BOTH CANDIDATES CLAIM VICTORY IN MEXICO

Ireland May Be Objective Of Germany

(By The Associated Press)

German air raiders dropped tons of incendiary, explosive and time-fuse bombs in widespread new attacks on Britain today, but still masked the scene of the projected invasion chosen by Adolf Hitler.

The raids, carrying on an almost incessant "strafing" of cities and military objectives that began on June 18, struck at coastal towns.

An official communique reported "some damage and a few casualties," but said two Nazi bombers were shot down by Royal Air Force fighters.

So far, Nazi bombing attacks on Britain have been widely scattered and reports from Berlin said even men usually in the know were unable to say when Hitler would give the word for the next phase of the war.

Hitler and Italian Foreign Minister Count Ciano conferred yesterday at a meeting which the authoritative Fascist editor Virginio Gayda said "will mean a new stretch on the combative, constructive road of new associated nations."

One report from Rome said Hitler and Ciano, due to meet again Wednesday, discussed plans for an offensive against England, with Ireland as the first objective.

The British-German war for air supremacy went ahead at a deadly pace. British fighters brought down at least four of the foe; at least five British were killed on the ground.

Germany's big broadcasting stations at Bremen and Hamburg went silent early today, which usually indicates British air raiders are nearby.

Planes identified as belonging to Britain's fallen ally, France, raided Gibraltar again Sunday and the Italian air force was active in Africa and over Malta.

The French announced that two of their air squadrons had been returned and joined the axis in attacks on Gibraltar.

Announcing over the week end demobilization of French naval forces at Alexandria, Egypt, the British said they had sunk two

Ann's Face Lights Up With Enjoyment As She Reads Pampa News

The Pampa News staff hopes that Ann Sheridan thinks The Pampa News, which she is reading in this photo, has a lot of oomph, too. We learn that Miss Sheridan, a regular and a regular reader of this newspaper. Don't get us wrong—there's nothing phoney about this picture. The photograph, made by Madison Lacy, famed Hollywood photographer, arrived unheralded last week-end. It came as a distinct surprise to The News. At first, The News was skeptical and had the photograph analyzed for authenticity. It was definitely established that no part of the photograph was superimposed and that it was not a trick photography. It was also decided that the picture is not a publicity stunt for Miss Sheridan, despite the fact that she will appear in a film, "Torrid Zone," at the La-Nora, July 14, 15 and 16. Co-

WASHINGTON, July 8.—President Roosevelt shared with James A. Farley today the secret of his third term intentions—but neither would reveal the chief executive's answer to the most baffling political question in a decade.

The rest of the nation may be left in the lurch on the third term puzzle when—should the Democratic national convention insist on drafting Mr. Roosevelt. Political analysts suggested that since Mr. Roosevelt had let the third term movement go along until a week before the convention without lifting a finger either to check or increase its momentum he would be unlikely to turn down renomination.

Lending emphasis to predictions of some Democratic leaders that the convention would draft the chief executive was the fact that 773 votes were pledged or semi-pledged to Mr. Roosevelt with only the canal zone delegation to be heard from. Necessary to nominate: 548 votes.

Farley, the national Democratic chairman, found out what the president proposes to do when the two laid their political cards on the desk in Mr. Roosevelt's library at Hyde Park, N. Y. yesterday.

"I had a very satisfactory talk with the president," Farley said afterward, "and I have full knowledge of his thoughts and what he has in mind."

But any announcement on the third term, or any discussion of the time or place for the announce-

British Reject Japanese Demand To Close Route

(AP)

TOKYO, July 8.—Britain has rejected Japan's demands for the closure of the route through British Burma to war supplies for the Chinese government. She asserted that such action would be incompatible with Britain's commitments to Burma and India, an authoritative source said today.

Sir Robert was reported to have declared that trade between the British crown colony and the Chinese hinterland had been halted and, therefore, there was no foundation for Japan's demands for the stoppage of arms traffic by this route.

Congratulations—

Hundreds Killed And Injured In Many Battles

MEXICO CITY, July 8 (AP)—Riotous disorders which accompanied Mexico's presidential elections yesterday were estimated today to have taken between 50 and 100 lives and reports of widespread irregularities threatened to complicate the task of determining the outcome of the voting.

An unofficial count showed at least 30 persons dead in Mexico City alone, while scores—perhaps hundreds—were reported wounded during pitched battles in streets of the capital.

Some reports from the provinces indicated that the total injured might be in the thousands.

Among the casualties in the capital were two American students—Edward J. Mallen, Jr., of Franna, Wyoming, who was reported near death with a pistol wound in the stomach, and Leonard Durro, 18, of Union City, N. J., who was gravely wounded by a rifle bullet.

Both General Manuel Avila Camacho, administration candidate, and his independent rival, General Juan Andreu Almazan, issued statements claiming overwhelming victory.

The actual canvass of returns, however, will not be made until Thursday and the official result will not be announced by congress until September.

The government made no comment about the outcome of the election, but deplored "bloody incidents," commented significantly on reports of election law violations and said they would be punished.

Complaints poured in from all over the nation that Almazan's supporters had been denied the right to vote. Fear was expressed in some quarters that the final tabulation of ballots might be accompanied by further disorders.

Government officials expressed confidence, however, there would be no further trouble.

There were no official estimates on the number of casualties. General Almazan said his reports indicated that "100 or more" lives had been lost; other estimates placed the figure in the region of 50.

Mexico City itself was the scene of the worst rioting. Violent disorders broke out before the polls opened at 9 a. m. By midday battles were raging in 10 half-dozen different sections of the city, with police and soldiers resorting to firearms in an attempt to end the fighting.

Avenida Juarez in the heart of downtown Mexico City was the scene of pitched battles. Another fierce engagement took place directly before the Palacio de Bellas Artes. Scores were downed by fire.

British Refugee Children Arrive

NEW YORK, July 8.—Three hundred fifty British refugee children arrived unexpectedly on the British liner Samaria today—18 hours after the first contingent of 71 reached New York on the Seythia—as volunteer workers speeded up a nationwide child refugee aid campaign.

Most of the newcomers were with parents or guardians and most had residences arranged. They ranged from babies to 'teen age, the average being about 8. Most of them had experienced air raid alarms but none was found who had been in an actual bombing.

The Samaria left Liverpool, with about 800 passengers, June 30, only 30 miles ahead of the Arandora Star, the British internment ship which was torpedoed. A destroyer and a seaplane escorting the Samaria out to sea wheeled unexpectedly away to go to the aid of the Arandora Star.

