Demo Precinct Conventions To Be Held May 4

H. C. Coffee, county chairman of the Democratic party in Gray county, has issued a call for all precinct committeemen to hold a precinct convention on May 4 between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m.

He urged precinct chairmen to contact him immediately giving the exact time, and place, they will hold their conventions. Mr. Coffee suggests that conventions be held at each voting place in the county.

At each convention delegates will be elected to the county convention in Pampa May 7. Delegates should be instructed how to vote by those attending the precinct conventions.

Every qualified voter in the county to attend his or her precinct convention and take a part in naming delegates to the county convention. Mr. Coffee said today.

By attending the convention a voter has a say in who shall be nominated for President of the United States. And that is the only way a voter has a chance to express his desire regarding a candidate.

Mr. Coffee's call to precinct chairmen and voters follows: Please be advised that on May 4, sometime between the hours of 8:00 o'clock a. m. and 4:00 o'clock p. m., there will be a meeting held at each of the 17 voting precincts in Gray county for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the county convention which will be held in Waco on May 7.

Each voting precinct shall select one delegate for each twenty-five votes that were polled in the 1938 governor's race in each precinct.

We would be very glad to have as big a representation as possible at each of these precinct meetings.

Slayer Of Wife Dies In Lethal Chamber

RAWLINS, Wyo., April 19 (AP)—With a minister's farewell kiss on his lips, Stanley S. Lantzer, 38-year-old farm hand, died in Wyoming's lethal gas chamber today for slaying his estranged wife.

At Lantzer's request, the Rev. William Young, Church of God minister from Brush, Colo., kissed the condemned man goodbye before the gas chamber was locked.

Lantzer, from Brush, Colo., was convicted in December, 1938, of shooting his estranged wife, Cecile, 32, at a Cheyenne tourist camp after a futile attempt at reconciliation.

Private Business Needs An Umpire

DALLAS, April 19 (AP)—"We realize that private enterprise ought to have an umpire—government—but the umpire shouldn't get in the game."

H. W. Prentiss of New York, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, thus explained in an interview the principal idea which has taken him and other N. A. M. officials on a tour through the southwest's industrial centers.

He came here today with his party from Houston and San Antonio and after a meeting with Texas industrialists planned to carry the N. A. M. crusade to Memphis, Tenn.

Singers, Actresses On Program Tonight

Borgan Wired To Tree, Car Stolen

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 19 (AP)—Two masked men took an automobile from a Borgan, Tex., man northeast of here before dawn today, leaving him wired to a tree, then robbed a Los Angeles woman motorist and left her bound with wire to the back seat of her car.

O. Henry, the Borgan man, freed himself shortly after daylight and reported to highway patrolmen that he had been accosted as he slept in his car near Chandler. He said the robbers drove him to Wellston before tying him up and taking his car.

A short time later, Mrs. F. M. Hubbard, 23, wife of a Los Angeles grocer, told police two masked men awakened her from a nap in her car 15 miles north-east of here, took $23 from her purse, and left her trussed with wire. She also freed herself.

Highway patrolmen cruising in the area found the car which had been taken from Borgan abandoned 3 miles east of the place where Mrs. Hubbard was robbed.

Fort Worth Banker, Financier Passes

FORT WORTH, April 19 (AP)—Over four buildings and institutions with which his career closely associated him, flags were at half-mast this afternoon as funeral services are held for Van Zandy Jarvis, 67, banker, cattleman, and former mayor.

He also was a former president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Lowered flags symbolized his connection with business, education, and civic government during his busy life which was ended by a heart attack yesterday while he was driving alone in his automobile on his Hicks ranch north of here.

At the city hall and on the campus of Texas Christian University, the flags flew at half mast throughout the day. Jarvis had served as city councilman for ten years and as mayor for three until his retirement from office in 1937.

He had been a trustee of T. C. U. and president of the board of the university since 1926. Classes at the school were dismissed for the day.

The flag atop the First National bank, in which Jarvis was a director, was lowered to half staff at noon. The flag over the Sinclair building, owned by the bank, also was lowered.

Small Norwegian Boats Used As A Screen By Germans

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The Norwegian legation said today that one of the tricks Germany used in invading Norway was to shield its warships from coastal artillery by moving in behind an enforced screen of small Norwegian boats.

All in all, the Norwegian report said, it was German trickery and not Norwegian treachery which led to Norway's surrender or defeat.

Other points in the account: Repeatedly, false reports were sent to Norwegian troops southeast of Oslo stating that their government had ordered them to surrender.

A fair order, instructing Norwegian troops not to shoot until Germans actually attacked put the defenders in an indefensible position.

Germany Orders Norwegian Minister To Leave Berlin

BERLIN, April 19 (AP)—Germany ordered the Norwegian minister to Germany, Arne Scheel, to leave Berlin today.

The action was tantamount to breaking off diplomatic relations with the Norwegian government of King Haakon VII and Premier Johan Nygaardsvold.

The legation staff was ordered to leave with the minister.

Despite the invasion of Norway, the German government had continued to receive Scheel as the envoy of a friendly power and had urged him to get his government to cooperate with the Germans.

On instructions from the king and premier, Scheel yesterday had asked Germany for permission to remain at his post. The answer given today was that he and his staff must leave at once.

It was explained officially that Germany took this abrupt action "in view of the hostile attitude of King Haakon."

Mrs. Morris Speaks On Poultry At Bell H. D. Club Meeting

"Just grain alone will not make your hens lay," said Mrs. Jess Morris, poultry demonstrator of Bell Home Demonstration club, while discussing her demonstration at a recent club meeting.

"For the health of the hens, you must feed a balanced ration of green stuff, grains, and milk. In addition to this mash which contains extra proteins, minerals, and vitamins, should be fed to hens to make them lay," Mrs. Morris continued.

"The chicken house, pens, and fowls should be kept free from insects to maintain the health of the birds and gain maximum egg production."

Shade Trees Best For Country Homes Suggested At Club

"Select well-shaped and healthy trees a few at a time and take care of them, to have shade at your home rather than put out a great many trees at one time and neglect them," Mrs. C. McKnight told members of Bell Home Demonstration club at a recent meeting.

"We have one of the loveliest china berry trees and three Chinese 'im trees' that are large and stately," she continued.

Mrs. McKnight plans to add other foundation plantings to her home later.

Blondes Rate High In Coronado Coiffure Contest

The conquerors preferred blonde—synthetic most of them, but blondes.

That's the conclusion of Miss Dorothy Miller, president of the state board of cosmetology, which with the New Mexico Coronado Centennial commission is sponsoring a contest to recreate the coiffure of the Coronado-type glamour girl.

The contest was started at the suggestion of Mrs. John J. Miller, wife of the governor, and she has offered to award the winning coiffure at the premiere of the Coronado year celebration in Albuquerque on the night of May 29.

The state's 1,000 beauty operators are eligible to submit their hair-dos for $100 in prize. The entries will be judged on the basis of front and back photographs submitted to the Coronado publicity headquarters in Albuquerque.

Miss Miller dug up that bit about the girls left behind by Coronado in a study of what their coiffures were like. This is what she found:

"Great pains were taken to achieve the blonde type and all sorts of bleaches were invented for that purpose."

But bob were out.

This from Miss Lucy Barton, official Coronado costume and international authority on historic costume for the stage.

"Undoubtedly ladies supplemented their own locks with switches and braids, and the result looked like a lot of hair. Bobs, long or short, were decidedly not a feminine style in the 16th century."

Miss Barton found out the 16th century idea of beauty—the Coronado glamor girl:

"This included, for the face, a long oval shape, a delicately chiseled nose, large full eyes, finely-penciled arched eyebrows, and a high wide forehead."

The snood was in. So, too, was the small net skull-cap, known to modern girls as a "juleit cap," and worn for evening.

The snood was in. So, too, was Miss Barton said, was the caul. It was netted of heavy silk or chenille, or more grandly, of gold or silver tulle, jeweled. Occasionally, all the hair was concealed by the snood, but usually, as often, it was revealed at top and sides.

The "juleit cap" was a little round cap of wide-meshed net (sometimes of gold or silver), with a pearl sewed at every crossing. Some girls wore such a cap right on top of the head and over the forehead, others put it on the crown of the head. Some even had a cap which was barely seen on top, but covered the back of the head at the nape.

Braids were more fashionable than curls; bangs sometimes were worn.

And ears were either out or in with long pendant earrings," Miss Barton explained.

"More often than otherwise," Miss Barton explained, "the hair was twisted around the head like a turban, passing behind the ears. Sometimes an actual silk turban wrapped the head, leaving the ears open and sometimes the caul was arranged in the same manner. But whether the ears were covered or uncovered, long pendant earrings frequently hung from them."

In carrying out the 1540 glamor girl type, Miss Barton explained, most hair-dresses included a comb, a parting, and from there a sweeping curve arching over the forehead and extending in a nearly straight line beside the cheeks to below the jaw. Further to accent the length from top of head to hairdressers frequently arranged a coronet upon the crown of the head.

Study Group Of Clara Hill Class Meets At Church

Clara Hill class study group of First Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon in the church basement with Mrs. Donald Bessie and Mrs. Glen Radcliff conducting the lesson on "Interior Decoration."

Mrs. Bessie introduced the different types and ages of furnishings, fabrics, and draperies, stating that many lessons have been learned in planning and the most important is this:

"The essence of successful decoration is furniture, character, period, fabric, colors, arrangements. Every principle of the beautiful interior is dependent upon the furniture. Its choice is the most important decision that you have to make. After all your careful planning there should be no mis-step now."

A cleverly arranged scrap book of colorful rooms was displayed showing the center of interest of furniture arrangements and color combining. Magazines with suggestions for refinishing as well as color toning were passed and several original paintings of Mrs. Bessie were displayed.

Mrs. Radcliff gave several illustrations of rooms and small apartments made more livable by refinishing and adding color and more light. She also gave several hints on bathroom curtains. Two of these were scalloped old cloth and bath towels put on rings and tied back or hung straight. These are very economical as well as colorful and useful.

"Slip covers for all furniture are going to be very good this coming season and are going to be bright and colorful," she stated. "Movable cabinets are also going to be popular in every room. These may be used for books, linens, flowers, or used according to the type of room."

"Mirrors have always been popular, so use them to your best advantage. They give light as well as added cheerfulness. Why not arrange your mirrors to reflect a flower garden?"

