the Democratic national convention July 15, following instruction of the 27 Kentucky delegates to support him.

This is the way the delegates line up: (848 in majority). Pledged to President Roosevelt were 772 1/2 delegate votes, including New York's bulging 94, Illinois' 58, Ohio's 52 and California's 44. Vice President Garner had Texas' 46 votes, Wisconsin's 3 and Florida's 1, semi-pledged, for a 49 1/2 total. Farley had 38 1/2 votes; Speaker Bankhead, 22; Senator Tydings of Maryland, 16 (a home state vote if President Roosevelt is not nominated); Senator Wheeler, 8 and Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming, his home state's six. Uninstructed delegates (totaling 174) votes were listed from Arizona, Florida, Indiana, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Missouri, Nevada, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia, District of Columbia.

Labor Won't Follow Lewis, Says Critic

LEWISTOWN, Pa., July 5 (AP)—Meredith Meyers, Democratic state chairman, said today that John L. Lewis, CIO leader, would be unable to take the rank and file of organized labor into a third party movement against Franklin D. Roosevelt in the coming presidential election.

"Nothing can stop the nomination of President Roosevelt—not even Mr. Roosevelt himself—and when he is nominated no labor leader can hurt him," Meyers said.

Corpus Christi Gets U. S. Housing Project

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The United States housing authority today earmarked $13,500,000 for construction of eight housing projects which officials said would be built for workers brought into steel and other industries and to work in navy yards.

The funds, they said, would be set aside to await plans and specifications by local housing authorities and approval by the President. The defense housing projects included:

FDR Congratulates Senator McNary

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Wrote President Roosevelt, the Democratic vice presidential nominee in 1920, to Senator McNary (R-Ore.), the 1940 Republican candidate: "My very warm congratulations on your nomination for vice president. Once upon a time—twenty years ago—I ran for vice president. I learned a lot! "I hope to see you soon. "Your old friend, "Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Mint Running Out Of Everything

DENVER, July 5 (AP)—The Denver mint is "running out of everything" and Superintendent Mark Skinner plans extra shifts to meet the demand for small coins resulting from national defense taxes. "We're shipping pennies, nickles, dimes and quarters all over the country," Skinner said last night. The 45th anniversary of the discovery of commercial oil production in Texas will be the theme for the convention of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association at Fort Worth Oct. 31-Nov. 2 next. The newest sailplanes are of all-metal construction and have more than one plane.

New Officers Installed By Rotary Club

Officers for 1940-41 were installed by the Pampa Rotarians at the club's regular weekly luncheon at noon Wednesday.

The installation was preceded by the presentation of a set of silver spoons to Mrs. Tom Rose, club pianist, by Frank Foster, on behalf of the club, reading of the secretary's annual report, review of 1939-40 by Travis Lively, outgoing president, and the introduction of Charlie Burton, new president.

To replace the club's charter, that had been lost, Lively presented the club with a new framed charter. This document is to be kept by the club secretary.

A framed picture of Paul Harris, who founded Rotary 35 years ago, was presented to Burton. This picture is to be passed on to each president of the local club.

Burton received a new gavel as a gift from Lively, and the outgoing president was awarded a past president's pin.

New officers of the club are: Charlie Burton, president; Travis Lively, vice president (automatic under club rules, as the outgoing president assumes this office on the installation of his successor); J. M. Daugherty, secretary, re-elected; and directors, P. O. Anderson, Ernest Gabe, Dan Gribbon, C. A. Huff, Glen Morley, Doyle F. Osborne.

There were 44 present at Wednesday's luncheon, including four visitors, of whom three were Rotarians from other clubs:

Harold L. Nichols, secretary of the Great Plains Y. M. C. A. district, Amarillo Rotarian; C. H. Everett, Rotarian from Ardmore, Okla.; E. Kancher, Amarillo Rotarian; and Douglas Manning of Yoakum.

U. S. Gets a Distinguished Citizen

Asked if he were happy at prospect of becoming an American citizen, Dr. Albert Einstein, famed German-refugee scientist, replied heartily: "Sure, sure, who wouldn't be?" He's pictured above, with daughter Margot, entering Federal Building in Trenton, N. J., where both sailed easily through tests for U. S. citizenship.

