

Entire Entrada Cast Asked To Be Present At Gym At 8 O'clock Tonight

Every member of the Entrada cast is expected to be at the gym tonight at 8 o'clock for about 30 minutes during which time Director Mark Hamilton will give final instructions regarding rehearsals next week, costumes, cues, horses, etc.

The regular rehearsal will start as per schedule at 7:15 but Mr. Hamilton will take time out to give the cast special instructions. Everyone who expects to be in the cast should attend. More soldiers and Indians are still needed to make the show an unusual success.

Scene eight requiring Indians and Coronado's army will rehearse at 7:15 and all redskins and troopers are urged to attend. Scene one will rehearse at 7:45. This scene requires soldiers, principals and the army. Scene 12 will be rehearsed at 8:45, and scene nine at 9:45 o'clock.

Scene 12 also requires all of the principals, except Indians. The stage and costumes will arrive in Pampa Saturday night. "The Entrada of Coronado," $100,000 Coronado Centennial show, will take to the rail lines in its trip from Clovis to Pampa, this week-end. The switch from the 1940 highways that cross the Staked Plains comes as a result of highway restrictions.

Bill Colvert, publicity director for the U. S. Coronado Exposition commission, announced the new plans today after finding that Texas highway regulations limit truck loads to 7,000 pounds.

The show, biggest traveling presentation ever attempted in the Southwest, requires scenery, props, costumes, and other paraphernalia weighing 27,000 pounds.

In New Mexico two big trailer trucks and a trailer brought the show from Albuquerque to Clovis. The railroad travel schedule calls for departure from Clovis at 2:30 a. m. Saturday on the Santa Fe Railway "Scout" passing through Amarillo at 6 a. m. Saturday. The six trained horses which accompany the show will travel by truck to Pampa, where Coronado's Entrada will be re-enacted June 13-15 as part of West Texas' celebration of the 400th anniversary of the arrival of the Spaniards.

The Weather

Partly cloudy to cloudy tonight, with scattered showers and thunderstorms; mostly fair Friday except thunderstorms in southeast; cooler tonight.

More Candidates For Jones' Seat Outline Stand

Who is going to do what in the muddled congressional race from the 18th district? Six of the 12 men who filed have definitely decided to battle for the seat. Three will withdraw if Congressman Marvin Jones states definitely that he will be a candidate for re-election. Two have no statement to make. One will wait a few days before saying anything.

Last to make a statement is Tom Elsey of Perryton who visited the Pampa News yesterday afternoon. Mr. Elsey declared: "I will withdraw from the race only if Congressman Jones signs an agreement to stay in office. If elected, until 1943. Then I will be for him. But, I'm against the apparent political coup in this last minute announcement. I can't see any place in this whole deal where you can apply the Golden Rule."

Deakins Wells, Wellington, announced yesterday that he would stick to his word and withdraw providing Congressman Jones was a candidate for re-election. His statement follows:

"At the time I announced for congress, I thought Mr. Jones was definitely out of the race. I had no

Boys Admit Skinning Bark From Trees

Two boys who admitted they skinned bark from a large tree in the city park Tuesday night were picked up by City Officers W. C. Dillman and Lawrence Flaherty yesterday afternoon. One of the boys was from Panhandle and the other from Pampa.

It was the first time the boys had ever been in trouble, so Police Chief J. I. Downs released them after giving them a lecture. The boys said they did not know that skinning the bark from the tree would kill it.

One of the boys was 17 and the other 14 years of age.

Officers are still looking for the boys who broke limbs off other trees and trampled flowers and shrubs.

Check-Up Will Be Made On Foreigners

MEXICO CITY, June 6. (AP)—A nationwide check-up on the whereabouts and activities of all foreigners in Mexico will be instituted shortly by the department of the interior, it was announced today.

The department, which has charge of all immigration matters, said the primary purpose of the inspection would be to learn whether there are any aliens in the country illegally.

At the same time it was reported unofficially that the government, disturbed by increasing reports of Nazi-Communist fifth column activity, had decided to compel all foreigners traveling in Mexico to sign registers and state their business in each city or locality they visit.

When moving from place to place, they would be asked to notify the authorities.

Riders Asked To Be At Park Monday Night

Everybody who plans to ride a horse in the Top O' Texas Fiesta parades June 14 and 15 should attend the field rehearsal of the Coronado Entrada cast on Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at Recreation park. Riders will be given soldier uniforms to wear in the parade.

More than 100 horses have been secured by F. O. Gurley and his committee members, Bill Heskew, Sheriff Cal Rose and Roy McMurry. But 150 horses will be required so anyone who has not registered his horse is urged to contact a member of the committee.

Many of the horses will be used in the Entrada to be presented the nights of June 13, 14 and 15. Only horses that are used to gunfire and crowds can be used in the Entrada so owners are urged to specify whether their horses can be used in the Entrada.

Stable permits will be given each owner who will ride a horse in the parade. The Junior Chamber of Commerce will feed the horses during the two days of the parade. Horses used in the Entrada will be fed all three days. Horses must be taken to the stables at Recreation park.

Owners are urged to ride their horses to the rehearsal on Monday night.

"We don't want to rent or borrow horses for the parade," Mr. Gurley said. "We want owners to ride their own horses in the Entrada too."

Invitations have been extended to Miss Margaret Stockstill of Pampa and Mrs. Sydny Yokley of Canadian to lead the riders in the parade.

Veils Will Rehearse, Then Hold Meeting

Franks of the army. They urged all members of the army to attend both rehearsal and Legion meeting.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Allied forces withstood the initial German onslaught yesterday well, and French military leaders said the situation this morning was "fairly good."

The Nazis renewed their assault with great fury at dawn today and their version of the position is that they have broken the French line at several points.

This battle which likely will decide the outcome of the war hasn't proceeded far enough for us to draw sweeping conclusions.

The French Politu appears to have performed his good deed of the day with splendid morale yesterday, and the cunning of Allied Generalissimo Weygand was in evidence in the sturdiness of his line of defense at the outset.

Beyond that we cannot go at this moment, for we know that Weygand will have performed wonders if he is able to hold that line anywhere near its present position. In directing perhaps the greatest defensive action of history, he is trying to match superior military strength with skill and the spirit among his willing troops to do or die.

The heaviest German attack this morning was directed at the French extreme left wing, which rests on the coast near Abbeville. The French state that they made a slight withdrawal here.

The immediate purpose of the drive in this sector is (1) to turn the Allied wing, and (2) to reach down the coast and capture the great port of Le Havre. This is the French end of the lifeline between France and England, and its possession by the Germans would render it extremely difficult for the British to carry aid by water to their allies.

There may be a further purpose, premised on the success of the turning operation. The Germans may try to extend this arm to form an envelope Paris, the other arm developing from a thrust in the Allette river region near the center of the Allied front.

This coastal attack, and the other

Municipal Airport Urged By Russ Allen

Establishment of a municipal airport by the city of Pampa was advocated in a request made to the city commission at its regular meeting yesterday by R. G. (Russ) Allen.

With the city acquiring the land for an airport and furnishing title to the federal government, federal aid might be obtained, Mr. Allen said.

City-owned land is a prerequisite to securing such help from the federal government.

"What I would really like to see is for the city to go out three or four miles and buy a real airport," Mr. Allen said. "However, I understand there is not money available for this purpose."

