Convict, Sleeping In Stolen Car, Captured

Methodists Demand Recall Of Taylor

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 2 (AP)—The general conference of the Methodist church today formally asked President Roosevelt to recall Myron C. Taylor, his personal envoy to the Vatican.

Lake Worth School To Reopen; Strike Of Students Ends

PORT WORTH, May 2 (AP)—Elementary and high school classes of Lake Worth school, marked by a strike of 72 students, were due to reopen today, paving the way for a settlement of the controversy.

Chicago Dairymen On Strike—CHICAGO, May 2 (AP)—The strike of dairy employes in the metropolitan area entered its second day today as state and federal conciliators sought to settle a wage dispute that has choked off the milk supply for most consumers.

Dam Waters Cover Road; Disney May Become Island Minus Bridges

DISNEY, Okla., May 2 (AP)—Captive waters of the $20,000,000 Grand River dam today were burying the first of the highways involved in an unsettled state-federal dispute and threatening to turn this little damsite town into an "island."

OILTON, Okla., May 2 (AP)—Dick Broyles, fugitive Texas convict, was captured five miles northeast of here today by two officers who found him sleeping in a stolen automobile parked in a pasture.

Constable Dave Irwin said he and Police Chief Ben Clark opened the door of the car, awakened Broyles by jamming their pistols in his ribs, and the convict surrendered peacefully.

The car has been identified, Irwin said, as one stolen at Cushing Tuesday night from B. F. Cook, a Cushing resident who was abducted and forced to drive an armed man through three counties.

Broyles was taken to jail at Drumright. Officers said no decision had been made on whether he would be returned to Texas or held in Oklahoma for trial on robbery and abduction charges.

Irwin said he asked the convict if he was guilty of the crimes laid at his door since his escape and Broyles replied, "I'm the boy who did it all."

At least three persons who have been abducted and robbed in this vicinity in the past two weeks identified Broyles as their assailant after viewing Broyles's gallery photographs.

Broyles escaped recently from officers taking him from Wichita Falls, Tex., to the state penitentiary at Huntsville. He is under a 35-year sentence for armed robbery.

The slender, blue-eyed Broyles is a native of this area. Before his conviction in Texas, he served a 15-year term in Oklahoma for first degree rape in Creek county. Earlier he served a burglary term in Granite reformatory.

After his escape in Texas, Broyles came immediately to Oklahoma. Officers believed he would try to reach his wife, who is reported living in Jennings, and have patrolled the highways for him constantly.

For two weeks, the fugitive traveled about in circles. Cook, his latest victim, said Broyles forced him to drive through three counties, re-ceived the schoolhouse with a barbed wire fence and refused admittance to high school students and faculty. The strikers are protesting the non-rejection of Ram-

Directness To Mark Speech Of General Butler

There'll be no doubt as to what Major-General Smedley Darlington Butler means when he addresses Pampanos at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the high school auditorium.

With a vocabulary as eloquent as a leatherneck post sergeant, and with a rapier-keen mind and a terse, direct, delivery, the general will strikingly present facts on "America and the European War."

A change in plans of the sponsors of the program has made it possible for tickets to be obtained at the auditorium, on the night of the address. Tickets are now on sale at 15 places in Pampa, with the 40 and 80 box car in front of the First National bank as the central ticket selling place.

General Butler will arrive in Pampa from Tulsa late Friday afternoon. A reception will be held from 5 to 6 at the Schneider hotel. Early Friday night a dinner is being planned, for which invitations are to be sent.

The Marine corps leader will be introduced at the auditorium tomorrow night by Dan Williams of Pampa, who served in the 13th Marine regiment during the World War. Butler was in command of the regiment.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
The battle of Norway which blew up in our faces without warning is still showing sufficient vitality so that it wouldn't be safe to bet a lot that the Anglo-French allies can't put fresh life into it.

Personally I'd like to know a bit more about what's in the minds of the Allied command (and the political leaders) before writing an epitaph for this engagement.

The view this morning remained pretty foggy. Stockholm reported that a new British sea and air offensive appeared to be boiling up to stop German reinforcements from reaching Norway. Norwegian Pampa's first Doll Show will be held Saturday morning in the American Legion hut on West Foster avenue, sponsored by the Pampa Recreation council and Works Progress Administration. The show is one of many activities being conducted by Jim Edwards, supervisor, and a corps of assistants.

Doors of the Legion hut will be open at 9 a. m. Judging will begin at 10 a. m. by Mrs. Gene Pattee, representing the Women's Federated clubs, Mrs. L. J. McCarty, representing the Girl Scouts, and Carroll Kilbreth of Junior high school.

The show will be free to the public. Prizes will be awarded for the largest doll, the smallest doll, the oldest doll, the youngest doll, the best collection of dolls, the most patriotic doll, the most unique doll, etc.

Dolls must be at the Legion hut by 9 a. m. No advance entry need be made.

Business Good Here, Postal Figures Show

Germans' War Chest Totals 200 Millions

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Germany's secret "war chest," fortified by acquisition of convertible assets in Denmark and Norway, now totals more than $200,000,000 on the basis of estimates by American officials charting the economies of the European war.

The federal reserve bank's figures credit the third Reich with only $20,000,000 in gold, but that total has not varied since December, 1937, and officials do not doubt the existence of far greater unreported reserves.

The exact amount of gold and convertible assets Germany may have gained in Denmark and Norway is not yet known to American economists. At the time of Hitler's lightning thrust into Scandinavia, Norway reported $1,000,000 in gold reserves, and Denmark had $53,000,000.

Financial authorities pointed out, however, that both nations reputedly had sent large consignments of gold to London for safekeeping just prior to the German invasion. Norway also shipped $33,000,000 of the metal to the United States during January and February.

Business in Pampa is good, according to one of the oldest established barometers in the nation—postal receipts. "As postal receipts go, so goes business" is a well known slogan and Pampa business is definitely on the upgrade according to local receipts for April, which were $1,238.83, or 13 2/10 per cent over the same month in 1939.

The barometer started to rise in January when a new record for that month was established. In February the same was true and in March the rise continued. The first quarter receipts of 1940 were the highest in history for the particular period, and were only surpassed by a few Christmas quarters.

Postmaster C. H. Walker said: "Postal receipts last month totaled $7,988.60 compared with $6,751.98 for the same month last year. "There is no reason for the continued increase each month excepting better business in Pampa."

Wilson Band Leads Pampanos To Guyton
Pampa's red-uniformed Woodrow Wilson school band marched in the parade at the Guyton Pioneer Day celebration this morning. The band, directed by Frederick Forrester, was accompanied by a delegation of Pampa citizens.

Bearded Pampa Jaycees also marched in the parade carrying banners telling about the big Top O' Texas Fiesta and Coronado Entrance to be held here June 13, 14 and 15.

The Pampanos, headed by C. A. Huff, chairman of the chamber of commerce goodwill committee, left at 7 o'clock this morning. The band will return in time to play in the all-school music festival tonight.

Welfare Council Meeting Delayed
In order to avoid conflict with the address of Major General Smedley D. Butler, the regular monthly meeting of the Gray County Co-ordinating Council of Welfare has been advanced one day.

The council will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the district court room, instead of at 8 o'clock tomorrow night as had been planned.

Butler's address is to be given at 8 o'clock Friday night in the high school auditorium.

All organizations that have not selected delegate as yet to the council are urged to do so and have representation at the meeting tonight.

Stolen Pocketbook And $19 Recovered
A billfold containing $19 in cash, alleged to have been stolen from Claude Vincent Tuesday night in a downtown cafe, was found early this morning in a doorway on South Cuyler street and turned over to the police.

The missing billfold was found by Bill Garrett while he was cleaning some waste paper from the doorway of the Cook building.

Two persons were arrested by city police officers in connection with the case, but they were released after being questioned by County Attorney Joe Gordon.

Allies Will Withdraw All Their Forces

Chamberlain Says Nazis 'Elaborate Treachery' Won

Great Britain has withdrawn "the whole" of her forces from Andalus, main landing point of her expeditionary forces in the lower central part of Norway, and has abandoned any idea of withdrawing her forces west coast port, from the south, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons today.

Britain was "forestalled," he put it, by the careful planning of Germany's Norwegian invasion and by elaborate treachery against an unsuspecting and almost unarmed people.

The withdrawal from Andalus, said Chamberlain, was carried out without the loss of a single man, and the fighting which preceded it brought casualties which were "not heavy in proportion to the operation."

