Whiskers War Breaks Out Among Jaycees

ALLIES ADMIT THEIR POSITION IS 'DANGEROUS'

Meeting Of Bearded, Hairy Men Called

No. 1 Leader Of Whiskers Faction Tossed Into Tank

A watery war between smooth-faced and bearded Jaycees was raging today. A Class AAA feud broke out this morning when a group of Jaycees who had been ducked previously in the tank on the courthouse lawn, poured on Johnny Wells, chairman of the Jaycee Coronado whiskers committee, and tossed him unconcernedly into the "drink." The rebel group was composed of Cliff Braly who was ducked yesterday at the end of a titanic struggle, Otis Pumpfrey who put up a stiff fight last week, Bunny Behrman who was thrown in last week and others. Sid Patterson who has not been ducked, was also one of Wells' assailants.

After wetting the chairman of the committee, they grabbed Dr. C. H. Schulke and threw him in. "There ain't no justice," declared Mr. Wells. "Here we grow whiskers to keep from getting ducked and we get ducked anyway!" Determined to check the movement, the bearded Jaycees immediately issued a call for a meeting of all men in the community growing whiskers and long hair and all sympathizers to meet tomorrow night at 7 o'clock at the city commission room in the city hall. All growers of long hair, both boys and men, are also asked to be present.

The 20-odd men who had their pictures taken at Fletcher's studio Saturday night were especially urged to be present. "We've set out to advertise our $100,000 Entada by growing Coronado whiskers," declared a spokesman of the bearded group, "and the growing of long hair and whiskers was recommended and suggested by the U. S. Coronado Commission. We are in the right, and the right will always win. The rebel Jaycees voted to grow long hair or whiskers and then they didn't. Are you behind us Pampans?"

Rebel Leader Speaks As for the rebel group their leader said, "What's wrong? Can't you take 'em? You ducked us, didn't you?" The Coronado boys had a time getting Braly into the tank. First he tried to jump into it; then he tried to duck two of his captors, in and almost succeeded. Finally they had to throw him in head-first. The Jaycees yesterday installed a bell by the tank and everytime they duck anybody henceforth they will ring the bell. "We're going to duck those rebels and then put them in the jail to dry out," threatened a be-whiskered man. "And we're going to duck Sid Patterson three times and hold him under each time!" The bearded Jaycees claim that each time they ducked somebody they allowed them to change clothes and take off their shoes, coat, watch, etc., and have furnished rides for them to go home. They claim that this morning the rebels left Wells to hustle a ride for himself. "We're gettin' our revenge," said Mr. Braly. "You can see how it feels!" "It ain't cricket!" said the bearded men. Dr. Schulke was walking and talking today at noon while regarded against the injustice and humiliation of being ducked by a bunch of "smoothies."

"Here we are trying to build up the community and then we become the victims of a supervising element—communists for all I know—we've got to organize and nip this perverse thing in the bud."

$1,000,000 Offered For Hitler's Capture

Swedes Doubt The Claims Of Nazi Forces

STOCKHOLM, May 1 (AP)—Swedish reports that Norwegian troops still were occupying positions north of the important railway junction at Storen east doubt to be on German claims that Nazi forces had established land communications between Oslo and Trondheim. Coupled with these reports were dispatches asserting that a British destroyer had been sunk with heavy loss of life during an 11-hour German attack on the allied landing base at Narvik, in the far north.

The Stockholm newspaper Tidningen printed a dispatch from a special correspondent declaring that a German column moving south from Trondheim to meet another Nazi force advancing northward from Oslo had been halted before reaching Storen. It was not clear whether this dispatch was written before or after the German announcement yesterday that the two columns had met south of Storen.

The Tidningen story said the Norwegians still were holding positions a mile north of Storen, after delaying the Germans' southward march at Lundamo, where a young Norwegian had dynamited a bridge so two Nazi cars were crossing the span, killing himself and 18 of the enemy. Lundamo is about 10 miles north of Storen and 20 miles south of Trondheim. The German air raid on Namsos, approximately 100 miles north of Trondheim, was recounted by the correspondent of the newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, who said the Nazi bombers attacked persistently from 7:15 a. m. to 6 p. m. yesterday.

Luther Gribble, Wellington attorney, today authorized The Pampa News to make the following announcement in connection with his candidacy for representative from the 122nd legislative district: "The first duty of the next legislature is to provide enough money to meet our old age pension and other social security obligations. Parents Will Go To Court To Reopen Lake Worth School
PORT WORTH, May 1 (AP)—Parents of striking students of Lake Worth school said today they would go to court in an effort to have the institution reopened. The board yesterday closed the school indefinitely. Seventy-two students had walked out in protest of the board's action in not retaining the principal, V. R. Ramsey. Three other students declared to walk out. They accused Ramsey of making "embarrassing remarks" concerning Adolf Hitler's re-populating program in Germany. The striking pupils erected a wire fence across the entrance to the school grounds. Officers removed the wire. The school board met behind locked doors to make its decision yesterday. Parents and students, waiting outside, hissed and booed at the board members as they emerged from the meeting. The school had four weeks of the semester to run when it was closed.

Butler's Talk Rich As Top Sergeant's
It is not often that a fighting man is also a good speaker. Major-General Smedley Darlington Butler is an exception to the rule, for not only is he America's premier marine general, but also a top-notch speaker. The daring adventures of "Glimlet Eye," two-fisted leatherneck, his keen observation of the countries in which he has served the United States during three decades of service in the Marine corps, provide a rich background for his addresses. General Butler will discuss the war in Europe when he speaks at 8 o'clock Friday night in the high school auditorium, under the auspices of the Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion. Butler started his career as a fighting man when he was only 16. He went to Philadelphia from Haverford school, where he was