"Store your old curtains and put up new, crisp, light curtains to add light to your rooms as well as cheerfulness. White curtains for summer are very practical and cool," she added.

Mrs. C. F. Walton conducted a short business meeting in which the class gave $35 to the church budget. A committee was appointed to buy necessities for a family with sick members. A flower was sent to Mrs. J. W. Crisler whose father passed away last week, and a pink and blue shower was given for Mrs. Jack Hyatt.

Hot tea and cookies were served by Mmes. Estelle Purvis, E. L. Emerson, L. E. West, and Clayton Smith to Mrs. Bob Hoff, a guest; Mmes. Glenn Radcliff, Donald Bessie, C. F. Walton, W. N. Taylor, H. F. Child Study club sponsored by the American Association of University Women met in the city club rooms this week with Mrs. Foster Fletcher, president presiding.

Roll call was answered by each member giving her favorite method of discipline.

The following officers were elected for next year: Mrs. Carlton Nance, president; Mrs. Joe Tooley, vice-president; Mrs. R. E. Bleefeld, secretary; Mrs. R. K. Edenborough, treasurer; and Mrs. R. H. Nenslett, reporter.

A talk on "Discipline" was given by Mrs. W. A. Rankin. In her discussion Mrs. Rankin warned mothers on making children too modest, saying that modesty is not a virtue but an inferiority complex and that only the successful can afford to be modest. She stated that one should try every scheme to make a child sure of himself.

"Never make him think he is smarter, more capable than his associates, but allow him to think he is a little better than he really is. A child has to be directed. His attitude toward parental authority has far reaching effect on his adult life. The happiest child is the one who early learns to obey reasonable requests and respects the rights of others. We should be concerned about the relationship we are building with our children. Take time to play with them, be friendly."

Mrs. Rankin stated that parents should give their children the security of authority in the home and that they must learn to accept the authority. Parents will have to cooperate to get obedience and produce harmony in the home. Too often parents demand obedience in trifles, rather than the things that produce character and make for good citizenship. The best discipline is that kind which brings with it its own punishment. Parents should be consistent in their demand for discipline and build up the best family relationship by expressions of love, confidence, and by living in harmony, she continued.

Mrs. Rankin concluded her talk by saying parents owe their children a home, love, security, enough education to get more, let them stand on their own feet, and make them independent.

Mrs. Rankin introduced Mrs. J. L. Lester who spoke on "Discipline in the Home." Mrs. Lester began her talk by defining discipline as treatment suitable for a disciple or learner. Since children are learners, discipline should teach. She stated that discipline begins before a child is born by parents building a sympathetic attitude that helps the child to adjust in the world. A child who is born into a home where harmony exists is not likely to be a discipline problem.

"Parents should establish the idea of self-discipline through security and affection, the child should feel that love is constant. Teaching an infant habits of regularity is laying the foundation for discipline. Know why the child is asked to do or not to do a thing and be firm in requests. As a child grows older, let him the choice between two acts, then abide by his decisions. Lead him to make his own decisions. Establish in him correct habits and punish only to establish a point that contributes to his future well being. Always 'ask,' not 'command,' a child. Treat him as an equal.

"A child must be taught to do for himself, care for his own clothes, etc. A child who has had no responsibilities is not having very long nor has he the background for developing a strong character or becoming a good citizen. He must learn a

"Select well-shaped and healthy trees a few at a time and take care of them, to have shade at your home rather than put out a great many trees at one time and neglect them," Mrs. C. McKnight told members of Bell Home Demonstration club at a recent meeting.

"We have one of the loveliest china berry trees and three Chinese elm trees that are large and stately," she continued.

Mrs. McKnight plans to add other foundation plantings to her home later.

Blondes Rate High In Coronado Coiffure Contest

The conquerors preferred blondes synthetic most of them, but blondes.

That's the conclusion of Miss Dorothy Miller, president of the state board of cosmetology, which with the New Mexico Coronado Centennial commission is sponsoring a contest to recreate the coiffure of the Coronado-type glamor girl.

The contest was started at the suggestion of Mrs. John E. Miles, wife of the governor, and she has offered to wear the winning coiffure at the premiere of the Coronado year celebration in Albuquerque on the night of May 29.

The state's 1,000 beauty operators are eligible to submit their hair-do at $100 in prize. The entries will be judged on the basis of front and back photographs submitted to the Coronado publicity headquarters in Albuquerque.

Miss Miller dug up that bit about the hair left behind by Coronado in 1540, in a study of what their coiffures were like. This is what she found:

"Great pains were taken to achieve the blonde type and all sorts of dyes were invented for that purpose."

But bobs were out.

This from Miss Lucy Barton, official Coronado costumer and international authority on historic costume for the stage:

"Unusually ladies supplemented their own locks with switches and braids, and the result looked like a lot of hair. Bobs, long or short, were decidedly not a feminine style in the 16th century."

Miss Barton found out the 16th century idea of beauty—the Coronado glamor girl:

"This included, for the face, a delicately long oval shape, a delicately chiseled nose, large full eyes, finely-penciled arched eyebrows, and a high wide forehead."

The snood was in. So, too, was the small net skull-cap, known to modern girls as a "Juliet cap," and worn for evening.

The snood was in. So, too, was Miss Barton said, was the caul. It was netted of heavy silk or chenille, or more grandly, of gold or silver wire, jeweled. Occasionally, all the hair was concealed by the snood or caul, but just as often, it was revealed at top and sides.

The "Juliet cap" was a little round cap of wide-meshed net (sometimes of gold or silver), with a pearl sewed at every crossing. Some girls wore such a cap right on top of the head and over the forehead, others wore it on the crown of the head. Some even had a cap which was barely seen on top, but covered the back of the head at the nape.

Braids were more fashionable than curls; bangs sometimes were worn.

And ears were either out or in with long pendant earrings.

"More often than otherwise," Miss Barton explained, "the ears were entirely covered, sometimes, however, the braided hair was twisted around the head like a turban, passing behind the ears. Sometimes an actual silk turban wrapped the head, leaving the ears out and sometimes the caul was arranged in the same manner. But whether the ears were covered or uncovered, long pendant earrings frequently hung from them."

In carrying out the 1540 glamor girl type, Miss Barton explained, most hair-dressing included a certain parting and from there a sweeping curve arching over the forehead and extending in a nearly straight line beside the cheeks to behind the jaw. Further to accent the length from top of head to chin, hairdressers frequently arranged a coronet upon the crown of the head.

Study Group Of Clara Hill Class Meets At Church

Clara Hill class study group of First Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon in the church basement with Mrs. Donald Bessie and Glen Radcliff conducting the lesson on "Interior Decoration."

Mrs. Bessie introduced the different types and ages of furnishings, fabrics, and drapes, stating that many lessons have been learned in planning and the most important is this:

"The essence of successful decoration is furniture, character, period, fabrics, colors, arrangements. Every principle of the beautiful interior is dependent upon the furniture. Its choice is the most important decision that you have to make. After all your careful planning there should be no mis-step now."

A cleverly arranged scrap book of colorful rooms was displayed showing the center of interest of furniture arrangements and color combining. Magazines with suggestions for refinishing as well as color toning were passed and several original paintings of Mrs. Bessie were displayed.

Mrs. Radcliff gave several illustrations of rooms and small apartments made more livable by refinishing and adding color and more light. She also gave several hints on bathroom curtains. Two of these were scalloped oil cloth and bath towels put on rings and tied back or hung straight. These are very economical as well as colorful and useful.

"Slip covers for all furniture are going to be very good this coming season and are going to be bright and colorful," she stated. "Moveable cabinets are also going to be popular in every room. These may be

"Store your old curtains and put up new, crisp, light curtains to add light to your rooms as well as cheerfulness. White curtains for summer are very practical and cool," she added.

Mrs. C. F. Walton conducted a short business meeting in which the class gave $35 to the church budget. A committee was appointed to buy items needed for a family with sick members. A flower was sent to Mrs. J. W. Cralter whose father passed away last week, and a pink and blue shower was given for Mrs. Jack Hymith.

Relief Bill Described As 'Slush Fund'

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Administration leaders, disregarding Republican queries as to whether a "slush fund" was sought, worked quickly today for house approval of President Roosevelt's plan to maintain relief spending at the present $1,500,000,000-a-year rate.

They were spurred, authoritative sources said, by a White House request that Congress expedite disposition of the relief issue so as not to delay adjournment.

In a letter to Speaker Bankhead, Mr. Roosevelt asked yesterday for discretionary authority to spend a $75,000,000 WPA appropriation in eight months, if necessary, instead of the full year as he originally recommended.

Colonel F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner, told reporters the $75,000,000, if spent during the first eight months, would maintain work relief rolls at the 1940 level of about 2,000,000 persons a month. Political implications were immediately read into the president's request by Republican critics.

Chairman Ditter (R-Pa.) of the Republican congressional committee said the discretionary authority sought would be "only another one of the instances so aptly defined by Justice Cardozo as a 'vagrant and unconfined power' and which, in an election year, might offer temptations that I feel certain the Democratic party would not care to deal with."

Rep. Fish (R-N. Y.) asked on the house floor whether "another campaign slush fund" was in the offing. Although there was conflict of opinion among members of the appropriations subcommittee considering the relief estimates, Democratic house members generally supported Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion.

The house today debated a bill to extend the federal crop insurance program to cotton. It now is limited to wheat.

The house yesterday approved the Logan-Walker bill to provide for uniform procedure by federal administrative agencies and for expedient court review of their orders and sent the measure to the senate.

Guymon Celebration Insured Against Rain

GUYMON, OKLA., April 18.—Guymon, Oklahoma, once considered by some as a part of the "dust bowl," sounded a note of optimism today when the Junior Chamber of Commerce dealt a death blow to the above idea by insuring their Annual Pioneer Day of No Man's Land Celebration to be held May 1st and 2nd, against rain.

With 18 dust storms in this section during the past eighteen months, the Jaycees contend that it is good business to take measures to protect a celebration which attracts 30,000 people and costs approximately $50,000.00 to finance.

Plans have been completed to have three mammoth celebrations in one this year due to the fact that this is the Golden Anniversary of the Oklahoma Panhandle and the Four Hundredth Anniversary of Coronado's Expedition across "No Man's Land." The greater portion of this gigantic celebration is free to all.

