Two School Board Members To Be Elected

BEER-DRINKING GIRL HELD IN FOUR SLAYINGS

'If You Paid Poll Tax You Should Vote'

Election Will Be Held Tomorrow In High School

The second election of the week will be held in Pampa Saturday, when two trustees of the Pampa Independent school district will be elected. First election of the year was on Tuesday when city commissioners were named.

Not only qualified voters in Pampa will be eligible to vote in the school election, but everyone having a poll tax or exemption receipt who resides in the district may vote. The Pampa school district comprises the non-tax quarter of Gray county, known as block 3 of the I&GN railway survey.

Only voting box will be in the high school building. B. W. Rose has been named election manager with Mrs. J. V. Andrews and George W. Briggs election judges. Voting strength in the district is in excess of 4,000.

Four candidates are seeking election. The two men receiving the largest vote will be named trustees, each to serve for three years. Candidates are V. L. Boyles, E. C. Sidwell, Clarence Barrett and J. M. Daugherty.

Boyles, Sidwell and Barrett are running for office for the first time. Daugherty has been a member of the board for the past 15 years. His home is near Hoover. The other three candidates live in Pampa.

Candidates are not running in "pools" and no platforms have been announced by the candidates.

Present members of the board are C. P. Buckler, Roger McConnell, L. J. McCall and Daugherty. C. T. Hunkapillar, the other member, resigned last month. His successor was not named at the time but will be elected tomorrow.

Considering the large number of qualified voters, it is believed the record of 1109 votes in 1938 will be broken tomorrow.

Voting will be allowed between the hours of 8 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sale of beer and liquor will not be prohibited tomorrow.

Washington, April 5 (AP)—Secretary Hull said today the United States had proposed arbitration to Mexico to settle the two-year-old dispute over Mexico's expropriation of American oil properties.

Hull said a note had been delivered by the state department to the Mexican ambassador, Castillo Najera, to this effect.

Beyond saying the note suggested arbitration, Hull said he could not go into any details connected with it.

It is understood the arbitration proposed was under the aegis of the 1928 Inter-American treaty of conciliation and arbitration.

The United States proposed the same method in 1938 to Mexico to settle the controversy over the expropriation of American agrarian properties. Mexico replied then by suggesting instead that a joint commission evaluate the claims and fix the compensation. The state department agreed to this.

The oil controversy has been carried on since March 1938, when the expropriation decree was put into effect. The two large American oil groups interested in Mexico, the Standard Oil of New Jersey and the Sinclair, carried on direct negotiations with the Mexican government which thus far have been unsuccessful.

Police Notified Of Missing Woman

City police officers were notified last night that Mrs. Edith Rogers, also known as Edith Scherer, was missing from her home here. A description of the woman was sent to the Bureau of Missing Persons and was also broadcast.

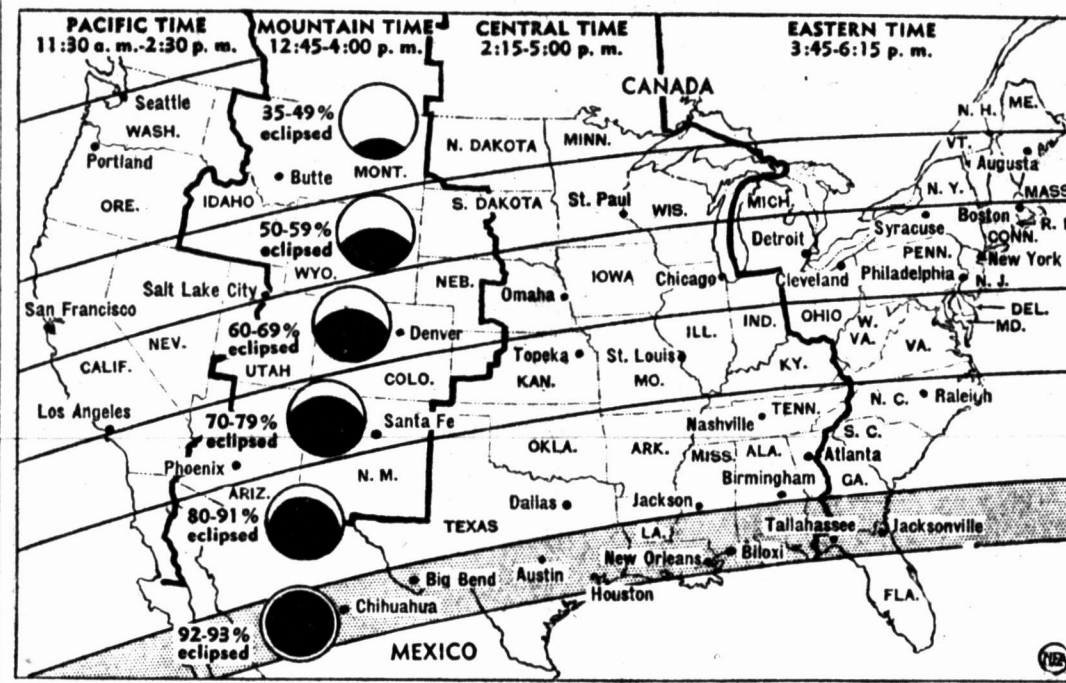

When last seen Mrs. Rogers was wearing a rose wool dress and black shoes. She was described as a dark brunette, 27 years old, nearly six feet tall and weighing 135 pounds.

Friends said they saw her entering a black Ford sedan on last Thursday afternoon.

Officers had no report today on George M. Holt, Pampa reported missing since March 29.

BLACKOUT TO HIT ALL U. S.; BEST IN TEXAS

Ring blackout of the sun on April 7, 1940, will be best seen by the U. S. in narrow belt indicated by shaded area on map. Shaded discs show solar phenomenon will appear at height of eclipse in various sections of the country, with moon moving from right to left across face of the sun. Percentages indicate portion of sun's diameter covered by moon's shadow.

Sunday Will Be Last Chance To See U. S. Ring Eclipse Until '94

By J. HUGH PRUETT
Pacific Director, American Meteorological Society

Rare spectacle in the daytime sky will be seen April 7 throughout most of North America, when the sun stages a black-out known to science as the annular eclipse.

This solar phenomenon will be best seen in a strip of land about 160 miles wide extending entirely across the continent. Here the maximum phase will present a narrow ring of light around the moon's shadow.

The term "annular" comes from the Latin "annulus," meaning "ring." A year ago there was an annular eclipse observed in Arctic regions, but there will not be another blackout of this kind in the U. S. until 1994.

At the time of the eclipse the moon will be at about its greatest distance from the earth. Its shadow will appear too small to entirely cover the sun's disk, so totality will occur nowhere.

GULF STATES TO SEE RING ECLIPSE BEST

Central line of the zone where the annular phase may be seen comes very near the following localities: Chihuahua, Mex., a spot midway between Austin and Houston, Tex., New Orleans, Biloxi, Miss., Tallahassee and Jacksonville, Fla.

Along this line the ring phase will last from 6 to 7 1/2 minutes, varying

Smoked Glass Army Will Have Lots Of Fun

By RAY E. NEUMANN
AUSTIN, April 5 (AP)—Leaving its astronomical significance to astronomers, the annular eclipse occurring Sunday afternoon can provide fun for laymen armed with smoked glass—that is, if clouds don't obscure the whole works.

Caused by the moon sweeping eastward through the sun's rays, the eclipse possibly may furnish scientists with clues as to why the sun doesn't burn up or some other such potent data. That question, incidentally, puzzles astrophysicists.

But, for the smoked glass brigade, especially those in the shadow belt through central Texas, the celestial spectacle will provide an interesting view of the sun's rim—or corona—with the middle of the gaseous mass, which forms the central point of the solar system, completely blacked out by the moon.

Visible as a partial eclipse all over the country and a portion of the rest of the North American continent, the ring eclipse will be complete over a 160-mile wide belt on either side of a line drawn roughly from Del Rio through Beaumont.

War Flashes

LISBON, April 5 (AP)—The Portuguese steamer Carvalho Araujo reported today by wireless she had found an 8,000-ton French tanker abandoned and drifting at sea, apparently being torpedoes in the Atlantic and was towing the vessel to Lisbon.

She said the damages were minor. There was no trace of the crew.

The tanker, whose name was not given, was found between the Azores and Madeira.

LONDON, April 5 (AP)—British aircraft bombed a formation in the Jade Estuary Thursday afternoon, the air ministry announced today, with damage believed caused to four destroyers.

The Jade Estuary is at the entrance to the strategic North Sea German base of Wilhelmshaven, which the British also scouted.

The air ministry's communique said "no damage or casualties were suffered by the British aircraft, all of which returned safely to their base."

LONDON, April 5 (AP)—German aerial attacks on five British fishing trawlers in the North Sea Wednesday were reported today to have resulted in the sinking of one, the 206-Ton Gorgon. The crew was saved.

OSLO, Norway, April 5 (AP)—Bombed eight times by German planes, the Norwegian passenger ship Mira, with two of its 107 passengers slightly injured, arrived today from Newcastle-on-Tyne.

The two were injured by bomb splinters, other passengers reported. The Mira, a 1,152-ton ship, sailed in a British convoy.

School Census Nearly Finished

Taking of the 1940 census in the Pampa Independent school district is nearly completed according to Mrs. Lillian Blythe, enumerator, who with her assistant, Mary Jean Hill has been at work for the past month.

If there is a family residing in the district with children of school age who have not been reported are urged to call Mrs. Blythe, telephone 534, and she or Miss Hill will call on them.

It is of great importance to residents of the school district that every child of school age, or of each child who will become of school age this year, be recorded. The school district receives $21.20 net from the state for every child registered.

Mrs. Blythe has not made a total of the probable scholastics in the district for next year but she thinks they will be even larger than this year.

"I urge any family that has children of school age that we have overlooked to call me," Mrs. Blythe said, "we have received wonderful cooperation this year."

Bureau Of Mines Estimates Urged By Oil Compact

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 5 (AP)—A recommendation that member states use federal bureau of mines estimates of crude oil demand as a yardstick in fixing future production allowances was being drafted today by the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

The recommendation was expected to be presented at an executive session this afternoon. Passage, informed sources said, was a foregone conclusion.

Impetus to the move was given by Dr. A. G. White, head of the petroleum economics division of the bureau of mines, who warned that excessive production and accumulation of stocks for the first quarter of this year already has almost wiped out all of the expected increase in demand for 1940 over 1939.

Along this line the ring phase will last from 6 to 7 1/2 minutes, varying

20 Cocker Spaniels Entered In Dog Show

Will a cocker spaniel win the grand championship of the Panhandle dog and hound show, as a dog that breed did at the Westminster Kennel club's exhibit in Madison Square Garden this year?

Or will the best in the show be a screw-tail bulldog, a chow chow, an English bulldog, a July hound, a collie, a poodle, a dachshund, a setter, a bird dog, a retriever, a sealham, a terrier, a pekingese, a pomeranian, a greyhound, a St. Bernard, a Scottie, or one of the other breeds entered in the show?

Of course, that's a question only the judge can answer after he sees all the dogs.

The most popular breed in the show is the cocker spaniel; that is, more cocker spaniels than any other breeds are entered, about 20. Right now, the cocker spaniel is the most popular yard and house dog. One dog that wins the Westminster show becomes the nation's No. 1 dog and that breed usually is the most popular for that year.

Remember when aerodules were the most popular? Now, try and find one!

Kelley Spaniel Entered

Many beautiful cocker spaniels, both red and black have been entered in the show. Today, Mickey, a cocker spaniel that was owned by Bill Kelley, Pampa youth who died tragically last year, was entered in the show. He is one of the prettiest spaniels in town. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kelley will enter the dog which will be handled by one of Bill's friends.

Mrs. J. L. Young of Amarillo will enter two registered cocker spaniels, one red and one black.

Accompanying this story are pictures of the top dog of the U. S.—My Own Bruce, 5-year-old champion of the Westminster show. He is broad-shouldered and slim. See DOG SHOW, Page 8

Temperature Drops To 40 In Cold Snap

Rain And Wind Sweep South Plains Section

For the third consecutive year as the date of April 7 nears, the Pampa area felt the effects of a cold snap today. There has been a storm on April 7 for each of the past two years.

In Pampa today, temperatures dropped from 46 degrees at midnight down to 40 at 6 a. m. today. At noon the temperature was steady at 40 with colder temperatures forecast generally over the Panhandle tonight.

