

B-PW Members To Take Part On State Program

Three members of the local Business and Professional Women's club, Vada Lee Olson, Lillian Jordan, and Julia Kelley, have been asked to appear on the program at the state convention in Dallas in June, it was reported at a meeting of the executive board in the city club rooms Tuesday night. During the session Mrs. Jordan, public affairs chairman, urged that all members of the local organization cooperate with the Jaycees in the casting of the Coronado Engrada. The club is to cooperate also with the historical society in assembling data in this vicinity.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning! ... The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas blocks up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, stunk and the world looks pink.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 10¢ and 25¢. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

The health committee under the direction of Mrs. Kelley will present a program for the Junior High girls club on May 13. Ruth Walstad, vice-president, announced the annual Mother's Day breakfast to be given Sunday morning at 9 o'clock in the Schneider hotel for members and their mothers and guests. Those planning to attend are urged to make reservations with Mrs. Walstad.

Mt. Maurene Jones, social chairman, announced that the club will have a picnic the last meeting in May. At the meeting next Tuesday the annual election of officers will be held. Attending the board meeting were Vera Lard, Lillian Jordan, Leora Kinard, Ruth Caraway, Lillian McNutt, Christine Cecil, Julia E. Kelley, Audrey Fowler, Mildred Laferly, Vada Lee Olson, Ruth Walstad, Maurene Jones, Madeline Murray, Madge Rusk, and Mabel Gee.

Annual Picnic For Ninth Graders To Be Given Friday

Junior High school Parent-Teacher Association will have an annual picnic for ninth grade students and their teachers at the Saunders ranch near Lefors at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Miss Madge Rusk and Nathan Cleek will have charge of transportation; Miss Richardson and W. Postma, games; Mrs. Bob McCoy, Miss Cleora Stanard, and Mrs. Frank Shotwell, refreshments. All parents who can take care are asked to notify the transportation committee by Thursday noon.

Delta Handa Club Entertained With Bridge-Luncheon

Mrs. Paul Schneider was hostess at a bridge-luncheon given at the Schneider hotel Tuesday at noon for members and guests of the Delta Handa Bridge club.

Lunch was served in the dining room and bridge was played in Mrs. Schneider's suite. Centering the table was an arrangement of spring flowers.

High score in the bridge games was made by Miss Clara Marie Hartell; second high by Mrs. Albert Reynolds; and bingo, Miss Janice Purviance.

Attending were Miss Janice Purviance and Miss Clara Marie Hartell, guests; Mrs. Wiley Reynolds, Albert Reynolds, Jack Smith, Paul Schneider, Allie Barnett, and Allen Evans, members.

Troop Three Girl Scouts To Act As Guides At Hospital

Girl Scouts of troop three met Monday afternoon at the craft shop to complete the projects on which they have been working.

Plans were made for each girl to devote one hour Sunday as guide at the hospital during the observance of National Hospital day. Colleen Chisholm is in charge of arranging the hours for the Scouts.

Attending the meeting were Zita Ann Kennedy, Katherine Doyle, Wynliou Cox, Joan Sawyer, Harriet Kribbs, Colleen Chisholm, Helen Ann Kiser, Florence and Betty Jane Dillman, Mary Jo Kelley, Geraldine Green, Mary Elizabeth Kretzmeier, Billie Jean Jones, Mrs. R. E. McKernan, and Mrs. E. B. Tracey.

The meeting next Monday afternoon will be held at 4 o'clock in the little house.

She'll Dictate to Dictator's Son

The huge engagement ring, reputedly worth $25,000, getting the demure glance from gardenia-bedecked movie starlet Joyce Mathews was climax of four-day romance. She recently met Colonel Gonzalo Gomez (holding her hand above), son of Venezuela's dictator, in New York night club, became engaged four days later.

PAST ADVISOR

Loraine Murphy, above, has completed her term as advisor of the Order of Rainbow for Girls. She was presented a past worthy advisors pin by Walden Frazee from the assembly Tuesday night at a meeting in the Masonic hall. Also she presided as the installing officer at the regular meeting.

Officers Elected And Installed By Rainbow Girls

New officers were elected and installed at the meeting of the Order of Rainbow for Girls Tuesday night in the Masonic hall. In charge were Loraine Murphy, installing officer; Miss Margaret Stockstill, pianist; Mrs. W. B. Murphy, marshal; Mrs. Katie Vincent, grand chaplain; and Mrs. W. R. Frazee, grand reporter.