From the sale of gasoline and oil an hangar rent Mr. Allen said it would be possible for the airport to be operated at little or no expense to the city.

He explained the excellence of the present field, located east of the city, stating the runways were in good shape and expressed the belief that it would not be necessary to construct runways of concrete.

A hangar could be built at a cost of $5,000 to adequately serve the field, Mr. Allen said.

Status of the airport at present is that the land on which it is located is owned by the White Deer Land company. "Today we have an airport, and tomorrow we may find we don't have one," was the way Mr. Allen explained the situation.

He said there were seven local planes at the field, that "by charging ourselves extra hangar rent," fliers had been able to keep their planes in operation without deficit, the last year ending with a $100 balance.

Mr. Allen said he had plans and specifications and estimate of cost on an airport and would be glad to submit these as was suggested by the commission.

Fiesta Float Paper Arrives

Paper to be used in decorating floats for the Coronado Top O' Texas Fiesta parade is on display in the building on South Cuyler next to the F. W. Woolworth company.

Myers asked fast action on the selections and also urged that firms that had not yet made up their minds what they intended to do about entering floats to do so at once. He said there were between 30 and 35 firms that had signified an interest in having floats in the parade, but were still in the "maybe" class. There are 14 floats that are definitely assured for the parade to date, the chairman said.

The place will be kept open until 8:30 o'clock tonight. After tonight, the exhibit will be open until 10:30.

Eight Fined For Intoxication And Disturbing Peace

City Recorder C. E. McGrew had a busy session of court this morning when eight persons appeared before him, seven charged with being intoxicated and one with disturbing the peace.

Fines of $10 were assessed against each of the violators but only one of them had the money to pay off. The rest were returned to jail. Two of the offenders were Pampans and the others transients.

Last month the judge assessed $44.50 in fines but only $185 was collected. There were 85 arrests during the month, 36 on intoxication charges.

Diego Rivera Flees To U. S. From Mexico

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6. (AP)—Diego Rivera, internationally-famed Mexican muralist who says he escaped from Mexico City with his life only because film actress Paulette Goddard helped him, settled down in San Francisco today to paint murals stressing Pan-American cordiality.

"I hope," he said, "that when I have completed this job, someone will have completed the job of cleaning out of Mexico City the Nazis and the Stalinists."

Rivera told a tale of terror after he flew in last night from Los Angeles and Dallas.

Until he reached the United States, Rivera declared, he was in hiding for more than a week.

He said his troubles began a little less than two weeks ago, after a mysterious band of terrorists shot up Leon Trotsky's home in Mexico City. Trotsky formerly was Rivera's house guest, but they parted some time ago.

"This shooting at Trotsky, the kidnap of his American secretary, was organized by the Stalinist-Nazi secret police," Rivera said.

A few days after the Trotsky shooting, Paulette Goddard and Miss Irene Bohus, the American painter, were in my studio. Outside they saw two cars full of men. I knew they came for me. So I went downstairs secretly, hid in the car. When the car came out with the chauffeur, Miss Bohus got in openly and drove away. Then I went in to hiding and issued my statements to the newspapers.

"Twenty minutes after I left the studio, 30 men drove up in a station wagon. They immobilized my servants and searched the house."

But Rivera was gone, and eventually he flew to Texas. Yesterday he and Miss Goddard flew to Los Angeles, where she left the plane.

"Has those men found me," Rivera declared, "I feel sure it would have been the end of me."

Rivera said Nazis and Stalinists are active in Mexico, but that four-fifths of the people are in favor of closer cooperation with the United States.

Paris In 15 Days Germans Claim

Heavy losses of German tanks trapped in France's new "quicksand" defense system on the 200-mile Western Front were reported by the French today as the Nazi high command asserted its troops had won ground "everywhere" in a thrust to the southwest.

German leaders were said to envision the fall of Paris within 15 days.

The heaviest German attacks were reported striking out in the Abbeville region—presumably aimed at the capture of Le Havre, vital channel port linking France with England, in a wide sweeping drive on Paris.

French '75s Trap Plunging German Tanks

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, June 6.—French "75s" and anti-tank guns caught hard-driving German tanks in a tangle of fire on the Somme front today in a battle seven miles in depth.

Other German tanks, pushing recklessly as far as they could go, fought through the battlefield into the open only to be cut off from their support.

Nests of French machine-guns and pursuit planes were reported to have successfully held back the main German forces, preventing motorcyclists and truck-carried infantry from following in the wake of the tank spearheads.

The main German armies, striking both directly at Paris and in the west toward Rouen, still had 70 miles to go to the French capital.

"Hitler weather," fine, hot, dry, held out, as it did in Poland.

The French tactics for meeting a blitzkrieg were said to have entangled German tanks in forward zones, permitting their destruction at will.

Germany's mobile fortresses, pushing far ahead of the main battlefront and miles from their fueling bases, were said in military advice to have found the roads back barred by specially trained and equipped detachments which ringed them under full fire—especially from French 75s—till they were crumpled masses of iron and steel.

The "quagmire" defense—some of the French called it a "flypaper" defense—called for no quick attempt by outposts to succumb to the heavy tread of the blasting tanks but rather a yielding which permitted

Pampan's Cousin Writes Of Her Experiences On French War Front

World War II came right up to a Gray county home this week in a story told in a clipping from a Texas newspaper.

The story recounted the experiences of Mrs. Gui Montier, formerly Miss Maude Valliant of Lampasas, on a trip to the front to see her husband, a French attorney serving as an interpreter for the French army with the British expeditionary force, somewhere in Belgium.

Mrs. Montier is a cousin of M. T. Valliant, Route 2, Pampa.

Studied At Columbia

For eight years the Montiers had made their home in Plissy-Poville, Northern France. Mrs. Montier and her husband were married after they had met at Columbia university where both were students.

They have three children, the oldest 7. One child, age 3, came to the United States with her grandparents in December, 1938. They were to have returned to France last October but could not make the trip on account of the war.

Mrs. Montier's first letter to relatives in the United States—J. L. Valliant, Jakin, Ga., her father, and J. V. Willis, Bruceville, a cousin—described her visit to the French front.

Writes Mrs. Montier:

"My trip to the back of the front was of passionate interest to me, despite the tragedy which was its reason for being. I had a good bit of trouble getting a passport. The police colonel who gives these roared like a lion when I said I wanted to visit friends.

White Deer Man To Be Marshall School Head

Special To The NEWS

WHITE DEER, June 6—J. Davis Hill has accepted the position as principal of the senior and junior high schools in Marshall, Texas, and will leave immediately to take up his duties there.

Mr. Hill, who is one of the outstanding school men of the Panhandle, has been principal of the White Deer High school for four years.

J. Davis Hill

Before coming here, he had taught in the Amarillo schools for nine years, and in the Breckenridge High school one year.

Last summer he taught a course in guidance at the University of Denver, and will return there this summer to teach two courses along similar lines. He holds both the B. A. and the M. A. degrees from West Texas State college.

Glenn P. Davis has been named to succeed Mr. Hill as principal of the high school. Mr. Davis has been principal of the White Deer Grade school for the past five years, having come here from Friona, where he had served in a similar position for three years.

He had previously been principal of the elementary school at Winters for four years and principal of the high school at Clyde for two years. When first Madame Hill wrote urging me to pay her a visit at the earliest time possible I did not doubt she had seen Gui and was arranging this way for us to have a few hours together. So it turned out.