Orchard growers in the county were in some danger of their crops suffering, as temperatures are due to be near freezing over the Panhandle tonight.

Lubbock had a snow fall this morning and a party of Kiwanians, headed by W. Y. McMillan, lieutenant-governor of division 6 of the Texas-Oklahoma district, bound for an inter-club meeting here, was forced back.

McMillan wired that it was impossible to get to Pampa on account of the storm and the group reached a point only six miles from Lubbock on their way here.

A quarter-inch rain fell at Lubbock early today, driven by a 40-mile wind from the east northeast. Temperatures there dropped four degrees an hour to 37. If the temperature drops to the freezing point, damage is expected to wheat, oats, barley, rye, and to fruit crops.

Wichita Falls had a 58-inch rainfall last night, the first measured in 48 days. The shower was accompanied by a 36-mile north-easterly gale, a brilliant electrical storm, and a 45-degree drop in temperature from a high of 90 late yesterday afternoon to a low of 45 during the night.

Showers were also reported from Quamby to Decatur. The rain will benefit the late wheat and pastures but was not sufficient to do any lasting good.

Yesterday's sweltering heat pushed temperatures to 96 at Graham, 90 at Dublin, 94 at Fort Worth, 91 at San Antonio, Dallas and Abilene, and 90 at Wichita Falls, Taylor and Greenville.

Other points reporting rain and cooler temperatures were Paris, Big Spring, San Antonio, Midland, Gainesville (1.45 inches), Dallas and Plainview. Drought-stricken Childress watched newly clouded skies hopefully, reporting prospects for rain the best in months.

City Cancels Ballot To Buy Light Plant

Pampans won't have to vote on the proposed purchase of the local plant of the Southwestern Public Service company by the city on April 25.

At a special meeting of the outgoing city commission, held late yesterday afternoon in the city manager's office, an order was passed cancelling the election.

Reason for the action was stated "that it is to the best interests of the city of Pampa and the citizens thereof that the new mayor and the new commissioners enter upon the duties of their respective duties untrammelled and not bound by any previous order of the present city commission."

Declared an emergency measure, the order cancelling the April 25 election, was passed on its second, third, and final reading, on motion made by Commissioner Levin Boyd, seconded by Commissioner D. W. Osborne. Mayor Ed S. Carr signed the order.

Notice of the election had been contained in an ordinance passed by the commission on March 26, one week before the city election of April 2, when Fred Thompson was named as mayor and H. C. Wilson and George B. Cree as commissioners, defeating Carr, Boyd and Osborne, who were candidates for reelection.

All of the members of the city commission, and City Manager W. T. Williamson, City Attorney Walter E. Rogers, and City Secretary W. M. Craven were present at the meeting.

Pampa's new city commission is to start its official duties at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Allies Would Sit Tight And Choke Hitler

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Anglo-French announcement of intention to continue to seek victory through economic strangulation of Germany has given Herr Hitler a positive indication of the task cut out for him—and it isn't easy.

The allies having made the rules for this unique duel, the Fuehrer hasn't been offered any choice of weapons. If it happens that he dislikes the idea of strangulation and prefers the use of arms, he will have to make the opportunity for himself by launching an offensive.

Germany is confronted with the alternatives of (1) creating a source of supplies sufficient to keep the cupboards of the nation full and the war industries running, or (2) cutting loose with its powerful war-machine.

The allies for their part are quite content for the moment to depend on their naval blockade, supplemented by a politico-economic blockade on land among the neutral states. That blockade, by the way, never ceases to work either day or night.

Police Accuse 11-Year Old In California

Child Confesses She 'Conked' Her Mother 50 Times

LOS ANGELES, April 5 (AP)—From amazing, discreet stories told them by 11-year-old Beverly Davis, authorities sought today to establish an exact account of the brutal hammer slaying of her mother, two young sisters and her infant brother in their home here.

The flippant, sixth-grade youngster, whom Dr. Paul De River, police psychiatrist, described as "the cruellest-blooded, coolest individual I ever met," was held on a suspicion of murder looking after she unhesitatingly led officers through the blood-splattered rooms, told a number of different stories but blamed her mother for the crime.

Police Captain Edgar Edwards said that after repeated questioning of the girl and studying the discrepancies in her stories, he was convinced she bludgeoned her mother, Mrs. Lolita Davis, 36, to death with a claw hammer after fatally beating her sisters, Daphne, 10, and Deborah Ann, 7, and her brother Marquis, 3.

Chloe's latest version was that Mrs. Davis killed the two girls; that she slew her mother after her mother's command, and she strangled Beverly three times and then beat her to death to "put him out of his misery."

Captain Edwards said he articulated an early solution of the brutal death drama with help in questioning of the girl by her father, Barton Davis, 51-year-old grocery store manager, who moved here with his family five years ago from Grand Rapids, Mich.

Ate Steak Dinner

During part of the questioning, Chloe sat down at a table with Edwards and ate a big steak dinner. When he refused to order her a bottle of beer, she indignantly snapped: "Mother and I split a bottle a couple of days ago."

Without show of emotion, Chloe told her various versions lightly and, described herself as a "bookie."

20 Cocker Spaniels Entered In Dog Show

Will a cocker spaniel win the grand championship of the Panhandle dog and hound show, as a dog that breed did at the Westminster Kennel club's exhibit in Madison Square Garden this year?

Schools Topic Of Address Given At Horace Mann

Horace Mann group representatives and discussion group met in regular session Thursday afternoon with Mrs. W. E. Noblitt presiding.

The meeting was opened with prayer led by Mrs. DeLea Vicars which was followed by committee reports.

Guest speaker was W. B. Weathered, who discussed "What Is Right with the Schools," as this topic was the theme of the Educational Conference which he recently attended in St. Louis.

His talk was based on three questions: One, What are the schools? Two, What good are they doing? Three, What are they achieving? In speaking of the purposes of the schools, he stated that they should contribute to all phases of happiness and learning.

The study group was led by Mrs. C. W. Hays who spoke on "The House That Jack Built."

This discussion portrays a family which consists of a mother, father, and two children, Jack and Jill. It also mentions that they can have a house built on a shifting sand or it may be a home founded on proper training, influence, and examples of parents.

"Tomorrow Jack and Jill will build a home and it will be founded on the homes in which they live today. Homes should be educational institutions where children learn to do things deftly, efficiently, and thoroughly.

"Education in the future, both at home and at school, should try more and more to develop the attitude that each individual has an obligation to society in proportion to the talents, intelligence, and social background he has received," she said.

Mrs. Hays concluded by reading Ernestine Schumann Henck's description of "Home" as follows:

"A roof to keep out rain, four walls to keep out wind, floors to keep out cold, yes, but home is more than that. It is the laugh of a baby, the song of a mother, the strength of a father, warmth of loving hearts, light from books, eyes, kindness, loyalty, comradeship. Home is first school and first church for young ones, where they learn what is right, what is good and what is kind. Where they go for comfort when they are hurt or sick. Where joy is shared and sorrow is eased. Where fathers and mothers are respected and loved. Where children are wanted. Where the simplest food is good enough for kings because it is earned. Where money is not so important as loving kindness. Where even the teakettle sings from happiness. That is home—God bless it!"

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. H. M. Stokes.

TYPICAL CORONADO DRESS

The goal of an authentic Coronado costume within reach of all was achieved by the Coronado costumer with the gown shown here. Suitable for teas, parties, and other Coronado year wear, the costume material can be bought for $3.50.

Coronado year is bringing countless opportunities for different dress-up for milder in the Southwest; and countless burdens on her wardrobe.

To meet both problems and yet save her pocketbook the Coronado Commission's official costumer, Lucy Barton, designed an authentic, colorful garb that the material can be secured for only $3.50.

Despite the low cost, the costume is generous in its sweeping skirt of eight yards and accurate in mirroring the Spanish peasant garb of 1540, the year when Coronado set out on his epochal trek through Arizona, New Mexico, West Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Too, the selection of materials allows for exercise of personal preference in the many attractive and vivid Spanish colors.

Essentials of the costume are the fitted bodice with black laces and the scarf of China silk or georgette crepe.

Nobody Wants Box With Money In It

AUSTIN, April 5 (AP)—Don't remove obstructions from highways—there may be money under them.

State policeman H. W. Klier and Frank Conklin tried for three hours to reward some super-safety-minded driver who would move a large paper box from the San Antonio highway, five miles from Austin. There were no takers among the 714 people who whizzed or chugged around the box in 373 buses, trucks and passenger cars.

Well, after an hour of waiting, patrolman Klier and Conklin saw a light truck stop alongside the box. Eagerly, they drove their patrol car to the truck where one of the occupants was retrieving the traffic-obstructing box. The safety-minded pair were M. Sevin and V. N. Pass, maintenance men from the San Antonio district of the state highway department.

That didn't count, the patrolmen told them, so the box and the five dollars were placed back on the highway.

Car after car and a scattering of trucks and buses continued to circle around the box. After two more hours the officers gave up their quest for a super-safety-samaritan.

The money? They're saving it, along with the box, for another try.

Gray county has issued a total of 16,646 motor vehicle licenses for 1940 up to date, divided as 5,516 passenger, 890 truck, 200 farm truck, 23 dealer, and seven motorcycle. For operating a motor vehicle without a 1940 tag after April 1, the driver is liable to the cost of a 1940 license, plus 20 per cent of the fee, and subject to a fine.

Justified at the Peace Charles I. Hughes heard two cases of drivers not having 1940 tags on their automobiles yesterday. In one case a fine of $1 and costs was assessed.

The marshal entered the front door of the bank as the robbers went out the back. His shot merely grazed Egan's forehead but the Muskogee man fell and his captors fled in fright. They were surrounded in a barn a block from the bank and surrendered meekly.

Sheriff John Baxter said the bank loot was recovered. The amount had not been determined.

Egan said the young couple stopped his car this morning in Muskogee and forced him to accompany them to Webber Falls.

"They told me they were going to rob the Webber Falls bank and that I was going to help them or they would kill me," Egan related.

"The boy and girl had guns and they made me take a sack and hold it while the boy put bills and silver into it. They forced the bank employees to lie on the floor," Egan continued.

Tomorrow's Election Vital To Pampa School Affairs

Be sure to vote in tomorrow's Pampa independent school district election. Two trustees are to be elected. A lack of public interest in school affairs in Pampa is shown by the records of past elections. In 1938, for instance, just slightly more than one-third of the district's voters went to the polls in the school board election. In that year there were 3,000 eligible voters, and in what was termed a "record vote," approximately 1,100 ballots were cast. The other two-thirds of the voters stayed away from the polls.

Last year, an "off-election year," there were less than 500 votes cast in the school trustee election. In this presidential election year of 1940, there are more than 4,500 persons in the Pampa independent school district who are eligible to vote in the election coming up Saturday. They comprise residents of the school district which is made up of the entire north-west quarter of Gray county—a district that extends beyond Kingsmill on the southwest, beyond Hoover on the northeast, almost to the city limits of LeFors on the southeast, and into and including the Price ranch on the northwest.

There is but one polling place for the Saturday election, and that will be at the Pampa High school building. The polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. Saturday. Anybody with a poll tax receipt or an exemption, who lives within the district, will be permitted to vote. You do not have to be a property owner to vote in Saturday's election.

There are four candidates. The voters will elect two to serve three-year terms on the school board. The candidates are E. C. Sidwell, V. L. Boyles, Clarence Barrett, and J. M. Daugherty.

Voters are urged to take an interest in tomorrow's election and to vote for the two candidates whom they believe will best serve the interests of the entire district, and who will speak their own minds on the many vital school policies which will come before the board—matters which directly concern the taxpayers and which affect the boys and girls who attend the schools.

But, above all— It is your duty as a good citizen to vote tomorrow.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, April 5—Another chapter in the unhappy story of the New Deal's attempt to bring economic revival to Puerto Rico is being written—and it seems no more likely than its predecessors to bring the tale to a happy ending. In preparation is a bill which would make $100,000,000 available for reconstruction of the island's economy. Plan is to set up a new over-all lending agency with $20,000,000 capital and authority to borrow $80,000,000 more. The idea is that with capital available new industries might be set up; crops like vanilla, quinine and sea island cotton can be grown in Puerto Rico, the government experts say, and there are good possibilities for the manufacture of glass, toys, novelties and curios.

