Windsors' Wedding Pastor Plans Comeback With 'De-Oomping' Girls

The Rev. Mr. Jardine and "Miss Spiritual Washington," Ethel Burton, plan campaign to "de-oomp the oomph girls."

The pulpitiest parson of Darlington, who attained brief fame by marrying the duke of Windsor, has found rough the duke of Windsor has done nothing for him. His church is through with him.

Though barred by his church from holding a regular pulpit, Rev. Jardine is qualified to conduct weddings in the home of a Hollywood couple who have sought the services of the man who defied his ecclesiastical superiors to unite a king and a commoner.

Be Sure To Vote In Pampa School Election

There will be another election in Pampa on Saturday—an election that is no less important to Pampa and vicinity than the one held last Tuesday.

The election on Saturday will be held from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. in the High school building and will be for the purpose of electing two school trustees, each to serve a 3-year term.

There are four candidates for these two positions on the Pampa Independent school board. They are J. M. Daugherty, V. L. Boyles, E. C. Sidwell, and Clarence Barrett.

Voters in the Pampa Independent school district should be just as active in this election as they were in the city election. The men who form your school board are the men who direct the policies that affect the welfare of your children.

The voters should study the list of candidates in this election, check their qualifications—as should be done in all elections—and then go to the polls and vote for the two candidates whom they believe will best serve the interests of the school district and of the children.

Public school policies are of the utmost importance to every citizen and to every school boy and girl.

Find out before you vote whether any of the candidates are likely to be "rubber stamp" board members. Make sure that the two candidates you decide on will speak their own minds on school policies and on matters that affect the general welfare of the schools to which you send your children.

Of the four candidates, only two are to be elected in Saturday's school balloting. One, Mr. Daugherty, is a candidate for re-election. Mr. Boyles, Mr. Sidwell, and Mr. Barrett are candidates for the first time.

With the construction of a new High school just getting under way there will be many important issues to be decided in the administration of school affairs. Make sure that you elect the two men whom you believe are most capable of deciding these issues, and who will decide them with the best interests of all the people and your children in mind.

The news believes that the people are going to take just as great an interest in their school affairs as they are showing in the affairs of city government.

Certainly the conduct of school business is equally as important. The only way you can take the proper interest in the welfare of your children is to go to the polls Saturday and vote for the two men whom you feel will give the most conscientious thought and attention to the administration of school affairs.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, April 4—Wm. Sumner Welles home, the subsurface tug-of-war in the State Department will start all over again.

The department is divided on America's war policy. One group wants America to stay out, to work impartially for peace and to maintain genuine neutrality; the other is strongly pro-ally and holds America would serve its best interests by using "measures short of war" to help beat Germany.

Leading figure in the first group is Welles; in the second, George S. Messersmith, who was assistant secretary of state until his recent appointment as ambassador to Cuba.

WATCH MESSERSMITH

Climax in the conflict of ideas came around the beginning of the year. The Welles group sold the idea of a peace mission to the President. Messersmith went into eclipse, the Cuban appointment being distinctly on the order of an assignment to Siberia.

Two ambassadorships were vacant at the time: Cuba, and Belgium. Messersmith preferred Belgium, and didn't want Cuba at all; wasn't, in fact, by past experience, particularly fitted for any Latin-American post. The triumph for the Welles group; Messersmith debated refusing to accept, finally took it on the theory that there'd be another day, etc.

He may prove to be quite correct. F. D. R. leans strongly to Messersmith's point of view; in some quarters the whole Welles mission is looking on as merely a temporary concession by the President designed to pacify the peace bloc and to give the department's strict-neutrality crowd a chance to show what it could do.

If that is a correct appraisal, the pendulum may swing the other way presently. Watch Messersmith; if he is returned to Washington it ought to be a tip-off.

Sudden emergence of peace sentiment in England isn't surprising to those in Washington who have kept in close touch. They say that from the moment the war started a considerable part of British opinion favored a speedy peace; they doubt sentiment is much stronger now than in September, but say it is simply coming out in the open.

Why it should be coming out is the puzzle. After all, there's a strict censorship on, and lots of wartime controls. Is the British government letting the populace blow off a little steam, as the grimness of the allied prospect becomes more evident, or is it letting the peace sentiment become public knowledge for reasons still undisclosed?

SUDDEN DEATH FOR PLANE SALE HEARING

The "investigation" which the House military affairs committee made of the airplane sale situation ended a lot more abruptly than some of the committee members ever thought it was going to.

Committee convened a little after 10 in the morning. Secretary Woodring read a statement, answered a few questions, was followed briefly by Assistant Secretary Johnson and General Marshall and Arnold. When the bell rang for a House quorum call, practically all the Republicans on the committee, and some Democrats, went over to answer the roll-call, intending to come back and go on with the show. When they came back a short time later, they found the hearing was over

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Holles

THAT NOTHING IS THE BEST POLICY

I know of nothing that explains the fallacies of the New Deal Utopias as well as "What Social Classes Owe to Each Other," written half a century ago, by William Graham Sumner, of Yale. I quote:

"It is commonly asserted that there are in the United States no classes, and any allusion to classes is resented. On the other hand, we constantly read and hear discussions of social topics in which the existence of social classes is assumed as a simple fact. The poor, 'the weak,' 'the laborers,' are expressions which are used as if they had exact and well-understood definition. Discussions are made to bear upon the assumed rights, wrongs, and misfortunes of certain social classes; and all public speaking and writing consists, in a large measure, of the discussion of general plans for meeting the wishes of classes of people who have not been able to satisfy their own desires. These classes are sometimes discontented, and sometimes not. Sometimes they do not know that anything is amiss with them until the 'friends of humanity' come to them with offers of aid. Sometimes they are discontented and envious. They do not take their achievements as a fair measure of their rights. They do not blame themselves or their parents for their lot, as compared with that of other people. Sometimes they claim that they have a right to everything of which they feel the need for their happiness on earth. To make such a claim against God or Nature would, of course, be only to say that we claim a right to live on earth if we can. But God and Nature have ordained the chances and conditions of life on earth once for all. The case cannot be reopened. We cannot get a revision of the laws of human life. We are absolutely shut up to the need and duty, if we would learn how to live happily, of investigating the laws of Nature, and deducing the rules of right living in the world as it is. These are very wearisome and commonplace tasks. They consist in labor and self-denial repeated over and over again in learning and doing. When the people whose claims we are considering are told to apply themselves to these tasks they become irritated and feel almost insulted. They formulate their claims as rights against society—that is, against some other men. In their view they have a right, not only to pursue happiness, but to get it; and if they fail to get it, they think they have a claim to the aid of other men—that is to the labor and self-denial of other men—to get it for them. They find orators and poets who tell them that they have grievances, so long as they have unsatisfied desires."

Creating "Classes"

"Now, if there are groups of people who have a claim to other people's labor and self-denial, and if there are other people whose labor and self-denial are liable to be claimed by the first groups, then there certainly are 'classes,' and classes of the oldest and most vicious type. For a man who can command another man's labor and self-denial for the support of his own existence is a privileged person of the highest species conceivable on earth. Princes and paupers meet on this plane, and no other men are on it at all. On the other hand, a man whose labor and self-denial may be diverted from his maintenance to that of some other man is not a free man, and approaches more or less toward the position of a slave. Therefore we shall find that, in all the notions which we are to discuss, this elementary contradiction, that there are classes and that there are no classes, will produce repeated confusion and absurdity. We shall find that, in our efforts to eliminate the old vices of class government, we are impeded and defeated by new products of the worst class theory. We shall find that all the schemes for producing equality and obliterating the organization of society produce a new differentiation based on the worst possible distinction—the right to claim and the duty to give one man's effort for another man's satisfaction. We shall find that every effort to realize equality necessitates a sacrifice of liberty."

