Holmes-Smith Married At Gail

Kathryn Elizabeth Holmes became the bride of James Edgar Smith, Jr., in a 3 P.M. ceremony performed Saturday in the First P.Baptist Church of Gail. Rev. Myron M. Crawford, pastor of the church, officiated the double ring rites.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. Wiley Holmes of Gail, and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Smith, Star Route 2, Lamesa. The altar of the church was graced with greenery, daisies and candlebra. GARY Dickenson of Olton, pianist, accompanied Bill Branson of Snyder as he sang ((Walk Hand In Hand)), and ((Savior Like A Shepherd.))

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride was adorned in a long white cluny lace gown featuring full sleeves and a shadow train. The wedding collar, empirewaistline and camelot cuffs were outlined in Venice lace, while the elbow veil of illusion fell from a latticework Juliet cap. She carried a long cascade bouquet of daisies and baby's breath centered with pink orchids. Her gloves were ones worn by Mrs. Robert Orson Sr., in the year of 1875 and she carried a handkerchief made and carried by Mrs. W.K. Dickinson, grandmother of Mrs. Rich Anderson.

Sally Lane, a college roommate from Phillips, attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Becky Lomax of Lubbock, and Julie Dean, cousin of the bride, from Richardson.

Miss Lane was attired in a long, pale blue, dotted swiss over a deeper blue polyester crepe dress with full sheer sleeves and a long flounced skirt. The bridesmaids were dressed identically to the maid of honor, one in a pale pink over deep pink dress, and the other in a pale yellow over deep yellow dress. All the attendants carried nosegays of daisies in the color of their dresses.

Flowergirls were Kimberlee and Michelle Holmes, nieces of the bride, from Parker, Ariz., and ringbearer was Shannon Irish, a cousin of the bride, from Richardson.

Each of the younger attendants were dressed in long, dotted swiss dresses in shades of blue, pink, and yellow.

Blane Cooper of Ft. Worth served as best man, while Burnel Smith of Millington, Tenn. and Mike Trotter of Olton served as groomsmen. Ushers were Pat Coddin of Olton, and Buddy Coke of Abilene.

Following the ceremony the newlyweds were honored with a reception. They were assisted in the receiving line by both mothers' and feminine attendants.

The bride's table was decorated in pink and featured a three-tiered wedding cake trimmed with daisies. The groom's table was laid in blue and featured a chocolate cake trimmed with maroon and white block T.A.M. decorations.

After a wedding trip to Dallas the couple will reside at 224 Luther, No. 277, College Station.

The bride is a graduate of West Texas State University, and is presently attending graduate school at Texas A&M.

Smith is a graduate of Texas A&M University and will also enroll in graduate school at the same school this fall.

Screwworm Cases Continue

According to Dr. M.E. "Cotton" Meadows Jr., at the Mission Screwworm Laboratory a total of 185 new screwworm cases were recorded last Monday and 138 new cases Tuesday. Dr. Meadows said last week's total of new screwworm cases was 600," the largest number of cases for any week this year. Included in last week's statistics was a second case in East Texas, an area ordinarily shunned by the meateating livestock pests. The outbreak occurred in Tyler County on a ranch four miles south of Chester. The site of the infestation is only about 60 miles from Louisiana which has never reported a case of screwworm, the officials at Mission Lab noted.

Besides Tyler, screwworm cases in Texas were confirmed last week in two or more new counties, Blanco and Coleman, which raised the total for the year to 89 counties invaded by the vicious livestock pest.

Speaks

The American Cattlemen's Assn. president said last week that the urban consumer in the east has no conception of the cattle business.

John Trotman, Montgomery, Ala., spoke at the 59th annual Kansas State University Cattlemen's Day.

Trotman said, "One of our problems is that not big city housewives think of milk in terms of cartons, not cows, and think of beef in terms of the meat case, not the steer."

He said the cattlemen's problem is made worse because 30 percent of the population lives on the east coast, and 1972 is a political year. Politicians - according to Trotman - are making hay with the price of food.

Synthetic Eggs

Synthetic "eggs" are the latest in the line of textured protein foods which have been developed by food manufacturers. General Mills, Inc., reports a simulated egg that approximates the real thing whether boiled, poached or fried. Still undergoing laboratory tests, reports say that the product may be mixed with other materials in a salad or eaten "as is." With the price of eggs this year, one doubts that this new development is going to be a real "bonanza."

