$193 In Cash Taken In Safe Burglary Here

NOTE IMPERILS NEW FRENCH GOVERNMENT

'Fingers' Job Performed At Freight Line

Burglar Smashes Pane Of Glass To Gain Entrance
Pampa's first safe burglary in more than a year was reported to city police officers this morning by Thurman O'Neal, manager of the Lee-Way Motor Freight, Inc., 222 South-Caylor street. The safe was opened some time last night and $193 in cash taken.
Entry to the building was gained by smashing a small pane of glass in a rear door close to the night latch. The safe, according to officers, was not smashed but opened by use of the combination. The safe was locked when Mr. O'Neal opened the office at 7:15 o'clock this morning. He was able to work the outer combination but couldn't get the inside combination.
Fred Gunzallus was called and by dropping the safe on its side the inner door was sprung open. The cash drawer was then found to have been jammed and the cash removed. Checks and drafts amounting to $280.23 were left in the drawer.
Officers found no clues on which to work.

Britain Sinks German Ship

(By The Associated Press)
The calm of Good Friday was broken today by a fresh burst of activity in the war at sea and a blunt statement by France's new premier, Paul Reynaud, promising an aggressive policy in the conflict with Germany.
The first torpedoing of a German merchantman by a British submarine was disclosed when the admiralty announced the 4,947-ton Naal freighter Heddernheim had been sunk eight miles off the Danish coast. All the crew of 36 were rescued.
Almost simultaneously came word of the sinking of the Danish vessel Christiansbor, 1,929 tons, reported torpedoed without warning off the coast of Denmark, which went down off the Scottish coast, presumably as the result of submarine action. The fate of the crew was unknown.
These sinkings raised to six the number of Danish merchantmen reported sunk by German submarines in the last two days.
Reynaud delivered his promise of action in his first statement to the French parliament, during which he declared that his government's only objective is to "win the war." In a terse statement of policy he warned that France is now engaged in "a complete war."
On the home front, civilian residents celebrated Good Friday in various ways.

Harris Brothers Meet Today First Time In 36 Years

For the first time in 36 years, two brothers met in Pampa this week, when C. S. Harris of Price, Utah, came here to visit Lee Harris, court house custodian.
The Utah man was accompanied by his wife and their seven-year-old daughter. After a visit here, they will go to Knoxville, where they will visit other relatives.
C. S. Harris left Missouri and went to Utah where he made his home. He had made only one trip back home, since that time, returning in 1904.

FDR Recovering

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The White House said today that the President's physician, Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, believed that if Mr. Roosevelt will continue his limited schedule over the week-end, he should be back to his normal routine work day by Monday.
Stephen T. Barley, presidential secretary, said Mr. Roosevelt felt like working but that McIntire was insisting that he remain in bed as much as possible because his cold and temperature were persisting.

White Deer P-TA Hears Discussion On Mental Fitness

WHITE DEER, March 22—"As parents and teachers we are obligated to be intelligent, because we are sponsors of young people," said Dr. A. M. Myer, of the Education department of West Texas State College, in addressing the members of the P-T-A, here this week on the subject "Mental Fitness and Moral Stability."

"It is not enough to good; we must also be intelligent," he continued. "Life and society are complicated, and information is the only basis of sound judgment."

"Business men, parents, and teachers are guilty of wrong-doing if they neglect to inform themselves concerning the most effective methods of performing their particular tasks, and fail to realize their duties to society."

"Much of the information that lends mental and moral stability may be acquired by reading well-chosen books, selecting wholesome radio programs, attending public meetings and church," he stated, adding that "informed citizens can live together in harmony and with no fear of outside influences and isms."

Preceding the address, the high school chorus, directed by Glenn Davis and accompanied by Mrs. Elton Beene, sang "The Legend," "Rain and the River," "My Prayer," and "South of the Border."

Requirements For Graduation Topic Of Room Mothers

Doyle F. Osborne spoke to Junior High school room mothers following assembly this week in room 62 on "Requirements for Graduation from High School."

Sixteen solid credits and 108 grade points are required for graduation, Mr. Osborne pointed out. Students graduating from junior high with only three credits start in high school with a handicap.

The grade point system has been established to encourage the students to make an average above 70. Grades from 70 to 74 count two and one-half grade points a semester; from 75-79, three grade points; from 80-84, three and one-half; 85-89, four grade points; 90-94, four and one-half points; 95-100, five points a semester.

The 16 solid credits include four years of English, two years of history, one or two and three, two years of science which may include junior high general science or one year science plus two years of language, three and one-half years of mathematics. One major is required, that is three years of some subject besides English.

Next year a dual system of graduation will be introduced into the high school; one for those who intend going to college and one for those who do not; however, it is hoped most students will choose credit leading to a college course.

Principal Frank Monroe reported the state student council convention which he and four representatives from junior high attended at Tyler last week as being instructive and inspirational. He also enumerated points of behavior that are being stressed at Junior High.

Twenty-two members were present at the meeting.

In the business session the following were named as delegates to the district convention: Mrs. C. B. Martin, Mrs. B. L. Collier, Mrs. E. H. Grimes, George A. Heath, Glenn P. Davis, the Rev. H. C. Travis, Mrs. John Skaggs, and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Doss.

J. Davis Hill, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Heath, Mrs. Grimes, and Mrs. J. G. Freeman were appointed as a committee to nominate officers of the P-T-A. for next year.

A picture was awarded to the tenth grade for having the largest number of parents present.

Members of the hostess group two present were Misses Joe Hodie, Fred Cary, Irvin Cole, Palestine Gething, Ralph Thomas, R. C. Dublin, H. Neach, Walter Fade, R. D. Morris, Pat Lanham, a new member, E. K. Elkins, W. Purviance, Edwin Vicars, and J. M. Hatfield.