The Golden Anniversary will be depicted in a huge free parade beginning at 11 a. m. on May 2nd, with the history of the Panhandle unfolding to the accompaniment of twenty-five bands that will attend.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—Specialties were given a buying push in today's stock market while most leaders were left to flounder on a lower shelf.

Trends were jagged from the start and irregularly reversed in the closing hours. Sugar, Flouring and Oil issues, lacking support were weak. Aircrafts, Rubbers and Coppers.

Dealings turned active occasionally, although slow-downs were frequent. Transfers were around 1,200,000 shares.

The question of "who's winning" in the European war kept most Wall-Street quarters in an argumentative stew. Business news was more hopeful than otherwise. But even "good" items failed to excite traders.

Aviation For Youth Urged By Williams

Parents should encourage their children to study aviation instead of discouraging them, Colonel Roger S. Williams declared at a joint meeting of the Pampa Lions club and Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon in the basement of the First Methodist church.

Colonel Williams said that aviation "is here to stay. He pleaded for a better understanding of aviation as an industry, pointing out that old haphazard methods of getting into the flying business now are gone."

A boy has to be well trained before he stands a chance of becoming a part of aviation today," the colonel said. "It is to you men and women that your children look for guidance. Maybe you need education and I'm going to take it of you people up for a ride at the end of this program. I want to take up only people who have never been in the air before."

Colonel Williams stated that one thing that is keeping thousands of the air is fear—fear of criticism from those who do not approve of flying. It may be the wife or the boss, he remarked.

Children Love Planes
He said that many executives today, their minds on the horse and buggy days, refuse to accept modern transportation for the thing it is. These people, he said, in turn inculcate into the minds of their employes this billiard attitude against flying, and consequently a whole organization soon becomes anti-aviation in its outlook.

"Often we take one of those executives up and from them on he is an addict," Col. Williams said. "Colonel Williams said that in his travels over the nation, speaking under the auspices of Readers Digest, his magazine has found, after careful survey, that:

1. Of 200,000 school children contacted 60% to 75% already had been in the air at least once.
2. Sixty per cent to 75% had built and flown model airplanes.
3. In most cases, those interviewed said they had considered aviation as a career and a parental objection had discouraged them to the point where they had given up the idea.

The speaker then went on to give in detail just what aviation really is that it's a business today employing some 100,000 highly trained experts. That it encompasses some 150 specialized trades and industries. That within the next two or three years some two or three million people will find employment as part of the "fastest growing" industry in the world today.

Flight to Rome

Colonel Williams gave a word picture of his flight to Rome in 1929. He told of the takeoff in a dense fog and the flight through fog for hours and hours until suddenly flying into sunlight more than half way across the ocean. He told of becoming turned around in the dark and starting back to America and the near disaster when he tried to bank his plane.

He told about the near disaster when a large portion of the covering on the bottom of the fuselage tore loose but he and his navigator didn't know what was wrong until their arrival in Rome.

Colonel Williams was introduced by William Smith to whom he presented an aviation clip. To Garnet Reeves he presented a membership certificate in the Friend of Aviation group.

M. A. Guyman presented a brief report on appearances before the Texas Highway and Railroad commissions.

The Lions club turned its entire time over to the Chamber of Commerce and Colonel Williams who was presented through courtesy of Reader's Digest.

Hillier's Birthday Will Be Celebrated

BERLIN, April 19 (AP)—Publication of a decree by Adolf Hitler of amnesty for physicians, dentists and pharmacists convicted of offenses against their professional rules committed before last September 1 coincides with preparations for celebration tomorrow of the fuhrer's 51st birthday.

The amnesty actually was decreed April 6 but not published until yesterday in the official law gazette. The September 1 limit for the amnesty coincides with the date Germany went to war with Poland—the actual start of the European conflict.

As is the custom, Hitler's anniversary tomorrow will be celebrated on a nation-wide scale but the celebration will be subdued because of the war.

Key Nazis, however, prepared to pour out their flowery phrases of praise for the fuhrer. Speeches broadcast throughout the country in Hitler's honor will be a major portion of the observance of the anniversary of his birth at Braunau, Austria, near the German border.

Buildings have been ordered decorated with the Swastika flag.

At the direction of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering German for weeks have been contributing objects of bronze, copper, nickel, lead, brass and zinc to the war-time metal collection as the nation's birthday gift to Hitler.

Many Germans lined up at collection offices for the second time in a generation to yield house treasures for war purposes. During recent weeks trucks were seen hauling off all sorts of metal objects, from bits of Hitler and other Nazi leaders to chandeliers.

Bobbit Attends Denton Jubilee

DENTON, April 19 (AP)—State Highway Commissioner R. L. Bobbit returned today to the school he attended a third of a century ago and told celebrants of North Texas State Teachers college's golden jubilee how things had changed since then.

When he was a student, he said, the college had one building—today there are 15 major structures and a student body of 3,400. He lauded the early-day faculty for making the policies of the college which today is the largest state-supported teachers college in America.

The golden jubilee program opened last night with a presentation of "El Tor," a college-written and produced opera. It will be repeated tonight.

Tomorrow Dr. T. V. Smith of the University of Chicago faculty and congressman-at-large from Illinois, will speak.

Twins Have Twins

ALTOONA, Pa., April 19 (AP)—Railroad Fireman Russell L. Blotz and his wife, twins in their own right, are the parents of a twin boy and girl.

The arrivals yesterday were the eighth and ninth children in the family and the fifth consecutive set of twins in five generations of the Blotz family. Both parents have twin brothers.

Chinese is spoken by more persons than is any other language.

bring these four operations together so that they make sense and substantiate the suggestion of ultimate allied-Swedish cooperation. Starting north and working down we have:

1. Narvik is, as you know, the now famous port through which the Germans received most of their Swedish iron ore. A railroad connects Narvik with Sweden's iron mountains, and from these rich mines this railroad keeps on wandering southward in Sweden until it connects with that country's main system.

This road, which is mainly on Swedish soil, is Narvik's sole rail communication with the outside world. Except for the water route, and a state highway which makes its tortuous course through the towering mountains which grow out of the green sea, Narvik is as far away as the moon from Oslo and the rest of southern Norway.

However, Narvik is of vast importance not only as the iron-ore port but as the railroad through which allied reinforcements could be poured into northern Sweden to make their way south over the railway. That means to me to be the chief answer to the allied determination to possess this tiny dot on the Arctic map.

Importance of Trondheim

2. Trondheim is a large port, protected on its north by the mountains, and is the most northern railroad head for the main Norwegian railway system. It also connects with the Swedish lines.

Trondheim's importance to our plan therefore becomes apparent at once. It affords a gateway through which allied troops could be sent into central and southern Norway against the Germans without danger of an attack from the rear. Through Trondheim also soldiers and equipment could be fed into Sweden as the allies gained control of the railways and equally important, troops could come from Sweden into the central Norwegian theatre of war to operate against the Germans in the south.

3. We don't need to dwell here, Bergen, a little south of Trondheim, is also an important port and railroad but there is only a single line of railroad, which runs to Oslo through the mountains. It lacks the rail facilities and defensive features of Trondheim. However, it is essential to get the Germans out of there, and especially necessary to destroy the airport which is being used by the Nazis.

Stavanger is the largest airport in Norway, and the Germans have been using this for the landing of big transport planes with troops and supplies. The allied bombardment of this key position is an obvious development.

4. Depriving the Germans of the use of the sea for transport will isolate Sweden and Norway and so facilitate the allied attack on Norway. This naturally is one of the very essential parts of the program.

Well, there's what looks like the allied strategic plan to me. And it's pretty good plan even if they aren't following it.

Nonpareil Rubber Check Cashed By Maine Dress Shop

PORTLAND, Me., April 19 (AP)—Police have what they deem the nonpareil in "rubber" checks.

Printed by hand on plain paper, it was drawn for $20 on a nonexistent "Boston School Trust Company." The names of a signer, payee, and endorser were the same and all were handprinted.

A dress-shop clerk accepted the "check" in payment for merchandise and gave a man $9 in change, police were told.

Czechs Accuse Germans

PARIS, April 19 (AP)—The Czechoslovak national committee in France today published a blue book accusing Germany of "scientific barbarism" in universities and colleges of occupied Bohemia and Moravia.

The document said universities and large schools had been closed, students imprisoned, tortured and assassinated, and teachers exposed to persecution and jail sentences.

Pittsburgh was the first large city to have a professional football team.

LAND FORCES

Norwegian government of King Haakon and Premier Johan Nygaardsvold, ordering the Norwegian minister to Berlin to leave the capitol at once. The Germans cited the "hostile attitude of King Haakon," who is rallying his people to fight the Nazi invaders.

The Tommies who the British war office announced had landed in Norway and joined forces with Norwegian troops were reported today to have clashed with the German army at Namsos, on the Atlantic coast 100 miles north of the key city of Trondheim, from which the Germans apparently had been rushed to halt their enemy.

The report, carried by Reuters, a British news agency, said that the Germans had been repulsed.

The usual military decency had the size of the opposing forces.

The light for Norway seemed to be developing in three main sectors: about Narvik, the Arctic ore port at which the British presumably, could and forces but which is perhaps the most important of the parts of the country; about Trondheim, western port and rail center of great strategic importance; and about Oslo, capital and key to southeastern Norway.

Operations appeared to be well spread out from these centers, with the Norwegians for the moment at least staging a fighting retreat.

The Norwegian reported that in addition to having fought the Germans near the western port of Bergen and Stavanger—the latter now an important German air base which the British have been hammering heavily with both naval and bombardment for several days.

The German high command announced today that British naval forces and transport ships preparing to land troops at Narvik had been attacked by German fighter planes.

The German navy said it thought it had sunk three British submarines on a hunt for this type of craft in the Skagerrak and Kattegat, entrances to the Baltic Sea, on and over which Germany's lines of communication run to her troops in Norway.

At home Germany was preparing to honor Fuhrer Hitler by staging a nationwide observance of his 51st birthday tomorrow. The origin of the Hitler Elite Guard asked 33 savage the Fuhrer that they are "worthy of him."

France at Premier Paul Reynaud's demand held a secret session of her chamber of deputies to discuss the conduct of the war.

The possibility of the war spreading to the southeast continued to trouble the Balkan nations, which carried further a round-up of Germans within their borders and of their nationals suspected of pro-Nazi sympathies. In particular they were reported to be driving from within as they believe occurred in Norway prior to the swift German coup of April 9.