PLENTY OF CAPITAL BUT NO BORROWERS

The catch, apparently is, however, that the island right now has more capital available than it can use. Bank deposits in Puerto Rico are higher than ever before, and bank loans are lower. Insular bankers say they can't find any borrowers, and the condition worries them.

What bothers the representatives of Puerto Rican business groups here is the thought that if Congress should adopt that new scheme, members would feel that they'd done all that was needed; whereas, it is argued, the only real relief for the island will come through a boost in its sugar quota or an amendment to the wage-hour act that would permit revival in its needlework and other handicraft industries. There's no chance at all of getting the former; Governor Leahy will probably come here in April to demand the latter, and if the administration gives him a hand he might possibly get it.

During the past seven years the government has put close to $130,000,000 into its Puerto Rico reconstruction program.

PARTY FINANCIERS MAY GET HEADACHES

If the new Hatch bill gets through the House with its provision limiting campaign contributions to $5,000, the party treasurers will have a tough time of it this summer. No accurate tabulation of recent gifts exists; best source of light on past performances is the report of the Loneragan committee covering contributions in the 1936 presidential campaign.

This shows that the Republicans got 206 contributions between $500 and 7500, with the Democrats getting 120. Republicans got nine gifts between $7500 and $10,000 and the Democrats got eight; in the $10,000-$15,000 level, the Republicans got 25 and the Democrats 25. Of gifts above $15,000 the Republicans got 25 and the Democrats 22.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

"GOVERNMENT EXPENDITURE"

Inasmuch as we in the United States have been practicing government expenditure for the last ten years, as a method of increasing employment, a small chapter in the book, "Things Seen and Things Not Seen", written some 90 years ago by Frederic Bastiat, is right to the point. It illustrates the absurdity of trying to create employment by government expenditure. I quote:

"Have you never happened to hear it said, 'Government expenditure is a fertilizing dew? See how many families it supports, and how many industries it benefits?'"

"This is only another example of what I have explained before.

"When a Government servant spends for his profit five francs more, that implies that a taxpayer spends for his profit five francs less. But the outlay of the functionary is seen, because it is made; whilst that of the taxpayer is not seen, because it is prevented from being made.

"What is very certain is, that when Jacques Bonhomme (This is a French way of saying John Bull) pays five francs to the tax-gatherer, he receives nothing in return. When, by-and-by, a functionary who spends those five francs returns them to Jacques Bonhomme, it is in exchange for an equal value in corn or in labour. The net result is for Jacques Bonhomme a loss of five francs.

"It is very true that frequently, most frequently if you will, the functionary renders Jacques Bonhomme an equivalent service. In this case, there is no loss on either side, but only exchange. My argument, however, does not at all apply to useful functions. What I say is this: if you wish to create an office, prove its usefulness; prove that the services which it renders to Jacques Bonhomme are an equivalent for what it costs him. But do not urge that the mere employment of the functionary encourages industry.

"When Jacques Bonhomme gives five francs to a functionary in return for a service really useful, the transaction is similar to giving five francs to a shoemaker for a pair of shoes. Both sides are quits. But when Jacques Bonhomme gives five francs to a functionary to receive no service in return, or even to receive annoyance, it is as if he gave them to a robber. It is of no use to say that the functionary will spend these five francs to the great advantage of the national industry; the robber would have done as much. Jacques Bonhomme would have done as much himself if he had not met on the road either of those robbers, the legal or the extra-legal.

"Let me take a case. I am about to arrange with a ditcher to have a trench made in my field, at a cost of five francs. At the moment of concluding my bargain the tax-gatherer takes my five francs, and forwards them to the Minister of the Interior; my bargain is broken off, but Monsieur the Minister will add a dish to his dinner. Upon this you dare to affirm that this official outlay is an increase of the national industry! Do you not understand that there is here only a displacement of satisfaction and of labour? A minister has his table better furnished, it is true; but a farmer has his field worse drained, and that is not less true. A Parisian cook has gained five francs, I grant you; but grant me that a provincial ditcher has missed gaining five francs. All that can be said is, that the official dish and the cook contented are what is seen; the marshy field, and the ditcher without work, are what is not seen.

"Good heavens! What a labour to prove, with political economy, that two and two make four; and if one succeed in this attempt, you cry, 'It is so clear, that it is tiresome.' And afterwards you vote as if nothing had been proved at all."

But for the happiness 'twill bring!—Richard Owen Cambridge.

USE OXYGEN ABOVE 15,000 FEET Tests of Army Pilots Give Line of Mental Strain of High Flying (Scribner's Commentator)

Medical experts have found that when a man is flying at the height of 15,000 feet, his mind works less than a fifth the speed it does at sea-level. His conclusions are inaccurate, his mind hazy, and his whole system distinctly below par. Yet if you ask him if he is feeling all right, and wouldn't he like to use the oxygen mask, he will roar at you and insist violently that of course he's perfectly fit and there's nothing soft about him. They once gave a man a series of multiplications to do. Simple four figures such as 9417 multiplied by 2486. He could do them in 65 seconds, and got all dead right. Then they took him up to 19,000 feet without an oxygen mask. Very crossly he insisted that he was feeling perfectly fit. So they gave him the same sums. At the end of five and a half minutes' hard work he had two lines of the first multiplication done—and every figure was wrong!

The physical strain of flying 350 miles per hour is about the same as working a sewing machine in your home. "But in the complex modern war-plane doctors have to insure that a man's mind is working at top pressure. Consequently army pilots are now forbidden to fly higher than 15,000 feet without using oxygen.

MR. WEIR ANSWERS A CRITIC

(Chicago Tribune)

Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the Republican national finance committee, has replied to one of his critics, who said that with men of his class in the management of the Republican party would be hopelessly reactionary.

Mr. Weir as a steel man must have expected that the New Deal would use him as a symbol when he was made chairman of the committee, but he rejects the assumption that because he has been a successful business man he is in an obnoxious class and the inference that his participation in the development of a great industry serving the country has made him unmindful of its welfare or unworthy to contribute to it.

THE WINNER AND STILL HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP!

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, April 5—The only clan who can rival the record of the Marrying Midwives are the Brothers Westmore. While getting along nicely at their trade of making up actresses for the movies, most of the Westmores haven't done so well at making up with the actresses they marry.

This time, as you may have been reading, it's Perc Perc and Gloria Dickson. Ironically, Miss Dickson now is playing in a picture at Paramount called "I Want a Divorce." It's really a strong preachment against divorce, but she wants one just the same.

She said, "I shouldn't have married him in the first place. It was just one of those things. Perc was having trouble arranging his material for a radio show, and I knew quite a bit about radio, and I helped him, and we went on from there. I felt he needed me, and I'm the sort of person who has to be needed."

GLORIA'S DISAPPEARANCE WAS PERC'S IDEA

She's nervous about the splitup, but it isn't a new experience for Perc. His first wife, Mrs. Virginia Thomas Westmore, divorced him nearly three years ago, declaring in court that he found married life monotonous. He tried again, though, in 1933, with the actress whom he often mixes up at Warner's. They've been estranged for several weeks, and the publicity-loving Perc took advantage of Miss Dickson's eastern personal appearance tour to issue a story that she had disappeared. While the story was breaking he was telephoning her frequently in Pittsburgh.

Wally Westmore is the only one of the four brothers whose first marriage turned out a success. His wife is a non-professional, and they have a family and live quietly, except for his distress over the troubles of Ernie, Wallie and Buddy.

When Ernest Westmore married Ethelna Claire on Feb. 1, 1930, his first wife, Veda Westmore, and 7-year-old daughter, Muriel, were on the steps of the church. As bride and groom emerged, little Muriel stretched out her hand in an appealing gesture and a process server slapped a summons on Westmore for an appearance in court regarding alleged arrears in alimony. Just then a photographer snapped a picture, so the troubled groom cut off through the crowd, caught the photographer and smashed his camera. He had to pay for it.

MARRIED DAUGHTER OF FILM EXECUTIVE

Ernest and Ethelna separated August 25, 1937, and a couple of months later he was rushed to a hospital with self-slaashed wrists. She soon sued for divorce, won it, and got alimony and a property settlement. By court order, Ernest had to will half of his estate to the two children of his first and second marriages.

Last March 9, Ernest Westmore married Peggy Ann Kent, 22-year-old, twice-wed daughter of Sidney R. Kent, president of 20th-Fox. She had been divorced a year before in London by John Rowland Hodge, who named Westmore as respondent. She was quoted as saying that she had gone into the Westmores' beauty shop in 1933 for a little bleach and had come out with Ernie. Her first marriage, incidentally, was an elopement at 15, the following September 4. Ernie Perc was appointed guardian because Buddy hadn't reached his majority.

Domestic tragedy began for the Westmore clan in 1931, when their father, George Westmore, died from an overdose of sleeping tablets after his young wife had divorced him.

People You Know

Since it's an honorable thing to brag on the people you work with, we want to take off our hat to Wayne Phelps who has had responsibilities since he was a kid and who has never ducked any that came his way, and who has taken a many a one on the chin and kept going. Wayne who must have needed much encouragement in his young life, is always encouraging somebody else, for he has no fear of man nor devil, a sort of streamlined Sir Gallahad.

The Walter J. Spoonmores of 921 Wilks had been told that their pedigreed dog was a Welsh Terrier, but until we looked it up in the 736-page dog book we have kept on our desk for the last week, they did not know it was a Pembroke Welsh Corgi. They thought it was a Welsh Corgi, but until we looked it up in the show by Walter J. Spoonmore, Jr., who is a Cub Scout and is very proud of his dog. . . . By the way if you want to know something about your dog just come up and look in this book—it does not skip any.

To all who have entered dogs in the dog show, we are counting on every single single one of you to bring your dogs to the far-gone Sunday afternoon. We will be looking for you.

RIGHT OR WRONG ABOUT PEOPLE

By DONALD A. LAIRD Ph. D. Sci. D.

DO WOMEN BUY BETTER THAN MEN?

"GIVE me a man customer any time, in preference to a woman," is what any salesman will tell you. "Women want to know everything about the article before they buy it. They take longer to make up their minds. And they are much more likely to return the article if it does not work out just the way they wanted."

Now listen to what many husbands say: "Women go crazy when they are out shopping. Look at the funny hats they buy just because they are bargains and not because they need them. It's a shame the way they spend the money we earn!"

Both the salesmen and the envious husbands are probably right. Some women do go into a shopper's delirium when they are bargain-hunting, but by and large, the average woman is better at getting her money's worth than her husband is.

From our analyses of around 22,000 newspaper readers last year, we found that more women than men read the advertisements. The women even read the advertisements of men's products sometimes better than the men themselves do.

It is obvious from these new facts that the woman is more likely to know what is new, what has the best prices, and where things can be bought to best advantage. After all, she is simply tending to her business, for it has been estimated that much more than half of the money spent in stores is on purchases made by women who, in most cases, are the purchasing agents for the entire family.

Women should be better buyers than men. It is their business. They spend more time at it, getting much more practice, and have the salesmen show them everything before making up their minds.

This may annoy the salesperson, but undoubtedly it makes the family budget go farther week after week in spite of the occasional unnecessary hat which was just too good a bargain to resist.

Schoolboy Slain In Street Corner Feud

PHILADELPHIA, April 5 (AP)—Nine youths were under arrest today in the slaying of a 16-year-old boy during a street-corner gun battle which detective Peter McCormick said climaxed months of feuding between two rival "gangs."

All were charged with conspiracy to commit murder. McCormick said five guns and a supply of ammunition were seized by arresting officers and that more than a dozen other boys are being sought.

The dead youth, Leroy Daniels, was shot to death on a West Philadelphia street Sunday night. Another boy is in a serious condition at a hospital, with a bullet wound in his head.

Questions Of 1890

Census Really Bold

CHICAGO, April 5 (AP)—Questions asked by the 1940 census takers were found by a university of Chicago professor today to be relatively innocuous.

Completing a historical survey of 15 years of census-taking in the United States, Dr. Wayne McMillen made known that in 1850 the population was asked:

"Are you deaf, dumb, blind, insane, idiotic, a pauper or a convict?"

In 1890, the educator said, the enumerators asked about diseases or other afflictions in the family, military service and farm ownership.

Garner May Favor Limiting Trade Pacts To One Year

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Vice-President Garner was reported on excellent authority today to be supporting an amendment to limit extension of the Roosevelt trade agreements program to one year.