Not A Single Pampan Should Be Overlooked In Census Count
Did the Census enumerator miss you? Are you positive? Well, if you are sure that you have been missed you are requested to fill out the form to be found on page eight of the Pampa News and take or mail it to Carroll Smyers, census supervisor, at 113 1/2 West Kingsmill avenue. It is important that every person living in Pampa be enumerated. The takers tried their best to secure a report on everyone but it is possible that someone was overlooked and for the next five days anyone who was missed will have an opportunity to be visited by an enumerator. The reason why we ask everyone to be sure and determine for sure that they have been overlooked is because often the housewife has given the information for an entire family, even boarders and roomers. Carroll Smyers, supervisor, said today. Every effort is to be made in the next five days to see that Pampa receives her full recognition and the Pampa Citizens Census committee, headed by W. T. Fraser, urges anyone who even thinks he or she has been missed to contact the bureau through the blank. The committee, through Supt. L. L. Sone, will place cards in the hands of every student in the Pampa schools to be taken to their parents to be filled out in case anyone in their family has been overlooked by the census taker. The committee will also ask Pampa ministers to make announcements from their pulpits Sunday morning urging anyone who has been overlooked to fill out the form. Radio station KPDM will also make appeals to citizens. Merchants will be asked to instruct all employees to make sure they have been enumerated. "It is of vital importance to See CENSUS, Page 8"

Ralph Thomas Ends 10 Years As County Agent
By BROWNIE EMERSON
If Ralph R. Thomas, Gray county farm agent, should chance to scan the entries in a little maroon-bound booklet today, what he reads will have a special significance. For it was at 8 o'clock on the morning of May 1, 10 years ago, that Mr. Thomas arrived at the "new" court house and started looking for his office. In Wheeler today, Mr. Thomas is helping put on the second annual Wheeler Dairy day. "Ten years ago today he had two farmers call at his office. One wanted to know how to kill locust sprouts, the other how to eradicate cabbage insects. Meeting People Important Getting acquainted with Gray county farmers was a big part of the county farm agent's work in 1930. Gray county had discontinued the services of a county agent on November 9, 1925, and Mr. Thomas was the first county agent here in five years. He visited 79 farm homes the first month. There was no "dust bowl" at that time, no wind erosion, no soil conservation, no tripple A act, parity payments, and other federal help for farmers. Today, the county agent takes all this in his stride, but Mr. Thomas emphasizes that the primary purpose of his office has never been neglected, despite its tremendously increased scope. "The county farm agent's job is educational, getting information to the farmers," Mr. Thomas says. "In the first year I was busy with 4-H club work and terracing demonstrations. Now we have continued this and meat cutting and curing demonstrations and added horticulture and even leather tanning." His first terracing demonstration was held on the John Bell farm, eight miles southwest of Pampa, on July 21, 1930, five years before soil conservation became a national policy. The office moved four times. See THOMAS, Page 8"

Italy's New Attitude May Be A Menace

Germans Have Stranglehold On Central Norway

Peril to the security of their flanks in northern and southern Europe had the allied war leaders plainly worried today. The menace in the north, where fast-driving German columns apparently have clamped a stranglehold on central Norway, was acknowledged by a British military spokesman. He admitted that Nazi advances there had put the allies in a "dangerous and very obscure" position. The threat in the south was that Italy might throw her weight into the Nazi scales. Britain, as a precaution, has ordered suspension of her merchant shipping traffic through the Mediterranean, and in Paris, a foreign ministry spokesman declared that the Italian attitude toward the allies "has become definitely alarming" in the past two days. Although the British spokesman made no attempt to dispute the German announcement that Nazi forces in Oslo and Trondheim have made contact, he questioned its importance. "We must remember that what with demolitions and bombings, German communications will not be easy," he declared, adding that the contact "does not mean there is a constant flow of men and materials."

Dombas Outlook Dark He said the British had no confirmation that the Germans had taken Dombas and Soren, vital railroad junctions in central Norway. But he admitted that German reports of having occupied those centers may be true and that the British outlook in the Dombas area is dark. Germany, meanwhile, rained new aerial blows on Britain sea forces. The German high command, reporting continued progress in Norway, said its fliers had sunk a British cruiser, a destroyer and five transports and had heavily damaged another cruiser and five other transports. The British, without commenting directly on this report, merely said "desultory bombing" was continuing in the Namsos and Steinjer areas on the Norwegian atlantic coast north of Trondheim. The German communique merely See ALLIES, Page 8"

The War Today
By DEWITT MACKENZIE
There is some dispute whether the Germans actually have established full communication between Oslo and their garrison in the strategic rail-head of Trondheim, but there can be no doubt that the Nazis have won a very considerable victory. Immediate concern of the Allies and their supporters has turned to the effect of the blow to Allied prestige and the corresponding rise in Nazi stock, rather than to the military results. The war will be neither won nor lost in Norway, but this is a bad time for a major military set-back, since it might stampee some nervous neutrals into hasty military commitments. Quick recognition of this danger came in Britain's sudden order diverting all her mercantile traffic from the Mediterranean—a blunt indication that she was suspicious of Italy's intentions. So far as one can see from this distance the probabilities are that this sensational move was inspired by precaution rather than any definite sign that Signor Mussolini was preparing to join Hitler. This maneuver also would serve as a warning to Rome to sit tight and not be stampeded by the Norwegian situation. There is small doubt that one of these days Mussolini will have to make a quick decision and get into the war. In picking the side he wants to fight with, the Italian leader is likely to keep in mind the axiom to which a British official referred the other day—no nation has ever been defeated while having control of the seas. That is a solid thought to chew on. Germany's task is to dispose of the Allied fleet. As regards the actual battle of Norway, there can be no doubt that the Allies have a tremendous job ahead of them. They will almost literally have to blast the Germans See MACKENZIE, Page 8"

War Flashes

PARIS, May 1 (AP)—The war ministry reported today that the French had captured several German prisoners in the Nied sector of the Western Front, where fog and rain have reduced activity. West of the Vosges the Germans attacked two French outposts behind a curtain of artillery fire but were repulsed, a spokesman said.

BUCHAREST, May 1 (AP)—The Rumanian government was reported today to have signed orders for the expulsion of 200 Germans after a canvass of 600 homes in the oil field districts and other strategic areas of Rumania.

LONDON, May 1 (AP)—Denmark's Secretary Anthony Edem declared today that "nothing less than the greatest effort of which our people are capable will ensure victory."