This interim statement by the prime minister, his second of the Norwegian campaign, followed upon German reports that the Nazi troops were sweeping toward the sea toward Andalus from Donbas, where the British retreat began.

This area is approximately 100 miles south and west of Trondheim, which the German advance units have linked with Oslo, Norway's capital in the far south.

Turning his attention to the invasion in the Mediterranean, caused by Italy's newly intransigent attitude, Chamberlain disclosed that the British and French battle fleets now are in the eastern Mediterranean, en route to Alexandria, Egypt.

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today disclosed the withdrawal of British troops from the Norwegian campaign, abandoning the attempt to take German-held Trondheim from the south, but declared Britain will keep on fighting Germany in any way and refused to be tempted into letting her guard down in the Mediterranean.

"We have no intention of allowing Norway to become mere side show," Chamberlain told the house of commons, "but neither are we going to be tripped into a dispersal of our forces as we leave us dangerously weak at vital center."

He asserted that blows to the German fleet permit of an important redistribution of the main Allied fleets, and announced a British-French battle fleet is in the eastern Mediterranean on the way to Alexandria, Egypt.

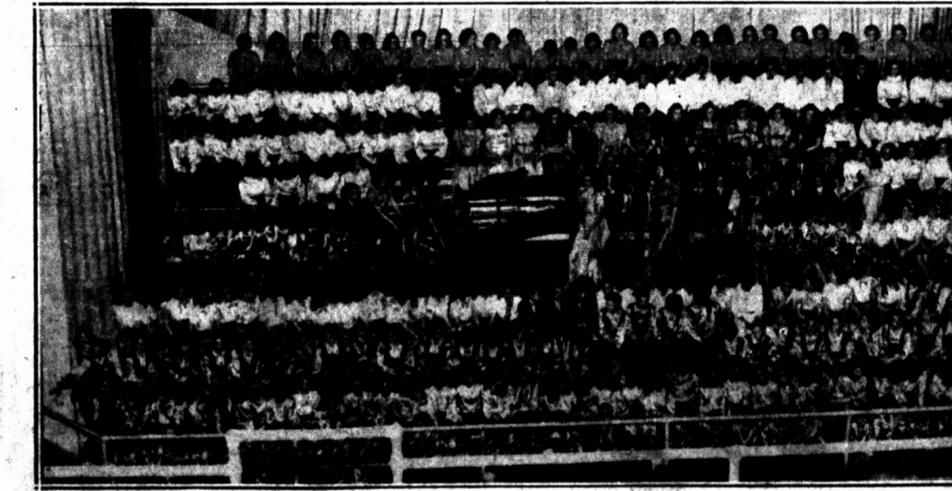

Chamberlain's statement was his second report on the Norwegian campaign but he made it clear at the outset it was only an interim report, that there was much he could not say for fear of disclosing strategy to the Germans, and announced a debate in the house of commons on the campaign would be held next Tuesday.

The troops withdrawn from Andalus front were being transferred "elsewhere," Chamberlain said.

This led to speculation why they were joining the British.

Some members of the "Glo-Pants" basketball team, including A. C. Enloe, Junior Frashier, M. Mounts and Thomas Dewey, by scheming up a plan to kidnap Hitler and get the Carnegie statue's million-dollar reward cannot be so far away, it was said. ## CHORUS OF NEARLY 400 TO BE ON STAGE OF HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

Nearly 400 students will be on the stage of the high school auditorium tonight when the combined choruses of all Pampa schools open the spring concert in the all-school music festival. The scene shown above will be duplicated in the opening and closing of the program.

Beginning at 8:15 o'clock Pampanos will be presented a program by sextets, choirs, choruses, mixed trios and other vocal ensembles from Pampa High and junior high schools, and from the four ward schools: B. M. Baker, Horace Mann, Woodrow Wilson, and Sam Houston.

Music will range from negro spirituals to a song of Sibelius, from an Italian folk song to Irving Berlin's "God Bless America."

The concert is the annual demonstration of the music department in the Pampa schools. Miss Helen Martin, music supervisor in the Pampa school system, and the music supervisors of the junior high, and the four ward schools, will direct the program tonight.

Scheduled for the first event of the festival was a parade to be held at 3:20 o'clock this afternoon, in which all six Pampa school bands, as well as vocal students, would take part.

The R. R. Tries To Yell Head Off Panhandle Hares Run Faster Than Hounds

By THE ROVING REPORTER
Take a lanky, leaping, long-winded Panhandle jackrabbit off the plains and put him in an enclosure where the ground is clean and smooth, and he's too fast for a couple of greyhounds.

But the hounds sure do give him a race! The Roving Reporter yesterday saw some hounds lose in trial greyhound-rabbit races in the enclosure at Recreation park where 21 dog races will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The Panhandle hares are the fastest and long-windedest rabbits in the world, says Claude Vernon, Raymond Bennett, Ira Hughes, Clyde Organ, the Patton Bros., Jack Porterfield, whose hounds have chased rabbits all over the Plains of the Southwest.

Greyhounds are supposed to be the fastest four-footed animals in the world, but Panhandle jackrabbits are faster. Hound owners say that Kansas and Oklahoma jackrabbits are not as fast as the Panhandle kind, but New Mexico rabbits are even faster than Panhandle hares.

Before the first trial race was held over yesterday, the R. R. went nuts. When he came to he was trying to yell his head off, and the hounds had allowed the rabbit to run into the escape at the end of the enclosure.

The sprinting hares certainly did give those hounds a good workout. Each rabbit was given an 80-yard start on the two hounds. The first one lit out at a mile-a-minute lunge; the hounds never did catch up with him.

All Three-Gun It
At first the hounds were running neck and neck, and Just Did finally took the lead by a length. Salem Sally almost pitched a hissy when Just Did passed her and she really floor-boarded it and began to cry.

Got a Kick 'Just Around the Corner'

H. Guidotti, a San Francisco dairy helper, said the owner of a cow that had kicked him on the shins. He lost, veterinarians testifying that a cow facing north cannot kick southward. His May 10 was. ### Phillips Dance Attended By 300

The "Winding of the May Pole" by Phillips ladies at the May day dance last night at the Southern club was one of the most attractive pieces of art witnessed in this vicinity. Three hundred attended.

After a round of fan-fare by Ken Bennett and his Cornshuckers, R. E. Smith, master of ceremonies, produced the large May pole and placed it in the center of the dance floor. Misses Bertha Stephens, Olaf Baird, Onal Kiff, Misses Ray Franklin, L. Pierce, C. R. Smith, Howard Reed, C. Courson, Jr., R. O. Dewey, and I. F. Haddock, then staged the beautiful dance.

All participants of the May Pole dance were attracted in their evening gowns and made a spectacular picture against the blending of various rotating colors from the flood light. They immediately went into their dance and deftly wound the green and pink streamers on the May Pole with no irregularities. Rounds of applause rose from the audience at three different times during the dance.

Mrs. Myrtle Simmons of Pampa, captured the "May Queen" title and in her own right was awarded the "Crown of Flowers" and the cash prize after competing with more than a score of applicants. At her command of "On with the dance," the dance proceeded.

"Phillips employees appreciate the response of their friends in helping this May day frolic, possibly the most outstanding event of the social year, a huge success," Mr. Smith said today.

DOG RACES

Yelping, but Just Did when he heard the racket behind him shoved down the top of the cage. The hare likewise gave it the gas. The rabbit wanted to play with the hounds, apparently. He slashed off to the left toward the east fence.

But before he got there he cut back, and headed for the crowd stand. On the way over he circled three times, and headed north. He made a turn on a pinhead, and then really gunned it for the escape which is located at the corral.

The hounds really tore up the ground on the helix curves the hare made, and they were running so fast they looked as if they were flying flat on the ground.

Boy what a race! The hounds tongues were hanging out and so was ours. The chase must have lasted five minutes. The hound owners pronounced it an exceptionally good race.

Salem Sally Wins

The races Sunday will consist of at least 21 in three title dog stakes in which the puppies will race in the preliminaries, the semifinals and finals.

Salem Sally finally overtook Just Did, and she was credited with winning the race as a hound doesn't have to catch the hare to win; the one that stays ahead most of the time wins, especially if he comes out ahead.

The Pampa hound owners today announced they had 31 rabbits for the races Sunday.

