TWO CITIES BID HIGH FOR DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

Hook Refuses To Backtrack On Letters

Michigan Demo Won't 'Concede Anything'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Rep. Hook (D-Mich) refused today to "concede anything" as to the invalidity of letters purporting to link Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the house committee on un-American activities to William Dudley Felley, silver shirt leader.

Hook told a House rules subcommittee that even if the documents were forged, their inclusion in the Congressional Record did not violate the House rules.

He was the first witness before the subcommittee considering a resolution by Rep. Hoffman (D-Mich) to expunge the material from the record.

Hoffman, speaking in behalf of his resolution, told the committee that even assuming the documents were genuine, said Hook's remarks were improper because they reflected on a member—Dies—who was not on the House floor at the time and was confined to his home by illness.

Hoffman said the remarks concerned Dies with trickery and with "subverting" the power given him by the House when it authorized the investigation.

He contended too, that remarks published in the Congressional Record frequently were given "undue weight" by the thousands of persons throughout the country who read them "and so countered any good that the Dies committee may have done."

In the background of the proceedings was a stag dinner which, the forum for discussion of the Dies committee, was taking rank as a "cause celebre."

Hook said today he thought the date of the dinner was Jan. 16.

"You discussed ways and means of stopping this resolution," continued the forum for discussion of the Dies committee, was taking rank as a "cause celebre."

"Yes," Hook replied.

"Did you make this speech for the purpose of stopping this committee?" Cox asked, referring to Hook's remarks at the time he introduced the letter in the Record.

"I certainly did," Hook answered.

"Do you think a member should use forged documents?" Rep. Dempsey (D-NM) started to ask. Hook interrupted to retort, "Well, it has not been proved that those documents were forged."

"Will you tell this committee that those documents are genuine?" Cox asked.

Hook said that question was for handwriting experts to determine.

Proration Hearing Set For February 16

AUSTIN, Feb. 5 (AP)—The regular monthly statewide oil proration hearing to receive evidence on which to base the March order will be held in Austin Feb. 16, Chairman Lon A. Smith, of the Texas Railroad Commission announced today.

Since the February order has brought many applications for increases in permissible production, the hearing is expected to develop sharp discussion of a critical nature.

Federal court hearings here Feb. 12 on attacks of East Texas oil field proration schedules may affect the tenor of the commission's proration hearing.

Commission members Ernest O. Thompson and Jerry Sadler at present are in Washington for a Congressional hearing on a bill proposing federal control of the oil industry. Commissioner Smith is expected to join Thompson and Sadler later this week to oppose the bill.

French Hurl Back Invading Germans

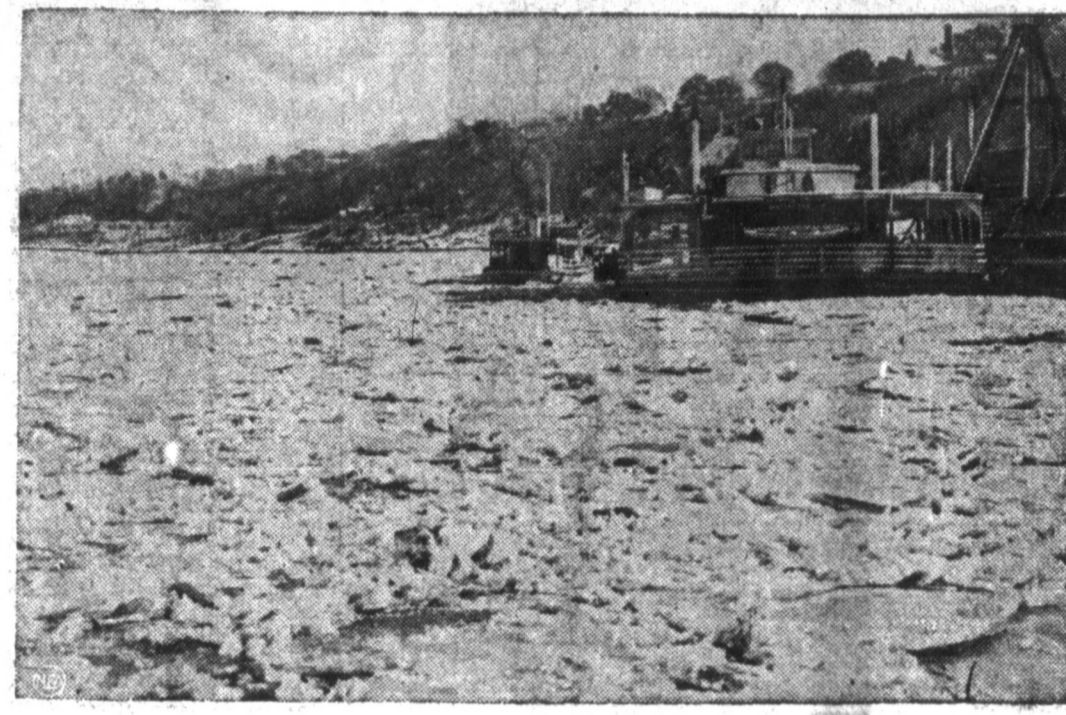

PARIS, Feb. 5 (AP)—French military advisers reported today a German attack on French hills in the wooded hills east of the Blires river had been repulsed with hand grenades.

These sources said the Germans were forced to retreat as quickly the French captured two prisoners. German scouting patrols were reported active throughout the region, but fog and rain grounded aviation on both sides.

I Heard . . .

A south Texas negro remarking that Pampa's streets reminded him of "mud" back home. Asked what he meant the negro replied that the negroes used to go to the creek at a point where the bottom was soft and the water about waist deep and that a bunch of them would stomp in the mud until the water was almost muddy. Then the fish would rise and could easily be caught by hand and used onto the bank.

RIVER AT NATCHEZ HAS ICE FIRST TIME SINCE 1899

For the first time in 41 years, ice appeared in the Mississippi river at Natchez, Miss. River transportation above Natchez is at standstill, and boats plying between Vidalia, La., and Natchez are forced to use tugs to tow them through the ice floes. Proposal to break ice jams with dynamite are opposed by district levee boards which fear dykes will be endangered.

Five Killed As Ship Crashes On Honeymoon Trip

HAMMOND, La., Feb. 15 (AP)—An airplane honeymoon trip ended in death last night for a newly married couple and three other persons flying from Denver to New Orleans for the gay Mardi Gras celebration.

Their bodies, burned and mangled, lay in a funeral home here today.

The five-passenger cabin biplane crashed in wooded, swampy country in a thick fog six miles east of here after the pilot had tried desperately to "talk" his way into the New Orleans airport, 50 miles away by airline.

Don T. Craig, 30, of Denver, was the pilot. The passengers prominent residents of Colorado, were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zimmerhackl, bride and groom of a day; Mrs. Elizabeth McSweeney Powell, owner of the plane and cousin of Zimmerhackl; and Michael Cresede Hinderlinder, Jr., 28, son of the Colorado state engineer.

Zimmerhackl, 56, Denver attorney and business man, once was a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Colorado.

The plane left Denver yesterday morning. The party had made brief stops at Woodward, Okla., and Fort Worth, Tex., before Craig, shrouded by fog, attempted to set the plane down.

J. B. Wolrdrop, a Slidell, La., salesman, said he saw the biplane level off toward the ground and "hit trees" which stripped its wings. The motor fell out and the passengers were strewn over the ground.

He and W. F. Wilson, manager of the state experiment station near here, said the plane burst into flames after it had struck the trees and plowed on for another 175 yards before crashing.

Worst Ice Jam Of Century Unlooses Grip On Mississippi

MEMPHIS, TENN., Feb. 5 (AP)—The Mississippi river's worst ice jam this century unloosed its frigid grip on steamer traffic today and freight-laden boats moved for the first time in 16 days.

Vessels traveled cautiously, warily dodging floes whose white caps bobbed in the swift current. A ribbon of jagged ice, deposited as the by-product of jam moved southward yesterday, lined both shores from St. Louis, Mo., to Friar Point, Miss.

Crushed wharves and punctured boats were left by the ice movement. The channel was free of gorges south of Memphis, but boat captains still waited at Memphis for ice to move free of the channel at Gayoso Bend near Caruthersville, Mo., Drivers Landing, Ark., and Sugar Loaf, Ark. When these points open up, steamers can travel as far north as St. Louis.

Civil War Vet Dies

PEOCOS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Funeral services were held today for Judge W. H. Browning, 82, Civil War veteran, who died at his home here Saturday night.

He was a native of Washington county but had spent most of his life in Lampasas before moving here in 1884. He served a number of terms in both Houses of the Texas Legislature.

Pastor Of Largest U. S. Presbyterian Church Dies Today

SEATTLE, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Mark Allison Matthews, 72, noted Presbyterian pastor and vice crusader, died of pneumonia in the Seattle General hospital today. He was pastor of the largest Presbyterian congregation in the nation.

Farley Cites GOP Failures, Derides Ideas

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Chairman James A. Farley told the Democratic national committee today the party's biggest job was to win over some 10,000,000 independent voters "who will cast their ballots for the best candidates and the best program that is offered."

The committee was gathered for an all-day session at the Willard hotel, to pick a convention city.

Farley tossed this taunt at the Republicans:

"They dare not permit the comparison of things as they are, compared with things as they were, when a disgraced country turned them out of office for simple incompetence—for a complete bankruptcy not only of policy but of ideas."

Farley, predicting "a very active pre-convention campaign," noted that there were many who would like to have the Democratic presidential nomination. He mentioned, by name, however, only Vice-President Garner.