Garner, it was said, held a series of conversations with senators to urge support of the one-year amendment offered by opponents of the trade legislation in a last-ditch effort to impose at least one restriction on administration trade powers.

The administration wants the program extended for three years.

Garner's stand in favor of the amendment was in opposition to the position taken by several of his close friends in the senate, including Senator Harrison (D-Miss.), floor manager for the trade legislation, and Senator Byrnes (D-S. C.), aiding Harrison in the trade front. Administration leaders declined to comment on Garner's stand, and Garner himself refused to affirm or deny the reports.

Protection Against Magnetic Mines

A new means of protecting ships against magnetic mines was disclosed with arrival of the Queen Elizabeth after a dash from Europe. The liner was circled at the top of the hull by a large electric cable. While the secret of the anti-mine device was held close by the British admiralty, electric experts advanced a theory that the cable was used to surround the vessel with a strong magnetic field extending well out from the vessel on all sides to explode any magnetic mines before the ship drew close enough to cause damage. The normal magnetic field which surrounds all steel ships is so small that it would not explode the mines until the ship was over the mine.

James A. Farley Visits At Tyler

TYLER, April 5 (AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley, leaving words of praise for John Nance Garner in the presidential candidate's home state, came here today on the last lap of a tour of seven Texas cities.

Farley yesterday visited Dallas, Hillsboro, Marlin and Calvert and last night went to College Station to see the Texas A. & M. college cadets in review and to address 1,000 persons at a banquet.

The chairman of the national democratic committee was here as a guest of Earle B. Mayfield, Jr., national committeeman for Texas of the Young Democrats. After a breakfast he planned to dedicate a new federal building at Longview.

His last Texas stop will be Marshall where he speaks at a luncheon arranged by Myron C. Blaylock, a Garner leader, and B. C. McElroy, president of the Texas postmasters association.

This afternoon Farley will address the postmasters association departing immediately afterward for Shreveport.

Farley told Texas democrats he was confident the party would win the 1940 fall elections but said party leaders must keep cool heads.

"I am confident the people will not forget what this democratic administration has done for them and that they will retain the party in the fall elections," Farley said at Hillsboro.

Vice President Garner "has made a great contribution to the success of this country," he asserted, also praising senators Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally and congressman Luther Johnson of Corsicana.

President Opposes Limiting Trade Pacts To One Year

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he believed it would be very harmful to the nation if the bill to extend the reciprocal trade treaty act were limited to one year.

The chief executive spoke at a press conference shortly after it was reported on excellent authority that Vice Garner was supporting an amendment to limit extension of the administration's trade agreements program to one year.

Legislation near final senate action, already approved by the House, would extend the program for three years from June 12.

Mr. Roosevelt said it was not good for the country to have a scrap over tariffs coming up every year. Such a scrap, he said, is essentially what is involved in discussions in congress of the trade treaty act.

In the first year of whatever administration comes in 1941, he said, it would be very harmful to the whole United States to have to bring up the trade treaty issue again. That was true, he declared, whether it would be a Republican or Democratic administration, a Republican or Democratic congress, and regardless of who the individual may be who will head the national administration next year.

When a tariff is up for consideration, he said, agriculture and industry are in a state of confusion because they do not know what is going to be done, and economic activity of the country feels the effect.

Students Cannot Draw Compensation, Carpenter Rules

AUSTIN, April 5 (AP)—College students cannot draw unemployment compensation benefits, Chairman Orville S. Carpenter of the unemployment compensation commission announced today.

Carpenter had the ruling had been determined by a Matagorda county court in an appeal taken from a commission decision.

George P. Keen, Jr., University of Texas student, took an appeal to the appeal tribunal of the commission and then to the county court which upheld the commission on the point that a claimant for benefits must be able to work and in a position to accept a job when offered. The commission and the court ruled that students, after quitting a summer job to return to school do so by their own act and therefore remove themselves from the labor market.

Workers To Reject Cardenas Oil Plan

MEXICO CITY, April 5 (AP)—Reliable sources reported today that the Petroleum Workers union had decided to reject most of the principal points advanced last month by President Cardenas in his program to reorganize the oil industry.

The union reportedly asserted that the "social conquests" of the oil workers would be sacrificed if the chief executive's plan were enforced.

The answer opposed the projected dismissal of thousands of employees, wage reductions, discontinuance of the workers' rent allowance, consolidation of the union, elimination of unnecessary jobs—all basic economy provisions in the presidential plan.

The union emphasized in its answer that it regarded conditions now prevailing in the industry as the "minimum and legitimate" aspirations of the workers.

The union reported the government-administered industry's financial difficulties that the president submitted his program.

Large Crowds Increasing At Baptist Revival

Dr. James W. (Big Jim) Kramer is living up to his reputation at First Baptist church as a crowd getter and result breaker in the great gospel crusade going on at the church, the Rev. C. Gordon Bayless, pastor, said. "Night after night the congregations have increased by leaps and bounds. Last night all around the church there was a jam of cars. What to do with the people will soon be a problem of the ushers. Even the day service is filling the prayer auditorium."

"Dr. Kramer has won all hearts by his dynamic preaching, sincerity, and above all by his telling, stirring, appealing gospel sermons. There is no mistake about what he is driving at, and all know when they leave the church they have heard a real message."

"Last night the large congregation filling the church never moved as 'Big Jim' preached his famous message 'Where Art Thou?' Few men know how to manage and sway a crowd as the evangelist. Never rough, unsmooth, but intense, intensive, passionate, and as the Los Angeles Times called him 'a cyclone set to music.'"

"At the end of the sermon last night a never-to-be-forgotten sight was seen when a few hundred stood to their feet in a solemn, serious pledge to try and win one or more for Christ and the church in the meeting."

"The officers and teachers are working to beat all records in Bible school attendance Sunday, the past record having been 1,025."

"Tonight Dr. Kramer will have as his subject, 'Honest-To-God Folks,' a subject given him by Bob Fitzsimmons the converted pugilist, who was won to Christ by the evangelist years ago and who preached his first sermon from Kramer's pulpit."

Dr. Gordon Bayless, the pastor, said, "As I expected Kramer is going to town here and by Sunday we expect a great harvest of souls saved. I have never seen larger crowds at the start of a meeting. I invite all of Pampa to hear this man of God."

"Arthur Nelson is doing wonders with the large choir which sings every night."

Lighter and tighter until we get a position which was described rather grimly yesterday by British premier Chamberlain thus:

"You can take it from me that one by one leaks and loopholes are being stopped and that as the war goes on that strangling effect will move and more drain the lifeblood out of our enemy."

"That sounds like a tough way to meet defeat. And it is, for I saw it in operation in Germany during the world war, when the greatest military machine ever created was smashed and the civilian population faced starvation."

Hitler's great problem is to get supplies coming into Germany in sufficient quantities before the blockade exhausts his present stocks.

Just what his position is at the moment isn't apparent, for all official figures naturally are carefully suppressed. Estimates of the drop in Nazi imports run as high as fifty percent.

"The only thing we are sure of is that the blockade has squeezed Germany hard, for the Nazis themselves have indicated that."

It is difficult to see how Hitler can win the economic war unless he can open up Russia and the Balkans in a big way. His chances of getting sufficient supplies from those sources look very slim.

This means that in due course he will be forced to turn to major military action to pull him through.

DOG SHOW

hipped with a flat, hard stomach. His legs are straight and strong; teeth, nearly white, hair, coal-black and wavy. His eyes are golden brown with a sparkle that combines good-nature and kindness.

Day in and day out, he's perfectly groomed from head to foot. He has his nails filed just so—and polished. His eyebrows are trained to lie flat. He has his hair cut and his mustache trimmed on the same day every week.

Perhaps a sissy?
Not at all.
His chest expansion stacks up favorably with the best of them.

My Own Bruce . . . 24 pounds. The hair-do.

He can hold his own in a ball game, a running meet or a wrestling match.

Owned by Herman E. Mellenthin of Poughkeepsie, My Own Bruce was born May 4, 1935.

My Own Bruce's training for the ring began when he was three months old, at the hands of his owners. Gently, but effectively, he was taught to stand quietly on a table with head up, to come when called, to "heel" and otherwise behave well when on leash. Little by little, the small black cocker spaniel learned not to mind having his long, silken ears combed, his toenails trimmed, his teeth cleaned.

At the age of one year, My Own Bruce was turned over to Sterling Yoder, professional dog trainer at the Dungan-Kennels, owned by Mrs. Francis P. Garvan of Roslyn, L. I. His training and his grooming became more intensive. Since then, his daily routine has been as strict as that of an athlete in training. Or as that of a socialite client at one of the deluxe health and beauty farms.

"My Own Bruce always begins his day with outdoor exercise," says Mr. Yoder. "Rain or shine, cold or hot, he exercises vigorously to keep his muscles hard and firm and supple. Once a week, the exercise period is followed by a bath—a warm, soapy bath, finished with thorough rinsing."

The championship cocker then goes to the grooming table—there to be brushed and combed for half an hour or so. The ends of the long, curly hair on his ears are evened off, his teeth are cleaned, head clipped, short tail trimmed.

With the help of kindly, good-natured Mr. Yoder, My Own Bruce then does posture exercises. He learns to hold the traditional pose of the show ring for as long as it takes a judge to look at him and pokes and stand off and look again. Frequently, after the posture session, the champion's weight and dimensions are carefully checked. At the moment, he weighs 24 pounds. His height, thickness of body, size of head and so on are considered to be perfect.

What does the nation's top dog eat? Fancy, super-extra-special dog dainties? Nope . . . just about what you give your dog. Champion My Own Bruce's daily meal always consists of three-quarters of a pound of fresh, chopped beef—half of it cooked in a little water, the other half raw; a small handful of broken dog biscuits; one teaspoonful of cod liver oil; a small portion of special yeast for dogs; a tablespoon or so of a cooked, green vegetable.

High Winds Flay New Mexico Areas

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 5 (AP)—High winds flayed New Mexico and West Texas today, whipping dust storms across the state, disrupting communications and sending temperatures skidding.

Snow came to the central portions of the state. Snow fell at Estancia in mid-morning, and at Roswell rain turned to sleet and then snow.

A rain and lightning storm in West Texas at Pecos damaged communication facilities, crippling telephone service into Carlsbad and Hobbs, N. M., at noon, telephone company linemen were still attempting to restore lines.

High winds reached 40-mile-an-hour velocity at Albuquerque, 35 at Carizozo and 22 at El Paso, Texas, to the south.

and including San Antonio, Austin, Houston and Galveston.

University of Texas astronomers who will observe the phenomena from Austin, from the McDonald observatory near Alpine and from the Chisos mountains in the rugged Big Bend region, today corrected an erroneous impression that annular eclipses occur only once every half century.

"While they have a habit of fading out near polar regions," said Dr. Paul Rudnick, "they occur with fair regularity every few years, the last one just about a year ago in Alaska."

It will take the moon something over three hours to move by the face of the sun but it will remain, apparently poised in the middle, only about six minutes, reaching its central phase at 3:38 p. m. in the Big Bend, 3:48 in San Antonio, 3:53 in Houston and 3:55 in Beaumont.

Unlike a total eclipse, when the sun is completely hidden due to the nearness of the moon to the earth, there will be no utter darkness and chickens won't go to roost as they are supposed to do in total eclipses. There will be, however, an appreciable darkening.

Astronomical Facts

Eclipses happen when the moon, which is about one-fourth the earth's size in diameter and swings around the earth, gets in between the earth and the sun, the latter being about 93,000,000 miles away.

The sun, from which the earth gets its light and without which life would not be possible, is the center of the solar system of which the earth is a part. Planets, including the earth, Mars and Venus, its nearest neighbors, and others revolve about the sun.

When part of the sun's disc, which is defined by a fog of electrons, is wholly or partially covered by the moon, a cold mass and probably lifeless, astronomers can study the haze of atmosphere around the sun. Due to distance, it takes about eight minutes for light from the sun to reach the earth.

Sunday's phenomena will be visible as a ring eclipse in Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

worm" who "reads all the time," and once said of her father, "he's nuts."

Dr. De River characterized Chloe as a "preocious youngster" with a "great deal of imagination" while veteran police officers, accustomed to questioning hardened criminals, said they were astonished by the imperturbable demeanor of the girl.