Officers elected and installed were Mildred Marshall, worthy advisor; Venora Anderson, associate worthy advisor; Neoma Snyder, charity; Edna Mae Cade, faith; Peggy Murphy, red; Mary Frances McMullen, orange; El Marie Allen, yellow; Ernestine Grain, green; Anna Belle Lard, pianist; Marian Hoover, soloist; potem color stations were Wanda Roberts, red; Beatrice Goodwin, green; Frances Shier, orange; Beraldine Haygood, violet; refreshment committee chairman, Mary Alice Board, May; and Imogene Sperry, July.

Other Rainbow Girls present were Della Mae Foster, recorder; and Walden Frazee, treasurer. Eastern Stars and Masons, other than those who assisted with the installation, were Mrs. Alice Cocke, Mrs. Ruth Casey, W. R. Frazee, O. M. Anderson and Mrs. Buri Graham. Marian Hoover sang "Star of the East" during the program.

Intermediates Of Endeavor Have Hike And Supper

A hike and picnic supper at the city lake entertained members of the intermediate Christian Endeavor of First Christian church recently. Games were played by the group who joined in singing songs.

Present were Mary Ann Speed, Lillian Snow, Bobby Lou Fosdy, Billie Jean Gregory, Avis Kelley, Shirley Noel, Phyllis Kuykendall, Anna Mae Darling, Mildred James, Hazel Eubanks, Phyllis Ann Griffith, Janelle Tovell, Charles Benetel, George Neef, Ernest Miller, Russell Neef, Lee Hutchens, Ray Timmons, Earl Brooks, S. Any oil-change helps "youthify" your engine... but not like this change to OIL-PLATING

Then no matter how long the car stands or runs with Germ Processed Oil in the crankcase, the OIL-PLATING stays PLATED UP to its top-most point in each cylinder—fastened up to its job when fluid oil-film couldn't be. You get a great fluid oil-film, mind you, with Germ Processed oil, but in addition you get OIL-PLATING... drain-proof... a fixed defense against the strong assaults of Summer wear. C. S. Seiber Came To Mobeetie When Boys Wore Six-Shooters

By OSIE BLACKWELL WILSON

He's a very mild mannered and courteous man. C. S. Seiber, proprietor of the City Pharmacy in Miami, fairly hale in appearance, had passed for 60 or 65 years of age any day, but the fact is that he will be 75 on May 20th. He came to Mobeetie in 1882. Like the other young swashbuckling lads of the town, he wore a Colt 45. He never used it in a shooting fray, never had any desire to use it in a gun fight. Of course, some of the boys did, but not Sam Seiber.

He learned all about shooting frays before he came to Mobeetie. That was when he lived in the border town of Caldwell, Kas. He saw three dead cowboys at one time lying stretched out on a billiard table in a saloon. These youngsters had been on the trail for 10 days, and when they hit town, they struck their boss for pay. Pay, they got. And after that, drink for dry dusty throats. Fals, all, they chummed up together for a friendly game of billiards. They quarreled over the game that ended in their death. Seiber says: "That taught me to respect that pistol at my side. It was a petty quarrel but the pistol shot were not petty. I saw then that a man could die over a matter of small consequence as easily as he might die for a noble cause."

Seiber's father was J. C. Seiber of Kansas City, Mo. The elder Seiber also had a very colorful and interesting career as a frontiersman which is part and inseparable from the lives of his sons. The Seiber family moved from Kansas City in 1873, to Ellsworth, Kas., where J. C. was sheriff for two years. In 1875, the Seibers moved to Caldwell, Kas., where the land was open country and bordered on the Indian Territory.

World War Nurse Serving Again

Mrs. Edith Cavell (above), who was sentenced to death by the Germans along with the British nurse Edith Cavell in the World War, is now serving France as a canteen worker on the Western Front. The death sentence was rescinded, and Mrs. Cavell was released by German revolutionists after the armistice.

outlaws at this time. These bad men were not so much hold-up robbers as they were cattle and horse thieves. They stole horses from the Texas Panhandle and sold them in Kansas, and vice-versa. They have been known to capture an entire herd of cattle on the trail. This was accomplished by disposing of the herd-boss and his cowboys. The trail to market, Dodge City, passed through Caldwell. It was a beaten white path, a block wide, over which thousands of head of the old Texas Longhorns passed.