Describing the Nazi war machine in a broadcast address as "truly formidable," he added that "no scruple is ever going to hamper the Nazi leaders" in its use.

Home Supervisor Suggests Food Containing Iron
Normally, the body manufactures nearly a trillion red cells that circulate in the blood stream. When the body uses these red cells, they are broken down and destroyed. But about 85 per cent of the iron in these cells is saved and re-used to build new blood cells.

Dental Health Necessary For Good Health

Editor's Note: Eighth in a series of articles by Pampa physicians and dentists is the following article written by a Pampa dentist. The series appearing in The Pampa News is in conjunction with National Hospital day, to be observed on May 12.

Dentistry today is considered one of the most important branches of the medical profession in curative and preventive practice.

It is almost unbelievable, the many body ailments that are directly or indirectly traceable to the teeth and surrounding tissues. So it is amazing, the contribution of dentistry toward good health, if the laity would accept it. Yet the great need of dental work is appalling.

It is said that if all immediate corrections were made with present dentists working every day, it would take at least nine years to complete the task.

Not many people escape tooth decay and dental diseases of some form, and I say many of these conditions could have been prevented if people would have begun early enough and then would have made regular visits to their dentist.

People should no longer have the fear of going to the dentist as did those who received dental service 25, 50, or 100 years ago.

The discoveries, improvements, and refinements have made it comparatively simple. Techniques developed assure you of efficiency where artificial restorations are made.

These materials used defy the most discriminating eye. So why not avail yourself of a service that may mean so much to your facial features and your health?

Women Confer With Newstand Dealers On Clean Magazines

News stand dealers of Pampa yesterday afternoon promised cooperation in local application of a nationwide campaign for clean literature which now is under way in Pampa sponsored by a general committee from the Parish Council of Catholic Women and the City Council of Parent-Teacher associations.

The dealers and the general committee discussed the proposal at a meeting in the BCD rooms of city hall. Another meeting of dealers and the committee has been called for 10 a. m. next Wednesday at the city hall. At this time they will discuss the progress of the committee's efforts which are to be directed in the meantime to contacting dealers and presenting to them a list of publication which have been placed on the "banned list" by the National Organization for Decent Literature.

The permanent committee named from the low Pampa organizations consists of the following:

Mrs. J. E. McKernan and Mrs. M. F. Roche, co-chairmen; Mrs. E. B. Carlson, Mrs. S. E. Cox, Mrs. J. W. Garman, Mrs. Burl Graham, Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, Mrs. E. R. Nunnally, Mrs. Adrian Owens, and Mrs. C. W. Hays.

Safety Work And Knot-Hole Gang Problem Discussed At Meeting

Pampa's city commission experienced its first "typical commission day" since taking office on April 6, at the commission's regular meeting yesterday.

The session was "typical" in that numerous requests occupied most of the commission's time as five persons appeared before the officials.

First to appear and speak to the commission were Don Conley, chairman, and James B. Massa, of the Pampa Safety council. Mr. Massa asked that the commission express itself as to approving the council's work, so he could decide whether it would be practical to continue.

Mayor Fred Thompson and Commissioners George B. Cree and H. G. Wilson signified their approval of the project. Present main objectives of the council will be for the city to secure the services of a Texas Highway department employee to make a traffic survey here.

There is no cost to the city for the job, and the council does not seek any funds from the city government, Mr. Massa told the commission.

Reviewing the work done in the past, Mr. Massa mentioned the formation of the Panhandle Safety council in February, the educational campaigns and subsequent parallel parking on Russell street, widening of the Cuyler street bridge, and the widening of the intersection at Hobart and Alcock.

Chairman Conley explained how the Pampa Safety council functioned, how various clubs represented in the organization were allowed to select the type of safety work they desire to develop.

Officers Service Asked
The Rev. Joseph S. Wonderly's request that the city furnish the services of a policeman to maintain order among the Knot-Hole gang at baseball games, Mayor Thompson replied that he believed it would be possible to work out some sort of arrangement for an officer to be with the boys at the games.

The pastor of Holy Souls Catholic church explained that Fred Shyrock had told him the presence of some person with authority was necessary, in order that order could be maintained. The Rev. Wonderly said the boys, for the most part, were well-behaved, but some persisted in getting out of the places assigned them and causing trouble.

Mayor Thompson suggested that boys that caused trouble have their membership cards in the "gang" cancelled. The Knot-Hole gang is an arrangement whereby boys are permitted to see the baseball games at no cost, subject to certain conditions, one of which is Sunday school attendance.

Rockefeller, president of Rockefeller Center, as symbolizing "the greatest press association on the face of this troubled earth," the 10-ton stainless steel plaque over the main entrance of the Associated Press building was unveiled yesterday by Kent Cooper, general manager of the AP.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life --- By R. C. Hollis

PROGRESS COMES FROM BOTH MORE EQUALITY AND LESS EQUALITY

Strange as the above heading is and as little as it is understood, it is true and, unless we people of the country come to understand it, there cannot be very much progress, happiness and prosperity.

The reason of this seemingly absurd statement is that there are two kinds of equality about which people are likely to be confused.

We must have more and more equality of rights for every man to try to create and enjoy. In other words, we must keep the highways of progress open so that every man has an equal right to use his faculties to the best of his ability in the pursuit of happiness.

This kind of equality means that we will have less equality of accomplishments because some, due to their inherent abilities, will be able to accomplish infinitely more than others. But the important point to be remembered and one which many people fail to take into account, is that the accomplishment of the one in creating new ideas and new methods of creating wealth and new tools, instead of harming the man who has little ability to create, greatly benefits him.

MAYTIME

Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, May 1—All over the lot, the Paramount people are sulking because the mean old Hays office has nixed a couple of funny sequences intended for "A Night at Earl Carroll's." The deletion of two laughs would be bad enough, since Carroll shows seldom have any to spare, but these situations also happened to be part of the picture plot.

Most important of the act in which a gang of cuties clad only in corsets went down into the audience and asked male patrons to face up. This is still a nightly feature of the Earl's cabaret program here, and is a source of great fun, hilarious embarrassment and ribaldry among the tourists.