The races will benefit the B. M. Baker school, a fund for underprivileged children. Admission will be 25 cents for adults and 15 for students and children.

PRECINCT

at 2 o'clock that afternoon, at the usual voting places in each precinct.

At the county Democratic convention to be held at 2 p. m. May 7 at the court house, delegates will be named to the state convention to be held in Waco on May 28.

The Republican state convention will be held in the Dallas city hall auditorium on the same date.

In connection with the Democratic precinct and county conventions, H. C. Coffey, county chairman, today issued this appeal:

"As your county chairman I would like to appeal to you to attend these conventions so that we might send as large a delegation to Waco as is possible. This will let the Democratic party down state wake up to the fact that the Panhandle people have at least decided to demand the rights that West Texas is entitled to in the manipulation of state and national affairs.

"Heretofore the ladies of Texas have taken very little interest in state politics, and I would especially be pleased if the ladies of Gray county, who are qualified voters, would attend all of the elections in order to show that they have the same interest in the welfare and the advancement of the electorate of county, state, and national affairs that men have."

Kimbroughs To Join Sadler Band Wagon

HOUSTON, May 2 (AP)—Potential hecklers of Jerry Sadler are advised the gubernatorial candidate will have 40 pounds of assorted football talent traveling with him on his stream-lined campaign this summer.

Sadler, railroad commissioner, announced today John Kimbrough, all-American fullback at Texas A&M college, and his brother Jack, an end, will join the Sadler band wagon as soon as school is out.

Market Briefs

PAMPA SALES WEDNESDAY

Attendance at the sale was 300. More stock is needed.

Hens sold from $3.25 to $4.40 per 100; pigs ranged from $1.25 to $2.45 each.

Baby calves were strong, selling from $6.25 to $12.50.

Can-cow cows ranged from $3.80 to $4.25 per 100.

Steak cows brought from $4.80 to $5.00 each.

There was small offering of stocker steers and heifers but not enough to meet the demand.

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Quiet burble of stocks, motors and specialties today turned the stock market into selective rally-bait.

While gains for a few favorites ran to 2 points or so at the best, most advances were in small fractions and top quotations in many cases were reduced at the close.

Loss of volume on the comstock was a fly in the market's eye.

Transfers for the five hours were around 65,000 shares.

quarters also averred that German withdrawals in the Glomma valley indicated the Nazi communication between Oslo and Trondheim, of which Herr Hitler made so much, had been severed.

It is that as it may, one of the things we can see is that the Allies have received enough of a knock so that it would seem they must adopt one of two courses immediately. They will have to put on a really big show and try to blast the Hitlerites out of southern and central Norway, or must call it a day and withdraw from that part of the country.

(After this was written, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons the Allies were abandoning any notion of taking Trondheim from the south and had withdrawn their troops from Andalsnes.)

In the latter case they presumably would still maintain an expeditionary force in the Narvik region, way up within the Arctic circle. You know Narvik as the now famous port through which has been passing most of the Swedish iron ore that has gone to keep the German armament factories running.

That's the stuff which caused the battle of Norway—just plain iron ore that one day will find its way into a junk yard. If the Allies can cut down the supply of this ore it will greatly lessen the enemy's resistance.

The martial tradition of England and France is not to cut. But there are times when discretion is the better part of valor. The Allies may decide that, since the Germans are so well installed, it would be unwise militarily to try to dislodge them, no matter how great the political and sentimental urge.

I saw a lot of fine fellows die on the battle field in the World war for settlement scores of thousands. For instance, gave their lives to keep the Germans out of the ancient city of Ypres when the place was in utter ruins and had no strategic value.

The Allies felt that the moral effect of the loss of Ypres would be bad.

Of course, Norway isn't Ypres, and there is no doubt that the moral effect of an Allied withdrawal would be heavy, though it needn't be disastrous. Main concern undoubtedly revolves around Italy's. Signor Mussolini talked with American Ambassador Phillips yesterday and is understood to have given the impression withdrawal would convince any war move within the next ten days at least. After that Mussolini's position apparently will depend on the course of events.

If Duce is a smart man, and it's my guess he isn't satisfied that any decisive victory has been won in Norway thus far. Whether an Allied withdrawal would convince him that Germany is on the road to winning the war is problematical, but he certainly knows that the war will not be either won or lost in the battle of Norway.

Actually, Herr Hitler is likely to pay a fairly heavy price for the advantage which may accrue to him from his Norwegian victory — if that's what it proves to be. He has greatly extended his military commitments at a time when he wishes to conserve his resources to meet the drain of the economic blockade.

He is burning up reserves, especially gasoline which is worth more to him than liquid gold because of its scarcity. He soon will have to feed helpless Norway, just as he will have to care for Denmark, while that blockade keeps on squeezing and squeezing.

The point is that every ounce of power which Germany burns up now, is a contribution to the Allied plan of economic strangulation. So maybe the Allies command is smarter than they have been given credit for being. Anyway, the Allies can console themselves with the thought that it's an ill wind, et cetera.

resources is believed to have come from seizures made when German troops took over Austria and her 446,000,000 in gold reserves, and Czechoslovakia, which reported $67,000,000 in gold shortly before the end came.

The Poles managed to spirit their gold stores out of the country barely in time to cheat the conquerors.

Students here see poor prospects of Germany's increasing her gold supply. The country's annual gold production amounts to only $650,000, counting in $350,000 from Czechoslovakia.

On Barter Basis
 German trade is now virtually on a barter basis, although some cash may trickle through from the Baltic countries, the Balkans, Belgium and the Netherlands. British blockade measures are believed to have plugged holes through which Germany formerly received sizable amounts of currency from the United States.

Involvement of Balkan nations in the war would bring additional gold reserves into the picture. Rumania has $152,000,000, Hungary $24,000,000, Yugoslavia $50,000,000, Bulgaria $24,000,000, and Greece $28,000,000. Turkey's gold stores are estimated at $36,000,000.

If Sweden's neutral status should be altered her gold reserves $258,000,000 might be jeopardized. Since the war's start, however, Sweden has shipped $170,000,000 in gold to the United States, and like other small neutrals, is continuing to export its gold for safekeeping.

Pampa To Join In National WPA Week

Joining in the national observance of "This Work Pays Your Community Week," May 20-25, a program of the professional and serving division of the Works Projects administration, a local observance has been planned here.

First on the local schedule will be a dinner at 6:30 o'clock on the night of May 20 at the high school cafeteria. The meal will duplicate that served to students under the WPA hot lunch project and tickets will sell at the cost of the meal.

After the dinner, those attending are to go to the city hall auditorium where Jim Edwards, recreation project superintendent will be in charge of the program presented.

This will include listening to a nation-wide broadcast of radio speeches by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Colonel F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner, and Mrs. Florence Kerr, assistant commissioner.

An attendance of 700 is expected at the dinner preceding the meeting in the city hall auditorium.

Open house will be held during the week at professional and serving projects here.

Over the Panhandle the observance is in charge of Mrs. Albert Walker, Amarillo, district director of the division.

Judge Judged

An awesome time to judge a fellow man. A judge with no divine wisdom or insight, but ped with only the regular complement of human judge, prejudices, and feelings, any thoughtful must hesitate before passing judgment on a fellow being.

When individual men, or bodies of men, irresponsible and self-appointed, begin to judge their fellow men, nothing but horror and injustice can follow.

There came a day when this young Georgia was brought to orderly judgment. The court gave hearing, and a chance to defend himself, and he seemed to himself a brave figure by night, surrounded by his gang, he looked through the hood and watched the lash bite into the back.

Now he cried out that he had been framed, and with the court to be allowed to go home to his wife and children. He buried his face on his wife's shoulder and sobbed. He who had presumed to judge others, cringed before their judgment, of him.

Who incline to judge severely their neighbors, to themselves the misery of this wretched boy, who must now learn in prison the tolerance which society had somehow failed to teach him.

Who such re-read the words of the gentle Orlando, keepers of "As You Like It."

Who will spare no brother in the world but myself, and whom I know most faults."

Sharing The Comforts Of Life ---

By R. C. Hoiles

HONEST ROBBERS. Most emotional people who have not been students of how freedom and liberty developed seem to have the impression that some classes of people are honest and some are not.

Most of these emotional people who are always publicly displaying their great sympathy for the shiftless, do not realize the truth is that cupidity, selfishness, envy, malice, lust, vindictiveness are constant vices in human nature; that they are not confined to classes or to nations or particular ages of the world.

