Ex-Leathernecks To Hear Smedley Butler Address

There'll be several former "leathernecks" in the Top of Texas arena that will be in audience listening to their former commander, when Smedley D. Butler makes a speech on the night of May 3 in the high school auditorium.

One of the ex-marines will be Dan Williams of Pampa, who served in the 13th marine regiment during the World War. Another veteran from the same regiment is Charlie Maisel, 18th district American Legion commander, former Pampa, but now of Phillips.

Fred Hobart of Canadian was in a machine gun company that was a part of the Fifth brigade. Both the 13th regiment, and later the brigade, were led by Butler. The 13th and 18th regiments and the machine gun company were incorporated in the brigade.

The 13th regiment has a "13" record. It embarked for France from Hotoken, N. J., on September 13, 1918, and the unit was discharged at Hampton Roads, Va., on August 13, 1919.

General Butler is being brought to Pampa by the Kelley-Crossman post of the American Legion. He is to speak here one night before he makes an address in Amarillo to the Knute and Fork club. It will be Butler's second appearance before the Amarillo organization.

Arrangements for Butler's speech here are by Dan Williams.

Admission prices and the sale of tickets are to be announced later.

Texas Professor Flays Price-Pegging

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 15 (AP)—A University of Texas economic professor pointed to price-fixing and absentee ownership today as two major evils retarding development of the south.

Dr. Robert H. Montgomery, in an address before the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, said price-fixing was possible only under monopolies and "all our monopolistic industries are owned by New York."

Stating that under monopolies the owners "try to make all the profit they can," he added that the blame rests "upon you and me for being stupid enough to permit them to do it."

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 15 (AP)—The Southern Conference for Human Welfare turned its attention today to discussion of rural life after having beaten down an effort to limit its program strictly to problems of the south.

Following heated debate of more than an hour, the 1,000 negro and white delegates seated together and sharing in the program voted for a liberal interpretation of resolutions with an agreement that the conference could condemn Germany and Russia for military aggression against "little weak nations." Any action will be taken at tomorrow's business session.

As the first speaker in the panel on "Rural Life in the South," Dr. Robert H. Montgomery, professor of economics at the University of Texas, said in an address prepared for delivery today that price-pegging by major industries looms as a major threat to "free business enterprise and a Democratic government."

"Unless prices are free to move, our community cannot direct men and monopoly and machines into the production of those things the community wants," he said. "Unless prices are free to move, our system of competitive business is at an end and it may carry Democracy down with it."

BRITISH 'HOODOO' SHIP REDEEMS SELF

The 35,000-ton battleship West Virginia, after being dogged for two decades with breakdowns and accidents that caused her to be known as a "hoodoo" ship, redeemed herself in British eyes by leading a squadron of the royal fleet in fierce sea battle near Narvik, Norway, that, according to admiralty reports, resulted in sinking of seven German destroyers.

Two Boys Faint In Overheated Bathroom

Gas fumes from a bathroom heater made two Pampa boys ill yesterday.

How long they were rendered unconscious by the fumes they do not know, but they realize today the danger they faced.

The boys were Cecil Jameson, 12-year-old B. M. Baker school student, and Jack Reddin, 11, who attends Sam Houston.

At noon Sunday, the two boys took a shower bath at the Reddin home, 410 East Osborne, according to Mrs. W. G. Jameson, mother of Cecil. The Jameson residence is 414 East Osborne.

The Reddin boy started to open the door. He fell outside the bathroom. When he recovered consciousness, he went to the phone and called Mrs. Jameson. Cecil, had fallen back in the tub as his companion fell outside the door.

There were no leaks in the gas connection of the bathroom, and Mrs. Jameson said she could account for the boys being overcome only by the heater fire being high.

Both boys were still weak today. One of them became ill yesterday.

War Flashes

STOCKHOLM, April 15 (AP)—British forces were reported today to have landed in Narvik under the protection of naval shellfire which drove the Germans from the northern Norwegian port into the mountainous interior.

The British warships which raided Narvik Saturday, apparently preparatory to a landing by British soldiers or marines, were said to have the city under control of their guns.

This report, from the Norwegian radio at the port of Bodo, south of Narvik, followed a Norwegian army communique reporting that Norwegian troops north and west of Narvik were ready to attack the Germans.

BERLIN, April 15 (AP)—German officials asserted today that no British troops had landed anywhere at Norwegian points occupied by German forces, either at Narvik or anywhere else where Germany has established herself, but may have effected landings elsewhere.

State sanitation inspectors plastered condemnation notices on more than 500 habitations and ordered the occupants to correct the situation by April 16 or move out.

Here, along the Lake Okeechobee shore in a vast vegetable growing area some 30 miles west of Palm Beach's gold coast, migrant workers and their families are living under conditions a state health committee compared with those described in the book, "Grapes of Wrath."

State sanitation inspectors plastered condemnation notices on more than 500 habitations and ordered the occupants to correct the situation by April 16 or move out.

The farm security administration rushed to completion of 178-family camp for white workers and another of 258 units for Negro field laborers. These camps, the first constructed east of Texas, cost $800,000.

PSA officials said the camps could not accommodate all of the migrants. It was estimated more than 20,000 are in the area but that they would care for about 2,250. Three other camps have been planned.

The camps offer a minimum of decent living facilities, with most of the houses single room shelters built of pre-fabricated steel walls and concrete floors.

No Damage Reported In Two Local Fires

Pampa firemen answered two down-town alarms last night with no property damage.

The first call, at 8:30 p. m., was to the Motor Inn, corner of North Cuyler and Francis, where a pile of trash at the rear of the building had ignited. Water from the truck booster tank was used to extinguish the blaze.

At 4 o'clock this morning the firemen were called to Perkins Pharmacy, corner of South Cuyler and Foster. The found smoke but no fire. The smoke was from a refrigerator motor. The alarm was turned by a taxi driver who saw smoke issuing from the store.

Navy And Air Force Hurls New Attacks

Announces German Pocket Battleship Was Torpedoed

By HUGH WAGNON

LONDON, April 15 (AP)—Great Britain announced today she had landed soldiers at several points in Norway to press the war against the German invaders while her navy and air force hurled new bolts at the Nazis in widespread sections in and around Scandinavia.

The brief statement in a joint war office-admiralty communique that British troops are on Norwegian soil capped a week-end crammed with these reports by the British.

1. The laying of a huge mine barricade across the entire German Baltic coast from Kiel Bay to Lithuania.

2. The torpedoing of the 10,000-ton German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer by the British submarine Spearfish. The admiralty did not say whether the Admiral Scheer was sunk.

3. The sinking by British submarines of two German transports, bringing to 12 the total of transport and supply ships reported sunk in recent days. The admiralty also said its submarines scored four hits on a transport convoy in the Skaggerak.

4. Continued British aerial raids on Stavanger and on Bergen. A gasoline dump was believed destroyed in a night raid, the fifth since Germany's invasion, at Stavanger and the admiralty said one German transport was set afire at Bergen.

5. A British naval squadron, led by the battleship Warspite, on Saturday sank seven German destroyers at Narvik, northern Norwegian port.

Landed At Narvik

While official information was lacking on the number of men and the points where the British expeditionary force landed, Scandinavian sources said the British occupied Narvik in the far north.

Other points considered among the most likely landing places are Namsos, about 100 miles north of German-held Trondheim, and Adalsnes, about 100 miles south of Trondheim.

Prime Minister Chamberlain conferred today with Clement Attlee and Arthur Greenwood, opposition labor leaders.

It was widely stated that he informed them he would make a full-statement tomorrow in the house of commons on the British landings in Norway.

The quickened tempo of the war in the north was related in terse communique from the war office, the admiralty and the air ministry.

A joint war office-admiralty communique merely said that "British forces have now landed at several points in Norway."

Germans in Berlin acknowledged that Narvik was blockaded while German defensive works were reported being strengthened at Trondheim, Bergen, Stavanger and Kristiansand.

British warships were reported to have destroyed seven German destroyers in Narvik harbor, in northern Norway, Saturday.

The fifth British aerial attack upon Stavanger, a port on the western coast and near the southern tip of Norway, was said by the British to have been perhaps the most effective raid there.

Explosion Reported

The British said that one pilot of the coastal command flight, which was said to have returned "without a scratch," reported a sudden red glow at Stavanger, apparently caused by a big explosion, perhaps one of Germany's hastily-built gasoline dumps.

THREE DECLAMATIONS AND THE CONTEST PLAY "Overtones" were presented in a special assembly last Wednesday afternoon. Purpose of the program was to give the student body a chance to hear the contest selections before the district meet and to give those in the contests practice before an audience.

Are You Ready?

SCHOLARSHIP, CHARACTER, LEADERSHIP, SERVICE. These four words are standing in big capital letters before the faculty as the time approaches to select students for National Honor Society recognition. Questions such as the following are running through their minds as they look over the juniors and seniors in their classes each day: Is he (or she) a leader? Is he leading in the right direction? How do his grades compare with other students' averages? Is he doing his best? What sort of person is he? Has he done anything to help his school?

The National Honor Society is a very select organization. Only 15 per cent of the senior class (including those who were elected to the society when they were juniors) and 5 per cent of the junior class may be given the high honor of membership in this organization—and then only if they have proved themselves outstanding in the four qualifications listed above: scholarship, character, leadership, and service.

Only those students who rank in the upper third of their class are considered by the National Honor Society as outstanding enough in scholarship to be eligible for consideration. This is included in the constitution of the organization. Other things being equal, the nearer the top of the class a student ranks in scholarship, the better his chance of membership. But quite often a student devotes so much attention to making good grades that he fails to develop other important qualities. He fails to accept the responsibilities of leadership which fall to those who are superior in ability. Selfishly, he thinks only of himself and his grades and does not give in loyal service to his school some return for the benefits he is receiving. On the other hand, some students do have quite a high average in school, but they neglect their other important things—with the result that they average up better all the way around than the student who has concentrated only on grades.

It is those juniors and seniors who, in the estimation of the faculty, measure highest in all four qualifications—scholarship, character, leadership, and service—who will soon be announced as members of the National Honor Society. And service is the time for freshmen, sophomores, and juniors to be building for themselves a record that will make them worthy of receiving this highest honor Pampa High School has bestowed next year and the year after that and the next year.

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of four editorials regarding the National Honor Society requirements. During the next three weeks editorials will appear in the Little Harvester on the meaning of character, leadership, and service, with the hope that while attention is focused on this year's selection of new members, other students will be inspired to begin to build now toward election to the National Honor Society at some future date.)