"It is very popular to pose as a 'friend of humanity' or a 'friend of the working classes.' The character, however, is quite exotic in the United States. It is borrowed from England, where some men, otherwise of small account, have assumed it with great success and advantage. Anything which has a charitable sound and a kind-heated tone generally passes without investigation, because it is disagreeable to assail it. Sermons, essays, and orations assume a conventional standpoint with regard to the poor, the weak, etc.; and it is allowed to pass as an unquestioned doctrine in regard to social classes that 'the rich ought to 'care for the poor'; that Churches especially ought to collect capital from the rich and spend it for the poor; that parishes ought to be clusters of institutions by means of which one social class should perform its duties to another; and that clergymen, economists, and social philosophers have a technical and professional duty to devise schemes for 'helping the poor.' The preaching in England used all to be done to the poor—that they ought to be contented with their lot and respectful to their betters. Now, the greatest part of the preaching in America consists in injunctions to those who have taken care of themselves to perform their assumed duty to take care of others. Whatever may be one's private sentiments, the fear of appearing cold and hard-hearted causes these conventional theories of social duty and these assumptions of social fact to pass unchallenged."

Next day he went to the grocery and bought a can of peaches. He got spinach, but makes them less vigorous and less playful. Stunting during the growth period does not help old age.

Another rule is to have a wide variety of foods to play safe on getting enough precious vitamins and minerals which prepare the body for resisting the ravages of old age.

There is no single food which will perform a miracle and act as a fountain of youth. But enough foods to keep the body well supplied with energy and flesh, plus a wide assortment to fortify with vitamins and minerals, make old age something to look forward to, and eating too much of them, it is not advisable. One-food families are likely to be short-lived families. The housewife should develop skill to prepare a new dish each week. Her family will enjoy the surprise and will be more likely to enjoy old age.

Feed the youngsters; don't deprive them.

THE WORLD TODAY

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, April 4—The entertainment factories have come out of their taxation doldrums and things are beginning to hum again. The mood of the town is chipper. And one of the most encouraging things is that people are beginning to play jokes.

One day some of the other technicians called him out of the building just before he began his lunch. During his absence, another joker took the label off his can of plums and put it on a can of beans, which he left on the desk. When the Englishman was ready to eat plums and found beans, he went to the store and got his money back. The grocer said such things can happen, but that they were very rare.

DECIDES TO SHARE STORY WITH ENGLAND

But they weren't rare. It went on like that. The next day the Englishman opened a can of peaches and found tomatoes inside. When he was drooling in anticipation of nice crisp pineapple, he got spinach, but makes them less vigorous and less playful. Stunting during the growth period does not help old age.

People You Know

It was entertaining to sit behind Mrs. Raymond Harrah at "Northwest Passage" and watch her wince at the atrocities which filled the picture. Good for an especially good shiver of horror was the escaped captive's report that the Indians played ball with their victims' heads, also the sight of the heroes eating soup made out of leeches.

Maybe you should know there is no longer any such country as "Siam." In a letter, Luang Thavil, commissioner general for Thailand to the New York World's fair, Mr. Thavil writes, "my country although known to the world for almost one century as 'Siam,' has recently changed its name to 'Thailand' which means Land of the Free and the people of Thailand are being called 'Thai' instead of 'Siamese.' The name 'Siam' was mostly used among foreigners but among my people the country has always been known as Prades Thai, 'Prades' means land; 'Thai' means free. Chinese first called the country Siam from a trading post, and foreigners corrupted it to Siam. The Thai race consists of about 30 million people. The New Year in Thailand began April 1, being the 2483rd year after the death of Buddha."

What Foods Will Ward Off Old Age? Although most of us look forward to reaching a ripe old age, there is nothing attractive about the possibility of years of palsied, stiff, pain-racked decay.

There are many recent laboratory and clinical indications that declining years can be made more vigorous and healthful by the foods eaten before old-age gets us in its grip. The foods eaten in middle life, even in childhood, seem to have a great deal to do with how spry we are in after-life.

Foods eaten in early life also have a bearing on how long we live.

Some faddists believe that by keeping very slender on a starvation diet we shall live longer and be healthier in old age. There is no scientific justification for this. On the other hand, overeating and overweight throughout life make old-age come more quickly.

One of the first rules, therefore, is moderation. Not too little, nor too much.

Other faddists have kept children on mere existence diets on the false notion that retarding growth in childhood helps old age. This may help some laboratory rats live longer, but makes them less vigorous and less playful. Stunting during the growth period does not help old age.

"COLLECTIVE BARGAINING" A SNARE

By GUS W. DYER

Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

It is the fixed policy of socialists and communists in this country to promote radical and revolutionary policies under high sounding, conservative phrases. The widespread ignorance with reference to both Americanism and radicalism makes this policy very effective. Socialism is designated as "industrial democracy." Communism is represented as the rapid extension of cooperatives and government ownership and syndicalism.

The real purpose of the Wagner Law is believed to be to give to employees in industry a monopoly control over industry in order that employees might use industry primarily to advance their own interests. In proof that this was the purpose of the law, the "sit-down strike," under the direction of one of the chief officers of the administration, immediately followed the confirmation of the law. The "sit-down strike" was the means by which the radicals in France turned over the government to the control of the socialists, and it was the means selected under the Wagner Law to give a monopoly of control over the industry to the employees of industry.

The socialist sit-down strike was crushed by American patriotism, but it is interesting to note that it was never condemned, not even criticized adversely, by the Chief Executive. The unanticipated uprising of the American people against the socialist sit-down strike forced a change of strategy in the task of turning over the control of American industries to radical labor leaders.

The one great obstruction to industrial stability and industrial progress today is this American radicalism. The Wagner Law is antagonistic to the very foundation of constitutional freedom. Its general application to industry will drive brains and character out of business and make effective industrial progress impossible. The pretense that the purpose of this law is to protect collective bargaining is absurd and preposterous. In the first place, the right of collective bargaining has never been denied, restrained, nor questioned by anyone in the history of our country. Every contract made by a corporation or a church or a municipality is an example of collective bargaining. Every sale made by farmers to business corporations and every purchase made by farmers from business corporations are examples of collective bargaining. The idea that any issue can be made of collective bargaining is pure nonsense.

But "collective bargaining" as used by radicals and as used in the Wagner Law is something fundamentally different from the real meaning of the term. As here used it represents a policy that repudiates collective bargaining and repudiates the constitutional right to bargain collectively. It is a system of collective compulsion that makes any type of contract or bargain impossible. The freedom of both parties to a contract to enter into the contract or to refrain from entering the contract is absolutely essential. Any sort of compulsion exercised directly or indirectly on either party to a contract that is effective in leading the party to sign the contract destroys the contract, and it is held by every court in the land.

The one great purpose of the Wagner Law is to deprive the American citizen of his freedom by giving to employees power to compel employers to agree to their demands. In carrying out this monopolistic purpose the law takes from the employer his constitutional right to go to the open market and make contracts with American citizens for their services. The law takes from the employer his constitutional right of freedom of speech and freedom of press; he is not permitted to advise his employees by word or in writing with reference to what he considers their own welfare. The law takes from minority employees their constitutional right to make their own contracts. Respectable men and women are compelled by the law to submit to being "lived out" by the labor boss.

How long will Congress permit this monopoly to be a law?

Is Churchill The Genius To Whip Hitler?

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Britain's cabinet stake-up means to me nothing so much as that at last one of the greatest geniuses of English history—Winston Churchill—has been accorded a political position which puts him close to level footing with the Prime Minister in prestige and may easily lead to the Premiership soon.

I venture the suggestion that his appointment as director of all the armed forces of the nation represents one of the most constructive moves towards victory which could have been made for the allied cause.

The Churchill brain is a Maginot line for Britain and France. One of the most striking features of this change is that it is the result of an insistent public demand that Churchill be given greater scope for his talents. Rarely indeed does such a situation arise.

Beyond this the cabinet change has no special significance in the sense that an immediate change of fundamental policy is involved. A definite alteration in the direction of action would mean the downfall of Premier Chamberlain.

A Lone Wolf There is no other man in England at this time who has the varied marks of greatness possessed by this 65-year-old son of the empire's bluest blood.

