Nazis Plan Decisive Blow 'In The West' NEW OFFICIALS WILL TAKE OATH TUESDAY

Goering Says Blitzkrieg 'To End War'

All Resources Mobilized For Land Offensive

BERLIN, April 3 (AP)—Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, chief of Germany's mighty air force and Adolf Hitler's No. 1 aide, declared today that "the fuhrer has mobilized all resources" for a decisive blow "in the west" against the British and French.

Goering gave no hint as to when the signal for a blitzkrieg would be given, saying only that Hitler would decide when the time had come to "end the war."

"Having their rear and flanks secure," the field marshal said, "the German armed forces in one firm bloc are facing Britain and France in the west."

"It is here that the decisive blow must be struck and for this decisive blow the fuhrer has mobilized all resources."

The speech was delivered before a hailing audience of fledgling airmen on the heels of another German bombing sortie against the British naval anchorage at Scapa Flow in the Orkney Islands.

The crews of a flight of Heinkels, which swept in upon Scapa Flow in yesterday's dusk, reported scoring bomb hits on a number of warships lying there. They rained that the bombs of "the largest caliber" struck some of the warcraft and that bombs which exploded upon hitting the water damaged others.

The regular communiqué of the German high command acknowledged that one reconnaissance plane, engaged by three British pursuit planes, was forced to alight on the sea but that its crew was rescued by another German scouting craft.

Air fighting on the western front was reported to have resulted in the shooting down of three enemy planes while two German planes were said to be missing.

"Deadly Bombs Promised" Goering will strike a deadly blow when Hitler is determined to end the war," Goering told the nation (and Europe) over his German radio stations in a one-hour address.

Goering indicated the fuhrer has a lightning war like that used to crush the Polish armies — in store for his British and French enemies.

The war was "forced upon Germany" he asserted, "but we smashed it."

War Flashes

PARIS, April 3 (AP)—A French military tribunal tonight meted out maximum sentences of five years imprisonment and loss of civil rights to 36 Communist extremists of the chamber of deputies, accused of carrying out the orders of the Communist International.

BELGRADE, April 3 (AP)—Yugoslavia will sanction use of her territorial waters for German freighters seeking a blockade-proof route for carrying Yugoslav raw materials to Trieste, Italy, an official source declared today.

The government declared units of the British fleet, on the watch for blockade-breakers, thus far had not been sighted north of Corfu by Yugoslav ships, Corfu is the Greek island near the entrance to the Adriatic.

LONDON, April 3 (AP)—A British-German air duel off the Yorkshire coast ended today when each participant shot down the other at sea.

The pilot of the British plane, a Spitfire fighter, was rescued, as were five German airmen who were picked up by a trawler after their Heinkel bomber was forced down even though its British adversary already had been disabled.

Britons said the Spitfire was the first fighter plane lost defending the British coast since war started. Another plane believed to be German was chased over the Shetland islands.

PARIS, April 3 (AP)—A French government spokesman commented on Field Marshal Goering's declaration that "the decisive blow must be struck" in the west, said today, "we are ready for just such a possibility."

Cornell Firm Power Audit Costs $2,327

City Approves Final Payment

Audit of the books of the Southwestern Public Service Company by Cornell & Co. Amarillo accounting firm, cost the city of Pampa $2,327. The audit was in connection with the city's proposed purchase of the local plant of the utility firm and its operation as a municipal lighting plant.

To decide whether or not the purchase shall be made the election has been called for April 25.

Figures on the cost of the light plant audit were revealed in two orders passed by the city commission at its meeting yesterday.

The meeting was held in the office of the city secretary, as the city commission room was the voting place in the election of city officials.

One of the orders passed approved payment of $519.48 to Cornell & Company, representing the unpaid balance for work done on the audit, which began the week of January 27 and ended the week of March 27, according to a special engineering and audit payroll entered on the records.

This payroll covered payments already made.

The statement on the unpaid balance was dated March 25 and listed these items:

To services rendered city of Pampa, 2-22-39 to 2-23-39, R. K. White, certified public accountant, 12 1/2 days at $25 a day, $308.25; W. E. Swenson, certified public accountant, 4 days at $25, $100; Ed L. Hart, 1 1/2 days at $15, $22.50; H. C. Brown, 2 1/2 days at $15, $37.50; other expenses, stenographer typing and checking report, 6 days at $8, $48; travel meals, supplies, etc., total $519.48.

The payroll lists the services of Carl C. Cox, engineer, Waite, Swenson, Hart, Mrs. A. D. Posey, F. E. Grimes, F. E. Coan, and the issuance of vouchers on the following dates: January 27, $280; February 10, $621.26; February 21, $283.75; March 4, $720; March 27, $442.25.

Steel Bids To Be Opened Here Friday By School Board

A called meeting of the Pampa school board will be held Friday afternoon at which time bids for construction steel for the new high school building will be opened.

Reinforcing steel for the foundation was ordered two weeks ago. First load of the steel will arrive here next week.

Excavation work for the foundation and basement is progressing rapidly.

Six Finest English Bulldogs In Panhandle Will Be Seen In Show

The finest English Bulldogs in the Panhandle today were entered in the Panhandle dog and pound show to be held Sunday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock at the fairgrounds grandstand. More than 110 dogs representing 20 breeds are entered in the show.

Now first let's get straight in our minds what an English bulldog is. They are the bulldogs with the vicious looking faces; some people think they are so ugly they would stop a train, but others think they are so ugly they are beautiful.

Accompanying this story is a picture of an English bulldog, handballed and helmeted who keeps guard before a South London block of flats.

Mrs. Ted White, 301 East Kingsmill, leads all English bulldog entrants with three. Ray Hobbs has entered his dog, and J. W. Gilliam, Jr., 1505 Luscomb street, Amarillo, has entered his two pedigreed English bulldogs.

All Registered All these English bulldogs are registered stock, and Mrs. White's dogs can trace to champions on both sides, as can Mr. Hobbs' dog. Mr. Gilliam's bulldog is a grandson of Cal Farley's famous English bulldog which Cal brought over from London and which is now in Tulsa. Mr. Gilliam's dog is ranked as the best English bulldog in Amarillo at the present time.

Mrs. White's and Mr. Hobbs' dogs also trace to the Farley dog and to international champions on both sides. Among their immediate ancestors were Drinkmore White Mule, Drinkmore Budweiser, Drinkmore Whiskey, all champions.

Mr. Hobbs got his dog from Mrs. White who owns the mother of the Hobbs dog and another English bulldog in town. The latter canine owned by Mr. Slayden may be entered, if so, then the entire litter of Mrs. White's female will be at the show.

In answer to many questions many details of procedure relative to the dog show will be cleared up today. However, certain changes may be made later on as

Bondit In Bag

LOS ANGELES, April 3 (AP)—The case against James D. Bland was in the bag.

He attempted to rob a cafe by pretending he had a pistol in his pocket, waitress gave him $10, then pushed him.

He fell backwards into a laundry bag, held by the cook, who quickly tied the top and called police.

Woman Killed In Plunge From Cliff

LOS ANGELES, April 3 (AP)—Two men were arrested and charged with suspicion of murder today as authorities investigated the fatal plunge of a 35-year-old St. Louis blonde, Pearl Wessel, from a 90-foot cliff in nearby Hollywood hills.

Police said they gave their names as Lesley Al Williams, 33, bartender, and Albert Rogers, 30, waiter, and denied knowledge of the woman's death.

Detectives declined to reveal in what way they linked them with the woman's death.

Hospital attaches said indications were the woman had been criminally attacked.

O'Daniel Plans To Deliver 10,000 Words Governor Due To Announce Tonight For Re-Election

AUSTIN, April 3 (AP)—Old man Texas pushed back his big hat and cupped ears today in expectation that tonight he would hear governor W. Lee O'Daniel say whether he will be a candidate for a second term.

The arrival in Texas early tomorrow of "Big Jim" Farley, Postmaster General of the United States and candidate for President, to dedicate a federal building, address a postmaster's convention and, many believed, look over the situation with respect to Texas' delegation to the democratic national convention.

A public meeting in Corpus Christi last night in which mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio, former governor James E. Ferguson and others urged the selection of delegates favoring the re-nomination of President Roosevelt. It was the second rally in efforts to check the Garner-for-president drive in Texas and win Texas' support for the President.

In Austin most people plainly were of the opinion the governor would get squarely into the gubernatorial melee and these cited recent "hints" and actions by him to support their belief. It also seemed the consensus that in his recent speeches he may have charted the "issues" as he would try to make them.

One suggested indication he intended to run again was the fact his broadcasts and other speeches in full and would carry information on governmental activities.

Another was the length of tonight's broadcast in which the governor had said he would deliver approximately 10,000 words altogether on his own.

51st German Plane Downed By British

LONDON, April 3 (AP)—A German plane was shot down off Britain's northern coast shortly before 1 p. m. (CST) today, the air ministry announced.

The ministry said the raider was engaged by a single fighting plane of the Royal Air Force. It was listed as the 51st German aircraft brought down since Britain's coasts since the war began.

A bomber believed to be German flew over the Shetland islands, northern Scotland, and was pursued by British fighters. No air raid warning was sounded, however.

PAMPA'S NEW COMMISSION

Into office Tuesday will go Pampa's new city commission, composed of Fred Thompson, mayor, H. C. Wilson and George B. Cree.

Ed S. Carr, Lynn Boyd and D. W. Osborne. An all-time high was established in the number of ballots cast, 2,536, the greatest number ever polled in a city election here.

Wilson, Cree And Thompson Win Offices

Record Vote Of 2,536 Cast In Heated Race

In an election that saw the heaviest vote ever cast in a city election here, Pampa yesterday elected Fred Thompson as mayor, H. C. Wilson and George B. Cree as commissioners.

There was a total of 2,536 ballots cast. A canvass of the election returns is to be made when the city commission meets at 10 o'clock Monday morning at the city hall.

The canvass will be made by members of the present commission, who were candidates for re-election.