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

Bill Miskimins is a 17-year-old senior who has attended Pampa schools for six years. He played football for the Pampa team and won the Amarillo open golf tournament one year. He had a part in the senior play "Our Town," is a member of the A Cappella choir, and works in the office the sixth hour.

"Blonde headed girls are my special interests," says Bill, "and my hobby is golf." He plans to attend the University of Texas next year.

"To be a good singer and musician is my main ambition," says Dorothy Fischer, who also wants to be a good housewife.

Her hobbies are baseball, music, singing, horseback riding, reading, and dancing. She plays the piano, and her special interest is singing blues songs. Her favorite color is blue, and her favorite songs are "Indian Love Call" and "Little Coquette." Dorothy was in the pep squad for two years, played volleyball one year, and has sung in the A Cappella choir for three years. She has not yet chosen her college.

H. T. Hampton says dancing is his chief interest. He has spent all of his school days in Pampa, is majoring in mathematics and science, and plans to attend Texas Tech at Lubbock.

"Hop" served as manager of the band for one year. He is 17 years old and is 5 feet, 10 inches tall.

Irene DeWitt, 18-year-old brunette, has attended school in Pampa since the first grade. She likes to read and dance. Collecting pictures and reading also rate high with her. Irene's ambition is to be a nurse, but she has not yet decided where she will go for her training.

Nadine Woods is the 17-year-old brunette who works as a library assistant the fourth period. Nadine has attended Pampa High school for three years, after going to school in Illinois, Kansas, and Oklahoma. Collecting salt and pepper shakers and photographs of her friends are

P. H. S. Takes Top Honors In District

Hugh Stennis And Virginia Fore Win In Tennis Singles

Pat Flanigan And Leon Qualls Place In Track-Field Meet

Although the Harvesters did not retain their title as champions in field and track, Pampa High won two first places in tennis, all of them, and one first place in the two fourth places in track and field events in the district two meet of the Interscholastic league held here last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. This includes athletic contests of the district and the Interscholastic league. Events will be found in another column.

Hugh Stennis and Virginia Fore, both defending champions, again carried off honors in boys' and girls' singles in tennis and will represent P. H. S. in the regional meet at Canyon next Saturday. Hugh won the regional championship last year. Phillips High school placed second in boys' singles and Shamrock second in girls' singles. The Pampa doubles teams failed to place. Each of the firsts in singles counted five points toward Pampa's total number of points.

Pampa came out sixth in the track and field meet, which was won by Shamrock. Pat Flanigan made three of Pampa's four points, placing third in shot put and fourth in discus. Leon Qualls was fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles. Both boys will be eligible to go to the regional meet, however, a regional tournament in golf will be held in connection with the regional meet at Canyon next Saturday.

Having no competition, Pampa's golf team took all four places in that sport. Captain Roy Bay led the scoring. Wainger Phillips was second, Roland Phillips third, and Joe Blackwood fourth. Golf is not sponsored by the Interscholastic league and so counts no points toward the championship, however, a regional tournament in golf will be held in connection with the regional meet at Canyon next Saturday.

Borger won first in volleyball. Pampa girls were defeated in the first round by Booker, runner-up in the meet.

Osborne Discusses Going To College At Hi-Y Meeting

"Interest in some field and a willingness to devote some time to it are essential needs which students should possess when going to college," said Principal D. F. Osborne in addressing 15 Hi-Y members at the weekly meeting of that group April 2. His subject was "How to Understand the College Catalogue." No meeting was held last week because of exams.

Mr. Osborne said students who attend college are usually those ranking in the upper third of their class. In checking over the records of 25 students who graduated from Pampa High school last year and are now attending college, he found only one student had made four A's and two B's.

"To my mind, that intellectual curiosity, urge, and interest which college student should have in some field helps that student enjoy his schooling and gives him much happiness," he said. "He doesn't think his work drudgery, and much satisfaction found in other places comes from that type of work."

A desire for satisfaction is essential if something is to be gotten out of it, Mr. Osborne said. Furthermore, schools now seem to be moving to a system of letting students enter if they have a letter of recommendation from their principal to that particular school. At the close of his talk, Mr. Osborne answered questions asked by the boys.

President Karl Rippeel appointed a committee composed of Billy Brady, Jack Baker, and Jess Hamilton to plan the group's next social function.

K. W. Rippeel, Karl's father, was a visitor at the meeting.

Pampa High Begins Survey Of Graduates

Effort to contact all graduates of Pampa High school since 1935 is now being made by school officials with a view to setting up a more practical program of guidance in the future. Mrs. G. H. Alexander is in charge of the survey.

Of those graduates who are or have been attending college, she asks what they think of our present requirement set-up, which subjects they enjoyed most, how the school might be more helpful to students in making vocational choices, what type of work they plan to enter, and what chance they have for employment.

Inquiries are also being sent to students who dropped from Pampa High school and therefore did not graduate. These persons are asked why they dropped, whether they are employed, what subjects they would be interested in if they had a chance to come back to school, and if they feel the high school might help train them to fit into some gainful occupation.

Lecturer Talks Of Scandinavian And German Life

Dr. Allen D. Albert, noted lecturer on international affairs and former president of Rotary International, was guest speaker in assembly last Wednesday and talked on Germany and the Scandinavian countries. He was the last of four speakers brought to Pampa by the Rotary club in their Institute of International Understanding.

Dr. Albert received one of the largest ovations ever given a speaker by students of P. H. S. as he walked out on the stage—apparently because his very appearance bespoke his genial nature and keen sense of humor, which were very marked in evidence throughout his talk.

Describes Schools. Dr. Albert began his talk by relating methods used by Scandinavian schools in entering assembly as compared with those used by P. H. S. students. He also described a typical auditorium in which students had their meetings. He characterized the P. H. S. auditorium as painful in comparison with the "cross between a barn and a stable" called a school auditorium in those countries.

A professional imitator could have done no better than Dr. Albert when he demonstrated the various military steps used by the United States, England, and France, with the German goose-step as the climax.

After his gymnastic exercises, Dr. Albert told of the deep religion of the German people, who are no longer free, he said, to worship as they please.

Dr. Albert is under the impression that the Germans will continue fighting until they collapse from lack of proper food and described the present rationing of food in Germany which gives the people little but starches and bulky foodstuffs.

Clothes worn by foreigners were the next topic of the lecture. Women in Scandinavian were described by the newspaper man as "shaped like an hourglass."

Completing his speech with a tribute to American youth and the United States, Dr. Albert answered questions asked by students.

Sport Lites--By LANE

Although this year's track team did not set the track afire or break any field records, they did give promise of an outstanding team for next year. For almost all of this year's track men have two and some three more years of eligibility. Several of them were from the Junior High Racers, who were found eligible for high school competition if they were ranked as freshmen. Many boys showed up well in both track and field events who at the present time are still in little promise. Everything points toward an excellent team next year.

School officials last week received a ballot from the Texas Interscholastic league in a poll to determine whether school officials in Texas are in favor of a 19-year-old age rule with an eight-semester limit, or if they are in favor of the now existing 18-year-old rule. The poll is being held by mail, and receiving the ballot, officials thought that they would be voting on extending the present 18-year limit to 19 years, with the same semester ruling as now—that is, no semester limit.

The new 19-year-old rule, if adopted, will go into force this year. Its adoption would cause the loss of several star players to the 1940 Harvesters squad. However, it would make eligible about as many players as it would force out. The troubles in the fact that several players have arranged not to graduate in order to play next fall. The new rule would make them ineligible. Grover Haskell, Wayne Fide, Ed Terrell, and A. C. Enloe would be forced out of Interscholastic league athletics by the new rule, while Leroy Giles, Kenneth Rogers, Norman Clemmons, and Jack Morris would be made eligible.

Pete Dunaway and James Carlisle have arranged to attend the Kilgore Junior college at Kilgore, Texas, next year. This school always has an outstanding football team and has been champion of its conference for several years, having been defeated only once in conference play in recent years. Pete and Chief will make that school two very valuable players if they continue the work they started in Pampa High school.

Several members of the Harvester boxing team staged an exhibition match at Hopkins last Monday night for the benefit of the community flower fund. Members of the team who boxed were Johnny Campbell, Billy Gise, Richard Stephens, Wendell Stanley, Everett Sparks, and Irvin Moleworth. Two Hopkins boys, Jerry and Bobby Cooper, boxed Campbell and Gise.

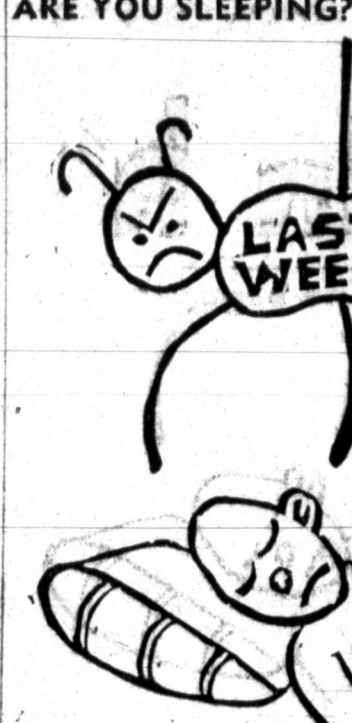

Volley Ball Girls Split Series With Borger

Pampa volleyball girls went to Borger two afternoons last week for practice games in preparation for the district meet and split the series with the Cardinals.

Wednesday the Harvestettes won four out of five games, with Martha Orr and Evadene Bennett leading the scoring. Scores were 15-8, 15-10, 14-18, 15-8, and 15-6.

Tuesday Borger defeated the Pampa girls three out of five games. Peggy Wilkinson was high point player for the Harvestettes. Scores were 8-15, 13-15, 8-15, 15-12, and 15-9.

Boxing Team Wins League Trophy As Five Harvesters Named Champs

Pampa High school's boxers won the team trophy in the Interscholastic league of the Panhandle Plains High School Boxing league held here last Friday night. Five Harvesters were declared champions of the league in their weight divisions: Canadian, Wellington, and LeFors each had two champions, while Stennis and Miami had one each.

In the tournament, winners in their weights in the north and the south divisions battled for the championship of the league. The north division was victor, taking 8 of the 13 bouts. Pampa, Stennis, and Canadian represented the north division; LeFors, Wellington, and Miami the south.

Coach Oscar Hinger had seven boys in the tournament, the largest number from any one school, and all two came through as winners. Johnny Campbell, Richard Stephens, L. V. McDonald, and Roy Ray won their fights, while James Carlisle won on a forfeit. Billy Gise and Kenneth Mullings lost their bouts.