Jere's Clippings

Three assassinations and an attempted one of public figures in less than a decade would seem to set some sort of record. Assassinations are not unknown to this country but the attempts and successes seem to be coming more frequently. The latest attempt, that upon the life of presidential candidate, George Wallace, gives rise to speculation as to the motive. The sociologists and psychiatrists will offer all sorts of explanations for the bizarre action of a lone man, apparently acting independently of any organized conspiracy. They may even prove that the fella was forced to eat hushpuppies as a kid and therefore developed a smoldering urge to destroy any symbol of the South. Somehow, the guy's mother will have to be implicated as the cause of it all. After all, he had left home but no one has said whether he left because of complete self centeredness and an inability to live with others - even parents. I bet his nag of a mother expected him to contribute something to the family and to pick up his dirty socks at least.

No one seems to hold an individual accountable for his own actions anymore-he has to be a "product of the ghetto or his society." OK - lets' play along with that theme for awhile. If society is to blame for the warped and twisted minds and personalities, let's blame that segment of society most responsible. I happen to think that today's movies and news media have contributed enormously to the molding of thought and actions by this generation. Robert Baskin of the Dallas News says very elequently what I have been trying to put in words for a long time.

"The tendency toward violence in American political life is not altogether new, but it is being fed by absolutely new elements in our social life. — One of these elements are the motion pictures." "There is an ugly mood abroad in the land and it is being magnified by the cinema and much of the news media."

If any of you have been to even a GP rated movie lately, you will understand what Mr. Baskin is talking bout. The goriness is enough toturn your stomach. We used to think the ole Westerns were wild and woolly - ha, just child's play. I think that statement sums it up - just child's play. As the little boys used to immulate cowboys and Indians, now it nothing but a game to drill a. public figure, massacre your erstwhile lover, brutalize your parents. It's ok - you see it all in the movies and no one is ever held accountable - least of all the purveyors of violence.

Notice

Beginning June 1st Sister Jere is taking a Sabbatical. She plans to resume her column Sept. 1st. For the summer months we welcome all who would be interested in writing a guest column- any topic of interest to the readers of the Borden Star will be gladly accepted and printed with pleasure.

We would like to compliment Jere on her unfailing interest in the Borden Star and her unique way of keeping us abreast with current events. I know for a fact many columns were written while under the hair dryer or on her lap while tearing across the country to other commitments. Thank you Jere, and we are looking forward to your resuming your column in September.

Cotton Recognized As Food Source

Research into the utilization and nutritional value of cotton seed flour has already paved the way for construction by a Lubbock oil mill of a plant soon to be in operation. The idea that cotton can also become a valuable source of food is fast becoming a reality.

Research effort at Texas Tech University have encompassed the development of an extensive variety of recipes for using flour in human diets ranging from breads to desserts. Results of research studies indicate that flour from cotton seed is promising not only as a valuable and largely untapped source of nutritious food but also as a potentially valuable new economic boost for a cotton producing industry.

Current research is being made possible by a joint grant from Plains Cooperative oil mill at Lubbock and by Texas Tech's International Center for arid and semi-arid land studies. The grant is aimed at helping finance a continuing research project centered on cotton seed flour by the Department of Food and Nutrition in Tech's College of Home Economics.

Mrs. Margarette Harden, food and nutrition instructor at Tech pointed out that the flour is an abundant source of protein.

Soil erosion in the United States is at least as old as the Nation. Washington, Jefferson, and other early leaders recognized the danger. Patrick Henry said: "He is the greatest patriot, who stops the most gullies."

collected from plaintiff, and the others whom he represents, in the form of taxes levied, assessed and accruing to Borden County under the constitution and laws of the state of Texas.