It was only for a short time, though, Seiber says, that these men beyond the law enjoyed a lucrative business. Once the vigilantes were organized, they cleaned up, and they did not hesitate to go into the Indian Territory to do it. C. S. Seiber says that at one time he saw three outlaws hanging on a post out there. They were put there without trial or any opportunity of defense. Ere long the great white-way for cattle to Dodge City was pronounced safe.

Knew Amos Chapman
Yes, there were interesting characters in those days. One of these whom Sam remembers was a white man, an Indian scout, by the name of Amos Chapman. Old Amos went in and out among the Indians. He was believed to have had several squaws. Among his other possessions, less treasured perhaps, was a wooden leg. His real leg had been shot off by an Indian buck.

Sold Milk to Fort
After J. C. Seiber's mail contract to Fort Contonment in the Indian Territory, the Seibers moved there. There were only a store and the fort. In addition to carrying the mail, J. C. Seiber had about 75 or 80 milk cows with him. He supplied milk to the soldiers at the fort.

Follows Soldiers
When the fort was discontinued, the elder Seiber lost his mail carrying job. Also, all the soldiers owed him money for milk. The only way he could collect was to follow the soldiers and wait for payday. They were headed for Fort Elliott in the Texas Panhandle. The Seibers followed the soldiers to the place. And that was how they happened to come to Mobeetie in the year 1882.

The soldiers paid up, and J. C. Seiber went right on with his dairy business—having brought his herd with him. The Seibers built a home in Mobeetie. Some time during this year, J. C. also established his ranch on Red Deer creek (five miles out from Miami on highway 60 toward Canadian) between Caldwell and creek bed). It is the place that Allie Bircom of Pampa now owns. And the house in which son-in-law (to Bircom) T. C. Ellington lives was the old Seiber ranch home. It was built perhaps in 1881. It was a good house and has been well preserved. It is thought to be the first home built in Roberts county.

J. C. Seiber had several children but because of epidemics, a bad accident, and lack of good medical attention, only four of these reached maturity. They were: C. S. (Sam), his brother, J. L., and two sisters, Alice and Clara (Mrs. J. W. Mason, wife of the sheriff of Wheeler county).

Inherited Houston Gun
One of the interesting incidents that Sam remembers about Sheriff Joe Mason was that he had a 45 six-shooter with beautiful pearl handles. But the sheriff was superstitious about the pearl handles. Pearl for a sheriff was considered an omen of ill luck. So, Joe took the handles off. And Temple Houston who practiced law in Mobeetie at that time—General Sam Houston's son, took the pearl handles and put them on his gun. After Joe Mason died, C. S. Seiber inherited this gun minus the pearl handles. Recently, he presented it to the museum at Canyon where it may be seen now on display.

of Red river, and east to the Indian Territory. In all his life, he has never worked for wages. True, he worked for his father but always for an interest in whatever venture was under hand. However, his brother, the late J. L. Seiber, who was 'six years younger than Sam, did take a sort of exploratory wage-earning trip up into the cattle country of the Dakotas. But, in the main, the Seibers have always been business owning people.

J. C. Seiber owned the first hotel in Miami, also the first livery stable. And when livery stables went out, Sam picked right up where his father left off by opening the first filling station. His brother, J. L., together with Will Davis, owned the first two automobiles. W. R. Hines owned the third. And Sam bought the next four. With two of these, four-cylinder Reos, he opened a taxi service. Driver and automobile were hired out to drummers and cattle buyers at the rate of $20 per day. Clarence Lyons of Miami, and Walter Pritchard of Mobeetie were his regular drivers. Autos cost about $1,500 apiece in those days.

C. S. Seiber also owned the first telephone system in this part of the country. It serviced Mobeetie, Pampa, Miami, and Canadian. He sold it out to the Canadian Long Distance Telephone company. Sam and his brother, J. L., were well known and long established merchants in Miami. Sam has been running his drug store for 30 years. J. L. operated a dry goods business for 25 years. It was tough back there in the beginning, Sam says. At one time when the Seiber brothers occupied the block where the Miami Chief is now located they burned completely out. When J. L. Seiber died in 1936, that ended the three-way partnership that began with the elder J. C. Seiber, and now of this company, only Sam remains.