Now these reformers seem to think there is some way of selecting officers who do not have these traits; that there is some way of giving these officers autocratic power and they will not use it to their own advantage.

But when the authority to specify wages or prices is turned over to some government agent, then the public is not protected by having the right of choice to select from all the other producers in the world. He is limited to one choice.

This is the reason that those countries that believe in competition and free enterprise and have more nearly approached it than other people, have had more freedom and more prosperity than any other people.

PROOF OF HUMAN GULLIBILITY

If there is anything which the American people have done to prove how gullible, how illusionary, how superstitious, how blind, how they believe in the miraculous, in supernaturalism, in superhumanism, in prenatalism, in magic, in sorcery, in necromancy, in entrancement, in bunk, in grotesqueness, in charmed life, in myths, in fables, in fables, in animism, in fetishism, in talismanism, in Vedism and in occult, credulous, fantastic ideas, it is the National Labor Relations Board.

People who cannot even write a rule or a principle or an axiom of how to select labor, other than on a competitive basis, still believe in all the above named absurdities; that they can select men who can violate all the principles of freedom and still have freedom—that is all that the Wagner Law means—that men can be selected who can eat a cake and have it at the same time, who can have freedom and coercion at the same time.

Certainly if there ever were proof of lack of a rational, logical and scientific approach of any subject, it is the belief that the rank and file of the people have in the practicability of the Labor Board working out something that no human mind has ever been able to work out in the past.

guard to cotton; law says none of the government-owned bales may be sold unless the price received equals the money put out in loans, plus the carrying charges—which have been about $1,500,000 monthly.

TOO MUCH MONEY. Nothing will happen at this session, but next year Congress is apt to cast some inquiring and critical glances at the money which is piling up under the social security law.

During the next fiscal year, payroll tax money collected for the old age and unemployment insurance funds will amount to $1,300,000,000. Of this, around $740,000,000 will be paid out in benefits; the rest will go to swell the reserve funds.

Unemployment insurance fund will go up the fastest. It stands now at $1,600,000,000-odd, and will rise by around $360,000,000 during the year, unless the bottom falls out of things. On the double-barreled plea that such a set-up is deflationary and that business can't stand the gaff anyhow, you can look for a drive to cut it down pretty sharply.

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, May 2—The vital statistics on solo strikes against studios list so many more fatalities than successes that you wonder how any star, in the parlous times, cares risk his career on his savings.

There are lots of less happy examples on the strike records, although not since the day of Charlie Ray has there been a case of complete extinction.

When Bette Davis broke her contract, and fought and lost in the courts, the quarrel cost so much that she declared herself penniless when she returned to the studio.

SOLO STRIKE GAVE ERROL FLYNN CHANCE. Robert Donat turned down "Captain Blood" as beneath his talents and thereby allowed Errol Flynn, wholly unknown at the time, to scamper far above him on the popularity ladder.

Notice to all tenors, singers and whistlers who can't carry a tune in a sack anyway: spare us the pain of hearing your off-key versions of "Playmate," we like that song and we'd like to keep on liking it for a few weeks. It sounds frightful if you don't know every dip, curve, lilt and straightway in that tune...

THE wheels of justice in Pampa's corporation court continue to grind. We found this out yesterday when we paid off on a ticket after being found guilty by Judge C. E. McGrew.

In court the next morning, we tried to show the judge that the Skipper of this space was not even in the car—and, therefore, how could he be guilty as charged? After trying to plead not guilty, the judge ignored that and said something about it being a pleasure for him to "let us have" and wound up with assessing the fine.

It begins to appear now that the fellow who has the best bull rider in his hill-billy band is the one who has the best chance of being elected governor. A fine pickle for government to get into, if you ask us.

Mrs. Charles Mayo Would Choose Baby Before Automobile

By HARLEY L. LUTZ, Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 2 (AP)—If she had to choose between a baby or a new car, Mrs. Charles H. Mayo, the American mother for 1940, would take the baby—even if she had to use a wheelbarrow to get around.

FROM OKLAHOMA ALSO COMES THIS!

By HARLEY L. LUTZ, Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University

The question of federal taxation of the interest on state and local bonds has been actively discussed for some years. All of the evidence submitted in this discussion indicates that such a tax would be shifted to the property owners and other taxpayers who must pay the interest on these bonds.

Despite this evidence the following statement was made in the Senate recently by Senator Lee of Oklahoma: "Suppose a school district in Oklahoma issues $1,000,000 worth of bonds bearing 3 per cent interest and suppose the entire issue is purchased by a man having an income of $500,000. If the bonds are tax exempt, the Government loses each year in income taxes $21,197.77; whereas if the bonds were taxable, the increased cost in interest charges would average only $3,750 a year, according to the estimates of the Treasury Department. The difference between $21,197.77, which would be the loss in revenue if the bonds were tax exempt, and $3,750, which would be the increased cost if the bonds were not tax exempt, is $17,447.77."

This passage shows that with a pencil and a piece of paper one can do anything. Some persons can take a pencil and make a million dollars by trading in stocks. Others can make a fortune, on paper, by playing the races. Still others build up their paper fortune by figuring out what a patent will earn for them.

WE can't invade Japan and Japan can't invade the United States.

THE real genius of the American people has always consisted largely in their ability to co-operate, and the government is the greatest co-operative enterprise.

IN a system of free or voluntary enterprise advertising contributes to keeping down the cost of business and becomes a social aid rather than a social charge.

WHEN men, whom we are ashamed and disgusted to admit are Norwegians, think they can sell this land to be a dictator's lapdog, they should be taught a lesson.

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 2 (AP)—If she had to choose between a baby or a new car, Mrs. Charles H. Mayo, the American mother for 1940, would take the baby—even if she had to use a wheelbarrow to get around.

One by one, more than half the last decade have been falling. Ever since the turn of the century, women have been advancing farther and farther into the field of business.

Despite this evidence the following statement was made in the Senate recently by Senator Lee of Oklahoma: "Suppose a school district in Oklahoma issues $1,000,000 worth of bonds bearing 3 per cent interest and suppose the entire issue is purchased by a man having an income of $500,000. If the bonds are tax exempt, the Government loses each year in income taxes $21,197.77; whereas if the bonds were taxable, the increased cost in interest charges would average only $3,750 a year, according to the estimates of the Treasury Department. The difference between $21,197.77, which would be the loss in revenue if the bonds were tax exempt, and $3,750, which would be the increased cost if the bonds were not tax exempt, is $17,447.77."

This passage shows that with a pencil and a piece of paper one can do anything. Some persons can take a pencil and make a million dollars by trading in stocks. Others can make a fortune, on paper, by playing the races. Still others build up their paper fortune by figuring out what a patent will earn for them.

THE real genius of the American people has always consisted largely in their ability to co-operate, and the government is the greatest co-operative enterprise.

IN a system of free or voluntary enterprise advertising contributes to keeping down the cost of business and becomes a social aid rather than a social charge.

HOW to EAT to BEAT the HEAT

By ALICE H. SMITH, Nutritionist, Cleveland Health Council

Warm weather's back and with it the question of what to eat. Thanks to the modern dietitians your menu is pretty well planned for you, based on the so-called "protective foods." You'll find it is appetizing as it's healthful.

- 1. Thou shalt have a serving of citrus fruit or tomato daily.
2. Thou shalt have a serving of raw fruit or vegetable daily.
3. Thou shalt have a serving of other fruit or vegetable daily.
4. Thou shalt have an egg daily when possible, otherwise three or four times weekly.
5. Thou shalt have at least one serving of whole grain cereal or bread daily.
6. Thou shalt have one serving of meat, fish, poultry, or meat substitute (legumes) several times weekly.
7. Thou shalt have enough fats and sweets to meet daily the individual requirements.
8. Thou shalt have at least five or six glasses of fluid daily (water, tea, coffee, broth).

Pampa Rotary Club Had Second Largest Group At Convention

A report of the District 127 Rotary International convention, held April 28-30 at Sweetwater, was given at the regular weekly luncheon of the Pampa Rotary club at noon Wednesday by Charlie Burton and M. W. Jones.

There were 1,017 registered at the convention, with the Pampa club having the second largest delegation at the district meeting, 13, only one less than Fort Worth.

Quannah, Vernon, and Ranger were the only clubs in the district not represented.

An address by Marcus Tollet, governor of the 9th district, Finland, was the featured address of the convention.

