Plains Water Program Will Be Continued

The Panhandle's water and soil conservation program will be continued in 1940 with even greater vigor than has been characteristic of past efforts.

Attendance at the session was the following: Postmaster C. E. Walker, a director; County Judge Sherman White, Garnet Reeves, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce; L. L. Bone, public school superintendent; W. B. Weathered, county school superintendent; Ivy E. Duncan, Frank Culbertson, Tom Smalling, Charlie Carpenter, county commissioner, and Tex DeWeese, of The Pampa News.

Practically every county in the Panhandle was represented. More than 100 were in attendance at the morning session which was presided over by Vice President Roy Smith.

In outlining the prospects for obtaining funds to continue the dam and lakes program in the Panhandle-Plains area and Eastern New Mexico, Mr. Hinton declared that the problem has been complicated by the emphasis now being laid on national defense.

"The conservation of natural resources is the key to our future."

Senator Borah Critically Ill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Senator Borah (R-Idaho) was reported today to have suffered a cerebral hemorrhage as the result of a fall when he slipped on a rug at his apartment Tuesday morning. His condition was said to be critical.

Miss Cora Rubin, Borah's secretary for 30 years, said she had been authorized by Mrs. Borah to announce that the 74-year-old senator was in critical condition.

Borah had been confined to his bed since the fall. He is under the care of Dr. Worth Daniels, his physician and his injuries at first were not believed to be extremely serious.

Miss Rubin said this morning that there apparently had been a change for the worse in Borah's condition during the night.

The veteran senator had suffered a collapse brought on by heat and overwork in the summer of 1939, and apparently had regained his health. He was active throughout the special session of Congress last fall. He told reporters last week that he felt fine and expected to participate actively this session.

Boyer To Announce For Senator Soon

While visiting in Pampa yesterday, Max Boyer, of Perryton, state representative of the 124th district, revealed to friends that he plans to be a candidate for the office of senator of the 31st district.

Mr. Boyer said he would make formal announcement and outline his platform within the next two weeks. Mr. Boyer is serving his second term as a state representative. He has been prominent in house activities and presented several important bills in the interest of the Panhandle, his friends here revealed.

Rep. Boyer quoted Senator Clint Small of Amarillo, incumbent, as indicating on the floor of the senate that he would not be a candidate for re-election.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 18 (AP)—Louisiana voters, regardless of who they put in as governor, have smashed the only dictatorship ever established in the United States.

Returns of Tuesday's Democratic primary clearly indicate the abolition will be stripped from the regime set up in Louisiana 12 years ago by the late Huey P. Long even if Huey's brother, Earl K. Long, goes in as chief executive.

Still incomplete returns gave Long a commanding lead over Attorney Sam Jones of Lake Charles but he lacked a majority over Jones and the three other "reform" candidates.

All indications pointed to a second primary February 20.

What happens in the second primary will depend largely on the disposition of the vote polled by State Senator James A. Noe of Monroe and attorneys James H. Morrison of Hammond and Vincent Moseley of Opelousas.

Among the more significant primary developments was the lead taken by Eugene Stanley, anti-administration candidate for state attorney-general, over three opponents. His election would be an effective brake on roughneck tactics previously employed by administration leaders.

Another important factor in the break-up of the dictatorship was the election of a new legislature which, from all indications, will tank the Long imposed his every whim upon docility through which Huey P. the state.

Child's Biggest Need Is Real Job For 'Dad'

By E. C. DANIEL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—A 47-state meeting devoted to the needs of that unknown child who will become president of the United States in 1980 convened today—the White House conference on children in a democracy.

The child's greatest immediate need, it was concluded in a report to the conference, is a real job at real wages for his father and work opportunities for himself when he grows up.

Estimating that half the nation's children belong to families unable to live decently, the report declared: "The basic economic problem of our children is the economic problem of the nation, to find a sound balance of wages, prices and financing that will provide a growing purchasing power to workers and farmers—an profitable investment for capital."

Nearly 500 of the 700 conference members were expected to attend the three-day meeting with representatives from every state except Wyoming and observers from several foreign countries. President Roosevelt, honorary chairman, is to address them at the White House Friday night (9:30 p. m., Central standard time).

The conference report was presented by Homer Folks, who said that 1930's president had been born recently.

"What we might wish to do for that unknown child, the future president," said the report, prepared by physicians, educators, social workers and many others, "we must be ready to do for every child, so he will be ready to live a full life, satisfying to himself and useful to his community and nation."

The suggestions were ordered as a program "for 10 years, and some of it for a longer period." Presented for action by the conference, the report recommended:

1. A work program financed primarily by the federal government with state-local cooperation; federal contribution to relief if necessary; full federal responsibility for aid to migrants.

2. A large scale housing program; extension of wages and hours legislation and collective bargaining guarantees; strengthening and making permanent existing agricultural measures; legislative action to give agricultural workers as much economic security and protection of wages and working conditions as industrial workers.

3. Enlargement of school units to give a broader base of support; state and federal aid to schools on an equalizing basis; training for children 3 to 6; employment aid for youth, civic and health education, and increased attention to handicapped children in school.

4. Universal health service financed by taxes or social insurance or both; complete material and child health service through local, state and federal co-sharing.

5. A program for the blind, deaf, and other physically handicapped children.

6. A program for the aged, including a national old-age pension plan.

7. A program for the unemployed, including a national unemployment insurance plan.

8. A program for the sick, including a national health insurance plan.

Another Big 'Quake Kills 50 In Turkey

ANKARA, Jan. 18 (AP)—Turkey's second major earthquake in three weeks was reported today to have killed 50 persons and injured 150 in the Nigde district, some 200 miles southeast of here.

This district, which escaped the disastrous earthquake of December 28 which killed at least 30,000 persons in northeastern Anatolia, suffered a series of heavy shocks last night accompanied by terrifying underground rumblings.

New quakes were felt in the devastated region of the December shocks—about 200 miles northeast of the new quake area—but no casualties were reported from there.

In the western plains, rivers swollen by melting snow flooded 15 more villages and caused a landslide which crushed two bridges. In this region late December floods killed at least 1,500.

In the area wrecked by the Dec. 28 quake relief workers still were busy among the ruins, helping the inhabitants in their fight against cold, disease and hunger.

"If you honor me with re-election, and it is my pleasure to serve you for the next two years, I will continue to follow the policies which I have followed in the past and will distribute whatever work or employment my office affords among the citizens and people of my precinct."

"Between now and the election, it is my desire and intention to see every voter in the precinct and present to them my candidacy in person."