THE STORY OF DEMOCRACY

By Hendrik Willem van Loon
Illustrated by the author

Rome in its heyday—a few noble streets in the midst of endless slums reserved for the proletariat.

We are all of us familiar with the expression "The Roman Republic." There was indeed, for a few centuries, something which was called a res publica—a commonwealth of Rome—but it only functioned, more or less successfully, as long as Rome was a small village, hundreds of miles removed from the center of civilization.

And it ceased to function as such the moment it had grown important enough to assume the leadership over all the people of central Italy. Then it still retained the name of a republic but the government had become a monopoly of a handful of rich families, and the senate in which the representatives of these clans met was not in any way responsible to the mass of the common people.

As for these common people, their name shows what their well-to-do neighbors thought of them. They were called the proletariat.

The Latin word proles means offspring. The proletariat therefore were those who, owning no property of their own, were only of value to the state on account of their prolific offspring—on account of the number of children they produced to provide the real rulers of the city with an ample supply of cannon fodder.

We usually think of Rome as a city of magnificent palaces and temples and public edifices, which even in their ruined state impress the visitor with the grandeur of the only city that could ever really call itself the world's capital.

But during the heyday of its glory, when Rome had over a million inhabitants, it was very much like a modern American city. A few noble streets in the midst of endless slums and alleys, lined by all sorts of nondescript and ramshackle buildings, reserved for the "proletariat" and just as in our modern towns, when there was not any room left for the rapidly increasing number of the unwanted multitudes, the houses began to shoot up in the air and unscrupulous contractors erected shabby tenement houses, six and seven stories high, to take care of the ever increasing masses of superfluous humanity.

The old Rome had been essentially a peasant state and her wars had been fought by sturdy boys from the farms, who being insured against every sort of physical hardship had easily been able to overcome the difficulties of their endless campaigns amidst the trackless jungles of northern Europe and across the scorching deserts of Africa.

But the children of the professional proletariat, brought up on the dole, lacked all the physical qualities necessary for the sort of pioneering and in the end, Rome had gone to pieces for lack of suitable recruits.

Her rulers had thereupon been obliged to hire mercenaries from among those wild Teutonic tribes who until then had never been allowed to set foot on Roman territory.

And those hirelings, as soon as they had lost their awe before the very name of "Unconquerable Rome," and had sensed the inherent weakness of the government which employed them, had quite naturally refused to be treated any longer as "subject races" and had insisted that they be recognized as full-fledged citizens.

Total accounts for the claim of St. Paul that as a Roman citizen he had a right to bring his case before a Roman tribunal.

Many people, if ever they give the matter a second thought, wonder how a Jewish tentmaker from the Asiatic city of Tarsus could possibly claim Roman citizenship. It was really very simple. Either he himself or his father had bought that citizenship, as hundreds of thousands of other foreigners had done, on account of the privileges to which it entitled them after they had acquired their papers.

And in this way, the Roman Republic had dug its own grave. It had allowed its peasantry to degenerate into a city proletariat. And that proletariat, not liking its own miserable position, had become a constant menace to the state.

Until the last three centuries of the republic's existence, it had been safe to say that Rome was no longer in any way a democracy but an "Oligarchy, tempered by revolt." The stories of these quarrels between the Haves and the Havenots are to be found on every page of Roman history, once the city had become the center of an empire.

And they led up to such a state of anarchy that in the end, the old law which states that "autocracy is always the result of bad democracy" began to function.

Rome returned to that one-man form of government, which this time did not take the form of a kingship, as it had done some hundred years before, but which this time manifested itself as a dictatorship under a military commander-in-chief who was known as an imperator or emperor.

NEXT: On the ruins of Rome's republic rose its mighty emperors.

Barbers Instructed How To Trim Beard And Mustaches

Most of the barbers in town today knew what to do when customers came in and asked them to trim their whiskers in the Coronado fashion.

John J. Wells had one picture of the style of beard and mustache approved for the Coronado. He had shown it to many barbers who had asked for instructions. Others may call him at the radio station.

Due to the fact that there is no available picture of Coronado, and never has, it will not be possible to publish a picture in the News. Historians say there is no picture of Coronado in existence as far as they know.

The picture in Wells' possession shows the type of hirsute adornments worn by Coronado's men in 1540. It calls for a mustache with waxed ends and a beard on the chin and lower jaws.

Mr. Wells, chairman of the whiskers committee, announced that the cell and the tank for non-growers of whiskers would soon be ready for use. "I'm thinkin' we'll be duckin' somebody come the end of this week," he warned.

Prisoner Offered Freedom If He Will Leave New Mexico

TUCUMCARI, N. M., March 22 (AP)—Sheriff Claude Moncus attempted today on orders of the district judge to arrange a goodby meeting for Clarence Key of Denton, Texas, with his five children before beginning a voluntary exile from New Mexico to escape a prison sentence.

but admitted also were convictions in Concord Junction, Mass., and Santa Fe, for similar offenses, and a jail break here for which Key had just finished a term.

In accepting Judge Harry Patton's offer of a "deferred" sentence, Key requested the court to permit him to visit his estranged wife's home here in custody of the sheriff, but this was refused and efforts started to have Mrs. Key bring the children to the jail.

Key has never seen the youngest of his children, he told the court, for it was born while he was in jail and his wife had refused to bring the baby or let the others visit him.

Between 15 And 20 Bouts On Card Tonight

Follett Team Not Coming To Tourney

There have been baseball tournaments, basketball tournaments and other types of tournaments in Pampa but tonight there will be the beginning of a two-day boxing tournament among high school boxers from Canadian, Stinnett and Pampa. The young leather ringers will start slugging at 8 o'clock in the high school gymnasium.