A lightening of the worries of the Allies in the far east was seen as a result of a prediction by the Japanese-controlled newspaper Yung Pao at Tientsin that the blockade of the British and French concessions in this important north China port would be lifted soon.

LONDON, April 19 (AP)—Allied maneuvers, including the first reported engagement of British and German land forces in Norway, pointed today toward a head-on clash of Europe's belligerents on the Scandinavian battleground.

A British news agency, Reuters, reported from Stockholm that the first encounter occurred at Namsos, on the Atlantic coast 100 miles north of the key city of Trondheim.

Capitalist reaching the Swedish city said the German forces had been repulsed. Swedish frontier reports said that Namsos was the point picked by the British for their latest, troop landings while Norwegian forces concentrated at Steinkjer, 30 miles nearer Trondheim.

Apparently the Germans had been rushed north from the German-controlled, strategic Trondheim region to meet the British landing parties. Perhaps they misapprehended or trapped the Norwegian concentration at Steinkjer, south of Namsos.

Operations Continuing

The British war office's second laconic communique since the spread of the war to Norway told yesterday of continuing debarkation of British troops on Norway's shores and of their contact with Norwegian forces and added that "operations are continuing."

A Norwegian communique, about the same time, said that contact had been made with allied forces "by both sea and land" and that the first allied liaison officers had reached Norwegian army headquarters.

Meanwhile German forces were reported feverishly fortifying their positions for an allied offensive against Trondheim, military key to central and southern Norway.

These reports, together with advice that Norwegian air patrols are deploying to harass the thin line the Germans have thrown across Norway to the Swedish border on the Trondheim-Storlien railway, give the blueprint for battle.

Newspapers held that the Germans had been cut off from effective help from the German fleet, which was described as crippled in the first week of the Norwegian campaign. Aerial transport of German troops was minimized.

Not a "sideshow"

Authoritative diplomatic quarters declared the British government was not "treating the Norwegian front as a 'sideshow' and that the Germans would encounter the full might of the Allied forces.

The latest loss to British shipping was the torpedoing of the iron ore steamer "Swainby," 4,935 tons, Wednesday night off north Scotland.

The sinking was disclosed when the 38-man crew was landed.

An air raid warning was sounded yesterday in the Shetland Islands when a German Heinkel plane appeared. It was chased away by British fighters.

On the diplomatic front the allies kept a close watch on the tense

Balkans and the tendency of allied diplomacy appeared to be striving for improvement of relations with Italy.

Only Six Finnish Cities Escaped Bombing During War

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Only six of Finland's 38 cities and towns escaped Russian bombing during the recent war, the American Red Cross was advised today by its representatives at Helsinki.

Outlining relief needs in Finland's recovery program, the reports gave this picture of the war's toll in the country:

10,000 combat dead; 4,000 wounded; 10,000 of them permanently disabled; 640 civilian dead; 1,500 hospitalized; two-thirds of them with serious injury.

440,000 homeless refugees from the Karelian Isthmus territory ceded to Russia in the peace.

An impaired harvest which is not expected to yield more than 65 per cent of the foodstuffs needed.

Pampa Students To Compete At Canyon

Several Pampa high school students will go to Canyon tomorrow to participate in the Region 1 Interscholastic league meet from which winners will be named for competition in a state meet in Austin.

Pampa won the District 2 meet here last Saturday with Berger second and Shamrock third.

Eligible to compete in the regional meet in Canyon tomorrow are members of the one-act play "Overtones"—the girls' debate team of Peggy Williamson and Helen Dudley; Sibyl Richards, typist; Hugh Stennis and Virginia Fore, singles tennis champions; Pat Flanigan and Qualls, track and field.

It was not known definitely today whether all would compete. Miss Fore suffered a badly cut hand in competition last week and may not be able to play. Flanigan is suffering from a foot injury and Qualls is out for spring football.

Wirtz To Support FDR For Third Term

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Alvin J. Wirtz, assistant secretary of the interior, asserted after a White House call today that he expected to "put in some licks for the third term" on a speaking trip to his home state of Texas.

Wirtz refused to say whether he had discussed politics with President Roosevelt, nor would he give any hint as to whether the President had signified any willingness for continuation of the third term movement in Texas.

Wirtz said he was leaving for Texas shortly, and as an individual rather than a public official. He said he had no definite speaking dates but would be gone two or three weeks.

Asked whether the President knew the purpose of his trip, the assistant secretary said he had no comment.

"I don't think new dealers in Texas would be willing to call off the third term movement and give the state to Vice President Garner," he said. "I think they would be willing to give Garner a complimentary vote and then go for a third term."

Texas, Garner's home state, will have 46 votes in the Democratic national convention.

"I think the people of Texas will make up their minds on this situation without word from Washington," Wirtz said. "The people of Texas don't want their vote to block a third term for the new deal."

Asked whether he thought Representative Rayburn (D-Tex.) and Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, were correct in indicating that the President did not want a third term movement continued in Texas, Wirtz replied by saying he had an idea they were speaking only for themselves just as he was.

Mobile Dental Unit Demonstrated By Texas Department Of Health

Editor's Note:—In connection with the observance of National Hospital Day, May 12, Pampa physicians and dentists have been asked to contribute articles relating to health.

It seems altogether likely that the proposed mobile dental unit may play a large part in giving the average school child the proper appreciation of his dental problems.

The Texas department of health has proposed a demonstration program of the mobile dental unit, for the approval of the public. It is proposed that such units be owned by the State and at least one such completely equipped unit is being demonstrated in Texas today.

According to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, the purpose of this program is to demonstrate a practical and economical method of teaching dental health to our youth and to the public with a view to establishment of a higher evaluation of this requisite to health and happiness, and incidentally, as a benefit to the dental profession.

Moved From School to School The mobile dental unit now being demonstrated is built in a large white trailer which is moved from school to school. A program is had by the school in regard to dentistry and the dentists of the community are urged to each give a part of his time in this mobile dental unit in examining and advising all school children, as a part of the program.

Movies in regard dental matters are shown in the class rooms and the teachers are urged to take an active part in arousing the interest of the children in the proper care of their teeth. It has been suggested that children who are unable to secure dental services otherwise, be given free clinic service and that the other children be given cards directed to their parents, indicating the dental needs of their children, and the suggestion made that they take their children to their family dentist.

This program will, at least, go a long way in causing school children and their parents to become aware of their dental problems and will enable the children to receive dental services at an early age.

Another good which will come from this program is that the children will become acquainted with the dentist and much of the fear which children have for the dentist will no longer exist, and the children will have confidence in and friendship for the dentist.

This mobile dental unit may be the answer to the many problems which are facing the dental public health in Texas and other states today. This program may satisfy in part the apparent demand for such civilization of dentistry. At any rate, a large percent of the farighted dentists see much good to come from the program, not only to the public, but to the dental profession as well.

It is believed that a dental educational program of this kind will cause at least half of the school children to become aware of their dental problems at an early age who would not have otherwise come in contact with a dentist until corrective and preventive measures would have little value.

It is to be hoped that this program will meet with the approval of the public and the dental profession alike, as it will work to their mutual advantage and benefit.

BEAUMONT, April 19 (AP)—The convention of the Texas Young Democrats opened here today with Lubbock, Corpus Christi and Fort Worth waiting campaigns to get the 1941 meeting.

A split in the San Antonio club, with both groups claiming the right to be seated, claimed attention of early arrivals. The Houston club, which has only five official representatives, although the club shows over 1,000 new members. Because the memberships were not filed with the secretary-treasurer by convention deadline.

The Houston chapter will have to go before the credentials committee to seat its delegates. The Houston wants the additional representatives in order to push Jimmy Brinkley for state president, opposing Price Daniel of Liberty, who seeks reelection.

Fred Harvey, Jr., of Corsicana, Earle B. Mayfield Jr., of Tyler and Chilton C. Briles, of Beaumont, are candidates for chairman of the executive committee. Julia Nami of San Antonio, Margaret Harris Gordon of Waco and Sue Wallace of Dallas are candidates for national committee women.

Dallas Slayer Dies In Electric Chair

HUNTSVILLE, April 19 (AP)—There were "no hard feelings" early today as Robert Ballard Walker, slayer of a Dallas filling station operator, went to his death in the electric chair in state prison.

He told his attorneys in death row goody, said he had "no hard feelings against anyone" and died with "God bless you all" on his lips. Walker, 27, was convicted of the murder of J. J. Mayfield Dec. 23, 1939.

This revival is being conducted in the interest of Christian family and home life and is designated as "Entire-Family" revival. Recognizing the place and importance of the home in its influence upon both the church and the individual, every effort will be made to make these services practical and helpful in making the home completely Christian.

At each service special recognition will be given each "entire family" present. At the close of the revival special honors will be awarded to each "entire family" attending every service, and recognition will be given to the largest "entire family" present at any service during the meeting. Cards of greetings will be given to those who are attending the Church of the Brethren for the first time.

The revival will open on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock with a dedication of new hymnals, the pastor preaching on the subject, "In the Time of Harvest." Evening services will be at 7:30 o'clock.

Civil Aeronautics Authority Praised By Visiting Flier

Reorganization of this country's aviation governing body, in which the air safety board is to be abolished, "is a lot of foolishness," Colonel Roger G. Williams, world famous flier declared while a visitor here yesterday.

He lauded the work of the Civil Aeronautics Authority which has done much to make the past year the safest in flying history. He gave the safety board much of the credit.

"They are trying to do away with the very organization that studied the airlines' problems and then suggested remedies that have contributed to a 13-month period of no accident flying," Colonel Williams said.

"Just when this board was about to begin a similar study of non-schedule flying it is abolished—when it is needed more thoroughly than ever before."

Col. Williams is trying to get the Civil Aeronautics Authority interested in applying a full psychological treatment to the teaching of flying and believes he's going to get his point over.

It's contention that there are different types of people who are learning to fly, and therefore, each student presents a typically individual problem to the instructor.

Wrong System Therefore, he says, an instructor should be able to "size up" a new student and determine what teaching methods are best for his case. "Trying to make every student fly the way you do is all wrong," Williams declares.

There are four types of person so far as their aptitudes are concerned—mental, motive, vital and natural, which is a combination of mental and motive. "Each one of these types uses a different learning pattern, and therefore must be taught in a different manner."