Cars Ice Up And Pampano Nearly Freeze On Road

Employees of the Gretnay Drug Store here, are in favor of warm weather after experiences last night en route home from Amarillo where they were guests at a banquet given by a drug firm.

"Three 'frozen up' en route to Pampa after the banquet and one ran out of gas. First casualty was Angus Oswald's car which stopped. He was fortunate in securing aid to get to Pampa. Next, the car belonging to Roy Norman froze up and had to be towed.

Rudy Edemborough's car ran out of gas west of Panhandle and J. Lee Jarvis tried to push the car to Panhandle but his car froze up, breaking the block. The occupants piled into one car in an effort to keep warm and they were almost frozen before an oil truck stopped and towed the "gasless" car to Panhandle.

Several other cars are reported to have frozen during the cold night. Although the temperature failed to drop below zero and cars were protected by anti-freeze, the cold wind was so strong that freezing resulted.

Mr. Hardin assisted in the organization of the county and was its first county attorney. He was elected to the first time in 1907 and served until 1913. Before moving to Gray county Mr. Hardin served as county attorney of Lampasas county in 1894-95.

At the time of his death Mr. Hardin was farming in the Alamo area community.

Survivors are nine children, Mrs. Alice Prock, Alamo, Mrs. Bess Phillips, Alamo, Calif., Mrs. Minnie Muse, Dallas, Mrs. Nellie Mundy, Kilgore, Mrs. Jean Duenkel, Pampa, Walter Hardin, Goliad, Reece Hardin, Dumas, Lewis Hardin, Kilgore, and Elmer Hardin, Danciger, and 14 grandchildren. Another son, Henry Hays Hardin, deceased. All children excepting Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Muse and Mrs. Mundy are here for funeral services.

Two Norwegian Steamers Sunk

OSLO, Jan. 18 (AP)—Two Norwegian steamers were reported today to have been torpedoed and sunk in European waters within the past 24 hours.

Fourteen of the crew of one aboard were missing, while all aboard the second were rescued.

Owners of the 1,590-ton Norwegian steamer Fagerheim reported she had been torpedoed in the bay of Biscaya on a voyage from Africa to England.

A group of survivors from a torpedoed Norwegian vessel, presumably the Fagerheim, reached Vigo, Spain, last night. Five persons were injured, including the captain who had two legs broken.

Reports were received that another Norwegian ship, the 1,140-ton Enid, had been torpedoed and sunk off the Shetland Islands. All her crew was reported saved.

O'Daniel Buys Poll Tax At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Jan. 18 (AP)—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel had a poll tax today but whether he would use it to vote for his re-election was another question.

Elected in 1938, O'Daniel did not possess a poll tax when he swept into office in a 12-man race. But he came here yesterday on a business trip and took time out to buy the certificate which permits him to vote this year.

To all questions concerning his political plans, however, the Governor was silent.

Lake McClellan Still Nearly Full Of Water

By TEX DEWEESE

Things are shaping up rapidly down at Lake McClellan and within another six months one of the finest play spots of all inland Texas will be opened to the public.

Taking a jaunt down there—a scant 25 miles or so from Pampa—we found yesterday that Earl Bradshaw, project superintendent, has a force of 250 men working to gain time lost from the recent delay caused by King Winter.

It was our first trip to the lake since before the June rains that shoved the water level nearly to the top of the dam. The water was 37 feet deep at the dam yesterday, a recession of about nine or ten feet during the past seven months of drought.

What we said the last time we visited the lake site still goes to the point.

Hundreds Of Russians Die In Cold Wave

11 Bombers Shot Down Yesterday, Finland Claims

HELSINKI, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Finns announced tonight that their forces had pushed the Russians back 25 miles in the Salla region above the Arctic Circle.

The army communique also announced that the Finns had shot down 11 Russian bombing planes in fighting yesterday. Previously it had been reported unofficially that 11 of 18 raiding planes had been shot down in a raid on Leppenehti in southern Finland.

"In Lapland," the communique said, "our troops have advanced 45 kilometers (28 miles) in the Salla sector during the past few days."

"The enemy has been pushed back from Joutsjarvi to Mari Jarvi, for possession of which fighting is proceeding."

Joutsjarvi is approximately 65 miles inside the Finnish border and the communique's account of fighting there was the first Finnish acknowledgment in recent accounts that the Russian troops had pushed their line into Lapland.

The Russian line is 20 miles southwest of Salla, principal town of the region.

(Dispatches received in Copenhagen last night reported a general Russian retreat to the Salla sector involving 40,000 troops.)

The Russian drive westward in the Salla sector was the most important of several aimed ultimately at cutting approximately 200 miles across Finland to capture Tornio, a railroad at the head of the Gulf of Bothnia.

By doing this the Russians believe they could cut Finland's overland supply route from the Baltic.

Officially, the Finns reported that the Russians braved the bitterest cold in 25 years to drop 150 bombs yesterday in southern Finland, striking at Hanko, Turku, Viipuri, Rauma, Tammenlahti and other towns.

The damage was said to be relatively slight, with only two persons killed, two wounded and two missing.

Finland's great white ally—winter—was reported to have accounted for large numbers of Soviet dead among the land forces.

Texas Convicted In Beaumont Kidnaping

BEAUMONT, Jan. 18 (AP)—Attorneys were expected to file a motion for a new trial today or tomorrow for Dr. W. C. Welch, Port Arthur chiropractor convicted of kidnaping 11-year-old Irvin Mingle.

Counsel for Dr. Welch, given 15 years by a jury here yesterday, said they would file the motion and if it were denied, would appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals. They have two days in which to file the motion.

The chiropractor said he was not bitter toward the jury but believed his conviction was the result of their disbelief in his claimed powers of divine healing. "They are all honest, sincere men," he said as he was led from the courtroom back to his cell.

The Mingle boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mingle of Port Arthur, was held for $15,000 ransom but broke his bonds and escaped the day after he was kidnaped.

Mrs. Fletcher To Be Chairman Of Study Club

Pre-School Study club, sponsored by the American Association of University Women, met Tuesday afternoon in the city club rooms when Mrs. Fred Roberts, president of the A. A. U. W., introduced Mrs. Foster Fletcher, chairman of this group, who conducted a brief business session in which Mrs. James Reeves was appointed secretary and Mrs. E. B. Tracey, reporter, for the remainder of the club year.

Mrs. Cecil Barnett, program chairman, conducted the study hour and Mrs. Wiley Day talked on "What to Expect of Two Year Olds."

"We can expect from a two-year-old just the things we have prepared him to be at that age. Every little growing being between two and three years of age is entirely different from every other child; yet, each one goes through similar phases and processes," she said.

