Germans Claim Capture Of Vital Rail Point

NEW CONTRACT ASKED OF SCHOOL ARCHITECT

Nazi Columns Close Gap As Dombas Falls

Orders Praising Soldiers Issued By Adolph Hitler

(By The Associated Press) The southern half of Norway was falling today like a ripe plum into the hands of the German invaders.

Official announcements in Berlin reported two important successes. They said:

1. The Nazi expeditionary force has bridged the last gap between its columns moving north and northwest from Oslo and south from Trondheim.

2. Dombas, vital railroad junction 100 miles south of Nazi-held Trondheim, has been captured by the Germans.

There were no details in Berlin on the reported seizure of Dombas, where allied forces had tried to stop the German steamroller in several days of heavy fighting.

The meeting of the two Nazi columns was southwest of Storen, another vital railroad junction about 80 miles north of Dombas.

Adolf Hitler prepared a special order of the day to praise the German soldiers who established the connection, driving back Allied forces which apparently were unable to cope with the Nazi power despite the arrival of reinforcements.

(By The Associated Press) Germany claimed today to have established land connections between her main Norwegian base at Oslo and the west coast port of Trondheim.

This would be a damaging blow to the Allies who still, apparently, are unable to resist the Germans' rapid drive through mountainous central Norway despite the arrival of reinforcements.

Although the German line evidently is long and thin, it means that Nazi forces have laid down a front to defend their hold on southern Norway—the important part of the invaded kingdom.

It means that the Germans are in position to isolate Allied forces which advanced inland from the coast to try to stem the lightning Nazi drive toward Trondheim.

Germans Turn Tables It means that the Germans have attained a strategic hold on communications and have turned the tables on the Allies' effort to cut off Trondheim from the Norwegian interior with forces moving north along the seaboard from Andalsnes and south from Namsos.

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons he considered it contrary to the public interest to make any statement on the British campaign in Norway.

The admiralty, however, disclosed that two submarines—the 1,095-ton Tarpon and 678-ton Sterlet—were overdue and must be regarded as lost. Their combined crews normally would have 125 men.

HAIRY GUYMON GETS READY FOR PIONEER DAY

This is the way the barber shops will look at Guymon after 6 p. m. May 2, when the men all shave off their long beards and get ready for the modern barber which terminates their annual Pioneer days of "No Man's Land" celebration. Previous to this hour the entire population wear the regalia and depict the lives of the pioneers who settled "No Man's Land."

Reception Planned For Smedley Butler

A reception will be given for Major General Smedley D. Butler when he arrives in Pampa Friday afternoon, preceding his address that night in the high school auditorium.

Place of the reception has not yet been decided, but the time will be from 5 to 6 o'clock. Ex-service men, and especially marines who served under Butler, are invited to attend.

Directed by A. C. Cox, the Pampa Junior High school band will play "The Marine Corps Hymn" and other songs on the program opens at 8 o'clock Friday night at the auditorium.

W. J. Smith will be master of ceremonies, and Dan Williams, who served during the World War in the 13th Marine regiment, commanded by Butler, will introduce the speaker.

General Butler is coming to Pampa from Tulsa. From Pampa he will go to Amarillo where on Saturday night he is to address members of the Knife and Fork club.

More than 500 tickets have already been sold for the speech Butler is to deliver here. The program is under the auspices of the Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion.

Awarded 17 Medals General Butler has received 17 medals, 15 of them from the United States, and two from foreign countries.

In addition to two Congressional Medals of Honor, the general has been awarded two distinguished service medals, and one medal each of the following:

Brevet, West Indian campaign (Sampson medal), West Indian campaign (Spanish-American War medal), Philippine campaign, China Relief expedition, Marine Corps expeditionary, Nicaraguan campaign, Mexican campaign, Dominican campaign, victory, Yangtze (China).

Haiti awarded him the Medaille Militaire and France the Order of the Black Star.

Boat Club To Plan Trip To Buffalo Lake

The Mc-Clellan Boat club will be well represented at the opening of Buffalo lake Sunday. There will be a large delegation of members, several racers and entries in the bathing beauty review.

Final plans for the club's participation in the opening will be made at a meeting of members, their wives, and anyone interested tonight at 8 o'clock in the city auditorium.

That procedure was suggested by Rayburn and Johnson in telegrams. See DEMOCRATS, Page 3

Word was received here today that Miss Elaine Murphy of Pampa, student at West Texas State college, Canyon, has been entered to represent Pampa in the contest.

All persons planning to attend the lake opening will meet at the city hall at 8 a. m. and go to the lake in a group so that moving pictures of the arrival can be taken for showing in Panhandle theaters.

Commander Earl McConnell of the Mc-Clellan club urges every boating enthusiast in this section of the Panhandle to attend tonight's meeting. The club is not the Pampa but for everyone in the area.

The Beautiful Lake Marvin Boat club of Canadian is expected to join the Mc-Clellan group in the trip to Buffalo lake.

War Flashes STOCKHOLM, April 30 (AP)—German troops in Arctic Narvik, their artillery smashed, were reported to be clinging to shore-line machine-gun nests under heavy bombardment from British naval forces.

Advices from Riksgrensens, Swedish border station on the iron ore line from Narvik, said that the Germans had lost all their mountain artillery positions, and that a German battery in a Narvik churchyard had been destroyed by British guns. A mortuary chapel also was smashed.

BUCHAREST, April 30 (AP)—The Allied campaign to cripple Germany's Danube trade was advanced a step further today when 27 French-owned barges and tugs left the river enroute to Istanbul.

More than 300 barges and tugs leased or purchased by Allied agents during the winter to keep them out of the Nazi service were reported sent to Istanbul in recent weeks.

King Announces As Constable Candidate J. C. (Jim) King today authorized The Pampa News to announce his candidacy for constable of precinct 2.

In connection with his announcement, Mr. King said: "I have been a resident of Pampa since 1926 and have been employed by a local firm for the past 10 years.

Setbacks Conceded By Britain On Land, Sea

Texas Demo Leaders Urge Compromise

(By DREW MIDDLETON) LONDON, April 30 (AP)—The British conceded setbacks today on the land, sea and diplomatic fronts.

Military sources said the Germans had captured Storen, railroad junction 30 miles south of Nazi-held Trondheim, which may prove to be the key to the whole campaign in Norway.

The admiralty announced that two submarines were overdue and must be regarded as lost. They are the 1,095-ton Tarpon, which carried a normal crew of 33, and the 678-ton Sterlet, whose normal complement was 40.

This raised Britain's loss of undersea craft to seven of the 57 with which she entered the war last September and the known loss of life to 188.