One during the questioning of her, the father broke down and sobbed "oh, my poor baby!"—to which Chloe replied: "Buck up, Dad. Don't let it get you down."

Captain Edwards said the 80-pound fair-haired, blue-eyed Chloe first told him calmly that her mother, of medium height and build, killed the three children with the hammer, saying that "demons" were after her.

"Conked Her 56 Times

Then, at the request of her mother, Chloe said she took the weapon and "conked" her about 50 times on the head and body until the hammer broke off the handle of the hammer, then beat her with the handle "until she stopped breathing."

Repeated questioning of the girl and subsequent development of the discrepancies, however, led Edwards to conclude, he said, that Chloe awakened while her mother was still in bed; went to the kitchen where Marjorie and Depline were playing and fatally bludgeoned them; then encountered her mother in the hallway, struck her down with the hammer and beat her to death.

Captain Edwards said the palms of Chloe's hands were blistered, apparently from considerable use of the hammer.

Continuing his reconstruction of the tragedy, Edwards said: "Chloe then went into the bathroom and killed Ann. In an attempt to disguise the whole affair, she tried to burn her mother's body. She dragged a mattress from a day-bed in her mother's bedroom, placed her mother's body on the mattress and started a fire.

"The nightgown was burned from Mrs. Davis, but Chloe saw she could not, as she hoped to do, burn the house. She changed her clothing, took an hour to think things over, concocted a story about her mother believing in 'demons' and called her father."

When the father reached home, Edwards said Chloe told him, when he inquired what was wrong, "You'd better go in the kitchen and see."

Suffered Head Injury

Later, the police captain related, the girl said to her father: "Daddy, you mustn't get excited; let's go for a walk."

Chloe suffered a head injury police believe she either suffered in a struggle with her mother or she inflicted upon herself with the hammer to substantiate her story that her mother was responsible for the crime.

Enroute home from the police station for a re-enactment of her version of the crime, Chloe waved airily to schoolmates who, faces white with terror, were clustered on the lawn.

Inside the house, she walked spritely through rooms whose walls were splattered with blood, telling her story in a lively chatter, Edwards said.

Little Patricia Axtell, a neighbor, told police she once saw Chloe fly into a rage and beat her mother repeatedly with a broomstick when her mother refused her a nickel for candy. She also said Chloe refused to obey her mother in simple household duties.

Once during the questioning of Chloe, she reached for the comic page of a newspaper and asked not to be disturbed as she read her favorite strips.

Captain Edwards said Chloe is strong for her age. She stands 4 feet 11 inches tall.

Mrs. Davis was about a head taller and nearly 40 pounds heavier than Chloe, but officers pointed out that the mother was anemic, and that the healthy, well-developed child could doubtless have bested her in a struggle. Mrs. Davis was almost scalped by the hammer blows.

Both Chloe and her father told Edwards Mrs. Davis had never before talked of "demons" or exhibited any sign of insanity. Davis added that she was "as normal as any woman could be."

Dr. V. J. Stack told Edwards, however, that Davis telephoned him two weeks ago and said she feared Mrs. Davis was losing her mind.

"I have known the Davis family for years," the physician said, "and knew the parents to be devoted to their four children."

Davis said his wife had been an excellent mother and that she read and studied much of her time to improve herself as a parent. On the bookshelf of the family home were such works as "How to be a Good Mother" and "How to Raise Children."

Harris Store On Cuyler Street Three Years Old

Today and Saturday Harris Food stores celebrate the third anniversary of the south Cuyler street store.

Otis Pumphrey, general manager, said today "this is one of the outstanding events we have ever planned for the food buying public of Pampa. Special stocks have been bought to add to the present large selection of both stores. During Saturday, we want the people of Pampa to visit our stores and enjoy free ham sandwiches and coffee with us."

The south Cuyler street store is managed by Don Pumphrey who has had the managerial post since November of last year.

Both Harris Food stores employ a total of 25 persons. One of the major changes made in modern food merchandising has been affected in the south Cuyler street store according to Mr. Pumphrey. In the past large floor displays have been used to show boxes, canned and packaged foods, but recently this system has been improved by installing the new slanting type food shelves that allows quantity as well as displaying foods.

"He doesn't LOOK good"

There is a story of a horse-trader who seemed reluctant to sell one of his horses to a prospective buyer because, as he said, "That horse doesn't look good."

The buyer, suspecting that the dealer was trying to outwit him, felt the horse over carefully, looked in its mouth, and decided that the horse looked very well. Whereupon he bought the animal and led it to his stable. When he harnessed it and started down the road, he soon discovered that the dealer had been right. The horse didn't "look good." It was blind.

Modern buyers need have no fear of such underhand practices. If you make it a habit to read carefully the pages of this newspaper, you will find nothing but sound values advertised at fair prices.

Cromwell and Bullitt Called 'Tea Hounds'

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee today rejected fresh suggestions for a congressional inquiry into the Nazi "white book" imputations that American diplomats helped pave the way for Europe's war.

"It is obviously unwise," he said, "with the United States enjoying such a peaceful situation at home, to make unauthentic publications of belligerent powers the subject of violent discussions in our own country."

The war's ramifications, however, continued to be a provocative topic in the capital:

1. Senator Holt (D.-Va.) flung the epithet "tea hounds" at James H. R. Cromwell, United States minister to Canada, and William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France.
2. Undersecretary of State Welles dismissed as "fantastic nonsense" German assertions that in Paris he had discussed French plans to "hittle down" the reich when peace comes.
3. The senate audit committee promised speedy consideration of a request for funds to finance the sweeping investigation of all war propaganda proposed by Senator Clark (D-Mo.).

The "white book" inquiry recommendation was made yesterday by Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.), after saying he accepted "at face value" denials of Bullitt and the state department that the Nazi documents were authentic.

Pittman commented an investigation might accomplish nothing but arouse "feeling among citizens whose forebears came from belligerent nations."

Sadler Flays 'O'Danielism' And Urges Resources Taxes

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—Thirty-two-year-old Jerry Sadler, plain talking junior member of the Texas railroad commission, will make his race for governor on a program of banishing "O'Danielism" and meeting the state's financial needs with higher natural resources levies instead of a sales or transaction tax.

The snuff-dipping East Texan started campaigning against governor W. Lee O'Daniel last night with a declaration that "we have had a two-year holiday on progress in this state because of the selfish few who have monopolized the places of power in this Lone Star Empire."

The Sadler broadcast followed by 24 hours O'Daniel's announcement of his decision to try for re-election. Retorting in blistering fashion to portions of the O'Daniel announcement address the rail commissioner said:

"By his own acts and his words, spoken no longer ago than last night, governor O'Daniel sets himself up as a dictator. In his efforts to abolish the Texas legislature that will be composed of his 'yes-men,' so that he can do as he pleases, which if accomplished, will make a one-man government like communistic Russia, transforming your Texas and mine into a dictatorship the like of which the world has never seen."

"The governor wants to abolish all Texas newspapers and radio stations which do not bow and bend to his wishes. He is already asking the people of Texas to withdraw all support and patronage from them—a coercion not even attempted in the European dictatorships. But Texas is not ready for a controlled press and controlled radio stations."

Hits Transaction Tax

"It is a pity that he does not tell the people of Texas what his transaction tax really is. He is the sole sponsor of this measure. When it was put before the legislature by him, experts on taxation in and out of legislature figured it would put a tax burden of $400,000,000 a year on the people of Texas."

"This is the reason it received only a handful of votes in the House—and now he wants a yes-man legislature so that he can put it over."

The speaker said that not only should the social security program be adequately financed so far as its existing phases are concerned but also it should be broadened. "We are just in the dawn of our social security program," he asserted.

He pointed out that Texas' needy aged could not profit from federal government action raising maximum pensions from $30 to $40 a month unless the voters adopted a constitutional amendment boosting the state's maximum from $15 to $20. He advocated adoption of constitutional provisions permitting state matching of county constructions for relief to the unemployables and state payment of burial expenses for old age pensioners.

"The gateway to opportunity in Texas must not only be kept open, but new opportunities must be found. x x let us decree that no longer shall it be possible in Texas for a man to promise you the rainbow and give you the bitter ashes of disappointment."

Would Tax Resources

To finance larger old age pensions, aid to dependent children and the blind, Sadler advocated that the oil tax be raised from 2 1/2 to 6 per cent of value, the natural gas import from 3 per cent of value to one cent per thousand cubic feet and the sulphur tax from $1.03 to $1.25 a ton. He calculated this would boost the state's revenues by $23,355,000 a year.

To match teachers' contributions to their retirement fund, he recommended an increase of the corporation franchise tax on concerns with capitalization in excess of $100,000 and elimination of the preferential franchise tax rate given utilities and pipelines companies.

Physician Describes 'Social Illness'

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
CLEVELAND, April 5.—Social illness, a new medical term which describes persons who are sick for no other reason than unhappiness over their environment, was recognized today by the American College of Physicians.

Dr. Edward Weiss, of Temple University, Philadelphia, said that a third of those who see a doctor do not have any definite bodily disease to account for their illness, and another third seem to have symptoms that are partly due to emotions.

"The ill health," he said, "arises from long-standing dissatisfaction in the business, social or home life of the individual and this failure of adjustment to environment is manifested by a disturbance in some part of the personality, either as bodily symptoms of various kinds, capable of mimicking almost any disease, or as afflictions of the spirit."

Flanders Dunbar, of Columbia University, said emotions are capable of affecting not only the heart and digestive system but the whole network of blood vessels.

A study of 1,500 persons admitted to the Columbia-Presbyterian medical center for cardiovascular disease, diabetes, broken bones and allergy showed that approximately 80 per cent were affected by some psychic factor that probably contributed to the illness.

Dr. Edward L. Bortz, of the University of Pennsylvania, said that social factors contributed to the illness of 75 per cent of a group of 200 sick persons admitted to the Lankenau hospital.

Jackets To Be Bought For Boxing Meet Finalists

The biggest one night tournament in Texas is the close of the Panhandle Plains High School Boxing association for its Tournament of Champions to be staged in the Pampa high school gymnasium on next Friday night. Thirteen bouts between north and south district champions will be presented.

Bouts will begin at 8 o'clock. Admission will be 25 cents for students and 40 cents for adults.

Proceeds from the tournament will be used to purchase beautiful scarlet and gray jackets for the champions and trophies for the runners-up. If any money is left, jackets will be purchased for the three judges, the referee and the coaches.

"Our organization is not a money-making one," Coach Toby Waggoner of LeFors, president of the league, said today. "We are just trying to promote sports in high schools, and give fans something to attend."

Programs in scarlet and gray are being printed and will be presented free at the tournament.

Twelve champions were crowned in district tournaments in each division of the league. The south also decided a 65-pound champion while the north boxed the light boys in exhibitions. A north champion, however, will be selected.

Seating capacity of the Pampa gymnasium will be increased to handle a crowd of 1,000 fans. Approximately 400 seats in the bleachers of the gymnasium and 400 chairs will be placed on the playing floor.

Representing the north district will be seven boys from Pampa, three from Canadian and three from Sunnyside, with the 65-pounder yet to be selected. Wellington will dominate the south with six boys, followed by LeFors with five and Miami with two.

Three Southwest Teams Virtually Out Of Title Race

(By The Associated Press)

The Southwest conference baseball race is but a week old yet three teams have been virtually eliminated from title contention.

Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Rice each has lost two games, S. M. U. falling before Texas yesterday 11-4, while T. C. U. was taking an 8-4 drubbing from the Texas Aggies.

Texas, seeking its twenty-first conference championship, opened auspiciously while its veteran coach, Billy Disch, was receiving tribute for a lifetime of service to the game. Disch received a huge pennant representing his 20 championships.

The Longhorns made six errors to donate all of S. M. U.'s runs but were tough at the bat as usual, blasting six extra-base hits, two of them homers by Pfl and Stone.

The Aggies punched across five runs on three hits in the eighth inning to win over the Horned Frogs.

The Aggies with three victories and no losses are leading the race. Texas is unbeaten but has played only one game while Baylor does not swing into action until this afternoon, meeting Southern Methodist at Waco. T. C. U. and A. and M. clash again at College Station.

Tomorrow T. C. U. hope over to Houston to play the Rice Owls.

Nation's Top Athletes In Texas Relays

AUSTIN, April 5 (AP)—Record holders and champions from the south, southwest and middle west tomorrow inaugurate the nation's outdoor track and field season in the thirteenth annual Texas relays—a meet spiced with the possibility that a slow poke Oklahoma man can crush a world's record.