Burns Fatal To Pampa Woman, 21

Mrs. Bernice Noblett, 21, died early this afternoon in a local hospital as the result of severe burns suffered in an explosion that wrecked the Noblett home at 807 W. Francis on the night of June 22.

Mrs. Noblett suffered burns on arms, back, and legs, in the explosion. The husband and a 2-year-old daughter survive. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Tom Connally 'Pours It On' Bund Leader

WASHINGTON, July 8. (AP)—Fritz Kuhn went to prison on conviction of mishandling Bund funds, appeared before the subcommittee at his own request to protest against the house-approved legislation.

Senator Connally (D. - Tex.) brought out that Kuhn himself was now under $1,000 bond on a charge of sponsoring a "hated" meeting on Independence day at Camp Nordland, New Jersey.

"Why did you join the Bund?" demanded Connally. "Wasn't the United States good enough for you?"

"I'm a German-American," Kuhn replied. "I don't recognize any such distinction," said the senator. "Every American is descended from some European stock," the Bund leader continued. "I'm no less an American than anyone else but

The War Today

(By DEWITT MACKENZIE)

Whether England can ward off the impending Nazi air-attack in connection with the projected invasion will depend in no small degree on how much civilian slaughter can be endured without cracking the morale of its military defenders.

It's one thing for soldiers to face death for themselves, and quite another to see their women and children blown to pieces.

Mass-bombing over Britain is bound to result in terrible civilian casualties. The bulk of its population lives in the congested industrial areas. Military objectives and civilians are so intermingled that there is no way of bombing one and not the other.

France's collapse owed much to the killing of women and children, and the millions of terrified, starving refugees who jammed the battlefields and highways.

British War Minister Eden gave warning the other day when he admonished the civilian population to stay where they were when the bombs began to rain, and not rush into the highways and byways.

Orchids Easy To Grow, Texans Told

British Claim Upper Hand In Air Battles

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 8.—Britain claimed the upper hand over Nazi air raiders today and declared that her fighters were matching blow for blow as waves of German planes still poured over England.

Several persons were believed killed and some damage was caused in towns of northeast, southeast, and southwest England as the Germans continued the air forays from which the British have had but one day of respite since Jan. 18.

But the air ministry said royal air force planes, in daylight raids on Germany yesterday, shot down a Messerschmitt fighter in flames and wrecked a big four-engine airplane on the ground.

German assertions of British losses in the air battle over the British channel yesterday were scoffed at in authoritative circles as "just another case of Nazi multiplication by 10."

The Nazi high command communique reported 10 British Spitfires shot down over the channel as part of 14 British air losses to three for Germany yesterday.

"Against a German loss of three fighters and a bomber, British losses were, in fact, one only—the second fighter machine lost in the defense of Britain since the war began," these sources reported.

The "base" of German planes attacking the British Isles, they added, is "112 machines certain" and possibly 25 others damaged so badly they are believed never to have reached home.

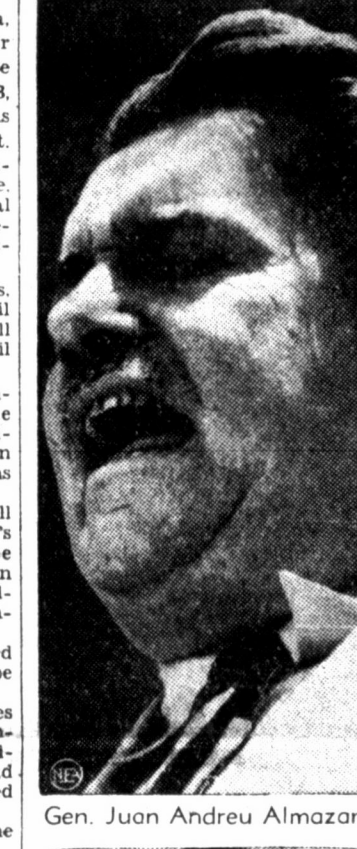

To this, apparently, was added another bomber today.

About 100 incendiary and 12 explosive bombs were dropped in the early morning raid on a northeast town in which several persons were injured.

The London Times quoted an air ministry estimate of 40 Nazi planes down in the last two weeks (the raiders have failed to appear only one day since the last 20 and 2,500 destroyed by British forces since the war began.

Meador Trial Due To Start Today

Seventh week of the May term of 31st district court opened today with 23 petit jurors of the panel of 40 reporting. No case came to trial this forenoon, but it was expected that the case of State of Texas vs. P. M. Meador would be underway after jurors reported back at 1:30 p. m.

Meador is charged with failure to stop and render aid in connection with the automobile-motorcycle crash east of Pampa last September in which W. D. (Bill) Kelley, Pampa youth, was fatally injured.

In another case, Meador was assessed a $750 fine on a jury verdict of negligent homicide in the second degree in connection with the same accident.

Out of town lawyers in court were E. T. Miller, E. A. Simpson, Julius Dorenfield, Cleo Clayton, Jr., J. B. Dooley, R. A. Wilson, Jr., all of Amarillo; L. A. Kerr, Tulsa; E. H. O'Dowd, Waco; W. D. Girande, Lubbock.

Local attorneys were John F. and Aaron Sturgeon, Walter Rogers, District Attorney Clifford Braly, Newton P. Willis, B. S. Via, John V. Osborne, Bruce L. Parker, John F. Studer, Arthur M. Teed, and William J. Smith.

Summer Camp That Won't Fit Budget Will Go Nicely Into Your Backyard

By LEONARD MANDEL NEW YORK—There are undoubtedly countless mothers in communities all over the country who are regretfully totaling budgets and de-precatingly saying that Sue and Junior cannot go to camp this year.

Do not think that you are depriving your child of a happy summer if you cannot send him to camp. It is true that change of environment is greatly to be desired, but you can have camp right in your own backyard!

Any mother with intelligence and ingenuity can organize a summer backyard camp with her neighbors, and she will be solving the problem of what to do with foot-loose children who will get into mischief during the summer.

The first thing to do is to enlist the aid of a group of mothers with boys and girls about the same age level. Plan to have various types of activities in back yards and cellars neighboring homes. The most important thing to bear in mind is that play must be along natural lines.

Children, like all humans, have definite urges and drives which need expression and if denied, result in maladjustments. Guide these urges in the right channels.