Colonel Williams flew 140,000 miles last year for Readers Digest, and he never missed a speaking appointment at one of the 300 towns he had scheduled. Might have been a little late arriving, but never late for the speaking engagement.

Rev. Doss Speaks To Large Crowds At Local Revival

The Rev. Thomas J. Doss, pastor of the First Baptist church at Terrell, who is conducting a revival at the Local Central Baptist church, has been speaking to a capacity crowd each evening during the week.

Rev. Doss spoke Thursday evening on "Why Neglect So Great Salvation." He said, "All humanity is obligated to God. Trusting Christ, joining the church, and observing its ordinances do not increase one's obligation. To do this you are discharging your obligation."

This evening he will speak on "Where Are the Dead and Will We Know Each Other in Heaven?" Tonight is special Sunday School night and all who are enrolled in Sunday School are urged to attend.

Thirty-eight additions to the church have been made during the revival as well as a number of re-dedications.

Tom Ed Vaughn, evangelistic singer, is directing the choir and congregational singing. Song service will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Mexico Will Recruit Workers, Peasants

MEXICO CITY, April 19 (AP)—New Soldiers for the Mexican army will be recruited among workers and peasants through an order issued today by the secretary of national defense.

The measure, military authorities explained, was taken to fill vacancies in the army.

Will this calf bring 66¢ a pound? It's HARD to tell...but EASY to pick a winning oil. TO encourage the great work of the 4-H Clubs, Phillips representatives frequently bid in 4-H Club prize animals, offering 66¢ a pound in honor of Phillips 66 products. Which of the thousands of animals now being raised will win? Even experienced judges of cattle can't answer the question until all the animals appear in the ring. But when you want a winning oil for your motor...you have a simple, easy, rapid way to pick the champion lubricant. To do away with all question and doubt, the great Phillips refining organization makes this plain, straightforward statement. If you want our best oil, remember we specify that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality...the highest grade and greatest value...among all the oils we offer. Ask for it, when you make the seasonal change in lubricants which every engine needs. Phillips Finest Quality

Will Japan Seize Dutch East Indies?

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Secretary of State Hull's warning (obviously directed to Japan) that the status quo of the Dutch East Indies must be respected, is a sharp reminder of the delicacy of the political situation in the Far East.

Blunt explanation of the anxiety for the safety of the Indies comes in the comment by authorities of the American, British and French fleets in Asiatic waters that there is "serious possibility" Japan may attempt to seize the East Indies if Germany occupies their mother country, Holland.

Mr. Hull's statement presumably was inspired by Japanese Foreign Minister Arita's declaration Monday that Japan would be deeply concerned over any change in the status of the East Indies.

Observers immediately thought they read between the lines a tendency to take a page from the Nazi book of wisdom as applied to the occupation of Norway and Denmark.

Now the basis of the suspicion that Japan might try to occupy the Indies "for their own good" has been provided by highly placed though unofficial Japanese themselves. They make no bones of their desire to possess the Indies.

The fundamental reason for Japan's desire to possess these rich islands is the need of their oil and other products to help Japan in her drive to achieve self-sufficiency.

For the Nipponese are striving to attain the same thing that Germany is—a position of absolute independence of the outside world for supplies, especially those necessary for war purposes.

The corollary to this program is that the western powers shall be deprived of the vast influence, economic and political, which they long have wielded in China. The unwritten policy of the Japanese in their invasion of China has been that the westerners must go.

The American action in cancelling the trade agreement with Japan, and the ever-present fear of Tokyo that the United States might declare an embargo on oil, has placed the Nipponese in a serious position.

Japan is dependent to a very great extent on supplies from the United States, especially oil, for the conduct of her war with China, or of any other war, for that matter.

The Dutch East Indies possess the petroleum which Japan needs.

You may know some one whose family tree you suspected contained a branch like this. Neither man nor monkey, this is actually a branch of a real pine tree. It was found, in one piece, near Big Bear Lake, Calif.

War Causes High Prices For Grains

CHICAGO, April 19 (AP)—The wartime grain market is offering American farmers higher prices for 1940 crops than they have received the past two seasons, due chiefly to the psychological effect of Europe's conflagration.

No part of the price upturn that has occurred since September—40 cents a bushel in wheat, 16 cents in corn, 12 cents in oats and 23 cents in rye—can be traced to any increased European demand upon domestic agriculture, grain experts said today. In fact, the war so far has restricted rather than expanded clearing of American grain surpluses to Europe.

Nevertheless, amid talk concerning means of stimulating the flow of farm products abroad, grain prices have stiffened, not only because of war but also, in the case of wheat, because of the prospective small domestic harvest and unfavorable crop conditions in Europe.

In the case of corn, withholding of 500,000,000 bushels from the market under loans has been a factor.

Spot wheat, quoted here yesterday at $1.12 per bushel for No. 2 red, and corn, at 72 cents for No. 2 white, are approximately the highest prices since October, 1937.

When the war began the United States had its largest carryover of wheat since 1934 and the world supply was the largest on record. Belligerents, however, had big reserve stocks and, as yet, have not been in the market for unusual quantities.

Furthermore, United States grains have been priced well above those of competing producers.

Grain exports since last July 1 have totaled only slightly more than 45,000,000 bushels, including 19,000,000 wheat and 21,000,000 corn. This compares with 102,000,000 shipped during the corresponding 1938-39 period.

1,000 To Join In Artesia's Big Entrada

ARTESIA, N. M., April 19—With a cast of nearly 1,000 persons, a four-act Coronado folk festival Friday will be presented here at Artesia's observance of the 400th anniversary of Coronado's arrival in New Mexico.

Six hundred Boy Scouts from southeastern New Mexico will participate as the conclusion to a two-day district encampment.

Artesia civic and official organizations are widely supporting the event and will furnish 350 of the cast, including member of the city's widely known Goat Ropers club.

Friday's program—a locally produced Coronado pageant—climaxes a folk festival which begins Wednesday with old Spanish songs, folk tales, Spanish singing games and Anglo singing and games.

Mrs. C. E. Robinson, chairman of the observance, announced she has invited Miss Elizabeth Garrett, author of the New Mexico state song, to direct the singing.

Mrs. Robinson is enthusiastic about the pageant and declared it "is going to be as nice as any of the major pageants in spite of the fact that it is home spun."

The Goat Ropers organization, business men who make a hobby out of rodeo sports, will furnish horsemen in Coronado's army depicted in the opening scene as New Mexico is discovered. Later its members take the parts of U. S. soldiers and finally Indians and cowboys as the pageant traces New Mexico history to statehood.

The Boy Scouts encampment is planned to provide a natural setting for several scenes of the pageant and the 600 or more youths themselves take part at the final curtain. P. V. Thornton, executive for the Eastern New Mexico Area council, is in charge of the Boy Scouts who open their meeting at Artesia Thursday.

ROOSEVELT SHOULDERS TO SHOULDER WITH COMMUNISTS
When President Roosevelt vetoed the Starnes bill, which provided for deportation of aliens...

While almost inconceivable, the present law does not require deportation of an alien after conviction of espionage or sabotage.

The immigration and naturalization committee of the House of Representatives and the Senate committee on immigration said in recommending this bill:

"This bill provides such automatic deportation, as well as the deportation of those aliens lawfully committed as habitual users of narcotic drugs."

President Roosevelt beclouded the difference between must and may, when he said in vetoing the bill, "I am in full accord with the view that the government should be empowered to deal firmly and effectively with persons guilty of espionage or sabotage."

"This, of course, substitutes the will of the head of the Department of Labor, rather than the mandatory order of the Congress, that these undesirable citizens must be deported."

Every communist in the land, of course, objects to having another communist deported, and to leave it up to a woman like "MA" Perkins, who believes in collectivism, judging from every one of her acts, and who does not believe in the right of free enterprise, the very antithesis of communism, is in reality to invite communists to enter the country and have practical assurance that they will not be deported.

Every communist should address Roosevelt as "Comrad Roosevelt."

IS NAME CALLING ADVISABLE?
The question of whether it is ever justifiable to call a man a name depends entirely upon whether it is merited and whether it is the best way to warn the public of his sinister motives.

Certainly to call a man a name without logically leading up to the cause of descriptive term, does more harm than good because it tends to confuse the individual, or reader.

On the other hand, to logically present reasons why a man is advocating things that are equal to robbery, quackery, hypocrisy or Communism, or to thus brand him as a robber, a Communist, or a quack, promoting his own interest, to the disadvantage of inexperienced people, is probably the only way to arouse people that he is taking advantage of them.

To discuss important questions and to deal only in generalities, without giving specific examples, is not very effective. It is hard to get the man with little experience to understand generalities. We all invariably learn from specific examples.

For this reason, it quite often becomes absolutely necessary to point out and specifically mention names of public officials or men who publicly speak on social questions and claim to have a way that will benefit humanity and refuse to answer rational questions as to how their theories can be put into practice.

It is this kind of men for whom there is no name too strong to describe them. And probably it is necessary to use very strong terms in order to warn the public as to how they are being misled.

A name, when it properly describes a public crook, is simply good English, whether it offends some people or not. It will be remembered that Jesus talked about the hypocrite, those who prayed in public, those who said and did not, and the dogs and the swine and the wolves in sheep's clothes.

Of course, it is always wise to be sure that your name describes and is not emotional or thoughtlessly used.

and Freedom. The league is unusually strong in Denmark—has more members there than in the United States, in fact—and it has taken thousands of Jewish refugees under its wing.

A big co-operative association had been formed. New industries were started, whole villages taken over, Jews who had lived in cities all their lives were learning to be farmers on land bought by the co-op.

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON
HOLLYWOOD, April 19—In case you haven't noticed the change in Rochelle Hudson, who for 11 years and 75 pictures was a sort of prodigal priestess of the gilded temples of the drama, I should like to point out her emergence as a glamor girl.

"I don't mean 'comph girl,' because I don't mean the habit of thinking 'Savage Girl,' Miss Hudson displayed plenty of that quality. Today she is seen in almost equally interesting evening things—skin tight—but in the loosely-termed category of sophisticated instead of sobbing in her chimney corner, she thumbs a ride in a pumpkin taxi, crashes the ball and leaves it (alone) with a pair of glass slippers AND a mink coat.