Two weeks ago a six foot, four inch thin man, Don Boydston of Oklahoma A. and M., sidled up to the high jump pit in an almost casual trot and soared over the bar at six feet, 8 1/2 inches in a Fort Worth meet.

The tall, lazy looking fellow then proceeded to come within a breath of the world record. But he missed when an elbow knocked over the pole. He said then and there that he would make a competitive effort at six feet, ten inches, which would be a new world record, at the Texas relays.

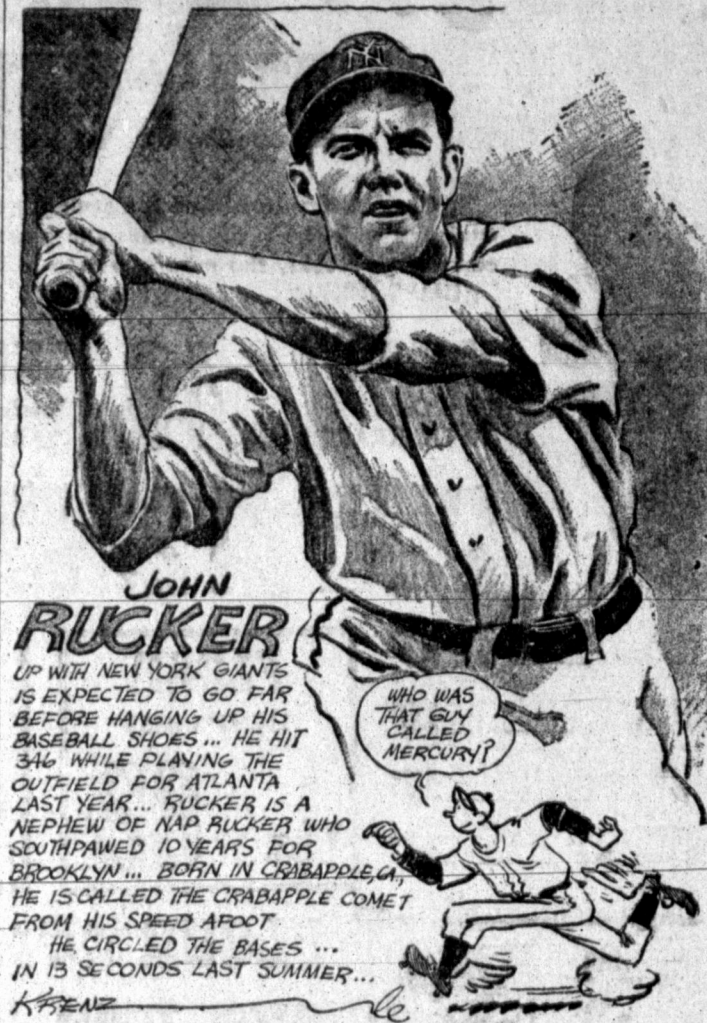

Boney and mild looking, Boydston has been sharpening for the effort and for the first time in a long line of track meets, interest has been steered from the track to the field.

Outside of Boydston's expected shot at the record, the 100-yard sprint, also featuring another newcomer, was tops on the program that attracted a field of more than 1,200 college and high school athletes.

Track's newest 100-yard dash man, Welby Williams of North Texas State Teachers college, the little five foot, seven inch chap with the unbelievable getaway, will be running his fourth college sprint—but he is favored over a great field. Twice clocked at 9.6 seconds in the past two weeks, Williams will need that time again to do anything with a bunch of competitors including Freddie Wolcott of Rice; Lonnie Hill of Texas; Billy Brown of Louisiana State; and Fred Ramadell of Texas, still another soph who is edging into prominence.

Wolcott, despite rather miserable showings in the dashes in meets to date, still hasn't been defeated in the hurdles. The national intercollegiate champion, one of the world's greatest hurdle skimmers, is favored to win the 120-yard high hurdle event. Boyce Gatewood, the University of Texas boy who, for two years, has been finishing smack on Wolcott's heels, will be trying for his first victory over the Rice flier.

The veteran Don Lash, old Indiana university star who holds the Texas relays 3,000 meter mark of 9:37, must re-enact the race he ran in 1937 to establish the record if he beats Wayne Rideout in his special event. Two years ago he sprinted past Rideout in the stretch to win.

Elmer (One Man Gang) Hackney, the Kansas state shot putter who suffered a football injury and released his laurels to Al Blozis, his new eastern sensation, is reported back in condition and ready to crack his own relays record of 55 feet, 11 inches.

Brady with his collection of middle distance runners; Brackenridge of San Antonio; Karnes City and Highland Park of Dallas had outstanding entries in the schoolboy division.

'Ral' Waner Begins 15th Amazing Year

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—On April 16 Paul Glee Waner, known affectionately to his ball-playing intimates as "Ral," will celebrate his 37th birthday and open his 15th campaign in the outfield if the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Paul, the rugged little individualist, deserves a hand. In a sport largely dominated these days by sober young men cut to a pattern, who mind the boss and bank their money, Waner has continued to go his merry, irresponsible way, while setting a lifetime record for brilliance unmatched in the National League today.

Over 14 full seasons the 155-pound marvel from Harrah, Okla., has set a phenomenal batting average of .342. Only one player in the league, husky Johnny Mize of St. Louis, can top that mark. Mize has an average of .346, but only for three seasons, while Joe Medwick, the next closest rival to Waner, has pounded .338 over an eight-year span.

Perhaps it is necessary to look up Mel Ott's lifetime mark to realize the full measure of Waner's greatness. The Giants star has played the same number of years as Paul, 14, despite the fact he is some five years younger, and is considered something of a marvel, himself.

Well, Ott has it over Waner only in one department—home runs. That's the fact that fresh right field stand in the Polo grounds to shoot at for all of his baseball life. Otherwise, Waner leads him in total runs, hits, doubles, triples, total bases, sacrifices and stolen bases. Paul leads all the other players in the league in each of these departments, too.

Led Three Times

Three times the little guy has led the National League in hitting, with averages of .380, .362 and .373. There is no telling how many times he might have won the honor if he ever had seriously disciplined himself and given the old college try every day all season.

For Paul has had a lot of fun all his life. Why as a buckskin and nearly as unpredictable in his personal habits, he has pretty much kept his own private rules. It is a mystery to most of his comrades how he has managed to sustain his brilliance.

"I'll tell you how I've done it," he said one night down in early this spring. "A little feller like me has to do something to stay even with all those big fellers, so I've done it by playin' golf and huntin' all season."

That's kept me limber and tough and kept my eyes in shape. While these big fellers are sittin' around the fire I'm out takin' exercise. That's the only way a little feller like me can hold his own.

Friends both of Waner and his new manager, Frankie Frisch, are watching with unconcealed and amused curiosity to see how the pair hit it off. Frisch is a disciplinarian, but his friends say he is far too smart to try to make a pantywaist out of the little veteran.

Record Round Of 64 Shot By Mangrum

By BILL BONI

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5 (AP)—The most amazing thing about any round of golf is that invariably it could have been even more amazing. An example is the 64 which Lloyd Mangrum, 25-year-old assistant professional from Oak Park, Ill., shot at the Augusta National Golf club yesterday in the first round of the Masters tournament.

Not only was it eight strokes better than par for this true-test course, but it was one of the lowest scores ever recorded for any single round in U. S. championship. It also broke the Augusta course record of 66 held jointly by Gene Sarazen and Byron Nelson.

On the Lars essential, it consisted of nine birdies, eight pars and one bogey. Beyond that, it included 32 shots hit perfectly to the greens and never off the fairways. It also included five birdie putts ranging in length from six to 25 feet.

Since the 64 gave Mangrum a three-stroke lead over Jimmy Demaret and his back-nine 30, it would seem it was a satisfactory round. Yet Mangrum could look back with disappointment on those three putts he needed to get down from 25 feet on the tenth hole; the eight-footer for a duce that he missed on the 16th, and the putt for an eagle three on the eighth hole that hit the back of the cup. Boiling that all down, the 64 could have been a 61 with a break or two either way.

It's always that way with these rounds. But Mangrum, in contrast to most other pros, admitted quite frankly that with a break or two the other way, it also might have been a 70.

Back of Demaret in a tie for third were Open Champion Byron Nelson, winner here in 1937, and Harry Cooper, with 69's, Lawson Little and Craig Wood had 70's, while one-under-par 71's included Dick Metz, Henry Picard, Sam Snead, Tommy Armour and Willie Goggin. Bobby Jones, the old master, had a 79.

Lloyd Mangrum has been scoring consistently for some time, but had done nothing that was exposed to intense publicity until yesterday's round.

Admittedly, though, he is one of the contrs. Also, he is another of Manager Grover Seitz of the Pampa Oilers was just about ready to scalp the weather man this morning when he stepped from his home into the cold wind, for tomorrow noon his pitchers are scheduled to report for the opening workout.

But he became optimistic after his morning cup of coffee and looked on the bright side of things. "Maybe the sun will shine and it will be nice tomorrow," he remarked.

Although only three pitchers have their names on contracts, at least 15 chumpers are scheduled to arrive by tomorrow. Signed are Rex Dillebeck, left hander, and Gus Hall-bour, right hander, from last year's team and Ben Parrish, purchased from Borgers.

Business Manager Harold Miller has received letters from at least 25 rookie pitchers and if half of them arrive tomorrow there should be some promising boys in the lot. Manager Seitz plans to carry six pitchers this season, three veterans and three rookies.

Catcher Lloyd Summers and rookie receivers are also scheduled to report tomorrow.

The balance of the squad will be called Monday afternoon for first workout at Road Runner park. Signed to contracts are Sam Mal-veia, last year's shortstop, Merle Adams, rookie first baseman from Chicago, and "Hooky" Stratton, rookie outfielder from McLean. Scheduled to be here with his contract is Jerry Jordan, third baseman last year.

Adams is said to be a powerful hitter and a good fielder for a youngster. He is only 19, is 6 feet, 4 inches tall and weighs 200 pounds. Stratton will be remembered as a star backfield man on the McLean High school football team.

The Texas crop that includes Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan, Ralph Guldahl, the defending champion in this Masters, and Demaret. Further, he is a lad who, in his own quiet and convincing way, is sure he's going places.

A 15-1 shot before he started yesterday, Mangrum stands a fine chance of cashing in a few of the bets he placed on himself.

Training Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH—George Caster seems to have earned for himself the honor of hurling for the Philadelphia Athletics in the opening game against the New York Yankees April 16. He topped off previous good efforts yesterday by twirling six scoreless innings against Fort Worth's Texas Leaguers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Schoolboy Rowe was ready to try nine innings against the Brooklyn Dodgers today with a place among the Detroit Tigers' starting pitchers as a possible reward for a good performance. So far this spring Rowe has looked promising.

AMARILLO—The Pittsburgh Pirates came to town today with a record of winning 11 of their last 13 games, but not very proud of their latest triumph. In beating the Chicago White Sox 10-9 yesterday the Buccos issued nine bases on balls and made six errors.

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Manager Bill McKechnie has an idea on how he could solve his left field problem, but it involves Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox.

After watching the lean slugger day after day in the clubs' touring series, McKechnie commented wryly: "The Reds could win the pennant by 20 games if we had that kid."

AMARILLO—Observers who have been predicting rookie Bob Kennedy would be at third base for the Chicago White Sox this season didn't have to back up when the veteran Eric McNair took over at the hot corner in yesterday's exhibition against the Pittsburgh Pirates. McNair, who has been sidelined several weeks with a lame arm, made two bad throws in first return to the lineup.

CORDELE, Ga.—Zeke Bonura's status with the New York Giants is still unchanged. Although out of the good graces of Manager Bill Terry, he continues to look nifty around first base and holds his place among the club's leading hitters. He got one of six blows allowed by Bob Feller yesterday and rookie Johnny Rucker, who is likely to end up in centerfield, got three of the others.

SAN ANTONIO—Manager Fred Haney hopes his lineup against the Chicago Cubs does well—it's the strongest the St. Louis Browns can field opening day. Bob Swift, C; George McQuinn, 1B; Don Heffner, 2B; Harland Cliff, 3B; Alan Straige, SS; Joe Gallagher or Chet Laabs, IF; Walt Junich, cf; Rip Radloff or Myril Hoag, rf. Fitchers—oh, that's the problem—it's Vernon Kennedy today.