Return Of Shirtwaist Dress Hints: Blackout On Frills And Furbelows

PARIS—The shirtwaist dress is popular again. The seasonal collections in February saw the first offensive launched against the form-fitted, rather fussy dress in favor of the more casual frock.

Molyneux even showed the chemist translated into diaphanous dinner gowns for the dog days, and every collection included several interpretations of this type of dress.

Usually associated with resort wear, these shirtwaist dresses will instead be worn by smart women in and around Paris during the next few months. Their degree of dressiness depends entirely on the medium—and this, moreover, is purely a personal matter.

They come in dark dotted surah as a complement to a very light beige linen frock or else in monochrome crepes on white or a contrasting color. This is one of the most natural practical notions out of the midseason collections, and a very charming one, too.

THE TAILORED SHIRTWAIST DRESS IS POPULAR The tailored shirtwaist dress has also invaded the more formal categories of clothes. Bruyere has a charming model in pearl gray chiffon high pleated skirt and a jacket entirely tucked horizontally.

Present were Mesmes. Hubert Dowell, G. C. Fowler, Walter Nelson, R. W. Waters, Ennis Favors, Ralph Shannon, Noel Cooper, Fred Talph, LaFon McKenzie, B. A. Norris, Charles Madeira, James Elbert, and the hostess.

Judge White Speaks At Wayside Home Demonstration Club

Wayside Home Demonstration club members met in the home of Mrs. D. F. Osborne recently for a program on "County and State Government We All Should Know as Citizens," with Judge Sherman White, guest speaker, discussing "County Judge Problems."

The county agent, Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, told of other problems in Gray county and the problems of parents and children in the home and that the children should be considered when trying to solve these problems.

After the program, a salad plate was served to three guests, Miss Ruth Osborne of Perryton, Judge Sherman White, and Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, and members, Mesmes, A. B. Carruth, Harold Osborne, Felix Stalls, Wood Osborne, H. B. Taylor, Jr., J. S. Fuqua, L. R. Taylor, Lowell Osborne, and the hostess.

The next program on "Kitchen and Bathroom Shades and Curtains" will be presented at a meeting of the club on July 12 in the home of Mrs. W. C. Mosley.

Are You A Successophile?

Right off the bat, we ought to explain that there isn't any such word. But if a word were to be made up to describe the fellow who worships success, any kind of success, attained by any means at all, that might be it. Right now we are in danger of developing too many people of this type. We've all heard the kind of person who looks at Europe with puffed-up wonder, and mutters to himself, "Gosh! You've really got to hand it to that fellow Hitler, don't you? He sure has put it over! He must have something!"

"This train of thought is very easy to fall into these days. But it is dangerous. There is nothing in success itself that deserves worship, or even respect. The thing to ask is, 'What sort of success was sought?' and, 'How was it achieved?'

It is certainly true that the military accomplishments of Hitler's Germany, strictly as military accomplishments, are magnificent. A German army has been developed which no one has yet been able to resist.

Questions: How worthy an object is that? How has that served the world and its people? Question again: How was it done? At what cost, and by what means? The answer is simple: By channeling an unheard-of percentage of the productive ability of the German people into building a military machine. By making every man a soldier and training him for periods of time and with a thoroughness which other nations were unwilling to adopt.

Suppose the United States had embarked in 1933 on a similar course. Suppose that instead of providing jobs and sustenance to an average of 2,500,000 people it had simply clipped them all into the army? Suppose that instead of building 457,000 miles of roads and 23,000 public buildings, we had built military highways and tanks and barracks? Suppose that instead of building Boulder Dam and Grand Coulee and Bonneville and Fort Peck, we had built planes and battle-ships?

Does anyone suppose that we could not by now have blitzkrieged Canada and Mexico and subjected the hemisphere to our will? Of course we could. But under our democratic way, we chose other objectives. Perhaps we should have diverted more of our energies to military ends, less to the ways of peace. In view of what has happened since, most Americans now agree to that.

But the democratic way, even though it has devoted itself to peaceful objectives, has shown even in those a tremendous power. That power is now being diverted by world currents into military channels, channels more clearly marked by the very failure of European democracies to navigate them. Those failures were not failures of power to perform; they were failures to recognize the course. Democracy in America need fear no such failure. It will not be found wanting if the test comes.

Part of the trouble comes from the number of agencies which are drawing cards in the game—WPA, the National Youth Administration, the CCC and the Office of Education, all under the general direction of Sidney Hillman of the National Defense Advisory Committee. More basic, however, is the charge—made inside the administration—that the program calls for hard-boiled "totalitarian planning," which it has not yet been given.

There is not yet any agreement on the extent, if any, of the supposed bottleneck in production caused by a shortage of skilled labor. The Labor Department's figures show that there just isn't such a shortage. Organized labor so far has been bitterly opposed to the idea of creating a huge new reservoir of skilled labor, fearing that this would ultimately be used to break the unions. Yet some of the leaders in the training program argue that the unemployment statistics fail utterly to present a true picture of the situation.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the steps of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

THE "NO NEW LAND" ALIBI FOR UNEMPLOYMENT New Dealers grasp at any straw to explain why there has not been full employment. One explanation commonly used by these apologists is that we have no more new land. Then if that be the case, how could they explain that Switzerland, whose land was taken up years ago, has had full employment?

In Carl Snyder's book, "Capitalism The Creator," he makes this statement: "Noteworthy that trade, the manufacture and exchange of goods, has always been the chief source of wealth. Rarely or never have agricultural countries attained any high degree of wealth or civilization for it is almost wholly from the wealth of a nation that the stimulus to art and culture is derived. In the rich valleys of the Nile and elsewhere, the possession of land could bring wealth to a very few,—the pharaohs and kings, and some of the nobility; but the amount of this wealth was small. And to this day we find in agriculture, all over the world, the work of small farms yielding but a meager subsistence to their owners."

It is not more agricultural products that is needed but it is more services, entertainment, education, health, recreation and manufactured articles that we need to balance the production of the farm. We are now even paying the farmers for not producing, so it seems to be absurd to think the explanation for unemployment is lack of raw land.

But these apologists have to have some excuse and they grasp at anything that will get by and catch votes. SIGN-POSTS OF DECAY As we see the European nations losing their separate independencies, it is a good time to look for sign-posts that have brought this about.