By approximately a three-to-one majority, the incumbents, Ed S. Carr, mayor, Lynn Boyd and D. W. Osborne, commissioners, lost to the Thompson-Wilson-Cree ticket.

The final vote was: Thompson, 1,857; Carr, 650; Wilson, 1,806; Boyd, 700; Cree, 1,812; Osborne, 693.

George W. Briggs, election manager, was at the city hall to count for the record-breaking number of ballots cast, other than to say Pampa's were more interested in this election than any other held here.

When the time came for the polls to close at 7 o'clock more than a hundred were still standing in a line that circled the hall. Doors of the city hall were locked at 7, but those inside the building were permitted to vote.

First returns on the election were issued when the city hall doors were locked. At that time the result was: Thompson, 1,685; Carr, 584; Wilson, 1,630; Boyd, 638; Cree, 1,636; Osborne, 630.

A half hour later, Charlie Burton, one of the election clerks, came out of the office of the city manager's secretary, and presented the final tally to the election manager for the city.

Handling Voters Difficult Handling the throngs of voters was a difficult task for the judges and clerks. There being no official list of eligible voters in Pampa, it was necessary to consult a list of voters in county commissioners precinct 2, eliminating two precincts entirely outside the immediate area, listing the addresses of every man named in the city directory, checking a remainder of 834 not listed against a telephone directory.

Exemptions totaled about 240, absentee ballots about 25.

Flooded Sections Menaced By Disease

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 3 (AP)—The threat of disease stalked wary riverside communities in eastern Pennsylvania today as high waters subsided and the first of thousands of refugees began returning home.

Only a forecast of more rain tempered a "worst-is-over" feeling that prevailed along a 150-mile stretch of the Susquehanna river where at least 30,000 persons were driven to higher ground by a three-day assault of turbulent waters.

The stream's recession was general from its head waters in New York state south to Chesapeake Bay.

Vance Announces For Office Of J. P.

E. A. Vance today authorized the Pampa News to announce his candidacy for reelection to the office of Justice of the peace for Precinct 1, LeFors, subject to the action of the Democratic primary July 27.

Mr. Vance has been a resident of LeFors for the past 12 years.

In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Vance said he appreciated the confidence they had in him in the past and that he solicited their continued support.

Nonsense From Harvard

"If you want to have normal children you'd better not have too much brains. The higher your intellect, the lower your chance of having normal children," said Professor Fritz B. Taubert to a group of parents, Kim. A fine two-eyed alibi. For the foolish parent: "I'm only acting dumb to keep the kids normal." And for the crook: "I ain't guilty, yr Honor. Baptist W. M. S. Has Luncheon, Business Meeting

A monthly meeting of Women's Missionary Society of First Baptist church was conducted at the church this week with a program following a luncheon and executive board session.
The business session conducted by Mrs. A. L. Prigmore was opened with a prayer by Mrs. C. L. McKinney. The minutes were by Mrs. Seth Beauchamp after which reports from all standing committee chairmen were given.

Circle two presented the program on "Our Standard for Daily Living" with Mrs. F. B. Edwards in charge. A series of sentence prayers by Mrs. J. J. Simmons, Mrs. R. W. Tucker, and Mrs. F. D. Alford and the W. M. U. song "How Firm a Foundation" were followed with the watchword led by Mrs. Edwards and the devotional by Mrs. Ho Barrett.

"God's Standard for Building a Home" by Mrs. F. B. Edwards preceded "Go to Standard for the Foundation" by Mrs. B. A. Sumner who placed the foundation of a small house on a table before the group. After a vocal duet by Mrs. Keith Lane and Mrs. Rufe Jordan, "Why Should He Love Me So," "God's Standard for the Individual" was discussed by Mrs. S. T. Beauchamp who set the walls of the house on the foundation. Mrs. O. C. Brandon who spoke on "God's Standard for the Nation," opened the doors of the house and Mrs. Keith Lane laid the pathway from the door to all of the world as she presented "Law Enforcement." To complete the house Mrs. William Morris presented "The Christian Sunday" and uncovered the windows to let the light in and Mrs. Prigmore gave "Standards in the W. M. U." and placed the roof on the house. Prayers by Mrs. Ella Brake, Mrs. T. F. Morton, and Mrs. C. Gordon Bayless ended the study.
Mrs. T. D. Alford presided at the registry for the following members: Mmes. C. E. Williamson, Rufe Jordan, S. T. Beauchamp, B. A. Sumner, R. W. Tucker, Rupert Orr, W. J. Morris, Ira Westbrook, T. J. Texas Voting Light Except In West Part

(By The Associated Press)

Reports from numerous municipal elections showed today that except for the western portion of the state voting had been exceedingly light.

One major factor in making yesterday a very quiet election day was the absence of a mayor's race in any of the larger cities.

Coincidentally all the metropolitan centers found it an odd year for the mayoralty campaign and without this race a city election usually fails to get up much interest.

The closest race for mayor in the state apparently was in Henderson where Pete McNece, Jr., young business college executive, defeated M. H. Marvell, the incumbent, by only two votes, as shown in unofficial returns.

All the voters were of one mind at Garland where Mayor Ray Ollinger and his entire official family were reelected without a dissenting ballot.

Record votes were cast at Haskell and San Angelo, while Stamford had its largest turn-out in twenty years and Sweetwater its heaviest in a decade.

Wins Third Term

Third term talk has been prevalent in national political circles this year but Mayor W. E. Fitzgerald already has broken the so-called jinx in Texas. He was elected for his third term at Wichita Falls over Otto Steinhilber, a Texas City re-elected Mayor Carl Nessler over Dee Walker.

Bernard Lunn won the mayor's race at Olney over C. L. Boyd with Mayor Morris Hannis not seeking re-election.

T. D. Gibson was again named mayor at Mansfield.

In the Rio Grande valley Logan Duncan of Mission, Ted Hunt of Fort Isabel, D. L. Heidrick of Mercedes and Branch S. Roberts of Donna were re-elected. Louis S. Witte won at San Benito where Mayor E. K. Barnore did not seek reelection. A. A. Kelley was named mayor of Pharr to succeed Mayor L. D. Lauck who retired from office.

John F. Dubose defeated Mayor Tom Shelton in the Plainview election.

Cladwell elected J. W. McFarland Mayor A. J. Wood was not a candidate for re-election.

Mayor Carl E. Elston was re-elected at Lubbock and so was Thomas Welch at Longview.

E. L. Farmer was again named mayor of Odessa but J. E. Lefors defeated Haskell's mayor, F. G. Alexander.

There will be a run-off at Stamford between Cleburne Huston and C. M. Francis.

New Administration

W. A. Halanick was elected mayor of San Angelo as a new administration was swept into office. Childrens re-elected Mayor C. V. Jones.

Dr. T. L. Hurst defeated Mayor Y. M. Rogers at Center and Mayor C. H. McCleary and all other city officials were returned to office at Honey Grove.

T. Leo Moore defeated Mayor A. E. Corlier at Electra and L. E. Fuller won over the incumbent, L. W. Tuttle, at Commerce.

Sam H. Taber defeated Mayor Nye Clark at Lockhart. Mayor Sid Hixbreth was reelected without opposition at Farmerville.

Wendell Mayes, chairman of the Texas Park board, was reelected mayor of Brownwood and Mayor J. Morgan Crook was returned to office at Paris.

Numerous Cities Held Elections

Numerous cities held elections in which only aldermen or city commissioners were named and there were several bond issues involved.

New Braunfels—Mayor Walter Sippel and city commissioners R. S. Jain and George Reintger re-elected.

Kerrville—W. A. Fawcett re-elected mayor; city commissioners L. T. Davis and J. F. Stallings returned without opposition.

San Marcos—City commissioners O. C. Smith and William A. Williams re-elected.

Freer—Dr. C. R. Manley, former city commissioner, elected mayor; former mayor Paul Green not a candidate. Clarence Wright and Lee Rogers elected city commissioners.

Cuero—Mayor J. E. Newman returned to office, defeating H. F. Sheppard. V. J. Grunder, city alderman for 20 years, who died, March 28 after election battle, including name had been printed, received a majority of 95 votes for re-election. Rudolph Evers and J. J. Fischer re-elected aldermen without opposition.

Fredericksburg—Mayor Edward Kriephoff re-elected. Max T. Henke and Willie Pope retained offices as city commissioners.

Yokum—H. S. Frady and A. E. Evans elected city commissioners.

Marriage Of Pair Announced At Lefors

Special To The NEWS

LEFORS, April 3—Mrs. Emily Smith of Lefors announces the marriage of her daughter to Tice Hugg, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Hugg of Abilene. The ceremony was performed March 31, in the Central Church of Christ in Pampa, with the Rev. Robert R. Price reading the vows.

The couple was accompanied by the bride's sister, Juanita Smith.

The bride was attractively dressed in a teal blue dress with white accessories.

Mrs. Hugg attended school in Lefors for several years and Mr. Hugg is a graduate of McLean high school.

The couple will make their home near Abilene.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Rebounding a sharp decline, the stock market stepped forward today in the heaviest trading since last autumn.

A mid-morning surge in United States Steel crossed the whole market and many shares rose fractions to more than a point on expansion volume. Transactions approximated 1,700,000 shares, nearly double the previous day's turnover and the largest since November.

Brokers were divided as to whether hopes for imminent business improvement or market interpretation of the Wisconsin primary vote exerted the dominant influence in the buying.

Many traders who had been on the sidelines waiting for indications of a definite trend espoused the bull cause as "big trend" and other outstanding shares pushed up to new tops for the current session.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 3 (AP)—Shaking off early weakness due to favorable weather in the northwest and higher estimates of winter wheat production, wheat futures today staged a strong rally that wiped out losses of almost a cent and substituted a fractional gain.

Buying on the rally was believed to have been based on forecasts in securities, and continued dry weather in the hard winter wheat belt.