An air raid, the recollections of a French family of World War I, the "cold, deliberate destruction carried out by the German army," the sight of a German plane brought down by a French battery, are other incidents described in the letters.

The first letter was dated January 28, the last April 23. Relatives have received no word from Mrs. Montier since that time, and have been worried about the fate of the former Lampasas girl and her husband.

An Independent Democratic newspaper, publishing the news fairly and impartially at all times and supporting in its editorial columns the principles which it believes to be right and opposing those questions which it believes to be wrong, regardless of party politics.

Shall All Serve?

Now that all have agreed on a vastly-increased armament program, shall all serve equally to bring it into being?

Shall the workman who is asked to work longer hours be balanced by the employer who is asked to accept shorter profits?

Shall the young man who is asked to give his life be balanced by the older man who is asked to give his money?

That would seem, in principle, to be the democratic way.

And if it is decided that a far greater number of citizens must become skilled in military matters, how shall those citizens be chosen? Shall they be volunteers, shall they be economic classes (as in the CCC proposals), shall they be college youth, or shall they be a vast and automatic cross-section of the whole people?

These questions are all going to come to the fore with increasing insistence as the arms program swings from discussion to reality. And not least important of the proposals raised is that now brought straight to the front by the Army and Navy Journal, which in its current number says flatly, "The time has come for the American people to adopt as a fixed policy the principle of universal military training."

The Journal describes our efforts up to now as follows: "We have been putting a toe into the water, and now that the rushing river threatens to swamp our banks, we are shivering and preparing to stick one leg into it. Apparently, we are never willing to learn the lesson of efficient and sufficient defense except at a sickening cost in blood and treasure."

So the service paper recommends stripping and plunging into the preparedness program whole-hog.

This proposal is revolutionary, and contrary to every tradition and precedent of American history. We have always avoided like the plague any suggestion of a large standing army, and any suggestion of compulsory service in peace, though both in the Civil War and the World War we turned to compulsory service. In the World War it was immediately adopted as the only equitable and effective way to face the situation.

More will be heard of this proposal. If any such plan is ever placed in effect it must come as the conscious will and decision of the American people.

It is not too soon to begin considering whether or not today's world demands that we come at last to the system of universal militarization.

Behind The News

By BRUCE CATTON

Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 6—Expansion of the nation's military air force has begun to put the squeeze on the commercial air lines.

Because the army and navy are taking every qualified flyer they can lay their hands on, good air line pilots are hard to get these days. The commercial aviation business is expanding, just as the army and navy air forces are—but the government gets first call on the supply of pilots, and the supply is very definitely limited.

Once, no major air line would even consider a job application from a pilot who could not show at least 1000 hours in the air. Today a man with 500 air-hours is likely to get work quickly.

That doesn't mean that the air lines are entrusting their transport planes to less capable men; it does mean they have had to go pretty extensively into pilot-training business themselves, and the 500-hour pilot will get weeks or months of flying in a company training plane before he is made a co-pilot on a regular run.

UNCLE SAM USED TO TRAIN AIRLINE PILOTS

In the old days when army and navy air forces sailed comfortably along, the great service flying schools were in effect training stations for the air lines. Interested in building up a reserve and also in fostering civil aviation, the army and navy had no objection to seeing some of the best graduates of the flying schools sign up with the air lines.

Today the graduates have to stick with the services. So the great source for the air lines is cut off, despite the fact that the service schools are graduating 200 pilots every six weeks these days, as compared with 200 a year a short time ago.

In one sense the air lines are completely subservient to the army and navy, in the event of war.

Between 60 and 75 per cent of the 1196 air line pilots in the nation are members of either the army or navy air reserve corps. In peace time, members of the reserve cannot be called to the colors without their consent; in war, or in a time when the President has proclaimed a national emergency, they can be called. By calling all of these reserves to duty the government could, in effect, ground most of the nation's air liners.

PRIVATE AIRLINES NOT LIKELY TO SUFFER IN WAR

Nobody is worrying too much over this possibility, however. The army and navy consider the air transport business a highly essential industry, which probably would have to be maintained and possibly even expanded in time of war. As one high army officer puts it:

"We wouldn't be any more likely to pull the air line pilots back into the service than we would be to take engineers off the crack transcontinental trains and put them to work running switch engines on military spur tracks."

One aeronautical proposal which leaves the service people almost completely cold is the suggestion women flyers be formed into some sort of auxiliary defense corps, to function in war time so that men could be freed for combat duty. The answer to that is there are today only 86 women flyers in the United States

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

COMMON ERRONEOUS BELIEFS THAT RESULT IN WARS

George G. Kidwell, Director of Industrial Relations of the State of California, makes this statement public:

"Isn't it a basic principle of democracy that certain rights of individuals must be curbed for the good of the people as a whole? I fail to see any moral wrong in curbing the right of an individual to work 18 hours a day for starvation wages in order to protect the living standards of all other workers?"

It is the belief, so generally held, that working and producing is detrimental to society, as is the only logical deduction from the above statement, which undoubtedly eventually leads people into wars. When people come to believe that one man's producing is detrimental to other people, then they naturally make laws to prevent people from having the right to work and produce. This results in tariffs, immigration laws and, thus using force to prevent the natural, God-given resources on this earth from being available to all mankind. And when nature and God-given resources are not available to all mankind, as God intended them to be, then Divine Providence, or God, or Nature, or Supreme Intelligence steps in and opposes this fallacy by means of war. There is always a cause for every war.

What Director Kidwell and all New Dealers, and all Republicans who believe in protective tariff, fail to understand is that a man's working and producing benefits all the consumers in the world. This is the part they do not see. They only see the apparent inconvenience of some worker who produces a similar product. It is true that it does require some producer to change his methods, but if this producer is considering the rights of the consumer and does not want a special license or privilege, it does not in the long run, even work any hardships on him.

It is because we have men in responsible positions, like Director of Industrial Relations Kidwell, who do not understand the simplest economic principles that we pass laws which prevent people from having the right to work as long as they want to and put as much more into society than they take out as they are willing to.

Would Contradict Themselves if They Answered Questions . . . So Ignore Questions

And when society comes to believe that working and producing wealth in greater quantities than the producer consumes is harmful to mankind, there are no principles, no rules of conduct left except the arbitrary, whimsical, changeable, unknown and unknowable decisions of some individual, like Kidwell, Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini, Governor Olson and President Roosevelt. None of these people will write a rule of conduct, a Bill of Rights, eternal principle or eternal truth. They will not answer questions because if they did they would be obliged to contradict themselves. Their whole philosophy is the arbitrary decisions of some individual. To them, there is no fixity of God's or Nature's laws that have to be obeyed. They worship the God of a dictator, or the God of majority rule.

So, when people are so confused and bewildered, as the Director of Industrial Relations of the great State of California is, and publicly states the inalienable, God-given rights of every man to the use of his faculties to add to the wealth of that rights of an individual must be curbed and says he can see nothing morally wrong in curbing the world, then we have obsessions in the minds of men that are bound to eventually result in more and more restrictions, more and more poverty, more and more loss of equality of liberty. In fact, we have nothing left but chaos.

It is of the utmost importance that people come to learn that every man who works and adds to the wealth of the world, is the real and true benefactor of every consumer in the world and is raising the standard of living of every consumer in the world, instead of doing harm to society, as the Director of Industrial Relations of the State of California seems to think.