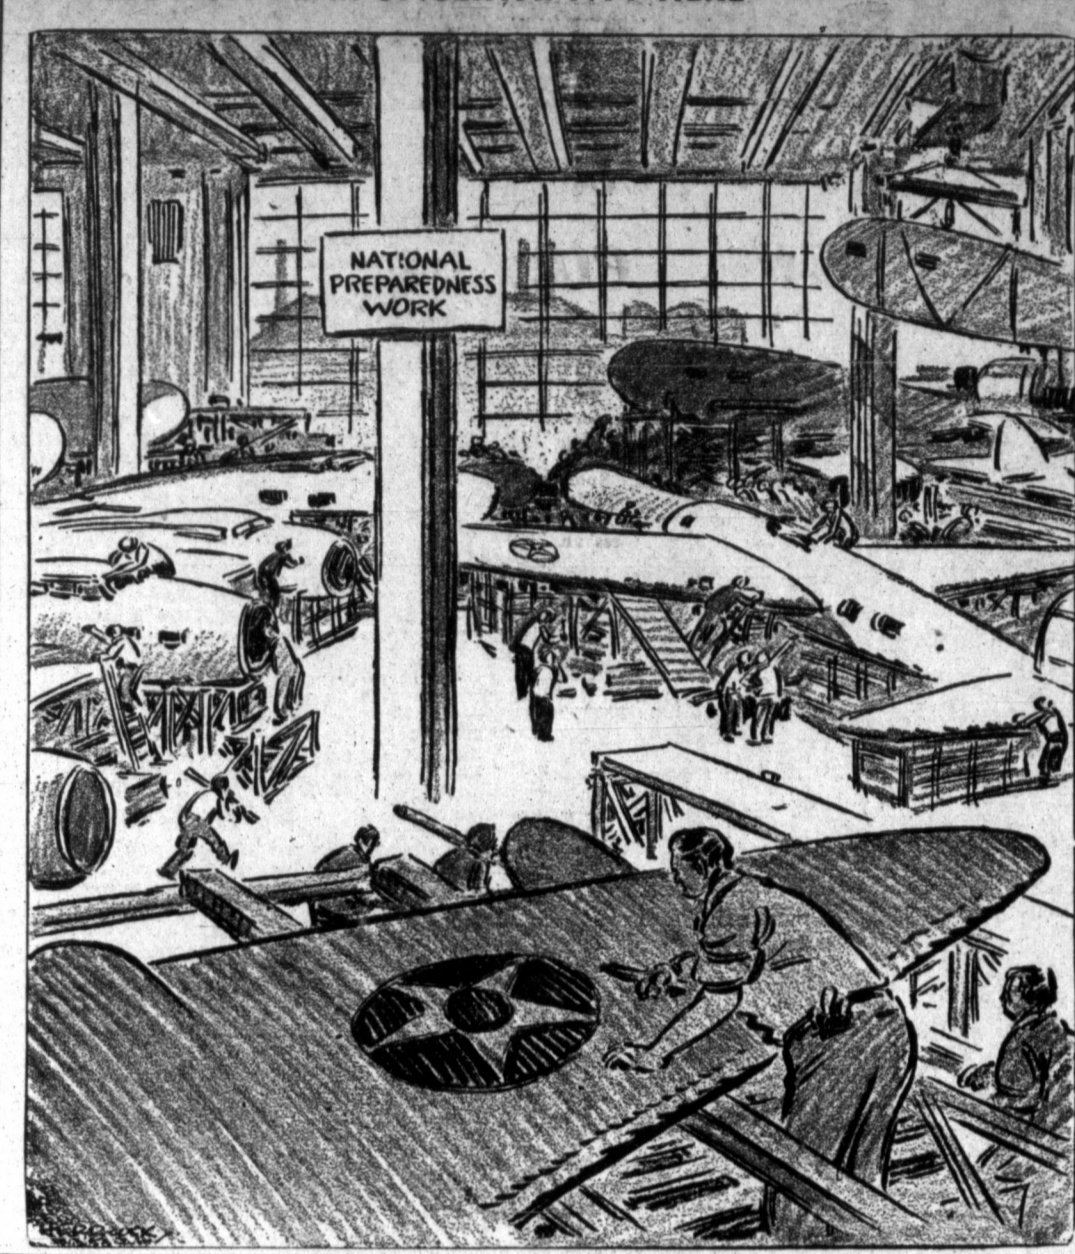

It seems that these sign-posts stick out so prominently that he who runs may read. What have these countries done that has caused them to become so weak that they cannot defend themselves? In the first place, let us not be so impractical as to remark that it is because Germany has heavily armed itself. All governments were established by force. England and France have had what, in the past, were regarded as superior military equipment.

There are the two sign-posts that stick out so clearly as the cause of England and France not being fit that they should warn the people of the United States that if we want to again return to growth and prosperity and fitness, we must eliminate these same practices operating here that have permitted the Allies to be so much at the mercy of the Germans.

The Nation's Press THE HARBOR TIE-UP (Los Angeles Times) The tie-up of every American-Flag ship in Los Angeles harbor in a two-bit dispute between the A. F. L. and the C. I. O. as to which shall collect dues from cooks, waiters and bartenders in waterfront restaurants and beer parlors is typical of the manner in which Lewis-Green unionism "co-operates" in a national emergency.

Unable to move in or out of the port or to work cargo by reason of this union-made blockade are ships laden with materials urgently needed by Southern California airfields, factories engaged on top-speed contracts for the Allies and for the United States government. Among the establishments picketed as a result of the original jurisdictional dispute is a shipyard working on a $7,560,000 job for the United States Maritime Commission. Both activities are highly important, nationally and locally, the latter by reason of the large number of men to whom they give employment.

HITLER AND OUR GOLD By WALTER E. SPAHR Professor of Economics, New York University

In recent weeks there has been much discussion to the effect that if Hitler takes over France, as he has done, he will force Europe into a barter system, refuse to accept our gold and thus impair or destroy its value. While this article was written before Hitler's terms to France were known, one authoritative report received from Europe states that Hitler will demand all of France's gold.

1. It can refer to the gold price of gold—that is, the number of gold dollars that will buy an ounce of gold is coined. Our government has provided that we shall coin an ounce of pure gold into $35. So long as we are a sovereign nation, our government alone decides the number of gold dollars into which we shall coin an ounce of gold. Hitler cannot change that—not unless he can replace our Congress or persuade it to make a change.

Absentee Voting Begins In Pampa

First absentee ballots in the Democratic primary of July 27 were cast today when two voters filled out ballots in the office of County Clerk Charlie Thut.

Due in the period July 15-19 are candidates second campaign expense reports. Candidates for state and district offices file their reports with the secretary of state.