Under the provisions of Article 2372c of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, Borden County, and the Commissioners' Court thereof, is authorized, in the service of soil conservation and the prevention of soil waste through erosion, to employ, or permit to be employed, the road construction and other machinery and road equipment of Borden County and to cooperate with the land owners and taxpayers of Borden County in all judicious efforts for the preservation of the productivity of agricultural crops necessary to the public welfare, by permitting the use of such machinery and equipment that may be available for such purposes for the benefit and use of individual property owners and taxpayers. Said article further provides that Borden County shall collect payments from the land owners and taxpayers of the county for the use of such machinery and equipment in protecting their lands against injury through soil erosion and that such charges made to the land owners and taxpayers of Borden County shall be upon such uniform basis as may be deemed equitable by the Commissioners' Court of said county. Said article further provides that the Commissioners' Court shall not be required to do any improving, terracing, protecting or ditching for any land owner or taxpayer unless such court shall determine that such work is of some public benefit and unless said court elects to do such work. The Commissioners' Court of Borden County is not authorized by any law of the state of Texas to employ or lend the use of any of the road machinery or other equipment of said county for the private benefit of any individual land owner or taxpayer of Borden County unless the work to be done shall tend to prevent waste of soil fertility or loss of productive power through soil erosion nor unless the work to be done for any individual land owner or taxpayer is of some public benefit and will tend to conserve the agricultural soils of Borden County.

In spite of the provisions of said Article 2372c, and the prohibition therein contained against the use of the road equipment and machinery of the county for the private benefit of individual land owners and taxpayers of the county, unless the work done is of some public benefit, the defendants, individually, and collectively constituting the Commissioners' Court of Borden County, have, for the past several years, continuously violated the provisions of said Article 2372c, wilfully and knowingly, in the respects as hereinafter fully detailed, and, unless enjoined by this honorable court, said defendants will continue to violate the provisions of said article as they have done in the past, to the irreparable damage and injury of the taxpayers and property owners of Borden County, including plaintiff.

Heretofore and continuously over the period of the past two or three years defendants have used and permitted to be used the road machinery and equipment of Borden County on private projects, and for the private benefit of individual land owners and taxpayers of Borden County, and when the work so done with the use of such machinery and equipment was of no public benefit and did not tend in any respect to conserve the fertility or productive power of any lands in Borden County and which work did not in the slightest tend to prevent soil erosion and which work was of no public benefit whatsoever.

Specifically, defendants have permitted the use of the road machinery and equipment of Borden County, during the past two years, unlawfully and illegally, and for the private use and benefit of individual land owners and taxpayers, and when such work was of no public benefit and when the same did not tend in the slightest degree to prevent soil erosion nor did the same in any respect tend to conserve the soil fertility or productive power of any lands of Borden County, as shown by Exhibit A which is attached hereto and made a part hereof.

On numerous other occasions and almost continuously for the past two years defendants have been employing and using the machinery and equipment of Borden County on projects and works of no public benefit whatever, and exclusively for the private benefit and advantage of individual land owners, and taxpayers, and such uses and the results accomplished therefrom had no tendency whatever to prevent soil erosion or to accomplish any other result for which the use of such county machinery and equipment was and is unlawful. Defendants are now permitting the use of the county road machinery and equipment for illegal and unlawful private uses, of no public benefit whatever, and totally unrelated to any purpose authorized by Article 2372c and defendants will, unless enjoined by this honorable court, continue to so unlawfully and wrongfully use such road machinery and equipment of Borden County in violation of the provisions of said Article 2372c, to the irreparable damage and injury of plaintiffs and the class of persons whom they represent and for which they have no adequate remedy at law. The road machinery and equipment of Borden County has been and is now being badly damaged, used and worn out by the unlawful uses to which the same has been and is now being placed by defendants and to such extent that by such unlawful uses said defendants are wrongfully depreciating the value of such machinery and equipment, said defendants are wrongfully and unlawfully expending the funds and properties entrusted to their charge.