In the movie, the situation was to have served as a means for the capture of a couple of men by Brenda and Cobina, two homely oil heiresses. The other censored act begins with a man billed as Professor Lambert playing a xylophone. His music always is half drowned by thunderous applause, and the delighted little man take grateful bows and is stimulated to tremendous flourishes.

When members of a North Dakota community decided to have their ruined farms, one faction wants to go to California. John Wayne tells em they're farmers, not migrant pickers, and that they should pioneer some reclaimed land in Oregon. Eventually, most of them do.

The studio fears this picture will be considered a quickie variant of "The Grapes of Wrath." Actually the story was owned before the Steinbeck book was published, but at that time nobody had the nerve to film it.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim Did you hear the regular broadcast of the Cornshuckers over KPND Monday afternoon? Well, they are finally living up to their name, and even the attempt to provide us old country boys and girls with our hill-billy music calls for congratulations, so we toss a bouquet instead of a brickbat in their general direction.

In the first place there is "old man heredity." Oliver Wendell Holmes once said that if we could choose our ancestors we could have a better and healthier race. That being impossible, we must encourage the present generation of young people to make better choices in their mates.

Health habits really begin at birth. The regularity with which the baby is fed, his daily routine of bathing, sleeping and association with his parents lay the foundation for more exacting health habits later in childhood. Psychologists tell us that habits good and bad are largely formed in the pre-school years.

Next to a good nourishing diet and health habits we must place recreation in the form of play and lots of sleep for the growing child. Children should play and rest in the open air as much as possible. They should gradually be exposed to the sun, with protection of the eyes. In the northern and eastern parts of the United States there is very little sunshine in the winter months. Children should be given cod liver oil daily in these parts to make up for the deficiency of ultra violet rays.

A healthy child is free from debilitating diseases and defects. The child should therefore be protected against those diseases for which we

ALL ABOUT BABIES

By RICHARD ARTHUR BOLT, M. D., DE. P. H. Secretary, Maternal and Child Health Section of American Public Health Association

HEALTH CAN'T BE HANDED CHILD ON SILVER PLATTER Health is a delicate balance between many conflicting forces. A healthy balance of body and mind must be maintained by constant adjustments between the individual and his surroundings.

In dealing with the child we must consider his mental and spiritual development, as well as his physical health. The healthy child is usually a happy child. What are some of the conditions which make for a happy, wholesome life?

What might have been, if not the end of American art, at least a long period of stagnation (because of the depression) has become instead the period of its greatest development.

Life is given you so that you can see how much you can put into it, not how much you can get out of it.

Tex's Topics

BEARDLESS Jaycees are being tossed into the "drinking" these days, and the public drunking well on the courthouse parkway is a good place to park if you are looking for fun. Members of the Junior chamber of commerce, you know, are supposed to grow beards for the Coronado Entrada celebration here at Top O' Texas Fiesta time.

IT IS to be hoped that readers will shift over to the editorial column before they leave this page and read the comment entitled "The Case for Private Medicine."

These must be recognized for what they are. They are moves toward the establishment of political control. They embody the menace of the step by step process of destruction of the system of medicine and medical practice that has given this nation the highest level of health.

GOVERNMENTAL encroachment in the field of medicine can lead only to progressive deterioration. It will lead to a creeping paralysis that will place the health of every individual in jeopardy.

VIENNA has been dead a long time. The Vienna, that is of song and story, the pleasant, easy-going, tolerant city of waiters and wine. It suffered a mortal wound in the World War. It died when the Nazis marched in.

Your policy will terminate in a final Germania. FRITZ THYSEN, German industrialist, in a letter to Hitler.

Special Service To Observe Ascension Day On Thursday Ascension Day, May 2, is to be observed at the St. Matthew's Episcopal church.

My Personal Opinion Is...

There's one thing us Democrats has got to watch out fer, we got to quit letting that war over there detract our attention from what's going on here at home, on account of while we been busy looking a fter that, there's been some subversive activities goin on right here under our nose.

And that just goes to show that there's more part-time Democrats than we thought, and if they all turn Republican we're sunk, on account of them's the ones that got us in the last time.

And not only that they're getting up a platform, in fact this feller give out some of the planks of it. There wasn't nothing in it about going fishing, but it was all full of things like "Removing the shackles from business, and selecting the cabinet and department heads from men who were qualified by a successful record, and doing away with surplus government bureaus," and things like that.

Confusing as it may seem, certain points stand out in Europe's war. You've been reading the papers during the past months. See if you can chalk up a good score on the following quiz:

1. Unimpeded intercourse from Rumania to Germany was regarded as important to the Nazis because Rumania could supply Germany as many as you regard as accurate) hope, wheat, nickel, cotton, oil, wood, nitrate.

2. Immediate cause of Hitler's invasion of Norway and Denmark was believed to be (a) Churchill's boasts before war, (b) Germany's desire to obtain Danish dairy products, (c) Britain's mining of Scandinavian waters, (d) necessity of letting Nazi troops see action.

3. Chief impediment to allied aid for Finland was held to be (a) need for more aid from western nations, (b) refusal of Norway and Sweden to permit troop movements over their soil, (c) Britain's hesitancy to entering conflict with Russia, (d) Finland's rejection of aid.

To clinch the point, the advocates of socialized medicine adduce this argument: "Do you favor the public school system, doctor? Do you think our schools are any good? Then why do you oppose government running a health system?"

Too often conservatives have been subdued by a trick question like that. Doctors, like business men, are not trained in making the worse cause appear better. Nevertheless, they are making a courageous resistance to the march of collectivism, a fight that deserves the support of all believers in American as opposed to imported European institutions.

Centralization of power in government is always dangerous. Encroachment of government on individual right always inevitably retards progress. Every step toward political control of medicine places limitations on its effectiveness. Such encroachments in the field of medical practice are in the truest sense suicidal.

And, as pointed out, in the United States there are those who seek to establish political control of medicine and of medical practice. They may actually believe their motives to be entirely honorable and wholly altruistic. Their arguments are plausible and alluring. But the accomplishment of this purpose would at first hamper and then progressively break down the moral and the effectiveness of the physicians,—the men who are responsible for the physical well-being of 130,000,000 men, women and children.