Statesman, soldier, naval expert, air expert, financial expert, orator, writer, oil painter, bricklayer—there is nothing of any moment he has not touched that he hasn't mastered in a big way.

He has reached great heights, but always the supreme goal—the Prime Ministership—has eluded him. The answer probably lies in that while he has commanded respect in parliament he hasn't had the popularity necessary for leadership.

He has been more or less of a lone wolf, delighting to use the magic of his logic and tongue to drive his opponents to cover.

Because of his skill few ever could answer him, and I have seen him stand in Commons and lash cabinet ministers until they drooled in their seats.

Dardanelles Failure Perhaps small wonder that while his ability long ago qualified him for the Premier's office, his personality should have driven supporters from him. I have felt, too, that political animosity may have had much to do with creating a spirit of distrust in Churchill's judgment and stability.

Obviously the public doesn't distrust him, or they wouldn't be calling for him to lead them out of the wilderness. The Dardanelles campaign was one of the great military tragedies of generations.

Eating Honey Helps Hay Fever

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Editor CLEVELAND, April 4.—People who said they helped their hay fever by eating clover honey in the spring, and chewing ragweed leaves in the summer received medical justification today at the American College of Physicians.

This curious legend was investigated by the allergy clinic of the university hospitals of Cleveland, with the result that eating pollen was tried as a medical remedy and found quite effective.

One hundred and thirty hay fever victims acted as the guinea pigs. About half of them took injections of the ragweed pollen, a standard method of relieving hay fever.

The other half swallowed capsules filled with the same pollen. As a result 63 per cent of the pollen eaters were helped considerably, 24 per cent had fair relief and 13 per cent were not relieved at all.

This was almost as good as the results of the regular vaccination method, where 70 per cent experienced considerable relief, 19 fair and 11 none.

The capsule method had one advantage. It was easy to take a capsule every day or two, whereas the vaccination requires going to the doctor 15 to 30 times.

Another Communist Defies Dies Body WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The Dies committee met defiance today from another Communist party leader, Philip Frankfield of Boston, and voted to cite him for contempt in an upcoming session from which Frankfield said he was ejected by capitol police.

The Boston Communist, executive secretary of the Communist party in New England, refused to answer a single committee question unless he was given permission to read a resolution which he said 10,000 citizens of Massachusetts had adopted in the Boston area last Sunday.

"I will not answer a single question until you listen to the voice of the American people," the Communists official shouted, his black eyes flashing.

Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) of the investigating group refused permission to read the resolution, and Frankfield roared: "Do you mean to silence the voices of 10,000 Americans?" Dies banged for order, rebuked the witness for making such statements, turned to committee members for a moment and then announced the contempt citation.

"The American people will issue a writ of habeas corpus against you," Frankfield shouted as Dies ordered him from the witness stand. The pudgy Communist turned to the press table nearby and hastily distributed copies of the resolution he had tried to read.

You Can See Double At Waco Convention

WACO, April 4 (AP)—If there's an uncommon amount of double talk and you see triple here today think nothing of it.

It won't be caused by something you drank or ate because the second annual Texas College Twin convention will be under way.

More than 100 sets of twins along with several sets of triplets will attend, coming from at least 16 states. First delegates arrived early today. They were Clara and Ruth Crumley and Bill and Bob Allred, appointed by Governor Clyde R. Hoey to represent North Carolina.

The convention begins officially tomorrow but there will be an informal reception tonight. The events also will give two university professors a chance to test multiple sets of biological lines.

Dr. D. C. Rife, professor of biology and entomology at Ohio State university, and Dr. Iva Cox Gardner, professor of psychology at Baylor university, will use the multiples as "guinea pigs" for science.

Dr. Rife will test particularly the blood count and eye pigmentation. Like thought patterns of the twins will be tested and evaluated by Dr. Gardner, who with President Pat M. Neff of Baylor is co-sponsor of the Host Baylor Twin club.

Among special guests will be Annette and Janette Tucker of Winters, Tex., sweethearts of Lions International, and five sets of triplets, the Talasaks of Rosenberg, Elmore of Moody, Lancasters of Hubbard City, McCaulleys of Hillsboro and Merrells of Waco.

CHURCHILL

had succeeded in plugging all the gaps. For the most part the new cast is the same as the old, and in several cases the changes were mere swaps.

The only new blood in the ministerial family is in the food ministry, where Lord Woolton, an industrialist, succeeded Herbert S. Morrison.

The only minister missing from the new alignment is Lord Glasfield, squeezed out by the dissolution of the ministry for coordination of defense.

Primarily, Chamberlain achieved three reforms: 1. Endowing Churchill with almost unchallenged mastery over the fighting services as head of the armed services committee; 2. Putting Sir John Simon and Sir Kingsley Wood in almost the same category on the home front;

3. Cutting down the war cabinet from nine to eight ministers by cutting out the ministry for coordination of defense. The task of presiding over the cabinet's economic policy committee fell to Sir John, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Sir Kingsley, who left the air ministry to become Lord Privy Seal, was made head of the home policy committee, director of the vital domestic problems, including food and agriculture.

In effect, these three veterans—Churchill, Sir John and Sir Kingsley—will be an inner war cabinet. It will be up to them and Chamberlain.

The only brake on Churchill's authority will be the Prime Minister himself. No. 1 Strategist Since he stays as First Lord of the Admiralty, the man-of-action Churchill becomes not only the head of Britain's chief blockade agency but also her number one strategist.

Earl Appointed Governor-General

OTTAWA, April 4 (AP)—Canada acclaimed a member of the royal family, the earl of Athlone, as its new governor-general today, appointed by King George VI to succeed the late Lord Tweedsmuir.

The dominion, partner-in-arms with the mother country in the European war, learned of the appointment of the tall, soldierly brother of Queen Mother Mary while Canada was being urged to do everything possible to win "the active support of the United States in the cause of the allies."

Gordon Conant, attorney general of Ontario, told an audience of farmers and business men yesterday that "no sacrifice on our part will be too great if that is accomplished."

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King disclosed that the earl of Athlone was the dominion government's choice. The appointment was in keeping with the belief of Lord Tweedsmuir that he, a commoner, should be succeeded by a man high in British aristocracy.

Because of wartime secrecy the date of sailing for the new governor-general and his countess, Princess Alice, a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, was not announced.

Conant argued that a United States declaration for the allies now would "show Germany" what he called "the futility of her mad project" and, therefore, might bring an end to the struggle.

Mexico Rejects Oil Arbitration

MEXICO CITY, April 4 (AP)—Mexico again has rejected the proposal of expropriated oil firms that the controversy be submitted to international arbitration.

In a book just published reviewing the entire question growing out of expropriation of foreign oil properties March 18, 1938, the government said: "The companies suggested arbitration between Mexico, the United States, Great Britain and Holland. Such arbitration would decide concerning the return of the properties to the companies in case a denial of justice could be proved. This would condemn Mexico, if the decision were adverse, to arrange a settlement on bases proposed by the companies and which, they contend, represents the maximum limit of generosity."

"Possibility of arbitration cannot be rejected. First because it would not be possible to accept arbitration in which Great Britain and Holland figure, since it has been evidenced in accord with principles of international law, that Mexico could not admit diplomatic representation of any kind in matters affecting a Mexican company. (Under Mexican law, the companies were chartered as Mexican firms.)"

"Secondly, as concerns the government of the United States, it has regarded categorically as un-questioned Mexico's right to expropriate, thus leaving nothing subject to arbitration."

High School Tennis Players Gather Here

Tennis stars from over the Panhandle will gather here at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon for an invitation tournament for high school boys. Play will be on six courts.

Number of teams to attend was not known today by B. G. Gordon, high school tennis coach. Invitations were sent to 19 schools. At least a dozen of them are expected to send players.

Fans are invited to attend the matches. No charge will be made. Courts to be used will be at Central Park, Woodrow Wilson school and Horace Mann school.