Wheat closed 1/4 higher than yesterday. May $1.04 1/2, July $1.03 1/2. Corn 3/4 lower to 1/2 up. May 50 1/2, July 50 1/2. Oats 1/2 off to 1/2 up.

Scandinavians See New Threat To Neutrality

COPENHAGEN, April 3 (AP)—Scandinavian states, concerned with maintaining their precarious neutrality, viewed today with mingled anxiety and optimism the British-French allies' announced determination to tighten the blockade against Germany.

While sections of the Danish press foresaw the beginning of a new "war of nerves" menacing the neutral status of the northern states, Norwegian newspapers inclined to a more hopeful outlook, apparently based on belief the western powers have too little to gain to justify outright invasion of Norwegian waters or to halt ore shipments to the reich.

Although Prime Minister Chamberlain told the British house of commons yesterday the allies were taking "certain practical steps" to halt the passage of cargo ships from Scandinavia to Germany, the Oslo newspaper Tidens Tegm said there was "no reason for nervousness" in Norway.

"We have every reason to believe," the newspaper said, "that the allied arm powers in the future will respect our neutrality no matter what steps are taken against Germany."

Some quarters believed that the intensified allied blockade would center in the North Sea and the Skagerrak, with a possible effort by the British navy and air force to block the Kiel canal.

In this connection the Oslo newspaper Aftenposten pointed out that Germany's Baltic ports were heavily crowded with shipping and that further ore cargoes from Sweden probably would be taken through the Kiel canal to Hamburg.

Public Cooperating In Census-Taking

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The census takers hit their stride today—all except a few with tired feet in Pittsburgh who quit because there were "too many hills."

The census bureau was in a happy frame of mind as its echelons of enumerators climbed more stairs and rang more doorbells on the second day of counting the nation's estimated 132,000,000 people.

Everything was going smoothly, officials in various parts of the country reported. Public cooperation was praised generally.

Marriage Of Pair Announced At Lefors

Special To The NEWS

LEFORS, April 3—Mrs. Emily Smith of Lefors announces the marriage of her daughter to Tice Hugg, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Hugg of Abilene. The ceremony was performed March 31, in the Central Church of Christ in Pampa, with the Rev. Robert R. Price reading the vows.

The couple was accompanied by the bride's sister, Juanita Smith.

The bride was attractively dressed in a teal blue dress with white accessories.

Mrs. Hugg attended school in Lefors for several years and Mr. Hugg is a graduate of McLean high school.

The couple will make their home near Abilene.

For A Greater Pampa

In the very words spoken in Pampa's city election campaign Fred Thompson, successful candidate for mayor in yesterday's election, said this in a Monday night radio speech:

"No firm, city, state, or nation can move forward in true strides so long as it expends its energies in internal controversies. It is our hope that we can have a small part in assisting the citizenship of Pampa to lay aside its personal animosities and begin a new fight—one with a common objective—a greater Pampa."

Mr. Thompson, at the time, explained that he also was expressing the views of H. C. Wilson and George B. Cree, the two new city commissioners who will take office with Mr. Thompson next Monday.

The Pampa News wishes to endorse those words of Mayor-elect Thompson. This newspaper expresses the sincere desire that all animosities will be forgotten and that those who held opposing views in the recent election can again be drawn together to work for, as Mr. Thompson said, "a greater Pampa."

We all know that the principles by which people live are far more important than politics. The News and all its staff members and employes wish to extend the hand of friendship and cooperation to those who opposed the stand taken by the newspaper. This is a free country and they still retain that right. There is no better check on government than the right of the people to express their opinions.

We all realize that attacks are made, charges are hurled and that personalities some times creep in from both sides in the heat of any political campaign, particularly one as hot as that from which Pampa has just emerged.

The News is ready to forget all that.

While this newspaper did not agree with all of their policies, The News feels that Mayor Carr and Commissioners Boyd and Osborne will leave office justly proud of civic accomplishments during their term of office. They have contributed much to Pampa, not only as public officials, but as good citizens for many years. They are to be commended for these accomplishments.

If we may once more use the words of Mayor-elect Thompson:

It is our hope that we can have a small part in assisting the citizenship of Pampa to lay aside its personal animosities and begin a new fight—one with a common objective—a greater Pampa.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, April 3.—One by one, the Supreme Court has been turning on the green lights for the Justice Department's big anti-trust campaign.

To put it another way: recent court decisions have enormously enlarged the field in which the anti-trust laws can be used to break down barriers against lower prices. Here is how the court has done this job:

1. By reinstating the Chicago milk indictments, the court in effect ruled that agriculture was not exempt from the Sherman act and that a remedy for fixed food prices was available.

2. By reinstating the medical association case in Washington, professions were not outside the law's scope.

3. Most recently, in the Ethyl gasoline case, the court ruled that patents may not be used to extend a monopoly or to fix prices.

TWO KEY PHASES AWAIT RULINGS

Significance of these rulings goes far beyond the three specific cases involved. In substance, they mean that Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold is being upheld all along the line in his claim that in the anti-trust laws the government possesses ample power to keep price structures fluid and to cope with any and all restrictive developments.

Two more key points are yet to be passed on. These involve, first, a suit against various tire companies, in which identical bidding on government contracts is attacked; and second, the question whether the Sherman act applies to organized labor.

This latter point comes up in connection with the building costs drive, which has won most of the headlines but is in fact a relatively minor part of Arnold's broad campaign. What Arnold really is driving at is the idea that the government doesn't need broad controls over production in this complex modern world; that it has about all the power it needs to keep the wheels turning if it will only go ahead and use it.

BELEAVES CAPITALISM CAN SURVIVE

As a matter of fact, Arnold is a freak among New Dealers. For the economic planning, the theorizing and the urge toward centralized control which fascinate most of them, he has no use whatever. Contrarywise, his own ruthless readiness to step heavily on organized labor's toes has given some of his New Deal conferees the cold shivers.

His idea is extremely simple—that capitalism can work as well in the middle of the 20th century as it worked in the middle of the 19th. If prices are just kept fluid, if restrictive combinations are knocked out and if the savings generated by modern techniques are passed on to the consumer. This is much the idea Senator Borah had. It made Borah denounce NRA, which led the New Dealers to shake their heads and write Borah down as an out-of-date fuddy-duddy. Now Arnold is making them like it.

Last July, Arnold's prospects were very dark. Within 10 days he got three crippling lower court reversals—on the Chicago milk case, the Washington medical association case and the Madison oil case. Moral of the anti-trust division was shot to pieces; he had to call staff meetings and give pep talks to keep things going.

Now, with equal suddenness, the situation has been changed. Arnold's basic ideas may be wrong, but the

"STATE CREDIT"

"But suppose the State interferes and says to Peter, 'Lend your plough to James, and I will guarantee your being paid; and this guarantee is worth more than that of John, for he has only his own means to answer to his engagements, while I (though I have nothing of my own, it is true) dispose of the means of all the taxpayers; and it is with their money that, in case of need, I will pay you principal and interest.'"

"In consequence, Peter lends his plough to James. This is what is seen:

"And the socialists rub their hands and say, 'See how our plan has succeeded! Thanks to the intervention of the State, poor James has a plough. He will be no longer obliged to dig the ground; he is now on the road to fortune. It is a good thing for him, and a profit for the nation, taken in the mass.'"

"Alas, no! gentlemen, it is not a profit for the nation, for here comes what is not seen. "It is not seen that the plough is in the hands of James only because it is not in the hands of John. It is not seen that if James ploughs instead of digging, John will be obliged to dig instead of ploughing; and that, consequently, what was considered as an increase of loan is in truth only a displacement of loan.

"Besides, it is not seen that this displacement involves a serious twofold injustice. Injustice toward John, who sees himself deprived of the credit which he had merited and acquired by his honesty and industry. Injustice towards the ratepayers, who are made liable to pay a debt which concerns them not.

"Will it be said that the government offers to John the same facilities as to James? But, since there is only one plough at disposal, two cannot be lent. The argument always returns to the implied assertion that, thanks to the intervention of the State, there will be more borrowings than there can be lendings, for the plough here represents the mass of capitals at disposal.

"I have reduced, it is true, the operation to its simplest expression; but try, by the same touchstone, the most complicated institutions of credit that a government can devise, and you will be convinced that they can have this result only—to displace credit, not to increase it. In a given country, and at a given time, there is only a certain sum of available capital, and it all finds employment for itself. By guaranteeing men who are of themselves insolvent, the State may, indeed, increase the number of those who seek to borrow, and may thus raise the rate of interest (always to the injury of the taxpayer), but what it cannot do is to increase the number of lenders, and the total amount of loans.

"The same consideration applies as already pointed out in a previous chapter, to direct expenditure by the State. If, for example, fifty millions are expended by the State they cannot be expended by the individual taxpayer, as otherwise they would have been. From all the good attributed to the public expenditure effected, must then be deducted all the evil of private expenditure prevented; unless, indeed, it be said that Jacques Bonhomme would have made no use of the five-franc piece he had earned, and of which the State robs him; an absurd assertion, for he would not have taken the trouble to earn them, had he not hoped for the satisfaction of employing them. He would have repaired the fence of his garden, and he can no longer do so; this is what is not seen. He would have spread his field with manure, and he can no longer do so; this is what is not seen. He would have added a story to his cottage, and he can do so no longer; this is what is not seen. He would have increased his stock of implements; he can do so no longer; this is what is not seen. He would have fed himself better, clothed himself better, obtained better instruction for his son; he would have added to his daughter's dowry, and none of these things is he now able to do; this is what is not seen. He would have joined a mutual benefit society; he can no longer do so; this is what is not seen. These are the enjoyments which are taken from him. In addition, the gardener, the carpenter, the smith, the tailor, the village schoolmaster, whose labour he would have encouraged, have all suffered an injury—this is still what is not seen.

"The only object which I have in view is to make the reader understand, that in all public expenditure, and in all employment of State credit behind the apparent good there is an evil more difficult to discern. So far as in me lies, I would accustom him to see the one as well as the other, and to take both into account."