Garner's name came up in the chairman's expression of thanks for the assistance given him by members of the committee, "including sturdy stalwart John Nance Garner."

"I confess that I have no great apprehension as to the result of the forthcoming election," said the man who steered Franklin D. Roosevelt to easy victories in 1932 and 1936.

"Unless the Republicans are able to formulate a better program to take the place of our program, I do not think there is any danger of the voters of the United States consenting to any interruption of the course that has brought us so far on the road to recovery."

The third term question found no mention in Farley's address.

"The opposition is bitter and resourceful," Farley continued. "The eminent gentlemen who possess the greatest wealth in this country are hungry for a return to the old conditions by which they dominated the government for their own advantage and profit. They will have the dollars where we have dimes."

"Against a united democracy, our enemies are helpless. x x x"

Four Cars Damaged In Two Collisions

City police officers investigated a dozen traffic accidents over the week-end but only two were of a serious nature. No one was injured in the collisions, however, the officers stated.

Two major accidents occurred within 10 minutes of each other and both were at intersections on Francis avenue. Like the other accidents, they were caused by the slippery condition of the streets, officers said.

The first accident, at 8 a. m., Sunday, happened at the intersection of Francis avenue and Gray street when a car driven by J. T. Taylor was in collision with a 94 Taxi. About 10 minutes later cars driven by Groven Austin and K. H. Warren were in collision at the intersection of Francis avenue and Ballard street.

All four cars had chassis bent, fenders smashed and otherwise badly damaged, police said.

Other accidents were "fender benders," police reported.

Former Army Captain Held In Burglaries

HOUSTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—A 46-year-old former army captain was held in city jail today in connection with several hundred burglaries of fashionable Houston homes during the past four years in which loot valued by police at approximately a quarter million dollars was taken.

The man characterized himself as Houston's "society burglar" who gained considerable notoriety for his operations two years ago.

Police recovered approximately $150,000 worth of loot from the man's garage apartment in Park Place, they announced.

They questioned the man practically all last night and searched for jewelry valued at $11,000 in his career of crime. Eight car loads of loot, including expensive fur coats, diamonds, silverware, rugs and other valuable household articles were hauled from his Park Place home to the Central police station where it was spread out in the office of Detective Chief E. H. Hammond who had charge of the case.

The man confessed orally to the police after first extracting a promise from them that they would, in no way, involve his wife and eight year old daughter in the case, and would not embarrass them in any way.

Police found the man's place jammed with the loot. Chief Hammond said $40,000 worth of jewelry was found in the oven of the kitchen stove. Another assortment of jewelry valued at $11,000 was found in a syrup can hidden under a ladder leading to the attic they said.

Whiskey, rugs, a lawn mower, rifles, a bicycle, typewriters, shotguns, perfume and other stolen articles were stuffed into the place.

Police quoted the suspect as saying he read the society columns for news of the departure of wealthy Houstonians on visits and of weddings in which expensive presents likely would be given, then burglarized the homes mentioned in the news stories.

The man started police by assering the homes of Mayor Oscar C. Fulton and Chief of Police L. C. Holcombe and Chief of Police L. C. Brown were on his list of prospects.

Finns Claim 500 Red Troops Slain

HELSINKI, Feb. 5 (AP)—Finnish forces northeast of Lake Ladoga killed more than 500 Russian soldiers and captured much booty in repulsing three new Russian attacks, the Finnish army declared in today's communique.

Two of the Russian attacks were against island positions; the third was against shore positions on the lake, the communique said.

"Our troops captured another enemy stronghold, killing the majority of the defenders," the communique continued. "The enemy dead numbered over 500. Seven tanks, four guns, large quantities of other arms, more than 30 automobiles of various types and other war materials fell into our hands."

The Finns said that Russian attacks also were repulsed at Summa, on the Karelian Isthmus in the extreme southwest, and Art Markajarvi, on the north near the Arctic circle.

They said that nine Russian planes were known to have been shot down and that four more probably downed in the air war. The attack in the Summa sector occurred yesterday, the communique said.

Red Vessel Taking Copper To Germany

MANZANILLO, Mexico, Feb. 5 (AP)—Authoritative sources described today the trans-shipment of 5,000 tons of copper from United States freighters to a Soviet Russian ship which started for Vladivostok Saturday.

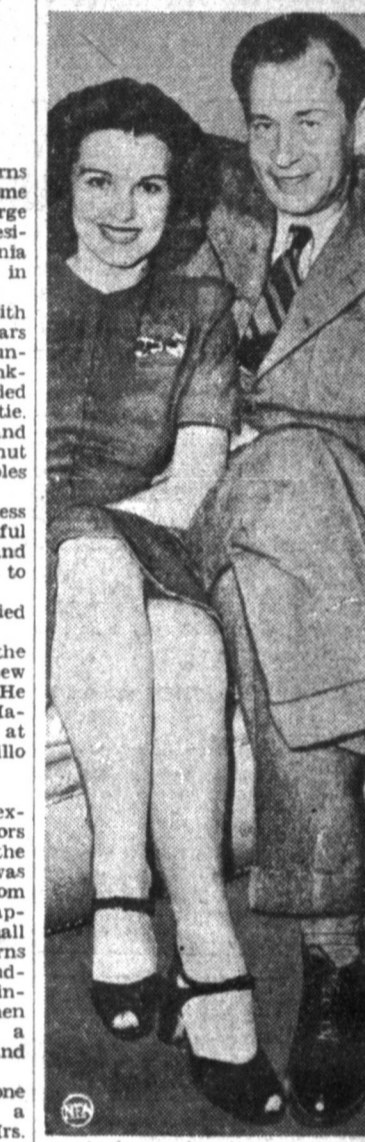

The freighter Mayakovsky, it was asserted, met the American ships in this port last week to effect the transfer.

Along the waterfront, it was rumored, without confirmation, however, that the copper is destined for Germany by way of the trans-Siberia railroad.

War Flashes

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The British minesweeper Sprinx, badly damaged by German air raiders Saturday, sank today as she was being towed toward port in heavy weather. Four officers and 45 men were missing and believed lost.

ROSASHARON WEDS

Dorris Bowden, Rosasharon Joan in the screen "The Grapes of Wrath" comes to a happier ending than the migrant farm girl she portrayed in her movie debut. The 24-year-old actress flew east to wed Nunnally Johnson (with her above) whom she met when he was adapting John Steinbeck's best-seller for the films. They were married yesterday, barely 24 hours after obtaining their license.

Troops Will Meet Tonight To Make Election Plans

Boy Scouts of Troops 4, 16, 20, 22 and 27 are asked to meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Central Baptist church to discuss plans for the Scout week election which will be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the city auditorium.

Scouters of the troops are also urged to attend tonight's meeting. Refreshments will be served according to B. T. Hargis, scoutmaster, and E. E. Johnson, assistant scoutmaster, of troop 24 which will be host at tonight's meeting.

City Attempts To Scrape Mud Away

How to combat the mud that made Pampa's paved streets dangerous for both walking and driving had the street department in a quandary today.

"During the morning it was decided to "blade" downtown streets. The two city maintainers were brought into action in an effort to scrape some of the mud away.

Then came the question of what to do on the North Cuyler street and East Browning avenue hills which were as slick as if coated with ice. Cars equipped with slick tires didn't have a chance to get up the hills.

Finally it was decided to try washing the hills in an effort to make driving safer. But officials decided they'd better wait until the weather forecast was released to make sure that water wouldn't freeze on the hills and make driving even more dangerous.

The washing question was to be settled this afternoon.

Unpaved streets in some sections of the city were almost impassable as were most of the rural roads and unpaved sections of highway.

School buses had to miss some areas because of deep mud and a few children had to miss school today, Supt. L. L. Sone said.

Maverick Will Be Circus Ringmaster

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Mayor Maverick of San Antonio will do top hat and tails to act as honorary ringmaster of the Gainesville community circus, when the unique home talent show opens its eleventh season here April 24 for a three-day engagement.

Maverick is a member of the Circus Fairs Association of America. A circus roundup and homecoming event will be staged by the Chamber of Commerce.

A homecoming parade with Capt. Tom Hickman, former head of the Texas Rangers in charge, will have 15 bands for Texas and Oklahoma colleges and high schools. A queen's coronation and ball, and a Future Farmers fat stock show, will be included.

Justice Black Ill With Cold
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black is in the hospital, suffering from what was described by his office as a "slight cold."

His secretary said Black expected to return to the bench in a few days.

Committeemen Talk Third Term At Party Meet

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Democratic National committee cheered the news today that $250,000 party deficit had been more than wiped out by over $400,000 in receipts from the recent Jackson Day dinners.

The report was submitted by Oliver A. Quayle, Jr., who said that additional collections probably would bring the Jackson Day receipts to $500,000.

Quayle's report led to adoption of a resolution authorizing Chairman James A. Farley to make him treasurer, instead of acting treasurer.

Meeting to select a convention city and possibly a date, the Democratic committee heard from Quayle that if Jackson Day dinner pledges are all paid and a sizable sum is collected from the city obtaining the convention, "then we will be able to carry along our activities up to convention time."

"We will be able to start the presidential campaign without a sizable deficit," he added.

Mrs. Lucretia Grady, California capitolite, reported that San Francisco would bid up to $250,000 for the convention. Philadelphia interests were ready to offer a certified check for $125,000, and it was considered likely that this offer would be increased.

Chicago representatives would only reiterate that they would make a "reasonable offer."

Garner Present
Vice President Garner, an avowed presidential candidate, exchanged greetings with numerous committeemen. There was a sprinkling of New Englanders when Garner answered the roll call, and the Texas, seated on the rostrum arose and bowed slightly.