Two Trawlers Sunk The admiralty also disclosed the sinking of the 452-ton Trawler Bradman and the 590-ton trawler Cape Siretoke, but said there was no loss of life in either case.

As trade talks with Russia struck a snag over Russian exports to Germany, Ronald H. Cross, minister directing the British blockade, pleaded for American "understanding" of economic warfare.

Cross said that copper, rubber, tin and other materials, much of it from the United States, were reaching Germany through Vladivostok, Russia's Pacific port, in such quantities they were an "undoubtedly serious" leak in the blockade.

He told the American chamber of commerce that "we wonder sometimes how far it is generally realized in your country that important supplies of key war materials have reached Germany in this way."

The 43-year-old minister of economic warfare declared it to be "our hope that measures which have been forced upon us will not in the long run be to the economic disadvantage of the United States."

Division Story Denied Cross declared there was no foundation for tales that Britain would divert orders of mail to British exporters.

Some of the mail to American exporters was estimated that Britain would purchase £10,000,000 (about $56,000,000) worth of American foodstuffs as compared with $20,000,000 (about $70,000,000) during a normal year.

However, he added, "there is no doubt that our total imports from the States will for a long time to come be very much greater than they have been in recent years."

The Royal Air Force swung into action on the Norwegian coast, bombing Fomebu airport and engaging German bombers in several air battles. Two Nazi planes were shot down.

'Cooperation' In Rushing Plans Asked

Board Decides To Fireproof New School Building

"Complete cooperation" and a "renewal" of a contract were asked at noon today of Architect William Townes of Amarillo by the school board of the Pampa Independent School district.

The school board decided to ask for the new contract with the firm which drew the plans and specifications for the new high school building after Attorney Arthur M. Teed informed them that the death of Rabey Funk, member of the firm of Townes and Funk, architects, automatically ended the school board's contract with that firm. Mr. Funk died several months ago.

The board discussed whether to renew Mr. Townes' contract, then voted to renew it. E. C. Sidwell, who was recently elected member of the board, suggested to the architect that the board would expect complete cooperation in the matter of rushing plans and specifications.

It was brought out at the meeting that architect's plans had not been furnished quickly enough to satisfy the WPA which is spending over $50,000 on the building. Mr. Sidwell also stipulated that the architect have a representative at purchasing sessions of the board, and that he advise them on problems concerning buying of materials and equipment.

Decisions Made Recently It was also brought out at the meeting that in the last month or so, the school board has decided to semi-fire proof the new building which is now under construction.

The previous agreement of contract with the architect did not call for any sort of fireproofing. Then it was learned that a new school building at Clovis, N. M., that was not fireproofed had been destroyed by fire. About the same time it became apparent that previous estimates on the price of brick steel and other materials were too high for the school would be able to buy them for far less than their original estimates.

The board then decided that a decision to semi-fireproof the building would be wise. They also learned that the school board would save $600 a year in insurance if the building were semi-fireproofed.

This morning Mr. Sidwell offered a motion which was seconded by V. L. Boyles, other new school board member, to semi-fireproof the building. The motion carried unanimously.

Asked $1,000 Bonus Previous discussion at the session, indicated that one of the angles connected with fireproofing the building was Mr. Townes' request for $1,000 bonus in additional fees. This sum was the price he would charge for changing the plans in addition to the $7500 to be paid 5 per cent of the cost of semi-fireproofing, making a total of around $1,800.

Mr. Townes has already been paid $7,500 as part of his architect's fee which will be 10 per cent of the cost of the building. The $7,500 was paid when he turned over the plans and specifications to the bidders. His contract calls for payment of the remainder at various intervals.

Mr. Sidwell, supported by the other members of the board, suggested that the new contract which Mr. Teed was instructed to draft, provide for payment of the rest of the amount due the architect at the completion of the job.

Mr. Townes at first said that he would confer with his attorney in Amarillo, but after subsequent conversation he agreed to the board's proposal for a new contract, and commented sympathetically on the board's suggestion as to the manner of future payments due him.

The board discussed their relations with Mr. Townes, the fireproofing of the building, and the semi-fireproofing of the building. See NEW CONTRACT, Page 3

Omahan Finally Obtains Passport To Leave Italy

OMAHA, Neb., April 30 (AP)—It appears that Angelo Vint, former Omaha high school student, won't have to be a soldier for Mussolini after all.

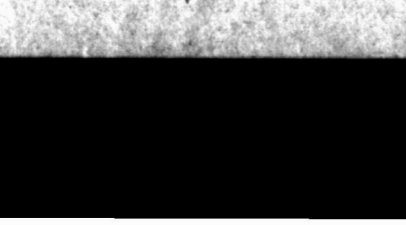

Angelo stayed away on a ship bound for his native Italy last November. Since arriving there he has been a member of the central African colonies with pleas for aid in obtaining a passport, so he could return home and escape being drafted into the army.

Rep. McClughlin (D-Neb.) sent word that the American consul at Palermo, Italy, has been authorized to issue the passport.

Rhodesian Troops In Suez SUZ, April 30 (AP)—The first contingent of southern Rhodesia troops, a volunteer unit composed of British, Rhodesian and Indian troops, landed here today to augment the Australian, New Zealand and Indian forces in the near east.

MAKING TWO WINDOWS LOOK LIKE ONE

If you have two rather narrow windows close together, your room will appear more spacious if you treat the two windows as one unit, joining simple straight lunings at the outer sides, at graceful valance across the top and, if you wish, a single length of material concealing the wall space between.

It takes very little trouble to keep your vacuum cleaner working efficiently. Clean the dustbag inside and out, preferably after each sweeping, dust off the metal parts; keep handy the instructions for oiling that come with the sweeper and oil accordingly; keep the brushes free from threads and hairs; and don't try to pick up sharp objects that may pierce the dustbag.

It was reiterated several times by members of the board that they were not getting "the proper cooperation."

The board decided to give Mr. Townes a new contract before they called him into the room, and announced that they would pay him the $1,000 bonus he asked for drafting semi-fireproofing plans.

It was expected by members of the board that they would sign a new contract with Mr. Townes shortly, and they expressed the hope that delays in the future would be eliminated and that "everything and everybody would move along happily."

Members of the board present were C. P. Buckler, president; Boyles, Sitwell, R. S. McConnell, and L. L. McCollin; Roy McMillen, business manager, and Mr. Toed.

In a brief called session yesterday afternoon, the Pampa school board purchased 270,000 light color face brick for use in the new high school building north of the city. Excavalast night to Texas factional leaders. The telegrams sent after the two representatives had shown them to President Roosevelt, were handed to reporters in the White House lobby.

"We can't beat the republican party in November," the messages said "if we concentrate on beating each other now."