Most of the fights were close, and several were won on split decisions of the judges. Two bouts were won by technical knockouts. About 1000 fans witnessed the fights, the largest crowd ever to attend a schoolboy boxing meet in Pampa.

Judges were C. E. McGrew and Paul Hill of Pampa and Oran Gross of Canadian. Referee was J. H. Duncan of LeFors. Ogden Stroud of LeFors announced the fights.

Results of the bouts, with north division entrants named first, follow: 65 pounds—White of Canadian defeated Ferguson of LeFors. 75 pounds—Campbell of Pampa defeated Osborne of LeFors. 85 pounds—Gise of Pampa lost to J. B. Shipman of LeFors. 95 pounds—Borger of Stennis lost to McKenney of Wellington. 105 pounds—Stephens of Pampa won on a technical knockout from Cobb of LeFors in second round. 115 pounds—Strother of Stennis defeated Kivshen of Miami. 125 pounds—McDonald of Pampa defeated Hughes of LeFors. 135 pounds—Ray of Pampa defeated Cook of Wellington. 145 pounds—Callaway of Canadian defeated Bowen of Wellington. 155 pounds—Bris of Canadian lost to Jack Shipman of LeFors. 165 pounds—Mullings of Pampa lost on a technical knockout to Thompson of Wellington. 175 pounds—Bussell of Canadian lost to Osborne of Miami. Heavyweight—Carlisle of Pampa won on a forfeit from Bruce of Miami.

To get out of Pampa Senior High school is my ambition," says 19-year-old Robert (Duvy) Duvall. He also wants to gain high rank in the U. S. navy. Robert has brown hair and blue eyes and is 6 feet, 1 inch tall. Archery, hunting, fishing, swimming, and collecting safety matches are his hobbies. He has had one year of tennis and is a member of F. F. A.

Eula Taylor, who is 17 years old, has attended Pampa schools for 11 years. She was a member of the pep squad during all three years in Senior High and has been a member of the Future Homemakers' club for two years. At present she is secretary of that organization. Last year she was in the cast of the contest play, "Mad Breakfast." She describes her outstanding interest as doing any and everything. Eula is not definite about attending college, but if she does go, her choice will be either Texas Tech or Texas State College for Women at Denton, where she will major in interior decoration.

A native Texan, 18-year-old Kenneth Kyle has attended Pampa schools for 11 years. "Skinner," a 6 foot, 2 inch lover of horses, played one year of Gorilla football and the following year was a member of the Harvester squad. He was a star cager on the 1939 basketball team. Kenneth wishes to attend Texas A. and M. when he graduates and expects to go out for the Aggie basketball team.

District P.-T. A. Speakers Include Cabe And Kelley

E. W. Cabe, Pampa supervisor of instruction, will open the seventh annual conference of the eighth district of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers to be held at Memphis next Wednesday with an address on "Education In Our Democracy," the theme of the conference. Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar of Pampa is president of the eighth district.

"One of the most outstanding addresses of the meeting will be made by Roy Hoffmeier of Houston," said Mrs. Cabe. "He is the county judge of Harris county and will speak on the subject 'Can We Do More to Prevent Juvenile Delinquency?'"

Harry Kelley, Pampa coordinator of diversified occupations will give an occupational survey at the conference. Mrs. Joe A. Wessendorf of Richmond, state president of the Parent-Teacher association, will be present at the conference.

Sagebrush

And now comes the weekly task of any reader of the Little Harvester, the thing that most people attempt to shun but always read anyhow because of their curiosity—the Sagebrush.

Betty Jean Tiemann is still talking about the wonderful time she had in Plainview at the contest. What's the matter, little Coed? Have you got "that old feelin'?"

Well, Pete Dunaway and Chief Carlisle have returned from a very successful trip to Kilgore Junior college. We knew you couldn't keep two good men down!

Hugh Anderson must like those seventh hour library classes. Any day Sage has seen him in there quite frequently, and for what other reason would he be attending this said class? Of course, Sage was just looking in the library, you understand.

While at a friend's house last week, Earl Bell walked out of the door to a very unexpected sight—his car was rolling downhill down the hill, finally stopping with the help of a tree in Mr. Elbert's yard. Say, Earl, have you tried anchoring it?

There was quite a flock of boys listening to the vocal exertions of some unfortunate person confined in the court house. Bill Ward said he'd go his bail if the man would sing in assembly!

Karl Rippeel created quite a sensation in the sixth hour chemistry class when he imitated a certain young lady. Boy, he was a wow!

Mrs. Sanford has learned that it pays to read recipes from a book rather than trust her memory. There was something about a cup of flour.

Jack Terrell and son Holloway have quite a wager between themselves. The trouble is, neither of them wants to win.

The one-act play was every bit as good as previous rumors said. Congrats, gals! An orchid to each one of you!

As the sun is sinking in the west, the Sage once more lays down his sorrowful formula: Don't resume his labor as a student of P. H. S. Believe it or don't!

Kelley's Diversified Occupation Class Has Weiner Roast

Sixteen diversified occupations students and their guests were entertained with a weiner roast recently on the Saunders ranch south of LeFors.

Those attending were Harry Kelley, Mrs. Kelley, Virginia Kelley, Martha Kelley, Venora Anderson, Hugh Anderson, Alberta Latus, Helen Harris, DeWitt Henry, James Foran, Norville Blake, Harry Jennings, Opal Moon, Clifford Bailey, Thomas Smith, Lois Benton.

Ag. Classes Visit Local Businesses

Two of J. L. Lester's agriculture classes visited local businesses related to their study last week. Third year boys visited the International and John Deere Farm Implement shops and show rooms. Those making the trip were Paul Barrett, Paul Crouch, Blaine Gaud, Claude Helton, Leonard Hollis, Oran Rake, Jerry Stroup, Billy Stockstill, Herndon Sloan, Wendell Stanley, and W. C. Epperson.

The second year class visited the Northeast dairy and the Gray County creamery. Boys making the trip were Junior Chesler, N. C. Carter, Wayne Giddens, George Giddens, L. J. Halter, Kenneth Mullings, Eddie Riley, Eugene Winget, John Rogers, and Eddie Couls.

"Playing checkers with my nose is my favorite pastime," says 18-year-old Jack Horner who has hazel eyes and dark hair. Stamp collecting is his hobby, tennis his favorite sport. He is in the boys' home economics class and likes it. Black and blue are his favorite colors. His ambition is to be an engineer or an accountant.

When asked about what honors and offices he held, Jack brightly remarked, "I was window monitor in the first grade."

Sixteen-year-old Carrie Jean Speed has attended Pampa schools since she was in the fourth grade. During her first year in high school, "Speedy" was a member of the pep

Play Wins First; Jeanne Lively Is Best Girl Actor

Peggy Williamson And Helen Dudley Lead Pampa Scoring

Pampa High school carried off the class honors in the district two of the Interscholastic league held last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, with Borger and Shamrock close behind.

Most of Pampa's 72 1/2 points toward the championship were won in curricular events. Two first places in tennis accounted for 10 points. No points are counted toward the championship in track and field events unless a school has placed as high as third in the entire track and field meet rather than in individual contests. An account of the athletic contests will be found elsewhere on this page.

In curricular events Pampa High won two first places, four second places, and tied for third (and tied for another), and two fifth places. Nine girls will be eligible to represent Pampa in curricular events at the regional meet in Canyon next Saturday.

Girls' Debate First. Helen Dudley and Peggy Williamson who defeated Borger and Shamrock team to win first place in girls' debate, led the scoring for Pampa, earning 20 points. The boys' debate team, Neil McCullough and Jack McPhedran, took second place, going to Borger, and added 15 points to Pampa's score. Both debate teams were coached by O. F. Shewmaker.

For the ninth time Pampa's one-act play took first place in the district. Directed by Kenneth Carman, the all-girl cast was composed of Jeanne Lively, Allene Beville, Vera Lee von Brunow, and Betty Plank. The play was "Overtones." Jeanne Lively was named the best girl actor in the meet. White Deer's play won second place, and Marysville's "Black and White Deer" was chosen the best boy actor.

No Points for Play. Although the Interscholastic league has longer and more detailed rules regarding the one-act play, the district, regional, and state meets, the play does not count any points toward the championship. Likewise typing and shorthand contests do not count anything toward the championship, although they are a part of county, district, regional, and state meets under Interscholastic league rules.

Shamrock took first place in both typing and shorthand. Donna Day of Pampa placed second in shorthand. Sybil Richards and Alice Marie McConnell were fifth in typing and shorthand respectively.

Jerry Smith and Aubrey Green both placed second in senior declamation. Second place in declamation counts 5 points toward the championship. Kelton school took first in the girls' division and Borger in the boys' division. Pampa placed second in junior boys' declamation, accounting for 5 points.

Perfect Spelling Paper. Bobby McClelland and Ellen Keough placed third in spelling. Pampa placed second in spelling from the state. Spelling does not count in the district meet, perfect papers being forwarded direct from county and city units to the state.

P. H. S. students entitled to go to Canyon next Saturday to participate in curricular events in the regional meet are Peggy Williamson, Helen Dudley, Jeanne Lively, Allene Beville, Vera Lee von Brunow, Betty Plank, Donna Day, Alice Marie McConnell, and Sybil Richards.