The people of the nation must be alert to what is going on about them if they are to protect their personal security and uninterrupted progress. The socialized medicine movement is only one of the schemes and in that particular case, if we fail to understand causes and surrender to alluring doctrines of the disciples of false gods—personal security will be sacrificed health will be jeopardized and we will suffer the misery and degradation that must inevitably result from new idolatry—the worship of the state.

PAPER MONEY NOT MONEY A contributor takes me to task for using the word "paper money." Of course, technically speaking, we do not have paper money. Paper currency is an order for money.

I used the words "paper money" as it is popularly understood, instead of the way actual students of money would use it. The contributor asks how can that which never had value and never did measure value cease to measure value. Many people err in judgment of values and they think that currency, or orders for money, has value. The only thing that gives it value, of course, is that it is exchangeable for something of value. Now, however, it is not even exchangeable for a given unit of money. The Gresham law of currency has driven real money out of circulation.

When people believe things are of value, they will trade good money for gold bricks, when the gold bricks have no value. And when people think unlimited credit can be used as a storage of wealth, or a measure of value, they use it as a measure of value but sooner or later, they find they err.

It does not take many people to establish a value of an article. If two or more people are willing to exchange a given commodity for an article that is absolutely worthless to everybody else in the world, it still has value.

Those people who are constantly contending that our lack of unemployment is due to the selfishness and capriciousness and avariciousness of the employer evidently fail to realize that this desire for profit is the very thing that causes employment and raises wages.

When one man wants to make a profit and needs help, he is obliged to outbid other employers in order to get the help. So this desire for profit on the part of the employer means higher wages for workers instead of lower wages.

has been heading it ever since 1928. The Philadelphia convention in June will be his baby, and he has been working full time on it, with a staff of helpers, since April 10.

Gadgets are his big headache. Back in the Taft administration, when there was no radio and newsreels didn't amount to much, fixing up a convention was simple. Now a good part of the job consists of rigging things up for the mikes and the cameras, plus arranging the program so it will put the important events on the air at the right time.

This year, for the first time, Williams has to arrange for a television stand; that makes him shudder about the future, but not so very much because he's quitting after this convention.

First step in the present job was to name a convention architect and figure out who was going to sit where. Temporary stand must be built on the stage for national committeemen, newspapermen (about a thousand), distinguished guests and so on.

Other stands must be spotted for newsreel and still cameramen. Radio booths must be put where they'll do the most good. Back in the rear there must be a special stand for the band. And, of course, the delegates' seats must be charted.

All of this is just the starter. Space must be found downstairs for 1000 telegraphers. There must be rooms for a dozen-odd committees, working rooms for the press, quarters for the official reporter, a dispensary—for which a medical staff must be arranged—a restaurant, a lot of temporary phone booths, 60 or 70 water coolers and a special postoffice.

5 Greyhounds Entered In Coursing Meet

Groom, Borger Amarillo Men Coming Here

Steadily rising interest in the coursing meet next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Recreation park grandstand indicated today that the dog races may prove as big as the dog show held recently at the same place.

Indications that the greyhound-rabbit races are arousing a great deal of attention were shown in the number of hounds which will be brought to Pampa for the races.

Today more than 75 hounds had been entered. Of course, not that many dogs could possibly be crowded into the three eight-dog stakes, but the owners will bring them here and have them ready. Dogs which will race will be picked Sunday afternoon.

Four Borger men who will bring hounds are Clifford Ford, Joe McPeters, Chester Clark, Charlie Elzart. From Amarillo a number of men will bring dogs, including Neal Mann, Pat Franklin, Ross De-frese, Noble Durkee, Henry Mag-gart, Jack Warren.

John Peacock will bring his dogs from Groom. Pampa men who will have dogs on hand ready for the races will be Jack Porterfield, the Patton brothers, Claude Vernon, Raymond Bennett, Ira Hughes, John Kirby, Roy Lard, Benny Moon.

Hounds owned by these men are veteran jackrabbit chasers, and spectators in the grandstands can be assured of exciting races. These men take their dogs out each Sunday and turn them loose of the long-eared jacks.

30 Rabbits Caught The most enthusiastic race fans in the country probably are greyhound owners. They'll travel 200 miles just to race their dogs, even though they get nothing out of it except a big kick—that's what their wives say.

The hounds will race in a regulation enclosure at Recreation park. It will be 300 yards long and 100 yards wide. At one end will be the "escape" which gives the rabbit an equal chance with the hound. The rabbit will get an 80-yard start on the dogs. The hottest part of the race will be in front of the grandstand.

All dogs in the meet will be registered hounds which have run in leading coursing meets in Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, and the middle west. Therefore, the owners say, spectators will see the fastest four-footed races they ever saw.

16 Players Report For Mag Practice Playing Manager Bob Bailey likes the looks of his Magnolia Flying Red Horses. The former Pampa Oiler first baseman had 16 players report for practice yesterday afternoon. Workouts will be held on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

Supervisor Bob Posey is having the company diamond at the end of East Foster avenue graded and leveled for the season. Several home games will be scheduled, according to Business Manager Earl Chase.

Shortage of pitchers is worrying Manager Bailey. He has George Gastneau from last year's team and Ralph Hamilton, lefthander, making his first appearance, to start with. Bailey will be 6th starter with John Whorton on second. Cone Donelson and Emmett Forester will cover the other two infield positions. But Manager Bailey hasn't decided which will be a hot corner.

In the outfield there will be Emmett White, Bill McMullen, Floyd McCoy, and T. A. Barnes from last year's team besides several newcomers.

Henry Stephens will be available for catching duties with Dick Simmons also ready.

Lubbock Beats Oilers And Ends Losing Streak

LUBBOCK, May 1.—The Lubbock Hubbers broke their long losing streak yesterday at the expense of the Pampa Oilers when they converted 12 hits into seven runs for a 7 to 5 win.

Lefty Rex Dilbeck started for the Oilers but was relieved in the fifth by Ben Parrish who twirled superb ball. Dilbeck allowed the Hubbers 10 hits for six runs in four innings to be the losing pitcher. Parrish gave up only two hits and one run the rest of the way and fanned six.