HER MARRIAGE CHANGED THINGS
"The usual routine is to begin as a glamor girl, and then go into 'sophisticated' roles," she said. "I just reversed the formula.

"The reason, so far as I can see, is that I'm married. Producers don't like to admit the passage of time. They got into the habit of thinking of me as a 14-year-old kid who could emote at the drop of a remark, then, about a year ago, I got married, and all of a sudden they realized that I'd grown up. So I get glamor parts.

"My age has been the subject of so many of my fan letters that I've taken to broadcasting it. I'm 24 (on March 6) going on 25, and some day I'll be 70. But I'm always opening some such let. or as this: "Dear Miss Hudson: We got to arguing about your age today, and grandma says she saw you in a picture at least 15 years ago, and that you must be about 35. I don't think you are more than 30. Please advise."

"So you see why I like to tell my age. It's in self defense." She likes her roles well enough—"because now I can wear nice clothes and look my best. But I'm down and do some of the things I've wanted to do for years. I want to paint, and compose a little on the piano, and study some voice and dancing."

READY VACATION
I wondered, aloud about that career-girl statement, considering her 11 years as an actress—Miss Hudson said: "That's just it—I've already had my career. I don't have to work now, but I still like it. Acting is so much of a habit that it isn't a strain any more, but I do believe in long vacations. I've made my living with my face, and it has taken quite a beating and needs time to recuperate. As soon as this 'Babies for Sale' picture is finished, my husband and I are going clear out of the country for three months."

She wants to go to South America, and especially Brazil because a lot of her fan mail comes from there. Any place she wants to go is okay with her husband, Hal Thompson, because his business is exploiting a group of American inventions all over the world.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim
On your "must see" list should be the high school one-act play, "Overtones," which you can go to tonight at the auditorium. Every married person and every person who expects to get married some time will be interested in seeing the play because it brings out the fact that most of you seldom marry the person you would like to marry.

Then, remember how you feel or fell when your husband or wife sees again the person, he or she might have married if something hadn't happened? Does that sound like double-talk? Well, there used to live in Pampa a woman who married an artist, and she loved him dearly. Previously this artist went with another girl who loved him but who married somebody else. Now when those two women meet it's touchy business because both love the same man. Well, that is the plot of "Overtones." So we know that it is true to life. You'll enjoy the symbolic light and shadow that sound like lines of the two "other selves" of the two women.

Back to the dog show... The person who wrote a letter and suggested that the New sponsored a dog show was Ralph E. Morrison, who owns a chow, Ralph doesn't want credit for the idea but he's going to get it anyway.

Genz Howe, editor of the Amarillo News, wrote in his column yesterday that "Mason King and the News-Globe are figuring on a big dog show in Amarillo this spring, summer or fall." Mr. Howe mentioned that the Pampa dog show has aroused "the most general praise and commendation. Rarely has there been anything that has attracted as much attention... Why just scores of people from Amarillo drove over to Pampa and entered their dogs and some of them got blue ribbons and are being repeated over there every year and we should have and will have a dog show over here."

And this one agrees with Mr. Howe... Next year our plans call for a show that will be limited to registered dogs and trick dogs, so get papers on your dogs or teach them tricks, and if you want to know how to teach them tricks see Harry Schwartz or H. L. Jetter. Next year the show, the correct name of which is the Pampa News Panhandle Kennel club show, will be held inside, and the kennels will be built of timber and will be supplied with drinking water.

How can we tell that premature babies are doing nicely? When they take their feedings well without vomiting. When they sleep between feedings. When body temperature taken by rectum remains between 98 and 99 degrees Fahrenheit. When they have no difficulty in breathing nor show any blueness of face or body. When they gain steadily, but not necessarily rapidly after the proper routine has been established.

The question is often asked, "Can premature babies grow up normally and become well and strong as full-term babies?" The answer is, "Yes." If these babies have no serious developmental defects and are taken care of by the most approved modern techniques.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

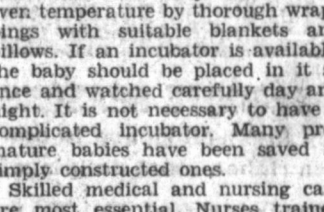

By RICHARD ARTHUR BOLT M. D., D. P. H. Secretary, Maternal and Child CAN WE SAVE PREMATURE BABIES?
A great deal has been accomplished in reducing the number of deaths of babies under one year of age, but this has been done largely after the first perilous month of life. Deaths in the first month still remain unduly high.

If we are to make further progress in the reduction of infant mortality we must attack the causes which lie back of the earlier deaths. This is largely a matter of good prenatal and obstetric care.

The leading cause of death in the first year is prematurity. Premature infants are considered those whose birth weight is five pounds or less.

These babies require special care on account of the following deficiencies: They have weak digestive systems and cannot take the normal feedings of full-term babies. They are very susceptible to changes in temperature, especially to exposure to cold. They are particularly susceptible to infections and having little resistance, often succumb. They are liable to have trouble with their breathing.

The general bodily weakness of premature babies may turn the tide so that special measures must be employed to save them. Fortunately we have at our disposal means to overcome a number of the unfavorable conditions. In the first place we must protect them from cold immediately after birth and keep them at an even temperature by thorough wrappings with suitable blankets and pillows. If an incubator is available, the baby should be placed in it at once and watched carefully day and night. It is not necessary to have a complicated incubator. Many premature babies have been saved in simply constructed ones.

Skilled medical and nursing care are most essential. Nurses trained in the details of caring for premature babies should be employed.

How can we tell that premature babies are doing nicely? When they take their feedings well without vomiting. When they sleep between feedings. When body temperature taken by rectum remains between 98 and 99 degrees Fahrenheit. When they have no difficulty in breathing nor show any blueness of face or body. RACKET-BUSTING Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican presidential candidate, stole the show from a Hollywood movie actor at the luncheon held for Mr. Dewey in the Amarillo hotel at Amarillo yesterday.

The dining room was jam-packed with 400 to 500 persons who had come to hear and to get a look at the New York glamour candidate. More than 1,000 were turned away.

Mr. Dewey called upon his Democratic and Republican friends to turn out the New Dealers at the polls in November. The dynamic New York district attorney told the Democrats, in the audience that they hadn't had a representative in the White House since 1928. Getting back to that Hollywood movie actor:

HE WAS EVERETT EDWARD HORTON, the comedy star, who happened to be in Amarillo yesterday with a stage show. He was at the Dewey luncheon but there probably were no more than two dozen persons in the crowded dining room who knew that the filmland big-wig was seated at a table only a short distance from the guest of honor, Mr. Dewey.

Heading the Pampa delegation at the Dewey meeting was Dr. V. E. von Brunow, Gray county Republican chairman. The luncheon seating capacity had been sold out the night before, and by the time Mr. Dewey began speaking the standing room also was at a premium.

The presidential candidate spoke rapidly. He was in a hurry to make train connections on his lightning-like trip en route to California. His listeners, of course, were predominantly made up of Democrats. He opened his guns on President Roosevelt, but being gracious to his audience he demarcated the president, not as a Democrat, but as a New Dealer.

SOME OF his broadsides against Mr. Roosevelt were a bit difficult for many of the auditors to take, but some of them were received with great rounds of applause. As we were about to leave the hall, one old fellow standing in the lobby cracked this one: "He may be a gang-buster all right, but we don't want no young squirt like that for president of the United States."

Say what you will about Thomas E. Dewey, he has something that wins friends and influences people. It's a cinch he won't do a Pincocchio in Amarillo yesterday when he let the present administration have it with both barrels about the national debt, mounting at the rate of a million dollars a day on the falacy that you can spend yourself into current prosperity by leading the burden onto your children and grandchildren to struggle with in the future.

Dewey figures, too, to have to pay the fiddler. IN THE "Clearing House" column on today's editorial page is a letter from W. A. Noland, of Pampa, who has an idea about what could be done to make Pampa's Recreation Park a more useable play-spot for Pampa citizens. His idea is a good one, and while the letter is submitted for the consideration of the city commission, we'd like to suggest also that Mr. Noland take a committee and appear before the commission at its next meeting to explain his proposition more in detail. The commission meets in City Hall at 2:30 p. m. next Tuesday.

HAS AMERICAN REPUBLIC BEEN OVERTHROWN? By GUS W. DYER Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

The "New Deal" is new only to those who are ignorant of the history of government. It is simply a reversion to a type of government that was discarded as a failure by the founders of our government.

The "New Deal" is a return to the type of government represented by the "democracies" of the past. The founders of the American Republic fully comprehended the danger of the majority from doing anything the leaders would not do. It is this that has created the "democracies" which we find ourselves wanting today.

Lord Macaulay, the English historian, writing over eighty years ago, said: "The purpose of the New Deal is to pack the Supreme Court with to destroy the power of the Supreme Court and the authority of the Constitution to restrain the will of the majority from doing anything the leaders would not do. It is this that has created the 'democracies' which we find ourselves wanting today.

News Clearing House

Editor, The News: I am writing you in regard to a plan for a project which I think, as many others do, would be a great asset to Pampa as a summer resort. I would like to have you and your paper support this plan.

In the following I will attempt to outline my idea which has been talked by several people of the town.

The plan is this: To get the city to enlarge the lake at Recreation Park plant trees, fix roads and make a park out of it that would be an asset to Pampa, and a place where the people might go on Sunday afternoons and evenings.

It is my belief, as others, that there has been a lot of money spent on the recreation at the lake, but done practically no one any good. But with a small amount of added expenditure it could be made a place that all Pampa could be proud of.

There are a great number of men who have boats and motors who would spend many evenings and afternoons at the park away from the busy streets of town and get a lot of enjoyment watching the different boats perform on the lake. From your own observation you probably have noticed how cars turn off the road and go to the pond out there when they hear the purr of an outboard under power.

As I see it, this transformation could be made with a very small amount of expense. As for the lake, about all that would be needed would be to get an excavating machine and cut the lake that is out there now back further on the sides to a depth of five or six feet, and cut the sides of the channel back to each side above the lake that is now there. The county, I am sure, has one or two of these excavating machines which I am sure could be obtained.

W. P. A. labor could be used to set trees and build a few boat docks and roads. After the lake had been excavated, I am sure once it was filled, the rain would maintain it. It is really surprising when you get to studying the lake that such a small amount of expense it would be to transfer this eye-sore into something that every Pampa citizen could use and get some pleasure out of.