The said defendants have failed to establish any uniform basis or rate of payment for the use of the road machinery and equipment of Borden County and are thus violating the provisions of Article 2372c. Said defendants have continually failed and refused to require any land owners to make written application to be permitted to use the machinery and equipment of Borden County in direct violation of the provisions of Article 2372c. Said defendants have continually failed and refused to require any land owners to make written application to be permitted to use the machinery and equipment of Borden County in direct violation of the provisions of Article 2372c. Defendants, as the Commissioners' Court of Borden County, have unlawfully attempted to delegate to each individual member of said Commissioners' Court the powers, duties and responsibilities, vested in the Commissioners' Court as such by Article 2372c and other statutes and constitutional provisions relating to commissioners' courts, in this: That said Commissioners' Court does not meet as such and pass upon the applications of the citizens and land owners of Borden County to be permitted to use the machinery and equipment of Borden County as required by Article 2372c; neither does the Commissioners' Court of Borden County, as such, make a determination or finding in any instance that the applications of the citizens and land owners of Borden County to be permitted to use such machinery and equipment will be of some public benefit. Said defendants, constituting the Commissioners' Court, have entered into a scheme and arrangement whereby each commissioner may use all or any portion of the available road machinery and equipment of Borden County for any and all private purposes to which said commissioner shall decide to place the same. The uses to which the machinery and equipment of Borden County is to be placed by the individual commissioner has been delegated full, complete and unbridled discretion and is permitted to unlawfully use the machinery and equipment of Borden County for any and all purposes for which each of such commissioners may desire to employ the same. No effort is made by the Commissioners' Court of Borden County, as such, formally or informally, in session or out of session, to pass upon the uses in which the machinery and equipment of Borden County is used, nor do the members of said court collect or attempt to collect any uniform rate of pay from the citizens and land owners of Borden County for the use of its road machinery and equipment, and each of said commissioners, in truth, and in fact, charges and collects only such sums of money which he may individually and privately desire to charge and collect for the use of the machinery and equipment of Borden County done under his direction. By the means set out in this paragraph, the defendants, composing the Commissioners' Court of Borden county, have attempted to and are failing to act as a commissioners' court, delegating to each individual member thereof the unbridled discretion as to the uses of the machinery and equipment of Borden County in which each member shall employ the same.

By their acts as above set out, the defendants, composing the Commissioners' Court of Borden County, have completely abrogated their responsibilities and functions as the Commissioners' Court of Borden County in regard to the employment of the road machinery and other equipment of Borden County in full and complete violation of the provisions of Article 2372c of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas. Defendants, individually and as the Commissioners' Court of Borden County, have no statutory or other lawful authority for their acts as hereinabove alleged, and each of said defendants, individually and jointly as the Commissioners' Court of Borden County, will continue to wrongfully and unlawfully employ the road machinery and other equipment of Borden County similarly situated unless permanently enjoined by this honorable court.

Plaintiff alleges that the exact dates, times, places, nature of work done, description of machinery used, length of time in which the machinery was employed and all other details with reference to the alleged as definitely as the plaintiff is able to allege them, but that all of such exact information as to dates, times, places, nature of work done, description of machinery used, length of time in which the machinery was employed and all other details with reference to the alleged unlawful acts hereof are well-known to all of the defendants.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays that on final hearing hereof the defendants, jointly and severally, and as the Commissioners' Court of Borden County, Texas, and their agents, servants and employees, be mandatorily enjoined to comply with all of the provisions of Article 2372c of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas and that they, and each of them, be permanently enjoined from violating any of the road machinery or other equipment of Borden County for any private purpose, unless the work sought to be done by such use will be of some public benefit and unless the work will tend to conserve the agricultural soils of Borden County or serve some other purpose as authorized by said Article 2372c. Plaintiff further prays that he have all other relief to which he may be entitled.

Nat'l Farm Safety Week

PRESIDENTIAL DOCUMENTS
Title 3—The President
PROCLAMATION 4113
NATIONAL FARM SAFETY
WEEK, 1972
 By the President of the United States of America
A PROCLAMATION

The Nation's unparalleled technological advances have given farmers and ranchers the ability to produce far more, with far less drudgery and uncertainty, than their forbears. This technology, combined with the skill and energy of our farmers and ranchers, has made possible a plentiful supply of high quality agricultural products, thus enabling us to make great strides in the battle against hunger.

Unfortunately, however, the implements of modern technology have also increased the risk of accidents to our farmers and ranchers. Each year thousands are injured or lose their lives in agricultural accidents or in mishaps on public roads, in homes, or in recreational activities. The dollar cost of these accidents exceeds $2 billion annually, but the price in terms of pain and anguish and disruption of family life is immeasurable.