Economic War Boils Along the Danube

Support For Big Navy Bill Grows

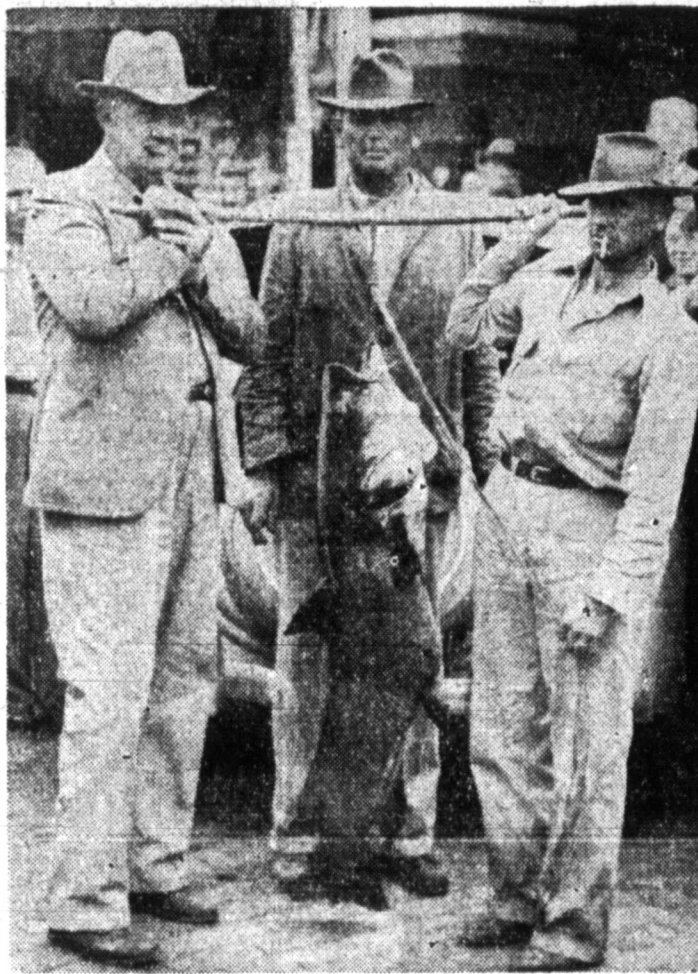

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Bipartisan support for a navy second to none was increasing in the Senate today, leading influential members to predict prompt approval of a $65,000,000 fleet expansion measure. The House bill authorizing a five-year schedule of funds for building 43 ships came before the naval committee for hearing (at 9:30 a. m., CST) high naval officers and a dozen civilians were asked to testify. Besides the authorization measure, the Senate will take up this week the $944,000,000 annual appropriation bill for the navy. Senator Byrnes (D-SC) predicted its approval without changes, despite an effort by Senator Adams (D-Colo.) to eliminate funds for one of two battleships proposed in the bill. Senator Bridges (R-NH), usually an administration critic, told reporters that "the naval program should be pushed to full expansion." He took issue with Adams' contention that battleship construction should be held up until experts could analyze the effectiveness of such vessels in the European war. Senator McCarran (D-Nev), another frequent opponent of the administration, asserted: "We must go ahead and build a navy that is second to none. Of course we could make the mistake of pushing the program to fast, but that would be a lot better than pushing it too slowly." Senator Connally (D-Tex) said that a "superior navy" was essential to American safety.

Gray county rated No. 1 place in the percentage of school students that have been given tuberculin tests, for the entire state, it was announced at the Texas Tuberculosis Association's 31st annual meeting, held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, at the Nueces hotel in Corpus Christi. The Gray County Tuberculosis Association rated another honor in receiving second place in publicity obtained, on a grading of county association scrapbooks. Green Denounces Lewis As Dictator

FLINT, MICH., April 15 (AP)—A scolding denunciation of John L. Lewis as a man harboring dreams of becoming dictator in the United States rang in the ears of General Motors workers today as they prepared for Wednesday's bargaining election. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, leveled the charge against the head of the rival union in a speech to workers here yesterday. "I charge," Green said, "that the leaders of the CIO today are secretly planning a political revolution comparable to the which made Hitler the dictator of Soviet Russia, a political putsch comparable to that which made Hitler the dictator of Germany." "I charge that this man, suffering from delusions of grandeur, is secretly desirous of becoming the dictator of the United States of America." Green challenged Lewis to explain why he was "threatening" to march the "under-privileged groups" into a third party unless it was to "ride into power as dictator of America with their support."

Wallace To Exert His Influence For Two Farm Issues

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Secretary Wallace will exert his influence, associates predicted today, to make campaign issues of two broad proposals for boosting farm income and easing farm debt burden. The proposals, whose sponsors hold small hope of their enactment at this session of Congress, are: 1. The marketing certificate plan, designed to boost prices of farm products to the "parity" goals of crop control legislation. 2. The Jones bill to authorize refinancing of farm debts on the basis of the land's productivity and to reduce interest rates from an average of 5.8 to 3 per cent. Agricultural leaders with whom Wallace has been working said he was likely to ask the democratic national convention to write these proposals into the party's platform if Congress adjourned without enacting them. Lettuce was introduced into England from Holland in 1520.

Rain In West Texas Tonight Forecast

(By The Associated Press.) Cloudy and colder with prospects for rain tonight in West Texas as the weather outlook for Texas today after a weekend respite from spring cold. Meanwhile, farmers in many southern sections ruefully checked up on frost-withered leaves, buds and plants as a result of last week's belated thrust of winter. Losses totalling millions of dollars for southern farmers, fruit and truck growers were estimated. Alabama's loss alone was estimated by Extension Editor P. O. Davis at "several million dollars." South Alabama's cotton, strawberry and Irish potato fields suffered particularly. Georgia's peach crop also was damaged to some extent—truck crops also were hit in some areas of that state. Nearly all the young cotton plants were killed in the Shreveport, La., area and, with rising temperatures, farmers hitched up their teams today to begin re-planting. Louisiana's fruit crops and truck, particularly potatoes, butterbeans and cowpeas, also were damaged. Losses to uncovered bean and tomato crops in Mississippi were estimated by Extension Editor F. J. Hurst to range as high as 30 per cent. Texas Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald placed the damage to the corn crop of his state at approximately 10 per cent, adding that some harm was done also to gardens and to the sorghum crop. Tennessee strawberries and peaches were nipped. Little damage was reported in Arkansas. The frost line barely touched North Florida and the rich vegetable areas of the state escaped the cold snap.

Time Limit Extended On Taking Of Census

Taking of the census in Pampa and the 17 counties of this district has not been completed. No one will be overlooked although the two-week deadline for taking the census in cities of 2,500 population or more has passed, Carroll Smyers, district supervisor, said today. In order to take a thorough census we are extending the time limit," Mr. Smyers said. "We are not conducting a speed test." At least 50 per cent of the total census of the district has been completed, Mr. Smyers said. Census taking in the larger cities is nearing completion. "We are still maintaining our record of not having a single person refuse to answer questions," Mr. Smyers said. "We have the best people in the world right here in the Panhandle. They know what the census means and they are cooperating in every respect."

Three Groups Of Horace Mann Meet In Stokes Home

A combined meeting of the Horace Mann Parent-Teacher executive board, room representatives, and study group was held in the home of Mrs. H. M. Stokes recently.

Following a brief business meeting, each room mother was presented a corsage as a token of appreciation for her work throughout the school year.

The study group was led by Miss Josephine Thomas, principal of the school, who gave excerpts from the A. A. S. A. convention which she recently attended in St. Louis.

They are as follows: "Any social order that denies to an adolescent boy or girl some measure of economic security and financial independence is badly organized," Charles H. Judd stated at the session.

"To keep in out of war, we must be strong enough to resist armed attack, strong enough to resist the attack of ideas. We need the armor of military power, the armor of physical health, the armor of religious belief, and the armor of love; abiding love, in our country, and in the American dream," William F. Russell, dean of the teachers college, Columbia University, continued.

"Let us prepare our children for controversy by training them soundly, by educating them efficiently. Let their school life be a period of calm, in order that they may with the same calm face the confusion and turmoil of later years."

"Young people cannot be taught to deal competently with controversial problems without being permitted actually to discuss such problems. You cannot expect to teach a person to swim entirely by exhortation, explanation, illustration, and examination. The learner must get into the water and practice the manipulation of his faculties," J. W. Studebaker, U. S. commission of education, pointed out.

Present were Mrs. H. H. Boynton, Thomas Clayton, E. N. Franklin, Claud Hippa, A. P. Stark, A. L. Carpenter, Robert Vaughn, L. M. Key, F. A. Hukill, C. E. Burba, M. G. Cassell, C. W. Hays, A. B. H. D. Reporters Have School In Office Of Agent

A Gray county Home Demonstration Council reporter's school was held Saturday afternoon in the office of the county agent, Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, with the chairman, Mrs. Luther Petty, presiding.

Mrs. Petty gave a few words of welcome and instructed the reporters and assistant reporters to be concise and prompt in getting their reports to the paper and in keeping two clippings, one to be sent to the chairman and one to be retained for the scrap book.

Mrs. Kelley, who was the principle speaker, gave a demonstration to be used as a sample report that all present were requested to write up. Mrs. Kelley said, "A reporter is urged to seek for information of the club members, then place such before the public in the way of reports." She also talked on the method of photography, saying, "Make your pictures natural with the people in action and do not look directly at the one who is taking the picture. Look in a picture, not out," she stated.

It was voted to change the date of the next reporter's school from July 13 to July 20.

Mrs. Kelley called a meeting of the 4-H girls and sponsors and discussed the encampment at which no visitors but the mothers of the club girls will be invited.

Eleven clubs were represented including members from the Women's and 4-H clubs with several visitors.

Even Germans Admit Allies In Control

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The sensational word of the landing of British expeditionary forces at several points on Norwegian soil means that the Allied success in the battle for Norway has increased and that they control the situation at this juncture.

The landings represent coordination with the almost unbelievable feat of the English in breaking through the dangerous, narrow waters of the Kattegat from the North Sea into Herr Hitler's own private Baltic Sea and mining it clear from Kiel to Lithuania.

The Allied efforts to oust the Germans from Norway will progress in such degree as the Anglo-French are able to sever Nazi communications with the north.

The mine-laying, while lacking the spectacular aspects of conflict attendant upon landing of troops in the face of enemy resistance, likely transcends in importance the landings themselves.

Indeed, it seems to me that it may prove to be one of the key-developments of the entire war.

This estimate must be qualified by the proviso that, pending further details, the mine-field is really the substantial affair which the British announcement indicates.

If you will glance at your maps you will see the significance of this is that the Anglo-French brotherhood couldn't carry out a major move of this sort without having at least temporarily seized control of both seas which wash Germany's northern coast.

This means that if the Allies are able to maintain the position of control they will have severed the Reich entirely from all direct communication with Scandinavia.

That would be a severe blow to Nazi hopes, signaling among other things the ultimate collapse of the occupation of Norway, to be followed by the establishment of an allied northern front to menace Hitler's right wing.

The development is all the more astonishing since it appears to indicate that Germany's powerful air-fleet either was drowned or had been driven to cover by Allied air-fighters. However, we will reserve judgment on that point until we get further details. What is evident is that there has been steady growing pressure against the Nazis from the Allied air-fleets. Coincident with the British landings the Germans have admitted that the enemy have established a naval blockade about the beleaguered northern port of Narvik—scene of bloody sea fighting during the past few days.

Meantime the Norwegians are organizing and have been harassing the invaders at various points. Allied bombing and naval operations have continued persistently up and down the coast.

All in all the Nazis would appear to be exemplifying the old oriental adage that he who rides a tiger finds it difficult to dismount.

If the Allies are able to maintain their apparent severance of the German lines of communication with Norway, the forces of occupation shortly will find themselves in a most unhappy predicament.

