Lloyd George And His Critics In Debate Spotlight

By The Associated Press) King George VI signed a proc-lamation making 2,500,000 more Britons subject to military serv-ice today—boosting the total to 4,500,000 — as Prime Minister Chamberlain stuck doggedly to his guns under a blasting fire of criticism and hinted that he had no intention of resigning.
"May God give long life to Neville Chamberlain as Britain's prime minister!" came the fervidly ironic comment from official German circles in Berlin.

But the usually docile British press took a sober view. "It remains to be seen whether Mr. Chamberlain will cling tenaciously to office or with higher patriotism make way for a man who is fitted to win the war, not muddle it." said the London Star.

The Star's choice was not mentioned, but a popular selection with the British man-in-the-street might well be Winston Churchill, rapierwitted first lord of the admiralty and long a bitterly outspoken foe

Since Walter Reger of New York, promotional director for the $100,000 Coronado Entrada, said here recently that it would be an 'unforgettable experience" to be a member of the cast numerous persons have expressed a desire to be in the show.

So the casting committee has reserved a limited number of the 750 roles in the Entrada for persons who may not have a favorable opportunity of signing up for the cast except through the following blank which they are asked to fill out and mail or bring to the Chamber of Commerce in the City Hall or to the News.

I would like to be in the east of the Entrada, and I agree to report for the first rehearsal Monday evening, May 20 and at other

There was no municipal police system in the United States until 1850, and the first state police force, with the possible exception of the Texas Rangers, was not formed un-til 1904. Even the government agency, the federal bureau of inrestigation, dates only from 1908. These were among facts told of-ficers attending the afternoon session of the spring convention of the North Texas and Southern Peace Officers association yesterday in the district courtroom by E. E. Conroy, FBI agent, Dallas.

Reviewing the history of law en-orcement. Conroy said he was proud to be a member of the proession. He traced the evolution of professions, recounting that in the British Isles centuries ago traveling barbers had surgery as a side-line.
Establish of law as a profes-

Mask Is Pulled Off City's 'Paper Profits'

annual auditors' report on operations of the Pampa water works department is a bit startling when analyzed from the standpoint of complete accounting on sound business principles.

The report, covering the year from April 1, 1939 through March 31, 1940, would indicate to the average citizen that the department had a profit of approximately $100,000 for the period.

It is a picture that is far from being as pretty as it might appear on the surface to the layman or to the average water consumer or taxpayer. Actually the net profit is around $35,000, if it is that much.

The "profit" report does not take into consideration the highly important items of maintenance and depreciation reserve, principal sinking furti requirements, or interest.

A representative of the auditing firm which audits the city's books states that interest charges are shown elsewhere in the report but no allowances were made for depreciation, "as cities don't take depreciation into count." Even the interest deduction does not show up on the waterworks "profit" page in the report.

That may be true of some cities, but if they don't take these items into account, then it is high time that they did-because they are fooling their taxpayers when these items are not shown. Most certainly they have not been shown in the Pampa waterworks "profit" reports for the past ten years. The auditors admit that

Pampa's new city commission, which took office one month ago yesterday, and its new city manager who took over his duties here only two weeks ago, apparently are digging into city hall figures with a view to putting city operations on a business basis the same as they have been accustomed to in the conduct of their own private businesses.

That should be encouraging to the citizens of Pampa. A "break-down' of the waterworks operations now is in process of preparation and city officials say it will be released soon to the public. No doubt this will further unmask the 'paper profit" system of account-

It must be remembered that these officials have been in office only four weeks-the city manager just two weeks-and theirs is no small task.

It will be interesting to learn just what the actual and real profit of the waterworks system will show. The city manager said yesterday that it will approximate $35,000 instead of the $100,000 indicated in the auditors' report. When the breakdown is completed this figure may be lower or slightly higher.

The big thing that comes out of all this, as we see it, is that it appears now that the city of Pampa will be put on a sound basis of business operation and that city's financial condition rather than a picture that is made to look pretty for political purposes.

WASHINGTON, May 9-A compact under which a American firm making important military devices fo the U.S. army and navy was obliged to permit Ger mtn inspection of process and inventions used in tha production is revealed in a document recently filed in the U. S. district court at New York.

That document is a bill of particulars filed April 26 by the Department of Justice in connection with an anti-trust indictment returned a month earlier by federal grand jury, against the Bausch & Lomb Opti-

FARMERS AND THE WAGE

AND HOUR BILL

Farmers organizations are making a strenuous effort to get exemption for agricultural workers to the Wage and Hour Bill.

It is doubtful whether in the long run it would be wise to have one class of workers exempt from this kind of state slavery and permit others to be controlled by it. If the principle is right, it should apply to all people and there should be no exemptions, no classes, in America,

Of course, the whole law is contrary to the principles of freedom and the right of each man to use his faculties. It is a form of Nazism or Communism to take away from any man the right to use his faculties.

So, it might be better in the long run if the farmer would acquiesce and let the law prevail 'so that sooner or later the public as a whole would realize the perniciousness and the tyranny of the law.