Married in 1903
Of the old days, there are good things to remember, says Sam, not the least of these was his marriage to Nell Powers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Powers, late cattleman of Canadian. The marriage took place on February 25, 1903. And that night it came the worst snow and blizzard this country has ever known. The newly-weds got off the train at Miami, where Sam's carriage was supposed to meet them. Instead they rode home in a dray wagon.

The Seiber home, an 11-room affair, was built in 1913. It is a very fine, ornamental structure built after the architecture of that day with high ceilings, oak wainscoting, stairway, mantle with carved pillars, and elaborate bay windows. An upstairs parlor is furnished with the late Mrs. J. C. Seiber's furniture, some pieces of which are perhaps 75 years old. This living-room suite of cherry wood is something for the lover of antique furniture to see. There is also a bedroom suite of oak, a center table, a love couch and a very beautiful brass and China oil lamp 29 inches high, that was given Mrs. C. S. Seiber for a wedding present.

Sam Seiber, erstwhile stage-coach driver, cowboy, and frontier's business man will celebrate his 75th birthday at home with only the members of his family in attendance. Of his children there are two daughters: Mrs. Holt Barber of Miami, and Mrs. Jennie Atkins of Dallas. They also have a foster daughter.

Scouters To Attend Sooner Conference

President Raymond Harrah, executive Fred Roberts and several scouts of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout council were to leave this afternoon for Oklahoma City to attend a 2-day conference of representatives of 540 local councils of the Boy Scouts of America.

Principal speaker at the conference, which will open tomorrow morning, will be Dr. James E. West, chief Scout executive.

Attend from the Adobe Walls council, besides the president and executive, will be M. A. Graham and Dick Hughes of Pampa, A. W. Nelson of Borger, Rev. A. A. Boeding of Groom, Zane Smith of Pampa and others whose names were not available today.

Fender And Hill To Plan Convention Here

Fred Fender and Paul Hill were named co-chairmen of the Veterans of Foreign Wars steering committee for the ninth district convention, here May 19, at the regular post meeting last night.

Delegates to the state convention were named, subject to acceptance by the men selected.

Functioning of the post's Bicycle club was postponed until a city ordinance can be passed. It was announced by Commander Lee R. Franks and J. G. Sturgeon. They said the commission members were favorable and that an ordinance would be passed soon.

Application for membership in the club will be by cards, to be passed out in local schools.

Paul Hill was named chairman of the Memorial Day observance committee at the close of the meeting.

Adams Knocks Two Bombers As Oilers Win

Clovis To Be Here Tonight And Thursday

Merle Adams parked two over the left field fence last night to pace the Pampa Oilers to a 12 to 6 victory over the Lubbock Hubbers. Tonight at 8:15 o'clock, and for the next two nights, the Clovis Oilers will be here. Then the Oilers take to the road for eight days.

The game last night was a slippery affair. The infield was anything but dry and the outfield was treacherous. But at that several good plays were made, particularly when Eversan, Lubbock center fielder.

The Oiler management announced today that they were not owners of the parking lot south of the baseball field. Business Manager Harold Miller said he had tried to rent the lot for a parking space but couldn't complete the deal. The Oiler parking lot is west of the playing field, Miller said.

fell down and then got up in time to rob Adams of a cinch double and when Cullum, Oiler pitcher, reached far to stop a hot grounder, slipped and fell flat, and then got to a kneeling position in time to get his man at first with a lightning throw. Prather made a sensational stab to save the throw.

Jordan Hits Homer Besides Adams, Jared Jordan put on a slugging show. He hit one over the left field fence; his first homer of the season, and added another single. Adams singled, Summers singled, Potter, up for the second time, flied out to end the rally.

Adams homered in the third to put the game away. Lubbock started scoring in the fourth when Niedziela singled, Eversan walked and Sparr cracked his second double of the game. Richards tried to get away from one but it hit his bat and rolled down the first base line and Everson scored.

Adams Hits Second To make things certain, the Oilers bagged four runs in the eighth. Jordan opened the inning with a home run. Seitz singled. Prather flied out to right. Summers walked. Potter flied out. Adams then came through, putting the ball over the lights in left center scoring two ahead of him. The Oilers had three on base when the inning ended with Jordan flying out to first.