July 24 is the last day for election judges to obtain lists of voters, and on the following day the county clerk sends the absentee ballots to the presiding judges of the various precincts.

Polis will be open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. on July 27. Within 48 hours after the election returns are canvassed by the county commission.

On August 3, the county executive committee is to canvass the returns and on the next day absentee voting begins for the second primary, which is to be held August 24.

Fleet Commander-In-Chief In Washington

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—Admiral J. O. Richardson arrived unexpectedly today at the navy department from Hawaii, where the United States battle ship Armada is now stationed.

The department did not disclose the presence of the fleet's commander-in-chief until a day after he reached Washington yesterday.

It was announced only that he came here "to confer with officials regarding routine policies for the training of the fleet."

He was scheduled to have lunch with President Roosevelt today and it was considered likely that he would talk with President Roosevelt, as well as Lewis Compton, acting secretary of the navy; Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations; and other high officers.

The first streamlined speed locomotive was built in 1889, and could attain a speed of 110 miles an hour. It may be seen at the Smithsonian Institution.

Only America Has Monroe Doctrine, President Asserts

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt was aligned today with Secretary of State Hull in contending that there is a difference between "Monroe Doctrine" and the "true Monroe Doctrine as we know it and have it."

Following German and Japanese discussion of "a Monroe Doctrine for Europe" and "a Monroe Doctrine for Asia," Stephen Early, white house secretary, said at Hyde Park yesterday:

"There hasn't been any sign of evidence of a real or true Monroe Doctrine in other hemispheres than our own yet."

Secretary Hull had declared on Friday that the Monroe Doctrine does not resemble policies in other areas which, he said, though alleged to be similar, "would in reality seem to be only the pretext for the carrying of conquest by the sword."

The President suggested Saturday night that European and Asiatic nations—as each a group—use the Monroe principle in disposing of the possessions of conquered nations.

He proposed that European, Asiatic and American nations—each group in its own sphere—consult and settle territorial problems among themselves, instead of allowing a conquering power to make the decisions alone.

The President mentioned "the complete absence of any intention whatever on the part of the United States to interfere with adjustment in Europe or Asia."

Nine Civilians Die In Malta Air Raids

CAIRO, Egypt, July 8 (AP)—Nine civilians were killed and one wounded in an Italian air raid over Malta yesterday which was intercepted by British fighters, the headquarters communique of the Royal Air Force announced today.

"During an air raid at Malta yesterday our fighters intercepted the enemy and shot down one of their aircraft."

"Nine civilians were killed and one wounded in the course of the raid."

Garner Still Silent

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—Vice President Garner is as silent as President Roosevelt concerning his Democratic convention plans, although his managers have said they intend to let the Texan's name be put in nomination for the presidency.

Receiving visitors in his office during the week-end, Garner lounged in a big overstuffed chair, tapped the ashes from his cigar, and declined all political comment.

"My wife is still putting up with me and I'm happy," he said. "What more could I ask?"

Germans Don't Want France As Ally -- They Say

BERLIN, July 8 (AP)—If anybody thinks the Rome-Berlin axis powers are counting on France's assistance in ensuing phases of the European war they are mistaken, sources in the know declared today.

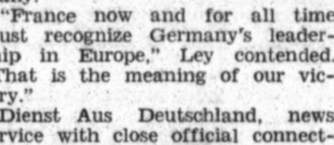

Germany and Italy, they said, can settle their scores unaided and Adolf Hitler's permission to the French fleet to fight off the British was merely an act of chivalry, not a gesture of invitation to come into the fray.

As if to underscore this aloofness from France, Robert Ley, leader of the German labor front and director of the Nazi party's political organization, wrote in the Berlin newspaper Der Angriff that France, as an aging decrepit, must definitely yield European continental hegemony to youthful, virile Germany.

"France now and for all time must recognize Germany's leadership in Europe," Ley contended. "That is the meaning of our victory."

Diets Aus Deutschland, news service with close official connections, also intimated that she yet must pay in full for a "policy which, despite repeated offers for timely reorientation, brought France into her present position."

Raid Shelter—Made in U. S. A.

It's just a funny new kind of playhouse to Shirley Wright and John Boucher, Quincy Mass., six-year-olds. But it has grim significance to adult Americans, for it's the first made-in-America air raid shelter.

Produced by a Quincy firm, the steel "tent" is designed to protect occupants against shell fragments, not direct hits. It will soon go into mass production.

Presbyterians To Hold Services In School Auditorium

The First Presbyterian church will hold services in the high school auditorium next Sunday and on each succeeding Sunday until completion of the new church building on North Gray street, it was announced yesterday.

The present church building has been sold to Duerkel-Carmichael Funeral home and remodeling of the building will begin tomorrow.

Moving of the church mass to the new location will be completed this week.

Church Sunday school services will be held in the auditorium and in the agricultural building at the regular hour.

SERIAL STORY

PEACE---SHE'S WONDERFUL

BY ISABEL WAITT

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY Mrs. King discovered a child has been kidnapped, immediately identifies Denny as the abductor, Peace as the victim. Denny tries to laugh his way out of it but Mrs. King has her own ideas on the matter. Denny sees the policeman and a policeman hearing Denny upon him.

CHAPTER VII

THE two officials stood in the aisle. The policeman consulted a notebook. "Answers to a T," he said, confronting Denny. "Young man, I'd like to ask you a few questions. Come outside."

"I'll stay right here, if you don't mind," Denny countered. "There's a youngster asleep in that forward section I don't like to leave. Now shoot." He hoped Mrs. King would stand in her own juice. He didn't know whether her future chagrin would counterbalance his present discomfort, but to get rid of her was worth even this.

"It's about the Kelly girl kidnapping. Wake her up. We'll soon settle this before the train starts." Denny was furious. They'd not wake up Peace. He could substitute his actions. He listened to the accusations, and told the story of the two blue dresses all over again. "My fiancée is due any minute. You can ask her. Meanwhile, check the telegram. Get the address from Western Union and telephone the Warrens."

That, the officer assured him, had already been attempted. True, the name was correct, but that didn't signify anything. Warren might be one of the gang this lady (Mrs. King) intimated were springing up on route. At any rate, no one had answered at the address.

Carole stood up for him. "Mrs. King has made a silly mistake, Captain," she said with her best Hollywood smile. "Why, I've spent the whole day with Mr. Dennis and the child, and— She didn't finish, but cried, 'Here's Miss Lowell now! She'll prove everything.'"