"A two-year-old's play is often exploratory in character and blocks provide a source of enjoyment of which he seldom grows tired. Between two and three language develops—the vocabulary usually consists of words and he seldom uses a sentence. This is a period of constant learning."

Mrs. Day concluded her talk by asking the group never to lose sight of the fact that even a two-year-old is an individual and should be treated as such.

Mrs. Russell Kennedy and Mrs. E. G. Lowrance were hostesses. Present were Misses: Fred Roberts, a guest, and Wiley Day, W. A. Rankin, Howard Hamilton, Robert F. Ewing, R. K. Edemborough, L. R. CAN'T CONQUER MEN'S SOULS. WARSAW (AP)—War and destruction have not been able to crush the innate love of the Pole for flowers. While houses were still burning and the debris of damaged property still filled the streets of Warsaw, the flower shops resumed business as usual. Horticulturists in the vicinity of the capital continue to bring their beautiful flowers to the city, and the Warsaw burgher, no matter how destitute he may be, continues to buy them. A master craftsman, William Morris, invented the Morris chair.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—A few issues had slowly fractions to a point higher in today's stock market while their counterparts held to a narrow range, either on the plus or minus side.

Traders, whatever the reason, were careful in choice and at no time in the session was there any general lift or decline. The opening was quiet and trading was lethargic throughout.

Aircraft seemed most favored. Foreign markets were irregular, although those at London and Paris tended toward the close. Bonds were mixed and commodities mostly higher.

Transfers approximately 600,000 shares. Brokers blamed the failure to move one way or another on "technical" reasons, which means buyers, looking at the position of prices, don't want to extend themselves and sellers were holding onto their equities, at least at this stage of the game.

Spy Inquiry Seen As Counter To Dies Probe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The attorney general's investigation of the activities of foreign agents in this country is expected in some quarters to be a counterweight to the work of the Dies committee.

To put it mildly, Martin Dies has not endeared himself to the administration. The President has been represented as determined to drive Dies out of public life. Whether or not that is so there is no doubt that the administration would be happy to see the committee's work ended.

Early this fall, a number of influential people in the administration suggested that the wind could be taken out of Dies' sails if J. Edgar Hoover's G-men were turned loose on a full-scale investigation of Communists and their creed. The argument was that the G-men have such a reputation that the country at large would accept their report as complete and final.

It was expected, this report should show that the "Communist menace" was much less extensive than the Dies group was saying it was, then the committee would be in a bad light and Congress could be persuaded to refuse it an extension of life this winter.

This proposal was not too cordially received at the Justice Department. It was pointed out that the G-men couldn't very well make a straight investigation of Communism, since after all it isn't against the law to belong to the Communist party.

All G-men could do would be to look into actual violations of the law. Besides, it was added, the G-men's numbers were limited and they were pretty busy on other matters.

Nevertheless, the anti-Dies group in the administration is hoping that out of this investigation will come material that can be used to bring work of the Dies committee to an end when its appropriation expires at the end of this year.

It is banking on the chance that this sort of argument can be made to Congress:

"Sure, the Dies committee has done a useful job, but the preliminary work has been done now. We have enough general information about the Communists and the Nazis. What is needed now is a criminal investigation that can determine exactly where and how the law is being broken and can bring the law-breakers to justice.

"A Congressional committee can't do that; the Department of Justice is doing it. It has already obtained such-and-such results, so the thing to do now is stop making sensations and let the official law-enforcement arm of the government do its job."

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The movement to build a through highway to Alaska is progressing in spite of the war. The war helps it, in fact, by stressing the hemisphere-defense angle.

A commission representing Canadian and United States governments meets in Ottawa Jan. 24. Much exploratory work has been done, and the actual route will probably be chosen at this meeting. Then ground parties will go out to determine costs.

Congressman Warren Magnuson of Washington, chairman of the commission, hopes a definite dollars-and-cents proposal can be offered Congress and the Canadian parliament within a year. Current estimates, he says, run to about $200,000,000 and call for a 24-foot gravel-surfaced road using U. S. highways to the existing highway system in Alaska.

One scheme being considered is to have Canada build the road across Yukon territory, with U. S. funds helping on the 400-500-mile section in British Columbia.

HERE'S THE DEBT LIMIT HEADACHE

You could really scare yourself by figuring what might happen if this Congress should go over the budget enough to send the total deficit above the $45,000,000,000 debt limit, without at the same time voting to raise that limit.

Treasury then would be in the position of being obliged to pay the bills but unable to borrow a dime anywhere. Something less than two billion is available in the stabilization fund, of course, but Treasury lawyers say that couldn't be tapped without a special act of Congress.

Rather more than two billion could be taken out of the landing agencies—but they'd all have to shut up shop, which would be rather bumpy. Some $900,000,000 in silver certificates could be issued . . . and the Treasury does have the authority to issue three billions in unsecured greenbacks.

That really could happen, by the way. Inflation isn't too far off; if Congress doesn't watch its step.

SHY AWAY FROM HITTING DIES

The administration may dislike the Dies committee, but it doesn't seem to want to make the front pages by fighting the committee's request for another year's lease on life. Arrangements were made recently for a debate on the subject between Congressman Dies and one of the top administration flag-bearers. Just as everything was set, the flag-bearer withdrew—apparently by request from the White House.

Dies, incidentally, has been a pretty sick man. Over work last summer and fall told on his heart. Rest has fixed him up, and he'll be back here soon.

I never saw a more tired-looking man than Dies was one evening last summer when he relaxed in his office after a day-long committee session. Slumped in his chair, he rubbed his eyes and mused:

"Down in Texas I've got all a man could see—a nice home, plenty of air and sunshine, hunting and fishing. If I want 'em, I'm a man of means, no telephone, no worries . . . Isn't a man a damn fool to leave that for this kind of a job?"

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

"THE DEVIL TAKE THE HINDMOST"

I have heard quite a number of preachers make one statement concerning competition which they think is reductio ad absurdum. They invariably feel their own superiority in being kind when they have made this statement; that they have driven the man who believes in competition to shame; that he should never again raise his head in favor of competition because it shows that he is a cruel person who has no human feeling for his fellowman. The statement usually made by preachers and theorists, who will not answer questions but get in positions where they can make statements and not be challenged, is that when we have competition it amounts to "every fellow for himself and the devil take the hindmost."

These men of course want to substitute for competition, their wisdom and their judgment as to what each man should produce and how it should be distributed. When they are pressed for a plan they have no other plan. It is extreme selfishness on their part.

They advocate this simply because they have not studied carefully what competition means. On this subject, the great Frenchman Bastiat had the following to say:

"It is an error to apply to trade, as is but too often done, phrases which are applicable to war.