Farley appointed a resolutions committee composed of David E. Fitzgerald of Connecticut, Lavin Brodick of Kansas and Mrs. William H. Good of New York.

Indications were that selection of the convention date would be left to a subcommittee after the Republicans chose theirs at a meeting here Feb. 6. Speculation on the Democratic date ranged from mid-July to early September.

Opening of bids for the convention city was on the afternoon program, following a routine morning session of the convention.

Hotel lobbies buzzed with political talk, with almost every committee member asking the same question: "Will the President run again?"

Mr. Roosevelt was at his home in Hyde Park, N. Y. He will return tomorrow to greet the committee in a group after all the business is over.

Third Term Favored
Frank McFalls, national committeeman from Indiana and campaign manager for Paul V. McNutt, sounded out Farley on whether the Chief Executive would run, and said he got nowhere. Speculation on a presidential candidate if Mr. Roosevelt does not run.

Mayor Kelly and Patrick A. Nash, Illinois national committeeman, who sponsored the petitions to enter the President's name in the Illinois primary April 9, reiterated that Mr. Roosevelt was their candidate and that they had no second choice.

Adding to the third term sentiment already evinced by committee members from Kansas and Washington state, Charles E. Broughton, member from Wisconsin, told reporters "we're for a third term, not for a second."

Her Name? Hm. We're Not Telling

A yaguarundi or "whistling whistler," kept as a pet by a citizen of Ansonia, Conn., is scolding the neighbors at night and day. No wonder. The yaguarundi is very savage. It so enjoys purrs every time it does something mean and scratchy. What's more, we knew a pet of that sort once upon a time but her name was not a "yaguarundi."

HARVEST GRAINS

BY AN OVERSIGHT, THE NAME OF WENDELL STANLEY, who is a senior and made a grade of 90 or above in two subjects, was omitted from the honor roll last week.

THE STUDENTS OF PAMPA HIGH SCHOOL wish to express their deepest sympathy to Mrs. Lou Roberts, registrar, whose mother passed away last week.

HOME ROOM MOTHERS WILL MEET in the auditorium next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

MISS HELEN MARTIN, MUSIC SUPERVISOR, and A. C. Cox, band director, attended the annual convention of the Texas Music Educators association February 1-3, at Mineral Wells.

NO MEETING OF THE FUTURE HOMEOWNERS CLUB will be held this month. If girls are interested in continuing these meetings, they are urged to tell the sponsors, Mrs. R. H. Sanford and Miss Arlean Patterson.

JACK JOHNSON, ART EDITOR OF THE LITTLE HARVESTER, has been ill for the past week, but prepared his drawing for this issue despite his illness.

SECOND AND THIRD ORDERS OF SENIOR RINGS arrived last Tuesday, said H. E. McCarley.

THE FACT THAT SALT HAS BEEN SPRINKLED on the icy sidewalks and steps around the school shows a courtesy and consideration for the safety of students and teachers which should be greatly appreciated.

STAFF MEMBERS OF THE LITTLE HARVESTER, the annual, and the Junior High Reaper were disappointed over not getting to attend the annual convention of the Panhandle High School Press Association at Canyon last Saturday on account of bad weather and slippery roads.

Unnecessary Waste

"Think now and avoid the rush" seems to be the motto of over one-third of the total enrollment of Pampa High school. Statistics show that 257 of the 684 students failed in at least one subject the first semester. Of these 257 students, 14 actually failed every subject in which they were enrolled, and 44 passed in only one subject. Seventy students failed two subjects while 129 failed only one.

At this rate, students who should graduate in four years will be compelled to spend five or six years in high school. At present there are actually 37 seniors in P. H. S. who have been in high school at least five and some six years. Many of these students will not graduate this spring.

Such a waste of time and money is appalling. Many students could be earning about $50 a month, which would amount to $600 a year. If a student spends two years in school that he might have used working, he wastes approximately $1200. This does not include all the student's expenses while in school. It probably costs at least $10 a month to keep a boy or girl in school. On top of that, it costs the taxpayers about $150 a year to keep each student in high school in Pampa. Think then of the actual cost of failures which cause students to have to spend extra years in school.

Why not let this be a challenge to you to work just a little harder so that you will not have a share in this great waste?

Remedial Reading Offered In Three English Classes

Three English classes, one freshman, one sophomore, and one junior, in the Senior High school have been designated to aid those students who need assistance in reading. Mrs. Hol Wagner, Miss Louise Warren, and Miss Clarine Brabson are the respective teachers of these classes.

Though fundamentals in English will also be stressed in these classes, instead of following the regular course of study, special emphasis will be placed on remedial reading.

Standardized tests in reading were given to all students in both the Junior and Senior High schools last year as the beginning of this program. Follow up tests were given last semester, and many students did special work in reading workbooks during the first term. Last week Iowa Silent Reading tests were given to students known to be having difficulties, to aid teachers in analyzing their weaknesses.

Pampa school officials agree with the principle laid down in the "35 Yearbook of the National Society for the Study of Education" that "If schooling is to contribute more largely in the future than in the past to intelligent self-direction and social progress, it is imperative that children and young people acquire greater independence and efficiency in reading." Special emphasis is now being placed on reading throughout the entire school system.

Extended studies made at the adult level show that from one-third to two-fifths of the adult population of the United States are unable to read, with ease and understanding, material of sixth-grade difficulty.

The broad objectives of reading are to enrich experiences, to broaden interests, to develop appreciation, and to cultivate ideal and appropriate attitudes.

'Battle of Sexes' Assembly Theme Last Wednesday

Imitating the Mollie radio program, a "battle of the sexes" was the main feature of the assembly program last Wednesday. Novelty musical numbers were presented before the rounds.

Bill Miskimins and Jeanne Lively were in charge and conducted the quizzing. On the ladies' side were Betty Plank, Miss Evelyn Gregory, and Charlene Jaynes. Representing the masculine half of school were O. F. Shumaker, Aubrey Green, and Ray Boyles. Judges were Kenneth Carman and Aubrey Steele.

Final scores were 820 for the men and 805 for the ladies. Show passes were presented to the winning mats and candy bars to the ladies.

Co-Eds in Blue Sing
Announcing themselves as "The Co-eds in Blue Sing" Jean Tiemann, Clarabel Jones, and Merlebe Hazard, sang four numbers: "Does Your Heart Beat for Me," "Oh, Willie," "My Cherokee Sweetheart," and "Bye, Bye, Bye" were accompanied by Maxine Holt.

The Phillips brothers, Warner and Roland, entertained with two numbers, "Corina" and "Empty Cyt in the Bunk House." Warner played the guitar, and Roland played both a harmonica and Hawaiian guitar. Claire Dehnert played "When I Grow Too Old to Dream" and "Moonlove" on the saw.

"Tinsing Heroes" Play Duets
Announcing themselves as "The unsung heroes of P. H. S.," Bill Miskimins and Jeanne Lively played three duets on the piano: "Red Wing," "In the Mood," and "It Makes No Difference Now." Vincent Keyes joined in for "Red Wing."

Two tap dance numbers were given by June Marie Amick, accompanied by her mother. In the absence of Jack Johnson, who was ill, Ross Buzzard presided.

Lefors To Box Here Friday Night

Pampa High's boxing team will have their first bout of the season when they meet Lefors here Friday night. Oscar Hinger, boxing instructor has announced. About 15 bouts will be featured.

Lefors boys will have the experience over the Pampa team, as they have been organized several months and have already taken part in a number of tournaments.

Those out for the Pampa team began conditioning only last week. For the present no attempt at selecting a regular team will be made. Mr. Hinger will match his boys with as many Lefors boys as possible for the experience they will gain.

A school team will be chosen later to participate in conference contests. Admission will be charged for the bouts to be held in the local gymnasium at 8 o'clock Friday. Prizes are not been set. Purpose of the admission charge is to pay for equipment recently ordered for the boxing team.

Over $400 worth of boxing equipment has been purchased, including a $165 mat, trunks, shoes, robes, and gloves. As in other sports, equipment will be furnished boys making the school team.

Boys who reported for work-outs were: Billie Stephens, Everett Sparks, Harold Mitchell, Douglas Loveless, Roy Ray, W. C. Pendleton, John Thompson, Leroy Giles, Junior Chesler, Bill West, and Murray McPherson, all of Senior High school. Also present were High boys, Charles Brettnaur and Bill Gise.

Nevin Johnston Elected Rotarian

Nevin Johnston was elected Junior Rotarian for February by the student council. He is a member of the Rotary club in broad jump. Last year he attended the state meet in Austin.

He played on the Gorilla football squad one year, on the Harvester basketball squad one year, and was a member of the track team for two years.

During the two years he was chain carrier for the Harvester football team, he missed only one game.