Another highlight of the district meeting was the Hardin-Simmons university band concert and the singing of the McMurry college chanters at a program presented in the Sweetwater bowl.

Frank Roberts of Breckenridge was nominated for district governor. Election of the district governor is to follow the Rotary International convention at Havana, to be held next month.

Selection of the 1941 convention city is to be made at the assembly of club presidents and secretaries, soon after the Rotary year starts on July 1.

Lubbock and Mineral Wells are strong contenders for the next convention.

Attending the district meeting from Pampa were Mr. and Mrs. Travis Lively, Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burton, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Edmondson, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Daugherty, and G. C. Heard.

There were 42 present at the weekly luncheon of the Pampa Rotary club yesterday. Guests were Carroll Snyder, Memphis, Dr. Joe W. Howze, Pampa, and Steve Matthews, new Pampa city manager.

Intoxication Jumps Here, Arrests Show

More charges of intoxication were filed against persons arrested by city officers last month than in any single month in several years, according to the monthly report of Desk Sergeant Leo V. Wilson filed with City Manager Steve Matthews today.

Of the 113 persons arrested, 52 were charged with intoxication. Fourteen speeding charges and 25 overtime parking charges were also filed.

Fines assessed during the month by Recorder C. E. McGrew totaled $730.75, the largest amount in recent years. Of that amount $302.75 was collected. 71 days were served in jail and 24 days were worked.

Recorder McGrew assessed fines of $10 each on two men charged with affray this morning.

Defeat Forecast For Broad Changes In Wagner Measure

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP)—Repeated house votes against sweeping wage-hour amendments led New Deal members to express belief today they would have a good chance of defeating far-reaching proposals to revise the Wagner Labor act.

Five days of wage-hour arguments, it was learned, have caused them to soft pedal their campaign to prevent the Wagner act controversy from coming before the house.

Although Democratic leaders have not yet placed Wagner act amendments on the calendar, it was considered likely the subject might come up the week of May 13.

The chief issue before the house as wage-hour debate was resumed today was an amendment which Rep. Buck (D-Calif.) temporarily wrote in yesterday attempting to clarify the present exemption for employees "engaged in agriculture."

There have been arguments over the extent of that provision. Buck said his proposal would exempt an additional 200,000 workers, mostly in small farm cooperatives which wash, dry, pack, and store fruits and vegetables.

There was doubt his proposal would remain in the bill on a final vote, despite the fact it was approved originally 149 to 56.

One amendment tentatively approved yesterday would permit labor contracts to abrogate the present 42-hour maximum work week, providing that no more than 2,080 hours were worked within a year. The present yearly limit is 2,000.

Part of the Barden amendments to exempt certain farm processing plants were defeated yesterday for the second time.

1,200 Students Off For State Finals

AUSTIN, May 2 (AP)—Skilled schoolboys and girls of Texas, 1,200 strong, converged on Austin today for the opening of the 30th inter-scholastic league meet tomorrow.

From a field which last fall numbered 500,000, state champions will be named Saturday afternoon in track and field events, tennis, oratory, one-act plays, typewriting, shorthand and journalism, said Roy Bechtel, director of the university of Texas-sponsored league.

Some 500 schoolboy entries will vie for individual and team honors in 14 track and field contests. Qualifying heats will be staged Friday, while finals will be run off beginning at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Forty-eight tennis stars from eight state regions will determine boys' and girls' championships Friday and Saturday.

As a singular noun, "twin" means "one of two brought forth at a birth." "Twins" is defined as "two young brought forth at one birth." A pair of twins should mean four offspring, but it does not. "Twins" and a "pair of twins," by popular usage, mean the same—merely two individuals.

Harvesters To Battle Exes Saturday Night

Heiskell Star Of Scrimmage; Two Injured

Another Heiskell roamed Harvesters field unchallenged yesterday afternoon when the Whites of Coach Odus Mitchell defeated the Greens of Coach J. C. Prejan 21 to 0 in a Harvesters intra-squad game. It was Grover Heiskell, midget of the three Heiskells who have played for Pampa high school, that kicked three touchdowns and scored three points after touchdowns.

While the Greens had power on their side, the Whites had Heiskell who was the difference in the two teams. Heiskell, only backfield player returning from last year's team, was expected to shine.

On Saturday night at 8 o'clock the Harvesters first string will meet a team of ex-Harvesters, still in school. It promises to be a rousing battle. The exes have already announced that the Harvesters won't even get a 20-yard penetration.

Heiskell Scores Three Heiskell opened the scoring in the first quarter yesterday when he romped 11 yards to score standing up. The ball had been placed in scoring position by nice gains by Propert and Daugherty.

The next score for the Whites came in the third quarter when Enloe heaved a 15-yard pass to Heiskell who dodged two safety men and raced 30 yards.

Heiskell made the difference for the last touchdown after Enloe and Propert had made good gains.

Principal threats of the Green wave were Lefty Pendleton and Andy Smith, both powerhouses, and little B. J. Edmondson who did some shifty running and snagged a couple of sweet passes.

All in all, coaches were well pleased with the scrimmage. Line strength was Phillips and Fade of last year's team but the work of Riley, end, Nichols, end, Thompson, tackle, Chesser, tackle, Otis, end, and one or two other boys was favorable.

Two Boys Injured Two injuries marred the game when Ed Terrell who was injured on the first play of the opening game last year, twisted his bad knee and Billy Stockstill, new halfback, received a broken or dislocated wrist when he was tackled. X-ray pictures were to be made of the injury today.

One of the hardest tacklers in recent years is Frank Daugherty. When he hits, the ball carrier is stopped cold. Edmondson also showed up well on defense along with Arthur and Enloe.

Starting lineups for the affair were: Whites: Otis and Cox, ends; Louvier and Phillips, tackles; Thompson and Bynum, halves; Enloe, center; Edmondson, quarter; Daugherty and Enloe, halves; Proper, full.

Greens: Hilton and Nichols, ends; Chesser and Burnett, tackles; Simms and Fade, guards; Terrell, center; Edmondson, quarter; Arthur and Smith, halves; Pendleton, full.

Cincinnati Ends Winning Streak For Brooklyn

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer The real test for the Brooklyn Dodgers will start today. This isn't as ridiculous as it may sound, because an era in the lives of the darling Dodgers has just been completed—a miraculous era of nine consecutive victories climaxed by a no-hitter—and today they are just another strong contender in the National League.

The awakens-beaten 9-2 by Cincinnati—was rude enough to shake any day dreams that may have afflicted the Brooklyn. Hugh Casey was going along pitching a no-hitter for three innings and the writers were wondering what superlatives they could say about a second no-hitter that they hadn't used the day before for Tex Carleton's remarkable exploit. Then it was boom-boom-boom so fast in the fourth inning Manager Leo Durocher didn't have a chance to get Casey off the mound before the Reds had made six hits and scored eight runs.

Will Dit Be Horse To Beat Bimelech Saturday?

By SID FEDER LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP)—The hunch player in the "beat Bimelech" fraternity, bouncing all over the place trying to keep warm by looking for something to stop "Mr. Big" in Saturday's Kentucky Derby, put the ringer right smack on Max the Mystery Man Hirsch today.

"Is it possible," the fraternity brothers wondered, "that Max has another Bold Venture to spring on the folks in his Dit this year? Can history repeat so that Max pops up with another outsider from New York to knock off an odds-on home-town boy who's been making good in a big way?"

He did it against Breking in '36 as nicely as you please, and the set-up is similar this year in more ways than the frosting on your julep glass, although Saturday's expected field of eight or nine is considerable short of the 14 who answered to "My Old Kentucky Home" then. He did it on a fast track that day, too, and the weather man today said he reckoned it would be fair for Derby day.

Of course, Col. E. R. Bradley's sweet-stepping hope for a fifth Derby win is still the "people's chere" in this Derby village. But the fifth one in every quintet, including some of the most capable horse-trainers in town, wasn't so sure. And, oddly enough, it was because Bimelech won the Derby trial Tuesday so easily that they and him and his were willing to them and have a bit.

They're pooh-poohing for the simple reason that he ran the last quarter of that mile in the slow time of 26.3-5 seconds, compared with a first quarter in 22.4-5. They feel that tough extra quarter in the Derby isn't going to be just what the doctor ordered for Bimmie. The diehards point this out despite the fact that Bimmie was running on a slow track Tuesday and that the only thing even closely resembling a race came in the first quarter, when the Lexington lightning streak took 'em on one by one and watched them fall.