Rayburn, House majority leader and a friend of both the President and Garner, said that "it will be a delegation that is not mad at anybody. It will represent all factions." He and Johnson expressed the view that "an understanding would not be displeasing to the President."

The telegrams went to Myron G. Blacklock, manager of the Texas Garner-for-president campaign, and A. J. Wirtz, undersecretary of the interior. Wirtz recently went to Texas to drum up support for a third term.

Selection of national convention delegates continued, meanwhile, with a primary election today in Massachusetts. On the republican side, an unpledged slate of 34 headed by governor Saltonstall was opposed by one filed by William H. McMahers, an old age pension advocate.

In Rhode Island republicans in convention yesterday selected eight unpledged delegates, and Oklahoma republicans chose 23 uninducted ones.

GERMANS

ively to have shot down two Nazi planes.

A military source in London said the Germans had captured the important railway junction of Stora, 30 miles south of Trondheim, and described the Allied position in the Dombas sector as difficult.

Although the report that Stora had been captured was not confirmed officially in London, informants conceded that the Allies were under heavy pressure in that sector.

A brief German communique said the land contact had been made southwest of Stora between Nazi troops "advancing north from Oslo by way of Tynset and south from Trondheim."

The German high command communique earlier had reported advances all along the line toward Dombas.

The prime importance of Stora is acknowledged in London. The railroad lines through the Gudbrandsdal valley — along which the Germans are driving north of Oslo — merge there and run as one to Nazi-held Trondheim.

Heavy air attacks reported on other Norwegian fronts, the German communique reported: Rapid progress toward Bergen, on the southwest coast;

Heavy air attacks on Allied positions in the Marnas and Arzobisnes regions, flanking Trondheim on the north and south, with six ships sunk or severely damaged and bases set afire;

Two or three "enemy submarines" victims of "the German U-boat hunt in the Skagerrak and Kattegat."

Reports of extensive air battles in Norway, which one source described as the greatest in history, held the French ministry's attention as developments on the Western Front remained at a virtual standstill.

An authoritative British source said that two German planes were damaged in battles with British aircraft off the Norwegian coast.

The British apparently were encountering difficulties also on the diplomatic front.

Sources close to the foreign office in London said Soviet Russia, had deemed it best to negotiate a trade agreement as unsatisfactory.

The obstacle, these sources indicated, was Russia's insistence that exports of goods to Germany and "her own affairs" but, they said, the Soviet position is "still under consideration."

Hungary Issues Warning

Meanwhile, potential trouble brewed in southeast Europe where Hungary warned German-protected Slovakia that she would "not hesitate to act in defense of her national honor" if the rights of the Hungarian minority in Slovakia were not respected.

Read by Foreign Minister Count Istvan Cseky in the Hungarian parliament, declared Slovakia must effect remedies quickly.

According to Swedish reports, Allied reinforcements in Norway landed at Sunndals Fjord, northeast of Andalsnes, and at Nord and Sogne Fjords, to the southeast.

At Namos, farther north, the French reported that they had eight deaths in nine days of fighting, and 7 wounded.

3 Groups From High School To Be In Concert

Pampa High school will be represented by its trio, choir, and mixed chorus in the spring concert to be presented by the music department of the Pampa public schools at 8:15 o'clock Thursday night in the high school auditorium.

The trio will sing Barnby's "Sweet and Low," the choir, Fox's "Rain and the River," and the mixed chorus Bland's "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

As a part of the combined group of 382 high school, junior high, and elementary school students, the high school singers will join in Mann-"Serenade" and Berlin's "God Bless Serenade" and Berlin's "God Bless America."

The first number will open the concert, while the latter two will conclude the program.

Junior and senior high choruses will be combined in the singing of "Make Me Smile," "The Road," and "Sibelius' Finlandia."

There will be 77 high school singers participating in the annual music festival, arranged by Miss Helen M. Martin, supervisor of the Pampa schools, and the following directors: Miss Mable Scary, Miss Winifred Wageman, junior high; Miss Margaret Williams, Baker; Marion Reichling, Horace Mann; Herbert L. Miller, Sam Houston; Royce Park, Woodrow Wilson.

shot down, it was reported authoritatively.

While the war office kept silent, a military source said the Germans had taken the hotly-contested Stora and described the Allied position in the Dombas sector, 30 miles south of Stora on the Oslo-Trondheim railroad, as "difficult."

In Berlin, the German high command announced that Nazi troops from Oslo and Trondheim met today on the railroad southwest of Stora and established land connections between the Norwegian capital and the vital west coast port.

The German attack repulsed

The military source here said the British fought "magnificently" on the night of April 28-29 and repulsed a German attack southeast of Dombas. Several tanks were reported destroyed in sharp fighting.

The Allies were reported to have landed more troops on three points on the western coast of Norway. The British also were said to be using large flying boats to speed specially trained and equipped troops to the Norwegian fjords, where they were ordered to prepare for air and land operations.

In the efforts of the British to negotiate a trade agreement with Russia the Soviet stand that the Russian exports of food to Germany is Russia's "own affair" has made more difficult Britain's attempt to between Italy and the Allied brotherhood have been rather strained. This has given the impression—and probably was intended to—that Mussolini was preparing to join Herr Hitler against England and France.

MACKENZIE

However, I still think Duce will be governed by circumstances at the time he has to choose sides. There have been no indications that he has any deep affection for either the Allies or his partner in the axis. What I believe Mussolini is doing is this:

The Italian people, while loyal to their Duce, have little liking for Herr Hitler or Nazi principles.

It seems quite logical to think that Mussolini not only is preparing the public mind for war but is building up a case so that if he feels it necessary to join Hitler he will have got Italy ready for it. If Duce already knows that his people would follow him into war on the side of the Allies.

It is reasonable to believe that Mussolini expects to have to come into the war, possibly in the near future. Certainly he has made it clear that he expects to have a large hand in peace, and in this connection one recalls his words of twenty-five years ago when he successfully campaigned to bring Italy into the World War on the side of the Allies:

"The vanquished will have a history, but not the absent. If Italy remains absent, she will be once more 'the land of the dead.'"

BUTLER

its forts was invaluable in contributing to the American victory.

Heroism in Haiti

His second medal of honor, won in Haiti in November, 1917, was a brilliant example of fighting and leadership. With 23 marines Butler scaled a 300-foot embankment and stormed Fort Reveire, heavily occupied by Cacos.

With two men he crawled through a drain pipe and captured the citadel.

The Quaker marine general became the center of an international incident when he referred to Premier Benito Mussolini as a "hip-run driver" before the Contemporary club in Philadelphia. When reports of his speech reached Washington he was ordered by Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams to explain his remarks in a letter to the head of a foreign government.