Then, again, why should the farmers work long hours and get no more reward for it than the city workers get for shorter hours because of the law? It simply means that the price of the products of the farmers would go down to such a degree that those who worked at it would have to put in more time with equal ability than the man in the city who was protected by the law would have to put in to satisfy an equal need.

In reality, if the bill would exempt the farmers. it would simply give them the right to be bigger slaves to the city consumer than they are at present

So, it is hard to see why farmers should be so persistent in having exemption which, in the long run, would only work to their detriment.

WHY THIS COLUMN?

It is always well to analyze the motives back of a human action; and there always is a motive. Then why do I write this column? I hope I know and am not fooling myself. Probably the readers will have an entirely different belief as to the cause of it being written than I have.

I believe I am writing it because of self-preservation; not from any altruistic standpoint; not from any idea of direct remuneration, financial or otherwise; not from any idea of charity; or to establish a relative position in society, and, certainly not, with the idea of displaying my understanding. My understanding is so limited, that every bit of my energy should be used to help it develop and grow. So, certainly the purpose of writing this column could not be to display something so insignificant.

Eternal Principles I am writing this column because I believe there are certain absolute eternal truths, principles, axioms that must be obeyed, if mankind is to grow and develop. I believe there are no exceptions to these rules, these principles, these truths and Powell is looking healthy and as that to the degree mankind is in harmony with debonaire as ever. But his health these eternal truths, principles will we develop and his elegance are going to take and enjoy the experiences of life.

I am writing it because it seems too many people have come to believe that man can create his own laws without regard to these eternal fuddy-duddy pottery salesman who makes a hobby of taxidermy. On a laws; that this can be done by the majority or by a dictator and man can still survive, and that no columnist is available who consistently presents these eternal truths.

I am writing this column, not because I know many of these truths, but simply because I have faith in certain beliefs of my limited experience that seem always to work out. And since pracevery human action is governed by heliefs and very little by knowing I can only act on my love spats. He regains his integrity and of goodwill to understand these abrace perishes, then the law of self-preservation memory and with it his stuffy persteps in and commands me to do the things I believe will help preserve myself and the species.

So any time this column shows inconsistencies with the eternal truths and principles which govern human actions, let each reader from the standpoint of his or her own self-preservation. take it upon himself or herself to point out my errors, my inconsistencies, my theories that are out of harmony with eternal principles. Remember it will not hurt my feelings but will help me come a little nearer the truth which will make

HOUSECLEANING FOR LABOR (Christian Science Monitor)

The arrest on charges of extortion of George Scalise, prominent New York labor leader; convic tion of the president of the International Fur Workers' Union for terrorism, and indictments of early 200 other labor leaders in the United States on various counts indicate that at last the seamy side of the labor movement is due for an exposure and its methods for correction.

There has been too much dodging of responsibility, both at top and bottom, and also too much feeling when a clearly guilty official has been convicted that organized labor was being persecuted Actually the prosecutions have been rare, largely ecause few officials have wished to risk offending abor. -LESLIE HORE-BELISHA in the London News of the World; March

News Clearing House

TO THE EDITOR: As soon as we read Charles C. Smith's letter in the News we im-mediately decided that because Mr. Smith is not a native of the Southwest he is not at all familiar with conditions around here. The first poin't we want to take up in answering Mr. Smith's rather ridiculous letter is the question of killing rabbits. We want to ask him pointblank, what's wrong with killing rabbits in the Pankandle? We want to ask him what's wrong with en-couraging all residents of the Panhandle, both young and old to kill

Does Mr. Smith know that jackrabbits are the worst pests infest-ing the Panhandle? Does he know that they are not only a menace to farmers and ranchers and their crops of wheat, cotton, oats, corn, maize, kaffir, fruits, flowers, vegeables? Does he know that Panhandle counties, including Gray, sed to offer bounties for jackrabbit ears? Does he know that regular rabbit drives are held in most Panhandle counties, and that in those drives literally thousands of rabbits are mercilessly shot and clubbed to death and nobody thinks anything about it because it is a civic duty to kill jacks in the Pan-

Now we want to ask Mr. Smith who came to Pampa from New York City, what is the difference between killing a jackrabbit at Recreation park and in a pasture? We would like to ask Mr. Smith if he ever went rabbit hunting and shot and wounded a jackrabbit which limped out of sight wounded but still alive? We would like to ask him if he knows that hundreds of jackrabbits are wounded thus each year and finally die? One can never be certain that when he shoots at a jack-rabbit the hare will be killed intantly. One can never be certain that the rabbit will not be wounded, make sure that rabbits are killed quickly and thoroughly. Well, for years the accepted method of encouraging people to help get rid of these pests is to encourage them to keep greyhounds, and Mr. Smith, believe it or not, greyhounds are the only animals that can run a jackrabbit down! One way to encourage the ownership and breedmeets where men can point with pride to their dogs. And we might say here that the dogs you saw Sunday have caught more jackrabbits in the field and in the pasture than they caught Sunday. Those hounds are worth their weight in gold to Panhandle farmers and ranchers. Greyhound coursing meets courage ranchers and farmers and town residents to keep greyhounds. and thereby help rid the Panhandle of the jackrabbit pest.