"In war the stronger overcomes the weaker.

"In industry the stronger imparts force to the weaker. This entirely does away with the analogy.

"Let the English be as powerful and skillful as they are represented, let them be possessed of as large an amount of capital, and have as great a command of the two great agents of production, iron and fuel, as they are supposed to have, all this simply means cheapness. And who gains by the cheapness of products? The man who buys them.

"It is not in their power to annihilate any part whatever of our national labour. All they can do is to render it superfluous in the production of what is acquired by exchange, to furnish us with air without the aid of the pump, to enlarge in this way our disposable forces, and so render their alleged domination as much more impossible as their superiority becomes more incontestable.

"Thus, by a rigorous and consoling demonstration, we arrive at this conclusion, that labour and violence, which are so opposite in their nature, are not less so in their effects.

"All we are called upon to do is to distinguish between labour annihilated, and labour economized. . . ."

"Let us give up, then, the puerility of applying to industrial competition phrases applicable to war—a way of speaking which is only specious when applied to competition between two rival trades. The moment we come to take into account the effect produced on the general prosperity, the analogy disappears.

"In a battle, every one who is killed diminishes by so much the strength of the army. In industry, a workshop is shut up only when what it produced is obtained by the public from another source and in greater abundance. Figure a state of things where for one man killed on the spot two should rise up full of life and vigour. Were such a state of things possible, war would no longer merit its name.

"This, however, is the distinctive character of what is so absurdly called industrial war."

$2 A WEEK EMPLOYMENT

A contributor contends that, if the labor law were repealed, people would work from 5:30 p. m. to 9:30 in the evening for $2 a week. If anybody worked that long before 1939 for $2 a week, he is not working at all now. And if he were working for as low as $2 a week and really earned more, it was undoubtedly because collective bargaining interfered with his producing something that could be sold on an open market for more or he produced a very small amount.

And these people who only produced $2 worth of wealth a week were happier by being permitted to produce this meagre amount and they were benefiting all the consumers in the whole world. Of course, they will not long work for $2 a week, if there is a free market for labor and they produce an amount that will exchange for more than $2 a week.

The worker who can only produce $2 a week cannot have his wages raised by laws. All he can have done to him is to be thrown out of a job and he suffers and every other consumer in all the world suffers because he is deprived by law, the right to produce $2 worth of wealth a week. Nobody in the world is benefited by any such law.

Jesus said, "The poor ye will always have with you." And we will always have people who are just beginning and learning and who are naturally slow and there is no way by law of enabling them to earn more than their exchange value of what they produce. Would it were that easy to raise wages as to do it by law! If it were, we would raise them all and only work one minute a week if this were possible.

OLD HICKORY WOULD SQUIRM (Detroit Free Press)

The attitude of Republican congressional leaders toward accepting the invitation to attend the annual Democratic Jackson day dinner appears to have been adequately expressed by Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr., the house minority leader:

"I haven't made up my mind because I am always suspicious of Greet's bearing gifts."

Jackson day dinners given by New Dealers are jokes at best.

Old Hickory believed in keeping government expenditures well within government income.

And he also believed in keeping legislation and administrative acts well within the plain meaning of the constitution.

World Andrew Jackson feel comfortable at a dinner given in honor of an administration that has raised the national debt in seven years from $22,000,000,000 to $42,000,000,000.

YOU WISH TO REPORT SOMETHING LOST?

Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—It's nice to know—as I see by the papers—that Clark Gable remembered all the things the Ex-Mrs. Gable (Josephine Dillon) taught him. Miss Dillon was commenting on Gable's Rhet Butler performance prior to taking on her new assignment as college dramatic teacher in Missouri.

There must have been a number of other things this Gable guy remembered, facing the toughest job of his life, and again facing another one in "Strange Cargo."

He could have recalled, for one thing, his barnstorming start with the Jewel Players of Kansas City, his best equipment for a dramatic career (this is how Clark describes it) "a voice that could cut through a room in the house" and how he got that voice, yelling to make himself heard from the tops of Oklahoma prairie oil rigs.

He could have remembered when the "Jewels," financially embarrassed, disbanded in Butte, Montana, and the kind of night it was when he hopped a freight for Portland, Oregon. He must have memories of the department store there, where the Gable personality was put to use selling neckties instead of selling Gable. And of the time when Earl Larimore (also in neckties) organized a touring dramatic group and Gable did his first and only appearance in blackface and skirts—as a Negro cook named Eliza Goober who became chief of police in a thing called "When Women Rule." He could have remembered the name of Gable now would be bringing the folks in from miles around, but it didn't keep that luckless troupe from going broke. They rode the milk-boats and made one-night stands along the Columbia, and straggled into Portland.

He can remember carrying a spear with Jane Cowell's "Romeo and Juliet" production, and the sudden jilting of his dark cloud of ambition—a part in "Who Price Glory?" and, when Hale Hamilton quit the show, promotion to the part with Producer Louis O. Macdonald, who spotted him as the spear-thrower "Crow."

And one of those parts was with Lionel Barrymore in "The Copperhead" which started a lasting friendship and brought him his first film test. He wasn't the type. They said something about his ears, as I recall it.

There was stock in Houston, Texas, and finally—Broadway. "Machinal," the play was, and the critics were nice about it. More plays, and the time he began to get a little "fat-headed" with success—he says so himself—and had to give himself a mental dressing-down to work the "hunk" out of his system. And in Los Angeles, and the part of Killer Mears in "The Last Mile" and Lionel Barrymore in the audience.

And the film test—for a role in "Bird of Paradise"—with Gable wearing a leotard, his hair curled, and a flower stuck over his EAR.

No wonder he hit pictures as a bearded cowboy.

And eventually, Rhet Butler, who remembered all the things Josephine Dillon taught him, and a few other things besides.

Congratulations, Joe T. Cook, former Pampan, now editor of the Mission Times of Mission in the Rio Grande valley, on your special 56-page Citrus Fiesta edition, issued last Friday. In that issue Joe has a story on the front page which says that the Times has on display 15 oranges the size of a basketball. He says they all came from the same tree in the grove of one R. B. Shary. One of the largest weighed two pounds, nine ounces. Frankly, Joe, we don't believe there ever was an orange the size of a basketball—even in the magic Rio Grande valley and the only way you can prove it to us is to send us one so we can put it on display in the Pampa News. You might for instance send us the one you say measured 20 inches in circumference. We've never seen your valley but if they have oranges down there as big as basketballs we are certainly going to stop off down there some day. . . . Incidentally, Joe, your special edition is one of the few we like to read. We are not familiar with your people or your country but each year we have read your edition with enjoyment; perhaps because it is beautifully printed and because it does not seem crowded with ads and because the ads have pictures in them and because the stories are illustrated and the "heads" balance. . . . A few Pampan will remember that Joe came to Pampa from the University of Texas where he was a student newspaper; he was a linotype operator here for several months; but made some friends who still remember him, and that's a pretty good thing to say about a feller after seven years.