LABOR LAW AMENDMENTS

(Chicago Tribune)

The bill for the amended Wagner labor act has been introduced in the house by Representative Howard W. Smith, Virginia Democrat, chairman of the committee investigating the National Labor Relations board. He is supported by the two Republican members of the committee, Hallett of Indiana and Routhon of Ohio. His two Democratic colleagues, Murdock of Utah and Healey of Massachusetts, oppose the bill and say it is intended to nullify the law.

The amendments are intended not to nullify the act but to make it equitable and workable. They are intended to produce an orderly and just administration and to make it possible for the purposes alleged in the original act to be carried out. The amending bill would create a new administrative process which would separate the investigation of financial abuses from the prosecution of abuses from the judicial function of passing on the evidence and making rulings. The new administration of the law would become an orderly instead of a disorderly process. The administrator who presented a case would not be the judge.

The amendments also would restore the freedom of speech which has been nullified by the present board and introduce rules of evidence for the hearing of controversies. The opponents of these amendments who say that the intent is to break down the operation of the collective bargaining law are badly mistaken. The present board is breaking the law down and unless the practices are corrected and the procedure changed, it will fall under the weight of its own injustices and absurdities. A partisan dictatorship has been set up and unless it is supplanted by a fair administration the law will soon defeat itself.

PROGRESS IN THE AIR

NEW DEATH-DEALING DEVICES PERFECTED FOR AIR RAIDS

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, April 3.—There's nothing much siller than the spectacle of a dance director or some skin-show impresario, applying a tape measure to photogenic Young Thing in a bathing suit for the supposed purpose of determining whether she's suitable for a job in a chorus.

Your correspondent, who has fairly sharp eyes, has watched chorus castings all over Broadway and Hollywood, and I have never seen a tape measure put to practical use except in wardrobe departments. Yet, most of the photographs you see of such events show some famed connoisseur of pulchritude, complete with the tape and an expression of professional detachment, calculating to a sixteenth of an inch the ratio of hips to thighs.

CARROLL ADMITS ANYONE COULD DO IT I am one who always has pooh-poohed the legend of Earl Carroll's wizardry in cue picking. Any adult who doesn't happen to be a Turk can pick an Eskimo, could select pretty ones. I also deplore the Earl's taste in showgirls, most of whom are bovine-faced Junos who don beads and slither across the stage while clutching stuffed pheasants or something.

But today I am able to acclaim Mr. Carroll as a right guy and an honest one, because he has admitted that beauty-picking is a cinch. Mr. Carroll speaking: "You don't need a tape measure to pick a pretty girl. Standards of beauty are pretty constant, and one man is just as good a judge as another. The only reason I'm called an authority is that beauty is my business; it's a commodity, and I'm a dealer in it."

HE JUST LOOKS AND THEN PICKS 'EM

The production he mentioned is a picture at Paramount to be called "A Night at Earl Carroll's." This should provide a very nice plug for his huge, glittering tourist trap in Hollywood, and the financial problem he'll have about what you'd expect. For movie glorification, Mr. Carroll will use his own cast of about 50 girls plus a like number chosen from the town's chorus ranks.

I watched the preliminary selection of the newcomers. They showed up by the hundreds, all shapes and sizes, and of nearly all ages. They were mostly in bathing suits or shorts and sweaters, and they loafed patiently in long lines as he reviewed them 20 at a time. He'd scan each detachment from the front, then turn 'em sideways for an up-and-down prone. "Numbers 2, 8, 9 and 17 step over here," he'd say briskly. "The rest are excused."

In about an hour he had cut out 29 for closer inspection and to see whether they could do the walking and the ability to stick out his watch, even unto death. . . . As for the guy who left them there in the event I could talk to this particular guy, I would not care one short, hide-covered little skeletons came to life and whimpered and tried his best to wag what was left of his tail. The other two were dead. The live pup whose eyes were so watery he could hardly see evidently thought I was the master he had been waiting for, and tried his best to show his happiness that I had finally returned, as he and his brothers had figured I would when he was left there. . . . The pup I have at home now has something that the person who put him out there could never get. He has my formed a real service by writing the letter; it is bread cast upon the waters and will prove valuable to dogdom.

So They Say It is no longer necessary to speak of what air transports may accomplish. Our hopes have become facts with amazing rapidity and in many instances the facts have already outdistanced our vision. —Col. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

One of life's saddest tragedies is vividly and poignantly described in the following letter from a Reader: "To introduce myself, I want to tell you that I am a traveling salesman and I know all about salesmen, city people and dogs. It is my understanding that you are a lover of dogs, and with that fact under consideration, I want to tell you about something that really rubbed my fur in the wrong direction. In my business, I leave here Saturday morning, and with luck return the following Monday week. On my last trip out, on a dirt road just a few miles east of Pampa, I saw five fine young puppies very busy at the job of eating a freshly-killed jack rabbit. They were beautiful pups, with sleek coats, long silky ears, and plump full bellies. I stopped and looked at them awhile, and there was a car up a lane a short distance away. I figured that they had been left there a few minutes to eat the jack. So I drove faster to get to the place where I had last seen the others. Well, when I reached it, there lay three more pups, racks of bone and skin, all dead. I thought but as I got out of the car, I saw the hide-covered little skeletons came to life and whimpered and tried his best to wag what was left of his tail. The other two were dead. The live pup whose eyes were so watery he could hardly see evidently thought I was the master he had been waiting for, and tried his best to show his happiness that I had finally returned, as he and his brothers had figured I would when he was left there. . . . The pup I have at home now has something that the person who put him out there could never get. He has my formed a real service by writing the letter; it is bread cast upon the waters and will prove valuable to dogdom.

marriages after the first World War in 1920, when Johnnie came marching home from overseas and cantonment.

Again, some 25 years after 1945, there should be a corresponding peak in marriage rates. Ministers and justices of the peace can look forward to better business in 1946 and again around 1970.

A disturbing side of this picture is that the divorce rate is growing even faster than the marriage rate. Today there are nearly 18 divorces for every 100 marriages, but the rate of increase of divorces appears to be slowing down at last.

The growing marriage rate is a healthy sign for the country, but we may well ponder over the significance of the climbing divorce rate which may indicate a weak spot in our moral fiber. Several states have passed laws aimed to prevent hasty marriages which might result in divorce, but the underlying cause may be more serious than merely marrying in haste and repenting in leisure. Is it that we need, not better laws, but better characters?

RIGHT OR WRONG ABOUT PEOPLE

By DONALD A. LAIRD Ph. D., Sci. D.

Where Have the Old Maids Gone? The U. S. is getting to be one of the marryingest countries in the world. Steadily, ever since 1890, there has been a lower percentage of old maids in the population. In other words girls have had increasingly better chances of getting married. Leap years have had nothing to do with this.

People are also getting married younger than they did only a few years ago, but even at that, not as young as they used to in grandfather's time.

One reason for both fewer old maids and for marrying younger is the fact that more married women are working now than ever before. These are the children who were born as the result of the flood of

Brazos River Dam Sought

WASHINGTON, April 3. (AP)—Congressional authorization of an $50,000,000 dam on the Brazos River near Waco, Texas was asked today by a group of Texans testifying before a house flood control subcommittee considering projects for inclusion in a flood control measure.

Colonel F. S. Besson, army district engineer with headquarters at Galveston, Tex., told the committee the dam, which would be constructed at Whitney, 38 miles upstream from Waco, was the primary unit of 13 flood control and power projects in a comprehensive improvement program for the Brazos river watershed.

He and other witnesses testified that Waco would receive primary benefit in protection from floods through erection of the dam. He added that 491,000 of the 721,000 acre feet of storage capacity of the Whitney reservoir would be for flood control, most of the remainder for hydroelectric power. Some irrigation benefits would accrue to the lower reaches of the river basin.

Representative Poage (D-Tex.) said Waco and Texas had spent millions of dollars in erecting on the Brazos river levees and the almost-completed Possum Kingdom dam near Mineral Wells. He added that levees in the Waco area already had reached the height of their maximum efficiency, and that to build these higher would endanger other sections of the city heretofore untroubled by high waters.

George J. Rohan, superintendent of the Waco water works, told the committee that the dam would be justified through relief of human suffering, as well as through the protection it would afford physical properties.

R. J. Curtis, representing the Waco chamber of commerce, testified that 20 major floods had occurred on the Brazos during the past 38 years, taking a toll of 441 lives and property damage totaling $62,000,000.

John B. McCall, attorney for the Brazos river reclamation and conservation district, explained the agency was authorized in 1929 by the state legislature to construct flood control and power improvements on the river, and that the state remitted to the district $300,000 annually for carrying on such improvements.

Eclipse To Be At Best Sunday At 3:38 P. M.

AUSTIN, April 3. (AP)—As far as the University of Texas is concerned the sun and moon are cooperating 100 per cent in their heavenly get-together next Sunday afternoon.

Which means the moderate-rare annular eclipse will be visible in its total form along a 150-mile-wide path right across Texas—and where university scientists can get perfect shows with their instruments from three locations.

Thousands of Texans living in an east-west belt which takes in Del Rio, Austin, San Antonio, Houston and Beaumont also will have a chance to see the eclipse at its best.

The time: from approximately 1:52 p. m. central standard time until 5:10 p. m.

For six minutes, from 3:38 to 3:44 p. m. the eclipse will be at its maximum phase.

The eclipse path falls directly across two University of Texas observation stations and lies about 80 miles south of a third, Big Bend National observatory where television equipment is being set up to probe for composition characteristics of the sun's extreme outer atmosphere, lies 80 miles north of the belt.

An expedition from McDonald, headed by Dr. C. T. Elvey, assistant director, will set up an astronomical station in the Big Bend country high in the Chisos mountains. They will work with infra-red recording apparatus, hoping to record the atmosphere a little closer to the sun than that to be observed from the McDonald observatory itself.

The third university front of operations will be on the Austin campus, where Dr. Paul Rudnick, university astrophysicist, will operate a motion picture camera slow to 200 pictures per second. He will be trying to analyze the composition and temperatures of solar gases close to the sun's edge.