The columns of this paper, of course, are open to Director Kidwell to explain how any man's working and producing can harm any consumer in the world—and every human being in the world is a consumer.

WHY LACK OF MECHANIZATION IN ARMY

One wonders whether the lack of mechanization of the army in the so-called democratic, or majority rule, countries is not largely due to the general belief held by the majority of people that there is a limited amount of jobs and that any mechanization of the army would require less soldiers and, thus, not be beneficial to the working class.

On the other hand, those countries controlled by a dictator are usually controlled by men with enough foresight to know that it is not work that people want but the fruits of labor. For this reason, countries not controlled by majority rule votes, as Germany is, see the advantage and necessity of mechanizing their army and using efficient tools and equipment.

This is largely the reason the so-called democratic form of government must not attempt to go into private business, as the great mass of people would stand in the road of adopting modernized equipment.

HARDLY A FAIR DISTRIBUTION New Tax Measures in Soviet Russia Show Wide Income Discrepancy (The Living Age)

The strictures of Soviet leaders and their press against "imperialistic capitalists," "capitalist war incinerators," "sinister Wall Street" and variations of these tags suggest that the primary concern of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics is a more equitable distribution of the wealth of the land. This is in accordance, incidentally, with majority opinion today even in the least enlightened "plutocracies."

But the recent publication of details of the Soviet's new income tax measures should prove an embarrassment to the millions that continue to believe in the ethical infallibility of Josef Stalin. According to G. E. R. Geysse, calling from Moscow to the New York Times, these new rates disclose schedules for incomes ranging from 600 rubles a year to incomes in excess of 300,000 rubles; a range of income scarcely exceeded even in the "capitalist" United States.

with commercial ratings. Until there are a lot more than that, the projected auxiliary won't draw much serious attention.

CLASS OF 1940

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 6—Those tender, intimate love scenes that packed 'em into the theaters usually are rehearsed and shot on closed sets. But Rosalind Russell and Jimmy Stewart—two of the best in the murmured, underplayed romance class—performed to a full gallery for a couch-scene in "No Time for Comedy."

They're married in the film—a successful playwright and his star-wife—so it's quite proper when Stewart throws his lank form on a striped couch and nestles his head against Miss Russell. She fondles his hair, bends down and kisses him. I'd say Mr. Stewart is a very lucky man, and it's going to be a long time before the rehearsal ad libbing on the final sound track.

They got off to a good start by limbering up on tongue twisters about "greasy gray grease grazing gaily" and "rubber baby-buggy bumpers." Miss Russell, in a clinging white dinner gown with a lot of diamond jewelry, looked ultra handsome.

She fingered the glittering bracelets and murmured that Stewart must be an awfully smart playwright—Broadway never paid off like that when she was on the stage.

Since she has to look romantically shorter than he, Miss Russell wore flat-heeled beach shoes, asked the cameraman, "Are my size 12's in the picture?"

HUSBAND STEWART RIGHT AT HOME

She draped herself decoratively on the couch, Stewart flung himself down on it, butted his head against her and murmured, "Umm-umm-umm." Miss Russell blushed solidly, pulled a lock of Stewart's hair and asked acidly, "Do women tire of you easily? My, but you're handsome! Don't let anybody ever tell you you can't wear blue."

Director Bill Keighley, dissatisfied with the pose, told Stewart to try it again. He took another dive, looked up to ask, "What kind of landing did I make that time?" During the first line, he reached up to take Miss Russell's hand, bend the fingers back gently. "Oh-up," she said. "That's been done at RKO. I think it was in a B-picture." They finally agreed on another gesture and went on to the kiss. But Stewart wasn't comfortable, complained, "If I reach up to kiss her, I'm gonna break my neck. Let Rosalind break hers."

Miss Russell argued bitterly, lost, walled despondently at Keighley's decision. They tried the scene again but Stewart got tangled up in his own feet and clutched her as they almost slid off the couch. Miss Russell smothered her hair, bowed to the gallery and announced, "The Lunt and Fontaine of Burbank."

WIFE FINALLY LOSES HER PATIENCE

Again they tried it. This time Miss Russell lunged sky high, twisted and she flounced off the couch, straightened the dress, sat down and commanded Stewart, "Lie down! I never had this trouble before, honestly!"

After 45 minutes of rehearsing, Keighley called lunch. Miss Russell went into her dressing room to look at costume sketches and Stewart set off at a hardlope to the cafe, where he had a date with Olivia de Havilland.

German Tanks Destroyed

PARIS, June 6 (AP)—The semi-official Telefrance news agency reported today that 25 German tanks had been destroyed at Chalun, nine miles southwest of Peronne, in the German drive on Paris. The agency also reported that the Abbeville region, at the mouth of the Somme, was the scene of some of the heaviest German attacks.

People You Know

By Archer Fullington

I took Pampa's Coronado, Harold Shadwick, over to Clovis last night to see the Entrada, and after the first scene everybody around me was saying, "If I had known it would be like this I would have been in the cast." You could just sit in the stands and realize what an experience it was to be in the cast. It's like being 100 years old and missed being in the cast. As for the show, well, we saw everything and it was just as good as the Albuquerque publicity agents have been shouting. The costumes are magnificent, the lighting is inspiring, but the thing that thrilled me most was the voice-cast. The voices of the professional actors and actresses in the sound booth will make the show; they read the lines in a manner that makes cold shills run up and down your spine.

In the first Beatriz, to be played by Martha Price, appears with a "child," which is a doll, and is one of the largest dolls ever made. It was made especially for the show. Pampa's Coronado took notes on the performance of the Clovis Coronado and he will be able to make his performance much better. Others who saw the show were George Grammas, Pampa's General Cardenas, Jimmy Dodge, the local Mendoza, Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Parker, and Homer Prewett of Borger. Mrs. Elsie Cone, assistant director to Mark Hamilton. Tonight Ernest Cabe, another assistant director, and Dr. C. H. Schulkey and others will attend the Entrada to take notes. Dr. Schulkey will play the role of Fray Juan Padilla in the show, and Mark says that "Doc" will be among the best. . . . All the people with the show, that is all the "pros," are certain that Pampa's show will be the best of them all.

Nazi Oppose Argentines

BREILIN, June 6 (AP)—Argentine embassy circles said today that oral "representations" had been made to the German foreign office by Ambassador Ricardo Olvera in connection with the recent sinking of the Argentine freighter Uruguay. The Argentine foreign ministry announced in Buenos Aires May 29 that the Uruguay had been torpedoed and sunk, allegedly by a German submarine, off the Spanish coast.

No 'Wholesale Arrests' Planned Affirms Jackson

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Attorney General Robert H. Jackson declared today that any inference that the justice department contemplated "a mass drive or wholesale arrests" in connection with the defense program was "wholly unwarranted."

Jackson made that assertion in reference to statements in the budget bureau's letter dealing with a request for $3,358,800 for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, chiefly to add 500 agents to the force now engaged in national defense work.

In connection with another request for $500,000 additional for salaries and expenses of United States marshals, the bureau had said: "It is also anticipated that there will be a great number of prisoners to be handled. . . . In addition to these marshals and deputy marshals may be called upon to guard and protect federal or seized property and serve a large volume of process."