This drain on the human and economic resources of the agricultural community and the Nation can be reduced if our rural people, acting individually and in concert, take a decisive stand for safety. Many accidents can be prevented by eliminating hazards and using protective equipment at work, by defensive driving, and by general safe practices at home and during recreation.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, RICHARD NIXON, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the week beginning July 25, 1972, as National Farm Safety Week. I urge all persons engaged in agriculture and all those allied with agriculture to take appropriate measures to reduce the number and severity of accidents. Let us strive to bring the technology of safety to agriculture as successfully as we have brought to it the technology of production.

The furious honking of horns distracted a 60-year old English-woman from her knitting. Looking outside her cottage, she discovered a massive traffic jam.

Calls to three police stations yielded no action, so she stepped out into the road and began signaling, first to one car, then to another, until the congestion eased.

"I just waved my arms about," she said, "and things began to move. Some of the lines were a mile long, and the motorists who had been waiting ages thanked me as they passed."

Leadership happens when a person takes intelligent action at the right moment to meet some urgent human need. Leaders are not born—they are made (or rather they make themselves, with God's assistance).

Having gifts that differ according to the grace given us, let us use them." (Romans 12:6)

I am an old man and have known a great many troubles, but most of them never happened.

How To Be Perfectly Miserable

1. Think only about yourself.
2. Talk about practically nothing aside from yourself.
3. Use the personal pronoun "I" as often as possible.
4. Mirror yourself continually in the opinions of others.
5. Listen greedily to what people have to say about you.
6. Expect to be appreciated.
7. Be suspicious.
8. Be jealous and envious.
9. Be sensitive to slights.
10. Never forget or forgive a criticism.
11. Trust no one but yourself.
12. Insist on consideration and respect.
13. Demand agreement with your own views on everything.
14. Sulk if people are not grateful to you for favors shown them.
15. Never forget a service you may have rendered.
16. Always be on the lookout for a good time for yourself.
17. Shirk every duty you possibly can.
18. Do as little as possible for others.
19. Love yourself supremely.
20. Be completely selfish at all times.

This recipe is guaranteed to be absolutely infallible.

How Babies Learn:

Educationally the first few months of life are almost as important as the early school years. So parents should help baby to learn.

"Babies learn by looking, listening, touching, tasting and feeling," said Dorothy Taylor of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "They learn by exploring, watching you and imitating what you do. We now know that babies learn most when they're moved about and held."

The family life specialist noted that the first thing a baby learns to do is look. He learns this during the first three months of life. Since he learns by looking, give him something to see.

Hang a mobile over his crib, or suspend one from the light fixture in the room where he spends most of his time. Make one by hanging magazine pictures, scraps of old material, old costume jewelry and other interesting household items from a clothes hanger. Be certain, however, that it's high enough to be out of his grasp.

Easier still, hang a shiny aluminum pie pan by his crib or a brightly colored picture or piece of fabric. Aluminum foil or bright paper crushed into a ball and hung where it can twist and turn will amuse him.

"Anything bright and eye-catching that you can show him helps him learn about his world," Miss Taylor explained. "Hold the baby in your lap, and let him play with different objects. Talk to him about what he's seeing. He won't understand now, but you'll soon find him listening ever so carefully."

Hold him up to the window to see what's going on outside. Have lots of things for him to look at, because the more he sees, the more he'll want to look.

In a few months holding the baby up to a mirror and playing games with him will be a source of great delight. It teaches him who he is.

"See if he recognizes you in the mirror," the specialist suggested. "Soon you can help him find his ears, eyes, nose, and mouth. He'll soon point out these things on your face, too."

What better way can a child begin learning who he is and what he looks like than by playing in front of a mirror with someone close to him?

"All babies are different," Miss Taylor said. "Make yours feel special by giving him plenty of attention and loving care. Simple toys and play activities can be part of the tender loving care. Because a baby who feels loved learns better."

Parents can make this first learning experience fun for the baby. A little attention can lead to a more active, interested and alert child.

FOR THE LONELY

It's awful to be lonely, Lord.
 Sometimes when I'm in a crowded room surrounded by people who love me I still feel lonely.

I'll bet the world is full of lonely people
 Sitting on park benches and bar stools
 in movie theaters and at cocktail parties.

My next door neighbor has never knocked on my door.
 Why is that Lord?
 Help your lonely, Lord to reach out of themselves.
 If only we weren't so afraid of being hurt in the process. . .

We'd really like to become more aware of and responsive to one another.