Improvements Made In Shower Rooms

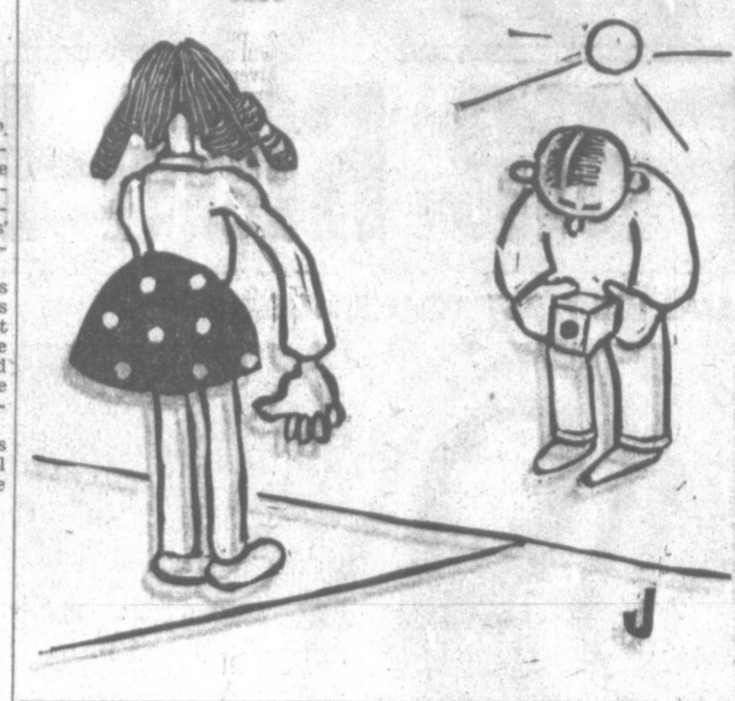

Comfort, cleanliness, and attractiveness of the girls' shower and dressing rooms in the gymnasium have been greatly improved since the installation of matrons to care for these rooms.

Disinfectants are used regularly. Curtains have been hung in the dressing room and hangers supplied for the girls to hang their clothes on while taking gym. A bed has been placed in the dressing room where a person can lie when ill.

The matrons obligingly keep valuables for the girls while they are playing.

Harvesters and Westerners Vie For Big Five Basketball Title

By defeating Lubbock 25 to 18 here Friday night, the Harvesters avenged their 23 to 20 loss to the Westerners a week ago and also became the favored contenders for the Big Five basketball title.

If both Pampa and Lubbock win the rest of their schedule, the two teams will tie for the title. The Harvesters have won four games and lost one, while the Westerners have only three wins and one loss to their credit. The Westerners still have two games to play with Plainview and two with Borger. Only three games remain on the Harvesters' Big Five schedule, two with Borger and one with Amarillo.

Next Friday night the Harvesters will play the Sandies in Amarillo in what is virtually certain to be the crucial game in determining the winner of the Big Five title. Lubbock defeated Amarillo 22 to 18 Saturday night. Only home game on the Harvester schedule for this week is Thursday night with Borger. A defeat by the Bulldogs of course would change the whole picture, and the Harvesters are not taking Thursday's game lightly.

Both the Harvesters and the reserves had three wins and one loss in their credit last week. Two of the Harvester victories were over Panhandle, the other over Lubbock. The Harvesters were defeated by Canyon. The reserves won two games from Panhandle's reserves and one from Canyon, but lost to Lubbock's reserves, the Cowhorns.

From the standpoint of titles involved, most important game of the week was the Harvesters' 25 to 18 victory over Lubbock here Friday night. Against the rough Westerners aggressive game of the season. High point man was Bearden with 8 points, while Terrell and Dunaway each made 6 points.

In Friday's opening game, the reserves lost to Lubbock 19 to 17, reversing their 2-point win over the Cowhorns the previous week.

Saturday night both the Harvesters and the reserves chalked up two victories over the Junior High Reapers last week. Both teams will go to Amarillo next Friday, where the Sophs will play Sam Houston Junior High and the Reapers will play Horace Mann Junior High.

In their second game of the week, the Sophs defeated the Junior High Reapers 32 to 10 Friday afternoon. Leslie Burge and Pat Flanagan tied for high point man for the Sophs with 12 points to their credit. Bill Arthur led the Reapers with 9 points.

Without trouble the Pampa High Sophomores defeated the Pampa Junior High Reapers 49-17 Tuesday afternoon.

The entire Soph's team clicked with three men, Otis Flanagan, and Burge, making 11 points each. Halter, fast breaking little guard, was high point man with 14 points.

Although the first quarter was closely contested, ending 2-1 in favor of the Sophs, the Sophs soon broke ahead to coast with the lead for the remainder of the game. The Reapers had an off day, missing the basket on many set-ups. Their inexperience also showed up against the seasoned play of the Sophs. Tibbits, the Reapers high point man, made 6 points.

Sophomores Defeat Reapers Twice And Retain Leadership

Pampa's Sophomores continued their lead in the Panhandle Junior High Basketball league by chalking up two victories over the Junior High Reapers last week. Both teams will go to Amarillo next Friday, where the Sophs will play Sam Houston Junior High and the Reapers will play Horace Mann Junior High.

In their second game of the week, the Sophs defeated the Junior High Reapers 32 to 10 Friday afternoon. Leslie Burge and Pat Flanagan tied for high point man for the Sophs with 12 points to their credit. Bill Arthur led the Reapers with 9 points.

Without trouble the Pampa High Sophomores defeated the Pampa Junior High Reapers 49-17 Tuesday afternoon.

The entire Soph's team clicked with three men, Otis Flanagan, and Burge, making 11 points each. Halter, fast breaking little guard, was high point man with 14 points.

Although the first quarter was closely contested, ending 2-1 in favor of the Sophs, the Sophs soon broke ahead to coast with the lead for the remainder of the game. The Reapers had an off day, missing the basket on many set-ups. Their inexperience also showed up against the seasoned play of the Sophs. Tibbits, the Reapers high point man, made 6 points.

Sponsor and Eight Members of Hi-Y Attend Convention

Eight members of Hi-Y and their sponsor, J. H. Morehead, Jr., attended the North Texas Older Boys' conference at Wichita Falls this past week-end.

Boys who made the trip are Wayne Coffin, Carl Hills, Mark Bratton, Jack Baker, Ethel Lane, Billy Whitsett, Tom Johnson, and Zade Watkins. They left Pampa Friday morning by school bus and returned yesterday.

Student Council To Sponsor Talks About Vocations

Vocational guidance talks to be given in assembly under the sponsorship of the student council were the chief topic of discussion at the meeting of the council last Tuesday.

Tom Herod, assistant principal, asked the council to name professional bodies to be invited to give these talks. These included lawyers, engineers, doctors, laboratory technicians, auditors, insurance salesmen, and aviators.

Beginning February 7 and continuing until the end of school, these vocational guidance talks will be a regular feature of two assembly programs each month. They will be 15 to 20 minutes in length and students may ask any questions they desire.

Education required, salary, and general points about the business are the main ideas to be discussed in these talks.

The state meeting of the student council to be held at Tyler was also discussed. Bobbie Karr, Bonnie Lee Rose, and Aubrey L. Steele, sponsor, attended the state meeting last year at San Antonio.

Failing Students Subject of Talks At Last P. T. A.

"Problem of the Students Failing" was the discussion taken up in P. T. A. by Principal D. F. Osborne and Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, eighth district president of P. T. A. last Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium.

One cause of failures is that students are going out too much on week nights, Mr. Osborne pointed out. "Someone," he said, "could do a town good turn if he could convince everybody that they should stay home part of the time during the week."

Last semester 14 Senior High school students failed four subjects, 44 failed three subjects, 13 failed two subjects, and 129 failed one subject. Only 54 students made 90 or above in as many as two subjects.

Mrs. Hunkapillar suggested that the problem of students failing be taken up with the student council and the P. T. A. members.

A candle lighting ceremony, read by Mrs. Buri Graham, was held in honor of Founder's Day. Janice Marie Baker, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baker, lighted the memory candle.

Hymns played on the vibraphone by Arthur Nelson, educational director of the First Baptist church, were "Make Somebody Happy Today" and "In the Garden." After the program, Mrs. Claude Lard, president, conducted a short business session, during which a nominating committee was selected to nominate officers for next year.

Following the meeting, the parents visited their children's teachers.

Sport Lites-By LANE

CANYON, Feb. 3—Five schools divided individual contest honors in the Panhandle High School Press Association convention here this afternoon.

New shields were awarded to first place winners from Lubbock, Canyon, Amarillo, White Deer, and Pampa. Rankings were announced as follows:

Best news story—Otis Lane of Lubbock; Grant Shannon, Canyon; Jeanette Nichols, Pampa senior high school.

Feature story—Grant Sherman, Pampa senior high school; Amario, Amarillo; White Deer, Borger; Ella Maud Crow, Panhandle. Editorial—Grace Halbert, Lubbock; Lamar Jacques, Dalhart; Allan DeWorth, White Deer.

General column—Mildred Sturch, Amarillo; Tommie Close, Pampa senior high school; Grant Sherman, Canyon.

Sports story—Bill Hawkins, White Deer; Leon Smith, West Texas High school at Canyon; Charles Lawrence, Amarillo.

Sports column—Bobby Dan Lane, Pampa senior high school; Henry Ray, Borger; Leon Smith, West Texas High school, Canyon. Convention features included two luncheons, a ranch style lunch, guided tour of Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum, and reception-dance given by the West Texas State College press club.

Speakers included Prof. DeWitt Reddick of the University of Texas, B. O'Donnell of Harper's Magazine, and many students. Miss Joan Shoups of Borger, head of the Association, presided over this seventh annual meeting.

CANYON, Feb. 3 (P)—Virginia Biggs of Panhandle was elected president of the Panhandle Press Association at the seventh annual convention today.

Novi Gene Purd of Plainview was named vice-president, and E. W. Woods of Canyon secretary-treasurer.

Debaters To Enter Lubbock Tourney

To represent Pampa High school in a tournament to be held in Lubbock February 16 is the goal of the debaters. The elimination to decide who will go will be held tomorrow night in room 202 at 7 o'clock.

The public is invited to come and hear the debates on the question Resolved: That Texas should adopt a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense.

Four teams, an "A" and "B" boys' team and "A" and "B" girls' team will be selected from the following debaters: Lindsey Boyd, Jack Morehead, Neil McCullough, Steve Jensen, Helen Dudley, Edna Mae Oade, La Vaughn Dixon, Roma Jo Johnson, and Peggy Williamson.