"We do not anticipate any abnormal increase in the number of prisoners," Jackson told newsmen. "The statement of the budget bureau does not say that an increase is expected. The number of federal prisoners has been for years increasing steadily, and the statement points out the fact that a great number require handling."

Ambassadors Urge U. S. To Aid Allies

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The White House reported today that America's ambassadors in Paris and London were "telephoning and calling" each other asking that we do everything we can to speed up production of military essentials.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, made the statement when asked about reports that the envoys had transmitted to the government requests that plane and military equipment deliveries to the Allies be rushed.

Both Ambassador Kennedy in London and Ambassador Bullitt in Paris, he said, are communicating by telephone and cable. The presidential secretary said he had no information on specific messages.

STAMP NEWS

THREE years ago Adolf Hitler joined pitifully the picture gallery with the first Hitler birthday commemorative stamp. Shown above is the fourth stamp of the series, a semi-postal released April 20, 1940, celebrating the dictator's 51st birthday. The stamp pictures the Reichsfuhrer putting a little girl who is giving him a present and flowers.

Those four stamp issues cover world-shaking events in the career of the one-time Austrian corporal. Hitler's pledge to respect Belgium's neutrality, given in October, 1937, was worth less than the stamps.

His 49th birthday saw Hitler as ruler of Austria. The conversations at Munich took place in the same year, and Nazis won the Sudeten area of Czechoslovakia. A month before his 50th anniversary, the Reichsfuhrer took over the remainder of Czechoslovakia, and Lithuania surrendered Memel. April, 1939, also saw Hitler denounce the Polish non-aggression pact and the British naval agreement. Invasion of Poland brought French and British declarations of war on Sept. 3.

Hitler celebrated April, 1940, by invading Denmark and Norway.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by liver kidney—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking these acids and poisons out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, pallor under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't waste! Ask for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes cut out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

RAF Balloon Hits Cable, Kills Three

LONDON, June 6 (AP)—A Royal Air Force bomber struck a balloon barrage cable on the northeast coast last night, the air ministry announced, and three persons were killed by the crash of the plane. Two of the dead were civilians and the other a member of the bomber's crew. Three civilians also were injured.

The balloon barrage is a system of captive balloons designed to wreck invading balloons with their trailing cables. Greets are not mulattoes, as many people imagine. They are descendants of white families, long settled in tropical climes.

Bombing Attack On England Heaviest Since War Began

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, June 6.—Trading aerial blows in unceasing warfare, Germany's air force today unleashed its most extensive bombing attack on England since the war began while British airmen were reported officially to have attacked German troop supply bases and communications lines in raids extending from the battle zone in France to the industrially-important Ruhr valley in western Germany.

The Nazis dropped high explosives and incendiary bombs in their sweep over a 270-mile stretch of English coastline early today and last night in apparent search for British airdromes.

British airmen made aerial assaults on crowded German communications lines leading to the Somme river battlefield in new efforts to help their French allies halt the German drive on Paris.

While Britons with rifles and guns stood constant watch at home against any attempted invasion of their tiny little isle, the air ministry reported that medium and heavy bombers of the Royal Air Force "attacked enemy troop concentrations and harassed enemy movements behind the fighting front."

Other heavy bombers, the ministry added, "struck at junctions and marshalling yards west of the Ruhr while others attacked military objectives in Germany."

The raiding forays took a toll of six German planes, the ministry said, while one British plane was shot down and two are missing.

In an early-morning raid, the British scored direct hits on oil tanks captured by the Germans at Ghent, the ministry announced. The airmen were reported to have flown low and machine-gunned targets in Ghent, which was illuminated by the flames from the burning oil tanks.

While their British air force fought to help the French, military circles here acknowledged the Germans had made some progress at certain points in the Aisne-Somme battle, but added that no advances could be described as penetrations of the French defense positions.

It was said the Germans were tapping everywhere to find a soft spot upon which to deliver a fierce blow.

Britain's air activity came in the wake of the Nazi air force's heaviest bombing on England since the start of the war.

Apparently in an effort to destroy the airdromes from which Royal Air Force bombers have gone out to pound German objectives, the German raiders dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs all along a 270-mile stretch of coast from Yorkshire, in northeastern England, to Kent, south of the Thames where it winds from London to the sea.

In Kent, a woman, her 13-year-old son and a 3-year-old baby escaped by leaping over a flaming incendiary bomb which tore through the roof of their house, missed their bed by a few inches and burned a big hole in the floor.

Other incendiary bombs which fell in Kent started two fires on the roofs of buildings, which were quickly extinguished, while another burned out on the front lawn of a house, damaging only the hedge.

Many bombs dropped in Essex fell near a boy's school, and an air force landing school and in gardens and fields, injuring no one, the British said.

One bomb struck a rectory garden in Lincolnshire; it was reported, and two women were injured slightly by flying glass.

With Nazi air attacks approaching ominously close to London, the government renewed its appeals to parents to register their children for withdrawal to safer areas.

Incendiary bombs also fell on the Thames side, where docks, wharves and warehouses line both sides of the Thames most of the way from London to the river's mouth.

One German plane was believed to have been brought down near an east coast town by anti-aircraft guns.

Explosions shook houses on the sea front and spectators who had stood outside ran for cover. On the home front, Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin announced

Domestic Grain Trade Choked By Price Collapse

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP)—Intricately geared machinery of the domestic grain trade, thrown into confusion by blitzkrieg on the Western Front, faces a state of partial paralysis, market experts said today, should prices recede much further.

Instead of the booming market activity and prices that many grain men had believed would accompany war, values have collapsed and trading has been choked almost to a standstill in some instances.

As a result, many trade experts are seriously concerned because the season of heavy grain marketing is approaching. However, John G. McCarthy, Board of Trade president, expressed confidence that the market would be able to work out of the situation in its own way. He said no steps would be taken by the Board of Trade that do not have the sanction of government agricultural officials.

At this time of year, experts said, a large volume of speculative purchasing by trade interests and the general public usually is necessary to carry the risk of ownership of quantities of grain moving to market, especially wheat. The futures market offers the machinery for doing this job because it is through sales and purchases of contracts calling for delivery of grain at some future date that the risk of ownership is delegated to those willing and able to take it. This is important, they said, in financing the crop movement.

Prices of all grains plunged headlong, seriously upsetting the domestic agricultural picture at a most inopportune time because producers were making farm plans on the basis of market prices.

Knox Advocates U. S. Help Allies For Own Security

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP)—Col. Frank Knox advocated today that the United States furnish France and Great Britain with everything short of soldiers to help win the war.

"Our neutrality has been a sham," said the publisher of the Chicago Daily News, who was the Republican vice presidential nominee in 1936. "We have always been for the Allies, and anything we have done or can do to help them will be a direct contribution to American security."

Three weeks ago, with the approval of President Roosevelt and the army's chief of staff, Col. Knox initiated "Aviation Plattsburg," a patriotic civilian movement to train 15,000 pilots in military flying this summer and 30,000 men during the next school year.

In today's interview he dealt with American defense problems in their broadest aspects, solemnly declaring it was "simply impossible to exaggerate the danger facing America if the Allied cause is lost."

Col. Knox recommended that the United States army make its first line fighting planes available to Britain and France while there was still time to use them.

"Five hundred planes would be a godsend to the French right now," he said. "We are not in any immediate danger, and we could quickly replace ships sent to Europe with even rounding country over which the boys take their hikes."