Adams Hits Second Last night marked the first time a Pampa pitcher has gone the full nine innings and it was Woodrow Cullum, the Ponder boy, who turned the trick. Although he grooved many, he had his curve ball working nicely in the clutch. He had trouble, however, getting the umpire to give him any of the corners. Sandretto, who felt the sting of Oiler bats in Lubbock last week, was the victim of a 16-hit attack.

Why Houston Leads League

(By The Associated Press)

It isn't hard to figure out why Houston is leading the Texas league by a three-game margin and looking better every day. The Buffs have the leading pitcher, the leading run-getter, the player with the most hits, the top run-batter-inner and the pitcher with the most victories.

BET ON LOVE

BY CHARLES B. PARMER

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Then she looked up at Willie Bond. "Think he can do a mile so soon?"

"He better—the Derby at a mile and a quarter will be only eight days off. It's an ideal workout for the big race. Colt's getting on edge."

She nodded. "Then enter him tomorrow. And you'd better look up a jockey."

"Look behind you!" Willie Bond interrupted. "Here's Madden!"

"Thought I better come down," the jockey said as Sherry turned, and handle the colt in a prep race. The Derby as if it were a settled fact he was to ride Pepper Boy in the Derby.

"The very boy!" Willie Bond said quickly. "We're starting him Friday, Madden. You handle him smartly, bring him in first, and—"

"I getcha! Got to go and check in—see you later. And I'll work him out tomorrow—just to see if he's got his speed."

"There's the boy to ride him in the Derby!" Willie Bond was exulting, when another figure came around the near end of the stable: a lanky figure in scuffed riding boots, faded breeches, a torn sweater, and an out-of-shape felt hat which sat back jauntily upon his fair head.

"Shep Grant!" Sherry greeted him joyously. "So you did get here all right!"

The gentleman rider grinned broadly. "I'm on my own—chucked the Bonnie Lad Stable," he added quickly. "I'm going to buy a colt—a good one. I want to train and ride my own horses. Then I'll buy a breeding farm—but look here, Sherry—you going to start Pepper Boy in that Derby prep race Friday?"

"Sure," Sherry said. "Yes, Shep."

"I want to ride him."

"Sorry," Willie Bond put in quickly, before Sherry could speak. "So sorry—we've just engaged Madden."

"Oh, I see," Grant looked from Willie Bond to Sherry. He spoke hesitantly. "The Derby's run next week, Sherry—I'm the man to ride Pepper Boy then."

"That's lovely of you, Shep. But you—you're a steeplechase rider—the greatest in America, and Pepper Boy runs on the flat."

"And I'm not so hot on the flat," he said. "Well, I'll show you." He started off.

"Shep, please!" she called as Uncle Willie Bond retreated to a safe distance. Grant stopped. She said: "I didn't like that threat, Shep. What did you mean?"

"No threat, Sherry. I merely offered my services, and you didn't want them. But you will see me riding on the flat—and you'll see I'm good. That's all—"

SHERRY discovered that she was to see him riding on the flat—almost instantly, for when the entries for the prep race were posted Thursday, she read this first line:

No. Horse Jockey
1. Monitor Mr. Grant

The names of eight other entries followed, and then the tenth line: 10. Pepper Boy Madden

Shep Grant was riding against her Pepper Boy! His mount had drawn the best position—number one, against the rail. She had drawn the worst, the extreme outside. And this Monitor, she quickly learned, had been bought the day before by Shep Grant. The colt was a three-year-old shipped in from the West Coast—and it was nominated for the Derby.

"Find out how good this Monitor is," she told Willie Bond. And he reported back, with many a head-shake: "This bay, Monitor—he's a threat. Then there's a little brown fellow, Castanets—also nominated for the Derby. There are two good horses, and seven average horses, to beat tomorrow."

"I see," said Sherry, savagely. "And there'd be only one good horse to beat, but for Shep Grant. The ideal Entering a colt against me—riding against me! He's as bad as Paul Wharton."

"Sherry, he didn't own Monitor when he offered to ride Pepper Boy. He bought Monitor afterwards—late yesterday afternoon, I learned. Paid $500 down, balance out of winnings."

"It's not on the level. One minute he wants to ride my colt. When I've engaged another boy, he gets mad and buys a colt just to beat me." The gorgeous blue eyes were flashing unreasonably.

"We have one thing in our favor tomorrow," Willie Bond offered, hopefully, "and on Derby day, too."