(Not changing the subject, but young Johnny Campbell, 12, says that it's tough sliding these days for boys named Johnny. "Everybody sings 'O Johnny, O Johnny, how you can love at you all day and all night.'" Johnny complained in a tired voice, indicating there was no rest for the weary.)

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

The knee joint is frequently weak because of looseness or cracking of the semilunar cartilages. These small, circular bodies which lie between the large bones of the knee and thigh, are frequently damaged in athletic performances. When the cartilage is loosened or broken, the knee will lock, become swollen and painful. During the football season just ended, several of the nation's leading stars were incapacitated for long periods of time by injuries to their semilunar cartilages.

Until modern surgery was greatly improved, operations on the knee joint used to be considered as extremely serious. There was always danger of secondary infection. For this reason, it was customary, in most instances, to permit swelling to go down, after which the knee could be put in proper position and permitted to heal. The athlete would often be incapacitated for two or three weeks.

If one does not plan to indulge in athletics to any considerable extent, he can easily obtain recovery simply by rest and application of heat with the use of a proper bandage or splint. However, if the young man or woman plans to continue in athletics or to practice ballet dancing, medical treatment does not bring about lasting results. Under such circumstances, removal by operation is now generally recommended.

In the last 20 years, operations have been greatly improved, and the safeguards surrounding the operation have been increased. Now, the District of Columbia, by competent surgeon or orthopedic surgeon and the after-care is satisfactory, there is likely to be little, if any, chance of a recurrence of this knee trouble.

One British authority reports that 82 per cent of the knees on which operations have been performed were just as good as the uninjured knees after a period of five years. In 98 per cent, the knee movements were perfect; and in more than 80 per cent, there was no indication that there had ever been trouble with the knee.

First Newsprint Rolls From Mills

LUFKIN, Jan. 18 (AP)—Only minor adjustments were needed today to launch a new Texas industry—the Southland Paper Mills, Inc., at nearby Herty.

The first southern pine newsprint in world history rolled from the $6,000,000 plant in East Texas yesterday to the accompaniment of cheers from the workers, executives and their wives. Officials said adjustments would be completed in time for commercial scale production by February 1.

Ground was broken for the huge plant a year and four days ago. It was completed Jan. 1 and the past two weeks have been devoted to tuning the machinery, chief of which is a 260-foot machine from which the finished product rolls.

Test runs had been made prior to yesterday but these were confined to the barking drum, conveyor, grinders and other equipment.

Yesterday's experimental production climaxed years of effort on the part of southern publishers and industrialists to inaugurate this new industry for the south. Experts declared the paper as fine as any newsprint produced on the American continent.

Capacity of the plant will be approximately 50,000 tons per year. Southern papers have contracted for the entire output for the next five years. Officials predicted the capacity would be increased by enlargement of plant and machinery.

Thousands Carry Polio Unknowingly

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Infantile paralysis, like typhoid fever, is spread through sewage and human carriers who show no signs of the disease.

The United States Public Health Service reported today that recent investigations had shown that thousands of healthy persons were carrying the virus of poliomyelitis in their saliva, without ever knowing it. Officials said also that samples of sewage taken in Charleston, S. C., during an outbreak last year had caused typical poliomyelitis symptoms in monkeys, proving that it was a waste-borne disease.

Proof that the virus is carried in virulent form in sewage and by immune human carriers is the greatest recent advance toward conquest of the disease, officials said.

Texas NYA Program Granted $150,000

Among allocations were: Texas, $150,000; Auburn, Williams, NYA director, said the money came from the $100,000,000 NYA appropriation for 1939-40. He emphasized that none of it came from the $28,000,000 designated for NYA student aid.

RUSSIAN COMMUNISTS ARE OUR ENEMIES By GUS W. DYER Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

Russian communism is radically different from communism as an economic system. A failure to see that there is hardly anything in common between the two systems has repeatedly led many uninformed people to sympathize with the Russian communist under the impression that it represents the very old harmless system of communism that has been tried over and over again for 2,000 years.

Communism as an economic system simply means that those who voluntarily join the system and voluntarily remain in the system put all their property and all their earnings in a common fund, and draw upon it according to their needs. Force or compulsion of any sort is inconsistent with and antagonistic to this type of communism.

Communism as an economic system was tried by the disciples of Jesus and proved a miserable failure. A communist system was set up by Robert Owen at New Harmony, Indiana, in 1824. After two or three years it went to pieces. In 1848 the Fourier system of communism evoked wide and intense enthusiasm in this country. Such men as Horace Green and Charles Dana, and Nathaniel Hawthorne were among the leaders in this communist movement. As a result, thirty communist communities were organized in six different states. But after a short period all of these communities, organized on principles antagonistic to human nature, passed out. Other communist communities came into existence and passed out later.

There is nothing in the Constitution to prohibit any of large groups of families from establishing and living under an economic system of common property, so long as communism is not used, and the constitutional rights of every member are protected.

Around 50 Periodicals From 'All Over' Received By Pampa News

Just like neighbors that come in regularly to visit in a friend's house are the newspapers and other publications that come, some daily, some weekly, some monthly, to the exchange desk of The Pampa News.

Daily reading of these exchanges makes one familiar with certain distinguished marks, so that one can tell the name of the newspaper even before the wrapper is removed, simply from the kind of newsprint and type revealed beyond the edge of the wrapper.

Like persons, each newspaper has a different kind of characteristics.

Weeklies Cited

Take the weeklies that are sent to The Pampa News for example:

Van W. Stewart's Ochiltree County Herald, the official paper of Perryton, is distinctive because of its size, with its 18-inch wide pages, a large width for a weekly publication. In addition to being the official paper of Perryton, the Herald, now in volume 22, is also the official paper of Ochiltree county.

"Facts and Otherwise", a page 1 column distinguishes The Groom News, 14 year old paper published by Mrs. W. J. Wade and son, Max.

The Panhandle Herald, one of the oldest in the Plains region, now 53 years old, has a "black" front page resulting from the generous use of big type. David M. Warren, former publisher of this newspaper, is the owner of the Herald.

The Clarendon News, established in 1878, now sets its headlines flush. There's plenty of white space used in the editorial columns. Sam M. Braswell is owner and editor, Dick Cooke, news editor.