Pettengill

THREE OTHER KING'S MESSENGERS

Before Mr. Roosevelt scolds anyone about this census matter he should read a great landmark of freedom, the famous case of Entick vs. Carrington and Three Other King's Messengers. Everyone else should read it also. You will find it quoted at length by our own United States Supreme Court in Boyd vs. United States, 116 U. S. 616. I venture to say that if you ask permission of any lawyer to read this case in his library, consent will be given gladly and without charge.

Entick vs. Carrington and Three Other King's Messengers was decided in England 175 years ago, just eleven years before the Declaration of Independence. But from it, more than from any other one source, came the provision in the American Bill of Rights, Article I, Section 9, that the people be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects shall not be violated.

By whom shall this right not be violated? It shall not be violated by the United States of America, its President, Harry Hopkins nor anyone else. Because we have "rights" which "shall not be violated" by government is the reason and the only reason we do not have government by dictators. Otherwise, we would simply be a species of human cattle to be ordered about by men with whips and bayonets as in Germany and Russia.

In this great case it was not the citizen sitting as a juror who was put in his place. It was Carrington and Three Other King's Messengers. They were the ones who were told where to get off and to do it now.

Space does not permit a long review of this momentous case of freedom. I can only say that it dealt with the question: What is an "unreasonable" search and seizure? It had been read by the men who wrote the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. It is one of the great reasons why the home of every American today is his castle which neither the King nor his soldiers may lawfully enter.

It is only because there were brave men sitting as jurors who acted as lawyers and citizens in 1765 that this case was decided as it was. The judges held that when the King's Messengers in November 1762 entered Entick's dwelling, house and Beaumont also will have a chance to see the eclipse at its best.

Which means the moderate-rare annular eclipse will be visible in its total form along a 150-mile-wide path right across Texas—and where university scientists can get perfect shows with their instruments from three locations.

An expedition from McDonald, headed by Dr. C. T. Elvey, assistant director, will set up an astronomical station in the Big Bend country high in the Chisos mountains. They will work with infra-red recording apparatus, hoping to record the atmosphere a little closer to the sun than that to be observed from the McDonald observatory itself.

The third university front of operations will be on the Austin campus, where Dr. Paul Rudnick, university astrophysicist, will operate a motion picture camera slow to 200 pictures per second. He will be trying to analyze the composition and temperatures of solar gases close to the sun's edge.

American Legion Juniors To Practice On Thursday

All boys residing in Pampa and vicinity desiring to try out for a place on the American Legion Juniors baseball team are asked to report to Joe Roche at the Magnolia Petroleum company diamond on East Foster avenue at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Eligible to compete for a place on the team will be any boy who was born on January 1, 1923, or thereafter.

Boys who signed at a meeting last week, those who reported later, and any other boy in this territory interested in playing ball are urged to be present. Boys should supply their own glove and shoes.

Not more than one or two boys from last year's bi-district champions will be eligible to play this year so the race for positions will be wide open to newcomers.

Efforts are being made to organize a Panhandle Junior league.

Hoppe Clinches World's Three Cushion Crown

CHICAGO, April 3 (AP)—The "boy wonder" of billiards 34 years ago is no longer a boy but he's still a wonder.

His name is Willie Hoppe and he has been making the big leagues of three cushion billiards look like a bunch of platers running against Senkscuit.

Hoppe, now 52 years old and gray-haired, clinched the world's three cushion title last night, defeating defending champion Welker Cochran, 50 to 43 in 46 innings, for his 18th consecutive victory in the current tournament without a defeat.

The tournament has four more days to run and Hoppe has four more games to play but none of the other 10 players in the field—including five former title holders—has a chance to catch him.

"In playing the best game of my life," Hoppe said after winning the title.

And that's saying a good deal. Hoppe won his first world's title at the age of 18 when he was known as the "boy wonder" of billiards. Since then he has won all the billiard titles at least once and many of them several times. But last night's triumph was his first three cushion title gained in tournament play. He last held the crown in 1923 when he defeated Cochran, the incumbent, in a challenge match.

Hoppe began playing billiards as a lad of seven and three years later he could beat his instructor—his father.

Sporting News Dope Book Placed On Sale

Containing new features of special interest to fans and with all records brought up to date, the Dope Book, well-known guide to baseball facts and figures, published by The Sporting News, St. Louis, Mo., has made its annual appearance as a prelude to the opening of the new baseball season. Issued in handy west-pocket size, this compact manual of the diamond sport is packed with statistics and interesting information for followers of the diamond sport.

Notable among the additions to the Dope Book, now in its thirtieth year of publication, are the official rules changes in condensed form, Lou Gehrig's record, and other box scores of his first and last games.

Schedules of the more important leagues are also included, those of the majors being arranged in convenient day-by-day form. Other information embraces rosters of major league clubs, with ages, heights and weights, averages of major league leaders, facts and figures about the World Series, Junior World Series and Dixie Series, 1939 All-Star game, All-Star team, No. 1 Men of the Year in 1938, list of managers, location of parks and similar features, giving fans a concise and authoritative record of the game. The book is handy reference for keeping up to date on baseball, in season and out.

The Dope Book is compiled from records as provided by the leagues. Copies may be obtained by sending 15 cents to C. C. Spink & Son, St. Louis, Mo.

Train Leaves Tracks

MEXICO CITY, April 3 (AP)—Railroad authorities today were investigating the cause of an accident to the Mexico City-Laredo passenger train which delayed traffic for three hours yesterday.

As the train passed the station of Cuautlan, a few miles north of Mexico City, the express car left the tracks causing a delay in railroad service to the United States border.

In Littlestone, England, an empty airplane hanger is used as a church.

Gold Sox Ace Breaks Leg, Hurts Elbow

MAN O' WAR 23 YEARS OLD

Man o' War, greatest of thoroughbreds, sound as a dollar and just a bit stout, poses proudly for cameramen and visitors who helped Big Red celebrate his 23rd birthday on Samuel D. Riddles' Faraway Farm, near Lexington, Ky.

First casualty of the season in the West Texas-New Mexico Baseball league was reported from Elk City yesterday where the Amarillo Gold Sox are training. The Gold Sox lost Bob Millon, first string outfielder, when he stepped in a hole on the base line and suffered a broken right leg and dislocated left elbow.

Millon had cracked a single and was en route to first when he slipped in the hole which threw him off balance and he hit with all the force of his 202 pounds.

Lubbock, Clovis, and Big Spring are also in training. Pampa Oiler pitchers are scheduled to report on Saturday with the rest of the squad on Monday.

Word from Elk City where the Gold Sox are training reveals that: Paced by the hustle and spirit of Dick Ratliff, catcher, Egan Dorman, pitcher, Bones Sanders, first baseman, Bill Altenburg, third baseman, Emmett Fulenwider, outfielder, and Millon, the Gold Sox candidates were looking forward to a game with the Southwestern Teachers college at Weatherford, Okla., Friday afternoon, when the injury jinx hit suddenly.

Millon was married two weeks ago and being a free agent, had picked Amarillo as the place where he wished to play baseball. Today's injury not only puts a crimp in the Gold Sox plans but also puts a temporary halt to those of young Millon.

The Sox will come to Amarillo to play the Oklahoma City Indians Sunday afternoon and then trek back to this town to meet the St. Joseph Western league team, Tuesday. The Sox will take up residence at Malin Park and get their mail there until the season ends next September.

In the practice sessions here, Bus Dorman's murling and the long distance hitting of the place where he has been the features. "Fully" hit two out of the park today, the ball clearing the fence marked 410 feet each time.

Today's intra-squad game ended in a 5-to-5 tie after four innings had been played. Catcher Joe Hines, a recruit of Elk City, hit a homer with two on to boost the count for the second stringers. Millon's injury and a high wind stopped the game before either side could claim victory.

Another block of reserve seat tickets for the Chicago White Sox-Pittsburgh Pirate baseball game to be played at Malin field in Amarillo Friday afternoon was to be placed on sale today according to Mrs. Nona Seeds, business manager of the Amarillo Gold Sox. The seats are in the center section of the grandstand.

Formerly the only reserved seats sold were those in the box section. The center section contains 288 seats, and they will be offered the public at $1.35, 25 cents more than regular admittance charge of $1.10.

"A great many out-of-town fans registered keen disappointment when told that there was no way to assure them of getting seats," Mrs. Seeds said. "Now they may turn in their orders to me at the Gold Sox office in the Oliver-Eakle Building. As soon as possible we'll have the tickets numbered and on sale at the various drug stores already offering general admittance tickets."

The six drug stores cooperating in the advance ticket sale reported last night that the demand for tickets had increased sharply in the past two days. Additional bleachers erected increase the seating capacity of the park to 5,000. General admittance tickets will continue on sale for those who want to buy them and avoid possible congestion at the park box office Friday afternoon.

Although Friday's game is called for 3 o'clock, both clubs will be on the diamond for workouts some two hours ahead of game time.

General admittance tickets, at $1.10 each, continue on sale at the Gold Sox office, Cretney Drug, Maxor's Nos. 1 and 2, Bush-Donnell, Lincoln Drug, and Miller Pharmacy.

Alcazar Fugitives Reported Near Tulsa

TULSA, OKLA., April 3 (AP)—Two frightened hitchhikers told police today a pair of armed men who claimed to be Ted Cole and Ralph Roe, Oklahoma desperadoes who vanished from Alcazar penitentiary were in this area and planned to rob a bank.

Police Lieut. Linn O. Moss said the hitchhikers—John Belcher, 37, of Painesville, Ky., and Lester Crawford, 18, Springfield, Mo.—identified a picture of Roe as a man who gave them a lift near Miami, Okla., last night.

They said the man told them he escaped from Alcazar while serving a 99-year sentence and that a man who escaped with him was riding in a car behind him.

Roe was serving 99 years for a Muskogee county, Oklahoma, bank robbery and Cole was serving 30 years for a kidnaping near Cushing, Okla. They disappeared from Alcazar in December, 1937.