It do not believe you could find one public-spirited Pampa citizen who would not endorse this plan. I am soliciting the opinion and aid of others if they can see this project as a worthy one.

Angels Will Play Oilers Again Tomorrow

St. Jo Team Has Lost One Plains Game

The St. Joseph (Mo.) Angels will make their last appearance of the season against the Pampa Oilers Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Road Runner park. It will also be the last game before the opening of the season Tuesday unless a game with the Civic club can be arranged for Sunday afternoon.

Owner Earl Hamilton and his Angels will leave after tomorrow's game for Missouri and the opening of the Western association. The Angels have lost only one game during their stay in the Panhandle and that a rout to Amarillo. Since then they won two games from the Gold Sox. They drubbed Clovis, Borger, and Lubbock also.

The Oilers will officially open the season here on Tuesday afternoon against Gordon Nell and his Borger Classens.

In a long workout yesterday afternoon Oiler pitchers were putting stuff on the ball and the infielders were handling balls better and throwing better as the warm weather got into play. Two new players appeared on the scene in Day, an infielder from Arkansas, and Robinson, a pitcher from San Antonio who has played three years of ball in the army. Both will be given a chance.

Cadwell and Hughes returned from Independence, where they were called because of family illness, and were in the thick of the fight yesterday.

Yes Sir, Red Sox Pitching Is Sparkling

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
All during the spring, reports came out of the southland that the Boston Red Sox pitching, most flagrant if not only weakness of the Sox last year, would be sparkling this season.

It certainly is so far. Lefty Grove shut out the Washington Senators on two hits in the opening game Tuesday. Young Jim Bagby came back with another five-hit 7-0 shut-out against the Senators yesterday. If other members of the Boston staff can follow the American League unquestionably is in for a fast race. The Red Sox have everything else. As a team they were better hitters last year than the New York Yankees and their fielding was satisfactory.

They look to be as good or better in both departments this term. Yesterday Jimmie Fox socked his first home run of the season with two on and the club got seven runs off nine hits. Dominic DiMaggio, the rookie right fielder, hit a double and performed well in the field.

The Detroit Tigers may be another troublemaker in the junior circuit. They are gluttons with power as long as old Charley Gehring is at second. He and Hank Greenberg combined to give the Bengals a 4-2 decision over the St. Louis Browns yesterday. Greenberg hit a homer with one on, and then Gehring got on base and Greenberg tripled and finally Gehring hit a homer of his own. Another veteran, Tommy Bridges, contributed careful seventh-inning hurling.

The Cincinnati Reds are living up to their spring boasts, too. They nosed out the Chicago Cubs 2-1 again with Gene Thompson holding the Bruins to five hits and shutting them out until the ninth, when he made a wild pitch with the bases loaded. But that was after rookie Mike McCormick and Bill Myers had doubled, each with one on in the eighth, to upset Claude Passeau's apple cart.

These were the only games yes-

Raiders Play In Canyon Tonight

CANYON, April 19—Spring football has been given new interest at West Texas State by scrimmages between the Buffaloes and Texas Technological College—a series of friendly tussles designed to give an advance glimpse of the 1940 machines.

The two squads will meet again here next Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All fans are invited to see the scrimmage without charge.

Conceding that the Texas Tech squad is more advanced and generally in better condition, Coach Jack Curtice of West Texas State said he was not interested in comparisons between the teams but in today because of continued unfavorable weather. All clubs shifted scenery today and the eight that were visitors in Tuesday's opening games were to make their home debuts with the usual pomp and ceremony.

Improving the play of each of them. "Offensively, we are without speed because of the illness of Price, the injury to Cornell, and Sander's recent operation," Curtice pointed out. "But we will be in better condition than we were in Lubbock last Friday," he added.

Added to Curtice's backfield worries is the illness of Tiger Lee McLaury and the failure of Roy Lee

Grant, Cooke, Guernsey Win In Houston Tourney

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
HOUSTON, April 19 (AP)—Blay Grant, the sharpest little ball-hawker who ever slid over the River Oaks courts, faced his greatest test of the current tournament today.

Three consecutive times the dumpy Atlanta scrapper has won the River Oaks title. To get within striking distance—the finals—again, he had to eliminate Edwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., seeded No. 2 just ahead of Grant.

Each was extended yesterday, and it was a toss-up which would take the semifinal battle. Cooke bounced Billy Umstaeter of Louisiana State University 6-3, 9-7, but only after a battle. Grant contented himself with hitting the ball back at young Edward Alloo of Berkeley, Cal., until the youth simply erred himself out of competition, 9-7, 6-4.

Bobby Riggs, national champion, and Frank Guernsey, defending titlist from Rice Institute, will meet tomorrow in the other semifinal joust.

Guernsey's tilt with Wilmer Allison yesterday was easily the greatest match of the tournament. Allison, old war horse of international tennis, had the gallery excited with his shot making. He started off with a splendid lead, but tired quickly and Guernsey swept past, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

freely Fabyan of Boston, seeded No. 1, and Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco, ranked fifth nationally. Mrs. Fabyan yesterday eliminated Eunice Dean, San Antonio, 6-0, 6-2, and Miss Wolfenden beat Nina Brown, British Wightman cup player, 6-4, 6-2.

SERIAL STORY

K. O. CAVALIER BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

Copyright, 1940, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY The motor machinery is delivered safely. Eddie and Val decide to do some more work and Val insists on driving along with them. She finds their pace too slow, goes on ahead. A tip goes flat. Val waits for Eddie to change it, and amazes when he leaves her sitting beside the road.

CHAPTER XX

VAL gasped as they continued on their way. Then rage swept over her and she stamped her foot helplessly. "You wretch!" she cried, but they didn't even turn around. Val watched them until they were out of sight around a curve and then sat down on the running board. She wondered if she could change the tire herself. She got out the jack, jiggered with it experimentally and then decided she couldn't do it. All she could do was sit there until someone came along. And that might not be for quite a while. She remembered there had been a farmhouse a couple of miles back. Maybe she could get help there. Val started out.

POP GRIMES was grinning widely. "She'll be raving a blue streak. What made you do that, anyhow?" "Sudden impulse, I guess. And anyway, I've owed her one like that."

Eddie chuckled. "Did you get the look on her face when we left her standing there?" "Val was still a good quarter of a mile from the farmhouse when it started to rain. Just a few drops at first, and she looked up into the sky. The sun was completely gone. She quickened her pace, but two minutes later the clouds really opened up. By the time she reached the house she was drenched. A kindly, gray-haired woman let her in and Val explained her predicament. It was an hour later before the woman sent her son, a pleasant 18-year-old lad, back with Val."

Her hair was still soggy, her shoes heavy with damp mud. Altogether she felt so miserable she could have cried.

She gave the farm lad a dollar when he had changed the tire and then she started back to Prince Rupert.

Val returned the car to the garage, made a couple of purchases in a drug store and took a cab back to the Northern Belle. It was a bedraggled and steaming Val Douglas who matched up the gangplank.

Steve Hansen noticed her and followed her to her cabin. "What happened, Skipper—bump into a little rain?"

She slipped out of her coat. "That isn't the half of it, Steve. Oooh, wait'll my turn comes again!"

She told him what had happened. Steve Hansen spraddled a chair and grinned up at her. "Honey, where's your sense of humor?"

"Sense of humor!" she almost screamed. "Do you see anything funny in that?"

He nodded gravely. "I do," he said. "Look, Val, don't you know he's just been itching to pull a fast one on you?"

Steve patted her on the back. "Better get into some dry clothes . . . and see if you can work up a smile of some sort by the time they get back."

She looked at herself in the mirror when Hansen had left, and her face slowly broke into a grin. "You're right, Stevie," she said softly to herself. "I think I'll shock Mr. Cavalier with my sweet nature when he returns."

She changed back into slacks and moccasins and rejoined Hansen on deck.

"We're taking on about three tons of salmon," he told her, nodding to the crates which were being swung aboard the ship. "Rest of the hold will be filled with Holiday lumber. We ought to be able to up anchor sometime tomorrow morning."

"The flight's next Thursday, you know," she reminded him. "That gives us five good days to get back to Prince Rupert."

"We'll do it in four," he promised.

Eddie and Pop got back just in time to take a shower and rubdown before evening mess. Pop's face was beet-red and he was breathing heavily. Eddie's face was covered with perspiration. They had jogged all the way through town instead of taking a cab down to the waterfront. Muscles get stiff and sore when they cool off too suddenly and Pop wasn't taking any chances.

Eddie shaved and got into some fresh clothes. Val flashed him a big smile. "And where were you when the rains came?" she inquired sweetly.

"High and dry in a barn down the road," he replied easily. "But rumor has it you weren't so fortunate. Too bad." He made a sympathetic, clicking noise with his tongue.

"I can see you're breaking down with grief. Y'know, you're one lucky guy that I have a sense of humor. I was all set to put the curse of the Clan Douglas on you, but I remembered," she said gravely. "I remembered it" wouldn't do for you to fool around with jacks and tires and stuff. Might smash a finger or tear a ligament by accident, and then where would you be?"

He glanced sideways at her and decided he didn't like the way she was offering his excuses or framing his own alibi for him. Nope, he didn't like the way she was taking it.

"By the way," she continued. "How'd you feel this afternoon? How far did you run? How's your wind and all that sort of thing? I might as well file a couple of hundred words on your first land excursion."

"Oh, fine. Swell. Tip-top. Want any more adjectives or will those do?"

"They'll do," she murmured. "Anyway, I get the general impression. You'll murder the bum—unquote."

DUSK was settling over the waterfront when a silver-winged monoplane dropped out of the south. Steve Hansen, puffing meditatively on his pipe, watched it come.

"Don't see many of those things up this way," he observed.

Eddie, squinting at the ship closely, saw it slant down toward the bay.

"Hey, it's a seaplane and it's setting right down there in the harbor."

"Nothin' to get excited about, I don't suppose."

"Seaplanes don't set down at Prince Rupert every day, you know."

"Mebbe he lost his way."

It was Duffy Kelo, wandering off into town by himself, who discovered that the occupants of the plane hadn't lost their way. Duffy was addressing a picture posted in the hotel lobby when someone slapped him on the back.

"Hi, Duffy!"

It was a robust, enthusiastic sort of slap and Duffy almost caved. He whirled around. His eyes popped.

"Kenny Bradley! Hey—who—what th' . . ."