Sone, Osborne, Cabe Attend Principals' Meeting At McLean

Supt. L. L. Sone, Principal D. F. Osborne, E. W. Cabe, Jr., supervisor of instruction, and all school principals in the three counties of Gray, Roberts, and Hemphill attended the Tri-County Principals' meeting at McLean last Friday evening.

Called the three P's, for politics, pleasure, and profit, the meeting is held every month, usually the last Tuesday. Pampa and Lefors were previous hosts to the group, and Canadian is to be the site of the next meeting, to be held in February.

To further the acquaintances of principals and to take up school problems is the purpose of the meetings, said Mr. Cabe.

Junior Play Cast Rehearsing Daily On 'Spendthrift'

Despite lack of previous experience on the stage, members of the cast of the junior play have learned the first act of the three-act comedy, "The Adorable Spendthrift," which will be presented in Gordon J. H. Monahan's about February 24 under direction of Kenneth Carman, dramatics instructor. Rehearsals are being held daily.

Betty Plank, who is to have the leading role, as Sari, looks and sounds the part, said Mr. Carman. "She has picked up the French accent very quickly and has a well modulated voice."

Sari is 22, all adorable and charming, pretty, chic and cultured to her finger tips. She is neither impudent nor flippant, but charmingly less nor ineffectual about Sari. She is thoroughly self-assured. She speaks with a quaint and attractive French accent.

Other members of the cast include Vera von Brunow as Mrs. Alton; Clara Mae Lenn, Mrs. Mason; Patty Paul, Helen; Betty June Green, Gene; Billy Mounts, Harry; Ross Buzzard, J. C. Mason; Melvin Dawson, Leroy; Jack Baker, Bob Brackett; Bert Isbell, P.illard, Marguerite Kirchman, Miss Keyes; Mark Bratton, McWaters; and June Ross, Hodge, Effie. The person to play the part of Perkins has not yet been chosen.

Both juniors and seniors will be given an opportunity to earn the price of their tickets to the Senior banquet by selling tickets to "The Adorable Spendthrift."

Clarendon Takes Five Out of Eight Bouts Wednesday

Clarendon took a return boxing match from the Pampa P. A. boxing team here Wednesday night by winning five of the eight bouts on the program. Two knock-outs gave the 125 paid fans who saw the matches plenty of excitement.

Only one P. A. boxer won his fight. Sloan, 125 pounds, decisioned Reeves, 122 of Clarendon. However, two Pampa boys won exhibition bouts. Loveless, 124, received a technical knock-out over Higgins, 120, in the first round of their scheduled three-round fight. Campbell, a 7-pound Junior High boy, decisioned Blair, 75 pounds.

Four Pampa boys lost their bouts by decision, one by a knock-out. Jack Morris, 148, was knocked out in the second round by Morrow, 142. Stanley, 120, was decisioned by Cannon, 120; McQuetter, 133, decisioned Roy, 135; Hollis, 138, was decisioned by Hill, 140; and Johnson, 113, received a decision over West, 114.

Oscar Hinger, school boxing instructor, refereed the matches. Judges were Paul Hill, C. E. McGrew, and Jack Davis, Junior High physical education teacher.

District Supervisor Visits Classes Here

Pascal Buckner, district supervisor of industrial education, made a routine visit to Pampa, January 26, giving information and training necessary to improve the industrial education program here.

Pampa High school teachers who participate in this work are B. G. Jones, J. H. Morehead, Jr., Charles Zenobia McFarlin, and Harry Kenley.

You're Not Seeing Double, Just Looking At Twins

Have you ever walked down the hall and rubbed your eyes to make sure you weren't seeing double? More than likely you just saw Velma Faye and Thelma May Osborne.

They are only one of the three sets of twins in Pampa High, but they resemble more closely than the others and are therefore more quickly noticed.

Velma and Thelma look so much alike that it is difficult to know which you are talking to; in fact, they don't even know themselves when they have their pictures taken. Their sister has to tell them which is which. You never see one that you don't see the other. If you hear two people laughing just alike, you know it's Velma and Thelma. If you see two girls dressed exactly alike, it's the twins. They always dress identically and like it.

Even with all their resemblances, they have some differences. Thelma is left handed. Their zodiac sign is the same, but Velma weighs 94 pounds and is 5 feet, 3 3/4 inches tall, while Thelma weighs 87 pounds and is 5 feet, 2 1/2 inches tall. Their birthdays is June 18, and they are 16 years old. Both are seniors.

Betty and Billy Mounts are 16. They resemble somewhat in features, though you probably would never think of their being twins without having it called to your attention. When asked if she sometimes wished Billy were a girl, Betty quickly answers "No." They go places together, don't fuss much. Billy plays on the Harvester basketball squad, and sister Betty is proud of him.

Ray and Faye Redman are another set of brother and sister twins. Black-haired Ray is taller than Faye, who has light brown hair. They are 17, go lots of places together, but Ray admits he often wishes Faye were a boy.

Pampa High has dozens of sets of brothers and sisters who are not twins, and even uncles and nieces and aunts and nephews attending school together. You'll hear more about some of these later.

'We, The Women' By Ruth Millett Adjudged Best Column In Field By Newspaper Women's Club

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Ruth Millett, author of the daily column, "We, The Women," written for NEA Service and The Pampa News, has been awarded the annual prize of the New York Newspaper Women's club for the best column of critical comment and opinion.

The award, $100, was presented by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at the club's annual Front Page ball. It was made on the basis of the general superiority of the column during 1939, and not for any single one of Miss Millett's daily articles.

Miss Millett's column was selected as the best of its kind in competition with entries from virtually every other newspaper woman writer in the country. At the same time, three other similar awards were made in other classifications.

Miss Millett is the youngest columnist of her standing in newspaper writing. She was graduated from the University of Iowa in 1934. But she brings to her daily column a wealth of experience, making it one of the most popular for women ever written.

She is a Texan by birth. Her home is in Memphis, Tenn. For the first two years following her graduation she was a member of the faculty of Northwest Missouri State Teachers college. For a time she was editor of a radio program, "Secrets of Happiness."

Her next effort, jointly with Miss Stephenson, was the column "Mind Your Manners," which she still prepares daily. After joining NEA she began "We, The Women," a radio program, which she has since expanded for more than 500 papers.

Frankness and youthful viewpoint distinguish Miss Millett's work. She draws much of her material from the real-life experiences of the day.

Miss Millett is not pessimistic about American youth. She finds them better than they're pictured. But she knows their weaknesses and when she sees them she calls a spade a spade.

Miss Millett likes tennis, stray dogs, and brand new hats. "She likes the challenge of her daily column best."

Helen Worden, who started work on the old World in 1926, is one of NEA's star serial writers. Her first story for NEA was "Date With Danger," inside drama of a radio clerk underworld in Gotham. Her next will be "Captain's Daughter," dramatic story of a New York barge girl's life.

Recently, as special writer for NEA, she wrote articles on the romance of Manhattan cafe society as a woman reporter sees it.

Marian Young, another NEA Service and The Pampa News columnist and special feature writer, won an award in the New York Newspaper Women's competition two years ago.

Forward Bible Class Will Have Party Tuesday

McLEAN, Feb. 5.—Forward Bible class members of Webb met in the home of Mrs. E. E. Getting recently.

EXPENSIVE EYEBROW

An eye for an eye may be a fair deal, but Vivian Wildman of Los Angeles wants $50,000 for the eyebrow she lost in an auto accident. Since the crash, in which she also fractured her right foot, the photographic model has worn only a reasonably accurate facsimile of an eyebrow, painted on daily with cosmetic pencil.

New Spring Hat Styles Will Not Frighten Beau

NEW YORK—New hats for the end of winter and early spring drop into two categories. The first includes the most elemental kind of head covering (steel-caps, helmets, turbans); the second a variety of straws and felts which are a great deal less casual, essentially feminine, but not mad. Every woman will want hats of both types.

The cloche, that deep-crowned old favorite which was popular during and immediately after the first World War, has been revived. Tricornes are importantly featured, with the slightly wider ones more prominently shown than the traditional narrow kind.

In the Lincoln collection, old-fashioned bonnets, be-ribboned and be-trilled, catch the eyes of customers who want formal afternoon and dinner hats. Madame Nicole shows also salons in every possible size, wide-brimmed picture hats, mushroom shapes, and an occasional turban. There's nothing casual about her turbans, however. Intricately twisted and tied, they are made of luxurious fabrics in exclusive patterns.

SPRING WILL BE COLORFUL. Madame Nicole likes, bright blue ribbons against vivid straw; pale blue with pale pink; burnt orange veiling on aqua straw. A smart cloche of pale-golden beige straw is finished with chenille dot veiling—the dots in a tone which for all the world resembles the coat of a sleek, graceful, yellow Persian cat.

On a powder blue sailor is poised a spray of pink roses which appear to have been freshly plucked. On a black picture hat there's a giant white-camellia with one petal in camellia pink. Yards of black veiling, fetchingly tied, trim a white sailor of shiny straw. A small, old-fashioned bonnet, to be worn low and straight across the forehead, is covered with ribbon bows in a profusion of colors. And there's a mistrustful bow on a royal blue straw turban.

Talbot shows a tiny, black skull-cap with a stiffened, circular face veil. Brevete does stocking-caps with tasseled ends that serve as scarfs. Despat makes simple slopsh-felts for day wear. Sully shows square, thick-looking crowns on wide-brimmed hats. Talbot has bel-

Tourists Vacate Vera Cruz After Cafe Strike Begins

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Feb. 5 (AP)—The gayety of Vera Cruz' famous pre-lenten carnival today was conspicuously dampened by a strike which stopped service in all the city's bars, restaurants, hotels and cafes.