Grant us strength to take the risk involved. . .
 The hurt can't be worse than this awful lonely feeling.

Help us, Lord, to overcome our loneliness by becoming one with each other and one with you.
 Amen.

Don't Learn The Hard Way

One of the prime rules for interested persons to follow when thinking of enrolling in a school is to avoid high pressure tactics requiring immediate enrollment. Some salesmen will state that failure to enroll immediately will result in the inability of the prospective student ever to enter their school. Remember - legitimate schools always allow sufficient time for investigation of their facilities, training programs, and the quality of their instruction.

Prospective students should carefully check the terms of the enrollment contract prior to signing. These terms should be thoroughly understood. What provisions are made for cancellation by the student? Is he able to receive his tuition back and if so, what amount and under what conditions?

You should remember that the written provisions of the contract control over the oral representations made by the salesman. If there is ambiguity in the contract or doubt on the part of the student as to the meaning of the language of the contract, this should be resolved in writing prior to signing the contract.

In some instances we have found that unscrupulous salesmen make exaggerated promises concerning job opportunities either while attending school or after graduation. Prospective students should be aware of the fact that a placement service does not guarantee them a job. Finally, the trade schools general reputation is of utmost importance. If there is a Better Business Bureau in the town in which the school is located, you should check with them prior to signing any contract. If there is no such bureau, ask for the names of several former students. You should then contact these people and get their opinion of the school.

While this takes extra time, the caution is well worth the delay involved. If the school is legitimate, it will be there tomorrow. If not, the time to find out is before turning over the tuition money.

At this time of the year many high school seniors are considering their futures and the part that additional education may play therein. Many, of course, will elect to go on to a college or university of their choice. But many will elect to attend a vocational or trade school.

Both are excellent choices provided the students carefully select the school which they plan to attend.

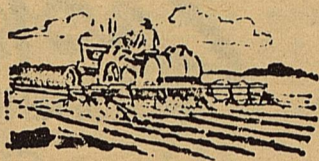

To those seniors deciding to continue their education in a trade school or vocational school, and to other persons deciding to go back to school, my Consumer Protection Division offers these words of advice:

Most vocational and trade schools conducted in Texas are reputable honest establishments. While this has been true for some time, an Act known as the Proprietary School Act passed by the Texas Legislature at its last session and administered by the Texas Education Agency has greatly improved the situation. This Act provides for licensing, bonding, and regulation of trade schools, but prospective students should not rely solely on state regulation of such institutions. They should make a thorough investigation before they decide on a school.

We have reports where some of these schools have closed their doors after receiving tuition payments from prospective students. They have either gone broke or moved from the State and there is no way the student can recover the money.

We have received complaints of substandard instruction offered by some schools.

Say Thanks

On his retirement, a mail carrier in Kentucky surprised all the families on his route. He sent each of them this message:

"Dear Patron: It has been a wonderful experience to serve such a fine loyal group of people.

"I have rejoiced with many of you when you received letters from loved ones away from home.

"I have sorrowed when some received letters of bad news.

"I have anticipated with you that long-awaited letter that never came.

"When I made mistakes, your understanding carried me on.

"May the years ahead bring you and your families much joy and peace."

Appreciation should start at home and reach out endlessly to the world. It may surprise those who think they know you—it may even be catching.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

BY Omar Burleson, M.C.
17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. — More THAN 70 PERCENT OF OUR population now lives on only 2 percent of the land area in America. Our cities are literally falling apart. Attempts to help the large intercities with all sorts of Federal programs have been about like trying to cure cancer with a Band-Aid.

THE PROSPERITY OF THE UNITED STATES is unparalleled by any country in all history. During the early years of this Nation, we were a striving country with a balanced growth. Fertile lands enabled agriculture to lead the way in our economic growth. Gradually but dramatically came industrialization which brought about fast growing towns and cities. We continue to have growing pains but of a different nature. Changes have come about by urban centralization and has ended our balanced growth.

FOLLOWING THE DEPRESSION OF THE 1930's, there started a migration from the rural areas to the cities. In a quarter of a century, that is up to about 1955, a decisive turn was made away from small towns and rural life. Since the beginning of World War II more than 30 million Americans have left the farms and small communities and the migratin rate continues at about 600,000 people each year. This is a slackened pace of movement but still a serious one.