Dies Blames Fifth Column For Fall Of European Countries

HOUSTON, July 5 (AP)—Congressman Martin Dies (D-Tex.), chairman of the committee investigating un-American activities, says the fifth column and not Adolf Hitler's army, should be credited with the collapse of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, Holland and France.

The United States is not in danger of armed invasion but the fifth column danger is the greatest crisis now facing the country, Dies said in an address at the Allied relief ball here last night.

He declared "Agents of Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin—paid and unpaid—have been given free rein in this country, where to cover their subversive activities, they invoke the very freedom they seek to destroy."

Seven screen players came here by plane from Hollywood to attend the program. They were Tyrone Power, Richard Greene, Olivia De Havilland, Henry Fonda, Nancy Kelly, James Stewart, and Mischa Auer.

Ickes Lashes Out At Mr. Willkie

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Secretary Ickes said a press conference today that "Wendell Willkie and his friends," had become a "holding company" for the Republican party.

"The GOP," Ickes said, "was liquidated at the Philadelphia convention—bought in for whatever may be left of its good will assets, and made the first unit of a political holding company formed by Wendell Willkie and his friends."

Ickes said that the presence of Senator McNary on Oregon "on the other end of the Republican ticket" did not alter the fact that the old line Republicans "had been done in the eye."

At New York Willkie said he thought party lines would play little part in the coming presidential campaign and that the issue was between those who believed in the new deal's philosophy and those who opposed it.

"Add Willkie and McNary and divide by two and see what you get," the interior department chief suggested.

"You have a ticket 50 per cent for all legal aid to the Allies and for private utilities on Willkie's side of the ledger while on McNary's side you have the ticket offset 50 per cent for non-intervention abroad and for public power. In my arithmetic that means zero in November."

Ickes quoted McNary as having said that if Willkie were nominated the Republicans would lose the west in November.

Rumania Becomes Nazi State; New Premier In Power

BUCHAREST, July 5 (AP)—Rumors that new Soviet demands on Rumania may be forthcoming circulated in the capital today as the new government of Premier Ion Gigurtu went into action to straighten out troubled internal conditions against which the Kremlin is said to be protesting.

Although without confirmation, reports persisted that Russia was asking for full control of the bridge-heads over the Prut river and at Remn on the Danube.

The Rumanian people meanwhile appeared to be accepting the change in government to Gigurtu's pro-axis cabinet calmly, although full reports were lacking.

It was assumed the new government was planning stern measures, but it was believed such measures would be put into effect gradually to avoid too much violence and bloodshed, especially in anti-Semitic moves.

Rumania, once a close friend of France, became today the first country in southeastern Europe to switch completely to the side of Germany and Italy.

The new government of pro-Nazi Premier Ion Gigurtu, named by King Carol yesterday in an apparent effort to save his country from being carved up by his neighbors, immediately pledged itself to follow the axis powers.

Rumania thus strode much further along the axis path than Hungary, long sympathetic to Germany, or Yugoslavia, which has been making gestures of friendship.

A cabinet communique issued after its first meeting last night indicated the government's social ideology would include anti-Semitism. This was expected, since most of the cabinet members either are connected with the long outlived pro-Nazi Iron Guard or are known to be anti-Semitic.

Not That We Don't Believe It, but—

When Jefferson County Bass Association launched contest at Clayton, N. Y., officials rigged up this system to make sure none of the entries came back with stories about "the one that got away." Judge Bob Hubbard is giving lie detector test to Margie Marshall.

FDR Expected To Accept 'Draft'

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—With the presidential election exactly four months off, Democratic leaders were hustling preparations today for their party's July 15 convention amid increasing indications that President Roosevelt would break tradition and accept a third term "draft."

Republicans, too, were thinking of casting an old custom aside as their 1940 standard bearer, Wendell L. Willkie, considered plans in New York for a three-man strategy board in lieu of a single campaign director.

Willkie will come here Monday to discuss campaign plans with his running mate, Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon.