10,000 Homeless In Colon

COLON, Panama, April 15 (AP)—The wholesale destruction of retail stores in Saturday night's $4,000,000 fire today threatened this city with a general food shortage while a lack of labor and materials rendered any immediate rebuilding virtually impossible.

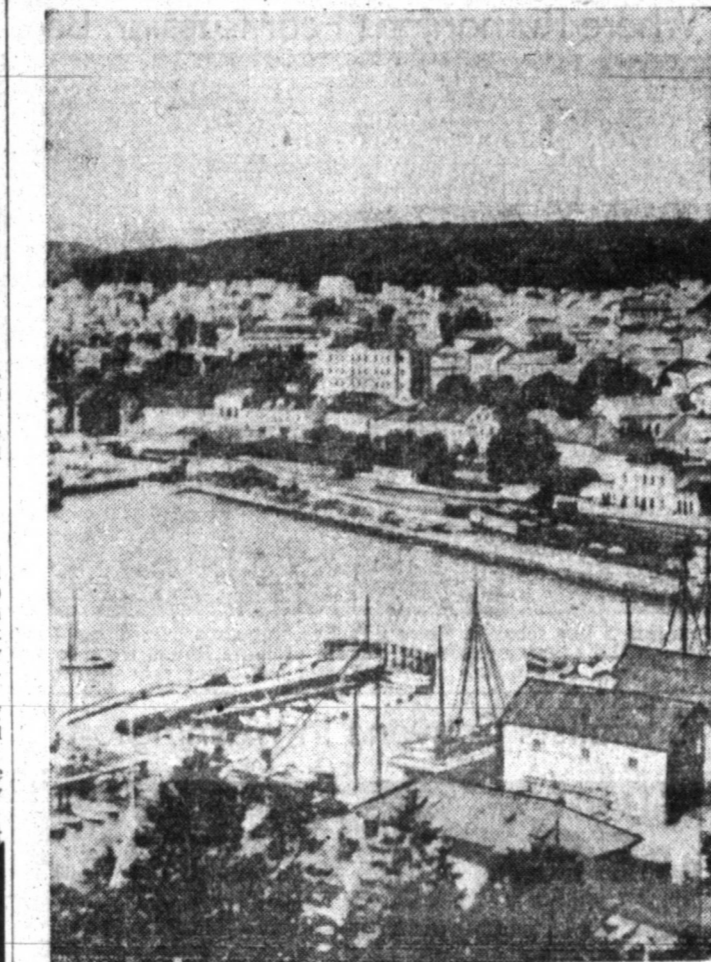

Meanwhile the entire Isthmus of Panama was mobilizing to lend aid to the more than 10,000 homeless. Canal Zone commissaries are furnishing food prepared in army field kitchens.

STRING ALONG WITH THESE

There are no strings to the romantically elegant style of these two hats, except the very charming ones used to tie them on. Slightly extreme, but ultra-smart is Legroux's "square box" hat (left), with white silk gauze streamers. Tailor's dramatic black lace straw halo creation (right) is trimmed with black veiling and lavender ribbons.

FRONT YARD BATTLE

The inhabitants of Narvik (above), important Norwegian port, were blasted from sleep at dawn by a naval battle in the city's "front yard," when British destroyers attacked German warships in the harbor. The German ships, protecting a landing force which had seized the city, repulsed the attack, sinking one British destroyer and forcing another around.

New Inexpensive Hats Defy Freckles

A new fed in lady's millinery is sweeping the Texas State College for Women campus. Designed with the practical idea of keeping freckles from marching across the wearer's nose when the hot Texas sun beams, the hats cost only slightly more than twenty-five cents each and were originated by Marian Gray of Little Rock, Ark., Jayne Ott of Fort Worth, and Josephine Kuykendall of Amarillo. A flexocore straw hat similar to the one worn by Mexican peons is soaked in water three or four minutes, shaped and set to quit the wearer's personality, and then finished off with suitable decoration.

'Prepared Peace' Urged By President

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—Terminating wars abroad "more horrible and destructive than ever," President Roosevelt said today the 21 American republics could keep open the way to eventual peace "only if we are prepared to meet force with force if challenge is ever made."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke before the governing board of the Pan American union on the observance of the organization's 50th anniversary and proclaimed a determination of the western hemisphere "to live in peace and make that peace secure."

In words broadcast throughout the nation and transmitted abroad by short wave, the President designated no belligerent by name when he used these words apparently directed at recent European developments.

"We of this hemisphere have no need to seek a new international order; we already have found it.

This was not won by hysterical outcries, or violent movements of troops.

"We did not stamp out nations, capture governments, or uproot innocent people from the homes they had built. We did not invent absurd doctrines of race supremacy, or claim dictatorship through universal revolution.

"The inter-American order was not built by hatred and terror. It has been paved by the endless and effective work of men of good will."

Mr. Roosevelt said "universal and stable peace remains a dream" and told his listeners to "have no illusions" at a time when "old dreams of universal empire are again rampant."

"In my conception," the president said, "the whole world now is struggling to find the basis of its life in coming centuries."

"We hear," he said, "of races which claim the right of mastery. We learn of groups which insist they have the right to impose their way of life on other nations. We encounter economic compulsions already devised to force great areas into political spheres of influence."

"All of this is not of mere academic interest. We know that what happens in the old world directly and powerfully affects the peace and well-being of the new.

"It was for this very reason that we have adopted procedures that enable us to meet any eventuality."

TROOPS LAND

by planes is causing little alarm to the British, it was said in London.

Neutral military experts expressed belief that the British intended to carry out systematic destruction of inland airbases and strafe water bases to prevent the landing of troops.

"At the same time," these sources said, "they feel that the Allied navies control the seas and can prevent what troops already are in Norway from obtaining heavy guns, mechanized equipment, ammunition and food."

The admiralty said that further reports from British submarines indicate that another two German transports have been sunk and that besides this a convoy of enemy transports was attacked in the Skagerrak when four torpedoes found their mark.

Fifteen airplanes from the British fleet, the admiralty added, made another attack on transports and aircraft in Bergen and "several hits were obtained."

"One transport was set afire, a small storehouse was sunk and one large flying boat was machine-gunned and burst into flames," the admiralty added. "One of our aircraft failed to return."

(In Berlin, Germany announced two more Allied submarines had been sunk, making a total of seven in recent days, and acknowledged that British air raiders had sunk a Nazi merchantman at Bergen.)

Peaceful is this scene in Rumania's Bessarabian province, but fearful were the war rumors that sped through the country following reports of large Soviet troop concentrations near Odessa, only 25 miles from Bessarabia's border. Russia has never relinquished its claim to the territory.

Socialists Convene in Washington

Twenty-three years after it protested U. S. entry into the World War, the Socialist party voted for complete isolation from the present war at its national convention in Washington. Prominent figures at the meeting were, left to right: keynoter Maynard Krueger, Univ. of Chicago professor; Travers Clement, national secretary; and presidential candidate Norman Thomas.

Allies' 1914 Circle Around Germany

World War allies almost completely ringed Germany and Austria-Hungary when conflict began in 1914. Even so, central powers were able to break through defenses to near victory with repeated assaults.

Scheer, the laying of a minefield barrier across Germany's Baltic backdoor, and other blows against German naval power.

The British also promised Sweden help if she suffers the same fate as her Scandinavian neighbors, Norway and Denmark, which were invaded by Germany last Tuesday to "protect" their neutrality.

The admiralty announcement concerning the Admiral Scheer, sister-ship of the ill-fated Admiral Graf Spee which was scuttled after a naval battle off South America last December, said she had been "successfully attacked" Thursday by the Submarine Spearfish.

No mention was made whether the 10,000-ton battleship was sunk, but the announcement said she probably had been hit by "more than one torpedo."

Wilson Attends Auditor's Meet

R. C. Wilson, county auditor of Gray, returned this morning from Houston where he attended the convention of the Texas Association of County Auditors, Mr. Wilson is secretary of the state organization, which is headed by P. L. Marouss, Wharton county auditor, president. The Gray county auditor left Pampa last Tuesday for the meeting.

The auditors meeting was held in conjunction with a convention of the National Association of County Officials, the two interlocking in various sessions.

Auditors convened Wednesday at the Rice hotel. Their convention ended Friday, while that of the county officials, opening the same day, ended Saturday.

Due to the two conventions being in progress at the same time, no election of officers was held. This business was postponed until October when a meeting will be held in Fort Worth. It had been originally planned to hold the auditors convention in Fort Worth, but the plan was changed in order to hold the meeting at the same place and time as that of the county officials association convention.

Present officers of the Texas Association of County Auditors will be carried over until the October meeting. The Gray county auditor, was elected secretary at a meeting held in Austin last May.

Attendance at the auditors conference was 100, at the county officials meeting, 600.

Borger Gassers Overwhelm Oilers 18 To 5

Visitors Run In All Scores In 3 Innings

Pampa baseball fans got their first look at the 1940 Oilers yesterday afternoon and they weren't a bit disappointed. The Oilers dropped an 18 to 5 game to the Borger Gassers but the visitors scored all their runs in the last three innings after Manager Grover Seitz had taken all but two of his first team out of the game in order that he might look at all his prospects under fire.

The starting nine Oilers held the Gassers sluggers to four scattered hits and no runs while bagging eight bingles, one a home run by Merle Adams of Chicago, off two Borger hurlers. Then Manager Seitz sent a full new team, excepting Malvica and Jordan, into the game and the Gassers took command of the situation.

Gus Hallberg, back from last year's team, started for the Oilers and allowed only two singles in three innings. Then Dale Lineback of Ideal, S. D., took over and gave up two hits in two innings. Lineback, a 200-pound righthander, showed an easy delivery with a nice fast ball. He's a rookie.

Home Run Pitches Third Oiler pitcher was Mosley who arrived Sunday morning from Fort Worth after an all night ride. A tall, slender youngster, Mosley threw control balls the opening inning but he became a little wild and started grooving the ball in his second stanza and Nell and Williams hit home runs, each with a man on base.

Mosley had not better luck on his next attempt and Ben Parrish, bought from Borger, took charge but was greeted with a barrage of base hits which mixed with a couple of errors, a hit batter and walks, let the Gassers go well in front.

Borger used Franklin, Hausman and Tysco, all of last year's mound staff. Of the three, Hausman showed the most stuff. He was the only pitcher to really curve the ball and his curve was breaking nicely.

Oilers Score Early The Oilers scored in the first inning when Fornasero got a double and scored on Sumner's double. Three more runs crossed the plate in the fourth. Summers tied out but Malvica came through with a double. Jordan singled and went all the way to third, Malvica scoring, when the Borger center fielder threw the ball past third. Then Adams bugy-whipped one over the deep center field fence. The big fellow, who stands loose at the plate, has plenty of wrist setting and might be the slugger needed to replace Gordon Nell, who wore a Borger uniform yesterday.