The tournament will end tomorrow night when 12 champions will be crowned. Bouts will begin at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, also. Admission will be 25 cents for students and 40 cents for adults, each session.

Follett, the fourth team in the district, withdrew from the tournament last night. The Follett coach said that boxing was interfering with other school activities including spring football and track and field which necessitated withdrawing his team.

With Canadian, Pampa and Stinnett competing there'll be some mighty good bouts," declared Bill Anderson, athletic business manager at Pampa high school, today. "We barely defeated Stinnett and Canadian has some great boxers which will make things all the more interesting."

Change in Pampa Team

Coach Oscar Hinger of the Pampa team reported this morning that Wayne Glidens worked out yesterday and would enter the light heavyweight division with Bussell of Canadian being the other boy in the weight.

Murry McPherson, who has been boxing in the 85 pound class, will be the local 75-pound representative. He will replace Johnny Campbell who injured a foot earlier in the week. McPherson will be out to take Bugs Denny of Stinnett, undefeated this season.

A win in the local tournament for Billy Gise, Lefty Pendleton, Kenneth Mullings and James Carlisle will crown them champions of the north half of the Panhandle Plains High School Boxing League and guarantee them a place in the tournament of champions with south half winners on April 19 here.

Other Pampa boxers must win here and also in Canadian next week to be crowned, although it may be that Pampa boys who lost to Follett boxers in the final bouts in Stinnett last week will be declared champions as will Stinnett finalists who lost to Follett boys.

Greaves Wins Golden Gloves

Fights of championship caliber can be expected. When L. V. McDonald of Pampa and Dobbs of Canadian meet there's sure to be fireworks. Another top billed bout will be the meeting of Lefty Pendleton of Pampa and Calloway of Canadian, two classy artists. Calloway will be remembered as a former Golden Gloves contender.

If "Foosy" Green is able to go following a hand injury, and he says he's all set, his battle with Canadian's Jennings should be a classic. Green broke his thumb in McLean three weeks ago.

Pampa's Charles Breithauer is laying for Roland Berger, Stinnett's undefeated 95-pounder.

Many other grudge battles are in store for boxing fans of this section. Pairings will not be made until boys arrive and are weighed in.

The Pampa high school gym can accommodate 700 fans and officials expect to see it packed both nights. Between 15 and 20 fights can be expected each night.

Top Favorites Will Play Again Tonight

DENVER, March 22 (AP)—They have their sour moments, but the two top favorites in the national AAU basketball tournament are still in there pitching at the counting hoop.

Meaning, of course, the national champion Denver Nuggets and the Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips 66 outfit, who tangled in the championship tussle a year ago.

In tonight's semi-finals, the Nuggets will play Oakland Golden State and Phillips will clash with the Seattle Savages, Northwest AAU champions.

In last night's quarterfinals, a well-coached team from Idaho University, Southern Branch, led the Nuggets for the entire first half.

Then, to nobody's surprise, the Mountain Giants began hitting their shots to snow the collegians under, 43-38.

Phillips, twice a runnerup but never a national champion, struck back with a second half drive to beat Hollywood Twentieth Century, 40 to 32.

Oakland gave a brutal basketball lesson to the St. Louis Rangers of the Missouri Valley AAU league, 39 to 17.

Rice To Play Kansas In Kansas City Tournament

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

KANSAS CITY, March 22 (AP)—One of the country's outstanding basketball teams, Colorado or Southern California, will be eliminated tonight in the first round of a nationwide tournament to determine the 1940 collegiate champion.

Luck of the draw pits Colorado, winner of Big Seven conference laurels and the New York sports writers' tournament, against Southern California, Pacific Coast League king, in tonight's second game.

Rice, Southwest conference champion, and Kansas, representative of the Big Six-Missouri Valley area, collide in the opener. Although their records compare with those of the far westerners, neither has gained the respect shown the Buffaloes or Trojans.

Tonight's winners play each other Saturday night and the victor of that game will oppose the champion of a similar playoff at Indianapolis, Ind. here on March 30 for the U. S. title.

Duquesne, Bowling Green Ky., Teachers, Indiana and Springfield, Mass., colleges are competing in the eastern tourney.

Colorado carries onto the court with it tonight the unofficial designation as the top collegiate quintet in the country. The Buffaloes won 17 of 19 games this season by an average score of 51 to 36. And the best sported by any of the four combatants.

The Trojans won 19 and lost two games during the season and halted Long Island university's winning streak on a cross-continent tour during the Christmas holidays. The Barrymen averaged 48½ points in each game to 36 for opponents.

Rice, most active of the western quartet, won 21 games and lost three but comes here with only nine and Capt. Levi Craddock hobbling on a badly sprained right ankle.

The Owls have the best offensive record for the season, pouring 55 points through the nets in each contest while permitting the opposition 42.

Kansas, with a record spotted by five defeats, has the best defensive mark. The Jayhawks held their rivals to an average of 33 but could collect but 40 per game themselves.

Officers Discover Liquor Under Hen

GREENVILLE, MISS., March 22 (AP)—Sheriff's deputies discovered a new hiding place for whiskey—underneath a setting hen.

After two futile searches over a period of several weeks of property they suspected had whiskey buried in the ground, a trio of county officers frightened a red hen off her nest. There were a half dozen eggs, and underneath the straw a cache of 14 half pints of whiskey.

Hogan Wins Golf Tourney At Pinehurst

By BILL BONI

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 22 (AP)—They were beating the big bass drum for Ben Hogan as golf's winter caravan moved into this textile city for the $5,000 Greensboro open which starts tomorrow.

As newly crowned north-south champion, Hogan had taken rank with the two local favorites, Sam Snead and Clayton Heafner, as prime choices for this latest 72-hole test on the pros' program.