W. W. Simmons' White Deer Review is smaller than other weeklies in size, being six columns, but gives complete stories on White Deer events. The paper is now in volume 16.

Will J. Miller's column "Don't Name It", is a feature of the Spearman Reporter, Hansford newspaper now in its 33rd year.

Canadian Boasts Advertising

"It's Got To Be Good To Be Advertised" is a slogan on page 1 of The Canadian Record, of which Joseph M. Noble is editor and publisher, and Marie M. Noble, associate editor. The publication is now in volume 51.

"A friend to the farmer, his home and his family. A champion of his rights and a willing promoter of his interests" is the slogan of The Donnybrook Journal, 11-year-old Clarendon newspaper of which J. C. Estlack is editor and owner.

T. A. Landers newspaper, The McLean News, with 37 years publication, has the claim to being Gray county's oldest newspaper.

The Miami Chief, now in volume 41, is a six-column weekly, owned and published by R. B. Haynes. A slogan on the front page is "there is no substitute for newspaper advertising."

Numerous short stories on page 1 are feature of Clyde Warwick's Canyon News, now in its 44th year.

The Wellington Leader, 31 years old, is printed on a very white newsprint, lots of pictures. Deck's Dictations, a column by Publisher H. Deskins Wells, is one of the best.

Fine typography marks C. G. Miller's Wheeler Times, now in its seventh year.

The Prairie, student weekly at West Texas State college, is an above-the-average college newspaper. It's in volume 21, with Dan Hemphill as editor.

Excellent School Paper

Highland Park high school at Dallas, volume 8, is a fine example of metropolitan journalism applied to a high school newspaper. It is of eight column size.

The McMurry War Whoop bears a salient name for a collegiate publication. It's the student newspaper at McMurry college, Abilene. Mildred Vaughn is editor in chief.

Albert Cooper's Shamrock Texan is a semi-weekly, published on Mondays and Thursdays, and one of the few in this classification. It's 36 years old.

From Boys Town

Father Flanagan's Boy's Town, (Nebraska) publishes a semi-monthly, Boys Town Times, that is among the newspapers received here. Father Flanagan himself is the publisher and owner.

Dailies Also On List

Going further down the list of 43 publications checked this week, one will find several dailies: The Lubbock Journal, Fort Worth Star-Telegram. The Big Spring Daily Herald, Borger Daily Herald, The Childers Index, in which Sue Vinson, former society editor of The Pampa News publishes her column "Us Women". Santa Ana (Calif.) Register, Amarillo Daily News, Dalhart Texan, Clovis (N. M.) News-Journal, Plainview Evening Herald, The Daily Oklahoman, Bucyrus (Ohio) Telegraph-Forum, The Daily Record (Lawrenceville, Ill.).

From Pennsylvania

Just how it happened that a copy of the The Vandergrift (Pa.) newspaper happened to come to the exchange desk, no one appears to know, but anyhow for the past week copies of this Keystone state paper have been received.

Three copies of The Register, a Catholic publication regularly are found among the exchanges. The Register is a weekly newspaper. Recently another Catholic weekly was among the exchanges, "Our Sunday Visitor", published at Huntington, Ind. The Christian Science Monitor, is regularly among the dailies on the desk.

Future Cars Need Front End Signals, Engineer Declares

DETROIT, Jan. 18 (AP)—A vision of future motor vehicles "winking and blinking" the intentions of their operators was presented to the society of automotive engineers convention here today by Harry C. Doane, of General Motors Corporation, who said there was distinct need for a front view, flashing type of automobile direction signal.

"Signals the pedestrian must be kept in mind as well as the motorist," Doane said, "signals are necessary at both front and rear of the vehicle; they must be located so that front signals for left and right turns are plainly visible not only to an approaching motorist but also to a pedestrian standing at an intersection."

Front and rear signals, he added, must have sufficient brilliance to be visible for 100 feet in bright sunlight.

"The necessity for front signals that must be plainly visible when headlights are on," he said, "stresses the need for a flashing type of signal."

Eltex Proration To Remain Unchanged

AUSTIN, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Railroad Commission will make no change next month in the East Texas oil field production schedule, Commissioner Jerry Sadler said today.

Sadler indicated the February proration order would bring an end to production holidays in other fields however. Thirteen shut-in days were ordered this month.

Sadler said the commission was convinced that East Texas wells could not be operated at a profit on an allowable of less than 20 barrels daily. He added the regulatory body would make no changes in the big pool's schedule pending outcome of court litigation attacking the East Texas formula.

Removal of well closings in other fields would necessitate a sharp backward revision of schedules on which commission engineers are now working. The commission is awaiting the U. S. Bureau of Mine's estimate of February market demand and the statewide proration hearing tomorrow before deciding on details of the February allowables in fields other than East Texas.

Americans Eating Less Than Usual

HOUSTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The contracting stomach of the American public is one of the biggest headaches to the fresh fruit and vegetable industry. William Garfitt of Chicago, executive vice president of the United States Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, told association convention delegates today.

"We are in the business of selling food to the American public," he said. "But the American public, unhappily, is just not eating as much food as it used to eat."

He said that in 1938 the average American nourished himself with 36 pounds less of food than in 1929.

However, for the lack of proper promotion was to blame. "We can," he said, "go on hoping for an act of God or a war to remedy our situation."

"But I believe there is an alternative... to take positive action to save our industry from being suffocated by the laws of supply and demand. We have the supply. What we need is the demand."

Garfitt said advertising was the solution.

SERIAL STORY BLACKOUT BY RUTH AYERS

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Mary meets Carla Marchetta. Carla warns her Vincent is in danger...

CHAPTER XXIII AS Mary had hoped, the lights brought help...

She could hear them in the street below and then on the front steps and pounding at the door...

"I'm locked in," she called when she heard them in the hall outside...

"Put those lights out," she was commanded.

She had barely turned off the switch when they crashed into the room...

"Quick! Take me to Scotland Yard!" she commanded before they had time to challenge her...

OUTSIDE, a taxi was commanded and Mary found herself accompanied by a warden and a bobby en route to Scotland Yard...

It seemed interminable before she was face to face with the inspector. She introduced herself...

"The airplane carrier, Regency, is to be torpedoed," she told him. "I'm sure you already know when she leaves Scapa Flow."

Inspector Babcock was electrified. "Do you know what you're saying?" he demanded.

Mary became suddenly calm. She managed to marshal her thoughts and her words.

"It was kidnapped today by Carla Marchetta and her chauffeur," she was saying. "They took me to her house in Mayfair. They drugged me but I came to before they expected..."

her thoughtfully. "In view of what you've done, I'll make every effort to save your friend Gregg. He'll be brought in for questioning and will be interned for the duration of the war. But I don't think you need worry about a firing squad."