Borger got only four singles until the seventh when Nell and Williams parked home runs, each with a man on base due to a walk and error, which would have retired the side. None of the runs would have counted in a league game because a Borger player threw his arm around Nell's neck as he went to third and Peterson, playing first for the Oilers, held the ball long enough to step off the bag. He was removing the ball from his glove when he dropped it. But it was only an exhibition game and no one minded because fans like to see hits and runs.

Adams Looks Good The Gassers continued to hit the ball far and often the rest of the way as Manager Seitz watched his rookies in action. Williams, second baseman, led the hitters with a home run, double and two singles. Nell followed with a home run and two singles.

It's too early to pick a team yet but the work of Merle Adams, both at first and in the outfield, was encouraging. Peterson, who relieved the big Chicagoan at first, also looked impressive. Ballard, at second, came up with a couple of nice stops. In the outfield Potter, a Chicago boy who started the season at third base, was a definite prospect. He came up with the prize play of the day when he raced back to first to take the opening hit of the game.

Big Catcher Lively Cadwell, giant catcher, showed plenty of pep and his arm accounted for two outs, one at second and one at third. He also snagged a hard foul fly and crashed into the stands splintering a two by four while after a foul. Mendoza, at second, will be watched some more. He didn't have a chance after relieving Ballard. Hughes, pinch hitter, bagged a double on his only appearance. Mueller, in center, made a couple of nice catches.

A mighty good looking boy was Neer of Chandler, Okla., but he will have to be released because of a football hip which causes him to limp.

Yesterday in Amarillo the Amarillo Gold Sox beat St. Joseph, Mo., 30 to 11 in a freak game. Amarillo scored 20 runs in the opening inning.

On Friday and Saturday of this week St. Joseph, Mo., will be here for games. The official season will

Missions Setting Texas League Pace

(By The Associated Press) The San Antonio Missions are setting the pace in the Texas league after nosing out the Tulsa Oilers 9-8 yesterday with four runs in the eighth inning. It was the Missions' second win for their two starts of the season.

The eighth inning rally was based on three hits and an error in the left field by Platt. The two clubs clash again tonight. It took a home run by Buster Chatham in the tenth inning to keep the Fort Worth Cats in front as they defeated the Beaumont Exporters 3-1. The Cats, Dixie series champions, accounted for 13 hits as their hurler, Otto Nicholas, bested Hal Manders on the mound. The teams remain at Beaumont for today's game.

In another day game today, Oklahoma City Indians tackle the Shreveport Sports in the Louisiana city after the Oklahomans went down to defeat yesterday, 10-1, before the hurrying Jackie Reid, veteran righthander. Reid scattered nine singles. The Houston Buffs and the Dallas Rebels play again in Houston tonight after the Buffs trimmed the visitors in the series opened yesterday 8-2.

Reapers Scrimmage To Be Held Tuesday

First spring football scrimmage will be held at Harvester park at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when the Junior High Reapers stage an intra-squad scrimmage. No admission will be charged and fans are invited to see the future Harvesters in action.

Coach C. P. McWright and a corps of assistants have been working about 35 Reapers for two weeks. He believes they are now ready to stage a big scrimmage. Starting lineups have not been announced. Coach McWright plans to divide his boys, placing some of his best prospects on each eleven. The coach won't have any backfield troubles, according to early appearance of his ball toters, but his line is likely to give him worry.

clubs in our league are stronger. We've helped ourselves behind the plate with Ben Warren. I believe our pitching has improved and our infield tightened with Schulte on second."

Connie Mack, Philadelphia Athletics: "I'm quite satisfied the Athletics will be much stronger this season than last, although I can't predict where we'll finish. Certainly McCoy has strengthened us at second and Rubeling at third."

Del Baker, Detroit Tigers: "I expect the Tigers to return to the first division this year. This opinion is based on the assumption that Charley Gehring will be able to play second base for us."

Bucky Harris, Washington Senators: "We have one of the fastest teams I have ever seen. It will hit, too, but not many home runs. However, when you have as much speed as we have you don't miss the power too much. If our pitching holds up we've got a good team."

Oscar Vitt, Cleveland Indians: "At no time have I had the entire squad in shape to play at the same time. . . . How can I make predictions about a team that, in a sense, I haven't seen? We're not ready in the way I'd like the club to be ready this close to the opening game."

Leo Durocher, Brooklyn Dodgers: "I'm not making a pre-season prediction on my team or any other team in the National league. But I will say this: It has hustle, not luck, that gave the Dodgers third place last year and we'll be the same hustling club this year."

Bill Terry, New York Giants: "The Giants are going to be right in the fight. We have only average power, but great pitching, speed and a snappy defense."

Cappy Stengel, Boston Bees: "We have a young and ambitious ball club, but it's too early to tell how they'll be in every department. If the pitching holds up we may be able to do a whole lot better than anyone expects us to."

Merchant Announces For Rail Commission

AUSTIN, April 15 (AP)—J. D. Copeland, Jr. Austin merchant and former examiner for the Oil and Gas division of the Railroad commission, today announced his candidacy for the place on the commission held by Lon A. Bobby Riggs Seeded No. 1 In Tourney

By WILLIAM T. RIVES HOUSTON, April 15 (AP)—Chicago's Robert Riggs, the world's prize tennis player, and 85 other good-and-bad netters swarmed over River Oaks' ten courts today, hoping to be in the select list of 32 remaining after the first round.

Riggs was seeded No. 1, but the history of the ten-year-old tournament is packed with upsets, and the fact he has failed in two previous essays here added fuel to the argument that his chances might be no better than those of several other players.

In his River Oaks debut in 1937, Riggs was rudely flattened by Walter Senior, the San Francisco stylist, and the following year, when he was ranked No. 2 nationally behind Donald Budge, he was polished off by Ernie Sutter of New Orleans.

His latest conqueror, Tom Kelly of Portland, Ore., is entered in the River Oaks tourney, but is conceded no chance of beating Riggs outdoors. Kelly trimmed the national champion in the western indoor meet at Chicago recently.

Riggs was expected to have little difficulty in winning his first-round match in the late afternoon today from David Peden, a local player.

Seeded behind Riggs, in order, are Elwood Cooks of Portland, Ore.; Bryan ("Bitsy") Grant of Atlanta, Frank Guernsey of Rice Institute, defending and national intercollegiate champion, Edward Alloo of San Francisco; Charles Hare, No. 2 in Great Britain, and Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla.

Adding spice to the meet was the entry of Dr. Homer P. Rainey, president of the University of Texas, in the veterans' doubles.

Uruguayan industrialists have formed a cotton-growing company and will erect a $1,150,000 yarn factory.

SERIAL STORY

K. O. CAVALIER BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Val tries to thank Eddie for saving her, but she remains cold. She even offers to release him from the crew when the ship makes port. Back in San Francisco, Promoter Sam Golden is trying to explain to sports writers, when word comes that Eddie's opponent has sprained his ankle.

CHAPTER XVI

THERE was mild commotion in Sam Golden's office when the promoter made his announcement. They leaped upon him at once. When... how bad was Massini hurt... would he be able to fight... what did the doctor say...?

Sam held up his hands in an effort to stop the torrent of words that were being fired at him. "Boys, boys, give me a chance to breathe," he pleaded. "It's bad. The docs say Massini went and twisted one of them fancy ligaments, or something, and he won't be able to fight for maybe two months."

Sam mopped his bald head again. "And with that advance gate," he moaned, "this is getting to be a hell of a business."

They were relentless. They had to have a story. One of them already had a death clutch on the telephone to call his paper.

"I can't cancel," Sam wailed. "I can't. I'll never get Cavalier here again."

Suddenly he rushed to the phone. "Wait! I got an idea. I'm gonna call the champ. I think I got an out."

SAM was lucky. In five minutes he was talking to the champ's manager in New York. When he was through he slumped back in his seat, completely spent.

"Well, boys, here it is and it's a swell yarn, too. We're bringin' in Corky Briggs from Chicago. He's available and in shape. An' what's more, the champ says he'll give Cavalier a whack at him if he beats Briggs."

"Jumpin' Jupiter!" one of the reporters howled. "Corky Briggs isn't a middleweight any more. He's been fighting as a light-heavy for three months now and he's climbing fast!"

Sam shrugged. "I know it, but what can we do? I ain't got no alternative. So Cavalier'll have to give away eight, nine pounds, or so. It's his business, not mine, if he wants that title shot."

He looked at his watch. "That mud scow of theirs gets into Prince Rupert in a few hours. I'm gonna wire Duffy now he gets ashore. Now scram, you guys, and let me have my headache in peace."

They left him with a rush and Sam Golden reached for the remnants of the bottle of whisky.

SPARKS sent Sam Golden's wire down to Duffy Kelso a couple of hours later. "Call me immediately you find a telephone," he read out loud. "That sounds like Sam Golden," Duffy said. "He must be up in the air like a kite, only higher."

Duffy stared at the message again, suspiciously. "I don't like the smell of this," he said. "Well, the nearest telephone is still three hours away. Meanwhile, keep your blood below the boiling point," Val advised him. "You might want to get up a full head of steam later when you put your call through."

"What's up, do you wonder?" Pop asked her when he got her alone. But Val had no better idea than they did.

It was late afternoon when the Northern Belle nosed slowly up the channel toward Prince Rupert. "We'll be picking up a pilot soon," Val observed. They were leaning against the rail up forward, letting the cool breeze fan back into their faces.

"How long before we dock?" Eddie asked.

"Couple of hours at least," she looked at him sideways. "Can't wait until you rid yourself of us, can you?"

He shrugged and stared at the curling wake of white which speared away from the bow.

"It was your offer, remember. What do you expect me to do under the circumstances? Duffy probably will keep out of sheer happiness."

He had something there, she admitted to herself. What did she expect? Could there be any earthly reason why he'd give up a quick trip back to San Francisco instead of a four-day voyage.

Was that what she wanted? That was a troublesome thought, too. She stole a glance at the dark, rugged profile beside her. There was something slightly incongruous about it. That sensitive mouth, maybe, Eddie Cavalier didn't have the mouth you'd expect to find on a boxer. Strange she should be catching herself thinking of little things like that.

So she let her mind wander a bit. She thought of some of the other men she had known. A couple of them she had liked. There was Marshall Kendall. Handsome, impetuous Marshall Kendall who didn't have to work a day of his life if he didn't care to, but who was haphazardly trying to learn the brokerage business. Marshall and his house on Long Island and his yacht.