President And Dewey Have Head Starts

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Although primary balloting was variously interpreted today, the fact remained that in promised convention votes Thomas E. Dewey and President Roosevelt had head starts over all other contenders.

Seventeen more Republican delegates were to be chosen in state conventions today, four at large in Kansas and 13 in Maine.

Of the 1,000 delegates for the Republican national convention in Philadelphia, the Democrats have picked 194 of their 1,094.

Dewey's acquisition of most—and possibly all—of Wisconsin's 24 Republican delegates in his race with Senator Arthur Vandenberg gave him his first pledged support.

The New York District Attorney, moreover, is expected to have the backing of the large majority of New York's 92 uninstructed delegates, already selected. Frank Gannett, Rochester publisher, will have the remainder.

Other Republican delegates who have been chosen are as follows: 8 in North Carolina, 8 in New Hampshire, 12 in Florida, 4 in South Carolina, 14 in Kansas, 5 in Louisiana, and 1 in Virginia.

With the exception of one North Carolina delegate, who managers of Senator Robert Taft of Ohio say was pledged to him, all this group is uninstructed. The New Hampshire delegation is generally conceded to Senator Styles Bridges of that state, and Taft claims the favor of the other 7 North Carolina delegates.

The Democrats have chosen 13 delegates so far. Unless Vice President Garner obtains one or two of the 24 from Wisconsin, all are either pledged or favorable to the President if he seeks another nomination.

Besides those Mr. Roosevelt won in Wisconsin, 6 in Alaska, 8 in New Hampshire, and 10 in Maine have been instructed for him. New York's 92 district delegates (8 at large are yet to be selected) are uninstructed, but are pro-Roosevelt.

While Vice President Garner kept silent on the Wisconsin returns, the fact that he polled about one-third of the total vote in the preference poll led his Texas campaign headquarters to assert that "the third term is a dead issue."

"The results clearly prove," the headquarters statement said, "that the two-term tradition will be respected. Mr. Roosevelt could not be elected if nominated. The third term is dead."

On the other hand, Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) a third term booster, declared the big third term vote confirmed his prediction "that the people and not President Roosevelt would decide the third term issue."

"It means that the people have made up their minds to draft Roosevelt," he added.

Crops In Storage Move To Markets

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The Biblical idea of storing crop surpluses for use in years of lean production—around which present federal farm programs were built—is paying millions of dollars in cash dividends to farmers this season.

Millions of bushels of wheat and thousands of bales of cotton are moving into trade channels from warehouse and elevators, where they were stored in 1938 and 1939 the "ever-normal granary" system.

Each bushel of wheat puts from 5 to 18 cents into the pockets of the farmer who placed it in storage, the amount depending on the grade and its storage location with reference to terminal markets. Likewise, each bale of cotton nets the producer from 50 cents to $7.50, the amount again depending on the grade and location.

An improvement in demand and a decrease in supplies this season, resulting in improved prices for these crops, are the major factors which make profit-selling of the stored products possible.

Farm officials were quick to claim success for the program on the basis of these extra returns to growers. Critics, on the other hand, contend to place American products at disadvantage in foreign markets and thereby retarded exports, further complicating the surplus problem.

Opponents also contend that the storage program made farm products cost American consumers more than they otherwise would.

"What he (O'Daniel) asked for was a yes-men legislature. He further asked for more powers for himself. He further asked that the burden of taxation be placed on the backs of the poor people of Texas through his celebrated transactions tax, which is nothing but a pyramid sales tax."

'Yes-Men' Wanted By O'Daniel Says Ernest Thompson

AUSTIN, April 4 (AP)—Ernest O. Thompson, probable candidate this year against Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, made the following comment today on O'Daniel's announcement:

"What he (O'Daniel) asked for was a yes-men legislature. He further asked for more powers for himself. He further asked that the

East Texas Gasoline Prices Cut Again

LONGVIEW, April 4 (AP)—A two-weeks-old gasoline price war entered a new phase here today, with some major companies making additional reductions in retail quotations.

Major company retail prices on third-grade, regular and premium fuels included: Gulf, 12, 17 and 19 cents a gallon; Magnolia 11, 16 and 18; Humble 13, 15, and 17; Texas Company 13, 17 and 19; Cities Service 13, 13 and 17; Sinclair, 13, 17 and 19. These prices represented reductions up to four cents on third grade gas and two cents on other grades.

At the best many favorites went into new high ground for the year or longer. Steers and rails led the crooked rush, but the majority of these slipped at the finish. Activity was pronounced following the opening when, for a brief space, the ticker tape led behind floor dealers. Things cooled, although there were subsequent intermittent flurries. Traders were around 2,000,000 shares, making it the liveliest session of the "war boom" of last September.

NEW YORK, April 4 (AU)—Traders crashed profits today on Wednesday's substantial stock market rally and leading issue had trouble in holding after closing upward of a point or more in earlier proceedings.

James Farley Begins Tour Of 7 Cities

DALLAS, April 4 (AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley, who also is chairman of the national democratic committee and is eyeing the presidential nomination, begins a tour of seven Texas cities today.

His hosts at most of the luncheons and breakfasts in his honor will be men active in the movement to make vice-president John N. Garner president.

But take it from E. B. Germany, co-chairman of the Garner-for-president committee, this has no political significance as far as the presidential race is concerned.

Mr. Garner and Mr. Farley both are old-style democrats who believe in the highest principles of democracy and have a common interest, Germany said. "It is but natural that the Garner supporters should also admire Mr. Farley."

"There is no political significance attached to this courtesy. I know nothing of a movement to place Mr. Farley on the ticket with Mr. Garner."

Dallas was the start of the tour with Germany host at a breakfast immediately after Farley's arrival. Farley has eight speeches lined up, the first at the Texas cotton ginners association convention here.

At Hillsboro, Farley will be honored guest at a luncheon attended by 500 and given by Burriss C. Jackson, Hillsboro postmaster.

Next the postmaster general goes to Marlin, home of United States Senator Tom Connally; then to College Station, where he will witness a military review at Texas A. & M. college and attend a dinner given by Dr. T. Onwalton, president of the college, and Col. Ike Ashburn.

Tomorrow Farley will be entertained with a breakfast at Tyler by Earle B. Mayfield, Jr., national committee chairman for Texas of the young democrats. He will go to Longview to dedicate a new federal building, then visit Marshall at noon for a luncheon arranged by Myron C. Blaylock, a Garner leader, and B. C. McElroy.

Farley will address the Texas postmasters association in the afternoon, then depart for Shreveport where he will take a train for Jackson, Miss.

Richard Refuses To Discuss Fine

ABILENE, April 4 (AP)—George (Dick) Richards, former owner of the Detroit Lions, said today he did not care to discuss the statement of Carl Stork, president of the National Football League, that he had fined Richards for tampering with players.

Stork asserted at Dayton that he had fined Richards $5,300 before he sold his Detroit team to Fred L. Mandel, Jr., of Chicago.

Richards, who stopped off here to see Clyde (Bulldog) Turner, former Harbin-Simmons University center with whom the ex-Detroit owner was alleged to have "tampered," admitted that he had been fined.

"But that's all settled," he said. "Let's forget about the matter. I'm through with football and I do not care to get into a controversy at this time."

Shop The Want-Ads and Save BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you suffer, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or steady passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Get your kidneys checked for over 40 years. They give happy health and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Martin And Marion Appear To Have Solved Infield Problem Of Cards

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
ORLANDO, Fla., April 4—Those who as the training season started picked the St. Louis Cardinals to beat the Cincinnati Reds to the National League pennant are now practically ready to wager they are right.
For Stuart Martin and Martin Marion appear to have solved the Red Birds' infield problem.
And behind them are other rather capable infielders—Joe Orenge and Eddie Lake.

Despite his lack of experience at second base, he has shown a marked aptitude and has excelled in double plays.
Lake who stands only 5 feet 7 and weighs no more than 152 pounds, was the 1939 Texas League champion at both the run and the walk. An ideal leadoff man, he broke a 14-year-old Texas League record by swiping 153 bases on balls. A full-time shortstop, he scored 129 runs.
With pitching and power and the infield holes evidently plugged, the St. Louis Cardinals will take a lot of whipping this season.