Comparatively speaking, it has taken a long time for Hogan to crash into the first-place money winners. Actually, this is only his fourth season on the tournament trail. The reason victory has seemed so long in coming is that Ben so often has come close to triumph without quite getting there.

But he didn't leave anything to chance at Pinehurst. From the opening day, when he tied the course record with a 66, the Texan served notice that his hat was in the ring for keeps. He followed that up with a brilliant 67, then while others of greater reputation faltered and fumbled down the home stretch, he kept his game just steady enough to protect a vital three of the seven strokes of margin he'd held at the halfway mark.

The victory, scored with a tournament record 277, established Hogan more firmly in second place among the money-winners and the leaders in the Harry Vardon point trophy standing. In each division he trails Jimmy Demaret, another Texan from Houston. Hogan has earned $4,938 in prizes to Demaret's $6,152, and has a point score of 144 to his rival's 212.

In third place among the scorers, despite the fact he skidded badly in the last two rounds at Pinehurst, stands Craig Wood. The Mamaroneck (N. Y.) veteran who lost in a playoff for the 1939 U. S. open title, has 105 points, to 97 each for Snead and Dick Metz, 85 for Nelson, 77 for Jug McSpaden, tied for fifth in the north-south with Horton Smith, 59 for Toney Penna, and 50 for Jimmy Hines.

Nelson stands next to Hogan in earnings at $3,271. The other leaders are Smith, $2,733; Snead, $2,705; Wood, $2,658; Heafner, $2,653; Lawson Little, $2,517; McSpaden, $2,331; Lloyd Mangrum, $2,095, and Paul Runyan, $1,838.

Paychek game back a long way, or can't Dempsey make up his mind?

No Changes Seen In Basketball Rules

DALLAS, March 22 (AP)—James W. St. Clair, chairman of the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball rules committee, looks for no major changes this year but says his group may approve use of convex backboards.

The committee meets next week at Kansas City.

He said, however, that if it disapproved the old-style board will not be outlawed.

St. Clair, director of physical education at Southern Methodist University and executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, says the convex backboard is of principal benefit to the spectator, giving him a better view of the shots at the basket.

St. Clair declared there was no question about the three major rule changes in the last three years increasing the popularity of basketball.

These are the elimination of the center jump, the three-second rule under the basket and the 10-second rule in the back court.

"Some of the people criticize the changes made in the rules in recent years but I believe if we re-voked them and went back to the old style of game, people would soon so loudly the rules committee would be afraid to return home," St. Clair said.

Individual Opportunity Foundation Of Progress

Thomas Jefferson, referred to by some historians as "the father of the patent system," was in fact the first patent examiner. When the patent question first came up, Jefferson was opposed to granting patents for they hinted at monopoly; but when he saw how the government, by giving patent rights, stimulated invention, he became an immediate advocate.

THE APEX CASE REACHES THE SUPREME COURT (Philadelphia Inquirer) In agreeing to review the Circuit Court of appeals decision, upsetting a $711,000 award to the Apex Hosiery company for damages caused by sit-down strikers, the United States Supreme court evidently realizes the need for a definite ruling on the vitality of the labor law.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON—This is the story of a big stink in the United States senate. Sedate senators, walking through the second floor halls of the capitol past the door of the senate military affairs committee, sniffed the odor and scowled. The noses of senate guards, catching the pungent aroma, twitched. Everybody around looked apprehensively at the closed committee room. No one dared investigate. The committee was in secret session.

Utter Futility

It happened the other day. Here's how. Senators Nye and Gillette and Representative Church of Illinois are sponsors of a resolution to look into the possibilities of the Barlow bomb. The resolution came before the senate committee. Mr. Barlow was called in.

Intellectual Boondoggling

Parents pay for every inch of their children's training from the kindergarten sandpile to the high-school diploma, and yet they have allowed administrators full latitude for their intellectual boondoggling. It is for them to insist, "But after our children are socialized, what then? They still have to be educated." And it is for them to remember that they own the schools. School administrators spend their two billion a year in school taxes—and are never required to balance their books, are never audited educationally.

Demonstration

The liquid oxygen-carbon aerial mine is not the first occasion of Mr. Barlow's dealings with the government. A few years ago, the U. S. court of claims allowed him something like $600,000 for his inventions on engines and arms of death during the World War. Before that, he worked with Rancho Villa, but not after the United States took a hand in the affairs of that colorful Mexican.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hollies

In the March 16th issue of the Saturday Evening Post, a school teacher talks very frankly about our modern, progressive education.

"Still, Progressivism is not a system at all; it is, rather, an attitude. No comprehensive statement that could pass as its philosophy has ever been issued by the P.E.A. and there is probably no one inclusive statement of it to which all its members would agree. Like most reformers, the Progressivists jumped on too many horses and rode off in too many directions. In 20 years of experimentation they have never settled on where they should go, or how fast.

"The Progressive main-line attitude is one thing, the extravagant, helter-skelter way in which it is interpreted by many of our public-school superintendents is quite another. Nor is it any wonder.

"Our superintendents are trained in janitor-management, school-building design, budget-making and to be cronies at the heads of educational plants—and in the methods of teaching. Modern superintendents are not teachers; they know how to teach any subject under heaven, but they are literally not required to know anything about subject matter itself.

"Besides, our superintendents like to show their patrons of the public school, and us teachers, that they're keenly alive to the most advanced thinking in education. And the most advanced thinking in education today is in Progressivism.

"After the years of teaching in Progressive schools, I must confess that I'm ashamed of my job. I'm ashamed before the pupils into whose heads I am forced to put hazy frills instead of knowledge; ashamed before the parents, who pay my salary and wonder why their children are so ill-prepared for college and for life.

Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, March 22—Mr. Eddie Cantor, the comedian, who does so much serious talking about Americanism and democracy, is heading for Broadway with a couple of new scripts in his pocket and the old zeal in his heart.

"The scripts may get back to Hollywood eventually, but first they'll become plays, and Cantor will produce them. Producing is about the only thing he hasn't done in his 33 years of show business, so he's excited about this chance to try it along with expounding his notions of political and social reform.

Texas 'Suffering' From Rash Of All Kinds Of Lecturers

By JACK KRUEGER Associated Press Staff

In the peaceful years before Hitler, Texans in select, quiet groups used to sit down in little auditoriums to hear Krishnamurti lecture on Indian mysticism.

Or asked Socialists Norman Thomas to direct questions about his discreet Socialism. Or listened to an exposition of some gentle philosophy.

That's changed now. The little groups in the big cities have grown, overflowing into bigger auditoriums, into smaller towns all over Texas. Texans want their lectures down-to-earth from the lips of knowing insiders, from men of the world who carry the load of directing the intimate secrets of a world in turmoil.

Last September aging Neville Chamberlain announced to a tremendous crowd that Britain was at war with Hitler.

A few weeks later Alfred Duff Cooper, late of Mr. Chamberlain's cabinet, pops up on a dozen Texas platforms to explain what drove the patient prime minister to his fateful decision.

Then Herr Hitler smashes Poland. Not long after, a former German labor leader brings the "inside story of the Nazis to a lecture audience in isolated Canyon, Tex.

Which illustrates that fashions in lectures, as in hats, change with the times. And it illustrates something more profound: Texas is growing out of its adolescent cowboy-beriber, wild west, stick-horse period into a prosperous adulthood.

Why else did Texans a few weeks back spend their time and pay their money to see the German, the British, the French, the Russian, the Japanese explain in accented, labored English the Hitlerian menace to democracy? To those who heard him Dr. Mann was more than the greatest living novelist. He was an exiled German.

To fill the growing cultural thirst of Texans an army of lecturers—good, bad, indifferent and usually expensive—has marched into this state in the last few months. Their platform efforts will be reaching a noisy climax, because January, February and March are their best months in the southwest.

Most of the speech-makers talk about Hitler, Britain, Europe, mysterious Russia, Japan, and what happened to them last week. But not all, as witness John Mason Brown, New York drama critic in Dallas and other Texas cities; Carver Wells in Amarillo on "Exploring the Malay Peninsula"; Edward Lindeman, New York social philosopher in Dallas on underlying social trends in America.

Here are a few who have been in Texas cities from Amarillo to Beaumont: Edward Weeks, magazine editor in Fort Worth; Dr. Werner A. Bolander, Canyon; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at Denton; H. V. Kallenborn in Dallas; Mlle. Eve Curie, famed daughter of the famed discoverers of radium, explaining to Houstonians and others what Einstein and other scientists are doing to win the war; Dr. Will Durant and Senator Vojta Benes, brother of the exiled Czech president, in Dallas and other cities; Maurice Hndus, an American, who interprets Russia and the Balkans; Maj. George Pleading Eliot, with a reputation for knowing all the military strategies; Dorothy Fuldheim, who told Corpus Christi about Hitler.

Without being statistical, these speakers and their numerous colleagues get good round sums for their talking. Some of them are old trouper in the profession, playing a circuit year after year as long as people will pay to listen, hitting a town one day and catching the last train out that night for the next stand. Their subjects often vary with the winds of prevailing thought.

Don't dump all lecturers into one basket, however. The profession has its castles. The Civic Federation in Dallas, for instance, will have no truck with the glad boys of lecturing who have little else to recommend them; the federation wants solid scholars to stay around for a week or so to expound their views in a series of talks. Lindeman is an example.

Most lecturers are booked through agencies out of New York, and a lecture sponsor can pick his speakers like tomatoes out of a basket.

Not all visiting lecturers are outlanders. Texans themselves are doing a bit of explaining to earnest audiences. Among the best in the state are Dr. Charles Hackett, authority on Latin-America; R. H. Montgomery, who explains the mysteries of economics, and Dr. Homer P. Rainey, crusader for a hard-muscle democracy. All three come from the University of Texas. Dr. Humphrey Lee is in demand on education. He's the president of Southern Methodist university. George Stocking of the University of Texas is another economist, expected considerably in demand throughout the country.

Tex's Topics

By Tex DeVesse

IF AN advocate of political ownership of Pampa's light and power industry begins to argue with you and tries to tell you that it's the thing the town needs, that Pampa soon will be tax free if we get municipal ownership—don't forget to ask him why political management of the waterworks in Pampa has resulted in such high water rates as now exist here.

MUNICIPAL ownership in the majority of cases is bad due to political management and local conditions. . . . Perhaps a few cities can be found where it "looks good," but your political ownership advocates always imply that every city which acquires a municipal plant will almost automatically thereby become a "taxless town." . . . The evidence, however, is preponderantly against political ownership as a sound business proposition.

MUNICIPAL ownership always opens up the avenues for political chicanery. . . . There would be no regulation over a municipal plant in Pampa. . . . Private utility companies in Texas are subject to regulation, but once they are turned into political hands and management, the regulation is off and the politicians can do as they please.

IF municipal ownership should become a fact in Pampa, here is something that must not be lost sight of: . . . Acquisition and operation of the power plant by the City will not permit the City of Pampa, so long as there is a debt against the plant, to supply free services to churches and city schools. . . . Municipal plant advocates are making the statement that if the city buys the plant, these institutions will get free service. . . . They cannot possibly get any free service until the debt is finally paid off.