Ken Bradley, boxing writer of the San Francisco Express, grinned widely as he introduced the man with him.

"Duffy, meet Bob Monroe of the Post. He and I have a slight bit of business to talk over with you—where no one will see us," he added.

Duffy frowned. "Sure . . . sure, I know where there's a little place. But what brings you guys here?"

"A dame by the name of Val Douglas, to put it mildly," Kenny said. "Come on, let's go."

Battle Over San Antonio's Young Demo Group Looms

BEAUMONT, April 19 (AP)—A fight over seating the San Antonio delegation, one faction of which is led by Mayor Maury Maverick, loomed today at the annual Texas Young Democrats' convention.

The convention opens tomorrow and Maverick is due to go before the credentials committee and urge seating of his delegation. The other San Antonio group is headed by Miss Julia Nami, state secretary of the Young Democrats.

The Bexar county club in January elected a new slate of officers not recognized by Miss Nami, who was president of the club. She retained all records and her supporters elected a slate of delegates to the convention.

President Price Daniel of Liberty arrived here yesterday and established headquarters. He said he was ready to oppose a reported move on the part of Maverick and his allied groups to defeat him for re-election.

Daniel recently criticized Maverick for allowing the Communist party to hold a meeting in San Antonio's city auditorium.

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel is expected to be one of the speakers, among whom will be Mrs. Clara Driscoll, Texas national committee-woman from Corpus Christi; Earle B. Mayfield Jr., Tyler, national committee-woman; Ernest O. Thompson, railroad commissioner; Harry Hines, state highway commissioner; State Sen. Allan Shivers, Port Arthur; Jerry Sadler, railroad commissioner; Myron G. Blalock, Marshall, past state executive committee chairman.

U. S. Navy Plans New Dreadnaughts

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Convinced that Japan is building at least 45,000-ton battleships, Admiral Harold R. Stark said today that the navy contemplated future construction of superdreadnaughts of 50,000 to 52,000 tons.

The chief of naval operations told the senate naval affairs committee he believed Japan was building eight of the large type vessels.

Earlier in a statement the navy renewed its advocacy of a major air and submarine base at Guam, tiny American island outpost, 1,500 miles from Tokyo.

Learning Easiest At Ages 20 to 30

AUSTIN, April 18 (AP)—The 20-30 age bracket is the one when adult learning is easiest and most useful, Dr. B. F. Pittenger of the University of Texas told the Southwest regional Conference on Adult Education here today.

"Until the age of 45," he said, "the adult mind is perfectly receptive to learning, as long as the adult can tie it with his practical needs and experiences."

Favorite Son States Skipped By President

By W. E. RAGSDALE

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt appears to have imposed at least one restriction on his clamorous third term boosters. It is: stay out of states which have favorite sons of their own.

The clamp used to lock the brakes on the third term drive in Texas is an example of the application of such a rule. The fact that the agitation has been held down in such states as Indiana, Tennessee, Montana, Missouri, North Carolina and Alabama is further evidence that such a dictum exists. All these have potential candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Simple observance of normal political etiquette usually dictates such a rule. That it seems to have been laid down by the White House would not necessarily be any clear sign to the presidential attitude toward a third term. Most candidates stay out of the back yard of their opponents.

They reserve their fighting for open battlefields. In the case of a president, backed by state organizations and patronage strength, however, there are no battlefields on which any other man in his party can meet him on equal terms. Nevertheless, the contests in which Mr. Roosevelt's name has been used are in states which have no candidate of their own—Illinois, Nebraska, California, Wisconsin, Oregon, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New Hampshire.

In Texas, the situation almost got out of hand before the White House stepped in. Even yet, there are rumbles which may signal future troubles. Secretary Ickes went to Texas amid a flare of talk against the candidacy of Vice-President Garner. Many said that he would set off the fuse for the third term drive in Garner's home state.

But those who profess knowledge of what happened say he did not. Signs of the White House hand show here, too, as well as in later efforts to stop the drive. Insiders say that Mr. Roosevelt has no disposition to fight with his vice-president for the Texas delegation; that he is fully aware of the bitterness such a contest would engender; that he wants a harmonious delegation from Texas.

Lithium, potassium, and sodium, the three lightest known metals, will float on water.

Spot For Fifty Leading Actors For Entradas

There's a spot for some 50 Southwestern actors on the cast each of the Coronado entradas, major pageants to be given at 17 cities in New Mexico, Arizona and West Texas this summer.

That word was passed out today by Neale Walters, director for the Jerome Cargill company of New York which will produce the entradas.

About 20 of these characters will require persons who know what they are doing," Walters explained. "Professional experience is not necessary, but Little Threater and radio experience will be helpful."

The 50 characters will be the corps about which the entire entrance cast of from 500 to 800 persons will be built. Casting of the first entrada has started at Albuquerque and the first rehearsal is scheduled Monday for the Coronado premiere at New Mexico university stadium May 29 to June 1.

Walters said the script requires six main voices and two pantomimists, which he hoped to combine in six acting parts. If he is unable to fill the parts locally, professional talent would be required. It is expected this group would travel from city to city.

These chief voice parts are Coronado, Alvarado and Cardenas, captain in Coronado's army; Fray Marcos, whose report on the finding of one of the Seven Cities of Cibola led to Coronado's expedition; Beatrice, Coronado's wife; and Senora Sanchez and Senora Perez, the women of Coronado's expedition.

Atonement To Be Discussed Sunday

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 21.

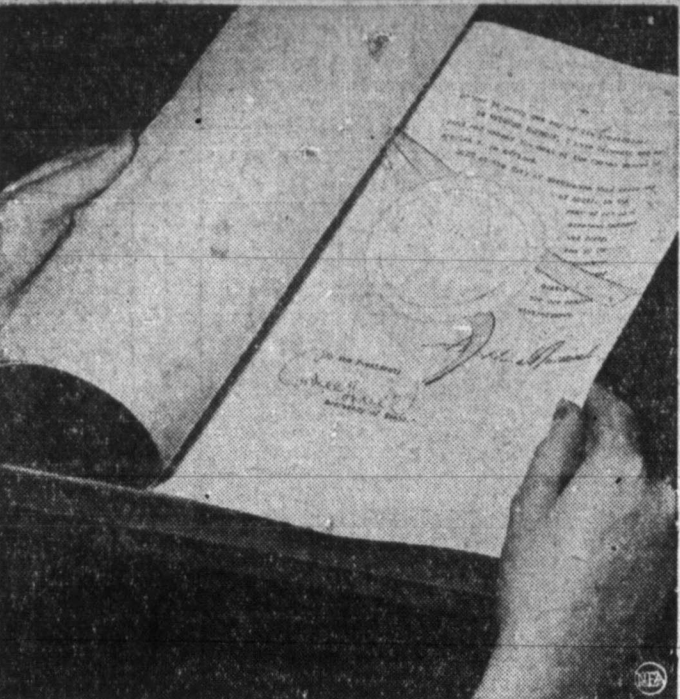

The Golden Text is: "The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many" (Matthew 20:28).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing" (II Timothy 4:7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The scientific unity which exists between God and man must be wrought out in life-practice, and God's will must be universally done" (page 202).

As the population of cities grows, the birth rate declines, statistics show.

Germany Sends 'Trojan Horses' Into Balkans

BUDAPEST, April 19 (AP)—Germany was suspected in many quarters of the Balkans today of having rolled "Trojan Horses" into the little southeastern countries.

The Reich, according to these circles, has embarked on a policy of sending thousands of Germans into southeastern Europe and making deals with disgruntled nationals so that internal crises might be provoked and putches be attempted whenever such events might serve Germany's ends.

Whatever Germany's aims, it is a fact that southeastern European countries are waging a relentless campaign to exterminate pro-Nazi elements suspected of preparing the way for an eventual German invasion. They began acting after the German invasion of Norway.

Hungary, Yugoslavia and Rumania met the asserted threat by clamping a tighter control on all foreigners and the last two countries went forward with plans to expel numerous Germans.

All three governments, and Turkey as well, were on the alert for nationals of pro-Nazi leanings. In Yugoslavia, the government raided the home of former premier Milan Stoyadinovic, who was known as "Germany's friend" when he was forced out of office a year ago, and homes of his colleagues who left their places of power with him.

WTSC Professor To Speak In Wheeler

Allies Expect Major Battle At Trondheim

STOCKHOLM, April 19 (AP)—Norway, with allied aid, stiffened her resistance to the German invasion today as fighting the length of her tortuous western coast forested a major engagement in the Trondheim area and a determined stand inland north of Oslo.

A war picture was pieced together from scanty accounts by Norwegian government sources and Swedish newspaper dispatches.

These indicated the Germans were increasing the extent of their hold on Norway but that the allies and Norway had established contact and were preparing active collaboration against the Nazi legions.

Tonsberg at the mouth of Oslo fjord surrendered to the Germans without opposition yesterday. British officers were reported to have reached Hamar, 60 miles north of Oslo, where the Norwegian government made its first headquarters after fleeing the capital. This was the first outward sign of active allied-Norwegian cooperation and probably meant the officers had been flown inland from coastal points where the British have made landings.

Hamar remained in Norwegian hands but the arrival of German troops, moving northward in buses behind motorcycle patrols, was expected momentarily. Small tanks were observed in the south moving toward Hamar.

Signs pointed to the abandonment of the town itself and the establishment of defense lines a short distance north. Log barricades ten feet high were erected across the highways to delay the German advance.

Dispatches said the Norwegians believed they could hold out for some time near Hamar and Eivertun. The Norwegian legation said the first joint military conference of Norwegian and allied leaders had been held after contact had been established in the Trondheim area.

German Attempts Thwarted
There were reports a British landing would be attempted at Andalesnes, 100 miles southwest of Trondheim at the head of Romsdals fjord. Such a move probably would be aimed at encircling Trondheim and gaining control of the railway which runs southeast to the region where Norwegian forces are putting up resistance north of Oslo.

Namsos, 100 miles north of Trondheim, was thwarted by an allied landing party in that region, the Norwegian legation said.

The legation summary pictured Norway's civil and military authorities as confident of being able to make a stand in defense of their present positions with Norwegian military mobilization completed now. Otherwise the summary offered little encouraging news to the embattled Norwegians as the Germans expanded their Oslo region territory and accomplished running out operations in other areas where they have established central bases.