Thousands of tourists and out-of-town Mexican visitors were compelled to prepare and serve their own meals if they expected to eat. The result was they were deserting the city as rapidly as possible.

The strikers walked out after rejecting an offer of a 15 per cent wage increase.

Clean Skin Rated Prime Beauty Asset

Almost any woman past her teens can remember the days when styles in feminine make-up were as much alike as a set of mittens. The average complexion looked as if it might have been dipped in flour, then stamped with bright pink discs. Later came an era of rather savage-looking make-up when rouge and mascara and lipstick seemed to be applied with a heavy and indiscriminate hand.

Today, make-up is much more subtle. One has only to glance at any assembly of women, particularly in cities and towns, to see scores of charming faces, done in nature's best manner. Their attractiveness lies in the natural glow of good health and cleanliness, plus careful cosmetic accents to tone up good features and turn attention away from defects.

According to modern standard, of what constitutes a good complexion, relatively little fundamental complexion beauty comes out of a bottle or jar. Lovely skin comes first of all from such simple homely things as sane diet, fresh air, rest, and bathing. As for local care of the complexion, nothing has ever superseded that good old-fashioned treatment—frequent washing with soap and water and drying with clean towels.

Knowing that fresh, clear skin is the greatest of all beauty assets, the modern woman studies her face with the aid of a magnifying mirror in bright daylight. In this way she can readily see any blemishes that might detract from the healthy scrubbed-clean look so much in favor today.

Mrs. Davis Named Club Honoree At Tea Given At Church

Teachers of the High Junior department of First Baptist church and Mmes. A. L. Primmore, T. D. Alford, and J. J. Simmons were hostesses at a tea in the church recently honoring Mrs. O. A. Davis who is moving to LeFors to make her home.

Teachers in the department are Mrs. W. A. Breining, Mrs. Floyd Yeager, Mrs. M. P. Downs, Harvey Anderson, Clyde Martin, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. John Jett, Miss Elaine Croud, D. B. Jameson, and Mrs. Robert Carr.

Decorating the tea table were red streamers, tiny hearts, and a Valentine tree. Red geraniums were arranged in the room.

Numbers on the program were a solo by Mrs. C. Gordon Bayless, a reading by Mrs. Meri Coday, and a duet by Arthur Nelson and Mrs. N. B. Ellis. Mrs. M. P. Downs who gave a resume of the history of the department in appreciation of the work done by Mrs. Davis, presented the edicts to the honoree.

Mrs. J. J. Simmons poured spiced tea which was served with cake and candy hearts.

Attending were Mmes. A. L. Primmore, Rupert Orr, N. C. Wilson, F. E. Leech, C. L. McKinney, Ella Brake, T. D. Alford, C. E. Winningham, C. Gordon Bayless, Meri R. Coday, L. M. Salmon, G. H. Centennial Study Club Has Debate At Recent Meeting

WHITE DEER, Feb. 5.—An extemporaneous debate on the subject, "Resolved, that the kitchen has more influence on the home than the living room," was the feature of the program at a meeting of the Centennial Study club recently at the home of Mrs. J. L. Harsh.

The affirmative side of the question was upheld by Mrs. Glenn Davis and Mrs. E. H. Grimes; the negative by Mrs. M. H. Kuykendall and Mrs. Paul Kennedy. Decision of the judges, Mesdames Eliza Horn, R. C. Travis, and V. D. Crumpecker, favored the negative. Mrs. E. A. Thompson was program chairman.

Other members present were Mesdames C. B. Martin, Neal Edwards, and L. C. O'Neal.

Club Has Study On School Citizenship

County Wide 4-H club members met Saturday afternoon in the county agent's office.

In discussing the main topic, "Citizenship and Behavior at School," questions asked were what do you do when new boys and girls come to school, when for some reason you fail to prepare your home work, when you are not elected to a class office for which you have been nominated, and when you hold a class office or other responsible position where you have to make decisions and choices?

The highest score was 75 which was made by Margaret Rogers. The girls, who scored themselves, plan to score themselves again in November for improvement.

Mrs. Kelley gave a short discussion on the care of baby chicks by the county-agent method.

Those present were Doris Smith, Mary Fern Lewis, Thelma Jean Smith, Ila Ridner, Margaret Rogers, Mae Nelson, Lucille Nelson, Minnie Bell Williams, Mrs. O. C. Smith, sponsor, and Mrs. Julia E. Kelley.

Waffle Supper Of Legion Postponed

On account of February 16 being the annual "Hello, America" program of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at which time a nation-wide radio program will be broadcast at 10:30 p. m., the waffle supper of the American Legion has been postponed.

The supper had been planned as a courtesy to members of the American Legion auxiliary and had been set for February 15. As some of the World War veterans are members of both organizations, it was decided it would not be convenient to hold one event on the day following the other. The American Legion hut will be the location for both the waffle supper and the V. F. W. program.

Members of the local V. F. W. post will meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the hut to plan their part in the "Hello, America" hour.

Build-Up Good News For Suffering Women

Much of women's periodic distress may be unnecessary! Many who suffer from headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain, other symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition are helped by CARDUI.

Main way it helps relieve periodic distress is by increasing appetite and flow of gastric juice. Thus it often aids digestion; helps build strength, energy, resistance to periodic disturbances.

Others find help for periodic discomfort this way: Start a few days before and take CARDUI until "the time" has passed. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years.

Cutting Bigger Tax Slices

It has been no secret that real estate valuations during the past 10 years have fallen off consistently, year by year. To make up the deficiencies in the tax yield, municipalities have generally been forced to choose between two courses: increasing the basic tax rate or trimming down expenditures.

For a long time, cities have felt that they are entitled to a bigger share of state-collected taxes than they are getting. Particularly would they like a more handsome slice of gasoline taxes, which nowadays represent a pretty good portion of total taxes taken from citizens.

According to a report of the American Municipal Association, cities in at least 25 states are pledged to do their damndest to get more of these revenues during 1940. In addition, most cities have pledged themselves to strive for more home rule, less supervision by the state government.

Apportioning state tax money to communities is always a ticklish job. If the money is handed back in proportion to the amount of taxes paid by residents of a thriving community, other cities will complain.

Under any circumstances, the state government is not likely to feel amenable to relaxing supervision over management of funds re-allocated to the city by the state.

As a matter of fact, state supervision of accounting methods increased rather than declined last year. In five states—Connecticut, Kentucky, Minnesota, New Hampshire and Wyoming—more state auditors were sent in to look over the shoulders of local officers.

City officials argue that the re-allocation of state taxes is not a gift to the city but rather money that should rightfully be re-distributed to the cities whose citizens paid the taxes.

Meanwhile, highway officials and groups of organized motorists are pressing their fight to keep gasoline revenue exclusively for highway improvement. The motorists, they argue, pay these taxes so roads may be maintained in good condition and so that new ones can be built.

The tax picture, year by year, becomes more complex with levies overlapping and pyramiding. New forms of taxation are added constantly, further confusing the picture.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The most interesting political question here right now is: How long is Paul V. McNutt going to go on taking it?

For weeks the silver-haired federal security administrator has had to stand for a rare showing-around from the New Deal group. The game was sort of unofficial, so to speak, until President Roosevelt vetoed the Jenkins bill to reimburse Ohio pension funds from the federal treasury.

Since it was known that the "inner circle" group here dislikes McNutt intensely, and since this was followed by strong hints from the White House that Secretary of State Hull was the favored candidate, this almost (though not quite) added up to definite repudiation of McNutt by FDR.

Then the half-billion-dollar Wagner health program was deflated by the President, and a modest little hospital-building scheme was put up in its place. This was a hard pill for Senator Wagner, but it was equally tough for McNutt, who was building high hopes for this program.

Shortly after that it became known that Internal Revenue agents were looking into the income tax affairs of McNutt and his close political associates in Indiana.

As a matter of fact, evidence that was brought to the Treasury Department left the department no choice but to make an investigation; nevertheless, there were plenty of people here to interpret the action as an administration-approved attempt to smear McNutt.

There were little things, too; things that don't get into the papers, but that indicate that someone in Washington is out to damage the man... like the banquet of the supper club a few days ago, where all the supposed or avowed candidates were present and were subjected to razzing.

Explaining Laissez Faire

Most reformers do not even know the meaning of laissez faire when they use it. They use it synonymously with anarchy, no law, no rule.

Frederic Bastiat, in his book, "Harmonies of Political Economy" explains what laissez faire really means. I quote:

"The truth, it is difficult to understand why people should keep repeating such commonplaces as this: 'Political Economy is an optimist, as far as existing facts are concerned; and affirms that whatever is, is right. At the sight of what is evil, as at the sight of what is good, Economists are content to exclaim, Laissez faire.' Optimists with reference to existing facts! Then we must be ignorant that the primitive condition of man is poverty, ignorance, the reign of brute force!

When we say laissez faire, we surely mean, allow these laws to act, not, allow these laws to be disturbed. According as we conform to these laws or violate them, good or evil is produced; in other words, men's interests are in harmony, provided right prevail, and services are freely and voluntarily exchanged against services.

"HE TAUGHT THEM AS ONE HAVING AUTHORITY AND NOT AS THE SCRIBES" When we hear so many conflicting statements explaining the teachings of Jesus and the ideas that will return good-will to men and prosperity, one wonders what is meant by speaking as one with authority, as Matthew said Jesus spoke.