LET US take the supposition, for a minute, that Pampa finally acquires the light and power plant. . . . That leaves the Utopian picture the wish painters have painted does not work out just as they tell you it will. . . . Suppose something goes wrong, as it is very likely to do. . . . Pampa's maximum tax rate as provided in its city charter is $2.50 per hundred dollars, and its present gross tax rate is but $1.50 per hundred. . . . That leaves an available tax rate of $1.00 per hundred on which the city can be compelled to meet its obligations. In addition to that, the tax valuations, no doubt, could be increased.

THE point we are trying to make is that it is apparent that the City has means other than revenue bonds with which it could be compelled to discharge its liabilities for the purchase price of the power plant. The proponents of political ownership will try to tell you, however, that the acquisition of the light plant would not put a burden on a debt on the people of Pampa. . . . Through analysis of the facts disprove their statements. . . . But—remember your water bill!

STORIES IN STAMPS

San Francisco Bay Was International Prize FOUR nations sought possession of San Francisco Bay, one of the largest and safest land-locked harbors in the world. Spain's claim was based upon discovery of the bay by Don Gaspar de Portola, governor of Lower California, who reached the bay in the fall of 1769. His discovery is pictured on the U. S. 10-cent stamp above, of the Panama-Pacific commemorative series of 1915.

First ship to sail through the Golden Gate was the "San Carlos," both the Spanish royal navy, commanded by Don Manuel Ayala, in 1775. The English had missed possession by only a few miles when Sir Francis Drake, in 1579, had landed in a cove north of the harbor.

After the Spanish had established a settlement and mission in 1777, Russia made a futile attempt to colonize in 1811. The settlement was comparatively peaceful until the U. S.-Mexican War. On July 9, 1848, Capt. John B. Montgomery, of the U. S. Navy, sailed the sloop "Porpoise" into the harbor, claimed the city for United States.

Oil Industry Competition At New Peak

HOUSTON, March 22 (AP)—The Texas oil industry is in the midst of the keenest competition in its history, Houston oil circles report. The recent reduction of the import duty on South American crude oil, followed by a big hike in oil tanker rates, dealt a stiff blow not only to refiners, but producers as well, the oilmen say. Protests have been lodged in Washington by oilmen from the Southwest, Midcontinent and Eastern seaboard against oil tanker rates. They said tanker rates from Texas ports to the Atlantic seaboard north of Cape Hatteras were raised from 14 cents a barrel last August to 64 cents a barrel at present. After the tariff reduction, one company alone was reported to have placed 33 tankers in the Venezuelan trade, bringing imports of oil into the United States. The hike in tanker rates weakens the Texas oil industry in its competition with imported crude, oilmen claim. As a result, a movement is afoot to demand that the interstate commerce commission take over the regulation of coastwise water freight rates. Rail and pipe line rates already are regulated by the commission. Shippers from Gulf Coast ports are having to absorb the increase in prices. Usually there has been a sufficient differential between Gulf Coast and Eastern seaboard prices on oil and its products to absorb prevailing transportation costs. For instance, when the rate was 14 cents a barrel last August, 70 octane motor fuel was quoted on the Gulf Coast at 5 1/2 to 5 3/4 cents a gallon, while the price for the same product in New York harbor was 6 to 6 1/2 cents a gallon. Today, however, the oilmen lament, while there has been a 450 per cent increase in tanker rates there has been no corresponding increase in market quotations. Motor fuel is actually about 33 pounds of carbon black in that amount of gas. The chemist said Texas supplied 87 per cent of the world consumption of carbon black, an important constituent in manufacture of tires and ink. The University's second patent proceeding involve production of the air filtering machine which its inventors claim can be constructed at a cost of less than $100. Degler and Willis say basic functions of the machine, which can be fitted into a window, are to build sufficient air pressure in a room to prevent pollen-laden air from leaking in. Incoming fresh air is sifted through specially-built filters and heated because air at low temperatures with little pollen has the same effect on a patient as warm air with much pollen. Its developers claim. The device uses a fan, a heater of electric, gas or hot water type, and filters.

Spring Styles Described By Fashion Head

"This spring, women can look their most alluringly feminine," says Miss Irene Ballard, fashion department head of Montgomery Ward. "I can't be too enthusiastic about the new fashions we've just received." In dresses, the "hard," sophisticated look is passe. . . the "tiny-waisted," "hour-glass" effect (which so few of us managed to achieve) has gone. American women come in to their own with the "longer torso" silhouette, originally created by Mainbocher, an American designer with American ideas! Unmistakably new, the longer torso silhouette gives you a young, lithe look, with emphasis on your figure from bustline to hipline. Pockets abound on all the new dresses. . . on jackets, on bodices, on skirts. Rows of buttons march gaily over the new tailored styles, in trend with the military influence inspired by Paris. There's nothing like snowy white lingerie touches to lift you into Spring. Miss Ballard says that crisp lingerie flattery is being used this Spring more than ever before. Practical, budget-minded women will be delighted with the various ensembles available. Jackets, redingotes, and boleros appear over many dresses, making them "double duty" frocks for street or afternoon wear. For example, one ensemble has a long dark coat that can be worn over other dresses too. Hats are frivolously feminine. . . yet sane! For one thing, they sit firmly on the head. Secondly, there are none of the towering atrocities men have objected to (and rightly so) in recent years. Coats, too, look more feminine this Spring. You'll see lots of expensive dressmaker details, trapezoid work, and pleats. Pockets are especially important on coats, for they are not only decorative, but extremely practical. The backs of coats have been made interesting with pleats, smocks, and buttons. "These frankly feminine" fashions are the most exciting styles I've seen in ages," says Miss Ballard. "They're becoming to all types. . . short or tall, thin or plump! It isn't necessary this year to look mannish or 'streamlined' or 'littie girlish' or any of the other things we aren't. We can look as we should. . . womanly and feminine."