Daylight was coming through the barred windows of the inspector's office when the long wait was over. A chair scraped. Inspector Babcock stood up.

"Is this the woman?" In the doorway, handcuffed to a Scotland Yard man, was Carla Marchetta!

Rapier-like, her eyes flashed hatred at Mary.

OUTSIDE the sun of early morning struggled with the fog. The clop-clop of horses' hoofs sounded unreal after the fantastic events of the night.

Mary started toward Soho Square but found she was going an entirely different direction. Without knowing it her steps were following the dictates of her heart. She had to see Gilbert Lenox at once.

At the hospital she was shown into a waiting room. It was only a minute—and then—the sight of Gilbert's serious face.

"I had to see you. There's something I must tell you. I hardly know where to start!" He waited for her to go on. She threw back her head, the maize-ripples of her hair brushing her shoulders.

"No matter what happens," she began slowly, "I want you to believe this. I love you."

There was a puzzled expression on Gilbert's face. He took a step closer. Then his eyes lighted with unbelievable happiness.

"Oh, my darling. This is what I've wanted—what I've waited for. I've never stopped loving you and never will, I guess. We'll be remarried in church and then go back home as soon as I've finished my service in France."

Mary drew away. It was agonizing—this knowing that happiness was right before her and she couldn't reach for it. "No, I can't be your wife," she said faintly. "This is the end—goodbye. Yesterday, I'd have given up Vincent for you, but now—well, it's too late. Vincent is to be arrested and interned for the rest of the war."

Gilbert paused as full import of her words reached him. "But that frees you!" She shook her head. A jerky smile came to her lips. "That's the strange thing about it," she whispered. "Vincent's been foolishly involved in a naval spy plot. I was the one who disclosed it. So you see, I can't walk out on him now."

Texas Co-Eds Dress On 19 Cents A Day

AUSTIN, Jan. 18 (P)—The wardrobe of the college girl might run into major expense in some instances but some University of Texas coeds assert they can dress presentable for 19 cents a day.

Eighty of them questioned about the clothing situation declare that wise selections, good care of clothes and refusal to heed fads and fashions make it possible for them to be well dressed on a small amount.

One of the students, says Miss Lucy Rathbone of the home economics department, spent only $70 last year, an average of 19 cents daily, although the group average was $230. A few spent more than that for one coat.

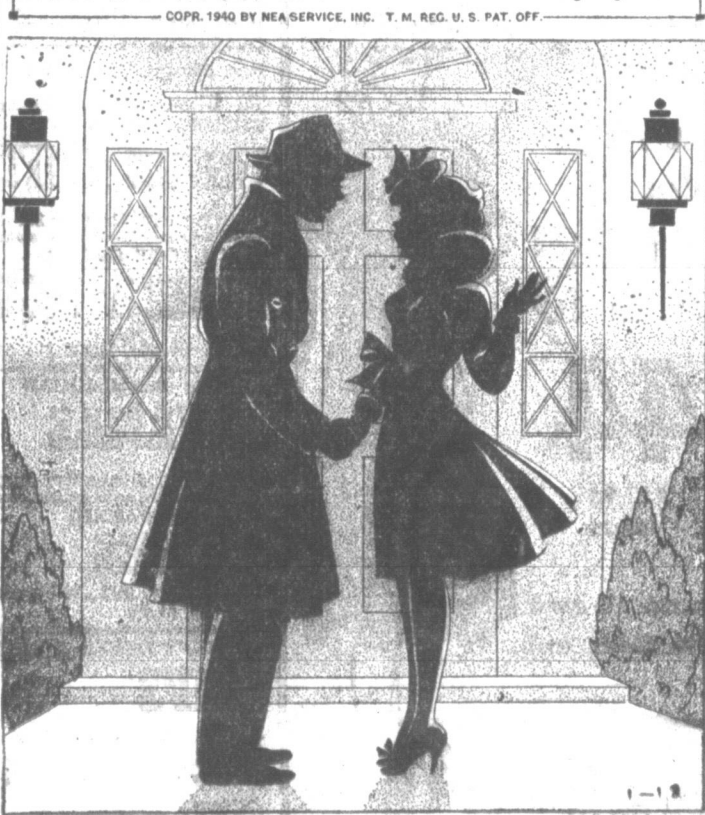

Reports indicate 11 per cent of the coeds spend less than $100 a year on clothing which 7 per cent exceed $400. Fifty-nine per cent spend less than the average and 41 per cent more.

The student reporting a $70 clothing bill bought four dresses, two of wool, one linen and one silk; two wool suits, a tweed coat and four blouses, all home-made, and a sweater. She made her slips at home and paid only 69 cents for gowns. Two pairs of shoes cost her $4.98 and $1.50 respectively. Seventy-nine cent hose and 45-cent socks sufficed.

The girl reporting $730 expenditure bought 12 daytime dresses, five evening gowns, 16 pairs of shoes, six pairs of silk hose, seven hats, six purses and a supply of undergarments.

Dual Appointments Policy Followed By Gov. O'Daniel

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Wittingly or unwittingly, Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, in some recent appointments followed a course well known to practical politicians and often traveled by them.

When a vacancy occurred in an important office, he filled it by appointing the occupant of a less important office and to the latter named another man. This placed not one man, but two, and, of course, the friends of two men.

Specifically, Asst. Gen. Harry Knox, Jr., was appointed to the vacancy on the board of control caused by the death last fall of Claude D. Fox, and Col. J. Watt Page was appointed adjutant general. Salary of the adjutant general is $3,000 a year while that of a board of control member is $7,000. The term of an adjutant general is two years but a control member's is six.

Before that Gov. O'Daniel had appointed his first secretary of state, Tom L. Beauchamp, to the bench of the court of criminal appeals, the resignation of W. C. Morrow having caused a vacancy, and had made M. O. Flowers secretary of state. That was a salary advance for Beauchamp of from $6,000 to $8,000 a year, and, moreover, the appointment put Beauchamp in position for a strong race this political year to win a six-year term on the court.

Politically, those were much better moves than if the governor had appointed Page and Flowers, respectively, to the board of control and the court of criminal appeals and had left Knox and Beauchamp as adjutant general and secretary of state.

Gov. James V. Alford often made several appointments in this manner when he could have made only one.

Although he has not formally announced, Judge Beauchamp is regarded as a certain candidate for a place on the court of criminal appeals, and, largely because of his official relationship to Gov. O'Daniel, his race will be watched with more than usual interest.