Talk of a Democratic ticket headed by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull continued to overshadow speculation by a few party members that the Chief Executive might turn down the nomination at the last minute.

High officials based their prediction of a Roosevelt acceptance party on the assumption that an eleventh-hour declination might turn the convention into confusion.

Should the President decide not to seek a third term, leaders are fairly well agreed he will endorse Hull.

Three Bund Leaders Spend Night In Jail

ANDOVER TOWNSHIP, N. J., July 5 (AP)—Arrested at an Independence Day rally at the German-American Bunds' Camp Nordland on charges of inciting racial and religious hatred, three bund leaders, including the action national leader, were expected to be freed on bail today following a night spent in the Sussex County jail at Newton.

G. Wilhelm Kunze, acting national leader of the bund; August Klapprott, camp manager and president of the New Jersey bund; and Matthias Kohler, a bund officer and trustee, were arrested by deputy sheriffs yesterday shortly before a program of speeches was to start.

The law carries maximum penalties of three years in prison or $5,000 fine or both. The arrest warrants were sworn out by Township Committeemen Charles Barby, Raymond Current and William Morrow and charged violations "on and prior to June 16."

The men were taken before Justice of the Peace Charles Van Ness and held in default of $1,000 bail each for grand jury action.

Some 1,200 of the 2,000 who remained at the camp following the arrests "chipped in" the necessary $3,000 bail, but Van Ness refused to accept the money because a two-hour deadline set for raising the cash had expired.

Americans Blame French Politics For Air Failure

BILBAO, Spain, July 5 (AP)—American technical consultants who came to Spain from France said today France's supreme defense effort after the start of war was in airplane manufacture—and this failed miserably.

Six consultants and engineering experts here awaiting transportation back to the United States attributed that failure to "official inaction and government inefficiency due to politics."

"They described French factories as 'some of the world's best equipped,'" and commented that under German supervision they might be geared up to turn out as many as 1,350 airplane engines a month.

The Americans said one large factory in Southern France was ready in January to start turning out 250 engines a month but never produced one because of constantly changing specifications.

Another modern plant near Paris, the engineers reported, was ready to start production of a French-type engine in January, had American tools installed for the manufacture, and then failed to produce because the government decided to make English type motors which required other tools.

In another instance cited, the Americans said that after long study an American engine was approved for production but "insignificant" alterations were demanded, which required such extensive changes in tool machinery that none was manufactured.

Submarines Attacked

LONDON, July 5 (AP)—An air ministry communique today said that five German submarines were attacked by British warplanes within five days last month and in each case oil patches were seen on the surface after the attacks—usually considered evidence that a submarine has been sunk.

Capitol Court Records

AUSTIN, July 5 (AP)—Supreme court proceedings:

Fishing Party Still Unreported In Gulf

CORPUS CHRISTI, July 5 (AP)—The coast guard, aided by airplanes, searched today for five persons who went on a sail-fishing trip into the Gulf of Mexico two days ago and have not been heard from since.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vogel of Kansas City, W. A. Logan of Houston, Skelly Shelton, a tackle store operator, and Edgar Roberts of Port Aransas, a guide.

It was thought probable their boat was disabled and drifted away from the sailfish banks.

The party left the Port Aransas dock Wednesday morning for a trip 35 miles out into the gulf.

Fascists Lined Up With Almazan, Says Mexican Newspaper

MEXICO CITY, July 5 (AP)—A sensational charge by the labor newspaper in Mexico had received orders to "be ready" on election day July 7 brought an assertion by the Mexican government today of its "absolute disapproval" of all "propaganda contrary to the doctrines that support Democratic, Inter-American ideals."

Ignacio Garcia Tellez, minister of the Interior, shortly after an extra edition of the morning newspaper appeared last night, received a sheaf of photo-stat documents concerning the charges.

Popular, which is supporting the administration candidate, Manuel Avila Camacho for president, charged in a headline that Juan Andreu Almazan, independent candidate for president, was "linked with the Fascists."

The purported documents Popular printed, however, made no mention of Almazan, who throughout his campaign has sharply assailed totalitarian doctrines. A supporter of Almazan said he "considers the charges so silly" he wouldn't even comment on them.