His explanation was not satisfactory to the Washington authorities and he was ordered to stand court-martial. Secretary of State Stimson sent an apology to the Italian ambassador and preparations were made by the navy department for the trial. Suddenly it was called off by Adams on the grounds that the department was satisfied that Butler was not aware he was speaking for publication.

The fiery marine subsided for a time, only to return to the fore with a demand that the government interview a statement said to have been made by the Haitian minister that Fort Reveire, for the capture of which Butler was awarded a congressional medal of honor, did not exist. Several days after his letter was sent to the navy department, Butler spoke before the 312th Field Artillery association in Philadelphia.

When he used the word "hell" in quoting a marine sergeant, the control room of radio station WELK, which was broadcasting his speech, cut him off the air.

A week later, speaking in Philadelphia, he expiated his error, and as a spy in Mexico City in 1914 for which he was awarded his first Congressional Medal of Honor.

Butler retired from the marine corps on Oct. 1, 1931, on his own application after 30 years service.

Shall Courage Be Wasted?

It is the shameful thing to have to report that some people snickered a little when Paul Sato's "ark" was halted by Seattle authorities as he was about to sail for Alaska.

Courage and determination and the unshattering dream of a better future in a new land are never things to laugh at.

Sato's story is an epic of courage that should make the snickerers feel humble and ashamed. It is a fountain of inspiration and hope to see such determined bravery in our time.

Sato was unemployed in Richmond, Va. Using odds and ends of material, he built a strange-looking "ark" and an amateurish and flimsy 40-foot boat. He loaded it on a trailer and hauled it all the way across the country to Tacoma, Wash. He supported himself and his 10 children by doing odd jobs.

For six months at Tacoma he prepared for the journey to Alaska. He worked at what he could get. He worked at his boat.

Gradually he equipped it in makeshift fashion for a 1500-mile voyage—a voyage by a landsman in a home-made boat through unknown waters, with no guide but vision of a new land where he might live out a future for himself and seven children.

Authorities stopped him at Seattle. The boat wasn't strong enough, hadn't enough power. The children wouldn't be safe.

No doubt they are right. But can the United States afford to see Paul Sato thwarted? Is this kind of courage so common that it can be cast aside?

How safe were the western pioneers when they pushed off for the west in clumsy wagons, facing hostile Indians, and brutal blizzards, and starvation? "Pike's Peak or Bust!" read the scrawled slogans on the Conestoga wagons, and whitening bones along the trails testified that many fell short. Yet the west was won.

Without attempting to judge between Sato and those who are holding him up at the moment, there is something there on the Seattle docks that must not be wasted. It is courage and determination and initiative, and it must not be frustrated.

Alaska needs men like Paul Sato, and the United States needs them, and the world!

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, April 30—The man the Republicans nominate for President this year will borrow a spectacular leaf from FDR's book. If plans now being pushed by high party officials are adopted.

In brief, the idea is to have the nominee make a burryup trip to Philadelphia immediately after his nomination and address his acceptance speech to the delegates at the grand climax of the convention, just as Roosevelt did when he flew to Chicago in 1932.

As outlined tentatively, the speech would be delivered in Franklin Field, the University of Pennsylvania's big football stadium in Philadelphia, probably on the final evening of the convention. In that way, it is argued, the nominee and the party would get a rousing send-off for the campaign, and the anti-climax usually caused by the long wait between nomination and acceptance would be avoided.

Acceptance of the plan depends chiefly on the reaction of the leading candidates, who are being sounded out now.

YOU CAN'T TELL JOB BY ITS NAME

There are 17,000 different kinds of jobs in America today, and nearly 30,000 titles are used to describe them—and lots of the titles don't mean at all what you'd think.

This appears from a study of the new Job Directory just brought out by the U. S. Employment Service, after five years research by a staff headed by William A. Stead.

A pulpman, for instance, isn't a minister; he is a chap who charges and discharges a steel furnace. If you get a job as a screen ape, you won't be working in Hollywood—you'll be in a mine, screening coal. And a cat skinner is the operator of a tractor, not a taxidermist.

Similarly—a moocher is a gent who inspects rivets, joints and seams in steel structure. A doodler is a coal miner who scrapes up the fine coal left in the grooves made by cutting machines.

A flathead is a man who feels trees for a living, and a punk is any beginner on a construction job. You can be a masher, a lurer or a necker without being any sort of a ladies' man; you needn't be a tough guy in order to be a fisticuffor or a scalper.

WAGNER ACT VICTORY COSTLY

A year ago the New Deal licked all efforts to modify the Wagner act. Now it is paying through the nose for that victory.

Top-heavy though the House Democratic majority is, that body is "way off the reservation. It passed the Walter-Logan bill with a whoop, is about to amend the wage-hour law, and will probably go quite a way with Congressman Smith's Wagner act amendments.

Last year's House couldn't get any action on the labor law, all amendments were smothered quietly in committee. Despite widespread feeling that the law at least had a few quirks that ought to be straightened out, the administration would listen to no talk of change.

So the House got sore. Its soreness branched out to executive agencies in general, and now it's getting even. And the ironic part of it all is that if in 1939 the New Deal had agreed to the Wagner act amendments which it is now sponsoring, almost all of its present troubles would have been averted.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life - - - By R. C. Holles

NEVER EMPLOYED BUT MUST BE PAID

Few people realize the extent to which believers in collective bargaining and the Wagner Law go.

The National Labor Relations Board has just ruled that the Millan Company (Tennessee shirt company) must pay two years' back pay to 42 workers who have never been employed but were refused employment in May, 1938 because they belonged to the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

It seems that no matter what a union stands for, no matter what its demands may be on the employer, no matter how inefficient the workers may be, an employer has not the right to refuse to hire these men. If these union men want jobs and the employer employs them, even though he prefers to hire people who believe in the competitive system and do not want more for doing work than other people are willing to do, the employer has no right to refuse to hire these men. If he does, the Board will order him to give them jobs and pay them back pay.

And, yet, we have people who defend the Wagner Law and contend that this kind of decision, which in reality is the same with all their decisions—interference with freedom of choice—does not interfere with the employment of labor.

It is difficult to believe that a man, who has foresight and judgment, will desire to go into business, when he cannot do the most important thing in business—select his help who believes as he believes; and when, if he should possibly win, the government has a right to take any fraction of what he gets from him.

It is only the people who do not think of all conditions who believe employers would go into business under these conditions.

And the men who employ labor of any consequence are men who take everything into consideration before they proceed to employ labor. It is only the man who does not take everything into consideration and, consequently, has no savings, who believes in these labor rulings compelling people to pay for help they do not hire and do not want, that believes this will not cause unemployment.