Jimmy Brown and Stu Martin

Stuart Martin seems to have returned to the form that made him such a big help to the bloopers in the red blazers in the early part of 1938, and which would come close to bringing the club down in front this year. Even though he is not exactly a master in the art of pivoting on double plays, Stu Martin daily draws away from Orenge, his principal rival for the second basing berth.
The North Carolinian is a stand-up-and-cheer second sacker this spring. He is also an established major league hitter.
Marion, who has been good enough defensively for three campaigns, will likely open the season at shortstop.

With Stu Martin remaining at second, only shortstop was open in the St. Louis Cardinal infield, and the position apparently has been won by Martin

NOT EVEN CARDINALS CAN CARRY ALL-AMERICA OUT
"This Marion field," says Miguel Gonzalez, the veteran Cuban catcher and coach in his own quaint language. "He shows I never saw so fast. Get it away quick. Big fellow to start with. I like big men anywhere, anytime. You see, a year... two years... he'll be a great star. In telling you, Marig can't miss. If he learns to hit, nothing to it."
That's the rub—hitting.
Marion, who formerly had a hitch in his swing, compiled a .272 average with Rochester, and will more than do if he can come close to that mark in Cardinal livery, but not even an outfit studded with Padgett, Mizes, Medwick and Slaughter can afford to carry on All-America out, regardless of his capabilities at a key position in the field.
An All-America out everlastingly comes up in the clutches. The other side is always passing someone to get at him.
And with the pitcher following him in the batting order, the tail end of it is too inviting an oasis for an enemy pitcher to breeze and doctor up his wounds.

JOE ORENGE STARTED AT SHORTSTOP A YEAR AGO
A fair-hitting Marion would leave Jimmy Brown, unused but highly important Cardinal, free to play third base.
Eager to step in for Stu Martin and Marion are the 6-foot, 190-pound aggressive, skillful and intelligent Orenge and Little Lake.
Orenge performed at shortstop in every Red Bird exhibition game a year ago and launched the regular grind against Pittsburgh before being shot back to Sacramento, where he also batted .272.
The only change against him then was that he uprooted, or hit under the ball.

Fitzsimmons Has Eight Eligibles For Derby Race
By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—Taking it by and large, there apparently isn't another three-year-old Johnson, Gallant Fox or Omaha kicking around in the hay of Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons' barn these spring mornings.
But that's not saying Mr. Fitz won't be in there pitching with a chance to pull one out of the hat again come Derby Day.
The little man who's usually there when they start the run for the roses at Churchill Downs has eight eligibles getting ready at the stables of William Woodward (Belair) and Mrs. H. C. Phipps (Wheatley) out at Aqueduct race track. Not one of these—five for Belair and three for Wheatley—is rated more than an outside shot to grab the brass ring against Bimelech, Andy K. & Co.
Yet, Mr. Fitz beams and assures you he's not worrying.
"Four of the eight are coming along right nice," he pointed out. "Of those we're thinking of for the Derby, only Merry Knight is still off for this period in his training."
Fenelon, the Sir Galahad III colt which came home in the mile-and-a-half endurance handicap at Bowie last fall, is the one that has been tabbed by "experts" as most likely to succeed. But his Belair stablemate, Dusky Fox, and a pair of Diavolo colts, Asp and Snow

Training Camp Briebs
(By The Associated Press)
EL PASO — The Chicago Cubs may not have known it today as they pulled out for San Antonio, but in the opinion of Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox the Bruin outfit is "not as good looking a ball club as it was this time last year." The Cubs dropped seven out of 12 games against the Sox.
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — The Phillies, heading homeward from their training site at Miami Beach, have a cheering topic of conversation today—Rookie Roy Bruner's three-hit pitching against the Rochester Redwings yesterday in a full nine-inning performance.
SAN ANGELO — Fred Haney's St. Louis Browns took on their last no-major exhibition foe today in a test against the semi-pro Texas Oilers. The Browns will face the Chicago Cubs seven times and the Cardinals twice before the season opens.
TULSA, Okla. — The New York Yankees appear to be in first rate shape as far as their pitching—or for that matter, all departments—is concerned.
Monte Pearson came along yesterday and hurled five perfect innings of no-hit, no-run, no man to first baseball. And he hit a two-run homer, too!

Uncle Billy Disch To Be Feted Tonight

AUSTIN, April 4 (AP)—Crafty, tough old William John (Uncle Billy) Disch, thirty seasons the University of Texas' baseball coach, tonight receives the tribute earned over one of the greatest stretches in college sports history.
Educators, baseball fans and some of the stars he developed while winning 20 pennants in 25 Southwest Conference starts, will crowd around the banquet table to commemorate officially his start of another season.
Homer Price Rainey, a pretty fair Texas League pitcher a few decades ago who has since ascended to the presidency of the University of Texas, will be the principal eulogizer for the 65-year-old Missouri Lorn coach.

Before Uncle Billy goes to his party, he will send the Longhorns on the field against Southern Methodist University at the start of another conference campaign. The climbers of Texas baseball, headed by P. T. (Star) Baldwin, captain of Disch's 1912 team, will host "a Disch pennant" out in centerfield for 20 smaller pennants streaming behind it. Each will represent a title he has won.
Better than 30 former Longhorn players have been sent into professional baseball by Uncle Billy. But the most illustrious of the bunch is Bibb Falk, the boy who slipped off the college campus and into the Chicago White Sox lineup as a clouting outfielder.
Bib Falk will be back for the banquet, as will many others. Uncle Billy's famed "Pinkie" Higgins, Detroit's third baseman, and Ernie Koy, Brooklyn outfielder, wired regrets.
Disch, who coached at St. Edward's University in Austin before doing brief stretches as player and manager in the Texas League, came to the University of Texas in the spring of 1911.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

Toppling 2640 pins, the Texas company won three games from the Kiwanis club in the UBB league last night. Gunn-Hinerman took two out of three from Dr. Pepper in the other series.
On Tuesday in the Major league, Schneider hotel won three straight from Diamond Shop. Cabot Shops took three from Phillips 66 and Thompson Hardware swept three games from Voss Cleaners.

Williams, Hill, Wolcott To Feature Texas Relays

AUSTIN, April 4 (AP)—Three swift Texans bent on monopolizing the nation's sprint business meet up again here Saturday.
Wee Williams, North Texas State Teachers College sophomore; Freddie Wolcott, Rice Institute's famed hurdler-sprinter and Lonnie Hill, the University of Texas sophomore giant, carry their feud into the Texas relays, the nation's first major outdoor track and field carnival of the season.
One of the trio—Wolcott—may not be ready for the relays' spotlighted 100-yard dash event, but Williams and Hill are swishing along towards peak form.
Slow recovery from a sinus operation and cautious training intended to bring him to his best sprinting for the mid-summer national meets, has left Wolcott, trailing in efforts so fast that he may start challenging this time.
Unknown until he ran his first college race at Laredo three weeks ago, Williams, a five foot, seven inch hurricane with an incredibly fast start, was the railbird choice of the starting holes, critics have whispered he bolts the gun.
But Wolcott, who has raced against him twice, flattens this gossip with:
"No sir, Williams leaves with the gun. He is like a bullet for the first twenty yards."
The tiny flier, who defeated Wolcott and Hill in the Laredo meet, has run two 9-6 hundreds since Hill beat him by a foot in a special 100-meter race the the recent Fort Worth Southwestern Exposition meet.
Two other fellows may crack the publicized trio at Austin, however. Billy Brown, Louisiana State's fireball and broad jump wizard, and young Fred Ramsdell of Texas, son of a famed old sprinter, are also entered. Ramsdell shocked track followers last weekend by beating Hill in a dual meet with the Texas Aggies.