Lubbock's Hyma was wild, passing nine men, and giving up nine hits, two of them doubles to Jordan and Potter. Jordan continued to lead the Oilers at the plate with three home runs Saturday night in three runs. On Monday Jordan bagged four hits to drive in eight runs.

The Oilers played errorless ball but were unable to hit in the clinch, leaving 11 runners stranded on bases.

The Oilers and Hubbers play again this afternoon in Lubbock. Then the Oilers leave for a single game in Borger Thursday night before going home.

Night baseball will be introduced here on Friday night when the Oilers come home for the first of an eight game series. Lamesa will provide the opposition Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Then Lubbock will come for two games to be followed by Clovis for three games.

Game time Friday night will be 8:15 o'clock. On Saturday night, which will be Ladies night, game time will be 9:15 o'clock. All women will be admitted free to Saturday night's game.

Berry Discusses Midget Auto Racing With City Commission

Midget automobile racing may be held regularly each week this summer in Pampa if arrangements can be completed by Joe Berry, bowling alley owner, who is promoting the sport here.

Berry appeared before the city commission yesterday at its regular meeting and asked permission to use the track at Recreation park for the purpose.

The commission neither denied nor granted the request pending Berry's conferring with the city manager, Steve Matthews, and going with him to the park to see if the proper track layout could be made and the cost.

Little grading would be needed, but the track would have to be cemented, Berry said. Possible interference with softball diamonds and the polo field were questions raised by the commission in discussing the plan. Berry minimized these objections.

He said it would be necessary for him to know soon if he could have the use of the track, as midget automobile racing is centered in East Texas, and the racers would not want to make a long trip for just a "one-night" stand.

Night Baseball Turned Down By Beaumont Chief

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF DALLAS, May 1 (AP)—The show's manager never has gone in for theatricals above the footlights but knows a thing or two about getting crowds into ball parks.

The president of the Beaumont club of the Texas league, one of the citadels of daylight baseball, let it be known today that he has an open mind on the subject but that it isn't likely the fans will see the team play under the globes in Beaumont anytime soon.

"I still contend that the winning ball club is the thing," he declared while on a visit to the Texas league office. "But on the show and the fans will come and see your team play."

Mrs. Lapham Favorite To Capture Title

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT DALLAS, May 1 (AP)—Twenty three years ago this month a young San Antonio lady won the first Texas women's golf title.

Today, little of the spring gone from her step, virtually none of the effectiveness from her game, silvery-haired Mrs. Jack H. Lapham teed off for the second round of the annual tournament, still a favorite.

Sentiment didn't make her a favorite. She established herself from the beginning, carding a comfortable 90 over rain-washed Brook Hollow in the qualifying round and then eliminating Mrs. W. F. Alexander of Dallas, 7 and 5, in a stunning first round match yesterday.

Seven times the gracious, kindly San Antonio sportswoman has won this Texas title, the last time in 1928, at Houston.

Younger stars came along. Mrs. Lapham still is the master of the short game. National champion Betty Jameson, Mrs. Dan Chandler, Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite and Mrs. E. R. Hury—but she will be feared if she meets up with any of them before this tournament is ended.

The tournament had only one feature match today. Mrs. Goldthwaite drew Miss Marie Levi of Dallas.

Mrs. Goldthwaite easily disposed of Mrs. S. R. Lawler of Houston in the first round, 6 and 5. Miss Levi was only a shot or two off par with a 3 and 2 victory over Mrs. G. G. Gannon of Houston.

Miss Jameson, nearing Mrs. Lapham's title record in trying for her fifth consecutive victory, was paired against Mrs. W. H. Ainsworth of Houston. Betty dropped Mrs. Worth, 8 and 7. She plays Mrs. C. O. Scott of Dallas today.

Mrs. Hury was an easy 5 and 4 winner over Mrs. Robert Payne of Dallas. Today she gets competition from Mrs. Frank Jones, Dallas city champion.

Mrs. Chandler was only one over men's par for eleven holes in beating Mrs. H. V. Gordona of Fort Worth, 8 and 7. She plays Mrs. C. O. Scott of Dallas today.

Carleton Hurls No-Hit Game Against Cincinnati

By JUDSON BAILEY Associated Press Sports Writer There's no use being skeptical any longer. Destiny's Dodgers are so hot they're setting the National league on fire and the other clubs are blotted out of the picture.

Nine straight victories, climaxed by a no-hit pitching performance from a 33-year-old Texas cowhand who almost decided to quit baseball last winter and stay at home on the range, show that Brooklyn is taking baseball seriously and will have to be taken seriously.

Winning streaks sometimes are put together with luck but the Dodgers' wasn't. They simply overwhelmed every foe they have met. Tex Carleton's no-hit 3-0 masterpiece against Cincinnati yesterday pointed up the fact that Brooklyn pitchers have allowed only 63 hits and 14 runs in nine games.

The St. Louis Cardinals were rained out against the Giants yesterday, but the Pittsburgh Pirates were beaten for the fourth straight time, 6-2, by the Phillies. The Chicago Cubs had an 8-7 squeeze to win in ten innings from the Bees. Al Todd hit a homer in the extra installment for the victory.

Plaudits of the baseball world also went to another Texan, the 35-year-old southpaw of the St. Louis Browns, Emil Bidill, who stopped the world champion New York Yankees 2-1 on two hits in his first start in the majors.

It was the seventh time in 10 games a lefthander had started on the mound against the Yanks and the fourth time they had fallen. They have been beaten twice by righthanders.

The Cleveland Indians climbed back into exclusive possession of the lead in the American league with a 10-5 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Boston Red Sox were 9-4 victims of the Chicago White Sox. The Washington Senators bagged the Detroit Tigers 9-4.

By JOHN FRYE CINCINNATI, May 1 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, by the way, only months ago as an apparent "washout," looked at the world today from the heights of no-hit baseball fame.

The tall, curly-haired 33-year-old refugee from the American Association pitched the undefeated Brooklyn Dodgers to a 3 to 0 triumph over Cincinnati yesterday before 10,544 fans who were with him all the way to a man.