Boyer Will Open Campaign June 7

DALHART, June 6—Max Boyer, Perryton attorney, will open his campaign for state senator of the 31st district in Dalhart next Friday night, June 7, at 8 p. m.

Bill Miller, publisher of The Spearman Reporter, who is Boyer's campaign manager, and Boyer's friends are planning a northwest Panhandle rally for him.

The event will be on the south lawn of the courthouse. In case of bad weather it will move inside to the district court room. An entertainment feature, Miller said, will be concerts by the Spearman, Perryton, and Dalhart bands, and probably a mass concert.

Perryton, Spearman, Borger, Amarillo, and Dalhart have promised delegations, Miller said, and he expects groups from several other Panhandle centers. Several Panhandle leaders will speak briefly, he said.

Rain Halts Game in Ninth But Lubbock Wins

All Women In Slacks To Be Entered Free

Barbing singles when they were needed most, the Lubbock Hubbers beat the Pampa Oilers 7 to 4 last night in a game called in the ninth because of rain. The two will tee off again tonight at 8:30 o'clock and will close their current series Friday night when all women attired in slacks will be admitted free.

Ben Parrish gave eight charity walks until relieved by Milbert Vannoy but the damage had been done as Vannoy allowed two hits and Jordan came up with an error in the eighth, Parrish, during his seven and a third innings on the hill, walked eight batters. He fanned seven and allowed only six hits.

Lubbock drew first blood in the opening inning when Drake walked, Hajduk walked and Drake scored on a wild pitch. The Oilers added two in their half when Malvica and Seltz singled and then worked a double steal, Malvica coming home on Stack's wild pitch. Prather walked and Summers singled to score Seltz.

Oilers Go Ahead
Hajduk walked to open the fourth and went to second when Daniel muffed the play. He advanced on an out and scored on a double steal after Castillo had walked. Summers made a perfect peg to second but Clutter missed his man as he went past him.

Oiler bats boomed in the fifth when Seltz opened with a double and scored on Prather's single. Prather went all the way to third when the ball got away from Watkins. Summers walked and stole second and Prather scored on Potter's fly to right.

The score was tied again in the seventh when Niedziela and Drake singled and Schlereth sacrificed them ahead. Hajduk came through with another single to score both runners.

Then came the eighth. Castillo fanned but Mahan and Stack drew bases on balls as Parrish drew his walking ticks.

Vannoy relieved but Niedziela singled a run across. Jordan made an error and Hajduk singled again and once more Daniel let the ball get away from him and two more runs crossed the plate.

The Rain Came
Rain started falling in the last of the ninth with Prather at bat after Lubbock had pulled a double play.

Lubbock is the team that is resting in the cellar of the league, yet sitting on top in hitting, which duplicates the feat pulled by Amarillo last year.

The Hubbers have a smooth team that is mighty dangerous at the plate. In Stack they have one of the fastest pitchers in the league, and he also has a nice curve ball. Parrish couldn't get his curve working last night. He didn't break more than two or three across the plate and had to rely on his smoke ball, which was floating badly.

Big 200-pound football players couldn't get Bert Isbell, above, down during the past season, but yesterday his appendix did and he underwent an immediate operation at a local hospital. His condition today was reported excellent by attending physicians. Bert admitted his side had been hurting but he would not give up until after the game between the Exes, for whom he was a star, and the 1940 Harvesters, whom he will have to watch from the sidelines.

National Open Golf Show Starts Today

CLEVELAND, O., June 6 (AP)—Golf's greatest show—the National Open championship—sent an all-star cast of par smashers into battle against wind and distance at Canterbury Golf club today.

The defending champion is slender Byron Nelson of Toledo, O. Lined up against him are some 169 other top flight professionals and amateurs. And up against all of them are the 6,921 yards of the Canterbury's tricky terrain.

The players known to be consistently long and straight are given the best chance of licking the winds and Canterbury's par of 26-36-72 over the three-day, 72-hole grind.

"Slamming Sam" Snead and little Ben Hogan are rated co-favorites at 6-1.

But there are a dozen or more others rated excellent chances. Ralph Guldahl, holder of the Open title in 1937 and 1938, made no secret of the confidence he has in himself to become a three-time winner. He and Nelson are bracketed in the second choice wagering with Jimmy Demaret, of Houston, Texas; Craig Wood, recent winner of the Metropolitan Open with a record 264; and Lawson Little, twice winner of the

Largents Travel 35,000 Miles In Seeking Talent

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
MCKINNEY, June 6 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Largent travel 35,000 to 35,000 miles a year looking for baseball talent to send to the Chicago White Sox but they found Howard Wafer practically sitting on their front doorstep.

The McKinney High school sensation, over a period of three years, has averaged a dozen strikeouts and held the opposition to four hits per game. Mrs. Largent calls him a major league prospect of the first order.

Wafer still runs the risk of being mobbed by baseball scouts because he hasn't signed anything with the White Sox. However, Mrs. Largent intimates a "sort of understanding" with Howard.

Wafer is not going into professional ball just yet. Only 17, he thinks he's too young and plans to attend college a couple of years.

Mrs. Largent predicts "unless something happens to his arm he'll be ready for the big leagues in a year or two."

Wafer, 6 feet 1 1/2 inches tall and weighing 174 pounds, has pitched 170-13 innings, won 18 games, lost 4 and struck out 271 batters in his three seasons in high school.

"Twice the past season he struck out 21 batters in a game and only twice did he fail to fan as many as 10."

He pitched two no-hitters, and only two teams during the year were able to get more than two hits off his arm.

They call him "Nubby" because the little finger if his right hand is missing.

If he falls as a pitcher he still is considered one of the best infielders in these parts.

Shreveport Climbing In Texas League

(By The Associated Press)
Shreveport's Sports, pre-season favorites in the Texas league, seem to have hit their stride after almost two months of playing tag with the cellar.

The past four days the Sports have won five out of six, but the drive really started May 28. Mired in seventh place then, they started climbing the hill.

Last night Shreveport beat Oklahoma City 7-5, to finish a game and a half out of third place. Pace-setting Houston gained an even break in a four-game series with Dallas, beating the Rebels 2-0 on Sam Narvon's two-run homer in the seventh.

Second-place San Antonio trounced Tulsa 9-1 with an 11-hit barrage including three home runs.

Fort Worth beat Beaumont 6-4 for a three-to-one edge in the series.

Lowly Sens And Browns Jump On League Leaders

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Washington Senators, who have had little enough to cheer about this spring, are rightfully cheerful over the suddenly sensational pitching of young Walter Masterson.

This lithe righthander, not quite 20, set the Cleveland Indians on their ears 6-1 yesterday with a four-hit pitching performance.

It came upon the heels of a three-hitter Masterson hurled May 30 in a seven-inning game against the Philadelphia Athletics.

Plagued by injuries, Washington hardly has been able to hold its head erect in the American league this season, but good pitching would solve most of the club's troubles.

The St. Louis Browns nudged the Boston Red Sox into their third straight defeat, 4-3 in 14 innings, to preserve the one-half game margin between the Sox and Indians at the top of the standings.

Schoolboy Rowe pitched and batted the Detroit Tigers to a 9-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics in a night game. He scattered seven hits in acquiring his fourth victory without defeat and batted in three of Detroit's runs.