Reapers' Coach Plans Scrimmage For Big Squad

A scrimmage, to select a possible first team to represent the Pampa Junior High school, may be held tomorrow afternoon at Harvester field, Coach C. P. McWright said yesterday following a long workout. The backfield should give Coach McWright little worry but the line will be a big question mark. Boyles, Berry and Dunham are big boys who have had considerable experience. Campbell, White, Neel and others will battle for the fourth starting position.
Not a starting lineman from last year's team, defeated only once, will be available this season. Newcomers and boys up from Jack Davis' Paces will have to be used in the line.

Coach Odus Mitchell doesn't expect to set any new track and field records this year but he's already predicting that Harvester tracksters won't have to take the dust from any team next season.
Out of the 45 boys in track suits now there are only two or three ready for competition. All others are up from Junior High school or have never been out for track and field.
Most of the Junior High boys had excellent training last year under Coach C. P. McWright but they need at least a year more experience before they can hope to compete in high school ranks.
Yesterday, first practice day of the week, was spent in starting for the dash men and form for the hurdlers and field men. Today's program was to be spent in contests with first trials to select a team set for tomorrow afternoon.
"No, there aren't any favorites," declared Coach Mitchell when asked about his best boys.
The district track and field meet will take place on April 13 west of Harvester park. County champions from 10 Panhandle counties will be eligible to compete. The Harvester are defending champions. Directors will be F. L. Mize of LeFors assisted by W. N. Anderson of Pampa.

Wood Faces Gene Sarazen At Augusta

By GILL BONI
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP)—Perhaps by accident but more probably by well-conceived design, they sent Craig Wood and Gene Sarazen into today's opening round of the Masters golf tournament in the same twosome.
It was one of the most colorful pairings in the entire list. Wood, the handsome blond bomber from Maroonock, N. Y., at 38, is playing the game as well as ever, and Sarazen, the squat, outspoken little gentleman farmer, also 38, is playing almost as well as he ever did.
But there was more behind it than that. It revived one of the best Merrilw finishes in the history of this or any other golf tournament—Sarazen's double-eagle on the 15th hole of the last round in the 1935 tournament, which enabled him to tie Wood for first place and go on to beat him in a playoff the next day.
Sarazen's shot ranks as one of the epic ones of the game—a 235-yard No. 4 wood that cleared the deep ditch in front of the green and popped into the hole.
Behind today's pairings, though, stood something else—a long line of similar finishes to tournaments in which Wood has looked like a winner only to be beaten out either at the last moment or in a playoff.
"If you think I lay awake nights, worrying over putting, I might have sunk to win, you're all wrong," said Craig.
Wood has been playing some of his best golf lately—well enough to be graded right up with Ben Hogan, Ralph Guldahl, Byron Nelson, Henry Picard, Jimmy Demaret and the other favorites in this hand-picked field of 59 masters.

Summers Signs Oiler Contract

When the Pampa Oiler pitching prospects take the field for opening practice Saturday they'll need a catcher and that catcher will be on hand. He'll be Lloyd Summers, big catcher of the 1939 team.
Summers reported to Manager Grover Selts yesterday that he was ready to sign a contract. It was believed until the past few days that Summers would not play professional ball this season but would manage the Magnolia team. He has changed his mind, however.
Manager Selts also reported receiving a signed contract from Ben Parish, purchased from Borger. Parish has been working out at his home in Pecos, Okla., and says his arm feels great this year.
Word was received yesterday that Gordon Nell, last year with the Oilers, had signed a contract with the Borger Gassers. He was given his release last week.

Guymon Band Prepares For Celebration

Boots and chaps, big hats and spurs, weather-bleached shirts, whiskers, wind-whipped bandannas became dress uniform for Guymon's Cowboy band this week as its members began preparations for the eighth annual celebration of Pioneer's Day on May 1 and 2.

With a membership of 24 musicians this organization is just now completing its thirty-fourth year of continuous and unbroken existence with charter member, S. D. Safrankin a pianist and an active participant in all programs.

Strictly a volunteer group, the band has regular two-hour rehearsals each Tuesday night throughout the year, and year after year with an occasional lapse of two weeks at Christmas time.

During summer months open air concert programs are presented in one of the city parks, the last of which is held in September each year and is featured by a masculine bathing beauty contest sponsored by the bandmen.

Shell Plants End 10 Years Without A Serious Injury

Completing 10 years of continuous operation without a single disabling injury, Shell employees in the two Bryan gasoline plants, at Skellytown recently establish an outstanding record in the history of the natural gasoline industry.

Eight employees at these two plants have participated in the entire 10 year record. They are: Reuel Casey, Elisha C. Bonner, A. R. Givens, John B. Roe, Thomas L. Allison, Oscar E. Carlson, Fred L. McCarty, and Kell A. Sorenson.

During this period a total of 441,400 man hours were worked. C. E. Smith has been superintendent of these plants since January, 1938. Prior to that date the plants were successfully under the supervision of M. R. Church, now general superintendent of gasoline plants in the Texas-Gulf area, and C. E. Haines, now superintendent of Shell's Magnolia plant in Arkansas.

Those who made this record have profited in health, happiness, and comfort. They have also contributed to increased employee moral and departmental efficiency and have enjoyed an uninterrupted income, all of which benefits the employee, his family and the company alike.

SERIAL STORY

K. O. CAVALIER BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: The new hands go to work. Duffy and Grimes with the paint crew while Eddie works out. Cavalier rebuffs Val's efforts to make friends. Mike Kelly tells Val that Cavalier has the stuff that makes champions and that she will be changing her opinion of him soon.

CHAPTER VII

VAL DOUGLAS went up on the bridge and watched Eddie Cavalier jog around deck. He ran tirelessly, effortlessly. Probably would give Glenn Cunningham a good battle over a mile, she figured.

She didn't have to be told by Mike Kelly that Cavalier was a perfect athlete. He had never smoked a cigaret in his life. He steered clear of liquor and followed Pop Grimes' instructions to the letter.

She remembered he had taken up golf just a year ago and already was breaking 90. A famous pro once had called him the ideal example of muscular co-ordination and nerves and insisted Cavalier could be playing in the National Open within two years if he wanted to concentrate on the game.

Val Douglas long ago had decided—in print, too—that Eddie Cavalier, with his dark, curly hair and handsome features, was too good-looking to be a fighter. Once she had hinted that he could have been a greater riot as a slugger instead of the boxer he was—but that he preferred to protect his good looks.

That, in fact, was what had started the whole feud. He had never forgiven her for that and threatened to eject her bodily himself if she tried to pay a visit to his Pompton Lakes training camp.

From her position of vantage overlooking the deck, Val Douglas smiled sardonically. Here, at least, was one training camp he couldn't pitch her out of.

DUFFY KELSO, spattered and smelly from paint, fixed her with a vindictive eye at lunch. "We're gonna work out on the biggie this afternoon and maybe spar three rounds with Kelly. Any objections?" he inquired belligerently.

"Not at all," she answered brightly. "I'm anxious to see if his surroundings affect his ring disposition."

"I'll try not to disappoint you," Eddie said meaningly, and she wondered if he'd went his spite on Mike Kelly. That, however, might be a boomerang. Mike Kelly, after all, was a heavy-weight and still in good condition despite his long absence from the ring.

Cavalier donned Kelly's old ring togs and they fitted him somewhat grotesquely. The shoes were a half size too large but he wore an extra pair of socks to take up some of the slack.

Kelly was forced to wear makeshift garb. He borrowed a pair of sneakers from a member of the crew and cut down the legs of an old pair of trousers to serve as trunks. Both fighters wore heavy sweaters to protect them from the tangy ocean breezes.

Val could hardly suppress a snicker, they looked so funny. Duffy Kelso, noticing, tapped her on the shoulder familiarly.

"Please, lady—cut the comies. If he sees you enjoyin' this too much it'll throw him so far off he'll never get back."

While Mike skipped rope to get himself warmed up Cavalier went to work on the light bag. Coolly, expertly he beat out a rhythmic pattern of leather on board. Faster, faster he worked until the bag became an indistinct blur of motion and the noise became a flat, rolling wave that sounded like a muffled machine gun.