While prison authorities believe the Oklahoma desperadoes drowned in San Francisco bay in an attempt to swim from the prison island to the mainland, Moss said the hitchhikers' story had a "true ring."

The hitchhikers were permitted to leave the car after being warned to "keep our mouths shut," they said. They went immediately to the police station.

Broken down, this amounts to the total of 22 fights won, 20 lost, and 6 tied.

Training Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO—That long awaited event, the season's first test of Dixie Dean's pitching arm, is slated for next Monday at Fort Smith by Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs has decided.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Rookie Herman Schulte, who came to the Phillies from Newark, rapidly is putting a padlock on second base. He made a homer and two other hits yesterday and felled 11 chances perfectly. The club sold Jack Bolling outright to Columbus, O., and returned pitcher Tom Fulling to Texas.

STATESVILLE, N. C.—The Boston Red Sox and Cincinnati Reds resumed their series here today with the American Leaguers seeking their third straight victory. They'll have to do it without Dom DiMaggio, though, because he is being rested from a Charley horse.

LAKELAND, Fla.—The Detroit Tigers, who broke camp today and headed for Gadsden, Ala., to take on the Brooklyn Dodgers, may not be a better team this season but they'll be a noisier one. With Birdie Tebbets behind the plate every day and Dick Bartell holding forth at shortstop they're about as rowdy a crew as the staid American League has to show.

ORLANDO, Fla.—The St. Louis Cardinals had a new veteran pitcher today, but had discarded the services of four rookies. Jack Russell, a long-timer American Leaguer who was with the Chicago Cubs last season, was signed by the Redbirds for relief work. They sent pitchers Tom Sunkel and Red Barrett and infielders Bob Repass and Jack Sturdy to their Columbus farm in the American Association.

ROME, Ga.—It didn't take long for things to start popping after General Manager Larry MacPhail rejoined the Brooklyn Dodgers. He announced today that pitchers Steve Rachunok and Ed Dugley, and infielders Bob Repass and Jack Sturdy to their Columbus farm in the American Association.

SAN ANTONIO—The St. Louis Browns' fine first baseman, George McQuinn, is practicing in his old form again after being out of uniform for a week because of a sciatic nerve ailment. He's due to see a lot of action when the Browns start their series with the Chicago Cubs later in the week.

PORT WORTH—The Philadelphia Athletics were not sorry over their parting from the Pittsburgh Pirates. It is an exhibition game with the National Leaguers the Mackmen won only three. Johnny Rizzo's homer with the bases loaded beat them yesterday.

OKLAHOMA CITY—The New York Yankees are showing the minor league towns why they are the world champions. They made three fielding lapses against Dallas yesterday and came back with three double plays. In addition, Charley Keller hit a homer with one on and Artley Donald combined with Spud Candler for five-hit shutout hurling.

Diver Will Seek $2,000 In River

JASPER, April 3 (AP)—An expert diver will attempt today to bring from the bottom of the Neches river more than $2,000 taken in the robbery of the Kirbyville State Bank.

The body of a man found by fishermen five miles from Fred has been identified as that of a Pinehurst resident.

A red-headed man, arrested shortly after the robbery, told officers a companion, carrying the bank loot, drowned in the river.

He said the man had the money wrapped in a jacket when he attempted to swim the stream.

The diver will seek the money at Bush lake.

District Judge F. P. Adams said the grand jury would be convened today to investigate the robbery.

No charges have as yet been filed.

Argentine Tabbed High For Masters Invitation Meet

By BILL BONI

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 3 (AP)—Having had one eighteen-hole round and several talks with the man since he arrived here, we hereby are tabbing Martin Pose of the Argentine to give a good account of himself in the annual Masters invitation golf tournament which starts tomorrow.

Since we predicted that Ben Hogan would go ahead and win several first prizes after he copped the blue ribbon in the north-south championship, we also consider ourselves considerable of a "tabber."

But there is more to it than that. There is, more importantly, Martin Pose himself—a cool, self-possessed customer, 29 years old, about 145 pounds, dark-haired, compactly built, and a hitter long and straight enough to outdistance Byron Nelson consistently off the tee.

If it's not too much of a play on words, we'd say that Pose (you seem to pronounce it Poe-zay) has a good reason for being in the tournament. He was quite expressive in his enthusiasm for the six-under-par 66 Nelson shot in his company yesterday, but it was obvious that underneath he was devoting a good deal to studying a course he'd never seen before.

On the tenth hole, for instance, which goes downhill, Nelson told Pose where to place his drive and Pose failed. It left him in bad position for his second shot, which he promptly hooked into the trees to the left of the green.

"No, no," said Nelson, appointed tutor and guide because he had played with Pose and Enrique Bertolino in South America. "That is bad. You want to play practice ball!"

"No," said Pose, "no practice ball. Tomorrow be down there," and he indicated the spot where Nelson had intended him to drive.

He gave that impression all the way around—a man who might be in strange territory at the moment, but who knows his business.

After having spent 19 days at sea and 20 hours on a train, the Argentine and French open champion around yesterday in 73, only one over par. He had three bogeys in the first ten holes, but finished off with six pars and two birdies.

First trials to select a Pampa Harvester track and field team will be held Friday afternoon west of Harvester field, weather permitting.

Coach Odus Mitchell announced today. He planned to stage his elimination trials today but unfavorable weather forced postponement of workouts Monday and Tuesday.

Coach Mitchell has a squad of about 50 boys out for track and field but only Ed Terrell was a member of last year's district championship team. All other boys are newcomers from Junior High or boys who have not participated in athletics before.

"There are a lot of boys who are great prospects for next year or the year after," Coach Mitchell said today, "but they probably won't get going this season."

Probably the best sprinter on the squad is W. C. Epperson, with Jack Lane showing promise for the future, Coach Mitchell said. John Saunders, little speed merchant, has developed a muscle ailment and has been unable to practice.

Ed Terrell is showing great promise in the sprints and hurdles while Wayne Fudge might come through in the half mile.

Pat Flanagan and Wayne Ott have been showing the best form in the field events.

Several boys up from last year's Reapers including Bill Arthur, Ralph Prope and others might come through as dark horses the coach revealed.

Duck Pin Tourney Will Be Held In Perryton On Sunday

PERRYTON, April 3—Plans for a Panhandle-Wide Bowling tournament for men was announced this week by T. D. Moss, manager of the Ranger Bowling alleys. The tournament will be held Sunday, April 7, with a long list of cash prizes offered contestants in team play and for high scoring individuals.

Invitations are being mailed to each "duck pin" alley in this section, but those planning to enter are urged not to wait for a letter of invitation, but to send for information.

The tournament planned is the second "duck pin" meet to be held at Ranger alleys. The first was staged yearly in January and despite zero weather and snow, over 100 out-of-town contestants were in attendance. Several teams wired that inclement weather made it impossible for them to attend. The tournament proved so successful that Manager Moss has received dozens of requests for a spring meet.

With the interest being shown, it has been decided to limit the entries to team and individual play for men only, and to have a separate meet for ladies at a later date.

Eight alleys in tip-top shape will be turned over to participants to enable a complete run-off of all the events during the one day, Moss said.

Texas Second Safest State In The Nation

AUSTIN, April 3—Winner of second place in the 1939 National "Traffic Safety Contest" among states, Texas will be awarded its prize at the Safety Banquet of the Texas Safety Conference in Austin, April 16th.

Governor O'Daniel will be invited to receive the award on behalf of the state, it was announced here today by C. J. Rutland, president of the Texas Safety Association. The presentation will be made by Sidney Williams, director of the National Safety Council.

In announcing the results of the nationwide safety competition, the National Safety Council praised the co-ordinated traffic control program under the direction of the state departments of public safety, highway and education and the Texas Safety Association.

Grand prize winner of the national contest was the smallest state in the union, Rhode Island.

The Safety Award Banquet of the Texas Safety Conference will feature awards to Texas' safest cities which will include Beaumont, winner of second place among cities of its population in the national contest.

Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Automotive Safety Foundation and of Studebaker Corporation, will be the principal speaker. National and state dignitaries will attend the Safety Banquet which will be broadcast over the Texas State Network.

The Texas Safety Conference will be held at the state capitol building and will be free to the public. Ten national authorities on traffic safety will head the list of speakers.

The average speed of lightning is 28,500 miles a second, recent studies have shown.

Stanford Quartet Sets New World Relay Record

A new world record for the two-mile relay went into the books when this Stanford quartet burned up the cinders in 7:37.3 at the California-Stanford meet in Berkeley. Left to right, the Indian runners are Paul Moore, Mush Girard, Burman Skable, and Jack Moore. They cut nearly a second off the former mark set by Indiana.

SERIAL STORY

K. O. CAVALIER BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Val sells Duffy the idea of having Cavalier train on the Northern Belle. They can't afford to cancel and Hansen won't turn back. Besides the publicity will pack the stadium. After they agree, she informs Cavalier that he'll have to work with the crew, but she'll try to get Hansen to give him a little time on.

CHAPTER VI

"OKAY, you lugs. Hit th' deck!" Duffy Kelo opened one eye and squinted at the big seaman bellowing into the crew's quarters. Duffy shuddered.

On all sides of him men were getting out of bed but Kelo drew his blankets up closer to his chin.

When he looked up again the big fellow was standing over him, grinning.

"C'mon buttercup. Time to bloom. What do you think you're doin'?"

"Right now," Duffy muttered, "I'm hoping you fall overboard before you're a day older. Whatta idea getting me up in the middle of the night?"

Next thing Duffy knew the blankets were rudely pulled from his bunk. "It's almost three bells," the seaman roared. "Cap'n Hansen sent some new duffie down for you lugs. Get into it and lay to."

Duffy sat up, groaning again. "Why can't they talk English?" he asked Pop Grimes. "It's like being in a foreign country somewhere, only much worse." He turned to Cavalier. "What time is three bells?"