The New York Yankees jumped on Lefty Thornton Lee for 12 hits and stopped the Chicago White Sox 7-5.

The Cincinnati Reds improved their station in the National league with 7-2 conquest of the New York Giants in another night contest.

In the only other game in the senior circuit the Chicago Cubs edged out the Phillies 9-2 with Don Dalesandro accounting for all Chicago's runs on a double with the bases loaded.

BOSTON, June 6 (AP)—Relief Pitcher Bob Harris of the St. Louis Browns won his own game in the 14th inning yesterday with a timely single that scored John Borawski and defeated the Boston Red Sox.

Safety Stressed At Buffalo Lake

Special To The NEWS BUFFALO LAKE, June 6-Added precaution in the interest of safety has been taken at Buffalo lake since the opening of the fishing season.

To prevent drownings and serious accidents not only does the United States government maintain a patrol boat on the lake at all hours, manned by an efficient and capable patrolman, but Golding keeps three boats in constant readiness for rescue purposes 24 hours a day.

The entire fleet of Buffalo Lake company may be forced into use at a moment's notice should an emergency require that many boats, Golding said, pointing out that a tug system of operation was used at the docks to notify all boats on the lake of impending danger.

Life jackets compulsory where women and children use boats and other boating regulations pertinent to safety are being enforced. These regulations are such as all boats being lighted after dusk; the passing of boats on the water; docking, capacity loads, etc.

Boaters and fishermen are urged to watch the signal flags, Golding said. When the danger flag is hoisted, boaters are asked to beach their boats until patrolmen can come to the rescue.

If in the middle of the lake when a storm hits, Golding warned, the boat should be kept close to the wind and waves at all time for safety. Rescue boats will immediately go after small craft in such emergencies, he said, adding that should a boat capsize—all aboard should cling to the boat and not attempt to swim ashore.

"The boats will float forever," Golding said, "while even the most expert swimmer might lack cramps and drown before a patrolman could reach him from the shore."

"Buffalo lake employees are not joking when they ask if you can swim before being rented a boat," Golding said, "while even the most expert swimmer might lack cramps and drown before a patrolman could reach him from the shore."

SERIAL STORY

AN EYE FOR A GAL BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Dr. Tollivar arranges for Hannah to stay in school, room at another place. When Rossy goes to see her, she tells him how his cousin, Steve Hogg, came down to school, sniped on Rossy, then reported back that he was living with the Tollivars, the pseudo honey of his city to avenge his father, denounces him, slaps his apraving.

CHAPTER IV

THE terrific impact of Hannah Shriver's hand on Rossy McAfee's face left a glowing, four-pronged picture on his amazed and bloodless cheeks. He wallowed a moment on the floor, where he had fallen after the girl slapped the fire out of him. He gulped, started to rise. Murder ran through his arteries and muscles. "You—you—I'll knock the tar out of you—"

Hannah made ready to meet him blow for blow. "Knock the tar out of me, dad-burn your low-life time! Just come on and knock the tar out of me!"

Rossy looked up at the passion-set face of the girl he had once asked to marry him. He remembered that day, in the spring when the orchard trees were pink and white and the bland wind waved her tawny hair.

Anger went out of him. He got clumsily to his feet, and stood just staring at her. The commotion of their scrap brought a heavy figure to the door, and there stood Mrs. Patterson.

"It was my fault," Rossy said. "Blame it on me, not her. I reckon it'll take me a little time to get like white folks."

"I'll report you to Dr. Tollivar, sir!" Mrs. Patterson promised grimly.

Rossy picked his hat from the floor and clamped it on his head. "I'll be seeing you," he said mechanically.

Hannah bawled, "I don't want never to see you again, Rossy McAfee!"

He turned upon her. "Them's the death-bed words of all the gals that make up the world's mess of old maids." He added with a sneer, "But I reckon you'd like to see our dear Cousin Steve Hogg again! He's got money that's never been spent!"

Hannah came right back, "Yes, and he asked me to marry him, too, and at least he wouldn't two-time me every time I turned my back a minute!"

ROSSY knew this led to a renewal of the battle. He went sally out and stood looking up at the stars. Mrs. Patterson would report this to Dr. Tollivar first thing in the morning. The two of them would be dragged on the carpet almost before they had got settled in school. If it got out—and how could it be kept?—he and Hannah would be the laughing stock of the student body, and then he would have to kill somebody to shut the stuff up.

Judy was just finishing a telephone conversation when he slipped in. She hung up and stopped him.

"Come over here on the sofa." When he reluctantly complied, she examined him with that odd smile of hers. There was amusement in it, and also something else he did not understand. "I have just been talking with Mrs. Patterson."

Rossy gave a start. "She told you, I reckon."

"Yes, and I asked her not to take it to father."

Rossy tried to think of something nice to say about this, but all he could think of was, "Yes'm."

"There wouldn't be any point in making it a matter for the administrative council," she went on, curling her legs under her. "But you don't want to fight like that, Rossy?"

"Yes'm, I mean no'm."

"You're in school now. You want to get an education. You want to be a gentleman. You want to acquire a certain amount of—well, culture. That is, you want to get the rust knocked off. Make yourself into somebody. Don't you, Rossy?"

"I reckon so," he admitted grudgingly.

"Of course, you do. That's why you're here at all. And, you want to play baseball, maybe become a great pitcher and work your way up to the big leagues, and all that, but even so you want to amount to something, become a somebody. Isn't that right, Rossy?"

He gulped. "Yes'm."

"Well, brawling with your sweetheart won't start you off in the direction you plan to go—"

"Yes, ain't my sweetheart any more."

THERE was a moment of silence between them, during which she continued to look at him, watch him, but gravely and no longer with amusement. Then she said to Rossy with a startling amount to something, become a somebody. Isn't that right, Rossy?"

"You don't want to break off with your sweetheart over so slight a thing as—well, a little spat—you want to be broad-minded, at least try to learn to be broad-minded—"

"I hope you don't call being smacked flat a slight thing!"

"No, but brawling and fighting like that is small!"

He kept sitting there, liking the touch of Judy's hand, trying to feel through his emotions to her real meaning. She gave his hand a pat and released it.

"You see, Rossy, father knew all the while you had something to you. When Coach Hurd went up in Hell'n-Damnation to look you over, saw you play ball last summer, and came back and reported to daddy about you, we all had faith enough in you to work out a way for you to come to college. You don't know it, but you were the subject of a lot of discussion in our home as far back as last July."

"Was I?" he asked, studying her in bewilderment. "I never knew that."

"I'm telling you now because you have to make good to make our faith come true."

He sat there turning this in his mind. Finally he turned to her. "Let me ask you something."

"Go ahead. If I can answer your question I will."

"Was your paw ever up in Hell'n-Damnation Holler?"

"ONLY for an instant did my change come into her expression. It was so little as a flicker of her long lashes.

"Why, I suppose so, Rossy. When he came to be president of Lincoln College he covered just about all the territory in this end of the state. He felt he should travel over his territory so as to know the people who would come to his school. I think he visited your neighborhood, too."

"Did he ever live up in there?"

"My father? Why, no. I can't think of his ever living in Hell'n-Damnation Holler. If you're asking whether he is a relative of the family of Tollivars up in your country, the feuding Tollivars your family have been traditionally at outs with, no. How could we be?"