The whole thing resolves itself down to class legislation. The employer does not have equal rights to exchange his services as labor does. That is the reason we are short 15,000,000 jobs.

MRS. "TOILET-SOAP" ROOSEVELT

Mrs. Roosevelt has complained about public comment on the lives of herself and the children. She says that they should be left to live their normal lives.

But when Mrs. Roosevelt lives an entirely different normal life from what every other President's wife in all history has lived, it is only natural for the public to take notice of her ideas of what the duties of the wife of the President should be.

This comment is even more timely now than at any other time, since Mrs. Roosevelt has just signed with a toilet-soap manufacturer to go on the radio for commercial purposes.

While some people contend that she gives her earnings to charity, this does not in any way alter the case. She has the pleasure and right to select the charity to whom she gives it.

As Frank Kent says, "It is not easy to relish the fact that a toilet-soap manufacturer can hire the wife of the President of the United States for a purely commercial purpose."

"PROMISERS"—MAN'S WORST ENEMY

Our trouble comes not so much with private business not living up to its promises but to people who pose as being great friends of labor making promises that they have no intention of carrying out, or cannot even explain when asked questions as to the way their promises would work.

If there were any one service that I could be to society, it would be to put people on their guard so they will pay no attention to and not be influenced by any man who poses as being interested in his fellowman, who will not frankly answer questions and who continues to advocate things after he refuses to answer questions because, by doing so, he would contradict himself.

These promoters are the worst enemies to society. These are the people who have fooled the honest working man, too busy to study social problems, and have caused him to vote for things that have brought on the worst and longest depression in our history.

"COAL THROUGH PIPES"
 (Detroit Free Press)

As if the railroads did not have troubles enough, an Ohio chemist has devised a new way of despoiling them of revenue.

The coal is to be pulverized, suspended in water by an undisclosed chemical and then piped to its destination, where the water would be removed in "a matter of minutes."

The pipelines have already taken away much of the railroads' oil hauling business.

And now if they were to lose the coal hauling business they would indeed be in a bad way.

A number of rail executives are said to have shown an intense interest in the possibility that this is more than a pipe dream.

The Standard of Ohio is saying nothing, though, about its plans.

And coal men have an idea that it will be several years at least before the railroads need worry seriously over having their coal business piped away from them.

HAVE WE A HERR GOEBBELS?
 (Detroit Free Press)

The Los Angeles Times printed this item in a recent issue:

"Fear of license revocation hangs like a sword of Damocles to curtail freedom of speech by the way of the radio in at least some broadcasting stations, it was learned yesterday.

"One Los Angeles station recently handed a broadcaster a printed card on which was the statement: 'Due to Federal Communications Bureau regulation and censorship of radio broadcasting stations and possible revocation of license, no jokes or derogatory remarks concerning federal government, officials of the federal government, state officials, or President of the United States are permitted over the air. Please be governed accordingly as we do not wish to embarrass our station.'"

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, April 30—More than six years after the repeal of prohibition, Movietown still would be mourning the demise of the speakeasy if thoughtful promoters hadn't been providing substitutes.

Hideaway-drinkeries are very popular among movie people now, although so far as I know the places are all licensed and perfectly legal. Merely by calling themselves clubs and pretending to be hard to get into, they satisfy the yearning of old habits who used to get a kick out of ringing three times and asking for Joe.

Some are quite fancy and offer no more than an impression of exclusiveness and the privilege of paying annual dues. Some offer state air, semi-darkness, and bartenders who know everybody and his business. To stimulate Monday trade, one outfit has set aside a room for a Hangover Club, a sort of red-eyed inner circle, to which only members with week-end hangovers are admitted.

Another prospering establishment charges double prices because its members are provided with gold keys so that they can go around to the side door and let themselves in. A third club sells a customer a bottle, keeps it on a shelf with his name on it, and then socks him 50 cents for each slug of his own liquor.

A friend of mine plans to rent an empty cave, to which members who have paid a $200 fee will be allowed to bring their own chairs, tables, whiskey, ice and soda after the manner of the past. The vault door. He expects to clean up.

POLICE ARREST
 (Chicago Herald-Examiner)

Some of the pubs along Hollywood and Sunset boulevards become genuine speakeasies at the stroke of 2 a. m., which is curfew for legal liquor sales. Patrons admitted after that time must be identified. Prices go up.

Back rooms and basement rooms are opened for select parties. Police raiding squads are on the prowl. Whenever officers are lured by liveness, they drop around and arrest the newest set of proprietors.

Gambling always has been conducted in Hollywood, particularly in the section called the "county strip," which is not under jurisdiction of the new city government's crusaders. These places are cheerfully patronized by people who'll tell you that the wheels are wired, that the dice are loaded and that the dealers are sleight-of-hand artists. "Sure it's a sucker joint," they say. "But then, Hollywood is a sucker town."

MENUS IN FRENCH WITH TRANSLATIONS

Of the legitimate bright spots, Citro's is getting most of the star treatment these evenings. New, big, glittering and expensive, it strains for elegance and smartness and wishes to be known as the haven for gourmet and dilettante as well as the (moneymed) brains and beauty of the movie colony.

So Citro's takes full-page ads in a local trade paper under the title "Evening menus in French, but with each item accompanied by an English translation. Thus one may learn, if he cares, that "Entrecote de Bœuf à la Flamande" is a steak garnished with a couple of hunks of carrot and sausage.

Any day, now, I expect to find accent marks and phonetic aids to the French pronunciations. An old-hater of foreign-language food lists, I once asked a waiter, "If 'Pomme Anna' is cottage fried potatoes, why the hell don't they just say so?"

He grinned and whispered in elaborate burlesque, "Mon-seigneur, ze cottage fried potato do not seem to fit in wia a swell joint like this!" Speaking of night clubs, a new one called "The Pirates' Den"

It begins to look as if Arthur (Alley Oop) Sheridan and Ed (Bull) Birch are going to give the other bearded boys a race for the prizes in the whiskers-growing contest, but of course dark horses are continually turning up. Both Alley Oop and Bull are untrimmed and they have not had a razor on their face or neck since they began growing them. Sheridan already has a mustache that is waxed on the ends and is a dead ringer for Coronado's.

Birch has golden red whiskers. The Jaycee chin whiskers looked feeble when compared with the brushes of Lawrence Stalcup, Floyd Loofer, Ray Van Winkle, L. B. Schlemeyer and others, all of whom are still very much in the race for the prizes.

By the way Mr. Schlemeyer who lives at 1312 Mary Ellen street, now is employed in a machine shop, but before he dropped aviation he was a pilot for five years, sitting at the controls of passenger planes. He flew the Kansas City to Dallas hop for several years. He flew his first plane way back in 1914. He still goes up every once in a while, and when he walks outside his eyes unconsciously scan the sky for planes. And if there is a picture of an airplane in the room he sees it first, and he loves to talk about planes.