One who speaks with authority is one who speaks in harmony with natural laws and does not stress action out of harmony with principle. One speaking as one having authority is one who knows his subject and is not offended when a question is asked. When speaking with authority, one does not side-track questions but invites questions, as the Socratic method is the quickest and easiest way to transmit an idea from one person to another.

None of our politicians speak as one with authority because they do not know their subject and cannot answer questions, so cannot naturally speak with authority. They speak as scribes, evading and promoting their own egoism and importance and aggrandizement.

Jeffrey Lynn and Ann (Oomph) Sheridan, a clinch is just a job to them.

"HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5.—Behind the screen: Hearing that Ann Sheridan was working in the still gallery at Warners, I dropped in to rest my eyes and found her—in one of those black evening gowns—waiting to do some "clinch stuff" with Jeffrey Lynn.

"You'd think that no man past the age of three could be late for such a chore, but Mr. Lynn was. When he finally showed up, he and Miss Sheridan walked over to a brightly illuminated couch with a let's-get-this-over-with briskness and went into a conventional embrace.

"Hurry up, you lugs; I'm due over at wardrobe right now," said Miss Sheridan through parted, expectant lips. The cameras clicked some more, and the couple relaxed.

JEFF'S IMPATIENT TO GET IT OVER While the actor sat on the couch, Miss Sheridan wriggled around so that she reclined in his arms. She registered rapture. His possessive clasp looked like a title illustration for "Heaven Can Wait."

You and Your Nation's Affairs WE SHOULD RETURN TO A GOLD STANDARD By WALTER E. SPAHR Professor of Economics, New York University

Congress should act now to restore our currency structure to a sound gold coin basis at the present rate of $35 per fine ounce of gold.

They only let the inconvertible currency depreciate, but they sold the dollar at a discount in the international money markets in order to cheapen it in terms of other currencies.

They provided for greenbackism and bimetallicism, an unparalleled supply of foreign silver as a consequence of which they forced China off the silver standard, using the Mexican currency structure diluted the currency of the United States with a huge supply of over-valued silver and constructed vaults at West Point, New York, in which to hoard the metal, the use of which was not clear.

They raised the price of gold so high that this price, along with other factors, caused an inflow of gold exceeding any other in the history of the world had ever seen. They built vaults at Fort Knox, Kentucky, in which to hoard the gold, and were unable to explain its usefulness there or the use to which they proposed to put it.

They deprived the American people of the price of gold, living here instead an inconvertible paper money and an over-valued silver, while allowing payments in gold to the foreigner.

They endeavored their administration of the currency and fiscal affairs of the American people by leaving to their successors in office the chaotic monetary and fiscal situation outlined above.

The question now is this: In which party will be found the leadership that will appreciate this opportunity and fulfill its responsibility to the people?

Sports Writer Jinx Tucker Sets Own Column In Type

By JACK KRUEGER
Associated Press Staff

A galaxy of picturesque figures keeps Texas newspapering from becoming dull and in that company Jinx Tucker, who's one-man whirlwind must be rated a headliner. That reflection came to mind the other day as we read Jinx's sports section in the Waco Times-Herald.

In one of his two columns (sometimes you can see three of his by-lines on a single page) he was characteristically taking the hide off some tedious fellow who wrote in to complain that the Texas Aggies played a sissy schedule last football season. Though the football season was (happily, we think) long buried, Jinx took off the gloves and let the Aggie detractors have it. "Throwing in decorative little darts like 'sore head,' 'narrow-minded,' and 'prejudiced,'" Jinx proved how utterly mistaken was this enlightened fellow. The wind-up of the column was typical Tucker-ana: "He is to be commended on being ashamed to sign his name."

Texas sports writers generally appreciate how that fellow must have felt, for Tucker down through the years has been laying into them too. Jinx gets fire into his stuff because he avoids the usual routine of putting his copy through a typewriter and past a copy-reader and head writer. He sits down at a linotype machine and, composing as he goes along, sets his stuff into metal type. He holds a union card as a linotyper, usually does a full trick at that job and sets out his sports page in between. So he couldn't be the little man who wasn't there. Some years back during an important football game in Temple the officials, players and half the fans suddenly realized the quarter was lasting entirely too long. They looked around for the timekeeper, who seemed to have disappeared. While time was awastin' and things on the field came to a confused standstill, someone finally spotted Jinx Tucker far down near the end zone, peering intently at the ground and walking toward the officials who came panting up to him. Jinx, the timekeeper, laconically explained, "Heck," he said, "was timing it down considerably. 'I've lost my doggone stopwatch.'"

Hoover Felt Very Low Day He Was Booped

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—If you think you felt badly, Mr. Gus Q. Baseball Fan, when you booped former President Herbert Hoover in the 1931 World Series, take Mr. Hoover's word for it. Hoover's feeling anywhere near as low as he was that afternoon in Philadelphia.

Breaking a nine-year silence, the ex-president told the folks at the 17th annual dinner of the New York Baseball Writers' association last night how he felt to receive a large load of the "Bronx cheer." His remarks shared interest with the general theme of the writers' show, which took varied humorous and "ribbing" raps at:

(1)—The hoped-for breaking-up of the New York Yankees, so "the rest of us" can have a chance.

(2)—The efforts of Judge Kene-saw M. Landis to wipe out "cover-up" activities in the maneuvering of up-and-coming minor league players, such as prompted his recent edict declaring some 90 performers for the Detroit Tigers and affiliated clubs free agents, and

(3)—The "nap" Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati catcher, took at home plate in last fall's World Series.

It was Hoover's first public statement on how he felt when, as president, he stepped to his box in Shibe park during the Athletics-Cardinals series of '31, and was greeted with jeers.

"You know," he explained, "there were a number of thirsty people present with no patience for constitutional process."

"But when they greeted me with more than their usual delicacy when I entered the grand-stand, I was really peeved, because I was probably the only man there who obeyed the law and had been thirsty for 11 years."

The writers presented Bucky Walters, Cincinnati pitcher, with a plaque as "the player of the year" and Ed Barrow, Yankees' president, with a trophy for "meritorious service" to baseball over a period of years.

Oliver Hopes To Win Top Money In Winter Circuit

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 5 (AP)—It may be the brassiness of youth, but Young Ed Oliver, Hornell, N. Y. professional, has high hopes of topping the money winners who travel golf's golden winter circuit.

Winner of two consecutive tournaments, the 23-year-old star feels he is "hot" and with any kind of luck in the Texas open and remaining southern play, he can hop from fifth to top position.

The sum of $971 separates him from the leader, Jim Demaree, Houston, Tex., and in between are such stars as Lawson Little, Breton Woods, N. H., Clayton Hearner, Linville, N. C., and Ben Hogan, White Plains, N. Y.

Although he is a sophomore with the professional troupe, Oliver proved yesterday, with his burst of golfing genius on the final 18 holes of the $3,000 Phoenix open, that he had what it takes.

Trailing at the 36th, he opened up with a scintillating attack, including eight birdies, to lead Hogan, who already was at the clubhouse receiving congratulations on a victory. Oliver's score for the 54 holes was 205 and Hogan's 206.

Oliver's victory netted him $700 and Hogan got $450 by finishing second. Clayton Hearner, Linville, N. C., and Leonard Dodson, Kansas City, tied for third with 207. Each received $315.

Scouts Ignore Player Who Broke Record

By RUSS NEWLAND
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Did you know Scouts of the 16 major league baseball clubs passed up a draft-tagged player who last season cracked a Pacific league record of 26 years standing?

The player is Brooks Holder, San Francisco Seals outfielder. He hit 24 triples last season. The old record was 23, established jointly in 1913 by Ivan Howard and Earl Maggett of the Los Angeles club and tied in 1923 by Pete Schneider of Vernon.

In 173 games Holder hit for an average of .314. He knocked in 87 runs, had 89 bases on balls, stole 14 bases, hit 16 sacrifices, five home runs and 34 two-baggers.

Young, useful and fast, Holder could have been had for $7500. Charlie Graham, president of the Seals, was more surprised over the fact Holder wasn't drafted than he would have been if Dominic Dimagla hadn't been sold.

The case of Holder recalls to Graham those of two earlier Coast league stars. One was Ray "Big" Kramer, who pitched for Oakland for ten years in full view of a parading army of big league talent scouts.

It remained for Joe Devine, on his first assignment as a Pittsburgh scout, to pick up Kramer. The big right hander helped the Pirates win a pennant and was valuable for years, meanwhile aiding the rookie Ivory Hunter Devine (now a Yankee expert) establish a reputation.

Case No. 2 involves Curt Davis, who pitched five years for the Seals in colorless but decidedly effective fashion. Finally drafted by the lowest club in the National league—Philadelphia—he became the twirling star of the Phillies.

North Carolina still has 42 covered bridges in use.

Moseley Elected League President

LONGVIEW, Feb. 5 (AP)—C. P. Moseley of Jacksonville, newly elected president of the East Texas league, took over the duties of office today.

His election was unanimous yesterday after seven ballots on the previous Sunday resulted in a tie between Moseley and Walter Morris of Fort Worth.

Under a new plan adopted by club owners, the team leading the league on July 4 will play stars selected by sports writers from the seven other teams in the league. Formerly the leading north and south teams played but the south teams had registered repeated victories.

Clubs this year, the owners decided, will carry four rookies, eight "limited" service players and three veterans.

Modern Hurlers Lazy, Says Ruel

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—While practically everybody else believes Joseph Louis Barrow merely is resuming his onetime major series in his 15-round match with Arturo Godoy at the Garden, Feb. 9, Joseph Jacobs says he would not be surprised if the Chilean won the championship.