COSTS FOR PROVIDING SERVICES for city dwellers have skyrocketed and yet services received continually diminish in quality.

SMALL TOWNS, ONCE VIABLE AND PRODUCTIVE, are having difficult times providing their own services, finding employment and the wherewithal to support the essentials of modern life.

WITHIN A FEW WEEKS THE IF THIS CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED, people will no longer have to go to cities to find alleviating what is becoming a crisis in both rural areas and smaller communities and keep our population dispersed. It will afford a better life in all of its aspects. If this could be accomplished, the results would improve conditions for a better future and a better choice of location for living and raising a family. The cities would be relieved of the tremendous pressures which have created insoluble problems — and flights to suburbs, leaving dead cities behind.

IT IS RECOGNIZED THAT THERE is a vast difference between theory and practical application but unless something is done along these lines, conditions for improvement can only worsen. People crowded together in our cities is a chief cause of crime, poor schools, inadequate health care and all the other deficiencies apparent in our society. These circumstances drain the resources of the more rural areas and everyone is the victim.

SOME WAY MUST BE FOUND to enable people to help themselves to reverse the trend of migration to the already partially paralyzed cities. If properly administered the Rural Development Act could be a step in the right direction.

THE CENTRAL PURPOSE OF THE LEGISLATION is to make it possible for rural communities to develop in all facets of its community life and hopefully return to a balanced economy.

A baby snake gets out of its egg by means of a temporary egg tooth, as a chick does.

GOOD LUCK!

Food Prices Still Controversy

CONTROVERSY OVER FOOD PRICES continues. Consumer boycotts and price ceilings are being threatened. Congressional hearings have been held. Politicians, labor union spokesmen, consumer advocates and a host of others are working up a lather over the rising cost of food, with meat prices being a special target.

The farmer is being blamed. The middleman is getting his hide peeled. Chain stores are reeling from a rash of criticism. But little is said about rising wages costs in distribution, taxes, inflation spawned by deficit federal spending and spirited consumer bidding for the available supplies as possible causes.

Very few have stopped to consider that farm prices fluctuate widely as the supply situation changes. They move up and down from month to month, season to season and from year to year.

Anguish over the high price of meat, with beef taking the biggest knocks, is unwarranted. Beef producers are getting about what they did 20 years ago. Sure, prices have risen, but it's only a rebound from previous declines. Who else—besides the farmer—is expected to work for 20-year-ago wages?

Fewer yet want to admit that food is cheap—and meat is cheap in relation to the percentage of a family's budget that is spent for food.

Another factor that is seldom considered is the probable effect on future supplies if production is discouraged. This should be considered in the light of expected output under present conditions.

PORK SUPPLIES will be relatively short for the rest of 1972, unless producers revise their farrowing intentions.

There were 6 percent fewer hogs and pigs on farms in the 10 big Corn Belt states on March 1 than a year ago.

Ponder This

And one of the scribes came up and heard them disputing with one another, and seeing that He answered them well, asked Him:

"Which commandment is the first of all?"

Jesus answered, "The first is, 'Hear, O Israel:

The Lord our God, the Lord is one; and you shall love the Lord your God, with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind, and with all your strength.'

The second is this, 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.'

There is no other commandment greater than these."

And the scribe said to Him, "You are right, Teacher; You have truly said that He is one, and there is nother but He; and to love Hiim with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the strength, and to love one's neighbor as oneself, is much more than all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices."

And when Jesus saw that he answered wisely, He said to him, "You are not far from the kingdom of God." (Mark 12:28-34)

Horshoeing School

Last year, Ray Pierotti, 49, quit his job as a rocket-propulsion engineer and signed up for the Porterville Horseshoeing School, Porterville, Calif. "I just got very tired of following contracts all around the country," he explains. "I figure shoeing horses will give me a chance to live where I want and be my own boss. It gets me into something nice and calm."

And so—12 to 14 at a time—such people come to spend three months learning the tough, gritty profession of horseshoeing. Ex-engineers, high school teachers, office workers, even a few girls, some who've been around horses all their lives. There are others, like Pierotti, who've never been on a horse. . . they all see blacksmithing as the beginning of a new way of life.