If any there were who cried "they can't do that to our Reds," they didn't have much chance to be heard.

The 10,544 cheered Milkman Jim Turner, late of the Boston Bees,

Bimmie Looks Like Dead-Eye Cinch To Win Derby Classic

By SID FEDER LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1 (AP)—It's one of those daffy things without rhyme or reason, but all signs pointed today to the fact that eight other horses actually are going to the post with Bimelech in the Kentucky Derby Saturday.

What they'll be in there for no one among the thousands already in Derby town for the big show seems to know. Of course, that $5,000 second money "ain't hay," and in times like these you're not sneezing at $2,000 for third or even $1,000 for fourth. But there doesn't seem to be any chance for anything with four legs catching Bimmie once he throws 'er in high.

The way he came down in 1:38 on a slow track in the derby trial at Churchill Downs yesterday made one thing just about a dead-eyed cinch. The other fellows are going to get a lot of his dust kicked in their faces.

Several of the candidates thought they had an outside chance up to yesterday. Of those in the trial, only Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Gallaheen, which ran a creditable second to Bimmie yesterday, and Charles T. Fisher's Sirocco, which wound up third, will get a ticket to the derby post.

These and the other die-hard optimists who still think maybe Bimmie'll run the wrong way or something, make the picture for the derby post parade look something like this:

who in eight innings allowed but four hits. But soon after Pete Coscarart lofted one over the left-field wall in the fifth for a three-run homer, fans suspected they might see the realization of pitcher's dream. They applauded the Reds—but yelled and cheered the Texas' very move.

Aside from tying modern major league records in giving his team its ninth straight game at the start of the season, there was poetic justice in Carleton's performance.

Carleton, formerly with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs but sold down river to Milwaukee and unconditionally released last year, conceded "it makes me feel great," but said he "didn't realize until the eighth that I might have a no-hitter."

"From then on," he grinned, "I counted every pitch."

In hurling the second no-hit no-run game of the season—just two weeks to a day since Bobby Feller turned the trick for Cleveland in the opener against the Chicago White Sox—Carleton threw 92 pitches. Four men faced him in each of three innings as a result of his two walks and Dodger errors, and the rest of the time the Reds went out one-two-three.

Tyler Now Has Two League Victories

By The Associated Press The Tyler Trojans were getting nowhere fast in the East Texas league race when club officials called time out for a pep talk and to secure new players.

What they said and did paid off it seems because the Trojans had lost eight games in a row up to Monday night but now have two victories.

Last night Tyler beat Jacksonville 21-0 with Nick Gregory, one of the new players, leading the 23-hit attack with four singles and a homer.

The other games were postponed due to rain.

Tonight's schedule: Marshall at Tyler. Kilgore at Jacksonville. Palestine at Henderson. Longview at Texarkana.

SERIAL STORY BET

Serial story 'BET' by Chester B. Lewis, detailing a plot involving a man named 'Sherry'.

SERIAL STORY

BET ON LOVE

BY CHARLES B. PARMER

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Sherry in explained Pepper Boy. Another owner has filed a claim so the will share the prize for the colt. Uncle Willie consoled Sherry, saying, "The colt isn't yours—yet."

CHAPTER VI
SHERRY shook her head, as she patted Uncle Willie's arm. "Must wait. This isn't over yet," she whispered reassuringly. But Sherry knew he was just trying to ease her mental suffering.

She heard the dice rattling in the leather cup as Jamison shook them for his throw. Paul Wharton was watching the other owner closely. Sherry saw determination in Wharton's eyes, in the firm set of his jaw. Paul was out to win—he had to win—her horse!

Jamison's hand came down and two red dice rolled out on the counter—a deuce and a five. "Seven," the secretary announced, taking up the dice, passing the cup to Wharton.

Paul shook the dice quickly, rolled them down the counter. Every eye was fixed upon the bouncing cubes. Sherry held her breath as they came to a stop at last. A four and a six.

"Mr. Wharton gets the colt!" "Not so fast, my learned friend," Willie Bond was saying to the secretary. "Not so fast, I demand to see the claiming slip Mr. Wharton deposited."

"Show it to him," Wharton spoke with aloofness, looking out a window. "My name is signed to, I believe."

"Yes, sir, your name is," Willie Bond conceded, "and also I see the time stamp; you dropped this in the box at 2:17."

"Well, what of it?" "Plenty, young sir!" Willie Bond spoke sharply. "Jockey Club rules say the claim must be deposited in the box at least 15 minutes before post time. Post time was advertised as 2:30. You were two minutes late—look at the time stamped on it."

PAUL WHARTON did look; then turned to himself. "The colt's trainer," he said aloud. "Look here," he demanded of the secretary, "are we going by technicalities on this race track?"

Willie Bond didn't give the official time to speak. He turned on Wharton: "Do we race by Jockey Club rules—or is it every man for himself? If you don't recognize the Jockey Club, maybe the stewards would like to know it."

"Aw, thunder!" "Thunder yourself—your claim's thrown out. Right, Mr. Secretary?"

The latter nodded, said: "Correct. Horse goes to the next man."

"My winnin' day," the unshaven trainer grinned. "Gimme the order for that colt."

"Not so fast, my good man," Willie Bond protested. "The colt isn't yours—yet."

"Ain't, eh? Didn't the secretary just say it is—we go by rules on this track." He smacked his lips. "And here's $2500 cash-money for that colt." He laid a pile of bills on the counter.

"No doubt excellent currency—but may I ask, Mr. Secretary," Willie Bond spoke in his suave tones, "whether this ah—fellow has $2500 to his credit with the Racing Association? Has he, Mr. Secretary?"

The latter was distinctly annoyed. He glared over his glasses at the big man in front of him. "Racing season's just begun—"

"Correct," Willie Bond conceded, "and we've agreed that Jockey Club rules govern here. The rules distinctly say—" he waved a fat finger under the secretary's nose—"and see if my memory is correct, each person desiring to make a claim, unless he shall have such amount to his credit with the association, must first deposit with the association the whole amount of his claim in cash."