Sherry saw a gleam come into his eyes, saw him throw shoulders back. Uncle Willie Bond began to talk:

"Pepper Boy is one of the smallest horses on the track—can scoot through a keyhole. Yes, sir! And he's been trained to go a route. In his only start he was left at the post, but he finished a bang-up second—was running over horses at the wire. He's just reaching top form—ready to run a hard, fast mile against strong company. He'll be ridden by a boy who'll give him a masterpiece of a ride. He'll win—sure. Yes, sir!"

CHAPTER XII

TWO days later when the Lone Tree Stable with its one horse rolled through the arched gateway of Churchill Downs, a crowd of reporters and photographers was on hand to greet Sherry. "Safe trip, Miss Bond?" The colt okay? They crowded around her car, asking question after question. "We've been waiting for you. You're the only girl to have an entry in the Derby this year. Who will ride—?"

"Please!" Sherry begged as they directed her to the stable assigned to her. "Pepper Boy must be unloaded. Let's get him into his stall, first."

Next day Sherry saw herself and Pepper Boy staring out from the front page, as she ate breakfast in the fancy cottage she had rented for the Derby season. When she went to the stable, Sam was rubbing down the colt. "He be in fine shape, Miss Sherry," he said. "An' Miss Sherry, see that little black boy—he hopped to a young man landing near—that be Elijah Jones. I knowed his poppy. I done got him for our exercise boy, and he's gonna take Pepper Boy out on the track now—get the kinks out of his legs."

Sherry beckoned to the boy. "Elijah, think you can hold this colt. He's rarin' to go."

"Yes, ma'am, I sho' can."

For a mile, Elijah held him. Then they went into a light jog, under tight reins. Two furlongs went like a breeze.

Elijah came back, grinning all over. "You got a Derby colt here, Miss Sherry," he exulted.

SAM was cooling Pepper Boy out when Willie Bond and Ted drove up. They had been over to the secretary's office, getting entry sheets, and had seen Pepper Boy's workout. "My word!" Willie Bond exclaimed admiringly. "The colt's in fine fettle. Now, Sherry, he turned to the girl, opened a condition book, and read the conditions for Pepper Boy—conditions perfect for him—be a grand workout for the Derby—and we'll pick up $700 or $800. Read it—the race is day after tomorrow."

Sherry read the conditions. "Five-year-olds which have started not more than twice since January, and which have not won. 120 pounds. One mile and 70 yards."

Texan Opposes Hatch Act And Is Criticized

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—A victory for the Hatch anti-politics bill in the House Judiciary committee was predicted today by its backers, despite the contention of Chairman Summers (D-Tex) that the measure foreshadowed Hitlerian methods.

Summers took the house floor yesterday to belabor the legislation as "infamous" and an instrument God Almighty up here in Washington.

The 65-year-old Texan opened up after the judiciary committee, reversing a previous decision to shelve the bill, voted 14 to 11 to revive it as a live committee issue. The legislation would bar political activities by state employees paid in part by federal funds.

Summers, who did not vote on reconsidering the measure, called it an assumption of power "that ought to be left in the states."

"I do not believe," he shouted to the house, "that you can preserve a free government unless you have a responsible people, and you cannot preserve a responsible people unless you keep them in responsibility."

"I have tried to figure it the way God Almighty handles the people, and that is the way I think he does."

His criticism immediately drew counterfire from Rep. Hill (D-Wash).

"He talks about dictatorship," Hill said heatedly. "Yet he says you cannot consider this bill!"

"Who is this gentleman who lectured us this afternoon? He comes from a state where in 1936 only 28 per cent of the adult voters voted!"

The floor dispute notwithstanding, backers of the bill expressed belief that favorable committee action was in the offing. The committee meets again tomorrow.

Pope Fears Other Countries Menaced By 'Fire Of War'

ROME, May 8 (AP)—Pope Pius XII made it known today he shared widespread fears that other countries were in danger of invasion.

Addressing an audience of 4,000 pilgrims, including 41 French children, at the Vatican, the Pope said "a world poisoned with lies and disloyalty has lost the spiritual health of peace."

"The earth should be a place of concord," the Pontiff declared, "but instead the fire of war has broken out in various nations and is threatening to invade others."

Meanwhile, tension in the Mediterranean subsided somewhat as it became evident Italy still is watching the moves of other countries, and particularly the fate of the Chamberlain government before taking any belligerent action.