Mr. Smith we are going to for-True, your food bill may take give you for your outburst, but you more of your budget than any other are not going to get any sympathy item; but it's worth it. Food is a in this country for defending the jackrabbit who is far more dangerous to the ranchers and farmers than the rattlesnake. Why do you suppose they have those rabbit drives in Wheeler county and in other counties? Just for fun? Mr. Smith, we want to suggest that you go on the next rabbit drive and listen to the conversation and see what takes place, and then you will understand the attitude of the hound owners. You mentioned that in the east you saw greyhounds racing a mechanical rabbit. That sport is banned in Texas. You can't sponsor mechanical rabbit races without betting. You seemed to approve of mechanical rabbit races. Well, we want to ask you which is the more demoralizing for the children you so solicitiously mentioned, to see, people betting on dog races, or fine greyhounds killing pests? It's our belief that it's more demoralizing for children to see betting than for them to see hounds kill rab-

Mr. Smith who came from the East where they have fox hunts probably does not object to seeing or 40 hounds chasing one little fox which is not as fast as a rabbit, but he objects to seeing than two hounds chase a jackrabbit. We would like to inform Mr. Smith that if the relief hounds had not been turned loose Sunday to assist the original pair, the latter might have toppled over dead. Which is the more valuable a hound that destroys hundreds of rabbits in his lifetime, or a rabbit that destroys crops and grass that humans and to see why Mr. Smith should object to seeing hounds kill a rabbit. He says that it is not sportsmanship. Does Mr. Smith want us to turn the rabbits loose again on the prairie? Does he want the rabbit, the pest, to go free, and the dog to run himself to death? Mr. Smith exaggerated incidents that happened in the meet in his letter. First he says he couldn't find an escape. Well, if he couldn't he didn't look for one. Because the escape was located exactly where it should beat the opposite end of the course from where the race starts. The escape was really bigger should have been, and it was the rabbit's fault he didn't find it.

HAVE WE A FOREIGN POLICY?

I have read and reread President Roosevelt's recent speech before the Pan-American union I agree thoroughly with what he said about Pan-American solidarity. He is right about Western hemisphere defense. Opposed as I am to monkeying in European or Asiatic power politics, it seems plain that we must be prepared to fight if Germany Japan, Russia or Italy were to acquire naval or air bases in the western world. In other words, the Monroe Doctrine with guns. But as I have pointed out be-fore, the Monroe Doctrine has two sides. We told the European

The application of those words to what has happened in Europe is obvious. They express what all feel.

Still a sober question remains. Feeling as we do, should we continue sticking out our official tongues at those we don't like? If Mr. Roosevelt were a private citizen he could exercise the ancient privilege of getting some-thing off his chest. If he called Hitler, a gangster millions would applaud. the height of the fighting there—German warplanes machined-gunred his automobile—and when the Allies withdrew he accepted a British invitation to go along. They landed him in Britain.)

By J. NORMAN LODGE LONDON, May 9 (AP)-The censor has my diary for the time being, won't need it to remember the events of the past two weeks. I landed at a northern British port vesterday with an Allied expeditionary force from Namsos, Norway, which reached home intact despite an attack by 39 German planes which sank three Allied destroyers—the British Afridi, the French Bison and the Polish Grom. I had gone to Namsos on a reliable tip that an Allied offensive was about to begin north of Trondneim. That was just one week ago. The next day, French troops streamed back from the front and embarked, as I later learned, the same night. The British, however, assured me they had no intention of leaving. They told me to get some sleep. But before I could close an eye, I was ordered to pack my kit and be ready. We were set to sail

Steinkjer front about 50 miles south of Namsos, we entered the port as a terrific bombing was taking place Incendiary bombs set fire to the whole waterfront, with swift pursuit planes intermittently swooping down on the ghostly city to strafe the roads with machine guns To fool the Germans, the French had sent trucks toward the front while their soldiers, on foot, were leaving it. All the trucks were empty and, arriving at secluded spots, they were smashed, their tires slashed and their gas tanks riddled. The chauffeurs walked back, too. Immediately after the French had withdrawn, the British received orders to proceed to the docks. Leaving behind equipment, personal belongings and much material which had arrived only that afternoon the troops began embarking.

The last aboard were the commanding officers and three Americans-two newsreel cameramen and Our heavily-laden ship was improperly trimmed and we had an a British ship and when we sailed from the prohibited area—of which maps are readily obtainable in fleet street-we were taken to the ward room mess, wined, dined with pro-visions brought aboard that night apologized to at every turn and reated like ranking diplomats.

While we were hove to in the "prohibited area" last Monday, services for the dead of the Bison and Afridi were held aboard the

For the next 36 hours we had the run of the ship, hammocks for sleeping and plenty of food. Arriving at a northern British port, however, trouble appeared again in the form of entry officers. Landing permission readily was given. But how do you do it? The French, who had refused to turn us over to the British, insisted now that the British should send a gig for us. The British insisted the French were our custodians. We fumed and waited. Finally, after waiting offshore in sight of the first green grass we had beheld in many months, we were taken ashore, turned loose and promised a dinner in London by the headquarters major who originally has prevented our return to Formo-