There was Rodney Blair, a human dynamo if ever there was one. So wrapped up in his law business that he had no time to relax. She could like Rodney Blair a lot if only he would unbend a little more. He had already asked her to marry him.

Yet she knew she could never fall in love with either Marshall or Rodney. She couldn't ever marry a type, and that's what they were. If and when she did fall in love it would be with someone more refreshing. Someone with purpose and spirit.

The question forced in her mind without her being conscious of it. Someone like Eddie Cavalier? No, she told herself, it could hardly be Eddie... could it?

BUT when he spoke, suddenly, at her side she started visibly. "I guess we're picking up the pilot here," he observed. He was right. In a little while they were in Chatham Sound and nosed toward their dock.

The gangway had hardly been moored fast when Duffy Kelso was scrambling down. Pop Grimes leaned on the rail and watched him. "He'll fall flat on his face, sure," he said dryly. "I almost did when I stepped on land after my first sea trip."

But Duffy made it without accident. He found a waterfront restaurant with a pay station and put his call through.

Duffy Kelso ran all the way back to the ship. He was raging and sputtering so much he could hardly talk.

First thing Pop did was remove the cigar from his mouth. "Maybe this'll make it easier," he said. "We been jobbed again!" Duffy screamed. He told them what had happened in San Francisco.

"That's bad," muttered Pop. "I dunno whether we can give away pounds like that—especially to a tough one like Corky Briggs."

"We ain't got no choice," Duffy said. "C'mon, we're gettin' back to Frisco in a hurry."

"Just a minute," Eddie said quietly. "I've changed my mind. We're going back to Frisco the same way we came."

Pan American Relations Good

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Relations between the United States and its 20 neighbors to the south never have been better than on this 50th anniversary of the Pan American union, the permanent link among them.

To commemorate the occasion, President Roosevelt accepted an invitation to address the union (at 11 a. m. CST).

Although a major controversy with Mexico over the expropriation of oil properties appeared a possibility, officials here said that, on the whole, they were well satisfied with the international conditions in the new world.

The seven and a half months of the European war have served to bring the republics of the Western Hemisphere closer together. The dedication of Panama, creating the Western Hemisphere neutrality zone, has given these nations a common aim—keeping Europe's war at arm's length.

The republics are joining in common protests against each violation of the zone.

The war is bringing the Americas closer together economically. Cut off from a portion of Europe's markets, they are seeking to extend trade among themselves.

Congress has just authorized an increase of $100,000,000 in the loan possibilities of the export-import bank, into which Latin American republics may dip to finance improvement.

All told, Washington is witnessing a great surge of activity toward peace and cooperation among the pan American nations at a moment when the old world is torn by strife.

Deputies Save Life Of Drunken Driver

DALLAS, April 15 (AP)—Thanks to Deputy Sheriffs, an incubated motorist went to jail tonight in place of the morgue. He had driven his car onto the Katy railroad tracks two miles south of here.

He bumped along the ties for 150 feet before all casings blew out. Deputy sheriffs boosted the car off the rails a moment before a fast train (Burlington Zephyr) whizzed by.

Plains Wind Beaches Carp

SUCAR CITY, Colo., April 15 (AP)—A stiff wind blew some of Lake Meredith's waters up onto the prairie today, and when the blow stopped farmers gathered 30 truck-loads of carp left by the receding water and planted them in their cornhills as fertilizer.

Lake Meredith is a shallow body of water about four miles long and a half mile wide in southeastern Colorado's one-time dust bowl.

What Is Propaganda?

We hear a great deal about foreign propaganda these days. We will hear a great deal more. Even certain committees of Congress have heard about it.

There is no general agreement on what is propaganda. But with sly Irish humor, a certain writer in the Dublin Opinion has set forth a definition which seems fit to stand for all time. It is:

Propaganda is the other side's case put so convincingly that it annoys you.

The next time you hear the cry of "Propaganda!" it might be a good idea to repeat inside yourself that inclusive little definition. For a certain humorist is always the best defense against being unduly influenced by propaganda, the other fellow's, or even our own.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, April 15—Don't overlook Congressman Lee Geyer's bill to abolish the poll tax. It has some far-reaching political possibilities.

The tax exists in eight states—Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Texas. Geyer estimates that it disfranchises 60 per cent of the whites and 90 per cent of the Negroes in that area. What knocking it out might mean is illustrated by this:

A southern congressman flagged him the other day and said: "Lee, you aren't really going to push that bill, are you?"

"Sure," said Geyer. "Why not?"

"Why not? Why, because a lot of us will lose our jobs if it passed. We'd have to build our machines all over again, from the ground up."

VOTING LIGHT IN SOME DISTRICTS

Citing election returns and census figures, Geyer argues that some of the most influential men in Congress actually represent only a fraction of the electorate in their districts. Average congressional district contains somewhere between 240,000 and 300,000 people; in an ordinary northern district, the total vote in a non-presidential election will run from 70,000 to 120,000.

But here are the votes cast in the 1938 elections in the home districts of important poll-tax-state congressmen:

- Sam Rayburn, majority leader—16,877.
Hatton Sumners, chairman of the judiciary committee—10,889.
Eugene Cox, untitled boss of the rules committee—5137.
Marvin Jones, chairman of the agriculture committee—19,048.
William Whittington, chairman of flood control committee—2172.
CLAIMS BILL AIMED AT POOR WHITES

Geyer put his bill into the hopper last summer, managed to get hearings on it before a subcommittee of the judiciary committee just recently. He has been getting help from representatives of the liberal Southern Conference on Human Welfare.

Poll tax came into being in most of the eight states ostensibly as a means of disfranchising Negroes, but actually—according to Geyer—to make the poor whites behave. In all of these states but Tennessee, he says, there are educational tests in the election laws which would keep Negroes from voting. Also, in all of these states, the poll tax is embedded in the state constitution and hence can't be removed by the legislature.

BILL HAS MANY OBSTACLES

Getting the bill to a vote is apt to be tough. The subcommittee now holding hearings on it reports to the judiciary committee—whose leader, Congressman Sumners, is highly unlikely to send it any farther. Getting a rule from Congressman Cox will be equally tough. Getting any help from Majority Leader Rayburn won't be simple, either. In the end, Geyer will probably have to circulate a petition to discharge the bill from committee.

The Nation's Press

WHERE CRITICS WERE SILENCED (Daily Oklahoman)

Convincing proof that the city's educational payroll has been padded for years and that it still is padded excessively is just one more reminder that one can get away with murder if the murderer is committed in the name of education.

We have had more than hints that our educational system has been conducted with reckless extravagance. We have had repeated charges that money was being wasted wantonly. But everyone who repeated the hint or made the charge speedily found himself in a civic home's nest. Everyone who dared to criticize or to offer a remedial suggestion was immediately branded as an enemy of our schools. Not until our educational system had supplied the monumental scandal of the city's history was it all safe to even hint that there was anything wrong with our schools.

Now it develops that our schools have employed at one time 216 more teachers than the needs of the schools required and that the schools still have 147 more teachers than are necessary. As direct results of this deliberate payroll padding there has been a shortage in the school budget, a constant threat that the schools might be closed prematurely, and teachers have been required to teach several weeks of the school year without pay.

And all the time that devoted teachers were facing the threat of salary cuts and actually giving weeks of their professional service for nothing the lack of funds to operate the schools full time on a cash basis was due directly to the wanton squandering of funds rather than to any lack of revenue. Our trouble has not been due to any lack of money; it has been due entirely to the squandering of the money collected.

But let us remember that the faultless ones and the blameless ones in this unsavory transaction have been the teachers of the city. They are not to blame for the padding of the payroll, but they have been the chief sufferers. It has been their

A contributor contends that because the Supreme Court ruled the Wagner law was a fundamental right, that this is final authority. But the Supreme Court, in its original decision, sustaining of the law overlooked the fact that the Wagner law set aside the universal right of every person recognized even before government was established—of every individual having the right of defending his person and the fruits of his labor; that this is the only right any liberal government ever can have. When it does the opposite, as the Supreme Court did in sustaining the Wagner law, then the government is becoming an ally of oppression and not a defender of natural rights.

The contributor also infers that because 105 cases passed on by the Courts, just one of the Labor Board's decision was decided against the Board, is evidence of the fairness of the Board. But the contributor fails to tell the public that under the Wagner law the Labor Board has a right to make decisions if supported by evidence. The Labor Board is not required, as in every other court, to be governed by the preponderance of evidence. It can decide a case on the testimony of one witness and disregard the testimony on the other side of a hundred responsible witnesses. In every criminal case, the evidence must be submitted to prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. In the Wagner law, it is not necessary to prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, but the Labor Board is sustained by the courts if there is any evidence on the one side, no matter how much evidence is on the other.

So it is no wonder it is practically impossible to reverse the Labor Board's decision in the Supreme Court. This makes the Board the OGPU in the United States. They are never reversed in Russia.

And, yet, the contributor contends that the Wagner law is beneficial to mankind.

The contributor contends that the fact that no advocate of collective bargaining has ever been able to answer the question—to write a rule or principle whereby labor can be selected other than by hiring the most work for the least money—is a dead cat.

It certainly is not logical to disregard the only rule that can be interpreted between employer and employee and attempt to go by wishes that cannot be governed by any principle conceived by man.

And to discard a principle that preserves equality of rights for every man to create and enjoy and not be able to write any other principle other than to leave it up to the arbitrary will of a Board, is to return to despotism of the dark ages. Only an irresponsible person would attempt to cross an ocean before he could picture in his mind a practical way of overcoming the laws of gravity. So it seems absurd to try to hire and discard the only rule that has produced more prosperity than any other. The advocates of collective bargaining, when they cannot give a rule to be used in its place are certainly acting like children or people who need a guardian.

Look at Results

When each man was able more nearly to sell his services to the world's highest bidder, we had the greatest prosperity of any country in all the world. And it was due to this right to make mistakes, this right to judge, of every individual—instead of turning this right of the pursuit of happiness over to an arbitrary board—that we had this great prosperity. It is largely because we have turned this right to choose over to the government and/or labor leaders to a greater degree than ever before that we have the worst and longest depression in our history. And, unless we more nearly return to this right that gives each and every individual an equal right, we will continue to have unemployment and a lower and lower standard of living.

ACADEMIC FREEDOM PLEA

Every time any college professor cannot get a position and have the public or an endowed institution pay him to spread his ideas to the world at public expense, he raises a hue and cry of academic freedom.