A man expected to be an outstanding contender for the judgeship is George E. Christian, who has been a member of the commission of the court for twelve and one-half years, having first come to the court under appointment by Gov. Dan Moody. After expiration of the term of that appointment, Christian has been re-appointed, year after year, by the court. The commission assists the court.

Prior to the appointment, Christian was an assistant to Moody when the latter was attorney general and had been assistant district attorney of Burnet, Menard, Kimble, Llano, Mason, Gillespie, Blair and San Saba counties.

His was the first important announcement this year of a candidacy for state office.

For a long time it had been thought about the capitol that Davidson, longtime state's attorney for the court of criminal appeals would seek to attain Judge Morrow's vacated seat, but some observers now suggest Christian's decision to run might cause Davidson to alter any plans in that direction.

Politics always is of much interest in Austin. So is a sharp downward slide in temperature. An alert newsboy combined the appeals in scolding his papers on a downtown street. "A norther" had just slid into the capitol and the newspaper was telling the story on page one. Also on the front page was a story of lively developments in state politics.

Cried the boy:
"Texas getting cold! Politicians getting hot!"

Rep. Roy Tennant, Jr., of Longview, in Austin to visit his father, former member of the state board of control, dropped into the capitol press room and, among various things, opined that members of the legislature probably were in for plenty of opposition seeking re-election.

"The last session was just the type to bring out opposition," said young Tennant, who, incidentally, has the distinction of being the shortest man in stature in the legislature.

"There were so many controversial subjects, cross currents of interests and opportunities to make different elements among the voters sore and for legislators generally can be expected.

"That statement doesn't mean that the 'ins' will be ousted. It means they will have opposition of one type and another."
He added that the legislature is the "whipping boy" in Texas' politics in that it usually is blamed for anything wrong, no matter how hard the legislators have labored to make everything just right, or how individuals have voted.

Saying he meant no reflection on any citizen, he observed that people about the capitol did not understand how little the average voter knew concerning his state government.

"Resolutions, bills, amendments and so on, by their terms mean nothing to John Q. Citizen," Tennant said. "I doubt if he can name six important state officials, after Gov. O'Daniel."

But, Tennant concluded, this lack of information greatly increases the responsibility of members of the legislature.

Logan Urges Court Power Over Rules

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—An effort got under way in the Senate today to force consideration of legislation to give the courts a new and more powerful veto over rules and regulations issued by executive agencies.

The bill, by the late senator Logan (D-Ky.), was passed by the senate last summer and then reconsidered at the request of administration lieutenants. It now is on the senate calendar.

The judiciary subcommittee which originally handled the measure scheduled a meeting today to see what could be done about getting the senate to consider it. Senator Austin (R-Vt.), a member of the group, told reporters:

"This bill was approved unanimously by the judiciary committee, and I think the committee wants action. The legislation does a very fundamental thing, by giving the citizens a right of appeal to the federal courts from laws—some call them rules and regulations—imposed by executive agencies."

"Enactment of the bill would have the effect of protecting the citizen against the tyrannical use of authority by executive agencies."

Senator Minlon (D-Ind.), who led the demand for reconsideration of the bill last year, declared that, if enacted, it would be "the answer to a defense lawyer's prayer."

"It would be obstruction, compound," he continued. "All the rule-making of boards and commissions would be transferred to the courts. This not only would tie the hands of the boards and commissions but would swamp the courts."

The bill would permit federal courts to review the facts developed by federal agencies in promulgating regulations, as well as the rulings themselves.

The controversy over the Logan bill shared attention with continued discussion of a proposed additional loan to Finland.

The house arranged to vote today on the $1,101,000,000 independent offices appropriation bill, from which it struck yesterday a $25,000 item for a Roosevelt-created agency—the council of personnel administration.

Consideration of routine measures was scheduled in the senate.

Ohio Delegation May Be Pledged To FDR's Man

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—New deal political strategists indicated today that the decision of Ohio organization Democrats to put a Roosevelt delegate in the field nominally pledged to Senator Vic Donahy dovetailed with plans aimed at giving the chief executive the power to name the party's 1940 nominee if he decided not to seek a third term.

Although some political analysts have expressed doubt the president could control the next convention, especially if he took himself out of the running in advance, third term advocates said Ohio's 52 delegate votes might form an important link in a chain of delegations lined up at least for a "Roosevelt man."

The new dealers, it was said, would seek other "favorite son" and uninstructed delegations favorable to the president or any candidate having his blessing. This strategy would be followed, it was explained, to avoid putting Mr. Roosevelt's name in presidential preference primaries where consent of the candidate was required as in Ohio.

Some third term boosters placed the president's potential convention strength at more than 250 already, with 561 needed for a majority, but placed a big "if" around the claim. They qualified the figure because it was based on public statements of pro-Roosevelt state leaders who may or may not be in control of their respective delegations to the convention.

To Ohio's 52, these third term advocates added Pennsylvania's 72, to be selected April 23; New Jersey's 32, May 21; Florida's 14, May 7; Illinois' 53, April 9 and 25; Missouri's 30, date not set, and New Mexico's 6, date not yet fixed.

NECESSITY IS STILL MOTHER OF INVENTION
GALLUP, N. M. (AP)—Beet by a howling storm on a New Mexico highway, Charley Huff, news editor of the Gallup Daily Independent, thinks he may have discovered a new windshield def-ster.

Slipping and sliding around the road behind fogged glass, he ran his fingers through his hair and wiped off the windshield. It remained clear.

Huff thinks the natural oil in his hair may have done the trick.

The most plausible reason for the numerous stones carried in the penguin's stomach is that, since he eats enormous amounts of fish, he needs assistance in grinding and digesting his meals.

John Garner Opposes Loan To Finland

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Vice President Garner and the board of directors of the National Association of Manufacturers were listed today among those opposing further financial aid to embattled Finland.

On the other hand Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) told reporters he could see no objections to lending the Finns more money. Former President Herbert Hoover also gave support to President Roosevelt's idea of a non-military loan.

Vice President Garner was reported authoritatively to have opposed an additional Finnish loan at a White House legislative conference Monday, the day before President Roosevelt sent word to Congress that he thought an extension of credit at this time would not constitute nor threaten involvement of this country in Europe's wars.

Friends of Garner said he believed a further advance to the Finns would contravene this country's neutrality policy and might lead to other commitments which could get the United States deeply involved in Europe's troubles.

Garner was represented also as believing that Congress never would approve additional Finnish aid. He was said to have been gratified at yesterday's decision by the Senate Banking committee to defer action on the proposal and to hear the views of Secretary Hull next Wednesday.

The board of directors of the National Association of Manufacturers declared in a statement that extension of government "loans, credits or other official aid" to "victims of

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous wastes out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start making backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.