What makes this worth printing is that there is no better opinion than that of Joe Jacobs when the little man with the big cigar is a disinterested party.

"Russell the Mistle takes considerable pride in his pugilistic prognostications, which rarely turn out to be incorrect," Jacobs is well qualified to speak. He twice sent Max Schmeling against Joe Louis. . . stood pop-eyed as the German warrior split knockouts with the Negro.

He twice seconded Tony Galento against Godoy. . . saw the Jersey barkeep out-roughed and out-punched on each occasion.

JACOBS GIVES GODOY HIGH RECOMMENDATION

"This Godoy guy," asserts Jacobs, "can take a wallop as good as anybody I ever put my bulbs on, and that goes for Johnny Risko, Paulino Uzcudun and other famous shock absorbers."

"He smacks pretty good, too, and we all know Louis can't take a sock any too well."

"I wouldn't go out on the limb to the extent of picking Godoy to win, but I have an idea the South American is going to give the Brown Bomber a real tough battle for seven or eight rounds, and I wouldn't be a bit surprised if he came down in front, and I don't mean on his face."

"Anything can happen in a heavyweight fight."

Godoy has an awkward style which makes it difficult to hit him squarely.

Here Jacobs has a pleasant thought.

"Louis may break a hand on Godoy's head," he concludes.

Michael Szwajc Jacobs, the promoter, and the Louis camp do not appear greatly worried, however.

Cronin To Put Each All-Star In Lineup

BOSTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Joe Cronin, Boston Red Sox manager, who has been named to lead the American league entry in this year's all-star game, said tonight he would break with precedent by giving every player chosen for the "dream team" a chance to get into the lineup.

A CAN OF TOMATOES!

Did you ever "plug" a watermelon? If so, what did that little upside-down pyramid mean when you cut it out of the melon's rind? It meant protection. With it, you could make sure you were getting what you were paying for—a good, ripe watermelon.

In most purchases, of course, you can't take that precaution. You can't, for example, cut into a can of tomatoes . . . or a box of tapioca . . . to see what's inside. But you can still protect yourself when you go to market:

You can buy familiar, advertised brands!

ARMAMENTS OF ECONOMIC RE-EDUCATION - WHICH? By JOHN RUSTGARD

These are some of the debasing economic vagaries which can be dislodged, at least from leading minds; and they must be dislodged to give the world succor from wars and armament races. Intelligent people can be taught to see that from the economic point of view it is immaterial whether we are at war or not.

SERIAL STORY

THE CAPTAIN'S DAUGHTER

BY HELEN WORDEN

Copyright, 1940, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY: Marie tries to recapture her lost romance with Tommy, but the thought of Dan being intruding, annoys her. Marie is angry when she reads a glowing newspaper account of Dan's fight with Tommy.

CHAPTER XIII

DAN couldn't make head nor tail of his father's phone call. What, in heaven's name, did he mean, Dan asked himself over and over when he yelled, "You'll not marry that blithering bareheaded daughter if I kin live to prevent it!"

Dan was still in the glow of the reconciliation he and his father had before. Mike Donovan would, when the telephone call came, Dan knew enough not to question Mike when he was in a mood like that. He also knew that no matter what his father said, he was going to marry Marie La Porte.

Instead of going out he waited for Mike to come back, festively nursing his souvenirs of last night's fight. He wanted to learn what had happened to make him change his mind so violently about Marie. When he didn't return he phoned the office, but Mike wasn't there. Then he phoned Varnet's, but they told him Marie had gone for the day. He could stand this no longer. Grabbing his hat and coat, he dashed for the door.

"I don't know when I'll be back," he called to an astonished line.

Easing his hat on to avoid the bruises, he hailed a taxi. "Pier Six, East River," he told the driver. Impatiently he watched the street signs as the car sped south. "We're only at 50th. Step on it!"

"We'll either land in the morgue or jail, sir," the cabman answered. "If I go any faster."

WITH a grudging nod Dan settled back in the car, his thoughts leaping ahead. He would see Marie at the barge, they would be married tonight. After all, what was the use of waiting when you'd found the girl you wanted. He loved her!

"Here we are, sir." The driver's words interrupted his thoughts. "Not so bad. We made that in 20 minutes."

Dan handed him a $5 bill. "Keep the change!" He jumped out of the cab and raced down the pier, then stopped short. He didn't even know which barge it was that Marie's father owned. She had taken him to it last night, but it had been dark and he hadn't paid any attention to his surroundings. "Where does Marie La Porte live?" he inquired of an old fellow sitting on the rim of the pier.

The man stared at him with astounded eyes. This was the second time today he had been asked to direct the way to the La Porte barge. Something must be up. Bat La Porte had been fit to be tied over the first caller. Would he treat this second guy in the same fashion?

"That's the barge," the old man said, thumbing at the Molly. "You can't miss her. She's got the whitest sides and the brightest green shutters of any boat tied up here. He looked dubiously at Dan's battered face. "But Bat La Porte isn't in the best of temper today. If yer errand can wait, I advise ye to postpone it. Mrs. Bat had to haul her man in when the last visitor left. Bat wanted to kill 'im."

Dan nodded his thanks but ignored the advice. He was thoroughly enjoying the spring sunshine and the quaint colony of barges. As he strolled toward the Molly he idly wondered whom it was that Bat had been in such a stew over.

Perhaps it was Tommy Ryan, back again to see Marie. He squared his jaw and moved with more determination. Even if he wasn't around and didn't love Marie, he thought, he'd hate to see her waste her life on a guy like that Tommy Ryan—why, he was nothing but a big lump of beef. He couldn't possibly appreciate anything as fine and beautiful as Marie.

The tide was rising and the Molly's deck lay above the pier. Clearing the level between it and the dock, he strode across to the hatchway. It was open.

"Is Marie La Porte in?" he called down. "This is Dan Donovan."

AT his question an apparent earthquake took place in the La Porte cabin. A chair overturned, something that sounded like a table with dishes on it crashed. He heard an exasperated woman's voice, which he recognized as Mrs. La Porte's. "Bat, what in the name of the Lord are you doing now?"

"Deed you hear that, Nanette?" Bat demanded, jumping from his chair and pushing everything about him aside in an effort to clear the distance to the hatchway in one step. "That racketeer Donovan's boy is here now. The idiot!"

He bounded up the tiny flight of steps, poking his head through the hatchway into Dan's face. "Get off this boat," he screamed. "Our papa tells me Marie isn't good enough for you."

"But, Mr. La Porte," protested

Dan, "Dad couldn't mean that, especially when I—"

"Don't you say another word," yelled Bat, shaking a fist under Dan's bruised nose. "Your papa, he say my girl has no social standing because she live on a barge. I'll tell you right now, she better than you—a waster. Now get out!"

Mrs. La Porte pushed her way past her husband, a spot of color on each high cheek-bone. Shoving Bat's face aside, she turned to Dan.

"Why did you want to see my girl?"

"Because I want to marry her."

"TENSE with emotion, Bat picked up his wife and sat her down in a chair close to the hatchway. "You keep quiet," he ordered. "These is my business now." He looked up at Dan. "So you want to marry my girl. Well, sir, if it is any consolation to you," he snapped his fingers in Dan's face, "my daughter will never marry you. As I have made mention before, she will marry one of her own kind when the time comes."

Already a wreck from last night's fight and ordeal in jail, and his father's phone call, Dan lost what vestige of control he had. "I won't believe that unless Marie tells me herself. Certainly not you," he shouted.

"Why do you come here looking for Marie at this time of day?" put in Mrs. La Porte suddenly. "Because they told me at Varnet's that she had gone."

Mrs. La Porte stared at him. "But Marie isn't here!" she protested. "What's happened to her?" She caught Bat's arm. "Did you hear that?" she screamed. "You've all nagged the poor girl so she's probably killed herself."

She rocked back and forth in her chair sobbing.

"Now don't get excited, Nanette," Bat coaxed, his rage of a few minutes before entirely gone. "We will find her." He patted her on the back. "The trouble is with these young fools."

His face brightened. "I have an idea. Maybe he knows more than we do."

He started up the steps again to the hatchway. "These young man will help me find her. Won't you, Mr. Donovan?"

But there was no answer. Dan had gone. Bat climbed out on deck, shading his eyes with his hands as he stared toward South street. He was Dan, racing down the pier.

"Where you goin'?" Bat yelled. "To find Marie," Dan shouted back.

Balkan Nations Extend Entente

BELGRADE, JUGOSLAVIA, Feb. 5 (AP)—Rumania, Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia have extended their entente for seven years, pledging continuance of their present neutral status "so as to preserve this part of Europe from the trials of war."

Ending a three-day conference last night, Balkan entente diplomats set out for their capitals, each determined to work out relations with larger powers and one another on an individual basis.

The conference, called to seek concrete ways of barring war from southeastern Europe, was believed by most foreign observers to have failed to unite the four nations except for broadly worded decisions on neutrality, independence and promotion of trade within the entente.

There were no absolute guarantees. Rumania, caught in the allied-German trade pincers, was seen by neutral observers as failing in her aim to turn the entente into a military alliance to assure assistance in case of German or Soviet Russian threats to her independence.

The partners, however, declared their "will to remain united within the entente" and "to which in common over the safeguarding of the rights of each of them to independence and to national territory."

Women Vote Against Women As Officials

TROY, N. Y., Feb. 5 (AP)—Russell Sage College, 70 women students from upon members of their sex becoming President of the United States, vice-president or even a cabinet member.

In a poll, announced today, they voted overwhelmingly against such proposals, asserting women:

Lack the required physical and emotional stability; have not yet acquired sufficient experience in public affairs and cannot "escape the pettiness of life."