Yesterday's Newspaper Boys Are Today's Leaders

The Interesting Case of Johnny Jones

Johnny also employs a system of visiting non-subscribers . . . a system he learned from his circulation supervisor. He calls on them periodically, saying something like this, "Hello, Mrs. Brown (of course he knows her name . . . that's a part of his newspaper sales training). I didn't sell you my newspaper the last time I called, but that's my fault, not yours. You see, I forgot to tell you about a recent additional feature in our paper that will save you more than the actual cost of the newspaper." He's truthful and he can prove it. You're not going to keep that boy Johnny down . . . he's going places . . . he's earning his way, and his newspaper salesmanship training has given him a world of confidence.

There's plenty of room in America for men of confidence and business ability. It's the spirit of America, and your newspaper boy typifies that spirit. He's a business man and a salesman (not begging) who merits your consideration.

AND WHO IS Johnny Jones? . . . you ask. He is the boy who delivers your newspaper. Maybe his real name is Smith, Novitsky or Quinn, but for our purpose now, he is Johnny Jones.

Whether Johnny brings you the morning or afternoon newspaper, there is no interference with his school attendance, and he is developing habits of regularity and promptness.

John is required to deliver his newspapers promptly . . . and, consistent with this practice, he is encouraged to make collections from subscribers just as promptly.

CONTINUED SUCCESS to you, Johnny! Your newspaper's most cherished hope is to have you develop into a successful business or professional man, for then you will be one of those like Ben Franklin, Alfred E. Smith, Senator Arthur Capper, Col. Frank Knox, C. George McCullough (publisher Toronto Globe and Mail), and a host of others who say, "Yes, sir, my newspaper route sure started me off on the right track."

YOUR boy will have a better chance of success if he can "sell" his services as a carrier salesman to a circulation manager, whose chief interest is boy welfare.

COURTESY, SERVICE, NEW EQUIPMENT PUT DOLLARS IN RAILROADS' TILL

Courtesy, service, better equipment and a sort of "homey" atmosphere all combine to make the railroad passenger train trip of 1940 something of a holiday to which one looks forward with a great amount of pleasure. In the above photographs you see a half dozen pages taken from the daily life of passengers on the Santa Fe railroad's "The Scout," luxury—with economy train that splits the wind in streamlined, air-conditioned comfort between Chicago and Los Angeles. The courteous service and warm treatment of passengers by Santa Fe employes, officials find, are responsible for the great increase in rail travel. In the photographs are these typical scenes found on a Santa Fe cross-country train. A photographer boarded "The Scout" one day recently and made the random shots which are now described for you: 1. Courier nurses have enhanced train travel for women. Here Nurse Winifred Player of Chicago helps Mrs. Ray Roebuck of Huntington Park, Cal., with her morning make-up. 2. New chair car seats are softer. Reclining seats aid a passenger's snooze. 3. Miles Bivins, Amarillo cattleman, said he enjoyed a 75 cent steak. (Notice etching effect of farm house caught through train window.) 4. Train travel has become something of a picnic. A lively little girl is center of attraction in this lounge car group: (left to right)

Ickes Makes Censure Of Garner Drive

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Secretary Ickes said today that managers of Vice-President Garner's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination were "talking like Republicans" and "misrepresenting the views of their own candidate."

The Interior Department chief, a supporter of President Roosevelt for a third term, told his press conference that E. B. Germany and Clara Driscoll whom he called Garner managers, had stated in Dallas, Texas, that returns from Wisconsin's primary demonstrated "the third term is a dead issue."

The Garner managers also said in effect, Ickes added, that taking into consideration the votes cast in the Republican primary, and the vote for Garner, "Mr. Roosevelt could not be elected if nominated."

Thomas E. Dewey, New York prosecutor and contender for the Republican nomination, and Mr. Roosevelt came out on top in Wisconsin's party primary Tuesday. Dewey overwhelmed the convention delegate slate of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) while the President ran three-to-one ahead of Garner in the Democratic preferential voting.

Ickes asked rhetorically whether the Germany-Driscoll statement meant that Garner votes would swing to the Republican presidential nominee in event Mr. Roosevelt became the Democratic nominee.

"I advisedly question," he said, "whether the Germany-Driscoll statement was given with authority or whether it misrepresented the views of the majority leader of the house (Rep. Rayburn of Texas) and the majority leader in the Senate." By "majority leader in the Senate," he said he referred to Vice-President Garner, whose title is "President of the Senate." He explained his intended reference when reporters reminded him that Senator Barkley of Kentucky is majority leader "of" the Senate. Rayburn had long been a close associate of Garner and directed his presidential campaign in 1932.

One-Act Plays Staged At Lefors

LEFORS, April 5—LeFors High school was entertained with an assembly program, Wednesday afternoon. The first part of the program was two one-act plays and at the close of the program the LeFors school orchestra played three numbers.

"Will-O-The-Wisp," the inter-scholastic one-act play was presented and this was dress rehearsal. The cast was: Sybil Lee Roberts as the White-Faced Girl; Virginia Briscoe as the Country Woman; Maxine Houchin as the Poet's Wife; and Ozelle Riley as the Serving Maid.

"Ambition" the other one-act play had a cast of five, which was: J. A. Jackson as States Attorney Owens; Mickey Sue Johnson, as Dorothy Owens, his wife; Martha Lou Hearn as Estelle Durand, a witness; Jack Howard, and Bonita Libby as Hattie, the maid.

The orchestra played three numbers: "Pasacaglia," and "Mercury Overture." The string selection of the orchestra "Mincez of Don Juan." This orchestra is under the direction of Mr. J. W. Finley.

Unreality To Be Subject Of Sermon

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 7.

The Golden Text is: "Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains; truly in the Lord our God is the salvation of Israel" (Jeremiah 3:23).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world, and the world passeth away, and the lust thereof; but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever." (I John 2:15-17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If the disciple is advancing spiritually, he is striving to enter in. He constantly turns away from material sense, and looks towards the imperishable things of Spirit." (page 21.)

Series Of Sermons On Worship Will Begin On Sunday

The Rev. B. A. Norris, pastor of First Christian church will begin a series of sermons on "Worship" Sunday, April 7, when he will speak on "Man's Need to Worship."

On April 14 Rev. Norris will discuss "The Art of Worshipping" and the topic for April 21 will be "The Worshipping Hour."

The subject for the Sunday night service will be "The Man Who Married the Wrong Woman."

Meeting To Continue At Church Of Christ Through Sunday

The meeting being conducted at the Central Church of Christ will continue with Brother C. L. Embrey doing the preaching until Sunday night.

The subject for tonight is "Can A Child of God Fall From Grace." Saturday night the evangelist is to speak on "Can a Person be Saved Who is Not a Member of the Testament Church."

"GLASS SNAKES" ARE LEZARDS

So-called "glass-snakes" really are lizards, belonging to the Genus Ophisaurus. Covered in hard, shingle-like plates, their habit of breathing to pieces is limited to separating themselves from their tails, a custom common among other lizards.

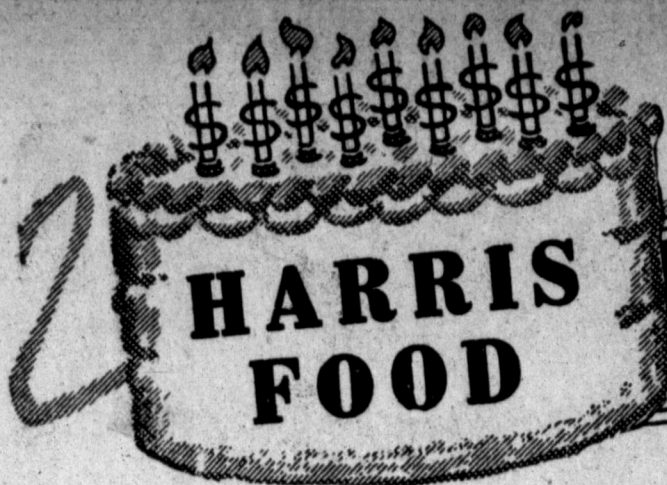

ANTLERS IMPROVE
The male red deer, each year, grows a new set of antlers, each succeeding set more complete than its predecessors. As a young "knobber," he has only a pair of knobs; but, as a royal hart, he may have a magnificent 3-foot spread of antlers, weighing 70 pounds and decorated with 13 or more points.

SUCTION CAUSES MOVEMENT
The starfish progresses by means of its suction cup arms. It creates a vacuum in its tubes by filling them with water, placing the cups against a surface, and then withdrawing the water into its body.

FOUNDS ON THE ROCK OF GIBRALTAR
The Barbary ape is Europe's only species of wild monkey.

SERIAL STORY

K. O. CAVALIER BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Eddie begins his training with a light workout and three rounds with Kelly. Although he is supposed to be sparring, Cavalier pounds Kelly with a heavy left jab.

CHAPTER VIII
EDDIE and Mike sparred lightly the last two rounds and when Pop Grimes called a halt Cavalier went over and took both of Mike's hands in his.

"I'm sorry about that first round, Mike. Honest I am. That came there... I guess... Well, it just..."

Mike nodded. "Yeah, kid. I know. That's okay... forget it. You didn't hurt me much."

Eddie slapped him on the back and rushed below to take a shower.

Val Douglas looked after him thoughtfully. "He might be genuinely sorry but it'll still make a good story. I'm filing my first one tonight."

"Never mind your story," Kelo said. "What about our $5000 forfeit money?"

"I don't know why I should play Santa Claus, but I might have an idea about that, too," she said.

SHE found Captain Hansen in his cabin. Quickly she explained the situation they had put Kelo in. "Steve," she concluded, "I'm going to wire Uncle Hank the facts and have him lend Duffy the money."

Captain Hansen looked at her a long time before replying. "Honey," he said gently, "how those three men really came on board will have to be held from your Uncle Hank for awhile. It's bad enough he'll be knowing they're on board just as he reads the papers. But there's something more important."

"He passed for another moment. "As much as your Uncle Hank would want to do anything in the world for you he wouldn't be able to scrape up $5000 in less than a month—if at all," he added significantly.

"Steve—what do you mean? That isn't so much."

"Normally, it wouldn't be, but remember I told you we have a lot of reconditioning to do? Well, Uncle Hank has just about every penny he could get his hands on already tied up. That's why we need this holiday contract to wind things up. Then we'll be bouncing right back up there again."

She nodded. "I didn't think... I had no idea Uncle Hank was working on such a close margin. What happened?"

"Well, just between you and me, honey, that rival line is trying to freeze us out of the coast trade. An' they haven't been too particular about their methods."

"Is that what you meant when you mentioned those tough breaks we've been having lately?"

He nodded. "Fire in our freight warehouse once. Two ton of salmon hijacked on the road before we could deliver it to the consignee. Little delays here and there that slow down the service. Never had any proof, of course, but we have ideas."

"And that machinery going up to Prince Rupert? You're worried about that, too?"

"Not while it's on board, we're not. But it's handling it at Prince Rupert that'll take a lot of care. All they got to do is steal one like the cog, or something, or throw some little lever out whack and the whole works will be held up until the part can be sent up from Frisco."

He patted her shoulder. "But you worry about your box-fighter and I'll worry about the important things."

"Oh, he's important," she said quickly. "In a different sort of way, that is. After all, he's sort of our responsibility. And maybe I can still help him."

"I think I can get our San Francisco bureau to intervene with the boxing commission. In fact, I'm sure of it, but don't let Kelo or Cavalier know anything about it."

Wong Lee's eyes never changed their expression. "Mr. Kelo," Val said icily. "We treat everyone around here with all the respect due them. If Captain Hansen were here now it would go bad with you."

"Nuts," said Kelo. "What about it? Do we or don't we get some sort of training diet around here?"

"Don't bother, Duffy," Eddie said quietly. "I can get along on this."

"What about it Wong Lee?" Val asked. Wong Lee pattered around the table, looking at no one in particular when he spoke. "Must have more help in galley. Make other things chop-chop for boxing man only if noisy one help."

"He means that, too," Val said slowly. "You'll serve your trick in the galley from now on, Mister Kelo."

"I believe I can," he said, grimly. "I'll have some other answers once I get you ashore."

She raised an eyebrow. "Threatening me, eh? What are you going to do—beat me up?"