The Porterville Horseshoeing School is one of several private farrier schools that have recently sprung up around the country to train people to service the exploding horse population. There are now about 7 million pleasure horses in the U.S., and there hasn't been a keener demand for good horseshoers since cavalry days.

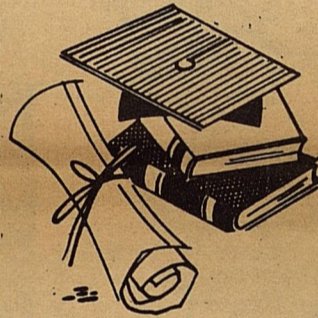

Dave Tyler, who teaches Porterville's classes, says most of his graduates become professional full time farriers. Their income vary but $12 is the average price for shoeing a horse and its not too uncommon for a good horseshoer to book five horses a day, five days a week. The school graduates about 48 people a year with horseshoeing certificates.

VETERAN DRIVER ADOPTS "DRIVE FRIENDLY"

United States Auto Club driver Johnny Rutherford affixes a "Drive Friendly" sticker to the Offenhauser powered Formula I car he will drive in this year's Memorial Day Indy 500. The Fort Worth resident says he is displaying the theme of the Texas Governor's Committee on Traffic Safety because "just hearing 'drive friendly' automatically makes people watch their driving habits".

INDIANAPOLIS—Long time United States Auto Club driver Johnny Rutherford has adopted the "Drive Friendly" theme as his phrase to race by.

Rutherford, who has been racing since 1959 and a USAC driver since 1962, will be running his Michner-Patrick sponsored Formula I car at the Indianapolis 500 this Memorial Day with a "Drive Friendly" sticker boldly displayed on the side.

"Drive Friendly" is the phrase that is used as the theme of the traffic safety program in Texas sponsored by the Governor's Committee on Traffic Safety.

The new Brabham chassis-Offenhauser turbocharged beast that Rutherford will pilot at Indy cranks out a whopping 850 horsepower. With that much power pushing his rear-engined machine, Rutherford says, "The Texas slogan, 'Drive Friendly,' has a special meaning for me. "Race drivers must 'Drive Friendly.' Unfriendly driving can be disastrous," Rutherford adds-- a statement he made in one of the radio public service announcements recorded for use during the Memorial Day holidays.

Rutherford is one of twenty nationally-known personalities participating in the "Drive Friendly" media campaign. Others include Ed McMahon, Phyllis Diller, Carol Channing, The Lettermen, The Carpenters, Faron Young and Charley Pride.

Rutherford, a resident of Fort Worth when he is not racing, says that he adopted "Drive Friendly" because, "it's one of the greatest traffic safety ideas ever created. Just hearing the statement automatically makes people watch their driving habits. And here at Indianapolis, people have seen the stickers on my cars and have made many favorable comments."

The 1972 Indianapolis 500 will be the ninth race Rutherford has run at the brickyard. He has qualified for every Memorial Day test since 1963, except the 1966 running. That year he missed the entire season while recovering from injuries suffered in a crash at the Eldora Speedway in Rossburg, Ohio.

Rutherford was the second highest qualifier for the 500 in 1970. He missed the pole position by only .01 of a second. And he was a strong contender in the final runnign that year until forced to drop out with

The Vincent Co-op Gin had it's annual Bar-B-Q. There was a good attendance and we had a most enjoyable evening visiting with our neighbors. The Bar-B-Q was delicious.

We were entertained after the Bar-B-Q by Mr. A.B. Cramer. He showed his slides of old home sites around the county and surrounding area. He had in-interesting pictures of old Indian drawings and old landmarks. They were taken right in this area and were of special interest to those of us that link our past and our heritage to Borden County.

Although a victory at Indy has eluded Rutherford so far, the Texss resident has nailed down a number of honors during his 13-year career. He holds a Daytona qualifications title won with a stock car built by Smokey Yunick.

Rutherford is a former National Championship winner in the 250-mile Indy car event at Atlanta. He won a USAC National Sprint Car championship by racking up the most features and the most points in a year-long 35-race sprint car circuit.

Some of Rutherford's awards include "Outstanding USAC Rookie Driver," "The Jim Clark Award," "Most Improved DRIVER in USAC," and the cars "Most Outstanding Race Driver" honors. At the present time, he holds ten United States Auto Club racing records.