Memorial To Huey Long Nearly Ready

BATON ROUGE, La., March 22 (AP)—Louisiana's memorial to its slain dictator, Huey P. Long, neared completion today—almost five years after his death. Workmen prepared to hoist a 14-foot statue of the late U. S. senator atop a hewn granite base over his tomb on the beautifully landscaped grounds of the State Capitol, built by Huey and scene of his violent death from a bullet wound Sept. 10, 1935.

Creating Use For Waste Gas In Texas Object To Research

Flaming gas fires in Texas oil and gas fields burn up an estimated $15,000,000 worth of natural gas a year and do little more than warm stray cattle on cold nights. This waste of an irreplaceable natural resource—the gas is burned to eliminate the danger of explosions—has irked Dr. E. F. Schoch, veteran University of Texas chemist. Dr. Schoch wants to convert this loss into gain. To that end he is laboring on a process—still far from perfect—which he hopes will utilize the 1,500,000,000 cubic feet of gas and produce acetylene. A patent on the process, when Dr. Schoch obtains one, will be assigned to a newly-formed Texas Research Corporation, directors of which are the university's regents, and profits will be turned back into other research activities. Besides Dr. Schoch's plan, Prof. I. E. Degler of the school's mechanical engineering department, and his assistant, Alvin R. Willis, have developed an air-conditioning device which they say filters any fever irritants from air introduced into a room. Patents on this also will be assigned to the non-profit corporation. Dr. Schoch's process seeks to develop acetylene from methane present up to 90 per cent in natural gas. Acetylene is a basic raw material used in the manufacture of synthetic materials such as artificial rubber and plastics. One chemical firm recently built an entire house from acetylene-made plastics and the material is said to be due for development in commercial channels. Acetylene currently is produced from calcium carbide. The principal use of natural gas are as fuel and in the manufacture of carbon black. By Dr. Schoch's method the gas, in a continuous process, would be passed through a drum-like chamber containing two electrodes. Flowing through a 10,000-volt spark between the electrodes, the methane would be partially converted into hydrogen and acetylene. The acetylene would result from adding the energy of the electric charge to the methane. From the chamber, the gases would be piped through a stripper column separating the acetylene from the hydrogen and unconverted methane. The drum, according to the chemist's plans, is airtight and there is no oxygen present to cause explosion. The gas is ignited and in the drum it is bombarded but not fired by electric charge. "The carbon black plants with an average pound and a half yield per 1,000 cubic feet of gas have been the most effective answer thus far. Although 10 pounds would be considered an efficient yield, there is ac-area and necessitating frequent cleaning. But Dr. Schoch says he hopes to remove this obstacle in the near future. So far, results show only a small percentage of acetylene recovered by the method but the chemist and his assistants are working on devices which they believe will produce a maximum of acetylene with minimum power requirements. Dr. Schoch says at least half of the 1,500,000,000 cubic feet of gas not used for fuel is wasted. "The other half is used for carbon black," he declared, "which, because of the insufficient manner of its production, may be considered wastage." He explained that as wells producing under 30,000 cubic feet of gas per barrel of oil were allowed by law to "pop off" their gas. When the gas content is above that figure, the well must be shut down. "There is, in spite of the court's strict interpretation of the law, an enormous wastage," he said. "But on the other hand would we be justified in discouraging development and wrecking investments in order to stop such wastage? Certainly the closing of wells is not the solution. We must find other uses for the gas at the well. "The carbon black plants with an average pound and a half yield per 1,000 cubic feet of gas have been the most effective answer thus far. Although 10 pounds would be considered an efficient yield, there is ac-

Who Invented the MOUSETRAP?

You've often heard the old adage: "Let a man make a better mousetrap, and the world will make a beaten path to his door." But have you ever happened upon that path, or even looked for it? Why should you, when the people who today have things to sell beat a path to your door to tell you about them? Every newspaper that comes into your home brings you a new list of what you can get, and where. You can do your shopping in the advertising pages—instead of beating a path from store to store to find what you want. Make it a habit to look over the advertisements, and you'll find many fine values you might have missed. . . many exciting and useful things you otherwise might never have known about!

Candidates Begin Fresh Speech Tours

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The tempo of the campaign for the republican presidential nomination quickened today, with senators Taft of Ohio and Bridges of New Hampshire embarking on fresh speaking tours and Thomas E. Dewey of New York preparing to visit Illinois and Wisconsin next week.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, who said Wednesday that the republican nomination should not result from the "transient impulse of a campaign tour," will make a radio speech here Monday night on major 1940 issues.

On the democratic side, Postmaster General Farley will leave next week on an extensive southern tour. It is billed as a round of postoffice dedications, but since Farley now is an avowed candidate for national honors, the trip will have more than ordinary interest to politicians.

Senator Taft talks tonight at Louisville, Ky., tomorrow at Danville, Ky., Monday at Philadelphia, and March 30 at Newport News, Va. Bridges speaks in Cleveland tomorrow, at Chapen Hill, N. C., Tuesday, and at Hackensack, N. J., April 4.

Dewey will deliver an address in St. Louis next Wednesday, then will go to Chicago for a speech Thursday, and will campaign in Wisconsin Friday and Saturday. He is opposing Vandenberg in the Wisconsin primary April 2.

That primary will provide the first real test of strength in both parties. Slates of delegates for President Roosevelt and vice president Garner are entered on the democratic ticket. They also are contesting in Illinois April 9, while Dewey is unopposed in that state's republican primary.

Garner Takes Action
Vice President Garner took formal action last night to get his name in the California primary on May 7. He sent an affidavit to the California secretary of state endorsing a list of 48 Garner-pledged delegates. Roosevelt's name also is entered there, but some members of the California delegation in Congress say the factional row which secretary Ickes claims to have smoothed over on a personal trip to the coast may break out again.