Why Children Must Have A Well-Balanced Diet

Normal growth and development as mentioned in the previous article depend to a considerable extent upon a well-balanced, nutritious diet. Other factors condition the growth of children, but the proper selection of food is of paramount importance. We now know much more about the right kinds of foods in the proper portions than is at present being put into practice. The problem is both economic and health educational.

Children need a balanced diet—food in adequate quantity and of proper quality because it is necessary:

1. To supply building material for the tissues of the body.
2. To make up for the loss of wear and tear of the body.
3. To furnish sufficient energy for the body to perform its functions.
4. To supply certain protective and regulatory substances—the vitamins and mineral salts such as iron.

A basic balanced dietary should include the following:

- Milk: One quart a day in some form.
- Vegetables: Green leafy, and colored-vegetables, cooked or raw potatoes—Irish, sweet and yams, tomatoes.
- Fruits: Fresh, cooked or canned. Oranges, grapefruit.
- Cereals and Bread: At least one-half of bread and cereals used daily should be whole grain and dark bread.
- Eggs: Three or four fresh eggs a week.
- Meat, Fish, Cheese: Two to four servings a week.
- Fats and Sugars: In addition to foods above but not to take their place, in the form of simple desserts.

Jodine, calcium, phosphorus and minute quantities of other minerals.

In addition to these requirements the food for a child should be appetizing, attractive, diversified and given at regular periods in a calm, happy, home environment. Bad food habits are often formed in a jangling atmosphere.

There is general agreement that wholesome, clean, safe milk is the one most important element in a child's diet.

The chief sources of heat-providing foods will be the starchy foods and the fats. Cereals from the most acceptable foods to supply energy and some of the essential minerals. Fats containing vitamin A may be given in the form of butter and cream.

Fruits are a desirable food to have in the dietary.

A wide variety of vegetables may be given according to the age of the child. A liberal amount of green leafy vegetables and the colored vegetables such as carrots, beets, sweet potatoes should be included. The protein foods will be supplied by milk, eggs, lean meats, fish and

THIRTY YEARS
 Democratic Congressman
 From INDIANA

John Lewis Starts a Purge
 Congressman Mary Norton of the House Labor Committee is certainly on the spot. She sat on the labor lid for two years and was tried off only by the special House Committee of which Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia is chairman and which investigated the National Labor Relations Board because she would not. Now that she has sponsored some amendments to the labor act which the American Federation of Labor favors, she is accused by Lewis of entering into an "unholy intrigue" to put the CIO out of business.

"Equal justice under law" is carved on the portico of the Supreme Court building in Washington. They who embrace a great ideal, it is in danger today. The totalitarian philosophy is that law is nothing but the will of the strong. The courts are to be packed. Government Boards and Commissions are to become the tool of party in power, or the group that holds a mortgage on the law. The minority is to have no rights which the majority must respect. Such is the doctrine abroad and such is the doctrine here.

The level-headed workers of America will ask themselves where this will lead. Where is labor today in any country in the world where law is the will of the strong? Labor leaders may think they can buy their cases through the NLRB. But they lose in the court of public opinion? Organized labor has always been a minority not only in the country, but even among the workers themselves. It has won only when its cause was so just that it received the support of all fair-minded men and women.

When Mr. Lewis threatens to drive from public life every Congressman who votes for the slightest change in the Wagner Act, he may be riding to a fall. The American people have never yet submitted to so tyrannical either of capital or labor.

The report of Congressman Smith's Committee is a public document the American people ought to read. If every stockholder as well as every worker reads it, the Congressmen and Senators in Washington who want to be fair to every element in labor and industry would survive the Lewis purge.

In September 1936, nearly four years ago, Chairman Madden of the NLRB wrote to the official in charge of building of post-offices, etc., that a complaint had been "issued" against a window shade manufacturer and "scheduled" for a hearing. Therefore, according to Chairman Madden, this company should be denied government contracts because it had "violated" the law! According to Madden, all you need is a grand jury. Simply indict someone. No need to try him. The indictment proves him guilty. Put him in the concentration camp and confiscate his goods! It is as simple as that.

Another member of the Labor Board sent to a Boston merchant CIO literature to boycott hosiery manufactured by a company against which not even a suit was then pending! Having been a party to an attempt to ruin the manufacturer by driving away its customers, Board Member Smith did not think himself disqualified to later sit in judgment against the company and find it guilty.

Chairman Madden also arranged, secretly, with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to have the credit of a company shut off merely because it is "charged" with a violation of the Wagner Act. And the RFC, to its shame, agreed.

The first person to propose an investigation of NLRB was Senator Burke of Nebraska in 1938. Burke has just been defeated for renomination. According to the CIO News, he was "snowed under. This to the wise members of Congress should be sufficient".

Two years ago Lewis tried to purge Congressman Howard Smith with the aid of Honest Harold Ickes, but did not succeed. No doubt he will try again this year and will also level his guns against all other members of Congress who will not do his bidding.

Oilers Beat Lubbock 19-16 In Wild Battle

41 Hits And 10 Mistakes Feature Game

LUBBOCK, April 30—The booming bats of Al Mendoza and Jared Jordan led the Pampa Oilers to a wild 19 to 16 victory over the cellar-dug Lubbock Hubbies here last night. While Mendoza blasted out five hits, three of them doubles, Jordan chased him home with four singles, which accounted for eight runs in all. Besides hitting a merry clip, Jordan was a tower in the field as he

Sore-Armed Bryant Has Tonsils Yanked

CHICAGO, April 30 (AP)—Catcher Clay Bryant's number is up if he can't get rid of that sore arm.

The lanky right-hander of the Chicago Cubs went to the hospital yesterday and had his tonsils yanked in his latest attempt to find a remedy for the weak flipper.

Bryant won 19 games for the pennant-winning Cubs in 1939 but has been just a name on the payroll since. A sore arm cut him down last spring and has had him down since. He pitched 31 innings last summer, winning two games and losing one.

This spring he appeared in one exhibition game, then complained of a recurrence of the ailment.

Cub Owner Phil Wrigley said if the tonsillotomy failed to help Bryant, "we'll give him all the attention possible to find out what's the matter."

"Manager (Gabby) Hartnett and I agree," he added, "that when he has a ball player he can't use we'll either straighten out the difficulty or get rid of the player.

"This is mighty important, not only to the ball club but also to Clay, for his livelihood is involved. We'll give him all the medical attention and examination possible to find out what the trouble is."

21 Dog Races On Coursing Meet Program Sunday

There will be at least 21 dog races at the coursing meet to be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in front of the grandstand at Recreation park.