"What will I prove?" Rhoda asked Carole. "You seem to know as much about Wayne Dennis as anyone." She stared haughtily past the uniformed men. "What is this, Denny?"

But before he could open his mouth, Mrs. King demanded, "Where's that foreigner I saw you with earlier in the evening? If he wasn't the image of a thug in a 'wanted' lineup in this detective magazine, I'll cross my heart and hope to die!"

Rhoda explained glibly about the favor she and her fiancée were doing the Warrens, because of the addition to the family.

The policeman grinned. "A baby? Why didn't you say so? That's where Warren was—at the hospital. We'll check again. This lady's story sounds all right to me."

The conductor glowered at Mrs. King, whose heavy eyes still held their suspicion. Denny accepted their lumbering apologies. He would still be on the train when it arrived in Los Angeles, and if they cared to investigate further, there'd be plenty of opportunity. The officials withdrew.

"And now, if you'll excuse me," Denny said to Carole, rising. "And thanks for your faith. You may keep Joan for a hostage, Mrs. King." He grinned wryly, following Rhoda down the aisle.

"Of all the hideous trips!" she complained. "Poor Bernard was taken with one of his chronic appendicitis attacks at the beginning of the second act. Think it was the shade we ate. I had to take him home. And then to come back to this! You've had a nice day, I gathered." And so on into the night!

THE trip wasn't coming up to Denny's expectations. Peace was good, Denny thought, considering, but somehow her presence seemed to be a little wedge between him and Rhoda. When he told the child about Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer and the big Mississippi, Rhoda did not join in. She always had a letter to write.

Carole came into the observation car the following morning. She sought an empty desk. "Rid of the pest?" he asked, pausing a moment with Peace by his side. "Don't you believe it. She says I'm an unprotected girl. She's promised to watch out that nothing happens to me."

"On account of—?" "Uh-huh. Isn't she priceless? Well, she's not going to ruin my entire trip. She won't take a snub. Maybe she thinks I'm in one of the lineups myself. Poor soul! Lonely widow, plenty of money, and nothing to do but mind other people's business."

"We'll have to find her a boy friend." Which showed how mistaken Denny could be. Taking Peace out to the observation platform to give the turtles their airing, he came upon Mrs. King and a small gray-bearded man, chinning together like old friends. Caleb Ogden, his name was, a big oil man from Texas. But going on to California to play a bit of golf, see a few movie stars, and get rid of some of his holdings," he was telling Mrs. King. Also all within earshot. He hated wealth. His ears were few, being alone in the world. He'd like to get out of business entirely. Glib, Gabby.

OGDEN took a great shine to Darby and Joan, now caged in the compartment again, since the water bottle had come to grief. Denny could see the oil man casting surreptitious glances his way, while Mrs. King laid him low.

"Gang!" Ogden repeated, looking back apprehensively. Oh, well, let her tell the world! "I've got a drawing room," the little man bragged to Peace. "Like to give your pets a swim? It's the car just ahead of yours."

"You're taking your life in your hands," Denny warned Ogden. "Mrs. King can tell you what a lot of trouble we've had with those little creatures. Peace, where are the ant eggs?" He found the generous box to be practically empty.

"Aunt Rhoda ate 'em all up!" "Ate the ant eggs? You know better than that, honey." "Yes, she did too. Me 'em 'ut in her cereal this morning."

"You who-a-at?" Rhoda had covered her cereal with cream, he remembered, and consumed it all. "Why should you do such a naughty thing?"

"So they'd hatch, like she said. And bite her. Me don't like her. Peace shrieked with pouting lip. Mrs. King leaned forward, not missing a word. "Children and dogs—they know. I don't like her either, my dear. And as for you, Mr. Dennis, you must be blind not to see she's giving you the double-cross with that person she calls her cousin."

Good heavens, her enmity he could stand! But if the King woman began taking care of him, he'd give up!

"Don't you dare tell Aunt Rhoda about the ant eggs," he ordered. "We're almost to Kansas City. Give me the postcard for your mother and I'll mail it. Don't want you to get off the train. Now, we'll go find Rhoda."

HE let Peace go after her postcard, while he sat down beside his fiancée. He watched Rhoda didn't always make him feel so uncomfortable, as at present, for instance.

"Mrs. King told me she thinks you are giving me the double-cross," Rhoda began, stamping her letter. "That's a hot one! She just told me the same thing about you. Said I was blind not to see through it. That woman's a lulu, all right!"

Broad Farm Plank Planned By Demos

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—Administration farm leaders indicated today they would ask the Democratic national convention to adopt an agricultural plank broad enough to cover governmental fixing of farm prices if economic developments should interfere with present crop programs.

Such a plank would be in sharp issue with the Republican platform. The latter favored continuing all present farm subsidy programs, with governmental crop control features removed.

Rhodes said that Secretary Wallace would appear before the Democratic platform committee at Chicago to ask party endorsement of present agricultural policies.

While Wallace often has expressed opposition to governmental price-fixing, associates said developments arising from the European war had convinced him that the government should be in a position to adopt rigid price controls if necessary to prevent collapse in markets.

Wallace turned to such a device when wheat prices recently tumbled more than 30 cents a bushel. He asked the grain markets to peg prices until European war factors causing the break subsided.

With American farmers confronted by dwindling foreign markets and accumulating surpluses, the secretary is expected to ask the Democrats to pledge greater efforts to increase consumption among the nation's needy.

Two New Stamps Received At P. O.

Two new commemorative stamps have been received at the Pampa postoffice, Assistant Postmaster O. E. Gaylor announced today. One of the stamps, the Idaho Anniversary issue, is now on sale. The other stamp, the Wyoming anniversary issue, will be available on Thursday.

Sweden To Cooperate Fully With Germany

STOCKHOLM, July 8 (AP)—Sweden openly entered a course of close cooperation with Germany today as it aims a "normalized" Scandinavia.

Trade—the trade on which Sweden depends for existence—and the safe-guarding of the nation's "living space" were the objects sought through multilateral agreements with Germany, with German-dominated Denmark and German-controlled Norway.

These agreements, expected to be completed this week, were practical manifestations of the new Swedish policy indicated by Prime Minister Per Hansson.

Half-Dozen Plane Plants To Be Built

By DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Aviation Editor
LOS ANGELES, July 8—(AP)—Plans have been completed for the construction of a half dozen new aircraft plants in southern California, where some 50 per cent of the nation's heavy-tonnage and military planes are manufactured, but the men behind the ventures are waiting for a green light from Washington, D. C.