Which brings us to Max Hirsch and Dit. Max came down four years ago with Bold Venture, so lightly regarded he wound up paying $43.20 in the mutuels. Dit comes down as a horse that's still a mystery. Owned by Arnold Hanger, he's been back east all spring, winning two races at Jamaica, including the Wood Memorial last Saturday. But in both he had things all his own way and, with no competition, didn't answer any questions.

"Now," Hirsch said today, "I won't exactly say he's another Bold Venture, but..."

Buddy Haas, his regular jockey, however, took him out for an easy route-going mile-and-quarter workout yesterday in 2:13 on a mud track and afterward reported that "from his stride and action, he's better now than when he won the Wood."

It Can Happen Here! Daniel Baker college ran an ad in an Indianapolis paper for basketball players. Several Elkhart (Ind.) players responded, but on the way to Brownwood, Tex., they became detoured and wound up at Howard Payne college in the same town. "Nothing interferes with baseball down in Clarkdale, Miss. The municipal election was postponed a week because it conflicted with the opener and last week they called off a big political rally so all hands could turn out for the first night game."

4 Favorites In Women's Golf Tourney

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT DALLAS, May 2 (AP)—Over the soft spots, four favorites of the women's Texas Golf Association tournament buckled down to the business of keeping form in the groove in quarter-final matches today.

National champion Betty Jameson, who hasn't had to get out of a slow walk to win two matches, admittedly was perturbed over her engagement with Miss Jo Henson of Paris, a girl whose game comes very close to being of championship calibre.

Only yesterday Miss Henson shot Brook Hollow in even women's par to move in against Miss Jameson. But today—she was excited again. Critics have been waiting two years for the young North Texan to "arrive" as a definite star, but she won't adjust her temperament to the game.

Golf to Jo Henson is fun. She is a refreshing figure in a cluster of tournament veterans who play the game to the hilt, but Jo is symmetrical in her advance to tournament golf by refusing to play calmly—or, more bluntly, coldly.

She was almost perfect in eliminating Mrs. C. F. McAuliff, 7 and 6, getting off the tee with distance and following up with a fine short game.

Betty was also par 39 on the first nine to build up a six-hole lead over Mrs. W. H. Ainsworth of Houston, running out her string of par on the first four holes of the last nine to win, 6 and 5.

Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, of Fort Worth, continued perhaps the most consistent play of the tournament by downing Miss Marie Levi of Dallas, 7 and 6.

Miss Jameson and Mrs. Goldthwaite were favored to move into the upper bracket semi-final match, but Mrs. Goldthwaite had a stout foe today, Miss Kay Pearson of Houston, who snatched Miss Hilda Urbantke of Austin, 4 and 2.

Mrs. Jack H. Lapham of San Antonio, the sportswoman who seven times won the title, almost dropped out but rallied on the eighteenth and defeated Mrs. Harry Scott of Houston, one up.

Today she meets a townswoman, Mrs. E. R. Hury, who disposed of Mrs. Frank Jones, Dallas city champion, 8 and 7.

Mrs. Dan Chandler, who plays Mrs. H. A. Peterson of Dallas, defeated Mrs. C. O. Stevens of Dallas, 7 and 5. Mrs. Peterson defeated Mrs. Jedd Roe of San Antonio, who missed an 18-inch putt on the home green.

Potter Bats In 7 Runs As Oilers Trounce Lubbock

Manager Grover Seitz and his Pampa Oilers returned to Pampa last night from a road trip to Borger, Lamesa, and Lubbock but they won't be home to stay until Friday night. Tonight they go to Borger for a single game, at 8 o'clock.

Here tomorrow night, at 8:15 o'clock, will be Jodie Tate and his league leading Lamesa Lobos. The Oilers and Lobos will clash again Saturday night with game time at 9:15 o'clock. It will be the first Ladies Night game of the season and all women will be admitted free. Lamesa will also be here Sunday afternoon.

LUBBOCK, May 2—Phil Potter and Sam Malvica put on their hitting clothes yesterday afternoon to pace the Pampa Oilers to a 14 to 8 decision over the Lubbock Hubbers. Potter alone accounted for nearly enough runs to win the game when he blasted out two home runs and a double to score seven runs, one a double.

Pat Hallbourg worked the longest of any pitcher on the Pampa squad when he went 8-1-3 innings before being relieved by Vannoy. Sandretto, only Lubbock veteran, was knocked from the box in the first inning. He lasted less than four innings on Monday.

Hajduk and Niedziela led the Lubbock assault with three hits each, one of Hajduk's going for a home run.

Errors again were numerous on the poor playing field. The base line off the grass infield is still tricky and the outfield rough and soft. Pampa made five miscues and Lubbock three.

Manager Seitz changed his lineup last night. He went to right field, shifted Potter to center, put Mendoza in left and Adams on first. That benched Peterson.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION. The State of Texas. To the Sheriff of any Constable of Gray County-Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon I. E. Zimmers, J. G. Christy, Frank M. Holmes, and Edward M. Holmes by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the 31st Judicial District Court of Gray County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Pampa, Texas, on the Fourth Monday in May A. D. 1940, the same being the 27th day of May A. D. 1940, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 2nd day of May A. D. 1940, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 6539, wherein I, G. Cantie is Plaintiff, and I. E. Zimmers, J. G. Christy, Frank M. Holmes, Edward M. Holmes, and Continental Oil Company, a private corporation, are Defendants, and a brief statement of plaintiff's cause of action, being as follows:

That H. A. Talley, Tenney Talley, Earl Talley, and Roberta Talley, were and are the owners in fee simple title of the Southeast quarter of Section One Hundred and Fifteen, Block Three, I. & G. N. Ry. Co. Survey, situated in Gray County, Texas, containing 160 acres of land more or less; that on February 9, 1927, said H. A. Talley, Tenney Talley, Earl Talley, and Roberta Talley, executed and entered into a declaration of trust or trust agreement relative to and in connection with said above described property, thereby creating a trust estate for the purpose of organizing the Talley Addition, and to sell specific lots or plots of ground therefrom to individuals for the purpose of erecting dwelling houses thereon, said declaration of trust being recorded in Volume 34 Page 2 of the Deed Book of said Trust Estate, in the County of Gray County, Texas, to which reference is here made for more full and better description of its terms and provisions; that at the time of the execution of said declaration of trust, the said Talley Trust Estate held on the 1st day of December, 1939, at Pampa, Gray County, Texas, and is now the regularly elected qualified trustee thereunder; plaintiff shows that the Continental Oil Company, a private corporation, now holds in suspense in its possession the sum of $1,000.00 to which this plaintiff, as trustee of said trust estate and for the benefit of said trust estate, is entitled to collect and receive from the Continental Oil Company, a private corporation, a one-sixteenth of all oil and gas produced from said leasehold estate, and the said Continental Oil Company, a private corporation, has refused to deliver to this plaintiff said sum of money; that said declaration of trust, among other things, provides that any person purchasing lots for the purpose of erecting dwelling houses upon the above described property is entitled to one share of stock, said share to represent an interest in and to all oil or gas royalties derived from said property; paid or to be paid under and by reason of the above leasehold estate then existing therein, or any future leasehold estate that might be created in and to said property, said shares of stock to be issued by the trustee of said trust estate under and by reason of authority stated therein; that the defendants, Frank M. Holmes, Edward M. Holmes, I. E. Zimmers, and J. G. Christy, are now asserting and claiming some right, power and authority in connection with the trust estate, and are asserting some rights to the office of trustee created therein, the exact nature and extent of which is unknown to the plaintiff but is well known to the defendants and each of them; that plaintiff is empowered to bring and institute this suit as trustee under the conditions of said declaration of trust above described. Plaintiff prays that upon final trial of said cause, he have a judgment decreeing him to be the duly elected qualified trustee of the Talley Trust Estate, and for judgment requiring the Continental Oil Company, a private corporation, to pay over and deliver to him all monies due and owing by said Continental Oil Company and held by it by reason of his interest in and to the above described tract of land, to pay over to the plaintiff all royalties now due and which may become due in the future by reason of its lease and the production of oil and gas from said property.

YESTERDAY, Wharton wins the horse, but the horse shows his claim and that of the other trainer were made in violation of the rules. Wharton is required to return the horse to the owner. Wharton, who has been trying to save Pepper Boy for Sherry, starts to leave. She says she has to go.