"Five thirty," Eddie told him. "How'd you know that?" Kelo inquired suspiciously.

"I read a book once," Eddie said sarcastically. "Big words and all."

A red-headed seaman came in. "Hiya boys," he began. "Hiya, Duffy. Guess you don't remember me, do ya?"

Duffy looked at him closely and started. "Mike Kelly! Well, I'll be —," he cried, wringing the red-head's hand. Suddenly he drew his hand back. "What th' deuce am I doin' shaking hands with you," he growled. "You're part of this mob, ain't you?"

Kelly grinned, disregarding Kelo's last remark. "Ain't seen you since—since that night in the Garden."

"Yeah," Duffy agreed. "As I recall, you lay on th' canvas for 10 minutes after Buddy Jones tagged you."

"That's why I'm here now," Mike said seriously. "And at least I know I'll never be walkin' around on my heels and making funny passes every time a trolley motorfan clangs his bell."

Mike nodded toward Eddie Cavalier who was buttoning his blue denim shirt. "I ain't never had th' pleasure of shakin' hands with th' champ, Duffy. Could y' introduce us?"

Eddie smiled, even before Duffy could voice the ceremonies. "Hello, Mike. I'm not champ yet, though."

"You will be, kid," pumping his hand. "I've seen you go. You can't miss."

"Th, say, Mike," Pop Grimes broke in. "Let's get down to a little business. As long as we have to make the best of this mess, what kind of tack you got on board?"

Mike raised his hand significantly. "Plenty, Lucky. I keep it on hand for me an' th' boys to putter around with. Two sets of eight ounce gloves, a light bag, a pair o' bag gloves and a head guard. Almost made to order, hey Pop?"

"I didn't know better," Pop muttered, "I'd swear it was a frame."

WITH the exception of those on duty everyone was already seated in the small mess quarters when they entered.

"New hands," Captain Hansen told the crew curtly as they sat down. "Kelo, Grimes and Cavalier." Hansen grinned behind his napkin as the boxer sat down across from Val. He looked started at seeing her.

"Didn't think I'd be up this early, did you?" she said sweetly. "One surprise after another," Eddie sighed.

"First thing we'll do is put up a ring for Mister Cavalier," Val said evenly. "After that Kelo and Grimes will join the paint crew. Cavalier can do a little of his road work around the deck and then report back to Captain Hansen."

Eddie Cavalier glared. "Give any orders you wish, but don't go forgetting that Pop Grimes is my trainer. He'll make the suggestions about any road work I'll do."

"Paint crew," Duffy muttered. "A Rembrandt she wants to make outa me."

IT was early May and the sun shone brightly over the gently rolling Pacific. A thin streamer of smoke on the horizon was the only other sign of life.

Val Douglas breathed deeply and snarled up behind Eddie Cavalier who lay stretched full length upon a hatch cover.

"You don't look very active for a fighter supposed to be in training," she said casually.

No answer. He was immovable, with his arm flung across his eyes. "I was talking to you," she said icily.

"I heard you."

"Why didn't you answer me?"

"Why don't you throw me in the brig for insubordination?"

"It's an idea to try with," she informed him menacingly. "Maybe you'll wish you hadn't given birth to it."

He got to his feet then and started working his arms across his chest in circular motions, totally disregarding her. Then he broke into a slow jog around deck. She pattered after him for a few steps.

"Don't forget to report to Captain Hansen when you're through."

"He stopped dead. "Scram!" he barked at her so savagely she was stunned and silent. He trotted off again and left her.

MIKE KELLY was putting up the last strand of rope on the ring when she came up. "Did you have any help on this, Mike?" she asked.

"Sure. Grimes and Kelo both took a hand."

"Where are they now?"

"Cap'n Hansen gave Kelo permission to send that wire to Sam Golden. He must be up in the radio room. Grimes is up fo'r'd with th' paint crew."

Cavalier went by and waved to Kelly.

"Great boy," Mike beamed following Eddie with his eyes.

"Clean-cut kid, too. He ain't just another pug with a couple haircuts and a harder head. He's got class, that boy has."

"I fail to see it," she countered. "Begging your pardon, Miss Douglas," Mike said apologetically. "But maybe you're just a little blind if you can't tell th' difference between a guy like Eddie Cavalier and a pug like—like—well, like me, for instance. That guy's another Gene Turney. This guy Cavalier even went to college for a couple years. You'll change your mind about him some day, you will."

"Maybe so," she muttered, "but not in print."

Employer Should Be Shown Social Security Number

Workers looking for employment should carry their Social Security number cards with them. Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo Social Security Board office said today. Furthermore, the worker should be sure to show the card to the employer immediately upon being hired.

"This procedure is very important," Reed continued, "as the Social Security number is the means of identifying the worker's wage account with the Federal Government." If the employer does not show his card to the employer, the latter might report the wages without an account number. In this case, the wages cannot be posted to the worker's account by the Social Security Board.

Since the benefits payable under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance provisions by the Social Security Act are related to the worker's wages, the importance of having all wages posted to worker's account is obvious. "The new benefits under the Social Security act amendments are of vital importance to workers and their families. Therefore, we urge each wage earner to assure for himself full credit for his wages by showing his card to each employer," Reed said. If any worker does not have a number, he should go to the post-office, obtain an application, fill it out and mail it to the Social Security Board office, 324 New Post Office Building, Amarillo, where he will receive a number in a very few minutes.

Labor Committee Gives Approval On Amendments

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The house labor committee gave its final approval today to four Wagner act amendments which Chairman Norton (D-N. J.) said were "all that needs to be done" to improve operation of the law.

By a vote of 13 to 8, the committee sent to the house a bill containing these recommendations:

1. Enlarge the three-man National Labor Relations Board to five members.
2. Protect craft unions in collective bargaining elections with industrial unions.
3. Permit employers, as well as unions, to ask the board for bargaining elections.
4. Require the board to accept for one year, as wholly effective, any exclusive bargaining contract approved between employers and workers.

Mrs. Norton explained that under instructions of committee members, she would attempt to bring the bill before the house under procedure which would preclude consideration of any other amendments.

Mrs. Norton disclosed that the committee today had rejected for a third time a motion to abolish the existing board and create a new one of five members. She said the motion, by Representative Hoffman (R-Mich.), was rejected "by quite a large vote."

The labor committee recommendations are sure to run into opposition from supporters from the far more sweeping changes asked by the Smith investigating committee, which has suggested creation of an entire new labor board as one of its points.

Germans Claim Ships Of Convoy Damaged

BERLIN, April 3 (AP)—DNB, German official news agency, today reported that Nazi warplanes had "successfully" attacked merchant ships in a British convoy in the northern part of the North Sea this noon.

The agency offered no amplification of the dispatch, which came soon after the German high command communique reporting success in a new air raid last night on Scapa Flow.

Despite unfavorable weather and strong defense by the communique said "it was possible to damage several ships by square hits or close explosions."

British said her Scapa Flow ships were undamaged, and that over 20 German raiders was believed to have been downed.

The communique also said, "air fights occurred at several places in the west where German high command planes were shot down. Two of our own planes are missing."

O'DANIEL

No other speakers were on the program, and his office indicated there would be little, if any time for music by his "Hillbilly Boys."

The broadcast will be from one of the big drawing rooms on the first floor of the gubernatorial mansion, scene of regular broadcasts on Sunday mornings since he became governor Jan. 17, 1939.

If the governor announces, his bid for another term, the broadcast will have been made just 14 months and 17 days after his inauguration.

In High Spirits

Friends said he was in very high spirits and had told them he never felt better in his life. Recently he observed his 50th birthday anniversary.

If O'Daniel enters the race, he will be the third important announced candidate for the governorship; Albert Derricks, a state representative, and Harry Hines, member of the state highway commission, previously having taken the plunge.

At least two others, however, are hovering on the brink. One is Jerry Sadler, peppery member of the state railroad commission, who will formally announce tomorrow night in a statewide broadcast, also from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. (Texas Quality Network).

The other is Ernest O. Thompson, likewise a railroad commissioner and in 1938 runner-up to O'Daniel, who is expected to announce early in May.

If O'Daniel should not run, the former governor Miram A. Ferguson would promptly announce her candidacy. She has already said she was considering running.

Lieut. Gov. Charles Stevenson of Junction has said he would run for governor if O'Daniel did not. He also has voiced the opinion it is a "cinch" O'Daniel will seek re-election.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, you will not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel heavy, sunk and the world looks black.

If these things occur, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and awake" in the morning. Buy a box. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 14¢ and 25¢. Each bottle contains 25 pills.

necessity may require new arrangements.

Building of more than 100 kennels for the entrants began today. The kennels will be four feet high and will be in sizes to fit small, medium-sized and large dogs. The kennels will be built of stiff, fine-meshed chicken wire with strong partitions. Handlers or owners may sit in chairs by the kennels, and the first row at the grandstand will be reserved for owners.

Reaper Band To Play

For showings, display and judge the dogs will be placed on a platform visible to everybody in the grandstand. They may be paraded, posed or they may stand or sit, according to the desires of the handler. The judge will be at the table, as will an announcer who will tell all that goes on over a loud-speaker system.

The Reaper band of Junior high school under the direction of A. C. Cox, will play. Admission will be 25 cents per person, the proceeds to go to the Baker school cafeteria fund for underprivileged children.

A city dog tag or license will not be necessary for entering any dog or hound in the show.

1,136 Arrests Made By Police In Year

March 31 was the end of the 1939 year for the Pampa police department and the report for the past year showed that officers had made a total of 1,136 arrests, had a total of $4,845.75 in fines assessed and collected $3,128.25.

March was a busy month for the officers when they made 93 arrests. Fines assessed by Recorder C. E. McGrew amounted to $468.75, which $389.25 was collected. Persons fined worked a total of 16 days while others served 39 days in jail. Five persons were turned over to a higher court.

There were 25 persons arrested on intoxication charges, 21 for speeding and 27 for other traffic violations.