The airplane makers, suddenly faced with the monumental task of giving substance to our air rearmament program—now taking shape in the national capital—say they can turn out warplanes as fast as:

- (1) The engine makers can supply engines.
- (2) The army and navy can find use for the new equipment.

That is as clear as the layman can come to getting, in answer to the question inferred in President Roosevelt's message to Congress on May 16—how and when can our air defense be buttressed with 50,000 airplanes?

I have emphasized before that American air rearmament in full stride will depend as much on the production of pilots to fly airplanes as it will on the production of the machines themselves. The government's training plans have crystallized in advance of its plane manufacturing plans, but the pilot quotas set by the army and the navy will not mean 50,000 planes this year, or next year, or, probably, by the close of 1942.

Some leaders in the American aircraft industry have told me in the last few days that an actual production of 50,000 warplanes in the next twelve months, with the necessary plant construction and tool and die installation it would require, would be an impossible task, both in terms of the effort expended and the amount of money involved.

In New York last month Charles F. Kettering, vice president of General Motors Corp., outlined the rearmament problem in these words: "The only thing that's going to defeat the American rearmament program is that the American people don't understand exactly what you have to do to make a lot of something. How long it takes for the whole make-ready isn't understood."

The whole rearmament picture, and particularly that portion of it devoted to air rearmament, is captured by what might be termed an "ifty" situation. One standout statement has been issued in the last few weeks. Glenn L. Martin, the Baltimore airplane maker, says we can do in one year of air rearmament what Germany has done each three years since 1933.

Pétain May Be 'Chief Of State'

GENEVA, July 8—(AP)—The censored press of unoccupied France carried reports today that Marshal Henri Philippe Pétain's government was "only transitory" and would make way for a new regime with Pétain as "Chief of State" like Generalissimo Francisco Franco in Spain.

A dispatch from Vichy to 1st Petit Dauphinois of Grenoble forecast the resignation of French President Albert Lebrun and his replacement by Pétain, who, it said, would "only accept the title of executive power."

A triumvirate of former Premier Pierre Laval, General Maxime Weygand and Adrien Marquet, former minister of labor and mayor of Bordeaux, would dominate the government under Pétain's titular direction, this report said.

Pétain's present ministry, it added, "seems to be making a last concession to giving rights" by an elaborate legislative procedure carried out by a picked group of senators and deputies at Vichy.

These plans the writer emphasized, are only forecasts but the fact that they were permitted to appear in the strictly controlled press indicated that they may be based on known plans of the Vichy leaders.

French Declaration On Britain Rumored

TOKYO, July 8 (AP by radio)—A government spokesman said the Tokyo foreign office had received reports, thus far unconfirmed, that the French government was contemplating a declaration of war on Great Britain, Domel, the Japanese news agency, reported today in a broadcast.

As such a development might lead to clashes between British and French forces in the Far East, the Japanese government must take precautionary measures, the spokesman said.

Willkie Urged To Adopt Hands-Off Foreign Policy

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, July 8, (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie's first visit to Washington as the Republican presidential nominee provided an opportunity today for several congressmen to urge that his campaign be shaped around a "hands-off Europe" foreign policy.

Legislators who have been critical of the administration's program for aid to the Allies said they would urge Willkie to take a firm "non-intervention" stand in his political speeches.

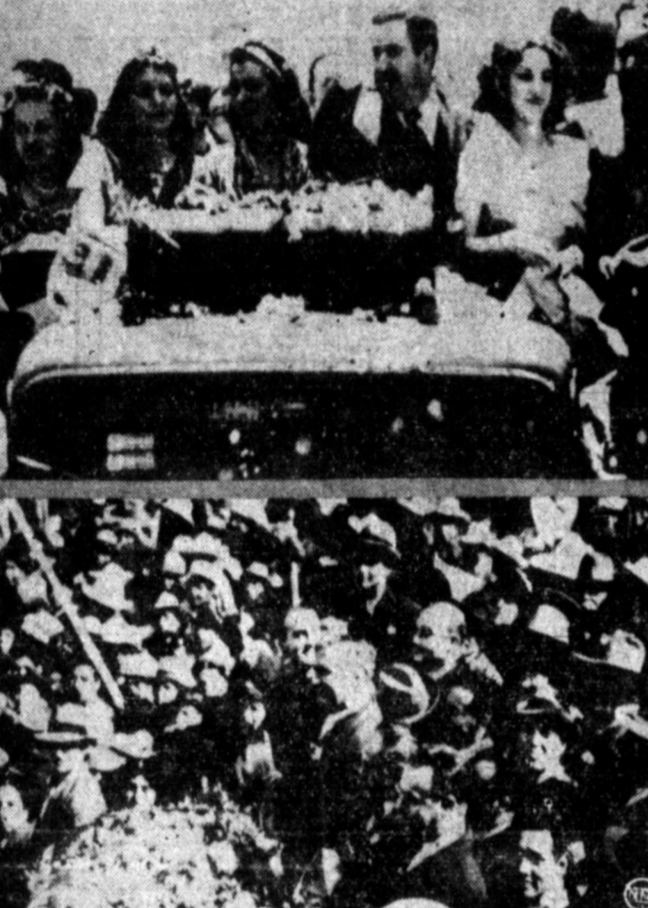

Among those who expressed the desire to confer with him were Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.), Nye (R-N. D.) and Thomas (R-

England Calls Home Young Movie Stars

HOLLYWOOD, July 8 (AP)—Great Britain has called home its motion picture actors between the ages of 18 and 31. Other British subjects in the film colony temporarily will aid their homeland in other ways.

Handsome Richard Greene said he would go to England as soon as possible. Like most of the other British actors here, Greene volunteered his services several months ago but was instructed to remain in Hollywood until further notice.

Fast 31 in age are such figures as Laurence Olivier, Cary Grant, Ray Milland, Errol Flynn, Louis Hayward, Brian Aherne and Herbert Marshall.

Grant is donating $150,000, his salary from his new film, "Philadelphia Story," to British war charity. Charles Laughton for some time has earmarked all of his radio earnings for war relief and Red Cross. Ronald Colman and others have made similar gifts.

Funds Sought For Refugees In America

The Allied Relief Fund, at 87 William street, New York City, organized recently to combine the efforts of various relief agencies formed throughout the United States, has inaugurated a nationwide campaign for $5,000,000 to provide shelter in this country for European children who are now in Great Britain facing the horrors of bombardment. Winthrop W. Aldrich, president of the fund, announces that the campaign will begin on July 4, and will be carried on aggressively in every part of the country with the support of numerous child welfare agencies and of local committees that are now being organized.