Val found herself admiring the sight. Eddie lifted his eyes from the bag, without breaking the rhythm and noticed the rapt look on her face. As though it were a sudden, spiteful gesture she slammed the bag one terrific punch and ended the show. The gesture startled her and she smirked.

A MESSAGE sent down by the radio operator interrupted the workout. "It's from Sam Golden," said Duffy Kelso, reading it quickly.

"Golden, hey? What's up?" Pop Grimes asked.

"Plenty," Duffy moaned. "He says the newspaper guys don't believe he didn't know a thing about this and they ain't even talking to him, and if I know Sam Golden, he's tearing out his hair for fear maybe they'll boycott the fight."

"But that ain't all," Duffy continued. "The state boxing commission had to be notified, of course, and they demand that we put up a $5000 bond that we'll show up for weighin' in ceremonies on time."

"Who'll we get to dig up the $5000 for us?" Kelso demanded. "We gotta think fast."

"We'll think about that later," Cavalier said impatiently. "I'm getting cold. Let's go Mike."

They climbed in between the ropes and Kelso and Grimes looked at each other questioningly. It wasn't like the kid to be so impatient. He was like a race horse at the post. It was something new and they didn't like it. Duffy Kelso forgot all about the $5000 bond.

"Okay," Pop grunted, taking out his watch. "Start slow an' I take it easy."

CAVALIER danced forward and flicked a straight left without a preliminary motion of any sort. It caught Mike on the bridge of his nose and tilted his head back sharply. Mike looked surprised and advanced more cautiously.

Val tried to read Cavalier's expression but the padded head guard he wore obscured his features. All she could see were a pair of piercing eyes, and she didn't like the way they were being directed at Mike.

Mike Kelly went a good 195 pounds and there wasn't an ounce of fat on him. The years had slowed him down a little but he could still maneuver surprisingly well.

Val tucked his chin behind his left shoulder and went to work. He muscled in close and worked a short right to Eddie's ribs. Cavalier jabbed him sharply twice in the face but Mike let them bounce off and shuffled in for more.

He swung a heavy right but wraithlike Cavalier weaved away, stepped inside smartly and whistled a right cross to Kelly's chin. Mike reeled back against the ropes and Cavalier followed him.

"Hey, you're supposed to be sparring!" Pop Grimes roared, but if Eddie Cavalier heard he gave no heed.

Doggedly, his mouth cut, Mike hung on and tried to bring his weight into play. Eddie rocketed a right to the heart and Mike gasped.

Val rushed over to Kelso and Grimes. "Top, make him quit that! He's suat letting his spite out on poor Mike!"

But Duffy Kelso was already in the ring, breaking them up. "Take it easy," he ordered softly. "You okay, Mike?"

"Sure," said Mike. "Sure, I'm okay. He can hit, that boy can. Hits like a light heavy."

Val walked over to Cavalier's corner. "You're a heel," she grated. "And I don't think I have to tell you why."

He looked as though he were going to reply hotly to her accusation, changed his mind and sidestepped with his gloves.

Japs Warn British Not To Seize Ships

TOKYO, April 4 (AP)—The Japanese navy threatened today to "take action" if the British blockade is applied "illegally" to Soviet Russian shipping destined for Germany and indications were that any blockade action in Chosen Strait would be so considered.

Chosen Strait, southern gateway to the sea of Japan and principal approach to Russia's far eastern port of Vladivostok, separates Japan from the Asiatic mainland at Korean peninsula.

While the Sea of Japan is not Japanese territorial waters, the admiralty spokesman said flatly, that "it is a Japanese lake in Japanese eyes."

"The British navy can take any action it pleases there, but the reaction in Japanese sentiment would be very strong."

Apparently Japanese objections would be less vehement against British action well removed from the shores than against action in 100-mile-wide neck of ocean linking the Seas of Japan and the East China Sea.

The spokesman would not say what Japan would consider "illegal" or what "action" Japan would take but his declaration was interpreted to refer to any halting of Russian commerce through Chosen Strait.

He said Japan objects to any extension of the European war to "waters near Japan."

50 Million In Taxes Urged By O'Daniel

AUSTIN, April 4 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, master radio entertainer, and his far-famed Hillbilly string band are hitting the campaign trail once more.

The 50-year-old composer of poems and songs told the people of Texas last night that he would run for the traditional second term in office. He declared he would advocate an additional $50,000,000 a year in state taxes.

"My name will be on the ballot," he announced toward the close of a one-hour broadcast, "and if I am again elected, I will continue to honestly and persistently fight for the rights of the great rank and file of the common citizens of this great state of Texas.

"My platform will still be 'the ten commandments' and my slogan will still be 'less Johnson grass and politicians and more smoke stacks and business men.'"

Sadler Tonight

O'Daniel's announcement speech preceded by exactly 24 hours the opening campaign address of railroad commissioner Jerry Sadler. Sadler likewise is a gubernatorial candidate and likewise has a string band. His opening at 8 o'clock tonight will be broadcast over a statewide network.

The governor said Texas should have additional taxes yielding some $50,000,000 annually because:

1. It will take about $31,000,000 to pay $30 pensions to all needy persons past 65 years of age. Existing taxes for pensions yield only $10,000,000 a year.
2. A continuing sum of $2,500,000 a year is needed to match teachers' contributions to their retirement fund. In addition, the state will be nine or ten million dollars behind on such matching by the close of the current biennium and that amount must be raised to put the fund in balance.

3. And for dependent children will require an extra $1,500,000 annually.
4. And for the indigent blind will take $500,000 a year.
5. The sum of $7,500,000 annually is needed to retire over a four-year period the anticipated deficit of $30,000,000 in the state's general fund.
6. The elementary and high schools need an extra $5,000,000 per year.
7. The eleemosynary institutions should receive additional $5,000,000 annually.

The state's growing colleges require an extra $2,500,000 per year.

O'Daniel suggested a one per cent transaction tax to finance old age pensions, teachers' retirement, aid to dependent children and the blind. He added, however, that he would approve any tax plan which would raise the large amount of money required. Early last year, he recommended a 1.6 per cent transaction tax to the legislature but the proposal was unable to muster a committee majority in either house. Later he endorsed a 2 per cent general sales tax.

"I think I know how the people stand on these social security issues," the governor said, "and I propose to draw the line so clearly that on the one side we will have those who want these obligations paid, and on the other side we will have those who do not want them paid. And if doing this results in my defeat for reelection then I shall go back to private life with a clear conscience that I have honestly and courageously met my obligations to the great rank and file of the citizens of this state. x x x"

"Do not let the demagogue tell you in one breath that he is for liberal old age pensions and in the very next breath tell you that to provide $25,000,000 or $40,000,000 of state money is a foolish pension scheme."

Two years ago, O'Daniel advocated pensions for every old person regardless of need. He said he still favored such a policy but it was impossible of realization because the federal government hereafter will match state contributions on a need basis only.

The governor urged the people to elect senators and representatives who would vote for sufficient taxes to meet the state's requirements. The governor's race, he said, will be "only a side show" with the most important political problem confronting Texas at the coming election being the selection of "the right kind of senators and representatives."

PAGE STREAM LADY

This easy-feeding type Duroc brood sow, "Page Stream Lady," of the noted Outcross lineage is the mother of the outstanding senior boar, "Clarendon's Majestic Page," shipped Wednesday from the Sand Springs Home farms at Sand Springs, Okla., to Bagby and Marshall Mayfield in Donley county. These school-boys will put the boar into service in their club project at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mayfield near Clarendon. The picture above shows the mature boar conformation of the new bloodline to be introduced in the Mayfield purebred herd.

Special To The NEWS
SAND SPRINGS, Okla., April 4—

The Mayfield brothers, Bagby and Marshall of Clarendon, are expanding their swine breeding operations this week as the Sand Springs Home farms at Sand Springs, Okla., ship a purebred boar to them for service in a farm youth club project.