"If I can't think of anything better, I will."

SHE found a wire from her office when she sat down at the table. It said: "Great work. We have scoop of century. Everyone else screaming. Give us first story sooner possible and keep coming 500 daily."

She shoved the message across to Cavalier. "This'll kill you."

He read it and Val felt like chucking at his expression of disgust.

Duffy Kelo peered suspiciously at the food Wong Lee was setting on the table and suddenly burst into a roar.

"Bread... potatoes... meat pie... starch and more starch! Hey, Wun Lung!" Duffy howled. "Get that stuff away from that fighter. Go easy on that starchy stuff, get me. He's gonna get hog-fat. He's gotta have more fresh greens and less of this hash you dish out."

Wong Lee's eyes never changed their expression. "Mr. Kelo," Val said icily. "We treat everyone around here with all the respect due them. If Captain Hansen were here now it would go bad with you."

"Nuts," said Kelo. "What about it? Do we or don't we get some sort of training diet around here?"

"Don't bother, Duffy," Eddie said quietly. "I can get along on this."

"Must have more help in galley. Make other things chop-chop for boxing man only if noisy one help."

"He means that, too," Val said slowly. "You'll serve your trick in the galley from now on, Mister Kelo."

There was snicker from someone at the other end of the table. "I'll be first," Duffy roared.

"I'll be by starvation, then," Val replied sweetly. "Remember—no work, no date."

Confucius Might Have Said "Quiet"

HOUSTON, April 5 (AP)—A spicy "Confucius say" joke, allegedly broadcast into a police two-way radio system, has placed a city commissioner in Mayor Oscar Holcombe's doghouse. Holcombe, expressing fear the federal communications commission may impose penalties or suspend the police radio license, said he would call in City Commissioner Frank Mann for a talk about the incident. A written report from the police department, giving details of the broadcast, was placed on the mayor's desk today. It alleged Mann talked into a microphone in a demonstration booth at the Houston Fat Stock show, at which the two-way radio system was being demonstrated. Mayor Holcombe said radio engineers informed him "these two-way broadcasts are often heard from 1,500 to 3,000 miles away." Commissioner Mann asserted it was the first he had heard of it, and then added: "Wait until the mayor talks to me about it." England's smallest inn is in a village near Dorchester. Several centuries old, it consists of a single room 15 feet by 11 feet.

Uneasy Pall Hangs Over Europe's War

(By The Associated Press)

An uneasy pall of apparent inaction hung over Europe's war today. The French and Germans reported the usual patrol skirmishes on the western front, the Germans saying about 15 French were killed, while the French mentioned four artillery casualties.

On the diplomatic front the quiet was more notable.

There was talk in London of a possible joint British and French parliament aimed at forming an empire partnership so strong that "no aggressor would dare challenge it."

Britain readied her newest economic weapon against Germany—the English Commercial Corporation, Ltd., to sell British products in southeastern Europe and to buy up goods which Germany might otherwise get—while the House of Commons looked forward to a secret debate next Thursday on blockade methods.

Germany was reported to have failed in an attempt to get Yugoslavia to guard German merchant ships carrying Yugoslav Bauxite through the Adriatic. The ore, from which aluminum is obtained, is not regarded by Yugoslavia as a war material, and official sources previously had said she would sanction its shipment through territorial waters.

The reports, which could not immediately be confirmed, said Great Britain had warned Yugoslavia that Bauxite shipments to Germany would be subject to seizure as contraband.

A large section of the British public was more occupied with the first wartime running of the grand national steeplechase at Aintree today than with news of the war.

The French were reported preoccupied with their campaign against communism. The government was understood to be considering a decree to make dissemination of communist propaganda a treasonable offense punishable by death.

The British liner Mauretania, presumably bound for Australia or New Zealand for possible use as a troop ship, was expected to leave Honolulu after a stop for fuel and water.

In the United States, chairman Pittman of the senate foreign relations committee rejected fresh suggestions for inquiry into German allegations that seized Polish documents showed American diplomats favored the allies.

"Unauthentic publications of belligerent powers" should not be the subject of violent discussions in the peaceful United States, he held.

Undersecretary of state Sumner Welles described as "fantastic nonsense" German assertions that when in Paris he had discussed any French plans to "whittle down" Germany after the war.

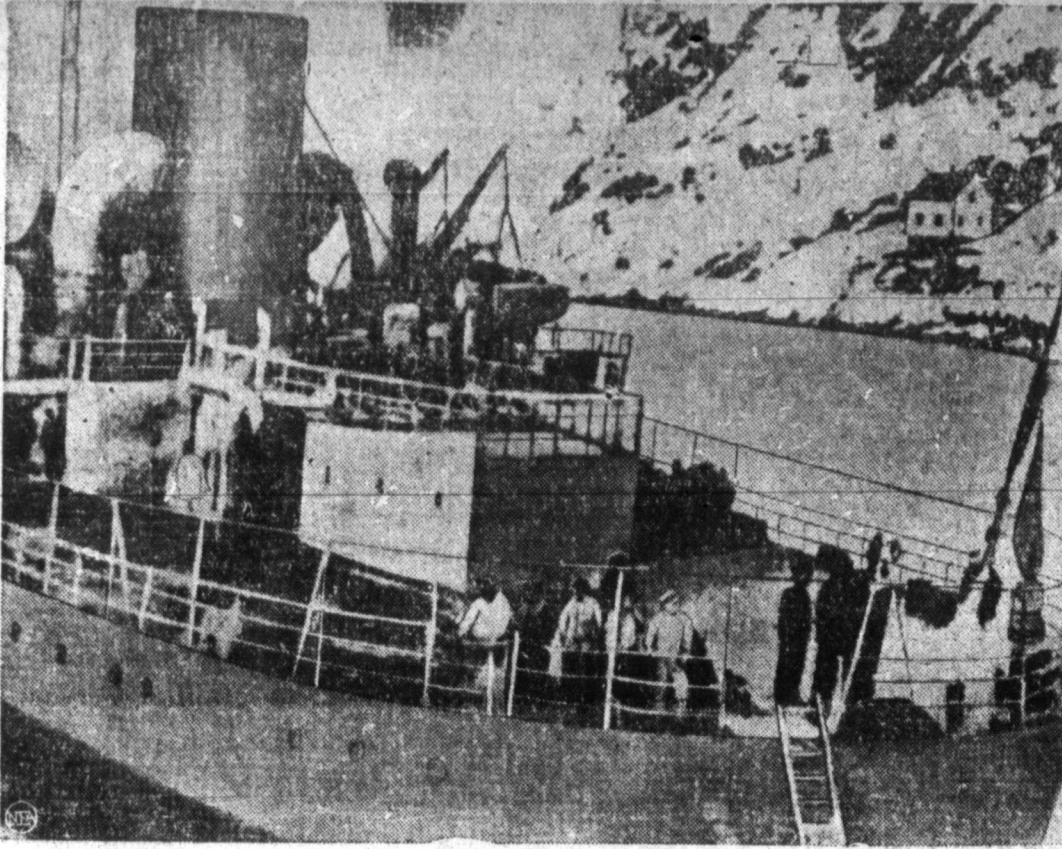

Authorized German sources commented that in that case Welles must have been the victim of a French propaganda trick, referring to a photograph of Welles and the present French premier Paul Reynaud beside a map on which the Germans said a reduced Germany was portrayed.

French officials today blamed a magazine retoucher's zeal for the appearance of the new-drawn frontiers on the map.

The French said the original map in Reynaud's office was of pre-Munich vintage and did not bear the marks appearing in the photograph. (As released in the United States, the map in the picture had been obliterated by the French censor.)

In line with the American neutrality policies, shipping men in Genoa, Italy, said the United States government had directed American export liners to cease calling at Marseille, France. Sailing lists indicated

Quiet Reigns on Altmark as Diplomatic Storm Rages

Uncertain of their fate—internment or freedom—sailors of the German steamer Altmark stand idly about her deck as the prison ship remains hard aground in peaceful Gjøessingfjord, Norway. Meanwhile a diplomatic storm raged over Britons' daring attack on the vessel and rescue of 326 prisoners.

vessels of the line had been stopping there on westbound voyages.

United States officials also were keeping eagle eyes on the Japanese-Sponsored government of Wang Ching-Wei in occupied Chinese territory. They are determined to hold Tokyo responsible for any action which might infringe on American rights.

A front page story in the London Daily Mail said the idea of a British

U. S. Officials Watching Wang With Eagle Eye

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—United States officials are watching the Japanese-sponsored government of Wang Ching-Wei at Nanking with an eagle eye, determined to hold Tokyo rather than Nanking responsible for any action which infringes on American rights.

Persons close to the state department believe that Wang Ching-Wei's government must strive to make itself accepted not only by China but also by third powers. Toward this latter end the Nanking authorities may take one or both of two steps:

1. Offer concessions to third powers which recognize it as the government of China. Secretary Hull has refused recognition, declaring that the new regime "has the appearance of a further step in a program of one country by armed force to impose its will upon a neighboring country."

2. Discriminate against the citizens of countries which refuse recognition. State department notes to Tokyo charge that Japan has discriminated against Americans in the Japanese-occupied areas of China.

Officials here contend that the new government at Nanking is based on Japanese bayonets rather than Chinese consent, that Wang Ching-Wei is a tool of Japan, and that the measures he may take in administering his government will have been inspired by Tokyo.

Consequently, the line of responsibility for developments there affecting Americans will be a direct one from Washington to Tokyo. It will not be a triangle with Nanking as the third point.

20-Acre Spacing Order In Red River Dam Basin Oil Field

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 5 (AP)—The state corporation commission yesterday ordered 20-acre triangular well-spacing in the new Cumberland oil district of Marshall, Johnston and Bryan counties, part of which is to be inundated by waters of the Denison Red river dam.

The order, following an application of the Pure Oil company, covers about 30,000 acres in the three counties. Most of the leases are on estate-owned land. There was no opposition to the spacing when hearings were held two weeks ago.

Aside from providing for setting of 800 feet of surface casing to protect the shallow fresh water horizon, the order did not fix regulations for setting casings.

The Pure Oil company early this week set casing at its Little-A, in C W 1/4 NE 28 of 28-58-7E, Marshall county, which is showing to open a new field of importance.

Minnesota's Governor For Young Dewey

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota was reported today to have informed Washington friends he hoped to influence his states' delegation to support Thomas E. Dewey for the Republican presidential nomination.

This information creased surprise in some Republican quarters, which pointed out that Roy Dunn, Minnesota party chairman has been working to send the state's 22 delegates to the national convention uncommitted.

If Stassen chose to support Dewey, this might interfere with plans put forward by Dunn for eight or nine midwestern states to choose uncommitted delegates in a move to enhance their influence in selection of the standard bearer and in obtaining a farm plank conforming to their views.

Given Minnesota's backing, Dewey would be assured of a sizeable block of midwestern votes, in addition to the support he expects from an uncommitted New York delegation. In Tuesday's Wisconsin primary, the New York district attorney won the backing of the state's 24 delegates. He has no opposition in the Illinois preferential primary next Tuesday, but will face a rival bid from Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) for

Nebraska's 14 Delegates on the Same Day

Democrats, meanwhile, looked to the Illinois primary for additional indications as to third term sentiment. Vice-President Garner's name will be on the ballot, opposing President Roosevelt. The president's 3-to-1 defeat of Garner in Tuesday's Wisconsin balloting continued to provoke pro and con comment, since Garner won two of the 24 delegates.

Secretary of Interior Ickes told reporters yesterday that Garner's managers were "talking like Republicans" when they said that Wisconsin returns showed the third term was a "dead issue" because Garner had polled 30 per cent of the Democratic vote.

Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) replied: "When did Mr. Ickes get to be a Democrat? He's the last one in the world who ought to be talking for the Democrats, because he is one of such recent vintage."

'Little Fox' Singer Gets $12 Fine

PHILADELPHIA, April 5 (AP)—Charged with reckless driving, Edward Scott, 35, told Magistrate Edward Williams he was going only 12 miles and hour but—

"I saw a cop, so I started to sing, 'N.Y., N.Y., N.Y.'," said the 'Little Fox.' The next thing I knew, I got a summons."

Williams asked, "Would you like to sing it again—now?"

"No," Scott replied, "I can see it's going to cost me $12.75."

"It is," said Williams.

Matches first were sold under the name of "Lucifers."