Wisconsin Votes Three To One For Roosevelt

MILWAUKEE, April 3 (AP)—Wisconsin's voting Democrats are 3 to 1 for a third term for President Roosevelt.

Whether they can back up that stand at the party's nominating convention this summer remained in doubt today, however, as returns from the state's delegate elections mounted.

Mr. Roosevelt swept the preferential primary, an advisory vote, from Vice-President John Nance Garner, but whether the president would find a solid 24-vote delegation in his ranks at Chicago was questionable.

There was a possibility Garner might capture some district delegates. His candidates were in the running in at least five of Wisconsin's ten congressional districts.

That and the sharply increased Republican vote, which resulted in the Thomas E. Dewey delegate-at-large ticket taking a commanding lead over those pledged to Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, temped success for Dewey.

Whereas the total Republican vote in the 1936 primary approximated only 190,000, the G. O. P. polled 218,751 yesterday in 2,074 of the state's 3,011 precincts. Mr. Roosevelt, unopposed, received 401,000 four years ago.

The Democratic vote in 2,028 precincts totaled 274,993, divided thus: Roosevelt 209,071; Garner 65,522. The Wisconsin primary is "open." Voters may change their party affiliations at any election by no more of a formality than dropping a ball of one party in the box and discharging that of the rival party.

Topping the Democratic ballot were the names of Mr. Roosevelt and Garner for the preferential vote. This vote is purely advisory and amounts to a measuring of the voters' sentiment. Dewey and Vandenberg were not put to a preferential test on the G. O. P. ballot.

Editors Fined For Criticizing Judge

ST. LOUIS, April 3 (AP)—The Post-Dispatch was fined $2,000 and two executives of the newspaper were fined and given short jail sentences today by Circuit Judge Thomas J. Rowe who found them in contempt of court for editorially criticizing dismissal of an extortion case in his court.

The individuals were Ralph Goghlan, editor of the editorial page, who was fined $200 and sentenced to 20 days, and Daniel R. Fitzpatrick, nationally known cartoonist, $100 fine and 10 days in jail.

A contempt citation issued against Managing Editor Ben H. Reese was dismissed on the ground he had no responsibility for the editorial comment.

Joseph Pulitzer, president of the Pulitzer Publishing Co., publishers of the Post-Dispatch, appeared in court to answer for the company.

After Judge Rowe's decision Pulitzer issued a statement, saying: "As the Post-Dispatch said editorially on the morning after the citation was issued, the editorials and the cartoon, for which the Post-Dispatch has just been convicted of contempt, were printed in pursuance of its policy to improve the administration of justice in St. Louis. They were printed in pursuance of this newspaper's journalistic duty to inform the people whenever, in its belief, a failure of justice has occurred.

"The Post-Dispatch, on a multitude of occasions, it is hardly necessary to say, has expressed its great veneration for the judiciary as a vital part of our Democratic system.

"The Post-Dispatch regards this contempt proceedings as an attack upon the freedom of the press and upon this newspaper's constitutional rights. The issue will be carried to the supreme court of Missouri."

One Of Two Missing Mountain Climbers Found On Peak Alive

MOUNT HOOD, ORE., April 3 (AP)—Searchers found unburned, frost-bitten James Lorentz, 19, one of two mountain climbers missing since early Sunday, alive today.

The youth, who had taken refuge at an improvised shelter, was being brought to Timberline Lodge from the vicinity of Paradise on the south-west slope.

He separated from his mountain-climbing companion, Gerald Herrman, 28, in a blizzard late Sunday. Rangers and rescue parties from Hood river and emergency ski and snow patrol found no trace of Herrman.

Ole Lien, Ralph Hadfield and Stewart Mockford, ski patrolmen, who pierced the isolated Paradise Park snowfields, said young Lorentz was wandering aimlessly near his refuge but "very much alive."

He was weak from hunger and exposure and in need of medical attention.

Lorentz told his rescuers he made the ascent to the Mount Hood crest cabin with Herrman and started the downward journey in a terrific snowstorm.

He last saw Herrman in a whirl of snow between the headwall of White river canyon and Carter Rock. Lorentz' rescue brought new hope in the search for Herrman since it was first believed both men were swept over a 1,900-foot cliff near Mount Hood's bleak summit. Rangers found footprints leading to the edge of the tremendous drop but none returned.

storage nearly 15,000,000 barrels greater than at the beginning of April, 1939. Crude stocks also have been mounting, although they are about 27,000,000 barrels under their level of a year ago. The stocks of gas and oil distillates has improved during the past year.

The question of whether the nation currently is producing too much oil probably will be discussed formally or informally during the interstate oil compact commission's quarterly meeting at Oklahoma City tomorrow night and Friday.

Ernest O. Thompson, Texas railroad commissioner, is scheduled to speak on "closing the case for the people against federal control."

Many persons believe that the Cole bill to give the federal government a measure of supervision over oil production is as good as dead for the current session of Congress, but the nation's situation about two months longer and it is hazardous to predict what will happen.

BOYLES RE-ELECTED Mayor Of Panhandle

PANHANDLE, April 3 (AP)—W. L. Boyles was re-elected mayor of Panhandle, Okla., today in a hotly contested election. He defeated F. F. Ferrell, drug store owner, in the annual election here Tuesday. Ferrell's name was not on the ballot.

Ralph Bandel with 221 votes and Mark Williams with 225 votes were re-elected to the city council. Write-in candidates were Dick Cheatham 21, and E. C. Nickell, 46.

Mayor Boyles, independent oil distributor and director of the Panhandle State Bank, served on the city council in 1932 and was elected mayor in 1934. He is also commissioner for the 31st senatorial district.

Randel, automobile dealer and former district governor of Lions, went on the council in 1932, and Williams, hardware merchant, was elected in 1934.

Hold-over councilmen are F. A. Paul, Chas. Franklin and C. Det.

Newsman Called 'Brothers' By Leo

AUSTIN, April 3 (AP)—Members of the capitol press today were hailed as "brothers" by "Editor" W. Lee O'Daniel.

A memorandum from the governor's secretary said:

"Editor W. Lee O'Daniel invites all brother members of the press to be present at the mansion at 7:30 tonight for his broadcast which will begin at 8 o'clock."

The governor soon will publish a weekly newspaper to carry his speeches in full and give information on the government which he says the press of Texas generally does not carry.

Regular conferences with the press corps as a group were discontinued by O'Daniel soon after he became governor although he continued to talk to individual correspondents.

From time to time he has lambasted the Texas press as being unfair to him and inaccurately reporting or suppressing news of his activities.

In tonight's broadcast he is expected to say whether he will be a candidate for re-election.

Another Witness Defies Dies Body

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The Dies committee met in defiance today from a young Communist leader, Thomas O'Dea of Boston, who refused to disclose the name of the secretary of the Young Communist league at Harvard university.

The witness appeared before the committee as president of the Young Communist league of Massachusetts.

There were 25 persons arrested on intoxication charges, 21 for speeding and 27 for other traffic violations.

Women Lead In K. C. Cleanup

KANSAS CITY, April 3 (AP)—Aroused cleanup forces, led by 7,500 actively campaigning women, tore Kansas City's scandal-ridden city hall away from Tom Fendergast's machine yesterday.

The victory, achieved by a fusion of independent Democrats, Republicans and civic leaders, was almost as decisive as any the erstwhile Democratic boss ever achieved for his puppets.

Fusionists elected John B. Gage Democratic lawyer as mayor and swept seven of their eight councilmanic candidates and both municipal judges into office with him.

Fendergast, at his peak, elected U. S. senators, governors, state supreme court judges and legislators. His power was virtually state wide. He controlled the city hall 14 years.

After April 17 when Mayor Gage and his cohorts move into the multimillion dollar city hall—built with Fendergast concrete—the machine will have only a few county offices left.

It has been stripped of its control of the city hall, of the police force and of the election board; of its control of the city's $7,000,000 annual budget and what remains of an original 100,000,000 bond fund for various civic projects.

Third Termers In Texas Make Plans

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 3 (AP)—Third-term-for-Roosevelt leaders in Texas are seeking a majority at precinct conventions in order that the state may send an unstructured delegation to the National Democratic convention.

Speakers at a rally here last night urged Nueces county sympathizers of the movement to work for such a majority.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson, Mayor Maury Maverick of San Antonio, Mayor Tom Miller of Austin and Ed Clark, former Secretary of State, all expressed the opinion that Mr. Roosevelt would seek re-election if drafted by the people.

Ferguson said Texas, turning from Roosevelt now, would be ungrateful in view of what he did for the state during the depression.

Maverick said nomination of Vice President Garner or anyone not favorable to the New Deal benefits to labor, agriculture and youth.

Committee Adds 25 Millions To Bill

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—A Senate appropriations subcommittee three congressional economy plans further out of joint today by unexpectedly adding $25,000,000 for rivers and harbors projects to an appropriation bill for civil functions of the war department.

The subcommittee's latest increase raised the tentative total of the civil

Commission Meets As Election Held

To the accompaniment of noisy typewriters, the banging of doors, and shuffle of feet in the hall as long lines of voters cast their ballots in the city election, the city commission held its regular meeting yesterday.

The session was held in the office of the city secretary, as the commission room was the polling place.

It was a short meeting, starting about 2 o'clock. The commission approved payment of $737.60 to the Sherman Machine & Iron Works, Oklahoma City, balance due on Pampa's new Ford fire truck.

With the exception of Mayor Ed S. Carr, all of the members of the commission were present. The mayor is in Temple, where his wife is a patient in a Temple hospital.

An excuse of absence of the mayor from the meetings of March 22 and March 26, was accepted.

The House appropriations committee, source of most of the session's economy moves, meanwhile reported to the House an army appropriations bill $67,357,660 below President Roosevelt's recommendations. The measure totaled $785,999,094.

The committee also cut $42,840,500 from the $87,700,500 in contractual authority asked for the war department's military functions.

In the senate, Senator Davis (R-Pa) offered legislation for establishment of a congressional budget service to draft annual spending estimates for congress.