"This—ah—fellow hasn't that much credit on your books; and I take it the—ah—fellow didn't deposit $2500 with you, sir, before the race; else he wouldn't tender the currency now."

"One minute, Mr. Bond," the official smiled, "I should speak plainly. Generally there's a bit of latitude—when intentions are known to be good. Usually we'll take a man's money after the race."

"Say! If you're going to make that kind of exception," Paul Wharton exploded, "then you've got to accept my claim. What's two minutes, when my intentions are good?"

William Bond stepped back, looked straight at the harassed official: "Suppose we take this to the stewards, ask them whether or not Jockey Club rules govern—"

"Please, please!" The secretary had no desire to admit to the stewards that he could not rule his own balliwick. He smiled unctuously, rubbed his hands together, finished, "I should say, gentlemen, all claims are disallowed; the colt remains the property of Miss Bond. And better racing luck next time, Miss Bond."

SHERRY BOND was weaving her way through the race track crowds when she stopped, annoyed, as someone grasped her elbow. She shook free the hand, glanced over her shoulder. It was Paul Wharton—an eager look in his eyes.

"Sherry!" "Well?" The steel in her manner made him pause. She spoke again, sharply: "You tried to claim my horse."

"Sherry, you've got to listen—"

Again she shook his hand free. Turned, saying, "You'll excuse me." She started toward the clubhouse.

Paul was beside her—was keeping pace with her going up the steps—was talking—she was not hearing a word he said—she went into the first vacant box. "Will you please go away?" she asked.

"Sherry, I was trying to protect your horse. Remember, twice I urged you not to start Pepper Boy in a claiming race? You wouldn't listen. So when I learned another man was going to claim him, I had my trainer put in a claim."

Sherry was silent; she stared at him.

"Racing's a man's game, Sherry—"

"One-third of the race horses in America are owned by women—"

"And raced by men trainers! There are only a handful of girl trainers in the country. This business requires experience, and you simply haven't any, Sherry."

"But fortunately my uncle has!" Paul Wharton shrugged. "Don't you understand, Sherry? I was trying to save your colt; I was going to give him back to you—as one friend to another."

So Paul had been trying to save her colt, not take Pepper Boy away from her. Sherry's smile returned slowly.

"Thanks, Paul," she said, extending her hand. "I didn't understand."

"I know, darling. He did not release her hand. "Sherry, won't you give up this racing business, marry me, now." He was almost pleading. "You've had a try at it, and you came through only by sheer luck."

"You know I love you Sherry. We can be married here, have our honeymoon at the Derby, watching Red Soldier win."

"Watching Pepper Boy win," Sherry corrected. The hatred had gone from her voice. If she married Paul now all her worries would be over. No more ruffling about bills, no more risking Pepper Boy, not against Paul, but with him.

"Paul," she said, "I—"

Panhandle Grades

Give Choral Concert

Special To The NEWS

PANHANDLE, May 1—The entire school staged their fourth choral concert in the high school auditorium Friday night.

Various types of music was expressed in the songs sung by each grade. Nature was expressed in the songs of the first grade, patriotic and Texas songs by the second grade rhythm band; songs of famous composers by the third grade.

The fourth grade sang songs of countries studied in class room work. The fifth grade interested set songs. Typical American songs, many of them Stephen Foster's compositions, were sung by the sixth grade.

The seventh grade pupils were seated on the stage during the entire performance. Their songs were of the club variety.

The program was climaxed with the entire group on the stage singing patriotic songs. As the last strains of "God Bless America" were sung, colored food lights were turned on the group, and Mrs. O. R. Owens expressed, through prayer, the sentiment of the school that American school children can sing songs of peace.

The closing number was Brahms' "Lullaby," sung by the entire group. Mrs. O. R. Owens directed, and Miss Mary Ewing was accompanist. With the exception of the seventh grade numbers, when Miss Frankie Sewell accompanied.

mentioned that "at Trondheim fighting still went on yesterday" and this was regarded in Berlin as evidence that allied resistance still was formidable in some areas in the path of the German advance.

Warplanes Lost
Both in Berlin and London, there were indications that the allies had a firm foothold in the Steinkjer sector, north of Trondheim.

Swedish reports in Stockholm said Norwegian troops still were occupying positions north of the railway junction of Storen, and from German-held Oslo itself came a dispatch stating the fate of Norwegian and allied troops in the Storen region was unknown.

Although the Oslo dispatch was based on the assumption that the German claim of having established a contact was valid, there nevertheless remained the possibility that the Norwegian-allied forces might be in a position to keep the Germans apart somewhere north of Storen.

There was no confirmation of the German claim in London, and the German announcement of the capture of Dombas, strategic rail junction east of the British west coast base of Andalsnes, was countered with the official report that the British had "resisted any further advances by the enemy" in the Dombas region.

London announced also that "fresh landings have taken place in the coast of Norway."

Meanwhile a jubilant German army turned to plans for a sweeping attack on the British forces based on Andalsnes, hoping to drive them back into the sea.

Matthews To Begin Duties Here Today

An order authorizing incoming City Manager Steve Matthews to sign checks of the city with City Secretary W. M. Craven, subject to the commission's first accepting a surety bond of $10,000 from the city manager, was passed by the city commission at its meeting Tuesday.

Matthews took over his duties as Pampa city manager this morning. First duties of the new appointee was to accompany W. T. Williamson, retiring city manager, on a tour of inspection of city property.

The new city manager came here from Borger where he served as city manager for the past year. Prior to that time he was assistant coach at Borger high school where he went from Childress.

Mr. Williamson has not announced his plans for the future. Tomorrow he will accompany his daughter, Peggy Williamson, Helen Dudley and O. F. Shewmaker to Austin where Miss Williamson and Miss Dudley will represent Pampa high school in debate at the state interscholastic league meet.

Mr. Williamson met with Mayor Fred Thompson, Commissioners George B. Cree and H. C. Wilson, Robert F. Gordon, city attorney, and W. M. Craven, city secretary, yesterday.

Mayor Thompson said a special call meeting might be held today at which time this could be decided, and Matthews make arrangements for the submitting of his bond.