He is a linebred Duroc fall pig of Outcross bloodlines sired by Page Majestic Boy and out of the famous Page Garsam Lady. The linebreeding in his pedigree makes him he said was needed for purposes other than social security, O'Daniel recommended that natural resources and utilities taxes be boosted and that the $10,000,000 now going to pensions be diverted.

The broadcast originated in the drawing room of the governor's mansion. Near the chief executive were his wife and 18-year-old daughter, Molly, and his sons, Pat and Mike, who play in the Hillbilly band.

About 100 persons, including many of O'Daniel's appointees, went to the mansion for the announcement address. Except for the band's rendition of "Beautiful Texas" at the beginning and "Faith of Our Fathers" at the end, the program was devoted entirely to the 10,000-word speech.

O'Daniel concluded with these words:

Boosts Newspaper

"As no man should ever embark upon any great and important undertaking without first invoking the blessing of God, that I now do, and ask him for continued guidance and strength."

The governor took advantage of the occasion to solicit additional subscriptions to the W. Lee O'Daniel News, which is scheduled to begin publication next Monday.

The paid propagandists and the professional politicians and their hirelings will be "properly taken care of" by the new weekly, he asserted.

"When I was a candidate for governor the first time," he said, "I told the people that the professional politicians should be eliminated from public life, but I will be honest with you, I did not fully realize then how necessary this was. I did not realize how difficult it would be for a man to hold public office in Texas when he refused to be dictated to by the special interests and to dish out appointments to suit the political 'King Bees.'"

The governor, who rolled up a clear majority over 12 adversaries in 1938, will be opposed by several persons who have statewide acquaintanceships. Railroad commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, runner-up two years ago, is expected to announce in about a month. Sadler, highway commissioner Harry Hines and state representative Albert Derden were early entrants in the race.

Typewriters And Pens

German influence is dominant in Central Europe and three-fourths of the exports of these nations go to Germany, largely under the "barter or war" policy of Germany that forces Central Europe to ship its products to Germany for manufacture into munitions and receive in exchange typewriters, fountain pens, and aspirin.

"There are more typewriters and fountain pens in Central Europe than the number of persons who can read and write," said Dr. Doman.

Another German trade practice is the exchange of their synthetic products for the natural raw material. Thus, Germany exports artificial oil to Central Europe in exchange for the natural oil of Rumania.

Poles Had Poor Army

Rumania has more oil than any other nation in Europe, except Russia, and Hungary and Rumania, face the greatest threat of German invasion in Central Europe.

Dr. Doman scorned the Poles as fighters, claiming that the Germans advanced rapidly by motorized transport across the country, an area so large it would require a man walking nine days and nights to traverse it.

"No matter how fast the Germans advanced, however, this can be said for the Poles—that just as fast as the Germans advanced, they retreated just as rapidly."

U. S. Policy Unsettled

The lecturer chided America's foreign policy, claiming as an example that our "child-like" faith had caused us to raise money to buy bandages for the Poles to bind the wounds made by Russians, who bought ammunition from the United States.

Few Chamberlain acts was explained by the speaker in this manner: a war breaks out in Europe, Mr. Chamberlain goes to Parliament, mention is made of the war, and Chamberlain arises and says, 'Yes, I read something to that effect in this morning's newspaper, but I have not yet received official confirmation from our ambassador.'

When confirmation is finally obtained, Chamberlain after many delays, decides something should be done. Parliament convenes. Troops are sent. Just as they arrive at Gibraltar, they receive word that the enemy has taken over the country, so there being no need for their services, they turn around and go home.

Mussolini's Show Of Power

In the forum, following the lecture, Dr. Doman stated, in reply to questions: Albania was taken because Mussolini wanted to show his power to Hitler; Greece is quiet, protected by England, but the Nazi influence is strong; Italy is isolated in the Mediterranean; since Britain has control of the three doors to the Mediterranean, the Suez, Dardanelles, and Gibraltar, there is no need for the British to try to block that

U. S. Of Europe Only Hope Of Survival, Says Lecturer

Central European nations "only hope of survival is in the formation of a 'United States of Central Europe,'" Dr. Nicholas R. Doman of Budapest, Hungary, an ex-secretary of the Danube league, told the audience at the third lecture in the institute of international understanding at the Pampa High school auditorium last night.

As an alternative to the formation of a Central European republic, Dr. Doman suggested the restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy that "had traditions" and knew how to rule the varied nationalities that inhabited the territory formerly embraced in the Austro-Hungarian empire.

"Republics With Dictators"

Admitting that a "United States of Central Europe" would not be the same as the United States of America, he said that a monarchy-democracy was a better form of government than a republic with a dictator.

Hitler was able to have his own way in Europe today largely because of the "self-determination" of small nations, making them weak and ineffective against Nazi power.

"If Hitler had faced a united nation of 50 millions, as was Austria-Hungary, he would not have been so ready to start a war," the lecturer explained, as he mentioned the annexations of Czechoslovakia, and Poland.

No Propagandist

Dr. Doman opened his speech last night by saying he was not a propagandist and defining propaganda as "something the speaker says you don't like" and truth as "something the speaker says with which you agree."

Central Europe was described as the "strangest place on earth," with 50 nationalities and 45 languages represented; the Danube as "Germany's back door," through which the Nazi received the materials that made war possible.

three-quarters brother to the Texas grand champion, undefeated junior yearling boar of Oklahoma and Texas state fairs in 1939, shown by the Sand Springs Home farms. The boar's pedigree name is Clarendon's Majestic Page.

Carson Council Hears Talk On State Medicine

PANHANDLE, April 4—Dr. A. B. Goldston of Amarillo spoke on "Socialized Medicine" at the semi-annual meeting of the County Children's Council in the high school auditorium Monday morning.

Dr. Goldston gave first hand authentic information on his subject, gleaned from his year of study and practice in Germany and Hungary where the medical profession is under government control.

In explaining the workings of socialized medicine Dr. Goldston showed how it would mean the going of the family doctor, the loss of personal relationship between the patient and the physician, as patients are treated more less in a group with very little of personal interest or examination.

Doctors work on schedule and if an emergency arises during their off hours, the patient must wait until the doctor is on duty again.

Dr. Goldston concluded his discussion by quoting from a recent medical survey made in foreign countries where socialized medicine is practiced. The analysis of the survey showed the progress of medicine has been retarded; less efficiency on the part of the doctors; an increase in all communicable diseases, rickets and dysentery; a higher mortality rate; a dissatisfaction among the people and the medical profession; more advanced disease, even though medical care is received at a nominal cost, patients do not go as often or as early to the doctor as they would when they are allowed to select their own physician due to the fact that the best doctors are not always in charge of the government hospitals and clinics because of political influence.

To Sponsor Cottages

As a project for the year members of the County Children's council voted to sponsor movable cottages for tuberculosis patients who have been released from sanitariums but still need rest and care. This will be handled through the Steering committee which is composed of representatives from the various towns and communities in the county. The Steering committee was also requested to investigate the possibility of obtaining a paid supervisor for a county recreation project with the aid of W. P. A. labor.

Reports from the various federated clubs and Parent-Teacher units of the county showed a great deal is being done in child welfare work throughout the county.

At the noon hour the session adjourned to meet in the basement of the Baptist church for a covered dish luncheon, at which time Dr. M. L. Fuller of Amarillo spoke on "Maternity Care in Relation to the Infant." He urged expectant mothers to make early and periodical visits to their doctor, and advised blood-Wasserman tests for all expectant mothers before the fifth month of pregnancy.

The next meeting will be Monday, October 7, in the high school auditorium.

Milk Still Fresh After Nine Years

QUITMAN, April 4 (AP)—C. F. Banks, who runs a farm near here, lowered a two-gallon vacuum jug of sweet milk into his well for cooling.

On the way down the handle pulled out of the jug, which sank quickly to the bottom of the well.

All that happened nine years ago. A few days ago Banks, cleaning out his well, found the milk jug intact and the milk still good as ever.

He brought a sample of the milk to town for exhibit. En route it clabbered.