According to Mr. Aldrich, the Allied Relief Fund has undertaken the campaign at the request of American government officials and with the cordial endorsement of Lord Lothian, the British Ambassador at Washington. As quickly as contributions are received they will be turned over to the United States Committee for the Care of Europe's Children, the organization formed in New York last week with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as honorary chairman and Marshall Field as active chairman. That organization has already, in cooperation with the State Department and Federal immigration authorities, inaugurated a system to facilitate the movement of children from Great Britain into this country and is rapidly coordinating its responsibilities by forming sub-committees headed by trained child-welfare workers. Before the end of the present week child-placing and fundraising agencies will have been set up in nearly every state of the Union.

Child refugees who are to be brought to the United States fall into two general classes: those who previously found refuge in England from France and other continental countries, and children of British parents. The last named will of course constitute the larger class, and will include boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 15 years. It is understood that within the next fortnight the first contingent will arrive in Canada from England; thereafter further numbers will arrive as vessels are available. Ships leaving England for New York are also expected to be utilized to bring the refugees to the United States.

Since the imminence of a threatened bombardment of Great Britain, persons in every walk of life and from every part of the United States have telegraphed, telephoned and written to the headquarters of the United States Committee for the Care of Europe's Children, who were temporarily set up at 52 Gramercy Park, offering to house and care for children. Every day last week men and women by the score called there in person, offering assistance in every possible form, and volunteer workers listed the names of the individ-

All Candidates Denouncing Sales Tax But O'Daniel

Texas start voting today for or against a second term for Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel.

Gubernatorial candidates Ernest O. Thompson, Jerry Sadler and Harry Hines have scheduled about 25 speeches each this week. All are denouncing the general sales tax, which O'Daniel endorsed at the last session of the legislature.

Sixty-eight-year-old James E. Ferguson, campaigning for his wife, Miriam A. Ferguson, is not attempting to make as many talks as in former years. However, he has announced rallies this week at Cleburne and Corsicana.

Governor O'Daniel is expected to say within a few days whether he will make any additional stump speeches or will limit his campaigning to the radio.

The overwhelming majority of the ballots won't be cast until primary election day—July 27. However, persons unable to go to the polls because of infirmities and those who will be away from their home communities July 27 can vote from today through July 24.

The size of the absentee balloting will be watched closely for an indication as to how many persons will take part in the first Democratic primary. Texas has more eligible voters this year than ever before but the war possibly has lessened interest in state politics.

In addition to the governor, citizens will vote on other state officers: United States senator, and local officers.

Goodrich To Speak Over Radio Stations

Beginning a series of broadcasts which will cover the last three weeks of the campaign, Lewis Goodrich will speak at 12 to 12:15 Tuesday from station KPND, Pampa.

Thursday Goodrich will speak from KPND again at the same hour.

Next week he will speak at the same time and from the same station on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, July 16, 18 and 19.

The concluding week of the campaign he will speak from KGNC, Amarillo, at 6:30 to 6:45 a. m. July 22 and 24 and at 11:45 to 12 July 23, 25 and 26.

Goodrich will speak at Wheeler Friday night and at Groom Saturday night.

He is still carrying on his house-to-house canvass which has thoroughly covered virtually every town in the district with the exception of Amarillo which he started on last week and where he is working today. He expects to complete his canvass of Amarillo before the primary, working on it between speaking dates.

Last Saturday Goodrich was in Briscoe, Allison and Mobeetie speaking at Mobeetie Saturday night.

Arms For Second Million Men Sought By President

WASHINGTON, July 8—(AP)—President Roosevelt's coming request for a $5,000,000,000 defense fund was reported today to authorize arms for a second million men.

The new program also contemplates additional facilities for making munitions, so that, in an emergency, full equipment for even larger land forces could be turned out in relatively short order.

A message setting forth the president's recommendations is expected to go to congress by the middle of the week.

Talk of the proposed fund, much the largest of its kind in peacetime, gave impetus to demands for another billion-dollar-a-year increase in taxes to meet defense costs. Senator George (D-Ga.) predicted the proposal would be linked with the request for $4,000,000,000 for the army and $1,000,000,000 for the navy.

In regular and supplemental appropriations voted since the European war explosion in May, congress already has authorized complete arms and equipment for 500,000 soldiers, and reserves of "critical" weapons for an additional 500,000 men.

The newest preparedness move is expected to make ready for a second million men such arms as rifles, artillery, ammunition and tanks which could not be produced quickly in an emergency.

Some of these munitions presumably would be required even in peacetime should compulsory military training be undertaken. Such a program for training millions of men has been placed on the "must" list by Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) of the senate military committee.

Some lawmakers said a type of selection draft was needed because voluntary enlistments had failed to keep up with increases in the army and navy already approved by congress.

A billion-dollar string of munition plants, chiefly for the manufacture of guns, ammunition and

On the home defense front, it was learned that governors of the 48 states soon may be invited to a conference at the Justice department.

Department officials, disclosed that the meeting, probably Aug. 5 and 6, would take up cooperation among the states on:

- General defense activities.
- Alien propaganda.
- Civil rights, particularly protection against mob violence.
- Alien registration, especially education of the foreign-born to their duties under the new law.
- Coordination between the states and the federal government in defense measures to avoid conflict.

Heavy Blows To British Seapower Claimed By Nazis

(By The Associated Press)
BERLIN, July 8.—Heavy new blows to British seapower were reported by the high command today as, once again, Germany awaited the word of one man—Adolf Hitler—for the next phase of the European war.

The sinking of 21,500 tons of British shipping off the Spanish coast, including the 13,000-ton "armored" British steamer San Fernando, was credited to U-boats.

Airplanes were said to have sunk two merchant ships and transport and damaged others off the south coast of England.

"In England," the communique added, "the air force raided, among other things, a railway station at Brighton, coast batteries on the Isle of Wight, port facilities and camps at Falmouth Wells and armament plants at Middleborough and Newcastle."

When the fuhrer will give the word for the new war phase, and what it will be, even men usually in the know can not say. But they are confident that whatever happens Hitler and Italian Premier Mussolini will be in full harmony.

Hitler and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano conferred secretly for two hours here yesterday and arranged another conference for Wednesday, presumably intended to coordinate Rome-Berlin policies for reshaping Europe.