Ickes is understood to be preparing for a little third-term maneuvering in Garner's home state of Texas during a trip there next week. He will speak at Kilgore to an oil industry group.

Garner's friends here said they were not worried about what Ickes might do. Senator Sheppard (D-Tex.), predicting Texas' 46 convention votes would be for Garner, announced he would speak over the radio Saturday night in the vice president's behalf.

John Kimbrough and Joe Boyd, All-American fullback and tackle, respectively, are among the 19 Texas A. and M. college students to be listed in the 1939-40 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Church Of Brethren Will Have All-Day Meeting Sunday

Members and friends of the Church of the Brethren are invited to bring a basket dinner and spend the day in worship and fellowship on Easter.

Following Sunday School, which opens at ten o'clock, there will be a brief consecration service for babies. During the eleven o'clock worship service the pastor will preach on "The Logic of the Resurrection." The fellowship basket dinner is open to everybody.

The afternoon will be spent in informal fellowship, including an hour of group singing of old hymns. The evening worship, opening at 7:30 o'clock, will be built around Lantern Slide Pictures of great Masterpieces of Christian Art, "Seeing Easter through the Eyes of the Artist" will be the theme of the evening.

Following the morning service a moving picture will be made of the congregation.

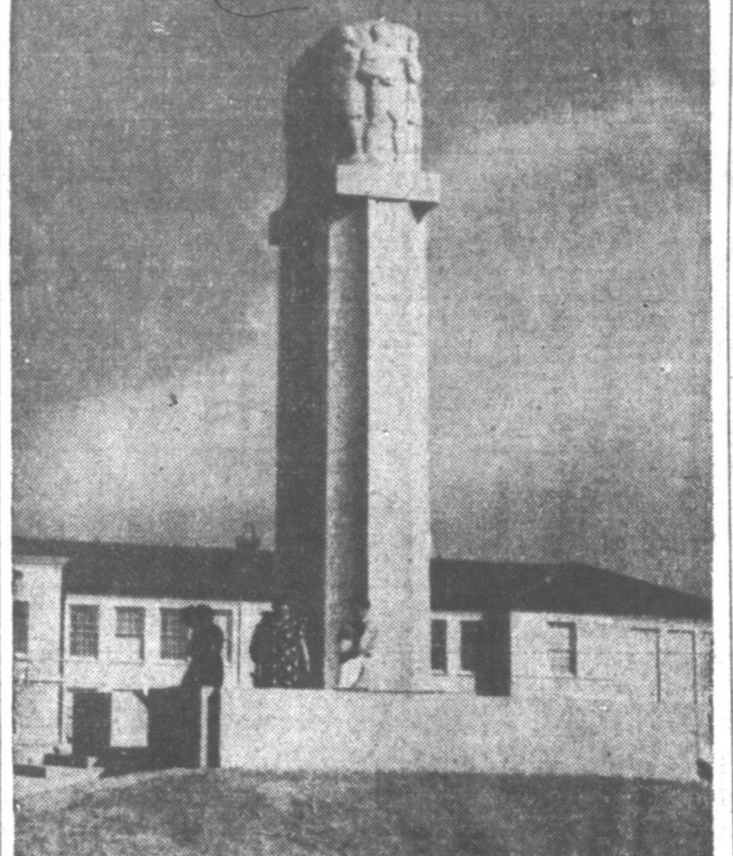

Two Regular Services To Be Held Sunday

Members and friends of McCullough-Harrah Methodist churches who may find it impossible to attend the regular 11:00 o'clock Easter Service Sunday morning will have an opportunity to attend services at the McCullough church an hour earlier.

A complete service will be held beginning at 9:45 o'clock. A second service will be held at Harrah Chapel beginning at 11:00.

Baptists Set Goal Of 1001 Attendance

Sunday morning Rev. C. Gordon Bayless, pastor of the First Baptist church, will use as his morning subject "Christ has Risen—So What?" Sunday night his subject will be "Courage to Sign on the Dotted Line."

The Sunday school of the First Baptist church has set an attendance goal of 1001 and attendance goal in the Training Union of 300 for Sunday.

The First Baptist choir, under the direction of Arthur Nelson, will sing the Easter Cantata, "The Last Seven Words of Christ," beginning promptly at 7:30, after which the pastor will preach. Rev. Alvin G. Haue, well known Kansas City minister, will bring to a close the Sunday School enlargement campaign with an address on the subject, "God's Plan for Saving the World." This service is open to the public and all members are especially urged, by the pastor, to be present. 300 people are expected at this service.

The Fellowship class of the First Baptist church, taught by Mr. R. E. Gatlin, is working for an attendance of 50 Sunday morning and the Everyman's Bible Class which meets at the City Hall and is taught by Rev. Bayless, is working for an attendance of 101.

512 Co-Eds Leave For Mexico City

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 22 (AP)—Three sections of a Mexico special carrying 513 representatives of modern American beauties left here in the early morning hours for a visit to the Republic of Mexico.

Three separate trains carrying 11 coaches apiece will take Stephens college undergraduates to Mexico for Easter and two weeks of exploration below the Rio Grande. The junket is considered as part of Stephen's educational program, and was gratifyingly received as a friendly gesture by the government of Mexico which has co-operated in furnishing entertainment and education for the American students.

The trains will carry the students to Laredo where they will be picked up by the national railways of Mexico.

The arrival of so many American students in Mexico has enlisted the aid of the southern republic's fine arts department which has arranged several musical programs and trips.

At Mexico City the government has supplied various protections for the girl students, such as a constant guard of Mexico City police, bottled water outside the Capitol, and specially inspected auto caravans to carry them into the mountains for native market days.

The group will arrive back north of the Rio Grande on Sunday March 31, for an American fish fry and will spend the next day sightseeing in New Orleans.