"Can't you see how absurd that would all be? My father a member of a feud clan, and his being president of one of the best colleges in the mountain country?"

"My father has always been in school work," that sweet, determined voice went on. "Ever since can remember. He was principal of a big high school, then he went to the university and we lived there four years while father finished his master's and took his doctor's degree. He was a professor of education two years in a northern college."

"That was before my mother died. Then this place called him. He has always been a fine, clean man. For me he's a great man, Rossy."

But for Rossy he was the man who killed his father.

ALLIED RETREAT FROM 'HELL ON EARTH'

From cabled descriptions, NEA artist Harry Grissinger sketches and diagrams here the Allied withdrawal from Dunkirk across the English channel—a battle which remnants of the British expeditionary force describe as a "hell on earth." Jammed into an area of about 200 square miles, more than 600,000 German troops and an estimated 500,000 Allies locked in terrific final struggle. Military experts say there has never in history been a battle in which so many men and machines were fighting in such small area. The Germans, crushing in from three sides with tanks, infantry, armored cars, aided by 800 to 1,000 planes, cut off part of the British and French in three pockets within the major pocket extending from below Lille to the coast. Bombers turned Dunkirk's docks into a volcano as Allies hurriedly boarded transports for England. Crossing the channel, the Allies were bombed, raked again, land. Crossing the channel, the transports were sunk. Meantime British and French warships in the channel lobbed shells 20 miles inland to cover the retreat, while British planes fought furious battle with Nazis. British claim half the troops trapped were being

Four Texans In Position To Win National Open

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
DALLAS, June 6 (AP)—One of four home-grown Texans—Byron Nelson, Ben Hogan, Jim Demaret and Ralph Guldahl—products of caddy pens, stand "draw straw" chances of winning the National Open golf tournament at Cleveland this week-end.

The four stand at even odds, in Texas books, but hunch players gave Guldahl slightly more play than the other three.

Strangely quiet the past several weeks, Guldahl, slope-shouldered Norseman who won the 1937 and '38 opens, has been on the site of the tournament. Agents report he hasn't missed a daily round.

But one Texan almost totally forgotten is the super special long shot—Lighthouse Harry Cooper. The dapper little Dallas boy wrote his father a few days ago that he had quietly prepared for the Open and could be "very ready." He has recovered from his famed "rumba" injury but has been busy with duties at his large Chicago club.

The four University of Texas baseball graduates who drew scouts from all directions, are lined up thusly:

Charlie Haas, outfielder, Scranton, Pa., in the eastern league; Bobby Moers, third baseman, Oklahoma City, Texas league; Clarence Pfeif, outfielder, Rocky Mount, N. C., Piedmont league; Freddie Everett, catcher, Centerville, Md., Eastern Shore league.

Disturbing reports Jack Zeller, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, is the depressing effect the European war is having on American baseball.

Zeller, interviewed by Sports Editor Lorin McMullen of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, said a recent tour of the minors had revealed that baseball fans are thinking and talking war—especially if the home club is losing. Only stabilization of the conflict, quieting it down to a long struggle without the daily sensational developments, will get baseball fans back to thinking baseball.

Negro Baseball Game Scheduled
Pampa's Negro baseball team will make its third home appearance of the season Saturday night against the Memphis Black Tigers. Game time will be 9 o'clock.

Manager Ran Hawkins announced today that he will have a stronger lineup than when he defeated the Shamrock Black Cats last Friday night. On the mound will be "Cupie" Laymon with Manager Hawkins behind the plate.

The starting lineup backing Laymon and Hawkins will be Eddie Birdye on first, Charlie Mason on second, John "Dad" Wallace at short, "King David" Walker, special ball pitcher and infield d-lux, at third, Ollie Goodall in left, "Pap" Granville in center and Bert Berden in right.

Memphis has a strong team, one that is scheduled to give the Pampans plenty of trouble. The right side of the grandstand at Road Runner park will be reserved for white fans, who outnumbered the Negroes at the Thursday night game.

Texas Amateur Golf Tourney Under Way
SAN ANGELO, June 6 (AP)—Tom Miller, Jr., hefty University of Texas student, was the boy they watched today as the field teed off in qualifying rounds of the Texas Amateur Golf tournament.

Miller rolled in with a sub-par 70 yesterday to top practice scores, establishing him as a strong contender for the title now held by Don Schumacher, the Dallas star who turned in a 72, a stroke over par.

Strip Around Italy's Coast Being Mined

(By The Associated Press)
ROME, June 6—Italian authorities are notifying the United States government that a 12-mile strip around the coast of Italy is being mined, an authoritative source reported today.

The informant said the United States liner Washington would be safely conducted through the 12-mile danger belt into Naples where it is scheduled to dock June 10. The bounding of the Italian coast and the coastline of parts of the empire with the danger zone was the newest major development in Italy's broadening preparations for entry into the European war.

Whether the empire coastline as well known, Nor was it known whether the mining of Italian waters had been disclosed to the British and French governments, Italy's prospective enemies.

Notification to countries with shipping in the Mediterranean, however, was regarded by naval circles as fulfilling Italy's obligation under international regulations to publish the limits of any minefields.

Meanwhile, from Virginia Gayda, editor of Il Giornale D'Italia, came a threat of eventual European intervention in American affairs if the United States went to the aid of beleaguered Britain and France.

Regular steamship service between Malta, British Mediterranean base, and certain parts of the Italian island of Sicily was suspended today.

It was reported that a large number of Italians residing in Turkey, had returned to Italy.

Softball League Will Be Organized Friday Night

Organization of a twilight softball league will be completed at a meeting of team sponsors and captains at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in the Recreation office in the basement of the city hall.

A committee has been unable to find a suitable place to install lights within the city limits and as Recreation park will not be available until after the middle of the month, it has been decided to start play with a twilight league.

The softballers haven't given up hope of someone offering them a field on which they can install their lights, now located at Recreation park. Any person having a lot large enough for a diamond is urged to contact Jim Edwards, recreation supervisor, in the basement of the city hall.

At least eight teams are scheduled to sign for the league. It was reported today by Jack Beck, Panhandle commissioner of softball, who will preside at tomorrow night's meeting.

mer A. L. players on the club are Manager Durocher, Dixie Walker, Joe Vismik, Jim Waddell, Luke Hamlin, Vito Tamulis, Whitlow Wyatt, Ernie Koy, and Joe Gallagher. . . . Not a bad nine. . . . And hardly nine old men."

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—Taisto Maki is working his way back into Finland as a deck hand on a freighter. . . . Who'll win the Open? The guy with the hottest putter. Personally, it wouldn't surprise us to see Lord Byron Nelson repeat. Many ringsiders at Cleveland are passing up red hot favorites to string along with Craig Wood.

The Tucson Cowboys in the Arizona-Texas league rolled up 61 runs to win three games—17-6, 19-7 and 25-6. . . . Then just to show they're different, they went out and dropped one, 13-1.

Everybody howled when Mike Jacobs announced the Conn-Lesnevich winner might get a shot at the heavy title in the fall. Says Harry B. Smith in the San Francisco Chronicle, "If that's so, they can stage more funny things in New York than out here in the far west where dogs bark at strangers."

Today's Guest Star
Howard Roberts, Chicago Daily News: "A press box wag has labeled the Dodgers the Brooklyn post, American league, G. A. R. . . . For posts of command in the air force soon."