The registered grey hounds which will be brought by their owners from all over the Panhandle will be given a head start ranging from 50 to 80 yards. Then the two hounds will be turned loose. The hound that catches the rabbit or the one that comes nearest to catching it if the rabbit isn't captured, will win the race.

There will be seven races in an eight-dog stake. Four preliminary races, two semi-finals and the final race; only two dogs will race at a time. Their quarry will be a jack-rabbit, and hound owners of this section who are sponsoring the races are this week having a difficult time catching the rabbits with spotlights and nets.

Greyhound coursing has been described by people who have watched the races as one of the most thrilling sports events of all. It is very popular in the middle west and in parts of the Panhandle and West Texas. The coursing meet Sunday will be the first one held here. The enclosure in which the hounds chase the rabbits is 300 yards long and 100 yards wide. The course will be laid out so that the hounds will catch the rabbit in front of the grandstand, but if they don't then the rabbit will escape into the corral which gives the rabbit an even break.

Some of the best-bred and fastest hounds in the country will be entered in the races Sunday. If you never saw a greyhound racing at full speed, then you have not seen the animal that is the fastest on earth, according to the hound owners.

Umpire Gets Shaking By Longview Player

(By The Associated Press)

This Longview team in the East Texas league plays "fighting" baseball.

Manager Ted Jeanes was tossed out of action recently for raising a ruckus with the umpire.

Last night Second Baseman Wymann Humnicutt got himself into dog house for allegedly grabbing Umpire Tom Estell and giving him a shaking when he called a close one.

As a result of the decision Palestine beat the Texans 12-11.

Estell said he would recommend suspension of Humnicutt and also suggest he be fined.

Marshall beat Kilgore 4-2 but the Boomers retained undisputed first place because of Longview's defeat.

Tyler broke an eight-game losing streak with a 6-2 decision over Jacksonville and Henderson beat Texarkana 7-3.

Tonight's schedule: Texarkana at Henderson, Longview at Palestine, Marshall at Kilgore.

Masonic Girls Back In State Tennis Finals

FORT WORTH, April 30 (AP)—Obscured by the fame of Masonic Home's illustrious "mighty mites" of the gridiron is the outstanding tennis record of Texas Interscholastic league history.

Quietly the girls go about winning championships on the court while "the boys roar to state's acclaim in football."

But this week the girls have their brief inning as they battle in the state meet at Austin for the seventh time in eleven years.

Every season starting with 1930 Masonic Home doubles team has won the district championship. The singles crown has been captured seven times.

Four times the girls have won the state title. In singles, the state championship has come to Masonic Home twice.

This year the girls doubles team of Violet Smith and Hattie Sue Carrier goes to Austin. The singles entry, Arlene Roach, lost to Mary Jane Bullington of Paschal (Fort Worth) in the regional tournament. C. B. Tilley began coaching the girls in tennis in 1927. The boys at the home concentrate on football, baseball and track and do not play tennis seriously.

Tilley attributes the fine showing of the girls during the past decade to concentrated effort.

"Our girls do not have as much social life and other distractions as the average high school girl and consequently give more time and thought to tennis," he explained.

Good equipment, competitive play in the Fort Worth city tournaments, regular practice and tradition and spirit are other factors the coach cites.

Jameson And Chandler Begin Tourney Feud

DALLAS, April 30 (AP)—Tailored by the draw to fit a final match critics predicted from the outset—National Champion Betty Jameson vs. Mrs. Dan Chandler—match played started in the Women's Texas Golf association today with little first round excitement.

Jameson And Chandler Begin Tourney Feud

Stout-hearted Betty, whose coolness matches her great shots, and Mrs. Chandler, the Dallas matron who gave her state the Texas Golf player who stroked a 75 in a practice round, started head and ended with an 83, two shots ahead of Kay Pearson of Houston.

Jameson And Chandler Begin Tourney Feud

Not the stars already established, but two contenders on the way up—Miss Jo Henson, of Paris, and Mrs. C. B. Kindred of Dallas—were down for the first round feature match. Miss Henson was tagged with an 88 in qualifying with Mrs. Kindred played ten shots over her normal game at 94. Both, however, are match players and their collision in the first round was easily the top match.

Jameson And Chandler Begin Tourney Feud

Over rain-soaked Brook Hollow the two favorites shot two under par, only six over men's par, to rack up 76 and tie for the medal. Luck of the draw threw Miss Jameson at the helm of the top bracket; Mrs. Chandler on top of the lower bracket.

Jameson And Chandler Begin Tourney Feud

Six strokes behind at 82 came Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio in third place. The powerful blonde melted her chances for medalist on the 67-yard, fifth hole when her third shot hit the middle of the green and skittered into a deep trap. Four times she burrowed in the sand before finally getting out, winding up with a nine.

Jameson And Chandler Begin Tourney Feud

Mrs. Frank Goldwater of Fort Worth, the former U. S. Curtis Cup player who stroked a 75 in a practice round, started head and ended with an 83, two shots ahead of Kay Pearson of Houston.

Not the stars already established, but two contenders on the way up—Miss Jo Henson, of Paris, and Mrs. C. B. Kindred of Dallas—were down for the first round feature match. Miss Henson was tagged with an 88 in qualifying with Mrs. Kindred played ten shots over her normal game at 94. Both, however, are match players and their collision in the first round was easily the top match.

Over rain-soaked Brook Hollow the two favorites shot two under par, only six over men's par, to rack up 76 and tie for the medal. Luck of the draw threw Miss Jameson at the helm of the top bracket; Mrs. Chandler on top of the lower bracket.

Six strokes behind at 82 came Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio in third place. The powerful blonde melted her chances for medalist on the 67-yard, fifth hole when her third shot hit the middle of the green and skittered into a deep trap. Four times she burrowed in the sand before finally getting out, winding up with a nine.

Mrs. Frank Goldwater of Fort Worth, the former U. S. Curtis Cup player who stroked a 75 in a practice round, started head and ended with an 83, two shots ahead of Kay Pearson of Houston.

Regular Care Of Teeth Urged

Editor's Note: "Parent Education in Dentistry" is the title of this article by H. E. Howard, D. D. S., seventh in a series by Pampa physicians and dentists, written in connection with the forthcoming local observance of National Hospital Day, May 12.

A regular examination should start in early childhood, and a serious attempt should be made to educate especially the mothers. A number of unpleasant scenes can be greatly reduced if systematic educational measures are practiced.

To postpone adopting an intense campaign to promote children's dentistry is dodging a distinct professional obligation and the fact that biological chemistry and bacteriology have not solved all the problems is no excuse for a hopeless air of resignation.