CHAPTER VII

FAGERLY, Paul Wharton waited for Sherry to continue. "Yes, Sherry, go on." But Sherry's sentence was never finished. At that moment a tall, thin chap, with a great mop of blond hair, stepped into the box. "Sherry Bond!"

"Shep Grant! What are you doing here?" She jerked her hand free, grasped Grant's outstretched hand. Wharton looked up, making little effort to conceal his resentment. "My friend, Paul Wharton, Shep. This is Shep Grant. Sit down, Shep."

"Swell colt you've got, Sherry," Grant was saying. "He's got everything. And can he run! And Madden—I couldn't have ridden Pepper Boy much better myself. I intended offering, but I couldn't make it in from Chicago in time."

"Since when have you been riding on the flat?" Wharton asked. "Thought you were the white-haired boy in stockbreeding."

"I do ride over the sticks," Shep Grant answered nonchalantly, his eyes never leaving Sherry's face, "but I'm light. Going to ride on the flat this season, too. But say, Sherry, about the Derby—"

"Paul was just speaking of it," she said, tensely. "Yeah! About Pepper Boy? Say—heard there were a couple of claims—did you lose him?"

"She shook her head. "Paul says he was ready to save him." "That so?" The intruder looked suspiciously at Wharton. The latter ignored his glance.

"Paul advised me twice not to start the colt in a claimer. When I did, he tried to claim him for me. He—and the other fellow—both lost on technicalities."

"Let me get this straight," the rider looked at Sherry and Sherry. "He was going to let you buy him back, at the claiming price?"

"Yes." The blond chap whistled—softly. And grinned. Sherry saw Wharton's face turn fiery red. She looked at the second man. "Shep Grant, what's up?"

"Not a thing," he said with an exaggerated drawl, "not a little thing. But you ought to bone up on claiming rules, before you fall for bedtime tales."

WHARTON was on his feet. He said in low tones: "You might explain that—and you might explain where you come in on this."

"I come in right here, fellow," Shep Grant got to his feet, faced Wharton. "Maybe that's business, Wharton—you're a whiz at business; but racing's something else again."

Sherry's voice rose insistently. "Please explain, Shep."

"Nothing special to explain," he turned to her. "But you should know that no horse claimed can start in the name of its former owner till 30 days have passed—and 14 days from today the Kentucky Derby is run. Seems as if Wharton's colors are going to be in the Derby, carried by Red Soldier, the only colt of real Derby caliber on this track—as you'll see when the Handicap is run. He's going to spreadeagle that field. I don't need Sherry's colt—and if I did, I haven't stunk that low. He turned his shoulder, then spoke over it to the gentleman rider, "Good day, Grant."

"You may know racing," Wharton's voice cracked, "but you've got a lot to learn about human nature. My colors are going to be in the Derby, carried by Red Soldier, the only colt of real Derby caliber on this track—as you'll see when the Handicap is run. He's going to spreadeagle that field. I don't need Sherry's colt—and if I did, I haven't stunk that low. He turned his shoulder, then spoke over it to the gentleman rider, "Good day, Grant."

GRANT stood there for a moment, reddened from top of soft collar to edge of his fair hair, then quietly turned and left the box. Sherry, over Paul Wharton's shoulder, watched him move off in the aisle crowds.

"Paul," she asked, "is it true—what Shep said? That I couldn't buy the colt back in less than 30 days?"

"You could buy him back the next minute—but you couldn't race him until 30 days passed."

"I see." She glanced out toward the track, where a field was parading to the post. "Paul, then the colt couldn't—"

He broke in, sensing her question. "The colt would have run in your name, silly." He spoke the words lightly.

"How could he?" she asked, a cloud gathering in her face. "Silly!" he repeated, as if to a child. "He'd have run in the name of Mrs. Paul Wharton, of course!"

"Oh, oh!" she repeated, eyes focused on his face. "How very sweet of you! Using my Pepper Boy as a sort of bribe—to get me to marry you!"

HOT tears burned Sherry's eyes as she hurried through the crowd to the big man standing at the rail.

"In the paddock, they say Red Soldier's a standout—yet he's not even favorite—maybe young Wharton's putting over a good thing. . . . wish I knew."

"He told me just a minute ago," Sherry said before she thought, "that Red Soldier would spreadeagle his field."

"He did, eh?" Uncle Bill lowered his glasses, asked in a flash: "How'd he say it—bragging, or serious?"

"He—why—?" Sherry tried to reconstruct the mood of the moment. "I guess it was bragging—in a way; but if his colt doesn't make good—well, he's laid himself wide open. And to a man who'll jeer plenty at him."

Willie Bond considered the matter for all of three seconds. Then went into action. "My dear, hold these glasses—hold my place—Business, try cutting up at the post—the starter was placing him upside."

THE horses were at the post when he returned. Red Soldier, in the light green and cherry red blocks of the Wharton Stable, was cutting up at the post—the starter was placing him upside.

"They're off!" the crowd yelled as the field sprang forward on the backstretch. Sherry saw the green and red shoot to the front—the jockey was cutting across to the rail—he had stolen the start—he was three lengths ahead!

The rest of the race was a blur to Sherry. The horses swung into the stretch, a spot of green and cherry in front. Then she saw something yellow and black leap out from the pack of horses behind. Now two horses were fighting it out, down that short stretch.

Willie Bond seized Sherry's arm in vise-like grip. He was screaming in her ear: "Now's the time to make his run—come on, you rascal! Come on—don't let us down—turn him loose—let him run, you fool!"

The jockey on Red Soldier, as if he heard, lifted his reins, flung himself forward, began hand-riding his mount; pressing hands against the colt's neck—urging him on. A hundred feet from the wire the challenger came alongside—running fast. Then the bay leaped forward as if lashed from behind—in two mighty strides spurred a length ahead—swep under the wire—winner, going away!

"My word! What a colt!" Willie Bond exclaimed in awe. "The boy never touched him with a whip, either. And look!—the time of the race was going up on the board! He's equalled the track record!"

Savings Menaced by Tax Says Banker

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Emmet F. Connelly, president of the Investment Bankers Association of America, told the United States Chamber of Commerce today that spending theories of the "government-must-do-it" school might lead to a federal tax on private savings. Connelly, in a prepared address, coupled his remarks on the possibility of a savings tax with an assertion that the federal monopoly committee had refused to give investment bankers a hearing in its study of savings and investments. Describing some proponents of a spending-led economy as "the government-must-do-it-ers," the Detroit financier declared that the social order they envisioned would offer no opportunities for savings to find employment and in so doing to provide work for men. "According to the government-must-do-it boys," he said, "people are allowed to save in the future, those savings will be sterile. The saver will be performing a disservice by withdrawing the amount of his savings from the flow of money spent for consumption. There will be no means for him to put the money back to work by investing it. "Their solution is simply that the government must take the savings from the people and use them in a gigantic and apparently perpetual spending-led program. It is a perfect build-up for a tax on savings."

Namsos Now Protected By Allies' Guns

J. Norman Lodge, Associated Press reporter who was arrested by British troops near the far-north Norwegian port of Narvik when he penetrated to their lines around that city and later was released, has sent the following description of destruction at Namsos, Norway, by German bombers and of allied measures taken to guard against further Nazi air attacks.

(So far as is known, Lodge is the first United States newspaper man to get into Namsos and to give a first-hand account of what is happening there.)

By J. NORMAN LODGE
FORMOFSS, Norway, (about 20 miles east of Namsos) May 2 (AP)—German air raids on the allied troops at Namsos, which have turned parts of that Norwegian coastal town into wreckage, took a sharp decline yesterday when British anti-aircraft batteries opened up full blast and drove a surprised German bomber high into the air.

After that the air alarms which have kept the entire Namsos area since the first days of Germany's invasion of Norway lessened by 80 per cent.

Namsos, which has steep rising cliffs on the north side, a fjord in the center and more hills on the south, now is alive with British and French anti-aircraft batteries. Each is manned by crack shots chosen to bolster the morale of the Norwegians, who have clung to their homes in this embattled town.

German fliers, who, according to Norwegian airmen, formerly flew over the entire sector from Namsos to the Swedish border about 75 miles to the east as "if it were their own private airfield," realized for the first time yesterday that they would meet resistance.

When a 5 a. m. breakfast call was made over Namsos harbor by the German air force, a German bomber dropped an "egg" (bomb) but also "laid an egg" for the British batteries opened up and chased the aviator into the higher air.