He seems to forget that the individual, whether it be the endowment of a few or the tax supported institutions of all who work, have certain rights.

If the worker, under the guise of majority rule, is compelled to pay and have his children study what some inconsistent college professor believes is right, then the individual has lost all freedom.

Academic freedom really means the right to write and teach at your own expense, or at the expense of any one who is willing to endow the propagator. It does not include the right to coerce unwilling supporters to pay to let a man teach whatever he sees fit to teach.

If academic freedom were carried to the final degree, the individual would have no rights whatsoever.

After these college professors are on the payroll at the head of state colleges, they seem to forget the rights of the individual and think that they are the only ones who have any rights.

calamity rather than their crime that they have been employed under a system whose improvidence has made it impossible to pay the teachers an adequate wage and even to pay all that has been promised them.

If the same expert survey that has revealed this educational delinquency were extended to all the schools of the state, we have no doubt that considerable payroll padding would be uncovered. For this evil has reached a maximum in most departments of government in recent years. It has been popular to add to official payroll just as many citizens as possible. In many instances the people have demanded the employment of the maximum number. Excessive official employment has been an accepted means of combating depression. There is no doubt at all that many a yawning budget could be balanced if all agencies of government would employ no more people than they actually need.

In any event we need no sacred cows in any department of government. No system that is supported by taxation and administered politically should be looked upon as untouchable. Much of the criminality and waste that has stained our city schools might have been prevented if it had not been for the popular custom of denouncing as enemies all our schools all of those who dared to suggest any improvement in our educational systems.

NOW, MORE THAN EVER

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, April 14—All over the lot: Picture making is a gamble in itself, but no studio ever gambled on a horse race until 20th-Fox began to produce "Maryland." This is in Technicolor and is something like "Kentucky" only father and son and it deals in fox-hunting and steeple-chasing.

The climax is provided by the Maryland Hunt Cup Race, an event which actually will take place on April 27. The studio will photograph the real thing and use part of the film in the picture. But the horse that has been photographed at the studio as the race winner is a bay, and if a white horse captures the cup this month, a number of costly scenes are going to have to be re-shot in Hollywood. (In the dust and lather of a four-mile race, bays, blacks and chestnuts look about the same, but a white or gray winner would spoil everything.)

WEBER AND FIELDS STILL IN TRIM

Joe Weber and Lew Fields live in Hollywood but don't play in many pictures these days. They've been partners 63 years, won't work separately, and insist upon doing their famed type of heavily accented comedy. So there are not many jobs for them.

But "Lillian Russell" was a natural. After all, Weber and Fields knew the actress well and presented her at their music hall. So they were hired for the picture and slated to play their comic pinocchio game. Director Irving Cummings thought he'd have to spend at least a day many pictures these days. They've cast. The old dialecticians, who are 72 and 73, whipped through their lines and business like a couple of Paul Muni after a month's rehearsal. Cummings blinked, and clicked it again for safety, then fired off a flock of close-ups and angle shots. Alice Faye and Henry Fonda were recalled for work right after lunch.

I can't seem to keep away from Cecil DeMille's "North West Mounted Police" set. Either in temper or fun, the Old Master always manages to provide a laugh. His well-drilled troop of mounties reported the other day for some parade and inspection shots, and they wore new uniforms with the trimmest and tightest of blue pants. Ordered to mount, all but two or three found the pants so tight they couldn't lift foot to stirrup.

Nearly everyone laughed at the disorder, but DeMille didn't. He watched for a minute, then screamed into the public address system: "Well, what the hell are you going to do—get bigger pants or teach the horses to kneel like camels?"

PLAN TO BETTER "MY SON, MY SON"

Movie producers are never satisfied unless they're toping each other. Edward Small made "My Son, My Son," and then RKO came along with "Three Sons." Now 20th-Fox is readying "Four Sons."

Actor Charlie Brown was hamming a bit between scenes on the "Brother Orchid" set. "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players," he recited. "They have their exits and their entrances; and one man in his time plays many parts."

"If he has a good agent," remarked Edward Robinson.

People You Know

One reason why boxing went over in LeFors this year was a young man with a mellow voice and a cultured accent—Ogden Stroud, public speaking teacher in the LeFors high school. Mr. Stroud has a dignified voice, an exciting way of saying things, and good English seems to come natural to him. After Mr. Stroud was one big reason why the dog show went over yesterday. He announced it over the public address system. Mr. Stroud is an ideal announcer as far as this one is concerned because when he would give him information in garbled, ungrammatical English, Mr. Stroud would immediately begin translating it into beautiful English, and often we'd think to ourselves, "so that's what we told him to say!" But there's a reason for Mr. Stroud's voice and good English. He has a bachelor of arts degree from West Texas State college, and a master of arts degree from the University of Texas, and a master's degree from the last named school really means something! Mr. Stroud came to LeFors the middle of last school term. His parents live at Canyon. He is unmarried.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

By RICHARD ARTHUR BOLT M. D., D. P. H. Secretary, Maternal and Child Health Section of American Public Health Association

The education of fathers in maternal and child hygiene has been sadly neglected. Children today may be taught to read without first learning the alphabet, but expectant fathers for the most part need to learn the ABC's of becoming a good father. Doctors have not reported any cases of prospective fathers lost from causes connected with pregnancy although nervous exhaustion and even fainting have been known to occur. But it is recognized now that expectant fathers have needs for instruction. They should be informed as to what to expect of their wives and how they may be of help before and after the baby comes. Here then are a few of the ABC's for expectant fathers:

A.—Attention to details is all important. Study your wife's needs. You can be a real help as a kind, cheerful and considerate husband, encourage her to take the proper amount of rest, recreation and exercise and the diet prescribed by her physician.

B.—Be prepared for any emergency. You can be very helpful in making hospital arrangements or in carrying out any details necessary for home confinement. While pregnancy in most women is a normal process, it is a delicate balance between the functions of the prospective mother and the unborn child. This balance may be upset by an infectious disease, food accidents and even by emotional outbursts such as anger, grief, or great joy. You should be on the lookout for any unfavorable signs or symptoms which occur and report them promptly to your doctor.

C.—Consult a competent physician skilled in obstetrics as early as your wife lets you into the secret that some day you are to be a proud father. It is advisable for you to visit the doctor with your wife and note carefully the directions he gives. Take the doctor into your confidence. It is desirable for the expectant father as well as the mother to have a thorough physical examination including a blood test. Your doctor may want a sample of your blood to check with that from your wife. In this way he tries to rule out any serious blood disease and also type your blood should it be necessary to furnish blood for your wife in case of emergency.

Having a baby is a joint affair after all and the expectant father should be made aware that he has certain responsibilities for the welfare of the mother, for which he should be fully prepared.

Actor Captured 89 Germans At Whack

DALLAS, April 15 (AP)—You should say at first glance that the big fellow with the square jaw and pug-nacious nose was a top sergeant.

He looks like a top sergeant, he talks like a top sergeant, he acts like a top sergeant. And, coincidentally, he was a top sergeant in the world war.

His name is Elmer Guthrie and he captured so many Germans they gave him a bushel basket of medals. After the war he became a top-flight wrestler, once claiming the light heavyweight championship of the world.

Guthrie is looking forward to negotiations toward re-enactment of his exploits in the movies. Right now he's getting acting experience in the role of top sergeant in a Dallas American Legion play.

He might have already been adept at acting had he not deserted wrestling ranks just when the boys started all this "showmanship" stuff.

Guthrie is credited with capturing 89 Germans at one whack. He barely lost the title "The greatest civilian soldier of modern times" to famed sergeant Alvin C. York when general John J. Pershing started picking his heroes after the war.

He went across with Company E, 353rd infantry of the all-Kansas 8th division, serving more than 21 months in the war.

He won the distinguished service cross of the United States, the croix de guerre of France, the distinguished service order of England and the medal for military valor of Italy.

The husband became even wilder, insisting that she did too have appendicitis. "Well, she can't have!" the doctor shouted. "I took her appendix out three years ago, and I never heard of anyone having two appendices."

FDR Ends Ninth Term In Grid Banquet

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Fourteen candidates for president ate heartily Saturday night with the gridiron club—and then had a nightmare.

They saw a vision of a white-bearded Franklin D. Roosevelt winding up his n-n-n-h term as president with nothing left to do: "No more precedents to break—his broken arm all." "No more money to spend—his spent it all."

"No more appointments to make—everybody's working for the government."

He can't even take a vacation any more—there's nothing to take a vacation from. But as a white-bearded Secretary Morgenthau explained in song, some things remained unchanged: "Though your hair has turned to silver."

Nothing else has changed its hue. For the budget's still unbalanced and the Democrats are, too. Through the years with you we wander.

In a rosy cloud we're led—You are still the same old Franklin. And we still are in the red!

A well-stared company of statesmen, diplomats and business executives, led by the president himself, watched the show as the newspapermen's club unfolded its semi-annual take-off on politics.

Chief Justice Hughes, just turned 78, broke his no-social-life regime to attend, and six associate justices joined in the fun.

Vice-President Garner violated his bed-at-nine rule to watch the show, and every other leading candidate for the presidency was on the guest list, too.

They saw the GOP (Grand Old Photography Co.) trying out actors to play "Scarlet O'Rourke" in "On With the Wind," which they hoped would be the greatest box office attraction of history.

Herbert Hoover wanted them to try him out, and called the movie "Bert Hoover Runs in Again," but Alf Landon remarked: "Oh, oh. This is where I came in." First candidate was Robert Taylor Taft, who sang:

"After a Roosevelt you need a Taft. Close the window on the third term draft. I want a job just like the job they gave to dear old dad."

Then came Mickey Dewey of New York ("Another kid star"). He sang: "N'ya N'ya N'ya, The wonderful boy, N'ya N'ya you can't catch me, N'ya N'ya I'm the pretty boy Where's that White House Key?"

Next, James Cagney Vandenberg sang "The Man on the Flying Trapeze." "He's doing his best all the voters to please. While the office is seeking the man (That's me)!"

At that point, the four Marx brothers walked in — Groucho Bridges of New Hampshire ("If we waited for an invitation we never would get in this show"), Harpo Martin of Massachusetts ("He can't talk. He's either awful dumb or awful smart"), Chico Bricker of Ohio, and Zeppo Gannett of New York ("I don't know how he got in myself").

Hoover said: "Scram. We tried comedy before." A telegram from "the board of directors"—Pierre du Pont of Delaware, Charlie Hilles of New York and Joe Pew of Pennsylvania—reminds the movie-makers that the casting must be done at Philadelphia on June 24 (date of the Republican convention), and they join in singing "Philadelphia Here We Come."