Scientists are working on many theories and though they do not agree on some important points, there is no denying that a fertile field is before all those who will accept the proven processes and put forth a determined effort to get the message to those who can use it to best advantage—the parent.

If dental disease is influenced by diet and mouth hygiene, it is logical to institute methods of control in early childhood, and it will be necessary to go into the homes to have it dealt with.

A plan carried into the homes will be confronted with persons who are not trained in scientific matters. For those who must be depended upon to carry out suggestions and instructions are women and children.

Scientific facts, professional knowledge and comparative reasoning, influence the trained mind but do not make a strong appeal to the lay mind. Only too often the mother's reaction to suggestions of control diet or general management is, "I know what is best for my own children," and sometimes she is quite right but very often she cannot be moved from this attitude because nothing has been done to inspire respect for her advisors.

Dentistry will be in a hopeless position if entire efforts are confined to repair work and no attention is given to the education of the parents in practical preventative measures.

If mothers will make an effort, they can save their children from dental diseases. Without their cooperation there is no hope, for it is they alone who can carry out the home care that controls the situation.

It is of small consequence what reason makes it desirable to increase the number of children in a practice. There is always one reason that alone will justify such a move. That is the great benefit derived. If dentistry has a more important function than doing all that can be done to prevent the mutilation of the mouths of young people, it is, indeed, hard to point it out.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—Stock market leaders displayed slight recovery leaning during the greater part of today's session, but most backed away in the final hour.

Wall Street seemed to work up a little more gloom as the result of the latest reported allied reserves in Norway. Early quiet trading was attributed mainly to domestic business hopefulness inspired by numerous first quarter earnings statements.

Dealings were heaviest from the start, but expanded a bit when last-minute selling came into the list, transfers were around 600,000 shares.

Steeles, Motors, Aircrafts and Utilities gave a good account of themselves in the forenoon. They eventually slipped.

Salvation Army Submits Seven-Month Relief Report

PIONEER DIES

A total of 626 families were aided by the Salvation Army of Pampa in the seven-month period, September 1939-March 1940. It was shown in a report submitted by Captain Herman C. Lambrecht at a meeting of the advisory board held at noon Monday at the Schneider hotel.

More families were given help in February than in any other month, 114, followed by 102 in January and 100 in October. Service only (meaning no cash expenditures) was provided for 59 cases, with October at the high month with 15, followed by September, January and February with 10 each.

Other salient items in the report were: Number of cases on file September 1, 1939, 69; total number of new cases opened and reopened, 317; number of cases closed during period (September 1, 1939-March, 1940) 146; number of children in open cases, 315; number of adults in open cases, 263.

Number of office interviews during period, 1,768; number of consultations concerning cases, 292; number of average interviews per day, 10.

Transients applications during the period totaled 187. Meals for transients totaled 179, beds 89, and number given other relief was 54. Christmas baskets given were 187, toys and fruit given, 450.

The meeting yesterday was featured by the presence of Col. Roy Gilks of London, England, father of Brig. W. G. Gilks, Dallas, divisional commander, who spent 54 years in Salvation Army service. Col. Gilks spoke on Salvation Army work at the board meeting.

Members attending were Arthur Teed, chairman, J. M. Collins, treasurer, George Berlin, R. C. Hughes, Fred Thompson, Aaron Meek, Sherman White, C. E. McGrew, W. A. Bratton, and Capt. Lambrecht.

Herndon Funeral Conducted Today

James Todd, Jr., pastor of the First Christian church, and the Rev. R. S. Walker, pastor of the Methodist church. Burial was to be in Panhandle cemetery.

Second Sermon In Series On Marriage Given At Church

A large crowd at the First Christian church Sunday night heard Rev. B. A. Norris speak on his announced subject, "Will He Qualify as a Husband?"

Rev. Norris told his audience, many of whom were young people, that a measure of her security and freedom at marriage has a right to be critical of the qualities of her intended husband. In fact she has an obligation to be critical.

To qualify as a husband, Rev. Norris said that a young man should be a real man with a clean physical body and mind, able to provide, and above all, have a Christian character. Young people were warned that there is no magic in the marriage ceremony which would reform any man. It was pointed out that such matters as religion and the family pocket-book should be thoroughly thrashed out before marriage.

This service was the second in a special series of eight services on the general theme, "Happy Homes and Successful Marriages." Next Sunday night Rev. Norris will speak on "Will She Qualify as a Wife." These services begin at 8 o'clock. Young and old are invited. A special fellowship hour for the young people is held following the evening service.

London Hotel To Reduce Rates Each Day Bomb Falls On Town

LONDON, April 30 (AP)—The management of an east coast hotel announced today that beginning with Whit Sunday, May 12, it would offer guests a one-third discount on their bills "each day that a bomb falls on or near the town or a mine explodes near the promenade or pier."

Precinct 10 Demos To Meet At 9:30 Saturday Morning

Instead of meeting on Saturday afternoon, as has been planned for Gray county precincts, Democratic voters of precinct 10 will hold their precinct convention at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning in the county court room.

Other precincts will hold their conventions at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the usual voting place of each precinct.

H. C. Coffee, Gray County Democratic executive committee chairman, strongly urged Democratic voters to attend the precinct conventions Saturday.

At the precinct conventions, delegates will be elected for the county convention to be held at 2 p. m. May 7 at the court house. Here the delegates to the state convention at Waco, May 28, will be elected. Gray county is expected to send from 15 to 18 delegates to the state meeting.

Precincts are permitted one delegate to the county convention for each 25 votes polled in the last gubernatorial race.

Man Loses Nerve After Parachute Lands In Water

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—A man who said he hoped to get a parachute-jumping job at the New York world's fair chose the top of the 700-foot tower today for a demonstration.

He lost his nerve after a trial parachute with a dummy attached landed in a pool of water; but for more than an hour he kept the police and more than 100 workmen in suspense until he was yanked back to safety and was arrested.

He identified himself as Roy Vost, 36, of Manhattan, and was booked on a charge of disorderly conduct.

He said he slipped into the fair grounds at Flushing last night, wearing white overalls, and hid in the towering pyramidal. World's fair officials disclaimed any prior knowledge of his stunt.

Business Told U. S. Needs Sound Leaders

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—W. Gibson Carey, Jr., president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, called on business men and others to meet "a great crisis" by campaigning for an end to federal policies which he said were undermining American institutions.

He said that the nation's great need was sound leadership in government, and added that in the past business men had failed in the field of citizenship.

"For the future, however, through our activity and that of others, we as a people must see that we effect corrections," Carey continued.

"Here are those which seem most fundamental: 'Carefully but surely, we must reduce federal expenditure and balance our national budget, including our vast federal corporations.