As a result the residents now walk unconcernedly about their business.

I walked through Namsos yesterday and found the town, especially the lower end near the harbor, virtually wrecked. Every house in the lower part of the town is razed, with huge holes showing where German bombs hit.

One bomb crater in the center square of the lower section measured 30 feet across.

Other damage apparently was caused by incendiary bombs, for ruins of the buildings were charred.

Despite previous reports that anti-aircraft had been set up in the Namsos area since the first days of the German invasion, a British officer let the cat out of the bag.

Asked if he had come close to hitting an enemy aircraft, he replied:

"Hell, man, we've only been set up five hours—we've not even warmed up the gun yet."

Further inquiry elicited the information that all British batteries and the French rapid fire guns were erected only yesterday.

I was told that the only French troops in Norway up to this time are the famed Alpine Chasseurs, or "Blue Devils," equally at home on skis or on foot.

One of the Chasseurs said reports that the French foreign legion was in Norway were ridiculous.

"The prestige of France would not allow such a thing," he said. "The first French units must be of French nationality. That's the way my country operates."

British officers told the same story.

"There are a few Canadians here," said one, "but they are mostly in the air force. All land troops you see here are from the British Isles, mostly north countymen."

The soldiers I talked to were enthusiastic about the Norwegian countryside but each regretted the lack of sufficient tea.

The majority of the French troops arrived eight days ago.

The spring mud in this sector at present is telephone and telegraph communications.

A single telephone must be divided among the military of three nations, journalists of many more and the citizenry with the last group taking a bad beating.

The only telegraph wire out is manned by a telegrapher who is opposed to working overtime.

Oil Production Cut Expected To Bring About Improvement

AUSTIN, May 2 (AP)—The oil industry enters May with the hope that faster gasoline consumption and a cut in oil production allowances will bring about early improvement in its statistical position.

More gasoline and crude oil have been accumulated than most leaders believe is needed. The situation possibly is not serious in mid-spring but could easily become so unless corrected within the next few months.

Members of the industry will be watching this month for reports showing how deeply production actually has been cut. Present indications are that the average for the month will be substantially smaller than in April but still will lack a good deal of dipping to the 3,601,000 barrels daily recommended by the United States Bureau of Mines.

Texas' basic allowance for May was set at 1,420,500 barrels daily, 76,300 barrels above the Bureau's figure. Production usually runs considerably under the allowable.

The basic allowable last month was approximately 1,520,000 barrels. Latest crude stocks reports were disappointing to producers. They disclosed that the nation's crude supply rose 2,612,000 barrels for the week ended April 20 to a total of 254,881,000. A substantial decline in exports of oil and products has offset a highly satisfactory gain in domestic demand.

Denver City, Tex., Oil Boom Town Has Population Of 5,000

By JACK KRUEGER
Associated Press Staff

Ride far enough to the west and you will come eventually to Denver City, Tex. It has 5,000 bustling citizens; no sidewalks, a swanky movie house but no pavements.

Twelve months ago you could have ridden as far westward as the sun and never found Denver City, because it didn't exist. Even today not many maps show where it is.

Denver City is a fledgling giant in Yoakum county, where, until the new metropolises took root, there were only 23 persons to the square mile—if you don't mind breaking people into fractions like that.

Yoakum county is smack up against the New Mexico boundary, to the southwest of Lubbock.

Denver city is reliving the history of scores of other Texas towns, with some of the rough edges smoothed off: it is boom town cradled on a new-found lake of oil, pouring out its riches to those who find it first. . . Denver City is so new they haven't a railroad yet, doing even their heaviest hauling by truck. . . Sometimes a truck driver, spotting an oil derrick he is hauling supplies to, leaves the road and takes off across open country on a bee-line to the well, blazing a rutted trail as he goes.

Denver City, a lustrous creature of oil, and so is Texas on a broader scale. . .

Denver City, busily drawing petroleum from the Wagon pool—some think it may be as great a reservoir as the East Texas field—is an interesting throwback to the earlier-day boom cities. . . But it has a significance for Texans of much vaster import: Texas, once a land of colonists, cows and cotton, is now an empire of oil, oil-products and oilmen. . . People who study petroleum say every Texan, high or low, is an oilman. . . nearly one million Texans directly get their living from oil; 147 counties in Texas produce oil and gas; oil almost single-handed has in 30 years changed Texas from a predominantly rural to an urban state. . . The farmer, the backwoodsman, the lonely plainsman no longer dominate by weight of number the destiny of Texas: the city folks (classing all towns above 2,500 as cities) account for more than 50 per cent of all Texans in 1940, best sources guess. . . Oil has built a great share of such burgeoning cities as Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and Corpus Christi, not to mention the surge of wealth it gave East Texas. . . In addition to the 147 producing counties, drills are probing the earth in 100 others seeking underground riches. . .

King Cotton in his heyday was a benevolent monarch in Texas, bringing in the first great wave of immigrants looking for new rich soil and a cash crop. From the time the Franciscan monks brought civilization to San Antonio and Texas until now, something close to 183 million bales of cotton have sprung from our soil. . . King Cotton, though still providing a meager living for one third of Texas' population, is a broken old monarch alongside oil, a strapping giant just hitting his stride. Since 1930 no Texas cotton crop has been worth as much as $200,000,000—not much more than the $132,000,000 farmers, ranchers and other landowners draw in royalties from oil. . . Yet in 1939 oil and its products were worth three-quarters of a billion dollars to Texas. Cotton's high tide was $659,680,000 in 1929 but by 1938 this sum had fallen to $129,688,000—less than oil royalties alone. . .

Texas has had oil since 1889 and it has been worth more than six billion dollars. . . The significant fact is that 61 per cent of this gargantuan sum was made in the past nine years. . . Texans have known about Texas oil for years and most of them complacently took it for granted. But many an outsider looking for new fields to conquer has not been so indifferent, sensing apparently that Texas no longer is merely a land of the cowboy on the lone prairie. . . Important figures of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce were looking things over a week or so back. A mid-western railroad sent a big delegation down this way. . . The great airlines are fighting tooth and toenail for rights to fly new routes over the state, especially in West and South Texas. . .

Statistics in the oil business come by the bushel. Here are a few: about 10 billion barrels of oil are still under the surface; Texas refines 82 per cent of its oil (whereas Texas processes only three per cent of its total cotton crop); Texas is the greatest refining state in the union, and produces nearly a quarter of the world's oil; Texas oilmen spend more money to keep the oil industry going and expanding than they make out of it. . .

Iron Business In Alabama Booming

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 2 (AP)—Booming business brought Alabama's iron industry back to world war production peaks today with every blast furnace in this area in operation.

Pig iron output jumped to 100 per cent when two furnaces, out for several weeks for repairs and rebuilding, began pouring iron.

Steel remained at the relatively high level of 83 percent, up five points from the low of the year, and some observers regarded as significant the fact that all nine of the blast furnaces which supply steel mills were in full operation.

Essay And Poster Contests Will Be Concluded Monday

Essay and poster contests for Pampa High school and junior high school students, started April 24, in connection with the forthcoming local observance of National Hospital day, May 12, will be concluded next Monday.

The essays are on such topics as the hospital of today and hospitals of 50 years ago and posters are also along the same theme.

Judges of both essays and posters will be Mrs. Jarrell Franklin, Mrs. Bob Crouch, and Mrs. Carmen Kempton.

Direction of the local observance of National Hospital day is by the Graduate Registered Nurses club of Pampa, in cooperation with the American Hospital association's committee on National Hospital day.

Government Claims Mortgaged Wheat

CHICAGO, May 2 (AP)—Although Uncle Sam claimed title today to an undetermined amount of mortgaged 1939 wheat, grain belt farmers who repaid government loans have turned a profit on the transaction principally because of the war and a domestic crop scare.

The government's 1939 wheat loan program, a phase of the ever-normal granary plan, has ended except for loans on about 21,000,000 bushels of grain stored on farms. These can be extended a year. Outstanding loans not eligible for extension will be called.

How much grain the government eventually will possess because of defaulted loans cannot be determined as yet.

Originally the Commodity Credit Corporation advanced more than $110,000,000 on 187,000,000 bushels but recently farmers have been repaying loans at the rate of about $7,000,000 weekly. Thus, the bulk of the grain has been redeemed by producers taking advantage of the 20 cents a bushel or more price rise above original loan rates.
